

WAR IN THE PACIFIC NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK

---

---

HEARING BEFORE THE SUBCOMMITTEE ON NATIONAL PARKS, FORESTS AND PUBLIC LANDS COMMITTEE ON NATURAL RESOURCES HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

ONE HUNDRED THIRD CONGRESS

FIRST SESSION

ON

H.R. 1944

TO PROVIDE FOR ADDITIONAL DEVELOPMENT AT WAR IN THE PACIFIC
NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES

---

HEARING HELD IN WASHINGTON, DC
MAY 27, 1993

---

Serial No. 103-29

---

Printed for the use of the Committee on Natural Resources

U.S. GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE

WASHINGTON : 1993

72-168

---

For sale by the U.S. Government Printing Office
Superintendent of Documents, Congressional Sales Office, Washington, DC 20402

ISBN 0-16-041498-9

COMMITTEE ON NATURAL RESOURCES

GEORGE MILLER, California, Chairman

PHILIP R. SHARP, Indiana
EDWARD J. MARKEY, Massachusetts
AUSTIN J. MURPHY, Pennsylvania
NICK JOE RAHALL II, West Virginia
BRUCE F. VENTO, Minnesota
PAT WILLIAMS, Montana
RON DE LUGO, Virgin Islands
SAN GEJDENSON, Connecticut
RICHARD H. LEHMAN, California
BILL RICHARDSON, New Mexico
PETER A. DEFAZIO, Oregon
ENI F.H. FALEOMAVAEGA, American Samoa
TIM JOHNSON, South Dakota
LARRY LAROCCO, Idaho
NEIL ABERCROMBIE, Hawaii
CALVIN M. DOOLEY, California
CARLOS ROMERO-BARCELO, Puerto Rico
KARAN ENGLISH, Arizona
KAREN SHEPHERD, Utah
NATHAN DEAL, Georgia
MAURICE D. HINCHEY, New York
ROBERT A. UNDERWOOD, Guam
HOWARD BERMAN, California
LANE EVANS, Illinois
PATSY T. MINK, Hawaii
THOMAS J. BARLOW III, Kentucky
THOMAS M. BARRETT, Wisconsin

DON YOUNG, Alaska,
Ranking Republican Member
JAMES V. HANSEN, Utah
BARBARA F. VUCANOVICH, Nevada
ELTON GALLEGLY, California
ROBERT F. SMITH, Oregon
CRAIG THOMAS, Wyoming
JOHN J. DUNCAN, Jr., Tennessee
JOEL HEFLEY, Colorado
JOHN T. DOOLITTLE, California
WAYNE ALLARD, Colorado
RICHARD H. BAKER, Louisiana
KEN CALVERT, California
SCOTT MCINNIS, Colorado
RICHARD W. POMBO, California
JAY DICKEY, Arkansas

JOHN LAWRENCE, Staff Director
RICHARD MELTZER, General Counsel
DANIEL VAL KISH, Republican Staff Director

---

SUBCOMMITTEE ON NATIONAL PARKS, FORESTS AND PUBLIC LANDS

BRUCE F. VENTO, Minnesota, Chairman

EDWARD J. MARKEY, Massachusetts
NICK JOE RAHALL II, West Virginia
PAT WILLIAMS, Montana
PETER A. DEFAZIO, Oregon
TIM JOHNSON, South Dakota
LARRY LAROCCO, Idaho
NEIL ABERCROMBIE, Hawaii
CARLOS ROMERO-BARCELO, Puerto Rico
KARAN ENGLISH, Arizona
KAREN SHEPHERD, Utah
MAURICE D. HINCHEY, New York
ROBERT A. UNDERWOOD, Guam
AUSTIN J. MURPHY, Pennsylvania
BILL RICHARDSON, New Mexico
PATSY T. MINK, Hawaii

JAMES V. HANSEN, Utah,
Ranking Republican Member
ROBERT F. SMITH, Oregon
CRAIG THOMAS, Wyoming
JOHN J. DUNCAN, Jr., Tennessee
JOEL HEFLEY, Colorado
JOHN T. DOOLITTLE, California
RICHARD H. BAKER, Louisiana
KEN CALVERT, California
JAY DICKEY, Arkansas

RICHARD HEALY, Staff Director
AMY HOLLEY, Professional Staff Member
GWYN FLETCHER, Staff Assistant
STEPHEN HODAPP, Republican Consultant on National Parks

CONTENTS

---

	Page
Hearing held: May 27, 1993 .....	1
H.R. 1944:
1. Text of the bill .....	2
2. Background information .....	8
Member statements:
Hon. Bruce Vento .....	1
Hon. Robert A. Underwood .....	9
Hon. Ron de Lugo .....	21
Witness statements:
Denis P. Galvin, associate director, planning and development, National Park Service, Department of the Interior .....	10
Panel consisting of:
Hon. J. George Bamba, senator, 22d Guam Legislature .....	26
Michael Cruz, acting director, Bureau of Planning, on behalf of Hon. Joseph F. Ada, Governor of Guam .....	47
Panel consisting of:
Beatrice Flores Emsley, Guam .....	56
Rosalia R. Bordallo, Cathedral Grade School of Guam, accompanied by Jonathan Bordallo .....	61
Cyril J. O'Brien, Third Marine Division Association, Veterans of the Liberation of Guam .....	63
Hon. James Corman, Guam veteran and former Representative to Congress from the State of California .....	69

APPENDIX

MAY 27, 1993

Additional material submitted for the hearing record:
Development costs proposed for War in the Pacific National Historical Park and American Memorial Park submitted by the National Park Service, Department of the Interior .....	73
Prepared statement of Hon. Ron de Lugo .....	79
Prepared statement of Hon. Robert A. Underwood .....	82
Prepared statement of Hon. James V. Hansen .....	87
Prepared statement of Hon. Lorenzo I. De Leon Guerrero, Governor, Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands .....	90
Letter to Hon. Robert Underwood from Hon. Joe T. San Agustin, Speaker, 22d Guam Legislature, dated June 10, 1993 .....	94
Prepared statement of Hon. Juan N. Babauta, Resident Representative to the United States from the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands .....	95
Prepared statement of Hon. Elizabeth P. Arriola, senator, and Chair- person, 22d Guam Legislature's Committee on Youth, Senior Citizens, and Cultural Affairs .....	98
Letter to Chairman Vento from General Louis H. Wilson, USMC (Ret.), dated May 24, 1993 .....	100
Letter to Chairman Vento from Peter C. Siguenza, Captain, USMCR, (Ret.), president, Guam Chapter, Third Marine Division Association, Inc., dated May 21, 1993 .....	102
Handwritten letter to Hon. Robert Underwood from Mr. and Mrs. Vicente Acfalle .....	103

IV

	Page
Additional material submitted for the hearing record—Continued
Letter to Hon. Robert Underwood from Natividad Gumataotao, teacher, Guam Public School, dated May 18, 1993 .....	105
Letters in support of H.R. 1944 from students of the 5th Grade Gifted and Talented Program, Price Elementary School, Mangilao, Guam .....	106
Letter from Harold K. Noble, past president, past chairman, board of directors, Third Marine Division Association, dated June 21, 1993, to Members of Congress .....	109
Letter from Mrs. Arlene Taitague Acfalle dated May 18, 1993 .....	110
Prepared statement of Mrs. Natividad Gumataotao, Malessa, Guam .....	111

PROVIDING FOR ADDITIONAL DEVELOPMENT AT WAR IN THE PACIFIC NATIONAL HIS-TORICAL PARK, AND FOR OTHER PUR-POSES

---

THURSDAY, MAY 27, 1993

U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
COMMITTEE ON NATURAL RESOURCES,
SUBCOMMITTEE ON NATIONAL PARKS, FORESTS
AND PUBLIC LANDS,
*Washington, DC.

The subcommittee met at 11 a.m. in room 340 of the Cannon House Office Building, the Hon. Bruce Vento presiding.

OPENING STATEMENT OF HON. BRUCE VENTO

Mr. VENTO. The Subcommittee on National Forests, Forests and Public Lands will be in order. This morning we are meeting to hear testimony on H.R. 1944, a bill introduced by our friend and colleague on the Subcommittee, Congressman Bob Underwood, to provide for additional development at War in the Pacific National Historical Park.

[The bill, H.R. 1944, and background information follow:]

103D CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. R. 1944

To provide for additional development at War in the Pacific National Historical Park, and for other purposes.

---

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

APRIL 29, 1993

Mr. UNDERWOOD (for himself, Mr. DE LUGO, Mr. FALCOMAEGA, Mr. ABERCROMBIE, Mr. GILMAN, Mr. MURPHY, Mr. MONTGOMERY, Mr. KENNEDY, Mrs. MINK, Mr. RICHARDSON, and Mr. ROMERO-BARCELÓ) introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Natural Resources

---

A BILL

To provide for additional development at War in the Pacific National Historical Park, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. FINDINGS.

4 Congress finds that—

5 (1) June 15 through August 10, 1994, marks
6 the 50th anniversary of the Mariana campaign of 7 World War II in which American forces captured the 8 islands of Saipan and Tinian in the Northern Mari-

1 anas and liberated the United States Territory of 2 Guam from Japanese occupation;

3 (2) an attack during this campaign by the Jap-
4 anese Imperial fleet, aimed at countering the Amer-
5 ican forces that had landed on Saipan, led to the 6 battle of the Philippine Sea, which resulted in a
7 crushing defeat for the Japanese by United States
8 naval forces and the destruction of the effectiveness
9 of the Japanese carrier-based airpower;

10 (3) the recapture of Guam liberated one of the 11 few pieces of United States territory that was occu-12 pied for two and one-half years by the enemy during 13 World War II and restored freedom to the indige-
14 nous Chamorros on Guam who suffered as a result
15 of the Japanese occupation;

16 (4) Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast
17 Guard units distinguished themselves with their he-
18 roic bravery and sacrifice;

19 (5) the Guam Insular Force Guard, the Guam
20 militia, and the people of Guam earned the highest 21 respect for their defense of the island during the 22 Japanese invasion and their resistance during the 23 occupation; their assistance to the American forces
24 as scouts for the American invasion was invaluable;
25 and their role, as members of the Guam Combat Pa-

1 trol, was instrumental in seeking out the remaining
2 Japanese forces and restoring peace to the island;

3 (6) during the occupation, the people of 4 Guam—

5 (A) were forcibly removed from their 6 homes;

7 (B) were relocated to remote sections of 8 the island;

9 (C) were required to perform forced labor
10 and faced other harsh treatment, injustices, and 11 death; and

12 (D) were placed in concentration camps
13 when the American invasion became imminent
14 and were brutalized by their occupiers when the 15 liberation of Guam became apparent to the 16 Japanese;

17 (7) the liberation of the Mariana Islands
18 marked a pivotal point in the Pacific war and led to 19 the American victories at Iwo Jima, Okinawa, the 20 Philippines, Taiwan, and the south China coast, and 21 ultimately against the Japanese home islands;

22 (8) the Mariana Islands of Guam, Saipan, and 23 Tinian provided, for the first time during the war,
24 air bases which allowed land-based American bomb-
25 ers to reach strategic targets in Japan; and

1           (9) the air offensive conducted from the Mari-
2           anas against the Japanese war-making capability
3           helped shorten the war and ultimately reduced the 4           toll of lives to secure peace in the Pacific.

5 SEC. 2. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

6           It is the sense of Congress that—

7           (1) an appropriate commemoration of the 50th
8           anniversary of the Mariana campaign should be 9           planned by the United States in conjunction with 10          the Government of Guam and the Government of the 11          Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands;
12          and

13          (2) the Secretary of the Interior should take all
14          necessary steps to ensure that two visitor centers, 15          one at the War in the Pacific National Historical 16          Park on Guam and the other at the American Me-
17          morial Park in Saipan, are completed before June 18          15, 1994, for the 50th anniversary commemoration, 19          to provide adequate historical interpretation of the 20          events described in section 1.

21 SEC. 3. WAR IN THE PACIFIC NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK.

22          (a) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—Sub-23          section (k) of section 6 of the Act entitled “An Act to 24          authorize appropriations for certain insular areas of the 25          United States, and for other purposes”, approved August

1 18, 1978 (92 Stat. 493; 16 U.S.C. 410dd) is amended
2 by striking "$500,000" and inserting "$8,000,000".

3 (b) DEVELOPMENT.—Section 6 is further amended
4 by adding at the end the following subsections:

5 "(l) Within the boundaries of the park, the Secretary
6 is authorized to construct a monument which shall com-
7 memorate, by individual name, those people of Guam, liv-
8 ing and dead, who suffered personal injury, forced labor,
9 forced marches, internment or death incident to enemy oc-
10 cupation of Guam between December 8, 1941, and August 11 10, 1944.

12 "(m) Within the boundaries of the park, the Sec-
13 retary is authorized to implement programs to interpret
14 experiences of the people of Guam during World War II,
15 including, but not limited to, oral histories of those people
16 of Guam who experienced the occupation.

17 "(n) Within six months after the date of enactment
18 of this subsection, the Secretary, through the Director of 19 the National Park Service, shall develop and transmit to 20 the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources of the 21 Senate and the Committee on Natural Resources of the 22 House of Representatives a report containing updated cost
23 estimates for the development of the park. Further, this 24 report shall contain a general plan to implement sub-
25 sections (l) and (m), including, at a minimum, cost esti-

1 mates for the design and construction of the monument
2 authorized in section (l).

3       “(o) Within six months after the date of enactment
4 of this subsection, the Secretary, through the Assistant
5 Secretary of Territorial and International Affairs, shall 6 compile and transmit to the Committee on Energy and 7 Natural Resources of the Senate and the Committee on 8 Natural Resources of the House of Representatives a list
9 of names to appear on the monument authorized in sub-
10 section (l).

11       “(p) The Secretary may take such steps as may be 12 necessary to preserve and protect various World War II
13 vintage weapons and fortifications which exist within the 14 boundaries of the park.”.

15 SEC. 4. AMERICAN MEMORIAL PARK.

16       Section 5(g) of the Act entitled “An Act to authorize 17 appropriations for certain insular areas of the United 18 States, and for other purposes”, approved August 18,
19 1978 (92 Stat. 492) is amended by striking “$3,000,000”
20 and inserting “$8,000,000”.

○

BACKGROUND INFORMATION
H.R. 1944, WAR IN THE PACIFIC
NATIONAL HISTORIC PARK

In 1978, Congress passed legislation (P.L. 95-348) to authorize the establishment of War in the Pacific National Historical Park to, "commemorate the bravery and sacrifice of those participating in the campaigns of the Pacific Theater of World War II and to conserve and interpret outstanding natural, scenic, and historic values and objects on the island of Guam."

The United States had acquired Guam from Spain in 1898. On December 10, 1941, the Japanese seized Guam as part of a Pacific campaign which had included the bombing of Pearl Harbor three days before and resulted in U.S. entry into World War II.

Guam remained in Japanese hands for two and a half years. The islanders were forced to learn Japanese language and customs, and many were relocated to remote sections of the island to perform forced labor or to be placed in concentration camps. The island was turned into a Japanese airfield and its occupation enabled the Japanese to block American access to the Philippines.

In 1944, American forces recaptured Guam, liberating the only American territory subject to total Japanese occupation during World War II, and allowing land-based American bombers access to air bases from which to reach strategic targets in Japan. The U.S. Department of the Interior became the federal agency responsible for Guam in 1950, and with this change the people of Guam were granted U.S. citizenship.

War in the Pacific National Historical Park includes seven units each providing a different insight into the Pacific War. These sites contain both Japanese and American artifacts and interpret military aspects of the War in the Pacific on Guam. No park site interprets the story of the people of Guam.

H.R. 1944 expresses the sense of Congress both that an appropriate commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the Mariana Campaign should be planned, and that the Secretary of the Interior should take all necessary steps to ensure that visitor centers at War in the Pacific National Historical Park on Guam and at American Memorial Park in Saipan are completed before June 15, 1944, the 50th anniversary commemoration.

The bill increases the development ceiling for War in the Pacific National Historical Park from $500,000 to $8,000,000 and authorizes the construction of a monument within the park to the people of Guam who suffered personal injury, forced labor, forced marches, internment or death as a result of enemy occupation during World War II. The Secretary is also authorized to implement programs to interpret the experiences of the people of Guam during World War II. Finally, the development ceiling for American Memorial Park is raised from $3,000,000 to $8,000,000.

Mr. VENTO. War in the Pacific National Park was established in 1978 to commemorate the bravery and sacrifice of those participating in the campaigns of the Pacific theater in World War II, and to preserve and interpret outstanding natural scenic and other cultural values and objects on the Island of Guam.

The Park includes seven units, each providing a different insight into the War in the Pacific. These sites contain both Japanese and American artifacts and interpret the military aspects of the War in Guam.

I had the privilege in 1989 to accompany then-Secretary, newly designated Secretary Lujan and our former Chairman and great leader in many of these natural cultural resources Congressman Mo Udall to the Pacific Islands.

We visited many of the sites of the War in the Pacific National Park, and specifically sites on Guam and Saipan which are the subject of attention today.

I think that some of the Members, at least in Congress today, not all on the Committee at this time, have had the opportunity to visit these sites and had an on-the-ground experience concerning them.

I will not go through reading the history of World War II for you. I think my colleague from Guam and the witnesses can reiterate the tremendous suffering and problems that occurred.

It is important to recognize that Japan had a long history of involvement in what we speak of as the Western Pacific. It was interesting to me to note in Saipan that there were monuments there from other countries that have been established. Ironically, the U.S., which played such a preeminent and important role at that time, has not placed the monuments in place that reflect its role and its personal emphasis.

But hopefully we will be able to make that up.

I want to compliment my colleague on the designation of the House Resolution No. 1944. I think it was prophetic. Hopefully by the 50th Anniversary we will be able to make a down payment on the establishment of the type of recognition which was anticipated by my colleagues and myself in 1978. That is right; I have been here that long, Jim Corman.

I am pleased to see in attendance at the meeting former Congressman and friend, Congressman Jim Corman. We welcome his input on this important subject as we work on it.

I am pleased to yield such time to the gentleman, Congressman Dr. Robert Underwood.

STATEMENT OF HON. ROBERT A. UNDERWOOD

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Thank you very much, Mr. Vento.

I appreciate the time and the energy you have taken to call this hearing. I appreciate very much the speed with which you have allowed us to have this hearing. I know that it is a very crowded schedule today, and that there are some very important issues, but at least for the people of Guam this issue is very critical.

I want to reiterate, not to redo the whole history of World War II, but certainly it seemed to us as we watched the Park mature a little bit, and as the 50th Anniversary came on the horizon, that there was a missing dimension to the War in the Pacific Park; and that was recognition of the experiences of the Chamorro people.

So this legislation, while it seeks to get the process moving along of recognizing the 50th Anniversary and preparing a visitors center for that, it also puts in a special provision to allow recognition of the experience of the Chamorro people.

We have a number of witnesses today from the Government of Guam, officials as well as the experiences of some of the people, and I think we look forward to hearing some of their testimony.

One very poignant testimony will be given by Mrs. Emsley regarding her personal experiences. We also have a little girl who would like to share her experiences or her relationship to this issue as well.

I also, too, acknowledge Mr. Corman's presence. I had a nice little visit with him yesterday in which he not only participated in the liberation of Guam in 1944, he stayed for a year and found a woman in the Red Cross I believe. So he really got a lot out of Guam. [Laughter.]

Mr. UNDERWOOD. And I hope Guam gives back much to him.

I have a statement that I would enter, without objection, into the record.

Mr. VENTO. Yes. Without objection, all of our statements and the statements of witnesses in their entirety will be made a part of the record.

Hearing no objection, so ordered.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. And without further ado, I guess we could go ahead and call our first witness.

Mr. VENTO. Very good.

Thank you. Let me do that. We have Denis Galvin, now a long-time Associate Director for Planning and Development of the National Park Service, Department of the Interior.

Your statement has been made a part of the record, Mr. Galvin. You may proceed to summarize.

STATEMENT OF DENIS P. GALVIN, ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR FOR PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT, NATIONAL PARK SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Mr. GALVIN. Mr. Chairman, I will simply summarize the statement.

We do not object to the enactment of H.R. 1944, if amended in some detail. The bill calls attention to the 50th Anniversary that the two Members have discussed in their opening remarks and directs the Secretary of Interior to ensure that two visitor centers, one on Guam and one on Saipan, be built prior to June 15, 1994.

It amends previous legislation to change the development ceilings to $8 million at both parks, and provides authorization to construct the monument naming those people of Guam who suffered during the enemy occupation and authorization to interpret the experiences of the people of Guam during World War II.

The Secretary is required within six months to develop a report with updated cost estimates for development in the Park and a plan for implementing these requirements.

We believe that an appropriate commemoration of the 50th Anniversary should be planned, and in fact we are working with the local governments on both islands to develop plans for that 50th Anniversary.

While we cannot build visitors centers in time for that, we are actively considering some low-cost options for development, especially on Guam, that would begin development that would be consistent with the later construction of visitor centers, but that could be done for considerably less cost and more quickly.

At the War in the Pacific National Historical Park, that development would include parking facilities, an interpretive trail, interpretive exhibit panels on Nimitz Hill, a site overlooking the invasion site that is the visitors center site called for in the General Management Plan.

We would also plan to place other interpretative panels at strategic sites through the Park.

We are planning a video program of the Chamorro experience during the campaign.

The General Management Plan for the War in the Pacific Park on Guam does call for the development of a visitors center.

Our current estimates are that that visitors center would cost, including design, $11 million. So one of the things we are suggesting is that the authorization ceiling be changed from $8 million to $11 million to include the most recent estimate.

For American Memorial Park on Saipan, the Government of the Northern Marianas is now actually constructing improvements at that Park, including the new pavilion that was done based on schematic designs done by the National Park Service.

