FOOTNOTE LOCATOR LIST and BATES LOCATOR LIST

The following two lists, Footnote Locator List starting below, and the following Bates Locator List, reference documents referred to in the Report's footnotes. Footnotes which are not contained in either list are explanative, reference Subcommittee interviews for which records are not available to the public, or reference a widely available public document.

Many documents are referenced in multiple footnotes. To locate a document by footnote number refer to the Footnote Locator List, using the first footnote in which the document is referenced. To locate a document by bates number, refer to the Bates Locator List. Both lists then provide the page number where the document can be found. That page number appears in the top right-hand corner of the Footnote Exhibits.

Arbind - ABS cash bond durations are from Intex. So as long as the cash bonds are marked appropriately the spreads and durations should get reflected accordingly.

I will also watch the jobs closely tonight. Thanks.

Kevin,
Given the huge changes in marks today, we expect Mortgage Trading VaR to shoot through the roof if we do not reflect mark/spread changes correctly on the cash ABS and CDO bonds in the risk feed tonite. Please let us know if we perceive this to a major problem tomorrow.
Thanks,
Arbind

We are in an absolute war - been that way for awhile. We probably should have taken more time to put through the CDO monster remark and check it/filter it all the way through. But we rushed it because of Basis and a desire to protect ourselves against counter-parties.

Slightly more color around Dan's message below:

There are two standard ways in which ABS CDO positions are currently marked. Either it's a cash bond, and the traders mark the price in M5, or it's a CDS, and the traders mark the CDS CDO price in SecDb. The system booking issue we're experiencing is because Hout Bay was booked using a different mechanism from either of these two ways.

Trade #1: When the Hout Bay mezz tranche was sold, GS bought back the risk in total return swap form. The trade was booked using a 3rd approach which is not widely used by the secondary desk. This approach was to create an underlying CDS-style credit market to represent Hout Bay Mezz, and to then book a generic TRS against that market in SecDb.

Trade #2: GS then did another trade, which was to buy protection on the top 2/3 of the mezzanine tranche, further tranching the position. This 3rd-order tranche trade was booked using the ABACUS tradable, which applies a SecDb-based model to an underlying. The underlying was specified as a CDS CDO (rather than the TRS actually used to book Hout Bay Mezz). So this means we now had two things in SecDb representing the same total return swap -- (a) a standard CDS CDO which the desk marked as part of it's usual sweep, which informed the model-based value of the protection purchase, and (b) a credit market to mark the TRS.

When CDS CDOs (but not the TRS) were re-marked in last week's sweep, pnl noise was created as Trade #2's value changed, but Trade #1's was not.

Our CDO trading team is. This week has had significant moves in CDOs, especially super-seniors, and activity has been crazy. We missed this position, and the form it's in and the systems issues we have make it challenging.
We're working hard to trade in this market and manage the position - and the team had a very good week.

That doesn't mean this error is acceptable, but we found it within a few days of the massive adjustment.

We are working to make the system better.

Its a 1.2 billion dollar position? Is that correct? How have we been marking AIG ? Both controllers and the desk hadn't looked at it all month? Wouldn't there be a report of large positions where marks hadn't changed. Whose book was it in?

Subject: Problem

One large synthetic position has not been marked since last month and has not been flowing through the position system, and the problem is large with the dramatic remark we made this week to CDOs. The trading team scrubbed everything this weekend with controllers and strat, and found this - Hout Bay 1 super senior (roughly $1.2BB off a CDO of AA-ish paper done in March 2006 and without much CDO^2). It's funded with another counterparty, and AIG wrote credit protection on the top 65%, GS has the remaining 35% credit risk), and a mark of 25 points needs to go through. There are various causes for our mistake (none good), but the form of the trade had a lot to do with it.

That's about $100mm loss that we need to take.

The team has gone through everything else and does not feel there is anything else like this not feeding through, although there is a $50mm senior pic swap the needs to be better analyzed in light of the market.

We can either put it in the estimate Monday, or put it in Friday as a large variance.

I'd rather I posted you live, but I just got the information and wanted to post this group quickly with month-end.

I'm around tonight 203-972-1346 or in the morning 2-2914.

He's overseeing cmbs, correlation and cdo's. There are responsible line people in each. There is a systems issue in how this was evaluated that when corrected will prevent this. We made massive mark adjustments this week, pushed them through because of basis and counterparty exposure, and probably should have waited to work through everything.

[redacted] = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Talking points pasted below and attached...pls review

Market Commentary

- Subprime mortgage market continues to be dislocated and illiquid
- spreads tightened from March-May for technical reasons (supply & short covering)
- Increases in delinquencies, slower prepayment speeds and interest rates rising continued to weigh on the market in the face of weaker housing prices
- BSAM & other hedge fund managers (most recently Basis Capital) announced they were halting fund redemptions and/or liquidating holdings, with some likely to fail
- Rating agencies announced a series of downgrades and/or securities placed on negative watch. Agencies also adopted significant changes in rating and surveillance methodologies using more punitive stress assumptions which will result in more aggressive downgrade actions on existing deals and require greater credit enhancement on new deals.
- ABX prices dropped dramatically in reaction with new issue residential and CDO prices following suit. At Dec 31, 2006, ABX 06-2 BBB- synthetics tranche was trading at $95, it bottomed at $53 on July 13, 2007
- [redacted]

Subprime loan & securitization commentary:

- Industry wide, subprime loan origination is down 40% in 2007 and headed lower
- 7 of the top 10 subprime lenders in '06 are either out of business or have changed ownership
- Subprime loan bids began to stabilize in the mid-102s in late May and early June as dealers bid more aggressively to feed inventory into their securitization platforms but have since fallen more than a point in the face of worse fundamentals
- Spread volatility returned, loan and new issue pricing has come under pressure with dealers having particular difficulty placing lower rated securities
- Goldman's subprime loan purchases were less than $50mm for April and May, but in June we were successful in bidding on a $1bn subprime loan package from HSBC (seasoned loans ('05 production) so has some HPA embedded and strong payment histories)
- More stringent due diligence procedures resulted in lower pull-through rates, reduced market share and pushback from originators, but results are difficult to argue against
- CDO securitization market is coming to a standstill, GS has zero in warehouse
- Non-prime loan inventory is currently at $3bn, down from $12bn at fiscal year-end
- Warehouse secured lending in this space has been reduced from just under $1bn at fiscal year-end to $50mm currently

There are a few positions where repo either feels a put was agreed to or the department actually has agreed to it. Whether we do it or money mkts does it - the firm still has it and we need to be diligent on marks and haircuts. We also finance people in the warehouse business - notably basis and cbass who we have been margin calling (appropriately) a fair amount lately.

For very important trades, we should consider it. Kevin, can you circulate the list of bonds to this group.

Also, sales is making significant noise about gs notable conservatism in marking and haircuts.

After much discussion internally, we will improve our bid to 98-00 given the market color we have observed in the past two days. The markdown was mostly a reaction to the rating agency downgrade and partly reflected the illiquidity of the position, but upon further analysis we have gotten more comfortable with the risk position and agree it should be marked at a higher price. However, we reserve the right to revisit the valuation for month-end upon the full release of the May trustee report.

Pls see below request from BOC HK. We understand it s tough time for ABS trading, but as BOC HK is one of the key supporters for our ABS new business in the past, especially it bought second lien stuff mostly from GS with the belief that we have best asset/risk management in this area, can we try our best to show " better " indicative prices for them? As u can see in the the message below, client is under pressure of being questioned that they bought something looks really bad. I think we are not asking off the market price for them, but for a AAA bond with half year AVL, we showed a price of LBMLT 06 A A1 as of 95-00, it turns to be a spread of 1025 at 25 cpr, this is something hard for client to believe... It s hard time for both ABS investors and trading desk now, but for reputation and long run business relationship, we would like you to take these request seriously, we need them to think of GS as the best firm, and we need them to be our best client when next biz boom comes... Once agsin, we understand that market risk is always the key issue for trading desk, but PLS try to do something possible to make sure clients won't dissapointed on us when comparing us with our competitors. We discussed with Jay Lee and Omar on this, and also shared the key points with client this morning, seems client is still unhappy with our explanation... We would highly appreciate if a slightly aggressive price can be showed from trading desk. At least we can tell client that we tried our best we can for them in current market circumstance. Thanks vm and pls let us know how we can solve this more constructively... China team

If we have not traded TWOLF or PTPLS recently (which we have not...), I think it makes the most sense for us to speak to the underlying portfolio moves. We have seen several "A" CDOs which back either deal trade since the past month.

I think it is important to point out that while our prices are actionable levels where they can buy/sell a specific amount if risk, other dealers do not price that way. In fact, we have been told by other accounts that other dealer's prices are not even indicative of the market

We cannot put this on paper - It concerns me that they want something specifically in writing

Hm. If we have trade spots to point to, that's probably fine. However, if we just say "it's the market price, here's our bid for protection, step up or clam up", that will lead to a response along this vein:

1) Assuming Twolf itself hasn't traded recently and there are not markets on the security itself, what is the last CDO^2 price spot,
2) What characteristics do we focus on when comparing Twolf to the more transparent bond (eg, the number of underlying CDO's that have "tight triggers", the number of underlyers on the downgrade list and in risk of PIKing, market value coverage, attachment/detachment points, etc), and
3) Why do the other dealers all have higher marks on their CDO^2 if it's something as simple as "market price"?

FYI, Tokyo Star Bank continues to put a lot of pressure on us for something written on pricing methodology. They say they need something by Tuesday NYC COB, because they have a meeting on Wednesday morning with management.

We have made it clear that we cannot provide anything specifically related to Timberwolf or Point Pleasant, and that we can only provide methodology in general terms. We offered a conference call where we have the freedom to discuss the marks more specifically, but they insist that they need something written to show to their management when they provide their marks. They also say that other dealers have already sent information on their pricing methodology, and their marks are higher despite lower ratings.

I talked with Mr. Lee today.

I proposed conference call with NY traders tomorrow morning but he denied and said they need our answer in writing first...

Tokyo Star will have their internal meeting with management side on this Wednesday, so pls push NY traders and compliance so that we can send it on Wednesday morning Tokyo time.

FYI, other dealers have already sent their pricing methods and MTMs.
Basically the prices were higher than ours even though the ratings are AA.
That is why they need our pricing method information as soon as possible.

I totally understand that this request is special and difficult for us to answer quickly but pls do your best.

Koji Wada

Subject: ABS: Market Tense As Goldman Predicts RMBS CDO Problems To Drag On

New York, November 20. The US structured finance markets remained in a state of quasi paralysis with minimal liquidity and poor sentiment. The jitteriness of market participants was escalated by a report from Goldman Sachs analysts predicting that the mortgage markets crisis is likely to drag on and will have serious implications for a significant number of financial institutions.

"Write-downs and losses will continue to mount, fueling negative investor sentiment and keeping (equity) valuations under pressure," said William Tanona, Lori Applebaum and other GS analysts in a report to their clients. "Some companies will have to raise capital, others will have preserve capital, and managements will need to repair some seriously damaged balance sheets."

Citing the problems of the residential mortgage market and RMBS CDOs, Goldman downgraded Citigroup to SELL and recommended that investors avoid mortgage insurers and financial guarantors. The GS research staff estimated that industry-wide losses reflecting marking down of values in subprime mortgage CDO"s will approach $150 billion; reflecting $18bn of write-downs by financial firms for 2007.Q3; $22bn in Q4 and a remaining balance of $108bn in additional losses based on evaluations of current market prices.

The analysis assumes $221.4bn of subprime mortgage CDO exposure across the gamut of financial institutions: $82.1bn for US brokers plus C, JPM; $68.1bn financial guarantors, $35.9bn non-life insurers, $23.4bn US banks, $11.7bn mtge insurers and $0.2bn life insurers.

"The patient remains in the hospital," quipped a portfolio manager for a major buy-side shop. Asked by IFRmarkets if the ABS CDO sector will be able to retool, he said: "Sorry to say that the CDO market is dead." The ABX indices finished lower as market participants worried that the negative impact of the subprime debacle will be widespread. The closely followed [ABX 07-1 "BBB-" 389] lost 8.6/32nds to $17-27+. The [ABX 06-2 "BBB-" 242] declined 10.9/32nds to $17-16. Elsewhere, the [LCDX-9] leveraged loan index was down 0.33pt to $95.65, raising the yield by 11bp to 355bp. (John Nash).

George,

Below are some talking points for you related to today's price movements for Basis. Please note that the price moves sent to Basis (and the notes below) reflect the S&P actions that were announced this morning, but did not take into account the Moody's actions that were announced very late in the day here. We are still in the process of working through the Moody's actions.

Point Pleasant
- 19% of the total portfolio was listed in the attached S&P paper as having "material exposure" to the 612 RMBS that S&P placed on negative credit watch today (and stated on a conference call that they would be downgraded within days). If a portion of the assets with material exposure PIK (due to OC tests failing in the underlying CDOs from the RMBS downgrades and resulting OC haircuts), the Point Pleasant BBBs will be shut off from cashflow.

Timberwolf
- Approximately 25% of the total portfolio was listed in the attached S&P paper as having "material exposure" to the 612 RMBS that S&P placed on negative credit watch today (and stated on a conference call thet they would be downgraded within days).

Fort Denison
- 17 RMBS assets (21% of the overall portfolio and 43% of the total RMBS component of the portfolio) were placed on negative credit watch today. In addition, 10 CDO assets (10% of the overall portfolio and 23% of the total CDO component of the portfolio) were on the list in the S&P paper. Asset downgrades in the Fort Denison portfolio cause a diversion of all principal proceeds and a portion (approximately 40%) of excess interest proceeds away from the equity to amortize down the Class C Loan. Depending on the amount of principal amortization on the asset portfolio in each period, this will cause an overall reduction of projected payments to the Fort Denison equity by 45-60%. Additionally, if/when the CDO assets in the portfolio PIK (due to OC tests failing in the underlying CDOs from to the RMBS downgrades and resulting OC haircuts), that will cause additional reduction in payments that will be borne by the equity.

Re: Request for renewal of the existing $1 billion ($500 committed, $500 uncommitted, 1-year, revolving warehouse facility secured by subprime residential mortgage loans for Fremont Investment and Loan

I. Transaction Summary
We are requesting approval for the renewal of the existing $1 billion ($500 committed, $500 uncommitted), 1-year, revolving warehouse facility secured by subprime residential mortgage loans (the "Facility") for a 1-year term for Fremont Investment and Loan ("Fremont"). The current Facility matures February 27, 2006. Fremont is an important relationship for Goldman Sachs ("GS"), and renewing the Facility will enable GS to lock in warehouse revenue and maintain our opportunities for purchasing whole loan packages and securitization mandates through 2006.

II. Economics
GS has generated revenue totaling $7.01 million in 2005 as detailed below. We generated $540,000 in warehouse usage and commitment fees in 2005. GS generated significant ancillary revenue throughout 2005 from 6 whole loans purchases and 5 deal mandates (2005-D revenue is recognized in 2006). We project increased revenue in 2006 of $9.54 million, attributable to the same warehouse commitment fee and a slightly lower usage fee, 3 securitization mandates (1 lead, 2 Co-Manager) and 5 to 7 whole loan package purchases. We anticipate average warehouse usage to be 5% to10% in 2006, consistent with the low usage (8% average) throughout 2005.

I like the idea of DQ patterns. I'd like to list all deals of a certain status and use it as an inclusive list for prioritization. Thanks

Great Loren, thanks. Delinq triggers may be one way to look at it but early deals are going to be so far from triggering I'd prefer, once we clear thru the emergency list, focusing on DQ pattern the first 4 months of a deal.

Kelli informs us that the data is being loaded today for 06 FM 2 and then a sample can be pulled. Working with HBK on NC2 should not be distracting. Assuming the confidentiality agreement was signed, they can work more closely with Clayton. We're off to other vendors at this point. Bohan in next week.

Results of the Digital Risk review will be provided next Tuesday. Over 2,600 loans were reviewed, a significant amount of those are Long Beach and Fremont seconds. Seconds from FM1 are being re- reviewed internally. Contrary to Clayton's initial review, on average, about 50% of about 200 files look to be repurchase obligations. Tom Winslow is looking at the Long Beach loans that Long Beach rejected repurchase. He is finding fraud that had not initially been alleged. We'll forward those a flow basis to WaMu contact.

Looking to develop a comprehensive deal sheet, perhaps based on delinquency triggers to use for prioritization and status tracking. Envision this centralized in Repurchase Group. Let me know if you have any other questions or comments. Thanks

Yes and thank you regarding 2nd liens, I think priority s/b on Fremont and Long Beach vs. NC on 2nd lien deals. Fremont first since they still have cash but may not for long. Do we have any early returns on Fremont 2nd lien deal scrubs?

As you know, we have an extensive re-underwrite review underway on 06 NC2, and also other NC loans in the 2nds deals that are in the pipeline for scrubs. Should we change course at all here given the fact NC can't pay? Keep in mind, we're spending ~ $250/loan for these scrubs. Please give us some guidance here.

Thanks.

Deana,
I spoke with the FPD/EPD Collection VP & he can run a special campaign on our EPD loans. I know you're still working on a settlement for the DEC28 trade but it would be benefical to run these through. He's going to pull the loans he shows as EPD for GS but I would like to compare to our list. Can you send me the loan level for the Dec28 EPD's?
I'm also having him include the loans from the Jan30 trade that tentative qualify today - they have through Thursday (45 days) to pay.

All,
I'll send an update on other items regarding my visit later tonight.

Thanks.

Re: Request for renewal of the existing $1 billion ($500 committed, $500 uncommitted), 1-year, revolving warehouse facility secured by subprime residential mortgage loans for Fremont Investment & Loan

I. Transaction Summary

We are requesting approval for the renewal of the existing $1 billion ($500 committed, $500 uncommitted), 1-year, revolving warehouse facility secured by subprime residential mortgage loans (the "Facility") for a 1-year term for Fremont Investment & Loan ("Fremont"). The current Facility matures February 26, 2007.

Fremont relies primarily on deposits and advances from Federal Home Loan Bank of San Francisco ("FHLB") to finance its originations. Because these sources offer less costly sources of funds compared to Fremont's existing warehouse facilities, Fremont uses the Facility as backup liquidity and does not expect to draw on the Facility in normal course of business to finance its loan originations. In the past, Fremont has used the Facility in cases where they have sold whole loans to Goldman Sachs Mortgage Company ("GSMC") by temporarily moving the purchased loans onto the Facility for a week or less prior to settlement of the loan purchase to facilitate the settlement process. In addition, Fremont has also used the Facility to move loans prior to transferring them to a securitization where GS is the lead underwriter. Below is a summary of Fremont's sources of funds as of September 30, 2006.

Capital and Liquidity Capacity (as of 9/30/06)

[redacted] = Redacted by the Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations

Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations
Wall Street & The Financial Crisis

GS MBS-E-001157942

Fremont is an important relationship for Goldman Sachs ("GS"), and renewing the Facility will enable GS to lock in warehouse revenue and maintain our opportunities for purchasing whole loan packages and securitization mandates through 2007.

II. Current Warehouse Facility Terms

Fremont will report origination volume of $32.6 billion for 2006. Their warehouse terms are below:

- Annual Commitment Fee: 10 bps on the committed amount of $500mm ($500K)
- Advance Rate: 90% of market value, capped at par (10% haircut is three times our normal level)
- Wet Funding: None
- Usage fee: L + 40 bps
- Recourse: Full recourse to Fremont Investment & Loan
- Mark-to-Market: GS has ability to mark collateral to market at its sole discretion

III. Economics

GS has generated revenues totaling $13.38 million in 2006 of which $620,000 came in the form of warehouse usage and commitment fees (see below). We project revenue in 2007 of $11.25 million, attributable to the same warehouse commitment fee and usage fee, as well as 3 securitization mandates (1 lead, 2 Co-Manager) and $3 billion in whole loan package purchases. We anticipate average warehouse usage to be 5% to10% in 2007, consistent with the low usage (9.2% average) throughout 2006.

IV. Pull-Through Rates

Below is a summary of the pull-through rates for the last three pools GSMC has purchased from Fremont.

Fremont's pull-through rates are within range of other sub-prime originators that we have purchased significant sub-prime pools from in the past 3-6 months. Below are some weighted average pull-through rates for different originators.

Pull-Through Rates ($ millions)

Fremont		LoanHome		New Century		NovaStar		Sendera		SouthStar
Size	Pull-Through	Size	Pull-Through	Size	Pull-Through	Size	Pull-Through	Size	Pull-Through	Size	Pull-Through
$1,771	90%	$140	98%	$2,017	80%	$978	77%	$157	94%	$328	93%

To address issues relating to pull-through rates and EPD rates, Fremont has proactively established programs and underwriting guideline changes to enhance the quality of the loans they originate. Some of these changes include:

- Tightening of underwriting criteria, including elimination of 80/20 loans and greater restrictions on first-time homebuyers.
- Fraud training for its underwriters and establishment of an underwriter certification program.
- Implementation of Core Logic's LoanSafe system to help detect fraud.
- Review and identification of brokers with higher default rates.
- Running of AVM's for each loan.
- In-house appraiser review and additional diligence.
- Use of lesser of purchase price or appraised value for properties owned less than 12 months.
- Greater restrictions on maximum allowable LTV for properties listed for sale for greater than 90 days.

As a result of these changes, Fremont hopes to realize a decreasing level of first payment defaults on its loans production, which will result in lower levels of loan repurchases in 2007.

V. Credit Review

	Fremont General Corporation	Fremont Investment & Loan	Recent Actions
S&P	B+ / Stable	BB- / Stable	Upgrade – Sept 20, 2005
Moody's	B2 Stable	B1 / Stable	Upgrade – Sept 20, 2005
Fitch	B+ / Negative	BB / Negative	Outlook Stable to Negative – Jan 25, 2007

Key credit strengths include:

- Diversified sources funding. The company has a more diversified funding mix relative to other warehouse borrowers given its access to FDIC-insured deposits and FHLB borrowings. Although jumbo (non-core) deposits comprise slightly higher portion of total deposits every year, the total amount of deposit funding has grown each year and reached $9.61bn as of 09/06 (or 76% of total funding).
- High levels of capital. Fremont holds substantially more capital against its operations than most peers [redacted] although capital levels have come down in recent periods. As of 09/06, Fremont Investment & Loan had a Tier 1 Leverage ratio of [redacted] (normal FDIC requirement for this ratio is [redacted]).
- Regulatory oversight. As an industrial bank Fremont Investment & Loan is regulated by the California Department of Financial Institutions and the FDIC.
- Strong asset quality metrics. [redacted] On the residential real estate side, interest-only loans declined to 7.6% of production from 25.7% in 09/05 and the 40/30 and 50/30 products were 21% and 20.6% of production respectively in 09/06. The average FICO score of their residential portfolio is 627, which is on the high side for a sub-prime lender.

Key concerns:

- Declining profitability. Profitability metrics deteriorated significantly in 2006; return on average assets dropped to 0.87% for 09/06, from 3.63% in 09/05 and 4.20% in 2004. The company has informed us that they will post a loss of $27.7mm at the bank for 4Q2006 (results will be published on Feb 26) due primarily to a reserve build for EPD claims (there will be an additional loss posted on a consolidated basis due to write downs of residual values at the holding company). They have also informed us they expect to post a loss in 1Q07 because of low gain on sale margins. The company is forecasting to be modestly profitable again in 2Q07 but that is heavily dependent on a rebound in market pricing for loans.
- Traditionally high risk lines of business. Fremont operates in two traditionally high risk lines of business: commercial real estate (especially transition properties) and sub-prime residential real estate. Performance in these two business lines is somewhat correlated although the commercial side of the business remains profitable in the current market.
- Minor geographic concentration in California and high single borrower concentrations in the CRE portfolio. Although in the past years, commercial real estate loan concentration in California raised concern, portfolio has become more diversified recently with California accounting for 19%, Florida 15%, and New York 12%. Single borrower concentrations still exist as well; however they are somewhat less of a concern as Fremont's capital base has grown 30% since 2004 and over 90% since 2003.

VI. Recommendation

Based on the strong sponsorship, expected future revenues and GS' significant relationship with Fremont, we recommend Mortgage Capital Committee approve the renewal of the Facility.

Subject: Tried calling you

Sobel this morning mentioned in the Firmwide Risk Committee meeting that we are looking at CDO exit for our long ABX risk. Wanted to get some color on this, particularly in relation to how we are going to assemble/manufacture 80-100 names typically needed as CDO collateral (synthetic). Thanks.

There's a lot more to it than the chatterers are factoring in. The team knows the mandate is to reduce, and that they better not miss trades by letting price get in the way. That said, there is an arb to cdo and we plan to be commercial about it.

CDO should price tomorrow and is in good shape. P&L release should be in the neighborhood of $15mm. We also are starting to see some short covering, which we will sell into to further reduce our risk toward your 50% goal.

Is there something specific you're referring to in terms of our being too picky? Is there a trade we missed due to price?

I think most hedge funds have been right on this (i.e. they've been short), so it's a piling on effect that we're seeing rather than a risk unwind. We have reduced our risk by about 30% over the past week, but it's starting to feel overdone to me. The synthetic CDO seems like a viable takeout here; the feedback we've received has been positive thus far. To give you a perspective on relative performance over the past month or so:

--BBB- ABX index +55bp wider
--BBB- cash sub prime virtually unchanged with deals pricing and selling (similar to index)
--BBB- single name sub prime CDS +10 wider --Equities up --CMBS unchanged --Corp credit tighter

I believe the divergence has been caused by macro hedge funds shorting the index. A CDO would enable us to exploit the cheapening in the index vs. cash and single names.

Down about $10mm. I think this is getting overdone, and I will look to buy in the manager's account if this continues. Saw some buying from PIMCO yesterday, JPM Arb looking at some size now, CDO execution will take some time but seems quite reasonable.

INTRODUCTION

The advent of tranched ABS credit indices represents another milestone for the credit derivatives market. But while the trading of standardized tranches on a portfolio of ABS (exclusively Home Equity securities) provides new strategic opportunities for market participants, the inclusion of these new instruments in ABS CDO portfolios poses certain challenges.

These challenges revolve around the potential degree of overlap in ABS CDO collateral pools that can sharply increase pool-wide correlation. Coupled with the current environment, in which the new ABX-based tranches are trading at extremely wide spreads relative to similarly enhanced ABS CDO tranches, there is a risk that many ABS CDOs will see sharp increases in average pool-wide correlation through the purchase of the standardized ABX tranches in either synthetic or cash (credit-linked note) form.

What Are the New Tranched ABS Index Instruments?

The ABX credit indices were launched in January 2006. Each index includes 20 liquid Home Equity securities issued in the prior six months. The ABX 06-01 index is based on HE securities underwritten during the second half of 2005, the ABX 06-2 index on securities underwritten during the first half of 2006 and the ABX 07-1 index on securities underwritten during the second half of 2006. Unlike corporate credit indices, there is no overlap in underlying instruments between different series as each ABX series is associated with a single vintage.

The first tranched ABX indices ("TABX") began trading on February 14 of this year. At least initially, only the BBB and BBB- ABX sub-indices have been tranched. The standardized tranches reference the combination of the ABX 06-2 and ABX 07-1 collateral pools, for a total of 40 credits. The attachment/detachment points are set as follows:

TABX Attachment/Detachment Points

BBB Reference Portfolio	BBB- Reference Portfolio
35-100	40-100
12-20	15-25
7-12	10-15
3-7	5-10
0-3	0-5

Moody's Investors Service

The Incentive to Include TABX in ABS CDOs

With the recent turmoil in the subprime mortgage market-the prices of the ABX indices have fallen dramatically over the past few months--the new TABX tranches are trading at very wide yields.

Given the yields at which the TABX tranches have been priced, CDO structurers and managers may perceive an opportunity to add the instruments to ABS CDO portfolios in order to enhance portfolio-average spreads. The tranches could potentially be added directly to synthetic and hybrid ABS CDOs in credit default swap form, or transformed into credit-linked notes for inclusion in cash-flow CDOs.

Moody's View About the Addition of TABX Tranches

So long as they are properly treated, the addition of TABX tranches to ABS CDO portfolios may not raise any concerns.

As with the inclusion of the ABX, our primary concern is with correlation. In the case of the TABX, our immediate focus is on capturing the correlation within the CDO. For example, Moody's wants to make sure that any CLNs that reference TABX are classified as being correlated to one another and to other related single name or index exposures in the CDO.

The key to capturing intra-CDO correlation is that any TABX exposure be properly identified. In general, collateral managers have wide discretion in classifying instruments that are incorporated into ABS CDO collateral pools. TABX tranches might, for example, simply be classified by the name of the vehicle which issued the CLN. Such a designation would fail to recognize that there could be other CLNs from other shelves which reference the same risk or that the CDO's portfolio could already be exposed to the names in the TABX, either through single name CDS or through direct exposure to the ABX.

Given the novelty of TABX, neither existing CDO indentures, nor Moody's CDOROM™ software that is used to model ABS CDO asset correlations, provides for a "TABX" category to address Moody's concerns on correlation. Thus even the most conscientious collateral manager may not have an existing mechanism to accurately characterize the correlations associated with TABX tranches.

Treatment in CDOs

In light of the potentially significant correlation impact of adding TABX tranches to ABS CDO collateral pools, Moody's will review such proposals on a case-by-case basis. The review will ensure that an appropriate set of asset correlations (e.g., 100% for TABX tranches based on the same collateral pools) is reflected in CDOROM. Therefore, Moody's asks that CDOs and other rated vehicles that wish to offer protection on the TABX either through a CLN or swap first come to Moody's to discuss the appropriate treatment within the CDO.

In the months ahead, we anticipate that we will modify CDOROM in order to facilitate the appropriate correlation treatment for TABX tranches. Until that time, we propose the following guidelines for existing and recent CDOs:

1. The aggregate exposure of the CDO to the TABX and the ABX should not exceed 2% for High Grade deals and 5% for Mezzanine deals. Additionally, the exposure to any vintage should not exceed 2%. The determination of vintage for the TABX should be on a look through basis. For example, a 2% exposure to the current TABX would imply a 1% exposure to each of the ABX 06-2 and the ABX 07-1.
2. To measure the correlation within the purchasing CDO:
   a. The TABX may be entered into CDOROM as a bespoke CDO (i.e., using a look-through approach in which each underlying HE tranche is entered into CDOROM individually) if such a CDO has the ability to add bespoke CDOs, or
   b. All products related to the ABX (TABX CLNs and swaps, ABX, single name CDS referenced in the various ABX) should use the term "ABX" in the "Transaction Name" field in CDOROM. (The Issue Date and the Key Agent fields may have to adjust to a single value in order for the CDOROM to function properly.)
3. All other indenture restrictions/rules, such as the discount purchase rules must apply.

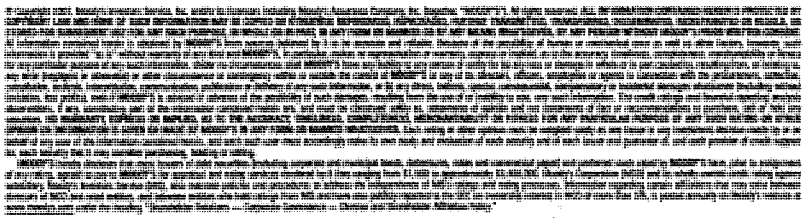
Inter-CDO Correlations

In addition to intra-CDO correlations, Moody's is also concerned about the impact of the ABX and TABX on correlations between ABS CDOs (e.g., in a CDO squared or the CDO basket of an ABS CDO). The asset correlations assumed in CDOROM between ABS CDOs were developed using the data that was available at the time we performed the original correlation analysis - i.e., based on transactions backed by cash collateral, which is not easily replicated across deals.[2] More recently, with the growth of synthetics in ABS CDOs, it has become easier for multiple deals to have exposure to the same reference obligation. With the popularity of the ABX index, it comes as no surprise that Moody's has found that many recent transactions have exposure to the ABX in both index and single name form. Essentially, this means that inter-CDO correlations are increasing.

While intra-CDO correlation concerns can be treated using a look-through approach as mentioned earlier, addressing correlations between ABS CDOs is more difficult. When an ABS CDO contains both ABS-related positions as well as tranches of other actively managed CDOs, it is difficult to perform a look-through analysis on an ongoing basis because of the dynamic nature of each underlying CDO's portfolio. Moody's is currently undergoing a research project to study the overlaps in ABS CDOs and will adjust our ABS CDO correlations accordingly. Until the research project is completed, Moody's may consider look-through correlations for ABS CDOs in the initial rating process.

CONCLUSION



Moody's believes that the proliferation of standardized index products may increase the correlation within and between CDOs. Because the models currently used by Moody's do not contemplate products such as the ABX and TABX that may be infinitely replicated, we will shortly introduce refinements to our correlation framework and will solicit market comment on the proposal.

Deeb/Ed/Mike: do you guys have any thought on this ? would like to be able to get back to AIG FP first thing Monday morning if possible. I think offering this trade at 1/2 point makes sense (can't imagine people would do a lot of work/go through this brain dammage for less than that), and just as an FYI, color from Andy Forster at AIG FP is the following (email that Neil forwarded to me on Friday, coming from Andy Forster and I quote):

"i think this is the basic version where you pay us like 50bps. the issue though is that this has some real risk and i wantto understand what the risks are. for example i think some bonds can step up but the index does not? also the single names all trade at different spreads so if a high spread name defaults we lose more in income than we stop paying on teh index etc etc . also something about delivery with the index only allowing one method?"

Subject: AIG FP ABX basis trade

See attached the trade we could show to AIG FP to close the Hudson Mezz account. This account is long ABX and short single-name CDS. On a running basis, the account is net positive carry by 3bps -- however when looking closely at the combination of trades, the account is positive carry on 06-1 index and negative carry on 06-2 index. Question is at what price do we sell this position to remove the MtM vol risk of that account, as well as the basis risk -- the basis risks are the following:

-- positive basis: the single-name CDS are cancellable individually by the protection buyer at the step-up date
-- negative/positive basis: if 06-1 index amortizes / suffers writedowns faster than 06-2 index, the trade can become negative carry

I am suggesting we offer this trade to AIG at an upfront payment of $6mm to have AIG FP take the MtM risk (and we know it is a pretty big risk) as well as the amortization differential risk (pretty small in my mind).

Subject: Locked Levels

We are close in talks with our counterparty on the super senior for the ABX CDO
Before we get execution, we need to show them levels on where we expect to lock in asset levels

So far we have levels from CMBS at +112

On ABX we want to show 1bp inside mids
ABX 2006-1 BBB @ +137
ABX 2006-1 BBB- @+250
ABX 2006-2 BBB @ +149
ABX 2006-2 BBB- @ +271

For the CDS given spread widening this week, we want to go with +120 for BBB flat and +220 for BBB-

Can you confirm we are good on the above levels?
This is key to complete our work today on the Super Senior tranche

Subject: RE: Abx

Here are the points for your discussion:

On the ABX Side

1. Very crowded trade - guys talking their position in the media (ie Grants, NY Post). Could be very violent short covering rally because most of the shorts facing non-market to market vehicles (ie CDOs).

2. Expensive break-evens. Despite the recent sell-off most macro players are at best flat given the carry hurdle.

3. Relative Value - Underperform stocks, and corporate credit by 2 points/65bp in the past 6 weeks. Also, CMBX is 5bp tighter over the same period. The Philadelphia Housing Index is up approx 10% over this period.

4. Basis - Index to single-name basis is at the wides (ie 40bp at BBB- level). Index to cash is even more extreme at 70bp. Bids for cash deals remain strong and have barely widened.

5. CDO - we are going to price an innovative full capital structure $1+bb CDO deal with 60% of the risk in ABX (no one has done this before). At the current levels we produce equity at levels that are approximately 10% (in return) cheaper than a typical CDO.

6. Property Derivatives - press release tommorrow. More direct way for the macro community to express their negative views on house prices. We expect existing shorts to explore swapping out of ABX shorts into Prop Derivatives

Natural Buyers of Property Derivatives

1. Pension Funds

2. REITS

3. Insurance Companies

4. CDOs - we are going to create rated CDS-like contracts and do a CDO using these contracts - similar structure to CRISP

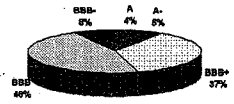
Transaction Overview

- Hudson Mezzanine Funding 2006-1 will be a static $2.0 billion cashflow CDO consisting of a diversified portfolio of single-name credit default swaps on RMBS securities.
- Goldman Sachs, & Co. ("Goldman") selects the assets.
- 60% of the assets will be single name CDS referencing all forty obligors in ABX 2006-1 and ABX 2006-2.
- The portfolio consists of collateral which is rated at least Baa3 and BBB- with an average rating of Baa2/Baa3. 100% will be real-estate related securities.
- Low fee structure and less "bac-bellied" portfolio than other mezzanine CDOs in the current market
- Goldman, as Liquidation Agent, will liquidate any asset determined to be a "credit risk" within 12 months of said determination. Credit Risk assets will include:
  - Any asset downgraded by Moody's or S&P below Ba3 or BB-
  - Any asset that is defaulted or would be experiencing a credit event as defined by the PAUG confirm
- There will be no reinvestment, substitution, discretionary trading or discretionary sales. After closing, assets that are determined to be "credit risk" will be sold by the Liquidation Agent within one year of such determination.
- Goldman will invest in a portion of the Income Notes at closing.



Structural Highlights

- Pure static structure eliminates reinvestment risk and shortens expected weighted average lives on liabilities
  - No reinvestment, substitution, or discretionary trading
  - Proceeds from credit-risk sales will be treated as principal paydowns or notional reduction of the Senior Swap
- Liquidation Agent Fees: 10 bps per annum
- 100% ramped at closing and 100% certainty of all assets in collateral portfolio to be included in transaction
- No fixed rate assets in the portfolio eliminates possibility of an interest rate swap hedge mismatch

Hudson Mezzanine Funding 2006-1

Transaction Overview

- Hudson CDO program was developed by the CDO Desk in 2006 to create a consistent, programmatic approach to invest in attractive relative value opportunities in the RMBS and structured product market
  - We successfully launched Hudson High Grade which is in the market now. This is a continuation of this program with mezzanine quality RMBS
- The CDO is an Alpha Generator / Term Non-recourse with other non-ABX names. 60% of the portfolio will consist of single name CDS from the ABX 2006-1 and ABX 2006-2 index to pass through the relative value pickup between the Index vs. single name CDS. Term non-recourse execution of Hudson will lock in the arbitrage for the benefit of debt and equity investors
- Goldman will buy equity and is long this risk via warehouse: 100% ramped
- This is not a tranched Index CDO. CDO will utilize a cashflow waterfall with traditional O/C tests
- Super Seniors are done with one large sophisticated Wall Street CDO buyer
- Focus will be on the BBBs and BBs
  - ➢ No CDOs
  - ➢ No negative convexity (fixed rate)
  - ➢ No BBs

Risk Factors

Note: The Offering Circular will include more extensive descriptions of the risks described herein as well as additional risks relating to, among other things, conflicts of interest. Any decision to invest in the securities described herein should be made after reviewing such Offering Circular, conducting such investigations as the investor deems necessary and consulting the investor's own legal, accounting and tax advisors in order to make an independent determination of the suitability and consequences of an investment in the securities. The Offering Circular will supersede this document in its entirety.

- Limited Liquidity, Restrictions on Transfer and Limited Recourse
  - There is currently no market for the Secured Notes or Income Notes and it is unlikely that any secondary market will develop. The Secured Notes and the Income Notes should be viewed as a long-term investment, not as a trading vehicle. The value of the Secured Notes and the Income Notes may vary and the Secured Notes and the Income Notes, if sold, may be worth less than their original cost.
  - In addition, as the Secured Notes and the Income Notes will be sold in transactions exempt from SEC registration pursuant to Section 4(2), Rule 144A, and/or Reg S and the Issuer will not be registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 pursuant to the Section 3(c)(7). Related restrictions, as well as other restrictions on transfer of the Income Notes will apply.
  - All liabilities are payable solely from the cash flow available from the collateral pledged by the Issuer to secure all classes of Notes. No other assets will be available for payment in the event of any deficiency. The Income Notes represent equity in the Issuer and as such are subordinated to the Secured Notes. The Income Notes are payable from the collateral (which represent the only assets of the Issuer) only after payment in full of amounts due on the Secured Notes.
- Leveraged Credit Risk
  - The Income Notes are in a first loss position with respect to defaults on the underlying collateral. The leveraged nature of the Income Notes magnifies the adverse impact of any collateral defaults.
- Subordination
  - The Income Notes are subordinated to the Class A, Class B, Class C, Class D and Class E Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class E Notes are subordinated to the Class A, Class B, Class C and Class D Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class D Notes are subordinated to the Class A, Class B and Class C Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class C Notes are subordinated by the Class A and Class B Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class B Notes are subordinated to the Class A Notes and certain payments of expenses. No distributions of interest proceeds received on the collateral will be made to the Income Notes until interest on the Secured Notes and certain other expenses have been paid. In addition, in the event of a default, holders of the most senior class of Secured Notes will generally be entitled to determine the remedies to be exercised; such remedies could include the sale and the liquidation of the collateral and have an adverse effect on the Income Notes. The Income Notes will not be able to exercise any remedies following an event of default and will not receive payments after an event of default until the Secured Notes are paid in full.

- Volatility of Collateral and of Secured Notes' and Income Notes' Market Value
  - The Income Notes represent a leveraged investment in the Collateral Assets. The use of leverage generally magnifies an issuer's opportunities for gain and risk of loss. Therefore, changes in the market value of the Secured Notes and the Income Notes can be expected to be greater than changes in the market value of the underlying assets included in the collateral, which themselves are subject to credit, liquidity and, with respect to the fixed rate portion of the portfolio, interest rate risk.
  - Changes in the market value of issues from one sector or industry may impact the market value of issues from one or more of other sectors or industries included in the collateral.
- Collateral Risk
  - Collateral Assets inherently bear significant credit risks because issuers are primarily private entities.
  - The structure of Collateral Assets and the terms of the issuer's interest in the collateral can vary widely depending on the type of collateral, investor sentiment and the use of credit enhancements.
  - Adverse changes in the financial condition of the collateral obligor or in general economic conditions may adversely affect the obligor's ability to pay principal and interest on its debt.
- Illiquidity of Collateral Assets
  - Some of the Collateral Assets purchased by the Issuer will have no, or only a limited, trading market. This illiquidity may restrict the Issuer's ability to dispose of investments in a timely fashion or for a fair price.
  - Illiquid debt securities may also trade at a discount to comparable, more liquid investments. In addition, the Issuer may invest in privately placed Collateral Assets that are non-transferable or are transferable only at prices less than the fair value or the original purchase price of the securities.
- Nature of Collateral
  - The Collateral Assets are subject to credit, liquidity and interest rate risk. In addition, the financial performance of the Issuer may be affected by the price and availability of Collateral Assets to be purchased.
  - Some or all of the Collateral Assets may be subordinated securities which may be subject to leveraged credit risk.
  - The ability of the Issuer to sell Collateral Assets prior to maturity is subject to certain restrictions and limitations under the Indenture.

