NOTE.

The biographical sketches that appear for the first time in this edition are those of Senator Patton of Michigan; Representatives Bickner of Tenth district of Kentucky, Coffin of the Fifth district of Maryland, Bromwell of the Second district of Ohio, Harrison of the Third district of Alabama, Henry of the First district of Maryland, Little of the Second district of Arkansas, and Moore of the Second district of Kansas, who have been chosen to fill vacancies caused by death or resignation. The Fifteenth district of Pennsylvania is vacant.

The unofficial list of the Members of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth Congress, which appears in this edition, has been carefully verified.

The departmental data is corrected to December 1, and that relating to Congress up to December 5, 1894.

ALABAMA.

SENATORS.

John T. Morgan, of Selma, was born at Athens, Tennessee, June 20, 1824; received an academic education, chiefly in Alabama, to which State he emigrated when nine years old and has since resided there; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1845, and practiced until his election to the Senate; was a Presidential Elector in 1860 for the State at large and voted for Breckinridge and Lane; was a Delegate in 1861 from Dallas County to the State Convention which passed the ordinance of secession; joined the Confederate Army in May, 1861, as a private in Company I, Cahaba Rifles, and when that company was assigned to the Fifth Alabama Regiment, under Colonel Robert E. Rodes, he was elected Major, and afterward Lieutenant-Colonel of that regiment; was commissioned in 1862 as Colonel and raised the Fifty-first Alabama Regiment; was appointed Brigadier-General in 1863 and assigned to a brigade in Virginia, but resigned to rejoin his regiment, whose colonel had been killed in battle; later in 1863 he was again appointed Brigadier-General and assigned to an Alabama brigade which included his regiment; after the war he resumed the practice of his profession at Selma; was chosen a Presidential Elector for the State at large in 1876 and voted for Tilden and Hendricks; was elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat, to succeed George Goldthwaite, Democrat; took his seat March 5, 1877; was re-elected in 1882, and again in 1888. His term of service will expire March 3, 1895.

James L. Pugh, of Eufaula, was born in Burke County, Georgia, December 12, 1820; received an academic education in Alabama and Georgia; came to Alabama when four years old, where he has since resided; was licensed to practice law in 1841, and was so employed when elected to the Senate; was Taylor Elector in 1848, Buchanan Elector in 1856, and State Elector for Tilden in 1876; was elected to Congress without opposition in 1859; retired from the Thirty-sixth Congress when Alabama ordained to secede from the Union; joined the Eufaula Rifles, in the First Alabama Regiment, as a private; was elected to the Confederate Congress in 1861 and re-elected in 1863; after the war resumed the practice of the law; was President of the State Convention of the Democratic party in 1874; was member of the Convention that framed the State Constitution of 1875; was elected to the Senate as a Democrat, to fill the balance of the term made vacant by the death of Hon. George S. Houston. Took his seat December 6, 1880, and was re-elected in 1884 and in 1890. His term of service will expire March 3, 1897.

THE CAPITOL.

The Capitol is situated in latitude 38° 53′ 20.4″ north and longitude 77° 00′ 35.7″ west from Greenwich. It fronts east, and stands on a plateau eighty-eight feet above the level of the Potomac.

THE ORIGINAL BUILDING.

The southeast corner-stone of the original building was laid on the 18th of September, 1793, by President Washington, with Masonic ceremonies. It is constructed of sandstone from quarries in Aquia Creek, Virginia. The work was done under the direction of Stephen H. Hallett, James Hoban, George Hadfield, and B. H. Latrobe, architects. The north wing was finished in 1800, and the south wing in 1811. A wooden passage way connected them. On the 24th of August, 1814, the interior of both wings was destroyed by fire, set by the British. The damage to the building was immediately repaired. In 1818 the central portion of the building was commenced, under the architectural superintendence of Charles Bulfinch. The original building was finally completed in 1827. Its cost, including the grading of the grounds, alterations, and repairs, up to 1827, was $2,433,844.13.

THE EXTENSIONS.

The corner-stone of the extensions was laid on the 4th of July, 1851, by President Fillmore Daniel Webster officiating as orator. This work was prosecuted under the architectural direction of Thomas U. Walter, till 1865, when he resigned. It was completed under the supervision of Edward Clark, the present Architect of the Capitol. The material used in the walls is white marble from the quarries at Lee, Massachusetts, and that in the colu mn from the quarries at Cockeysville, Maryland. These extensions were first occupied for legis lative purposes January 4, 1859.

DIMENSIONS OF THE BUILDING.

The entire length of the building from north to south is seven hundred and fifty-one fees four inches, and its greatest dimension from east to west three hundred and fifty feet. The area covered by the building is one hundred and fifty-three thousand one hundred and twelve square feet.

THE DOME.

The dome of the original central building was constructed of wood, covered with copper This was replaced in 1856 by the present structure of cast-iron. It was completed in 1865, The entire weight of iron used is 8,909,200 pounds.

The dome is crowned by a bronze statue of Freedom, which is nineteen feet six inches high, and weighs 14,985 pounds. It was modeled by Crawford. The height of the dome above the base line of the east front is two hundred and eighty-seven feet five inches. The height from the top of the balustrade of the building is two hundred and seventeen feet eleven inches. The greatest diameter at the base is one hundred and thirty-five feet five inches.

The rotunda is ninety-five feet six inches in diameter, and its height from the floor to the top of the canopy is one hundred and eighty feet three inches.

The Senate Chamber is one hundred and thirteen feet three inches in length by eighty feet three inches in width and thirty-six feet in height. The galleries will accommodate one thousand persons.

The Representatives' Hall is one hundred and thirty-nine feet in length by ninety-three feet in width and thirty-six feet in height.

The room now occupied by the Supreme Court was, until 1859, occupied as the Senate Chamber. Previous to that time the court occupied the room immediately beneath, now used as a law library.

The Library of Congress occupies the entire western projection of the central Capitol building. The original library was commenced in 1800, but was destroyed with the Capitol in 1814 during the war with England. It was afterwards replenished by the purchase of the library belonging to ex-President Jefferson, by Congress, embracing about 7,000 volumes. In 1851 it contained 55,000 volumes, and by an accidental fire in that year the whole collection was destroyed except 20,000 volumes. It was rebuilt in 1852, when $75,000 was appropriated in one sum to replenish the collection. The new library halls, three in number, are fitted up with ornamental iron cases and iron ceilings, the whole being perfectly fireproof. The library is recruited by regular appropriations made by Congress, which average about $11,000 per annum; also by additions received by copyright, by exchanges, and from the Smithsonian Institution. The library of the Smithsonian Institution has now been deposited in the Library of Congress, where it is secured against loss by fire. This collection is especially rich in scientific works, embracing the largest assemblage of the transactions of learned societies which exists in the country. The library was also enriched by the presentation to the Government, in 1882, of the large private library of Dr. Joseph M. Toner, of Washington, numbering over 27,000 volumes, besides nearly as many pamphlets. The donor, whose public spirit is worthy of emulation, adds to the collection annually. The library of copyright books was removed here from the Pat nt Office in 1870, and all copyrights issued in the United States are now recorded in the books deposited in the office of the Librarian of Congress. The present number of volumes in the whole library, including law books, which are kept in a separate library room under the Supreme Court, is over 680,000, besides about 220,000 pamphlets. A new building to contain its overflowing stores of learning and to afford room for their proper arrangement is in progress of erection, a liberal appropriation having been made by successive Congresses. This collection is very rich in history, political science, jurisprudence, and in books, pamphlets, and periodicals of American publication or relating in any way to America. At the same time the library is a universal one in its range, no department of literature or science being unrepresented. The public are privileged to use the books in the library, while members of Congress and about thirty official members of the Government only can take away books. The library is open every day (Sundays excepted) during the session of Congress, from 9 a. m. to the hour of adjournment. In the recess of Congress it is open between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

RULES GOVERNING PRESS GALLERIES.

1. Persons desiring admission to the Press Gallery shall make application to the Speaker, as required by Rule XXXVI of the House of Representatives; and shall also state, in writing, for what paper or papers they are employed; and shall further state that they are not engaged in the prosecution of claims pending before Congress or the Departments, and will not become so engaged while allowed admission to the gallery; and that they are not in any sense the agents or representatives of persons or corporations having legislation before Congress, and will not become either while retaining their places in the gallery. Visiting journalists who may be allowed temporary admission to the gallery must conform to the restrictions of this rule.

2. The applications required by above rule shall be authenticated in a manner that shall be satisfactory to the Standing Committee of Correspondents, who shall see that the occupation of the gallery is confined to bona fide telegraphic correspondents of reputable standing in their business, who represent daily newspapers, and not exceeding one seat shall be assigned to each paper; and it shall be the duty of the Standing Committee, at their discretion, to report violations of the privileges of the gallery to the Speaker, and pending his action thereon the offending correspondent shall be suspended.

3. Clerks in the Executive Departments of the Government, and persons engaged in other occupations whose chief attention is not given to newspaper correspondence, are not entitled to admission; and the Press list in the Congressional Directory shall be confined to telegraphic correspondents.

4. Members of the families of correspondents are not entitled to admission.

5. The gallery, subject to the approval of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, shall be under the control of the Standing Committee of Correspondents.

CHARLES F. CRISP,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Rules identical with the above have been approved by the Committee on Rules of the Senate.

DEPARTMENT DUTIES.

THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The Secretary of State is charged, under the direction of the President, with the duties appertaining to correspondence with the public ministers and consuls of the United States, and with the representatives of foreign powers accredited to the United States; and to negotiations of whatever character relating to the foreign affairs of the United States. He is also the medium of correspondence between the President and the chief executive of the several States of the United States; he has the custody of the great seal of the United States, and countersigns and affixes such seal to all executive proclamations, to various commissions, and to warrants for the extradition of fugitives from justice. He is regarded as the first in rank among the members of the Cabinet. He is also the custodian of the treaties made with foreign states, and of the laws of the United States. He grants and issues passports, and exequaturs to foreign consuls in the United States are issued through his office. He publishes the laws and resolutions of Congress, amendments to the Constitution, and proclamations declaring the admission of new States into the Union. He is also charged with certain annual reports to Congress relating to commercial information received from diplomatic and consular officers of the United States.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE

becomes the Acting Secretary of State in the absence of the Secretary. Under the organization of the Department the Assistant Secretary, Second Assistant Secretary, and Third Assistant Secretary are charged with the immediate supervision of all correspondence with the diplomatic and consular officers and are intrusted with the preparation of the correspondence upon any questions arising in the course of the public business that may be assigned to them by the Secretary.

THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

The Secretary of the Treasury is charged by law with the management of the national finances. He prepares plans for the improvement of the revenue and for the support of the public credit; superintends the collection of the revenue, and prescribes the forms of keeping and rendering public accounts and of making returns; grants warrants for all moneys drawn from the Treasury in pursuance of appropriations made by law, and for the payment of moneys into the Treasury; and annually submits to Congress estimates of the probable revenues and disbursements of the Government. He also controls the construction of public buildings; the coinage and printing of money; the collection of statistics; the administration of the coast and geodetic survey, life-saving, light-house, revenue-cutter, steamboat-inspection, and marine-hospital branches of the public service, and furnishes generally such information as may be required by either branch of Congress on all matters pertaining to the foregoing.

The routine work of the Secretary's office is transacted in the offices of the Supervising Architect, Director of the Mint, Superintendent of Engraving and Printing, Supervising Surgeon-General of Marine Hospitals, General Superintendent of Life-Saving Service, Supervising Inspector-General of Steamboats, Bureau of Statistics, Light-House Board, and in the following divisions: Bookkeeping and Warrants; Appointments; Customs; Public Moneys; Loans and Currency; Revenue Cutter; Stationery, Printing, and Blanks; Mails and Files; Special Agents; and Miscellaneous.

ASSISTANT SECRETARIES OF THE TREASURY.

William Edmond Curtis, Assistant Secretary.—To Assistant Secretary Curtis is assigned the general direction and supervision of all matters relating to the public business assigned to the following divisions: Public Moneys; Loans and Currency; Miscellaneous; the Bureau of Engraving and Printing; the Offices of the Chief Clerk and Superintendent (including the World's Columbian Exposition); the Supervising Architect; the Supervising Surgeon-General of the Marine-Hospital Service; the Supervising Inspector-General of the Steamboat-Inspection Service; and the signing of all letters and papers as Assistant Secretary, or "By order of the Secretary," relating to the business of the above-mentioned offices that do not by law require the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Charles S. Hamlin, Assistant Secretary.—To Assistant Secretary Hamlin is assigned the general direction and supervision of all matters pertaining to the Customs Service, and all matters relating to the public business assigned to the following divisions: Customs; Revenue Cutter; Special Agents and Secret Service, and to the Bureau of Statistics; and the signing of all letters and papers as Assistant Secretary, or "By order of the Secretary," relating to the business of the above-mentioned offices that do not by law require the signature of the Secretary of the Treasury.

Scott Wike, Assistant Secretary.—To Assistant Secretary Wike is assigned the direction and supervision of all matters relating to the public business assigned to the following divisions: Bookkeeping and Warrants; Stationery, Printing, and Blanks; Mail and Files; the Navigation and Immigration Bureaus; to the Offices of the Light-House and the Life-Saving Services; and the signing of all letters and papers as Assistant Secretary, or "By order of the Secretary," relating to the business of the above-mentioned offices that do not by law require he signature of the Secretary of the Treasury.

THE CHIEF CLERK.

The Chief Clerk supervises, under the immediate direction of the Secretary and Assistant Secretaries, the duties of the clerks and employés connected with the Department; the superintendence of all buildings occupied by the Department in Washington, D. C.; the transmission of the mails; the care of all horses, wagons, and carriages employed; the direction of engineers, machinists, firemen, or laborers; the expenditure of the appropriations for contingent expenses of the Treasury Department; for furniture and repairs of same; fuel, lights, water, and miscellaneous items, and the assignment of custodians' force for buildings under the control of the Department; the supervision of accounts relating to World's Columbian Exposition: the distribution of the mail; the custody of the records and files and library of the Secretary's office; the answering of calls from Congress, and elsewhere, for copies of papers, records, etc.; supervision of all the official correspondence of the Secretary's office, so far as to see that it is expressed in correct and official form; the enforcement of the general regulations of the Department, and the charge of all business of the Secretary's office not assigned.

THE COMPTROLLER OF THE TREASURY.

The act of July 31, 1894, reorganizing the accounting offices of the Government abolished the offices of Second Comptroller of the Treasury and the Commissioner of Customs, and provided that hereafter the First Comptroller shall be known as the Comptroller of the Treasury. The Comptroller is not charged with the duty of revising accounts, except upon appeal from the settlements made by the Auditors, an appeal to be taken within one year by either the claimant, the head of the Department interested, or by the Comptroller himself. Upon the request of a disbursing officer, or the head of a Department, the Comptroller is required to give his decision upon the validity of a payment to be made, which decision, when rendered, shall govern the Auditors and the Comptroller in the settlement of the account involving the payment; to approve, disapprove, or modify all decisions made by the Auditors making an original construction, or modifying an existing construction of statutes, and to certify his action to the Auditor. He shall transmit all decisions made by him forthwith to the Auditor or Auditors whose duties are affected thereby. By the regulations of the Department the Comptroller passes upon the sufficiency of authorities to indorse drafts and receive and receipt for money from the Government, upon the evidence presented in applications for duplicates or lost or destroyed United States bonds, drafts, checks, etc. The forms of keeping and rendering all public accounts (except those relating to the postal service), the recovery of debts certified by the Auditors to be due to the United States, and the preservation, with their vouchers and certificates, of accounts finally adjusted, are under the direction of the Comptroller. Upon revision of accounts, appealed from the several Auditors to the Comptroller, his decision upon such revision is final and conclusive upon the executive branch of the Government.

AUDITOR FOR THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

The Auditor for the Treasury Department receives and examines all accounts of salaries and incidental expenses of the office of the Secretary of the Treasury and all bureaus and offices under his direction. All accounts relating to the customs service, public debt, internal revenue, Treasurer and Assistant Treasurers, mints and assay offices, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Coast and Geodetic Survey, Revenue-Cutter Service, Life-Saving Service, Light-House Board, Marine Hospital, public buildings, Steamboat-Inspection Service, Immigration Service, Bureau of Navigation, Secret Service, Alaskan fur-seal fisheries, and all other business within the jurisdiction of the Department of the Treasury, and certifies the balances arising thereon to the Division of Bookkeeping and Warrants.

The subordinate divisions of his office are—

Customs Division.—Receipts and expenditures of the customs service, including fines, emoluments, forfeitures, debentures, drawbacks, and warehouse and bond accounts received from custom-houses.

Internal-Revenue Division.—Accounts of collectors of internal revenue, including salaries, contingent expenses, and compensation of storekeepers.

Public-Debt Division.—Redemption of the public debt, including principal, premium and interest, the payment of interest, redemption of certificates of deposit, notes destroyed.

Miscellaneous Division.—Accounts of mint and assay offices, construction, repair, and preservation of public buildings; Treasurer of the United States, for general receipts and expenditures; Bureau of Engraving and Printing; Coast and Geodetic Survey; Revenue-Cutter Service; Life-Saving Service; Light-House Board; Marine-Hospital Service, and all other miscellaneous accounts coming to this office.

AUDITOR FOR THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

The Auditor for the War Department receives and examines all accounts of salaries and incidental expenses of the offices of the Secretary of War and all bureaus and offices under his direction, all accounts relating to the military establishment, armories and arsenals, national cemeteries, fortifications, public buildings and grounds under the Chief of Engineers, rivers and harbors, the Military Academy, and to all other business within the jurisdiction of the Department of War, and certifies the balances arising thereon to the Division of Bookkeeping and Warrants, and sends a copy of each certificate to the Secretary of War.

The work is distributed among six divisions, as follows: Archives Division, Review Division, Mail and Property Division, Paymaster, Ordnance and Medical Division, Pay and Bounty Division, and Military Division.

THE AUDITOR FOR THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

The Auditor for the Interior Department shall receive and examine all accounts of salaries and incidental expenses of the office of the Secretary of the Interior, and of all bureaus and offices under his direction, and all accounts relating to Army and Navy pensions, Geological Survey, public lands, Indians, Architect of the Capitol, patents, census, and to all other business within the jurisdiction of the Department of the Interior, and certify the balances arising thereon to the Division of Bookkeeping and Warrants, and send forthwith a copy of each certificate to the Secretary of the Interior."

THE AUDITOR FOR THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

The Auditor for the Navy Department examines and settles all accounts of the Navy Department, including the office of the Secretary of the Navy, and all offices and bureaus under his direction, certifying the balances arising thereon to the Secretary of the Treasury (Division of Bookkeeping and Warrants), sending a copy of each certificate to the Secretary of the Navy.

