8 SEC. 3. FINDINGS.

9       Congress finds the following:

1           (1) All human beings are created equal and 2           possess certain rights and freedoms, including the 3           fundamental right to participate in the political life
4           and government of their respective countries.

5           (2) The development of democracy constitutes a
6           long-term challenge that goes through unique phases
7           and paces in individual countries as such countries
8           develop democratic institutions such as a thriving
9           civil society, a free media, and an independent judi-
10          ciary, and must be led from within such countries,
11          including by individuals, nongovernmental organiza-
12          tions, and movements, and by nationals of such 13          countries who live abroad.

14          (3) Individuals, nongovernmental organizations,
15          and movements that support democratic principles,
16          practices, and values are under increasing pressure 17          from governments of nondemocratic countries (as 18          well as, in some cases, in democratic transition coun-
19          tries), including by using administrative and regu-20          latory mechanisms to undermine the activities of 21          such individuals, organizations, and movements.

22          (4) Democratic countries have a number of in-23          struments available for supporting democratic re-
24          formers who are committed to promoting effective, 25          nonviolent change in nondemocratic countries and

1 who are committed to keeping their countries on the 2 path to democracy.

3 (5) United States efforts to promote democracy
4 and protect human rights can be strengthened to 5 improve assistance for such reformers, including 6 through an enhanced role for United States dip-7 lomats when properly trained and given the right in-8 centives.

9 (6) The promotion of democracy requires a 10 broad-based effort with collaboration between all 11 democratic countries, including through the Commu-
12 nity of Democracies.

13 SEC. 4. STATEMENT OF POLICY.

14 It shall be the policy of the United States—

15 (1) to promote freedom and democracy in for-16 eign countries as a fundamental component of 17 United States foreign policy, along with other key 18 foreign policy goals;

19 (2) to affirm fundamental freedoms and human 20 rights in foreign countries and to condemn offenses 21 against those freedoms and rights as a fundamental 22 component of United States foreign policy, along 23 with other key foreign policy goals;

24 (3) to protect and promote fundamental free-
25 doms and rights, including the freedoms of associa-

1 tion, of expression, of the press, and of religion, and 2 the right to own private property;

3 (4) to promote democracy through the pro-
4 motion of democratic institutions, including institu-
5 tions that support the rule of law (such as an inde-6 pendent judiciary), an independent and professional 7 media, strong legislatures, a thriving civil society,
8 transparent and professional independent govern-
9 mental auditing agencies, civilian control of the mili-
10 tary, and institutions that promote the rights of mi-
11 norities and women;

12 (5) to provide appropriate support to individ-
13 uals nongovernmental organizations, and movements
14 located in nondemocratic countries that aspire to live 15 in freedom and establish full democracy in such 16 countries;

17 (6) to provide, political, economic, and other 18 support to foreign countries and individuals, non-19 governmental organizations, and movements that are 20 willingly undertaking a transition to democracy; and

21 (7) to strengthen cooperation with other demo-

2 the purposes of this section $50,000,000 for fiscal 3 year 2008 and $60,000,000 for fiscal year 2009.
4 Amounts appropriated under this section are author-
5 ized to remain available until expended.

6 (2) ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES.—Not more
7 than five percent of amounts appropriated to the 8 Human Rights and Democracy Fund for each fiscal 9 year may be applied toward administrative expenses
10 associated with carrying out this section.

11 (3) CONTRIBUTIONS.—The Secretary may ac-
12 cept contributions to the Human Rights and Democ-
13 racy Fund from the governments of other demo-
14 cratic countries, private foundations, private citizens,
15 and other nongovernmental sources. Any such con-
16 tributions shall be merged into such Fund and shall 17 be available to the same extent and under the same
18 conditions as other amounts available to the Fund.

19 SEC. 303. INSTRUMENTS FOR PROVIDING DEMOCRACY AS-
20 SISTANCE.

21 (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

22 (1) Democracy assistance has many different 23 forms, including assistance to promote the rule of 24 law, build the capacity of civil society, political par-25 ties, and legislatures, improve the independence of

1 the media and the judiciary, enhance independent
2 auditing functions, and advance security sector re-
3 form.

4 (2) Assistance through United States non-gov-
5 ernmental organizations in the form of grants and 6 cooperative agreements can play a key role in that 7 such organizations frequently have long-standing re-8 lationships with individuals and nongovernmental or-9 ganizations that support democratic principles, prac-
10 tices, and values in foreign countries, and have other 11 means that enable them to foster those relationships, 12 and allow assistance to be provided without direct 13 government involvement that could undermine the 14 purpose of such assistance (by, for example, creating 15 an appearance of outside interference).

16 (3) Contracts and other acquisition mecha-
17 nisms, because of their more direct association with 18 and control by the United States Government, may 19 not be as effective as non-governmental organiza-
20 tions in working to build the political capacity of 21 civil society, political parties, and legislatures, but 22 have an appropriate role to play in providing certain 23 technical solutions and related assistance in such 24 areas as fostering independence of the judiciary, pro-25 viding modern infrastructures for parliaments, in-

1       creasing capacity of executive auditing functions,
2       and working in other government-to-government
3       areas where the involvement of United States offi-
4       cials and employees is appropriate.

5           (4) There is a need for greater clarity on the 6       proper roles for such methods in order to improve
7       the effectiveness of United States democracy assist-8       ance.

9       (b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Con-10      gress that the Secretary and the Administrator of the 11      United States Agency for International Development
12      should develop guidelines, in consultation with the appro-13      priate congressional committees, building on the existing 14      framework for grants, cooperative agreements, and con-
15      tracts and other acquisition mechanisms to clarify for dip-
16      lomatic and consular missions abroad the appropriate 17      roles for the methods referred to in subsection (a) with 18      respect to democracy assistance, including taking into ac-
19      count the advantages of each such method.

20           TITLE IV—PRESIDENTIAL
21           ACTIONS

22      SEC. 401. INVESTIGATION OF VIOLATIONS OF INTER-
23           NATIONAL HUMANITARIAN LAW.

24           (a) IN GENERAL.—The President, with the assist-25      ance of the Secretary, the Under Secretary of State for

1 Democracy and Global Affairs, and the Ambassador-at-2 Large for War Crimes Issues, shall collect information re-
3 garding incidents that may constitute crimes against hu-
4 manity, genocide, slavery, or other violations of inter-
5 national humanitarian law by leaders or other government
6 officials of nondemocratic countries or democratic transi-
7 tion countries.

8 (b) ACCOUNTABILITY.—The President shall consider 9 what actions can be taken to ensure that such leaders or 10 other government officials of foreign countries who are 11 identified in accordance with subsection (a) as responsible 12 for crimes against humanity, genocide, slavery, or other 13 violations of international humanitarian law are brought 14 to account for such crimes in an appropriately constituted 15 tribunal, including enhancing the capacity of United 16 States diplomatic missions to implement restrictions on 17 assistance to individuals or entities, including military 18 units, that commit gross violations of human rights, such 19 as through training on the use of existing databases for 20 documenting and monitoring such violations.
