[The information referred to follows:]
111th Congress
1st Session

H. R. 2134

To establish the Western Hemisphere Drug Policy Commission.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

April 28, 2009

Mr. Engel (for himself, Mr. Mack, Mr. Beerman, Mrs. Bono Mack, Mr. Delahunt, Mr. Burton of Indiana, Mr. Wexler, and Mr. Pufall) introduced the following bill, which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs, and in addition to the Committees on the Judiciary and Energy and Commerce, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

A BILL

To establish the Western Hemisphere Drug Policy Commission.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SEC. 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Western Hemisphere Drug Policy Commission Act of 2009”.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:
(1) While the United States accounts for approximately 5 percent of world population, in 2007, an estimated 17.2 percent of the world’s users of illegal drugs were from the United States.

(2) 100 percent of the United States cocaine supply and 90 percent of the United States heroin supply originates in the Andean countries of Bolivia, Colombia and Peru.

(3) In those source countries, the cultivation, production and trafficking of cocaine and heroin generate violence, instability and corruption.

(4) In the transit countries of Central America, Mexico, Ecuador, Haiti and other Caribbean nations, drug trafficking is central to the growing strength of organized criminal gangs that threaten local and national law enforcement, political institutions and citizen security.

(5) Organized criminal cartels in Mexico are engaged in a civil conflict with each other and a conflict with Mexican counterdrug security forces. These cartels control the wholesale of virtually all cocaine trafficked into major urban areas in the United States.

(6) Drug-related violence is on the rise in Mexico and along the United States-Mexico border.
5,661 people died in Mexico in 2008 alone as a result of drug-related violence. This is more than double the 2007 total of 2,773.

(7) From 1980–2008, United States counter-narcotics assistance from the State and Defense Departments to Latin America and the Caribbean totaled about $11,300,000,000. The Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) has spent an additional $2,500,000,000 in the Western Hemisphere during the same period. In those same years, the number of lifetime drug users has steadily risen for marijuana, cocaine, and heroin. In 1982 there were an estimated 53,000 marijuana users, which doubled to over 100,000 in 2007. Similarly, there were fewer than 22,000 cocaine users and fewer than 2,000 heroin users in 1982, while today there are approximately 36,000 and 3,800, respectively.

SEC. 3. ESTATEMENT OF WESTERN HEMISPHERE DRUG POLICY COMMISSION.

There is established an independent commission to be known as the “Western Hemisphere Drug Policy Commission” (in this Act referred to as the “Commission”).

SEC. 4. PURPOSE.

The Commission shall review and evaluate United States illicit drug supply policy, with particular emphasis respect to reducing drug production, cultivation, and trafficking.

(6) An assessment of United States drug prevention and treatment programs, including drug courts and programs aimed at preventing recidivism.

(7) An assessment of the extent to which the consumption of illicit drugs in the United States is driven by individuals addicted to or abusive of illicit drugs, and the most effective experiences in the United States and throughout the world in treating those addicts.

SEC. 11. SUNSET.

The Western Hemisphere Drug Policy Commission shall terminate 60 days after the submission to Congress of its report under section 5(e).
Mr. ENGEL. I recognize myself for 5 minutes to explain the amendment in the nature of a substitute.

Billions of U.S. taxpayer dollars have been spent over the years to fight the drug trade in Latin America and the Caribbean. In spite of our efforts, drug use in the United States has increased. According to the Brookings Institution, since the peak of the heroin and cocaine epidemics of the mid-1980s, consumption rates for these narcotics have remained more or less stable at approximately 1 million heroin users and 3.3 million cocaine users. At the same time, methamphetamine use has spread, resulting in a combined prevalence rate of more than 6 million users.

Clearly, the time has come to reexamine our counternarcotics efforts here at home and throughout the Americas. H.R. 2134 does just that by creating an independent commission to evaluate U.S. policies and programs aimed at reducing illicit drug supply in the Americas and the demand for these drugs here at home. This bipartisan bill will assess all aspects of the illegal drug trade, including prevention and treatment programs in the United States.

The Western Hemisphere Drug Policy Commission will be charged with conducting a comprehensive review of U.S. illicit drug supply and demand reduction policies. The commission will be required to submit recommendations on future U.S. drug policy to Congress, the Secretary of State, the Director of the White House Office of National Drug Control Policy, and the Secretary of Health and Human Services.

To tackle our Nation’s horrific drug problem once and for all, we must have a better sense of what works and what does not work. Our partners in the Americas who have worked closely with us in fighting the drug war for years and the citizens of our great country who deal every day with illegal drugs on their streets deserve no less.

I urge all of my colleagues to support this legislation; and I now turn to the ranking member, Mr. Mack, to express his views on this legislation.

Mr. MACK. Thank you, Mr. Chairman; and I want to thank you for your leadership for introducing H.R. 2134. The Western Hemisphere Drug Policy Commission Act of 2009 is a positive step toward evaluating U.S. policy.

I also want to thank Chairman Engel and his staff for working in a bipartisan manner with my office and Republican members of the subcommittee. Chairman Engel worked closely to ensure that the concerns and requests of Republican Members were adequately addressed.

As we mark up H.R. 2134 and continue on to the hearing on U.S. Drug Policy in the Americas, I want to emphasize my belief that the best way to attack the problem of illicit drugs is to take an all-encompassing approach to the problem. Some will focus on treatment or better education. Others will focus on supply and the law enforcement aspect of the problem. We must attack the problem from all angles and all perspectives.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman, for your leadership and for your hard work; and I want to urge my colleagues to support the Western Hemisphere Drug Policy Commission Act of 2009 and to vote yes on the chairman’s amendment.
Mr. Engel. Well, thank you very much, Mr. Mack, and thank you for your cooperation and for your input into this bill. It is very much appreciated by me and by all of us. I thank you.