Paymasters' Division.—Examines accounts of pay officers of the Navy and the Marine Corps, also the claims of susidized railroads, and the naval accounts of the Western Union Telegraph Company.

Record and Claims Division.—Has charge of the records and files of the office, adjusts prize-money accounts, and claims of a miscellaneous character, such as arrears of pay, bounty, etc., arising in the Navy and the Marine Corps, furnishes the Pension Office with service record of officers, sailors, and marines, and prepares tabulated statements for Congress.

Navy Pay and Allotment Division.—Settles accounts of Disbursing Officers for the purchase of supplies for the Navy; and building, arming and equipping new ships, accounts of Naval attachés at London, Paris, and Berlin, account of Fiscal Agent of the United States at London, account of Disbursing Officer of the Navy Department, accounts of coaling stations and miscellaneous claims, also keeps the accounts of allotments made by officers and men of the Navy.

THE AUDITOR FOR THE STATE AND OTHER DEPARTMENTS.

The Auditor for the State and other Departments receives, examines, and certifies the balances arising thereon to the Division of Bookkeeping and Warrants all accounts of salaries and incidental expenses of the offices of the Secretary of State, the Attorney-General, and the Secretary of Agriculture, and of all bureaus and offices under their direction; all accounts relating to all other business within the jurisdiction of the Departments of State, Justice, and Agriculture; all accounts relating to the diplomatic and consular service, the judiciary, United States courts, judgments of the United States courts, Executive Office, Civil Service Commission, Interstate Commerce Commission, Department of Labor, District of Columbia, Fish Commission, Court of Claims and its judgments, Smithsonian Institution, Territorial governments, the Senate, the House of Representatives, the Public Printer, Library of Congress, Botanic Garden, and accounts of all boards, commissions, and establishments of the Government not within the jurisdiction of any of the Executive Departments. He also examines and approves or disapproves all requisitions for advances of money made by all persons authorized to do so in any of the above-named Departments, commissions, or establishments.

THE AUDITOR FOR THE POST-OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

The Auditor for the Post-Office Department examines and adjusts all accounts relating to the postal service, and his decisions on these are final, unless an appeal be taken in twelve months to the Comptroller. He superintends the collection of all debts due the United States for the service of the Post-Office Department, and all penalties imposed; directs suits and all legal proceedings in civil actions, and takes all legal means to enforce the payment of money due the United States for the service of the Post-Office Department. The work of the office is assigned as follows:

The Deputy Auditor.—Assumes charge of the office as Acting Auditor during the absence of the Auditor; signs all official papers designated by the Auditor, which includes drafts, letters, statements, post-office warrants, and other things; is also charged with the custody and care of the furniture, and has supervision of all requisitions for supplies.

The Chief Clerk.—Has a general supervision of the work of all the clerks in the office; has charge of all correspondence; the opening, reading, and assigning of all letters received; reading, preparing for signature, and press-copying letters sent; keeping the roll and making report of attendance and absence of employés, and all miscellaneous matters not otherwise assigned.

The Disbursing Clerk.—Has charge of the preparation of pay rolls, disbursments of appropriations for the salaries of officers and employés of the office; the disposition of deposits made in connection with offers of compromise of debts and judgments on post-office accounts, and the receipt and dispatch of the registered mail addressed to and sent from the office. There are seven subordinate divisions, viz:

1. Assorting and Checking.—Arranges money-orders by States and offices in the exact numerical order of their issue, and compares them with the statements of the issuing postmasters.

2. Bookkeeping.—Has charge of the preparation of the quarterly and annual reports of the receipts and expenditures of the Post-Office Department; receives and audits each postmaster's account, keeping ledger account with the same, also mail contractors; has charge of the general appropriations for the Post-Office Department; registers post-office warrants and drafts; receives all evidence of deposits to credit of postal revenue, and states the account against the general Treasury.

3. Collecting.—The collection of balances due from and the payment of balances due to late and present postmasters, and the final settlement of postal accounts.

4. Foreign.—Adjustment of postal and money-order accounts with foreign countries.

5. Inspecting.—Receives and examines the money-order statements of postmasters; comparing the vouchers with the corresponding entries on the statements, and making additions of the debt and credit sides.

6. Pay.—The adjustment and payment of all accounts for the transportation of the mails, both foreign and domestic, and post-office supplies.

7. Recording.—Stating accounts of postmasters at money-order offices, payment of commissions, and collection of balances.

THE TREASURER OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Treasurer of the United States is charged with the receipt and disbursement of all public moneys that may be deposited in the Treasury at Washington and the subtreasuries at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, New Orleans, San Francisco, St. Louis, Chicago, and Cincinnati, and in the national-bank United States depositories; is trustee for bonds held to secure national-bank circulation and public deposits in national banks; is custodian of Indian trust-fund bonds; is agent for paying the interest on the public debt, and ex officio commissioner of the sinking fund of the District of Columbia. The Treasury subdivisions are—

Chief Clerk.—Receives and distributes the official mail; has charge of the correspondence and the disposition and payment of the clerical force, and the custody of the records and files; and of the issue of duplicate checks and drafts.

Cash Division.—For receipt and payment of public funds at Washington.

Issue Division.—Completion of new United States notes, gold and silver certificates, and count of silver, gold, and minor coin.

Redemption Division.—All currency except national-bank notes received and redeemed.

Loan Division.—Interest checks prepared and bonds redeemed.

Accounts Division.—The accounts of the Treasury, the subtreasuries, and the United States national-bank depositaries are kept.

National Bank Division.—Has custody of bonds held for national-bank circulation, for public deposits, and various public trusts, and makes collection of semiannual duty.

National Bank Redemption Agency.—Notes of national banks are redeemed and accounted for.

THE REGISTER OF THE TREASURY.

The Register of the Treasury signs and issues all bonds and sends to the Treasurer of the United States schedules showing the names of persons entitled to receive interest thereon. He examines and registers redeemed bonds, paid interest coupons, interest checks and interest-bearing notes, legal tenders, and fractional currency. The work is distributed among two divisions, as follows:

Loan Division.—In this division registered and coupon bonds are issued, and all registered bonds transferred; it also has charge of the conversion of coupon into registered bonds, the ledger accounts with holders of registered bonds, and the preparation of schedules upon which interest on the registered bonds is paid.

Note, Coupon, and Currency Division.—In this division redeemed bonds, paid interest coupons, interest checks, and interest-bearing notes are examined and registered. Treasury notes, legal tenders, and fractional currency are examined, canceled, and the destruction thereof witnessed and recorded. It also has charge of the files of the Bureau.

THE COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

The Comptroller of the Currency has, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, the control of the national banks. The divisions of this Bureau are—

Organization Division.—The organization of national banks.

Issue Division.—The preparation and issue of national-bank circulation.
Reports Division.—Examination and consolidation of the reports of national banks.
Redemption Division.—The redemption and destruction of notes issued by national banks.

THE DIRECTOR OF THE MINT.

The Director of the Mint has general supervision of all the mints and assay offices of the United States.

He prescribes rules, to be approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, for the transaction of business at the mints and assay offices. He regulates the distribution of silver coin and the charges to be collected of depositors. He receives for adjustment the accounts of the mints and assay offices, superintends their expenditures and annual settlements, and makes special examinations of them when deemed necessary. All appointments, removals, and transfers in the mints and assay offices are subject to his approval. The purchase of silver bullion and the allotment of its coinage are made by the Director; and, at his request, also transfers of the moneys in the mints and assay offices, and advances from appropriations for the mint service.

Tests of the weight and fineness of coins struck at the mints are made in the assay laboratory under his charge. The values of the standard coins of foreign countries are annually estimated for custom-house and other public purposes. Two annual reports are prepared by the Director, one for the fiscal year, and printed in the Finance Report of the Secretary of the Treasury, the other for the calendar year, on the statistics of the production of the precious metals.

THE SOLICITOR.

The Solicitor of the Treasury takes cognizance of all frauds or attempted frauds on the customs revenue. He is charged by law with duties regarding the compromise of debts and with a supervision over suits for the collection of moneys due the United States, excepting those due under internal-revenue laws. His approval is required of official bonds of United States Assistant Treasurers, Department disbursing clerks, collectors of internal revenue, the Secretary and the Chief Clerk of the Department of Agriculture. As the law officer of the Treasury Department many matters are referred to him for his examination and opinion arising under the customs, navigation, banking, and registry laws, and in the administration of the Department. He is also charged by law with the supervision of suits and proceedings arising out of the provisions of law governing national banking associations in which the United States and any of its agents or officers are parties; also, with the charge, release, and sale of lands acquired in payment of debt, excepting those acquired under internal-revenue laws.

THE COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE.

The Commissioner makes assessment of, and has general superintendence of the collection of all internal-revenue taxes, and of the enforcement of internal-revenue laws; employment of internal-revenue agents; compensation and duties of gaugers, storekeepers, and other subordinate officers; the preparation and distribution of stamps, instructions, regulations, forms, blanks, hydrometers, stationery, etc.; and analysis of foods and drugs in the District of Columbia, and payment of bounty on sugar.

The business of his office is divided into the several subject-matters and distributed among ten divisions, as follows:

Appointments.—Discipline of official force, general files, registering and copying letters, distributing mail, issuing commissions and leaves of absence, printing and distributing blanks, blank books, and stationery.

Law.—Seizures, forfeitures, compromises, suits, abatement and refunding claims, direct taxes, etc.; distraints, and lands purchased on same for (or otherwise forfeited to) the United States.

