A BILL

To provide protection for survivors of domestic violence, sexual violence, and sex trafficking under the Fair Housing Act.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

1 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

2 This Act may be cited as the “Fair Housing for Sur-
3 vivors Act of 2026”.

4 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

5 Congress makes the following findings:

6 (1) Cities, towns, and rural communities in the 7 United States continue to face enormous challenges
8 regarding domestic violence, sexual assault, sex traf-
9 ficking, dating violence, stalking, and other forms of 10 intimate partner and gender-based violence.

11 (2) One in three women and one in four men
12 in the United States have experienced rape, physical 13 violence, or stalking by an intimate partner in his or 14 her lifetime.

15 (3) Intimate partner violence alone affects more
16 than 10,000,000 people in the United States every 17 year.

18 (4) Among women experiencing sex trafficking,
19 many of their traffickers are also their intimate
20 partners.

21 (5) Each day, an average of three women are 22 killed by a current or former partner.

23 (6) Researchers estimate that domestic violence
24 costs employers up to $8,300,000,000 each year,
25 and that sexual violence results in more than 26 $122,000 in lifetime costs per survivor and nearly

1 $3,100,000,000,000 in costs to the United States
2 economy across all 25,000,000 survivors in the 3 United States.

4 (7) Research indicates the following:

5 (A) 90 percent of homeless women report
6 having experienced severe physical or sexual vi-
7 olence at some point in their lives, including 8 sexual exploitation and trafficking.

9 (B) 84 percent of survivors in domestic vi-
10 olence shelters reported that they needed help
11 finding affordable housing. More than half of 12 victims who identified a need for housing serv-
13 ices did not receive them.

14 (C) Survivors who become homeless as a
15 result of sexual assault are vulnerable to fur-
16 ther violence, including sexual victimization, ex-
17 ploitation, and sex trafficking. Being homeless
18 can increase an individual's risk of experiencing
19 violence, including sexual violence.

20 (D) Women and men who experienced food
21 or housing insecurity in a 12-month period were 22 more likely to experience rape, physical violence,
23 or stalking by an intimate partner in the same
24 period.

1 (E) Women of color, domestic violence sur-
2 vivors, and women with children are among
3 those at the highest risk of eviction.

4 (F) Vulnerable women are also at risk of 5 sex trafficking and exploitation by landlords
6 who pressure them for sex in exchange for rent
7 or a delay in rent payments.

8 (G) Women who experience intimate part-
9 ner violence are four times more likely to expe-
10 rience homelessness than those who do not.

11 (H) A majority of survivors who experience
12 a sexual assault in their home do not relocate
13 to a safe environment because they do not have 14 sufficient funds, have a past eviction or crimi-
15 nal record related to their experience as a sur-
16 vivor, are not aware of temporary shelter and 17 housing resources available to survivors, or suf-
18 fer from trauma that can make relocation feel 19 impossible.

20 (I) Survivors of domestic violence or sexual 21 assault often face eviction based on a single in-
22 cident of violence.

23 (8) Domestic and sexual violence survivors
24 often find themselves trapped in homes where they 25 are further victimized by caregivers, parents, sib-

1 lings, landlords, intimate partners, neighbors, or oth-
2 ers in or near their home.

3 (9) Domestic and sexual violence survivors con-
4 tinue to face discrimination in securing and main-
5 taining housing based on their status as survivors
6 and as a result of abuse committed against them.

7 (10) Survivors of domestic violence or sexual 8 assault are commonly denied housing opportunities
9 if a previous residence of the survivor was a domes-
10 tic violence shelter, if the survivor has secured a pro-
11 tective order, or if there is other evidence that the 12 survivor has experienced a previous domestic vio-
13 lence incident.

14 (11) Securing safe and affordable housing for 15 survivors is a fundamental component of ending do-
16 mestic and sexual violence.
