At 11:58 p.m. on Jan. 21, just two minutes before the deadline, the Office of Management and Budget released 192 pages of Ukraine-related documents, including records that have not been produced to Congress in its impeachment investigation.

Included in the documents are emails from OMB Acting Director Russell Vought and Michael Duffey, OMB's associate director for national security, including one from Duffey on the day of President Donald Trump's July 25 call with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky. Both officials were key players in the withholding of aid to Ukraine last fall, which last week the Government Accountability Office said was illegal.

As the president's defenders in the Senate repeatedly voted down amendments to subpoena documents and witnesses in the Senate impeachment trial, these documents — obtained through the Freedom of Information Act — show a flurry of activity on a number of days in late June 2019 after a Washington Examiner article <https://www.washingtonexaminer.com/policy/defense-national-security/pentagon-to-send-250m-in-weapons-to-ukraine> about military assistance for Ukraine. Additional emails through the summer and early fall, when Pentagon official Elaine McCusker was raising concerns about the legality of the freeze, are heavily redacted.

American Oversight filed several FOIA requests with OMB on for a range of records related to the office's role in suspending military aid to Ukraine as part of the president's attempt to pressure Ukraine to launch a political investigation. OMB agreed to search for and release by Jan. 21, 2020, records of emails sent by Vought and Duffey containing key terms related Ukraine, as well as copies of the July 25 OMB memo justifying the withholding of aid.

Statement from Austin Evers, American Oversight's executive director:

"President Trump's lawyers stood in the Senate on Tuesday arguing that documents are totally unnecessary for the impeachment trial, but these documents give lie to that entire position. Despite the Trump Administration's obstruction and the rhetoric at the trial, the public can now see even more evidence of the president's corrupt scheme as it unfolded in real time. The volume of material released, and the volume of material still secreted away, only highlights how much the administration has withheld from the House, the Senate, and the American public."

RE: American Oversight v. Office of Management and Budget, et al., No. 19-cv-3213 (D.D.C.)

Dear Mr. McGrath:

This is an interim response to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) requests from American Oversight, which are the subject of litigation in the above-referenced matter. Specifically, the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) received the FOIA requests on September 24, 2019, and assigned them tracking numbers 2019-477, 2019-478 and 2019-479.

In accordance with the Joint Status Report of December 16, 2019, the parties reached agreement on an expedited production schedule for American Oversight's priority request to OMB. Pursuant to that report, OMB has completed its review of the search results and identified a total of 227 responsive documents. Of those 227 responsive documents, OMB is releasing in full or in part 107 documents. These documents include redactions made pursuant to FOIA Exemptions 3, 5 and 6, 5 U.S.C. §§ 552(b)(3), (b)(5) and (b)(6). Exemption 3 protects information that is prohibited from disclosure by another Federal statute. Exemption 5 protects attorney-client and interagency or intra-agency pre-decisional and deliberative communications, the disclosure of which would inhibit the frank and candid exchange of views that is necessary for effective government decision-making. Exemption 6 protects against disclosure of information that would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. With respect to the remaining 120 documents, OMB is withholding these records in full pursuant to FOIA Exemption 5, which protects deliberative, attorney-client, and Presidential communications, the disclosure of which would inhibit the frank and candid exchange of views that is necessary for effective government decision-making.

Because your FOIA requests are in litigation, your administrative appellate rights are now moot. If you have any questions about this interim response, please contact Grace Zhou at (202) 616-8267 or Grace.X.Zhou@usdoj.gov.

Sincerely,

Dionne Hardy

Pentagon to send $250M in weapons to Ukraine

by Russ Read

June 19, 2019 01:17 PM

The Department of Defense plans to send $250 million in military equipment to Ukraine to assist in building up the country's military capabilities as it continues to counter Russian-backed forces in its eastern provinces.

The aid package will include sniper rifles, grenade launchers, and counter-artillery radars for the Ukrainian Navy, special operations forces, and land troops. Electronic warfare detection equipment, night vision technology, and military medical equipment will also be included. This additional equipment brings total U.S. security assistance to Ukraine to $1.5 billion since 2014, according to the Pentagon.

"I think the provision of security assistance to Ukraine is vitally important. I think it has had an impact both psychologically as well as militarily on the professionalization and the capacity of the Ukrainian forces," Kurt Volker, the U.S. special representative for Ukraine, told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at a Tuesday hearing.

"I think it's also important that Ukraine reciprocate with foreign military purchases from us as well, and I know that they intend to do so."

The assistance comes at a pivotal moment for Ukraine's newly minted president, Volodymyr Zelensky, a popular comedian who won a landslide victory in April. Zelensky has made ending the Russian-backed insurrection in Ukraine's eastern Donbas region his top political priority. The conflict remains in an uneasy stalemate following international attempts to broker a ceasefire. Tensions spiked in November when Russian forces captured and detained 24 sailors following an attack on three Ukrainian vessels.

"We must become Icelanders in football, Israelis in defending our native land, Japanese in technology," Zelensky said during his swearing-in speech in May.

"Our first task is to achieve a ceasefire in Donbas."

Volker told senators the United States should continue to add maritime and air defense capabilities to the Ukrainian arsenal as Russia continues to pose a threat in the Black Sea.

"I think it's important that NATO stand up to make clear that all of us have an interest in the freedom of navigation, the open access, the economic development of the region, and the security of the region," he said.

The U.S. created the European Deterrence Initiative in 2014 in response to Russia's annexation of Ukraine's Crimea territory. Congress authorized the sale of lethal aid to Ukraine that year, but the Obama administration did not sign off on the provision due to concerns that offensive weapons could escalate tensions. U.S. support was limited to non-lethal aid until President Trump reversed the policy in 2017, though his administration proposed a 10% cut to the fund in this year's budget proposal.