Tobacco.—Matters relating to tobacco, snuff, and cigars not in suit or in bond.

Accounts.—Revenue and disbursing accounts, allowances to collectors of internal revenue for salaries, etc., purchase of blank books and other supplies for collectors and revenue agents; examination and reference of bills of agents, gaugers, etc.; miscellaneous claims under appropriation acts (except for abatement, refunding, and drawback); estimates for appropriations by Congress, and statistical records.

Distilled Spirits.—Matters pertaining to distilleries, distilled spirits, fermented liquors, wines, rectification, gaugers' instruments, approval of bonded warehouses, assignment of storekeepers, etc.

Stamps.—Preparation, safe-keeping, issue, and redemption of all stamps, accounts pertaining thereto, and preparation, custody, and issue of steel dies for canceling stamps.

Assessments.—Assessments, bonded accounts, warehouse reports of storekeepers and gaugers, exports, and drawbacks.

Revenue Agents.—Supervision of agents (under Commissioner's direction), examination of their reports and accounts, and discovery and suppression of violations of internal-revenue law, and general supervision of oleomargarine tax.

Sugar Bounty.—General supervision of matters relating to bounty on sugar

Chemistry.—Analysis of oleomargarine, foods and drugs, sweet wines, etc., and polariscopic tests of sugar.

THE COMMISSIONER OF NAVIGATION.

The Commissioner of Navigation is charged with general superintendence of the commercial marine and merchant seamen of the United States, except so far as supervision is lodged with other officers of the Government. He is specially charged with the decision of all questions relating to the issue of registers, enrollments, and licenses of vessels and the filing of those documents, with the supervision of laws relating to the admeasurement, letters, and numbers of vessels, and with the final decision of questions concerning the collection and refund of tonnage taxes. He is empowered to change the names of vessels, prepares annually a list of vessels of the United States, and reports annually to the Secretary of the Treasury the operations of the laws relative to navigation.

THE SUPERINTENDENT OF THE COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey is charged with the survey of the Atlantic, Gulf, and Pacific coasts of the United States, including the coasts of Alaska; the survey of rivers to the head of tide-water or ship navigation; deep-sea soundings, temperature and current observations along the said coasts and throughout the Gulf Stream and Japan Stream flowing off from them; magnetic observations and gravity research; determinations of heights by geodetic leveling, and of geographical positions by lines of transcontinental triangulation, which, with other connecting triangulations and observations for latitude, longitude, and azimuth, furnish points of reference for State surveys and connect the work on the Atlantic coast with that on the Pacific.

Results of the survey are published in the form of annual reports, which include professional papers of value; bulletins which give information deemed important for immediate publication; notices to mariners, issued monthly; tide tables, issued annually; charts upon various scales, including harbor charts, general charts of the coast, and sailing charts; chart catalogues and Coast Pilots.

SUPERVISING INSPECTOR-GENERAL OF STEAM VESSELS.

The Supervising Inspector-General superintends the administration of the steamboat inspection laws, presides at the meeting of the Board of Supervising Inspectors, receives all reports, and examines all accounts of inspectors.

The Board of Supervising Inspectors meets in Washington annually, on the third Wednesday in January, to establish regulations for carrying out the provisions of the steamboat inspection laws.

SUPERVISING SURGEON-GENERAL MARINE HOSPITAL SERVICE.

The Supervising Surgeon-General is charged with the supervision of the marine hospitals and other relief stations of the service, and the care of sick and disabled seamen taken from the merchant vessels of the United States (ocean, lake, and river), and from the vessels of the Revenue Marine and Light-House Services. This supervision includes the purveying of medical and other supplies, the assignment of and orders to medical officers, the examination of requisitions, vouchers, and property returns, and all matters pertaining to the service.

Under his direction all applicants for pilots' licenses are examined for the detection of color-blindness. Ordinary seamen, on request of a master or agent, are examined physically to determine their fitness before shipment, and a like examination is made of the candidates for admission to the Revenue Marine Service and candidates for appointment as surfmen in the United States Life-Saving Service.

He examines also and passes upon the medical certificates of claimants for pensions under the laws of the Life-Saving Service.

Under the act of April 29, 1878, he is charged with the framing of regulations for the prevention of the introduction of contagious diseases and the prevention of their spread; and under the act of August 1, 1888, he is charged with the conduct of the quarantine service of the United States. He has the direction of laboratories established to investigate the cause of contagious diseases, and publishes each week an abstract of sanitary reports received from all parts of the United States and (through the State Department) from all foreign countries.

Under the law of March 28, 1890, known as the Interstate quarantine law, he is charged with preparing the rules and regulations, under direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, necessary to prevent the introduction of certain contagious diseases from one State to another, and he has also supervision of the medical inspection of alien immigrants, which, under the law of March 3, 1891, is conducted by the medical officers of the Marine Hospital Service.

GENERAL SUPERINTENDENT OF THE LIFE-SAVING SERVICE.

It is the duty of the General Superintendent to supervise the organization and government of the employés of the service; to prepare and revise regulations therefor as may be necessary; to fix the number and compensation of surfmen to be employed at the several stations within the provisions of law; to supervise the expenditure of all appropriations made for the support and maintenance of the Life-Saving Service; to examine the accounts of disbursements of the district superintendents, and to certify the same to the accounting officers of the Treasury Department; to examine the property returns of the keepers of the several stations, and see that all public property thereto belonging is properly accounted for; to acquaint himself, as far as practicable, with all means employed in foreign countries which may seem to advantageously affect the interest of the service, and to cause to be properly investigated all plans, devices, and inventions for the improvement of life-saving apparatus for use at the stations which may appear to be meritorious and available; to exercise supervision over the selection of sites for new stations the establishment of which may be authorized by law, or for old ones the removal of which may be made necessary by the encroachment of the sea or by other causes; to prepare and submit to the Secretary of the Treasury estimates for the support of the service; to collect and compile the statistics of marine disasters contemplated by the act of June 20, 1874, and to submit to the Secretary of the Treasury, for transmission to Congress, an annual report of the expenditures of the moneys appropriated for the maintenance of the Life-Saving Service, and of the operations of said service during the year.

BUREAU OF STATISTICS.

The Chief of the Bureau of Statistics collects and publishes the statistics of our foreign commerce, embracing tables showing the imports and exports, respectively, by countries and customs districts; the transit trade inwards and outwards by countries and by customs districts; imported commodities warehoused, withdrawn from, and remaining in warehouse; the imports of merchandise entered for consumption, showing quantity, value, rates of duty, and amounts of duty collected on each article or class of articles; number of immigrants, their nationality, occupation, etc., arriving from foreign countries, and the number of passengers departing for foreign countries; the inward and outward movement in our foreign trade and the countries whence entered and for which cleared, distinguishing the nationalities of the foreign vessels; also special information in regard to our internal commerce.

The publications of the Bureau are as follows: Annual Report on Commerce and Navigation; Annual Report on Internal Commerce; Annual Statistical Abstract of the United States; Quarter-yearly Reports on Commerce, Navigation, and Immigration; Monthly Summary Statements of Imports and Exports; Monthly Reports of Total Values of Foreign Commerce and Immigration; Monthly Reports of Exports of Breadstuffs, of Provisions, of Petroleum, and Cotton.

The divisions of the Bureau are as follows: Division of Examination and Revision; Division of Compilation; Miscellaneous Division; Library and Files.

THE BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing designs, engraves, prints, and finishes all of the securities and other similar work of the Government printed from steel plates (except postage stamps and postal notes), embracing United States notes, bonds, and certificates, national-bank notes, internal-revenue and customs stamps, Treasury drafts and checks, disbursing officers' checks, licenses, commissions, patent and pension certificates, and portraits of deceased members of Congress and other public officers authorized by law.

THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF WAR.

The Secretary of War is at the head of the War Department, and performs such duties as the President may enjoin upon him concerning the military service.

He has supervision of all the estimates of appropriations for the expenses of the Department, of all purchases of Army supplies, and of all expenditures for the support and transportation of the Army, and of such expenditures of a civil nature as are by law placed under his direction.

He also has supervision of the United States Military Academy at West Point; of national cemeteries; of the publication of the Official Records of the War of the Rebellion, and of the Board on Ordnance and Fortification.

He has charge of all matters relating to river and harbor improvements; the prevention of obstruction to navigation; the establishment of harbor lines, and approves the plans and location of bridges authorized by Congress to be constructed over the navigable waters of the United States.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR.

The Assistant Secretary of War performs such duties in the Department of War as shall be prescribed by the Secretary or may be required by law.

THE CHIEF CLERK.

The Chief Clerk has charge of the official mail and correspondence, and performs such duties as are enjoined by law or assigned to him by the Secretary of War.

MILITARY BUREAUS OF THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

The chiefs of the military bureaus of the War Department are officers of the regular Army of the United States, and a part of the military establishment, viz:

The Adjutant-General promulgates all orders of a military character of the President, the Secretary of War, and the Major General Commanding the Army, and conducts the correspondence between the latter and the Army; receives reports and returns pertaining to the Army; prepares commissions, appointments, and acceptances of resignations for issuance; receives all muster rolls, and prepares consolidated reports of the Army and the militia; he also is the custodian of the records of the military prison at Fort Leavenworth and under the immediate direction of the Secretary of War has charge of the recruiting service.