Risk Factors

- No Collateral Manager
  - The Issuer will not engage a Collateral Manager. As a result, (i) the Collateral Assets held by the Issuer on the Closing Date will be retained by the Issuer even if it would be in the best interests of the Issuer and the holders of the Income Notes and Secured Notes to dispose of certain Collateral Assets unless the Collateral Assets are required to be sold by the Liquidation Agent as described in the previous paragraph and (ii) the Indenture will eliminate the ability of the Issuer to exercise discretion in contexts where a collateral manager in a managed or static collateralized debt obligation transaction typically would have discretion to exercise such discretion on behalf of the Issuer and holders of Income Notes and Secured Notes. The inability of the Issuer to exercise discretion in these contexts could adversely impact the Issuer and the holders of the Income Notes and Secured Notes.
- Timing and Amount of Recoveries
  - Only Collateral Assets that meet the liquidation criteria (see page 12) may be sold. If a Collateral Asset meets the liquidation criteria, the Liquidation Agent is required to sell such affected collateral in accordance with the terms of the Liquidation Agency Agreement. There can be no assurance as to the timing of the Liquidation Agent's sale of affected assets, or if there will be any market for such assets or as to the rates of recovery on such affected collateral. The inability to realize immediate recoveries at the recovery levels assumed herein may result in lower cash flow and a lower yield to the Income Notes and Secured Notes as compared to the returns generated using the Modeling Assumptions.
- Impairment of Credit Quality and/or Defaults on the Collateral
  - Decline in credit quality of the collateral or defaults could result in losses which would adversely affect the Income Notes and Secured Notes. The Collateral Assets are expected to have a Moody's weighted average rating of at least Aa3/A1 at the Closing Date.
  - There may be certain industry or sector concentrations in the CDO, all of which could have a material adverse impact on the Income Notes in the event of economic downturns or other events affecting the credit quality of any of the collateral.

66052.131

Risk Factors

- Timing of Receipt of Accrued Interest Income
  - On an ongoing basis, the receipt by the Issuer of accrued interest income may affect the availability of cash which may be distributed to the Holders of Secured Notes and Income Notes.
- International Investing
  - Investing outside the U.S. may involve greater risks which may include (1) less publicly available information, (2) varying levels of governmental regulation and supervision, (3) the difficulty of enforcing legal rights in a foreign jurisdiction and uncertainties as to the status, interpretation and application of laws, (4) less stringent accounting practices, (5) different clearance and settlement procedures, (6) economic and political conditions and instability, (7) exchange control and foreign currency risk, (8) insolvency and (9) expropriation risk.
  - A portion of the Collateral Assets may consist of obligations of an issuer organized under the laws of the Bahames, Bermuda, the Cayman Islands, the Channel Islands, the Netherlands Antilles or other jurisdictions offering favorable tax treatment.
- Tax Treatment of Income Notes
  - Since the Issuer will be a passive foreign investment company, a U.S. person holding Income Notes may be subject to additional taxes unless it elects to treat the Issuer as a qualified electing fund and to recognize currently its proportionate share of the Issuer's income. The Income Notes will be treated as equity for tax purposes.
  - Income Notes holders should consult their tax advisers about the special U.S. tax regimes that apply to shareholders of passive foreign investment companies, controlled foreign corporations and foreign personal holding companies.
  - Special tax considerations may apply to certain types of investors. Prospective investors should consult their own tax advisors regarding the tax implications of their investments.
- Material Tax Considerations
  - There is a possibility that the Issuer will be found to be engaging in a U.S. trade or business. In such a case, it would be subject to substantial U.S. income tax on its income.

Risk Factors

- Hypothetical Illustrations and Estimates
  - Estimates of the weighted average lives of the Class S, A, B, C, D and E Notes and the returns and duration of the Income Notes included herein, together with any other hypothetical illustrations and estimates provided to prospective purchasers of the Class S, A, B, C, D and, E Notes, are forward-looking statements. See "Hypothetical Illustrations and Pro Forma Information" on disclaimer page in the beginning of this book.
  - The hypothetical illustrations are only estimates. Actual results may vary, and the variations may be material. See "Hypothetical Illustrations and Pro Forma Information" on disclaimer page in the beginning of this book.
- Yield Due to Prepayments
  - The yield to maturity on the Income Notes could be affected by the rate of prepayment of the Collateral Assets. Payments to the Income Notes at a rate slower than the rate anticipated by investors purchasing the Income Notes at a discount will result in an actual yield that is lower than anticipated by such investors. Conversely, payments to the Income Notes at a rate faster than the rate anticipated by investors purchasing the Income Notes at a premium will result in an actual yield that is lower than anticipated by such investors.
- Changes in Tax Laws
  - The Collateral Assets are not permitted to be subject to withholding tax at the time of purchase, unless the issuer thereof is required to make "gross-up" payments. There can be no assurance that, as a result of any change in any applicable law, treaty, rule or regulation or interpretation thereof, the payments on the collateral might not in the future become subject to withholding tax which could adversely affect the amounts that would be available to make payments on the Income Notes and Secured Notes.
  - In case of a Withholding Tax Event (as defined in the Offering Circular), holders of more then 50% of any affected Note may require the issuer to liquidate the collateral on any Payment Date, and redeem the Class S, A, B, C, D and E Notes, prior to any distributions to holders of Income Notes.

Assumptions applicable to modeling runs (there can be no assurance that the transaction will reflect these assumptions):

- Expenses are paid at the end of each period at 0.01% per annum of the outstanding collateral balance. Analysis also includes, among other things, structuring fees, surveillance fees, underwriting fees and upfront legal plus other expenses totaling approximately [ ]% of the total collateral pool payable upfront and [ ]% of the outstanding collateral pool payable ongoing
- Asset payments received in CDO payment month are paid in that same applicable payment period
- Any sale proceeds and scheduled and unscheduled Principal Proceeds will be used, first, to redeem the Class A Notes until the Class A Note Target Overcollateralization Ratio is met, second, to redeem the Class B Notes until the Class B Note Target Overcollateralization Ratio is met, third, to redeem the Class C Notes until the Class C Note Target Overcollateralization Ratio is met and then will be paid to the Class D Notes
- Pro-rata payment among classes is assumed once the Target Overcollateralization levels are met unless defaults reduce Overcollateralization Ratios below Target Overcollateralization levels or if the collateral balance falls below $450mm
- After current interest (including interest on deferred and capitalized interest) is paid, the Class D Notes receive a scheduled principal payment (the "Class D Amortizing Principal Payment") equal to $[75,000] per quarter for the first 12 months and $[50,000] per quarter thereafter
- OC Test Levels: Class A/B – 101.5[ ] made on the 2nd of each month, and all collateral payments are assumed to be received 7.5 days prior to each payment
- While held in cash, all interest and principal receipts are assumed to earn a per annum rate of 1m LIBOR minus 0.25%
- No trading gains or call premiums are assumed
- Defaults, if applicable, start 18 months after issuance and default rate is assumed to be a percentage of outstanding collateral, unless otherwise specified
- Recoveries are realized immediately upon default at a 60% recovery rate

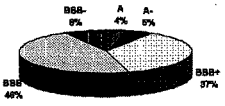
Transaction Overview

- Hudson Mezzanine Funding 2006-1 will be a static $2.0 billion cashflow CDO consisting of a diversified portfolio of single-name credit default swaps on RMBS securities.
- Goldman Sachs, & Co. ("Goldman") selects the assets.
- 60% of the assets will be single name CDS referencing all forty obligors in ABX 2006-1 and ABX 2006-2.
- The portfolio consists of collateral which is rated at least Baa3 and BBB- with an average rating of Baa2/Baa3. 100% will be real-estate related securities.
- Low fee structure and less "bar-bellied" portfolio than other mezzanine CDOs in the current market
- Goldman, as Liquidation Agent, will liquidate any asset determined to be a "credit risk" within 12 months of said determination. Credit Risk assets will include:
  - Any asset downgraded by Moody's or S&P below Ba3 or BB-
  - Any asset that is defaulted or would be experiencing a credit event as defined by the PAUG confirm
- There will be no reinvestment, substitution, discretionary trading or discretionary sales. After closing, assets that are determined to be "credit risk" will be sold by the Liquidation Agent within one year of such determination.
- Goldman will invest in a portion of the Income Notes at closing.



Structural Highlights

- Pure static structure eliminates reinvestment risk and shortens expected weighted average lives on liabilities
  - No reinvestment, substitution, or discretionary trading
  - Proceeds from credit-risk sales will be treated as principal paydowns or notional reduction of the Senior Swap
- Liquidation Agent Fees: 10 bps per annum
- 100% ramped at closing and 100% certainty of all assets in collateral portfolio to be included in transaction
- No fixed rate assets in the portfolio eliminates possibility of an interest rate swap hedge mismatch

I am concerned that the levels we put on the abx cdo for single-a and triple-bs do not compare favorably with the single-a off of a abx 1 + abx 2 trade.

We need a goog story as to why we think the risk is different.

MASTER AGREEMENT

dated as of December 1, 2006

have entered and/or anticipate entering into one or more transactions (each a "Transaction") that are or will be governed by this Master Agreement, which includes the schedule (the "Schedule"), and the documents and other confirming evidence (each a "Confirmation") exchanged between the parties confirming those Transactions. Accordingly, the parties agree as follows: —

1. Interpretation

(a) Definitions. The terms defined in Section 14 and in the Schedule will have the meanings therein specified for the purpose of this Master Agreement.

(b) Inconsistency. In the event of any inconsistency between the provisions of the Schedule and the other provisions of this Master Agreement, the Schedule will prevail. In the event of any inconsistency between the provisions of any Confirmation and this Master Agreement (including the Schedule), such Confirmation will prevail for the purpose of the relevant Transaction.

(c) Single Agreement. All Transactions are entered into in reliance on the fact that this Master Agreement and all Confirmations form a single agreement between the parties (collectively referred to as this "Agreement"), and the parties would not otherwise enter into any Transactions.

2. Obligations

(a) General Conditions.

(i) Each party will make each payment or delivery specified in each Confirmation to be made by it, subject to the other provisions of this Agreement.

(ii) Payments under this Agreement will be made on the due date for value on that date in the place of the account specified in the relevant Confirmation or otherwise pursuant to this Agreement, in freely transferable funds and in the manner customary for payments in the required currency. Where settlement is by delivery (that is, other than by payment), such delivery will be made for receipt on the due date in the manner customary for the relevant obligation unless otherwise specified in the relevant Confirmation or elsewhere in this Agreement.

(iii) Each obligation of each party under Section 2(a)(i) is subject to (1) the condition precedent that no Event of Default or Potential Event of Default with respect to the other party has occurred and is continuing, (2) the condition precedent that no Early Termination Date in respect of the relevant Transaction has occurred or been effectively designated and (3) each other applicable condition precedent specified in this Agreement.

(b) Change of Account. Either party may change its account for receiving a payment or delivery by giving notice to the other party at least five Local Business Days prior to the scheduled date for the payment or delivery to which such change applies unless such other party gives timely notice of a reasonable objection to such change.

(c) Netting. If on any date amounts would otherwise be payable:—

(i) in the same currency; and

(ii) in respect of the same Transaction,

by each party to the other, then, on such date, each party's obligation to make payment of any such amount will be automatically satisfied and discharged and, if the aggregate amount that would otherwise have been payable by one party exceeds the aggregate amount that would otherwise have been payable by the other party, replaced by an obligation upon the party by whom the larger aggregate amount would have been payable to pay to the other party the excess of the larger aggregate amount over the smaller aggregate amount.

The parties may elect in respect of two or more Transactions that a net amount will be determined in respect of all amounts payable on the same date in the same currency in respect of such Transactions, regardless of whether such amounts are payable in respect of the same Transaction. The election may be made in the Schedule or a Confirmation by specifying that subparagraph (ii) above will not apply to the Transactions identified as being subject to the election, together with the starting date (in which case subparagraph (ii) above will not, or will cease to, apply to such Transactions from such date). This election may be made separately for different groups of Transactions and will apply separately to each pairing of Offices through which the parties make and receive payments or deliveries.

(d) Deduction or Withholding for Tax.

(i) Gross-Up. All payments under this Agreement will be made without any deduction or withholding for or on account of any Tax unless such deduction or withholding is required by any applicable law, as modified by the practice of any relevant governmental revenue authority, then in effect. If a party is so required to deduct or withhold, then that party ("X") will:—

(1) promptly notify the other party ("Y") of such requirement;

(2) pay to the relevant authorities the full amount required to be deducted or withheld (including the full amount required to be deducted or withheld from any additional amount paid by X to Y under this Section 2(d)) promptly upon the earlier of determining that such deduction or withholding is required or receiving notice that such amount has been assessed against Y;

(3) promptly forward to Y an official receipt (or a certified copy), or other documentation reasonably acceptable to Y, evidencing such payment to such authorities; and

(4) if such Tax is an Indemnifiable Tax, pay to Y, in addition to the payment to which Y is otherwise entitled under this Agreement, such additional amount as is necessary to ensure that the net amount actually received by Y (free and clear of Indemnifiable Taxes, whether assessed against X or Y) will equal the full amount Y would have received had no such deduction or withholding been required. However, X will not be required to pay any additional amount to Y to the extent that it would not be required to be paid but for:—

(A) the failure by Y to comply with or perform any agreement contained in Section 4(a)(i), 4(a)(iii) or 4(d); or

(B) the failure of a representation made by Y pursuant to Section 3(f) to be accurate and true unless such failure would not have occurred but for (I) any action taken by a taxing authority, or brought in a court of competent jurisdiction, on or after the date on which a Transaction is entered into (regardless of whether such action is taken or brought with respect to a party to this Agreement) or (II) a Change in Tax Law.

(ii) Liability. If: —

(1) X is required by any applicable law, as modified by the practice of any relevant governmental revenue authority, to make any deduction or withholding in respect of which X would not be required to pay an additional amount to Y under Section 2(d)(i)(4);

(2) X does not so deduct or withhold; and

then, except to the extent Y has satisfied or then satisfies the liability resulting from such Tax, Y will promptly pay to X the amount of such liability (including any related liability for interest, but including any related liability for penalties only if Y has failed to comply with or perform any agreement contained in Section 4(a)(i), 4(a)(iii) or 4(d)).

(e) Default Interest; Other Amounts. Prior to the occurrence or effective designation of an Early Termination Date in respect of the relevant Transaction, a party that defaults in the performance of any payment obligation will, to the extent permitted by law and subject to Section 6(c), be required to pay interest (before as well as after judgment) on the overdue amount to the other party on demand in the same currency as such overdue amount, for the period from (and including) the original due date for payment to (but excluding) the date of actual payment, at the Default Rate. Such interest will be calculated on the basis of daily compounding and the actual number of days elapsed. If, prior to the occurrence or effective designation of an Early Termination Date in respect of the relevant Transaction, a party defaults in the performance of any obligation required to be settled by delivery, it will compensate the other party on demand if and to the extent provided for in the relevant Confirmation or elsewhere in this Agreement.

3. Representations

Each party represents to the other party (which representations will be deemed to be repeated by each party on each date on which a Transaction is entered into and, in the case of the representations in Section 3(f), at all times until the termination of this Agreement) that:—

(a) Basic Representations.

(i) Status. It is duly organised and validly existing under the laws of the jurisdiction of its organisation or incorporation and, if relevant under such laws, in good standing;

(ii) Powers. It has the power to execute this Agreement and any other documentation relating to this Agreement to which it is a party, to deliver this Agreement and any other documentation relating to this Agreement that it is required by this Agreement to deliver and to perform its obligations under this Agreement and any obligations it has under any Credit Support Document to which it is a party and has taken all necessary action to authorise such execution, delivery and performance;

(iii) No Violation or Conflict. Such execution, delivery and performance do not violate or conflict with any law applicable to it, any provision of its constitutional documents, any order or judgment of any court or other agency of government applicable to it or any of its assets or any contractual restriction binding on or affecting it or any of its assets;

(iv) Consents. All governmental and other consents that are required to have been obtained by it with respect to this Agreement or any Credit Support Document to which it is a party have been obtained and are in full force and effect and all conditions of any such consents have been complied with; and

(v) Obligations Binding. 5. Events of Default and Termination Events

(a) Events of Default. The occurrence at any time with respect to a party or, if applicable, any Credit Support Provider of such party or any Specified Entity of such party of any of the following events constitutes an event of default (an "Event of Default") with respect to such party:—

(i) Failure to Pay or Deliver. Failure by the party to make, when due, any payment under this Agreement or delivery under Section 2(a)(i) or 2(e) required to be made by it if such failure is not remedied on or before the third Local Business Day after notice of such failure is given to the party;

(ii) Breach of Agreement. Failure by the party to comply with or perform any agreement or obligation (other than an obligation to make any payment under this Agreement or delivery under Section 2(a)(i) or 2(e) or to give notice of a Termination Event or any agreement or obligation under Section 4(a)(i), 4(a)(iii) or 4(d)) to be complied with or performed by the party in accordance with this Agreement if such failure is not remedied on or before the thirtieth day after notice of such failure is given to the party;

(vii) Bankruptcy. The party, any Credit Support Provider of such party or any applicable Specified Entity of such party: —

(1) is dissolved (other than pursuant to a consolidation, amalgamation or merger); (2) becomes insolvent or is unable to pay its debts or fails or admits in writing its inability generally to pay its debts as they become due; (3) makes a general assignment, arrangement or composition with or for the benefit of its creditors; (4) institutes or has instituted against it a proceeding seeking a judgment of insolvency or bankruptcy or any other relief under any bankruptcy or insolvency law or other similar law affecting creditors' rights, or a petition is presented for its winding-up or liquidation, and, in the case of any such proceeding or petition instituted or presented against it, such proceeding or petition (A) results in a judgment of insolvency or bankruptcy or the entry of an order for relief or the making of an order for its winding-up or liquidation or (B) is not dismissed, discharged, stayed or restrained in each case within 30 days of the institution or presentation thereof; (5) has a resolution passed for its winding-up, official management or liquidation (other than pursuant to a consolidation, amalgamation or merger); (6) seeks or becomes subject to the appointment of an administrator, provisional liquidator, conservator, receiver, trustee, custodian or other similar official for it or for all or substantially all its assets; (7) has a secured party take possession of all or substantially all its assets or has a distress, execution, attachment, sequestration or other legal process levied, enforced or sued on or against all or substantially all its assets and such secured party maintains possession, or any such process is not dismissed, discharged, stayed or restrained, in each case within 30 days thereafter; (8) causes or is subject to any event with respect to it which, under the applicable laws of any jurisdiction, has an analogous effect to any of the events specified in clauses (1) to (7) (inclusive); or (9) takes any action in furtherance of, or indicating its consent to, approval of, or acquiescence in, any of the foregoing acts; or

(viii) Merger Without Assumption. The party or any Credit Support Provider of such party consolidates or amalgamates with, or merges with or into, or transfers all or substantially all its assets to, another entity and, at the time of such consolidation, amalgamation, merger or transfer: —

(1) the resulting, surviving or transferee entity fails to assume all the obligations of such party or such Credit Support Provider under this Agreement or any Credit Support Document to which it or its predecessor was a party by operation of law or pursuant to an agreement reasonably satisfactory to the other party to this Agreement; or

(2) the benefits of any Credit Support Document fail to extend (without the consent of the other party) to the performance by such resulting, surviving or transferee entity of its obligations under this Agreement.

(b) Termination Events. The occurrence at any time with respect to a party or, if applicable, any Credit Support Provider of such party or any Specified Entity of such party of any event specified below constitutes an Illegality if the event is specified in (i) below, a Tax Event if the event is specified in (ii) below or a Tax Event Upon Merger if the event is specified in (iii) below, and, if specified to be applicable, a Credit Event

Upon Merger if the event is specified pursuant to (iv) below or an Additional Termination Event if the event is specified pursuant to (v) below:—

(i) Illegality. Due to the adoption of, or any change in, any applicable law after the date on which a Transaction is entered into, or due to the promulgation of, or any change in, the interpretation by any court, tribunal or regulatory authority with competent jurisdiction of any applicable law after such date, it becomes unlawful (other than as a result of a breach by the party of Section 4(b)) for such party (which will be the Affected Party): —

(1) to perform any absolute or contingent obligation to make a payment or delivery or to receive a payment or delivery in respect of such Transaction or to comply with any other material provision of this Agreement relating to such Transaction; or

(2) to perform, or for any Credit Support Provider of such party to perform, any contingent or other obligation which the party (or such Credit Support Provider) has under any Credit Support Document relating to such Transaction;

(ii) Tax Event. Due to (x) any action taken by a taxing authority, or brought in a court of competent jurisdiction, on or after the date on which a Transaction is entered into (regardless of whether such action is taken or brought with respect to a party to this Agreement) or (y) a Change in Tax Law, the party (which will be the Affected Party) will, or there is a substantial likelihood that it will, on the next succeeding Scheduled Payment Date (1) be required to pay to the other party an additional amount in respect of an Indemnifiable Tax under Section 2(d)(i)(4) (except in respect of interest under Section 2(e), 6(d)(ii) or 6(e)) or (2) receive a payment from which an amount is required to be deducted or withheld for or on account of a Tax (except in respect of interest under Section 2(e), 6(d)(ii) or 6(e)) and no additional amount is required to be paid in respect of such Tax under Section 2(d)(i)(4) (other than by reason of Section 2(d)(i)(4)(A) or (B));

(iii) Tax Event Upon Merger. The party (the "Burdened Party") on the next succeeding Scheduled Payment Date will either (1) be required to pay an additional amount in respect of an Indemnifiable Tax under Section 2(d)(i)(4) (except in respect of interest under Section 2(e), 6(d)(ii) or 6(e)) or (2) receive a payment from which an amount has been deducted or withheld for or on account of any Indemnifiable Tax in respect of which the other party is not required to pay an additional amount (other than by reason of Section 2(d)(i)(4)(A) or (B)), in either case as a result of a party consolidating or amalgamating with, or merging with or into, or transferring all or substantially all its assets to, another entity (which will be the Affected Party) where such action does not constitute an event described in Section 5(a)(viii);

(iv) Credit Event Upon Merger. If "Credit Event Upon Merger" is specified in the Schedule as applying to the party, such party ("X"), any Credit Support Provider of X or any applicable Specified Entity of X consolidates or amalgamates with, or merges with or into, or transfers all or substantially all its assets to, another entity and such action does not constitute an event described in Section 5(a)(viii) but the creditworthiness of the resulting, surviving or transferee entity is materially weaker than that of X, such Credit Support Provider or such Specified Entity, as the case may be, immediately prior to such action (and, in such event, X or its successor or transferee, as appropriate, will be the Affected Party); or

(v) Additional Termination Event. If any "Additional Termination Event" is specified in the Schedule or any Confirmation as applying, the occurrence of such event (and, in such event, the Affected Party or Affected Parties shall be as specified for such Additional Termination Event in the Schedule or such Confirmation).

(c) Event of Default and Illegality. If an event or circumstance which would otherwise constitute or give rise to an Event of Default also constitutes an Illegality, it will be treated as an Illegality and will not constitute an Event of Default.

6. Early Termination

(a) Right to Terminate Following Event of Default. If at any time an Event of Default with respect to a party (the "Defaulting Party") has occurred and is then continuing, the other party (the "Non-defaulting Party") may, by not more than 20 days notice to the Defaulting Party specifying the relevant Event of Default, designate a day not earlier than the day such notice is effective as an Early Termination Date in respect of all outstanding Transactions. If, however, "Automatic Early Termination" is specified in the Schedule as applying to a party, then an Early Termination Date in respect of all outstanding Transactions will occur immediately upon the occurrence with respect to such party of an Event of Default specified in Section 5(a)(vii)(1), (3), (5), (6) or, to the extent analogous thereto, (8), and as of the time immediately preceding the institution of the relevant proceeding or the presentation of the relevant petition upon the occurrence with respect to such party of an Event of Default specified in Section 5(a)(vii)(4) or, to the extent analogous thereto, (8).

(b) Right to Terminate Following Termination Event.

(i) Notice. If a Termination Event occurs, an Affected Party will, promptly upon becoming aware of it, notify the other party, specifying the nature of that Termination Event and each Affected Transaction and will also give such other information about that Termination Event as the other party may reasonably require.

(ii) Transfer to Avoid Termination Event. If either an Illegality under Section 5(b)(i)(1) or a Tax Event occurs and there is only one Affected Party, or if a Tax Event Upon Merger occurs and the Burdened Party is the Affected Party, the Affected Party will, as a condition to its right to designate an Early Termination Date under Section 6(b)(iv), use all reasonable efforts (which will not require such party to incur a loss, excluding immaterial, incidental expenses) to transfer within 20 days after it gives notice under Section 6(b)(i) all its rights and obligations under this Agreement in respect of the Affected Transactions to another of its Offices or Affiliates so that such Termination Event ceases to exist.

If the Affected Party is not able to make such a transfer it will give notice to the other party to that effect within such 20 day period, whereupon the other party may effect such a transfer within 30 days after the notice is given under Section 6(b)(i).

Any such transfer by a party under this Section 6(b)(ii) will be subject to and conditional upon the prior written consent of the other party, which consent will not be withheld if such other party's policies in effect at such time would permit it to enter into transactions with the transferee on the terms proposed.

(iii) Two Affected Parties. If an Illegality under Section 5(b)(i)(1) or a Tax Event occurs and there are two Affected Parties, each party will use all reasonable efforts to reach agreement within 30 days after notice thereof is given under Section 6(b)(i) on action to avoid that Termination Event.

(iv) Right to Terminate. If: —

(1) a transfer under Section 6(b)(ii) or an agreement under Section 6(b)(iii), as the case may be, has not been effected with respect to all Affected Transactions within 30 days after an Affected Party gives notice under Section 6(b)(i); or

(2) an Illegality under Section 5(b)(i)(2), a Credit Event Upon Merger or an Additional Termination Event occurs, or a Tax Event Upon Merger occurs and the Burdened Party is not the Affected Party, either party in the case of an Illegality, the Burdened Party in the case of a Tax Event Upon Merger, any Affected Party in the case of a Tax Event or an Additional Termination Event if there is more than one Affected Party, or the party which is not the Affected Party in the case of a Credit Event Upon Merger or an Additional Termination Event if there is only one Affected Party may, by not more than 20 days notice to the other party and provided that the relevant Termination Event is then continuing, designate a day not earlier than the day such notice is effective as an Early Termination Date in respect of all Affected Transactions.

(c) Effect of Designation.

(i) If notice designating an Early Termination Date is given under Section 6(a) or (b), the Early Termination Date will occur on the date so designated, whether or not the relevant Event of Default or Termination Event is then continuing.

(ii) Upon the occurrence or effective designation of an Early Termination Date, no further payments or deliveries under Section 2(a)(i) or 2(e) in respect of the Terminated Transactions will be required to be made, but without prejudice to the other provisions of this Agreement. The amount, if any, payable in respect of an Early Termination Date shall be determined pursuant to Section 6(e).

(d) Calculations.

(i) Statement. On or as soon as reasonably practicable following the occurrence of an Early Termination Date, each party will make the calculations on its part, if any, contemplated by Section 6(e) and will provide to the other party a statement (1) showing, in reasonable detail, such calculations (including all relevant quotations and specifying any amount payable under Section 6(e)) and (2) giving details of the relevant account to which any amount payable to it is to be paid. In the absence of written confirmation from the source of a quotation obtained in determining a Market Quotation, the records of the party obtaining such quotation will be conclusive evidence of the existence and accuracy of such quotation.

(ii) Payment Date. An amount calculated as being due in respect of any Early Termination Date under Section 6(e) will be payable on the day that notice of the amount payable is effective (in the case of an Early Termination Date which is designated or occurs as a result of an Event of Default) and on the day which is two Local Business Days after the day on which notice of the amount payable is effective (in the case of an Early Termination Date which is designated as a result of a Termination Event). Such amount will be paid together with (to the extent permitted under applicable law) interest thereon (before as well as after judgment) in the Termination Currency, from (and including) the relevant Early Termination Date to (but excluding) the date such amount is paid, at the Applicable Rate. Such interest will be calculated on the basis of daily compounding and the actual number of days elapsed.

(e) Payments on Early Termination. If an Early Termination Date occurs, the following provisions shall apply based on the parties' election in the Schedule of a payment measure, either "Market Quotation" or "Loss", and a payment method, either the "First Method" or the "Second Method". If the parties fail to designate a payment measure or payment method in the Schedule, it will be deemed that "Market Quotation" or the "Second Method", as the case may be, shall apply. The amount, if any, payable in respect of an Early Termination Date and determined pursuant to this Section will be subject to any Set-off.

(i) Events of Default. If the Early Termination Date results from an Event of Default: —

(1) First Method and Market Quotation. If the First Method and Market Quotation apply, the Defaulting Party will pay to the Non-defaulting Party the excess, if a positive number, of (A) the sum of the Settlement Amount (determined by the Non-defaulting Party) in respect of the Terminated Transactions and the Termination Currency Equivalent of the Unpaid Amounts owing to the Non-defaulting Party over (B) the Termination Currency Equivalent of the Unpaid Amounts owing to the Defaulting Party.

(2) First Method and Loss. If the First Method and Loss apply, the Defaulting Party will pay to the Non-defaulting Party, if a positive number, the Non-defaulting Party's Loss in respect of this Agreement.

(3) Second Method and Market Quotation. If the Second Method and Market Quotation apply, an amount will be payable equal to (A) the sum of the Settlement Amount (determined by the Non-defaulting Party) in respect of the Terminated Transactions and the Termination Currency Equivalent of the Unpaid Amounts owing to the Non-defaulting Party less (B) the Termination Currency Equivalent of the Unpaid Amounts owing to the Defaulting Party. If that amount is a positive number, the Defaulting Party will pay it to the Non-defaulting Party; if it is a negative number, the Non-defaulting Party will pay the absolute value of that amount to the Defaulting Party.

(4) Second Method and Loss. If the Second Method and Loss apply, an amount will be payable equal to the Non-defaulting Party's Loss in respect of this Agreement. If that amount is a positive number, the Defaulting Party will pay it to the Non-defaulting Party; if it is a negative number, the Non-defaulting Party will pay the absolute value of that amount to the Defaulting Party.

(ii) Termination Events. If the Early Termination Date results from a Termination Event: —

(1) One Affected Party. If there is one Affected Party, the amount payable will be determined in accordance with Section 6(e)(i)(3), if Market Quotation applies, or Section 6(e)(i)(4), if Loss applies, except that, in either case, references to the Defaulting Party and to the Non-defaulting Party will be deemed to be references to the Affected Party and the party which is not the Affected Party, respectively, and, if Loss applies and fewer than all the Transactions are being terminated, Loss shall be calculated in respect of all Terminated Transactions.

(2) Two Affected Parties. If there are two Affected Parties: —

(A) if Market Quotation applies, each party will determine a Settlement Amount in respect of the Terminated Transactions, and an amount will be payable equal to (I) the sum of (a) one-half of the difference between the Settlement Amount of the party with the higher Settlement Amount ("X") and the Settlement Amount of the party with the lower Settlement Amount ("Y") and (b) the Termination Currency Equivalent of the Unpaid Amounts owing to X less (II) the Termination Currency Equivalent of the Unpaid Amounts owing to Y; and

(B) if Loss applies, each party will determine its Loss in respect of this Agreement (or, if fewer than all the Transactions are being terminated, in respect of all Terminated Transactions) and an amount will be payable equal to one-half of the difference between the Loss of the party with the higher Loss ("X") and the Loss of the party with the lower Loss ("Y").

If the amount payable is a positive number, Y will pay it to X; if it is a negative number, X will pay the absolute value of that amount to Y.

(iii) Adjustment for Bankruptcy. In circumstances where an Early Termination Date occurs because "Automatic Early Termination" applies in respect of a party, the amount determined under this Section 6(e) will be subject to such adjustments as are appropriate and permitted by law to reflect any payments or deliveries made by one party to the other under this Agreement (and retained by such other party) during the period from the relevant Early Termination Date to the date for payment determined under Section 6(d)(ii).

(iv) Pre-Estimate. The parties agree that if Market Quotation applies an amount recoverable under this Section 6(e) is a reasonable pre-estimate of loss and not a penalty. Such amount is payable for the loss of bargain and the loss of protection against future risks and except as otherwise provided in this Agreement neither party will be entitled to recover any additional damages as a consequence of such losses.

7. Transfer

Subject to Section 6(b)(ii), neither this Agreement nor any interest or obligation in or under this Agreement may be transferred (whether by way of security or otherwise) by either party without the prior written consent of the other party, except that: —

(a) a party may make such a transfer of this Agreement pursuant to a consolidation or amalgamation with, or merger with or into, or transfer of all or substantially all its assets to, another entity (but without prejudice to any other right or remedy under this Agreement); and

(b) a party may make such a transfer of all or any part of its interest in any amount payable to it from a Defaulting Party under Section 6(e).

Any purported transfer that is not in compliance with this Section will be void.

8. Contractual Currency

(a) Payment in the Contractual Currency. Each payment under this Agreement will be made in the relevant currency specified in this Agreement for that payment (the "Contractual Currency"). To the extent permitted by applicable law, any obligation to make payments under this Agreement in the Contractual Currency will not be discharged or satisfied by any tender in any currency other than the Contractual Currency, except to the extent such tender results in the actual receipt by the party to which payment is owed, acting in a reasonable manner and in good faith in converting the currency so tendered into the Contractual Currency, of the full amount in the Contractual Currency of all amounts payable in respect of this Agreement. If for any reason the amount in the Contractual Currency so received falls short of the amount in the Contractual Currency payable in respect of this Agreement, the party required to make the payment will, to the extent permitted by applicable law, immediately pay such additional amount in the Contractual Currency as may be necessary to compensate for the shortfall. If for any reason the amount in the Contractual Currency so received exceeds the amount in the Contractual Currency payable in respect of this Agreement, the party receiving the payment will refund promptly the amount of such excess.

(b) Judgments. To the extent permitted by applicable law, if any judgment or order expressed in a currency other than the Contractual Currency is rendered (i) for the payment of any amount owing in respect of this Agreement, (ii) for the payment of any amount relating to any early termination in respect of this Agreement or (iii) in respect of a judgment or order of another court for the payment of any amount described in (i) or (ii) above, the party seeking recovery, after recovery in full of the aggregate amount to which such party is entitled pursuant to the judgment or order, will be entitled to receive immediately from the other party the amount of any shortfall of the Contractual Currency received by such party as a consequence of sums paid in such other currency and will refund promptly to the other party any excess of the Contractual Currency received by such party as a consequence of sums paid in such other currency if such shortfall or such excess arises or results from any variation between the rate of exchange at which the Contractual Currency is converted into the currency of the judgment or order for the purposes of such judgment or order and the rate of exchange at which such party is able, acting in a reasonable manner and in good faith in converting the currency received into the Contractual Currency, to purchase the Contractual Currency with the amount of the currency of the judgment or order actually received by such party. The term "rate of exchange" includes, without limitation, any premiums and costs of exchange payable in connection with the purchase of or conversion into the Contractual Currency.

(c) Separate Indemnities. To the extent permitted by applicable law, these indemnities constitute separate and independent obligations from the other obligations in this Agreement, will be enforceable as separate and independent causes of action, will apply notwithstanding any indulgence granted by the party to which any payment is owed and will not be affected by judgment being obtained or claim or proof being made for any other sums payable in respect of this Agreement.

(d) Evidence of Loss. For the purpose of this Section 8, it will be sufficient for a party to demonstrate that it would have suffered a loss had an actual exchange or purchase been made.

9. Miscellaneous

(a) Entire Agreement. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement and understanding of the parties with respect to its subject matter and supersedes all oral communication and prior writings with respect thereto.

(b) Amendments. No amendment, modification or waiver in respect of this Agreement will be effective unless in writing (including a writing evidenced by a facsimile transmission) and executed by each of the parties or confirmed by an exchange of telexes or electronic messages on an electronic messaging system.

(c) Survival of Obligations. Without prejudice to Sections 2(a)(iii) and 6(c)(ii), the obligations of the parties under this Agreement will survive the termination of any Transaction.

(d) Remedies Cumulative. Except as provided in this Agreement, the rights, powers, remedies and privileges provided in this Agreement are cumulative and not exclusive of any rights, powers, remedies and privileges provided by law.

(e) Counterparts and Confirmations.

(i) This Agreement (and each amendment, modification and waiver in respect of it) may be executed and delivered in counterparts (including by facsimile transmission), each of which will be deemed an original.

(ii) The parties intend that they are legally bound by the terms of each Transaction from the moment they agree to those terms (whether orally or otherwise). A Confirmation shall be entered into as soon as practicable and may be executed and delivered in counterparts (including by facsimile transmission) or be created by an exchange of telexes or by an exchange of electronic messages on an electronic messaging system, which in each case will be sufficient for all purposes to evidence a binding supplement to this Agreement. The parties will specify therein or through another effective means that any such counterpart, telex or electronic message constitutes a Confirmation.

(f) No Waiver of Rights. A failure or delay in exercising any right, power or privilege in respect of this Agreement will not be presumed to operate as a waiver, and a single or partial exercise of any right, power or privilege will not be presumed to preclude any subsequent or further exercise, of that right, power or privilege or the exercise of any other right, power or privilege.

(g) Headings. The headings used in this Agreement are for convenience of reference only and are not to affect the construction of or to be taken into consideration in interpreting this Agreement.

10. Offices; Multibranch Parties

(a) If Section 10(a) is specified in the Schedule as applying, each party that enters into a Transaction through an Office other than its head or home office represents to the other party that, notwithstanding the place of booking office or jurisdiction of incorporation or organisation of such party, the obligations of such party are the same as if it had entered into the Transaction through its head or home office. This representation will be deemed to be repeated by such party on each date on which a Transaction is entered into.

(b) Neither party may change the Office through which it makes and receives payments or deliveries for the purpose of a Transaction without the prior written consent of the other party.

(c) If a party is specified as a Multibranch Party in the Schedule, such Multibranch Party may make and receive payments or deliveries under any Transaction through any Office listed in the Schedule, and the Office through which it makes and receives payments or deliveries with respect to a Transaction will be specified in the relevant Confirmation.

11. Expenses

A Defaulting Party will, on demand, indemnify and hold harmless the other party for and against all reasonable out-of-pocket expenses, including legal fees and Stamp Tax, incurred by such other party by reason of the enforcement and protection of its rights under this Agreement or any Credit Support Document to which the Defaulting Party is a party or by reason of the early termination of any Transaction, including, but not limited to, costs of collection.

12. Notices

(a) Effectiveness. Any notice or other communication in respect of this Agreement may be given in any manner set forth below (except that a notice or other communication under Section 5 or 6 may not be given by facsimile transmission or electronic messaging system) to the address or number or in accordance with the electronic messaging system details provided (see the Schedule) and will be deemed effective as indicated:—

(i) if in writing and delivered in person or by courier, on the date it is delivered;

(ii) if sent by telex, on the date the recipient's answerback is received;

(iii) if sent by facsimile transmission, on the date that transmission is received by a responsible employee of the recipient in legible form (it being agreed that the burden of proving receipt will be on the sender and will not be met by a transmission report generated by the sender's facsimile machine);

(iv) if sent by certified or registered mail (airmail, if overseas) or the equivalent (return receipt requested), on the date that mail is delivered or its delivery is attempted; or

(v) if sent by electronic messaging system, on the date that electronic message is received, unless the date of that delivery (or attempted delivery) or that receipt, as applicable, is not a Local Business Day or that communication is delivered (or attempted) or received, as applicable, after the close of business on a Local Business Day, in which case that communication shall be deemed given and effective on the first following day that is a Local Business Day.

(b) Change of Addresses. Either party may by notice to the other change the address, telex or facsimile number or electronic messaging system details at which notices or other communications are to be given to it.

13. Governing Law and Jurisdiction

(i) submits to the jurisdiction of the English courts, if this Agreement is expressed to be governed by English law, or to the non-exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of the State of New York and the United States District Court located in the Borough of Manhattan in New York City, if this Agreement is expressed to be governed by the laws of the State of New York; and

(ii) waives any objection which it may have at any time to the laying of venue of any Proceedings brought in any such court, waives any claim that such Proceedings have been brought in an inconvenient forum and further waives the right to object, with respect to such Proceedings, that such court does not have any jurisdiction over such party.

Nothing in this Agreement precludes either party from bringing Proceedings in any other jurisdiction (outside, if this Agreement is expressed to be governed by English law, the Contracting States, as defined in Section 1(3) of the Civil Jurisdiction and Judgments Act 1982 or any modification, extension or re-enactment thereof for the time being in force) nor will the bringing of Proceedings in any one or more jurisdictions preclude the bringing of Proceedings in any other jurisdiction.

(c) Service of Process. Each party irrevocably appoints the Process Agent (if any) specified opposite its name in the Schedule to receive, for it and on its behalf, service of process in any Proceedings. If for any

The parties irrevocably consent to service of process given in the manner provided for notices in Section 12. Nothing in this Agreement will affect the right of either party to serve process in any other manner permitted by law.

(d) Waiver of Immunities. Each party irrevocably waives, to the fullest extent permitted by applicable law, with respect to itself and its revenues and assets (irrespective of their use or intended use), all immunity on the grounds of sovereignty or other similar grounds from (i) suit, (ii) jurisdiction of any court, (iii) relief by way of injunction, order for specific performance or for recovery of property, (iv) attachment of its assets (whether before or after judgment) and (v) execution or enforcement of any judgment to which it or its revenues or assets might otherwise be entitled in any Proceedings in the courts of any jurisdiction and irrevocably agrees, to the extent permitted by applicable law, that it will not claim any such immunity in any Proceedings.

"Defaulting Party" has the meaning specified in Section 6(a).

"Early Termination Date" means the date determined in accordance with Section 6(a) or 6(b)(iv).

"Illegality" has the meaning specified in Section 5(b).

"Indemnifiable Tax" means any Tax other than a Tax that would not be imposed in respect of a payment under this Agreement but for a present or former connection between the jurisdiction of the government or taxation authority imposing such Tax and the recipient of such payment or a person related to such recipient (including, without limitation, a connection arising from such recipient or related person being or having been a citizen or resident of such jurisdiction, or being or having been organised, present or engaged in a trade or business in such jurisdiction, or having or having had a permanent establishment or fixed place of business in such jurisdiction, but excluding a connection arising solely from such recipient or related person having executed, delivered, performed its obligations or received a payment under, or enforced, this Agreement or a Credit Support Document).