They have hired a private architectural firm and are using the Seabees to do construction there at this time, and they expect to have a pavilion, which is Phase I of the construction, done by the commemorative events in 1994.

The General Management Plan for American Memorial Park suggests additional development, a visitors center and a museum, and we are looking at options for the visitors center at this time.

My understanding is that in fact again the Government of the Northern Marianas has a private firm engaged to design that visitors center.

Our current estimates for that Park would bring total development ceilings to $19 million. So we suggest again that this bill be amended to bring those figures up to date.

Neither of these visitors centers are included in our 1994 budget request, Mr. Chairman, because they do not have sufficient service-wide priority. So in our 1994 request we have not included any.

That concludes my summary, Mr. Chairman. I would be happy to take any questions.

[Prepared statement of Mr. Galvin follows:]

STATEMENT OF DENIS P. GALVIN, ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR, PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT, NATIONAL PARK SERVICE, DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, BEFORE THE SENATE COMMITTEE ON NATURAL RESOURCES, SUBCOMMITTEE ON NATIONAL PARKS, FORESTS, AND PUBLIC LANDS, CONCERNING H.R. 1944, A BILL TO PROVIDE FOR ADDITIONAL DEVELOPMENT AT WAR IN THE PACIFIC NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES.

May 27, 1993

---

Mr. Chairman, I appreciate the opportunity to provide your Subcommittee with the views of the Department of the Interior on H.R. 1944.

We do not object to enactment of H.R. 1944 if amended as we suggest.

The bill states that a 50th anniversary of the Mariana campaign should be planned by the United States in conjunction with the Government of Guam and the Government of the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and that the Secretary of the Interior should ensure that two Visitor Centers, one at War in the Pacific National Historical Park on Guam and one at American Memorial Park in Saipan, should be built prior to June 15, 1994. H.R. 1944 would provide an $8 million development ceiling for War in the Pacific National Historical Park, and as well an $8 million development ceiling for American Memorial Park; this would amend the enabling legislation which included respective development ceilings of $500,000 and $3 million.

The bill further includes, for War in the Pacific National Historical Park, authorization to construct a monument naming those people of Guam who suffered during the enemy occupation, and authorization to interpret the experiences of the people of Guam during World War II. The Secretary is required to develop and transmit to Congress a report with updated cost estimates for development in the park, and a plan for implementing these requirements.

We believe strongly that an appropriate commemoration of the 50th Anniversary of the Mariana campaign should be planned by the United States in conjunction with the Government of Guam and the Government of the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands. Therefore we concur with the sense of Congress statement proposed in the bill.

Given that the 50th anniversary of the Mariana campaign is in June 1994, we are reviewing low-cost options for developing an appropriate program to meet this tight deadline which will also provide a quality experience for visitors.

For War in the Pacific National Historical Park on Guam, we are planning parking facilities and an interpretive trail adjacent to Nimitz Hill, a pivotal position during the War and inside the park boundary. We will develop a plan for interpretive signs which will be placed at strategic sites throughout the park to tell the story of the campaign there. And we are planning a video program of the Chamorro experience during the campaign.

War in the Pacific has a General Management Plan to support the development of a Visitor Center. We note however that it would not be possible to complete construction of such a center by June, 1994. We need to review our various options regarding a visitor center, particularly in light of our tight budgetary constraints. We suggest that the authorization ceiling be amended to $11 million which is sufficient for any of the options under consideration.

For American Memorial Park on Saipan, we will have an interpretive bulletin available for the commemoration. We are pleased the Commonwealth is now constructing and will have completed by June 1994 the new Pavilion which can be used for the commemorative events in 1994.

American Memorial Park has a General Management Plan which calls for the Pavilion/stage, a Visitor Center, and a museum. We also need to review the various options for a visitor center for this park. We suggest that the authorization ceiling be amended to $19 million which is sufficient for any of the options under consideration. We also note it would not be possible to complete construction by June, 1994.

We note that, at this time the National Park Service is struggling to maintain the safety and quality of existing park resources and infrastructure. Given these pressing needs, the projects proposed in H.R. 1944 have not been included in the service wide priority list, and therefore, the President's budget for 1994 does not contain funding for these projects.

I thank you for the opportunity to testify and will be happy to answer your questions.

Mr. VENTO. We have a Journal vote on and I have to try to make that this morning. I did not hear the bells, but apparently they went off. So we will recess and I will be back momentarily and we will ask some questions. I am sorry about the interruptions. We will probably have more.

[Recess.]

Mr. VENTO. The Subcommittee will resume its sitting.

It is easy to get distracted on the Floor this morning. I want you all to know I did not slow down my walking.

Mr. Galvin, I think that in looking at the testimony last evening what caught my attention is the amounts that were recommended which were obviously in excess of what has been sought by the author at $11 million for the War in the Pacific National Historical Park and $19 million for really the monument or American Memorial in Saipan.

You talked about a range of plans which I expect are in the preliminary stages, if I interpreted correctly what you said.

Do you have some sort of analysis that you could provide the committee which would demonstrate how we arrived at these figures, for the purpose of just a brief description this morning in some detail, and a description in writing to this Subcommittee at a later date? Not too late, I hope.

Mr. GALVIN. Oh, no. We can provide the committee with a detailed breakdown of the facilities that would be constructed for the $11 million and $19 million.

[EDITOR'S NOTE.—See appendix.]

Just briefly though, the $11 million on Guam on War in the Pacific Park is principally the visitors center. It is an 8,000-square-foot visitors center, parking lot, utilities, interpretative facilities both at Nimitz Hill and at other places, and at other sites in the park.

On American Memorial Park, the figure comprises a series of developments including a visitors center and museum at the American Memorial Park site itself, but also interpretative panels, structures, and other things at other locations on the island.

The principal element of cost is remoteness. We hired a private firm to confirm our estimates because these are what we call "Class C estimates." They are simply based on square-footage costs.

Since we are not familiar with construction costs in the Pacific, we hired a private firm to verify the estimates. An over 200 percent multiplier is in these costs because of remoteness.

Mr. VENTO. Do these costs include displays and interpretative materials?

Mr. GALVIN. Yes. In fact, indeed on American Memorial, there is a considerable amount of that, and also on Guam.

I should say also, Mr. Chairman, with respect to the short-term developments that we mentioned in the testimony, we also have under design and include a considerable amount of interpretative material—interpretative panels, audio-visual programs, et cetera.

We have been discussing, both within the National Park Service and with Territories in the Department a reprogramming of funds that are currently available to both of us to accomplish those purposes so that they are either under construction or complete by the anniversary date.

Mr. VENTO. Yes. I must say that those numbers are going to get attention by, as you say, the remoteness.

I think the concern I have is the tendency to include in visitors centers the interpretative materials and displays and other such costs, because I think, insofar as contributions and so forth are concerned, that in some instances you can obtain contributions.

Now I understand that on some of these sites there is not a need for a structure, that the interpretative panels which the weather has built and so forth work very well to serve these needs, but it is important to look at that.

I do not know whether we have always authorized all the interpretative materials in terms of the authorization for what we look at is the construction ceiling, but some of those costs may in the past have come from a variety of different sources.

Is that not correct?

Mr. GALVIN. That is correct.

In fact, in terms of the modest developments that are in both places right now, they have been largely through rehabilitation costs, or interpretative funds available to the Harper's Ferry Center for operating purposes.

For instance, the War in the Pacific brochure was done as part of our regular folder program.

Mr. VENTO. The impression I get, especially in Saipan, is that you would get into parking facilities and restroom facilities, which are not presently at some of the sites in Saipan.

Is that correct?

Mr. GALVIN. That is correct.

I should say that it is my understanding that the Government of the Northern Marianas is currently constructing what we call a Phase I of that development. The visitors center and the museum are in Phase II, and they are using Trust Fund money available to them from the funds set aside in the original legislation to do that.

My understanding is those facilities are under construction now. Furthermore, they have a private firm under contract to design the visitors center and are paying for that design with their Trust Fund money.

Mr. VENTO. Well my colleague is pushing to have the visitors center site, if we can, up and running.

In his bill I notice he has some six-month requirements and so forth, which you did not specifically speak to. You did generally speak to it and suggest that you could not get it done in time, but I want you to comment more directly about the six-month requirements in terms of if we could pass the bill expeditiously in the House and the Senate, what about the sort of requirements?

I mean, obviously, Congressman Underwood is anticipating that it would be possible to in fact move forward more quickly than what your testimony indicates.

Mr. GALVIN. Well, directly we cannot build these visitors centers in this amount of time. I mean, we could not have a visitors center built by the 1994 date specified in the bill.

I should say where we are with this particular visitors center. We have done a schematic design, so there is really very little in terms of information that would allow somebody to construct a building that is done at this time.

So we would have to do a complete design cycle, and of course the construction award advertising, specifications, award, and normally that takes three years.

Mr. VENTO. Do you have any type of requirements in terms of environmental assessment?

Mr. GALVIN. Absolutely.

Mr. VENTO. Has the site already been selected for these locations?

Mr. GALVIN. The site has been selected, but we normally do compliance, environmental assessments in the preliminary design phase in year number one, and that is all on schedule.

We do final design engineering drawings in year number two, and award and construct in year number three. That is the normal cycle.

All of that remains to be done on these projects. We have a site selected. We have—

Mr. VENTO. For both projects?

Mr. GALVIN. Yes. We have what I would call architectural sketches of the facility on Guam. As I mentioned, the facility on Saipan is under design. The CNMI has engaged a private firm on their own using trust fund money.

Mr. VENTO. In terms of what you are telling me about, what could be expected at an event to mark the 50th Anniversary of the U.S. liberation of the people of Guam would be something of a ground-breaking at that particular point. That is about what could be done at that point.

But there is no money requested in the budget this year specifically for this. You have been using your general planning monies for this.

Is that correct?

Mr. GALVIN. That is correct.

Now as I say, we have been discussing within the Department the possibility of reprogramming funds—actually, unused land acquisition funds in our case—on Guam, and other funds that I am not sure what the source is from TIA to accomplish the beginnings of the development at Nimitz Hill, which would include a road, an interpretative trail, interpretative exhibits, and a 20-site parking area, that would be consistent with later development.

That is, it would be the site where the visitors center ultimately will go.

Mr. VENTO. Are you purchasing land there?

Mr. GALVIN. We have in the past.

Mr. VENTO. So you would continue to use some Land and Water Conservation funds for that purpose?

Mr. GALVIN. Yes. Yes, that is right. And we would have to come back to Congress to get that reprogram in both instances. Territories would have to come back to Congress.

Mr. VENTO. So we would have to visit with the Appropriations Committee about that particular one.

Let me yield to my colleague for such questions as he may have.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

In terms of looking at the 50th Anniversary, what is the Park Service's position in terms of the monument specifically related to identifying the Chamorro people?

Mr. GALVIN. We are supportive of that. In fact, we were discussing that yesterday afternoon. That currently has not been included in our estimates of what this initial phase work would do.

I asked yesterday afternoon to get an estimate on that to see if the funds that we propose to be reprogrammed would enable us to construct that.

We are supportive of the monument, or monuments, and we believe that we could design them and at least begin their construction with this preliminary, or first phase of development.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Okay. So you are saying then that there is the possibility of using some of this reprogrammed money for this specific purpose—

Mr. GALVIN. Absolutely. Yes.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. In terms of building the monument?

Mr. GALVIN. I am saying that.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Okay.

Mr. GALVIN. But I do not know what the cost of the monument would be. So I am not sure whether the money we were reprogramming would be sufficient to construct it.

I am trying to find that out as we speak.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. In terms of just the Nimitz Hill Overlook, do you have an estimate for the development of that area?

Mr. GALVIN. The preliminary part, or the entire development?

Mr. UNDERWOOD. The preliminary part—

Mr. GALVIN. Yes.

Mr. UNDERWOOD [continuing]. Which would be done in time for the 50th.

Mr. GALVIN. It would be under construction in time for the 50th, yes. Our estimate is about a half a million dollars for that.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. And have you given consideration to the idea of putting the visitors center up with the Nimitz Hill Overlook?

Mr. GALVIN. Yes.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Do you see that it is compatible?

Mr. GALVIN. Yes. In fact, this development that we are proposing, this initial phase, would be compatible with later construction of the visitors center.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. And is it not possible to build the visitors center over time in a kind of phase-in process, rather than—

Mr. GALVIN. Yes. Up to a point, that certainly is the case. I mean, we have done buildings where we have done the site work and utilities in one phase, and do the building in a later phase. That is possible.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. First off, you want to revise the estimates for the Park on Guam to be $11 million, and the estimate for the Park in Saipan to be $19 million?

Mr. GALVIN. That is correct.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. At the risk of sounding like we are competing with the CNMI, could you just briefly relate why the cost difference, in your estimation?

Mr. GALVIN. Actually, if you would look at the General Management Plan for Guam, the total cost is higher than the figure I gave.

The figure I gave for War in the Pacific is the visitors center and development at Nimitz Hill. The total cost of development in the General Management Plan for Guam is around $25 million, I believe.

So this development ceiling increase would allow us to build the development at Nimitz Hill and interpretative facilities at other places on the island.

Major developments would have to come later.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Does your figure for the CNMI consider the $3 million that has been identified for this particular Park in the House Appropriations process?

Mr. GALVIN. I believe it does in that it would be an increase of that, yes. In other words, you would start with the $3 million that would be essentially included in the $18 million figure.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. In your testimony you indicated—and correct me if I am wrong—I believe that the words you used were that the visitors centers in Guam and Saipan did not have sufficient priority in the Park Service.

Mr. GALVIN. That is correct.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Of course for us it has a major priority, and I am curious as to why it would not have sufficient priority.

What we have here is the case of the 50th Anniversary coming up. This is basically the last opportunity for the participants in this event, both servicemen and civilian, to bring closure to this dimension of their lives and also at the same time bring honor to them and have the succeeding two generations bring some recognition to that.

Although it does sound like a local event in that nature, I think it is an event of national significance. It certainly is going to be something that will draw increasing attention not just in Guam and the CNMI, but certainly throughout the Nation next year.

It may not look that way now, but certainly what we are going to be treated with is a number of specials probably on television and in the national media, and I am concerned that the Park Service does not see these as projects of sufficient priority within the Service to attend to.

Would you care to comment on that?

Mr. GALVIN. Yes. We construct things off of a Service-Wide Priority List. Frankly, the Service-Wide Priority List is very biased against visitors centers in the sense that the criteria that drives the Service-Wide Priority List start with health and safety items, proceed through rehabilitation of existing facilities, to protection of resources, and you do not get down to construction of new facilities in new areas—which these areas would be classified as—until you get to the fourth criterion.

So as an example, in the first 100 service-wide priorities, there are only 8 visitors centers, and 6 of those are really associated with rehabilitation of existing facilities.

As an example, we have asked for 2 visitors centers in this year's budget, one at Martin Luther King, and the other at Oconaluftee in the Great Smokies.

Oconaluftee in the Great Smokies is essentially rehabilitating an existing building. So it is not that we do not recognize the importance of these facilities to this site, it is simply that our construction needs are so weighed down by taking care of what we call the backlog that we seldom request new construction.

In a $135 million budget request, we have essentially asked for a $5 million visitors center this year at Great Smokies. That sort of gives you an order of magnitude of where we are.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Well, of course this legislation has been attempted previously, and I understand it will also be introduced in the Senate.

I personally think it is unfortunate that we have to in a sense help you establish those priorities through this route. But I feel very strongly on this issue, and I believe I represent the people of Guam's sentiments in that, exactly.

Mr. GALVIN. I understand that.

Mr. VENTO. Thank you.

I am pleased to recognize the distinguished Chairman of the Insular Affairs Subcommittee of the Natural Resources Committee, and newly appointed this year again to the Subcommittee. He had a brief absence, which we have noted, but we are pleased to have him back, Congressman Ron de Lugo.

Mr. DE LUGO. Well thank you very much, Mr. Chairman. I missed the few months I was not on this committee, and it was unavoidable because of the new rules. With the demise of the Narcotics Task Force on which I was a member, that made it possible for me to rejoin my beloved Chairman with whom I have spent so many years, and who I admire greatly, and I am not being facetious. I really do.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Does he have seniority over me, then? [Laughter.]

Mr. VENTO. If you want to give it to him, whether he has it or not. [Laughter.]

STATEMENT OF HON. RON de LUGO

Mr. DE LUGO. Well first of all I want to thank you, Mr. Chairman, for holding and scheduling this hearing on Congressman Underwood's legislation. I want to commend my very good friend, Robert Underwood, and colleague from Guam for introducing and pushing this legislation and getting these hearings here today that would commemorate the sacrifices of the U.S. Armed Forces in the Pacific during World War II, as well as—and this is so important—to honor the memory of the American Nationals of Guam who patriotically and courageously endured the violence and the suffering during the long Japanese occupation of Guam.

Mr. Chairman, my subcommittee held hearings a few years ago on legislation that Senator George Bamba has worked on for a long time, and I want to welcome the Senator and a number of witnesses here who have come from Guam.

Particularly I want to welcome Senator George Bamba who has been leading the fight for fair compensation for those who suffered or lost family members during the occupation of Guam.

Senator Bamba and I have worked together on a number of issues affecting Guam before the subcommittee, which I had the honor of chairing.

Also, Mr. Chairman, in making reference to the hearing that I had held before my committee in 1989, I am pleased to welcome before your committee Mrs. Beatrice Perez Emsley, another witness from Guam.

Now Mrs. Emsley appeared before my committee and she gave testimony in the summer of 1989. It was testimony that I will never forget as long as I live.

We have a great debt that we owe the people of Guam. The people of Guam, the Chamorro people of Guam, were American Nationals at the time that the Japanese occupied Guam. The horrors that they endured, and their patriotism and their loyalty to the United States is historic.

Mrs. Emsley was 13 years old at the time of that occupation. The occupation went on for 2½ years. She told me before the committee, she told of how the Japanese soldiers had tried to behead her, and in fact the soldiers left her for dead assuming that they had beheaded her.

Those hearings outlined the horrors that were inflicted. It was a reign of terror. There were rapes, beheadings, people were killed if they did not bow low. People were killed and tortured if they were heard singing an American song. It was terrible.

I am glad that finally we are going to commend the memory of the Guamanian people who risked their lives to protect American flyers who hid out in the caves there. They risked their lives bringing food to these American soldiers.

It is a story that is little known by most Americans.

To our witness from the Park Service, Mr. Galvin, have I been correctly informed that you support the listing of the names of the Chamorro people who went through this terrible ordeal and stood by our country?

Mr. GALVIN. That is correct. We do support it; yes.

Mr. DE LUGO. Because we have to remember that the Chamorro people today are American citizens. Back at that time, they were American Nationals.

We had a great responsibility to these people, and they stuck by us. I think that it is rather shabby of our country that it has taken this long to finally get around to really create this War in the Pacific National Historical Park and put the monuments that we need there.

So, Mr. Chairman, I have no questions of this witness. I understand that the Park Service supports Congressman Underwood's legislation. I commend them for that.

And again I thank you for holding these hearings.

Mr. VENTO. Thank you for your questions and your recalling the importance of this for the record for the subcommittee and for myself.

I know when we visited that site with our beloved Chairman Mo Udall that Congressman de Lugo was leading the delegation because of his deep interest and commitment to the issues affecting the territories and areas like Guam. He does a great job on it.

I recall specifically Congressman Udall of course had been on Tinnaman, and had served in this Theater, as had our former colleague Congressman Cormon who is with us this morning. I wanted to point that out to Congressman de Lugo.

In any case, we have a few technical questions that I wanted to just recount. Most of the work here, Mr. Galvin, is done by the Denver Service Office.

What is the arrangement in terms of some of the process for design and so forth that would take place in these two parks?

Mr. GALVIN. Well on Guam we have done the work thus far. We would probably hire a private firm to do further design work there.

As I mentioned, the CNMI has already hired a private firm to do design work.

Mr. VENTO. So that is sort of a cooperative venture with CNMI?

Mr. GALVIN. That is right. And they are using trust fund monies to do that.

Mr. VENTO. Yes. I think there are some growing concerns regarding the accounting and other procedures in terms of some of those funds. So, unfortunately, even though this is unrelated to other problems, because they have used Trust Fund monies, and because there is a probability in the future that they will, there are other issues there that must be resolved before we act on that in the committee.

I think we will want to work with the Chairman on that, as I wanted to get Congressman de Lugo's attention on this matter with regard to the controversy surrounding the use of Trust Fund money in CNMI. That issue is going to have to be resolved before we finally act on this in the Full Committee, and I want to do it in consultation with you.

The Chairman has indicated an interest in this matter, as has certainly Congressman Underwood. I want to state that in the record.

I think in terms of trying to make a down payment on this issue in terms of legislation this year, that we should make a concerted effort in terms of reprogramming. I want to join with you, Bob, and I am certain we can enlist some other support, along with Congressman de Lugo, to get some reprogramming money so that we can begin to make an appropriate commitment to the efforts at least on Guam, since it is not associated with the other issue of the expenditure of Trust Fund monies by the CNMI.

Hopefully we can iron that out and the Park Service can go forward with this cooperative role with CNMI.

I was especially struck by the U.S. absence, or sort of vacuum, that had occurred on CNMI when we visited those sites.

In addition to that, I am interested from the standpoint of when we do in fact procure services from architects and other construction firms that we use a competitive bid system here.

There are special limitations and problems. I guess you have articulated some of them, Mr. Galvin, but are there others that you would like to speak to with regard to bids and so forth?

I notice you mentioned that you used some Seabees to in fact accomplish some of the work?

Mr. GALVIN. Yes. That is, and again I am not clear as to whether or not U.S. Navy Seabees have been used on Guam, but they have been used on Saipan and in fact are being used to accomplish some of the work on Guam.

There are a couple of ways that this could be accomplished. We could take it through design and give it to somebody else to construct—in other words, give it to the Government on Guam or the Government on Saipan—or we could do the whole thing.