The Inspector-General, with his assistants, inspects all military commands and stations, the Military Academy, the schools of application, the military department of all colleges and schools at which officers of the Army are detailed, all depots, rendezvous, armories, arsenals, fortifications, and public works of every kind under charge of or carried on by officers of the Army; and also the money accounts of all disbursing officers of the Army. To the Inspector-General are referred matters relating to military duties and conduct; the matériel, personnel, discipline, instruction, uniform, and outfit of the Army, and the character, quality, and adequacy of its supplies.

The Inspector-General's Department is specially established to promote uniform economy, efficiency, and compliance with the laws and orders.

The Quartermaster-General, aided by assistants, provides transportation for the Army; also clothing and equipage, horses, mules, and wagons, vessels, forage, stationery, and other miscellaneous quartermaster's stores and property for the Army, and of clothing and equipage for the militia; constructs necessary buildings, wharves, roads, and bridges at military posts, and repairs the same; furnishes water, heating and lighting apparatus; pays guides, spies, and interpreters, and is in charge of national cemeteries.

The Commissary-General of Subsistence has administrative control of the Subsistence Department; the disbursement of its appropriations; the providing of rations and their issue to the Army; the purchase and distribution of articles authorized to be kept for sale to officers and enlisted men; the administrative examination of accounts of subsistence funds preliminary to their settlement by the proper accounting officers of the Treasury; and the examination and settlement of returns of subsistence supplies.

The Surgeon-General, under the immediate direction of the Secretary of War, is charged with the administrative duties of the Medical Department; the designation of the stations of medical officers, and the issuing of all orders and instructions relating to their professional duties. He directs as to the selection, purchase, and distribution of the medical supplies of the Army. The Army Medical Museum and the official publications of the Surgeon-General's Office are also under his direct control.

The Paymaster-General is charged with the payment of the officers and enlisted men of the Army and civil employés of the Department; with furnishing funds to his officers and seeing that they duly account for the same, and with a preliminary examination of their accounts; also with the payment of Treasury certificates for bounty, back pay, etc., and balances due deceased officers and soldiers of the volunteer and regular Army.

The Chief of Engineers commands the Corps of Engineers, which is charged with all duties relating to fortifications, whether permanent or temporary; with torpedoes for coast defense; with all works for the attack and defense of places; with all military bridges, and with such surveys as may be required for these objects, or the movement of armies in the field. It is also charged with the harbor and river improvements; with military and geographical explorations and surveys; with the survey of the lakes; and with any other engineer work specially assigned to the corps by acts of Congress or orders of the President.

The Chief of Ordnance commands the Ordnance Department, the duties of which consist in providing, preserving, distributing, and accounting for every description of artillery, small arms, and all the munitions of war which may be required for the fortresses of the country, the armies in the field, and for the whole body of the militia of the Union. In these duties are comprised that of determining the general principles of construction and of prescribing in detail the models and forms of all military weapons employed in war. They comprise also the duty of prescribing the regulations for the proof and inspection of all these weapons, for maintaining uniformity and economy in their fabrication, for insuring their good quality, and for their preservation and distribution; and for carrying into effect the general purposes here stated large annual appropriations are made, and in order to fulfill these purposes extensive operations are conducted at the national armories, the gun factory, arsenals, and ordnance depots.

The Judge-Advocate-General is directed by law to "receive, review, and cause to be recorded the proceedings of all courts-martial, courts of inquiry, and military commissions." He also furnishes the Secretary of War information and advice relating to lands under control of the War Department, and reports and opinions upon legal questions arising under the laws, regulations, and customs pertaining to the Army, and upon questions arising under the civil law; reports upon applications for clemency in the cases of military prisoners; examines and prepares legal papers relating to the erection of bridges over navigable waters; drafts bonds, and examines those given to the United States by disbursing officers, colleges, and others; examines, revises, and drafts charges and specifications against officers and soldiers; and also drafts and examines deeds, contracts, licenses, leases, and legal papers generally.

The Chief Signal Officer is charged with the supervision of all military signal duties, and of books, papers, and devices connected therewith, including telegraph and telephone apparatus and the necessary meteorological instruments for use on target ranges and other military uses; the construction, repair, and operation of military telegraph lines, and the duty of collecting and transmitting information for the Army by telegraph or otherwise, and all other duties usually pertaining to military signaling.

The Chief of the Record and Pension Office is charged by law with the custody of the military and hospital records of the volunteer armies and the transaction of the pension and other business of the War Department connected therewith. The work of the office embraces all subjects relating to the service of organizations, officers, and enlisted men of the volunteer armies, and includes the answer to calls from the Commissioner of Pensions, the accounting officers of the Treasury, and others for information required in the adjudication of claims against the National and State governments, the adjustment of the individual records of officers and enlisted men under the general and special legislation of Congress relating thereto, and the general correspondence of the Department relating to the volunteer forces. The records of the office include those of the late Provost-Marshal-General's Bureau and the Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, and Abandoned Lands; also the Confederate archives, embracing those relating to the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of the Confederate Government.

THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The Attorney-General is the head of the Department of Justice and the chief law officer of the Government. He represents the United States in matters involving legal questions; he gives his advice and opinion on questions of law, when they are required by the President or by the heads of the other Executive Departments, on questions of law arising upon the administration of their respective Departments; he exercises a general superintendence and direction over United States Attorneys and Marshals in all judicial districts in the States and Territories; and he provides special counsel for the United States whenever required by any Department of the Government.

He is assisted by a Chief Clerk and other clerks and employés in the executive management of the business of the Department.

A Law Clerk, who is also an Examiner of Titles, assists the Attorney-General in the investigation of legal questions and in the preparation of opinions.

THE SOLICITOR-GENERAL.

The Solicitor-General assists the Attorney-General in the performance of his general duties, and by special provision of law in the case of a vacancy in the office of Attorney-General, or in his absence, exercises all these duties. Except when the Attorney-General otherwise directs, the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General conduct and argue all cases in the Supreme Court and in the Court of Claims in which the United States is interested; and, when the Attorney-General so directs, any such case in any court of the United States may be conducted and argued by the Solicitor-General; and in the same way the Solicitor-General may be sent by the Attorney-General to attend to the interests of the United States in any State court or elsewhere.

THE ASSISTANT ATTORNEYS-GENERAL.

Four Assistant Attorneys-General assist the Attorney-General and the Solicitor-General in the performance of their duties. Two assist in the argument of causes in the Supreme Court and in the preparation of legal opinions; one is charged with the conduct of the defense of the United States in the Court of Claims, and has to assist him six assistant attorneys; the other is charged with the defense of the Indian depredation claims.

Under the act of 1870 the different law officers of the Executive Departments exercise their functions under the supervision and control of the Attorney-General. They are the Assistant Attorney-General for the Department of the Interior; the Assistant Attorney-General for the Post-Office Department; the Solicitor of the Treasury; and the Solicitor of Internal Revenue, Treasury Department; and the Solicitor for the Department of State.

THE POST-OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

THE POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Postmaster-General has the direction and management of the Post-Office Department. He appoints all officers and employés of the Department, except the four Assistant Postmasters-General, who are appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate; appoints all postmasters whose compensation does not exceed one thousand dollars; makes postal treaties with foreign Governments, by and with the advice and consent of the President, awards and executes contracts, and directs the management of the domestic and oreign mail service.

THE FIRST ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The First Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the following divisions, viz:

Salary and Allowance Division.—The duty of readjusting the salaries of postmasters and the consideration of allowances for rent, fuel, lights, clerk hire, and other expenditures.

Free Delivery.—The duty of preparing cases for the inauguration of the system in cities, the appointment of letter-carriers, and the general supervision of the system.

Division of Post-Office Supplies.—The duty of sending out the blanks, wrapping paper, twine, letter balances, and canceling stamps to offices entitled to receive the same.

The Money-Order Division.—Under the immediate direction of a Superintendent, who has supervision and control thereof, including the domestic money-order business and the postal-note business, and the superintendence of the international money-order correspondence with foreign countries, as well as the preparation of postal conventions for the exchange of money-orders therewith, and the conduct of correspondence relating to these subjects.

Dead Letter Office.—Under the immediate direction of the Superintendent, who is charged with the treatment of all unmailable and undelivered mail matter which is sent to it for disposition; the enforcement of the prompt sending of such matter according to regulations; the duty of noting and correcting errors of postmasters connected with the delivery or withholding of mail matter; the investigation, by correspondence, of complaints made with reference thereto; the verification and allowance of claims for credit by postmasters for postage-due stamps affixed to undelivered matter; the examination and forwarding or return of all letters which have failed of delivery; inspection and return to country of origin of undelivered foreign matter; recording and restoration to owners of letters and parcels which contain valuable inclosures; care and disposition of all money, negotiable paper, and other valuable articles found in undelivered matter and correspondence, both foreign and domestic, relating to these subjects.

Correspondence Division.—To this division are referred all inquiries received from postmasters concerning the discharge of their duties; disputes regarding the delivery of mail matter; inquiries relative to the construction of postal laws and regulations; and all correspondence of a miscellaneous character.

THE SECOND ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Second Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the transportation of all mails. His office embraces four divisions and two offices, viz:

Contract Division prepares all advertisements inviting proposals for star, steamboat, and mail-messenger service, receives the proposals, prepares orders for the award of contracts, attends to the execution of contracts, prepares cases and orders for the establishment of new service or changes in existing service, attends to all correspondence relating thereto, and prepares statistics and reports of mail service required by law.

Division of Inspection is charged with the examination of monthly and special reports of postmasters as to performance of mail service by contractors and carriers; the preparation of cases and orders for deductions for nonperformance of service and for the imposition of fines for delinquencies of contractors and carriers, of authorization for payment of railway postal clerks, of certifications of service to the Sixth Auditor, and the correspondence relative to nonperformance of contract requirements for carrying the mails.