"Loss" means, with respect to this Agreement or one or more Terminated Transactions, as the case may be, and a party, the Termination Currency Equivalent of an amount that party reasonably determines in good faith to be its total losses and costs (or gain, in which case expressed as a negative number) in connection with this Agreement or that Terminated Transaction or group of Terminated Transactions, as the case may be, including any loss of bargain, cost of funding or, at the election of such party but without duplication, loss or cost incurred as a result of its terminating, liquidating, obtaining or reestablishing any hedge or related trading position (or any gain resulting from any of them). Loss includes losses and costs (or gains) in respect of any payment or delivery required to have been made (assuming satisfaction of each applicable condition precedent) on or before the relevant Early Termination Date and not made, except, so as to avoid duplication, if Section 6(e)(i)(1) or (3) or 6(e)(ii)(2)(A) applies. Loss does not include a party's legal fees and out-of-pocket expenses referred to under Section 11. A party will determine its Loss as of the relevant Early Termination Date, or, if that is not reasonably practicable, as of the earliest date thereafter as is reasonably practicable. A party may (but need not) determine its Loss by reference to quotations of relevant rates or prices from one or more leading dealers in the relevant markets.

"Market Quotation" means, with respect to one or more Terminated Transactions and a party making the determination, an amount determined on the basis of quotations from Reference Market-makers. been required after that date. For this purpose, Unpaid Amounts in respect of the Terminated Transaction or group of Terminated Transactions are to be excluded but, without limitation, any payment or delivery that would, but for the relevant Early Termination Date, have been required (assuming satisfaction of each applicable condition precedent) after that Early Termination Date is to be included. The Replacement Transaction would be subject to such documentation as such party and the Reference Market-maker may, in good faith, agree. The party making the determination (or its agent) will request each Reference Market-maker to provide its quotation to the extent reasonably practicable as of the same day and time (without regard to different time zones) on or as soon as reasonably practicable after the relevant Early Termination Date. The day and time as of which those quotations are to be obtained will be selected in good faith by the party obliged to make a determination under Section 6(e), and, if each party is so obliged, after consultation with the other. If more than three quotations are provided, the Market Quotation will be the arithmetic mean of the quotations, without regard to the quotations having the highest and lowest values. If exactly three such quotations are provided, the Market Quotation will be the quotation remaining after disregarding the highest and lowest quotations. For this purpose, if more than one quotation has the same highest value or lowest value, then one of such quotations shall be disregarded. If fewer than three quotations are provided, it will be deemed that the Market Quotation in respect of such Terminated Transaction or group of Terminated Transactions cannot be determined.

"Reference Market-makers" means four leading dealers in the relevant market selected by the party determining a Market Quotation in good faith (a) from among dealers of the highest credit standing which satisfy all the criteria that such party applies generally at the time in deciding whether to offer or to make an extension of credit and (b) to the extent practicable, from among such dealers having an office in the same city.

"Relevant Jurisdiction" means, with respect to a party, the jurisdictions (a) in which the party is incorporated, organised, managed and controlled or considered to have its seat, (b) where an Office through which the party is acting for purposes of this Agreement is located, (c) in which the party executes this Agreement and (d) in relation to any payment, from or through which such payment is made.

"Settlement Amount" means, with respect to a party and any Early Termination Date, the sum of: —

(a) the Termination Currency Equivalent of the Market Quotations (whether positive or negative) for each Terminated Transaction or group of Terminated Transactions for which a Market Quotation is determined; and

(b) such party's Loss (whether positive or negative and without reference to any Unpaid Amounts) for each Terminated Transaction or group of Terminated Transactions for which a Market Quotation cannot be determined or would not (in the reasonable belief of the party making the determination) produce a commercially reasonable result.

"Specified Entity" has the meanings specified in the Schedule.

REF NO: See Annex C

The purpose of this letter (the "Confirmation") is to confirm the terms and conditions of the Credit Derivative Transactions entered into on the Trade Date specified below (each, a Component Transaction, and collectively, the "Transaction") by Goldman Sachs International ("GSI"), guaranteed by The Goldman Sachs Group, Inc. ("Goldman Group"), and Hudson Mezzanine Funding 2006-1, Ltd. ("Counterparty"). This Confirmation constitutes a "Confirmation" as referred to in the ISDA Master Agreement specified below.

This Confirmation is subject to, and incorporates by reference, the 2003 ISDA Credit Derivatives Definitions (the "Credit Derivatives Definitions"), as published by the International Swaps and Derivatives Association, Inc. All provisions contained in, or incorporated by reference to, the Agreement shall govern this Confirmation except as expressly modified below. In the event of any inconsistency between this Confirmation, the Credit Derivatives Definitions, or the Agreement, as the case may be, this Confirmation will control for purposes of each Component Transaction to which this Confirmation relates.

References in this Confirmation to a "Reference Obligation" shall be to the terms of such Reference Obligation (as defined below) set out in the related Underlying Instruments (as defined below) as amended from time to time unless otherwise specified below.

GSI and Counterparty agree that, by entering into this Transaction, they have entered into a separate and independent Credit Derivative Transaction (a "Component Transaction") in respect of each Reference Obligation listed in Annex C attached hereto. (b) Calculation Agent and Buyer and Seller Determinations

The Calculation Agent shall be responsible for determining and calculating (i) the Fixed Amount payable on each Fixed Rate Payer Payment Date; (ii) the occurrence of a Floating Amount Event and the related Floating Amount and (iii) the occurrence of an Additional Fixed Payment Event and the related Additional Fixed Amount; provided that notwithstanding the above, each of Buyer and Seller shall be entitled to determine and calculate the above amounts to the extent that Buyer or Seller, as applicable, has the right to deliver a notice to the other party demanding payment of such amount. Counterparty hereby agrees to maintain any principal proceeds received with respect to the Collateral in the Collateral Account unless another disposition is otherwise authorized hereunder or under the Indenture.

The Counterparty agrees to pledge the Collateral (and the principal proceeds therefrom) deposited from time to time in the Collateral Account and its rights under the Senior Swap and the Collateral Put Agreement to GSI as security for its obligations under the Transaction and grants to GSI a first priority security interest in and lien on all Collateral (and the principal proceeds therefrom) in the Collateral Account in accordance with the Indenture. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Confirmation, GSI acknowledges and agrees that in accordance with the terms of the Indenture, Counterparty's obligations (other than any obligation of Counterparty to pay to GSI any Defaulted Swap Termination Payments) under each Component Transaction will be satisfied by the assets deposited to the Collateral Account. Amounts owing to the GSI will be due and payable in accordance with the terms of this Transaction and will be drawn (i) from the Collateral Account in accordance with the Collateral Liquidation Procedure, and with the benefit of Counterparty's rights under the Collateral Put Agreement, where applicable, and (ii) once the balance of the Collateral Account has been reduced to zero, by demanding payment under the Senior Swap in an amount equal to the lesser of Counterparty's obligations due and the Senior Swap Notional Amount. Counterparty's obligation to pay GSI any Defaulted Swap Termination Payment will not be paid in accordance with the foregoing, but instead will be satisfied only by Proceeds available therefor in accordance with the Priority of Payments. If the Collateral Assets and Counterparty's rights under the Senior Swap are insufficient to satisfy Counterparty's obligations in respect of any Component Transaction hereunder, any such residual obligations of Counterparty shall be extinguished and of no further force or effect.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

For value received, The Goldman Sachs Group, Inc. (the "Guarantor"), a corporation duly organized under the laws of the State of Delaware, hereby unconditionally guarantees the prompt and complete payment when due, whether by acceleration or otherwise, of all obligations and liabilities, whether now in existence or hereafter arising, of Goldman Sachs International, a subsidiary of the Guarantor and an unlimited liability company duly organized under the laws of England (the "Company"), to Hudson Mezzanine Funding 2006-1, Ltd. (the "Counterparty") arising out of or under the ISDA Master Agreement between the Company and the Counterparty dated as of December 1, 2006 (the "Obligations"). This Guaranty is one of payment and not of collection.

The Guarantor hereby waives notice of acceptance of this Guaranty and notice of the Obligations, and waives presentment, demand for payment, protest, notice of dishonour or non-payment of the Obligations, suit or the taking of other action by Counterparty against, and any other notice to, the Company, the Guarantor or others.

The Counterparty may at any time and from time to time without notice to or consent of the Guarantor and without impairing or releasing the obligations of the Guarantor hereunder: (1) agree with the Company to make any change in the terms of the Obligations; (2) take or fail to take any action of any kind in respect of any security for the Obligations; (3) exercise or refrain from exercising any rights against the Company or others in respect of the Obligations; or (4) compromise or subordinate the Obligations, including any security therefor. Any other suretyship defenses are hereby waived by the Guarantor.

This Guaranty shall continue in full force and effect until the opening of business on the fifth business day after Counterparty receives written notice of termination from the Guarantor. It is understood and agreed, however, that notwithstanding any such termination this Guaranty shall continue in full force and effect with respect to all Obligations which shall have been incurred prior to such termination.

The Guarantor may not assign its rights nor delegate its obligations under this Guaranty, in whole or in part, without prior written consent of the Counterparty, and any purported assignment or delegation absent such consent is void, except for an assignment and delegation of all of the Guarantor's rights and obligations hereunder in whatever form the Guarantor determines may be appropriate to a partnership, corporation, trust or other organization in whatever form that succeeds to all or substantially all of the Guarantor's assets and business and that assumes such obligations by contract, operation of law or otherwise. Upon any such delegation and assumption of obligations, the Guarantor shall be relieved of and fully discharged from all obligations hereunder, whether such obligations arose before or after such delegation and assumption.

THIS GUARANTY SHALL BE GOVERNED BY AND CONSTRUED IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE INTERNAL LAWS OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK WITHOUT GIVING EFFECT TO PRINCIPLES OF CONFLICTS OF LAW. GUARANTOR AGREES TO THE EXCLUSIVE JURISDICTION OF COURTS LOCATED IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, OVER ANY DISPUTES ARISING UNDER OR RELATING TO THIS GUARANTY.

Very truly yours,

Subject: Cambridge Place deal

Cambridge is upset that we are delaying their deal. They know that Hudson Mezz (GS prop deal) is pushing their deal back.
We are calling the PM at Cambridge ([redacted]) and [redacted] today to discuss their deal and timing.
Are you ok if we upsize their deal to $800mm from $600mm? This allows them to continue ramping and we take additional equity placement risk (beyond the 60% of equity going into ORCA). Deal is in good shape and we have pre-interest in the entire AA class and half the BBBs and a third of the super seniors. This will price in Dec. or January.

Josh,

Tried calling. Sobel this morning in the firmwide risk committee mentioned that we have circled up the junior and some of the equity tranches.

Would like to get an update on this and have some follow up questions.

Please let me know when is a good time to call.

70 is NOT going to work on Hudson Mezz equity. 90 would work.

100 is a no-loss yield of 22%
95 is a no-loss yield of 24%
90 is a no-loss yield of 26%.
85 is a no-loss yield of 29%

We have a 6mm of firm equity orders at par and we have only been marketing this equity for two weeks (60mm of total equity).

We see value in a large 30mm order and can offer 90 dollar price to help achieve that. We are reasonable and will listen to levels around 90.

The guy at Schroders looking at this deal has one main issue has has to get over:

He is worried about how he is going to convince his boss to invest in a pool of sub prime mortgages with probably their greatest exposures in California and Florida. He is nervous on US house prices.
Pretty fundamental question, but do we have a couple of key massages I shuld prepare him with?
I have some background material on the mortgage market from Gasvoda's team, but anything specific material beyond this we can offer?
I have made the point repeatedly (to the point where he should be able to repeat it verbatim to his boss) that he has structural protenction underneath each BBB seculty in the pool, and same again in the CDO. Also discussed the value of diversity and the fact that most property price crashes and mass mortgage defaults tend to be localised, which should give him further comfort.
Anything else you would offer? He is not a big believer in the Moody's data and ratings system.
I WANT THIS GUY THERE AND IN SIZE! Please help if you can – just three bullet points would help.

We should discuss this live, but I think their likelihood of getting principal back is almost zero, given market implied pricings for ABX:

-- ABX.HE.BBB.06-1 @ 91 px
-- ABX.HE.BBB-.06-1 @ 86 px
-- ABX.HE.BBB.06-2 @ 81 px
-- ABX.HE.BBB-.06-2 @ 71 px

The blended price of the ABX component of that portfolio (60% of the transaction) is approx 82, meaning that the equity has no NAV coverage. This piece of risk should trade like an IO, and the the main risk at this point is downgrade risk that could cause triggers to fail and cause their equity cashflows to shutoff for good.

Ben will give you more insight as to how the triggers are structured, and how much downgrades could cause those triggers to be activated...

some thoughts on the following:

1. Putting aside current pricing, I would have thought a form of delta hedging their exposures to either troublesome single names, or the ABX indices as a whole might work to some extent. In "normal" conditions, what sorts of strategies would you suggest?

2. In the context of current pricing, is there some compromise or variation on the above that might be helpful to them. Their main objective is ensuring recovery of principal. Presumably very challenging in the context of current markets.

I should have prefaced the above with the fact that I do not believe that they are about to hedge this position – the horse has bolted in pricing terms. They are no doubt getting questions from the company's board as to what could be done, as a learning exercise, and potentially as a complete downside case.

We will also point out that if they put on a hedge on the ABX and the index started screaming in they would have a very serious mark to market issue on their hands.

All thoughts welcome.

Cheers

Re: Placing debt and equity on a static mezzanine structured prodoct CDO with GSC Partners ("GSC")

I. Introduction

We have been asked to structure a $500 million mezzanine structured product CDO backed by a portfolio of RMBS, CMBS, CDO and ABS with an average rating of Baa2/Baa3 ("Hudson Mezzanine Funding II"). Goldman will be engaged by Hudson Mezzanine Funding II as Liquidation Agent and in this role will have the responsibility of liquidating "Credit Risk Assets" (defined below in section III). Goldman and GSC Partners ("GSC") will co-select the portfolio that will collateralize the CDO. GSC Eliot Bridge, a CDO equity fund managed by GSC, has pre-committed to purchase 50% of the equity in the CDO (total equity will be approx. $17.0 MM) upon closing of the transaction. GSC Eliot Bridge will share 50% of the warehouse risk on the first $20 MM of potential loss exposure during the portfolio ramp-up and will initially post $5.0 MM to collateralize this commitment, with additional posting up to $10.0 MM as the portfolio ramps.

We do not expect to charge any upfront fee and similarly, GSC will not charge any ongoing management fee. Without fees, the equity yield is expected to be approximately 35%. We expect to retain a senior IO security which will reduce the CDO equity's yield to approximately 20%. This is the level we intend to offer equity to third parties.

In return for our role as Liquidation Agent, Goldman will receive an ongoing fee of 0.10% of the CDOs par portfolio balance. Total economics to Goldman are expected to be $5.5 MM upfront (includes the premium sale on equity and net carry from the warehouse) and $500k per annum over a 4 duration (the ongoing P&L of 0.10% for acting as liquidation agent which we cannot recognize upfront).

As Liquidation agent, Goldman will liquidate assets determined by the Trustee to be "Credit Risk Assets" based on specific guidelines. Goldman will have 12 months to sell these assets. Sales will be made under a competitive bidding process whereby we will solicit three outside bids and select the highest. Goldman's role in this transaction is comparable to the role we currently assume in the Hout Bay and Hudson HG transactions. Prior to executing Hout Bay I, in which we also played the Liquidation Agent role, we spoke with multiple counterparties as to our role as Liquidation Agent. We received approval for our role in this transaction from legal and accounting. We spoke with outside counsel, Orrick Herrington, and they were comfortable providing true sale and non-consolidation opinions for the transaction. We spoke with Mary Marr in Accounting Policy and John Little in Product Control, and they in collaboration with PricewaterhouseCoopers were comfortable that the Hout Bay transaction met true sale and non-consolidation conditions from an accounting perspective. Finally, we spoke with outside counsel, Wilmer Cutler, about potential issues related to the Investment Advisor Act. They are of the opinion that our role of Liquidation Agent does not cause us to be deemed an Investment Advisor based on an exception to the Advisors Act for a "limited grant of discretion". For a more detailed account of Goldman's role as Liquidation Agent and related discussions with legal and accounting counterparts please see section III, "The Liquidation Agent: Goldman".

We expect to offer the subordinate triple-A, double-A, single-A and triple-B debt to the market through our syndicate. Goldman has no commitment on any of the offered notes, but Goldman may be subject to warehouse losses in the event the CDO does not close.

Goldman Sachs has a strong relationship with GSC. We closed a $300 MM middle market CLO with GSC in January 2006 (equity in the CLO was purchased by GSC Capital Corp.), earning $2.4 MM in structuring fees. We are currently marketing a high grade transaction with GSC and have a single-A focused structured product CDO ramping. In addition Goldman and GSC are working together on a CDO equity sponsorship vehicle, ORCA Funding. The head of the structured products team at GSC worked with us at [redacted] to moving to GSC, mandating us on the [redacted] high grade CDO transactions, totaling $6 billion in issuance and $40mm in fees to GS.

II. Transaction Overview

A Cayman Islands limited liability company (the "Issuer") will be established which will purchase the warehoused portfolio at closing and will issue the following notes and equity:

Class	Balance	% of Capital Structure	Expected Ratings (Moody's/S&P)	Expected Spread	Expected Average Life
Class A-1 Notes	$325.0 MM	65.0%	Aaa/AAA	L+30bp	5.0
Class A-2 Notes	50.0 MM	10.0%	Aaa/AAA	L+45bp	5.0
Class B Notes	40.0 MM	8.0%	Aa2/AA	L+60bp	5.5
Class C Notes	35.0 MM	7.0%	A2/A	L+145bp	6.0
Class D Notes	28.5 MM	5.7%	Baa2/BBB	L+325bp	7.0
Class E Notes	4.5 MM	0.9%	Ba2/BBB	L+650bp	7.8
Income Notes	17.0 MM	3.4%	NR	NA	NA
Portfolio	$500.0 MM	100.0%	Avg. A1/A2	L+165bp	5.5

The transaction will have a legal maturity of 35 years, however the expected average life of the Notes will be approximately 5-7 years. The equity will also have the option to call the transaction after a 3 year non-call period.

P&L to Goldman will be approximately $5.5 MM upfront and $500k per annum thereafter over a 4 duration. In return for fees and 50% of the net warehouse carry (50% of the net carry will be approx. $0.5 MM), Goldman will (a) take half of the warehouse risk on the first $40 MM of losses and 100% of the warehouse risk if losses exceed $40 MM and (b) place the Class A, B, C, D, and E Notes and may place a portion of the Income Notes (the Income Notes are the equity class) on a "best efforts" basis (Goldman has committed to purchase 50% of the Income Notes and GSC has committed to purchase the other 50%). GSC would like to hold only 25% of the Income Notes upon closing, but we have agreed to sell down our commitments pro-rata and equally purchase any remaining equity.

Collateral Description

- 100% of the CDO portfolio will be identified at closing.
- 100% of the portfolio will be rated at least Baa3 by Moody's or BBB- by S&P.

- The portfolio is expected to be approximately 80% subprime RMBS, 15% prime and Alt-A RMBS, 5% CMBS and SP CDOs. Up to 100% of the portfolio may be single-name synthetic exposures.

III. Collateral Manager

GSC Partners was established in 1994 by Alfred C. Eckert, III, former Partner and Head of Private Equity/Distressed Debt Investing and Corporate Finance at Goldman Sachs. The team consists of 80 persons worldwide, 36 of whom are investment professionals.

GSC Partners has over $7.2bn in assets under management, with over $3.3bn invested in structured credit. Six CDO/CLO funds have been raised since 2000.

In early 2005, Frederick H. Horton joined GSC Partners from TCW to build a structured products platform at GSC. Since joining GSC, the structured products group has issued a private mortgage REIT, GSC Capital Corp, and two synthetic mezzanine structured product CDOs.

For GSC, this CDO is an opportunity to grow their existing structured product CDO platform. For Goldman, the CDO will provide an opportunity to enhance our strategic relationship with GSC and maintain our leadership in the high grade structured product CDO market.

IV. Underwriting Commitments:

Goldman Sachs will act as sole placement agent of the Class A, B, C, D, and E Notes and the Income Notes and will be working on a "best efforts" basis on all of the debt and has a firm commitment on 50% of the Income Notes. GSC Capital Corp. is pre-committed to purchase 50% of the Income Notes.

The primary demand for mezzanine notes / equity in these types of transactions comes from European, Australian, and Asian banking and insurance institutions, US asset managers, other structured investment vehicles, and CDO equity funds. These various accounts continue to express interest in gaining a leveraged exposure to the U.S. structured product market. The structured product CDO vehicle allows them to gain this exposure on a diversified basis.

We expect to purchase approximately $2-8 MM of the equity on the pricing date, but we will have no commitment to hold such position after closing.

Goldman's current portfolio of CDO and CLO equity held within the CDO group is detailed in Appendix B.

V. Portfolio Ramp-Up and Equity Marketing

Initially, Goldman will assume 50% of first loss risk in the warehouse on the first $40 MM of losses and 100% of second loss risk above $40 MM in the event the CDO fails to close. GSC Capital Corp. will be taking 50% of first loss risk in the warehouse on the first $40 MM and will initially post $5.0 MM to collateralize this commitment. Goldman will have full recourse to GSC Capital Corp. (currently $150-200 MM in capital) for losses in excess of the posted amount but not to exceed $20 MM and will have the right to liquidate the portfolio upon any material negative mark-to-market.

Additionally, we will continue to pursue early equity and mezzanine debt commitments from additional investors to reduce the risk of a failed closing. Appendix A details our current warehouse exposures across the CDO group.

The general terms of the portfolio ramp-up are as follows:

- GS has the right to veto all asset purchases and GSC has the right to veto all asset purchases;
- GS has unilateral right to liquidate an asset or the warehouse;
- All assets are sold-forward to the CDO at time of purchase and the forward price covers any hedge or trading gains/losses on assets during the warehouse phase;

66052.269

- 50% of positive carry will be paid to GS (positive carry is equal to any net income in excess of Goldman's cost of financing during the warehousing period). Net carry is expected to be approximately $1.0 MM which will be shared 50/50 between Goldman and GSC Capital Corp.
- Position sizes will be limited to $20 MM for assets rated single-A or higher and $10 MM for triple-B assets.

VI. Expected Fees

Goldman expects to recognize P&L equal to 1.0% times the par balance of the collateral portfolio. We expect a $500 MM transaction and the P&L, in that case, would be $5.0 MM. Additionally, Goldman expects to earn profits by selling assets into the CDO and from Goldman's share of warehouse net carry (which is estimated to be $0.5 MM) and from our ongoing role as liquidation agent (which will be $500k per annum on a 4 duration).

VII. Reasons to Pursue

We are pursuing this transaction for the following reasons:

1. Goldman is approving every asset going into the warehouse. The respective trading desks are posted on each asset offered into the CDO by GSC from the street and we do not accept any asset that is not approved by the respective trading desk. In addition, we expect that 30-40% of the portfolio by closing will come from Goldman's offerings.

2. Although we will be marketing a $500 MM transaction, Goldman can price the transaction earlier with a lower balance if we are concerned about future market conditions or we can upsize the transaction if there are reasons to merit that action.

3. We will be offering the equity to third party investors with a no-loss yield of 18-20% which is consistent with CDO equity from mezzanine structured product CDOs currently being sold into the market.

4. We expect to generally market the debt and equity once the transaction is approximately 70% ramped. We expect to offer the equity and debt on an early commitment basis (we will commence those discussions upon initial portfolio ramp).

5. GSC Capital Corp. is taking half of the first loss risk in the warehouse and is committed to half of the equity, Goldman has a "best efforts" underwriting commitment on the debt, and Goldman's expect's total P&L of approximately $5.5 MM.

VIII. Strengths / Issues to Consider

Strengths

- Pre-Sold Equity: GSC Capital Corp. has pre-committed to purchase half of the equity.
- Repeat Collateral Manager: This transaction would represent GSC's fourth CDO with Goldman in 2006 and GSC's third structured product CDO.
- Collateral: 100% of the portfolio will have a rating of investment grade.
- Pre-Marketing: We will begun discussions with numerous investors on early commitments on equity and debt (TCW Equity Fund, Commerzbank, Basis Capital, Sendelman, Magnetar, and Mariner).

Issues to Consider

- Warehouse: Goldman Sachs will be exposed to half of any first loss exposure on the first $40 MM and 100% of any second loss exposure above $40 MM if the deal fails to close. GSC Capital Corp. is initially posting $5.0 MM to collateralize its risk sharing commitment and will make additional posts up to $20 MM as the warehouse ramps.

IX. Recommendation

GSC is a repeat CDO issuer and is one of Goldman's strongest relationships in the structured product CDO market. Goldman Sachs will be involved in structuring the transaction, selling assets into the transaction, placing the Notes and the equity of the CDO and in return, will recognize P&L of approx. $5.5 MM.

In light of the above, we request that the Capital Committee approve our proposal to enter into a "best efforts" underwriting of the CDO debt, firm commitment on half the equity, and to move forward with the warehouse risk sharing arrangement with GSC.

I asked Ed and Josh early on if they wanted me to get you and Cornacchia involved to get this moving and they said it was more of an inquiry at that point. When I relayed to them that the team here had multiple points of contact with GSC already they asked me to just hold off until they had a better sense of who at Goldman was talking to various contacts at GSC. Yesterday they asked me to move forward again...I just received that response this morning.

Gentlemen,
Here is what we would do:
- $500mm deal
- 50/50 on the equity. Any equity sales reduce our allocation pro-rata.
- no OC/IC tests is ok. Suggest OC test diverting excess spread if BBB OC is less than 100.0% (no haircuts).
- No underwriting fee
- No cap on expenses (we share that risk). But agree we try to keep it low (will definitely be higher than $1mm given agencies alone)
- GS earns 10bp PA on the NOPCB as Asset Liquidation Agent
- 2% position size limit
- 3 yr non-call
- No reinvestment
- Offer to sell protection on BBBs to GSC at market for 0.75% times notional
- Happy to source assets via GSC
- Not sure we can leverage equity, but we will try to sell some BB debt if that helps

Let me know if that works.
Thanks.
Peter

Follow-ups on tranched swaps with GSC / DB Prop / Magnetar; let us know if you have any questions or need anything else:

Strats -- I will send an updated TAP setup file for this portfolio (which is ABACUS 06-11) since this trade will not have reinvestment like the protection buy side.
Ops -- can we please discuss how to link GSC's ABX longs to their tranche shorts when booked so that they receive appropriate margin credit?
Credit -- please note updated sizes that GSC will do in their long/short strategy; can you please refresh the initial margin based on this?
Controllers -- can we please discuss what will be released on Mon?
Drafting -- find a draft confirm that we have sent to GSC / DB Prop / Magnetar below; we will let you know when we have finalized with GSC / DB Prop / Magnetar.

We expect to write protection to GSC on each of the following tranches off of the static reference portfolio attached below; GSC will pay to GS the premiums detailed below:

$10.6250mm of 8.625-12.875% (Class B) @ 200bps upfront and 120bps running
$6.2500mm of 6.125-8.625% (Class C) @ @ 200bps upfront 230bps running
$5.9375mm of 3.750-6.125% (Class D) @ 200bps upfront and 405bps running Against this, GSC has already bought $40mm of ABX.HE.BBB.06-1 from the ABS Trading desk; we need to link this trade to their tranche shorts so that they get margin credit for the long/short.

Subject: New Century - restatement of earnings, 4th qtr loss, , material control weakness, shares down 30%

Per the below, this is a meterially adverse development. The issues involve inadequate EPD provisions and marks on residuals. The company reports substantial liquidity and the charges are non-cash in nature, but in a confidence sensitive industry it will be ugly even if all problems have been identified.

We have relatively significant exposure - $13mm in prospective losses from EPD claims alone, and $70mm or so in potential exposure, under substantial mortgage warehouse and whole loan trading lines to this entity. With $1.6bn in market cap and $2bn in book equity, they were considered one of the stronger sub-prime originators.

We have a call with the company in a few minutes (to be lead by Dan Sparks) and will follow up with a posting later today on our conclusions and action plan.

Feb. 8 (Bloomberg) -- Shares of New Century Financial Corp., the second-largest home lender to the riskiest borrowers, plunged 28 percent, the most since October 1998, when the Russian debt crisis was cutting off sales of such loans in securities.

Shares of the Irvine, California-based company tumbled $8.58 to $21.58 at 9:57 a.m. in New York Stock Exchange composite trading. New Century late yesterday said it probably lost money last quarter, will need to restate other 2006 earnings lower, and won't make as many loans this year as it had previously forecast.

Also today, HSBC Holdings PLC announced a management shake up and changes to lending policies, after saying it was setting aside 20 percent more for bad-loan provisions than analyst had estimated because of rising problems in its U.S. mortgage business. Problems with new subprime loans increased last year as a result of a slumping housing and looser lending standards.

``It's kind of a watershed moment where the magnitude of the problems really are starting to come to the surface,'' said Brian Horey, general partner at Aurelian Partners LP in New York, which has sold short shares of New Century. ``If you could fog a mirror, you could get a loan.''

Contributing to New Century's restatement and fourth-quarter loss are repurchases of previously sold loans, the company said.

Subprime loan buyers typically can force lenders to buy back the mortgages they sell if borrowers miss their first few payments, any type of fraud is discovered, or the loans otherwise fail to meet the guidelines laid out in a sales contract.

Here is what I am thinking on hudson mezz - we fix the marks that for the hudson mezz that did not get in. I have barret looking into how to get the npv's to flow downstream through it to controllers - that would eliminate variance which will get focused on big time.

At the same time mark anderson positions we are facing the warehouse at the right level.

What do you think?

CDO Warehouses Outstanding
- Each warehouse is marked by either (a) MTM on each asset or (b) mark to model which involves taking the portfolio through the expected CDO execution and calculating Goldman's P&L given current market yields on debt and equity. MTM is preferred if CDO execution is highly uncertain or portfolio is small. Both the MTM and the MTModel take into account risk sharing arrangements with 3rd parties.

As CDO execution has become more uncertain we have moved a couple warehouses closer to their MTM which has significantly increased our losses. Also, our MTModel results have shown losses as expected liability spreads have widened significantly and the overall strength of the CDO market has waned due to fundamental credit decline in 06/07 in RMBS subprime (90+% of assets) and increased coorelation between ABX/TABX levels and mezz debt levels in CDOs. We expect this coorelation to increase volatility in our warehouse marks for the a while (this series of events have happened quickly within the last month and the coorelation is getting closer to 1 as global markets get more familiar with fundamentals in subprime and trading levels in ABX/TABX).

Additional losses have also resulted from the liquidation of 3 warehouses. In each case, the realized loss from the sale of assets has been higher than our MTM or MTModel. This is attributable to both volatility in subprime markets and that our competitors are closing their CDO warehouse accounts from buying our subprime or CDO positions. The buyer base has suddenly shrunk significantly. As this continues, we expect this lack of liquidity to further weaken our MTMs and feeds into our losses in our remaining warehouse marks.

Dan,

Given the magnitude and frequency of market swings over the past few weeks, we'd like to request some assistance from your team with regard to quarter end pricing levels. Specifically, we'd like to get a write-up of the fundamental or quantitative analysis, coupled with the market technicals, that support today's closing levels for general groups of positions (for example, all BBB flats) for the following area's:

* CDO Warehouse (Ostrem)
* CDO Warehouse collapsed (Ostrem)
* Secondary cash positions (Swenson)
* Subprime whole loans (Nichols)
* Subprime retained (Nichols)
* CDO retained (Case)
* Subprime resids (Nichols)
* 2nds liquidity reserve (Swenson or Dariush)

This feedback will be extremely helpful for us, especially when you consider how many sectors are effected by the recent market events.

Thanks in advance for supporting this request.

may be interesting for him to look at the A-1b's if he's concerned about downgrades. No triggers above the bonds. back-ended cash flow super senior risk (so trades wider than A-1a's) but the trenche gets paid pro-rata with the A-1a's in the event an OC test fails. Way to pick up wider spread super senior risk which is likely to prepay due to OC test failures/downgrades.

Andy,

We're going to pass on this deal for a number of reasons:

- Two bonds (FMIC 06-3 M8 and HASC 06-NC1 M9) have been downgraded or are on negative watch
- Another 12 bonds in the portfolio are negatively impacted by downgrades lower in the capital structure
- 28% of the portfolio is failing delinquency triggers
- We show that a lot of these bonds will take principal hits
- Not crazy about deal structure give the quality of the portfolio
  - Upon a breach of Class D OC test, interest is used to pay down Class D notes (I would rather see the A and B notes get paid down)
  - Upon a breach of the Class C OC test, interest is used to pay down Classes A, B, and C pro-rata until 50% factor. (again, I would prefer to see A and B notes get paid out first)
  - If Senior tests are in compliance, Class D and C interest shortfalls are paid from principal
  - Pro-rata paydown until 40% factor, not the standard 50%

These hypothetical illustrations of returns illustrate a range of potential outcomes based upon certain assumptions. Such potential outcomes are not a prediction by the Issuer, Goldman Sachs or their respective affiliates of the performance of the securities described herein. All statements included are based on information available on the date hereof, and none of the Issuer, Goldman Sachs or their respective affiliates assumes any duty to update any such statement. Some important factors which could cause actual results to differ materially from those in any statements contained herein include the actual composition of the collateral and the price at which such collateral is actually purchased by the Issuer, any defaults on the collateral, the timing of any defaults and subsequent recoveries, changes in interest rates, and any weakening of the specific credits included in the collateral, among others. The Offering Circular will contain other risk factors, which an investor should also consider in connection with an investment in the securities described herein.

PRIOR INVESTMENT RESULTS

Any prior investment results or returns are presented for illustrative purposes only and are not indicative of the future returns on the securities and obligations of the Issuer. Risk Factors

Note: The Offering Circular will include more extensive descriptions of the risks described herein as well as additional risks relating to, among other things, conflicts of interest. Any decision to invest in the securities described herein should be made after reviewing such Offering Circular, conducting such investigations as the investor deems necessary and consulting the investor's own legal, accounting and tax advisors in order to make an independent determination of the suitability and consequences of an investment in the securities. The Offering Circular will supersede this document in its entirety.

- Limited Liquidity, Restrictions on Transfer and Limited Recourse
  - There is currently no market for the Secured Notes or Income Notes and it is unlikely that any secondary market will develop. The Secured Notes and the Income Notes should be viewed as a long-term investment, not as a trading vehicle. The value of the Secured Notes and the Income Notes may vary and the Secured Notes and the Income Notes, if sold, may be worth less than their original cost.
  - In addition, as the Secured Notes and the Income Notes will be sold in transactions exempt from SEC registration pursuant to Section 4(2), Rule 144A, and/or Reg S and the Issuer will not be registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 pursuant to the Section 3(c)(7), Related restrictions, as well as other restrictions on transfer of the Income Notes will apply.
  - All liabilities are payable solely from the cash flow available from the collateral pledged by the Issuer to secure all classes of Notes. No other assets will be available for payment in the event of any deficiency. The Income Notes represent equity in the Issuer and as such are subordinated to the Secured Notes. The Income Notes are payable from the collateral (which represent the only assets of the Issuer) only after payment in full of amounts due on the Secured Notes.
- Leveraged Credit Risk
  - The Income Notes are in a first loss position with respect to defaults on the underlying collateral. The leveraged nature of the Income Notes magnifies the adverse impact of any collateral defaults.
- Subordination
  - The Secured Notes and the Income Notes are issued in a senior-subordinated structure, with the Class S Notes ranking the highest in the priority of payments and the Income Notes ranking the lowest in the priority of payments. In the event of a default, holders of the Class S and Class A Notes, will generally be entitled to determine the remedies to be exercised; such remedies could be adverse to the other Notes and the Income Notes. The Income Notes will not be able to declare an event of default and will not receive any payments after the occurrence of an event of default unless and until the Class S, A-1, A-2, B, C, and D Notes (the "Notes") are paid in full.
- Volatility of Collateral and of Secured Notes' and Income Notes' Market Value
  - The Income Notes represent a leveraged investment in the Collateral Assets. The use of leverage generally magnifies an issuer's opportunities for gain and risk of loss. Therefore, changes in the market value of the Secured Notes and the Income Notes can be expected to be greater than changes in the market value of the underlying assets included in the collateral, which themselves are subject to credit, liquidity and, with respect to the fixed rate portion of the portfolio, interest rate risk.
  - Changes in the market value of issues from one sector or industry may impact the market value of issues from one or more of other sectors or industries included in the collateral.
- Collateral Risk
  - Collateral Assets inherently bear significant credit risks because issuers are primarily private entities.
  - The structure of Collateral Assets and the terms of the Issuer's interest in the collateral can vary widely depending on the type of collateral, investor sentiment and the use of credit enhancements.
  - Adverse changes in the financial condition of the collateral obligor or in general economic conditions may adversely affect the obligor's ability to pay principal and interest on its debt.

66052.301

Goldman Sachs

Risk Factors

- Illiquidity of collateral assets
  - Some of the collateral assets purchased by the Issuer will have no, or only a limited, trading market. This illiquidity may restrict the Issuer's ability to dispose of investments in a timely fashion and for a fair price as well as its ability to take advantage of market opportunities.
  - Illiquid debt securities may also trade at a discount to comparable, more liquid investments. In addition, the Issuer may invest in privately placed collateral assets that are non-transferable or are transferable only at prices less than the fair value or the original purchase price of the securities.
- Nature of Collateral
  - The Collateral Assets are subject to credit, liquidity and interest rate risk. In addition, the financial performance of the Issuer may be affected by the price and availability of Collateral Assets to be purchased.
  - Some or all of the Collateral Assets may be subordinated securities which may be subject to leveraged credit risk.
  - The ability of the Issuer to sell Collateral Assets prior to maturity is subject to certain restrictions and limitations under the Indenture.
- No Collateral Manager
  - The Issuer will not engage a Collateral Manager. As a result, (i) the Collateral Assets held by the Issuer on the Closing Date will be retained by the Issuer even if it would be in the best interests of the Issuer and the holders of the Income Notes and Secured Notes to dispose of certain Collateral Assets unless the Collateral Assets are required to be sold by the Liquidation Agent as described in the previous paragraph and (ii) the Indenture will eliminate the ability of the Issuer to exercise discretion in contexts where a Collateral Manager in a managed or static collateralized debt obligation transaction typically would have discretion to exercise such discretion on behalf of the Issuer and holders of Income Notes and Secured Notes. The inability of the Issuer to exercise discretion in these contexts could adversely impact the Issuer and the holders of the Income Notes and Secured Notes.
- Timing and Amount of Recoveries
  - Only Collateral Assets that meet the liquidation criteria may be sold. If a Collateral Asset meets the liquidation criteria, the Liquidation Agent is required to sell such affected collateral in accordance with the terms of the Liquidation Agency Agreement. There can be no assurance as to the timing of the Liquidation Agent's sale of affected assets, or if there will be any market for such assets or as to the rates of recovery on such affected collateral. The inability to realize immediate recoveries at the recovery levels assumed herein may result in lower cash flow and a lower yield to the Income Notes and Secured Notes as compared to the returns generated using the Modeling Assumptions.
- Limited Activities of the Co-Issuers
  - The Co-Issuers are recently formed legal entities and have no prior operating history or prior business, other than warehousing the collateral assets and related financing arrangements. The Issuer will have no significant assets other than the collateral which will be pledged to secure the Issuer's obligations under the Notes. The Issuer will not engage in any business activity other than the issuance of the Notes, Co-Issuing the Income Notes, the acquisition, investment and reinvestment of the collateral and other prescribed activities relating to each of the foregoing. The Co-Issuer has and will not have any substantial assets. The Co-Issuer has no business activities other than the co-issuance of the Notes and its own common shares
- Impairment of Credit Quality and/or Defaults on the Collateral
  - Decline in credit quality of the collateral or defaults could result in losses which would adversely affect the Income Notes and Secured Notes.
  - There may be certain industry or sector concentrations in the CDO, all of which could have a material adverse impact on the Income Notes in the event of economic downturns or other events affecting the credit quality of any of the collateral.
- Yield Due to Prepayments
  - The yield to maturity on the Income Notes could be affected by the rate of prepayment of the Collateral Assets. Payments to the Income Notes at a rate slower than the rate anticipated by investors purchasing the Income Notes at a discount will result in an actual yield that is lower than anticipated by such investors. Conversely, payments to the Income Notes at a rate faster than the rate anticipated by investors purchasing the Income Notes at a premium will result in an actual yield that is lower than anticipated by such investors.

Risk Factors

- Investment Decisions
  - In making an investment decision, investors must rely on consultations with their own legal, accounting and audit advisors to determine whether and to what extent they should invest in the Notes or the Income Notes.
- Changes in the rate of interest paid on the Class S, A-1, A-2, B, C, and D Notes
  - There will be a basis and timing mismatch between the Notes and the collateral assets, since the interest rates on such collateral assets may adjust more frequently or less frequently, on different dates and based on different indices, than the interest rate on the Notes. The fixed rates and the margins over LIBOR or other floating rates borne by collateral assets may be lower than those on sold or amortized collateral assets which could cause a significant decline in interest coverage for the Notes.
  - The Issuer may enter into cashflow swap agreements to limit exposure to this risk, but no assurance can be given that such cashflow swap agreements will be executed or will be successful in reducing the exposure to this risk. However, there may be a termination payment related to one or more cashflow swap agreement in the event of a redemption of the deal prior to the expiration of the cashflow swap agreement.
- Credit Exposure to Portfolio of Reference Obligations
  - On the closing date, the Issuer will enter into pay-as-you-go credit default swaps (the "Synthetic Securities") with Goldman Sachs International, ("GSI" and in such capacity, the "Counterparty"), pursuant to which the Issuer will sell credit default protection with respect to a portfolio of Reference Obligations. If a credit event occurs with respect to any of the Reference Obligations, the Issuer will pay the Counterparty the amount of the write-down or principal loss, or if the Counterparty elects to deliver the reference obligation, the notional amount of the Synthetic Security times the reference price. In return for the credit default protection, the Counterparty will pay the Issuer a premium which may be reduced (but not below zero) if certain Reference Obligations experience interest shortfalls. Credit events and interest shortfalls may adversely affect the Issuer's ability to make payments on the Notes and the Income Notes.
  - All Notes and Income Notes are subordinated to credit default protection payments under the Synthetic Securities and to certain termination payments payable to the Counterparty in connection with a termination event. The magnitude of such losses will be affected by the number of credit events and the recovery amount of any delivered Reference Obligations and timing of such credit events.
- Nature of Reference Obligations
  - The Reference Obligations are expected to consist of RMBS and CDO securities. The Reference Obligations are subject to the credit, market, structural, legal, prepayment and interest rate risks associated with RMBS and CDO securities respectively. The economic return on the Synthetic Securities will depend substantially upon the performance of the related Reference Obligation.
- Termination of the Synthetic Securities
  - Pursuant to the Synthetic Securities, the Issuer or the Counterparty will each have the right to terminate the Synthetic Securities in specified circumstances. In such event, the Issuer also may be required to make substantial termination payments to the Counterparty and such payments will reduce the amounts available to make payments on the Notes and the Income Notes. As a result, the Issuer may not have sufficient funds to make payments when due on the Notes and Income Notes and may not have sufficient funds to redeem the Notes and Income Notes.
- Credit Exposure to Counterparty
  - The ability of the Issuer to meet its obligations under the Secured Notes and the Income Notes will be dependent on its receipt of payments from the Counterparty under the Synthetic Securities. Consequently, Noteholders will be exposed not only to the creditworthiness of the Reference Obligations but also to the creditworthiness of the Counterparty to perform its obligations under the Synthetic Securities. The insolvency of the Counterparty or a default by it under a Synthetic Security would adversely affect the ability of the Issuer to pay amounts when due under the Secured Notes and make distributions on the Income Notes and could result in a withdrawal or downgrade of the ratings on the Secured Notes.

