Office of the Secretary, Interior

§ 11.43 Can interested parties review the results of the preliminary application?

After completing the preliminary application of the NRDAM/CME or NRDAM/GLE, if the authorized official decides to continue with the type A application, the authorized official must prepare a written report summarizing the preliminary application and prepare a draft of the Assessment Plan. If the authorized official decides to continue with the type B application, the authorized official must prepare a written report summarizing the preliminary application and prepare a draft of the Assessment Plan. The authorized official must make the draft Assessment Plan and the draft Preliminary Application Report available for public review and comment for a period of at least thirty days.