If we do it, to procure the professional firms we use the Brooks bill approach, which is a negotiated procurement based on the quality of the firm's proffer. But on construction we almost always use bid and award, which is essentially opening sealed bids and taking the low bid.

Mr. VENTO. But given the universe that there are not as many construction firms, you may be practically just dealing with one or two construction firms?

So what you are suggesting is that you may do a negotiated agreement?

Mr. GALVIN. If the conditions warrant, there are other methods of contracting.

Mr. VENTO. We seldom ask questions like this at a hearing, but this is an unusual circumstance and there are unusual costs involved here.

I think it is important that we begin to understand what the dimensions are. I have tried to elaborate on that through my questioning initially of you.

The other point here is that very often some of these sites at least are considered memorials.

Has there been private or nonprofit participation in the funding of any of these memorials so far that are on the Park Service sites in the War in the Pacific Park on Guam?

Mr. GALVIN. I am not certain, Mr. Chairman.

I think there has been some private activity on some of the sites adjacent to Park Service-owned land on Guam, but I simply do not know whether there has been any private funding involved.

Mr. VENTO. Does the General Management Plan for either of these to anticipate such private involvement in terms of enhancement or a supplemental funding for the programs?

Mr. GALVIN. No.

Mr. VENTO. It does not?

Mr. GALVIN. No. Neither of them do.

Mr. VENTO. Do you know the basis for that, that it has not been the case?

Often when we talk about memorials or monuments, and especially when we are talking about multiple ones in this case, it might be prudent to have that as an aspect.

Mr. GALVIN. Yes, that could be. I see the direction of your questioning, particularly with respect to the aspect of the memorial itself.

Frequently, and obviously especially here, most of the memorials are being constructed with private donations. The costs I was indicating in my response in the General Management Plan are largely development costs—the costs of the roads and trails, buildings, et cetera.

Mr. VENTO. Well, one of the dilemmas, in listening to your response to Congressman Underwood, is the issue of building this in phases because you have to decide the size; then you have to get the proper water and electrical connections; you have a myriad of things that that first phase really sets the pattern in terms of what happens thereafter.

I do not know how to phase it, but certainly you have to design the size, the capacity, and other essential utility connections and so forth that take place.

Mr. GALVIN. Yes. And once you get into the building, I think in terms of the overall development at these two sites there is a considerable amount of phasing that can be done in terms of this rather low-level interpretative development and interpretative sites and that sort of thing.

But once you get into the building, you really are probably stuck with doing it either in one phase or in two phases using parking and utilities site work in the first phase, and then constructing the balance of the building in the second phase.

Mr. VENTO. I want to make it clear that we do not undervalue or depreciate in any way the type of contribution and/or the national significance, and really the international significance, of these sites and the events that occurred in the 1940s in the Western Pacific.

I think these are just tough questions that we are going to have to answer in 1993 and 1994 as we try to wrestle with the budgets. We want to do as good a job as we can, and we want to rely on where we think we might be able to obtain some of the participation by nonprofit veterans organizations and others that really have a deep interest and commitment and could probably supplement the funds.

I realize the backbone of this particular program ought to be the Park Service. It ought to be controlled by the Park Service. I think that the Park Service ought to do its job and ought to have the opportunity to carry out the mission through the authorities that exist.

I would be very concerned about CNMI as to what the Park Service role would be once we get done in terms of drafting that particular agreement.

To this day, do you have an agreement actually as to what specifically you are going to do in those instances in CNMI?

Mr. GALVIN. No.

Mr. VENTO. Well, I think that is another key here in terms of trying to move ahead expeditiously with this.

Notwithstanding the issues and questions over the CNMI monies is the fact that we do not have such a solid and tangible agreement. It is one thing to get the people to uphold it, but if you do not, then we are wandering forth authorizing money and assuming good faith with a backlog of questions and problems that have arisen.

So I think it is essential that we resolve that. I will be, as I said, working with the principal sponsors and the others interested—the chairman and subcommittee chairmen from our sister subcommittee.

Are there further questions of Mr. Galvin at this time? Or of me?
[No response.]

Mr. VENTO. Well, I thank you very much, Mr. Galvin—

Mr. GALVIN. Thank you.

Mr. VENTO [continuing]. For your efforts. This is a difficult topic, and we look forward to the written responses to the detailed estimates that you have prepared to date, or your staff.

Mr. GALVIN. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. VENTO. We are very pleased to welcome the first panel of Senator George Bamba of the 22nd Guam Legislature, the 22nd District I assume? Or is it the 22nd Guam Legislature?

And finally—oh, and at large. So he represents the whole Island.

Well, sometimes people suggest we only represent Minnesota, but some of the things I do even affect people outside of Minnesota. [Laughter.]

PANEL CONSISTING OF HON. J. GEORGE BAMBA, SENATOR, 22D GUAM LEGISLATURE; AND MICHAEL CRUZ, ACTING DIRECTOR, BUREAU OF PLANNING, ON BEHALF OF HON. JOSEPH F. ADA, GOVERNOR OF GUAM

Mr. BAMBA. Well, actually on Guam I think even some of the people claim that I do not represent them.

Mr. VENTO. Well that is always a problem.

You also have with you Mr. Michael Cruz from the office of Governor Joseph Ada.

Am I pronouncing the Governor's name correctly?

"Add-a." Pardon me.

Senator Bamba, please proceed with your statement. It has been made a part of the record by previous request.

Mr. BAMBA. Okay. I have a detailed testimony which has been submitted to the committee.

Mr. VENTO. And it is a part of the record, so you can summarize, or read the portions that you choose to read.

STATEMENT OF HON. J. GEORGE BAMBA

Mr. BAMBA. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Chairman, my name is George Bamba. I am a member of the 22nd Guam Legislature.

I want to thank you for giving me the opportunity to comment on H.R. 1944. I have provided the committee with detailed testimony, and in the interests of time, I would like to briefly summarize my written statement.

In 1978 Congress recognized the importance of the Guam Campaign by enacting Public Law 95-348 creating the War in the Pacific Park. This Act authorized $16 million for land acquisition, and $500,000 for development.

In the 15 years between 1978 and the present, little progress has been made to complete the Park. Out of the $3 million actually appropriated for land acquisition, approximately $2.5 million was used to acquire less than 40 percent of the private holdings within the Park.

As of May 1992, there was a balance of approximately $500,000 unexpended in the land acquisitions' fund.

In 1983, the National Park Service submitted its General Management Plan to congressional committees. That plan recommended increasing the authorization for development. However, no action resulted.

Last month, Congressman Underwood introduced H.R. 1944 which seems to authorize a monument listing the names of the Guamians who suffered atrocities at the hands of the enemy.

In addition, the Secretary is authorized to incorporate exhibits interpreting the Guamian war experience.

Mr. Chairman, incorporating a monument and interpretative exhibits in War in the Pacific Park is entirely consistent with the intent of U.S. Public Law 95-348.

Section 6[a] states:

In order to commemorate the bravery and sacrifice of those participating in the campaigns of the Pacific Theater of World War II, and to conserve and interpret natural, scenic, and historic values and objects on the Island of Guam for the benefit and enjoyment of present and future generations, the War in the Pacific National Park is hereby established.

Inclusion of a monument and interpretative exhibits is likewise consistent with the NPS 1983 General Management Plan. The Plan itself notes the need for additional data on oral history that will add to the general historical knowledge involving citizens of Guam who remember the war and its dramatic impact on the Chamorros.

And in the Guam situation, the bravery and sacrifice of the Guamians represents the bravery and sacrifice of all Pacific Theater Islanders as they interacted with those who fought on and occupied their islands in a war not of their making.

With respect to the monument, I am aware that there is an unwritten policy against using federal funds for this purpose. However, I do not believe this is valid for the present instance.

First, Title 8 of U.S. Public Law 95-625 mandates a memorial to the late Congressman William M. Ketchum be placed within the Park's boundaries.

Second, federal funds were appropriated to the American Battlefield Monuments Commission for the design of a monument honoring fallen American service personnel in Guam. My office was informed that a design was in fact completed. However, the commission was advised that further funding would be made available from the Department of the Interior in the context of the War in the Pacific Park.

Third, the NPS Plan was to specify "At the tip of Asan Point, it is also proposed to provide a simple, dignified memorial for all Pacific World War II dead." This will not be a separate structure but accomplished within the context of the interpretation proposed at the same location.

Furthermore, I respectfully call to the committee's attention the fact that exceptions to this unwritten policy have occurred on numerous occasions. In 1987, Public Law 100-71 authorized $150,000 for a memorial on Guadalcanal.

Senate Report 100-48 notes in part: "As the site of one of the turning points in the Pacific Campaign during World War II, it is important that the United States follow the lead of our Japanese allies and honor our countrymen." Again, Public Law 99-572 authorized the appropriation of $1 million for site preparation, design plan construction, and associated administrative costs for the establishment of a Korean War Memorial.

While the Department of the Interior opposed this legislation, Senate Report 99-459 reflects a letter written by Deputy Assistant Secretary P. Daniel Smith on November 7, 1985. That letter states in part: "The issue remains as to if the memorial should be erected with appropriated funds. There is precedent for both approaches.

The Gen. John J. Pershing memorial was erected by the American Battle Monuments Commission pursuant to the Act of November 7, 1966. The Vietnam Veterans and United States Navy Memorials are both authorized by Congress in 1980 and were authorized to be erected in private organizations." Perhaps the most compelling reason for incorporating monuments and interpretative programs can be found in the perception of the Park by the primary population it serves, the people of Guam.

Mr. Chairman, during national celebrations commemorating the 50th Anniversary of Pearl Harbor, Guam was virtually ignored, although it too was attacked on the same day.

Some years ago, the Park was even closed to local residents on weekends. Nevertheless, affection for and dedication to the Park remains high in Guam.

Disillusionment is due in large measure to the lack of progress being made to acquire the private landholdings within the Park.

However, I fully agree with Congressman Underwood and Senator Daniel Akaka that the land acquisition question is a separate one from the bill before this committee.

Finally, Mr. Chairman, I wish to touch briefly on the question of funding. In the event H.R. 1944 is enacted, it will be necessary to appropriate the funds which have been authorized.

While I fully support Congressman Underwood's efforts to lobby the Appropriations Committee, it is unlikely that money will be made available in time for the 1994 50th Anniversary. This is so in part because the President's budget proposal does not include funding for the War in the Pacific Park in fiscal year 1994.

Therefore, the potential exists that the Administration would oppose such legislation. Nevertheless, there is approximately $500,000 in previously appropriated money which could be reprogrammed for this purpose.

I am referring to the balance of the $3 million for land acquisition which has not been spent and is sitting in a fund gathering dust.

At the time the money was appropriated, land on Guam was relatively cheap. Today, the $500,000 cannot be spent because land values have more than quadrupled.

Since this does not represent new money, reprogramming it for Park development—and specifically the monument authorized in H.R. 1944—would be revenue-neutral and could be used to construct the monument in time for the 1994 anniversary.

It is my personal belief that, should this occur, it would indirectly expedite a resolution to the land issue by highlighting the Park and its relationship to the local community.

Last year, House Insular Affairs Chairman Ron de Lugo, the co-sponsor of H.R. 1944, wrote Secretary of the Interior Manuel Lujan on July 7:

In view of this situation, you may want to initially concentrate on developing facilities. A first step might be to seek authority to reprogram the approximately $500,000 of unused acquisition funds for the Guam Park for development purposes.

Noting the request for a monument by the Governor and myself, Chairman de Lugo added: "The $500,000, which you may want to reprogram, could be used for these purposes." Before closing I wish to point out that development of the Park has been urged by the 3.5 million member National Military Coalition. Including a monument has been specifically endorsed by the American Legion and Third Marine Division Association, Guam chapters.

American Legion Guam Post 53 Commander Paul Koss was to write me in February 18, 1992:

It is these, the living, who benefit most by a monument commemorating Guamians who suffered during the Occupation. For Guamians of all ages, the monument to memories would be not only historical preservation, but act as a sanctified place to put spirits to rest.

Without these rights, there is no closure. The wound remains open. The pain persists. Names to see and touch become life's most special acknowledgement.

A credit line of supportive players in often tragic and still splendidly special historic happenings.

Mr. Chairman, I want to really reiterate my support for the H.R. 1944 and respectfully request the committee to consider either an amendment authorizing a reprogram, or some other means by which we can make use of these funds in time for the 50th Anniversary of the Liberation of Guam.

On behalf of myself and the thousands of our people who have yet to be recognized for their loyalty to the United States during the Second World War, I urge this committee to support H.R. 1944 and commend the Honorable Robert Underwood for introducing it.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

[Prepared statement of Senator Bamba follows:]

GEORGE BAMBA
SENATOR

Twenty-Second Guam Legislature
155 Wesley Street
Agana, Guam P.S.A. 96910

TELEPHONES-
(671) 472-2432/33
FAX NO.
(671) 477-8648

May 19, 1993

The Honorable Bruce F. Vento
Chairman, Subcommittee on National Parks
814 OHOB
Washington, D.C. 20515

Re: Testimony in support of H.R. 1944

Dear Mr. Chairman:

Thank you for giving me this opportunity to comment on H.R. 1944. If enacted, it would increase the authorized amount for development of the War in the Pacific Park from $500,000 to $8 million. As a member of the 22nd Guam Legislature, I strongly support H.R. 1944 and commend the Honorable Robert Underwood for introducing this urgent legislation.

Mr. Chairman, Guam was the only American territory (outside of the Philippines) actually occupied by the enemy during World War II. It was also the first U.S. soil liberated in 1944. During nearly two-and-a-half years of enemy occupation, Guamanians (who were U.S. nationals but not citizens) endured savage treatment. Thousands of my people suffered death, personal injury, forced labor, forced marches and internment in concentration camps. Thousands of brave American service personnel made the ultimate sacrifice to liberate the island. So bitter was the fighting on Guam that no less than three Congressional Medals of Honor were awarded for heroism under fire.

In 1978, Congress recognized the importance of the Guam campaign by enacting P.L. 95-348, creating the War in the Pacific Park. This Act Authorized $16 million for land acquisition and $500,000 for development. In the fifteen years between 1978 and the present, little progress has been made to complete the park. Out of the $3 million actually appropriated for land acquisition, approximately $2.5 million was used to acquire less than 40% of the private holdings within the Park. As of May 1992, there was a balance of approximately $500,000 unexpended in the Lands Acquisition Fund.

In 1983, the National Park Service (NPS) submitted its General Management Plan to congressional committees. That plan recommended increasing the authorization for development. However, no action resulted. H.R. 1944 remedies this by increasing the authorization for development to $8 million.

SEN. GEORGE BAMBA: TESTIMONY H.R. 1944

Mr. Chairman, over a year and a half ago, the Honorable Joseph Ada, Governor of Guam, wrote Senate Energy Committee Chairman J. Bennett Johnston a letter dated November 4, 1992 (Exhibit "A") which stated in part:

"Mr Chairman, there is strong sentiment in Guam for completing the War in the Pacific National Park . . . In light of the attention to be focused on the entire Pacific campaign in the days and months ahead, I have, together with Senator George Bamba of the 21st Guam Legislature, developed a proposed amendment which would authorize two monuments listing the names of American servicemen killed in action, as well as the names of Guamanians who suffered as a result of the war. Secondly, the proposed amendment would specifically authorize the interpretive programs of Guamanians' war experience . . . increase the authorized amount for park development based on the 1983 general management plan; and would require the National Park Service to submit a report to Congress updating cost estimates and plans for the park."

On February 18, 1992, the Third Marine Division Association, Guam Chapter, endorsed this initiative (Exhibit "B"). The Third Marine Division was one of the units which played a major role in the liberation of Guam. Likewise, American Legion Guam Post 53 endorsed the proposed development of the Park (Exhibit "C"). On February 18, 1992, Post Commander Paul Coss was to write:

"It is these, the living, who benefit most by a monument commemorating Guamanians who suffered during the occupation . . . For Guamanians of all ages, a monument to memories would be not only historical preservation, but act as a sanctified place to put spirits to rest . . . Without these rites, there is no closure -- the wound remains open, the pain persists . . . Names to see and touch, become life's most special acknowledgement -- a credit line of supportive players in often tragic, and still splendidly special historic happenings . . ."

Last month, Congressman Underwood introduced H.R. 1944 which seeks to authorize a monument listing the names of Guamanians who suffered atrocities at the hands of the enemy. In addition, the Secretary is authorized to incorporate exhibits interpreting the Guamanian war experience. Mr. Chairman, incorporating a monument and interpretive exhibits into the War in the Pacific Park is entirely consistent with the intent of U.S. P.L. 95-348. Sec. 6(a) states:

SEN. GEORGE BAMBA: TESTIMONY H.R. 1944

"In order to commemorate the bravery and sacrifice of those participating in the campaigns of the Pacific theater of World War II and to conserve and interpret outstanding natural, scenic and historic values and objects on the island of Guam for the benefit and enjoyment of present and future generations, the War in the Pacific National Historical Park . . . is hereby established."

Inclusion of a monument and interpretive exhibits is likewise consistent with the NPS 1983 General Management Plan.

The Plan itself notes the need for "Additional data on oral history that will add to general historical knowledge" involving "citizens of Guam who remember the war and its dramatic impact on the Chamorros (Guamanians) . . . can help the managers and planners in restoring the historical scene."

And "In the Guam situation, the bravery and sacrifice of the Guamanians represents the bravery and sacrifice of all Pacific Theater Islanders as they interacted with those who fought on and occupied their islands in a war not of their making."

With respects to the monument, I am aware that there is an unwritten policy against using federal funds for this purpose. However, I do not believe this is valid in the present instance. First, Title VIII of U.S. Public Law 95-625 (92 Stat. 3534) mandates a memorial to the late Congressman William M. Ketchum be placed within the Park's boundaries

Secondly, federal funds were appropriated to the American Battlefield Monuments Commission for the design of a monument honoring fallen American service personnel in Guam. My office was informed that a design was in fact completed -- however, the Commission was advised that further funding would be made available from the Department of the Interior in the context of the War in the Pacific Park.

Thirdly, the NPS Plan was to specify:

"At the tip of Asan Point, it is also proposed to provide a simple, dignified memorial for all Pacific World War II dead. This will not be a separate structure but accomplished within the context of the interpretation proposed at this same location."

Furthermore, I respectfully call to the Committee's attention the fact that exceptions to this "unwritten policy" have occurred on numerous occasions. In 1987, P.L. 100-71 (101 Stat. 411) authorized $150,000 for a memorial on Guadalcanal. Senate Report 100-48 notes in part:

SEN. GEORGE BAMBA: TESTIMONY H.R. 1944

"As the site of one of the turning points in the Pacific campaign during World War II . . . it is important that the United States follow the lead of our Japanese allies and honor our countrymen."

Again, P.L. 99-572 (100 Stat. 3226) authorized the appropriation of $1 million for site preparation, design, planning, construction and associated administrative costs for the establishment of a Korean War Memorial. While the Department of the Interior opposed this legislation, Senate Report 99-459 reflects a letter written by Deputy Assistant Secretary P. Daniel Smith on November 7, 1985. That letter states in part:

"The issue remains as to if the memorial should be erected . . . with appropriated funds . . . There is precedent for both approaches. The General John J. Pershing Memorial was erected by the American Battle Monuments Commission pursuant to the Act of November 7, 1966. The Vietnam Veterans and United States Navy Memorials, both authorized by Congress in 1980, were authorized to be erected by private organizations."
(emphasis added)

Perhaps the most compelling reason for incorporating monuments and interpretive programs can be found in the perception of the Park by the primary population it serves: the people of Guam.

Mr. Chairman, during national celebrations commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Pearl Harbor, Guam was virtually ignored -- although it too was attacked on the same day. Some years ago, the Park was even closed to local residents on weekends. Nevertheless, affection for and dedication to the Park remains high in Guam. This is not only attested to by the enclosed, but by local media editorials and the constant stream of residents who continue to express their support for the Park. Disillusionment is due in large measure to the lack of progress being made to acquire the private land holdings within the Park. However, I fully agree with Congressmen Underwood and Senator Daniel Akaka that the land acquisition question is a separate one from the bill before this Committee.

Finally, Mr. Chairman, I wish to touch briefly on the questions of funding. In the event H.R. 1944 is enacted, it will still be necessary to appropriate the funds which have been authorized. While I fully support Congressman Underwood's efforts to lobby the Appropriations Committee, it is unlikely that money will be made available in time for the 1994 fiftieth anniversary. This is so in part because the President's budget proposal did not include War in the Pacific Park funding in FY 94. Therefore, the potential exists that the Administration would oppose such legislation.

SEN. GEORGE BAMBA: TESTIMONY H.R. 1944

Nevertheless, there is approximately $500,000 in previously appropriated money which could be reprogrammed for this purpose. I am referring to the balance of the $3 million for land acquisition which has not been spent and is sitting in a fund gathering dust. At the time the money was appropriated, land on Guam was relatively cheap. Today, the $500,000 cannot be spent because land values have more than quadrupled. Since this does not represent "new money," reprogramming it for park development -- specifically the monument authorized in H.R. 1944 -- would be revenue neutral and could be used to construct the monument in time for the 1994 anniversary. It is my personal belief that should this occur, it would indirectly expedite a resolution to the land issue by highlighting the Park and its relationship to the local community.

Last year, House Insular Affairs Chairman Ron de Lugo (a cosponsor of H.R. 1944) wrote Secretary of the Interior Manuel Lujan on July 7th (Exhibit "D"):

"In view of this situation, you may want to initially concentrate on developing facilities . . . A first step might be to seek authority to reprogram the approximately $500,000 of unused acquisition funds for the Guam park for development purposes."

Noting the request for a monument by the Governor and myself, Chairman de Lugo added, "The $500,000 which you may want to reprogram could be used for these purposes."