Risk Factors

- Tax Treatment of Income Notes
  - Since the Issuer will be a passive foreign investment company, a U.S. person holding Income Notes may be subject to additional taxes unless it elects to treat the Issuer as a qualified electing fund and to recognize currently its proportionate share of the Issuer's income. The Issuer has agreed, and, by its acceptance of an Income Note, each holder of an Income Note will be deemed to have agreed, to treat the Income Notes as equity for tax purposes.
  - Income Note holders should consult their tax advisers about the special U.S. tax regimes that apply to shareholders of passive foreign investment companies and controlled foreign corporations.
  - Special tax considerations may apply to certain types of investors. Prospective investors should consult their own tax advisors regarding the tax implications of their investments.
- Subordination
  - The Income Notes are subordinated to the Class S, Class A, Class B, Class C and Class D Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class D Notes are subordinated to the Class S, Class A, Class B and Class C Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class C Notes are subordinated to the Class S, Class A and Class B Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class B Notes are subordinated to the Class S Notes, Class A Notes and certain payments of expenses. No distributions of interest proceeds received on the collateral will be made to the Income Notes until interest on the Secured Notes and certain other expenses have been paid. In addition, in the event of a default, holders of the most senior class of Secured Notes will generally be entitled to determine the remedies to be exercised; such remedies could include the sale and the liquidation of the collateral and have an adverse effect on the Income Notes. The Income Notes will not be able to exercise any remedies following an event of default and will not receive payments after an event of default until the Secured Notes are paid in full.
- Impairment of Credit Quality and/or Defaults on the Collateral Assets
  - Decline in credit quality of the collateral or defaults could result in losses which would adversely affect the Notes and the Income Notes.
  - There may be certain industry or sector concentrations in the CDO, all of which could have a material adverse impact on the Notes and the Income Notes in the event of economic downturns or other events affecting the credit quality of any of the collateral.
- Redemption of Class S, A-1, A-2, B, C, and D Notes.
  - If certain over collateralization or interest coverage tests are not met, redemptions of the Class S, A-1, A-2, B, C, and D Notes would be required, which may affect the yields on more subordinated classes of Notes and the Income Notes and will be paid from amounts which otherwise be available for payment to holders of the Income Notes.
  - Mandatory redemption could result in an elimination, deferral or reduction in the amount paid to the Income Notes, which would adversely and materially affect their returns.
- Auction of the Collateral Assets
  - There can be no assurance that an auction of the collateral assets will be successful; a successful auction will shorten the duration of the Notes and the Income Notes and is not required to result in any proceeds for distribution to the holder of the Income Notes.

Risk Factors

- Timing of Receipt of Accrued Interest Income
  - On an ongoing basis, the receipt by the Issuer of accrued interest income may affect the availability of cash which may be distributed to the Holders of Secured Notes and Income Notes.
- International Investing
  - Investing outside the U.S. may involve greater risks which may include (1) less publicly available information, (2) varying levels of governmental regulation and supervision, (3) the difficulty of enforcing legal rights in a foreign jurisdiction and uncertainties as to the status, interpretation and application of laws, (4) less stringent accounting practices, (5) different clearance and settlement procedures, (6) economic and political conditions and instability, (7) exchange control and foreign currency risk, (8) insolvency and (9) expropriation risk.
  - A portion of the Collateral Assets may consist of obligations of an Issuer organized under the laws of the Bahamas, Bermuda, the Cayman Islands, the Channel Islands, the Netherlands Antilles or other jurisdictions offering favorable tax treatment.
- Tax Treatment of Income Notes
  - Since the Issuer will be a passive foreign investment company, a U.S. person holding Income Notes may be subject to additional taxes unless it elects to treat the Issuer as a qualified electing fund and to recognize currently its proportionate share of the Issuer's income. The Income Notes will be treated as equity for tax purposes.
  - Income Notes holders should consult their tax advisers about the special U.S. tax regimes that apply to shareholders of passive foreign investment companies, controlled foreign corporations and foreign personal holding companies.
  - Special tax considerations may apply to certain types of investors. Prospective investors should consult their own tax advisers regarding the tax implications of their investments.
- Material Tax Considerations
  - There is a possibility that the Issuer will be found to be engaging in a U.S. trade or business. In such a case, it would be subject to substantial U.S. income tax on its income.
- Hypothetical Illustrations and Estimates
  - Estimates of the weighted average lives of the Class S, A, B, C and D Notes and the returns and duration of the Income Notes included herein, together with any other hypothetical illustrations and estimates provided to prospective purchasers of the Class S, A, B, C and D Notes, are forward-looking statements. See "Hypothetical Illustrations and Pro Forma Information" on disclaimer page in the beginning of this book.
  - The hypothetical illustrations are only estimates. Actual results may vary, and the variations may be material. See "Hypothetical Illustrations and Pro Forma Information" on disclaimer page in the beginning of this book.
- Changes in Tax Laws
  - The Collateral Assets are not permitted to be subject to withholding tax at the time of purchase, unless the Issuer thereof is required to make "gross-up" payments. There can be no assurance that, as a result of any change in any applicable law, treaty, rule or regulation or interpretation thereof, the payments on the collateral might not in the future become subject to withholding tax which could adversely affect the amounts that would be available to make payments on the Income Notes and Secured Notes.
  - In case of a Withholding Tax Event (as defined in the Offering Circular), holders of more than 50% of any affected Note may require the Issuer to liquidate the collateral on any Payment Date, and redeem the Class S, A, B, C and D Notes, prior to any distributions to holders of Income Notes

- Anti Money Laundering Provisions
  - Uniting and Strengthening America By Providing Appropriate Tools Required to Intercept and Obstruct Terrorism Act of 2001 (the "USA PATRIOT Act"), signed into law on and effective as of October 26, 2001, imposes anti money laundering obligations on different types of financial institutions, including banks, broker dealers and investment companies. The USA PATRIOT Act requires the Secretary of the United States Department of the Treasury (the "Treasury") to prescribe regulations to define the types of investment companies subject to the USA PATRIOT Act and the related anti money laundering obligations. It is not clear whether Treasury will require entities such as the Issuer to enact anti money laundering policies. It is possible that Treasury will promulgate regulations requiring the Issuers or the initial Purchaser or other service providers to the Issuers, in connection with the establishment of anti money laundering procedures, to share information with governmental authorities with respect to investors in the Notes and/or the Income Notes. Such legislation and/or regulations could require the Issuers to implement additional restrictions on the transfer of the Notes and/or the Income Notes. As may be required, the Issuer reserves the right to request such information and take such actions as are necessary to enable it to comply with the USA PATRIOT Act.
- Investment Company Act
  - Neither of the Issuers has registered with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission as an investment company pursuant to the Investment Company Act. The Issuer has not so registered in reliance on an exception for investment companies organized under the laws of a jurisdiction other than the United States whose investors resident in the United States are solely Qualified Purchasers and which do not make a public offering of their securities in the United States. Counsel for the Issuers will opine, in connection with the sale of the Securities by the Initial Purchaser, that neither the Issuer nor the Co-Issuer is on the Closing Date an investment company required to be registered under the Investment Company Act (assuming, for the purposes of such opinion, that the Securities are sold by the Initial Purchaser in accordance with the terms of the Purchase Agreement). No opinion or no-action position has been requested of the SEC.
- ERISA Regulations
  - Investor must review the "ERISA Considerations" section of the Offering Circular to determine their eligibility to hold the Notes and the Income Notes for purposes of the ERISA restrictions. Prospective investors should consult their own advisors regarding the ERISA-related implications of their investments.
- European Securities Regulations
  - The listing of Notes or Income Notes on any European Union stock exchange would subject the Issuer to regulation under certain European regulations, although the requirements applicable to the Issuer are not yet fully clarified. The Indenture will not require the Issuer to apply for, list or maintain a listing for any Class of Notes or the Income Notes on a European Union stock exchange if compliance with these regulations becomes burdensome. Should the Notes or Income Notes be delisted from any exchange, the ability of the holders of such Notes or Income Notes to sell such Notes or Income Notes in the secondary market may be negatively impacted.
- Material Tax Considerations
  - The Issuer does not expect to be subject to net income taxation in the United States. If the Issuer were treated as engaged in a United States trade or business, it would be subject to substantial U.S. income tax on its income.

Levered RMBS Structural Alternatives

Transaction Variant Summary

- Given that there are a variety of products allowing investors to take levered exposure to RMBS, it is important to understand structural similarities and differences
- Three distinct types of transactions are considered for this comparison:

NAME	GENERAL DESCRIPTION
Cashflow CDO	Fully issued transaction in which a selection agent or third party collateral manager selects the assets to be repackaged through CDO. Cash proceeds from collateral assets flow through a waterfall to pay the issued Notes and Income Notes, which are broadly syndicated.
Bespoke Transaction	Customized transaction negotiated between the correlation desk and a "sponsor" investor/ portfolio manager, who generally takes credit risk at one or more layers of the capital structure. Layers of risk not assumed by "sponsor" investor/ portfolio manager are either hedged by the structured product correlation desk or distributed in subsequent offerings.
Tranched ABX	Standardized ABX tranche trading referencing both the Baa2 and Baa3 variants of the on-the-run and immediately off-the-run ABX.HE indices. The product has sponsorship from all ABX dealers and uses a market standard confirm.

- Anderson Mezzanine Funding 2007-1, Ltd. is a cashflow CDO

HYPOTHETICAL ILLUSTRATIONS AND PRO FORMA INFORMATION

These materials contain statements that are not purely historical in nature. These include, among other things, hypothetical illustrations, sample or pro forma portfolio structures or portfolio composition, scenario analysis of returns and proposed or pro forma levels of diversification or sector investment. These hypothetical illustrations of returns illustrate a range of potential outcomes based upon certain assumptions. Such potential outcomes are not a prediction by the Issuer, Goldman Sachs or their respective affiliates of the performance of the securities described herein. Actual events are difficult to predict and are beyond the control of the Issuer, Goldman Sachs, or their respective affiliates. Actual events may differ from those assumed and such differences may be material. There can be no assurance that illustrated returns will be realized or materialized or that actual returns or results will not be materially lower than those presented. All statements included are based on information available on the date hereof, and none of the Issuer, Goldman Sachs or their respective affiliates assumes any duty to update any such statement. Some important factors which could cause actual results to differ materially from those in any statements contained herein include the actual composition of the collateral and the price at which such collateral is actually purchased by the Issuer, any defaults on the collateral, the timing of any defaults and subsequent recoveries, changes in interest rates, and any weakening of the specific credits included in the collateral, among others. The Offering Circular will contain other risk factors, which an investor should also consider in connection with an investment in the securities described herein.

PRIOR INVESTMENT RESULTS

Any prior investment results or returns are presented for illustrative purposes only and are not indicative of the future returns on the securities and obligations of the Issuer. Because of portfolio restrictions that apply to the Issuer and differences in market conditions, the investments selected by Goldman Sachs on behalf of the Issuer may differ substantially from prior investments made by Goldman Sachs. The Issuer has no operating history.

Risk Factors

Note: The Offering Circular will include more extensive descriptions of the risks described herein as well as additional risks relating to, among other things, conflicts of interest. Any decision to invest in the securities described herein should be made after reviewing such Offering Circular, conducting such investigations as the investor deems necessary and consulting the investor's own legal, accounting and tax advisors in order to make an independent determination of the suitability and consequences of an investment in the securities. The Offering Circular will supersede this document in its entirety.

- Limited Liquidity, Restrictions on Transfer and Limited Recourse
  - There is currently no market for the Secured Notes or Income Notes and it is unlikely that any secondary market will develop. The Secured Notes and the Income Notes should be viewed as a long-term investment, not as a trading vehicle. The value of the Secured Notes and the Income Notes may vary and the Secured Notes and the Income Notes, if sold, may be worth less than their original cost.
  - In addition, as the Secured Notes and the Income Notes will be sold in transactions exempt from SEC registration pursuant to Section 4(2), Rule 144A, and/or Reg S and the Issuer will not be registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 pursuant to the Section 3(c)(7). Related restrictions, as well as other restrictions on transfer of the Income Notes will apply.
  - All liabilities are payable solely from the cash flow available from the collateral pledged by the Issuer to secure all classes of Notes. No other assets will be available for payment in the event of any deficiency. The Income Notes represent equity in the Issuer and as such are subordinated to the Secured Notes. The Income Notes are payable from the collateral (which represent the only assets of the Issuer) only after payment in full of amounts due on the Secured Notes.
- Leveraged Credit Risk
  - The Income Notes are in a first loss position with respect to defaults on the underlying collateral. The leveraged nature of the Income Notes magnifies the adverse impact of any collateral defaults
- Volatility of Collateral and of Secured Notes' and Income Notes' Market Value
  - The Income Notes represent a leveraged investment in the Collateral Assets. The use of leverage generally magnifies an issuer's opportunities for gain and risk of loss. Therefore, changes in the market value of the Secured Notes and the Income Notes can be expected to be greater than changes in the market value of the underlying assets included in the collateral, which themselves are subject to credit, liquidity and, with respect to the fixed rate portion of the portfolio, interest rate risk.
  - Changes in the market value of issues from one sector or industry may impact the market value of issues from one or more of other sectors or industries included in the collateral.
- Collateral Risk
  - Collateral Assets inherently bear significant credit risks because issuers are primarily private entities.
  - The structure of Collateral Assets and the terms of the Issuer's interest in the collateral can vary widely depending on the type of collateral, investor sentiment and the use of credit enhancements.
  - Adverse changes in the financial condition of the collateral obligor or in general economic conditions may adversely affect the obligor's ability to pay principal and interest on its debt.

Risk Factors

- Nature of Collateral
  - The Collateral Assets are subject to credit, liquidity and interest rate risk. In addition, the financial performance of the Issuer may be affected by the price and availability of Collateral Assets to be purchased.
  - Some or all of the Collateral Assets may be subordinated securities which may be subject to leveraged credit risk.
  - The ability of the Issuer to sell Collateral Assets prior to maturity is subject to certain restrictions and limitations under the Indenture.
- No Collateral Manager
  - The Issuer will not engage a Collateral Manager. As a result, (i) the Collateral Assets held by the Issuer on the Closing Date will be retained by the Issuer even if it would be in the best interests of the Issuer and the holders of the Income Notes and Secured Notes to dispose of certain Collateral Assets unless the Collateral Assets are required to be sold by the Liquidation Agent as described in the previous paragraph and (ii) the Indenture will eliminate the ability of the Issuer to exercise discretion in contexts where a collateral manager in a managed or static collateralized debt obligation transaction typically would have discretion to exercise such discretion on behalf of the Issuer and holders of Income Notes and Secured Notes. The inability of the Issuer to exercise discretion in these contexts could adversely impact the Issuer and the holders of the Income Notes and Secured Notes.
- Timing and Amount of Recoveries
  - Only Collateral Assets that meet the liquidation criteria may be sold. If a Collateral Asset meets the liquidation criteria, the Liquidation Agent is required to sell such affected collateral in accordance with the terms of the Liquidation Agency Agreement. There can be no assurance as to the timing of the Liquidation Agent's sale of affected assets, or if there will be any market for such assets or as to the rates of recovery on such affected collateral. The inability to realize immediate recoveries at the recovery levels assumed herein may result in lower cash flow and a lower yield to the Income Notes and Secured Notes as compared to the returns generated using the Modeling Assumptions.
- Impairment of Credit Quality and/or Defaults on the Collateral
  - Decline in credit quality of the collateral or defaults could result in losses which would adversely affect the Income Notes and Secured Notes.
  - There may be certain industry or sector concentrations in the CDO, all of which could have a material adverse impact on the Income Notes in the event of economic downturns or other events affecting the credit quality of any of the collateral.
- Yield Due to Prepayments
  - The yield to maturity on the Income Notes could be affected by the rate of prepayment of the Collateral Assets. Payments to the Income Notes at a rate slower than the rate anticipated by investors purchasing the Income Notes at a discount will result in an actual yield that is lower than anticipated by such investors. Conversely, payments to the Income Notes at a rate faster than the rate anticipated by investors purchasing the Income Notes at a premium will result in an actual yield that is lower than anticipated by such investors.
- Timing of Receipt of Accrued Interest Income
  - On an ongoing basis, the receipt by the Issuer of accrued interest income may affect the availability of cash which may be distributed to the Holders of Secured Notes and Income Notes.

Goldman Sachs

Risk Factors

- International Investing
  - Investing outside the U.S. may involve greater risks which may include (1) less publicly available information, (2) varying levels of governmental regulation and supervision, (3) the difficulty of enforcing legal rights in a foreign jurisdiction and uncertainties as to the status, interpretation and application of laws, (4) less stringent accounting practices, (5) different clearance and settlement procedures, (6) economic and political conditions and instability, (7) exchange control and foreign currency risk, (8) insolvency and (9) expropriation risk.
  - A portion of the Collateral Assets may consist of obligations of an issuer organized under the laws of the Bahamas, Bermuda, the Cayman Islands, the Channel Islands, the Netherlands Antilles or other jurisdictions offering favorable tax treatment.
- Tax Treatment of Income Notes
  - Since the issuer will be a passive foreign investment company, a U.S. person holding Income Notes may be subject to additional taxes unless it elects to treat the issuer as a qualified electing fund and to recognize currently its proportionate share of the issuer's income. The Income Notes will be treated as equity for tax purposes.
  - Income Notes holders should consult their tax advisers about the special U.S. tax regimes that apply to shareholders of passive foreign investment companies, controlled foreign corporations and foreign personal holding companies.
  - Special tax considerations may apply to certain types of investors. Prospective investors should consult their own tax advisors regarding the tax implications of their investments.
- Material Tax Considerations
  - There is a possibility that the issuer will be found to be engaging in a U.S. trade or business. In such a case, it would be subject to substantial U.S. income tax on its income.
- Hypothetical Illustrations and Estimates
  - Estimates of the weighted average lives of the Class S, A, B, C, D and E Notes and the returns and duration of the Income Notes included herein, together with any other hypothetical illustrations and estimates provided to prospective purchasers of the Class S, A, B, C, D and, E Notes, are forward-looking statements. See "Hypothetical Illustrations and Pro Forma Information" on disclaimer page in the beginning of this book.
  - The hypothetical illustrations are only estimates. Actual results may vary, and the variations may be material. See "Hypothetical Illustrations and Pro Forma Information" on disclaimer page in the beginning of this book.
- Changes in Tax Laws
  - The Collateral Assets are not permitted to be subject to withholding tax at the time of purchase, unless the issuer thereof is required to make "gross-up" payments. There can be no assurance that, as a result of any change in any applicable law, treaty, rule or regulation or interpretation thereof, the payments on the collateral might not in the future become subject to withholding tax which could adversely affect the amounts that would be available to make payments on the Income Notes and Secured Notes.
  - In case of a Withholding Tax Event (as defined in the Offering Circular), holders of more than 50% of any affected Note may require the issuer to liquidate the collateral on any Payment Date, and redeem the Class S, A, B, C, D and E Notes, prior to any distributions to holders of Income Notes

- Subordination
  - The Income Notes are subordinated to the Class S, Class A, Class B, Class C, Class D and Class E Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class E Notes are subordinated to the Class A, Class B, Class C and Class D Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class D Notes are subordinated to the Class A, Class B and Class C Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class C Notes are subordinated by the Class A and Class B Notes and certain payments of expenses. The Class B Notes are subordinated to the Class A Notes and certain payments of expenses. No distributions of interest proceeds received on the collateral will be made to the Income Notes until interest on the Secured Notes and certain other expenses have been paid. In addition, in the event of a default, holders of the most senior class of Secured Notes will generally be entitled to determine the remedies to be exercised; such remedies could include the sale and the liquidation of the collateral and have an adverse effect on the Income Notes. The Income Notes will not be able to exercise any remedies following an event of default and will not receive payments after an event of default until the Secured Notes are paid in full.
- Credit Exposure to Portfolio of Reference Obligations
  - On the closing date, the Issuer will enter into pay-as-you-go credit default swaps (the "Synthetic Securities") with Goldman Sachs International, ("GSI" and in such capacity, the "Counterparty"), pursuant to which the Issuer will sell credit default protection with respect to a portfolio of Reference Obligations. If a credit event occurs with respect to any of the Reference Obligations, the Issuer will pay the Counterparty the amount of the write-down or principal loss, or if the Counterparty elects to deliver the reference obligation, the notional amount of the Synthetic Security times the reference price. In return for the credit default protection, the Counterparty will pay the Issuer a premium which may be reduced (but not below zero) if certain Reference Obligations experience interest shortfalls. Credit events and interest shortfalls may adversely affect the Issuer's ability to make payments on the Notes and the Income Notes.
  - All Notes and Income Notes are subordinated to credit default protection payments under the Synthetic Securities and to certain termination payments payable to the Counterparty in connection with a termination event. The magnitude of such losses will be affected by the number of credit events and the recovery amount of any delivered Reference Obligations and timing of such credit events

Comparison of Levered RMBS Structures

Transaction Variant Summary

- Given that there are a variety of products allowing investors to take levered exposure to RMBS, it is important to understand structural similarities and differences
- We will consider three distinct types of transactions in this comparison:

NAME	GENERAL DESCRIPTION
Cashflow CDO	Fully issued transaction in which a selection agent or third party collateral manager selects the assets to be repackaged through CDO. Cash proceeds from collateral assets flow through a waterfall to pay the issued Notes, which are broadly syndicated
Bespoke Transaction	Customized transaction negotiated between the correlation desk and a "sponsor" investor/ portfolio manager, who generally takes credit risk at one or more layers of the capital structure. Layers of risk not assumed by "sponsor" investor/ portfolio manager are either hedged by the structured product correlation desk or distributed in subsequent offerings.
Tranched ABX	Standardized ABX tranche trading referencing both the Baa2 and Baa3 variants of the on-the-run and immediately off-the-run ABX.HE indices. The product has sponsorship from all ABX dealers and uses a market standard confirm.

Comparison of Levered RMBS Structures

Comparison of Key Structural Differences

Feature	Alternatives	Description	Comment*
Portfolio Amortizations	Sequential	Amortizations allocated sequentially	Best for senior debt holders, worst for equity holders
	Modified Sequential	Amortizations allocated sequentially to each tranche until the target OC ratio (set at a level greater than initial OC ratio) is reached, then amortizations are allocated to subordinate tranche	Generally used for non-sequential GS transactions
	Modified Pro-Rata	Amortizations allocated in a pro-rata fashion until total portfolio amortizations total 50% of initial balance	Worst for senior debt holders, best for equity holders
Callability	No Call	Transaction may not be optionally terminated in part or in whole	Best for debt holders
	Equity Call	Transaction may be terminated in whole after the non-call period given a majority vote of the equity holders
	Tranche by Tranche	Transaction may be terminated either in part or in whole at the option of the protection buyer	Worst for debt holders
Triggers	Yes	Built-in mechanism that diverts cashflows from equity and potentially junior debt to senior debt should overcollateralization and/or interest coverage metrics underperform initial expectations	Generally good for repayment of debt; can be detrimental to junior debt holders if performance metrics deteriorate too quickly
	No	No cashflow diversion based on metric underperformance	Simple to model when compared to transactions with triggers; debt cashflows only reduced when subordination has fully eroded

*Assumes all else equal

Modeling Assumptions

Assumptions applicable to modeling runs (there can be no assurance that the transaction will reflect these assumptions):

Liability Structure	Par
Class S Notes	$3.9 MM
Class A-1 Notes	$300.0 MM
Class A-2 Notes	$75.0 MM
Class B Notes	$40.0 MM
Class C Notes	$35.0 MM

Income Notes	$15.0 MM

- LIBOR rates are based on the forward curve as of February 20, 2007.
- The Equity yields are calculated using the XIRR function in Microsoft Excel.
- The Closing Date is May 12, 2007; the first Payment Date is October 12, 2007.
- The CDO is 100% invested at the Closing Date.
- Coupon and margin over LIBOR are based on the portfolio composition as of February 20, 2007 and are calculated based on the weighted average expected coupon and spread on the projected remaining asset pool outstanding during each period.
- Expenses are paid at the end of each period at 4.125 bps per annum of the outstanding collateral balance.

Potential investors should review the final Offering Circular relating to the Preferred Shares, including the descriptions of Risk Factors contained in such Offering Circular prior to making a decision to invest in the Income Notes. Modeling Assumptions

Assumptions applicable to modeling runs (there can be no assurance that the transaction will reflect these assumptions):

- Any sale proceeds and scheduled and unscheduled Notional Reductions will be used, first, to redeem the Class A Notes until the Senior Overcollateralization ratio reaches [136.7%], second, to redeem the Class B Notes until the Class B Note Overcollateralization reaches [122.5%], third, to redeem the Class C Notes until the Class C Note Overcollateralization reaches [112.2%], fourth, to redeem the Class D Notes until Class D Note Overcollateralization reaches [105.8%], fifth to redeem the Class E notes until the Class E Note Overcollateralization reaches [103.8%]. Once each respective target overcollateralization level is reached, proceeds are passed to the Income Notes. When the principal balance of Collateral Assets reaches $[200,000,000], the Notes remaining at that point are amortized sequentially.
- Class A/B OC Test level is [116.0%], Class C OC Test level is [107.2%], the Class D OC Test level is [103.00%], and the Class E OC Test level is [101.4%].
- Payments to the Class A Notes, Class B Notes, Class C Notes, Class D Notes and Class E Notes are made on the 12th of each month; payments to the Income Notes are made on the 12th day of every April, July, October, and January.
- All proceeds from collateral are assumed to be received 12 days prior to each payment date.
- While held in cash, all proceeds from collateral are assumed to earn a per annum rate of 1mL-25bps.
- No trading gains or call premiums are assumed.
- Defaults commence at the end of month 12 and continue through the life of the transaction.
- Recoveries are realized immediately upon default. The assumed recovery rate is 35%

They came back and asked to do meeting in person. Doesn't have to be this Friday, if that's no good for you - they can also do early next week. Questions on ANDY - but also want to do manager due diligence. They've heard the GSC team shows well - so want to meet you in person.

For #2, let's get whatever marks we provided on any tranches on The Wolf and Point Pleasant in the below time range (doesn't have to be on those precise dates) and we will go from there.

1) All the WARF's for each deal were pulled from Intex. Spot checked a few that were missing from the attached spreadsheet and was unable to pull them up manually - looks like we're going to have to go with what was sent.

2) LDL

3) I took a look back at the total number of CUSIPs from a look through back in May - and I still see approximately 4500 CUSIPs. They may be looking at total CUSIPs rather than unique CUSIPs. If that's the case, then the 7000 number sounds close to correct - although I think the number back in May was 8050. The marketing book for the deal also mentions approx 4200 unique CUSIPS (though I don't recall whether this was sent to them)

Apologies for any requests that have already been sent over separately --

1) HK Life asking again on Timberwolf whether we can get WARF's for deals that were not sent in the triggers file. Please see attached on the "WARF" tab to see what I sent. There were WARF's for 40 of the 55 CDO deals. I originally told them we could not when I first sent the file, but they want to check again.

2) Tokyo Star wants historical offer-side DM's on Point Pleasant and Timberwolf for the following dates across the capital structure. The purpose is to get more color on how the CDO^2 market has changed since when we marketed the deals to them, and we've already rejected their request to provide generic DM's on all CDO^2 deals on the grounds that the market is too differentiated. Regarding this request, we have already told them the following: a) we might be able to provide anything in writing (verbal only), b) if we can provide levels they will probably be dollar prices (not DM's) and they can use Bloomberg to estimate DM's on a no-loss basis if that's what they really want, c) we might not be able to provide offer-side levels for all dates.
Can we do the best we can to get them what they want?

3) Tokyo Star is asking why there is such a big discrepency between CUSIP counts from May (before they bought) and August (after they bought) on Timberwolf. May's CUSIP counts were much higher (7000+) compared to the data we are now providing (4000+). We told them there is changes in data from third party sources as well as our own techniques for exploding the data. Was wondering if there was any incremental information that you have on this -- if not, we should be able to handle.

Last week the trading desks did the following:

(1) Cover around $1.5 billion single name subprime BBB- CDS and around $700mm single name subprime BBB CDS. The desk also net sold over $400mm BBB- ABX index. Desk is net short, but less than before. Shorts are in senior tranches of indexes sold and in single names. Plan is to continue to trade from short side, cover more single names and sell BBB- index outright.

(2) The CDO business liquidated 3 warehouses for deals of $530mm (about half risk was subprime related). Business also began liquidation of [redacted] - all synthetics done, cash bonds will be sold in next few days. One more CDO warehouse may be liquidated this week - approximately $300mm with GSC as manager. That will leave us with 2 large CDOs of A-rated CDOs, 2 high grade deals with limited subprime mezz risk, and 2 other small warehouses that are on hold. Getting super-senior done on CDOs is the critical path, and that is where the focus is - for the CDOs of CDOs, NATIXIS (Paris) on Dillion Reed deal and Wincap (London) on Greywolf deal.

This correlation analysis does not incorporate 2 things:
- cds bid/offer
- cashflow triggers (underlying level)

For names where the underlying longs were externalized, the cdo cds offered side spread is going to be close to 2x the current marked spread for many underliers. It will be important to use the cdo cds trading franchise to source hedges at the bid side of the market.

The downgrade sensitivity of the underlying cdo cashflow triggers means that there is some (hard to quantify) probability that some or all names essentially jump to default.

One point of this correlation analysis is that it provides a relative value argument about how to hedge the cdo^2 risk. It indicates (as the desk is aware) that it is currently cheaper to buy protection against the cdo^2 at the cdo level than at the rmbs level. To the extent that we can put on this hedge, we can recover the higher (72 cent) price, no matter how bad rmbs looks.

David - We spoke briefly to Ben and Edwin earlier this evening and asked them if it would be possible to come up with CDS marks for any missing BBB/BBB- RMBS deals as well as a heuristic for marking any high-grade tranches by vintage. As Paul says below, this would really help us run results through the asset model (as well as through the NAV analysis we'd discussed doing) for CDOs. I realize this might be painful (several thousand underlying RMBS deals might need to be marked) but we'd like to come back to you when we have some stats on what we're missing and brainstorm on a good way to do this.

We can estimate the value of the Timberwolf CDO^2 by applying a correlation model (the asset model). We have three questions to answer:

1. Based on marks for the single-A CDOs under the CDO^2, what should be the value of the Timberwolf CDO^2?
2. Based on marks for the RMBS under the single-A CDOs, what should be the marks on the CDOs that went into (1)?
3. In both (1) and (2), what market evidence do we have for the correlation that takes us from underlier valuation to the valuation one level up?

In brief, the answers we find are:

1. Based on current single-A CDO marks, the A2 tranche of Timberwolf would have a price of 72 cents on the dollar. The price is not sensitive to correlation at these levels.
2. Based on a small sample of single-A CDOs for which we have complete underlier marks, we believe that the risks of the RMBS underliers are frequently not fully reflected in the marks on the CDOs. If the trends in this small sample are extrapolated, the fair spreads on the CDOs could even be double where they are marked now; if that were the case, the price of the A2 tranche of Timberwolf would actually be 35-41 cents on the dollar, depending on the correlation.
3. Recent Abacus CDOs and CDO^2 have been marked with correlations in the 30-50% range. Median sector marks for mezzanine CDOs imply a correlation of 22%.

Clearly, the next step is to get marks on more of the RMBS underliers in order to be able to run more of the CDOs in Timberwolf through a model.

For (1), we find the following relationship between price of the A2 tranche of Timberwolf, and the correlation. The results are also shown when all the underlier spreads are multiplied by a factor of two, based on the results of (2).

CDO	Underlier Spread Multiple	Model Price 30%	Model Price 50%	Model Price 70%	Model Price 100%
TWOLF 2007-1 A2	1	72	72	72	73
TWOLF 2007-1 A2	2	37	41	44	48

For (2), we have the following comparison between current spread marks on single-A CDOs, and Gaussian copula model spreads computed from the current spread marks on their underliers (mostly RMBS). The first three CDOs are Timberwolf underliers. In general, this analysis shows that at current underlier marks, single-A CDOs are equity-like (long correlation). However, per (3), market-implied correlations are low, in the range 20-50%.

Following up from this afternoon's meeting -

We are going to better evaluate the CDO^2 risk using three distinct frameworks

1) Blended scenario analysis using HPA (Primer)
2) Risk neutral/correlation framework, consistent with our current synthetic ABS CDOs (Burchard)
3) Simplistic loss assumptions on underlyings / Market Value Coverage (Turok)

Let's look to have something on #1 and #2 to discuss Monday. # 3 will likely take some more time give the low coverage…Turok, pls let us know if you can cuff #3 with our current coverage.

To quote Elisha -

"Am thinking we want a concise write-up of each methodology (one paragraph), with a rank-ordered list of assumptions that show directionality and estimated impact of each assumption. Also think we want to see results of bounding analysis in writing using each methodology, with a description of what knobs we turned, and how far, to come up the bounding analysis."

In addition, the specific trading desks are taking a more detailed look @ the ABS/CMBS/CLO/Option Arm/SP CDO assets in the warehouse and in the retained position account (outside of the CDO^2).

Pls add/comment if there is anything I missed

Here are some model prices for the CDO^2 trades based on two different replication strategies, one hedging one level down at the CDO level, the other hedging two levels down at the RMBS level. The model is a correlation model (the asset model), and we are assuming 30% correlation at the RMBS level and 30% correlation at the CDO level. For tranches this low in the capital structure (except perhaps PTPLS 07-1 A1), given expected losses, a lower correlation like this is appropriate.

	Price based on CDO Marks	Price based on RMBS Marks
TWOLF 2007-1 A2	66	24
TWOLF 2007-1 B	38	15
PTPLS 2007-1 A1	90
PTPLS 2007-1 A2	65
PTPLS 2007-1 B	43
PTPLS 2007-1 C	43
PTPLS 2007-1 D	43

(We will supply PTPLS RMBS numbers on Sunday.)

Initial results from other modeling approaches based on RMBS marks or fundamentals are generally consistent with the much lower RMBS marks found for Timberwolf.

Disclaimer: The attached information regarding the valuation of instruments is being provided at your request for your consideration and internal use only and not for the purpose of soliciting or recommending any action by you. You should carefully review the explanations that are included with the attached information and ensure that you understand the information that is being provided. Any questions regarding the nature of this information should be raised promptly with your Goldman Sachs contact person. The valuation listed in the attached information represents (i) the bid price at which Goldman, Sachs or one of its affiliates ("Goldman Sachs") would have been prepared to buy the specified instrument; and, (ii) if applicable, the price at which Goldman Sachs would have been prepared to enter into a credit default product by which Goldman Sachs would buy protection on the specified instrument. In each case, the valuation is valid only as of the open of business in New York on the date of the information; such valuation is not applicable at any other time. Moreover, such valuation may be affected by orders entered or transactions executed by us or other market participants after the time of the valuation. In addition, the valuations listed in the attached information are expressed in terms of a position in the relevant instrument of a specified size, which is not necessarily the size of any actual position, and the valuation is applicable only with respect to the specified size. The valuation does not indicate a price at which Goldman Sachs would be willing to enter into a transaction with respect to any other size, nor does it reflect a valuation that relates to (or may be extrapolated to) a position or transaction of any other size. In the future, Goldman Sachs may change the transaction size for which valuations are provided without notice. Because the valuations included in the attached information relate to different types of instruments, these valuations should not be used as the basis for determining a mid-market valuation. The valuations listed in the attached information do not necessarily reflect your entire portfolio. In determining the valuation of an instrument, Goldman Sachs might not take into account certain factors, including, without limitation, liquidity adjustments appropriate given the position size. In addition, the considerations and approach utilized in preparing such valuations may differ from those utilized by Goldman Sachs in valuing positions for purposes of its own books and records. Without limitation of the foregoing, Goldman Sachs may utilize valuation models for its own books to generate mid-market valuations that differ from the mid-point between bids and offers used to value client positions.

Not @ all - This is our shot to get this done - we want to stay on the offer and be aggressive

Thk abt this - if we establish a defined + healthy supply/demand dynamic in this product we can always CREATE more CDO^2 at a significant profit vs current levels

Brendan Gilligan called and said Moneygram may be interested in buying more Timberwolf A2 and Point Pleasant A2 in the context of their marks. He said Moneygram knows the market has moved wider from when they bought these bonds, so they were expecting their marks to be down (these are down 4-5 points from where they purchased). Also, interestingly he said Moneygram have been trying to get offer levels from other dealers on CDO^2 debt the other dealers own in inventory, but he said most won't give them offering levels and seem to want to hold the paper instead.

There is real market meltdown potential (although far from certain). The market isn't yet pricing it in - but the scenario is liquidity gets worse, downgrades/losses occur, and forced liquidations begin to happen - spiral down that has steep drops.

Flip side is liquidity and demand for risk and cheap assets overwhelm concerns. These are pretty much the only distressed assets out there in size.

But the upside/downside makes it seem way to early - especially for us mark-to market types.

I appreciate you are flat chat at the moment, but pls keep in mind GS is an aggressive seller of risk for QTR end purposes (last day of quarter is this Friday).

We would certainly appreciate your support, and equally help create something where the return on invested capital for Basis is over 60% (assume AAAs at 400dm; AAs at 500dm; 7.5% haircut and L+30bps funding).

Murph – I hope you are getting your legs back. When are you free to re-visit this trade with the Greywolf deal?

As indicated, I have been able to obtain approvals for a 6mth evergreen financing facility for this trade, which sits separate to the US$100mm facility we set up last year (and hence leaves some powder dry for other things).

Tks,
gm

Murph,

Further to our email traffic yesterday, I wanted to discover what might be possible in the levered AAA space.

To that end, I spoke with Dan Sparks and Peter Ostrem about potentially offering Basis a block of cheap highly rated ABS CDOs on a levered basis.

They were constructive with the enquiry & supportive to help structure something that should offer Basis an attractive risk-adjusted return on capital proposition. We are still mapping through the terms, but I wanted to highlight some broad thoughts on a trade idea.

We have been working on a SIV-lite structure for structured product CDO product, but this still requires a great deal of work from here....not to mention upfront expenses to establish such vehicles. The key guy working on this from our end is Rajiv Kamilla, who is actually going to be in Sydney next week. Rajiv is a senior and experienced structuring and trading guy devoted to new product development. Perhaps we should set up a meeting when he is here next week to discuss such broader exotic solutions. At this stage, however, this is still in design mode and the agencies are still non committal. The money market desks/repo counterparts for this sort of thing are also in early stages. I'm just trying to be realistic on this side....

We also looked at a non-par swap and found issues from a credit and extension / tail risk perspective, hence not a no-brainer.

On your question below about taking the AAA paper in isolation, the issue we face (from a trading and risk management perspective) is on being able to properly model, mark, & value this jump risk. I think the current market environment is suggesting clarity on this is not there. I can tell you Goldman is not doing any non-recourse financing at the moment on structured product CDOs.

From a pricing perspective, we have been trading Timberwolf AAA and AA bonds. 550dm on AAAs and north of 700dm on AAs is considered too wide for Timberwolf. We appreciate you are seeing other stuff, and keen to know which deals these are, but in this case I don't think the trading desk shares the sentiment with regard to such spread levels. To be constructive, however, I know the desk is entertaining block size trades at the moment from real money accounts in the US and Asia at wide levels (much wider than what they have traded before). To give you a sense, I think these represent 400-450dm and 650-700dm respectively (for size) at the widest level of such enquiries.

Overall, the 6mth evergreen financing proposal with recourse to the funds is the most efficient way I can see Goldman play here (at this point in time). As you can see from above, some flexibility on price can be afforded, which should help create a very positively convex & buffered position for you.

Again, I appreciate your focus....I just don't want to lead you up the garden path.

Your thoughts?

From our side we want to look at this like a conduit or SIV type arrangement.
If you take the AAA paper in isolation, what is the volatility of the mark to market (from current levels) that needs to be covered ?? And what equity sizing would be needed?? Would a non-par swap help bring forward the DM and convert it into current cash flow ??

I have taken a look at this, and can ask again, but on earlier discussions internally "non-recourse" was far worse than what was shown with recourse.
Two key drivers:
1 – the work done by the business unit and credit department to get comfortable with Basis Capital [redacted] NR [redacted] is thrown out the window, and as such you are treated no better than a $2 bucket shop… hence, credit terms worsen significantly.
2 – the excess cash here is actually minimal. The AAA has a L+90bps coupon, so if funding is L+35bps, you end up with 55bps of excess income. Assuming you sweep all of this to build excess credit support, this could potentially build an extra 5% in 3 years. That's clearly not a lot of buffer.
I'm just trying to highlight the issues, rather than over-promise. Any and all feedback is welcome.

Thanks George.

That's fine we can update the reports today with the new prices.

They should really meet the original call as the price dropped creating the call and has now gone back up to the 81.72 level decreasing the call.
We will apply the new prices today and see where we are which should reduce the call.

Hi Macdara, Julie and George,

Thanks a lot for your emails and clarifications.

We agree with Pac-Rim's Margin call USD $280,000 and will instruct our custodian to pay in the morning.

As to Yield Alpha I still have further concerns (sorry):

It seems that nearly $600,000 out of the $720,000 can be attributed to the mark down of our recent purchase Point Pleasant (which was marked from 81.72 down to 76.72). However, the end of month price mark that we just received from GS indicated that the price of the security remains at 81.72 --Please see attached the end of month mark.

Could you please kindly and urgently check this for us?

Many thanks.

Kind Regards,

Phillipa Chen

We have some questions regarding the call amount: the major contribution for the US 3.2m call is our recent purchase, Pleasant Point (3.091million call amount); We only recently bought this security and the haircut amount should be 25% instead of 50% as shown in the margin call statement. Basis Capital is an AUS (sydney) account which has been both a CDO buyer and CDO issuer/sponsor

They are big and real in the sector

Trading prices imply appr 84 on the AAAs and 76 on the AAs assuming 0bp cash/cds basis

Acct wanted to trade in CDS b/c of the term "funding" GS is supplying through buying protection vs. taking the month-to-month financing risk in the repo market if they owned the bonds

We pushed them towards cash but this was their preferred format

Tks David.