Railway Adjustment Division prepares cases authorizing the transportation of mails by railroads, the establishment of railway postal-car service and changes in existing service; prepares orders and instructions for the weighing of mails, receives the returns and computes basis of pay therefrom; prepares cases for the adjustment of allowances to railroads for carrying the mails and for postal cars, and attends to all correspondence relating to these matters.

Mail Equipment Division is charged with the preparation of advertisements inviting proposals for furnishing mail-bags, mail locks and keys, label cases, mail-bag-cord fasteners, and mail-bag catchers; the receipt of proposals and the preparation of contracts therefor, the issuing of such articles for the use of the service, the repairing of the same, the keeping of records and accounts, and the preparation of all correspondence incident to these duties.

Office of Railway Mail Service has charge of the railway mail service and the railway post-office clerks, prepares for the Second Assistant Postmaster-General cases for the appointment, removal, promotion, and reduction of said clerks, conducts the correspondence, and issues the orders relative to moving the mails on railroad trains; has charge of the dispatch, distribution and separation of mail matter in railway post-office cars and the principal post-offices, and conducts the weighing of mails when ordered.

Office of Foreign Mails has charge of all foreign postal arrangements (except those relating to the money-order system), including the preparation of postal conventions and the regulations for their execution, as well as the consideration of questions arising under them; and conducts the correspondence relative thereto both with foreign Governments and private citizens. It also has the supervision of the ocean mail steamship service in all its details, including the settlement of the accounts with steamship companies for the conveyance of mails from the United States to foreign countries.

THE THIRD ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Third Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Finance Office, etc., embracing the following four divisions:

Division of Finance.—The duty of issuing drafts and warrants in payment of balances reported by the Auditor to be due to mail contractors or other persons; the superintendence of the collection of revenue at depository and depositing offices, and the accounts between the Department and the Treasurer and Assistant Treasurers and special designated depositories of the United States. This division receives all accounts, monthly or quarterly, of the depository offices, and certificates of deposit from depositing offices.

Division of Postage Stamps and Stamped Envelopes.—The issuing of postage stamps, stamped envelopes, newspaper wrappers, and postal cards; also the supplying of postmasters with envelopes for their official use, including registered-package envelopes.

Division of Registered Letters.—The duty of preparing instructions for the guidance of postmasters relative to registered letters, and all correspondence connected therewith; also the compilation of statistics as to the transaction of the business.

Division of Mail Classification.—The duty of passing upon the applications of publishers for the entry of newspapers and periodicals into the mails as second-class matter and generally the control of all business relating to the rates of postage and the classification of mail matter.

Division of Files, Mails, etc.—The duty of receiving, distributing, and indexing all papers coming into the office; of dispatching and recording all papers sent from the office, and of keeping and attending to the office files.

The office of the Third Assistant Postmaster-General has also charge of the Special Delivery System.

THE FOURTH ASSISTANT POSTMASTER-GENERAL.

The Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General has charge of the Bureau including the Divisions of Appointments, of Bonds and Commissions, and of Post-Office Inspectors and Mail Depredations.

Division of Appointments.—The duty of preparing all cases for establishment, discontinuance, and change of name or site of post-offices, and for the appointment of all postmasters, and attending to all correspondence consequent thereto.

Division of Bonds and Commissions.—The duty of receiving and recording appointments; sending out papers for postmasters and their assistants to qualify; receiving, entering, and filing their bonds (and approval of same) and oaths; and issuing the commissions for postmasters.

Division of Post-Office Inspectors and Mail Depredations.—To this office is intrusted the general supervision of the work of the Post-Office Inspectors; the consideration and adjustment of their accounts for salary and expenses. To it are referred all complaints of losses or irregularities in the mails, and all reported violations of the postal laws.

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

THE SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.

The Secretary of the Navy performs such duties as the President of the United States, who is Commander-in-Chief, may assign him, and has the general superintendence of construction, manning, armament, equipment, and employment of vessels of war.

THE DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Secretary of the Interior is charged with the supervision of public business relating to patents for inventions; pensions and bounty lands; the public lands and surveys; the Indians; education; railroads; the Geological Survey; the census; the Hot Springs Reservation, Arkansas; Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming, and the Yosemite, Sequoia, and General Grant Parks, California; distribution of appropriations for agricultural and mechanical colleges in the States and Territories; the custody and distribution of certain public documents; and certain hospitals and eleemosynary institutions in the District of Columbia. He also exercises certain powers and duties in relation to the Territories of the United States.

THE FIRST ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The First Assistant Secretary of the Interior considers certain appeals from the Commissioner of the General Land Office; examines charges against officials and employés; instructs Indian inspectors and mine inspectors; supervises open market purchases of Indian supplies, and, generally, matters pertaining to the Indians; supervises business relating to distribution of certain public documents and from the Office of Education, and matters relating to the Government Hospital for the Insane, Columbia Institute for Deaf and Dumb, education of the blind and of feeble-minded children of the District of Columbia, the national parks named in the preceding paragraph, the Hot Springs in Arkansas, and supervises the disbursing of the fund for a more complete endowment of agricultural and mechanical colleges in the States and Territories; and acts as Secretary in the absence of that officer.

THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Assistant Secretary of the Interior considers appeals from the Commissioner of Pensions and questions relating to violations of pension laws and from the administrative action of the Commissioner of Patents; has general supervision of the business of the Boards of Pension Appeals; countersigns letters patent; examines official bonds and contracts as to their correctness; has the admission and disbarment from practice of attorneys and agents, and acts as Secretary in the absence of both that officer and the First Assistant Secretary.

THE ASSISTANT ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

The Assistant Attorney-General is the chief law officer of this Department. When requested he advises the Secretary and Assistant Secretaries upon questions of law arising in the administration of the Department. All appeals from the General Land Office are sent to his office for consideration. Oral arguments are heard by him in the more important cases, or by brief; and decisions are prepared under his supervision for the signature of the Secretary or First Assistant Secretary, as the case may be. The Assistant Attorney-General is aided in this and his other work by sixteen assistant attorneys. There is also a Reporter of the Land Decisions, one stenographer, two clerks, and four typewriters.

THE CHIEF CLERK.

The Chief Clerk has the general supervision of the clerks and employés; of the order of business, records, and correspondence of the Secretary's Office; of all expenditures from appropriations for contingent expenses, stationery, and printing for the Department and bureaus; enforcement of the general regulations of the Department; also the superintendence of buildings occupied by the Interior Department.

COMMISSIONER OF PATENTS.

The Commissioner of Patents is charged with the administration of the patent laws, and supervises all matters relating to the issue of letters patent for new and useful discoveries, inventions, and improvements, and the registration of trade-marks and labels. He is aided by an Assistant Commissioner, Chief Clerk, three Examiners-in-Chief, an Examiner of Interferences, and thirty-two Principal Examiners.

COMMISSIONER OF PENSIONS.

The Commissioner of Pensions supervises the examination and adjudication of all claims arising under laws passed by Congress granting bounty land or pension on account of service in the Army or Navy during the Revolutionary war and all subsequent wars in which the United States has been engaged. He is aided by two Deputy Commissioners and the Chief Clerk of the Bureau, each of whom has supervision over business arising in divisions of the Bureau assigned, under order of the Commissioner, to his immediate charge.

COMMISSIONER OF THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office is charged with the survey, management, and sale of the public domain, and the issuing of titles therefor, whether derived from confirmations of grants made by former governments, by sales, donations, or grants for schools, railroads, military bounties, or public improvements. He is aided by an Assistant Commissioner and Chief Clerk.

COMMISSIONER OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has charge of the several tribes of Indians in the States and Territories. He issues instructions to, and receives reports from, agents, special agents, and school superintendents; superintends the purchase, transportation, and distribution of presents and annuities; and reports annually the relations of the Government with each tribe. He is aided by an Assistant Commissioner, who under the law also performs the duties of Chief Clerk.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION.

The duties of the Commissioner of Education are to collect such statistics and facts as shall show the condition and progress of education in the several States and Territories, and to diffuse such information respecting the organization and management of schools and school systems and methods of teaching as shall aid the people of the United States in the establishment and maintenance of efficient school systems, and otherwise promote the cause of education throughout the country.

COMMISSIONER OF RAILROADS.

The Commissioner of Railroads is charged with the duty of prescribing a system of reports to be rendered to him by the railroad companies whose roads are in whole or in part west, north, or south of the Missouri River, and to which the United States have granted any loan of credit or subsidy in bonds or lands; to examine the books and accounts of each of said railroad companies once in each fiscal year, and at such other times as may be deemed by him necessary to determine the correctness of any report received from them; to assist the Government directors of any of said railway companies in all matters which come under their cognizance, whenever they may officially request such assistance; to see that the laws relating to said companies are enforced; to furnish such information to the several departments of the Government in regard to tariffs for freight and passengers and in regard to the accounts of said railroad companies as may be by them required, or, in the absence of any request therefor, as he may deem expedient for the interest of the Government; and to make an annual report to the Secretary of the Interior, on the 1st day of November, on the condition of each of said railroad companies, their road, accounts, and affairs, for the fiscal year ending June 30 immediately preceding.

DIRECTOR OF THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

The Director of the Geological Survey has charge of the classification of the public lands, and examination of the geological structure, mineral resources, and products of the national domain.

SUPERINTENDENT OF THE CENSUS.

