A BILL

To authorize the Secretary of State and the Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development to provide assistance to support the rights of women and girls in developing countries, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

1 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

2 This Act may be cited as the “Girls Count Act of 3 2015”.

4 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

5 Congress makes the following findings:

6 (1) According to the United States Census Bu-
7 reau’s 2013 international figures, 1 person in 12, or 8 close to 900,000,000 people, is a girl or young 9 woman age 10 through 24.

10 (2) The Census Bureau’s data also illustrates 11 that young people are the fastest growing segment
12 of the population in developing countries.

13 (3) Even though most countries do have birth 14 registration laws, four out of ten babies born in 15 2012 were not registered worldwide. Moreover, an 16 estimated 36 percent of children under the age of 17 five worldwide (about 230,000,000 children) do not 18 possess a birth certificate.

19 (4) A nationally recognized proof of birth sys-
20 tem is important to determining a child’s citizenship, 21 nationality, place of birth, parentage, and age. With-22 out such a system, a passport, driver’s license, or 23 other identification card is difficult to obtain. The 24 lack of such documentation can prevent girls and 25 women from officially participating in and benefit-

1       ting from the formal economic, legal, and political 2       sectors in their countries.

3           (5) The lack of birth registration among girls
4       worldwide is particularly concerning as it can exacer-5       bate the disproportionate vulnerability of women to 6       trafficking, child marriage, and lack of access to 7       health and education services.

8           (6) A lack of birth registration among women
9       and girls can also aggravate what, in many places,
10      amounts to an already reduced ability to seek em-
11      ployment, participate in civil society, or purchase or 12      inherit land and other assets.

13          (7) Girls undertake much of the domestic labor
14      needed for poor families to survive: carrying water, 15      harvesting crops, tending livestock, caring for young-
16      er children, and doing chores.

17          (8) Accurate assessments of access to edu-
18      cation, poverty levels, and overall census activities 19      are hampered by the lack of official information on 20      women and girls. Without this rudimentary informa-21      tion, assessments of foreign assistance and domestic 22      social welfare programs are difficult to gauge.

23          (9) To help ensure that women and girls are 24      considered in United States foreign assistance poli-25      cies and programs, that their needs are addressed in

1 the design, implementation, and evaluation of for-
2 eign assistance programs, and that women and girls
3 have the opportunity to succeed, it is important that 4 girls be counted and have access to birth certificates
5 and other official documentation.

6 SEC. 3. STATEMENT OF POLICY.

7 It is the policy of the United States to—

8 (1) encourage countries to support the rule of 9 law and ensure girls and boys of all ages are able 10 to fully participate in society, including by providing 11 birth certifications and other official documentation;

12 (2) enhance training and capacity-building in 13 key developing countries, local nongovernmental or-14 ganizations, and other civil society organizations, in-15 cluding organizations representing children and fam-
16 ilies in the design, implementation, and monitoring
17 of programs under this Act, to effectively address
18 the needs of birth registries in countries where girls 19 are systematically undercounted; and

20 (3) incorporate into the design, implementation, 21 and evaluation of policies and programs measures to 22 evaluate the impact that such policies and programs
23 have on girls.

1 SEC. 4. UNITED STATES ASSISTANCE TO SUPPORT COUNT-
2 ING OF GIRLS IN THE DEVELOPING WORLD.

3 (a) AUTHORIZATION.—The Secretary and the Admin-
4 istrator are authorized to prioritize and advance ongoing 5 efforts to—

6 (1) support programs that will contribute to im-
7 proved and sustainable Civil Registration and Vital
8 Statistics Systems (CRVS) with a focus on birth
9 registration;

10 (2) support programs that build the capacity of 11 developing countries' national and local legal and 12 policy frameworks to prevent discrimination against 13 girls;

14 (3) support programs to help increase property
15 rights, social security, home ownership, land tenure 16 security, and inheritance rights, particularly for 17 women; and

18 (4) assist key ministries in the governments of 19 key developing countries, including health, interior,
20 youth, and education ministries, to ensure that girls
21 and boys from poor households have equitable access 22 to social programs.

23 (b) COORDINATION WITH MULTILATERAL ORGANI-
24 ZATIONS.—The Secretary and the Administrator are au-
25 thorized to coordinate with the World Bank, relevant
26 United Nations agencies and programs, and other relevant

1 organizations to encourage and work with countries to 2 enact, implement, and enforce laws that specifically collect 3 data on girls and establish registration programs to ensure 4 girls are appropriately counted and have the opportunity 5 to be active participants in the social, legal, and political 6 sectors of society in their countries.

7 (e) COORDINATION WITH PRIVATE SECTOR AND 8 CIVIL SOCIETY ORGANIZATIONS.—The Secretary and the 9 Administrator are authorized to work with the United 10 States, international, and local private sector and civil so-11 ciety organizations to advocate for the registration and 12 documentation of all girls and boys in developing coun-13 tries, in order to help prevent exploitation, violence, and 14 other abuses and to help provide economic and social op-
15 portunities.

16 SEC. 5. REPORT.

17 The Secretary and the Administrator shall include in 18 relevant evaluations and reports to Congress the following 19 information:

20 (1) To the extent practicable, a breakdown of 21 United States foreign assistance beneficiaries by age,
22 gender, marital status, location, and school enroll-
23 ment status.

24 (2) A description, as appropriate, of how 25 United States foreign assistance benefits girls.

1           (3) Specific information, as appropriate, on pro-
2           grams that address the particular needs of girls.

3 SEC. 6. DEFINITIONS.

4           In this Act:

5           (1) ADMINISTRATOR.—The term “Adminis-6           trator” means the Administrator of the United 7           States Agency for International Development.

8           (2) FOREIGN ASSISTANCE.—The term “foreign 9           assistance” has the meaning given the term in sec-
10          tion 634(b) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961
11          (22 U.S.C. 2394(b)).

12          (3) SECRETARY.—The term “Secretary” means
13          the Secretary of State.

14 SEC. 7. SUNSET.

15          This Act shall expire on the date that is five years
16          after the date of the enactment of this Act.