I have been exchanging messages with Stuart Fowler over the last hour or so.

Indeed they need to be synched with GS on such issues. He claims we have marked point pleasant down 3 times since they bought the bonds. I believe he is mistaken. I feel I have been progressing things, to get to a resolution, but not officially there as yet. I have oferred them time on the phone with you/trading to clariffy all but no word back from Stuart. Its now 1030pm here.

Let's get the final legal issue (re isda) resolved and hit them back.

Stuart – I assure you no foul here.

You bought these bonds at 1200dm / 81.75 dollar price on April 19 and the 75 mark for end-May is the first adjustment we've made since you bought the bonds.

I can also confirm we traded an original large block at 1000dm/88.33 dollar price at time of pricing the deal (April 10).

At just a week after the official pricing of the Pt Pleasant deal, we deemed 1200dm to be fair & reasonable – reflecting a "fair & reasonable" premium for the lack of liquidity for a block trade, and I can assure you each of John Niblo, Dan Sparks & I sincerely appreciated your support.

I want to offer you some 1-on-1 time with the trading desk at your earliest convenience to walk through their trading activities and how the MTM movements have been reflected. This can also be used to discuss the Timberwolf paper.

Please let me know how I can help address these issues.

George why is this happening each month?

Did we buy the bonds over a GS mark and that keeps coming back at us?

Is there some sort of internal price wedge between us, GS NY and through you?

I need to be very clear on this and are we going to see a similar problem on timberwolf?

Hey GM,

Our Point Pleasant bonds have been marked down from a purchase price of 81.7 to 75 (for month end marks and for margin call).
Considering we just bought this, why the significant move?!
Also what should we do about the margin call whist this issue is pending?

Why have we seen this happen 3 times now since buying them at 'fair' price?

Surely the market has generally improved - not backed up 6 points - every time we get to a pricing date?

I am still not convinced nor happy.

Stuart – I assure you no foul here.

You bought these bonds at 1200dm / 81.75 dollar price on April 19 and the 75 mark for end-May is the first adjustment we've made since you bought the bonds.

I can also confirm we traded an original large block at 1000dm/88.33 dollar price at time of pricing the deal (April 10).

At just a week after the official pricing of the Pt Pleasant deal, we deemed 1200dm to be fair & reasonable – reflecting a "fair & reasonable" premium for the lack of liquidity for a block trade, and I can assure you each of John Niblo, Dan Sparks & I sincerely appreciated your support.

I want to offer you some 1-on-1 time with the trading desk at your earliest convenience to walk through their trading activities and how the MTM movements have been reflected. This can also be used to discuss the Timberwolf paper.

Please let me know how I can help address these issues.

George why is this happening each month?

Did we buy the bonds over a GS mark and that keeps coming back at us?

Is there some sort of internal price wedge between us, GS NY and through you?

I need to be very clear on this and are we going to see a similar problem on timberwolf?

Hi Sahil – there has certainly been further softening in the market since the Point Pleasant trade was put on 8 weeks ago. We have infact traded some Point Pleasant BBBs at this level in the last 2 weeks, as compared to much worse levels we are hearing/seeing being done in the market on other AA-CDOsqd deals. This is regarded consistent with the marked down Timberwolf paper, and the current offer (to Basis) at ~84% (for AAAs) and ~77% (for AAs).

I hope this is helpful.

Tks,

George

Hey GM,

Our Point Pleasant bonds have been marked down from a purchase price of 81.7 to 75 (for month end marks and for margin call).

Considering we just bought this, why the significant move?!

Also what should we do about the margin call whist this issue is pending?

Regards,

Basis questioning the 75 mark on their Pt Pleasant BBBs.
As you know they bought 15mm at 81.75 (1200dm) and Mariner bought 11mm at 88.33(1000dm).
I am curious – where did you trade the last 6mm? (there were 32mm in the BBB class)

Does the 75 mark reflect actual trading or overall softness in the market?
I know you had indicated 70 was more like the number.

I would really appreciate your urgent attention here as Basis are crying foul...we may need to get on the phone with them NOW

The only pending issue is related to Point Pleasant marks and helping them get comfortable with this.

Hema,
As you know, this language is standard for Basis on all their ISDAs, including the one we currently have with their other fund.

This language is a "must have" for Basis. They will not sign an ISDA otherwise. To give you an idea, this point was negotiated for about 3 months last year.

Given the above, and David's comments below, the only solution I see is to trade under Long Form Confirmation.

Can we pls move forward on that basis please?

Can we carve these trades out and document under a LFC?

George, can u also pls push the client to agree to standard MQ where they get unwound @ the appropriate side of the mkt? If not, as stated, we agree to the mid language for these trades, but need to think abt it more for the ISDA.

David,

I refer to the below correspondence re: the ISDA with Basis Yield Alpha Fund (Master), and your email which George has kindly forwarded to us for reference.

As we understand that this is fairly urgent for tomorrow morning Sydney time, in order to facilitate the process, we would just like to clarify that the Market Quotation applied in the existing ISDA with Basis Pac-Rim and also for this Fund is not the standard MQ per 1992 ISDA, but the amended version of MQ (copied below for your reference). I also attach for your reference the previous discussions about this from late last year.

"The Market Quotation will apply; provided that where an Early Termination Date is designated due to the occurrence of any Additional Termination Event, any quotation from a Reference Market-maker shall be a Mid-market Quotation. For these purposes, a "Mid-market Quotation" means a quotation from a Reference Market-maker that has been adjusted to exclude any spread; provided that, if the Reference Market-maker will not reveal the spread included in its quotation, the Calculation Agent shall determine the appropriate adjustment in good faith and a commercially reasonable manner."

Accordingly, we would appreciate if you could kindly confirm that you are OK with the above amended version of Market Quotation to apply for the ISDA with Basis Yield Alpha Fund (Master) as well.

Many thanks, Hema

Subject: Timberwolf I, Ltd. -- PAUG trade with Basis Cap (YIELD ALPHA FUND)

Good Morning Stuart.

Not sure how you want to deal with the Point Pleasant marks/discussion.
FYI - David Lehman (cc:ed above), who runs our CDO trading business in NY is currently in Barcelona (conference) and available this morning to take your call to clarify any and all questions you have on the marking policy of Goldman, the actual marking of Point Pleasant, and the overall trading that has been seen by the GS desk in the last 1-6 months.

Please find below and attached updated trade details and cashflows on the $100mm Timberwolf PAUG trade. We are looking to trade this under Long Form Confirmation, incorporating all of the negotiated terms with Peter Dobson (which obviously reflects the standard language used by Basis on all of its ISDAs with the street).

Following the resolution of docs & credit, these are FIRM LEVELS (BID SIDE PROTECTION).

Stuart,
Please accept my sincerest apologies for the mis-information below.
As David mentioned, the 75 mark on Pt Pleasant BBB was more relfective of an interpretation of softer AAA-AA rated CDO-sqd paper translating to BBB part of the curve.

Hi Sahil – there has certainly been further softening in the market since the Point Pleasant trade was put on 8 weeks ago. We have infact traded some Point Pleasant BBBs at this level in the last 2 weeks, as compared to much worse levels we are hearing/seeing being done in the market on other AA-CDOsqd deals. This is regarded consistent with the marked down Timberwolf paper, and the current offer (to Basis) at ~84% (for AAAs) and ~77% (for AAs).

I hope this is helpful.

George

Hey GM,

Our Point Pleasant bonds have been marked down from a purchase price of 81.7 to 75 (for month end marks and for margin call).

Considering we just bought this, why the significant move?!

Also what should we do about the margin call whist this issue is pending?

Update following conf call trading/legal(Ldn&NY)/Ops (credit unable to join – have left an update v-m for Greg):

-Estimated clean funds available to meet call requirements approx USD13.5mm if Basis accepts GS bids.
-estimated surplus after meeting repo margin requirement USD5mm approx
- documentation does not allow us to automatically use this to cover swaps collateral requirement. Client agreement/authorisation would be required.
-agreed to make client's agreement to this a condition of trade – ldn legal (Michaela) to draft suitable authorisation for David to send on.
- Ops will need to hand hold all events to make sure no external settlement made and funds applied to calls. Brian has reached out to give settlement groups a heads up.
- David to George on situation
- George to update this group on outcome of communication with Basis and how they plan to meet the calls either by accepting GS bids, or delivery of cash value tomorrow.

Have just spoken to David Lehman and we have just left a v-m with Tom Riggs:

Update:

Gerry Oudekirk and David Lehman are to meet with Dan Sparks and Don Mullen to agree bid pricing this in the next 90 minutes or so. David will revert to this group with an update following this. We should get an idea of the clean funds which might be available to Basis if they accept our bids. Clearly preference would be for Basis to meet calls with free cash.

David and I will circle back with legal/credit/ops to establish next steps re netting margin requirements vs proceeds to make sure we don't inadvertently release funds/securities to the client.

David has a 5pmNY/7am Sydney call with George to update and agree approach with client.

Subject: RE: Basis

Despite giving the impression that they agreed the CDO marks as discussed on the call with the Trading desk, Basis have now stated that they want further clarification on these marks before they are happy to meet the two Repo calls.

David - they are looking for a line by line breakdown of the changes for each mark.

The OTC has been agreed in full with a payment of $5.04mm paid for value today, we are checking with Treasury to see when these funds hit our account.

Regards,

Macdara

Update:

There was a constructive call between basis and trading (Lehman, Case, Egol) re marks at 8PM EST Wednesday.

Natalie Witt and I just spoke to John Murphy at basis. It seems the marks have been accepted and we are awaiting confirmation of basis's plans to meet the margin call.

Will revert ASAP.

Subject: RE: Basis

I am following up with ops on the corporate actions to confirm if we can agree as soon as possible what the amounts are we owe them - I understand from ops (copied on this) that there is some clarification required from Basis.

To their question about netting the corporate action payments with the repo margin calls we are in now way obliged to do that. If they don't meet our margin calls by cob tomorrow we will be within our rights to close them out under the facility agreement and gmra.

That said, we should discuss the approach especially given the (fair?) reponse from Basis with a view to agreeing the marks on the repos as soon as possible and we may take the decision to agree to net the 2 amounts but we would need resolution on the corporate actions before cob tomorrow to do so and that may not be practical.

First up I think is to agree the marks then we can work out how we want to move on the margin vs the corporate action.

Maurice and I just finished the call with Peter Dobson (Basis).

1 - Basis have plenty of cash to make the full margin call, but the approach by Goldman has been viewed to be very aggressive and unwarranted & is hurting the relationship

2 - Basis will arrange for v/d 5 July the Timberwolf margin (USD5.04mm) subj to them receiving a note confirming the OTC swap would pay them any MTM improvement.

3 - Basis is not prepared to pay the margin call on the Repos (USD3.72mm

+ USD4.43mm) until the discussion re: revals has been made. David -

lets do this Thu morning SYD / Wed evening NY time. This is the case despite numerous suggestions for Basis to make a payment now and get a refund if the margin call was overstated.

4 - Basis cannot see any justification for the massive mark down in the securities (under the REPO), and are interpreting our revals as a way to reduce the repo financing line.

5 - They are disappointed Goldman have not paid to Basis the equity distributions under the REPO/GMRA. We potentially owe Basis approx USD5mm here. Can this be netted against the margin call? Olly - can you double check this pls?

6 - Basis claim Goldman have not cared to check in with Basis (from a credit perspective) to see how they are doing and instead are acting like the world is falling over with irrational behaviour.

I would like to know what the precedent there is here - does GS need (outside of the client issues) to provide the below info to justify our prices???

For example, on the TWOLF CDS, GS is willing to deal (bid and offer) in the context of our prices

On the equity securities, this is an illquid mkt where there are not a lot of recent trade spots, but it is clear that 1) other parts of the CDO cap structure are materially wider 2) the underlying assets w/i the CDO are materially wider

If credit can speak to the above ASAP it would be appreciated

Subject: Basis

I just spoke with Peter Dobson at Basis (430pm SYD time).

He is not concerned with the $$ of the margin call, but very concerned about the marks - they are contesting these levels, ie seeking clarity before agreeing to pay the margin.

They want to see:-

- the comparable market data point for the Timberwolf marks

- more info for each of the ABS CDO marks like IRRs, CDR, CPR, reinvestment profile, WAL, cashflows, etc

- the market data point for those marks, & actual trade examples done at these levels

- any other colour specific to these deals which helps Basis understand the marks

I will be arranging a call b/wn Basis and the NY traders asap

George

George Maltezos spoke with Basis late afternoon SYD time

In short, the client is communicating that the PAC RIM fund is OK and the YLD ALPHA fund is in real trouble

Basis indicated that GS was the first to send them default notices

Basis is still not signing the 2-page netting agreement

Basis has indicated that they will entertain a portfolio trade for all the assets (CDS and Cash) in YLD ALPHA

Basis has asked for "breathing space" w/r/t what they owe us, and claim 4 other financing CPs are giving them some grace time

I hope to get on with Basis in the next 1hr

We have the ability to initiate a recall of the funds through [redacted], but it would be accomplished with the consent of Basis allowing [redacted] to take back the funds, which is standard practice. I had a quick conversation with [redacted] and we thought it would be wise to present this option to the distribution to determine if we want to take this course of action.

Per the attached, GS has a reverse repo trade with Basis Yield Alpha on GSN 8R0ER0. This repo was open over a record date of a coupon payment. Consequently GSIL received the coupon that, under the repo terms is due back to Basis. Upon a claim from Merrill Lynch (custodian for Basis) Asset Services submitted this $327k payment. This payment has now hit the high risk payments system for release.

Subject to comments from the group, we are not releasing these funds. If there are factors we should consider with respect to releasing payment, please let us know.

Thanks

Greg

We have had several calls with Basis tonight

Gerry Ouderkirk provided the client with bid levels on $20mm face of CLO equity to free up capital to be applied against their margin call

Basis informed us that despite the net monies freed by the proposed CLO sale (~7mm), they are unable or unwilling to provide add'l cash or collateral to meet our margin call

Our bids for the CLO equity are contingent upon Basis signing a netting agreement which CGSH and GS Legal drafted

Our bids are also subject to material mkt moves as well as Basis executing by NY open

At this time the client is reviewing the netting agreement

After discussing with GS legal, we have informed the client that a formal notice will be sent to them by GS Legal by EOD Thursday Sydney time w/r/t their deficiency on meeting margin to preserve Goldman's rights and remedies

Update following conf call trading/legal(Ldn&NY)/Ops (credit unable to join - have left an update v-m for Greg):

-Estimated clean funds available to meet call requirements approx USD13.5mm if Basis accepts GS bids.
-estimated surplus after meeting repo margin requirement USD5mm approx
- documentation does not allow us to automatically use this to cover swaps collateral requirement. Client agreement/authorisation would be required.
-agreed to make client's agreement to this a condition of trade - ldn legal (Michaela) to draft suitable authorisation for David to send on.
- Ops will need to hand hold all events to make sure no external settlement made and funds applied to calls. Brian has reached out to give settlement groups a heads up.
- David to George on situation
- George to update this group on outcome of communication with Basis and how they plan to meet the calls either by accepting GS bids, or delivery of cash value tomorrow.

Have just spoken to David Lehman and we have just left a v-m with Tom Riggs:

Update:

Gerry Oudekirk and David Lehman are to meet with Dan Sparks and Don Mullen to agree bid pricing this in the next 90 minutes or so. David will revert to this group with an update following this. We should get an idea of the clean funds which might be available to Basis if they accept our bids. Clearly preference would be for Basis to meet calls with free cash.

David and I will circle back with legal/credit/ops to establish next steps re netting margin requirements vs proceeds to make sure we don't inadvertently release funds/securities to the client.

David has a 5pmNY/7am Sydney call with George to update and agree approach with client.

Thanks Macdara. Does it mean that they'd need to see the full break down of the marks and talk to David again (earliest NY time tonight) before they'd decide whether they agree on the marks? And there'll be at least 1 day delay for their margin?

Subject: RE: Basis

Despite giving the impression that they agreed the CDO marks as discussed on the call with the Trading desk, Basis have now stated that they want further clarification on these marks before they are happy to meet the two Repo calls.

David - they are looking for a line by line breakdown of the changes for each mark.

The OTC has been agreed in full with a payment of $5.04mm paid for value today, we are checking with Treasury to see when these funds hit our account.

Regards,

Macdara

Update:

There was a constructive call between basis and trading (Lehman, Case, Egol) re marks at 8PM EST Wednesday.

Natalie Witt and I just spoke to John Murphy at basis. It seems the marks have been accepted and we are awaiting confirmation of basis's plans to meet the margin call.

Will revert ASAP.

Subject: RE: Basis

I am following up with ops on the corporate actions to confirm if we can agree as soon as possible what the amounts are we owe them - I understand from ops (copied on this) that there is some clarification required from Basis.

To their question about netting the corporate action payments with the repo margin calls we are in now way obliged to do that. If they don't meet our margin calls by cob tomorrow we will be within our rights to close them out under the facility agreement and gmra.

That said, we should discuss the approach especially given the (fair?) reponse from Basis with a view to agreeing the marks on the repos as soon as possible and we may take the decision to agree to net the 2 amounts but we would need resolution on the corporate actions before cob tomorrow to do so and that may not be practical.

First up I think is to agree the marks then we can work out how we want to move on the margin vs the corporate action.

Maurice and I just finished the call with Peter Dobson (Basis).

1 - Basis have plenty of cash to make the full margin call, but the approach by Goldman has been viewed to be very aggressive and unwarranted & is hurting the relationship

2 - Basis will arrange for v/d 5 July the Timberwolf margin (USD5.04mm) subj to them receiving a note confirming the OTC swap would pay them any MTM improvement.

3 - Basis is not prepared to pay the margin call on the Repos (USD3.72mm

+ USD4.43mm) until the discussion re: revals has been made. David -

lets do this Thu morning SYD / Wed evening NY time. This is the case despite numerous suggestions for Basis to make a payment now and get a refund if the margin call was overstated.

4 - Basis cannot see any justification for the massive mark down in the securities (under the REPO), and are interpreting our revals as a way to reduce the repo financing line.

5 - They are disappointed Goldman have not paid to Basis the equity distributions under the REPO/GMRA. We potentially owe Basis approx USD5mm here. Can this be netted against the margin call? Olly - can you double check this pls?

6 - Basis claim Goldman have not cared to check in with Basis (from a credit perspective) to see how they are doing and instead are acting like the world is falling over with irrational behaviour.

Even client disagrees on the marks, they are obligated to meet the call amount as provided by the calculator, GS. But they have the right to go through the prices with us. If they don't meet the call today, they are in danger of defaulting margin payment. George is trying to explain to client that if they have cash available, they are encouraged to first meet the call and continue the marks discussion throughout the next 2 days.

Copying Sonia Lim from Legal to confirm the legal proceedings, as we may potentially need to issue demand note tomorrow.

George, Maurice, how was the discussion with client? If necessary, we'd need to trouble David to be on call with client to understand what exactly they want to clarify in terms of the marks.

I would like to know what the precedent there is here - does GS need (outside of the client issues) to provide the below info to justify our prices???

For example, on the TWOLF CDS, GS is willing to deal (bid and offer) in the context of our prices

On the equity securities, this is an illquid mkt where there are not a lot of recent trade spots, but it is clear that 1) other parts of the CDO cap structure are materially wider 2) the underlying assets w/i the CDO are materially wider

Subject: Basis

I just spoke with Peter Dobson at Basis (430pm SYD time).

He is not concerned with the $$ of the margin call, but very concerned about the marks - they are contesting these levels, ie seeking clarity before agreeing to pay the margin.

They want to see:-

- the comparable market data point for the Timberwolf marks

- more info for each of the ABS CDO marks like IRRs, CDR, CPR, reinvestment profile, WAL, cashflows, etc

- the market data point for those marks, & actual trade examples done at these levels

- any other colour specific to these deals which helps Basis understand the marks

I will be arranging a call b/wn Basis and the NY traders asap

George

Basis Hires Blackstone to Limit Losses on Hedge Funds (Update6)
2007-07-24 10:43 (New York)

(Adds Basis Capital assets in second paragraph.)

By Laura Cochrane
July 24 (Bloomberg) -- Basis Capital Fund Management Ltd., the Australian hedge fund manager battered by losses in the U.S. subprime mortgage market, hired Blackstone Group LP as an adviser to help avoid a fire sale of assets.

Blackstone, already helping Bear Stearns Cos. liquidate two hedge funds, will advise Basis Capital ``to prevent adverse pricing and selling of assets,'' the Sydney-based firm said in a statement today. Basis Capital, which had assets of $1 billion as recently as May, said July 18 that the value of its Yield Alpha fund may fall more than 50 percent if assets are sold at distressed prices.

The losses at the fund, which recorded an average annual return of 15.5 percent for the past five years, underscores the global impact of the subprime shakeout. Federal Reserve Chairman Ben S. Bernanke said July 19 that there will be ``significant financial losses'' from risky mortgages, pointing to estimates as high as $100 billion.

``The fallout from subprime is likely to impact most asset classes and investment strategies over the next couple of years because the ratings agencies completely goofed up,'' said Peter Douglas, founder of Singapore-based hedge fund research firm GFIA Pte. ``Basis Capital is viewed as a bellwether.''

Basis Capital's Aust-Rim Opportunity Fund and the Yield Alpha fund lost 9 percent and 14 percent respectively in June. The funds ran into trouble by investing in the unrated, riskiest portions of collateralized debt obligations. These portions, also known by bankers as ``toxic waste,'' are first in line for any losses when borrowers fall short on mortgage payments.

Delinquencies Rise

Sophia Harrison, a spokeswoman for Blackstone in London, declined to comment about the firm's role with Basis Capital. The Australian firm was founded by Steve Howell and Stuart Fowler, who worked together at County NatWest, in 1999. It was named ``Fund of the Year'' at the 2005 AsiaHedge awards and Macquarie Bank Ltd.'s ``Skilled Manager of the Year'' in 2004.

Delinquencies on U.S. subprime mortgages -- home loans to people with poor credit -- surged to a 10-year high this year after borrowing costs rose.

While sales of CDOs -- used to pool bonds, loans and their derivatives into new debt -- rose fivefold to $503 billion last year from 2003, investor appetite for the securities is now waning. Analysts at New York-based JPMorgan Chase & Co. said yesterday that CDO sales dwindled to $3.7 billion in the U.S. this month from $42 billion in June.

Credit Markets

The extent of the asset declines such as those at Basis Capital and Bear Stearns Cos. is masked by the reluctance of investors to buy or sell the illiquid securities, said Sarah Percy-Dove, the Sydney-based head of credit research at Australia & New Zealand Banking Group Ltd.

``Every single CDO is very different,'' she said. ``To get somebody to price a CDO at all can be difficult because people won't price something they don't understand.''

Bear Stearns, the fifth-largest U.S. securities firm, said July 18 that investors in its two failed hedge funds will get little if any money back after ``unprecedented declines'' in the value of securities used to bet on subprime mortgages.

The losses triggered a selloff across credit markets because of concerns that CDO declines would mean losses for holders of even the least risky debt and that fewer sales of new CDOs would reduce demand for bonds and loans.

S&P Downgrades

The Basis Capital funds, which were open to individual and institutional investors, had the highest five-star ratings from Standard & Poor's before the ranking was put ``on hold'' July 17.
This means the rating is being reviewed because ``issues potentially affecting the management of the fund have emerged,'' according to S&P's Web site.

David Erdonmez, a fund analyst at S&P, said the revaluation of Basis's assets had triggered margin calls from investment banks that have seized and begun to sell off assets. S&P today kept the funds on hold after meeting with management.

Investors have criticized S&P, Fitch Ratings and Moody's Investors Service, saying their ratings on bonds backed by U.S. mortgages to people with limited credit didn't reflect the rising default rate. They often gave top ratings to the securities. Some bonds have lost more than 50 cents on the dollar this year while their credit ratings haven't changed.

Australian Market

``This won't be the last fund in Australia or overseas to find itself in financial difficulty because of U.S. subprime,'' said Mark Bayley, a Sydney-based director in credit and structuring at ABN Amro Holding NV.

Mariner Bridge Investments Ltd., another Sydney-based asset manager, wrote down its U.S. residential mortgage-backed securities portfolio on July 20 to 26 percent below face value on subprime losses. Mariner said A$36 million of its A$302 million in assets was invested in U.S. residential mortgage-backed securities.

Australian investors, mostly individuals, had A$675 million in the two Basis funds, the Australian Financial Review said July 19. Hedge funds in Australia are open to retail investors, unlike in the U.S. where the largely unregulated pools of capital are generally limited to institutions and wealthy individuals. The funds' managers participate substantially in any gains on the money invested.

I told them I was very surprised not to have heard back from them (either way) last night

I asked for specific feedback on our proposal and why that did not work

Their only comment was "Basis could not get legal advice last night" and that they went to bed

Disappointing to say the least

They were aware we sent our notices

2) Swap pricing. Sounds like the directors are concerned with committing to trading the

Team Basis -

Over approximately the past 5 days, GSI has been working with Basis in good faith towards a consensual agreement regarding our repo and swap exposure

After repeated attempts from GSI to continue our dialogue, GSI has not heard (e-mail or phone) from Basis over the past 60 hours

As GSI and Basis previously maintained a good dialogue working towards a common end, GSI is concerned by the lack of communication given the current situation

If the execution of a binding agreement cannot be reached by 12:00 New York Time tonight (2:00 p.m. Sydney Time), GSI expects to close out our repo and swap exposure

GSI's strong preference is a consensual resolution along the lines negotiated with Basis, but the lack of communication and inability to move our bilateral agreement forward leaves GSI little choice

Please note that GSI has postponed the security and swap bid lists scheduled for this afternoon which were contemplated in our consensual agreement

Subject: SP CDO positions - gameplan

Order of priority in terms of risk:

1. CDO-squareds
2. Hudson Mezz
3. All other positions - traditional-style CDOs with collateral managers

Gameplan for distribution:

1. CDO-squareds
- target real money institutional buyers that can take larger bite size than traditional CDO buyers and are focused on yield pick-up vs. other investments -- for example, Asian banks and insurance companies
- target European banks focused on new Basel 2 regulatory capital framework that achieve significant regulatory capital benefit for investing in highly rated assets vs. the previous system
- offer CDO CDS protection on a portfolio of names in the Timberwolf and Point Pleasant portfolios to buyers looking at cash liabilities from the two deals as a long/short pair trade -- for example, AIG is currently focused on this trade idea. GS is currently long CDS protection on 51 CDO names in the two portfolios and we have been aggressively sourcing further protection in the CDS market on names in the two portfolios recently.
- target hedge funds that can put on this type of relative value long/short trade with short-term financing to achieve returns attractive relative to CDO equity

2. Hudson Mezz
- focus on institutional buyers that can take larger bite size than traditional CDO buyers
- focus on buyers that are currently long ABX risk and can get comfortable with the Hudson Mezz underlying portfolios without needing the benefit of a collateral manager - for example, US insurance companies like Progressive.
- offer RMBS CDS protection to buyers looking at cash liabilities as a long/short pair trade
- offer CDO CDS protection to buyers looking at cash liabilities as a long/short pair trade
- pitch Hudson Mezz as a means to express long 06-1/06-2 vs. short 07-1 trade
- target hedge funds that can put on these relative value long/short trades with short-term financing to achieve returns attractive relative to CDO equity

3. Other positions
- GSC super-senior AAAs - Dresdner is nearing completion of their work on $500mm of our $1.085mm position. Other options for the remaining size: CIFG, Radian, FGIC
- continue to focus on CDO managers ramping new deals and reinvesting principal paydowns in existing reinvestable deals for smaller cash pieces (examples in the last 2 weeks - sales to Terwin, Oppenheimer, Deerfield, and Vector Capital)
- target buying protection in CDS format on the same names we are currently long in cash if there continues to be more liquidity in CDS vs. cash due to market technicals, and when we reach critical mass ($50-100mm), compile a package of cash positions that we've bought protection on and offer the package as a negative basis trade

Next week Hungkuk Life will submit an approval form on Timberwolf A2's. Their size will be 20mm-40mm, depending on offer price.

The largest hurdle from the client's perspective is whether or not they can get the mandate to buy something backed by synthetically sourced CDO's, as they have never bought CDO^2 before. Both the account's GM and Bank of Korea (Korea's Central Bank) can DK them on this.

The largest hurdle from sales' perspective is MTM. It is an important client, and if the mark widens out more than 1pt immediately after selling the asset to them, sales cannot sell it. Understanding that it is a volatile asset, sales wants to know that where we sell it to the client will not be more than 1pt less than where the mark would be, provided no new market information.

Please provide the following by Sunday 7pm NYC (Monday morning Asia):

Base Case DM: Offer DM such that the price is 1/2pt above where we intend to mark it (provided no market changes)
Show Price/DM table centered around the Base Case DM as defined above, and +/- 30bp dm by 10 DM (eg, 7 scenarios total). Assume a settle of June 14th.

Dan:

Per our conversation on Friday, wanted to make sure you had the complete update/summary of where are on the CDO axes in Asia. Total firm bids for risk $186mm with another potential 20mm this week.

*Tokyo Star Bank (Japan) -- 20mm TWOLF AAA's. Sugi on our desk worked personally on this daily for 3+ weeks.

*Hungkuk Life (Korea) -- 36mm TWOLF AAA's firm as of Friday; expect firm order on 20mm more by mid next week (need to book as single ticket). Jay and Sugi working with entire Korea team (including JH Park) to get this through. Wehave leveraged our personal relationship / time investment to date with the Korea team to push them on this.

*Basis Capital (Australia) -- 50mm AAA and 50mm AA TWOLF firm order in swap form as of last week (as you know, just finalizing last few internal credit / doc issues). George has totally come through on this and again proves how invaluable he is to the business (we should keep this in mind as we continue to think about important personnel to global SPG as we expand the trading/syndicate side of the business).

*Tokyo Star Bank (Japan) -- Appr. 20mm indication for Point Pleasant AAA's. PM's taking deal to their risk committee on Tuesday of this week in Tokyo. Again, Sugi has been driving this process and getting it done.

Let me or Bunty know if you need further clarification on any of these. In Barcelona Monday/Tuesday. Thanks.

CDOs have widened a lot (BSAM situation, other) and we probably need to widen things/lower prices - next few days.

The effect on us will probably be a net positive, with retained CDO positions lower, CDS protection and correlation having gains. We are still doing work. We are also thinking through client mark issues including speaking to compliance about using mids.

Also, monthly subprime remittances are out today, and early read is performance is poor and speeds are slow.

Also, Moody's wants to speak (as our corporate rater), NYSE has questions, and I spoke with the SEC Thursday - all off the BSAM and related stuff.

Subject: RE: Timberwolf analysis

1. Number should be 23%,I am assuming a 50% severity of the single-a cdo that has a writedown.
2. At the timberwolf level, OC triggers provide support in the case of a ratings downgrade, and prior to a writedown of the underlying single-as. In those cases, cashflow is directed towards the senior bonds allowing more oc to build at the jr levels. However, in many of the underlying single-a cdos, these same triggers could hurt timberwolf. On balance, it probably helps rather than hurts timberwolf mez triple-as.
3. I came up with level after talking to egol. Having said that it is largely subjective and have not used it in discussing it with clients other than to say the attachment point for the a2 understates the protection for the a2.

As an aside, the results look even better if you break the 2006 production home equity into buckets based on fico. Without bucketing, roughly 27% of the underlying ref obis going all the way down through to the cdo of the cdo of the cdo, ect, are homeequity of 2006 or later production based on our weighting framework. This is better than the original analysis, which had that number at 34%. Even better is that only 14% on a weighted basis of the ref are truly subprime (fico 625 and lower). So, defaulting all of these does not hit the a2 attachment point.

In terms of telling customers. I prefer to give them the general idea of the trade. Then give them the excel spread sheet with our info on ref obs and let them draw their own conclusions.

Thanks Alan, this is a really good contribution to analysis we're doing internally as well regarding the pricing of Timberwolf and our structured product positions.

A couple of questions:

1) Can you explain how you got to 24% writedown based on 25/55 names defaulting?
2) What do you mean when you say that oc triggers could provide added support beyond excess interest?
3) How did you come up with 4% enhancement at the Timberwolf and underlying CDO levels?

The trickiest part about sharing this analysis with custies is that it shows just how rudimentary our own understanding of these positions actually is. Are other dealers running cashflows for clients on this type of product? (Including Vivien for her thoughts on what Lehman does).

Subject: Timberwolf analysis

Here is a spread sheet with our latest info on timberwolf plus some simple analysis. I basically default every 2006 vintage subprime regardless of rating, and assume losses of 50% of face. I then look at those losses verses an adjusted cdo credit support to see if there are losses. This brute force approach defaults 25 of the 55 names, or 45%. This results in a writedown at the timberwolf level of 24%. Although the attachment point of the a2 is 20%, the effective attachment is higher, again using another 4% or 24% of ce or attachment for the a2. (BTW this 4% only reflects the value of the excess interest, the oc triggers would also give added support).

This is pretty much the same results before. Just hitting the low fico 2006 and just the baa1 and below would look better. Of course if you start getting complete writedowns of 2006, 2005s will take some hits as well. However, I think assuming all 2006 vintage baa1 and below get written down offsets that factor. However, this framework can provide some rudimentary analysis for us and for customers. Once we send them the spreadsheet with the information they can do this them selves.

I've been speaking with scott at carlyle about junior AAA CDO paper and he is starting to see value here - will show him the GSC deal and walk through it - he seems to have an appetite for risk at these levels which is good but the flip side is he thinks the market is "unhinged" wrt to valuations, i.e. everything trading on technicals and no one talking about fundamentals - one point, he is going to want to look at the TWOLF trade on a fundamental basis with a lot of supporting runs to back up any additional mark downs we have - telling him we are busy when it comes to month end and we can't run that analysis because we are resource-constrained will not be good enough fyi

This should be a double-edged sword that we can use to move risk however, so I hope we see this approach as a net positive

Just want to give a little color, at Lehman (internal strictly), the analysis is more bottom-up: what I mean is that the individual subprime or other class bonds are analyzed under typical HPA scenarios, then the cashflow gets sum up:
1. usually, the implied HPA of the worst priced ABX index will be used as a "market implied mean HPA" to reflect the market price
2. a standard deviation (historical national) will be applied on top of the implied HPA assuming very simplistic normal distribution
3. individual bonds are calling sector models (subprime bonds call up subprime, CMBS bonds call up CMBS), cashflows are ran under the multiple HPA scenarios. So triggers are ran operational, the curves are based on model projection (and the tweaks on top ie., originator, vintage, etc.)
4. cashflow summed up based on the CDO structure - this is in development and mannual and not fully scalable the last time I heard it
5. CDO cashflow under HPA scenariosThat's roughly how the mortgage side go about it.

As an aside, the results look even better if you break the 2006 production home equity into buckets based on fico. Without bucketing, roughly 27% of the underlying ref obis going all the way down through to the cdo of the cdo of the cdo, ect, are homeequity of 2006 or later production based on our weighting framework. This is better than the original analysis, which had that number at 34%. Even better is that only 14% on a weighted basis of the ref are truly subprime (fico 625 and lower). So, defaulting all of these does not hit the a2 attachment point.

In terms of telling customers. I prefer to give them the general idea of the trade. Then give them the excel spread sheet with our info on ref obs and let them draw their own conclusions.

Thanks Alan, this is a really good contribution to analysis we're doing internally as well regarding the pricing of Timberwolf and our structured product positions.

A couple of questions:

1) Can you explain how you got to 24% writedown based on 25/55 names defaulting?
2) What do you mean when you say that oc triggers could provide added support beyond excess interest?
3) How did you come up with 4% enhancement at the Timberwolf and underlying CDO levels?

The trickiest part about sharing this analysis with custies is that it shows just how rudimentary our own understanding of these positions actually is. Are other dealers running cashflows for clients on this type of product? (Including Vivien for her thoughts on what Lehman does).

Here is a spread sheet with our latest info on timberwolf plus some simple analysis. I basically default every 2006 vintage subprime regardless of rating, and assume losses of 50% of face. I then look at those losses verses an adjusted cdo credit support to see if there are losses. This brute force approach defaults 25 of the 55 names, or 45%. This results in a writedown at the timberwolf level of 24%. Although the attachment point of the a2 is 20%, the effective attachment is higher, again using another 4% or 24% of ce or attachment for the a2. (BTW this 4% only reflects the value of the excess interest, the oc triggers would also give added support).

This is pretty much the same results before. Just hitting the low fico 2006 and just the baa1 and below would look better. Of course if you start getting complete writedowns of 2006, 2005s will take some hits as well. However, I think assuming all 2006 vintage baa1 and below get written down offsets that factor. However, this framework can provide some rudimentary analysis for us and for customers. Once we send them the spreadsheet with the information they can do this them selves.

How many times do we have to request data points and scenarios by email.

These were read out to us on the call and it was agreed that GS would send them through.

I am getting weary of continually hearing about transparency and yet an obvious avoidance of 'putting things to paper'.

Hi John,

Thanks for your notes.

As represented on the call on thu morning, we want to be as helpful as possible here. However, as per the call, the trading desk does not necessarily use a single scenario to determine the marks. To that end, I would recommend doing a follow up call to go through the marking methodology for the remaining securities (and/or go over the securities discussed on thu again).

Does Monday morning SYD time work? If not, pls indicate a time / day that does.

Thanks and kind regards,
George

Ozawa-san,

To clarify, we understand there is urgency from the client's end to see something in writing by this Wednesday morning, and we are working to provide something.

However, under no circumstances are we going to be able to provide materials specific to Timberwolf and Point Pleasant, or even use the word "mark" in written materials. Instead, what we are working to provide is an introduction to some of the frameworks that can be used to analyze different types of CDO's. Everything will be described in general terms, and if what we provide is too vague or general, the medium for further clarification must be oral, not written.

Our marking policy is a market price (bid and/or offer) -- We do not have a written methodology for pricing and we should tell Tokyo Star as much

We are able to provide context to our prices verbally, including any CDO trades we have done (in the underlying deals or the CDO^2 itself if we have traded), and the move in the underlying portfolio MTM, etc

Also important to note that our marks are actionable bid and offer prices for cash (bid) or cds (offer) whereas it is not clear if our competitors marks are indicative of the current market prices

Is there a reason Tokyo Star wants something in writing vs getting on the phone or discussing verbally?

Can discuss more live

Gentlemen, we are getting good traction on the ABACUS 2007-AC1 transaction, the $2bn notional mezz ABS CDO transaction with a portfolio consisting of 100% Baa2 rated RMBS bonds selected by ACA. We have gotten orders for approx $200mm of mezz AAA CLNs and expect to price a first tap of this transaction early next week. This transaction should be a good product to show your customers, to the extent they are not participating in Anderson Mezz, Timberwolfe or Point Pleasant. I have attached below some key selling points for this trade, as well as price thoughts below:

Supersenior tranche (45-100 tranche, funded or unfunded): 45bps
Aaa/AAA (35-45 tranche, funded or unfunded): L+85bps
Aaa/AAA (21-35 tranche, funded or unfunded): L+110bps
Aa2/AA (18-21 tranche, funded or unfunded): L+175bps
Aa3/AA- (13-18 tranche, funded or unfunded): L+225bps
A2/A (10-13 tranche, funded or unfunded): L+500bps

Below are some key marketing points for the trade. Let's discuss what customer we can show this transaction to, thanks.

Executive Summary

- Structured products may represent an opportunity for banks to enhance yield, improve capital efficiency and diversify risk exposures
- Financial institutions have begun to recognize the value of structured products and have been directing asset and resource allocation accordingly
- Implementation of product efforts has been slow due to several factors
  - Lack of internal product expertise
  - Balance sheet viewed as containing sufficient risk
  - Regulatory capital issues
  - Mark-to-market earnings volatility concerns

  Internal / External
- Increasingly structured products are viewed as an efficient and effective vehicle to access credit
  - Systemic exposures and managed transactions minimize need for intensive research capability while maximizing portfolio diversity
  - Attractive alternative for overly concentrated portfolios
  - Existing knowledge of MBS and ABS CDO's transferable to synthetic CDO's
  - Environment for structured products has become progressively more balance sheet and income statement friendly

Traditional Bank Portfolios

- Banks seek to maximize investment portfolio returns subject to certain risk guidelines: liquidity, market risk, principal risk and regulatory capital
- Banks have attempted to meet these goals through exposure to Treasuries, Agencies, Mortgage-Backed Securities (MBS), Asset-Backed Securities (ABS), Municipals and Corporates
- Historically, banks have limited credit exposure in their investment portfolio
  - MBS and ABS contain some consumer credit risk
  - Agency products contain limited credit risk
  - Corporate bond investment overall has been limited
- Consequently, interest rate risk has been the primary portfolio risk
  - Upward sloping yield curves have provided alpha
  - Convexity in mortgage portfolios has enhanced yields but exposed banks to the increased volatility inherent in these products
  - Corporate bonds fail to diversify rate risk because:
    - Limited component of bank investment portfolios
    - Only 11% of corporate bond coupon results from credit risk
    - Corporate bonds are not a source of reg cap relief (100% risk weighting)

¹ This analysis is for illustrative purposes only, and is based solely on historical performance which may differ from actual performance. Dow Jones 5yr CDX.NA.IG.4 index of Credit Default Swaps was used to represent credit spreads. 5yr interest rate swap rates and 5yr CDX.NA.IG.4 spreads as of 04/26/06 used in combination with historic volatilities of 5yr interest rate swap rates and CDX.NA.IG spreads to generate valuation volatility compositions.

Cashflow Collateralized Debt Obligations (Cash CDOs)

Structure

- CDOs are not an asset class, but rather a vehicle for investing in a given asset class
- A cash CDO finances the purchase of a portfolio of assets by the issuance of several different rated tranches of debt and a tranche of equity (the "liabilities")
- Interest and principal payments on the liabilities are financed by income from the assets
- CDOs provide value as a customized investment format that allows an investor to control the amount of risk and return that they are seeking from the underlying assets

Overview
Why Do CDOs Exist?