Rick Berger, a former Senate Budget Committee staffer who studies defense budgets for the American Enterprise Institute, told the Washington Examiner there is broad bipartisan support for continuing aid to Ukraine. He expects Congress will increase Ukrainian military support, saying there is minimal concern regarding escalation on Capitol Hill.

"These aid packages are very well tailored to the things that, by and large, the Ukrainian military actually needs," Berger said. "Congress cares about Ukraine in a bipartisan fashion, and I wouldn't be surprised if [aid] goes up again in this year's" National Defense Authorization Act.

The fate of next year's defense budget remains unclear, however, as congressional leaders wrangle over the federal budget as a whole.

Good afternoon. I hope you are doing well.

I heard today that OMB has put a pause on expending funds authorized for Ukrainian security assistance. Is there someone there that I could talk to to understand why?

The Honorable Mick Mulvaney
 Acting Chief of Staff
 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue NW
 Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. Mulvaney:

It has come to our attention that the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) has directed the Defense Security Cooperation Agency (DSCA) to cease implementation of the Ukraine Security Assistance funding until OMB questions are satisfactorily answered. Congress appropriated funding for this program in FY19 and the cases have been approved through the congressional notification process. This funding is critical to support the Ukrainian armed forces against Russian aggression. We strongly urge you to direct that all the Ukraine Security Assistance Initiative (USAI) funding proceed to execution as planned.

Actions by the Office of Management and Budget that delay implementation of this critical funding could undermine our clear national security interests and signal the U.S. Government's lack of commitment to Ukraine and our Eastern European allies. Slowing implementation of resources appropriated for the safety and security of Ukraine could undermine our relationship with Ukraine and our regional strategy. The United States should continue to stand with the Ukrainian people during this time of Russian aggression.

In addition, after significant consultation with the Department of Defense, Congress has already reviewed and approved the specific uses of remaining USAI funding, and contracting actions should proceed. A withdrawal of funding at this point could undermine the U.S. defense industrial base, jeopardizing U.S. manufacturing jobs and weaken a major premise of the National Defense Strategy.

Very Respectfully,

 Col. Paul Cook (Ret.)
 Member of Congress
 California's Eighth Congressional District

Michael; I work on national security affairs for Senator Rob Portman. As you may know, he is the chair of the Ukraine Caucus and has worked closely with the Senate Armed Services Committee on securing security assistance and is very interested in ensuring Ukraine has the military capabilities it needs to defend itself against Russian aggression. I understand that OMB has placed a hold on USAI case funding which could impact pending equipment contracts.

If you are the right POC, I would appreciate if you could lay out for me the reason behind the OMB hold and what the process is for getting the funding released. If you are not the right person, please put in contact with the right office.

If you care to call you can use the office number listed below or my cell: (b)(6) Privacy <[REDACTED]>

Hi Rachel – I'm hearing that OMB has asked for additional information about $250 million in security assistance money for Ukraine – putting a hold on it and keeping it from being spent.

Hey Rachel,

Hope you're doing well and thanks again for inviting us to breakfast last week!

Several reporters here, including myself, have heard from sources who said that a number of foreign aid funding streams, or all foreign aid funding streams, are currently on hold.

Specifically, I was told that the funding involved in the dropped rescission package still hasn't been obligated. Another reporter heard that the Ukraine Security Assistance Initiative is on pause, and a third reporter was told that OMB is using the apportionments process to tie up the Ukraine funding.

A fourth reporter and myself have also heard that all foreign assistance has ground to a halt.

Can you shed any light on what's going on here? On background or on the record would be preferable. With sources accumulating, it's possible that we will write something today.

Thanks,

Hi Steven and Hogan, sorry to ping you late on a Friday (but I'm guessing you're having no more of an almost-weekend than we are). I'm reaching out to ask what the White House's reason was for holding up the Ukraine military assistance through the summer, up until last week, and why OMB managed that process instead of the Pentagon and State Department. Hill people don't seem to be aware of, or able to articulate, the specific reason.

Thanks!

Trump Brags About Concealing Impeachment Evidence: 'We Have All the Material, They Don't'

President Donald Trump speaks during a news conference at the World Economic Forum in Davos, Switzerland.

President Trump said he's happy with the way the impeachment trial is going thus far because his administration has not released "materials" that would hurt his cause.

"When we released that conversation all hell broke out with the Democrats," Trump said. "Because they said, 'Wait a minute, this is much different than [what Adam Schiff] told us.' "

The president continued, "So, we're doing very well. I got to watch [the impeachment trial] enough. I thought our team did a very good job. But honestly, we have all the material. They don't have the material."

Trump made the stark admission while attending the World Economic Forum in Davos, Switzerland.

When asked about the impeachment trial, Trump initially spoke about what he usually refers to as the “perfect call” with Ukrainian President Volodymyr Zelensky. In that phone conversation, on July 25, 2019, Trump reportedly asked Zelensky to investigate the Bidens eight times.

The Trump administration has exerted executive privilege while ignoring subpoenas for documents and have directed individuals not to respond to subpoena requests since the beginning of the impeachment process. For comparison, the Clinton administration turned over more than 90,000 pages of documents and material during its impeachment.

Usually, the Trump administration either refuses to explain their stonewalling or excuses their lack of cooperation away by bashing the investigation, calling it illegitimate or a witch hunt. But here, rather astonishingly, Trump seems to be flatly admitting to withholding evidence.