The Superintendent of the Census supervises the taking of the census of the United States every tenth year, and the subsequent arrangement, compilation, and publication of the statistics collected.

CENSUS OFFICE.

In accordance with an act of Congress approved March 1, 1889, entitled "An act to provide for taking the Eleventh and subsequent Censuses," the Superintendent of the Census, under the direction of the Secretary of the Interior, shall cause to be taken as of the date of June 1, 1890, a census of the population, wealth, and industry of each State and Territory, and of the District of Columbia. He shall also at the time of the general enumeration herein provided for, or prior thereto, as the Secretary of the Interior may determine, collect the statistics of, and relating to, the recorded indebtedness of private corporations and individuals, and make report thereon to Congress; and he shall collect, from official sources, information relating to animals not on farms. The Superintendent shall, under the authority of the Secretary of the Interior, cause to be taken on a special schedule of inquiry the names, organizations, and length of service of those who have served in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States in the war of the rebellion, and who are survivors at the time of said inquiry, and the widows of soldiers, sailors, or marines. The population schedule shall include an inquiry as to the number of negroes, mulattoes, quadroons, and octoroons. The Superintendent shall also collect and publish the statistics of the population, industries, and resources of the District of Alaska, with such fullness as he may deem expedient or practicable under the appropriations made, or to be made, for the expenses of the Eleventh Census. He may employ special agents, or other means, to make an enumeration of all Indians living within the jurisdiction of the United States, with such information as to their condition as may be obtainable, classifying them as to Indians taxed and Indians not taxed. He may also employ experts and special agents to investigate and ascertain the statistics of the manufacturing, railroad, fishing, mining, cattle, and other industries of the country, and of telegraph, express, transportation, and insurance companies as he may designate and require.

The only volumes that shall be prepared and published in connection with the said census shall relate to population and social statistics relating thereto, the products of manufactories, mining, and agriculture, mortality and vital statistics, valuation and public indebtedness, recorded indebtedness, and to statistics relating to railroad corporations, incorporated express, telegraph, and insurance companies, a list of the names, organizations, and length of service of surviving soldiers, sailors, and marines, and the widows of soldiers, sailors, and marines.

THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

THE SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE.

The Secretary of Agriculture is charged with the supervision of all public business relating to the agricultural industry. He appoints all the officers and employés of the Department, with the exception of the Assistant Secretary and the Chief of the Weather Bureau, who are appointed by the President, and directs the management of all the divisions, offices, and bureaus embraced in the Department. He exercises advisory supervision over the agricultural experiment stations deriving support from the national Treasury, and has control of the quarantine stations for imported cattle, and of interstate quarantine rendered necessary by contagious cattle diseases.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY

The Assistant Secretary performs such duties as may be required by law or prescribed by the Secretary. To his office has been assigned the control and direction of the scientific policy and operations of the following divisions and offices: The Divisions of Botany, Vegetable Pathology, Pomology, Microscopy, Chemistry, Economic Ornithology and Mammalogy, and Entomology; the Offices of Experiment Stations, Irrigation Inquiry, and Fiber Investigation; and the Department Museum. All questions relating to the scientific operations and policy of the above-mentioned divisions, but involving questions of administrative policy, while primarily matters for the consideration of the Assistant Secretary, are submitted to the Secretary for his approval before final action is taken.

The Chief of the Weather Bureau, under the direction of the Secretary of Agriculture, has charge of the forecasting of weather; the issue of storm warnings; the display of weather and flood signals for the benefit of agriculture, commerce, and navigation; the gauging and reporting of rivers; the maintenance and operation of seacoast telegraph lines, and the collection and transmission of marine intelligence for the benefit of commerce and navigation; the reporting of temperature and rainfall conditions for the cotton interests; the display of frost and cold-wave signals; the distribution of meteorological information in the interests of agriculture and commerce, and the taking of such meteorological observations as may be necessary to establish and record the climatic conditions of the United States, or as are essential for the proper execution of the foregoing duties.

The Bureau of Animal Industry makes investigations as to the existence of contagious pleuro-pneumonia and other dangerous communicable diseases of live stock, superintends the measures for their extirpation, makes original investigations as to the nature and prevention of such diseases, and reports on the condition and means of improving the animal industries of the country. It also has charge of the inspection of import and export animals, of the inspection of vessels for the transportation of export cattle, and of the quarantine stations for imported neat cattle; supervises the interstate movement of cattle, and inspects live stock and their products slaughtered for food consumption.

The Statistician collects information as to the condition, prospects, and harvests of the principal crops, and of the numbers and status of farm animals, through a corps of county correspondents and the aid of a supplementary organization under the direction of State agents, and obtains similar information from European countries monthly through the Deputy Consul-General at London, assisted by consular, agricultural, and commercial authorities. He records, tabulates, and co-ordinates statistics of agricultural production, distribution, and consumption, the authorized data of governments, institutes, societies, boards of trade, and individual experts; and writes, edits, and publishes a monthly bulletin for the use of editors and writers, and for the information of producers and consumers, and for their protection against combination and extortion in the handling of the products of agriculture.

The Division of Accounts and Disbursing Office is charged wtth the adjustment of all claims against the Department; decides all questions involving the expenditure of public funds; prepares contracts for annual supplies, leases, and agreements; issues requisitions for the purchase of supplies and all expenditures of the Department, requests for passenger and freight transportation; makes payment of every nature; prepares the annual estimates of appropriations, and attends to all other business relating to the financial interests of the Department.

The Chemist makes analyses of natural fertilizers, vegetable products, and other materials which pertain to the interests of agriculture. Applications are constantly made from all portions of the country for the analysis of soils, minerals, liquids, and manures.

The Office of Experiment Stations represents the Department in its relations to the agricultural colleges and experiment stations, which are now in operation in all the States and Territories. It seeks to promote the interests of agricultural education and investigation throughout the United States. It collects and disseminates general information regarding the colleges and stations, and publishes accounts of agricultural investigations at home and abroad. It also indicates lines of inquiry, aids in the conduct of co-operative experiments, reports upon the expenditures and work of the stations, and in general furnishes them with such advice and assistance as will best promote the purposes for which they were established. It is also charged with investigations on the nutritive value and economy of human foods.

The Entomologist obtains and disseminates information regarding insects injurious to vegetation; investigates insects sent him in order to give appropriate remedies; conducts investigations of this character in different parts of the country; and mounts and arranges specimens for illustrative and museum purposes.

The Division of Ornithology and Mammalogy investigates the economic relations of birds and mammals, and recommends measures for the preservation of beneficial and destruction of injurious species.

The Division of Forestry is occupied with experiments, investigations, and reports dealing with the subject of forestry, with the distribution of seeds of valuable economic trees, and with the dissemination of information upon forestry matters.

The Division of Botany maintains the National Herbarium, publishes information on new and improved kinds of forage plants, furnishes data for the treatment of weeds, tests seeds with a view to their increased purity and commercial value, and investigates other questions of economic botany.

The Pomologist collects and distributes information in regard to the pomological industry of the United States; investigates the habits and peculiar qualities of fruits, their adaptability to various soils and climates and conditions of culture; and introduces new and untried fruits from foreign countries.

The Division of Vegetable Pathology investigates the diseases of plants, such as the rusts, smuts, blights, rots, etc., and by experiment seeks to determine remedies for their mitigation and prevention.

The Microscopist makes investigations mostly relating to parasitic growths, to the characteristics of fibers, and to the adulteration of foods.

The Office of Fiber Investigations collects and disseminates information regarding the cultivation of textile plants, directs experiments in the culture of new and hitherto unused plants, and investigates the merits of new machines and processes for textile manufactures.

The Office of Irrigation Inquiry collects and publishes information regarding the best modes of agriculture by irrigation and the best appliances therefor.

The Office of Road Inquiry collects information concerning the systems of road management throughout the United States, conducts investigations regarding the best method of road-making, and prepares publications on this subject.

The Division of Records and Editing exercises general supervision of the Department printing and illustrations; issues in the form of press notices official information of interest to agriculturists, and distributes to agricultural publications and writers synopses of Department publications.

The Division of Illustration and Engraving comprises the artists and engravers engaged in preparing illustrations for the Department publications, and its chief is charged with general supervision of the illustration work.

The Seed Division collects new and valuable seeds and plants for propagation in this country, and distributes them to applicants in all parts of the country, such applicants being required to furnish the Department with a report as to results obtained with seeds so furnished them.

The Division of Gardens and Grounds is charged with the care and ornamentation of the park surrounding the Department buildings, and with the duties connected with the conservatories and gardens for testing and propagating exotic and economic plants.

THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR.

THE COMMISSIONER OF LABOR.

The Department of Labor was established by act of Congress approved June 13, 1888. It is placed in charge of a Commissioner of Labor, who is directed to acquire and diffuse among the people of the United States useful information on subjects connected with labor in the most general and comprehensive sense of that word, and especially upon its relation to capital, the hours of labor, the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual, and moral prosperity. He is also especially charged, in accordance with the general design and duties prescribed by the law, at as early a date as possible and whenever industrial changes shall make it essential, to ascertain the cost of producing articles, at the time dutiable in the United States, in leading countries where such articles are produced, by fully specified units of production, and under a classification showing the different elements of cost of such articles of production, including wages paid in such industries, etc.

It is also the duty of the Commissioner to ascertain and report as to the effect of the customs laws upon the currency and on the agricultural industry, especially as to their effect on the mortgage indebtedness of farmers; what articles are controlled by trusts, or other combinations of capital, business operations, or of labor, and what effect such trusts or other combinations of capital, business operations, or of labor have on production and prices.

