

This map of Georgia displays its 159 counties, each labeled with its name. Counties are numbered 1 through 12, likely representing a specific administrative or statistical region. Major cities are indicated by black dots and labeled: Atlanta (Fulton County), Savannah (Chatham County), Augusta (Richmond County), and Columbus (Muscogee County). The map includes a north arrow in the bottom left corner. The numbers 1-12 are distributed across the state: 1 is in the southeast (Wayne County); 2 is in the southwest (Miller County); 3 is in the central-east (Wilkes County); 4 is in the central (Fulton County); 5 is in the central (Fulton County); 6 is in the central (Fulton County); 7 is in the northwest (Fulton County); 8 is in the central (Fulton County); 9 is in the northeast (Fulton County); 10 is in the northwest (Fulton County); 11 is in the northwest (Fulton County); 12 is in the northeast (Fulton County).

11

Miles

0      25      50      100