In conclusion, I want to reiterate my support for H.R. 1944 and respectfully request the Committee to consider either an amendment authorizing a reprogram -- or some other means by which we can make use of these funds in time for the fiftieth anniversary of the liberation of Guam.

SEN. GEORGE BAMBA: TESTIMONY H.R. 1944

On behalf of myself and the thousands of my people who have yet to be recognized for their loyalty to the United States during the Second World War, I urge this Committee to support H.R. 1944. I also request that my testimony and its attached exhibits be made part of the record.

Sincerely,

GEORGE BAMBA
Senator, 22nd Guam Legislature

EXHIBIT "A"

Territory of Guam Festivities Guam

OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR
LEOPOLD M. MAGALANES
AGANA, GUAM 96901, U.S.A.

The Honorable J. Bennett Johnston
Chairman
Committee on Energy and Natural Resources
SH-136 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510-1802

Dear Mr. Chairman:

The 50th anniversary of American involvement in World War II is fast approaching. While national attention will, quite properly, be focused on Pearl Harbor, I believe that the sacrifices experienced on Guam and Guamanians alike are equally worthy of commemoration.

Guam was the only U.S. territory actually seized and occupied by the enemy (outside of the Philippines) during World War II. Hopelessly outnumbered by the invading enemy, the tiny island garrison was forced to surrender on December 10, 1941. During the battle, 14 Americans were killed in action - while five out of six servicemen (who had escaped enemy detection) were hunted down and executed between 1942 and 1944. Another 2,124 members of the U.S. armed forces lost their lives liberating Guam between July 21 and August 10, 1944. So bitter was the fighting that no less than three Congressional Medals of Honor were awarded in Guam for heroism under fire. At the same time, thousands of Loyal Guamanians suffered death, personal injury, forced labor, forced marches and internment during nearly two-and-a-half years of enemy occupation.

Mr. Chairman, the important role Guam played in the Pacific campaign was recognized by Congress (and your good committee) through enactment of Public Law 95-348 on August 18, 1978. This Law established the creation of the War in the Pacific National Park. A total of $16 million was authorized for land acquisition and $500,000 for development. In 1983, the National Park Service, pursuant to Public Law 95-348, transmitted its general management plan to congressional committees. The plan recommended increasing authorized development funds based on cost estimates using 1981 dollars.

Commonwealth Now!

The Honorable J. Bennett Johnston
Page Two

Mr. Chairman, there is strong sentiment in Guam for completing the War in the Pacific National Park, which was authorized more than thirteen years ago. In light of the attention to be focused on the entire Pacific campaign in the days and months ahead, I have, together with Senator George Bamba of the 21st Guam Legislature, developed a proposed amendment which would authorize two monuments listing the names of American servicemen killed in action, as well as the names of Guamanians who suffered as a result of the war. Secondly, the proposed amendment would specifically authorize interpretive programs of Guamanians' war experience within the Park; increase the authorized amount for park development based on the 1983 general management plan; and would require the National Park Service to submit a report to Congress updating cost estimates and plans for the Park.

We have contacted our Congressman, the Honorable Ben G. Blaz, who will be working on the House of Representatives side to resolve this issue. Congressman Blaz is a strong supporter of our War in the Pacific Park.

On behalf of the people of Guam, who wish to honor those brave men and women (Guamanians and Americans alike) who actions make it possible for us to live in freedom today, I respectfully request introduction and passage of the enclosed amendment in the Senate at the earliest practical date. Thank you and Si Yu'os Ma'ase.

Sincerely,

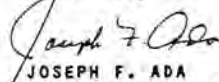

JOSEPH F. ADA
Governor of Guam

EXHIBIT "B"

February 18, 1992

Senator George Bamba
Twenty-First Guam Legislature
155 Hesler Street
Agana, Guam 96910

Dear Senator Bamba:

Thank you for your letter of January 23, 1992 in reference to legislation on the War in the Pacific Park.

The 3d Marine Division was one of the units that played a major role in the Liberation of Guam on July 21, 1944 when the Division landed on Guam at Asan Beach, exactly in the area where the War in the Pacific Park is now located.

As United States Veterans living on Guam, it is our feeling and desire that the United States Government establish the War in the Pacific Park that is suitable and in commensurate with the major role that Guam played during World War II. Guam was the only U.S. Territory that was invaded and occupied by the enemy--the Japanese.

At a meeting of the Guam Chapter, 3d Marine Division Association on February 16, 1992, the members unanimously endorsed your proposed amendment to Public Law 95-348 (92 STAT. 492: 16 U.S.C. 140dd).

Semper Fidelis,

Peter C. Siguenza
PETER C. SIGUENZA
President

GUAM CHAPTER
P.O. Box 7012
Tamuning, Guam 96931

EXHIBIT "C"

AMERICAN LEGION GUAM POST 53
 P.O. Box 23616
 GMP, Guam 96921

February 18, 1992

Senator J. George Bamba
 Twenty-First Guam Legislature
 155 Hesler Street
 Agana, Guam 96910

Dear Senator Bamba:

As Commander of American Legion Post 53, I am particularly pleased for your invitation to address the status of War in the Pacific Park. As spokesperson for Post 53, the following is the consensus of members.

Since 1978, many Post veterans have held high hopes that the philosophical intent of the Park would become visitable, visible reality. Mr.

T. Stell Newman, the Park's first director, was held in high regard for the energy and integrity of his efforts. Yet even prior to his untimely death, implementation of the Park's purposes appeared stalemated presumably because of economics. While procuring private lands at a fair market value was an apparent problem, many became of the belief that Guam's great distance could have mitigated the Park's relevance; while the United States Congress enacted Public Law 95-348 to establish a National Park reflective of the entire Pacific Campaign, Guam's remoteness to the contiguous states tends to remove the region from national focus. For instance, it could have been argued that the population the War in the Pacific Park would serve would not substantiate nor justify the appropriations necessary to create the Park in its total design.

While this concern may have never been brought up, we bring it up here as an attitudinal possibility; it can't be discounted as a factor in the need for immediacy. If one were to draw a comparison between Gettysburg National Military Park, for example, the total yearly visitation to The War in the Pacific Park, as projected, could suffer. But the War in the Pacific Park begs commemoration where it occurred--just as does Gettysburg.

And the war in the Pacific has very great relevance to the island of Guam itself, the only U.S. soil occupied by the enemy, and the first to be liberated by U.S. forces. The emotionalism, the patriotism in Guamanians, remains as intense today as it was during World War II.

It is these, the living, who would benefit most by a monument commemorating Guamanians who suffered during the occupation. The affect upon the local population would be personally profound, and bestow upon them a sense of peace, release, and pride.

None of us are immune to the need for tangible tokens, that which has form and substance and symbolizes identity. For Guamanians of all ages, a monument to memories would be not only historical preservation, but act as a sanctified place to put spirits to rest. For a culture, it has been very difficult; deeply Catholic, the rituals of wakes and burials along with the outpouring of grief and love, begins the healing process. Without these rites, there is no closure--the wound remains open, the pain persists. And this is what has happened with the indigenous people.

Senator J. George Bamba/page 2

We at Guam Post 53, feel that legislation structured by you, Senator Bamba, along with Governor Ada, is an excellent alternative solution towards overcoming the current paucity of the Park. The two proposed monuments--the second to commemorate United States Armed Services personnel killed in action, along with programs to interpret the WWII Guamanian experience, would definitively dignify the suffering and sacrifice of thousands of Americans. Names to see and touch, become life's most special acknowledgement--a credit line of supportive players in often tragic, and still splendidly special historic happenings, as they illustrate the beauty of the human spirit.

Further, while the U.S. mainland suffers under a grave economic crisis, 14 years' have elapsed since the Congress created by law, the War in the Pacific Park. And Guam is soon to embark upon its 50th Liberation Anniversary. Since the documented history of mankind began, it has been eloquently evident that spiritual survival is the only assurance of physical survival; these two cannot be viewed independently--they are inseparable facts of life.

Again collectively, we at American Legion Guam Post 53, commend Congressman Ben Blaz for his ceaseless devotion to this cause. We further respectfully request the consideration of the Congress towards approving the funding necessary for these amendments. Post 53 veterans state that their own sense of pride in America, as well as their sense of self-esteem in serving their country, would be enormously elevated if these amendments are enacted.

Sincerely,

Paul Coss
Commander
American Legion Guam Post 53

EXHIBIT "D"

U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs
 Washington, DC 20515-0201

EDWARD J. MARKEY, MASSACHUSETTS
 GUSTAV J. MURPHY, NEW YORK
 ROY JOE BARNAL, S. WEST VIRGINIA
 BRUCE F. VENTO, MINNESOTA
 PAT WELLS, MONTANA
 KEVIN J. WYCK, MARYLAND
 RON H. LUIGI, VIRGIN ISLANDS
 BARI GILBERTON, CONNECTICUT
 PETER H. ABENWATER, PENNSYLVANIA
 MICHAEL A. LUMBARDI, CALIFORNIA
 BILL ROYBANDER, NEW MEXICO
 GREGORY BURNETT, ARIZONA
 WEL LEVINE, CALIFORNIA
 HELEN DAVIS, IOWA
 JOHN LEWIS, GEORGIA
 BEN HARTSHORN, CAMPBELL, MICHIGAN
 PETER A. GIZARD, OREGON
 BO F. FALLENBERGER, MICHIGAN RANGE
 THE JORDENS, SOUTH DAKOTA
 CHARLES E. SCHWABER, NEW YORK
 JIM JONES, WYOMING
 PETER HOAGLAND, NEBRASKA
 HARRY SCHWETZ, FLORIDA
 LARRY LARDELL, IOWA
 REX ABE, IOWA
 CALVIN W. BOOLEY, CALIFORNIA
 ANTHONY J. COLOMBO, PUERTO RICO

DON YOUNG, ALASKA
 BARRY GOLDMAN, NEVADA
 ROBERT J. LADD, CALIFORNIA
 RON WALKER, MONTANA
 JAMES H. MATHIS, TEXAS
 BARBARA F. MCCARTHY, NEVADA
 BEN RALE, OREGON
 JOHN J. BRIDGES, WISCONSIN
 E-TOM GALLAGHER, CALIFORNIA
 ROBERT F. BRATH, MISSOURI
 CLAUDE THOMAS, MISSOURI
 JOHN J. DUNCAN, JR., TENNESSEE
 MICHAEL F. BUCKLEY, PENNSYLVANIA
 BOB PEPPER, COLORADO
 CHARLES H. STANLEY, NORTH CAROLINA
 JOHN F. BRADY, CALIFORNIA
 WAYNE ALLARD, COLORADO
 ROBERT H. DAVIS, IOWA

July 7, 1992

DANIEL P. BEARD
 STAFF DIRECTOR
 RICHARD WELTZER
 GENERAL COUNSEL
 DANIEL HAI EEN
 RECEPTION STAFF DIRECTOR

The Honorable Manuel Lujan, Jr.
 Secretary of the Interior
 1849 C Street, N.W.
 Washington, D.C. 20240

Dear Mr. Secretary:

The 50th anniversary of the United States' involvement in World War II is an appropriate time to ensure that the tremendous sacrifices of that conflict will be remembered. You can help do this by seeking funding for the War in the Pacific National Historical Park in Guam and American Memorial Park in the Northern Mariana Islands.

As you know, these parks were both created in 1978 to commemorate the sacrifices of those who participated in the Pacific theater during World War II. But, as I am sure that you also know, neither has been substantially funded. Much of the land authorized to be included in the War in the Pacific Park has not been acquired and there has been relatively little development of either park, as you saw during your inspection of both parks in 1989.

Because of the dramatic increases in land prices in Guam since the park there was authorized, acquisition of all of the land necessary to complete this park in the near future is an unrealistic goal. Indeed the Administration's budget for fiscal year 1993 proposes $1 million to purchase just two of the 170 acres outstanding.

In view of this situation, you may want to initially concentrate on developing facilities within both parks (although we should still work towards acquiring of all land needed for the Guam.)

A first step might be to seek authority to reprogram the approximately $500,000 of unused acquisition funds for the Guam park for development purposes.

A second might be to reconsider the Department's position on S. 2321, Senator Akaka's bill to authorize an additional $8 million for development of each of these parks.

The Honorable Manuel Lujan
July 07, 1992
Page 2

A third step might be to seek necessary funding for these parks in the fiscal year 1994 budget.

Governor Joseph Ada and Senator George Samba of Guam have requested the inclusion of two monuments within the Guam park as part of the design for a visitor center. One monument would list the names of American service personnel killed in action on the Guam. The second monument would list the names of Guamanians, living and dead, who suffered atrocities during the war. They have also requested additional Guamanian war experience exhibits within the park. The $500,000 which you may want to reprogram could be used for these purposes.

Senator Akaka's legislation has been endorsed by Guam chapters of the American Legion and the Third Marine Division Association as well as by the 3.5 million member National Military Coalition. It is worthy of consideration.

Mr. Secretary, I would appreciate your leadership in ensuring that these parks become a true reflection of our country's commitment to the memory of the military personnel and the residents of the islands who joined in sacrifice during World War Two. I stand ready to work with you towards this end.

Sincerely,

RON DE LUGO
Chairman
Subcommittee on Insular and International Affairs

RDL/blm

Mr. VENTO. Thank you, Senator Bamba.
We are pleased to welcome the Governor's representative, Mr. Cruz.

Welcome, Mr. Cruz.

STATEMENT OF MICHAEL CRUZ

Mr. CRUZ. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

My name is Michael Cruz. I am the current Acting Director of the Bureau of Planning from the Government of Guam here presenting testimony on behalf of the Hon. Governor Joseph F. Ada.

I have submitted testimony for the record. However, there is one particular paragraph that I wanted to highlight. If the Chairman will permit me, I will read this.

Mr. VENTO. Yes. Absolutely. You can read any portion you would like.

Mr. BAMBA. Governor Ada indicates in his testimony that the story of the Chamorros who lost their lives on their own soil during that war is one not often told.

The story of Chamorros who suffered grievously during the war through forced labor, through beatings and torture, through internment in concentration camps, these stories are not frequently recounted.

In a small country like Guam, painful experiences are not frequently relived, and the more painful the experience the more profound the silence.

I believe, Mr. Chairman and Members of the Subcommittee, that that really summarizes the Governor's own thoughts about this particular situation.

He did ask that I relate to the Committee that he is in full support of H.R. 1944.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

[Prepared statement of Mr. Cruz follows:]

Secretary of Guam
Territory of Guam

WASHINGTON OFFICE OF THE GOVERNOR OF GUAM
CHENANG MANGGUAH
1825 N. HENRIETTA AVENUE, SUITE 400
SILVER SPRING, MARYLAND
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20910
TELEPHONE: (301) 284-4143
TELEVISION: (301) 284-3421

TESTIMONY

before the House Subcommittee on National Parks, Forests and Public Lands

On Behalf of Joseph F. Ada
Governor of Guam

COMMONWEALTH NOW

MR. CHAIRMAN AND MEMBERS OF THE SUBCOMMITTEE, THANK YOU FOR THIS OPPORTUNITY TO SPEAK BEFORE YOU ON THIS ISSUE.

MY TESTIMONY TODAY IS VERY BRIEF, BUT ON MY PART, BREVITY MAY BE THE BEST ELOQUENCE I CAN MUSTER. FOR NOTHING IS MORE ELOQUENT THAN THE TESTIMONY OF THOSE OF MY PEOPLE WHO TRULY EXPERIENCED AND SUFFERED THE HARSH REALITIES OF THE SECOND WORLD WAR IN GUAM.

ONE THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED CHAMORROS DIED DURING THE SECOND WORLD WAR IN GUAM. THAT MAY NOT SOUND LIKE MANY, BUT AS A PERCENTILE OF OUR INDIGENOUS POPULATION AT THE TIME, IT WAS A VERY LARGE NUMBER, THE EQUIVALENT IN RATIO OF MORE THAN NINETEEN MILLION AMERICANS LOSING THEIR LIVES TODAY. OF THOSE FIFTEEN HUNDRED CHAMORROS WHO LOST THEIR LIVES IN WORLD WAR TWO, THE VAST MAJORITY DIED IN A SINGLE MONTH, THE PERIOD INCLUDING PART OF JULY AND PART OF AUGUST 1944, THE PERIOD IN WHICH AMERICAN FORCES RECAPTURED THE ISLAND FROM JAPANESE OCCUPYING TROOPS.

IN TRUTH, THE STORY OF THE CHAMORROS WHO LOST THEIR LIVES ON THEIR OWN SOIL DURING THAT WAR, IS ONE NOT OFTEN TOLD. THE STORIES OF CHAMORROS WHO SUFFERED GRIEVOUSLY DURING THE WAR THROUGH FORCED LABOR, THROUGH BEATINGS AND TORTURE, THROUGH INTERNMENT IN CONCENTRATION CAMPS... THESE STORIES ARE NOT FREQUENTLY RECOUNTED. IN A SMALL COUNTRY LIKE GUAM, PAINFUL EXPERIENCES ARE NOT FREQUENTLY RELIVED AND THE MORE PAINFUL THE EXPERIENCE, THE MORE PROFOUND THE SILENCE.

IT IS DIFFICULT TO MYTHOLOGIZE THE SUFFERINGS OF YOUR PEOPLE WHEN YOUR PEOPLE ARE NOT NAMELESS HEROES, BUT YOUR FATHERS AND MOTHERS, YOUR SIBLINGS, YOUR LOVED ONES. BUT THE FACT THAT WE DO NOT MAKE A MYTH OF OUR FALLEN, DOES NOT IN ANY WAY DIMINISH THE HEROISM OF OUR PEOPLE OR THE STARK REALITY OF THE SUFFERING THEY EXPERIENCED.

NO MONUMENTS EXIST... IN STONE OR BRONZE... TO MEMORIALIZE THE HEROISM AND THE SUFFERING THAT CAUSED IT TO BE BORN. NO MEMORIAL EXCEPT FOR OUR MEMORIES. IT IS CERTAINLY FITTING THAT ALMOST A HALF CENTURY AFTER THESE EVENTS OCCURRED, EVENTS LITTLE NOTED NOR REMEMBERED BY ANYONE OUTSIDE OF GUAM, THAT SOME OFFICIAL RECOGNITION BE GIVEN. CONGRESSMAN UNDERWOOD IS TO BE CONGRATULATED FOR THIS EFFORT TO SECURE A MEMORIAL FOR THE CHAMORRO PEOPLE OF GUAM WHO DIED OR OTHERWISE BORE THE SCARS OF THE SECOND WORLD WAR, SCARS WHICH HAVE NOT ALTOGETHER DISAPPEARED, EVEN TODAY. AFTER ALL, IF ANYONE CAN BE SAID TO HAVE BEEN BLAMELESS VICTIMS OF THE VIOLENCE OF THAT WAR, SURELY THE PEACEFUL PEOPLE LIVING IN THE ISLANDS OF THE PACIFIC SUCH AS GUAM... PEOPLE WHO HAD DECLARED WAR ON NO ONE... TRULY WERE.

THANK YOU VERY MUCH.

Mr. VENTO. Well thank you, Mr. Cruz.

I think that one of the great writers once said that those that cannot remember history are destined to relive it. So it is very important to remember problems as we have, just in the Nation's capital this year, put up a museum to some of the horrors that grew out of the 1930s and 1940s in terms of the Holocaust Museum.

So obviously there is a recognition by the American people for this. I think it is safe, and I think appropriate, to recognize a limited population with the income level and so forth, with the necessity and importance of this in terms of the U.S. playing a role in helping with the construction and memorial.

The backbone, the infrastructure, the visitors centers, are traditional things we do, but I think that supplementing it, or trying to enhance it with other participations, is also appropriate rather than to presume it solely on its own.

It is a tough time, but I think we can begin to address some of the issues as you have pointed them out, the land issues, and those are very tough issues. We will not get into that today, because it is a difficult issue and we want to focus on getting to next June and through that.

I am trying to get this down to where we can eliminate any problems and/or concerns. That is why I spoke out with regards to CNMI and what is likely to occur and that that may hang it up.

We may have to deal with that aspect of it in separate legislation as a matter of fact. But we will try to advance it as far as we can.

I do not have any questions. I respect, Senator, the work that you have done, and the Governor's deep interest and support, both of you supporting it.

I think that the only comment I would make is that in your testimony, Senator Bamba, you referred to the difficulty that Congressman Underwood has as an uphill fight; we will join with him.

This is bringing much more attention to it by virtue of the hearing which underlines the importance of it to the many Members of Congress and the staff who are present today.

I think that the Administration more or less took what was the budget last year, even though the previous President left only a partial budget. They really were not able to go through all of the different priorities.

I would hope that in the process on appeal we might be able to obtain more support from Secretary Babbitt and President Clinton on this issue. I would be surprised if we were not able to get some recognition of it and some help with the Appropriations Committee and with the general appropriations for 1994 to begin this long-overdue task.

As I have said, we have been faced with 12 years of not much happening. So what we are trying to do now, or what we would like to do is make a down payment on it which we hope would indicate the good faith.

I will work, again with the Secretary and the President, to try to enlist their consideration in this matter. We will again be guided by your Congressman from Guam, Congressman Underwood.

Congressman Underwood, do you have any questions of your constituents?

Mr. UNDERWOOD. No. They were very laudatory in their comments, and I thank you very much for your statement of support in helping us seek further support from the Administration on this matter.

You made a comment, Mr. Chair, and I liked that comment, as an old history teacher, that those who forget the past are doomed to repeat it.

History teachers, those who remember it, are condemned to teach it. [Laughter.]

Mr. VENTO. Well, I was going to say, I did not know who coined it, so I could not—

Mr. UNDERWOOD. But as an old history teacher, I always felt a little that way.

The comments made by both Senator Bamba—and I would like at this time, too, for the record to recognize the work of Senator Bamba on this issue particularly related to World War II, anything related to World War II, the experience of the Chamorro people, war reparations, other issues that are related to this.