A successful CDO serves the objectives of three constituencies

Debt Investors	Equity Investors	Collateral Manager
■ Exposure to asset classes that may not otherwise be available or practical ■ Customized risk profile ■ Attraction yields relative to comparably rated securities ■ Underlying portfolios selected and underwritten by Goldman and respected collateral managers or investors	■ Arbitrage between asset yield and financing cost ■ Non-recourse, term financing ■ High current cash flow ■ Low correlation with other alternative investments ■ Lower management fees than other managed vehicles	■ Assets under management ■ Longer term mandate than typical accounts ■ Access to different investor base

Overview and Motivation for the Bank Loan Asset Class

- The collateral for a CLO consists primarily of leveraged loans
  - Leveraged loans are syndicated bank loans made to borrowers with non-investment grade credit ratings
  - The US leveraged loan market has matured into a major capital market with strong liquidity
  - Spreads over LIBOR on B-rated leveraged loans have averaged approximately 300 bps over the last seven years
  - Default rates for leveraged loans have historically tracked significantly lower than default rates for high yield bonds
  - Recovery rates for leveraged loans have historically tracked significantly higher than recovery rates for high yield bonds
- Since its development in 1996, the US cash flow arbitrage CLO market has developed into a major market
  - US Cash flow arbitrage CLO issuance reached approximately $42 billion in the first 3 quarters of 2005
  - CLOs own an estimated 65% of the US dollar institutional leveraged loan market

Growth of Primary Market Issuance

Broadly Syndicated Loans

- A syndicated leveraged loan is one that is provided by a group of commercial or investment banks to a non-investment grade company
- A syndicated loan typically consists of:
  - A revolving credit facility (pro-rata) which allows a borrower to draw down, repay, and reborrow
  - An amortizing loan with a progressive repayment schedule
  - One or more institutional term loan tranches that have longer maturities and back-ended repayment
- As the syndicated loan market has evolved, the banks that arrange loans have increasingly sold loans to institutional investors such as CLOs and prime funds
- US dollar denominated annual new issue volume for leveraged loans

Transaction Features
Cash Flow CLO Deal

	Cash Flow CLO Deal
Objective	Cash Flow CLO deals depend on the ability of the collateral to generate sufficient current cash to pay interest and principal on rated notes issued by the CLO.
Rating Focus	The ratings are based on the effect of collateral defaults and recoveries on the timely payment of interest and principal from the collateral.
Manager Focus	Manager focuses on controlling defaults and recoveries.
Structural Protection	Overcollateralization is measured on the basis of the portfolio's par value. If overcollateralization tests are failed, then cash flow is diverted from the mezzanine and subordinated classes to pay down senior notes, or cash flow is trapped in a reserve account. There are no forced collateral liquidations.
Diversity and Concentration Limits	Very strict – often no more than 2% per obligor and no more than 10% per industry category.
Trading Limitations	There are limitations on portfolio trading (20% discretionary per year). No restrictions on selling credit risk or credit improved Collaterals.
Typical Collatera	Bank loans, with small baskets for high-yield bonds, structured finance bonds, etc with predictable, steady interest payments.

Synthetic CDO Overview

- CDOs are not an asset class.
- CDOs are a technology – a combination of derivatives and structured finance technology – applied to an asset class.
- CDO technology enables market participants to build customized investments to meet return objectives subject to risk tolerance.
- Credit portfolios tend to have asymmetric risk/return profiles due to idiosyncratic risk
- Structured credit investments create systemic based risk/return profiles as credit events decrease subordination before resulting in actual losses
- Highly rated structured credit investments may provide for more efficient use of regulatory capital than comparably rated single name investments
- Structured credit investments provide exposure to a variety of asset classes and may serve as a good source of diversification
- Synthetic structured credit investments enable instant ramp up of assets and are not subject to supply constraints of the cash market

Synthetic CDO Overview

- A synthetic CDO is an arrangement whereby the losses on a portfolio of CDS are allocated among various participants according to specified priorities
- Synthetic CDOs are a derivative extension of cash CDOs and have seen a large increase in volume over the past several years
  - A synthetic CDO combines the cash CDO securitization technology with credit derivative hedging technology
- Like a cash CDO, the performance of a synthetic CDO is directly linked to the performance of the reference portfolio
- They can be structured unfunded (as derivatives or guaranty policies) or funded (as Notes or bonds), rated or unrated
- Similar to a cash CDO, we can create tailored risk profiles by allowing different tranches to assume losses in a given order:
  - The Equity tranche assumes the first losses on the reference portfolio, up to its tranche size. It is the riskiest part of the capital structure and receives the highest coupon.
  - A mezzanine tranche assumes subsequent losses up to its tranche size. It is less risky and receives a lower coupon.
  - The Senior tranche assumes any remaining losses on the reference portfolio. It is therefore the safest part of the capital structure and receives the lowest coupon.
- Transactions are documented using standard ISDA terms and credit losses on the reference portfolio are determined in accordance with ISDA credit derivative definitions

Credit Default Swaps
Disaggregating Credit-Risky Bonds

- Given lack of development of a corporate repo market, cash credit markets have always been "sticky"
  - Long/less long mentality
- Cash credit products embed several risks, including interest rate and credit risk
- Credit derivatives enable market participants to isolate the components of credit risk
- A credit default swap (CDS) allows investors to express long and short views on single-name credits and serves as the fundamental building block in structured credit

- Bonds/loans are physical IOUs
- Government bonds are considered credit risk free
- Credit risky bonds, therefore, trade at a yield premium to government bonds to compensate for risk of default
- The CDS market focuses on trading the credit default risk premium

Credit Default Swaps

Example Mechanics

- Buyer of protection pays a quarterly credit spread premium to the seller of protection
- Credit Events may include[1]
  - Failure to pay
  - Bankruptcy
- If no credit event occurs, the only cash flow is the quarterly premium paid by the buyer to the seller
- If a credit event occurs, the premium payments stop and the transaction is settled either physically or through a cash valuation mechanism
  - Physical: The buyer delivers to the seller Deliverable Obligation and the seller delivers 100% of the notional of the transaction to the buyer. Physical settlement is the market standard
  - Cash: A valuation mechanism is used to determine a "Final Price" for the defaulted obligations (generally a dealer poll) and the seller delivers the notional of the transaction x (100% - Final Price) to the buyer

Structured Credit Tranches

Subordination and Tranche Size

- Structured credit relies on two key principles:
  - Subordination
    - The measure of losses that must occur within a portfolio before a tranche is at risk to loss
  - Tranche size
    - Reflects the notional (value-at-risk) of a structured credit investment
- In this example, the first loss tranche size is $100mm
  - $100mm of reference portfolio losses would need to occur before the second-loss tranche is subject to loss
  - Investors can thus create "credit enhanced" credit exposure through the use of subordination
- Tranche size is also a measure of leverage
  - For example, an investor may wish to invest $200mm into the same 10% first loss tranche - and thus would reference a portfolio of $2bn rather than $1bn
- Combined with tranche size, varying levels of subordination enable investors to tailor both the structural leverage and the risk/return profile of their investment

Synthetic CDOs
Structure

- Investors customize tranche risk/ return profile by specifying tranche subordination and tranche size
- Investors can create rated "credit enhanced" credit exposure through the use of subordination
  - In this example, the AAA rated tranche subordination is 10% ($100mm)
  - $100mm of reference portfolio losses would need to occur before the AAA tranche is subject to loss
- Tranche size is a measure of leverage
  - In this example, the AAA rated tranche size is 3% ($30mm)
  - Once portfolio losses reach 10% ($100mm), the tranche can withstand an additional 3% ($30mm) portfolio losses before exhaustion

Synthetic CDOs

How can we sell a single tranche?

- What happens to the rest of the capital structure? Who owns the equity?
- When a dealer executes a single tranche deal, they decompose the risk into a sensitivity to each of the underlying credits (the "delta")
  - Dealers will execute delta hedges on each of the names in the reference portfolio at the time they trade the tranche
  - By only ramping up the risk associated with the tranche we place, we are able to execute single tranches without placing the entire capital structure

Concerns Around Credit Resolved

Traditional reasons to limit credit exposure	Structured credit resolves past issues
Lack of internal expertise and infrastructure required for corporate credit analysis	Systemic risk exposure achieved utilizing existing knowledge of structures
View balance sheet as already containing sufficient credit risk	Negative correlation to mortgage products may provide needed asset class diversity
Regulatory capital requirements have traditionally limited the ability to efficiently gain systemic credit exposure (corporate bonds 100% risk weighting)	Capital efficiency achieved through ability to invest in rated securities with enhanced returns
Introducing credit to portfolio may cause earnings-based mark-to-market volatility	FASB amendments may allow tranche notes to be classified as Available for Sale securities[1]

Relative Value & Yield Enhancement

- Structured credit/product investments produce higher yields than comparably rated single name investments through structural leverage and exposure to "systemic" rather than idiosyncratic risk

- Tight spread and yield environment has triggered an extensive search for yield
- Increased single name exposure to higher yielding credits may increase idiosyncratic and asymmetric risk
- Structured credit/product investments rely on two key principles:
  - Subordination: measure of losses that must occur within a portfolio before a tranche is at risk to loss
  - Tranche size: reflects the notional (value-at-risk) of a structured credit investment
- Through the use of subordination investors can take highly rated exposure to lower rated collateral and articulate a systemic as opposed to idiosyncratic view on credit

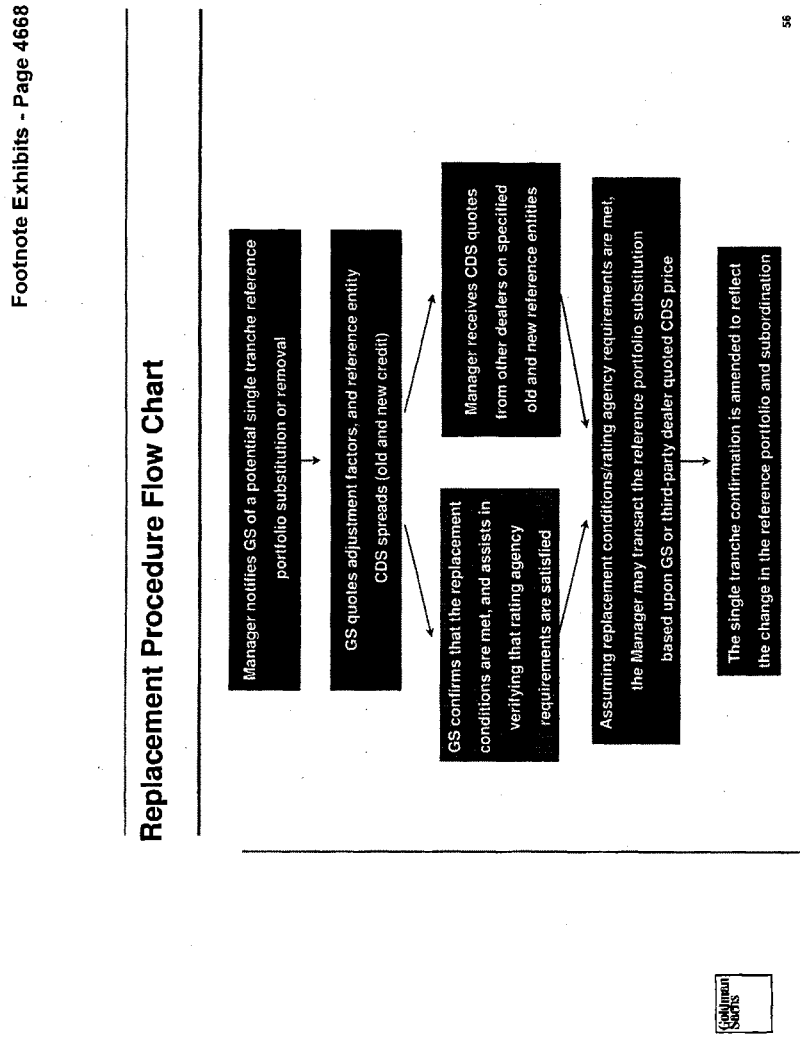
Trading Flexibility



- The Manager will have the flexibility to trade the underlying Reference Portfolio – and trading will affect the subordination of the tranches
  - Typical trading is defensive – taking out wide spread names and replacing them with tighter names. These trades will results in a reduction in subordination
  - Manager can also take a view on the credit by taking out a tight spread name and replacing with a wider name for credits where the Manager believes that the new credit is trading wider than is reflected by the fundamental credit risk
    - These trades will result in an increase in subordination
- Trades will be subject to the following restrictions
  - Turnover Limit
  - Regional and industrial diversity requirements, spread distribution test. These are designed to ensure that the overall correlation and spread distribution of the portfolio remain broadly the same
  - S&P CDO Monitor Test – S&P require the S&P CDO Monitor to be run before each trade to ensure that the rating of each tranche is not adversely affected by the trade
  - Minimum Subordination for the lowest rated tranche of [2.0%]
  - Maximum increase in subordination from spread widening trades equal to [1.0%]
- There will not be any coverage tests as the Manager's incentives are aligned with those of Investors through ownership of the notes
- Typical Trade Flow
  - Manager will have the ability to price check the levels quoted by GS with other dealers and trade at best market prices

Effect of Trading on Subordination

- Any change in subordination will be determined by the change in spread of the Reference Entity being removed, and the new Reference Entity (determined at the time of switch), obligor percentage and an adjustment factor:
  - Subordination reduction = (Spread Old – Spread New) x Adjustment Factor x Obligor Percentage
- What is the rationale behind Adjustment Factors?
  - When Manager trades a name, this changes the value of the portfolio credit default swap
  - In order for the substitution cost to be zero, the value of the portfolio credit default swap must remain the same – hence subordination must be changed
  - The Adjustment Factor is determined at the time of trading such that the net change in value is zero
- What determines the Adjustment Factor?
  - Adjustment Factors are determined by a number of variables that also determine the value of a tranche:
    - Time to Maturity
    - Absolute spreads and distribution of spreads in portfolio
    - Subordination of tranches
    - Recovery rates and recovery volatilities
    - Correlation between credits
- Since Adjustment Factors depend on a number of variables, it will be impossible for GS to predict what the Adjustment Factors will be at the outset of the transaction - this will be driven by the market conditions at the time of trading - hence, Adjustment Factors will be quoted at the time of the trade

Trading Example

- One year after the Effective Date, the spread of a Reference Entity has widened significantly since the original inclusion of that Reference Entity in the Portfolio. Manager is concerned about the increased potential for that Reference Entity to suffer a Credit Event and so wishes to replace that Reference Entity for a new Reference Entity which is trading at a much tighter spread
- The following conditions exist:
  - Offered side spread of Reference Entity to be replaced = 600 basis points
  - Bid side spread of Replacement Reference Entity = 100 basis points
  - Let the Adjustment Factor = [5.1]
  - All trading tests are satisfied
  - The average spread of the portfolio is [1.00]%
  - No defaults nor earlier trading since transaction start, hence subordination of mezzanine tranches = 5.1%
- Given the above, all the conditions necessary for Replacement have been met. The adjustment to the subordination is then calculated as follows:
  - SpreadOld' = 600 basis points
  - SpreadNew' = 100 basis points
  - Adjustment Factor = [5.1]
  - Adjustment Percentage ≈ (6.00% - 1.00%) x [5.1] x 0.67% ≈ 0.17%
  - New Subordination for mezzanine ≈ 5.10% - 0.17% ≈ 4.93%

Case Study: Yankee Bank

- Account Profile: Yankee bank looking to purchase assets for securities arbitrage vehicle
- Organizational Structure:
  - Pre-transaction: Two synthetic CDO investments at home office level
  - Post-transaction: Decision making capabilities assumed by regional office assuming transactions fall within predetermined guidelines designed by credit committee
- Portfolio:
  - 188 name, 100% IG, globally diversified portfolio
  - Trade executed with significant subordination above Moody's AAA for purposes of improved ratings stability
- Process:
  - GS worked with regional and home office teams and gained CFO approval
  - Client did not apply fundamental analysis to specific credits but rather worked within predefined parameters for portfolio characteristics
  - Client sought wider spectrum of decision making authority for future transactions
- Conclusion: Client has now executed the first in a series of trades for 2006

Overview of Structured Product Synthetics

- Structured product synthetics are credit derivatives referenced to a single underlying structured product security or to a basket of underlying structured product securities
  - Prime, Alt-A and Subprime RMBS
  - CMBS
  - Consumer ABS
  - Cash CDOs
- Market activity has been concentrated in real estate-related sectors of the structured finance market (i.e., RMBS and CMBS)
- The structured product synthetics market is expected to continue to exhibit rapid growth over the next few years, consistent with the trend line in the corporate credit derivatives market
- Structured product synthetics consist of:
  - Single-name CDS: Credit default swap (CDS) on a single reference obligation allowing investors to go long or short credit risk on a specific structured finance security synthetically
  - Basket/Index Trades: CDS on an unlevered basket of underlying reference obligations – equivalent to a basket of single-name CDS
  - Levered Synthetics: single tranche synthetic structured product CDOs backed by a portfolio of single-name structured product CDS, enabling investors to gain exposure to structured product cashflows in a levered synthetic fashion

Notional Balance

- Notional balance is adjusted as follows:
  - Reduced by amortizations on the reference obligations
  - Reduced by writedown amounts and principal shortfalls
  - Reduced by physical settlement
  - Increased by writedown reimbursements

Credit Events	Settlement Amount
Failure to pay principal	Percent of class principal not paid x notional
Writedown	Percent of class written down x notional
Downgrade to CCC / Caa3	Physical settlement only

- Optional physical settlement after any credit event

The PAUG includes a provision for giving an option to the protection buyer to terminate the contract in part or in whole by delivering the reference obligation. This feature, called the "Physical Settlement Option," is triggered by any credit event

Interest Shortfalls

Should the reference obligation experience interest shortfalls, the CDS premium payable by potential buyer will be offset in part or in whole by such shortfall; unpaid CDS premium can be reimbursed should deferred interest on reference obligation be repaid

Coupon Step-up

A coupon step-up can be triggered for certain securities if such security is not called before a certain date before its final maturity. If the Step-up provisions in a PAUG CDS are elected, the protection buyer is given the option to terminate the contract if the coupon step-up occurs on the reference obligation to avoid paying higher premium. If the option is not exercised, the CDS contract will continue and the premium will be raised by an amount equal to the related step-up

Overview of Structured Product Synthetics

What is an Interest Shortfall?

- An interest shortfall occurs when current scheduled interest is not paid on the reference obligation
- Interest shortfalls can be driven by either credit problems on the assets underlying the reference obligation or by caps embedded in the structure
- For subprime RMBS and CMBS reference obligations, coverage of interest shortfalls by the protection seller can take the form of one of the following options:
  - Cap Applicable – Fixed Cap: Interest shortfall capped at the amount of CDS premium owed by the protection buyer in any period. Under this option, protection seller will not have to go out-of-pocket to cover interest shortfalls.
  - Cap Applicable – Variable Cap: Interest shortfall capped at an amount equal to LIBOR plus the CDS premium owed by the protection buyer in any period. Under this option, protection seller may have to go out-of-pocket to cover interest shortfalls.
  - Cap Not Applicable: Interest shortfall uncapped at the full coupon on the reference obligation. This trade can only be executed at a CDS premium rate equal to the margin above LIBOR or the associated benchmark rate in the coupon and therefore would likely involve upfront payments by either buyer or seller. Under this option, protection seller may have to go out-of-pocket to cover interest shortfalls.
- The specific form of the interest shortfall reimbursement amount can be selected by the 2 parties in the CDS transaction
  - Subject to pricing differences, based on the amount of interest shortfall risk covered
- GS has observed meaningful two-way flows under the Fixed Cap option
- Both the ABX.HE and CMBX indices are Fixed Cap Applicable

Key Features of Trade Mechanics[1]

Important Definitions, Valuable Dates and Margin Requirements

Important Definitions

- Trade Date – the day the trader says "done" and trade is executed
- Effective date of trade – same as trade date: when protection begins
- Effective date of index (i.e. annex date) – date the annex was initially published or revised
- Settlement date – date on which the premium is exchanged
- Premium – fee exchanged when trade is initially done comprising the market value of the trade and accrued interest since last payment date
- Accrued interest (in terms of premium) – interest accumulated from and including last payment date but excluding effective date of trade
- Factor – A change in the outstanding principal issuance i.e. % of principal unpaid on the reference obligation
- Initial Fixed rate Payer Calculation period – from and including last payment date but excluding the next payment date of the bond

Margin Requirements

Credit Event (Writedown)
XYZ Sells Protection on $100mm on ABX.HE.A.06-1

Credit Event – Writedown

- Reference Obligation Original Factor = 1.0; Current Factor = 0.7
- A Writedown occurs on a Reference Obligation, for example, in year 3, in the amount of 1% of its current principal balance
  - (Current Factor * Weighting * Loss) = (0.70 * .05 * .01) = .00035 = 0.0035%
- Protection Seller pays to Protection Buyer a floating amount (0.035% x 100MM)= $35,000
- Index notional amount on which premium is paid reduces by an additional 0.035%, in addition to the principal payments of the month
- Following the Credit Event, protection seller receives premium of [70] bps on the remaining index notional amount until the earlier of the next credit event or scheduled termination
- The mechanics described above work similarly for the ABX.HE and CMBX Indices

Structured Credit Tranches

Benefits of Single-Tranche Synthetic Securitizations

- Increasing liquidity in the single name CDS market enables creation of pure bespoke synthetic structured product CDOs
- Investors can build customized synthetic structured product portfolios
  - Not limited by new issuance calendar and bond allocations
  - Not limited by cash bonds in dealer inventory
  - Customized by sector (e.g., RMBS, CMBS, ABS), rating, vintage, servicer, etc.
- Investors can tranche synthetic portfolio to meet various investment objectives
  - Rating of investment
  - Degree of term leverage
  - Spread
  - Currency denomination
- Credit-linked notes issued in such synthetic transactions are usually uncapped and cannot defer interest, even though many of the underlying reference obligations may have embedded caps and/or may be permitted to defer interest

66052.637

Structured Credit Tranches
Portfolio Selection Considerations

- Synthetic transactions have tended to focus on the sectors of the US structured products market that have either experienced or are expected to experience the heaviest activity in the single-name structured product CDS market
  - Prime, Alt-A and Subprime RMBS
  - US CMBS Conduits
  - Structured Product Cashflow CDOs and CLOs
  - Consumer ABS
- Most transactions are diversified across sectors
  - It is possible to structure single-sector transactions (i.e., 100% subprime RMBS)
- Portfolios referencing AAA through BB securities can be created, although the best liquidity is in the double-A through triple-B rated layer
- Most synthetic transactions focus on 2004, 2005 and 2006 vintage structured finance
- Reference portfolio can be static or dynamic, subject to constraints customized to investor requirements

66052.638

Structured Credit Tranches

Tranche and Structural Considerations

- After selecting a reference portfolio (or appropriate rules in the case of a dynamic portfolio), ratings can be assigned to particular risk layers ("tranches")
- Investors can select the tranche which best meets their investment guidelines with respect to ratings and leverage
- Structure and cash flow mechanics are very similar to corporate single-tranche synthetics
- Transactions run to the legal final of the underlying reference obligations (typically 40 yrs)
  - Most tranches will have a 7-12 year expected weighted average life
  - The actual principal amortization of the transaction tracks that of the reference portfolio
  - The average life will reflect any borrower prepayments/extensions, credit performance, and the underlying structure of the reference obligations
- Tranches are usually not subject to caps which may be embedded in the underlying reference obligations, although the cost of such caps and other embedded options will be reflected in the spread of each tranche
- Most transactions include an optional call exercisable after a non-call period
- For a customized rated transaction, investment size generally needs to be $50 million or more to justify the fixed costs incurred
- Goldman can offer tranches in liquid currencies other than US dollars

66052.639

Structured Credit Tranches
Overview of Credit-Linked Note Structure

- Investor purchases a credit-linked note (CLN) issued by an SPV issuer (the "issuer"), the proceeds of which are used to collateralize the notional amount of a credit default swap (CDS) referencing layers of risk of the reference portfolio
- GS acts as protection buyer, while the Issuer (and indirectly, the investor) acts as protection seller
- Under the CDS, Goldman pays a running premium which covers the spread paid to the investor as well as upfront and ongoing expenses of the CLN issuer
- Investor earns current interest at the stated floating coupon, accrued on the outstanding principal balance of the CLN
- The junior-most tranche of CLN may have credit enhancement via a subordinated first loss amount
- If a credit event occurs in respect of a reference obligation, a loss amount is calculated
- Any such loss amount is deducted from the first loss amount remaining, if any, after which:
  - The principal of the junior-most CLN is written down
  - Investor loses principal by the amount of such write down
  - Goldman is paid protection under the CDS equal to the amount of such write down
- CLN tranches are written-down by loss amounts in reverse sequential order of priority
- Principal amortization (in the absence of credit events) tracks that of the reference portfolio

ABACUS 2005-7: a Levered Super-Senior Transaction

- First ever rated levered supersenior transaction referencing structured product credit risk
- Transaction referencing the 10% - 100% supersenior tranche off a portfolio consisting of 30 equally sized triple-A CMBS reference obligations
- AAA/AAA (S&P/Fitch)
- GS issued $130mm credit linked notes with a 10x leverage multiple, transferring the credit and spread risk of $1.3bn notional supersenior tranche
- Transaction uses spread triggers referencing the reference portfolio average CDS spread
  - If the average reference portfolio spread breaches an unwind trigger, investor can either
    - Unwind the transaction at market, or
    - Purchase additional CLNs in order not to crystallize its mark to market loss
  - Several triggers structured, which are "AAA" remote, with gradual deleveraging
- ABACUS 05-7 enables a broad set of capital market investors to access supersenior credit risk, which used to be a risk available only to insurance companies
- GS is working with rating agencies to standardize the approach in order to replicate the levered supersenior format to other asset classes and other rating categories

Risk Factors

PROSPECTIVE INVESTORS SHOULD READ THE OFFERING CIRCULAR FOR A MORE COMPLETE DESCRIPTION OF RISK FACTORS RELEVANT TO A PARTICULAR INVESTMENT

- Purchasing the Securities involves certain risks. Prospective investors should carefully consider the following factors, as well as the risk factors included in the final Offering Circular, prior to purchasing the Securities. The following is not intended to be an exhaustive list of the risks involved in the Transaction.
- The final Offering Circular will include more complete descriptions of the risks described below as well as additional risks. Any decision to invest in the Securities described herein should be made after reviewing the Offering Circular, conducting such investigations as the investor deems necessary and consulting the investor's own legal, accounting and tax advisors in order to make an independent determination of the suitability and consequences of an investment in the Securities.

Leveraged Credit Exposure to Reference Entities

- Investors will have leveraged exposure to the credit of a number of Reference Entities because the notional amount of the Reference Portfolio is significantly larger than the principal amount of the Notes. Following either (1) the delivery of a Credit Event Notice by Goldman Sachs in relation to a Credit Event with respect to a Reference Entity and the satisfaction of the other Conditions to Settlement or (2) removal of a Credit Risk Reference Obligation by the Portfolio Advisor and the determination of a related Discount Amount, the outstanding principal amount of the investment may be reduced. Investors in the Securities may suffer significant reductions in their outstanding principal amounts. The maximum loss for investors is the full principal amount.

No Legal or Beneficial Interest in Obligations of Reference Entities

- Participation in the Transaction does not constitute a purchase or other acquisition or assignment of any interest in any obligation of any Reference Entity. Neither the Issuer nor investors will have recourse against any Reference Entities. Neither the investors nor any other entity will have any rights to acquire from Goldman Sachs any interest in any obligation of any Reference Entity, notwithstanding any reduction in the principal of the relevant class with respect to such Reference Entity. Neither the Issuer nor any investor will have the benefit of any collateral delivered by any Reference Entity nor any right to enforce any remedies against any Reference Entity.

Risk Factors

Tax/Regulatory Impact

- There may be a tax or regulatory impact of investing in the Notes. Goldman Sachs does not provide any opinion on these issues. Any investor should consult with its own advisors prior to investing in the Notes.

Limited Liquidity of the Transaction

- There is currently no market for the Securities. There can be no assurance that a secondary market for the Securities will develop or, if a secondary market does develop, that it will provide the holder of the Securities with liquidity, or that it will continue for the life of the Securities. Moreover, the limited scope of information available to the investors regarding the Reference Entities, the nature of any Credit Event, including uncertainty as to the extent of any reduction to be applied to the notional amount of each class if a Credit Event has occurred but the amount of the relevant reduction in the notional amount has not been determined, and the uncertainty regarding any Credit Risk Reference Obligation, including the ability of the Portfolio Advisor to remove such obligations from the reference portfolio at any time and the extent of any reduction to be applied to the notional amount of each class if and when such Credit Risk Reference Obligations is removed, may further affect the liquidity of the Securities. Consequently, any investor in the Securities must be prepared to hold such Securities for an indefinite period of time or until final maturity.

Mark-to-Market Risk

- Investors are exposed to considerable mark-to-market volatility following changes in any of the following: spreads of the credits in the Reference Portfolio, comparable CDO spreads, ratings migration in the reference portfolio, ratings migration of the Securities, ratings migration of the Collateral or issuers or providers thereof, and Credit Events in the Reference Portfolio (and hence reduction of subordination). These will be reflected in mark-to-market valuations which are likely to be more volatile than an equivalently rated unleveraged investment.

Credit Events may vary from Defaults

- Historical default statistics may not capture events that would trigger a Credit Event as specified under the Notes. All Credit Event definitions will be defined in the final legal documents and will be governed by the 2003 ISDA Credit Derivatives Definitions and any amendment or supplement thereto.

Credit Ratings

- Credit ratings represent the rating agencies' opinions regarding credit quality and are not a guarantee of quality. Rating agencies attempt to evaluate the safety of principal and/or interest payments and do not evaluate the risks of fluctuations in market value. Accordingly, the credit ratings may not fully reflect the true risks of the Transaction. Also, rating agencies may fail to make timely changes in credit ratings in response to subsequent events, so that an issuer's current financial condition may be better or worse than a rating indicates.

66052.655

Risk Factors

Rating Volatility

- Rating agencies may from time to time change the ratings of the Notes (or the Reference Entities in the portfolio) even if no losses have been incurred under the Notes due to changes in rating methodology or rating migration of the Reference Entities in the portfolio. Due to the leveraged nature of the transaction, the rating may be significantly more volatile than corporate debt with an equivalent credit rating.

Certain conflicts of interest relating to Goldman Sachs and its Affiliates; No reliance

- Goldman Sachs does not provide investment, accounting, tax or legal advice and shall not have a fiduciary relationship with any investor. In particular, Goldman Sachs does not make any representations as to (a) the suitability of purchasing Securities, (b) the appropriate accounting treatment or possible tax consequences of the transaction as described herein (the "Transaction") or (c) the future performance of the Transaction either in absolute terms or relative to competing investments. Investors should obtain their own independent accounting, tax and legal advice and should consult their own professional investment advisor to ascertain the suitability of the Transaction, including such independent investigation and analysis regarding the risks, security arrangements and cash flows associated with the Transaction as they deem appropriate to evaluate the merits and risks of the Transaction.
- Goldman Sachs may, by virtue of its status as an underwriter, advisor or otherwise, possess or have access to non-publicly available information relating to the Collateral, the issuer(s) thereof, the Reference Entities and/or the obligations of the Reference Entities and has not undertaken, and does not intend, to disclose, such status or non-public information in connection with the Transaction. Accordingly, this presentation may not contain all information that would be material to the evaluation of the merits and risks of purchasing the Securities.
- Goldman Sachs does not make any representation, recommendation or warranty, express or implied, regarding the accuracy, adequacy, reasonableness or completeness of the information contained herein or in any further information, notice or other document which may at any time be supplied in connection with the Transaction and accepts no responsibility or liability therefore. Goldman Sachs is currently and may be from time to time in the future an active participant on both sides of the market and have long or short positions in, or buy and sell, Securities, commodities, futures, options or other derivatives identical or related to those mentioned herein. Goldman Sachs may have potential conflicts of interest due to present or future relationships between Goldman Sachs and any Collateral, the issuer thereof, any Reference Entity or any obligation of any Reference Entity.
- Goldman Sachs will act as the initial purchaser for all classes of Notes, and affiliates of Goldman Sachs will act as the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider and the Collateral Disposal Agent.

Risk Factors

Risks Associated with Responsibilities of the Portfolio Advisor

- The exercise of responsibilities of the Portfolio Advisor by the Portfolio Advisor, particularly in the form of credit risk removals affecting the subordination of the Notes, can potentially (a) increase the risk of the investment by reducing the subordination and hence increase the probability of suffering an actual loss from a subsequent removal of a Credit Risk Reference Obligation or a Credit Event, (b) cause a rating downgrade of the Notes or (c) increase the mark-to-market volatility of the Notes.

Certain conflicts of interest relating to the Portfolio Advisor and its Affiliates

- The Portfolio Advisor and its Affiliates may invest or invest for the account of others in debt obligations that would be appropriate as Reference Obligations and/or Collateral Securities and have no duty in making such investments or to act in a way that is favorable to the Issuer or the Noteholders. The Portfolio Advisor and its Affiliates may have economic interests in, or other relationships with, issuers in whose obligations or securities are Reference Obligations and/or Collateral Securities.
- The Portfolio Advisor, its Affiliates or any account managed by any of the foregoing may make and/or hold an investment in an issuer's securities that may be pari passu, senior or junior in ranking to an investment in such issuer's securities made and/or held by the Issuer or in which partners, security holders, officers, directors, agents or employees of the Portfolio Advisor, its Affiliates or any account managed by any of the foregoing serve on boards of directors or otherwise have ongoing relationships. Each of such ownership and other relationships may result in securities laws restrictions on transactions in such securities by the Issuer and otherwise create conflicts of interest for the Issuer.

Reliance on Creditworthiness of the Collateral

- The ability of the Issuer of the Notes to meet its obligations under the Notes will depend on, amongst other things, the receipt by it of payments of interest and principal from the Collateral. Consequently, investors are exposed not only to the occurrence of Credit Events in relation to any of the Reference Entities and/or the removal of Credit Risk Reference Obligations from the reference portfolio, but also to the ability of the Collateral or the issuer or provider thereof, to perform its obligations to make payments to the Issuer of the Notes. Although at the time of purchase, such Collateral will be highly rated, there is no assurance that such rating will not be reduced or withdrawn in the future, nor is a rating a guarantee of future performance.

Creditworthiness of Goldman Sachs

- Premium payments will be required to be made by Goldman Sachs throughout the life of the transaction. Consequently, investors are exposed not only to the occurrence of Credit Events in relation to any of the Reference Entities, but also to the ability of Goldman Sachs to perform its obligations to make payments to the Issuer of the Notes, amongst other secured parties.

Historical Performance does not Predict Future Performance of Transaction

- Individual Reference Entities may not perform as indicated by historical performance for similarly rated credits. Furthermore, even if future credit performance is similar to that of historic performance for the entire market, investors must make their own determination as to whether the Reference Portfolio will reflect the experience of the universe of rated credits. Hence, the frequency of Credit Events experienced under the Notes may be higher than that of historical Credit Event rates, and that of future Credit Event rates for the entire market.
- The nature of, and risks associated with, the Issuer's future investments may differ substantially from those investments and strategies undertaken historically by such persons and entities. There can be no assurance that the Issuer's investments will perform as well as the part investments of any such persons or entities.

Projections, Forecasts and Estimates

- Any projections, forecasts and estimates contained herein are forward looking statements and are based upon certain assumptions that the Issuer considers reasonable. Projections are necessarily speculative in nature, and it can be expected that some or all of the assumptions underlying the projections will not materialize or will vary significantly from actual results. Accordingly, the projections are only an estimate. Actual results may vary from the projections, and the variations may be material.

Guys I think we need to be more mindful of distribution effectiveness if our goal is to place further down. So not sure aladdin or drcm rank highly. We know that if we show us with gsc or hbk (to name 2) [redacted] is in for 15mm single-As on the wire plus maybe triple-Bs. This does not cannibalize our other distribution because they like those two managers so much. Perhaps we should focus on hbk since we have lower chance to do other stuff with them.

Am thinking also Aladdin, DRCM, Greywolf, and... Well, why don't we try GSC as well, I think it's a low delta but might be worth trying. Let's brainstorm so that we can identify a couple of managers that:

-- will be ok acting as portfolio selection agent
-- will not need to take risk
-- will be flexible w.r.t. portfolio selection (i.e. ideally we will send them a list of 200 Baa2-rated 2006-vintage RMBS bonds that fit certain criteria, and the portfolio selection agent will select 100 out of the 200 bonds)
-- will be ok working for at most $[750]k p.a. for 3 years, given a $2bn transaction where we distribute CLNs between 9% attach and 35% detach

There are more managers out there than just GSC / Faxtor. The way I look at it, the easiest managers to work with should be used for our own axes. Managers that are a bit more difficult should be used for trades like Paulson given how axed Paulson seems to be (i.e. I'm betting they can give on certain terms and overall portfolio increase).

Q Could you again just tell us how those names were pulled together?
A Okay. They were pulled together by, you know, through discussions, through a variety of discussions between our desk, myself specifically, and Paulson and Paolo Pelligrini and Sihan, looking at, you know, securities issued, you know, since the beginning of 2006, which had specific, you know, criteria or specific concentrations in mortgages from, you know, interest-only mortgages to, you know, mortgages with a certain loan-to-value ratio, et. cetera.
BY MR. ANTHONY:
Q And in trying to sort of narrow this universe down, what were you looking for? Sort of what was the ultimate end to try to use these characteristics to find?
A We didn't narrow it down. We basically took the entire universe of subprime RMBS and applied a couple filters and that was it.
Q Okay.
A There was no narrow down.
Q And these filters were designed to do what?
A Well, I believe at that time that Paulson felt that these obligations or these type of characteristics may, you

Q In this introductory paragraph, I guess you summarize the transaction and the offering to Paulson as protection, and the last sentence reads, Through this arrangement, Goldman is effectively working an order for Paulson to buy protection on specific AC-1 capital structure at or inside specific spread levels.

What did you mean by that?

A I m sorry. Where did you --

Q The last sentence.

A Last sentence. I think the order here is not used as a sort of legal concept but more the fact that Paulson had given us the inquiry to actually buy protection on layers of risk so that it would lead to our obligations and we were working towards, you know, hedging our risk by, you know, reoffering that risk in the market.

Q It says, At or inside specific spread levels. What s that mean?

A That means that Paulson had, you know, pricing objectives. They were comfortable buying protection only to the extent that the spreads they were paying were less than a certain level.

BY MR. LEASURE:

Q So did you have to match the spreads that Paulson was willing to pay with the spreads at which the CDO liabilities would be priced?

A No. In fact, I think the -- I mean, we bought protection at certain spread levels and we reoffered at different spread levels to --

BY MR. ANTHONY:

Q But your profit was the difference between those two, right?

A The profit was the difference between those two. I want to say no, because, as I mentioned, Goldman Sachs was not losing money on these transactions.

Q Well, I mean conceivably, right? And I think that point, you know, I think we ve yet to establish that definitively, but it s your testimony.

But, I mean, you obviously didn t go into this transaction with the intention of losing money, right? So the way in which you believed you would make money on this transaction was by offering a protection to Paulson at one spread and offering the protection in the market at a higher spread and keeping the difference, is that right?

A The opposite way around. I think, you know, when you say offering protection --

Q I m sorry. Yes, you re right.

A Yes, so there was -- as far as I remember, when we were buying protection from the market, you know, we were hoping to reoffer that protection to Paulson at a wider spread. It may have been at some point some, you know, formula at which, you know, we were discussing at which level we were going to reoffer that protection, but I don t remember the specifics of that.

Q Well, we've alluded to the Abacus earlier. I wanted to sort of see if you could just tell us about the Abacus 2007 AC 1 deal. Just walk us through how it started and what you know about it.

A I mean essentially it's the same idea. We had Credit Opportunity II, and we needed to sort of buy protection for Credit Opportunities II. We looked at what was available in the market and what Goldman told us what they would be able to do; a deal similar to the deal we had done in 2006. But they needed to have a collateral selection agent.

And essentially the idea was that even though we didn't want to have the type of sort of expense and sort of complication of a managed deal, Goldman felt that they would be more comfortable if there was a CDO manager who selected the initial portfolio with us so that there was a little more sort of due diligence done rather than simply relying on the blanket criteria that we had been able to rely on in the past.

PSI-Paulson-04 (Pellegrini Depo)-0082

BY MR. ANTHONY:

Q What difference did it make to Goldman? Why did they want this?

A Well I think it was a marketing issue. So it was a matter of from what I understood, sort of investors feeling more comfortable if they had a collateral selection agent than if they didn't.

BY MS. KELLY:

Q How did you come to that understanding?

A Because the told me.

Q Who?

A I presume Fabrice.

Q Did he mention any particular investors or just generally investors would want an agent? A portfolio selection agent.

A He never mentioned any particular investors. So let's say it was a matter of sort of investors at that point in time given market conditions. So it would be a general statement.

BY MR. ANTHONY:

Q What was it about how the market had changed that sort of made this more important?

A Well people were sort of not as sure that subprime was going to do as well as they thought it was going to do sort of a few months earlier. So it was harder with the

Q Then how did the inclusion of a collateral selection agent change that?

A Well because essentially having a collateral selection agent would mean that there is somebody with a reputation in the business looking at the securities and essentially agreeing to the composition of the portfolio. So I assume if you were an investor, you would take some comfort in that.

BY MR. MUOIO:

Q Now Fabrice's last name is Tourre.

A T O U R R E.

Q And did you discuss with Mr. Tourre how you and the collateral selection agent would sort of collaborate in choosing the reference portfolio? What that process would be?

A Not sort of in any formal way.

Q In any way? I mean how the two of you would work together?

A I mean basically I think we had already submitted a target portfolio. So they would comment, say what they wanted to take out, take their comments and make counterproposals. It would be like an interview process until we got a portfolio that we were all satisfied with.

Q Is this the first time you sort of done something

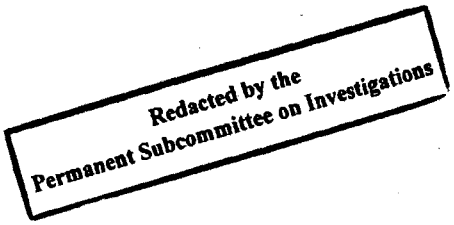
A Yes.



Q And again, this was an idea that you came up with or that Mr. Tourre came up with?

A I think it was an idea that he came up with. I think it was just a general sort of trend in the market. Because people kind of liked the idea of sort of portfolio of subprime mortgages, liked the idea of static portfolios and sort of like felt that there was still some value that could be provided by traditional sort of CDO managers by helping select the initial portfolio.

Q I get that. But then at some point I think, if I understood you correctly this morning, Mr. Tourre suggested that it would be easier to market or to find sort of a counterparty to your short trade if there was a portfolio selection agent involved. Right?

A Right.

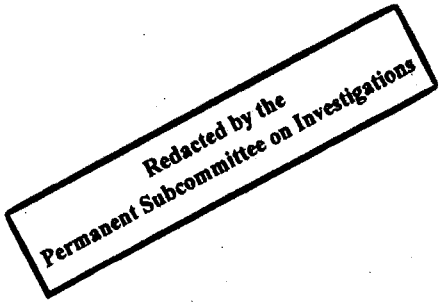
Q Did you ever have any sort of engagement letter with Goldman that described the mechanism for your short position?

