SENATORS.

JOHN WALTER SMITH, Democrat, of Snow Hill, was born in that town February 5, 1845. His ancestors were among the first settlers of that part of the State, and his maternal grandfather, Judge William Whittington, was one of the early circuit judges of Maryland. His father, John Walter Smith, and his mother both died before he was 5 years old. He was educated at private schools and at Union Academy, and began his business career at the age of 18 years. He is engaged in the lumber business in Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina; is president of the First National Bank of Snow Hill, and is director in many business and financial institutions. He was elected to represent Worcester County in the Senate of Maryland in 1889, and was successively reelected in 1893 and 1897; was president of the State senate during the session of 1894; was nominated and elected to Congress from the first congressional district of Maryland in 1898; was elected governor of Maryland by over 12,000 plurality in 1899; served as governor from 1900 to 1904; was a delegate at large to the Democratic national convention held at Kansas City in 1900, and also to the St. Louis convention in 1904; was nominated by direct vote of the members of the Democratic Party of Maryland on November 5, 1907, by a plurality of 17,931, at the first primary election held in his State for United States Senator, to serve the term beginning March 4, 1909, and was thereafter elected United States Senator for that term by the general assembly of the State January 15, 1908. He was elected United States Senator at the same session of the Maryland Legislature, on March 24, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Hon. William Pinkney Whyte for the unexpired term ending March 3, 1909. At the senatorial primary election held throughout the whole State of Maryland on September 15, 1914, to elect delegates to the State convention to nominate a Democratic candidate for the Senate, Senator Smith defeated the opposing candidate in every county of the State and in every ward of Baltimore city—an unprecedented result. Every delegate to the State convention went with instructions from the people to vote for him, and he received a unanimous vote on the first ballot. At the ensuing general election on November 3, 1914, he defeated his Republican opponent by a plurality of over 15,000, and was thus nominated and reelected to succeed himself for the term which ends on March 3, 1921.

JOHN SHARP WILLIAMS, Democrat, of Benton, R. F. D. 1, Miss., was born July 30, 1854, at Memphis, Tenn.; his mother having died, his father, who was colonel of the Twenty-seventh Tennessee Volunteers, Confederate States Army, being killed at Shiloh, and Memphis being threatened with capture by the Federal Army, his family removed to his mother's family homestead in Yazoo County, Miss.; received a fair education at private schools, the Kentucky Military Institute, near Frankfort, Ky., the University of the South, Sewanee, Tenn., the University of Virginia, and the University of Heidelberg, in Baden, Germany; subsequently studied law under Profs. Minor and Southall at the University of Virginia and in the office of Harris, McKisick & Turley in Memphis; in 1877 got license to practice in the courts of law and chancery of Shelby County, Tenn.; in December, 1878, moved to Yazoo City, Miss., where he engaged in the practice of his profession and the varied pursuits of a cotton planter; was a delegate to the Chicago convention which nominated Cleveland and Stevenson; served as temporary chairman of the Democratic national convention in 1904; was elected to the Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth, Fifty-sixth, Fifty-seventh, Fifty-eighth, and Fifty-ninth Congresses, and reelected to the Sixtieth Congress, receiving all the votes cast; he had no opposition either for renomination or election. Was the candidate of his party for the office of Speaker in the Fifty-eighth, Fifty-ninth, and Sixtieth Congresses. On August 1, 1907, Mr. Williams was chosen at a primary election to be the candidate of the Democratic Party for the United States Senate, and on January 23, 1908, elected by the legislature to succeed Hon. H. D. Money, and took his seat April 4, 1911. Was a delegate to the Baltimore convention which nominated Woodrow Wilson. His term of service will expire March 3, 1917.

JAMES K. VARDAMAN, Democrat, of Jackson, Miss., was born in Jackson County, Tex., on July 26, 1861; his parents moved from Holmes County, Miss., to Texas in 1858; his father joined the Confederate Army and served four years; after the war the family returned to Mississippi and settled in Yalobusha County in 1868; young Vardaman was reared on the farm; at the age of 20 removed to Carrollton, Miss., and began the study of law in the office of Helm & Somerville; was admitted to the bar in the fall of 1881 and began the practice of law at Winona, Miss.; in connection with his law practice he edited the Winona Advance, a paper established by Senator H. D. Money; was married in Winona, Miss., to Mrs. Anna E. Robinson May 31, 1884, and has a family of three sons and two daughters; in the winter of 1884 removed from Winona to Greenwood, Miss., where he practiced law and became the owner and editor of the Greenwood Enterprise; from his majority has been active in politics; was one of the first men in the South to take up the cause of W. J. Bryan, and has been an ardent, earnest supporter of the distinguished Nebraskan from that time to the present; was elected to the legislature from Leflore County in 1889, and reelected in 1891; was candidate for speaker in 1892, but was defeated; was elected speaker in 1894; was Democratic presidential elector from the State at large in 1892; was also presidential elector in 1896; was a candidate for governor in 1895 and was defeated; in 1896 established the Greenwood Commonwealth and was its editor until elected governor in 1903; volunteered as a private for the Spanish-American War in 1898 and was elected captain of a company organized at Water Valley, his old home, but on account of bitter antagonism to the then governor, A. J. McLaurin, whose official conduct Mr. Vardaman had criticized in his newspaper, Gov. McLaurin refused to commission him; the company became so incensed at this treatment that it threatened to withdraw from the regiment, but in a speech to the company he urged them to do their duty, remain true to the flag, and elect one of their members captain and go to the front; he then withdrew, and a few days thereafter was offered the senior captaincy of the Fifth United States Volunteers, organized at Columbus, Miss., which place he accepted, and as soon as the regiment was organized went with it to Santiago de Cuba, where he remained until May, 1899; not long after the regiment's arrival at Cuba he was promoted to the rank of major; returning to Mississippi in 1899 he entered the contest for governor and was again defeated, the nomination going to A. H. Longino, the result of the work of the old convention system then in vogue; four years later Mr. Vardaman was nominated and elected governor, the first nomination under the primary system, defeating his three opponents by a large majority; in 1907 was a candidate for the United States Senate, but was defeated by Hon. John Sharp Williams by a majority of 640 votes; in 1910 the death of Senator A. J. McLaurin caused a vacancy, and he was again a candidate before the legislature, but was defeated by a combination which has become notorious as the "secret caucus"; he appealed his case to the people, and in a contest remarkable for its bitterness, on August 1, 1911, defeated the secret-caucus choice, Leroy Percy, by 60,000 votes in a total vote of 133,000.

REPRESENTATIVES.

AT LARGE.—Population (1910), 3,896,542.

JEFF McLEMORE, Democrat, of Houston, was born on a farm 2 miles west of Spring Hill, Maury County, Tenn., on Friday, March 13, in a storm; had but little schooling, because of his aversion to teachers, and, as a pupil, never saw the inside of a schoolroom after he was 14 years of age; came to Texas in the fall of 1878 and became a cowboy, "going up the trail" in the early part of 1879; spent four years in the mountains of Colorado and New Mexico, working part of the time as a miner, sometimes as a printer and newspaper reporter, and occasionally prospecting for gold and silver, but without making "a strike"; returned to Texas, at El Paso, in the spring of 1883, and went from there to Chihuahua and Parral, Mexico, spending several months engaged in mining and doing special newspaper work for eastern newspapers; returned from Mexico in December, 1883, and has been a resident of Texas ever since, being engaged principally in newspaper work; was elected to the lower house of the legislature in 1892 from the Corpus Christi district, composed of the counties of Nueces, Duval, San Patricio, and Aransas, and was reelected in 1894; removed from Corpus Christi to Austin in the latter part of 1895; later served as a member of Austin's board of aldermen; from 1900 to 1904, inclusive, was secretary of the State Democratic executive committee; was nominated, over bitter opposition, by the Democratic Party in 1914 for Congressman at large, and at the November election was elected to the Sixty-fourth Congress with practically no opposition. He is a bachelor and newspaper man, and for the past four years has made his home in Houston.

JAMES HARVEY DAVIS, Democrat, of Sulphur Springs, was born in Pickens district, S. C., near Walhalla, December 24, 1853; moved with parents to Texas in 1857, near Winnsboro, where he was raised, and received only a limited education in the common schools. His oldest brother fell in the Battle of Corinth; slaves were liberated and his mother died shortly after the war, leaving him and an elder brother as breadwinners for a large family of younger children. He taught school from 1875 to 1878, when he was elected judge of Franklin County, and was married to Miss Belle Barton, who helped him to raise a family of boys to manhood—Arlon Barton, Valton Gerston, Landon Vardo, and Henry Le Roy—their only daughter, Ira, dying in infancy. He was admitted to the bar in 1882 and practiced law 18 years; was national nonpartisan lecturer for the Farmers' Alliance three years; was in all the leading conferences and conventions that resulted in the formation of the Populist Party; was national committeeman and organizer for that party from 1892 to 1900; in debating the money question with Gen. Watt Hardin in 1892 at the capitol building in Frankfort, Ky., he was reported by the Cincinnati Enquirer and Chicago papers as "a Texas Cyclone," under which title over half of his mail is now received; was nominated for attorney general of Texas on that ticket in 1892, receiving over 100,000 votes, yet was defeated, though leading his party ticket some 8,000 votes; was nominated on same ticket for Congress in 1894, and in a close, violent, and hotly contested election certificate was issued to the Hon. D. B. Culbertson, his Democratic opponent; took a leading part in organizing the reform forces of the Nation under Mr. Bryan, commissioned by the Democratic, Silver-Republican, and Populist Parties in 1900 to unite these forces for Bryan, in which he spent nearly nine months and made about 300 speeches; took a leading part in the prohibition movement for many years, during which time he helped outlaw the traffic in over 100 counties in Texas and 5 States in the Union; campaigned in 9 States under Wilson's western headquarters; was appointed superintendent of agriculture for the Philippine Islands under the present administration, but declined in view of his race for Congress, recommending his son Valton for the appointment, with acceptance; nominated in Democratic primary July 25, 1914, with a lead of about 6,000 votes over nine opponents, and in November was elected to the Sixty-fourth Congress with the Hon. Jeff McLeMore, of Houston, as colleague, receiving some 200 votes less than his colleague, an alleged penalty for not having always been a "collar" Democrat, and heavily scratched by rabid antis.

² The Constitution (Art. I, sec. 4) provided that the Congress should assemble Mar. 4, 1789, and thereafter "in every year * * * on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day." Up to and including May 20, 1820, 18 acts were passed providing for the meeting of Congress on other days in the year. Since that year Congress has met regularly on the first Monday in December. The first and second sessions of the First Congress were held in New York; subsequently, until the second session of the Sixth Congress, Philadelphia was the meeting place; since then Congress has convened in Washington.

³ Elected to count the vote for President and Vice President, which was done Apr. 6, 1789, a quorum of the Senate then appearing for the first time. John Adams, Vice President, appeared Apr. 21, 1789, and took his seat as President of the Senate.

⁴ Elected Speaker, vice Henry Clay, who resigned Jan. 19, 1814.

⁵ Elected Speaker Nov. 15, 1820, vice Henry Clay, who resigned Oct. 28, 1820.

THE CAPITOL BUILDING.

The Capitol is situated in latitude $38^{\circ} 53' 20.4''$ north and longitude $77^{\circ} 00' 35.7''$ west from Greenwich. It fronts east and stands on a plateau 88 feet above the level of the Potomac.

ORIGINAL BUILDING.

The southeast corner stone of the original building was laid on the 18th of September, 1793, by President Washington, with Masonic ceremonies. It is constructed of sandstone from quarries on Aquia Creek, Va. The original designs were prepared by Dr. William Thornton, and the work was done under the direction of Stephen H. Hallet, James Hoban, George Hadfield, and B. H. Latrobe, architects. The north wing was finished in 1800 and the south wing in 1811. A wooden passageway connected them. On the 24th of August, 1814, the interior of both wings was destroyed by fire, set by the British. The damage to the building was immediately repaired. In 1818 the central portion of the building was commenced, under the architectural superintendence of Charles Bulfinch. The original building was finally completed in 1827. Its cost, including the grading of the grounds, alterations, and repairs, up to 1827, was $2,433,844.13.

EXTENSIONS.

The corner stone of the extensions was laid on the 4th of July, 1851, by President Fillmore, Daniel Webster officiating as orator. This work was prosecuted under the architectural direction of Thomas U. Walter till 1865, when he resigned, and it was completed under the supervision of Edward Clark. The material used in the walls is white marble from the quarries at Lee, Mass., and that in the columns from the quarries at Cockeysville, Md. The House extension was first occupied for legislative purposes December 16, 1857, and the Senate January 4, 1859.

The value of the Capitol Building and Grounds, October 14, 1911, is as follows: Building, $15,000,000; grounds, $10,400,000; total, $25,400,000.

DIMENSIONS OF THE BUILDING.

The entire length of the building from north to south is 751 feet 4 inches, and its greatest dimension from east to west 350 feet. The area covered by the building is 153,112 square feet.

DOME.

The Dome of the original central building was constructed of wood, covered with copper. This was replaced in 1856 by the present structure of cast iron. It was completed in 1865. The entire weight of iron used is 8,909,200 pounds.

The Dome is crowned by a bronze statue of Freedom, which is 19 feet 6 inches high and weighs 12,985 pounds. It was modeled by Crawford. The height of the Dome above the base line of the east front is 287 feet 5 inches. The height from the top of the balustrade of the building is 217 feet 11 inches. The greatest diameter at the base is 135 feet 5 inches.

The Rotunda is 97 feet 6 inches in diameter, and its height from the floor to the top of the canopy is 180 feet 3 inches.

The Senate Chamber is 113 feet 3 inches in length by 80 feet 3 inches in width and 36 feet in height. The galleries will accommodate 1,000 persons.

The Representatives' Hall is 139 feet in length by 93 feet in width and 36 feet in height.

The room now occupied by the Supreme Court was, until 1859, occupied as the Senate Chamber. Previous to that time the court occupied the room immediately beneath, now used as a law library.

OFFICE BUILDINGS.

The value of the Senate and House Office Buildings and Grounds is as follows: Senate Building, $3,732,078; grounds, $746,111; total, $4,478,189. House Building, $3,342,011; grounds, $743,452; total, $4,085,463.

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS.

(Capitol Hill. Phone, Main 2727.)

The Library of Congress was established in 1800, destroyed in 1814 by the burning of the Capitol, afterwards replenished by the purchase by Congress of the library of ex-President Jefferson, 6,760 volumes (cost, $23,950); in 1851, 35,000 volumes destroyed by fire; in 1852, partially replenished by an appropriation of $75,000; increased (1) by regular appropriations by Congress; (2) by deposits under the copyright law; (3) by gifts and exchanges; (4) by the exchanges of the Smithsonian Institution, the library of which (40,000 volumes) was, in 1866, deposited in the Library of Congress with the stipulation that future accessions should follow it. One hundred sets of Government publications are at the disposal of the Librarian of Congress for exchange, through the Smithsonian, with foreign Governments, and from this source are received about 12,000 volumes annually.

The collection is now the largest on the Western Hemisphere and the third in the world. It comprised at the end of the fiscal year (June 30, 1915) about 2,363,873 printed books and pamphlets (including the law library of 168,719 volumes, which, while a division of the Library of Congress, still remains at the Capitol), 147,553 maps and charts, 727,808 pieces of music, and 385,757 photographs, prints, engravings, and lithographs. It includes various special collections eminent in their respective fields.

The collection of manuscripts, touching every period of American history, includes the papers of nine of the Presidents and the records of the Continental Congress, with numerous other important groups—political, military, naval, and commercial.

The Smithsonian deposit is rich in scientific works, and includes the largest assemblage of the transactions of learned societies which exists in this country.

In 1897 the main collection was removed from the Capitol to the building erected for it under the acts of Congress approved April 15, 1886, October 2, 1888, and March 2, 1889, at a cost of $6,347,000 (limit by law, $6,500,000), exclusive of the land, which cost $585,000. The architects who furnished the original designs were John L. Smithmeyer and Paul J. Pelz. By the act of October 2, 1888, before the foundations were laid, Thomas L. Casey, Chief of Engineers of the Army, was placed in charge of the construction of the building, and the architectural details were worked out by Paul J. Pelz and Edward P. Casey. Upon the death of Gen. Casey, in March, 1896, the entire charge of the construction devolved upon Bernard R. Green, Gen. Casey's assistant, and under his superintendence the building was completed in February, 1897; opened to the public November, 1897. The building occupies 3½ acres, upon a site 10 acres in extent, at a distance of 1,270 feet east of the Capitol, and is the largest library building in the world. In the decorations some 40 painters and sculptors are represented—all American citizens. The floor space is 430,255 square feet, or nearly 10 acres.

The book stacks, including the new stack built over the southeast interior court, contain a total of about 100 miles of shelving, with capacity for 3,540,000 octavo volumes of books and 84,000 volumes of newspapers.

The Library is maintained by annual appropriations by Congress for various purposes, including the purchase of books. For the year 1915-16 these amounted to $660,105 (not including allotment for printing and binding, $200,000), as follows: $531,105 for services and contingent expenses (including the Copyright Office, and including also the care of the building); $98,000 for books and periodicals; $14,000 for fuel, supplies, and miscellaneous purposes; $17,000 for furniture, shelving, etc.

The Librarian of Congress and the Superintendent of the Library Building and Grounds are now appointed by the President of the United States, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate (act of 1897). The employees of the Library are appointed by the Librarian and Superintendent, respectively, under the act of 1897, which provides that they shall be appointed "solely with reference to their fitness for their particular duties."

The President, Vice President, Senators, Representatives, and Delegates in Congress are entitled by statute to draw books for home use (though no books can be given out on the orders of Members in favor of those who are not Members). The same privilege is extended by statute to Justices of the Supreme Court, the heads of the executive departments, and certain other officials.

Inter-library loans.—While not a lending library, but a reference library primarily and essentially, the Library of Congress maintains an inter-library loan system, by which special service is rendered to scholarship by the lending of books to other libraries for the use of investigators engaged in serious research which it is not within the power or duty of the library in question to supply, and which, at the time, are not needed in Washington.

Library service.—Library proper, 255 employees; Copyright Office, 91; legislative reference, 23; distribution of catalogue cards, 41; disbursement service and care of building and grounds, 134. Total, 544.

The publications issued by the Library are numerous, and include:

Annual reports, showing the progress of the Library.

Bibliographies, exhaustive statements of the literature of certain subjects, e. g., Philippine Islands.

Reference lists, containing principal references to questions of current interest, e. g., trusts, subsidies, railroads.

Catalogues, lists of special collections in the Library of Congress, e. g., Hubbard collection of engravings, Washington MSS., John Paul Jones MSS., maps of America, newspapers.

Special publications on library methods, e. g., catalogue rules, classification, etc.

There is but a limited free distribution of publications. The reports and other administrative documents are sent to a large number of institutions, and, on request, to such inquirers as can not be reached or adequately served by them. Publications which are costly and permanent contributions to knowledge are priced and placed on sale with the superintendent of documents, Government Printing Office.

Copyright Office.—The Copyright Office is a distinct division of the Library of Congress and is located on the ground floor, south side; open 9 to 4.30. It is under the immediate charge of the Register of Copyrights, who, by the act of March 4, 1909, is authorized, "under the direction and supervision of the Librarian of Congress," to perform all the duties relating to copyrights. Copyright registration was transferred to the Librarian of Congress by the act of July 8, 1870. Of most articles copyrighted two copies, and of some one copy, must be deposited to perfect copyright. Books, maps, musical compositions, photographs, periodicals, and other articles so deposited numbered, during the fiscal year 1914-15, 203,767 articles. Copyright fees applied and paid into the Treasury for the fiscal year 1914-15 amounted to $111,922.75.

Hours.—On week days (except legal holidays) the library building, main reading room, periodical reading room, and law library are open from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.; other parts of the Library, from 9 a. m. to 4.30 p. m. On Sundays and certain legal holidays the building, main reading room, periodical reading room, division of prints, music division, and maps division, are open from 2 to 10 p. m., the Librarian's office and the office of the chief clerk from 2 to 6 p. m.

EXECUTIVE.

THE WHITE HOUSE.

(Pennsylvania Avenue, between Fifteenth and Seventeenth Streets. Phone, Main 6.)

WOODROW WILSON, President, was born at Staunton, Va., December 28, 1856, and is a son of the Rev. Joseph R. Wilson and Jessie Woodrow Wilson, the former a distinguished scholar and clergyman of the Presbyterian Church of the South. His father was a native of Ohio and his mother of Scotland, and his ancestry on both sides is Scotch-Irish. His boyhood days were spent in Augusta, Ga., at Columbia, S. C., and Wilmington, N. C., where he prepared for college with private tutors and at the schools of these places. His real educator, however, was his father, a scholar of high order, for some years professor of the Columbia (S. C.) Theological Seminary, and who closed his career as professor in the Southwestern Theological Seminary, at Clarks-ville, Tenn. In 1874 he entered Davidson College, North Carolina, remained one year, and in the fall of 1875 went to Princeton College, from which he was graduated in the class of 1879. Following his graduation he entered the University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Va., as a law student, and was graduated in 1881. For two years he practiced law at Atlanta, Ga. In 1883 to 1885 did graduate work at the Johns Hop-kins University, Baltimore, Md., in political economy and history; 1885 to 1888, professor of history and political economy at Bryn Mawr College, Pennsylvania; 1888 to 1890, professor in the same branches of science at Wesleyan University. In June, 1890, he was elected professor of jurisprudence and political economy at Princeton University. In 1895 the department was divided and he was assigned to the chair of jurisprudence. In 1897 he was promoted to the McCormick professorship of jurispru- dence and politics. In 1902 he was elected president of the university, resigning both that office and his professorship in October, 1910, immediately after his nomina- tion for governor of New Jersey, to which office he was elected November 8, 1910, by a plurality of 49,056 votes. He was married June 24, 1885, to Miss Ellen Louise Axson, of a distinguished family of Savannah, Ga. Mrs. Wilson died at the White House on August 6, 1914. The President has three daughters, Miss Margaret Wood- row Wilson, Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre, and Mrs. William Gibbs McAdoo. He is the author of the following works: Congressional Government, in 1885; The State-Elements of Historical and Practical Politics, in 1889; Division and Reunion, in 1893; An Old Master, and Other Political Essays, in 1893; Mere Literature and Other Essays, in 1896; Life of George Washington, in 1896; History of the American People, in 1902; and Constitutional Government in the United States, in 1908. He was married at Washington December 18, 1915, to Mrs. Edith Bolling Galt, of that city.

JOSEPH P. TUMULTY, Secretary to the President (2311 Calvert Street), was born in Jersey City May 5, 1879; attended St. Bridget's parochial school and subse- quently entered St. Peter's College, Jersey City, from which he was graduated in 1899 with the degree of B. A.; admitted to the bar of New Jersey in 1902; practiced law in Jersey City. He was married in 1904 to Miss Mary Byrne, of Jersey City; they have six children, four girls and two boys. He served as a member of the New Jersey House of Assembly 1907-1910; in 1910 was appointed private secretary to Gov. Wilson and in 1912 clerk of the Supreme Court of New Jersey. He continued, however, to act as secretary to the governor until the governor resigned to become President. On March 4, 1913, he was appointed Secretary to the President.

Executive clerk.—Rudolph Forster, 3204 Seventeenth Street.