I know that his mother made it a cornerstone of her public career, and he himself has made it a real cornerstone of his own efforts and I think the people of Guam recognize fully that Senator Bamba has taken a strong leadership role in this for a number of years. So I would like to recognize that.

I think the comments made by Mr. Cruz are also very pertinent and to the point. I would say that both of these gentlemen, as do most people on Guam, but I think both of these gentlemen have relatives and grandfathers and uncles who participated in the occupation and participated in the events surrounding the occupation in a very direct and heroic way, and I would like to recognize that, as well.

Just one question I have of Senator Bamba, because this is an issue in terms of identifying the people who would likely end up on this monument. Sometimes this has been raised by people as a possible impediment and as a difficult issue.

So I would like to ask his comments about how he visualizes how the names would be selected and what resources are available for this.

Mr. CRUZ. Well actually, Mr. Congressman, the names are available already through two authorities actually. The first is through the listing of the authorization under the Guam Meritorious Claims Act authorized by the United States Congress, which is already a part of the record.

And the second, authorized by the Government of Guam in the creation of the Commission on War Reparations, which basically went out and identified those individuals that suffered atrocities during the occupation.

That was a commission that was sanctioned by the Government of Guam. It was a commission created by law by the Government of Guam. Those would be the two authorities that I would suggest would be for the listing of the names.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. So this is not really an impediment of any sort?

Mr. CRUZ. No.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. This is a case of well-documented public record?

Mr. CRUZ. Yes. In fact, all the names have been documented and fully justified.

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Okay. Thank you.

I have no questions.

Mr. VENTO. Congressman de Lugo.

Mr. DE LUGO. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman.

I want to welcome both witnesses here before this committee, Senator Bamba, and also the Governor's representative Michael Cruz.

Mr. Chairman, I would like to ask unanimous consent to have my prepared opening statement be made a part of the record.

Mr. VENTO. Yes. Without objection, so ordered.

[EDITOR'S NOTE.—See appendix.]

Mr. DE LUGO. I thought that in your prepared statement, Michael, you made a very telling point. That is, the magnitude of what happened in Guam during this occupation.

There was a 2½ year period, and during that period the people of Guam were subject to all sorts of abuse. But during a one-month period between July and August of 1944, most of the 1,500 Guamians who were killed and lost their lives, they lost their lives during this period just prior to the Americans retaking Guam.

And 1,500, if you put that in its proper perspective, the proportion of the casualties, of the deaths among these American Nationals, if you were to project that today to the United States if this happened, 19 million Americans would lose their lives would be the comparison.

So that gives you some idea of the way that the people in this community must look on this.

Congressman Underwood used the term "heroic" just a while ago. I can assure you that anyone reading the record of this period has to be stunned by the heroic nature of the resistance and the loyalty that was displayed by the Chamorro people.

It is just amazing.

I saw that Jim Corman who was here with us, who just went through the door, he was, as the Chairman pointed out, he is a veteran of the action at that time.

In my own prepared statement it is pointed out that among the U.S. troops—I mean, this was a bloody, terrible campaign—5,700 U.S. troops were killed or missing during the Marianas Campaign that included Guam—5,700 killed or missing—and almost 22,000 were wounded, to give you some idea of the scope of what went on there, and we still have not paid honor to their memory.

Senator Bamba, as you know, there is not unanimous support for this proposal here in Congress. I would like to hear from you. What is the impact, or what will the impact be? What does it mean to the people of Guam to have the names of the Chamorro people, the Guamians who died and suffered during this period, included on this monument?

What is the cultural impact of this to the people of Guam?

Mr. BAMBAMBA. Well, Congressman, as far as speaking for myself and in viewing and talking to other Chamorros on the island, the period of the occupation was one of extreme suffering and extreme injustice. Certainly the atrocities that were committed, we do not even talk about it.

It is a very difficult thing for those of us, the generations after, and even those persons, the people who survived the occupation, have a difficulty recounting the experiences that they had because it was that painful.

In my case, my grandmother was killed at the onset of the invasion. She was beaten because she had light skin and the Japanese thought that she was an American.

My grandfather was beheaded shortly before the invasion because he pulled an American pilot out of a plane which had crashed.

I never knew that, and my mother never talked about it, for the longest time until I started working on this issue after she had passed away.

But it is those kind of experiences I think that the generations that come in the future need to know that their ancestors, their relatives, their families did play a role and remained steadfastly loyal to the United States.

I think it is these stories that should be told and should be remembered and recounted for the benefit of future generations.

It means a great deal for the Chamorro people. Although maybe it is a simple act of seeing the name of your relative on a wall, and it is very simple, but it means quite a bit to us as a people.

Mr. DE LUGO. Well, Senator and Mr. Chairman, I think that we can relate to that because of the history of the Vietnam Memorial and the terrible open-wound agony of the Vietnam War.

This very simple memorial that was very simple in its design, I think that is part of the beauty of it in its place down on the Mall to have the names of all of those who died in Vietnam there.

Americans come from all over this country on a pilgrimage to make peace with themselves and this terrible agonizing period by going there and seeing their comrades names, their family members' names, their loved ones' names, to see the name and touch the name.

It has become a ritual where they take a piece of paper and with a pencil rub it and get a copy of the name that is on the Memorial, and it is healing. It is a healing process.

So I think this memorial is very important to the people and I want to commend you for all of your efforts.

Senator, approximately how many names of Guamians will there be on the monument?

Mr. BAMBA. Approximately 4,000. Those were just the list that was compiled under the Meritorious Claims Act and also under the Commission which was set up by the Government of Guam.

Mr. DE LUGO. Have there been any efforts to raise private funds for this monument?

Mr. BAMBA. Well, unfortunately in my discussions with the Governor—and this was in the last year-and-a-half when Congressman Underwood was not in office yet when there was difficulty getting the original bill through.

So we were looking at raising monies from private sources. But to me, if that was the case then we would go ahead and appropriate the money ourselves on Guam and to honor our own people.

I think that is missing the entire point. The issue here is the United States recognizing the heroism and the experiences, the terrible experiences, that the Chamorro people endured.

If nothing else, then at least a simple monument. We are not asking for a fancy monument that is going to cost in the millions or anything like that, but just a simple monument that would finally honor the Chamorro people, which is long overdue.

I would hope that in keeping it simple—and that is why we have stressed the simplicity of the monument—that it would be constructed in time for the 50th Anniversary. Because after the date of the 50th Anniversary passes, it has lost its meaning.

I mean, I would like to be there during the date of the 50th Anniversary and look at a simple monument rather than a parking lot that was just paved.

Mr. DE LUGO. Thank you very much, Senator.

Mr. VENTO. Well, thank you.

No one is suggesting that in 1978 when the legislation was passed that the commitment was not made. I think it should be of honor and by my suggesting supplements and other aspects I was not referring to that.

So that is the basis we authorized and put in place, as meager as they may have in terms of funds or resources, a War in the Pacific Park and the American Memorial on CNMI, and we ought to go through with it.

When we do memorials and authorize monuments, we are just doing it mostly in the corridor here in Washington and the vicinity, and that is a much different arrangement and a much different challenge.

A lot of those that were here, and especially some of the redundant ones, were paid for with public funds, I hate to tell you the insignificance of some of them, and the profound significance of others—the profound significance that has been taken on in terms of the Lincoln Memorial where Marion Anderson, the late, great musician, and Dr. Martin Luther King were brought to that particular place not because of the bricks and mortar but because of the meaning of what Lincoln stood up and did in the middle of the last century.

So basically it rivets public attention and has brought about this sort of almost spiritual recognition and continuity in terms of ideas between centuries and between peoples struggling for the same goals and objectives.

We have recently authorized, for instance, at the Lincoln Memorial, to have in its basement, which was basically empty, a civil rights activity which is being funded by students from Arizona and students across the country, and with the coordination of the American Federation of Teachers, a group I belonged to at one time, but an idea I had nothing to do with but am happy to share in the limelight of as it is taking on significance.

It is the way of politics.

In any case, Senator, you have done well on your testimony, and the Governor's constant interest and support for this, and especially his poignant remarks with regards to not mythologizing. That is what happens when we do not put things down in stone sometimes, or get them recorded in a monument. They become sort of myths and pretty soon forgotten.

Hopefully this will not be forgotten.

Thank you, Mr. Cruz, and thank you, Senator.

Mr. BAMBA. Thank you, Sir.

PANEL CONSISTING OF BEATRICE FLORES EMSLEY, GUAM; ROSALIA R. BORDALLO, CATHEDRAL GRADE SCHOOL OF GUAM, ACCOMPANIED BY JONATHAN BORDALLO; CYRIL J. O'BRIEN, THIRD MARINE DIVISION ASSOCIATION, VETERANS OF THE LIBERATION OF GUAM; AND HON. JAMES CORMAN, GUAM VETERAN AND FORMER REPRESENTATIVE TO CONGRESS FROM THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA

Mr. VENTO. We have a final panel of Mrs. Beatrice Flores Emsley from Guam; Rosalia R. Bordallo of the Cathedral Grade School of Guam, both of whom had been introduced briefly by my two colleagues earlier; and finally Mr. Cyril O'Brien of the 3d Marine Division Association who is here.

We are pleased to welcome them.

If you want to sit at the table, Congressman Corman, and add a word or two in this process, I think it would be appropriate to do so, if we can find a chair there for you.

Mr. CORMAN. Thank you, sir. I appreciate this.

Mr. VENTO. You can give a little moral support here to your colleague. Who outranked whom here in this arrangement?

Your statements, which have been presented to me, have been made a part of the record.

Mrs. Emsley, please proceed with your comments this afternoon.

STATEMENT OF BEATRICE FLORES EMSLEY

Mrs. EMSLEY. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Thank you, Chairman de Lugo. I had met you, and this is my second time.

I came all the way from Guam only asking that United States will give us a little care; that we're way out there, and we were fighting for that American Flag.

I was 13 years old. My uncle was working for Naval Hospital, and he took off with three American Corpsmen. They had a census up in the area where I was staying in Tai, better known as Father Dranus.

We have three families in that ranch. When the officer of the Japanese came and he demand anybody to go after my uncle, or all three family will be killed.

So that afternoon I was staying—my mother had just given birth to my three-days' sister. So I was sitting down with the Japanese interpretation of a piece of paper so that I can pass Japanese security in Agana, because nobody stay in Agana; everybody is all in the jungle.

So when I pass through there, I bow and bow and bow, and finally I show them the pass, and they just chase me away.

I continue my journey to go look for my uncle. I look at this one foxhole that my mother said that he might be there. He is not there.

I went into another foxhole that is owned by Father Camatcha. As I was approaching the bushes, I hear somebody breathing. When I push through, I find my uncle laying down on the ground so filthy, so skinny, with infection in his leg.

I told him, I say, Uncle, I got to take you back. He ask me, how could you, my daughter, I cannot walk. I said, even if I dragged you, we have to go back.

Since this is happening, we hear a bunch of soldiers that are moving by the ocean in Agana at Podyplumes into St. Nicholas at George Washington, and they were stomping, a whole bunch of them stomping on the ground with their shoes.

All of a sudden, somebody pushed the place where we're at and they told us to get out. We get out. They accuse us whether we know Tweed. I don't know George Tweed.

I try to explain. I show my paper. All they did is they told us that we're leaving with them.

So they drag us up by San Ramon Hill, right below Governor Ada's palace now. It happened to be below the Bishop's house. There was three tunnels.

So as we approached San Ramon Hill, there was a flare coming from the sky and it start lighting down. So the Japs say lay flat on the ground. So we all did. After the flare was gone, they pick us up and they move us into the first tunnel.

There was my uncle and Juan Cabrara. Then all of a sudden there's three girls came crying, and they pushed them into the tunnel. Then there's more Guamian Chamorro men. But the only one that is really like an American is Mr. Arthur Andersen.

He will start telling us that he went after to meet wife, because his wife is delivering a baby, and he happened to meet a bunch of Japanese and they took him because they thought he was Tweed.

So as we were sitting there, someone interpreted and came in and started investigating us, whether we're waiting for the American, whether we love the American. Do you understand the American ain't gonna find nothing but just flies?

So we agreed with them. They say we're liars, and they start slapping us around. By almost daylight, a bunch of the soldiers all dressed up and well equipped like they're going to war, and they call us all out and line up.

To each one of us, we had two guns with a rifle and something like a bayonet in front, and they march us down just a little ways. And that place where my grave is at is now got McDonald's.

They push us into this hill, and on top of the hill there's a bunch of soldiers. There was an officer with a long saber. He was standing right by the hole.

The first thing they did is they separate the seven men. And when my uncle pull me, they pull him away and they march them in the other side of the jungle. All us four girls hear is like somebody chopping down the forest, and moaning for God, for mother, and I'm dying, and all that.

Since then, Mr. Chairman, I didn't have any feeling. I'm standing there like I'm just out in a cloud. So then after they finish and everything is quiet, they come back and went by us and they all have a bloody uniform. Their rifle and everything are all blood.

Then finally they start calling Diana Guerrero, the oldest woman, who walked up to this officer, and the only thing I seen, and it start to get blurr, was he cut this front and start sawing off her breast.

Then the sister next to her came running up to try to help. They do just everything they can with what they got. And the third one was Toni, because I was the youngest one and the last. They march her up, and the only thing they did is sliced down her stomach and everything come out.

When it comes to me, when they took me out, I was walking in air. As soon as they let go of me, I fall down to the ground. Then one Japanese soldier came toward to me and asked me about his half-cast Japanese girlfriend, whether she had a baby.

I said, I don't know because when the Americans start bombing back the island, everybody is out to the jungle, about two, three family in one big tree, praying and praying and praying.

So finally when they are finished with me, he pushed my head down and he hit me in the back of my neck. And all I did is, I feel a splash down on my body, and I was gone.

The next thing I know, I was trying to struggle because I was buried in that hole. I was struggling for air because I was losing breathing.

Then I found this hand was shaking loose, and I start to reach and scratch my face. When that face was open and I start breathing, I look up on that hill and there was this young man standing, calling, who is alive, to come with him.

Then he said, here comes the Japanese. All I did is I closed my eyes. They come, and I hear them say Bonsai three times, and took off because it's getting daylight.

During daylight, the Japanese is not out. They're all hiding. Only at night.

So then I start digging myself. I look at that certain particular person I saw, and he ain't there. I was just there in that hole.

Then I start digging myself and I hear somebody moaning next to me. It was that girl that has been cut up. She wanted some water. She's thirsty.

So what I did is I crawl over to her and I just felt something wet on that ground, and we just start drinking it.

I passed out until the sun was hitting it and it was so hot and I wake up and I look around, and I said, "Toni," and she was already stiff.

I started to crawl up the hill to get away from that area. When I got up to the hill, I fell down because I'm so weak. When I fell back down there, I wait for awhile until I get enough strength to climb up.

I climb up and I start crawling over to where I hear them Chamorro men crying and hollering for God and help.

I happened to look, and the only thing that I seen on my uncle is that leg that got wounded. The reason why, Mr. Chairman, I know this is his is because the half of that pants that he was wearing they're so filthy.

So then I just look and I continue. I don't know where I'm going. I don't know what happened to me. I don't know nothing. I just keep going.

Finally, I get tired. I slept on a dump area. Then I started to get hungry and thirsty. Then I look around. Nothing.

I keep going and going until finally I came down to one side of the jungle and I look at a ranch up on a hill, and I started to approach that ranch.

When I was coming up to the small trail, I hear a bunch of Japanese noise. They were taking out everything in that ranch.

So on the side of that little small, there was a white cat that came out and started going "meow" to me, and he jumped into a Guamanian oven which the Chamorro make out of rock and they bake and bake.

We went in there. When they pass by and they disappeared, the cat came out and I came out. I went around the other side of the building. As somebody make noise, he took off and there was this Juan Cabraras that left me and calling that if anybody come, come.

He was standing under a coconut tree on the bottom of the hill. I look down and I say, hey, man. Hey, man, give me something to eat and something to drink.

He looked at me and he called me and he said, "Come down."

So I start sliding down. And we started to eat this coconut, and I start getting choked up. There weren't no water. So we went close to the swamp, and we start sucking the swamp water.

Then he told me that there is in Agana this house where his mom, before they run off in Agana, left some rice and some salty fish. Let's go over there and we cook some to eat.

So when we went over there, we decide to go to some place to look for medicine because, Mr. Chairman, in the two days I had something crawling out of my neck. When I reached up, there was a handful of maggots that are all coming out because I had high fever, I had chills, and I keep going to find in Agana there was a U.S. Naval Hospital that has been bombed before. But in our mind we think that we are going over there to look for some medication.

So we didn't find nothing.

So then my companion, Mr. Juan Cabraras, said "Stay here."

He put me on the bottom of the house on the ground, and he build Chamorro tree rocks and some wood, and we use this Japanese pot that you make rice. And he washed it, and he said watch that rice, and I'll go over and take a look for some indication.

He came running because he met some Japanese again and he was chasing him again. So this dog that has some puppies went after the Japanese and he grabbed me in the back of my hair and pull me down to the San Antonio Chapel.

Under the San Antonio Chapel that was destroyed there was a big slab of concrete. He put me under there, and he said "Just stay there."

So we keep hearing the dog. When the dog don't bark any more, he said "let's go."

We went in the back of that Chapel up to this Manengon area where there is an abandoned ranch. My goodness, Mr. Chairman, I feel so happy because we find six drums of rain water, star apple and banana are all falling out of the tree.

I ate and ate and drink rain water until I have a stomachache. Then he said we're going to continue and look for our family.

We came up to Father Drinas'; nobody was there. Nobody. It's abandoned. So then we just stay there for awhile. We don't know where we are going. We don't know where they are.

So finally my uncle and another gentleman sneaked out of the concentration camp to look for the rice and the corn that they buried under the ground. Because the reason why we hide, Mr. Chairman, our food is because the Japanese take everything we got.

They would rather feed their army than us.

So what happened is we found this. Then my uncle was going to Malojloj, and he met a bunch of soldiers, and they took them to carry their equipment over to Geegul.

Then when the Japanese were sleeping, the other gentleman said, "I don't know about you, Mr. Jose Parado, but when they're asleep we're going to untie ourself and take off."

But my uncle was chicken. He don't want to. But Mr. Antonio Mayna got loose with his. He says, "What about it?" He loosened up my uncle and took off.

I met my uncle, and he didn't recognize me because he came back through that reties to take that rice and corn. He took me from there up to Jona.

I met the 3d Marine Division right up there in the jungle, and I was so happy. But they cannot assist us because they were in the front line. And all the 3d Marine Division that is here, my uncle got a pack of Camel cigarettes, and he went into the camp, because they snuck me into the camp.

I went to these two Guamian nurses. And when they put this alcohol, my goodness, Mr. Chairman, all these maggots are all coming out. And I got half clean there.

Then the American came the other day and took me into a long trail down to Asan and took me over to the U.S. ship and cleaned me up, because I had this one dress that's stuck with all this dirt and blood that I stink.

So I got dressed, and they see a beautiful blond during the battle over there in the ship that cleans me up.

I happen to grow up after I went to the Naval Hospital and they release me.

I try going to school. I cannot. So finally I grow up and I learn how, my mother trains me how to take care of a house. I met an American man from Detroit, Michigan, in the United States Army and I got married, and I have 10 children.

I have been married for 37 years, except my husband passed away 7 years ago over at Shadow, Washington, because I took my husband all over until he rest. And I am here.

All I am trying to ask Chairman Ron de Lugo—we go way back to 1989—is:

Recognize us, please.

We are American.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. VENTO. Thank you for sharing that experience, a very difficult experience no doubt for you to share, so we appreciate your courage and your constancy in terms of presenting to us and explaining this history to Americans and to others who might not recall it so vividly.

So thank you very much.

We are pleased that Rosalia from Cathedral Grade School in Guam is present.

Rosalia, why don't you go ahead. I understand your brother is with you. Do you want to introduce him?

STATEMENT OF ROSALIA R. BORDALLO

Miss BORDALLO. This is Jonathan Bordallo.

Mr. VENTO. Welcome to you, too.

Mr. BORDALLO. Good afternoon.

Mr. VENTO. You can go ahead, Rosalia, with your comments.

Miss BORDALLO. Mr. Chairman, Congressman Underwood, and Members of the Committee, good day.

My name is Rosalia Rita Bordallo. I am from the Island of Guam and I have travelled nearly 9,000 miles in 20 hours to tell the story of my father and grandfather.

I am 9 years old, and I am in the 4th Grade at Cathedral Grade School.

It is from my parents that I learned the history of my island during World War II. I hope that you decide to build this monument at the War in the Pacific Park on Guam.

On December 8, 1941, the Japanese began bombing my homeland of Guam. Two days later, they invaded and took over the entire island.

It was not until July 21, 1944, that American forces returned to Guam. During these 2½ years, the people of Guam suffered greater and deeper losses than any other community in the United States during World War II.

In my own family, my father, Paul Bordallo, and my grandfather, Baltazar Bordallo, were tortured and almost killed by the Kempeitai, the Japanese secret police.

On midnight of August 10, 1943, my grandfather and his family of 14 children, most of whom were only my age or younger, were marched off their ranch at gunpoint.

They were called by the Kempeitai to the central police station where they were separated from my grandfather and thrown into an underground dungeon.

When my grandmother asked why they were imprisoned, the commander told her that the family ranch was hiding the American sailor George Tweed who was not captured by the Japanese authorities during the occupation.

My father, who was 13 at the time and one of the eldest children, still remembers the screams of a young Chamorro girl who was being tortured in a cell nearby.

For five hours she screamed and pleaded for mercy while my grandmother and her children sat in the small cell completely terrified.

In the early morning hours, a policeman came and called for my father. Full of fear, my father answered back. He was taken out of the dark and terrible dungeon into the street in front of the police station.

There he was told by the Kempeitai commander that his father had confessed that radioman George Tweed had been hidden on the family ranch.

