§ 222.33 Relationship resulting from legal adoption.

(a) Adopted by employee. A claimant will be considered to be the child of the employee for both annuity and lump-sum payment purposes if the employee legally adopted the claimant in accordance with applicable State law. Legal adoption differs from equitable adoption in that in the case of legal adoption formal adoption proceedings have been completed in accordance with applicable State law and such proceedings are not defective.

(b) Adopted by widow or widower. A claimant who is legally adopted by the widow or widower of the employee after the employee’s death will be considered to be the child of the employee for annuity but not for lump-sum payment purposes if—

1. Either the claimant is adopted by the widow or widower within two years after the date on which the employee died, or the employee commenced proceedings to legally adopt the claimant before the employee’s death; and

2. The claimant was living in the employee’s household at the time of the employee’s death; and

3. The claimant was not receiving regular support contributions from any other person other than the employee or spouse at the time of the employee’s death.

(c) The adoption laws of the state or foreign country where the adoption took place, not the state inheritance laws, will determine whether the claimant is the employee’s adopted child.

§ 222.34 Relationship resulting from equitable adoption.

In many States, where a legal adoption proceeding was defective under State law or where a contemplated legal adoption was not completed, a claimant may be considered to be an equitably adopted child. A claimant will have the relationship of an equitably adopted child for annuity and lump-sum payment purposes if, in addition to meeting the other requirements of this part—

(a) The employee had agreed to adopt the claimant; and

(b) The natural parents or the person legally responsible for the care of the claimant agreed to the adoption; and

(c) The employee and the claimant lived together as parent and child; and

(d) The agreement to adopt is recognized under applicable State law such that, if the employee were to die without leaving a will, the claimant could inherit a share of the employee’s personal estate as the child of the employee.

§ 222.35 Relationship as stepchild.

A claimant will be considered to have the relationship of stepchild of an employee, and will be considered a child for annuity but not for lump-sum benefit purposes if—

(a) The claimant’s natural or adoptive parent married the employee after the claimant’s birth; and

(b) The marriage between the employee and the claimant’s parent is a valid marriage under applicable State law (see §§222.12 and 222.13), or would be valid except for a legal impediment; and

(c) The employee and the claimant’s parent were married at least one year before the date—

1. On which the spouse applies for an annuity based on having the employee’s child in care; or

2. On which the employee’s annuity can be increased under the social security overall minimum provision; or

(d) The employee and the claimant’s parent were married at least nine months before the date on which the employee died if the claimant is applying for a child’s annuity; or if the employee and the claimant’s parent were married less than nine months, the employee was reasonably expected to live for nine months, and—

1. The employee’s death was accidental; or

2. The employee died in the line of duty as a member of the armed forces of the United States; or