Chief clerk.—Thomas W. Brahany, The Northumberland.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

OFFICIAL DUTIES.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

SECRETARY OF STATE.

The Secretary of State is charged, under the direction of the President, with the duties appertaining to correspondence with the public ministers and the consuls of the United States, and with the representatives of foreign powers accredited to the United States; and to negotiations of whatever character relating to the foreign affairs of the United States. He is also the medium of correspondence between the President and the chief executives of the several States of the United States; he has the custody of the Great Seal of the United States, and countersigns and affixes such seal to all Executive proclamations, to various commissions, and to warrants for the extradition of fugitives from justice. He is regarded as the first in rank among the members of the Cabinet. He is also the custodian of the treaties made with foreign States, and of the laws of the United States. He grants and issues passports, and exequaturs to foreign consuls in the United States are issued through his office. He publishes the laws and resolutions of Congress, amendments to the Constitution, and proclamations declaring the admission of new States into the Union.

FISCAL BUREAUS AND OFFICES.

COMPTROLLER OF THE CURRENCY.

The Comptroller of the Currency is the chief officer of that bureau of the Treasury Department which is charged with the execution of all laws passed by Congress relating to the issue and regulation of the national currency, generally known as national-bank notes, secured by United States bonds; and under the supervision of the Federal Reserve Board is also in charge of the issue of circulating notes to Federal reserve banks.

In addition to these powers the comptroller exercises general supervision over all national banks throughout the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, in the matter of their organization and regulation. He is vested with the power to appoint receivers and to enforce penalties prescribed for violations of the national-bank act. Under the Federal reserve act he executed and issued the certificates or charters for the Federal reserve banks. The Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency are both ex officio members of the Federal Reserve Board.

Reports of condition of all national banks are made to the comptroller not less frequently than five times a year, by the banks, and also periodically by the national-bank examiners appointed by him.

His powers are exercised under the general supervision of the Secretary of the Treasury, but under the law his annual report is made direct to Congress; all other bureaus of the Treasury Department report to Congress through the Secretary of the Treasury.

TREASURER OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Treasurer of the United States is charged with the receipt and disbursement of all public moneys that may be deposited in the Treasury at Washington and in the subtreasuries, and in the national-bank depositories; is redemption agent for national-bank notes; is trustee for bonds held to secure national-bank circulation and public deposits in national banks, and bonds held to secure postal savings in banks; is custodian of miscellaneous trust funds; is fiscal agent for paying interest on the public debt and for paying the land-purchase bonds of the Philippine Islands, principal and interest; is treasurer of the board of trustees of the Postal Savings System; and is ex officio commissioner of the sinking fund of the District of Columbia.

COMMISSIONER OF INTERNAL REVENUE.

The commissioner has general superintendence of the collection of all internal-revenue taxes, the enforcement of internal-revenue laws; appointment of internal-revenue employees; compensation and duties of gaugers, storekeepers, and other subordinate officers; the preparation and distribution of stamps, instructions, regulations, forms, blanks, hydrometers, stationery, etc.

DIRECTOR OF THE MINT.

The Director of the Mint has general supervision of all the mints and assay offices of the United States. He prescribes the rules, to be approved by the Secretary of the Treasury, for the transaction of business at the mints and assay offices, receives daily reports of their operations, directs the coinage to be executed, reviews the accounts, authorizes all expenditures, superintends the annual settlements of the several institutions, and makes special examinations of them when deemed necessary. All appointments, removals, and transfers in the mints and assay offices are subject to his approval.

Tests of the weight and fineness of coins struck at the mints are made in the assay laboratory under his charge. He publishes quarterly an estimate of the value of the standard coins of foreign countries for customhouse and other public purposes. An annual report is prepared by the director, giving the operations of the mint service for the fiscal year, printed in the Finance Report of the Secretary of the Treasury, and giving the statistics of the production of the precious metals in the United States and the world for the calendar year.

COMPTROLLER OF THE TREASURY.

The Comptroller of the Treasury, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, prescribes the forms of keeping and rendering all public accounts except those relating to postal revenues and the expenditures therefrom. He is charged with the duty of revising accounts upon appeal from settlements made by the auditors. Upon the application of disbursing officers, the head of any executive department, or other independent establishment not under any of the executive departments, the comptroller is required to render his advance decision upon any question involving a payment to be made by them or under them, which decision, when rendered, governs the auditor and the comptroller in the settlement of the account involving the payment inquired about. He is required to approve, disapprove, or modify all decisions by auditors making an original construction or modifying an existing construction of statutes, and certify his action to the auditor whose duties are affected thereby. Under his direction the several auditors superintend the recovery of all debts finally certified by them, respectively, to be due the United States, except those arising under the Post Office Department. He superintends the preservation by the auditors of all accounts which have been finally adjusted by them, together with the vouchers and certificates relating to the same. He is required, on his own motion, when in the interests of the Government, to revise any account settled by any auditor. In any case where, in his opinion, the interests of the Government require, he may direct any of the auditors forthwith to audit and settle any particular account pending before the said auditor for settlement. It is his duty to countersign all warrants authorized by law to be signed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

AUDITOR FOR THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT.

The Auditor for the Treasury Department receives and settles all accounts of the Department of the Treasury, including all accounts relating to the customs service, the public debt, internal revenue, Treasurer and assistant treasurers, mints and assay offices, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Coast Guard, Public Health Service, public buildings, and Secret Service.

AUDITOR FOR THE WAR DEPARTMENT.

The Auditor for the War Department receives and settles all accounts of the Department of War, including all accounts relating to the military establishment, armories and arsenals, national cemeteries, fortifications, public buildings and grounds under the Chief of Engineers, rivers and harbors, the Military Academy, and the Panama Canal.

All claims and accounts arising under the Department of the Interior, which includes those having relation to the protection, survey, and sale of public and Indian lands, the reclamation of arid public and Indian lands, Army and Navy pensions, Indian affairs, Geological Survey, Bureau of Education, Bureau of Mines, Patent Office, Capitol Building and Grounds, Freedmen's Hospital, Howard University, Columbia Institution for the Deaf, Government Hospital for the Insane, Hot Springs Reservation, the Yosemite and other national parks, and the construction of railroads in Alaska, are required to be examined and settled in this office.

AUDITOR FOR THE NAVY DEPARTMENT.

The Auditor for the Navy Department receives and settles all accounts of the Department of the Navy, including all accounts relating to the Naval Establishment, Marine Corps, and the Naval Academy.

AUDITOR FOR THE STATE AND OTHER DEPARTMENTS.

The Auditor for the State and Other Departments receives and settles the accounts of the White House; the two Houses of Congress; the Supreme Court; the Departments of State, including the expenses of the Diplomatic and Consular Service; Justice, covering expenses of United States courts; Agriculture, including its field service; Commerce; Labor; also the accounts of the following governmental establishments: Government Printing Office; Interstate Commerce Commission; Smithsonian Institution and National Museum; District of Columbia; Civil Service Commission; the Federal Reserve Board; the Federal Trade Commission; and all boards, commissions, and establishments of the Government not under the administration of any executive department.

AUDITOR FOR THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

The Auditor for the Post Office Department receives and examines all accounts of the office of the Postmaster General and of all bureaus and offices under his direction; all postal and money-order accounts of postmasters and foreign administrations; all accounts relating to the transportation of mails, and to all other business within the jurisdiction of the Post Office Department; and certifies the balances arising thereon to the Postmaster General for accounts of the postal revenue and expenditures therefrom, and to the Secretary of the Treasury for other accounts. He also receives and examines reports and accounts of postmasters operating postal savings banks, and accounts for expenditures from the appropriation for continuing the establishment, maintenance, and extension of the postal savings depositories. He registers, charges, and countersigns the warrants upon the Treasury issued in liquidation of indebtedness; superintends the collecting of debts due the United States for the service of the Post Office Department and all penalties imposed; directs suits and all legal proceedings in civil actions; and takes all legal measures to enforce the payment of money due the United States for the service of the Post Office Department, and for this purpose has direct official relations with the Solicitor of the Treasury, Department of Justice. He receives and accepts, with the written consent of the Postmaster General, offers of compromise under sections 295 and 409, Revised Statutes. He is required to submit to the Secretary of the Treasury quarterly statements of postal receipts and expenditures, and to report to the Postmaster General the financial condition of the Post Office Department at the close of each fiscal year.

REGISTER OF THE TREASURY.

The Register of the Treasury signs all bonds of the United States, the bonds of the District of Columbia, the Philippine Islands, the city of Manila, the city of Cebu, and the Porto Rican gold loans, and keeps records showing the daily outstanding balances thereof. He certifies to the Treasurer of the United States, the Auditor for the Treasury, and the Loans and Currency Division, Secretary's Office, the interest due on United States loans at interest periods; also gives an administrative examination to paid interest checks received from the Treasurer, and transmits the same to the Auditor for the Treasury. He examines, assorts, and records all paid interest coupons and all other United States securities redeemed, and keeps records of the outstanding principal and interest of the bonded indebtedness of the Government.

BUREAU OF ENGRAVING AND PRINTING.

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing designs, engraves, prints, and finishes all of the securities and other similar work of the Government, embracing United States notes, bonds, and certificates, national-bank notes, Federal reserve notes, internal-revenue, postage, and customs stamps, Treasury drafts and checks, disbursing officers' checks, licenses, commissions, patent and pension certificates, and portraits authorized by law of deceased Members of Congress and other public officers; also all postage stamps and all securities issued by the Bureau of Insular Affairs to our insular possessions.

MISCELLANEOUS BUREAUS.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE.

The act approved August 14, 1912, changed the name of the Public Health and Marine-Hospital Service to the Public Health Service, and considerably increased its powers and functions. The bureau of the service at Washington comprises seven divisions, each under a commissioned officer. The operations of these divisions are coordinated, and are under the immediate supervision of the Surgeon General.

Through the Division of Scientific Research and Sanitation are conducted the scientific investigations of the service and the operations of the Hygienic Laboratory at Washington, established for the investigation of contagious and infectious diseases and matters relating to the public health. The advisory board of the Hygienic Laboratory consists of eight scientists, eminent in laboratory work in its relation to public health, detailed from other departments of the Government and appointed from endowed institutions. The board may be called into conference with the Surgeon General at any time, the meetings not to exceed 10 days in any one fiscal year. The Surgeon General is required by law to call a conference of all State and Territorial boards of health or quarantine authorities each year, the District of Columbia included, and special conferences when called for by not less than five of said authorities, and he is also authorized to call additional conferences when, in his opinion, the interests of public health demand it. He is charged with the enforcement of the act of July 1, 1902, "An act to regulate the sale of viruses, serums, toxins, and analogous products in the District of Columbia, to regulate interstate traffic in said articles, and for other purposes." He has supervision of special investigations upon leprosy conducted in Hawaii under the act of July 1, 1905.

Through the Division of Foreign and Insular Quarantine and Immigration the Surgeon General enforces the national quarantine laws and prepares the regulations relating thereto. He has control of 44 Federal quarantine stations in the United States, and others in the Philippines, Hawaii, and Porto Rico, and supervises the medical officers detailed in the offices of the American consular officers at foreign ports to prevent the introduction of contagious or infectious diseases into the United States. Under section 17 of the act approved February 20, 1907, he has supervision over the medical officers engaged in the physical and mental examinations of all arriving aliens.

Through the Division of Domestic (Interstate) Quarantine is enforced section 3 of the act of February 15, 1893, relating to the prevention of the spread of contagious or infectious diseases from one State or Territory into another. This includes the suppression of epidemics and the sanitation of interstate carriers.

Through the Division of Sanitary Reports and Statistics there is collected information of the sanitary condition of foreign ports and places and ports and places within the United States, including the existence of epidemics. This information, with morbidity and mortality statistics, domestic and foreign, is published in the weekly Public Health Reports and transmitted to State and municipal health officers and other sanitarians and to collectors of customs.

Through the Division of Marine Hospitals and Relief professional care is taken of sick and disabled seamen at 23 marine hospitals and 123 other relief stations. The beneficiaries include officers and men of the Coast Guard and officers and crews of registered, enrolled, or licensed vessels of the United States and of the Lighthouse Service, seamen employed on vessels of the Mississippi River Commission, and of the Engineer Corps of the Army. A purveying depot for the purchase and issuance of supplies is maintained at Washington. Physical examinations of officers and enlisted men of the Coast Guard and the examinations for the detection of color-blindness in masters, mates, and pilots are conducted through this division.

In the Division of Personnel and Accounts are kept the records of the officers and of the expenditures of the appropriations.

Through the Miscellaneous Division the various service publications are issued, including the annual reports, public health reports and reprints, public health bulletins, bulletins of the Hygienic Laboratory and Yellow Fever Institute, and the transactions of the annual conferences with State health authorities.

COAST GUARD.

The Captain Commandant of the Coast Guard is charged by law with the administration of the Coast Guard, under the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury. Headquarters are located at the Treasury Department. The act of January 28, 1915.

provided that the Coast Guard be created in lieu of the then existing Revenue-Cutter Service and the Life-Saving Service, and to be composed of those two organizations. It also provided that it shall constitute a part of the military forces of the United States, and shall operate under the Treasury Department in time of peace and operate as a part of the Navy, subject to the orders of the Secretary of the Navy, in time of war or when the President shall so direct.

In general the duties of the Coast Guard may be classified as follows: Rendering assistance to vessels in distress and saving life and property; destruction or removal of wrecks, derelicts, and other floating dangers to navigation; extending medical aid to American vessels engaged in deep-sea fisheries; protection of the customs revenue; operating as a part of the Navy in time of war or when the President shall direct; enforcement of law and regulations governing anchorage of vessels in navigable waters; enforcement of law relating to quarantine and neutrality; suppression of mutinies on merchant vessels; enforcement of navigation and other laws governing merchant vessels and motor boats; enforcement of law to provide for safety of life on navigable waters during regattas and marine parades; protection of game and the seal and other fisheries in Alaska, etc.; enforcement of sponge-fishing laws.

To assist the Captain Commandant in conducting the business of his office there are established at headquarters the following divisions:

Division of operations: Having cognizance of matters relating to the personnel and operations of the service.

Division of matériel: Having cognizance of matters relating to supplies, outfits, equipment, accounts, and the files.

Division of construction and repair: Having cognizance of matters relating to the construction of and repairs to the hulls of vessels and boats, stations, wharves, and all other property.

Division of engineering: Having cognizance of matters relating to the construction of and repairs to the motive power of vessels and boats and the machinery of all other property.

Division of inspection: Having cognizance of matters relating to the inspection of vessels, stations, boats, and all other property.

Under the direction of the Captain Commandant statistics are prepared regarding the loss of life and property on account of wrecked vessels in American waters. He is also required to acquaint himself, as far as practicable, with all means employed in foreign countries which may seem to affect advantageously the interests of the Coast Guard, and to cause to be properly investigated all plans, devices, and inventions for the improvement of life-saving apparatus for use at the stations which may appear to be meritorious and available.

SUPERVISING ARCHITECT.

Subject to the direction and approval of the Secretary of the Treasury, the duties performed by the Supervising Architect embrace the following: Securing cessions from States of jurisdiction over sites and the payment for the same; preparation of drawings, estimates, specifications, etc., for, and the superintendence of the work of, constructing, rebuilding, extending, or repairing public buildings; the care, maintenance, and repair of public buildings, the direction of the operating force in public buildings, and the supply of furniture, carpets, lighting fixtures, mechanical equipment, safes, and miscellaneous supplies for use of custodians' and engineers' forces in the care of public buildings.

DEPARTMENT OF WAR.

SECRETARY OF WAR.

The Secretary of War is head of the War Department, and performs such duties as are required of him by law or may be enjoined upon him by the President concerning the military service.

He is charged by law with the supervision of all estimates of appropriations for the expenses of the department, including the military establishment; of all purchases of Army supplies; of all expenditures for the support, transportation, and maintenance of the Army, and of such expenditures of a civil nature as may be placed by Congress under his direction.

He also has supervision of the United States Military Academy at West Point and of military education in the Army, of the Board of Ordnance and Fortification, of the various battlefield commissions, and of the publication of the Official Records of the War of the Rebellion.

He has charge of all matters relating to national defense and seacoast fortifications, Army ordnance, river and harbor improvements, the prevention of obstruction to navigation, and the establishment of harbor lines; and all plans and locations of bridges authorized by Congress to be constructed over the navigable waters of the United States require his approval. He also has charge of the establishment or abandonment of military posts, and of all matters relating to leases, revocable licenses, and all other privileges upon lands under the control of the War Department.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR.

To the Assistant Secretary of War is assigned the general direction and supervision of all matters relating to rivers and harbors; bridges over navigable waters of the United States; leases, revocable licenses, and all other privileges upon lands under the control of the War Department; inspections relating to the military establishment; recruiting service, discharges, commutation of rations, courts-martial, and other questions relating to enlisted men, including clemency cases and matters relating to prisoners at military prisons and penitentiaries.

He also has charge of routine matters relating to the militia; the promotion of rifle practice; the supervision of miscellaneous claims and accounts; matters relating to national cemeteries, boards of survey, open-market purchases, and medals of honor.

The Assistant Secretary of War is also vested with authority to decide all cases which do not involve questions of policy, the establishment or reversal of precedents, or matters of special or extraordinary importance.

ASSISTANT AND CHIEF CLERK.

The Assistant and Chief Clerk of the War Department is the head of the Office of the Secretary of War, and as such has charge of the records and files, and supervision of the receipt, distribution, and transmission of the official mail and correspondence of that office, and is charged with the administrative action required by law to be taken in connection with the settlement of disbursing officers' accounts that do not relate to the different staff corps of the Army. He has general supervision of matters relating to civilian employees in and under the War Department; printing and binding and advertising for the War Department and the Army; appropriations for contingent expenses, stationery, rent of buildings; and the department's telegraph and telephone service; and performs such other duties as may be required by the Secretary of War.

GENERAL STAFF.

The General Staff Corps was organized under the provisions of act of Congress approved February 14, 1903. Its principal duties are to prepare plans for the national defense and for the mobilization of the military forces in time of war; to investigate and report upon all questions affecting the efficiency of the Army and its state of preparation for military operations; to render professional aid and assistance to the Secretary of War and to general officers and other superior commanders and to act as their agents in informing and coordinating the action of all the different officers who are subject to the supervision of the Chief of Staff, and to perform such other military duties not otherwise assigned by law as may be from time to time prescribed by the President.

The Chief of Staff, under direction of the President, or of the Secretary of War under the direction of the President, has supervision of all troops of the line, of The Adjutant General's Department in matters pertaining to the command, discipline, or administration of the existing military establishment, and of the Inspector General's, Judge Advocate General's, Medical, and Ordnance Departments, the Quartermaster Corps, the Corps of Engineers, and the Signal Corps, and performs such other military duties not otherwise assigned by law as may be assigned to him by the President. For purposes of administration the Office of the Chief of Staff constitutes a supervising military bureau of the War Department.

DIVISION OF MILITIA AFFAIRS.

The Division of Militia Affairs is vested with the transaction of business pertaining to the organized and unorganized militia of the United States, its jurisdiction embracing all administrative duties involving the armament, equipment, discipline, training, education, and organization of the militia; the conduct of camps of instruction and participation in the field exercises and maneuvers of the Regular Army; the mobilization and relations of the militia to the Regular Army in time of peace; the preparation of annual returns of the militia required by law to be submitted to Congress; and all matters pertaining to the militia not herein generically enumerated which do not, under existing laws, regulations, orders, or practice, come within the jurisdiction of any other division or bureau of the War Department. It is the central office of record for all matters pertaining to the militia not in the military service of the United States.

MILITARY BUREAUS.

The chiefs of the military bureaus of the War Department are officers of the Regular Army of the United States and a part of the military establishment, viz:

The Adjutant General is charged with the duty of recording, authenticating, and communicating to troops and individuals in the military service all orders, instructions, and regulations issued by the Secretary of War through the Chief of Staff; of preparing and distributing commissions; of compiling and issuing the Army Register and the Army List and Directory; of consolidating the general returns of the Army; of arranging and preserving the reports of officers detailed to visit encampments of militia; of managing the recruiting service. He is also vested with the government and control, under the direction of the Secretary of War, of the United States disciplinary barracks and its branches, and of all offenders sent thereto for confinement and detention; and is charged with the duty of recording and issuing orders from the War Department remitting or mitigating sentences of general prisoners who have been discharged from the military service. The Adjutant General is vested by law with the charge, under the Secretary of War, "of the military and hospital records of the volunteer armies and the pension and other business of the War Department connected therewith"; and of the publication and distribution of the Official Records of the War of the Rebellion. He also has charge of the historical records and business of the permanent military establishment, including all pension, pay, bounty, and other business pertaining to or based upon the military or medical histories of former officers or enlisted men. The archives of The Adjutant General's office include all military records of the Revolutionary War; the records of all organizations, officers, and enlisted men that have been in the military service of the United States since the Revolutionary War; the records of the movements and operations of troops; the medical and hospital records of the Army; all reports of physical examination of recruits and all identification records; the records of the Provost Marshal General's Bureau; the records of the Bureau of Refugees, Freedmen, and Abandoned Lands; the Confederate records, including those pertaining to the legislative, executive, and judicial branches of the Confederate Government.

The Surgeon General is the adviser of the War Department upon all medical and sanitary affairs of the Army. He has administrative control of the Medical Department; the disbursement of its appropriations; the designation of the stations of medical officers and dental officers, and the issuing of all orders and instructions relating to their professional duties; the recruitment, instruction, and control of the Hospital Corps and of the Army Nurse Corps. He directs as to the selection, purchase, and distribution of the medical supplies of the Army. The Army Medical Museum, the library of the Surgeon General's Office, medical supply depots, and the general hospitals are under his direct control.

The Chief of Engineers commands the Corps of Engineers, which is charged with reconnoitering and surveying for military purposes, including the laying out of camps, selection of sites, and formation of plans and estimates for military defenses, construction and repair of fortifications and their accessories, the installation of electric-power plants and electric-power cable connected with seacoast batteries, and furnishing the necessary electrical supplies connected therewith; planning and superintending of defensive or offensive works of troops in the field; examination of routes of communications for supplies and for military movements; construction and repair of military roads, railroads, and bridges; and military demolitions. In time of war, within the theater of operations, it has charge of the location, design, and construction of wharves, piers, landings, storehouses, hospitals, and other structures of general interest; and of the construction, maintenance, and repair of roads, ferries, bridges, and incidental structures; and of the construction, maintenance, and operation of railroads under military control, including the construction and operation of armored trains.

The Corps of Engineers is also charged with the improvement of rivers and harbors; with matters arising under the laws for the protection and preservation of navigable waters, including the establishment of harbor lines, anchorage grounds, and rules and regulations therefor; rules and regulations for canals owned, operated, or maintained by the United States, for any public navigable channel improved under authority of Congress, and for the navigation of streams on which the floating of loose timber and sack rafts is the principal method of navigation; also with the issuance of permits for the construction, alteration, maintenance, and operation of bridges, the granting of permits for structures or work in navigable waters, and the removal of wrecks and other obstructions to navigation; with questions pertaining to the supervision of the harbor of New York and adjacent waters to prevent obstructive and injurious deposits; with surveying and charting the Great Lakes, the natural navigable waters of the New York State canals, Lake Champlain, the Lake of the Woods, and other boundary and connecting waters between said lake and Lake Superior; with the preservation of Niagara Falls; with public buildings and grounds in the District of Columbia; with the water supply of Washington, D. C.; with the construction of monuments and memorials; and with the construction of roads and bridges in the Yellowstone and Crater Lake National Parks.

