(3) Example. The application of section 823(c) and this paragraph may be illustrated by the following example:

Example. M, a mutual insurance company subject to the tax imposed by section 821(a), has the following items for the taxable year 1963:

- Gross amount for purposes of section 823(c)(1) $800,000
- Gross investment income (including capital gains) $150,000
- Capital gains $100,000
- Gross income under section 832 $900,000
- Deductions under section 822(c) $746,000
- Deductions under section 823 (as modified by section 823(b)(2)) $746,000

Under the provisions of section 823(c), M's special small company deduction for the taxable year 1963 would be $3,000, computed as follows:

1. Gross amount for purposes of section 823(c)(1) $800,000
2. Amount by which $1,100,000 exceeds item (1) $300,000
3. 1 percent of item (2) (not to exceed $6,000) $3,000
4. Gross income under section 832, reduced by gross investment income ($900,000 minus $150,000) $750,000
5. Deductions under section 822 (as modified by section 823(b)(2)) $746,000
6. Limitation on deduction under section 823(c)
   1. (excess, if any, of item (4) over item (5)) $6,000
   2. Deduction under section 823(c)(1) (item (5) or item (6), whichever is the lesser) $3,000

§ 1.823–7 Subscribers of reciprocal underwriters and interinsurers.

A subscriber or policyholder of a reciprocal underwriter or interinsurer entitled to the deduction allowed by section 823(b)(2) and paragraph (c)(2) of §1.823–6 shall treat amounts representing savings credit to his individual account for the taxable year as a dividend paid or declared for purposes of computing his taxable income. If a reciprocal credits savings to subscriber accounts after the close of its taxable year, but before the 16th day of the third month following the close of the taxable year, and the reciprocal takes such credits into account as if they had been made on the last day of its taxable year, the subscriber must take such savings into account as if they had in fact been credited to him in cash. To the extent the insurance premium constituted a deductible expense when paid or accrued, the subscriber’s taxable income for the taxable year will be increased and any loss for the taxable year will be decreased, by the amount credited to his account. Amounts credited to a subscriber’s account which are taken into income by him and which subsequently are used to absorb losses of the reciprocal must be treated by the subscriber as an additional insurance expense for the taxable year in which the amounts are absorbed. Such amounts may be deducted in computing taxable income to the extent insurance constitutes an otherwise properly deductible expense for such taxable year.

§ 1.823–8 Special transitional underwriting loss; cross reference.

With respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1962, and before January 1, 1968, section 821(f) provides, for any company subject to the tax imposed by section 821(a), a special reduction in the statutory underwriting income if such company was subject to tax under section 821 for the five taxable years immediately preceding January 1, 1962, and incurred an underwriting loss in each of such five taxable years. For rules relating to the determination of the amount of such reduction, see section 821(f) and §1.821–5.

§ 1.825–1 Unused loss deduction; in general.

(a) Amount of deduction. Section 825(a) provides that the unused loss deduction of a mutual insurance company subject to the tax imposed by section 821(a) shall be an amount equal to the sum of the unused loss carryovers and carrybacks to the taxable year. The amount so determined is used in the computation of mutual insurance company taxable income for the taxable year. See section 821(b) and §1.821–4.

(b) Unused loss defined. Section 825(b) defines the term “unused loss” as the amount (if any) by which:

1. The sum of the statutory underwriting loss (as defined in section
§ 1.825–2 Unused loss carryovers and carrybacks.

(a) Years to which loss may be carried—

(1) In general. In order to determine its unused loss deduction for any taxable year, a mutual insurance company taxable under section 821(a) must first determine the part of any unused losses for any preceding or succeeding taxable years which are carryovers or carrybacks to the taxable year in issue. An unused loss is to be an unused loss carryback to each of the 3 taxable years preceding the loss year, and an unused loss carryover to each of the 5 taxable years following the loss year, subject to the limitations provided in section 825(g) and subparagraph (2) of this paragraph.

(2) Limitations. An unused loss may not be carried:

(i) To or from any taxable year beginning before January 1, 1963.

(ii) To or from any taxable year for which the taxpayer is not subject to the tax imposed by section 821(a), nor

(iii) To any taxable year if, between the loss year and such taxable year, there is an intervening taxable year for which the taxpayer was not subject to the tax imposed by section 821(a).