The Commissioner is also to establish a system of reports by which, at intervals of not less than two years, he can ascertain the general condition, so far as production is concerned, of the leading industries of the country. He is also especially charged to investigate the causes of, and facts relating to, all controversies and disputes between employers and employés as they may occur, and which may happen to interfere with the welfare of the people of the different States. He may obtain information upon the various subjects committed to him, and, as he may deem desirable, from different foreign countries. He is to make a report annually in writing to the President and Congress of the information collected and collated by him, and he is authorized to make special reports on particular subjects whenever required to do so by the President or either House of Congress, or when he shall think the subject in his charge requires it.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

This Commission, appointed under "An act to regulate commerce," approved February 4, 1887, has authority to inquire into the management of the business of all common carriers who are subject to the provisions of the act. These are all which are "engaged in the transportation of passengers or property wholly by railroad, or partly by railroad and partly by water when both are used, under a common control, management, or arrangement, for a continuous carriage or shipment, from one State or Territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia, to any other State or Territory of the United States, or the District of Columbia, or from any place in the United States to an adjacent foreign country, or from any place in the United States through a foreign country to any other place in the United States, and also in the transportation in like manner of property shipped from any place in the United States to a foreign country and carried from such place to a port of transshipment, or shipped from a foreign country to any place in the United States and carried to such place from a port of entry either in the United States or an adjacent foreign country." It has jurisdiction generally over rates on interstate traffic, to pass upon their reasonableness and justice, to decide questions of unjust discrimination and of undue preference, to prescribe the publicity to be given to joint tariffs, and to institute and carry on proceedings for the enforcement of the provisions of the law. It has power to call for reports; to require the attendance of witnesses and the production of books and papers; to hear complaints made against any such carrier of a violation of the act, and to determine what reparation shall be made to a party wronged; to institute inquiries on its own motion or at the request of State railroad commissions, and to report thereon; and it is required to make an annual report, which shall be transmitted to Congress. It is also empowered in special cases to authorize any such common carrier to charge less for a longer distance than for a shorter over the same line, and to prescribe the extent to which the carrier may be relieved from the "long and short haul clause" of said act. The Commission also appoints a secretary and clerks, whose duties are not specifically defined by the act.

UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

The purpose of the civil-service act, as declared in its title, is "to regulate and improve the civil service of the United States." It provides for the appointment of three Commissioners, a Chief Examiner, a Secretary, and other employés, and makes it the duty of the Commission to aid the President as he may request in preparing suitable rules for carrying the act into effect; to make regulations for, and control the examinations provided for, and supervise and control the records of the same; and to make investigations and report upon all matters touching the enforcement and effect of the rules and regulations.

The service classified under the act, and to which it and the rules apply, embraces the Executive Departments at Washington, the Department of Labor, and the Civil Service Commission, the Fish Commission; the customs districts in each of which there are twenty or more employés, thirty-three in number; the free-delivery post-offices, now six hundred and nine; the Railway Mail Service, the Indian School Service, the employés of the Weather Bureau, including those employed away from Washington, numbering altogether about forty-five thousand places.

UNITED STATES COMMISSION OF FISH AND FISHERIES.

(Northwest corner of Sixth and B streets, S. W.)

The United States Commission of Fish and Fisheries was established by Joint Resolution of Congress approved February 9, 1871. It is placed in charge of a Commissioner of Fish and Fisheries, who is required to be a person of proved scientific and practical acquaintance with the fish and fisheries of the sea, coast, and inland waters. Reports are made annually to Congress.

The scope of the work of the Commission covers (1) the propagation of useful food fishes, including lobsters, oysters, and other shellfish, and their distribution to suitable waters; (2) the inquiry into the causes of the decrease of food fishes in the lakes, rivers, and coast waters of the United States, the study of the waters of the interior in the interest of fish culture, and the investigation of the fishing grounds of the Atlantic, Gulf, and Pacific coasts, with the view of determining their food resources and the development of the commercial fisheries; (3) the collection and compilation of the statistics of the fisheries and the study of their methods and relations.

In the prosecution of its work the Commission operates 19 stations situated in different parts of the country, 4 fish-distributing cars, 2 steam vessels, and 1 sailing vessel.

COURT OF CLAIMS.

Jurisdiction.—This court was established by act of Congress, February 24, 1855 (10 Stat. L., 612). It has general jurisdiction of all "claims founded upon the Constitution of the United States or any law of Congress, except for pensions, or upon any regulation of an Executive Department, or upon any contract, expressed or implied, with the Government of the United States, or for damages, liquidated or unliquidated, in cases not sounding in tort, in respect of which claims the party would be entitled to redress against the United States, either in a court of law, equity, or admiralty, if the United States were suable, except claims growing out of the late civil war, and commonly known as war claims," and certain rejected claims.

It has jurisdiction also of claims of like character which may be referred to it by any Executive Department, involving disputed facts or controverted questions of law, where the amount in controversy exceeds $3,000, or where the decision will affect a class of cases or furnish a precedent for the future action of any Executive Department in the adjustment of a class of cases, or where any authority, right, privilege, or exemption is claimed or denied under the Constitution. In all the above-mentioned cases the court, when it finds for the claimant, may enter judgment against the United States, payable out of the public Treasury. An appeal, only upon questions of law, lies to the Supreme Court on the part of the defendants in all cases, and on the part of the claimants when the amount in controversy exceeds $3,000. The findings of fact by the Court of Claims are final and not subject to review by the Supreme Court.

By the act of March 3, 1883, chapter 116 (22 Stat. L., 485, and 1 Supplement to R. S., 2d ed., p. 403), called the "Bowman act," the head of an Executive Department may refer to the court any "claim or matter" pending in his Department involving controverted questions of fact or law. The court is required to find the facts and its conclusions of law and to report the same to the Department for its guidance and action. The same act authorizes either House of Congress, or any of its committees, to refer to the court any "claim or matter" involving the investigation and determination of facts, the court to find the facts and report the same to Congress for such action thereon as may there be determined. This act is extended by act of March 2, 1887, chapter 359 (24 Stat. L., 505, and 1 Supplement to R. S., 2d ed., p. 559).

There is a statute of limitations which prevents parties from bringing actions on their own motion beyond six years after the cause of action accrued, but the Departments may refer claims at any time, if they were pending therein within the six years. The only limitation under the "Bowman act" is that the court shall have no jurisdiction of any claim barred before the passage of the act by any then existing provision of law.

By act of January 20, 1885 (23 Stat. L., 283, and 1 Supplement to R. S., 2d ed., p. 471), Congress gave to the court jurisdiction over "claims to indemnity upon the French Government arising out of illegal captures, detentions, seizures, condemnations, and confiscations prior to the ratification of the convention between the United States and the French Republic, concluded on the 30th day of September, 1800." The time of filing claims is limited to two years from the passage of the act, and all claims not presented within that time are forever barred. The court finds the facts and the law, and reports the same in each case to Congress.

By act of March 3, 1891, chapter 538 (26 Stat. L., 851, and Supplement to R. S., 2d ed., p. 913), the court is vested with jurisdiction of certain Indian depredation claims.

There are five judges, who sit together in the hearing of cases, the concurrence of three of whom is necessary for the decision of any case.

Term.—The court sits at Washington, D. C., in the Department of Justice Building, 1509 Pennsylvania avenue, on the first Monday in December each year, and continues into the following summer and until all cases ready for trial are disposed of. Cases may be commenced and entered at any time, whether the court be in session or not.

THE GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE.

The Public Printer.—The Public Printer has charge of all business relating to the public printing and binding. He appoints the officers and employés of the Government Printing Office, and purchases all necessary machinery and material.

The Chief Clerk.—The Chief Clerk has general supervision of the clerks and clerical work of the office. He conducts the correspondence relating to public business, and performs such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Public Printer.

The Foreman of Printing.—The Foreman of Printing has charge of all matter which is to be printed. His department consists of the following divisions: The Document, Job, Specification, Press, Folding, Stereotype, and Congressional Record rooms, as well as the various branch offices.

The Foreman of Binding.—The Foreman of Binding has charge of the Bindery, in which division all work requiring binding, ruling, or marbling is executed. The binderies of the branch offices are under his supervision.

BOARD ON GEOGRAPHIC NAMES.

(Organized September 4, 1890.)

That uniform usage in regard to geographic nomenclature and orthography shall obtain throughout the Executive Departments of the Government, and particularly upon maps and charts issued by the various Departments and Bureaus, this Board is constituted. To it shall be referred all unsettled questions concerning geographic names which arise in the Departments, and the decisions of the Board are to be accepted by the Departments as the standard authority in such matters.

BUREAU OF THE AMERICAN REPUBLICS.

The Bureau of the American Republics was established under the recommendation of the late International American Conference, for the prompt collection and distribution of commercial information concerning the American Republics. It publishes translations of the tariffs of the countries of Latin America reduced to the United States equivalents; also Hand-Books of these countries, and a monthly bulletin containing the latest information respecting their resources, commerce, and general features. Replies are also furnished to inquiries in relation to the commercial and other affairs of the countries, and items of news giving recent laws of general interest, development of railways, agriculture, mines, manufactures, shipping, etc., are given to the press. The Bureau is sustained by contributions from the several American Republics in proportion to their population.

INTERCONTINENTAL RAILWAY COMMISSION.

The examination of the possible routes and preparation of reports on their length, cost, and advantages, together with the conduct of proper surveys for an intercontinental railway to connect the United States of America and the other Republics of the American Continent.