The commander also told him that he suspected my father of delivering food and supplies to Tweed. The commander told my father that if he confessed now, he and his family would not be executed.

My father did not know the whereabouts of George Tweed. The officer became angry that my father could not tell him where the American sailor was hiding.

He ordered four soldiers to hold my father while Kempeitai officers beat him on the head, back, and legs with a club.

My father told me that he screamed and cried from the pain. Soon, however, the continuous hitting stopped hurting my father. The more they kept hitting him, the less he could feel the pain.

After what seemed like hours, my father lost consciousness under the torture. Later that night, the Japanese awoke him and brought him back to the dark cell where the rest of the family was kept.

He told me that he looked quietly at all his younger siblings, sat down on the dirt floor and cried.

My grandfather was treated even more harshly than my father.

After being separated from the rest of his family, my grandfather was interrogated by the Kempeitai commander about the location of George Tweed. My grandfather, who truly did not know where Mr. Tweed was hiding, was beaten by the Japanese just like my father.

However, the Kempeitai still did not believe that my grandfather did not know where Tweed was. They imprisoned my grandfather during the day and tortured him at night.

They would tie his hands to two poles stuck in the ground and would whip him until his back bled. When they released him 10 days later, my father told me he had no skin on his back.

When I asked my father why he and grandpa were beaten, he told me that the Japanese were trying to capture an American soldier.

He also told me that all people suffered during war. My father would tell me that the Japanese did those things to him because they were just as afraid of war as we Chamorros were.

To him, this sailor George Tweed was hiding in the jungles of Guam because he was afraid of the Japanese. But the Japanese were just as afraid of Mr. Tweed.

Their failure to capture this lone man made the Japanese commanders lose face with their superiors. The Chamorros hid George Tweed and gave him food.

Many Chamorros were killed by the Japanese for hiding this American soldier, or for expressing hope that America would return to Guam.

Mr. Tweed later received a medal for his struggle against the Japanese. He was honored for saving himself. The Japanese commanders also sought to save themselves, if not their lives then their honor or face.

But it was only the Chamorros who sought to give generously of themselves. It was the Chamorros who sheltered Mr. Tweed.

To save their lives, as well as the lives of other Chamorros, they could easily have revealed Mr. Tweed's hiding places, but they chose not to do that.

I have heard my teacher say that George Tweed stood as a symbol of America during the war with the Japanese. The Chamorros wanted to be liberated from the bad conditions during the war.

Those who hid Mr. Tweed all those years believe that the United States will come back and save Guam. My father told me that the Chamorros were liberated by the Americans because our island was important to winning the war.

The Chamorros of Guam still want recognition for the bravery of their people. My father told me that the memorial will ensure forever the memory that we are a people of worth and bravery who have been tested in battle and blood and whom history will not forget.

My father also told me that the story of the Chamorro people will live on long after its telling ceases upon the silent graves of our elders. My father told me that war is a terrible thing and what the war did to our people must not be forgotten.

Mr. VENTO. Thank you, very much.

I would say, I suppose we have to move along, but I have seldom seen two witnesses, from a young child who lived the history and from a young person who has learned the history, mesmerize and quiet a committee room like this committee room has been quieted this noon.

I do not think there is much that any of us could add to the poignant statements that you have made.

We are pleased to welcome on this panel Mr. Cyril O'Brien, of the Third Marine Division, who is accompanied by his friend and apparently fellow soldier Jim Corman, a former member and one of the rank-and-file soldiers around here for quite a few years.

Mr. O'Brien?

STATEMENT OF CYRIL J. O'BRIEN

Mr. O'BRIEN. I am also fortunate to have at my right hand someone who knows everything I am saying and who witnessed it all. So I have to be accurate. [Laughter.]

Mr. VENTO. Well, we are appreciative of you both being here, and your interest.

Mr. O'BRIEN. My name is Cyril O'Brien, Mr. Chairman, and Members of the Committee.

My name is Cyril O'Brien, and I am a Veteran of the Guam liberation. I am speaking for myself and nearly 5,000 members of the Third Marine Division Association which fought in three campaigns.

I am only going to emphasize a couple of those, because you know you all have my statement.

When we sailors, soldiers, and marines hit the Islands of Guam, Saipan, and Tinian, the Big War, as some people chose to call it, was raging in Europe.

The Normandy Landing was only a few weeks old. So our wild, fierce, and distant little war in the Pacific was relegated pretty much to second-class attention by the press, by the current historians, and also in the public eye.

But, gentlemen, 50 years have passed since then. That is a half-century. The Marianas need not be on the back burner anymore.

Yes, we are the Veterans who fought there, the heroic people of the Marianas. Mrs. Emsley is a wonderful example of the terrible history that was made there.

Repeatedly, legislation and speeches have asked and pleaded for completion of those long-delayed national parks. Remember the significance of the Marianas.

D-Day on Saipan alone involved some of the heaviest casualties of any division throughout the whole of World War II. Some 2,500 Americans fell there on the first day, June 15, 1944.

On Guam, where bitter fighting hardly reached the American ears, I saw the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin on the day of our invasion, and all they talked about was the battle in Europe.

We rescued there our own Americans—the first Americans ever captured by an enemy from 32 months of cruel domination.

The fall of the Marianas was significant. With the fall of the Marianas, Premier Tojo and his cabinet, under whom the war began, resigned. Then from the runways of the Marianas, the way was open to the Japanese jugular.

Our overwhelming air thrust, you recall, so affected the Japanese mainland and its defense that we barred the last-ditch suicidal defense of the Mainland which, had we had to do it, would have cost us millions of lives.

That was because of the Marianas.

Gentlemen, we have told all this before. Here we are literally back on square one. I have been back to the Marianas five times, and to other Pacific battlegrounds. My return visits have made it very, very clear that we, a very grateful Nation, have still been unbelievably skimpy in honoring the men and women who served in those island campaigns.

I cannot say that for the Japanese. The Japanese have not so reacted. They have generously honored the battlegrounds of their honored dead.

There is an interesting thing. There is a gasoline station at the bottom of one of the hills on Chonito Ridge on Guam. It is a Mobil station.

I wandered in there one day not too long ago and asked the young man at the bottom of the hill pumping gas, I said, "By the way, was there any action, or did anything happen round here?"

He says, "I don't know. Beats me."

I said, "Was there any action?"

He says, "No, I don't know of anything that ever happened around here."

Remember, I had seen on that hill 40-some years before Able Company, of which Mr. Corman knows very well, pinned down for a day and a half. The Japanese were so close they couldn't throw grenades. The Leathernecks were so close they had to roll the grenades down on them.

Here was a hill dedicated and honored in American blood, and the people passing by had no idea what happened there.

Do you know why? There is no monument there.

There is no plaque.

There is nothing in the world that would tell anybody that that was sacred ground. Absolutely nothing.

By the way, there is another interesting thing. There is a swimming pool. There is a little country road that runs up the hill to the top of the hill where Nimitz stayed, and you pass a swimming pool.

The swimming pool, interestingly enough, was the CP of F Company which was commanded by a Capt. Lewis Wilson. There, that battle literally broke the back of the Japanese at Fonte Ridge. The man who led the battle, Lewis Wilson, was later Commandant of the Marine Corps and received the Medal of Honor for his actions.

There is a swimming pool there.

They tell you you can swim there, but nobody ever tells you anything of the tremendous battle and the loss of American life and Japanese life, too, on that spot.

Yes, there is a museum on Guam. The National Park Service are very engaging, hospital people, but their exhibits are static.

It is like a shopping list. What they do is the very best they can with the little—I emphasize the little—that they have got.

But perhaps closest to my heart is the clause of Mr. Underwood's proposal. I think it was intensified immensely three or four minutes ago when I heard Mrs. Emsley talk.

This is the clause in the Congressman's measure which would commemorate the sufferings, the indignities, the executions which were part of the life and fate of the Chamorro people over the 32 months of enemy occupation.

The thought of a monument would warm the heart of any Marine or soldier who was on Guam. Those liberating Marines loved the Chamorro people.

A friend of mine who lost his hand on Iwo Jima did not want to go back to Iwo Jima. He did not care. But he did want to go back to Guam.

So we do want those Americans on Guam appreciated and remembered for their loyalty and heroism. Occupation was stern enough at the invasion when the invasion was coming, as you well know now and have heard from other witnesses, of the rape and the beheadings that occurred.

With all my heart and patriotism that I can engender, Mr. Chairman and Members, I urge you to authorize a suitable recognition for these wonderful people.

Next year, thousands of us will return to Guam. Mr. Corman is going back with me and to Saipan to commemorate the 50th Anniversary of the Battle of the Marianas.

Governor Joseph Ada and the people of Guam are so enthusiastic that the Governor said he will help to defray the expenses of the liberators returning.

We hope then, gentlemen, that the returning veterans can return to adequate memorial parks that will forever tell the story of what they did, what they risked, and what it will all mean to generations to come. Thank you.

[The prepared statement of Mr. O'Brien follows:]

Testimony of Cyril J. O'Brien
 Third Marine Division Assn.
 Veterans of the Liberation of Guam
 on H.R. 1944
 Before the Subcommittee on National Parks, Forests and Public Lands, Committee on Natural Resources

May 27, 1993

I am proud and eager as a veteran of three campaigns in the Pacific to add my support and the enthusiastic approval of nearly 5,000 veterans of the Third Marine Division Assn. to H.R. 1944 introduced by Delagata Robert A. Underwood of Guam.

The measure to provide additional development of the War in the Pacific National Park on Guam and the American Memorial Park in Saipan will offer veterans, Americans and the Chamorro people, after half a century, a fitting and living memorial of perhaps the most decisive campaign in that fierce Pacific war.

June 15 through August 10 marks the 50th anniversary of the battle for the Marianas (Guam, Saipan, and Tinian). When the Marianas fell, Premier Hideki Tojo and his cabinet, under whom the war began, resigned.

From the runways of the Marianas, the way was now open to the Japanese jugular, the homeland. The overwhelming thrust of American air power not only made the Japanese defeat inevitable, but barred the last ditch suicidal defense of the home islands. That battle, it is estimated, would have cost a minimum of one million American lives.

Thousand of veterans will return to Guam and to Saipan next summer to mark the 50th anniversary of the battle for the Marianas. Governor Joseph Ada and the people of Guam are so enthusiastic that the Governor is offering to help defray some of the expenses of returning Liberators.

When the veterans do go back, will they find a finished monument designed to perpetuate the memory of the Liberation, the freedom achieved, and the heroism it took to win it all?

Will there be an appropriate commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the Marianas campaign, and will the Secretary of the Interior ensure that the two visitors' centers are completed before June 15 and July 21, dates which mark the half century since the invasion of Saipan and Guam?

If and when development of the parks is completed, the park on Guam will include, for instance, the high ridge line of Chonito, affording an absolutely breath taking view of the Asan-Adelup invasion beach. A visitor could at the same time consider that the Japanese enjoyed this view as well, and that at the moment the Marines came ashore, they could look right down the throats of the Americans.

What we seek now is authorization for the much delayed development of these parks. This is not the first appeal. There have been many. Last year before a Senate subcommittee, veterans, survivors, and others eloquently appealed for development of these parks. It was then that retired Marine General Ben Blaz with tears in his eyes pleaded in support of authorizing legislation introduced by Senator Daniel Akaka of Hawaii. Now we are seeking that authorization again.

Quite pertinent are the remarks this year of Congressman Underwood, author of the current legislation:

Our children and their children must learn about the lessons of war, and the changes that the war brought to the islands.

This brings to mind a personal experience. There is a gasoline station at the foot of one of Chonito's hills above the Asan-Adelup beach. On that hill, Able Company, 1st Battalion, Third Marines, was held back for a day and half by stubborn Japanese at the top. It was a bloody and fierce mele. The Japanese defenders were so close they couldn't throw grenades so they rolled them down on Marines. It was there that Captain Geary Bundschu, Able Company's commanding officer, having been told to take the hill, gave his life trying.

I doubt that anybody who passes the bottom of that hill today can spell Geary's name, much less heard of it. It is certainly nowhere in public view. A young man pumping gas at the bottom of the crucial hill where so many Marines died said, "I never knew anything ever happened here." He had not known that a shot had been fired there during the liberation of Guam.

Down Guam's principal highway, a little hanging sign in the Marine Corps' Scarlet and Gold lets you know that nearby was the landing site of the Brigadier General L.C. Shephard's First Marine Provisional Brigade. The sign is not far from where the 77th Army Division came ashore under Major General A.D. Bruce. That's all the information you get.

I have been back to Guam five times. I love Guam. My first visit in 1985 opened with the sunshine of the warm, smiling, and generous welcome of the Chamorro people, with whom the Marines fell in love.

I found then that our own government showed little concern for tributs. Only a 155mm shell imbedded in two blocks of concrete then marked the site of the landing that liberated Guam. There is a museum building at the Asan-Adelup beach today with static displays. The building is rented.

One crusty old leatherneck, Captain Harvey Tennant USMC (ret.) of San Diego, California, was so chagrined at the lack of attention to the Marine battle grounds, he made a collection among veterans of the Third Division. A monument to the landing, paid for by veterans, was erected there in 1987 on land donated by the government of Guam.

American tributes to our warriors on Saipan were no more numerous on that first visit (or today) than they were on Guam. Clemmer Marcus, of the 534th Amphibian Tractor Battalion, U.S. Army, couldn't find where he came ashore at Charan Kanoa, Saipan or on the narrow invasion beach of Tinian. There were no markers. Clemmer's amphibious tracked vehicle made repeated trips to the flaming beaches with Marines of the Second and Fourth Divisions. The 27th Army Division fought beside them, especially against repeated enemy banzai attacks. The sites of these attacks and the progress of the battle are unmarked, likely unknown.

Marcus and his returning Army buddies found a few rusted Japanese and American tanks, a private one-room museum operated by someone original enough to collect what was available, and a narrow gauge railroad. But Clemmer has found nothing to explain one of the greatest battles of the Pacific war.

But perhaps closest to my heart is the clause in H.R. 1944 which calls for a monument to commemorate by individual name, these people of Guam, living and dead who suffered personal injury, forced labor, forced marches, internment and death incidental to enemy occupation of Guam.

Why do Marines return to Guam in such numbers? It is because the Marines love the Chamorro people. A friend of mine lost his hand on Iwo Jima, but he cares not if he ever sees that island again. But he returns to Guam. A schools teacher in Virginia went to Guam because she promised her father as he neared death that she would return for him.

We want these American Chamorros appreciated; their heroism remembered. Even on that first liberation day illuminated by flashes of gunfire, we found loyal, warm, friendly people who had suffered 32 months of harsh even bestial occupation. When the invasion by the Americans was imminent, the Japanese occupiers intensified their cruelty. Women were raped; men gathered for working parties were shot or even beheaded as their work was done. Chamorros were forced into concentration camps, forced into a death march that, for some, was not unlike Bataan.

With all the heart and patriotism I can engender, I urge you, gentlemen, to authorize suitable recognition for these wonderful people.

Mr. VENTO. Thank you, very much.

Mr. O'Brien, can I invite the gentleman from California for a few ad hominem remarks?

Welcome.

STATEMENT OF HON. JAMES CORMAN

Mr. CORMAN. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman.

We all have memories of specific things, and remember the day, but I only have one memory that I remember the time. I remember where I was at 3 minutes after 8:00 a.m. on July 21, 1944. I was stepping off a landing craft.

The times were very precise.

I remember one of the least desirable chores that we lieutenants had was to take small patrols out in the jungle looking for Japanese.

I remember how comforted I was when I had a Chamorro with me, which was frequently. He was risking his life to help me save mine. I remember that very well.

And I remember meeting George Tweed. I understand Tweed is probably still alive. So he had 50 years after that event. He is alive today because of the people whose names will be on that monument who gave their lives to save his.

I hope when I get to Guam at 3 minutes after 8:00 on July the 21, 1993, that I will get to go and look at that monument and pay tribute and appreciation to the people whose names are emblazoned there.

I thank you.

Mr. VENTO. Well, thank you.

I think there is not much more we can say. I think the emphasis here should be in terms of focusing on getting the monument done, or at least started. This is enormously important, and if not having everything perfectly engraved that we can at least have the names listed somehow so they can be recognized appropriately.

This whole account reminds me of Alexander Pope's statement, as I listened to the terrible recounting of these events and the tremendous loss of lives of the people of Guam, of the Chamorros, of the U.S. Military loss of lives.

All of us had relatives that fought in the Second World War, many of us did, and certainly I did. And in the Pacific.

In any event, it reminds me of Alexander Pope's comments of man's inhumanity to man, a lesson that has to be learned.

So I have no questions.

But let me yield to my colleague, the historian. Historians are of course the most powerful people in the world.

Dr. Underwood, Congressman Underwood?

Mr. UNDERWOOD. Thank you very much. But not on this committee. [Laughter.]

I thank you very much, and I certainly want to reiterate your comments earlier, Mr. Chair, about the power and the energy of the statements that were made here by Mrs. Emsley and by Rosalia and by Mr. O'Brien, and by Mr. Corman.

I think that the panel presented the very good mix of the experiences that are attached to this, and provide more adequate testimony than any historian could ever do justice to.

It is very important to understand I think, and I think they all did their job well of not only indicating what went on at the time, but that there is a great obligation on the rest of us to remember it and to remember it well.

The memories of the liberators and the memories of the people who experienced it are equally balanced. I look forward hopefully to getting a part of this Park, and certainly the monument, under way.

Earlier in some of the testimony there is reference made to Japanese war memorials. Japanese memorials which have been constructed. Also, the only monument on Guam, ironically, and I have made this point before, and I made this point repeatedly on Guam, there is a monument to war dogs that died in Guam.

There is a war dog cemetery, and this is maintained at federal expense. I think that when the issue of what kind of funding should be given to the issue of the monument for the Chamorro people, I think we are talking somewhere between $1.5 million to probably $2 million, and I think that it is money well spent.

It is certainly much more significant than the cemetery to the war dogs. In fact, the war dog cemetery is the only monument on Guam that lists by name who participated in World War II.

If you go to the war dog cemetery, there is a plaque that lists "Tubby" and "Cubby" and other names. It is almost laughable until you get to the point to trying to understand and balance the relationship and the participation of the individuals that we see before us.

The Federal Government for years and years has maintained this facility. In fact, I saw correspondence earlier—meaning no disrespect to the people who have initiate this correspondence—but some people are discussing the idea of relocating the war dog cemetery to its original site at federal expense, I might add.

The attention that is given to this war dog cemetery is not attention that is not warranted, but in balance when we take a look at the kind of human tragedy and human emotion and the bravery of the men involved and the experiences of the Chamorro people, I am hopeful and I make this plea that we honor the Chamorro people no less, and certainly the liberators of Guam.

Thank you.

Mr. VENTO. Thank you. Congressman de Lugo has been with us throughout the afternoon.

Mr. DE LUGO. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman.

I certainly have nothing to add. The eloquence of the testimony that we have heard here today from Mrs. Emsley and Ms. Bordallo and from the veterans, Mr. Cyril O'Brien, and from the gentleman from California, Jim Corman, an old friend and former colleague is just so moving.

What you recounted here told so eloquently why this Park should exist and why this memorial should exist and has to exist. I just hope that we will be able to move this and bring this about for the 50th Anniversary.

Mr. VENTO. Thank you very much, Ron and Bob, and thank you all for coming all this way to share this with us. I think it has been a very moving experience for me and for other members, and I hope we can recount that and carry through these sort of feelings as we try to deal with this issue in this Congress.

Thank you, very much.

If there is no further business to come before the Committee, the meeting stands adjourned.

[Whereupon, at 1:20 p.m., the Subcommittee was recessed subject to the call of the Chair.]

APPENDIX

MAY 27, 1993

ADDITIONAL MATERIAL SUBMITTED FOR THE HEARING RECORD

(S. RES. 100, 101)

United States Department of the Interior

NATIONAL PARK SERVICE
P.O. Box 37127
Washington, D.C. 20013-7127

L58 (180)

JUN 10 1993

Honorable Bruce F. Vento
Chairman, Subcommittee on National Parks,
Forests and Public Lands
Committee on Natural Resources
House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Mr. Vento:

As you requested in the May 27, 1993, hearing on H.R. 1944, enclosed are the development costs proposed for War in the Pacific National Historical Park and American Memorial Park.

Sincerely,

Roger G. Kennedy
Director

Enclosure

(73)

WAR IN THE PACIFIC NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK

$825,000	Planning and Design
$1,250,000	Visitor Center Exhibits
$8,250,000	Visitor Center Construction
$10,325,000	Grand Total

AMERICAN MEMORIAL PARK

$12,430,000	Visitor Center	(phase II)
$4,180,000	Museum	(phase III)
$16,610,000	Grand Total

revised to cover to remove off const. minimum WA

WAR IN THE PACIFIC, VISITOR CENTER COST ESTIMATE 10/25/1991

NOTE: COST ESTIMATE BASED ON SEP 1988 DESIGN CONCEPT AND ON MAR 1989 DESIGN ESTIMATE. ESTIMATE BELOW INFLATED TO 1994 CONSTRUCTION.

CONSTRUCTION ITEM	COST EST 94 $'S	ADJUSTED $'S
VISITOR CENTER 8150 SQ FT	$2,665,000
SITWORK	$400,000
UTILITIES	$328,000
SUBTOTAL	$3,393,000
GUAM FACTOR (X 2.2)		$7,465,000
CONTINGENCIES (10%)		$750,000
SUBTOTAL		$8,215,000
INTERPRETIVE EXHIBITS	$830,000
GUAM FACTOR (X 1.5 SHIP/INSTALL)		$1,245,000
	GROSS CONST	$9,460,000

DESIGN ESTIMATE

SURVEYS/PRELIM DESIGN-BLDG & SITEWORK	$260,000
PRELIM DESIGN-EXHIBITS	$60,000
CONSTRUCTION DOCUMENTS	$390,000
EXHIBIT FABRICATION DOCUMENTS	$115,000
TOTAL DESIGN ESTIMATE	$825,000

STATEMENT OF CONGRESSMAN RON DE LUGO
HEARING ON H.R. 1944
TO PROVIDE FOR ADDITIONAL DEVELOPMENT
AT THE WAR IN THE PACIFIC NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK
SUBCOMMITTEE ON NATIONAL PARKS,
FORESTS, AND PUBLIC LANDS
May 27, 1993

Mr. Chairman, and Members of the Subcommittee. Let me begin by expressing my thanks to you and to the Ranking Member, Mr. Hansen, for holding this hearing.