A Yes. So I happened to have seen recently the engagement letter for the first Abacus trade. I don't believe there was an engagement letter for the second Abacus trade.

Q Why is that?

A Because Goldman got sort of comfortable that sort of it would execute. You know, they sort of didn't feel the need to formalize an engagement letter.



Q So did Goldman and Paulson & Co. have any discussions about or back and forth in terms of the language of an engagement letter at all with respect to the ACA AC 1 deal?

A Sort of for the ACA transaction I'm not sure. I'm not sure. I mean we definitely discussed the parameters of their compensation. So we had sort of a strike level for the sort of premium that we would pay on the different traunches. And there was sort of a formula that tied their compensation to sort of kind of the spread that they sort of presented to or that they would present to us. Frankly, whether they did achieve those spreads or different spreads. So once we kind of agreed on those parameters, I think they were containing some Excel files. I think that that was pretty much all that

Q You've just been handed what's been marked Exhibit 29. For the record, I'll identify it as a one page document Bates stamped Paulson Abacus 254458. It's an e mail from you to Sihan Shu and Rob Lerner. The subject line is "Priority Task". What is this e mail? Or what is Exhibit 29?

(Exhibit No. 29 was marked for identification.)

A It's just sort of asking them to come up with a portfolio, as I described to you earlier, of RMBS securities issued in 2006 with more than 80% adjustable rate mortgages and with a weighted average FICO score between 600 and 650. And finally, with a deal size in excess of $750 million. And the previous comment is that we got 111 million of subscriptions, so we needed to sort of buy protection to essentially invest that 111 million. And so we needed to put out a list of offers wanted in competition in addition to sending out the sort of list of obligation for sort of potential CDO similar to the one with that was later done with ACA and send them to Cohen. They are sort of three CDO managers.

Q So was this for a different deal than the one that ACA ended up being the portfolio selection agent? Or were they intentioned to be the portfolio selection agent for the Abacus deal?

A To tell you the truth, I forget now. Because I think that Cohen is actually both a broker dealer and a CDO manager. And sort of there was some sort of conversation to each of us following up. I think that Petra is one of the CDO managers to whom we were introduced by Merrill Lynch. And finally Tricadia is a unit of Mariner where I worked. And so I sent them sort of a proposed portfolio.

BY MR. ANTHONY:

Q Now this $111 million I think that you had talked about a number of times on the Opportunity Fund II was. With this much money would you be doing one CDO? Two CDOs?

A I think that this was kind of like you know, basically the idea is that with the $111 million we would be able to spend approximately 12% of that. So there would be $13 million. So sort of any kind of transaction where the cost of protection was less than $50 million a year would sort of be feasible with this kind of money.

Q And just for the you know, a billion dollars at 120 something basis points was your average cost of protection I think Abacus. Is that right? Roughly.

A I don't remember. It sounds like a reasonable number.

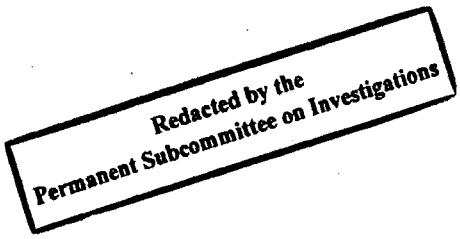
Q You know, 10, $12 million a year for a billion dollars of protection?

A Yes.

Q So then this implies that there is enough is subscriptions for only one billion dollar CDO?

A Yes.

Q So is it fair to then say that here you're looking for someone it roughly looks like it was the same time that you were talking to Goldman. So you're talking to a number of people about doing one CDO?



A Yes.

Q And then what was it that had you go with Goldman and ACA over Cohen, Petra, Tricadia, Merrill Lynch, Morgan Stanley, Deutsche Bank?

A As I said, ACA was the only one that kept going. These kind of fell by the wayside.

66052.680

Q You had testified earlier that it was Goldman's idea to have a portfolio selection agent, correct?

A Right.

Q And you just as well could have done without one. Correct?

A Absolutely. Yes.

Q So why would you care if ACA relied on your analysis as opposed to their own?

A Well because I think that if they sort of relied on our analysis essentially it would place some responsibility on us.

BY MR. MUOIO:

Q Your portfolio analysis was designed in large part to identify bonds that weren't going to perform, right?

A Right.

VerDate Nov 24 2008 09:47 May 19, 2011 Jkt 066052 PO 00000 Frm 00685 Fmt 6602 Sfmt 6602 P:\DOCS\66052.TXT SAFFAIRS PsN: PAT

66052.681

Q Because you wanted to short those bonds?

A Right.

Q And as far as you were aware, the focus of ACA's analysis of the portfolio was different, right?

A Exactly.

Q In fact, their aim was in many ways opposite your's?

A It was exactly opposite our's.

Q They were trying to identify bonds that in their view were going to perform.

A Exactly.

-- will be ok acting as portfolio selection agent
-- will not need to take risk
-- will be flexible w.r.t. portfolio selection (i.e. ideally we will send them a list of 200 Baa2-rated 2006-vintage RMBS bonds that fit certain criteria, and the portfolio selection agent will select 100 out of the 200 bonds)
-- will be ok working for at most $[750]k p.a. for 3 years, given a $2bn transaction where we distribute CLNs between 9% attach and 35% detach

There are more managers out there than just GSC / Faxtor. The way I look at it, the easiest managers to work with should be used for our own axes. Managers that are a bit more difficult should be used for trades like Paulson given how axed Paulson seems to be (i.e. I'm betting they can give on certain terms and overall portfolio increase).

Subject: For ACA

Gail: just a summary of ACA's role as "Portfolio Selection Agent" for the transaction that would be sponsored by Paulson (the "Transaction Sponsor"). Feel free to let David and I know if you have any questions.

-- CDO Transaction Size: between $1bn and $2bn notional
-- Reference Portfolio: static, fully identified upfront, and consisting of approx 100 equally-sized mezzanine subprime RMBS names issued between Q4 2005 and today. Starting portfolio would be ideally what the Transaction Sponsor shared, but there is flexibility around the names.
-- Portfolio monitoring required: none
-- Portfolio reinvestments required: none
-- Portfolio Selection Agent would be disclosed as having selected the Reference Portfolio
-- Portfolio Selection Agent would not be required to retain any risk in the CDO transaction, although it would have the option to buy CDO notes/unfunded swaps that will be distributed in the market.
-- Most likely no BWICs required to be run by the Portfolio Selection Agent
-- Timing: the Transaction Sponsor is working under the assumption that Goldman be in the market with this transaction early February

Contemplated Capital Structure -- subject to Reference Portfolio:

- [34]% - [100]%: unfunded supersenior tranche distributed to a supersenior protection writer
- [22]% - [34]%: Aaa/AAA class A tranche distributed broadly on a best efforts' basis by Goldman
- [15]% - [22]%: Aa2/AA class B tranche distributed broadly on a best efforts' basis by Goldman
- [9]% - [15]%: A2/A class C tranche distributed broadly on a best efforts' basis by Goldman
- [0]% - [9]%: pre-committed first loss

-- Economics: for transactions like this, where the Portfolio Selection Agent is not required to retain any risk, we have seen fees in the order of 15bps to 20bps paid on the portfolio notional amount. For example, for the Magnetar-sponsored trade (ACABS 2006-AQA) for which ACA acted as portfolio manager, ACA was paid 10bps senior and 10bps subordinated (i.e. at risk fees, just above the equity) on the portfolio notional amount. In the context of this transaction, ACA should be thinking about getting paid fees in the lower end of what they have received in the past for Magnetar-like transactions, since there is no management requirement and the transaction size is likely going to be larger than for a Magnetar transaction. In the context of this transaction, the portfolio selection fees will be paid in the form of a spread on the outstanding amount of the class A through class C tranches. For example, if the Portfolio Selection Agent was asking to be paid:

- Class A Portfolio Management Fee: 0.25% p.a. (the tranche is [12]% thick)
- Class B Portfolio Management Fee: 0.50% p.a. (the tranche is [7]% thick)
- Class C Portfolio Management Fee: 1.00% p.a. (the tranche is [6]% thick)

This would mean that if Goldman is able to distribute 100% of the class A, class B and class C notes, the Portfolio Selection Agent would, on a blended basis, receive 0.125% p.a. on the portfolio notional. This compensation structure aligns everyone's incentives: the Transaction Sponsor, the Portfolio Selection Agent and Goldman.

-- The Transaction Sponsor is in discussions with a couple of potential CDO managers, and will work with the manager who will provide the most appealing economic proposal and will be able to address all the stated objectives.

Q And who selected the 90 reference credits?

A We worked with Goldman in selecting, negotiating what mortgage backed securities we'd like to buy protection on.

Q And what was your role in that?

A I performed a collateral analysis on those reference obligations.

Q Can you explain that a little bit further?

A I basically used the same database I mentioned earlier-- Bloomberg, Loan Performance and Index -- to look at the collateral characteristics and collateral performance of these mortgage backed securities and to make selections to

Q And what were the primary criteria that you were looking for?

A The primary criteria (1) we would like to buy protection on mortgage bonds with higher concentration in California, Florida, Arizona, Nevada which we believe are a bigger housing bubble than other areas in the country. We'd like to buy protection on mortgage bonds with a higher hybrid mortgage percentage. Because we believe these borrowers when their mortgage resets there will be a payment chunk.

Q Are you talking about adjustable rate mortgages?

A Adjustable rate mortgages. Yes.

Q You called them something else.

A It's called hybrid because it's fixed for a couple of years and then becomes floating.

Q Okay.

A So it's also called hybrid. But it is adjustment rate mortgages. Yes.

Q We'd like to buy protection on mortgage bonds with high percentage of limited documentation. Some borrowers can prove their income when they apply for the mortgage, some borrowers cannot. So we like to buy protection on mortgage

A In Abacus CDO we have 90 bonds.

Dear Sirs:

This letter (the "Letter Agreement"), when countersigned by you, will confirm that Paulson Credit Opportunities Master Ltd. (Paulson Credit Opportunities Master Ltd., together with its affiliates, "PCO") has retained Goldman, Sachs & Co. to (1) purchase credit protection on the Targeted Tranches of a portfolio of residential mortgage backed securities (each, a "Reference Obligation", and collectively, the "Reference Portfolio"), through one or more credit default swaps (each a "Back-to-Back CDS") between Goldman and certain counterparties (each such counterparty, a "Back-to-Back Protection Seller") and/or through the offering of multiple tranches of secured securities (such securities, the "Notes") of a synthetic resecuritization (the "CDO") that are expected to be issued from a special purpose company (the "Issuer") and (2) simultaneously sell to PCO, subject to the provisions of Paragraph 10, credit protection through one or more credit default swaps between PCO and Goldman (each, a "PCO CDS") matching each Back-to-Back CDS and/or Issuer CDS (except to the extent described in this Letter Agreement). For the purpose of this Letter Agreement, "Goldman" means Goldman, Sachs & Co. or any of its affiliates, provided however, that Goldman Sachs & Co. will guaranty the performance of this agreement by any such affiliate. 1. Services of Goldman. It is currently contemplated that, in connection with the CDO, the Issuer will undertake one or more offerings and/or placements of securities (each an "Offering", the first such Offering, the "Initial Offering", and the securities placed, the "Notes"), pursuant to Regulation S and/or Rule 144A, as the case may be, under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, in the United States or otherwise. It is agreed that Goldman, subject to the conditions herein, will be offered the right to act as the sole book-running lead manager and/or lead placement agent in each Offering. If Goldman agrees to act in such capacity, the Issuer and Goldman will enter into an appropriate form of underwriting, placement agency or other agreement relating to the type of transaction involved and containing customary terms and conditions, including provisions relating to our indemnity. Except to the extent that Goldman may separately commit in such an underwriting, placement agency or other agreement to purchase securities, there is no understanding or obligation, expressed or implied, on Goldman's part of a commitment by Goldman to act as underwriter or placement agent with respect to an Offering or to purchase or place any securities in connection therewith and that any securities will be placed on a best efforts basis. Goldman's execution of such underwriting, placement agency or other agreement will be subject in its complete discretion to, among other things, mutual agreement as to the underwriting and offering documentation and terms, satisfactory completion of its due diligence investigation, its internal approval processes and, of course, market conditions.

   In addition, there is no understanding or obligation, expressed or implied, on Goldman's part of a commitment by Goldman to enter into any Back-to-Back CDS and Goldman will only enter into such Back-to-Back CDS on a best efforts basis. Goldman's execution of any documentation related to a Back-to-Back CDS will be subject in its complete discretion to, among other things, mutual agreement as to the documentation and terms, its internal approval processes and, of course, market conditions.

   Subject to paragraph 8 of this Letter Agreement, the timing, amount and other terms of any issuance of the Notes or Goldman's entry into any Back-to-Back CDS shall be determined by Goldman in its sole discretion. Goldman agrees to consult with PCO regarding the timing of such issuance of the Notes or Goldman's entry into any Back-to-Back CDS. PCO agrees to promptly provide Goldman with all relevant information regarding the timing, status or other aspects of any other CDO transactions which may have a bearing on the marketing of the Notes or Goldman's ability to enter into any Back-to-Back CDS.

2. Contemplated Offering. We understand, in connection with the CDO, that when the Issuer offers Goldman the right to act as the sole underwriter and/or sole placement agent in accordance with Paragraph 1 of this Letter Agreement, Goldman expects, subject to, among other things, the satisfactory completion of due diligence and the terms and conditions set forth in one or more placement agency agreements or other appropriate form of documentation, that it will purchase the securities issued as part of the Offering and offer them to prospective purchasers at a price to be agreed upon at the time of execution of such agreement.

Ed, Josh, thanks for coming to the meeting on Friday. To give you some background on the portfolio that the Paulson guys are starting from, this is a portfolio that was selected using some of the following criteria:

- start from the universe of RMBS transactions available in Intex
- focus only on the 2006 vintage, bonds underwritten after March 1, 2006
- Baa2 rated bonds
- Average FICO between 600 and 675
- RMBS transaction size greater than $500mm
- %age ARM greater than 80%

We should discuss live on Monday when you get a chance.

HEAT 2007-2 M8

As replacements for the 3 CARR - New Century serviced bonds.

Attached please find a worksheet with 86 sub-prime mortgage positions that we would recommend taking exposure to synthetically. Of the 123 names that were originally submitted to us for review, we have included only 55. We do not recommend including the other 68 names because either: 1) we did not like them at the recommended attachment point; 2) there are lower rated tranches that are already on negative watch; and 3) some names (i.e. Long Beach and Fremont) are very susceptible to investor push back.

The 31 new names are heavily weighted to new issue since we believe the underlying collateral to be of better quality.

We provided a total of 86 names to give us some room since the term-sheet mentioned 80 names at 1.25% each.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Paolo, Sihan:

Attached is the feedback we received from ACA on the list of 123 names that you had provided. They have broken down your list into names that they would recommend including in the portfolio (55) and names that they would recommend excluding from the portfolio (68). In addition, they have included a separate list of 31 names for you to review that they would recommend for inclusion, with the objective of creating a portfolio with 80+ names.

Are you available for a quick call this afternoon to discuss these lists?

Thanks,

David

Thanks Laura for your email, this is confirming my initial impression that Paolo wanted to proceed with you subject to agreement on portfolio and compensation structure. Let's meet on Feb 5th to discuss this transaction.

So I met with Paolo last night. We first talked about the collateral - why only 55 names from the first list and why the Baa3 and A3 names. He had summary performance and credit statistics on each piece of collateral on a spreadsheet (he may as much of a nerd as I am since he brought a laptop to the bar and he also seemed to have a worksheet from DB and another manager). I don't think he wants the A3 names and wasn't too keen on the Baa3 names. Let's do the Baa3 names at Baa2. He also wanted to know if we had to have so many names - I said Goldman needed 100 to help sell the debt. He also wanted to talk about the super senior - I said we would definitely look at it if Goldman planned on placing it. We also talked about the auction call - he wants a 2 year. This may be tough to sell without a makewhole. We left it that we would both work on our respective engagement letters this week - I certainly got the impression the he wanted to go forward on this with us. He is also headed to ASF. Can we meet sometime on Feb 5th to discuss mechanics of this deal?

Laura -- all good questions. Some thoughts:

1- What expenses do you envision would be incurred in connection with the transaciton ? I think we/Paulson can envision paying your expenses in connection with marketing the transaction, subject to a reasonable cap.

2- In the engagement letter, the Portfolio Selection Fee is structured such that you get paid a spread (the "Portfolio Selection Fee Rate") on the tranches that are issued, subject to a floor of $1mm per annum. The Portfolio Selection Fee Rate is equal to 0.25% p.a. for the "AAA" tranche, 0.50% for the "AA" and "AA-" tranches, and 1.00% for the "A" tranche. Using our draft capital structure for a $1bn transaction and assuming we issue all the "AAA" through "A" notes, the aggregate Portfolio Selection Fees would be approx $1.25mm p.a. If we are able to upsize for a $2bn transaction and if we are able to issue all the "AAA" through "A" notes, the aggregate Portfolio Selection Fees would be approx $2.50mm p.a.

3- We are using McKee Nelson as deal counsel since they have a deep knowledge of the ABACUS transaction documents. I am afraid that if we use counsel not familiar with our deal structure, legal expenses might be significantly higher than otherwise, and the transaction execution might take more time.

4- Paolo at Paulson is out of the office until Wednesday of next week. We are trying to get his feedback on the target portfolio you have in mind, as well as on the compensation structure we have been discussing with you. Subject to Paolo being comfortable with those 2 aspects, it sounds like we will be in a position to engage you on this transaction.

Just a few questions before I send it to my counsel:

1. it says that any expenses we incur are for our account - I think the issuer/deal should pay our out of pocket in connection with this transaction (such as any travel etc)
2. the fee rate is set at $1 million - is this regardless of the ultimate size?
3. we generally like our counsel (Schulte) to be deal counsel 4. do you believe that we have this deal? do we need to do the work on the engagement letter before we know if we have the deal?

Subject: ABACUS Transaction - update

Attachments: Paulson Portfolio 1-22-07 (2) (2).xls

Laura,

We wanted to provide you with an update on the transaction:

From the 100 name portfolio that you had agreed to with Paolo (attached hereto), we would like to exclude SAIL 2006-BNC1 M7 and SAIL 2006-BNC2 M7, which are both on negative credit watch by Moody's. This leaves us with a portfolio of 98 names, for which we have been updating our model to refresh the capital structure. In addition, we have been working on a flipbook and termsheet in anticipation of marketing the transaction.

We will continue our discussions with Paolo to confirm his agreement with the proposed transaction as structured and look forward to discussing the transaction and draft Engagement Letter on Monday. In the meantime, can you please send us recent ACA marketing materials that we can include in our draft flipbook and termsheet.

Thanks,

David

Paolo called me this morning. We plan on sitting down tomorrow to try to finalize the portfolio. I suggested 3 alternates –
SASC 2006-WF3, Class M-9 and above
CMLTI 2006-WFHE3, Class M-9 and above
CMLTI 2007-AMC1, Class M8 and above

Subject: ABACUS Transaction - update

Laura,

We wanted to provide you with an update on the transaction:

From the 100 name portfolio that you had agreed to with Paolo (attached hereto), we would like to exclude SAIL 2006-BNC1 M7 and SAIL 2006-BNC2 M7, which are both on negative credit watch by Moody's. This leaves us with a portfolio of 98 names, for which we have been updating our model to refresh the capital structure. In addition, we have been working on a flipbook and termsheet in anticipation of marketing the transaction.

We will continue our discussions with Paolo to confirm his agreement with the proposed transaction as structured and look forward to discussing the transaction and draft Engagement Letter on Monday. In the meantime, can you please send us recent ACA marketing materials that we can include in our draft flipbook and termsheet.

Thanks,

David

Laura,

Thank you for meeting with me, Sihan and Fabrice this morning on such short notice. Coming into the meeting, I had not realized that you might have migrated the reference obligations on some of our original reference entities from the Baa2 to the A3 rating category. I apologize for not explaining more clearly that we had taken the whole portfolio to the Baa2 level, i.e., migrated both A3 and Baa3 to Baa2, assuming that the migration in opposite directions would have a neutral overall result. We then took the deals with ARM % > 75 and produced the list that we gave you this morning. If we take out the Baa2 bonds listed below, I am not sure that the result is neutral relative to the starting point. However, if you are absolutely adamant about excluding each of the bonds listed below, I hope that you will be able to come up with recent names that fit our criteria. If so, getting loan data on such names becomes critical.

Best,

Paolo

Laura,

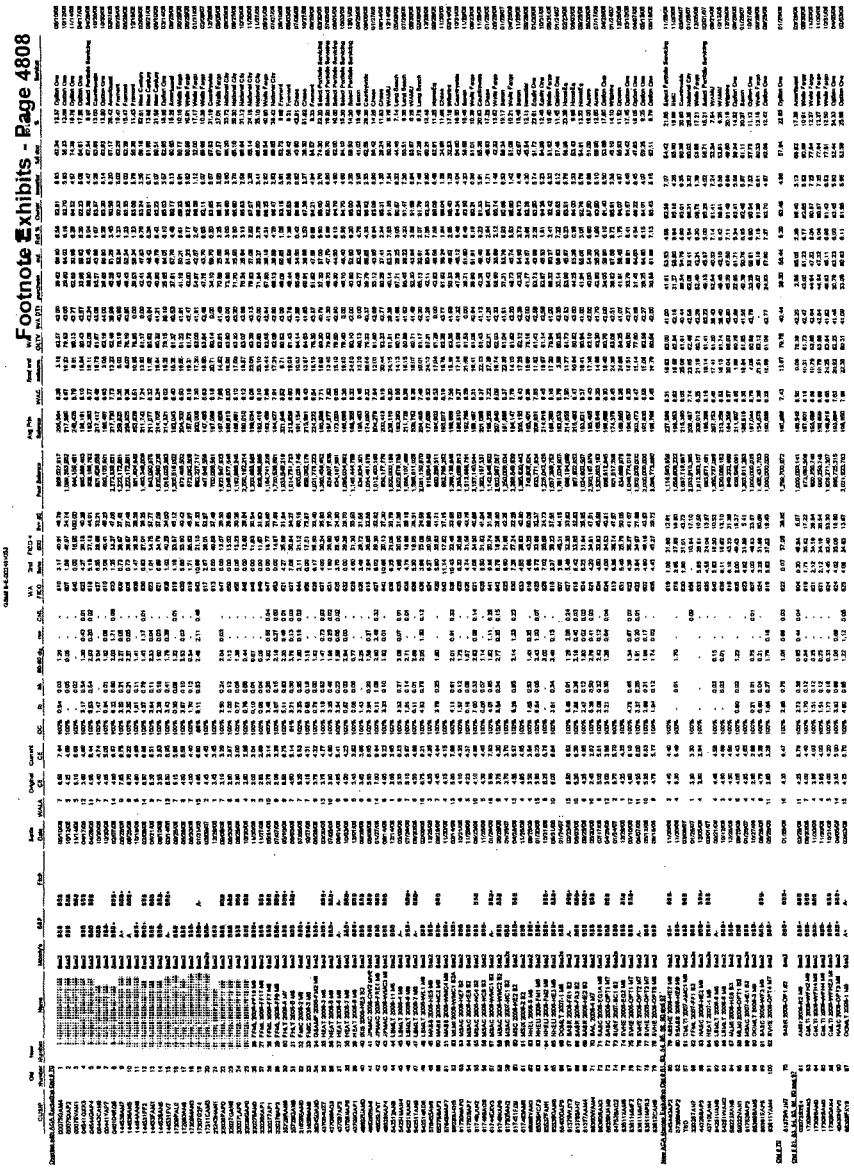
I attach the portfolio you proposed with eight deletions. Two are duplicates and the others are either too seasoned or have some other characteristics that make them too risky from our perspective. I understand from Fabrice that 92 names provide sufficient diversification and hope that you will find our counter-proposal acceptable.



Best regards.

We are ok removing ABFC 2006-OPT3 M8. However, we prefer removing the M8 tranche of CARR 2006-FRE1 (rated A+ by S&P) rather than the M9 tranche (rated A by S&P). Done?

Paolo, Sihan:

We believe we can create a more efficient capital structure by removing two of the proposed 92 names from the reference portfolio. We propose removing CARR 2006-FRE1 M9 (since we are currently referencing two obligations of the same issuer) and ABFC 2006-OPT3 M8 (since it is not explicitly rated by S&P and needs to be notched to BB+ for purposes of the transaction).

1. Pursuant to the Indenture (in the case of the Co-Issued Notes) and the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement (in the case of the Issuer Notes), the Notes of any Class may be issued from time to time following the Closing Date. See "Description of the Notes—The Indenture—Additional Issuance" and "Description of the Notes—The Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement—Additional Issuance."

2. Under a hypothetical scenario in which (i) each Reference Obligation will make a repayment of principal in full on a single date corresponding to the projected weighted average life of such Reference Obligation determined on the basis of a 30/360 day-count convention, whether or not such date falls on a Business Day or a Payment Date, (ii) principal payments on the Notes will occur on Payment Dates in accordance with the applicable cut-off dates, (iii) the Notes will be repaid in accordance with the Priority of Payments and (iv) no Credit Events will have occurred with respect to the Reference Portfolio. The Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent will supply information and calculations to (i) the Collateral Administrator for use in the Collateral Administrator's confirmation of compliance of the Collateral (after the proposed addition of a Collateral Security) with any of the Collateral Security Eligibility Criteria, the Collateral Weighted Average Life Test and the Collateral Security Quantity Constraint, and (ii) the Trustee for use in the Trustee's confirmation of the BIE Collateral Security Eligibility Criteria.

To the extent there is any difference between any of the Collateral Administrator's or the Trustee's (as the case may be) and the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent's determination of the satisfaction of any of the Collateral Security Eligibility Criteria, the Collateral Weighted Average Life Test or the Collateral Security Quantity Constraint, the Collateral Administrator will use commercially reasonable efforts to resolve such difference.

For the avoidance of doubt, the obligations of the Collateral Administrator under the Collateral Administration Agreement are

RISK FACTORS

Prior to making an investment decision, prospective investors should carefully consider, in addition to the matters set forth elsewhere in this Offering Circular, the following factors:

Limited Liquidity and Restrictions on Transfer. There is currently no market for the Notes. Although the Initial Purchaser has advised the Issuers that it intends to make a market in the Notes, the Initial Purchaser is not obligated to do so, and any such market-making with respect to the Notes may be discontinued at any time without notice. There can be no assurance that any secondary market for any of the Notes will develop, or, if a secondary market does develop, that it will provide the Holders of such Notes with liquidity of investment or that it will continue for the life of such Notes. Consequently, a purchaser must be prepared to hold the Notes for an indefinite period of time or until Stated Maturity. In addition, no sale, assignment, participation, pledge or transfer of the Notes may be effected if, among other things, it would require any of the Issuer, the Co-Issuer or any of their officers or directors to register under, or otherwise be subject to the provisions of, the Investment Company Act or any other similar legislation or regulatory action. Furthermore, the Notes will not be registered under the Securities Act or any state securities laws, and the Issuer has no plans, and is under no obligation, to register the Notes under the Securities Act. The Notes are subject to certain transfer restrictions and can be transferred only to certain transferees as described herein under "Transfer Restrictions". Such restrictions on the transfer of the Notes may further limit their liquidity. See "Transfer Restrictions". Application will be made to list the Notes on a stock exchange of the Issuer's choice, if practicable, but there can be no assurance that such admission will be sought, granted or maintained.

Limited Recourse Obligations. The Co-Issued Notes will be limited recourse obligations of the Issuers and the Issuer Notes will be limited recourse obligations of the Issuer, payable solely from the Issuer Assets pledged by the Issuer to secure the Notes. None of the Noteholders, the Initial Purchaser, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, the Administrator, the Share Trustee or any affiliates of any of the foregoing or the Issuers' affiliates or any other person or entity will be obligated to make payments on the Notes. Consequently, Holders of the Notes must rely solely on distributions on the Issuer Assets pledged to secure the Notes for the payment of principal and interest thereon. If distributions on the Issuer Assets are insufficient to make payments on the Notes, no other assets (and, in particular, no assets of the Noteholders, the Initial Purchaser, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, the Administrator, the Share Trustee or any affiliates of any of the foregoing) will be available for payment of the deficiency and following realization of the Issuer Assets pledged to secure the Notes, the obligations of the Issuers to pay such deficiency shall be extinguished and shall not thereafter revive. Each Holder of a Note by its acceptance of such Note will agree or be deemed to have agreed not to take any action or institute any proceedings against the Issuers under any insolvency law applicable to the Issuers or which would be likely to cause the Issuers to be subject to, or to seek the protection of, any insolvency law applicable to the Issuers, subject to certain limited exceptions.

Subordination of the Notes. The rights of the Holders of the Notes with respect to the Issuer Assets will be subject to prior claims of the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty and the Collateral Put Provider, and may be subject to the claims of any other creditor of the Issuer that is entitled to priority as a matter of law or by virtue of any nonconsensual lien that such creditor has on the Issuer Assets or pursuant to the Priority of Payments.

Notes—Status and Subordination". No payments of interest from Interest Proceeds will be made on any Class of Notes on any Payment Date until current and defaulted interest on the Notes of each Class to which such Class is subordinated has been paid, and no payments of principal will be made on any such Class of Notes (i) on any Payment Date or (ii) any other Business Day on which payments of Currency Adjusted Notional Principal Adjustment Amounts are paid by the Issuer to the Noteholders, until principal of the Notes of each Class to which such Class is subordinated has been paid in accordance with the Priority of Payments described herein. See "Description of the Notes—Priority of Payments".

In addition, if an Event of Default occurs, a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class will be entitled to determine the remedies to be exercised under the Indenture including the sale and liquidation of the Collateral in accordance with the procedures set forth in the Indenture. Remedies pursued by a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class could be adverse to the interests of the Holders of a particular Class or Classes of Notes. See "Description of the Notes—The Indenture—Events of Default".

Mandatory Redemption and the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure. If a Mandatory Redemption occurs and the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure is applied, the Holders of the Class SS Notes, the Class A Notes, the Class B Notes and the Class C Notes voting as a single class will be entitled to determine whether Collateral Securities allocated to such Classes of Notes will be liquidated or delivered to such Noteholders in accordance with the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure. With respect to any of the Class SS Notes, the Class A Notes, the Class B Notes and the Class C Notes, such determination through voting as a single class could be adverse to the interests of the Holders of the Classes of Notes subordinated to such senior Classes, as the case may be, as Holders of any such senior Classes of Notes may elect to receive Collateral Securities with a market value in excess of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of such senior Classes of Notes (plus accrued and unpaid interest thereon) rather than have the Collateral Securities allocated to such senior Classes liquidated, which would allow Holders of subordinated Classes of Notes to benefit from the liquidation of such Collateral Securities at a premium. See "Description of the Notes—Mandatory Redemption".

Leverage. The Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes will be $192,000,000 on the Closing Date (including, for the avoidance of doubt, the USD Equivalent of the Notes denominated in Approved Currencies other than Dollars). However, the Reference Portfolio Notional Amount will equal $2,000,000,000 on the Closing Date, which amount represents the aggregate Reference Obligation Notional Amount on the Closing Date. Through the Credit Default Swap, investors in the Notes will be effectively providing the Protection Buyer loss protection with respect to each Reference Obligation up to the Reference Obligation Notional Amount of such Reference Obligation. Losses incurred will be borne by the Noteholders. Since the Reference Portfolio Notional Amount for the Reference Portfolio exceeds the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes, investors in the Notes are providing such loss protection to the Protection Buyer on a leveraged basis.

Volatility. Because investors in the Notes are providing loss protection to the Protection Buyer on a leveraged basis, the market value of the Notes may be subject to changes that are greater than the changes in market value that might occur to the Reference Portfolio. The market value of the Notes may vary over time and could be significantly less than par (or even zero) in certain circumstances.

Credit Linkage of the Notes. The Credit Default Swap will be linked to the credit of the Reference Entities. The amount payable in respect of principal of the Notes will depend upon, among other factors, whether and to the extent Credit Events have occurred under the Credit Default Swap. Under the Credit Default Swap, upon the occurrence of a Credit Event and the satisfaction of the Conditions to Settlement, the Issuer will be obligated to pay the Protection Buyer a Cash Settlement Amount in an amount equal to any Currency Adjusted Credit Event Adjustment Amounts. Any Cash Settlement Amount paid by the Issuer will reduce the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes (in reverse order of seniority). See "Summary—Notes—Decrease in the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of each Class of Notes". Except in the limited circumstances as described under "Summary—Notes—Increase in the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of each Class of Notes", a decrease in the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes will be permanent and irreversible and the Noteholders will never receive a payment of principal in the amount of such decrease and from and after the date of such decrease, no interest will accrue on the amount of such decrease. See "—Subordination of the Notes" and "Description of the Notes—Priority of Payments".

Cash Available to Make Payments on the Notes. The ability of the Issuer to make payments on the Notes will depend primarily on several factors. To the extent (i) one or more Credit Events occur, (ii) the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider or the Collateral Disposal Agent fails to perform its obligations or (iii) there is a default in payments due in respect of any Collateral, the amount of available cash to make payments on the Notes in accordance with the Priority of Payments will be reduced. In addition, in the event that an Event of Default occurs in respect of the Notes or on the Mandatory Redemption Date, the Issuer may not be able to pay the principal of the Notes as a result of (a) paying unpaid Credit Default Swap Termination Payments, if any, owing to the Protection Buyer, (b) paying unpaid Basis Swap Termination Payments, if any, owing to the Basis Swap Counterparty, (c) amounts owed to the Collateral Put Provider pursuant to the Collateral Put Agreement and (d) the then applicable market value of the Collateral Securities being less than their principal amount. In the case of a Mandatory Redemption, the Holders of any subordinated Class of Notes could be adversely affected as described under "—Mandatory Redemption and the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure". See "Description of the Notes—Mandatory Redemption".

Retention of a Portfolio Selection Agent. The Issuer will retain a portfolio selection agent to select the Initial Reference Portfolio, but following the Closing Date the Reference Portfolio will be static, subject to modification only in connection with the amortization of the Reference Portfolio. The Portfolio Selection Agent will not provide any other services to the Issuer or act as the "collateral manager" for the Collateral. The Portfolio Selection Agent will not have any fiduciary duties or other duties to the Issuer or to the holders of the Notes and will not have any ability to direct the Trustee to dispose of any items of Collateral.

Interest Payments Dependent Primarily upon the Protection Buyer's Performance under the Credit Default Swap and the Basis Swap Counterparty's Performance under the Basis Swap. Payments made by the Protection Buyer under the Credit Default Swap and payments made by the Basis Swap Counterparty under the Basis Swap are the Issuer's primary sources of funds to make interest payments on the Notes. Since the ability of the Issuer to make interest payments on the Notes prior to the occurrence of a Credit Default Swap Early Termination or a Basis Swap Early Termination will be dependent on its receipt of payments from the Protection Buyer under the Credit Default Swap and the Basis Swap Counterparty under the Basis Swap, the Noteholders are relying on the Protection Buyer to perform its obligations under the Credit Default Swap and the Basis Swap Counterparty to perform its obligations under the Basis Swap. Accordingly, if a Credit Default Swap Early Termination or a Basis Swap Early Termination occurs prior to a Payment Date, the Issuer may not have sufficient funds to make interest payments on all Classes of Notes.

The insolvency of the Protection Buyer will be a Credit Default Swap Event of Default under the Credit Default Swap. In the event of the insolvency of the Protection Buyer, the Issuer will be treated as a general creditor of the Protection Buyer. Additionally, certain events with respect to a Credit Default Swap Early Termination (which can occur due to the insolvency of the Protection Buyer) will result in a Mandatory Redemption. Upon the occurrence of a Mandatory Redemption, the Trustee will liquidate all or a portion of the Collateral and will make any payments due to the Protection Buyer pursuant to the Credit Default Swap (other than a Protection Buyer Default Termination Payment), the Basis Swap Counterparty pursuant to the Basis Swap (other than a Basis Swap Counterparty Default Termination Payment) and the Collateral Put Provider pursuant to the Collateral Put Agreement prior to making payments to the Noteholders. Under such circumstances, Noteholders may not receive sufficient funds to repay the principal of the Notes and, as a result, Noteholders should expect to lose a substantial part, if not all, of their principal investment in the Notes and to receive no interest on the Notes. In addition, in the case of a Mandatory Redemption, the Holders of any subordinated Class of Notes could be adversely affected as described under "—Mandatory Redemption and the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure". See "Description of the Notes—Mandatory Redemption".

The insolvency of the Basis Swap Counterparty will be a Basis Swap Event of Default under the Basis Swap. In the event of the insolvency of the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Issuer will be treated as a general creditor of the Basis Swap Counterparty. Additionally, certain events with respect to a Basis Swap Early Termination (which can occur due to the insolvency of the Basis Swap Counterparty) will result in a Mandatory Redemption. Upon the occurrence of a Mandatory Redemption, the Trustee will liquidate the Collateral and will make any payments due to the Protection Buyer pursuant to the Credit Default Swap (other than a Protection Buyer Default Termination Payment), the Basis Swap Counterparty pursuant to the Basis Swap (other than a Basis Swap Counterparty Default Termination Payment) and the Collateral Put Provider pursuant to the Collateral Put Agreement prior to making payments to the Noteholders. Under such circumstances, Noteholders may not receive sufficient funds to repay the principal of the Notes and, as a result, Noteholders should expect to lose a substantial part, if not all, of their principal investment in the Notes and to receive no interest on the Notes. In addition, in the case of a Mandatory Redemption, the Holders of any subordinated Class of Notes could be adversely affected as described under "—Mandatory Redemption and the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure". See "Description of the Notes—Mandatory Redemption".

Collateral Put Provider Default. In connection with an Optional Redemption in Whole, a Partial Optional Redemption, a Stated Maturity of any Series of Notes or the payment of any Currency Adjusted Notional Principal Adjustment Amount by the Issuer to the Noteholders, if (x) the Collateral Disposal Agent is unable to obtain at least 100% of par for a Selected Collateral Security and/or (y) the Trustee is unable to obtain at least 100% of par for Eligible Investments (in each case (i) other than Put Excluded Collateral and (ii) excluding any accrued and unpaid interest), the Collateral Disposal Agent will inform the Trustee and the Issuer (in the case of (x) above) and the Trustee will inform the Issuer (in the case of (y) above), who will then direct the Issuer to exercise the Issuer's rights under the Collateral Put Agreement pursuant to which the Issuer will deliver such Selected Collateral Security and/or such Eligible Investment to the Collateral Put Provider in exchange for 100% of the principal amount of such Selected Collateral Security and/or such Eligible Investments (plus accrued and unpaid interest). If a Collateral Put Provider defaults in its obligations under the Collateral Put Agreement, the Collateral Disposal Agent will be required to liquidate the Collateral in an amount which may be insufficient to pay such Currency Adjusted Notional Principal Adjustment Amount or to redeem the Notes in full (in connection with an Optional Redemption in Whole) or in part (in connection with a Partial Optional Redemption) or the Holders of any subordinated Class of Notes could be adversely affected as described under "—Mandatory Redemption and the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure". See "Description of the Notes—Mandatory Redemption".

No Claims on the Reference Entities. The Credit Default Swap does not constitute a purchase or other acquisition or assignment of any interest in any obligation of any Reference Entity. The Issuer will have a contractual relationship only with the Protection Buyer and not with any Reference Entity, and generally will have no rights to enforce directly compliance by any Reference Entity with the terms of its obligations that are referred to in the Credit Default Swap, no rights of set-off against a Reference Entity, and no voting rights with respect to any Reference Entity. The Issuer will not directly benefit from any collateral securing the obligations of the Reference Entities, and the Issuer will not have the benefit of the remedies that would normally be available to a holder of such secured obligation.

To the extent that the Protection Buyer, the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent or any of their affiliates holds any obligation of a Reference Entity, neither the Protection Buyer, the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent nor any of their affiliates will be, or will be deemed to be acting as, the Issuer's agent or trustee in connection with the exercise of, or the failure to exercise, any of the rights or powers of the Protection Buyer, the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent or any of their affiliates arising under or in connection with its or their holding of any such obligation. None of the Issuer, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, nor any Holder of any Note will have any right to acquire from the Protection Buyer, the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent or any of their affiliates (or to require the Protection Buyer, the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent or any of their affiliates to transfer, assign or otherwise dispose of) any interest in any Reference Obligation or other obligation of any Reference Entity pursuant to the Credit Default Swap. Furthermore, to the extent that the Protection Buyer, the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent or any of their affiliates holds any obligation of a Reference Entity, none of the Protection Buyer, the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent nor any of their affiliates will grant the Issuer, the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent any security interest in such obligation.

In addition, in the event of the bankruptcy or insolvency of the Protection Buyer, the Issuer will be treated as a general creditor of the Protection Buyer and will not have any claim with respect to the Reference Entities. Consequently, the Issuer will be subject to the credit risk of the Protection Buyer as well as that of the Reference Entities.

Limited Provision of Information about Reference Obligations/Reference Entities. This Offering Circular does not provide any information with respect to any Reference Obligation or Reference Entity other than that contained in a description of the Reference Portfolio set forth under "The Credit Default Swap—The Reference Portfolio". As the occurrence of a Credit Event may result in a permanent decrease in the amounts payable in respect of the Notes, investors should review the list of Reference Obligations set forth herein and conduct their own investigation and analysis with respect to the creditworthiness of each Reference Obligation and the likelihood of the occurrence of a Credit Event with respect to each Reference Entity and Reference Obligation.

The Protection Buyer or its affiliates and/or the Portfolio Selection Agent or its affiliates may have information, including material, non-public information, regarding the Reference Obligations and the Reference Entities. Neither the Protection Buyer nor the Portfolio Selection Agent will provide the Issuer, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, any Noteholder or any other Person with any such non-public information. In addition, neither the Protection Buyer nor the Portfolio Selection Agent will provide the Issuer, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, any Holder of any Note or any other Person with any such information that is public (including financial information or notices), except in the case of information pertaining to one or more Credit Events with respect to each Reference Entity and one or more Reference Obligation(s) of such Reference Entity in connection with which the Protection Buyer is seeking payment of one or more Cash Settlement Amounts.

The Issuer will be required pursuant to the Indenture to provide the Noteholders with periodic reports. See "Description of the Notes—The Indenture—Reports Prepared Pursuant to the Indenture." None of the Initial Purchaser, the Protection Buyer, the Portfolio Selection Agent or any of their respective affiliates has any obligation to keep the Issuer, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent or the Noteholders informed as to any other matters with respect to any Reference Entity or any Reference Obligation, including whether or not circumstances exist that give rise to the possibility of the occurrence of a Credit Event with respect to any Reference Obligation or a Reference Entity.

