3 “§ 1701. Findings; purpose; definitions

4 “(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

5 “(1) The free flow of government information is 6 fundamental to a democratic society, and members
7 of the public have a right of access to government
8 information.

9 “(2) The Federal Depository Library Program
10 is an essential means by which members of the pub-
11 lic access government information. These libraries
12 partner with the Government Publishing Office and 13 offices of the Federal Government to ensure that 14 members of the public throughout the United States
15 have effective, no-fee access to government informa-
16 tion.

17 “(3) The majority of government information
18 currently produced is in electronic format. As a re-
19 sult, 97 percent of new information available
20 through the Federal Depository Library Program is 21 in electronic format.

1           “(4) Government has a responsibility to dis-
2           seminate and provide permanent public access to in-
3           formation in order to ensure that members of the 4           public are fully aware of the activities of their gov-
5           ernment, to spur innovation and research, and to 6           promote good government.

7           “(5) The sole focus of the Superintendent of 8           Documents should be on implementing programs to 9           ensure no-fee access to government information.

10          “(b) PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of this chapter to 11          promote the greatest possible public access to information
12          dissemination products by authorizing the Superintendent
13          of Documents to—

14                 “(1) establish a national collection of informa-
15                 tion dissemination products and to provide no-fee, 16                 permanent public access to such collection through 17                 an online repository established and operated by the 18                 Director of the Government Publishing Office under 19                 subchapter C and through the Federal Depository
20                 Library Program under subchapter D;

21                 “(2) carry out a cataloging and indexing pro-
22                 gram for the products in such national collection;

23                 “(3) carry out a by-law distribution program
24                 and an international exchange service program
25                 under subchapter F; and

1           “(4) collaborate with offices of the Federal Gov-
2           ernment, Federal Depository Libraries, and library
3           associations and consortia.
