LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL

U.S. SENATE,
COMMITTEE ON COMMERCE,
Washington, D.C.

DEAR COLLEAGUE: From time to time questions arise concerning the legislative jurisdiction of the Committee on Commerce. Although Rule 25.1f of the Standing Rules of the Senate explicitly sets forth the subject areas of the Committee's jurisdiction, there has not been compiled a clear and concise listing of statutes considered and acted upon by this Committee and its predecessor Committees.

In order to fill this gap, I requested the American Law Division of the Library of Congress to compile an authoritative document listing such statutes through the 93d Congress. The following represents the compilation prepared pursuant to that request.

I am forwarding a copy of this document to the members of the Temporary Select Committee to Study the Senate Committee System (pursuant to S. Res. 109) as it may add to their understanding of the jurisdiction of the Commerce Committee.

I wish to emphasize that this compilation has not been approved, disapproved, nor considered by the Senate Committee on Commerce.

WARREN G. MAGNUSON,
Chairman.

STATUTES WHICH ARE WITHIN THE OVERSIGHT JURISDICTION OF THE COMMITTEE ON COMMERCE, UNITED STATES SENATE

In this compilation an attempt has been made to include all basic statutes of a Public General Nature which are now in force and which are now within the Oversight Legislative Jurisdiction of the Senate Committee on Commerce.

The Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 created the Senate Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce and gave it jurisdiction over most legislation which had previously been under committees dealing with Commerce, Interstate Commerce, Interoceanic Canals, and Manufacturers. The name of the Interstate and Foreign Committee was changed by a Senate resolution which was adopted in 1961 which gave it its present name of Committee on Commerce.

In this compilation statutes have been included which were processed by various other committees and now appear to be under the jurisdiction of the Senate Committee on Commerce.

For each statutory reference the following information is given: (1) date of the original enactment (amendments not listed); (2) Statute-at-Large Citation; (3) Public law numbers after the 84th Congress; (4) United States Code Citation (if codified); (5) the agency or agencies administering the act; (6) appropriations authorized (if any); (7) termination date (if listed); (8) reports required (if any); and (9) the short title of the original enactment. Since only the original enactment is listed for oblivious reasons the citations to the United States Code should be consulted for such information as to any amendments.

Since various acts such as the four parts of the Interstate Commerce Act, the Shipping Acts, the Merchant Marine Acts, etc. have been vastly enlarged by the addition of new comprehensive parts and titles, we have included various breakdowns of these parts and titles into various entries rather than one entry for the entire act.

The following criteria were observed in the preparation of this compilation: (1) The jurisdiction of the Senate Committee on Commerce as set forth by Rule 25.1f of the Standing Rules of the Senate; (2) No private laws are included; (3) No provisions of Appropriations Acts are included unless there are provisions amending enactments under the jurisdiction of the committee; (4) Private conveyance are not included though enacted as Public Laws; (5) Basic statutes, the subject matter of which was once within the jurisdiction of the committee but since transferred to other committees are not included; (6) Acts which are silent as to the administering authority but contain criminal penalties are listed under the Department of Justice as the administering authority; and (7) In cases where basic statutes are revised, deleted, added to another basic statute in numerous places, the title of the Code is listed with the first section of the title followed by "et. seq." for the remaining sections under the title.