The Chief of Ordnance commands the Ordnance Department, the duties of which consist in providing, preserving, distributing, and accounting for every description of artillery, small arms, and all the munitions of war which may be required for the fortresses of the country, the armies in the field, and for the whole body of the militia of the Union. In these duties are comprised that of determining the general principles of construction and of prescribing in detail the models and forms of all military weapons employed in war. They comprise also the duty of prescribing the regulations for the proof and inspection of all these weapons, for maintaining uniformity and economy in their fabrication, for insuring their good quality, and for their preservation and distribution.

The Chief Signal Officer is charged with the duty of operating or supervising the operation of all military air craft and with the duty of training officers and men connected therewith; with the supervision of all military signal duties, and of books, papers, and devices connected therewith, including telegraph, telephone, and radio apparatus and the necessary meteorological instruments for use on target ranges and other military uses; the construction, repair, and operation of military telegraph lines and cables, and the duty of collecting and transmitting information for the Army by telegraph or otherwise, and all other duties usually pertaining to military signaling.

To the Bureau of Insular Affairs, under the immediate direction of the Secretary of War, is assigned all matters pertaining to civil government in the island possessions of the United States subject to the jurisdiction of the War Department, the Philippine Islands and Porto Rico being the only ones so subject at the present time. The bureau is also the repository of the civil records of the government of occupation of Cuba (Jan. 1, 1899, to May 20, 1902), and had assigned to it matters pertaining to the provisional government of Cuba (Sept. 29, 1906, to Jan. 28, 1909). It makes a comptroller's review of the receipts and expenditures of the Philippine and Porto Rican governments; attends to the purchase and shipment of supplies for those governments; has charge of appointments of persons in the United States to the Philippine civil service and arranges their transportation. It gathers statistics of insular imports and exports, shipping and immigration, and issues semiannual summaries of the same. Under the convention of February 8, 1907, and the general regulations of the President of the United States issued thereunder, the bureau has immediate supervision and control of the Dominican receivership for the collection of customs revenues and payment of the interest and principal of the adjusted bonded indebtedness of the Dominican Republic, and in some respects acts as the agent in the United States of the receivership.

BOARD OF ENGINEERS FOR RIVERS AND HARBORS.

The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors is a permanent body created by the river and harbor act of June 13, 1902. To it are referred for consideration and recommendation all reports upon examinations and surveys provided for by Congress, and all projects or changes in projects for works of river and harbor improvement upon which report is desired by the Chief of Engineers, United States Army. It is further the duty of the board, upon request by the Committee on Commerce of the Senate, or by the Committee on Rivers and Harbors of the House of Representatives in the same manner, to examine and report through the Chief of Engineers upon any examinations, surveys, or projects for the improvement of rivers and harbors. In its investigations the board gives consideration to all engineering, commercial, navigation, and economic questions involved in determining the advisability of undertaking such improvements at the expense of the United States.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Attorney General is the head of the Department of Justice and the chief law officer of the Government. He represents the United States in matters involving legal questions; he gives his advice and opinion, when they are required by the President or by the heads of the other executive departments, on questions of law arising in the administration of their respective departments; he appears in the Supreme Court of the United States in cases of especial gravity and importance; he exercises a general superintendence and direction over United States attorneys and marshals in all judicial districts in the States and Territories; and he provides special counsel for the United States whenever required by any department of the Government.

SOLICITOR GENERAL.

The Solicitor General assists the Attorney General in the performance of his general duties, and, by special provision of law, in case of a vacancy in the office of the Attorney General, or of his absence or disability, exercises all those duties. Under the direction of the Attorney General, he has general charge of the business of the Government in the Supreme Court of the United States, and is assisted in the conduct and argument of cases therein by the Assistant Attorneys General. He also, with the approval of the Attorney General, prepares opinions rendered to the President and the heads of the executive departments, and confers with and directs the law officers of the Government throughout the country in the performance of their duties. When the Attorney General so directs, any case in which the United States is interested, in any court of the United States, may be conducted and argued by the Solicitor General; and he may be sent by the Attorney General to attend to the interests of the United States in any State court, or elsewhere.

THE ASSISTANT TO THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

The Assistant to the Attorney General has special charge of all suits and other matters arising under the Federal antitrust and interstate-commerce laws, and performs such other duties as may be required of him by the Attorney General.

ASSISTANT ATTORNEYS GENERAL.

The several Assistant Attorneys General assist the Attorney General in the performance of his duties. They assist in the argument of cases in the Supreme Court and in the preparation of legal opinions.

Five Assistant Attorneys General are located in the main department building at 1435 K Street, and, in addition to their general duties, particular subjects are assigned to them by the Attorney General for the transaction of business arising thereunder with United States attorneys, other departments, and private parties in interest.

The office of the Assistant Attorney General, including a number of assistant attorneys and clerks charged with defending suits in the Court of Claims, is located at 8 Jackson Place.

The Assistant Attorney General in charge of the interests of the Government in all matters of reappraisal and classification of imported goods in litigation before the several boards of United States General Appraisers and the Court of Customs Appeals is located at 641 Washington Street, New York.

The Assistant Attorneys General and the solicitors for the several executive departments, under the provisions of sections 349-350, Revised Statutes, exercise their functions under the supervision and control of the Attorney General. They are the Solicitor for the Department of the Interior, the Solicitor for the Department of State, the Solicitor of the Treasury, the Solicitor of Internal Revenue, the Solicitor of the Department of Commerce, and the Solicitor of the Department of Labor.

SOLICITOR FOR THE INTERIOR DEPARTMENT.

This solicitor is the chief law officer of that department. When requested he advises the Secretary and Assistant Secretaries upon questions of law arising in the administration of the department. All appeals from the General Land Office are sent to his office for consideration. Oral arguments are heard by him in the more important cases, or by brief; and decisions are prepared under his supervision for the signature of the Secretary or First Assistant Secretary, as the case may be. The solicitor is aided in this and his other work by a number of assistant attorneys.

SOLICITOR FOR THE DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

The solicitor is the chief law officer of that department. He advises the Secretary and Assistant Secretaries upon questions of municipal and international law referred to him, passes upon claims of citizens of the United States against foreign Governments, claims of subjects or citizens of foreign Governments against the United States, and upon applications for the extradition of criminals. The assistant solicitor acts as solicitor in the absence of the latter, and in the division of the work of the office has general charge of extradition and citizenship matters.

SOLICITOR OF THE TREASURY.

The Solicitor of the Treasury is charged with the supervision of much of the litigation of the Government, and it is his duty to give necessary instructions to United States attorneys, marshals, and clerks of courts in matters and proceedings appertaining to the suits under his superintendence, and to require reports from such officers; to take cognizance of all frauds or attempted frauds upon the revenue (customs) and to exercise a general supervision over the measures for their prevention and detection and for the prosecution of persons charged with the commission thereof; to have charge of lands acquired by the United States in payment of debts (except internal revenue); to make recommendations on offers of compromise (except in post-office cases and in internal-revenue cases before judgment); to effect the release of property owned or held by the United States where it has been attached; to approve the bonds of United States assistant treasurers, collectors of internal revenue, and department disbursing clerks, and to examine all contracts of, and official bonds filed in, the Treasury Department; to issue distress warrants against delinquent collectors and other officers receiving public money, and disbursing officers and their sureties; to examine titles to life-saving station sites; and as the law officer of the Treasury Department to give legal advice to the Secretary and other officers of that department on matters arising therein.

SOLICITOR OF INTERNAL REVENUE.

A Solicitor of Internal Revenue was added to the Internal-Revenue Office corps by the act of July 13, 1866 (14 Stat., 170), but by the act of June 22, 1870 (16 Stat., 162), organizing the Department of Justice, the solicitor was formally transferred to that department. He is the law officer and legal adviser of the commissioner. The only duties of his of which mention is made by law are in connection with internal-revenue compromise cases, section 3229, Revised Statutes.

SOLICITOR OF THE DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE.

The solicitor is the chief law officer of that department. His duties are to act as legal adviser for the Secretary of Commerce and the chiefs of the various bureaus of said department; to prepare and examine all contracts and bonds entered into or required by the said department; and to render such legal services in connection with matters arising in the administrative work of the Department of Commerce as may be desired by the head of the department or required of him by the Attorney General.

SOLICITOR OF THE DEPARTMENT OF LABOR.

The solicitor is the chief law officer of that department. His duties are to act as legal adviser for the Secretary of Labor and the chiefs of the various bureaus of said department; to prepare and examine all contracts and bonds entered into or required by said department; and to render such legal services in connection with matters arising in the administrative work of the Department of Labor as may be desired by the head of the department or required of him by the Attorney General.

THE PUBLIC LANDS DIVISION.

This division was created by the Attorney General November 16, 1909. To it are assigned all suits and proceedings concerning the enforcement of the public-land law, including suits or proceedings to set aside conveyances of allotted lands.

CHIEF CLERK.

The chief clerk, under the direction of the Attorney General, has general supervision of the clerks and employees; the consideration of applications for leave of absence; the direction of the force of laborers, charwomen, and watchmen; superintends all buildings occupied by the department in Washington; has charge of the horses, wagons, and carriages employed; has supervision of the Division of Mails and Files; the purchase and distribution of supplies for the department and the United States courts; the expenditure of the appropriations for contingent expenses and rents; the consideration of requisitions upon the Public Printer for printing and binding; and supervision of the preparation of the annual report and the estimates of the department.

DISBURSING CLERK.

The disbursing clerk disburses from about 40 appropriations, under the direction of the Attorney General, including the salaries of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States and the judges of the other United States courts located in the District of Columbia; the salaries of the officials of the department proper, as well as the salaries and expenses of certain employees stationed in the field; the contingent expenses of the department; supplies for United States courts; and other special and miscellaneous appropriations. He is also authorized and directed by law to withhold and account for the income tax.

SUPERINTENDENT OF PRISONS.

The superintendent of prisons has charge, under the direction of the Attorney General, of all matters relating to United States prisons and prisoners, including the support of such prisoners in both State and Federal penitentiaries, in reform schools and in county jails. He has supervision over the construction work in progress at United States penal institutions.

The superintendent of prisons is president of the boards of parole for the United States penitentiaries and president of the boards of parole for United States prisoners in each State or county institution used for the confinement of United States prisoners.

APPOINTMENT CLERK.

The appointment clerk has charge of all matters relating to applications, recommendations, and appointments, including certifications by the Civil Service Commission; conducts correspondence pertaining thereto; prepares nominations sent to the Senate; prepares commissions and appointments for the officers and employees of the department in Washington, and for United States judges, attorneys, and marshals and other officers under the department. He also compiles the Register of the Department of Justice and matter relating to that department for the Official Register of the United States.

ATTORNEY IN CHARGE OF PARDONS.

The attorney in charge of pardons takes charge of all applications for Executive clemency, except those in Army and Navy cases, these being referred to the Secretary of War and the Secretary of the Navy, respectively; of the briefing of the cases and the correspondence in relation to them.

ATTORNEY IN CHARGE OF TITLES.

The attorney in charge of titles prepares opinions upon the title to lands belonging to or sought to be acquired by the Government for public purposes and opinions upon all legal matters growing out of the same. He has charge of all proceedings to acquire land under eminent domain, and conducts all the correspondence relating to the above matters.

CHIEF OF THE DIVISION OF ACCOUNTS.

The Chief of the Division of Accounts has charge of the examination or audit of all accounts payable from appropriations for expenses of the Department of Justice and the courts of the United States. Accounts of United States marshals, attorneys, clerks, and commissioners are examined, recorded, and transmitted to the auditor; while other accounts are recorded, audited, and transmitted to the disbursing clerk for payment, under recent legislation.

Authorizations of court expenses, including items for office expenses and clerical assistants for clerks of United States courts; the approval of leases of court accommodations; and the advancement of funds to United States marshals; also matters relating to the appointment of office and field deputy marshals are in charge of the chief of this division.

Statistical information published in the annual report of the Attorney General showing the business transacted in the courts of the United States, bankruptcy statistics, and the various reports required by law pertaining to expenditures under appropriations for the courts and the department are also compiled in this division.

CHIEF OF THE DIVISION OF INVESTIGATION.

The Chief of the Division of Investigation has general supervision of the examination of the offices and records of the Federal court officials throughout the United States, and directs the work of all the examiners, special agents, and accountants of the department, whose compensation or expenses are paid from the appropriation "Detection and prosecution of crimes," and who are employed for the purpose of collecting evidence or of making investigations or examinations of any kind for this department or the officers thereof.

LIBRARIAN.

The librarian has general charge and supervision of the library. He is a member of the committee for the selection of books to be purchased for the library, directs the cataloguing, and cooperates generally in the service of the library.

POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

POSTMASTER GENERAL.

The Postmaster General is the executive head of the Federal Postal Service. He appoints all officers and employees of the Post Office Department except the four Assistant Postmasters General and the purchasing agent, who are presidential appointees. With the exception of postmasters of the first, second, and third classes, who are likewise presidential appointees, he appoints all postmasters and all other officers and employees of the service at large. Subject to the approval of the President, he makes postal treaties with foreign Governments. He awards and executes contracts and directs the management of the Foreign Mail Service. He is the executive head of the Postal Savings System, and ex officio chairman of the board of trustees of that system.

CHIEF CLERK.

The chief clerk of the Post Office Department is charged with the general superintendence and assignment of the clerical and subclerical forces of the department and the consideration of applications for leave of absence for such employees; the supervision of the preparation of estimates of appropriations for the departmental and postal service; of advertising; the supervision of requisitions upon the Treasury and the expenditure of the appropriations for the departmental service; the keeping of the journals and order books; the furnishing of stationery supplies for the departmental service; the consideration and signing of requisitions upon the Public Printer for the printing and binding required in the Postal Service and the department, and receiving, and inspecting on receipt, of blanks required in the Post Office Department; the preparation of contracts and general superintendence of the publication and distribution of the Official Postal Guide; the fixing of rates, subject to the approval of the Postmaster General, for the transmission of Government telegrams; the miscellaneous business correspondence of the Postmaster General's Office, and miscellaneous correspondence of the department not assigned to other offices; the care of the department and other buildings used in connection therewith, and of all furniture and public property therein; and the performance of such other duties as may be required by the Postmaster General.

SOLICITOR FOR THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT.

The solicitor is charged with the duty of giving opinions to the Postmaster General and the heads of the several offices of the department upon questions of law arising upon the construction of the postal laws and regulations, or otherwise, in the course of business in the Postal Service; with the consideration and submission (with advice) to the Postmaster General of all claims of postmasters for losses by fire, burglary, or other unavoidable casualty, and of all certifications by the Auditor for the Post Office Department of cases of proposed compromise of liabilities to the United States, and of the remission of fines, penalties, and forfeitures under the statutes; with the giving of advice when desired in the preparation of correspondence with the Department of Justice and other departments, including the Court of Claims, involving questions of law or relating to prosecutions or suits affecting or arising out of the Postal Service, and with assisting when desired in the prosecution or defense of such cases, and the maintenance of suitable records of opinions rendered affecting the Post Office Department and the Postal Service; and with the consideration of applications for pardon for crimes committed against the postal laws which may be referred to the department; with the preparation and submission (with advice) to the Postmaster General of all appeals to him from the heads of the offices of the department depending upon questions of law; with the determining of questions as to the delivery of mail the ownership of which is in dispute; with the hearing and consideration of cases relating to lotteries and the misuse of the mails in furtherance of schemes to defraud the public; with the consideration of all questions relating to the mailability of alleged indecent, obscene, scurrilous, or defamatory matter; with determining the legal acceptability of securities offered by banks to secure postal savings deposits; with the examining and, when necessary, drafting of all contracts of the department; and with such other like duties as may from time to time be required by the Postmaster General.

PURCHASING AGENT.

The purchasing agent supervises the purchase of all supplies both for the Post Office Department proper and for all branches of the Postal Service. He reviews all requisitions and authorizations for supplies and, if proper, honors the same. He passes upon the sufficiency and propriety of all specifications for proposals for supplies; prepares the advertisements and forms for proposals necessary to the making of contracts for supplies; reviews the reports of the committees on awards and recommends to the Postmaster General such action as in his judgment should be taken thereon.

CHIEF INSPECTOR.

The chief inspector supervises the work of post-office inspectors and of the division of post-office inspectors. To him is charged the preparation and issue of all cases for investigation, all matters relating to depredations upon the mails and losses therein, the custody of money and property collected or received by inspectors, and the restoration thereof to the proper parties or owners, and the consideration and adjustment of accounts of inspectors for salary and expenses. To his office are referred all complaints of losses or irregularities in the mails and all reported violations of the postal laws.

FIRST ASSISTANT POSTMASTER GENERAL.

The First Assistant Postmaster General has charge of the following divisions, to which are assigned the duties specified:

Postmasters' appointments.—The preparation of cases for the appointment of postmasters, the change of name of post offices, and the establishment, discontinuance, and change of site of post offices of the fourth class; the recording of appointments of postmasters, the supervision of their bonding, the obtaining, recording, and filing of their oaths, and the issuing of their commissions; the consideration of charges and complaints against postmasters; the granting of leaves of absence to postmasters; the regulation of hours of business at post offices; and the handling of certain miscellaneous correspondence relating to postmasters and post offices.

DEPARTMENT OF THE NAVY.

SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.

The Secretary of the Navy performs such duties as the President of the United States, who is Commander in Chief, may assign him, and has the general superintendence of construction, manning, armament, equipment, and employment of vessels of war.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE NAVY.

The Assistant Secretary of the Navy performs such duties in the Navy Department as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Navy or required by law.

CHIEF CLERK.

The chief clerk has general charge of the records and correspondence of the Secretary's office, and performs such other duties as may be assigned to him by the Secretary of the Navy.

OFFICE OF NAVAL OPERATIONS.

During the temporary absence of the Secretary and the Assistant Secretary of the Navy the Chief of Naval Operations is next in succession to act as Secretary of the Navy. (Act Mar. 3, 1915.)

The Chief of Naval Operations, under the direction of the Secretary of the Navy, is charged with the operations of the fleet and with the preparation and readiness of plans for its use in war. (Act Mar. 3, 1915.) This includes the direction of the Naval War College, the Office of Naval Intelligence, the Office of Target Practice and Engineering Competitions, the operation of the Radio Service and of other systems of communication, the operations of the Aeronautic Service, of Mines and Mining, of the Naval Defense Districts, Naval Militia, and of the Coast Guard when operating with the Navy; the direction of all strategic and tactical matters, organization, maneuvers, target practice, drills and exercises, and of the training of the fleet for war; and the preparation, revision, and enforcement of all tactics, drill books, signal codes, and cipher codes.

The Chief of Naval Operations is charged with the preparation, revision, and record of Regulations for the Government of the Navy, Naval Instructions, and General Orders. He advises the Secretary concerning the movements and operations of vessels of the Navy and prepares all orders issued by the Secretary in regard thereto, and keeps the records of service of all fleets, squadrons, and ships. He advises the Secretary in regard to the military features of all new ships and as to any proposed extensive alterations of a ship which will affect her military value, and all features which affect the military value of dry docks, including their location; also as to matters pertaining to fuel reservations and depots, the location of radio stations, reserves of ordnance and ammunition, fuel, stores, and other supplies of whatsoever nature, with a view to meeting effectively the demands of the fleet.

In preparing and maintaining in readiness plans for the use of the fleet in war he freely consults with and has the advice and assistance of the various bureaus, boards, and offices of the department, including the Marine Corps headquarters, in matters coming under their cognizance. After the approval of any given war plans by the Secretary it is the duty of the Chief of Naval Operations to assign to the bureaus, boards, and offices such parts thereof as may be needed for the intelligent carrying out of their respective duties in regard to such plans.

The Chief of Naval Operations from time to time witnesses the operations of the fleet as an observer.

He has two principal senior assistants, officers not below the grade of captain, one as assistant for operations and the other as assistant for matériel.

He is ex officio a member of the General Board.

OFFICE OF NAVAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Office of Naval Intelligence is charged with the collection and dissemination of such technical information at home and abroad as will be useful to the Chief of Naval Operations and to the various bureaus of the Navy Department in the formulation of plans for war and in the development of personnel and matériel.

OFFICE OF TARGET PRACTICE AND ENGINEERING COMPETITIONS.

The Office of Target Practice and Engineering Competitions is charged with the duties, under the Chief of Naval Operations, of formulating the rules for all forms of gunnery and steaming competitions; computing, compiling, and publishing in confidential form the results and records of these competitions; the award of prizes, trophies, and commendatory letters in connection therewith, these competitions being the means to the end; i. e., battle efficiency of the fleet.

RADIO SERVICE.

The Office of Superintendent of the Radio Service is established under the Chief of Naval Operations. The superintendent is charged with matters pertaining to the operation of radio apparatus ashore and afloat and naval telegraph and cable work in connection therewith. He has supervision of the communications of the Navy and control of commercial work handled by naval radio stations. He cooperates with officials designated by the Secretary of Commerce in reference to location of proposed commercial stations, the licensing of operators, the control of the operation of commercial stations under the law, and the assignment of wave lengths for use by commercial stations which will comply with the law and prevent interference with the organization and operation of the Naval Radio Service.

OFFICE OF NAVAL AERONAUTICS.

The Office of Naval Aeronautics is established under the Chief of Naval Operations. The Director of Naval Aeronautics is charged with matters pertaining to the operation of air craft and air-craft stations. He has supervision of the training of officers and men in the Aeronautic Service and cooperates with the Division of Naval Militia Affairs in regard to the training of Aeronautic Service for the Naval Militia.

DIVISION OF NAVAL MILITIA AFFAIRS.

The Division of Naval Militia Affairs is vested with the transaction of business pertaining to the Naval Militia of the several States of the Union having such organizations, including the District of Columbia, its jurisdiction embracing all administrative duties involving the armament, equipment, discipline, training, education, and organization of the Naval Militia; the relations of the Naval Militia to the Regular Navy in time of peace; the conduct of cruises of instruction of the Naval Militia on vessels loaned to the States and on vessels of the Regular Navy, and the conduct of armory and other instruction; and all other matters pertaining to the Naval Militia not herein generically enumerated which do not, under existing laws, regulations, orders, and practice, come within the jurisdiction of any division or bureau of the Navy Department. It is the office of record for all matters pertaining to the Naval Militia when not in the service of the United States. The operation of the Naval Militia is controlled by the Chief of Naval Operations.

BUREAU OF NAVIGATION.

The duties of the Bureau of Navigation comprise the issue, record, and enforcement of the orders of the secretary to the individual officers of the Navy; the training and education of line officers and of enlisted men (except of the Hospital Corps) at schools and stations and in vessels maintained for that purpose; the upkeep and operation of the Naval Academy, of technical schools for line officers, of the apprentice-seaman establishments, of schools for the technical education of enlisted men, and of the naval home at Philadelphia, Pa.; the upkeep and the payment of the operating expenses of the Naval War College; the enlistment, assignment to duty, and discharge of all enlisted persons.

(2) It has under its direction all rendezvous and receiving ships, and provides transportation for all enlisted persons under its cognizance.

(3) It establishes the complements of all ships in commission.