I also want to commend my colleague from Guam, Robert Underwood, for introducing this legislation to commemorate the sacrifices of the U.S. Armed Forces in the Pacific during World War II, as well as to honor the memory of the American Nationals of Guam who patriotically and courageously endured violence and suffering during the long Japanese occupation of their island.

In addition, I also want to welcome the witnesses from Guam who have traveled a very long distance to testify at this hearing today. In particular, let me welcome Senator George Bamba who has been leading the fight for fair compensation for those who suffered or lost family members during the occupation of Guam. Senator Bamba and I have worked together on a number issue affecting Guam before the Subcommittee on Insular and International Affairs, which I am privileged to Chair.

I also want to acknowledge the presence of Mrs. Beatrice Perez Emsley, another of the witnesses from Guam. Mrs. Emsley gave very moving testimony before my subcommittee, in the summer of 1989, on her experiences and her suffering when the Japanese occupied Guam.

Mrs. Emsley, Mr. Chairman, was only thirteen years old when the enemy soldiers tried to behead her and left her for dead. I commend her for her courage and strength and again welcome her to the committee.

As you know, Mr. Chairman, June 15th through August 10th of next year will mark the 50th anniversary of the Marianas campaign of World War II. During that period, American forces captured the islands of Saipan and Tinian in the Northern Marianas and liberated the United States territory of Guam from Japanese occupation.

This anniversary makes this an appropriate time for the Congress to act to ensure that the tremendous sacrifices of that time will be remembered. The War in the Pacific National Historical Park in Guam and the American Memorial Park in the Northern Mariana Islands were both created to honor those who sacrificed in the islands during World War II.

Although these parks were established in 1978, neither has been fully-funded. They are not only incomplete, but are sad statements of our Nation's seeming indifference to the memory of those who suffered under occupation or because of the fighting between other nations.

In the case of the War in the Pacific National Historical Park, there are approximately 170 acres of unacquired privately held lands within the boundary of the park. These land owners have been waiting for thirteen years for the National Park Service to purchase their property. I think the time has come, Mr. Chairman, for us to perhaps look at other possibilities for acquiring of the remaining acreage -- other than through purchases -- to complete the park.

Approximately 5,700 U.S. troops were killed or missing and 21,900 wounded in the Marianas campaign.

In addition, the Chamorro people of Guam suffered painful horrors at the hands of Japanese soldiers during the two and a half years that the island occupied. Guamanians, during this period, lived under a reign of terror where a failure to bow low enough to their conquerors or sing anti-American songs led to executions on the spot.

Beheading, rapes, torture and senseless other brutalities were common. Hundreds of Guamanians were executed.

And those fortunate enough to escape death were relocated to remote sections of the island, required to perform forced labor and eventually placed into concentration camps and subjected to retribution when the impending liberation of the island became apparent.

Mr. Chairman, H.R. 1944 will commemorate the suffering of the people of Guam by authorizing of the building of a monument in their honor.

It will do so by increasing the authorization for development of the War in the Pacific National Historical Park territory to $8 million. The bill also proposes to increase the authorization for the American Memorial Park on Saipan.

In closing, I want to urge swift consideration of this bill because in a little over a year from now hundreds of veterans are expected to visit Guam and Saipan to commemorate the 50th anniversary of their victory over the Japanese and of the liberation of Guam. It would be a shame if there isn't an adequate monument or memorial to the thousands of Americans and Guamanians in place before that time, especially since the islands currently have splendid monuments built by Korea and Japan to commemorate their war dead.

ROBERT A. UNDERWOOD
GUAM

COMMITTEES
ARMED SERVICES
MILITARY INSTALLATIONS SUBCOMMITTEE
MILITARY PERSONNEL SUBCOMMITTEE
RESERVE SUBCOMMITTEE
NATURAL RESOURCES
WILDLIFE RESOURCES SUBCOMMITTEE
NATIONAL PARKS SUBCOMMITTEE

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515-5301

WASHINGTON OFFICE
507 CLAYTON HOUSE OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON DC 20515-6301
PH (202) 225-1188
FAX (202) 726-0341

GUAM OFFICE
SUITE 106
130 HERMAN CORTEZ STREET
AGANA, GU 96910
PH (871) 477-4272-7374
FAX (871) 477-2597

Congressman Robert A. Underwood

Statement on H.R. 1944

Subcommittee on National Parks, Forests,
and Public Lands

May 27, 1993

Mr. Chairman and Members of the Subcommittee:

Thank you Mr. Chairman for holding this hearing today on H.R. 1944. I also join my colleagues this morning in extending a warm "Hafa Adai" to those witnesses who have travelled from Guam to present testimony on this bill.

Mr. Chairman, in fourteen months the islands of Guam, Saipan and Tinian will commemorate the 50th Anniversary of the heroic battles of the Marianas campaign. The Government of Guam and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands have been preparing for this event for years.

We on Guam hold very dearly the memory of the occupation and liberation of our island. It is our fathers and mothers, and our brothers and sisters, who lived through the brutal 32 months of occupation. We know who died, who was beheaded, who was beaten and who was tortured. We know who marched to the concentration camps in Manengon and Malojloj, and who was massacred in the caves at Faha and Tinta. We know because these were our fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters and neighbors. We know because it is our legacy to remember what happened on our island fifty years ago.

To help us all remember, and to help future generations understand the vast horror of the War in the Pacific, H.R. 1944 authorizes developments including a visitors center and a monument on Guam to the Chamorro people who suffered the atrocities of the occupation.

The visitors centers at the War in the Pacific Park on Guam and the American Memorial Park on Saipan are intended to hold permanent displays of the War. Just as the experiences of the Holocaust and the attack on Pearl Harbor are memorialized in the Holocaust Museum's displays and the Arizona Memorial's visitors center, so will the War in the Pacific be remembered in permanent displays in the proposed visitors centers.

More importantly, H.R. 1944 authorizes a monument at the War in the Pacific Park on Guam to honor those people who were beheaded, executed, killed, suffered injury, or endured forced labor, forced marches and internment in concentration camps during the occupation. Just as there is now on Guam a monument to the American liberators, a monument to the Japanese soldiers, even a monument to the American war dogs, there will finally, fifty years later, be a monument to the people of Guam.

The War in the Pacific Park is unfinished. It commemorates a war on Guam that is incomplete without the central theme inherent in the experience of the people of Guam. The legacy of the War is not about a rusty tank; it is about the heroism of the Marines and soldiers who fought the War. Likewise it is not about a village that was destroyed; it is about the villagers who were massacred.

If you visit the War in the Pacific National Park on Guam and you do not get a sense of the human toll that the War extracted, then it must not be finished.

If you do not see the names of people, such as Father Jesus Baza Duenas, Edward Camacho Duenas or Jose Leon Guerrero Cruz who were beheaded, or Alfred Flores and Francisco Borja Won Pat who were executed by firing squads, then you have not experienced the War.

If you do not hear the names spoken of those who suffered, like Beatrice Perez Emsley who was a victim of a Japanese sword, nearly decapitated and buried alive, but by the grace of God is still alive and who is here to testify today; or Jose Oficido Cruz, Joaquin Cruz and Juan Lizama who survived the massacre at a cave in Fena where thirty-three Chamorros were killed by hand grenades; or six year old Jesus Duenas Crisostomo, who was killed while showing the Americans a hidden Japanese position, then it is not finished.

If you do not read the names of Manuel Charfauros, Felipe Santiago Cruz, Frank Anderson, Louisa Baza and Joaquina Concepcion, who crawled out of the caves at Faha and Tinta where forty-six other Chamorros were killed, then you do not know of our ordeal.

If you do not read the stories of the Chamorro people, like Magdalena Tenorio Barcinas, whose husband Martin died during forced labor, and whose daughter Antonia was beaten, and whose son Arthur was killed, then you do not understand their sacrifices.

If the War in the Pacific Park does not bear witness to these stories, then it is not complete.

If instead you see a picnic ground, then the War in the Pacific Park has failed in its essential purpose.

H.R. 1944 proposes a monument to honor the People of Guam whose loyalty to America never wavered in spite of the atrocities they endured.

In order to complete the monument in time for the 50th Anniversary of the Liberation of Guam on July 21, 1994, I propose that the Committee recommend in its report that in the interest of expediting the construction of the monument, the National Park Service commission one artist to design the monument. The background and experience of the artist should reflect the cultural values of the Chamorro People of Guam. The monument should convey an artistic interpretation of the occupation and liberation of Guam and the inherent suffering and triumph of the Chamorro people during this ordeal.

The names to be placed on the monument, which H.R. 1944 requires the Office of Territorial and International Affairs (OTIA) of the Department of the Interior to provide, can be verified from the records of the Government of Guam. My office can assist OTIA in identifying and acquiring the necessary records.

I envision that the monument will be placed in the War in the Pacific National Park's Nimitz Hill overlook, which commands a dramatic view of the Asan invasion beach. The monument can be integrated into the current design for the overlook, where the visitors center will also be situated. At this late date, it is unrealistic to expect that the visitors center can be completed in time for the 50th Anniversary. However, it is possible for the monument to be completed in time and for the Nimitz Hill overlook to be in a presentable condition. It may also be possible to identify modest funds to complete the first phase of the visitors center, as outlined in the National Park Service's plans.

It is also likely that Congress will authorize and fund the $3.0 million for the American Memorial Park in Saipan, as recommended by the House Committee on Natural Resources. With these funds, the American Memorial Park will also be able to complete the major improvements needed at that park.

Mr. Chairman, as we look to the 50th Anniversary of the Marianas Campaign, we must look at our responsibility to our children. We must judge our success or failure in preserving for all generations the horrors and triumphs of the War in the Pacific. As caretakers of a legacy written in the bloodied sands of the invasion beaches of Guam, and etched in the memory of the Chamorro people who survived the occupation, it is our duty to do now what needs to be done before time destroys the memory.

I would like to recognize three witnesses who will testify today with their unique perspectives. Mr. Cyril O'Brien, representing the Third Marine Division Association of the United States, was one of the young Marines who participated in the invasion of Guam. His memories of those battles, and his appreciation of the loyalty of the Chamorro people will be articulated in his testimony.

Mrs. Beatrice Perez Emsley, to whom I referred earlier, survived one of the most horrific atrocities in the last days prior to the Liberation. Nearly decapitated by a Japanese sword and buried in a mass grave, Mrs. Emsley bears witness to a time that few people believe can even occur on our peaceful island. Her story is a profound statement of the quiet courage of the Chamorro people.

Rosalia Bordallo, a fourth grader at Cathedral Grade School, will enlighten us with her perspective as an heir to our legacy. The monument and visitors center are meant to preserve the history of the war for future generations. Rosalia knows about the war from her grandfather and father; future schoolchildren will learn about the legacy from history books and from the War in the Pacific Park.

Mr. Chairman, I again thank you for holding this hearing, and I urge my colleagues to listen with their hearts to the testimony presented by the witnesses from Guam today.

OPENING STATEMENT
THE HONORABLE JAMES V. HANSEN
ON H.R. 1944
A BILL TO INCREASE THE AUTHORIZATION
CEILINGS AT AMERICAN MEMORIAL AND WAR IN THE PACIFIC PARKS
MAY 27, 1993

Mr. Chairman, we are taking up legislation today which I think reveals the frustration that many Members of Congress have with respect to being able to fully fund parks in areas we represent. The War in the Pacific National Historic Park in Guam and American Memorial Park in Saipan were established in 1978 to commemorate the human tragedy which occurred in the Pacific Theater during World War II. This is an extremely important aspect of our American history which deserves to be recognized within our park system.

Mr. Underwood has re-introduced the legislation authored by Mr. Blaz last Congress in hopes of securing funds for the parks in the area he represents. Mr. Chairman, we all need additional funds for parks in areas we represent; in fact, I testified to that effect before the Interior Appropriations Subcommittee just a few weeks ago. It is precisely this reason that this side of the aisle gets so concerned whenever the park system is expanded. I would hope that the other side of the aisle would soon come to recognize this relationship between new park proposals and funding existing parks and join us in more critically reviewing the many proposals that come before this Committee.

I support the efforts of the Gentleman from Guam in his attempt to secure additional funds for the War in the Pacific Park. However, I cannot support those sections of the bill which would have the effect of jumping the priority of funding visitor centers at these parks over numerous other parks in the system which have been waiting far longer. For example, Lassen Volcanic National Park, established in 1907, has no visitor center. It is not right for this Committee to leap frog over so many other priorities to create new visitor centers at these two parks by fiscal year 1994. In fact, as the Administration will testify, construction of these visitor centers by the dates established in this bill is not even feasible.

Testimony of
Governor Lorenzo I. De Leon Guerrero
Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands
Re: H.R. 1944
for the
American Memorial Park
before the
U.S. House of Representatives
Subcommittee on National Parks,
Forests and Public Lands
May 27, 1993

We extend to you, Mr. Chairman, and distinguished members of your Subcommittee, our warmest greetings and "Hafa Adai". Thank you for inviting us to provide testimony for before your distinguished Subcommittee on National Parks, Forests and Public Lands fulfilling the mandate of our Covenant and Public Law 95-348.

Let us take a moment to go into history, nearly 49 years ago, to reflect the emotional anxiety of that hellish war:

"It was exactly 5:42 a.m. on June 15, 1944, when the Commander of Task Force 58, Admiral Turner, gave the order 'Land the Landing Forces!' The 2nd and 4th Marine Divisions began landings on Saipan's well-defended beaches to start what would be one of the bloodiest battles of the Pacific war. The first wave of amphibians and tanks landed at 8:30, but many were knocked out by intense Japanese resistance. Of the 14 medium tanks of the 4th Division, only four reached the beach in operating condition. Within 20 minutes, 700 landing vehicles had landed more than 8,000 marines of the 2nd and 4th Divisions. The Japanese troops inflicted more than 2,000 casualties on what the marines called "Dog Day". But they had established a beachhead 10,000 yards long and about 1,500 yards deep. Admiral Turner said later: The Saipan landing . . . was the most difficult of any I personally experienced during the war."

Mr. Chairman, on June 15, 1944, under hellish and deadly bombardment from nearly invisible and impregnable gun emplacements dug into a series of ridges perfectly placed to defend against amphibious assault, three divisions of United States Armed Forces began the final phase of the Pacific War by invading Saipan to use as a forward staging base for B-29 bomber assaults on Japan.

The beaches and shallow waters of the Saipan lagoon were literally turned red with the precious blood from the brave men of the Second and Fourth Marine Divisions who led the assault. In a very short time the brave men of the U.S. Army's 27th Division bled and died for their country -- now our country -- along side the Marines on our beaches and ridges, and in our jungles and villages. Of the 71,000 American troops who landed on Saipan, nearly 4,000 were killed, 13,100 were wounded or missing in action. American losses on Saipan were double those suffered on Guadalcanal.

The defenders fought with a desperation born of the knowledge that the loss of Saipan meant the ultimate defeat of their homeland. They fought with the certain knowledge that they would have no reinforcements -- that they must defend their empire with all the ferocity and cunning they had. The fanatic resistance to the invasion brought utter destruction to the defenders. Of the 31,630 Japanese troops on Saipan, approximately 29,500 died as a result of the fighting.

Death and agony was not limited to the soldiers. During the twenty-four days of savage fighting required to root out the cut-off and desperate defenders, roughly nine percent of the local civilian population -- our Chamorro and Carolinian people -- were killed in the cross fire. Think of what it would be like for America to suddenly lose 9% of its population. This was a huge and grievous loss for us. And that is not all. Hundreds of Korean and Okinawan civilian workers and their families brought to Saipan as labor for the Japanese war machine were slaughtered. Japanese civilian families -- men, women, and children -- believing the war propaganda of their army, jumped to their deaths from cliffs on Saipan that now have shrines and peace monuments.

There are, in fact, many shrines and monuments to the Japanese defenders of Saipan in various locations on the island. The governments of Japan, Korea, and Okinawa have constructed peace memorials to honor their dead. The Marine survivors of the invasion have installed a small bronze plaque on the primary landing beach from private contributions.

Mr. Chairman, the approach of the 50th anniversary of the Saipan invasion reminds us that the great sacrifices made for liberty and democracy by Americans and Chamorros and Carolinians alike during this invasion have not been suitably remembered and honored by the United States Government. I am sure, Mr. Chairman, that you are fully aware that the Commonwealth has long taken seriously the obligation to create a fitting memorial to those brave Americans who died for our freedom.

We formed an American Memorial Park Planning Committee. Our committee is action-oriented. Our general management park plan is completed and is now being implemented. Two years ago we conducted a design concept competition for a fitting monument for our American Memorial Park coordinated by the National Park Service Center in Denver. With their help, we now have selected a fitting design concept for the memorial. Because of our commitment to get results, we even brought several National Park Service architects to Saipan to personally survey our American Memorial Park site. To expedite construction and to save money, we have solicited the support of the U.S. Navy Seabees who have been on Saipan for more than one month assisting in the site preparation for this important project, as well as paving the parking lot at the new multi-purpose pavilion which is nearing completion and will play a key role in our 50th anniversary commemoration. At this time the only thing stopping us from issuing out the A & E design and construction of the monument is lack of funding. Mr. Chairman, we need your help.

Time is running out. We need to immediately reach the deadline to plan and construct an appropriate memorial monument to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the Marianas campaign. Without an American Memorial Park authorization and appropriation in this session of Congress, it may not be possible for us to build the monument and other park facilities envisioned in our Covenant. H.R. 1944 will fulfill this important mandate to fittingly honor all the brave members of the U.S. military who made the supreme sacrifice in the Marianas, and our innocent people who were caught in the crossfire.

Mr. Chairman, our Covenant brought democracy, individual liberties, and self-government to our islands for the first time in our history. We honor and revere this charter of our freedom. We also honor and cherish our place in the American political family. The proposed construction of the American Memorial Park monument is now our common responsibility. It is a shared sacred obligation we have to the memories of those who died and suffered that we, and others around the Pacific and the world, might enjoy our present freedoms. The Marianas invasions were eclipsed in publicity by the Normandy invasion that began just nine days earlier on the other side of the world. But the effects of the Marianas invasions were just as important to the War in the Pacific as Normandy was to the crusade in Europe. Americans fought and suffered and died to secure forward air bases from which to hasten the end of the war and end the suffering. Their sacrifices did exactly that. They suffered and died so that others might live. The air campaign did ultimately bring a swift end to the war.

We cannot, and we must not, allow those sacrifices to fade from our memory. To the monuments at Bunker Hill and Gettysburg, at Shiloh and Vicksburg, at Arlington and at the somber cemeteries in Europe that honor American dead we must now include the American Memorial Park monument in Saipan.

Mr. Chairman, it is within your power to take the first positive step to achieve this sacred commitment. I humbly urge you and all the members of your Subcommittee to please favorably approve the authorization and appropriation of funding immediately so we can continue the complex and time consuming process of constructing this long over-due memorial monument to those who gave so much for us. May we never forget all those who fought and shed their blood on our soil so that we can enjoy freedom and liberty today.

Thank you and Si Yuus Maase.

 LORENZO I. DE LEON GUERRERO

SENATOR JOE T. SAN AGUSTIN (D)
SPEAKER

Office of the Speaker

TWENTY-SECOND GUAM LEGISLATURE
155 Hester St.
Agaña, Guam U.S.A. 96910
Tel: (671) 477-8527/9120 • Fax: (671) 477-5570

June 10, 1993

The Honorable Robert Underwood
U.S. House of Representatives
507 Cannon House
Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Congressman Underwood,

I am writing in reference to your H.R. 1944 regarding improvements for the War in the Pacific Park on Guam. I am pleased to learn that you are making progress in securing passage of this important legislation. As I have indicated to you earlier, your endeavors have the fullest support of the members of the 22nd Guam Legislature.

We share your hopes for the eventual enactment of H.R. 1944. As you know, this legislation is important to the people of Guam for a number of reasons. The general improvements of this park facility are, of course, long overdue and very much needed. Beyond this concern though, the historic recognition provided in your legislation for the suffering our people endured during the Japanese Occupation has struck a deeply responsive chord in our community. As you continue to pursue adoption of this measure, please be assured that your efforts have the heartiest endorsement of myself, my colleagues, and the people of our island.

Sincerely,

JOE T. SAN AGUSTIN

STATEMENT OF
THE HONORABLE JUAN N. BABAUTA
RESIDENT REPRESENTATIVE TO THE UNITED STATES
FROM THE
COMMONWEALTH OF THE NORTHERN MARIANA ISLANDS
ON
H.R. 1944
BEFORE THE
SUBCOMMITTEE ON NATIONAL PARKS, FORESTS, AND PUBLIC LANDS
COMMITTEE ON NATURAL RESOURCES
U.S. HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MAY 27, 1993

Mr. Chairman and Members of the Subcommittee:

Thank you for the opportunity to submit testimony in support of H.R. 1944.

I am especially pleased to be able to work in concert with Mr. Robert Underwood of this Subcommittee. The gentleman from Guam in the short time he has been in Congress has already extended a helping hand to his brothers and sisters in the Northern Marianas on numerous occasions. H.R. 1944 is just one example of that. I thank him.

Many of my comments here would apply equally to the War in the Pacific Park on Guam and to the American Memorial Park on Saipan. However, because I know the American Memorial Park I will confine my remarks to that park.

