18 (3) sub-Saharan Africa represents a region of 19 enormous economic potential and of enduring polit-

4 (a) FINDINGS.—The Senate makes the following find-
5 ings:

6 (1) The United States has a deep and sustained
7 interest in the promotion of deregulation, competition,
8 and regulatory reform in Japan.

9 (2) New and bold measures by the Government
10 of Japan regarding regulatory reform will help re-
11 move the regulatory and structural impediments to 12 the effective functioning of market forces in the Japa-
13 nese economy.

14 (3) Regulatory reform will increase the efficient
15 allocation of resources in Japan, which is critical to 16 returning Japan to a long-term growth path powered
17 by domestic demand.

18 (4) Regulatory reform will not only improve
19 market access for United States business and other
20 foreign firms, but will also enhance consumer choice
21 and economic prosperity in Japan.

1           (5) A sustained recovery of the Japanese econ-
2           omy is vital to a sustained recovery of Asian econo-
3           mies.

4           (6) The Japanese economy must serve as one of 5           the main engines of growth for Asia and for the global 6           economy.

7           (7) The Governments of the United States and 8           Japan reconfirmed the critical importance of deregula-
9           tion, competition, and regulatory reform when the 10          two governments established the Enhanced Initiative
11          on Deregulation and Competition Policy in 1997.

12          (8) Telecommunications is a critical sector re-
13          quiring reform in Japan, where the market is ham-
14          pered by a history of laws, regulations, and monopo-
15          listic practices that do not meet the needs of a com-
16          petitive market.

17          (9) As the result of Japan's laws, regulations,
18          and monopolistic practices, Japanese consumers and 19          Japanese industry have been denied the broad benefits
20          of innovative telecommunications services, cutting
21          edge technology, and lower prices that competition
22          would bring to the market.

23          (10) Japan's significant lag in developing 24          broadband and Internet services, and Japan's lag in 25          the entire area of electronic commerce, is a direct re-

1 sult of a noncompetitive telecommunications regu-
2 latory structure.

3 (11) Japan's lag in developing broadband and 4 Internet services is evidenced by the following:

5 (A) Japan has only 17,000,000 Internet
6 users, while the United States has 80,000,000
7 Internet users.

8 (B) Japan hosts fewer than 2,000,000
9 websites, while the United States hosts over 10 30,000,000 websites.

11 (C) Electronic commerce in Japan is valued
12 at less than $1,000,000,000, while in the United 13 States electronic commerce is valued at over 14 $30,000,000,000.

15 (D) 19 percent of Japan's schools are con-
16 nected to the Internet, while in the United States
17 89 percent of schools are connected.

18 (12) Leading edge foreign telecommunications
19 companies, because of their high level of technology
20 and innovation, are the key to building the necessary
21 telecommunications infrastructure in Japan, which 22 will only be able to serve Japanese consumers and in-
23 dustry if there is a fundamental change in Japan's 24 regulatory approach to telecommunications.

1       (b) SENSE OF THE SENATE.—It is the sense of the Sen-
2 ate that—

3           (1) the appropriate officials in the executive 4 branch should implement vigorously the call for 5 Japan to undertake a major regulatory reform in the 6 telecommunications sector, the so-called “Tele-
7 communications Big Bang”;

8           (2) a “Telecommunications Big Bang” must ad-
9 dress fundamental legislative and regulatory issues
10 within a strictly defined timeframe;

11          (3) the new telecommunications regulatory 12 framework should put competition first in order to 13 encourage new and innovative businesses to enter the 14 telecommunications market in Japan;

15          (4) the Government of Japan should ensure that
16 Nippon Telegraph and Telephone Corporation (NTT)
17 and its affiliates (the NTT Group) are prevented from 18 using their dominant position in the wired and wire-
19 less market in an anticompetitive manner; and

20          (5) the Government of Japan should take credible
21 steps to ensure that competitive carriers have reason-
22 able, cost-based, and nondiscriminatory access to the 23 rights-of-way, facilities, and services controlled by 24 NTT, the NTT Group, other utilities, and the Govern-
25 ment of Japan, including—

1           (A) access to interconnection at market-
2 based rates;

3           (B) unrestricted access to unbundled ele-
4 ments of the network belonging to NTT and the 5 NTT Group; and

6           (C) access to public roads for the installa-
7 tion of facilities.

1           (1) The burden of external debt has become a
2           major impediment to economic growth and poverty
3           reduction in many of the world's poorest countries.

4           (2) Until recently, the United States Government

8           (3) Despite such efforts, the cumulative debt of 9           many of the world's poorest countries continued to 10          grow beyond their capacity to repay.

11          (4) In 1997, the Group of Seven, the World

5           (b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress

10          relief available to the world’s poorest countries in a

12          alleviation;

13          (2) this program of bilateral and multilateral

18          beneficiary countries;

19          (3) this program of debt relief should also sup-
20          port the adoption of policies to alleviate poverty and

22          population, such as through initiatives to advance
23          education, improve health, combat AIDS, and pro-
24          mote clean water and environmental protection;

1           (4) these debt relief agreements should be de-
2 signed and implemented in a transparent manner
3 and with the broad participation of the citizenry of 4 the debtor country and should ensure that country

8 United States on terrorism or narcotics enforcement,