Are there any amendments?

Any members want to make a statement?

Mr. Smith. Mr. Chairman?

Mr. Engel. Yes, Mr. Smith.

Mr. Smith. I would ask that my full statement be made part of the record, and I want to take a moment to highlight the connection between organized crime that is flourishing on drug money and human trafficking, particularly sex trafficking of women and girls.

I do want to thank you and Mr. Mack for including language that shows the nexus between drug trafficking and sex trafficking. We know that one of the ways that women are exploited in trafficking includes getting them hooked on narcotics and other dangerous drugs, so that even when they are liberated many of these women go back to traffickers because of their addiction. It is also a way of two commodities being sold, reducing the woman to a commodity as well as obviously the commodity of drugs.

So I appreciate you including that language in the bill. It is a great bill, and I hope all members support it.

I yield back.

Mr. Engel. Thank you, Mr. Smith.

Ms. Lee.

Ms. Lee. Thank you very much, Chairman Engel, and also Ranking Member Mack. Thank you for convening this hearing and also for this bill.

Of course, I am very pleased that, for once, we are beginning to look at both the supply and demand for illicit drugs. Many of our communities have felt the brunt, unfortunately, of drug addiction and many of the difficulties that ensue as a result of drug addiction and the damage that has been caused to communities and to individuals and society.

Also, the commission, I am very pleased to note, is required to carry out, investigate, and comprehensively look at best practices around the world that target specifically and directly the societal devastation caused by illicit drug markets and drug use, from the spread of infectious diseases like HIV and AIDS to the surge of crime and violence. So this is one of the first times that I have seen the establishment of any drug policy commission that really is going to look at this in a comprehensive way to accomplish what we all want to accomplish, and that is really wiping illicit drugs, from cocaine to heroin, from the face of the earth.

So thank you again, Mr. Chairman, and thank you for the bill.

Mr. Engel. Thank you, Ms. Lee.

If no other member wishes——

Mr. Paul. Mr. Chairman?

Mr. Engel. Yes, Mr. Paul.

Mr. Paul. Thank you, Mr. Chairman. I have just a brief comment.

I think it is about time we looked at this subject. I am very glad you are doing this. I think it is a start.
We are dealing with the Western Hemisphere, but I think the overall drug policy in this country, the drug war should be looked at. But, as a physician, I wanted to particularly emphasize the importance of looking at people who are addicted to drugs as being involved with a disease rather than criminals. Every time we criminalize all this activity we compound our problem. So I am delighted that you are looking at this problem and studying it, and I hope the commission will pay attention to the fact that there are different ways of treating people who are addicted.

And I yield back.

Mr. ENGEL. Thank you, Mr. Paul.

If there are no further comments, the question occurs on the amendment in the nature of a substitute. All in favor will vote aye. Aye. All opposed will vote no.

The ayes have it, and the amendment is agreed to.

The chairman is prepared to receive a motion.

Mr. Sires?

Mr. SIRES. I move the favorable recommendation of H.R. 2134, as amended, to the full committee.

Mr. ENGEL. The question occurs on the motion of the gentleman to report H.R. 2134, as amended, favorably to the full committee. All in favor will say aye. Aye. All opposed say no.

The ayes have it, and the motion is adopted.

Without objection, the bill will be reported as a single amendment in the nature of a substitute incorporating the amendments adopted by the committee, and the staff is directed to make any technical and conforming amendments.

[Whereupon, at 2:26 p.m., the subcommittee was adjourned.]

PREPARED STATEMENT OF THE HONORABLE CHRISTOPHER H. SMITH, A REPRESENTATIVE IN CONGRESS FROM THE STATE OF NEW JERSEY

U.S. Drug Policy in Latin America
Western Hemisphere Subcommittee
House Foreign Affairs Committee

Good Afternoon. Thank you all for being here this afternoon to discuss an issue that is critical to security in our hemisphere, as well as to the protection of human rights. I would just like to take a moment to highlight the connection between the organized crime that is flourishing on drug money and human trafficking, particularly sex trafficking of women and girls.

The Subcommittee just marked-up H.R. 2134. I thank the Chairman and the Ranking member for the inclusion of a finding on trafficking in the Engle-Mack amendment to H.R. 2134, The Western Hemisphere Drug Policy Commission Act. Specifically, the finding cites the Department of State’s June 2009 Trafficking in Persons Report, stating that organized criminal networks in Mexico also, “Traffic Mexican women and girls into the United States for commercial sexual exploitation.” The State Trafficking in Persons report, which this Committee created through the Trafficking Victims Protection Act nine years ago, also points to the connection in Colombia, recognizing that the relatives of criminal organization members are particularly vulnerable to trafficking within Colombia.

For a long time, we have also known of another connection between organized crime, drugs, and human trafficking. Specifically, traffickers keep women and girls in sexual slavery through forced addiction to illegal drugs. It is a horrible trafficking method, but effective and easy when drugs are readily available. Even girls who are freed and returned home often go back to their traffickers because of the deep addiction forced on them through heroin and cocaine, and the lack of rehabilitative services when they are freed from their slavery.

So much is at stake in the fight against organized crime in Latin America. Failure is not an option.