(4) It keeps the records of service of all officers and men, and prepares an annual Navy Register for publication, embodying therein data as to fleets, squadrons, and ships, which shall be furnished by the Chief of Naval Operations. To the end that it may be able to carry out the provisions of this paragraph, all communications to or from ships in commission relating to the personnel of such ships are forwarded through this bureau, whatever their origin.

(5) It is charged with all matters pertaining to applications for appointments and commissions in the Navy, and with the preparation of such appointments and commissions for signature.

(6) It is charged with the preparation, revision, and enforcement of all regulations governing uniform, and with the distribution of all orders and regulations of a general or circular character.

(7) Questions of naval discipline, rewards, and punishments are submitted by this bureau for the action of the Secretary of the Navy. The records of all general courts-martial and courts of inquiry involving the personnel of the Navy before final action are referred to this bureau for comment as to disciplinary features.

(8) It receives and brings to the attention of the Secretary of the Navy all applications from officers for duty or leave.

(9) It receives all reports of services performed by individual officers or men.

(10) It is charged with the enforcement of regulations and instructions regarding naval ceremonies and naval etiquette.

(11) It shall be charged with the upkeep and operation of the Hydrographic Office, the Naval Observatory, Nautical Almanac, and compass offices; with all that relates to the supply of ships with navigational outfits, including instruments, and with the maintenance and repair of the same; with the collection of foreign surveys, and with the publication and supply of charts, sailing directions, and nautical works, and the dissemination of nautical, hydrographic, and meteorological information to the Navy and mercantile marine. It shall also have charge of all ocean and lake surveys, and ships' and crews' libraries; it shall defray the expenses of pilotage of all ships in commission.

BUREAU OF YARDS AND DOCKS.

The duties of the Bureau of Yards and Docks comprise all that relates to the design and construction of public works, such as dry docks, marine railways, building ways, harbor works, quay walls, piers, wharves, slips, dredging, landings, floating and stationary cranes, power plants, coaling plants; heating, lighting, telephone, water, sewer, and railroad systems; roads, walks, and grounds; bridges, radio towers, and all buildings, for whatever purpose needed, under the Navy and Marine Corps. It provides for the general maintenance of the same except at the naval proving ground, the naval torpedo station, the naval training stations, the Naval Academy, the naval magazines, naval hospitals, and marine posts. It designs and makes the estimates for the public works after consulting as to their operating features with the bureau or office for whose use they are primarily intended. It has charge of all means of transportation, such as derricks, shears, locomotives, locomotive cranes, cars, motor trucks, and all vehicles, horses, teams, subsistence, and necessary operators and teamsters in the navy yards. It provides the furniture for all buildings except at the naval magazines, hospitals, the Naval Academy, and marine posts. It provides clerks for the office of the commandant, captain of the yard, and public works officer. In general, the work of the bureau is carried out by commissioned officers of the Corps of Civil Engineers, United States Navy, whose major duties comprise the construction and maintenance of the public works of the Navy.

BUREAU OF ORDNANCE.

The duties of the Bureau of Ordnance comprise all that relates to the upkeep, repair, and operation of the torpedo station, naval proving ground, and magazines on shore, to the manufacture of offensive and defensive arms and apparatus (including torpedoes and armor), all ammunition and war explosives. It requires for or manufactures all machinery, apparatus, equipment, material, and supplies required by or for use with the above.

It determines the interior dimensions of revolving turrets and their requirements as regards rotation.

As the work proceeds it inspects the installation of the permanent fixtures of the armament and its accessories on board ship, and the methods of stowing, handling, and transporting ammunition and torpedoes, all of which work must be performed to its satisfaction. It designs and constructs all turret ammunition hoists, determines the requirements of all ammunition hoists, and the method of construction of armories and ammunition rooms on shipboard, and, in conjunction with the Bureau of Construction and Repair, determines upon their location and that of all ammunition hoists outside of turrets. It installs all parts of the armament and its accessories which are not permanently attached to any portion of the structure of the hull, excepting turret guns, turret mounts, and ammunition hoists, and such other mounts as require simultaneous structural work in connection with installation or removal. It confers with the Bureau of Construction and Repair respecting the arrangements for centering the turrets and the character of the roller paths and their supports.

It has cognizance of all electrically operated ammunition hoists, rammers, and gun-elevating gear which are in turrets; of electric training and elevating gear for gun mounts not in turrets; of electrically operated air compressors for charging torpedoes; and of all range finders and battle order and range transmitters and indicators.

BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR.

The duties of the Bureau of Construction and Repair comprise the responsibility for the structural strength and stability of all ships built for the Navy; all that relates to designing, building, fitting, and repairing the hulls of ships, turrets, and electric turret-turning machinery, spars, capstans, windlasses, deck winches, boat cranes, steering gear, and hull ventilating apparatus (except portable fans); and, after consultation with the Bureau of Ordnance and according to the requirements thereof as determined by that bureau, the designing, construction, and installation of independent ammunition hoists, the same to conform to the requirements of the Bureau of Ordnance as to power, speed, and control, and the installation of the permanent fixtures of all other ammunition hoists and their appurtenances; placing and securing armor, placing and securing on board ship to the satisfaction of the Bureau of Ordnance the permanent fixtures of the armament and its accessories as manufactured and supplied by that bureau; installing the turret guns, turret mounts, and turret ammunition hoists, and such other mounts as require simultaneous structural work in connection with installation or removal.

It has charge of the docking of ships, and is charged with the operating and cleaning of dry docks.

It is responsible for the care and preservation of ships not in commission.

It has cognizance of electric launches and other boats supplied with electric motive power.

It has charge of the manufacture of anchors and cables; the supplying and fitting of rope, cordage, rigging, sails, awnings, and other canvas, and flags and bunting; it supplies, to the satisfaction of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, galley ranges, steam cookers, and other permanent galley fittings, and installs and repairs the same.

It supplies and installs, in consultation with the Bureau of Steam Engineering, all voice tubes and means of mechanical signal communications.

BUREAU OF STEAM ENGINEERING.

The duties of the Bureau of Steam Engineering comprise all that relates to designing, building, fitting out, and repairing machinery used for the propulsion of naval ships; the steam pumps, steam heaters, distilling apparatus, refrigerating apparatus, all steam connections of ships, and the steam machinery necessary for actuating the apparatus by which turrets are turned.

It has cognizance of the entire system of interior communications. It is specifically charged with the design, supply, installation, maintenance, and repair of all means of interior and exterior electric signal communications (except range finders and battle-order and range transmitters and indicators), and of all electrical appliances of whatsoever nature on board naval vessels, except motors and their controlling apparatus used to operate the machinery belonging to other bureaus.

It has charge of the design, manufacture, installation, maintenance, repair, and operation of wireless telegraph outfits on board ship and of wireless telegraph outfits and stations on shore.

It has supervision and control of the Engineering Experiment Station.

It designs the various shops at navy yards and stations where its own work is executed, so far as their internal arrangements are concerned.

BUREAU OF MEDICINE AND SURGERY.

The Bureau of Medicine and Surgery shall have charge of the upkeep and operation of all hospitals and of the force employed there; it shall advise with respect to all questions connected with hygiene and sanitation affecting the service, and to this end shall have opportunity for necessary inspection; it shall provide for physical examinations; it shall pass upon the competency, from a professional standpoint, of all men in the Hospital Corps for enlistment and promotion by means of examinations conducted under its supervision, or under forms prescribed by it; it shall have information as to the assignment and duties of all enlisted men of the Hospital Corps; it shall recommend to the Bureau of Navigation the complement of medical officers, dental officers, and Hospital Corps for hospital ships, and shall have power to appoint and remove all nurses in the Nurse Corps (female), subject to the approval of the Secretary of the Navy.

Except as otherwise provided for, the duties of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery shall include the upkeep and operation of medical supply depots, medical laboratories, naval hospitals, dispensaries, technical schools for the Medical and Hospital Corps, and the administration of the Nurse Corps (female), Dental Corps, and Medical Reserve Corps.

It shall approve the design of hospital ships in so far as relates to their efficiency for the care of the sick and wounded.

It shall require for all supplies, medicines, and instruments used in the Medical Department of the Navy. It shall have control of the preparation, reception, storage, care, custody, transfer, and issue of all supplies of every kind used in the Medical Department for its own purposes.

BUREAU OF SUPPLIES AND ACCOUNTS.

The duties of the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts comprise all that relates to the purchase, reception, storage, care, custody, transfer, shipment, and issue of all supplies for the Naval Establishment, and the keeping of property accounts for the same (except supplies for the Marine Corps); the procuring of provisions, clothing, and small stores, and material under the naval supply account. This fund, which is administered by the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts, governs the charging, crediting, receipt, purchase, transfer, manufacture, repair, issue, and consumption of all stores for the Naval Establishment, except for a few items which are specifically exempted. The two naval clothing factories also come under the control of this bureau.

It also procures all coal and fuel for steamers' and ships' use, including expenses of transportation, storage, and handling the same, and water for all purposes on board naval vessels, including the expense of transportation and storage of the same.

The duties also comprise all that relates to the supply of funds for disbursing officers, payment for articles and services for which contract and agreement have been made, and the keeping of the money accounts in the Naval Establishment, including accounts of all manufacturing and operating expense at the navy yards and stations; and the preparation of estimates for the pay of all officers and enlisted men of the Navy.

OFFICE OF THE JUDGE ADVOCATE GENERAL.

The duties of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy are as follows: To revise and report upon the legal features of and have recorded the proceedings of all courts-martial, courts of inquiry, boards of investigation, inquest, and boards for the examination of officers for retirement and promotion in the naval service; to prepare charges and specifications for courts-martial, and the necessary orders convening courts-martial in cases where such courts are ordered by the Secretary of the Navy; to prepare court-martial orders promulgating the final action of the reviewing authority in court-martial cases; to prepare the necessary orders convening courts of inquiry in cases where such courts are ordered by the Secretary of the Navy, and boards for the examination of officers for promotion and retirement, and for the examination of candidates for appointment as commissioned officers in the Navy other than midshipmen, and to conduct all official correspondence relating to such courts and boards. It is also the duty of the Judge Advocate General to examine and report upon all questions relating to rank and precedence, to promotions and retirements, and those relating to the validity of the proceedings in court-martial cases; all matters relating to the supervision and control of naval prisons and prisoners; disciplinary ships and detentioners; the removal of the mark of desertion; the correction of records of service and reporting thereupon in the Regular or Volunteer Navy; certification of discharge in true name; pardons; bills and resolutions introduced in Congress relating to the personnel and referred to the department for report, and the drafting and interpretation of statutes relating to the personnel; references to the Comptroller of the Treasury with regard to pay and allowances of the personnel; questions involving points of law concerning the personnel; proceedings in the civil courts in all cases concerning the personnel as such; and to conduct the correspondence respecting the foregoing duties, including the preparation for submission to the Attorney General of all questions relating to subjects coming under his own cognizance which the Secretary of the Navy may direct to be so referred.

OFFICE OF THE SOLICITOR.

The duties of the solicitor comprise and relate to examination and report upon questions of law, including the drafting and interpretation of statutes, and matters submitted to the accounting officers not relating to the personnel; preparation of advertisements, proposals, and contracts; insurance; patents; the sufficiency of official, contract, and other bonds and guaranties; proceedings in the civil courts by or against the Government or its officers in cases relating to material and not concerning the personnel as such; claims by or against the Government; questions submitted to the Attorney General, except such as are under the cognizance of the Judge Advocate General; bills and congressional resolutions and inquiries not relating to the personnel and not elsewhere assigned; the searching of titles, purchase, sale, transfer, and other questions affecting lands and buildings pertaining to the Navy; the care and preservation of all muniments of title to land acquired for naval uses; and the correspondence respecting the foregoing duties; and rendering opinion upon any matter or question of law referred to him by the Secretary or Assistant Secretary.

MAJOR GENERAL COMMANDANT OF THE MARINE CORPS.

The Major General Commandant of the Marine Corps is responsible to the Secretary of the Navy for the general efficiency and discipline of the corps; makes such distribution of officers and men for duty at the several shore stations as shall appear to him to be most advantageous for the interests of the service; furnishes detachments for vessels of the Navy according to the authorized scale of allowance; under the direction of the Secretary of the Navy, issues orders for the movement of officers and troops, and such other orders and instructions for their guidance as may be necessary; and has charge and exercises general supervision and control of the recruiting service of the corps, and of the necessary expenses thereof, including the establishment of recruiting stations.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR.

SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Secretary of the Interior is charged with the supervision of public business relating to patents for inventions, pensions and bounty lands, the public lands and surveys, the Indians, education, the Geological Survey, the Reclamation Service, the Bureau of Mines, national parks, distribution of appropriations for agricultural and mechanical colleges in the States and Territories and certain hospitals and eleemosynary institutions in the District of Columbia. By authority of the President the Secretary of the Interior has general supervision over the work of completing the survey of routes for railroads in the Territory of Alaska. He also exercises certain other powers and duties in relation to the Territories of the United States.

FIRST ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

In the absence of the Secretary the First Assistant Secretary becomes Acting Secretary. He is especially charged with supervision of the business of the General Land Office, including cases appealed to the Secretary of the Interior from decisions of that bureau involving public lands; applications for easements or rights of way for reservoirs, ditches, railroads, telephone and power-transmission lines; selections of public lands under grants made by Congress to aid in the construction of railroads and wagon roads, for reclamation, and for the benefit of educational and other public institutions, etc. Indian affairs affecting the disposal of the public domain are under his supervision. He considers proposed legislation pertaining to matters under his administration. From time to time duties in connection with the affairs of other bureaus of the department are assigned to him.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR.

The Assistant Secretary has general supervision over all matters concerning the Indian Office (except those which relate to the work of the General Land Office and are forwarded through that office), the Patent Office, the Bureau of Mines, the Pension Office (including appeals from the decisions of the Commissioner of Pensions), the execution of contracts and the approval of vouchers covering expenditures of money for the eleemosynary institutions under the Department of the Interior in the District of Columbia (including the Government Hospital for the Insane), and various miscellaneous matters over which the department has jurisdiction.

ASSISTANT TO THE SECRETARY.

This officer is charged with the general supervision of matters relating to the eleemosynary institutions under the Department of the Interior in the District of Columbia, the Bureau of Education, the national parks, national monuments, and the Territories.

CHIEF CLERK.

As the chief executive officer of the department and the administrative head of the Office of the Secretary the chief clerk has supervision over the clerks and other employees of the department (including the watch, mechanical, and labor forces), enforces the general regulations of the department, and is superintendent of the several buildings occupied by the department. He also supervises the classification and compilation of all estimates of appropriations. The detailed work relating to eleemosynary institutions in the District of Columbia under the Department of the Interior, national parks and monuments, the office of the returns clerk, and miscellaneous matters is done in his office. During the temporary absence of the Secretary and the Assistant Secretaries he may be designated by the Secretary to sign official papers and documents.

COMMISSIONER OF PATENTS.

The Commissioner of Patents is charged with the administration of the patent laws, and supervision of all matters relating to the granting of letters patent for inventions, and the registration of trade-marks. He is by statute made the tribunal of last resort in the Patent Office, and has appellate jurisdiction in the trial of interference cases, of the patentability of inventions, and of registration of trade-marks.¹

COMMISSIONER OF PENSIONS.

The Commissioner of Pensions supervises the examination and adjudication of all claims arising under laws passed by Congress granting pensions on account of service in the Army or Navy; claims for reimbursement for the expenses of the last sickness and burial of deceased pensioners; and also claims for bounty-land warrants based upon military or naval service rendered prior to March 3, 1855.

COMMISSIONER OF THE GENERAL LAND OFFICE.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office is charged with the survey, management, and disposition of the public lands, the adjudication of conflicting claims relating thereto, the granting of railroad and other rights of way, easements, the issuance of patents for lands, and with furnishing certified copies of land patents and of records, plats, and papers on file in his office. In national forests he executes all laws relating to surveying, prospecting, locating, appropriating, entering, reconveying, or patenting of public lands, and to the granting of rights of way amounting to easements.

COMMISSIONER OF INDIAN AFFAIRS.

The Commissioner of Indian Affairs has charge of the Indian tribes of the United States (exclusive of Alaska), their education, lands, moneys, schools, purchase of supplies, and general welfare.

COMMISSIONER OF EDUCATION.

The Commissioner of Education collects statistics and general information showing the condition and progress of education, issues an annual report, a bulletin in several numbers annually, and miscellaneous publications; has charge of the schools for the education of native children in Alaska; supervises the reindeer industry in Alaska, and administers the endowment fund for the support of colleges for the benefit of agriculture and mechanic arts.

DIRECTOR OF THE GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

The Director of the Geological Survey is charged under direction of the Secretary of the Interior with classification of the public lands and the examination of the geologic structure, mineral resources, and mineral products of the national domain. In conformity with this authorization, the Geological Survey has been engaged in making a geologic map of the United States, involving both topographic and geologic surveys, in collecting annually the statistics of mineral production, and in conducting investigations relating to surface and underground waters.

THE RECLAMATION SERVICE.

The director and chief engineer, the chief of construction, the chief counsel, the comptroller, and the supervisor of irrigation of the Reclamation Service, under the personal supervision and direction of the Secretary, are charged with the survey, construction, and operation of the irrigation works in arid States authorized by the act of June 17, 1902.

DIRECTOR OF THE BUREAU OF MINES.

The Director of the Bureau of Mines is charged with the investigations of the methods of mining, especially in relation to the safety of miners and the appliances best adapted to prevent accidents, the possible improvement of conditions under which mining operations are carried on, the treatment of ores and other mineral substances, the use of explosives and electricity, the prevention of accidents, and other inquiries and technological investigations pertinent to such industries. He also has charge of tests and analyses of coals, lignites, ores, and other mineral substances belonging to or for the use of the United States, and has supervision over the mine inspector for Alaska.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE.

The Secretary of Agriculture is charged with the work of promoting agriculture in its broadest sense. He exercises general supervision and control over the affairs of the department and formulates and establishes the general policies to be pursued by its various branches and offices.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE.

The Assistant Secretary of Agriculture becomes Acting Secretary in the absence of the Secretary and assists in the general supervision of the work of the department.

CHIEF CLERK.

The chief clerk has general supervision of clerks and employees; of the order of business of the department and of records of the Secretary's office; and of expenditures from appropriations for miscellaneous expenses, rents, etc. He is responsible for the enforcement of the general regulations of the department and is custodian of buildings.

SOLICITOR.

The Solicitor is the legal adviser of the Secretary and the heads of the several branches of the department. He directs and supervises all law work of the department.

OFFICE OF FARM MANAGEMENT.

This office studies the details of farm practice. Its main object is to improve farm practice by introducing better business methods and by applying the principles of science wherever they are known. The types of farming prevailing in the various sections of the country are being studied in a number of localities, and a detailed study of farm economics and business principles is being made.

APPOINTMENT CLERK.

The appointment clerk prepares all papers connected with appointments, transfers, promotions, reductions, details, furloughs, and removals, and has charge of correspondence with the Civil Service Commission. He is the custodian of oaths of office and personnel reports. He has the custody and use of the department seal.

SUPPLY DIVISION.

The chief of the supply division purchases and distributes stationery and miscellaneous supplies and disposes of property turned in by the various offices when it is of no further use to them.

OFFICE OF EXHIBITS.

The office of exhibits handles the correspondence of the department relative to exhibits at fairs and expositions of various kinds; cooperates with the several branches of the department in preparing exposition material; ships, installs, and cares for such exhibits; and investigates methods of displaying them.

OFFICE OF INFORMATION.

The office of information is established to secure the widest possible circulation in popular form for the discoveries and recommendations of the scientists, specialists, and field workers of the department. It gives out to the public press agricultural facts taken from publications, official orders, and also from oral statements of specialists. Material so disseminated is set forth in such form as to attract public attention, be easily understandable, and lead to the adoption of the methods recommended. A weekly news letter and department circular are published. The office also prepares circulars, posters, and pamphlets designed to assist workers in carrying out educational and demonstration plans.

FOREST APPEALS.

This officer investigates for the Secretary of Agriculture appeals from decisions of the Forest Service and reports his findings to the Secretary.

WEATHER BUREAU.

The Weather Bureau has charge of the forecasting of the weather; the issue and display of weather forecasts, and storm, cold-wave, frost, and flood warnings; the gauging and reporting of river stages; the maintenance and operation of the United States Weather Bureau telegraph and telephone lines; the collection and transmission of marine intelligence for the benefit of commerce and navigation; the reporting of temperature and rainfall conditions for agricultural interests; and the taking of such meteorological observations as may be necessary to determine and record the climatic conditions of the United States.

BUREAU OF ANIMAL INDUSTRY.

The Bureau of Animal Industry has charge of the work of the department relating to the live-stock industry. In general it deals with the investigation, control, and eradication of diseases of animals, the inspection and quarantine of live stock, the inspection of meat and meat food products, and with animal husbandry and dairying.

BUREAU OF PLANT INDUSTRY.

The Bureau of Plant Industry studies plant life in all its relations to agriculture. The scientific work of the bureau is divided into 31 distinct groups, over each of which is placed a scientifically trained officer, who reports directly to the chief and assistant chief of the bureau. The work of the bureau is conducted on the project plan, the investigations under each of the offices being arranged by group projects consisting of closely related lines of work, which group projects are further divided into projects.

FOREST SERVICE.

The Forest Service administers the national forests; studies forest conditions and methods of forest utilization; investigates the mechanical and physical properties of woods and the processes employed in the manufacture of forest products; and gathers information concerning the needs of the various wood-using industries and the relation of forests to the public welfare generally.

BUREAU OF CHEMISTRY.

The Bureau of Chemistry is concerned with analytical work and investigation under the food and drugs act, questions of agricultural chemistry of public interest, and other chemical investigations referred to it by the Government.

BUREAU OF SOILS.

The Bureau of Soils investigates the relation of soils to climate and organic life; studies the texture and composition of soils in field and laboratory; maps the soils; studies the cause and means of preventing the rise of alkali in the soils of irrigated districts; and the relations of soils to seepage and drainage conditions.

BUREAU OF ENTOMOLOGY.

The Bureau of Entomology studies insects; experiments with the introduction of beneficial insects; makes tests with insecticides and insecticide machinery; and identifies insects sent in by inquirers.

BUREAU OF BIOLOGICAL SURVEY.

The work of the Bureau of Biological Survey is distributed among four divisions, dealing with the following matters: (1) Study of birds and mammals in their relation to agriculture, their food habits, etc., and recommendation of measures for the preservation of beneficial species and the destruction of harmful species, also experiments in fur farming; (2) making biological surveys, study of geographic distribution of animals and plants, and mapping natural life zones; (3) carrying into effect the Federal laws protecting game and regulating the importation of foreign birds and animals; and (4) supervision of the Federal migratory bird law.

DIVISION OF ACCOUNTS AND DISBURSEMENTS.

This division has charge of the disbursement of public funds appropriated for the Department of Agriculture.

DIVISION OF PUBLICATIONS.

The Division of Publications conducts all business of the department transacted with the Government Printing Office; has general supervision of all printing, including the editing, indexing, illustration, binding, and distribution of publications, and the maintenance of mailing lists.

BUREAU OF CROP ESTIMATES.

The Bureau of Crop Estimates issues the monthly crop reports of the department; prepares the statistical portion of the Yearbook of the Department of Agriculture; and makes special investigations relating to agricultural forecasts and estimates for publication or in response to special inquiries.

LIBRARY.

