§ 121.903 How may an agency use size standards for its programs that are different than those established by SBA?

(a) Federal agencies or departments promulgating regulations relating to small businesses usually use SBA size standard criteria. In limited circumstances, if they decide the SBA size standard is not suitable for their programs, then...