One year ago I testified in favor of legislation introduced by Senator Daniel Akaka, which would have raised the authorization for the American Memorial Park to $8 million just as H.R. 1944 proposes. In that testimony I pictured a grim scene at the park site for the June, 1993, fiftieth anniversary of the U.S. invasion of the Northern Marianas:

Testimony of Juan N. Babauta
Resident Representative
Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands
May 27, 1993
Page 2

That commemoration will take place on the bare expanse of grass and sand set aside on Saipan for the American Memorial Park. To one side is the shell of an abandoned elementary school, its roof gone in a typhoon. Nearby a locked concrete hut holds the few war relics gathered by a now defunct museum committee; an occasional venturesome tourist tries to peer through the window. Outside on broken tarmac a howitzer, a Japanese tank, a torpedo have been hauled up; they rust away in the sea air.

Today, I can report to you that the situation has improved. Because of the leadership of Lt. Governor Benjamin T. Manglona and the efforts of many in the Northern Marianas, development of the park site has begun. With local government funds a pala-pala has been erected, with the cooperation of the Commander in Chief of US Naval Forces in the Marianas a crew of Seabees and their heavy equipment have done site preparation, and a concerted effort of local fundraising has raised thousands of dollars.

But much more remains to do. Last month during confirmation hearings for Interior Department Assistant Secretary Leslie Turner, Senator Akaka called the condition of this site "an affront to all Americans." Less than two weeks ago the House Natural Resources Committee itself issued a report saying the present monument to US war dead at American Memorial Park is "inadequate."

Congress has a choice. You can allow the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Saipan to pass without attention. Or you can act to assure that the commemoration of what Marine Lt. General Holland Smith, commander of US landing forces, called "the decisive battle of the Pacific offensive" will occur in a fitting setting.

Testimony of Juan N. Babauta
Resident Representative
Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands
May 27, 1993
Page 3

Mr. Chairman, it will never be too late to create a proper memorial to the four thousand Americans who died taking Saipan. But in not too many years the survivors of that bloody month of jungle combat will all have passed on. We could finish the American Memorial Park thirty years from now, but no one would attend that dedication whose personal experience encompassed the event commemorated. How much better it would be if we could build the Park now and honor the living as well as the dead.

Mr. Chairman, thank you again for the opportunity to testify.

Testimony of
Senator Elizabeth P. Arriola

Chairperson, Twenty-Second Guam Legislature's Committee on Youth
 Senior Citizens and Cultural Affairs

on H.R. 1944

"A BILL TO PROVIDE FOR ADDITIONAL DEVELOPMENT AT WAR IN THE PACIFIC NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK, AND FOR OTHER PURPOSES"

May 26, 1993

Hafa Adai, I am Senator Elizabeth P. Arriola, chairperson of the 22nd Guam Legislature's Committee on Youth, Senior Citizens and Cultural Affairs and I thank the Honorable Bruce Vento, chairman of the subcommittee on National Parks, Forests and Public Lands for receiving my testimony in support of H.R. 1944 for proposing the use of federal park land for our people and most especially for its promotion of cultural preservation efforts. I also thank Congressman Robert A. Underwood for sponsoring a bill whose intent, in part, had mirrored my objective 1990 to erect a similar monument at Gaan Point in Agat within the War in the Pacific National Historic Park. The names of that memorial were to bear the victims of Fena Massacre during Guam's occupation by Japanese Imperial Forces.

Few will not argue that many lives were lost and many more suffered the rippling tragedies of that war. Today, that period is but a chapter in Guam's history books, buried away as an ugly past. I contend that Guam has yet to realize the real value of that historical period. The comfortable lifestyle we maintain today is tied to that period of turbulence in Guam's history. Only memories, war wounds and untold stories are left of that era. Unfortunately, those untold stories rob Guam of part of its history and represent the erosion of Guam's culture. In recent years, the island has undergone an unprecedented frenetic rate of development. While we welcome the economic benefits, it has diluted the dynamics of our island culture.

1

The same economics that has upgraded our lifestyle has strained the cultural fabric that provides the strength and blurs the identity of our people. Oral history and story-telling by our elders have given way to videography with special effects and other more technical art forms. The telling of these stories played a crucial role in the preservation of our culture in that they were passed on with each generation. Unfortunately, the generation in pursuit of higher technology poses roadblocks in the passing on of cultural aspects and traditions that make Guam unique. It's often been said that a person must know and understand where they came from to appreciate who and what they have become and to best decide their future direction.

It is in that vein and in the interest of our youth and culture that I offer full support of H.R. 1944 as a means of providing a tangible approach in the preservation of our culture and the memorialization of the suffering Guam endured for the liberties we enjoy today.

The erection of a memorial monument bearing the names of all those who suffered personal injury or who died during Japan's occupation makes history almost permanent with its stark reminder of the forced labor, forced marches, and internment of the Chamorros who survived those hardships. Understanding this part of Guam's turbulent history makes us appreciate the freedom we now enjoy and encourages greater care in choosing the direction of the island's future. It's important for future generations to know that the names the memorial shall bear are of Chamorros who suffered fatal tragedies at a time when Guam enjoyed little, if any, luxury of today's modern amenities. I especially endorse the implementation of programs to interpret experiences of the people who endured that war. This, too, is an effective approach in the cultural preservation of Guam's history and passage of this Bill will most certainly be an appropriate commemoration of the 50th Anniversary of the Marianas campaign of WWII which restored freedom to Guam and her people. With all due respect, I urge expedient passage of H.R. 1944.

Elizabeth P. Ariola

May 24, 1993

Chairman Bruce F. Veneto
Subcommittee on National Parks,
Forest and Public Lands
111-812 O'Neill H.O.B.
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Mr. Chairman and Members of the Subcommittee on National Parks:

It is always a pleasure for me--an honorary citizen of Guam--to speak on behalf of the people of Guam. This great honor was bestowed on me by the Guam legislature after I was awarded the Medal of Honor for service during the invasion preceding liberation in July 1944.

HR 1944 provides much needed additional development at the War in the Pacific National Historical Park in Guam. I enthusiastically recommend its passage and urge Congress to authorize such additional development as envisioned in the bill.

I was a company commander in the 3rd Marine Division during the invasion and subsequent liberation of this, the only United States territory occupied in World War II by an enemy force. I saw first hand the terrible suffering experienced by the people of Guam and their absolute loyalty to America during their 32 months of captivity. They held an optimistic, unbounded belief that America would not abandon them.

Now its time to recognize the sacrifices made during this oppressive occupation. The relatively small amount of our national resources required to commemorate this dedication and sacrifice seems a small amount to pay for such patriotism and the ability to influence future generations.

I deeply regret that I am unable to personally appear before this important subcommittee. I strongly urge you to enact this legislation. I plan to return for the 50th anniversary of the Liberation in 1994. Nothing would please me more than to--see not only an expanded national park--but a monument to honor the brave citizens of Guam who suffered so greatly.

Thank you for the opportunity to address this House Subcommittee on National Parks.

Louis H. Wilson

General Louis H. Wilson, USMC (Ret)
Medal of Honor-Guam-1944
Commandant of the Marine Corps-1975-79
1338 Wemble Road
San Morino, CA 91108

Guam Chapter Third Marine Division Association, Inc. Bougainville • Guam • Iwo Jima • Vietnam
--

P O BOX 7012 TAMUNING GUAM 96931

Honorable Bruce Vento
 Chairman, Subcommittee on Parks and Lands
 Washington, D.C.

May 21, 1993

Dear Congressman Vento:

I take this opportunity to offer comments on Bill 1944, concerning funding for an appropriate memorial to honor the people of Guam, and the members of the U.S. Armed Forces that help liberate Guam during World War II.

I believe that such a memorial is fitting to recognize the sufferings of the Chamorro people under the tyranny of the Japanese military that invaded our peaceful and beautiful Island of Guam in 1941. A memorial to the people of Guam should contribute to the education of the future generations about the sufferings of the people and the strong patriotism to the United States of America throughout the period of the Japanese occupation. There were many lives lost but the Chamorro people of Guam never wavered in their loyalty to Uncle Sam.

During World War II, I served with the Third Marine Division from the time it was organized at Camp Elliott and Camp Pendleton in 1942 to the time it was disbanded on Guam in 1945, except for the period of time that I was sent to Quantico, Virginia for Officer Candidate School. As a Marine, I feel that a fitting memorial should be provided also to honor the members of the U.S. Armed Forces who fought in the Pacific during World War II. Building these memorials at the War in the Pacific Park at Asan, Guam would be in keeping with the purpose of the National Park on Guam for the education of future generations of Americans. It would give meaning to the saying that Guam is a showcase for DEMOCRACY and that Guam is where America begins its day.

Thank you for the honor and the opportunity to comment on Bill 1944.

Hafa Adal and Semper Fidelis

 Peter C. Siguenza, Captain USMCR, Ret.
 President

Darryl Eorja Tassery

TO OUR HONORABLE US CONGRESSIONAL DELEGATE ROBERT UNDERWOOD

OUR FOREFATHERS ARE HONORED EVERY YEAR
DOWN HERE IN MALESSO. WE HONOR THEM TO SHOW
OUR DEEPEST APPRECIATION FOR WHAT THEY HAVE DONE DURING THE JAPANESE OCCUPATION.

THIS CELEBRATION IS ONE OF MOST SOLEMN OCCASION WHERE ALL THE FALLEN HEROES' LOVE ONES ARE GATHERED TO SHOW RESPECT AND GRATITUDE FOR THE ULTIMATE SACRIFICE THAT BEFALLS ON THEM AT FAHA CAVE, TINTA CAVE, & TINGTING HANOM.

OFTEN TIMES AS A RESIDENT OF MERIZO
I DREAM THAT ONE DAY A MONUMENT WILL BE BUILT AT THE ACTUAL SITE OF THESE
EVENT DURING 1944. <sup>WWII</sup> <sup>OUR</sup> <sup>TEEN AGERS</sup> ~~THE~~ CHILDREN, <sup>ADOLESCENT</sup>,
~~AND THE MIDDLE-AGE~~ AND THEIR YOUNGER ONES
WILL ENJOY THIS MONUMENT. I ALSO ENVISION
PARKS ALONGSIDE THE AREA WHERE THE PEOPLE OF GUAM WILL SIT DOWN AND THINK OF
HOW FORTUNATE WE ARE TODAY TO ENJOY
THE FREEDOM WE ~~EXPERIENCE~~ <sup>DEAREST TO US,</sup> WHICH COST
SO MANY LIVES. ~~WITH THIS~~ SO FOR US THE LIVING THAT WE CAN PREVENT AND GUARD
OUR FREEDOM NO MATTER WHAT PRICE WE HAVE TO PAY.

THIS MONUMENT WILL BRING PRIDE TO OUR

Darryl Borja Tassery

CULTURE. I CAN SEE MORE CONCRETE BEACHES AND CONCRETE TABLES CONTRACTED IN THE FUTURE. THIS GENERATION AND THE NEXT WILL ENSURE THAT THIS IS PART OF HISTORY AND IT WILL NOT REPEAT ~~ITSELF~~. THE ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEER WILL THEN CLEAN ~~THE~~ <sup>OUR</sup> RIVERS PROUDLY. OUR BEAUTIFUL LOCAL ~~FISHER~~ <sup>FISHER</sup> SHRIMPS, EGGS WILL COME TO LIVE. EVERYTHING WILL START A CHAIN REACTION AND MANY BEAUTIFUL PROJECTS COMING FROM THE HEART WILL BE DONE. BECAUSE THE PAST WILL LINK US INTO OUR PRESENT.

I JUST HOPE THAT THOSE HEREOS WILL NOT HAVE DIED IN VAIN BUT WILL LIVE IN OUR MINDS & HEARTS AND EMPOWER US TO BE PROUD OF OUR HERITAGE AND CULTURE. OUR UNIQUE CHAMORRO CULTURE WILL THEN BE APPRECIATE AND WILL TOUCH OTHER PEOPLE ACROSS THE GLOBE SO THATS WORLD CAN BE PEACEFUL THAT WIS MEANT TO BE.

THEREFORE I FULLY SUPPORT
BILL NO. 1944

m/m

HAFA ADAI
11/12/2016

Dorothy Sorja Torres

May 18, 1993

The Honorable Robert Underwood
 Member of Congress
 507 Cannon House Office Building
 Washington, D.C. 20515-5301

Dear Del. Underwood:

I am writing in support of bill H.R. 1944 to developed the War in the Pacific National Historical Park on Guam. The significance of this historical monument cannot be overly emphasized.

As an educator, I advocate that knowledge is acquired and better retained through first hand experiences and exposure not only in the classrooms but also significantly outside the classroom as it pertains to our cultural heritage. Instructions in history become more vivid when students are given the opportunity to witness and to explore events as they occur. Since this is not always possible, having the National Historical Park would serve as an alternative to view events as they had taken place in the past.

The significance of the proposed monument is a symbolic means of teaching culture, history and the plight of the Chamorros who were subjected to great hardship, torture and even death during the WWII. The interest and curiosity generated by the monument will inevitably lead to inquiries, discussions and research vital to discovery and learning success.

This monument is truly a gift deserving of Guam's students and the Chamorro people. Guam residents and visitors will also have the opportunity to better understand what Guam has endured in the course of history. While the War of the Pacific National Historical Park on Guam provide lessons of sacrifice, it will also promote the value of peace, love, and friendship among the multicultural and multilingual populace.

 Natividad Gumataotao
 Teacher, Guam Public School

Letters in Support of H.R. 1944
 From the Students of the 5th Grade
 Gifted and Talented Program
 Price Elementary School, Mangilao, Guam
 Ms. Sisson, Principal
 Ms. Cabot, Teacher

---

Cheressa Cruz:

I think that [we] should preserve and protect our parks and museums because it is a part of Guam's history and culture. A lot of people would like to see our heritage and background preserved and protected. National historical parks are also important to me because Guam is a part of my heritage. All of Guam's beauty and treasures should be preserved because Guam is a very beautiful place.

If I could support this bill I would because Guam is very important to me. I would also support this bill because Guam is a paradise island in the Pacific ocean and it should be preserved.

Sirena Mary Laquana Morta:

National Historical Parks and museums are important for us little kids because it shows us what happened here in Guam long ago. And it is important to preserve these because the tourist[s] come to see our beautiful island and they go back and tell the people where they live to come here to Guam because they have a lot of historical parks and historical museums and wonderful beaches. And when we grow up and have kids of our own I would like it to still be here so that my kids can learn what happened long time ago.

Kristopher Dominguez:

I think our national and historical parks are important to us because we can learn the background of our ancestors and so we can learn what they did a long time ago. I really want our park here so I can learn my culture and my heritage. But if I could help support this bill, I would. Because I think I should help our national and historical parks.

Kuuipe Borja:

What I think is that we should stand up for this bill because of the many historical things we have on our island. We need to protect and furnish it with the best we can because very much of these things have a lot of meaning to it.

Right now I think for more protection and safety for these many valuable things we have. If I could I would support this bill because a lot of the things we have are about the war. They are historic and mean very much to our island.

Letters from Price Elementary School 5th Graders
Mangilao, Guam
Page 2

---

Joanne Matanane:

I think it's really important that we should preserve the museums and historical parks so that the next people who are brought up on Guam will learn our culture, ancestry, and heritage. It might be an advantage for the youth on Guam if they knew all this. Protecting the museums and historical parks would probably save our ancient artifacts like the latte stones, ancient wells, and ovens. If we could do this and put some of it in museums we'd probably save most of our heritage. By placing this bill we would get the help we need. And by getting the help it wouldn't just be more money, protection, and preservation but it would be a great help by educating students about our culture. It also would help the island by saving the artifacts that the native Chamorros once used. This would make the island's youth realize the hardships passed on and also show them how they used to learn long ago.

If this bill is passed the island would probably have more kids learning about our background. Now if I could support this bill I would do it because it would not only help other children learn, but it would also help me. I'm proud of my heritage and culture, and I really would like to help other people learn our background. By doing this, the island of Guam would probably be a better place to live. Not just for the youth but also for the elders. For them to remember our island of Guam.

So if I could support it, I would. I would do this for everyone on Guam, including the wildlife. If there were more national historical parks Guam would be the perfect island protected by Congress.

Nicole Fallorina:

National and Historical parks should be preserved. They should be preserved because they are important national treasures of Guam. They help us remember what happened in the past and why. I think these parks are good for the younger generation to be informed about their island.

I would try to support this bill in every way because it is a good bill. I think this bill will help our island very much to keep the remains of our past and history preserved. I'm sure our own island will be pleased once this bill is settled.

Letters from Price Elementary 5th Graders
Mangilao, Guam
Page 3

---

Amni Salehi:

I think a bill should be passed to preserve our national and historical parks because they tell and share the past so we will know. If not, how will we know what to do if it happened again? Our parks and museums are sharing and preserving our history and our heritage. Without anything to tell our past we would be blind. We need more places like this so we can learn. Our island has been through so much for us and it's like the island is saying to us, "please preserve your historical monuments and national park!" We should try to help our island. So please do it for this generation and the generation to come. When there's a need there's a way!

Ana Murphy Babauta:

So I can learn more about my history and study it. Because it's very important that people learn about it on our island of Guam. Because the history in the United States is the history of Guam too.

I should support this bill to save our history. If they did do something to this park then people in the future wouldn't know much of our history. People who do remember it would tell people in the future but they wouldn't tell enough of it.

This museum could tell a lot about the past and I bet it is a very beautiful place too. I really want to save this place, a lot!

TO: Congressman Porter Goss Ft. Meyers, FL
 Senator Bob Graham Tampa, FL
 Senator Connie Mack Tampa, FL
 Congressman Dan Miller Sarasota, FL

21 June 1993

Dear:

As a former combat Marine during World War II, and a Liberator of Guam, I strongly and respectfully urge you to support Bill H.R. 1944 now before Congress. In addition to you support, I request that you encourage your colleagues to pass this Bill which will honor the brave and loyal people of Guam.

On 21 July 1944, I landed with the assault wave of the Third Marine Division to recapture the only American territory occupied by the Japanese during WWII. For 32 months the people of Guam suffered under Japanese rule...they were tortured, malied, endured forced marches, internment and were murdered...only because they maintained their loyalty to the United States of America. I had personally witnessed some of this Japanese brutality. Mid-way through the campaign, while on a combat patrol, we came upon a clearing within a densely wooded area...there, on their knees with arms and hands bound behind their backs were forty Chamorro children, women and elderly men...who only hours before were be-headed!! The people of Guam suffered many such atrocities.

Fifty years have passed...it is now time for them to be HONORED.

Sincerely,

 Harold K. Noble
 past President, past Chairman
 Board of Directors
 Third Marine Division Ass'n.

copy:
 Congressman R.A. Underwood

3822 Oakley Greens
 Sarasota, FL 34235

Letter of Mrs. Arlene Taitague Acfalle
In Support of H.R. 1944
Merizo, Guam
May 18, 1993

---

Guam, Mariana Islands
Merizo Village
May 18, 1993

Dear Delegate Robert Underwood,

I give my support to this bill concerning the "War Monument" to your hearing on May 27, 1993.

Often times we take freedom for granted. Our forefathers are no exception ensuring the freedom we enjoy today. History has a tendency to repeat itself, sad to say, even the wars that can be avoided. We must still be vigilant and carry this commitment down to our children.

What other memento to foster an affirmative stance than erecting a monument to our fallen heroes who experienced the supreme and ultimate sacrifices. A monument to remind us [what] freedom indeed costs and must be prevented at all cost.

Every year the village of Merizo honors those men and women who died during WWII and the Japanese occupation.

Although this event coincides with the Liberation celebration, all veterans are honored and revered, be it the Korean War, Vietnam War, [and] Tingting Hanom, Faha cave, Tinta cave, during the Japanese occupation.

In our small village of Merizo 46 men and women died during the Japanese occupation, 5 died during the Vietnam crisis and 2 for [the] Korean war.

I felt that in the life of an individual we are deeply touched to see these Chamorros sacrificed, in memory of our loved ones who died with undimmed faith and hope. As [a] concerned local U.S. citizen of Guam, I am glad and hopeful that our Guam Congressman Robert Underwood will provide our people of Guam with this opportunity that we are asking for--simple justice in memory [and] in honor of our loved ones who died during this war.

Keep up the good work and God will be give you more blessings. God be with you always.

Yours respectfully,

Mrs. Arlene Taitague Acfalle
Local U.S. citizen of Guam

Testimony of Mrs. Natividad Gumataotao
Malesso, Guam

Our forefathers are honored every year down here in Malesso. We honor them to show our deepest appreciation for what they have done during the Japanese occupation.

This celebration is one of the most solemn occasions where all the fallen heroes' loved ones gather to show respect and gratitude for the ultimate sacrifice that befalls them at Faha cave, Tinta cave, and Tingting Hanom.

Often times as a resident of Merizo (Malesso) I dream that one day a monument will be built at the actual site of these events during WWII, 1944. Our children, and their younger ones will enjoy this monument. I also envision parks alongside the area where the people of Guam will sit down and think of how fortunate we are today to enjoy the freedom dearest to us which cost so many lives. [This is] for us, the living, [so] that we can prevent and guard our freedom matter what price we have to pay.

This [monument] will bring pride to our culture. I can see more concrete benches and concrete tables constructed in the future. This generation and the next will ensure that this is part of history and it will not [be] repeated. The Army Corps of Engineers will then clean our rivers proudly. Our beautiful local fish, shrimp, and eels will come to live. Everything will start a chain reaction and many beautiful projects coming from the heart will be done. Because the past will link us into our present.

I just hope that these heroes will not have died in vain but will live in our minds and hearts and empower us to be proud of our heritage and culture. Our unique Chamorro culture will then be appreciated and will touch other people across the globe so this world can be peaceful--that was meant to be.

Therefore I fully support bill number 1944.

ISBN 0-16-041498-9