The department library contains 133,000 books and pamphlets, including an extensive collection on agriculture, a large and representative collection on the sciences related to agriculture, and a good collection of standard reference books. Periodicals currently received number 2,128. A dictionary catalogue is kept on cards, which number about 310,000. The librarian has charge of the foreign mailing lists.

STATES RELATIONS SERVICE.

The States Relations Service represents the Secretary of Agriculture in his relations with the State agricultural colleges and experiment stations, under the acts of Congress granting funds to these institutions for agricultural experiment stations and cooperative extension work in agriculture and home economics, and in carrying out the provisions of acts of Congress making appropriations to this department for farmers' cooperative demonstration work, investigations relating to agricultural schools, farmers' institutes, and home economics, and the maintenance of agricultural experiment stations in Alaska, Hawaii, Porto Rico, and Guam.

OFFICE OF PUBLIC ROADS AND RURAL ENGINEERING.

The Office of Public Roads and Rural Engineering studies systems of road management and methods of road building, improvement, and maintenance; details engineers to assist local officials in building model roads; ascertains the location, properties, and value of road materials; builds experimental roads to test substitutes for natural road materials; conducts a one-year postgraduate course in highway engineering; investigates the comparative effects of motor and horse traffic on roads; cooperates with colleges and experiment stations and with State highway officials; exhibits models showing types of roads, culverts, bridges, and road machines; and cooperates with the Post Office Department in carrying out the provisions of the Post Office appropriation act of August 24, 1912, relating to the improvement of post roads; conducts irrigation and drainage investigations, and studies other rural engineering problems.

OFFICE OF MARKETS AND RURAL ORGANIZATION.

The Office of Markets is making a special study of market conditions, methods of grading, standardizing, packing, and shipping, and the nature of the commercial transactions by means of which farm produce gets from the farm to the consumer; it also conducts investigations of rural organization, including rural credits, insurance, and communication, and rural social and educational activities.

DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE.

The Secretary of Commerce is charged with the work of promoting the commerce of the United States and its mining, manufacturing, shipping, fishery, and transportation interests. His duties also comprise the investigation of the organization and management of corporations (excepting railroads) engaged in interstate commerce; the administration of the Lighthouse Service and the aid and protection to shipping thereby; the taking of the census, and the collection and publication of statistical information connected therewith; the making of coast and geodetic surveys; the collecting of statistics relating to foreign and domestic commerce; the inspection of steamboats, and the enforcement of laws relating thereto for the protection of life and property; the supervision of the fisheries as administered by the Federal Government; the supervision and control of the Alaskan fur-seal, salmon, and other fisheries; the jurisdiction over merchant vessels, their registry, licensing, measurement, entry, clearance, transfers, movement of their cargoes and passengers, and laws relating thereto, and to seamen of the United States; the regulation of the enforcement and execution of the act of Congress relating to the equipment of ocean steamers with apparatus and operators for wireless communication; the custody, construction, maintenance, and application of standards of weights and measurements; the gathering and supplying of information regarding industries and markets for the fostering of manufacturing; and the formulation (in conjunction with the Secretaries of Agriculture and the Treasury) of regulations for the enforcement of the food and drugs act of 1906 and the insecticide act of 1910. He has power to call upon other departments for statistical data obtained by them.

For the proper accomplishment of any or all of the aforesaid work, it is by law provided that all duties performed, and all the powers and authority possessed or exercised, at the date of the creation of said department, by the head of any executive department in and over any bureau, office, officer, board, branch, or division of the public service transferred to said department, or any business arising therefrom or pertaining thereto, or in relation to the duties and authority conferred by law upon such bureau, office, officer, board, branch, or division of the public service, whether of appellate or advisory character or otherwise, are vested in and exercised by the Secretary of Commerce.

The act creating the Department of Labor, approved March 4, 1913, changed the name of the Department of Commerce and Labor to the Department of Commerce. Under the terms of this act the Bureau of Labor, Bureau of Immigration, Division of Naturalization, and Children's Bureau were detached from the Department of Commerce and Labor and organized as the new Department of Labor.

It is his further duty to make such special investigations and furnish such information to the President or Congress as may be required by them on the foregoing subject matters, and to make annual reports to Congress upon the work of said department.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF COMMERCE.

The Assistant Secretary performs such duties as shall be prescribed by the Secretary or may be required by law. In the absence of the Secretary he acts as head of the department.

CHIEF CLERK.

The chief clerk is charged with the general supervision of the clerks and employees of the department; the enforcement of the general regulations of the department; the superintendency of all buildings occupied by the department in the District of Columbia; the general supervision of all expenditures from the appropriations for contingent expenses and rents; the receipt, distribution, and transmission of the mail; the supervision of the library and the stock and shipping section of the department; and the discharge of all business of the Secretary's office not otherwise assigned.

DISBURSING CLERK.

The disbursing clerk is charged by the Secretary of Commerce with the duty of preparing all requisitions for the advance of public funds from appropriations for the Department of Commerce to disbursing clerks and special disbursing agents charged with the disbursement of public funds; the keeping of appropriation ledgers relating to the advance and expenditure of all items of appropriations. He has charge of the issuing, recording, and accounting for Government requests for transportation issued to officers of the department for official travel; the audit and payment of all vouchers and accounts submitted from the various offices, bureaus, and services of the department (except the Coast and Geodetic Survey and those services having special disbursing agents); and the general accounting of the department.

APPOINTMENT DIVISION.

The Chief of the Appointment Division is charged by the Secretary of Commerce with the supervision of matters relating to appointments, transfers, promotions, reductions, removals, and all other changes in the personnel, including applications for positions and recommendations concerning the same, and the correspondence connected therewith; the preparation and submission to the Secretary of all questions affecting the personnel of the department in its relations to the civil-service law and rules; the preparation of nominations sent to the Senate and of commissions and appointments of all officers and employees of the department; the preparation of official bonds; the compilation of statistics in regard to the personnel, including material for the Official Register, and the custody of oaths of office, records pertaining to official bonds, service records of officers and employees, correspondence and reports relating to the personnel, reports of bureau officers respecting the efficiency of employees, and records relating to leaves of absence.

DIVISION OF PUBLICATIONS.

The Chief of the Division of Publications is charged by the Secretary of Commerce with the conduct of all business the department transacts with the Government Printing Office; the general supervision of printing, including the editing and preparation of copy, illustrating and binding, the distribution of publications, and the maintenance of mailing lists. The advertising done by the department is in his charge. He also keeps a record of all expenditures for the publishing work of the department and conducts the correspondence it entails.

DIVISION OF SUPPLIES.

Under the direction of the chief clerk the Chief of the Division of Supplies has personal supervision of all the work incident to the purchase and distribution of supplies for the department proper and for the services of the department outside of Washington, and of the keeping of detailed accounts of all expenditures from the appropriation for contingent expenses of the department. He receives, verifies, and preserves the semiannual returns of property from the offices and bureaus of the department which are supplied from the contingent appropriation, and examines and reports on the semiannual property returns of all other bureaus and services.

BUREAU OF THE CENSUS.

The Bureau of the Census is charged with the duty of taking the decennial censuses of the United States, of making certain other statistical investigations at regular intervals of years, and of collecting such special statistics as may be authorized by law from time to time. A census of manufactures is taken every five years. The act establishing the permanent Census Bureau requires that, after the completion of the regular decennial census, the Director of the Census shall decennially collect statistics relative to the defective, dependent, and delinquent classes; crime, including judicial statistics pertaining thereto; social statistics of cities; public indebtedness, expenditures, and taxation; religious bodies; transportation by water, and express business; savings banks and other savings institutions, mortgage, loan, and similar institutions; and the fishing industry, in cooperation with the Bureau of Fisheries. Every five years statistics must be collected relating to street railways, electric light and power stations, and telephone and telegraph business. Annual statistics must be gathered relating to births and deaths in States and cities maintaining efficient registration systems; the financial and other statistics of cities having a population of 30,000 and over; the production and distribution of cotton; and the quantity of leaf tobacco on hand.

BUREAU OF FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC COMMERCE.

The Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce is charged by law with the duty of "developing the various manufacturing industries of the United States and markets for their products at home and abroad, by gathering and publishing useful information, or by any other available method." In carrying out this function of gathering information advantage is taken of the relations of the bureau with many other branches of the Federal service.

Use is made especially of the Consular Service, through the Department of State, to obtain reports on the trade of foreign countries and opportunities for the sale abroad of articles produced in the United States. This material is edited in the bureau and distributed to the commercial public by means of the daily Commerce Reports and supplements thereto, and also by means of special bulletins and pamphlets and confidential circulars or letters.

The bureau directs the commercial attaché service in studies of foreign markets for American goods. The attachés devote all their time to the study of commercial problems and the results of their investigations are published in Commerce Reports or in monograph form. There are attachés at London, Paris, Petrograd, Berlin, Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro, Santiago (Chile), Lima, Peking, and Melbourne.

The bureau is also equipped with a corps of special agents, who supplement the work of the consular officers through special investigations for which they are fitted by training or experience. The reports of these agents are published in Commerce Reports or as monographs. A special staff at the bureau supervises this work.

In connection with its trade promotion work the bureau maintains a Division of Foreign Tariffs, where information in regard to customs tariffs and regulations of foreign countries is compiled in compliance with specific requests, as well as for publication in Commerce Reports and separate monographs. In addition to information in regard to foreign customs tariffs, the bureau also furnishes information regarding patent and trade-mark laws of foreign countries, consular regulations, treatment of commercial travelers and their samples, pure food and drug laws, embargoes, contraband, and similar restrictive measures.

Statistical information in regard to imports and exports is received by the bureau in monthly and quarterly returns from the collectors of customs, showing the articles imported and exported and the countries from which articles are imported and to which articles are exported. These statistics are printed first in the Monthly Summary of Foreign Commerce and widely distributed. Very detailed import statistics are published quarterly. Annual statistics of our foreign trade are published in detail in Commerce and Navigation of the United States. The Statistical Abstract of the United States presents in condensed form statements regarding the commerce, production, industries, population, finance, etc., of the United States and a statement of the commerce of the principal foreign countries.

The distribution work of the bureau has been greatly facilitated by the establishment of district offices in New York, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis, Atlanta, New Orleans, San Francisco, and Seattle. These offices expedite the distribution of commercial information and establish closer relations between Government and private agencies interested in the extension of foreign trade. Recently arrangements have been made with commercial organizations in other cities to establish cooperative district offices, which will serve the same purposes as the bureau's own district offices. Such cooperative offices have been established in Detroit, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Los Angeles, and Philadelphia.

The bureau is charged with the duty of making investigations, at home and abroad, of the cost of production of articles at the time dutiable in the United States. Such investigations are made when required by the President or by either House of Congress and when industrial changes make it essential.

BUREAU OF STANDARDS.

The functions of the Bureau of Standards are as follows: The custody of the standards; the comparison of the standards used in scientific investigations, engineering, manufacturing, commerce, and educational institutions with the standards adopted or recognized by the Government; the construction, when necessary, of standards, their multiples and subdivisions; the testing and calibration of standard measuring apparatus; the solution of problems which arise in connection with standards; the determination of physical constants and properties of materials, when such data are of great importance to scientific or manufacturing interests and are not to be obtained of sufficient accuracy elsewhere; and other investigations as authorized by Congress. The bureau is authorized to exercise its functions for the Government of the United States, for any State or municipal government within the United States, or for any scientific society, educational institution, firm, corporation, or individual within the United States engaged in manufacturing or other pursuits requiring the use of standards or standard measuring instruments. For all comparisons, calibrations, tests, or investigations, except those performed for the Government of the United States or State governments, a reasonable fee will be charged.

BUREAU OF FISHERIES.

The work of the Bureau of Fisheries comprises (1) the propagation of useful food fishes, including lobsters, oysters, and other shellfish, and their distribution to suitable waters; (2) the inquiry into the causes of decrease of food fishes in the lakes, rivers, and coast waters of the United States, the study of the waters of the coast and interior in the interest of fish culture, and the investigation of the fishing grounds of the Atlantic, Gulf, and Pacific coasts, with the view of determining their food resources and the development of the commercial fisheries; (3) the collection and compilation of the statistics of the fisheries and the study of their methods and relations; (4) the administration of the salmon fisheries of Alaska, the fur-seal herd on the Pribilof Islands, and the fur-bearing animals of Alaska.

BUREAU OF LIGHTHOUSES.

The United States Lighthouse Service is charged with the establishment and maintenance of aids to navigation, and with all equipment and work incident thereto, on the sea and lake coasts of the United States, and on the rivers of the United States so far as specifically authorized by law, and on the coasts of all other territory under the jurisdiction of the United States, with the exception of the Philippine Islands and Panama.

The bureau publishes Light Lists and Buoy Lists, giving information regarding all aids to navigation maintained by the Lighthouse Service; it also publishes each week, jointly with the Coast and Geodetic Survey, Notices to Mariners, giving the changes in lights, buoys, etc.

COAST AND GEODETIC SURVEY.

The Coast and Geodetic Survey is charged with the survey of the coasts of the United States and coasts under the jurisdiction thereof and the publication of charts covering said coasts. This includes base measure, triangulation, topography, and hydrography along said coasts; the survey of rivers to the head of tidewater or ship navigation; deep-sea soundings, temperature, and current observations along said coasts and throughout the Gulf and Japan streams; magnetic observations and researches, and the publication of maps showing the variations of terrestrial magnetism; gravity research; determination of heights; the determination of geographic positions by astronomic observations for latitude, longitude, and azimuth, and by triangulation, to furnish reference points for State surveys.

The results obtained are published in annual reports and in special publications; charts upon various scales, including sailing charts, general charts of the coast, and harbor charts; tide tables issued annually in advance; Coast Pilots, with sailing directions covering the navigable waters; Notices to Mariners (published jointly by Coast and Geodetic Survey and Bureau of Lighthouses), issued weekly and containing current information necessary for safe navigation; catalogues of charts and publications; and such other special publications as may be required to carry out the organic law governing the survey.

BUREAU OF NAVIGATION.

The Bureau of Navigation is charged with general superintendence of the commercial marine and merchant seamen of the United States, except so far as supervision is lodged with other officers of the Government. It is specially charged with the decision of all questions relating to the issue of registers, enrollments, and licenses of vessels and the filing of those documents, with the supervision of laws relating to the admeasurement, letters, and numbers of vessels, and with the final decision of questions concerning the collection and refund of tonnage taxes. It is empowered to change the names of vessels, and prepares annually a list of vessels of the United States. The commissioner also investigates the operation of the laws relative to navigation, and annually reports to the Secretary of Commerce such particulars as may in his judgment admit of improvement or require amendment.

In addition to the above statutory duties the bureau is charged, under direction of the Secretary of Commerce, with the enforcement, through collectors and surveyors of customs and radio inspectors, of the navigation and steamboat-inspection laws, and the laws governing radio communication, and the consideration of action to be taken on fines, penalties, and forfeitures incurred under those laws; administrative examination of accounts of collectors, surveyors of customs, and shipping commissioners covering fines, penalties, and forfeitures; services to vessels; navigation fees; amounts collected on account of decease of passengers, tonnage-tax collections, refunds; shipment and discharge of seamen, etc.

STEAMBOAT-INSPECTION SERVICE.

The Steamboat-Inspection Service is charged with the duty of inspecting vessels, the licensing of the officers of vessels, and the administration of the laws relating to such vessels and their officers for the protection of life and property.

The Supervising Inspector General and the supervising inspectors constitute a board that meets annually at Washington and establishes regulations for carrying out the provisions of the steamboat-inspection laws.

DEPARTMENT OF LABOR.

THE SECRETARY OF LABOR.

The Secretary of Labor is charged with the duty of fostering, promoting, and developing the welfare of the wage earners of the United States, improving their working conditions, and advancing their opportunities for profitable employment. He has power under the law to act as mediator and to appoint commissioners of conciliation in labor disputes whenever in his judgment the interests of industrial peace may require it to be done. He has authority to direct the collecting and collating of full and complete statistics of the conditions of labor and the products and distribution of the products of the same and to call upon other departments of the Government for statistical data and results obtained by them and to collate, arrange, and publish such statistical information so obtained in such manner as to him may seem wise. His duties also comprise the gathering and publication of information regarding labor interests and labor controversies in this and other countries; the supervision of the administration of the act of Congress providing for the payment of compensation to artisans or laborers of the United States injured in the course of their employment; the supervision of the immigration of aliens, and the enforcement of the laws relating thereto, and to the exclusion of Chinese; the direction of the administration of the naturalization laws; the direction of the work of investigating all matters pertaining to the welfare of children and child life and to cause to be published such results of these investigations as he may deem wise and appropriate.

The law creating the Department of Labor provides that all duties performed and all power and authority possessed or exercised by the head of any executive department at the time of the passage of the said law, in and over any bureau, office, officer, board, branch, or division of the public service by said act transferred to the Department of Labor, or any business arising therefrom or pertaining thereto, or in relation to the duties performed by and authority conferred by law upon such bureau, officer, office, board, branch, or division of the public service, whether of an appellate or advisory character or otherwise, are vested in and exercised by the head of the said Department of Labor. The Secretary of Labor is also given authority and directed to investigate and report to Congress a plan of coordination of the activities, duties, and powers of the office of the Secretary of Labor with the activities, duties, and powers of the present bureaus, commissions, and departments, so far as they relate to labor and its conditions, in order to harmonize and unify such activities, duties, and powers, with a view to additional legislation to further define the duties and powers of the Department of Labor, and to make such special investigations and reports to the President or Congress as may be required by them or which he may deem necessary, and to report annually to Congress upon the work of the Department of Labor.

ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF LABOR.

The Assistant Secretary performs such duties as shall be prescribed by the Secretary or may be required by law. He becomes the Acting Secretary of Labor in the absence of the Secretary.

CHIEF CLERK.

The chief clerk is charged with the general supervision of the clerks and employees of the department; the enforcement of the general regulations of the department; the superintendency of all buildings occupied by the department in the District of Columbia; the general supervision of all expenditures from the appropriations for contingent expenses and rents; the receipt, distribution, and transmission of the mail; and the discharge of all business of the Secretary's office not otherwise assigned.

DISBURSING CLERK.

The disbursing clerk is charged by the Secretary of Labor with the duty of preparing all requisitions for the advance of public funds from appropriations for the Department of Labor to disbursing clerks and special disbursing agents charged with the disbursement of public funds; the keeping of appropriation ledgers relating to the advance and expenditure of all items of appropriations. He has charge of the issuing, recording, and accounting for Government requests for transportation issued to officers of the department for official travel; the audit and payment of all vouchers and accounts submitted from the various offices, bureaus, and services of the department; the general accounting of the department; and the accounting for all naturalization receipts received under the provisions of the act of June 29, 1906.

APPOINTMENT CLERK.

The appointment clerk has charge of all clerical work incident to appointments which are made under the jurisdiction of the department. He is also the custodian of oaths of office, bonds of officers, personnel files, and efficiency reports.

DIVISION OF PUBLICATIONS AND SUPPLIES.

The Chief of the Division of Publications and Supplies is charged by the Secretary of Labor with the conduct of all business the department transacts with the Government Printing Office; the general supervision of printing, including the editing and preparation of copy, illustrating and binding, the distribution of publications, and the maintenance of mailing lists. All blank books and blank forms and the printed stationery of all kinds used by the bureaus and offices of the department in Washington and the various outside services of the department are in his custody and are supplied by him. The advertising done by the department is in his charge. He also keeps a record of all expenditures for the publishing work of the department and conducts the correspondence it entails. Under the direction of the chief clerk he has personal supervision of all the work incident to the purchase and distribution of supplies for the department proper and for the services of the department outside of Washington and of the keeping of detailed accounts of all expenditures from the appropriation for contingent expenses of the department. He receives, verifies, and preserves the semiannual returns of property from the offices and bureaus of the department which are supplied from the contingent appropriation, and examines and reports on the semiannual property returns of all other bureaus and services.

BUREAU OF IMMIGRATION.

The Bureau of Immigration is charged with the administration of the laws relating to immigration and of the Chinese-exclusion laws. It supervises all expenditures under the appropriation for "Expenses of regulating immigration." It causes alleged violations of the immigration, Chinese-exclusion, and alien contract-labor laws to be investigated, and when prosecution is deemed advisable submits evidence for that purpose to the proper United States district attorney.

DIVISION OF INFORMATION.

The division of information, under the Bureau of Immigration, gathers from all available sources information concerning the resources, products, and physical characteristics of the States and Territories. This information is made available to admitted aliens and others seeking homes or places of settlement.

Under the direction of the Secretary of Labor, the division also acts as a division for the distribution and employment of labor, and is the central office of the 18 distribution zones covering the entire United States. In this phase of its activities it cooperates with the Post Office Department, the Department of Agriculture, and the Department of the Interior.

BUREAU OF NATURALIZATION.

The act approved March 4, 1913, creating the Department of Labor, provided a Bureau of Naturalization, and that the Commissioner of Naturalization, or, in his absence, the Deputy Commissioner of Naturalization, shall be the administrative officer in charge of the Bureau of Naturalization and of the administration of the naturalization laws under the immediate direction of the Secretary of Labor. Under the provisions of the act of June 29, 1906, naturalization jurisdiction was conferred upon approximately 3,500 United States and State courts. The duties of the Bureau of Naturalization are to supervise the work of these courts in naturalization matters, to conduct all correspondence relating to naturalization, and, through its field officers located in various cities of the United States, to investigate the qualifications of the candidates for citizenship and represent the Government at the hearings of petitions for naturalization. In the archives of the bureau are filed duplicates of all certificates of naturalization granted since September 26, 1906, as well as the preliminary papers of all candidates for citizenship filed since that date, averaging an annual receipt of approximately 450,000 naturalization papers.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics is charged with the duty of acquiring and diffusing among the people of the United States useful information on subjects connected with labor in the most general and comprehensive sense of that word, and especially upon its relations to capital, the hours of labor, the earnings of laboring men and women, and the means of promoting their material, social, intellectual, and moral prosperity.

It is especially charged to investigate the causes of and facts relating to controversies and disputes between employers and employees as they may occur, and which may happen to interfere with the welfare of the people of the several States.

It is also authorized, by act of March 2, 1895, to publish a bulletin on the condition of labor in this and other countries, condensations of State and foreign labor reports, facts as to conditions of employment, and such other facts as may be deemed of value to the industrial interests of the United States. This bulletin is issued in a number of series, each dealing with a single subject or closely related group of subjects, and the bulletin is published at irregular intervals as matter becomes available for publication.

By the act to provide a government for the Territory of Hawaii, as amended, it is made the duty of the bureau to collect and present in quinquennial reports statistical details relating to all departments of labor in the Territory of Hawaii, especially those statistics which relate to the commercial, industrial, social, educational, and sanitary condition of the laboring classes.

The administration of the act of May 30, 1908, granting to certain employees of the United States the right to receive from it compensation for injuries sustained in the course of their employment, is vested in the bureau by the act of March 4, 1913, creating the Department of Labor.

CHILDREN'S BUREAU.

The act establishing the bureau provides that it shall investigate and report upon all matters pertaining to the welfare of children and child life among all classes of our people, and shall especially investigate the questions of infant mortality, the birth rate, orphanage, juvenile courts, desertion, dangerous occupations, accidents, and diseases of children, employment, and legislation affecting children in the several States and Territories. The bureau is also empowered to publish the results of these investigations in such manner and to such extent as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor.

THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION.

The Smithsonian Institution was created by act of Congress in 1846, under the terms of the will of James Smithson, an Englishman, who in 1826 bequeathed his fortune to the United States to found, at Washington, under the name of the "Smithsonian Institution," an establishment for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge among men." The Institution is legally an establishment, having as its members the President of the United States, the Vice President, the Chief Justice, and the President's Cabinet. It is governed by a Board of Regents consisting of the Vice President, the Chief Justice, three Members of the United States Senate, three Members of the House of Representatives, and six citizens of the United States appointed by joint resolution of Congress. The Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution is its executive officer and the director of its activities.

Through the Hodgkins fund, the income of $100,000 of which is for the increase and diffusion of knowledge in regard to the nature and properties of atmospheric air in connection with the welfare of man, grants have been made, publications issued, and medals and prizes awarded.

On May 1, 1913, the Langley Aerodynamical Laboratory was reopened. The objects of this laboratory will be the coordination of its activities with the kindred labors of other establishments; to plan investigations for increasing the safety and effectiveness of aerial locomotion; and to collect aeronautical information and publish such part of the same as appears to be of value to the Government or the public.

The Institution, in cooperation with the Library of Congress, maintains a scientific library which numbers 260,000 volumes, consisting mainly of the transactions of learned societies and scientific periodicals.

UNITED STATES NATIONAL MUSEUM.

The United States National Museum is the depository of the national collections. It is especially rich in the natural history of America, including zoology, botany, geology, paleontology, archeology, and ethnology, and has extensive series relating to the arts and industries, the fine arts, and American history.

The National Gallery of Art contains the George P. Marsh collection of etchings, engravings, and books on art; the Charles L. Freer collection, comprising numerous paintings, etchings, etc., by Whistler and other American artists, and many examples of Japanese and Chinese art; the Harriet Lane Johnston collection, including a number of portraits by British masters; and the William T. Evans collection of paintings by contemporary American artists.

INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE SERVICE.

The International Exchange Service is the agency of the United States Government for the exchange of scientific, literary, and governmental publications with foreign Governments, institutions, and investigators. It receives and dispatches about 600,000 pounds of printed matter annually.

BUREAU OF AMERICAN ETHNOLOGY.

The Bureau of American Ethnology is engaged in the collection and publication of information relating to the American Indians and the natives of Hawaii.

ASTROPHYSICAL OBSERVATORY.

The Astrophysical Observatory investigates solar radiation and other solar phenomena. The work of this observatory is carried on partly in Washington and partly at a station on Mount Wilson in California.

NATIONAL ZOOLOGICAL PARK.

The National Zoological Park has an area of 167 acres, and is located in the Rock Creek Valley, 2 miles north of the center of Washington. Its collection comprises about 1,500 animals.

INTERNATIONAL CATALOGUE OF SCIENTIFIC LITERATURE.

The International Catalogue of Scientific Literature publishes an annual classified index to the literature of science. The organization consists of a central bureau in London and 33 regional bureaus established in, and supported by, the principal countries of the world. That for the United States is supported by an annual appropriation from Congress, administered by the Smithsonian Institution.

THE PAN AMERICAN UNION.

(Formerly International Bureau of American Republics.)

The Pan American Union is the official international organization of the 21 Republics of the Western Hemisphere, founded and maintained by them for the purpose of fostering friendship, commerce, intercourse, and peace. It is supported through their joint contributions, each nation annually paying that part of the budget of expenses which its population bears to the total population of all the Republics. Its general control reposes in a governing board made up of the diplomatic representatives in Washington of the 20 Latin-American Governments and the Secretary of State of the United States, the latter being ex officio chairman thereof. Its executive officers are a Director General and an Assistant Director, elected by the board. They in turn are assisted by a trained staff of statisticians, editors, compilers, trade experts, translators, librarians, and lecturers. It is strictly international in its scope, purpose, and control, and each nation has equal authority in its administration with each other nation and without the predominant influence of any one nation. Its activities and facilities include the following: The publication in English, Spanish, Portuguese, and French of an illustrated monthly bulletin, which is a record of the progress of all the Republics; the publication of handbooks, descriptive pamphlets, commercial statements, maps, and special reports relating to each country; correspondence covering all phases of Pan American activities; the distribution of every variety of information helpful in the promotion of Pan American acquaintance and solidarity of interests. Its library, known as the Columbus Memorial Library, contains upward of 32,000 volumes, including the official publications, documents, and laws of all the Republics, together with 17,000 photographs, a large collection of maps, and 120,000 subject-index cards. Its reading room has upon its tables the representative magazines and newspapers of Latin America. Both are open to the public for consultation and study. The Pan American Union sets the date, selects the place of meeting, and prepares the programs for the International Conferences of the American Republics, and it is also the custodian of their archives. It occupies and owns buildings and grounds situated on Seventeenth Street between B and C Streets, overlooking Potomac Park on the south and the White House Park on the east. These buildings and grounds, representing an investment of $1,100,000, of which Mr. Andrew Carnegie contributed $850,000 and the American Republics $250,000, are dedicated forever to the use of the Pan American Union as an international organization. The Pan American Union was founded in 1890, in accordance with the action of the First Pan American Conference held in Washington in 1889-90 and presided over by James G. Blaine, then Secretary of State. It was reorganized in 1907 by action of the Third Pan American Conference, held in Rio de Janeiro in 1906, and upon the initiative of Elihu Root, then Secretary of State. All communications should be addressed to the Director General Pan American Union, Washington, D. C.

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION.

The original act to regulate commerce, approved February 4, 1887, provided for a commission consisting of five members. By various amendatory and supplementary enactments the powers of the commission have been increased and the scope of the regulating statute materially widened. Among the more important of these enactments are the acts of March 2, 1889; the Elkins Act, approved February 19, 1903; the Hepburn Act, approved February 29, 1906; the Mann-Elkins Act of June 18, 1910; and the act of August 24, 1912. Under the act of June 29, 1906, the commission is now composed of seven members.

The commission appoints a secretary, who is its chief administrative and executive officer, an assistant secretary, and such attorneys, examiners, special agents, and clerks as are necessary to the proper performance of its duties.

The act to regulate commerce applies to all common carriers engaged in the transportation of oil or other commodities, except water, and except natural or artificial gas, by means of pipe lines, or partly by pipe lines and partly by railroad, or partly by pipe lines and partly by water, and to telegraph, telephone, and cable companies (whether wire or wireless) engaged in sending messages from one State, Territory, or District of the United States to any other State, Territory, or District of the United States, or to any foreign country, and to common carriers engaged in interstate transportation of passengers or property wholly by railroad (or partly by railroad and partly by water when both are used under a common control, management, or arrangement for a continuous carriage or shipment); also to express companies and sleeping-car companies; and to bridges or ferries used or operated in connection with any railroad engaged in interstate transportation.

The act to regulate commerce requires all rates to be reasonable and just; prohibits undue or unreasonable preferences or advantages in transportation rates or facilities; prohibits the charging of a higher rate for a shorter than for a longer haul, over the same line, in the same direction, the shorter being included within the longer haul, or the charging of any greater compensation as a through route than the aggregate of the intermediate rates subject to the act. It is provided, however, that the commission may, in special cases, after investigation, authorize carriers to charge less for longer than for shorter distances. The commission is authorized to require carriers to establish through routes and joint rates. The commission is also authorized to require carriers subject to the act to construct switch connections with lateral branch lines of railroads and private sidetracks. The act provides that where two or more through routes and through rates shall have been established shippers shall have the right to designate in writing via which of such through routes the property shall be transported to destination.

The commission has jurisdiction, upon complaint or in a proceeding instituted upon its own initiative, and after full hearing, to determine and prescribe reasonable rates, regulations, and practices; to award reparation to injured shippers; and to require carriers to cease and desist from unjust discrimination or undue or unreasonable preferences.

Carriers are required to publish and file all rates, rules, and regulations applying to interstate traffic, and are prohibited from engaging in interstate transportation unless such rates, rules, and regulations are published and filed. Severe penalties are provided in the statute for failure to observe the rates and regulations shown in the published tariffs.

The commission may inquire into the management of the business of all common carriers subject to the provisions of the act to regulate commerce, and may prescribe the accounts, records, and memoranda which shall be kept by the carriers, which shall be open to examination by the commission through its authorized agents or examiners. Carriers are required to file annual reports with the commission, and such other reports as may from time to time be required.

By the act of June 18, 1910 (Mann-Elkins law), the jurisdiction of the commission was increased as to through routes and joint rates, freight classification, switch connections, long and short hauls, filing or rejection of rate schedules, investigations on own motion, determining reasonable rates, suspension of proposed rates, and other matters. This act also authorized the President to appoint a special commission to investigate questions pertaining to the issuance of railroad stocks and bonds.

By act approved August 24, 1912 (sec. 11), a new paragraph was added to section 5 of the act to regulate commerce, by which it is made unlawful after July 1, 1914, for any common carrier subject to the act to regulate commerce to own, lease, operate, control, or have any interest in any competing carrier by water. Jurisdiction is conferred upon the commission to determine questions of fact as to competition, after full hearing, on the application of any railroad company or other carrier, and to extend beyond July 1, 1914, the time during which such ownership or operation of vessels plying elsewhere than through the Panama Canal may continue, when it is found to be in the interest of the public and is of advantage to the convenience and commerce of the people, and not in restraint of competition.

At the same time section 6 of the act was amended by adding a new paragraph conferring upon the commission jurisdiction over transportation of property from point to point in the United States by rail and water, whether through the Panama Canal or otherwise, and not entirely within the limits of a single State, this jurisdiction, under certain conditions, including power to establish physical connection between lines of the rail carrier and the dock of the water carrier by directing the rail carrier to make such connection; to establish through routes and maximum joint rates over such rail and water lines, and to determine the conditions thereof; to establish proportional rates by rail to and from ports, and to determine to what traffic and in connection with what vessels and upon what terms and conditions such rates shall apply; and to require rail carriers entering into through routing arrangements with any water carrier to extend the privileges of such arrangements to other water carriers.

By the act approved March 1, 1913, amending the act to regulate commerce, the commission is directed to investigate, ascertain, and report the value of all the property owned or used by every common carrier subject to the provisions of the act.

Jurisdiction is conferred upon the commission to enforce certain provisions of the act approved October 15, 1914, to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies in so far as such provisions relate to carriers subject to the act to regulate commerce. The act prohibits, with certain exceptions, carriers from discriminating between purchasers in sales of commodities, and from making leases or sales of commodities and from acquiring stock or capital of other corporations engaged in commerce tending to substantially lessen competition or create a monopoly; makes it a felony for a president or other specified officers to misappropriate a carrier's funds; and provides that after two years from the approval of the act no carrier shall have dealings in securities or supplies, or contract for construction or maintenance to the amount of more than $50,000 in the aggregate in any one year, with another corporation or organization when, by reason of common officers or otherwise, there exists a community of interest between the carrier and such other corporation or organization, except as a result of free competitive bidding under regulations to be prescribed by the commission. The commission is further authorized to investigate violations of the act by carriers and to require the guilty parties to cease therefrom, and its findings of fact in such investigations shall be conclusive when supported by testimony.

The urgent deficiency appropriation act approved October 22, 1913, provided that the Commerce Court should be abolished from and after December 31, 1913, and that the jurisdiction theretofore vested in the Commerce Court under act approved June 18, 1910, be transferred to and vested in the several district courts of the United States.

The act approved March 4, 1915, which became effective June 2, 1915, makes common carriers liable for all damage to property caused by them, and forbids, with certain exceptions, limitations of liability.

The act of February 11, 1903, provides that suits in equity brought under the act to regulate commerce, wherein the United States is complainant, may be expedited and given precedence over other suits, and that appeals from the circuit court lie only to the Supreme Court. The act of February 19, 1903, commonly called the Elkins law, prohibits rebating, allows proceedings in the courts by injunction to restrain departures from published rates, and provides that cases prosecuted under the direction of the Attorney General in the name of the commission shall be included within the expediting act of February 11, 1903.

Under the act of August 7, 1888, all Government-aided railroad and telegraph companies are required to file certain reports and contracts with the commission, and it is the commission's duty to decide questions relating to the interchange of business between such Government-aided telegraph company and any connecting telegraph company. The act provides penalties for failure to comply with the act or the orders of the commission.

The act of March 2, 1893, known as the safety-appliance act, provides that railroad cars used in interstate commerce must be equipped with automatic couplers, and drawbars of a standard height for freight cars, and have grab irons or handholds in the ends and sides of each car; and that locomotive engines used in moving interstate traffic shall be equipped with a power driving-wheel brake and appliances for operating the train-brake system. The act directs the commission to lodge with the proper district attorneys information of such violations as may come to its knowledge. The act of March 2, 1903, amended this act so as to make its provisions apply to Territories and the District of Columbia, to all cases when couplers of whatever design are brought together, and to all locomotives, cars, and other equipment of any railroad engaged in interstate traffic, except logging cars and cars used upon street railways; and provides for a minimum number of air-braked cars in trains.

By act of April 14, 1910, the safety-appliance acts were supplemented so as to require railroads to equip their cars with sill steps, hand brakes, ladders, running boards, and roof handholds, and the commission was authorized to designate the number, dimensions, location, and manner of application of appliances.

By act of May 6, 1910, the prior accident-reports law was repealed and a new statute passed giving more power to the commission as to investigating accidents, and is more comprehensive than the former law.

The act of March 4, 1907, makes it the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to enforce the provisions of the act wherein it is made unlawful to require or permit employees engaged in or connected with the movement of trains to be on duty more than a specified number of hours in any 24.

The act of May 30, 1908, directs the Interstate Commerce Commission to make regulations for the safe transportation of explosives by common carriers engaged in interstate commerce. A penalty is provided for violations of such regulations.

The act of May 30, 1908, makes it the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to enforce the provisions of the act wherein it is provided that after a certain date no locomotive shall be used in moving interstate or foreign traffic, etc., not equipped with an ash pan which can be emptied without requiring a man to go under such locomotive. A penalty is provided for violations of this act.

The act of February 17, 1911, confers jurisdiction upon the commission to enforce certain provisions compelling railroad companies to equip their locomotives with safe and suitable boilers and appurtenances thereto.

By an amendatory act approved March 4, 1915, the powers of the commission to inspect and to prescribe standards of safety for locomotive boilers and appurtenances thereto was extended to include "all parts and appurtenances of the locomotive and tender."

The urgent deficiency appropriation act approved October 22, 1913, contains an appropriation of $25,000 to enable the commission to investigate and test block signals and appliances for the automatic control of railway trains and appliances or systems intended to promote the safety of railway operation, including experimental tests of such systems and appliances as shall be furnished, in completed shape, to the commission for investigation and test, free of cost to the Government, in accordance with the provisions of joint resolution approved June 30, 1906, and sundry civil appropriation act approved May 27, 1908. Provision was made in the sundry civil appropriation acts approved August 1, 1914, and March 3, 1915, for continuing the investigation and testing of these systems and appliances.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION.

The purpose of the civil-service act, as declared in its title, is "to regulate and improve the civil service of the United States." It provides for the appointment of three commissioners, not more than two of whom shall be adherents of the same political party, and makes it the duty of the commission to aid the President, as he may request, in preparing suitable rules for carrying the act into effect. The act requires that the rules shall provide, among other things, for open competitive examinations for testing the fitness of applicants for the classified service, the making of appointments from among those passing with highest grades, an apportionment of appointments in the departments at Washington among the States and Territories, a period of probation before absolute appointment, and the prohibition of the use of official authority to coerce the political action of any person or body. The act also provides for investigations touching the enforcement of the rules, and forbids, under penalty of fine or imprisonment, or both, the solicitation by any person in the service of the United States of contributions to be used for political purposes from persons in such service, or the collection of such contributions by any person in a Government building.

There were 476,363 positions in the executive civil service on June 30, 1915, of which 292,296 were classified subject to competitive examination.

Appointments of unclassified laborers in the departments at Washington and in the large cities are required to be made in accordance with regulations restricting appointment to applicants who are rated highest in physical condition. The system is outside the civil service act and rules.

BUREAU OF INFORMATION.

Answers telephonic or personal inquiries regarding dates, places, and times of examinations, supplies application forms and other printed matter.

CHIEF EXAMINER.

Supervises the system of examinations and the procedure of examining boards. The examining division and the application division are under his supervision.

APPLICATION DIVISION.

Issues announcements of examinations; passes upon applications; distributes publications; disbursements of appropriations; correspondence respecting admission to examinations; printing and the custody of supplies.

EXAMINING DIVISION.

Prepares and rates examination papers; passes upon qualifications of applicants; issues notices of marking.

SECRETARY.

Administrative officer; matters relating to enforcement of civil-service act, rules, and regulations; has supervision of the appointment division.

APPOINTMENT DIVISION.

Keeps eligible registers and certifies for appointment; audits reports of changes in the service and maintains service records; certifies for reinstatement, transfer, and promotion; prepares for consideration of the commission cases of alleged violations of the rules and Executive orders, and prepares the general correspondence of the commission except that relating to applications and examinations.

EFFICIENCY DIVISION.

The legislative appropriation bill approved March 4, 1915, provided for a division of efficiency to establish and maintain a system of efficiency ratings for the executive departments in the District of Columbia; to investigate the needs of the several executive departments and independent establishments with respect to personnel, and to investigate duplication of statistical and other work and methods of business in the various branches of the Government service.

FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD.

Generally speaking, the functions of the board are to exercise a broad supervision over the affairs and conduct of 12 Federal reserve banks established in accordance with the terms of the Federal reserve act in different parts of the country and invested with authority to discount paper for member banks, issue Federal reserve notes to member banks, and perform the various banking functions described in the act itself. The board has full power to appoint its own staff of employees and officers and to regulate the conditions of their employment. Its support is derived from the several reserve banks from assessments levied by it half yearly pro rata. The board is responsible to Congress and reports annually to that body. Certain functions in connection with the national banking system are also assigned to it under the legislation, although the Comptroller of the Currency, who is a member of the board, exercises the same general administrative and supervisory authority that has been in his hands in the past.

Some of the more important duties of the Federal Reserve Board are set forth in section 11 of the Federal reserve act, which provides that the Federal Reserve Board shall be authorized "to examine at its discretion the accounts, books, and affairs of each Federal reserve bank and of each member bank, and to require such statements and reports as it may deem necessary; to permit, or, on the affirmative vote of at least five members of the Reserve Board, to require Federal reserve banks to rediscount the discounted paper of other Federal reserve banks at rates of interest to be fixed by the Federal Reserve Board; to suspend for a period not exceeding 30 days, and from time to time to renew such suspension for periods not exceeding 15 days, any reserve requirement specified in this act; to supervise and regulate through the bureau under the charge of the Comptroller of the Currency the issue and retirement of Federal reserve notes, and to prescribe rules and regulations under which such notes may be delivered by the comptroller to the Federal reserve agents applying therefor; to add to the number of cities classified as reserve and central cities under existing law in which national banking associations are subject to the reserve requirements set forth in section 20 of this act; to suspend or remove any officer or director of any Federal reserve bank, the cause of such removal to be forthwith communicated in writing by the Federal Reserve Board to the removed officer or director and to said bank; to require the writing off of doubtful or worthless assets upon the books and balance sheets of Federal reserve banks; to suspend, for the violation of any of the provisions of this act, the operations of any Federal reserve bank, to take possession thereof, administer the same during the period of suspension, and, when deemed advisable, to liquidate or reorganize such bank; to require bonds of Federal reserve agents; to exercise general supervision over said Federal reserve banks; to grant by special permit to national banks applying therefor, when not in contravention of State or local law, the right to act as trustee, executor, administrator, or registrar of stocks and bonds under such rules and regulations as the said board may prescribe."

FEDERAL TRADE COMMISSION.

"An act to create a Federal Trade Commission, to define its powers and duties, and for other purposes," approved September 26, 1914, provides for a commission consisting of five members. Further specific powers are conferred upon this commission by "An act to supplement existing laws against unlawful restraints and monopolies, and for other purposes" (commonly known as the Clayton Act), approved October 15, 1914.

INVESTIGATION, PUBLICITY, AND RECOMMENDATION.

The commission is authorized to require corporations subject to its jurisdiction to file annual or special reports, or both, in such form as may be prescribed by the commission, or written answers to specific questions regarding the organization and management of their business, or their relations to other corporations, partnerships, or individuals. Furthermore, the commission is authorized to classify such corporations, and to make rules and regulation for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the act. (Sec. 6, pars. b and g.)

The commission is given also a general power of investigation in respect to such corporations and their relations to other corporations, individuals, associations, and partnerships. (Sec. 6, par. a.)

Upon the direction of the President or either House of Congress, the commission is authorized to investigate and report concerning any alleged violations of the antitrust acts by any corporation. (Sec. 6, par. d.)

The commission is also authorized to investigate trade conditions in foreign countries with respect to combinations or other conditions affecting the foreign trade of the United States. (Sec. 6, par. h.)

Certain other functions of the commission combine with investigation the duty of making particular recommendations.

If, in any suit in equity brought by the Government under the antitrust acts, upon the conclusion of the testimony the court is of the opinion that the complainant is entitled to relief, it may refer the matter to the commission as a master in chancery to ascertain and report an appropriate form of decree. (Sec. 7.)

The commission is empowered, upon the application of the Attorney General, to investigate the business of any corporation alleged to be violating the antitrust acts, and to make recommendations for readjustment which shall bring it in harmony with the law. (Sec. 6, par. e.)

Whenever a final decree has been entered against any corporation in a suit to restrain violations of the antitrust acts, the commission is authorized to make an investigation of the manner in which the decree is carried out, and it is required to make such investigation upon the application of the Attorney General. In the latter case it is required to transmit a report of its findings and recommendations to the Attorney General, and may publish such report in its own discretion. (Sec. 6, par. c.)

The commission is authorized to make public such portions of the information obtained by it in accordance with law as it shall deem expedient in the public interest, except trade secrets and the names of customers, and, further, to make annual and special reports to Congress with recommendations for legislation, and to provide for the publication of its reports and decisions. (Sec. 6, par. f.) It is specially provided (sec. 10) that any officer or employee of the commission who without its authority shall make public any information obtained shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punishable by fine and imprisonment.

QUASI JUDICIAL FUNCTIONS.

Both the Trade Commission Act and the Clayton Act declare certain important rules of substantive law and direct the Federal Trade Commission to enforce these rules.

Unfair methods of competition.—In section 5 of the Federal Trade Commission Act itself the following very important provision of declarative law is stated: "That unfair methods of competition in commerce are hereby declared unlawful."

The act empowers and directs the commission to prevent persons, partnerships, and corporations, except banks and common carriers, from using such unfair methods of competition, and establishes the procedure by which this may be done.

In addition to the substantive provisions contained in the Federal Trade Commission Act with reference to unfair methods of competition, the Clayton Act contains certain prohibitions, the enforcement of which is confided to the Federal Trade Commission, as to corporations under its jurisdiction. The provisions of the law are very minute and only the broad features are specified herein.

Price discrimination.—Section 2 prohibits, in certain cases, price discrimination where the effect may be to substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce.

Tying contracts.—Section 3 prohibits, in certain cases, so-called "tying contracts"—that is, contracts whereby, as a condition of sale or lease of commodities, the seller or lessor exacts from the purchaser or lessee an agreement that he shall not use or deal in other commodities except those furnished by the seller or lessor—where the effect may be to substantially lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly in any line of commerce.

Holding companies.—Section 7 prohibits, in certain cases, so-called "holding companies," or the ownership by one company of the stock of another, where the effect may be to substantially lessen competition between the companies concerned or to restrain interstate commerce or tend to create a monopoly.

Interlocking directorates.—Section 8 provides that two years after the enactment of the law no person at the same time shall be a director in any two or more corporations engaged in interstate or foreign commerce, other than banks or common carriers, any one of which has more than $1,000,000 capital, surplus, and undivided profits, if they are or shall have been theretofore, by virtue of their business and location of operation, competitors, so that the elimination of competition by agreement between them would constitute a violation of any of the provisions of any of the antitrust laws.

Enforcement of the prohibitions of the Clayton Act.—The authority to enforce the foregoing provisions of the Clayton Act is vested in the Federal Trade Commission as to all corporations which come within its jurisdiction by section 11 of the said act.

PROCEDURE IN THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW.

Briefly stated, the procedure in the enforcement of these substantive rules of law declared in both the Federal Trade Commission Act and the Clayton Act, as recited above, is the following:

Whenever the commission has reason to believe that any person, etc., has been or is using any unfair methods of competition and that a proceeding by the commission would be to the public interest, or is violating or has violated any of the aforesaid provisions of the Clayton Act, it shall serve a complaint, with notice of a hearing, upon such person, etc., who shall have the right to appear and show cause why an order should not be made requiring the cessation of the violation of law charged. Other parties, for good cause shown, are allowed to intervene in the proceeding. On hearing had, if the commission shall be of opinion that a violation of law is shown, it shall serve an order on the person complained of to cease and desist. If such person fails to obey the order of the commission, the latter may apply to the circuit court of appeals to enforce the same, and file a transcript of the record in the case. The court shall then take jurisdiction of the proceedings and have power to affirm, modify, or set aside the order of the commission, but the findings of the commission as to facts, if supported by evidence, shall be conclusive. If the court permits additional evidence to be adduced it must be taken before the commission. The only review of the judgment and decree of the court is by writ of certiorari to the Supreme Court, as provided by law. Any party required to cease and desist from a violation of law may obtain a court review in a similar manner.

COMPULSORY POWERS, PENALTIES, AND MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS.

In order to enable the commission to perform the duties imposed upon it, power to examine and copy records and to require by subpoena the attendance and testimony of witnesses and the production of documentary evidence is conferred in section 9, and in section 10 the refusal to obey the subpoena or lawful requirements of the commission is made an offense punishable by fine and imprisonment.

Any member of the commission may sign subpoenas, and members of the commission or the examiners of the commission may administer oaths and receive evidence.

In case of refusal to obey a subpoena the commission may invoke the aid of the courts of the United States, which may order compliance therewith, and on failure punish the delinquents for contempt. Moreover, upon application of the Attorney General, at the request of the commission, the courts have jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus requiring any person or corporation to comply with the law or any order of the commission in pursuance thereof.

The commission is also authorized to take testimony by deposition.

No person is excused from testifying or producing evidence before the commission on the ground that it might tend to incriminate him or to subject him to penalty or forfeiture, but it is provided that no natural person shall be criminally prosecuted on account of any transaction concerning which he may testify or produce evidence, if furnished in obedience to a subpoena, except in case of perjury.

Penalties of fine and imprisonment are provided for those who neglect or refuse to answer any lawful inquiry in obedience to a subpoena or lawful requirement of the commission. Further, penalty of fine and imprisonment is provided for those who falsify records, fail to keep proper records, or refuse the commission lawful access to the same, and penalty of fine for corporations which delay to file such reports as the commission may lawfully require, such fines to be recoverable by the United States in a civil suit.

Relations of the commission to legislative, judicial, and other executive departments.—The Federal Trade Commission is organized in a manner similar to that of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and its relations to the legislative, judicial, and other executive departments of the Government are defined in the law.

Like the Interstate Commerce Commission, it is made independent of any of the other executive departments. In addition to the general executive direction reposed by the Constitution and laws in the President, this law provides specifically that the commission shall, at his direction, investigate alleged violations of the antitrust acts by any corporation. In this connection it may be noted that the President is authorized to direct the several departments and bureaus of the Government to furnish the commission, upon request, all records and information in their possession relating to any corporation subject to this act. The commission may also be called upon to perform certain of its functions at the request of the Attorney General, namely, in investigating the execution of decrees against trusts and in making investigations and recommendations for bringing corporations alleged to be violating the antitrust acts in harmony with the law.

The law provides that either House of Congress may direct the commission to investigate and report the facts relating to any alleged violation of the antitrust acts by any corporation. It is also provided that the commission shall have power to make annual and special reports to Congress and recommendations for additional legislation, as well as reports regarding its investigations into conditions in foreign countries affecting the trade of the United States.

More important, however, are the relations of the commission to the judicial department, which has jurisdiction to review and enforce its orders respecting unfair methods of competition or violations of sections 2, 3, 7, and 8 of the Clayton Act, and to which the commission must apply for the enforcement of its compulsory powers.

GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE.

The Public Printer has charge of and manages the Government Printing Office. Directly or through his principal officers he makes all purchases, disburses all money, appoints all officers and employees, wraps, mails, and dispatches publications for public distribution, and exercises general supervision over the affairs of the office.

The Deputy Public Printer acts as chairman of boards to examine and report on paper and material purchased, and also of a board of condemnation. He has supervision over the buildings and property and the care of the stores, and performs such other duties as are required of him by the Public Printer. In case of the death, resignation, absence, or sickness of the Public Printer he performs the duties of the Public Printer.

The chief clerk has direct charge of the personnel of the office, is charged with the detail of all matters in connection with appointments, promotions, or transfers, and has charge of the general correspondence and care of the files.

The purchasing agent has direct charge of all purchases; prepares all schedules of material and supplies and all proposals, and receives the bids; supervises the work of drawing contracts and orders for paper, material, machinery, and supplies; and acts as the legal adviser of the Public Printer in matters relating to the public printing and binding.

The accountant has charge of the keeping of the accounts of the Public Printer with the Treasury Department, of the accounts with the several allotments of the appropriation, of the time of employees, of the property records, prepares for the signature of the Public Printer pay rolls and vouchers requiring the payment of money, renders bills for work done, and keeps all other accounts.

The Congressional Record clerk has charge of the Congressional Record at the Capitol, and acts as the Public Printer's representative in furnishing information and estimates to Senators, Representatives, and Delegates.

The superintendent of work has direct charge of all the manufacturing divisions of the office.

The assistant superintendent of work (night) has immediate charge of the manufacturing divisions at night.

The foreman of printing and assistant superintendent of work (day) has immediate charge of the composing and foundry sections and branch printing offices. He also assists the superintendent of work in the supervision of the manufacturing divisions during the day.

The superintendent of documents has general supervision over the distribution of all public documents except those printed for the use of the two Houses of Congress and for the executive departments. He is required to prepare a comprehensive index of public documents and a consolidated index of congressional documents, and is authorized to sell at cost any public document in his charge the distribution of which is not specifically directed.

JOINT COMMITTEE ON PRINTING.

The Joint Committee on Printing, consisting of three Members of the Senate and three Members of the House of Representatives, was created by the act of August 3, 1846, and its principal duties are set forth in the printing act approved January 12, 1895. This act gives the committee authority "to remedy any neglect or delay in the public printing and binding."

The act also provides that the committee shall exercise the following functions in regard to the purchase of paper for the public printing and binding: Fixes upon standards of quality, receives proposals and awards contracts therefor, appoints a member of the board of paper inspection, determines differences of opinion as to quality, acts upon defaults, and authorizes open-market purchases.

The Public Printer is required by law to advertise for bids for material, other than paper, under the direction of the committee, and to make a return to it on all such contracts awarded by him. The committee may authorize the Public Printer to make certain open-market purchases of material, and, by resolution, it has required him to obtain its approval on all purchases of machinery and equipment in excess of $1,000.

Maps and illustration plates for Government publications are purchased under the direction of the committee whenever the probable cost exceeds $1,200; or, whenever the exigencies of the public service do not justify advertisement, the committee may authorize immediate contracts for lithographing and engraving.

Printing for the Patent Office is required by law to be done under such regulations and conditions as the committee may prescribe.

The act of 1895 also provides that the committee "shall have control of the arrangement and style of the Congressional Record, and, while providing that it shall be substantially a verbatim report of proceedings, shall take all needed action for the reduction of unnecessary bulk." The committee is also authorized to provide for the publication of an index to the Record. The Congressional Directory, addresses on deceased Senators and Members, the annual abridgment of messages and documents, statute proceedings, and similar publications are prepared under the direction of the committee. The superintendent of documents publishes the index of public documents upon a plan approved by the committee and indexes such single volumes as it shall direct.

The committee establishes rules and regulations for the printing of documents and reports in two or more editions. Orders for subsequent editions after two years from date of original order must receive its approval. The committee directs whether extra copies of documents and reports shall be bound in paper or cloth, and prescribes the arrangement and binding of documents for depository libraries.

The cost of printing any document or report which can not be properly charged to any other appropriation may, upon order of the committee, be charged to the congressional allotment.

The committee may order additional copies of Government publications within a limit of $200 in cost in any one instance.

ALASKAN ENGINEERING COMMISSION.

The Alaskan Engineering Commission was created under the act of March 12, 1914, which empowered, authorized, and directed the President to locate, construct, operate, or lease a railroad, or railroads, to connect the interior of Alaska with one or more of the open navigable ports on the coast. Authority was also granted to purchase existing railroads, to construct, maintain, and operate telegraph and telephone lines, and to make reservations of public lands in Alaska necessary for the purposes of the railroad.

For the execution of this work a commission of three engineers was appointed by the President to make the necessary surveys. They were directed to report to the Secretary of the Interior, under whom the President has placed the general administration of the work.

NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE FOR AERONAUTICS.

The National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics was appointed by the President, pursuant to act of Congress approved March 3, 1915 (naval appropriation act, public No. 273, Sixty-third Congress). Its membership consists of two officers of the Army, two officers of the Navy, a representative each of the Smithsonian Institution, the United States Weather Bureau, and the United States Bureau of Standards, together with one member from the Treasury Department and four professors from various universities who are acquainted with the needs of aeronautical science, or skilled in aeronautical engineering or its allied sciences. All the members, as such, serve without compensation.

The duties of the committee, as provided by Congress, are to supervise and direct the scientific study of the problems of flight, with a view to their practical solution, and to determine the problems which should be experimentally attacked, and to discuss their solution and their application to practical questions.

Meetings of the full committee are held semiannually, in April and October, and meetings of the executive committee, to which is delegated full power, are held monthly.

UNITED STATES BOARD OF MEDIATION AND CONCILIATION.

(Created by act of Congress approved July 15, 1913.)

The purpose for which the Board of Mediation and Conciliation was established is to settle by mediation, conciliation, and arbitration controversies concerning wages, hours of labor, or conditions of employment that may arise between common carriers engaged in interstate transportation and their employees engaged in train operation or train service.

In any case where an interruption of traffic is imminent and fraught with serious detriment to the public interest, the Board of Mediation and Conciliation may, if in its judgment such action seem desirable, proffer its services to the respective parties to the controversy.

Whenever a controversy concerning wages, hours of labor, or conditions of employment arises between such railroads and such employees, interrupting or threatening to interrupt the operation of trains to the serious detriment of the public interest, upon the request of either party the Board of Mediation is required to use its best efforts, by mediation and conciliation, to bring about an agreement. If such efforts to bring about an amicable adjustment through mediation and conciliation are unsuccessful, the board endeavors to induce the parties to submit their controversy to arbitration, and, if successful, makes the necessary arrangements for such arbitration.

The board is an independent office, not connected with any department.

GENERAL SUPPLY COMMITTEE.

The General Supply Committee was created by the act of June 17, 1910 (36 Stat., 531), in lieu of the Board of Awards provided for in section 3709 of the Revised Statutes as amended, and is composed of officers, one from each of the executive departments, designated by the head thereof. The Superintendent of Supplies, who is appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury, is ex officio secretary of the General Supply Committee, and he conducts all correspondence, supervises the preparation of all contracts, and performs such other duties as the Secretary of the Treasury may direct. It is the duty of the General Supply Committee to make an annual schedule of required miscellaneous supplies for the use of each of the executive departments and other Government establishments in Washington, to standardize such supplies, eliminating all unnecessary grades and varieties, and to solicit bids based upon formulas and specifications drawn up by such experts in the service of the Government as the committee may see fit to call upon, who shall render whatever assistance they may require, provided that the articles intended to be purchased in this manner shall be those in common use by or suitable to the ordinary needs of two or more such departments or establishments. Every purchase or drawing of such supplies from the contractor is immediately reported to said committee. No disbursing officer may be a member of the committee.

BOARD OF INDIAN COMMISSIONERS.

The Board of Indian Commissioners, created in 1869, is a body of unpaid citizens, appointed by the President, who maintain an office in Washington, for the expenses of which and of travel Congress appropriates. The board is not a bureau or division of any department, but is purposely kept reasonably independent and afforded opportunities for investigation in order that it may freely express an intelligent and impartial opinion concerning Indian legislation and administration. Its legal duties are to visit and inspect branches of the Indian Service, to cooperate with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs in the purchase and inspection of Indian supplies, and to report to the Secretary of the Interior, to whom and to the President the board acts in an advisory capacity, with respect to plans of civilizing or dealing with the Indians.

THE INTERNATIONAL JOINT COMMISSION.

The International Joint Commission was created by treaty with Great Britain, and has jurisdiction over all cases involving the use or obstruction or diversion of waters forming the international boundary or crossing the boundary between the United States and Canada. In addition, under Article IX of the treaty, any questions or matters of difference arising between the high contracting parties involving the rights, obligations, or interests of the United States or of the Dominion of Canada, either in relation to each other or to their respective inhabitants, may be referred to the commission for report thereon, by either Government or by the joint action of the two Governments. Under Article X of the treaty similar matters of difference between the two Governments may be referred to the commission for determination by the joint action of the two Governments.

COMMISSION FOR EQUITABLE DISTRIBUTION OF WATERS OF THE RIO GRANDE.

This commission was authorized by the protocol of May 6, 1896, between Mexico and the United States, and their treaty of 1848, article 21 (reaffirmed in 1853, article 7; 1884, article 5, and 1889, article 8), authorizing the appointment of "commissioners" to settle "any disagreement" or "differences" between the two countries.

It is commonly called "Commission for the Equitable Distribution of the Waters of the Rio Grande"—the boundary for about 1,300 miles between these two nations. Its chief functions are "to study the questions in connection with the distribution of the waters of the Rio Grande," for the purpose of devising the best mode of controlling and conserving the waters of the Rio Grande, and for the making of a treaty on the subject between the two Republics, and in the meantime to measure and equitably divide the waters of and in the Rio Grande between the two countries, to lessen or avoid international complications and local dissensions between Mexico and the United States and the people thereof. (See Diplomatic and Consular appropriation act approved June 30, 1914.)

INTERNATIONAL (CANADIAN) BOUNDARY COMMISSIONS

For defining and marking boundary between United States and Canada, except on Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River. For marking and surveying boundary between Alaska and Canada.

These commissions were authorized by conventions or treaties between the United States and Great Britain, as follows:

1. Southeastern Alaska, or the boundary between Alaska and British Columbia. Length, 862 miles.

Article VI of the convention between the United States and Great Britain, providing for the settlement of questions between the two countries with respect to the boundary line between the Territory of Alaska and the British Possessions in North America, signed at Washington January 24, 1903, stipulated that when the high contracting parties shall have received the decision of the tribunal upon the questions submitted as provided in the foregoing articles, which decision shall be final and binding upon all parties, they will at once appoint, each on its own behalf, one or more scientific experts, who shall with all convenient speed proceed to lay down the boundary line in conformity with such decision.

2. The boundary between Alaska and Canada, along the one hundred and forty-first meridian. Length, 625 miles.

The convention between the United States and Great Britain providing for the surveying and marking out upon the ground of the one hundred and forty-first degree of west longitude where said meridian forms the boundary line between Alaska and the British Possessions in North America, signed at Washington April 21, 1906, stipulated that each Government shall appoint one commissioner, with whom may be associated such surveyors, astronomers, and other assistants as each Government may elect, who shall locate the boundary line, erect the necessary boundary marks, make the necessary surveys, and file duplicate records with their respective Governments.

3. The United States and Canada boundary from the Atlantic to the Pacific Ocean, with the exception of the St. Lawrence River and Great Lakes. Length, 2,647 miles.

Articles I, II, III, V, VI, VII, and VIII of the treaty between the United States and Great Britain, entitled "Canadian International Boundary," signed at Washington April 11, 1908, stipulated that each of the high contracting parties shall appoint without delay an expert geographer or surveyor as commissioner, and the commissioner so appointed shall jointly execute the necessary surveys, repair existing boundary marks, erect additional boundary marks, and lay down the boundary line in accordance with the existing treaties upon quadruplicate sets of accurate modern charts, prepared or adopted by them for that purpose, and that said charts so marked shall be filed with each Government, and said commissioners shall also prepare, in duplicate, and file with each Government a joint report or reports, describing in detail the course of the boundary so marked by them, and the character and location of the several monuments and boundary marks and ranges marking it.

UNITED STATES GEOGRAPHIC BOARD.

By Executive order of August 10, 1906, the official title of the United States Board on Geographic Names was changed to United States Geographic Board and its duties enlarged.

The board passes on all unsettled questions concerning geographic names which arise in the departments, as well as determining, changing, and fixing place names within the United States and its insular possessions, and all names hereafter suggested by any officer of the Government shall be referred to the board before publication. The decisions of the board are to be accepted by all the departments of the Government as standard authority.

Advisory powers were granted the board concerning the preparation of maps compiled, or to be compiled, in the various offices and bureaus of the Government, with a special view to the avoidance of unnecessary duplications of work; and for the unification and improvement of the scales of maps, of the symbols and conventions used upon them, and of the methods of representing relief. Hereafter all such projects as are of importance shall be submitted to this board for advice before being undertaken.

THE COMMISSION OF FINE ARTS.

By act approved May 17, 1910, Congress created as a permanent body the national Commission of Fine Arts. The commission is "composed of seven well-qualified judges of the fine arts," who are appointed by the President and serve for a period of four years each, and until their successors are appointed and qualified.

Under the provisions of this organic act Congress directs that "It shall be the duty of the commission to advise upon the location of statues, fountains, and monuments in the public squares, streets, and parks in the District of Columbia, and upon the selection of models for statues, fountains, and monuments erected under the authority of the United States and upon the selection of the artists for the execution of same. It shall be the duty of the officer charged by law to determine such questions in each case to call for such advice. The foregoing provisions of this act shall not apply to the Capitol Building of the United States and the building of the Library of Congress. The commission shall also advise generally upon questions of art when required to do so by the President or by any committee of either House of Congress."

By Executive order dated October 25, 1910, the President directed that "Plans for no public building to be erected in the District of Columbia for the General Government shall be hereafter finally approved by the officer duly authorized until after such officer shall have submitted the plans to the Commission of Fine Arts created under the act of Congress of May 17, 1910, for its comment and advice."

On February 2, 1912, the President directed the commission to advise the officer in charge of public buildings and grounds in regard to the improvement of any of the grounds in the city of Washington under his charge whenever such advice is asked for by that officer. That officer now uniformly consults the commission regarding details of the development of all the parks and reservations under his control.

On November 28, 1913, the President issued the following Executive order: "It is hereby ordered that whenever new structures are to be erected in the District of Columbia under the direction of the Federal Government which affect in any important way the appearance of the city, or whenever questions involving matters of art and with which the Federal Government is concerned are to be determined, final action shall not be taken until such plans and questions have been submitted to the Commission of Fine Arts designated under the act of Congress of May 17, 1910, for comment and advice."

The duties of the commission, therefore, now embrace advising upon the location of statues, fountains, and monuments in the public squares, streets, and parks in the District of Columbia; upon the selection of models for statues, fountains, and monuments erected under the authority of the United States, and the selection of the artists for their execution; upon the plans and designs for public structures and parks in the District of Columbia, as well as upon all questions involving matters of art with which the Federal Government is concerned. In addition, the commission advises upon general questions of art whenever requested to do so by the President or any committee of Congress.

Congress has stipulated in many recent enactments that the plans for certain designated buildings, monuments, etc., must be approved by the commission before they can be accepted by the Government.

COURT OF CLAIMS OF THE UNITED STATES.

This court was established by act of Congress February 24, 1855 (10 Stat. L., 612). It has general jurisdiction of all "claims founded upon the Constitution of the United States or any law of Congress, except for pensions, or upon any regulations of an executive department, or upon any contract, express or implied, with the Government of the United States, or for damages, liquidated or unliquidated, in cases not sounding in tort, in respect of which claims the party would be entitled to redress against the United States, either in a court of law, equity, or admiralty, if the United States were suable, except claims growing out of the late Civil War and commonly known as war claims," and certain rejected claims.

It has jurisdiction also of claims of like character which may be referred to it by any executive department, involving disputed facts or controverted questions of law, where the amount in controversy exceeds $3,000, or where the decision will affect a class of cases or furnish a precedent for the future action of any executive department in the adjustment of a class of cases, or where any authority, right, privilege, or exemption is claimed or denied under the Constitution. In all the above-mentioned cases the court, when it finds for the claimant, may enter judgment against the United States, payable out of the Public Treasury. An appeal, only upon questions of law, lies to the Supreme Court on the part of the defendants in all cases, and on the part of the claimants when the amount in controversy exceeds $3,000. The findings of fact by the Court of Claims are final and not subject to review by the Supreme Court.

There is a statute of limitations which prevents parties from bringing actions on their own motion beyond six years after the cause of action accrued, but the departments may refer claims at any time if they were pending therein within the six years.

By section 151, Judicial Code (36 Stat. L., 1135), whenever any bill, except for a pension, is pending in either House of Congress providing for the payment of a claim against the United States, legal or equitable, or for a grant, gift, or bounty to any person, the House in which such bill is pending may, for the investigation and determination of facts, refer the same to the Court of Claims, which shall proceed with the same in accordance with such rules as it may adopt and report to such House the facts in the case and the amount, where the same can be liquidated, including any facts bearing upon the question whether there has been delay or laches in presenting such claim or applying for such grant, gift, or bounty, and any facts bearing upon the question whether the bar of any statute of limitation should be removed or which shall be claimed to excuse the claimant for not having resorted to any established legal remedy, together with such conclusions as shall be sufficient to inform Congress of the nature and character of the demand, either as a claim, legal or equitable, or as a gratuity against the United States, and the amount, if any, legally or equitably due from the United States to the claimant: Provided, however, That if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the court upon the facts established that, under existing laws or the provisions of this chapter, the subject matter of the bill is such that it has jurisdiction to render judgment or decree thereon, it shall proceed to do so, giving to either party such further opportunity for hearing as in its judgment justice shall require, and it shall report its proceedings therein to the House of Congress by which the same was referred to said court.

Section 5, act of March 4, 1915 (38 Stat., 996), provides: "That from and after the passage and approval of this act the jurisdiction of the Court of Claims shall not extend to or include any claim against the United States based upon or growing out of the destruction of any property or damage done to any property by the military or naval forces of the United States during the war for the suppression of the rebellion, nor to any claim for stores and supplies taken by or furnished to or for the use of the military or naval forces of the United States, nor to any claim for the value of any use and occupation of any real estate by the military or naval forces of the United States during said war; nor shall said Court of Claims have jurisdiction of any claim which is now barred by the provisions of any law of the United States."

By act of March 3, 1891, chapter 538 (26 Stat. L., 851, and Supplement to R. S., 2d ed., p. 913), the court is vested with jurisdiction of certain Indian depredation claims.

The act of June 25, 1910, chapter 423 (36 Stat. L., 851-852), "An act to provide additional protection for owners of patents of the United States, and for other purposes," conferred a new jurisdiction.

There are five judges, who sit together in the hearing of cases, the concurrence of three of whom is necessary for the decision of any case.

The court is located at Washington, D. C., in the old Corcoran Art Building, Seventeenth Street and Pennsylvania Avenue. The term begins on the first Monday in December each year and continues until the Saturday before the first Monday in December. Cases may be commenced and entered at any time, whether the court be in session or not.

JUDICIARY.

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.

(In Capitol Building. Phones, marshal's office, Main 1; clerk's office, Main 3476.)

EDWARD DOUGLASS WHITE, Chief Justice of the United States, was born in the parish of Lafourche, La., in November, 1845; was educated at Mount St. Mary's, near Emmitsburg, Md., at the Jesuit College in New Orleans, and at Georgetown (D. C.) College; served in the Confederate Army; was licensed to practice law by the Supreme Court of Louisiana in December, 1868; elected State senator in 1874; was appointed associate justice of the Supreme Court of Louisiana in 1878; was elected to the United States Senate as a Democrat, to succeed James B. Eustis, and took his seat March 4, 1891; while serving his term as Senator from Louisiana was appointed, February 19, 1894, an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, and took his seat March 12, 1894. Appointed by President Taft December 12, 1910, Chief Justice of the United States, and took the oath of office December 19, 1910.

JOSEPH McKENNA, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., August 10, 1843; attended St. Joseph's College of his native city until 1855, when he removed with his parents to Benicia, Cal., where he continued his education at the public schools and the Collegiate Institute, at which he studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1865; was twice elected district attorney for Solano County, beginning in March, 1866; served in the lower house of the legislature in the sessions of 1875 and 1876; was elected to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fifty-first, and Fifty-second Congresses; resigned from the last-named Congress to accept the position of United States circuit judge, to which he was appointed by President Harrison in 1893; resigned that office to accept the place of Attorney General of the United States in the Cabinet of President McKinley; was appointed, December 16, 1897, an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States to succeed Justice Field, retired, and took his seat January 26, 1898.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES, of Boston, Mass., Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, was born in Boston, Mass., March 8, 1841; graduated from Harvard College in 1861; July 10, 1861, commissioned first lieutenant of the Twentieth Massachusetts Volunteer Infantry; October 21, shot through the breast at Balls Bluff; March 23, 1862, commissioned captain; shot through the neck at Antietam, September 17; shot in the heel at Maryes Heights, Fredericksburg, on May 3, 1863; on January 29, 1864, appointed aid-de-camp to Brig. Gen. H. G. Wright and served with him until expiration of term of service; brevets as major, lieutenant colonel, and colonel; Harvard Law School LL. B., 1866; in 1873 published twelfth edition of Kent's Commentaries, and from 1870 to 1873 editor of the American Law Review, in which, then and later, he published a number of articles leading up to his book entitled, The Common Law (Little, Brown & Co., 1881), first, however, delivered in the form of lectures at the Lowell Institute. An article on "Early English equity," in the English Law Quarterly Review, April, 1885, also may be mentioned, and later ones in the Harvard Law Review. From 1873 to 1882 he practiced law in the firm of Shattuck, Holmes & Munroe; in 1882 took a professorship at the law school of Harvard College, and on December 8 of that year was commissioned a member of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts; on August 2, 1899, he was made chief justice of the same court. He was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States by President Roosevelt, confirmed by the Senate December 4, 1902, and sworn in and took his seat December 8, 1902. He has published a volume of speeches (Little, Brown & Co.). LL. D., Yale, Harvard, Williams, and Berlin; D. C. L., Oxford. Corresponding fellow of the British Academy.

WILLIAM R. DAY, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, was born in Ravenna, Ohio, April 17, 1849, being a son of Judge Luther Day, of the supreme court of Ohio. In 1866 he entered the academic department of the University of Michigan, where he graduated in 1870; he also spent one year in the law department of that institution. In 1872 he was admitted to the Ohio bar and began the practice of law in Canton, Stark County, Ohio, where he was elected judge of the court of common pleas in 1886. In 1889 he was appointed United States district judge for the northern district of Ohio by President Harrison, which position he declined. In April, 1897, he was appointed Assistant Secretary of State by President McKinley, and in April, 1898, was made Secretary of State, which position he resigned to accept the chairmanship of the commission which negotiated the treaty of peace with Spain at the close of the Spanish-American War. In February, 1899, he was appointed United States circuit judge for the sixth judicial circuit by President McKinley. In February, 1903, he was made an Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court by President Roosevelt, taking the oath of office March 2 of that year.

CHARLES EVANS HUGHES, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, was born in Glens Falls, N. Y., April 11, 1862; student at Colgate University and Brown University, and was graduated from the latter in 1881; studied law at Columbia Law School, 1882-1884, and held prize fellowship in that school from 1884 to 1887; admitted to the New York bar in 1884, and practiced in New York City from 1884 to 1891, and from 1893 to 1906; was professor of law at Cornell University from 1891 to 1893; was special lecturer at Cornell University from 1893 to 1895, and in the New York Law School from 1893 to 1900; was counsel to the Stevens Gas Committee of the New York Legislature in 1905, and counsel to the Armstrong Insurance Committee of the New York Legislature in 1905 and 1906; was special assistant to the United States Attorney General in the matter of the coal investigation of 1906; nominated for the office of mayor of New York City by the Republican convention in 1905, but declined the nomination; elected governor of New York for two terms, from January 1, 1907, to December 31, 1908, and from January 1, 1909, to December 31, 1910; appointed by President Taft to be an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and confirmed by the Senate on the 2d day of May, 1910; resigned the office of governor of the State of New York on the 6th day of October, 1910, and took his seat on the bench on the 10th day of October, 1910.

WILLIS VAN DEVANTER, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, was born at Marion, Ind., April 17, 1859; attended the public schools of his native town and Indiana Asbury (now De Pauw) University (LL. D., 1911); was graduated from the law school of the Cincinnati College in 1881; practiced his profession at Marion, Ind., until 1884, and subsequently at Cheyenne, Wyo., where he served as city attorney, a commissioner to revise the statute law of Wyoming, and member of the Territorial legislature; was appointed chief justice of the Territorial supreme court by President Harrison in 1889, and by election was continued as chief justice on the admission of the Territory as a State in 1890, but soon resigned to resume active practice; was chairman of the Republican State committee in 1894; was a delegate to the Republican national convention and also a member of the Republican national committee in 1896; was appointed assistant attorney general of the United States by President McKinley in 1897, being assigned to the Department of the Interior, and served in that position until 1903; was professor of equity pleading and practice 1898-1903, and of equity jurisprudence 1902-3 in Columbian (now George Washington) University; was appointed United States circuit judge, eighth circuit, by President Roosevelt in 1903; was appointed Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States by President Taft, December 16, 1910, and entered upon the duties of that office January 3 following.

ORIGIN AND FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

The District of Columbia was established under the authority and direction of acts of Congress approved July 16, 1790, and March 3, 1791, which were passed to give effect to a clause in the eighth section of the first article of the Constitution of the United States, giving Congress the power—

“To exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular States and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of the Government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased, by the consent of the legislature of the State in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dockyards, and other needful buildings.”

The local government of the District of Columbia is a municipal corporation having jurisdiction over the territory which “was ceded by the State of Maryland to the Congress of the United States for the permanent seat of the Government of the United States.”

This government is administered by a board of three commissioners having in general equal powers and duties.

Two of these commissioners, who must have been actual residents of the District for three years next before their appointment and have during that period claimed residence nowhere else, are appointed from civil life by the President of the United States and confirmed by the Senate of the United States for a term of three years each and until their successors are appointed and qualified.

The other commissioner is detailed from time to time by the President of the United States from the Engineer Corps of the United States Army, and shall not be required to perform any other duty. This commissioner shall be selected from among the captains or officers of higher grade having served at least 15 years in the Corps of Engineers of the Army of the United States.

Three officers of the same corps, junior to said commissioner, may be detailed to assist him by the President of the United States.

The senior officer of the Corps of Engineers of the Army who shall for the time being be detailed to act as assistant (and in case of his absence from the District or disability, the junior officer so detailed) shall, in the event of the absence from the District or disability of the commissioner who shall for the time being be detailed from the Corps of Engineers, perform all the duties imposed by law upon said commissioner.

One of said commissioners shall be chosen president of the board of commissioners at their first meeting, and annually and whenever a vacancy shall occur thereafter.

The commissioners are in a general way vested with jurisdiction covering all the ordinary features of municipal government.

Congress has by sundry statutes empowered the commissioners to make building regulations; plumbing regulations; to make and enforce all such reasonable and usual police regulations as they may deem necessary for the protection of lives, limbs, health, comfort, and quiet of all persons, and the protection of all property within the District, and other regulations of a municipal nature.

WASHINGTON CITY POST OFFICE.

(Corner Massachusetts Avenue and North Capitol Street (adjoining Union Station). Phone, Main 7272.)

Superintendent of mails.—W. H. Haycock, 3020 Dumbarton Avenue.

Assistant superintendents of mails.—Fred D. Riggles, 35 Rhode Island Avenue;
Frederick Sillers, 1357 Parkwood Place; Sidney G. Bursley, 57 R Street NE.

MAIN OFFICE.

General-delivery window open daily from 7 a. m. until midnight. Closed Sunday. Stamps may be purchased, money orders bought or cashed, mail registered and parcel-post packages sent at all hours of the day and night, including holidays. Money-order, registry, stamp, and parcel-post business is conducted at 83 contract stations in various parts of the city, usually from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m.

Special-delivery messengers can be obtained upon application to the Senate and House of Representatives post offices, or to any of the stations of the Washington City post office that are provided with Government telephone service, for the delivery of local special-delivery letters. At stations not having a Government telephone, applicants may have to pay for use of the station clerk's phone.

DIVISION OF FINANCE.

The postal cashier's office and wholesale stamp department are open from 8.30 a. m. to 4.30 p. m. daily, except Sundays and holidays. Retail stamp windows are open from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m., except Sundays, when the hours are from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m. Stamps in small quantities may be purchased at the registry division when stamp windows are closed.

POSTAGE RATES.

The domestic-letter rate is 2 cents an ounce or fraction thereof, and it applies to the island possessions of the United States, the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, Cuba, Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Shanghai (China), the Canal Zone, the Republic of Panama, Bahamas, British Guiana, British Honduras, Barbados, Leeward Islands, and Dutch West Indies. The foreign-letter rate is 5 cents for the first ounce of each letter and 3 cents for every additional ounce or fraction thereof, and it applies to all other foreign countries in the Universal Postal Union. The 2-cent rate to Germany is suspended.

THE POSTAL SAVINGS DEPOSITORY.

The postal savings depository is open for the transaction of business from 8 a. m. until 9 p. m. No business is transacted on Sundays or holidays. Accounts may be opened and deposits made by any person not less than 10 years of age. Sums of $1 and multiples thereof to not exceeding $100 are accepted for deposit during the calendar month, on which interest at the rate of 2 per cent per annum is allowed. No person is permitted to have to his credit an amount in excess of $500, exclusive of accumulated interest. Payments are made on demand. Postal savings stamps and cards at 10 cents each are on sale. A card with 9 stamps attached may be presented for deposit or exchanged for cash. Postal savings bonds bearing interest at the rate of 2½ per cent per annum are issued as of January 1 and July 1 of each year to postal savings depositors.

Depositories are also maintained at Stations A, C, F, G, H, Brookland, Takoma Park, and Chevy Chase Branch, where a general postal savings business is transacted. In addition to the places mentioned, postal savings cards and stamps may be purchased at all the contract stations.

MONEY-ORDER SECTION.

(Office hours: 8 a. m. to 9 p. m., except Sundays and holidays. Money should always be sent by money order to insure safe delivery.)

Money orders issued and paid as follows, Sundays and holidays excepted:

At main office, 8 a. m. to 9 p. m. Domestic money orders may be purchased at the registry window when money-order section is closed.

From 8 a. m. to 6 p. m., or as long as the stations are open for the transaction of other business, at Benning Station, Brightwood Station, Brookland Station, Cherrydale Rural Station, Chevy Chase, Congress Heights, Randle Highlands Station, Takoma Park Station, Tennallytown Station, Stations A, C, F, G, H, K, and stations 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 39, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 77, 78, 79, and 80. A single money order may include any amount from 1 cent to $100, inclusive, but must not contain the fractional part of a cent. There is no limit as to number in the issue of money orders; any number may be sent. Money orders drawn payable at Washington, D. C., may be cashed at stations on identification.

INTERNATIONAL MONEY ORDERS.

International money orders are issued at main office, Brookland Station, Chevy Chase, Takoma Park, and Stations A, C, F, G, H, 64, and 78.

The maximum amount for which a single international money order may be drawn is $100.

DIVISION OF MAILS.

CLOSING OF MAILS.

Letter mails close at the city post office 30 minutes in advance of train departure.

Letters in large quantities should be tied in bundles with the addresses faced the same way for expeditious handling, and should be mailed as far in advance of train departure as possible.

Congressional speeches should be segregated to post offices and tied in bundles labeled to such post offices, then placed in sacks labeled to the State involved unless they are all addressed to the same office, in which case the sack should be labeled to that office. Compliance with this suggestion will greatly facilitate the handling and dispatch of such matter.

Letters, stamped matter, and special-delivery matter should not be included in sacks containing congressional speeches or public documents.

DOMESTIC PARCEL POST.

Unsealed matter of the fourth class (parcel post), which embraces allailable merchandise not exceeding in size 84 inches in length and girth combined, and not exceeding 50 pounds in weight to the first and second zones and 20 pounds to all other zones, bearing the name and address of the sender, and prepared for mailing in such manner that the contents can be easily examined, isailable at the main office and its branches and contract stations (except as noted hereafter) during the hours of business of the office or station, and at the rates of postage provided for in the following table:

(The rate of postage on fourth-class matter weighing not more than 4 ounces is 1 cent for each ounce or fraction of an ounce regardless of distance, and on such matter in excess of 4 ounces in weight the rate is by the pound, as follows, the postage in all cases to be prepaid by postage stamps affixed:)

Printed books (embracing books of all classes, in their usual form, whether bound in paper or a more substantial binding, including printed catalogues) are fourth-class matter, and therefore subject to parcel-post rates and conditions, except that the rate for parcels of books weighing 8 ounces or less is 1 cent for each 2 ounces or fraction thereof. Miscellaneous printed matter weighing over 4 pounds is subject to parcel-post rates and conditions.

A mailable parcel on which the postage is fully prepaid may be insured against loss in an amount not exceeding $5 on payment of a fee of 3 cents, $25 on payment of a fee of 5 cents, $50 on payment of a fee of 10 cents, and $100 on payment of a fee of 25 cents. A return receipt will be furnished if desired. Parcels for Canada, Cuba, Mexico, and the Republic of Panama can not be insured but may be registered. Parcels for the Philippine Islands may be insured, but indemnity is allowed only when the loss occurs in the service of the United States. In view of the provision for the insurance of fourth-class mail matter and the furnishing of receipts for such mail when insured, the necessity for registration is removed, and therefore fourth-class matter shall not be admitted to the registered mails (except for Canada, Cuba, Mexico, and the Republic of Panama).

The sender of a mailable parcel on which the postage is fully prepaid may have the price of the article and the charges thereon collected from the addressee on payment of a fee of 10 cents in postage stamps affixed, provided the amount to be collected does not exceed $100. Such a parcel will be insured against loss, without additional charge, in an amount equivalent to its actual value, but not to exceed $50. The sender of a collect-on-delivery (C. O. D.) parcel will be given a receipt showing the office and date of mailing, the number of the parcel, and the amount due him. A C. O. D. parcel will be accepted for mailing only at a money-order office and when addressed to a money-order office. Money-order offices are designated in the Parcel-Post Guide by an asterisk (*) or a dagger (†). The postmaster at the mailing office will be held responsible for the postage required for the return of a parcel addressed to a nonmoney-order office. The C. O. D. feature does not apply to Canada, Cuba, Mexico, the Republic of Panama, and the Philippine Islands.

FOREIGN PARCEL POST.

Admissible matter.—Packages of mailable merchandise may be sent, in unsealed packages, by "parcel post" to the following-named countries:

Argentine Republic.	Ecuador.	Liberia.
Australia.	France.	Martinique.
Austria.	French Guiana.	Mexico.
Bahamas.	Germany.	Netherlands.
Barbados.	Gibraltar.	Newfoundland.
Belgium.	Great Britain and Ireland.	New Zealand.
Bermuda.	Greece. ¹	Nicaragua.
Bolivia.	Guadeloupe.	Norway.
Brazil. ¹	Guatemala.	Panama. ¹
British Guiana.	Haiti.	Peru.
Chile.	Honduras (British).	Salvador.
Colombia.	Honduras (Republic of).	Sweden.
Costa Rica.	Hongkong. ²	Trinidad (including Tobago).
Curaçao.	Hungary.	Uruguay.
Danish West Indies.	Italy.	Venezuela.
Denmark.	Jamaica.	Windward Islands.
Dominican Republic.	Japan. ³
Dutch Guiana.	Leeward Islands.

Postage rates.—Postage must be prepaid in full by stamps affixed at the rate of 12 cents a pound or fraction of a pound. Registry fee, 10 cents, in addition to postage.

Registration.—The sender of a parcel addressed to any of the countries named in the table at the head of this section, except Argentine Republic, Barbados, Curaçao, Dutch Guiana, France, French Guiana, Gibraltar, Great Britain and Ireland, Greece, Guadeloupe, Martinique, the Netherlands, and Uruguay, may have the same registered by paying a registry fee of 10 cents, and will receive the "return receipt," without special charge therefor, when envelope or wrapper is marked "Return receipt demanded."

Place of mailing.—Matter intended for parcel post must be taken to the post office for inspection and there deposited in the mails. It must not be deposited in a letter box.

Letters prohibited.—A letter or communication of the nature of personal correspondence must not accompany, be written on, or inclosed with any parcel. If such be found, the letter will be placed in the mails, if separable; and if the communication be inseparably attached the whole parcel will be rejected.

² Parcel-post packages addressed for delivery in the cities in China named in United States Postal Guide are mailable at the postage rate and subject to the conditions applicable to parcel-post packages for delivery at Hongkong.

³ Parcel-post packages addressed for delivery at any post office in Formosa or Chosen (Korea) and the places in China and Manchuria named in United States Postal Guide are mailable at the postage rate and subject to the conditions applicable to parcel-post packages addressed for delivery in Japan.

Dimensions.—To all countries named packages are limited to 3½ feet in length and to 6 feet in length and girth combined, except that packages for Colombia and Mexico are limited to 2 feet in length and 4 feet in girth.

Weight.—Packages to certain post offices in Mexico must not exceed 4 pounds 6 ounces in weight, but those for all other countries named may weigh up to but not exceeding 11 pounds.

During the war in Europe the parcel-post service with Belgium, Austria-Hungary, Germany, and the war zone of France has been suspended.

Further information concerning parcel post may be obtained at the main office or branches.

CITY DELIVERY AND COLLECTION (MAIN OFFICE).

REGISTRY SECTION.

The registry section is open continuously. All mailable matter properly prepared, except domestic matter of the fourth class, may be registered. Domestic money orders and postage stamps in small quantities may be purchased at the registry section after the close of the money-order and stamp windows.

Matter may be registered at all stations during such hours as they are open.

Station No. 21 is located in the House Office Building.

The registry fee is 10 cents for each separate letter or parcel, in addition to the postage, either foreign or domestic, both postage and registry fee to be fully prepaid. The addition of a special-delivery stamp, or 10 cents in ordinary postage stamps, provided the article is indorsed "special delivery," will insure the immediate delivery, during special-delivery hours, of a registered article upon its arrival at the delivery office.

When an acknowledgment of delivery is desired, the envelope or wrapper of the registered article should be indorsed on the address side by the sender, "Receipt desired" or with words of similar import.

The sender of registered mail may restrict its delivery to the addressee by indorsing thereon, "Deliver to addressee only," except when addressed to certain public officials. The addressee may restrict delivery by filing at the delivery office directions in writing, stating to whom delivery should be made.

Registered mail not so restricted as to delivery may be delivered to any responsible person to whom the addressee's ordinary mail is customarily delivered.

All valuable letters and printed matter, as well as those the delivery of which is of importance to the sender, should be registered if sent in the mails. An indemnity, not to exceed $50, will be paid for the value of lost domestic first-class mail matter, $25 on third-class mail, and 50 francs ($9.65) in case of the loss of a registered article addressed to a country in the Universal Postal Union, under certain conditions. Letter carriers are required to accept for registration all matter presented to them when properly prepared.

Matter included in the domestic parcel post can not be registered.

Private and official matter is accepted for registration at the post offices of the Senate and House of Representatives. Franked matter may be registered to any post office in the United States, Canada, Cuba, Republic of Panama, and Mexico, upon the prepayment, by postage stamps affixed, of the registry fee.

Letters may be registered to any post office in the world upon the prepayment of 10 cents in addition to the regular postage.

RULES GOVERNING PRESS GALLERIES.

1. Persons desiring admission to the press galleries shall make application to the Speaker, as required by Rule XXXVI of the House of Representatives, and to the Committee on Rules of the Senate, as required by Rule IV for the Regulation of the Senate Wing of the Capitol; and shall also state, in writing, for what paper or papers they are employed; and shall further state that they are not engaged in the prosecution of claims pending before Congress or the departments, and will not become so engaged while allowed admission to the galleries; and that they are not in any sense the agents or representatives of persons or corporations having legislation before Congress, and will not become either while retaining their places in the galleries; and that they are not employed in an executive or legislative department, and will not become so employed while accepting the privileges of the galleries. Visiting journalists who may be allowed temporary admission to the galleries must conform to the restrictions of this rule.

2. The applications required by above rule shall be authenticated in a manner that shall be satisfactory to the Standing Committee of Correspondents, who shall see that the occupation of the galleries is confined to bona fide telegraphic correspondents of reputable standing in their business, who represent daily newspapers, and not exceeding one seat shall be assigned to each paper; and it shall be the duty of the Standing Committee, at their discretion, to report violations of the privileges of the galleries to the Speaker, or to the Senate Committee on Rules, and pending action thereon the offending correspondent shall be suspended.

3. Persons employed in the executive or legislative departments of the Government, and persons engaged in other occupations whose chief attention is not given to newspaper correspondence, shall not be entitled to admission to the Press Galleries; and the Press List in the Congressional Directory shall be a list only of persons whose chief attention is given to telegraphic correspondence for daily newspapers.

4. Members of the families of correspondents are not entitled to admission.

5. The galleries, subject to the approval of the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the supervision and control of the Senate Committee on Rules, shall be under the control of the Standing Committee of Correspondents.

Approved:

CHAMP CLARK,

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Approved by the Committee on Rules of the Senate.