None of the Issuer, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent or the Noteholders will have the right to inspect any records of the Initial Purchaser, the Protection Buyer, the Portfolio Selection Agent or any of their respective affiliates. Except for the information contained in this Offering Circular, none of the Initial Purchaser, the Protection Buyer, the Portfolio Selection Agent nor any of their respective affiliates will have any obligation to disclose any information or evidence regarding the existence or terms of any obligation of any Reference Entity or any matters arising in relation thereto or otherwise regarding any Reference Entity, any guarantor or any other person.

Concentration Risk. The concentration of the Reference Obligations in the Reference Portfolio in any one particular type of Structured Product Security subjects the Notes to a greater degree of risk with respect to credit defaults within such type of Structured Product Security. Investors should review the list of Reference Obligations set forth herein and conduct their own investigation and analysis with regard to each Reference Obligation. See "The Credit Default Swap—The Reference Portfolio".

Collateral Default. To the extent that defaults occur with respect to any Collateral, a Mandatory Redemption will occur and the Collateral Disposal Agent will be required to liquidate the Collateral Securities. Thereafter, liquidation proceeds will be applied in accordance with "Description of the Notes—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date". Depending on the market value of the remaining Collateral and the value of the Credit Default Swap and the Basis Swap at such time, the proceeds of such liquidation may not be sufficient to pay the unpaid principal of and interest on all of the Notes.

Assets included in the Reference Portfolio or held as Collateral Securities. The risks generally described below under Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities, Residential Mortgage-Backed Securities, CDO Cashflow Securities and Asset-Backed Securities could affect payments on the Notes to the extent any such asset is (i) included in the Reference Portfolio as a Reference Obligation and experiences a Credit Event or (ii) held by the Issuer as a Collateral Security and subsequently experiences a Collateral Default.

Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities. The Collateral Securities may include Commercial Mortgage-Backed Securities.

CMBS bear various risks, including credit, market, interest rate, structural and legal risks. CMBS are securities backed by obligations (including certificates of participation in obligations) that are principally secured by mortgages on real property or interests therein having a multifamily or commercial use, such as regional malls, other retail space, office buildings, industrial or warehouse properties, hotels, rental apartments, self-storage, nursing homes and senior living centers. Risks affecting real estate investments include general economic conditions, the condition of financial markets, political events, developments or trends in any particular industry and changes in prevailing interest rates. The cyclicality and leverage associated with real estate-related investments have historically resulted in periods, including significant periods, of adverse performance, including performance that may be materially more adverse than the performance associated with other investments. In addition, commercial mortgage loans generally lack standardized terms, tend to have shorter maturities than residential mortgage loans and may provide for the payment of all or substantially all of the principal only at maturity. Additional risks may be presented by the type and use of a particular commercial property. For instance, commercial properties that operate as hospitals and nursing homes may present special risks to lenders due to the significant governmental regulation of the ownership, operation, maintenance and financing of health care institutions. Hotel and motel properties are often operated pursuant to franchise, management or operating agreements which may be terminable by the franchisor or operator; and the transferability of a hotel's operating, liquor and other licenses upon a transfer of the hotel, whether through purchase or foreclosure, is subject to local law requirements. All of these factors increase the risks involved with commercial real estate lending. Commercial lending is generally viewed as exposing a lender to a greater risk of loss than residential one-to-four family lending since it typically involves larger loans to a single borrower than residential one-to-four family lending.

Commercial mortgage lenders typically look to the debt service coverage ratio of a loan secured by income-producing property as an important measure of the risk of default on such a loan. Commercial property values and net operating income are subject to volatility, and net operating income may be sufficient or insufficient to cover debt service on the related mortgage loan at any given time. The repayment of loans secured by income-producing properties is typically dependent upon the successful operation of the related real estate project rather than upon the liquidation value of the underlying real estate. Furthermore, the net operating income from and value of any commercial property may be adversely affected by risks generally incident to interests in real property, including events which the borrower or manager of the property, or the issuer or servicer of the related issuance of commercial mortgage-backed securities, may be unable to predict or control, such as changes in general or local economic conditions and/or specific industry segments; declines in real estate values; declines in rental or occupancy rates; increases in interest rates, real estate tax rates and other operating expenses; changes in governmental rules, regulations and fiscal policies; acts of God; and social unrest and civil disturbances. The value of commercial real estate is also subject to a number of laws, such as laws regarding environmental clean-up and limitations on remedies imposed by bankruptcy laws and state laws regarding foreclosures and rights of redemption. Any decrease in income or value of the commercial real estate underlying an issue of CMBS could result in cash flow delays and losses on the related issue of CMBS.

A commercial property may not readily be converted to an alternative use in the event that the operation of such commercial property for its original purpose becomes unprofitable. In such cases, the conversion of the commercial property to an alternative use would generally require substantial capital expenditures. Thus, if the borrower becomes unable to meet its obligations under the related commercial mortgage loan, the liquidation value of any such commercial property may be substantially less, relative to the amount outstanding on the related commercial mortgage loan, than would be the case if such commercial property were readily adaptable to other uses. The exercise of remedies and successful realization of liquidation proceeds may be highly dependent on the performance of CMBS servicers or special servicers, of which there may be a limited number and which may have conflicts of interest in any given situation. The failure of the performance of such CMBS servicers or special servicers could result in cash flow delays and losses on the related issue of CMBS.

At any one time, a portfolio of CMBS may be backed by commercial mortgage loans with disproportionately large aggregate principal amounts secured by properties in only a few states or regions. As a result, the commercial mortgage loans may be more susceptible to geographic risks relating to such areas, such as adverse economic conditions, adverse events affecting industries located in such areas and natural hazards affecting such areas, than would be the case for a pool of mortgage loans having more diverse property locations.

Mortgage loans underlying a CMBS issue may provide for no amortization of principal or may provide for amortization based on a schedule substantially longer than the maturity of the mortgage loan, resulting in a "balloon" payment due at maturity. If the underlying mortgage borrower experiences business problems, or other factors limit refinancing alternatives, such balloon payment mortgages are likely to experience payment delays or even default. As a result, the related issue of CMBS could experience delays in cash flow and losses.

In addition, interest payments on CMBS may be subject to an available funds-cap and/or a weighted average coupon cap (which cap will, in each case, have the practical effect of deferring part or all of such interest payments) if interest rate rises substantially.

Residential Mortgage-Backed Securities. The Reference Obligations will include and the Collateral Securities may include Residential Mortgage-Backed Securities.

RMBS bear various risks, including credit, market, interest rate, structural and legal risks. RMBS represent interests in pools of residential mortgage loans secured by one- to four-family residential mortgage-loans. Such loans may be prepaid at any time. Residential mortgage loans are obligations of the borrowers thereunder only and are not typically insured or guaranteed by any other person or entity, although such loans may be securitized by Agencies and the securities issued are guaranteed. The rate of defaults and losses on residential mortgage loans will be affected by a number of factors, including general economic conditions and those in the area where the related mortgaged property is located, the borrower's equity in the mortgaged property and the financial circumstances of the borrower. If a residential mortgage loan is in default, foreclosure of such residential mortgage loan may be a lengthy and difficult process, and may involve significant expenses. Furthermore, the market for defaulted residential mortgage loans or foreclosed properties may be very limited.

At any one time, a portfolio of RMBS may be backed by residential mortgage loans with disproportionately large aggregate principal amounts secured by properties in only a few states or regions. As a result, the residential mortgage loans may be more susceptible to geographic risks relating to such areas, such as adverse economic conditions, adverse events affecting industries located in such areas and natural hazards affecting such areas, than would be the case for a pool of mortgage loans having more diverse property locations. In addition, the residential mortgage loans may include so-called "jumbo" mortgage loans, having original principal balances that are higher than is generally the case for residential mortgage loans. As a result, such portfolio of RMBS may experience increased losses.

Each underlying residential mortgage loan in an issue of RMBS may have a balloon payment due on its maturity date. Balloon residential mortgage loans involve a greater risk to a lender than self-amortizing loans, because the ability of a borrower to pay such amount will normally depend on its ability to obtain refinancing of the related mortgage loan or sell the related mortgaged property at a price sufficient to permit the borrower to make the balloon payment, which will depend on a number of factors prevailing at the time such refinancing or sale is required, including, without limitation, the strength of the residential real estate markets, tax laws, the financial situation and operating history of the underlying property, interest rates and general economic conditions. If the borrower is unable to make such balloon payment, the related issue of RMBS may experience losses.

In addition, interest payments on RMBS may be subject to an available funds-cap and/or a weighted average coupon cap (which cap will, in each case, have the practical effect of deferring part or all of such interest payments) if interest rate rises substantially.

Structural and Legal Risks of CMBS and RMBS. Residential mortgage loans in an issue of RMBS may be subject to various federal and state laws, public policies and principles of equity that protect consumers, which among other things may regulate interest rates and other charges, require certain disclosures, require licensing of originators, prohibit discriminatory lending practices, regulate the use of consumer credit information and regulate debt collection practices. Violation of certain provisions of these laws, public policies and principles may limit the servicer's ability to collect all or part of the principal of or interest on a residential mortgage loan, entitle the borrower to a refund of amounts previously paid by it, or subject the servicer to damages and sanctions. Any such violation could result also in cash flow delays and losses on the related issue of RMBS.

In addition, structural and legal risks of CMBS and RMBS include the possibility that, in a bankruptcy or similar proceeding involving the originator or the servicer (often the same entity or affiliates), the assets of the issuer could be treated as never having been truly sold by the originator to the issuer and could be substantively consolidated with those of the originator, or the transfer of such assets to the issuer could be voided as a fraudulent transfer. Challenges based on such doctrines could result also in cash flow delays and losses on the related issue of CMBS or RMBS.

It is not expected that CMBS or RMBS (other than the RMBS Agency Securities) will be guaranteed or insured by any governmental agency or instrumentality or by any other person. Distributions on CMBS and RMBS will depend solely upon the amount and timing of payments and other collections on the related underlying mortgage loans.

Some of the CMBS may, and the RMBS referenced in the Initial Reference Portfolio will, be subordinated to one or more other senior classes of securities of the same series for purposes of, among other things, offsetting losses and other shortfalls with respect to the related underlying mortgage loans. In addition, in the case of CMBS and certain RMBS, no distributions of principal will generally be made with respect to any class until the aggregate principal balances of the corresponding senior classes of securities have been reduced to zero. As a result, the subordinate classes are more sensitive to risk of loss and writedowns than senior classes of such securities.

CDO Cashflow Securities. The Collateral Securities may include CDO Cashflow Securities. CDO Cashflow Securities generally are limited recourse obligations of the issuer thereof payable solely from the underlying assets of the issuer ("CDO Collateral") or proceeds thereof. Consequently, CDO Cashflow Securities must rely solely on distributions on the underlying CDO Collateral or proceeds thereof for payment in respect thereof. If distributions on the underlying CDO Collateral are insufficient to make payments on the CDO Cashflow Securities, no other assets will be available for payment of the deficiency and following realization of the underlying assets, the obligations of the issuer to pay such deficiency shall be extinguished.

CDO Cashflow Securities are subject to credit, liquidity and interest rate risks. CDO Collateral may consist of high yield debt securities, loans, structured finance securities and other debt instruments. High yield debt securities are generally unsecured (and loans may be unsecured) and may be subordinated to certain other obligations of the issuer thereof. The below investment grade ratings of high yield securities reflect a greater possibility that adverse changes in the financial condition of an issuer or in general economic conditions or both may impair the ability of the issuer to make payments of principal or interest. Such investments may be speculative.

Issuers of CDO Cashflow Securities may acquire interests in loans and other debt obligations by way of assignment or participation. The purchaser of an assignment typically succeeds to all the rights and obligations of the assigning institution and becomes a lender under the credit agreement with respect to the debt obligation; however, its rights can be more restricted than those of the assigning institution.

CDO Cashflow Securities are subject to interest rate risk. The CDO Collateral of an issuer of CDO Cashflow Securities may bear interest at a fixed (floating) rate while the CDO Cashflow Securities issued by such issuer may bear interest at a floating (fixed) rate. As a result, there could be a floating/fixed rate or basis mismatch between such CDO Cashflow Securities and CDO Collateral which bears interest at a fixed rate and there may be a timing mismatch between the CDO Cashflow Securities and assets that bear interest at a floating rate as the interest rate on such assets bearing interest at a floating rate may adjust more frequently or less frequently, on different dates and based on different indices than the interest rates on the CDO Cashflow Securities. As a result of such mismatches, an increase or decrease in the level of the floating rate indices could adversely impact the ability to make payments on the CDO Cashflow Securities.

In addition, certain CDO Cashflow Securities may by their terms defer payment of interest or pay interest "in-kind".

Asset-Backed Securities. The Collateral Securities may include Asset-Backed Securities. The structure of an Asset-Backed Security and the terms of the investors' interest in the collateral can vary widely depending on the type of collateral, the desires of investors and the use of credit enhancements. Individual transactions can differ markedly in both structure and execution. Important determinants of the risk associated with issuing, acquiring synthetic exposure through the Credit Default Swap or holding Asset-Backed Securities include the relative seniority or subordination of the class of Asset-Backed Securities, the relative allocation of principal and interest payments in the priorities by which such payments are made under the governing documents, how credit losses affect the issuing vehicle and the return on the different classes, whether collateral represents a fixed set of specific assets or accounts, whether the underlying collateral assets are revolving or closed-end, under what terms (including maturity of the asset-backed instrument) any remaining balance in the accounts may revert to the issuing company and the extent to which the company that is the actual source of the collateral assets is obligated to provide support to the issuing vehicle or to any of the classes of securities. With respect to some types of Asset-Backed Securities, the risk is more closely correlated with the default risk on corporate bonds of similar terms and maturities than with the performance of a pool of receivables. In addition, certain Asset-Backed Securities (particularly subordinated Asset-Backed Securities) provide that the non-payment of interest in cash on such securities will not constitute an event of default in certain circumstances and the holders of such securities will not have available to them any associated default remedies.

Holders of Asset-Backed Securities bear various risks, including credit risks, liquidity risks, interest rate risks, market risks, operations risks, structural risks and legal risks. Credit risk arises from losses due to defaults by the borrowers in the underlying collateral and the issuer's or servicer's failure to perform. These two elements may be related, as, for example, in the case of a servicer which does not provide adequate credit-review scrutiny to the serviced portfolio, leading to higher incidence of defaults. Market risk arises from the cash flow characteristics of the security, which for most Asset-Backed Securities tend to be predictable. The greatest variability in cash flows comes from credit performance, including the presence of wind-down or acceleration features designed to protect the investor in the event that credit losses in the portfolio rise well above expected levels. Interest rate risk arises for the issuer from the relationship between the pricing terms on the underlying collateral and the terms of the rate paid to holders of securities and from the need to mark to market the excess servicing or spread account proceeds carried on the balance sheet. For the holder of the security, interest rate risk depends on the expected life of the Asset-Backed Securities which may depend on prepayments on the underlying assets or the occurrence of wind-down or termination events.

If the servicer becomes subject to financial difficulty or otherwise ceases to be able to carry out its functions, it may be difficult to find other acceptable substitute servicers and cash flow disruptions or losses may occur, particularly with non-standard receivables or receivables originated by private retailers who collect many of the payments at their stores. Structural and legal risks include the possibility that, in a bankruptcy or similar proceeding involving the originator or the servicer (often the same entity or affiliates), the assets of the Issuer could be treated as never having been truly sold by the originator to the Issuer and could be substantively consolidated with those of the originator, or the transfer of such assets to the issuer could be voided as a fraudulent transfer. Challenges based on such doctrines could result also in cash flow delays and reductions on the Asset-Backed Securities. Other similar risks relate to the degree to which cash flows on the assets of the Issuer may be commingled with those on the originator's other assets.

Recent Developments in Subprime Residential Mortgage Lending. Recently, delinquencies, defaults and losses on residential mortgage loans have increased and may continue to increase, which may affect the performance of RMBS, in particular RMBS Residential B/C Mortgage Securities which are backed by subprime mortgage loans. Subprime mortgage loans are generally made to borrowers with lower credit scores. Accordingly, mortgage loans backing RMBS Residential B/C Mortgage Securities are more sensitive to economic factors that could affect the abilty of borrowers to pay their obligations under the mortgage loans backing these securities. Market interest rates have been increasing and accordingly, with respect to adjustable rate mortgage loans and hybrid mortgage loans that have or will enter their adjustable-rate period, borrowers are likely to experience increases in their monthly payments and become increasingly likely to default on their payment obligations. Discovery of fraudulent mortgage loan applications in connection with rising default rates with respect to subprime mortgage loans may indicate that the risks with respect to these mortgage loans are particularly acute at this time. Such risks may result in further increases in default rates by subprime borrowers as it becomes more difficult for them to obtain refinancing.

These economic trends have been accompanied by a recent downward trend or stabilization of property values after a sustained period of increase in property values. Because subprime mortgage loans generally have higher loan-to-value ratios, recoveries on defaulted mortgage loans are more likely not to result in payment in full of amounts owed under such mortgage loans, resulting in higher net losses than would have been the case had property values remained the same or increased. A decline in property values will particularly impact recoveries on second lien mortgage loans that may be included in the mortgage pools backing RMBS Residential B/C Mortgage Securities.

Structural features of RMBS may contribute to the impact of increased delinquencies and defaults and lower recoveries on the underlying mortgage pool. In particular, there may be a decline in the interest rate payable under those RMBS structured to limit interest payable to investors based on a weighted average coupon cap. Mortgage loans bearing interest at a higher rate will have a greater tendency to default than those with lower mortgage rates. Such defaults will reduce the weighted average coupon of the underlying mortgage loans and accordingly the interest rate payable to investors in the related RMBS. In addition, delinquencies, defaults and lower recoveries on underlying mortgage loans will reduce interest and principal actually paid to investors to less than the amounts owed to investors in accordance with the terms of their RMBS. RMBS may not be structured with significant or any overcollateralization, so performance will be sensitive to delays or reductions in payments, particularly in the case of subordinated tranches of RMBS. To the extent that RMBS provide for writedowns of principal, interest will cease to accrue on the portion of principal of an RMBS that has been written down.

RMBS may provide that the servicer is required to make advances in respect of delinquent mortgage loans. However, servicers experiencing financial difficulties may not be able to perform these obligations. Servicers who have sought bankruptcy protection may, due to application of the provisions of bankruptcy law, not be required to advance such amounts. Even if a servicer were able to advance amounts in respect of delinquent mortgage loans, its obligation to make such advances may be limited to the extent that it does not expect to recover such advances due to the deteriorating credit of the delinquent mortgage loans. In addition, a servicer's obligation to make such advances may be limited to the amount of its servicing fee.

Recently, a number of originators and servicers of mortgage loans have experienced serious financial difficulties and, in some cases, have entered bankruptcy proceedings. These difficulties have resulted in part from declining markets for their mortgage loans as well as from claims for repurchases of mortgage loans previously sold under provisions that require repurchase in the event of early payment defaults or for breaches of representations regarding loan quality. Such financial difficulties may have a negative effect on the ability of servicers to pursue collection on mortgage loans that are experiencing increased delinquencies and defaults and to maximize recoveries on sale of underlying properties following foreclosure. The inability of the originator to repurchase such mortgage loans in the event of early payment defaults and other loan representation breaches may also affect the performance of RMBS backed by those mortgage loans.

Under certain circumstances, including a failure to perform its servicing obligations or a bankruptcy of the servicer, investors will be entitled to remove and replace the existing servicer. There is no guarantee, however, that a suitable servicer could be found to assume the obligations of the existing servicer, and the transition of servicing responsibilities to a replacement servicer could have an adverse effect on performance of servicing functions during or following a transition period and a resulting increase in delinquencies and losses and decreases in recoveries.

Transfers of mortgage loans by the originator or seller will be characterized in the applicable sale agreement as a sale transaction. Nevertheless, in the event of a bankruptcy of the originator or seller, the trustee in bankruptcy could attempt to recharacterize the sale of the mortgage loans as a borrowing secured by a pledge of the mortgage loans. If such attempt were successful, the trustee in bankruptcy could prevent the trustee for the RMBS from exercising any of the rights of the owner of the mortgage loans and also could elect to liquidate the mortgage loans. Investors may suffer a loss to the extent that the proceeds of the liquidation of the underlying mortgage loans would not be sufficient to pay amounts owed in respect of their investments. If this occurs, investors would lose the right to future payments of interest and may fail to recover their initial investment. Regardless of whether a trustee elects to foreclose on the underlying mortgage loan pool, delays in payments on their investments and possible reductions in the amount of these payments could occur.

These adverse changes in market conditions may reduce the cashflow which the Issuer receives from RMBS held by the Issuer (or a Credit Default Swap that reference RMBS), decrease the market value of such RMBS and increase the incidence and severity of Credit Events under the Credit Default Swap.

Currency Exchange Risk. The Reference Portfolio may include non-Dollar denominated Reference Obligations. At the time that such non-Dollar denominated Reference Obligation is included in the Reference Portfolio, the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent will determine the Notional Foreign Exchange Rate with respect to such non-Dollar denominated Reference Obligation. This Notional Foreign Exchange Rate will not change during the time such non-Dollar denominated Reference Obligation is in the Reference Portfolio, and, as such, will protect the Issuer from any unfavorable fluctuation of the applicable currency rate (which would increase the amount of any Cash Settlement Amount and/or Notional Principal Adjustment Amount relating to such non-Dollar denominated Reference Obligation). However, because the Notional Foreign Exchange Rate is fixed, the Issuer will not benefit from any favorable fluctuation of the applicable currency exchange rate (which would reduce the amount of any Cash Settlement Amount and/or Notional Principal Adjustment Amount relating to such non-Dollar denominated Reference Obligation).

In addition, in connection with a Mandatory Redemption, Collateral Securities may be liquidated and the proceeds of such liquidation may be insufficient to pay the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of each Series in full. To the extent that a Series of Notes is denominated in an Approved Currency for which there is insufficient proceeds in such Approved Currency (at the applicable level of priority) to pay the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of such Series of Notes in full, available proceeds denominated in other Approved Currencies will be exchanged for such needed Approved Currency at the applicable currency exchange rates at such time. Other Notes of such Class denominated in any such other Approved Currency and Notes junior to such Class may experience losses due to any adverse fluctuation of the applicable exchange currency rates. In addition, to the extent there would be insufficient Principal Proceeds after giving effect to any such exchange to make all principal payments on the Notes in connection with a Mandatory Redemption, with respect to any Class in which Notes are denominated in more than one Approved Currency, such shortfall shall be borne pro rata by Holders of such Class based on the Dollar equivalent principal amount of such Notes as determined using the Spot FX Rate as of the third Business Day immediately prior to such Mandatory Redemption Date, rather than the Applicable Series Foreign Exchange Rate for each related Series.

Average Life end Prepayment Considerations. The Stated Maturity of the Notes issued on the Closing Date is March 1, 2038. The Stated Maturity may vary with respect to any additional issuance of Notes; however, the average life of each Series of Notes is expected to be shorter than the number of years until the Stated Maturity.

The approximations of the average life of each Class of Notes set forth in the table in "Summary—Notes" with respect to the average life of each Class of Notes are not predictive and do not necessarily reflect historical performance of the Reference Obligations. Such approximations will also be affected by any Optional Redemption in Whole, Partial Optional Redemption, Mandatory Redemption or the characteristics of the Reference Obligations, including the existence and frequency of exercise of any optional redemption, mandatory prepayment or sinking fund features, the prevailing level of interest rates and the actual default rate.

The Initial Purchaser may not have completed its resale of the Notes by any date certain, which may affect the liquidity of the Notes as well as the ability, if any, of the Initial Purchaser to make a market in the Notes. The Initial Purchaser, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent and each of their respective affiliates acting in such capacities will have only the duties and responsibilities expressly agreed to by such entity in the relevant capacity and will not, by virtue of acting in any other capacity, be deemed to have other duties or responsibilities, other than as expressly provided with respect to each such capacity. The Initial Purchaser, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent and their respective affiliates in their various capacities may enter into business dealings from which they may derive revenues and profits in addition to the fees stated in the various transaction documents, without any duty to account therefor. In such dealings, the Initial Purchaser, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent and their respective affiliates may act in the same manner as if the Notes had not been issued, regardless of whether any such action (including without limitation, any action that might constitute or give rise to a Credit Event) might have an adverse effect on a Reference Entity, a Reference Obligation or any guarantor in respect thereof or otherwise.

The Initial Purchaser, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent and their respective affiliates may hold long or short positions with respect to Reference Obligations and/or other securities or obligations of related Reference Entities and may enter into credit derivative or other derivative transactions with other parties pursuant to which it sells or buys credit protection with respect to one or more related Reference Entities and/or Reference Obligations. If the Initial Purchaser, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent or their respective affiliates, holds claims against a Reference Entity or a Reference Obligation other than in connection with the transactions contemplated in this Offering Circular, such party's interest as a creditor may be in conflict with the interests of the Issuer.

Entities or Reference Obligations. The Portfolio Selection Agent, its Affiliates or any account managed by any of the foregoing may make and/or hold an investment in an issuer's securities, sell credit protection under a credit default swap referencing securities or issue financial guaranty insurance policies covering securities (or make loans) that may be pari passu, senior or junior in ranking to a Reference Obligation or in which partners, security holders, officers, directors, agents or employees of the Portfolio Selection Agent, its Affiliates or any account managed by any of the foregoing serve on boards of directors or otherwise have ongoing relationships. In such instances, the Portfolio Selection Agent and its Affiliates may in their discretion make investment recommendations and decisions (on behalf of itself or an account managed by it) that may be the same as or different from those made with respect to the Issuer's investments. Accordingly, the Portfolio Selection Agent or any Affiliate of the Portfolio Selection Agent may be seeking, on behalf of itself or accounts for which it serves as manager, to acquire or dispose of securities which are included in the Initial Reference Portfolio (or securities of Reference Entities whose securities constitute Reference Obligations in the Initial Reference Portfolio) at the same time that the Issuer enters into the Credit Default Swap to sell protection with respect to the Initial Reference Portfolio.

The Portfolio Selection Agent and its Affiliates may also serve as managers or co-managers of one or more other companies organized to invest in, or sell or buy credit protection with respect to, RMBS, CMBS, CDO Cashflow Securities or other types of Asset-Backed Securities. The Portfolio Selection Agent and its Affiliates may pursue its own interests as an issuer or servicer of obligations which are Reference Obligations or as an owner of, or seller of credit protection with respect to, other securities issued by an issuer of Reference Obligations, without considering the effect of its actions or omissions on the Issuer.

The Portfolio Selection Agent, its Affiliates and client accounts for which the Portfolio Selection Agent or its Affiliates act as investment advisor may at times own Notes. Any Notes owned by the Portfolio Selection Agent or its Affiliates are subject to disposition by such parties in their discretion. At any given time the Portfolio Selection Agent and its Affiliates will be entitled to vote with respect to any Notes held by them and by such accounts with respect to all other matters. The ownership of Notes by the Portfolio Selection Agent or its Affiliates may give the Portfolio Selection Agent an incentive to take actions that vary from the interests of other holders of the Notes.

Relation to Prior Investment Results. The prior investment results of Portfolio Selection Agent and the persons associated with the Portfolio Selection Agent or any other entity or person described herein are not indicative of the Issuer's future investment results. The nature of, and risks associated with, the Issuer's future investments may differ substantially from those investments and strategies undertaken historically by such persons and entities. There can be no assurance that the Issuer's investments will perform as well as the past investments of any such persons or entities.

Evolving Nature of the Credit Default Swap Market. Credit default swaps are relatively new instruments in the market. While ISDA has published and supplemented the ISDA Credit Derivatives Definitions in order to facilitate transactions and promote uniformity in the credit default swap market, the credit default swap market is expected to change and the ISDA Credit Derivatives Definitions and terms applied to credit derivatives are subject to interpretation and further evolution. There can be no assurance that changes to the ISDA Credit Derivatives Definitions and other terms applicable to credit derivatives generally will be predictable or favorable to the Issuer. Amendments or supplements to the ISDA Credit Derivatives Definitions that are published by ISDA will only apply to the Credit Default Swap if the Credit Default Swap is amended. Therefore, in addition to the credit risk of Reference Obligations, Reference Entities and the credit risk of the Protection Buyer, the Issuer is also subject to the risk that the ISDA Credit Derivatives Definitions could be interpreted in a manner that would be adverse to the Issuer or that the credit derivatives market generally may evolve in a manner that would be adverse to the Issuer.

Status and Security

The Co-Issued Notes will be limited recourse obligations of the Issuers and the Issuer Notes will be limited recourse obligations of the Issuer, secured as described below. Accordingly, payments of interest on and principal of the Notes will be made solely from the proceeds of the Issuer Assets, in accordance with the priorities described under "—Priority of Payments" and in certain circumstances described under "—Mandatory Redemption" subject to the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure.

Under the terms of the Indenture, the Issuer will grant to the Trustee, for the benefit of the Secured Parties, a security interest in the Issuer Assets that is of first priority (subject to the Trustee's lien described under "Description of the Notes—The Indenture—Events of Default"), free of any adverse claim or the legal equivalent thereof, as applicable, to secure the Issuers' obligations with respect to the Secured Parties.

Interest

The Notes will bear interest from the Closing Date at the annual rates set forth under "Summary—Notes", payable, in each case, monthly in arrears on each Payment Date commencing May 29, 2007 and ending on the Stated Maturity.

Interest will cease to accrue on each Note, or, in the case of a partial repayment, write-down, or Partial Optional Redemption on such part, from the date of such repayment, write-down, Partial Optional Redemption of such Series or Protection Buyer Notes or Stated Maturity unless payment of principal is improperly withheld or unless a default is otherwise made with respect to such payments of principal. See "—Principal". To the extent lawful and enforceable, interest on any Defaulted Interest on the Notes will accrue at the interest rate applicable to such Notes, until paid as provided herein.

The interest rate per annum payable on the Notes will be calculated based on the applicable Day Count Fraction, commencing on the Closing Date. In the event that the date of any Payment Date or the Stated Maturity, as the case may be, shall not be a Business Day, then payment need not be made on such date, but may be made on the next succeeding Business Day with the same force and effect as if made on the nominal date of any such Payment Date or the Stated Maturity, as the case may be, and, other than with respect to any Interest Accrual Period for a Series of Notes ending on the Stated Maturity of such Series of Notes, no interest shall accrue on such payment of interest for the period from and after any such nominal date; provided that interest shall accrue from and including the immediately preceding Payment Date or, in the case of the first Payment Date, the Closing Date to but excluding the following Payment Date or the Stated Maturity, as applicable.

For purposes of calculating the Series Interest Rates, the Issuers will appoint as calculation agent LaSalle Bank National Association (solely in such capacity, the "Note Calculation Agent"). Absent manifest error, the Note Calculation Agent will determine each Series Interest Rate using the determination of each Applicable Index made by the Basis Swap Calculation Agent under the Basis Swap. The Basis Swap Calculation Agent will determine each Applicable Index in accordance with the provisions set forth under the definitions of "LIBOR", "EURIBOR", "GBP-LIBOR", "AUD-LIBOR", "CAD-LIBOR", "JPY-LIBOR" and "NZD-BBR"; provided that such determinations will be made only with respect to any Applicable Index for which Notes denominated in the related Approved Currency are Outstanding in such Applicable Period.

The Note Calculation Agent may be removed by the Issuers at any time. If the Note Calculation Agent is unable or unwilling to act as such or is removed by the Issuers, or if the Note Calculation Agent fails to determine the Series Interest Rates and the Series Interest Amounts for any Interest Accrual Period, the Issuers will promptly appoint as a replacement Note Calculation Agent a leading bank which is engaged in transactions in deposits in the Euro-zone interbank market and the London interbank market and which does not control or is not controlled by or under common control with the Issuers or their Affiliates. The Note Calculation Agent may not resign its duties without a successor having been duly appointed. For so long as any of the Notes remain Outstanding, there will at all times be a Note Calculation Agent for the purpose of calculating the Series Interest Rates. In addition, for so long as any of the Notes are listed on any stock exchange and the rules of such exchange so require, the Issuer will notify such stock exchange of the appointment, termination or change in the office of such Note Calculation Agent.

The Note Calculation Agent will cause the Series Interest Rates, the Series Interest Amounts and Payment Date to be communicated to Euroclear, Clearstream and if any Class of Notes is listed on any stock exchange, notify such stock exchange by the Business Day immediately following each Applicable Index Determination Date. The determination of the Series Interest Rates and the Series Interest Amounts by the Note Calculation Agent shall (in the absence of manifest error) be final and binding upon all parties.

Principal

Principal will not be payable on the Notes prior to the Stated Maturity, except in connection with (i) payment of any Currency Adjusted Notional Principal Adjustment Amount, (ii) an Optional Redemption in Whole or Partial Optional Redemption and/or (iii) a Mandatory Redemption. See "—Optional Redemption in Whole and Partial Optional Redemption", "—Mandatory Redemption", "—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date" and "—Priority of Payments—Other Payment Dates".

The Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of each Class of Notes and the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of each Series of Notes will be adjusted from time to time in accordance with the methodologies described in "Summary—Decrease in the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of each Class of Notes", "Summary—Increase in the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of each Class of Notes", "Summary—Decrease in the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of each Series of Notes" and "Summary—Increase in the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of each Series of Notes".

From and after the date on which the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of any Series of Notes is reduced, no interest will accrue with respect to such reduced amount. From and after the date on which the principal amount of any Class of Notes is increased, interest will accrue with respect to such increased amount.

Optional Redemption in Whole and Partial Optional Redemption

The Notes will be redeemed in whole on any Payment Date after the latest Non-Call Period of any Series of Notes by the Issuer if (i) the Protection Buyer elects to terminate the Credit Default Swap prior to the Scheduled Termination Date (an "Optional Redemption in Whole") and (ii) the Collateral Put Agreement has not been terminated at such time; provided, however, that if one or more Credit Events have caused the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of one or more Classes of Notes to be reduced, (i) Noteholders of each Reversible Loss Series must consent in writing to such redemption or (ii) the Protection Buyer must have agreed to pay the Issuer, prior to the Optional Redemption Date, for each Reversible Loss Series, an amount equal to the Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount (and the Issuer shall pay such Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount to Holders of any such Series of Notes in accordance with the Priority of Payments on the Optional Redemption Date).

Notwithstanding the foregoing sentence, the Issuer may not sell any Collateral unless, after giving effect to such sale, there will be sufficient funds to pay the amounts described in "—Optional Redemption in Whole Procedures" below (when taking into consideration the exercise of the Issuer's rights under the Collateral Put Agreement and whether the Protection Buyer will make any End Payment to the Issuer).

Any Optional Redemption in Whole of the Notes will be made at a price of, with respect to Notes denominated in any Approved Currency, 100% of the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of such Notes (including accrued and unpaid interest) plus, under the circumstances described above with respect to each Series of Notes of each Reversible Loss Series, the Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount.

(a) The Notes of one or more Series will be redeemed in whole on any Payment Date after the applicable Non-Call Period or (b) any Protection Buyer Notes will be redeemed on any Payment Date, in each case by the Issuer if (i) the Protection Buyer elects to optionally redeem such Series or Protection Buyer Notes, as applicable, prior to the Scheduled Termination Date (a "Partial Optional Redemption"), (ii) the Collateral Put Agreement has not been terminated at such time and (iii) in the case of a Partial Optional Redemption of any of the Issuer Notes, the Issuer receives an opinion of counsel on or prior to such Partial Optional Redemption Date to the effect that the tax analysis of the Co-Issued Notes contained herein will not be affected by such Partial Optional Redemption; provided, however, that with respect to a Partial Optional Redemption pursuant to clause (a) above, if one or more Credit Events have caused the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of one or more Series of Notes to be redeemed on such Payment Date to be reduced, (i) Noteholders of each such Reversible Loss Series must consent in writing to such redemption or (ii) the Protection Buyer must have agreed to pay the Issuer, prior to the Partial Optional Redemption Date, with respect to each such Reversible Loss Series, an amount equal to the Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount (and the Issuer shall pay such Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount to Holders of such Notes in accordance with the Priority of Payments on the Partial Optional Redemption Date). Notwithstanding the foregoing sentence, the Issuer may not sell any Collateral unless, after giving effect to such sale, there will be sufficient funds to pay the amounts described in "—Partial Optional Redemption Procedures" below (when taking into consideration the exercise of the Issuer's rights under the Collateral Put Agreement and whether the Protection Buyer will make any Partial Optional Redemption End Payment to the Issuer).

Any Partial Optional Redemption of the Notes will be made at a price of 100% of the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of such Notes (including accrued and unpaid interest) plus, under the circumstances described above with respect to each Reversible Loss Series being redeemed, the Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount.

Optional Redemption in Whole Procedures. In connection with an Optional Redemption in Whole, if the Protection Buyer wishes to terminate the Credit Default Swap after the Non-Call Period of each Series of Notes Outstanding has expired, and therefore requires the Issuer to optionally redeem the Notes in whole, the Protection Buyer shall notify the Issuer, the Portfolio Selection Agent, the Trustee and the Issuing and Paying Agent in writing no less than 15 Business Days prior to the proposed redemption date (which date must be a Payment Date). If one or more Reversible Loss Series exist at such time, the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, shall deliver a notice to each Noteholder of each such Reversible Loss Series, (i) notifying each such Noteholder (1) that the Protection Buyer has sought to terminate the Credit Default Swap prior to the Scheduled Termination Date, (2) of the proposed Optional Redemption Date and (3) that the consent of each such Noteholder is required under the Indenture or else Holders of each such Reversible Loss Series must receive the Optional Redemption

Reimbursement Amount allocable to each Series of such Class, (ii) providing any other information that the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, may deem appropriate in its sole discretion and (iii) soliciting the consent of each such Noteholder. If the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, does not receive the consent of each such Noteholder within ten Business Days of the transmittal of such notice, the consent of each such Noteholder will be deemed not to have been obtained and an Optional Redemption in Whole may occur only if the Protection Buyer agrees to pay to the Issuer, for each Reversible Loss Series, the Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount prior to the Optional Redemption Date.

The Trustee and the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, will then provide notice of Optional Redemption in Whole by first-class mail, postage prepaid, mailed not less than 10 Business Days prior to the scheduled redemption date, to each Noteholder at such Holder's address in the Note Register or the Issuer Note Register, as applicable, and for so long as any Class of Notes is listed on a stock exchange and the rules of such stock exchange shall so require, provide notice of an Optional Redemption in Whole to the Listing, Paying and Transfer Agent for such stock exchange.

The Notes shall not be optionally redeemed in whole unless the Trustee has determined (based on the advice of the Collateral Disposal Agent with respect to Collateral Securities) that the proceeds expected to be received upon the liquidation of the Collateral, together with any other amounts available to be used for such optional redemption (including any End Payment, Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount and/or termination payments to be received by the Issuer under the Credit Default Swap and the Basis Swap), are equal to an amount sufficient to pay the amounts specified under subclauses (i) through (vii) in "—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date". See "—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date". In determining whether sufficient proceeds will be available to redeem the Notes in whole under the preceding sentence, the Issuer's right under the Collateral Put Agreement to require the Collateral Put Provider to purchase Collateral (other than Put Excluded Collateral) at 100% of par of such Collateral and the Issuer's ability to enter into a currency exchange (if necessary) shall be taken into consideration.

Partial Optional Redemption Procedures. In connection with a Partial Optional Redemption, if the Protection Buyer elects to have the Issuer redeem one or more Series of Notes after the applicable Non-Call Period(s) (or, with respect to any Protection Buyer Notes, on any Payment Date), the Protection Buyer shall notify the Issuer, the Portfolio Selection Agent, the Trustee and the Issuing and Paying Agent in writing no less than 15 Business Days prior to the proposed redemption date (which date must be a Payment Date). If one or more Reversible Loss Series exist and will be redeemed at such time, the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, shall deliver a notice to each Noteholder of each such Reversible Loss Series, (i) notifying each such Noteholder (1) that the Protection Buyer has sought to redeem such Series of Notes prior to the Stated Maturity, (2) of the proposed Partial Optional Redemption Date and (3) that the consent of each such Noteholder is required under the Indenture or else Holders of such Reversible Loss Series must receive the Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount allocable to such Series, (ii) providing any other information that the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, may deem appropriate in its sole discretion and (iii) soliciting the consent of each such Noteholder. If the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, does not receive the consent of each such Noteholder within 10 Business Days of the transmittal of such notice, the consent of each such Noteholder will be deemed not to have been obtained and a Partial Optional Redemption of such Series may occur only if the Protection Buyer agrees to pay to the Issuer, for each such Reversible Loss Series, the Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount prior to the Partial Optional Redemption Date.

Neither the Notes of any Series nor any Protection Buyer Notes shall be optionally redeemed in connection with a Partial Optional Redemption unless the Trustee has determined (based on the advice of the Collateral Disposal Agent with respect to Collateral Securities) that the proceeds expected to be received upon the liquidation of the Eligible Investments and Selected Collateral Securities, together with any other amounts available to be used for such optional redemption (including any Partial Optional Redemption End Payment and/or Optional Redemption Reimbursement Amount), are equal to an amount sufficient to pay the principal amount of such Series of Notes and any Series senior to such Series under subclause (iii) in "—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Other Payment Dates". See "—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Other Payment Dates". In determining whether sufficient proceeds will be available to redeem the Notes in part under the preceding sentence, the Issuer's right under the Collateral Put Agreement to require the Collateral Put Provider to purchase Collateral (other than Put Excluded Collateral) at 100% of the principal amount of such Collateral Security and the Issuer's ability to enter into a currency exchange (if necessary) shall be taken into consideration.

The Trustee and the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, will then provide notice of a Partial Optional Redemption by first-class mail, postage prepaid, mailed not less than 10 Business Days prior to the scheduled redemption date, to each Holder of a Note to be redeemed at such Holder's address in the Note Register or the Issuer Note Register, as applicable, and for so long as any Class of Notes is listed on any stock exchange and the rules of such stock exchange shall so require, provide notice of a Partial Optional Redemption to the Listing, Paying and Transfer Agent for such stock exchange.

Mandatory Redemption

The occurrence of (i) either a termination event or an event of default (as such term is defined in the Credit Default Swap, Basis Swap and/or Collateral Put Agreement, as applicable) for which the Protection Buyer, Basis Swap Counterparty or Collateral Put Provider is the sole defaulting party or Affected Party (as such term is defined in the Credit Default Swap, Basis Swap and/or Collateral Put Agreement, as applicable) under the Credit Default Swap, Basis Swap and/or Collateral Put Agreement, as applicable, (ii) any termination event (other than a termination event triggered by an Event of Default or an event described in subclause (i) or, after the Non-Call Period for each Series of Notes Outstanding has expired, the Protection Buyer's election to terminate the Credit Default Swap prior to its scheduled termination date) or (iii) any event of default (other than an event described in subclause (i)), in each case under the Credit Default Swap, the Basis Swap or the Collateral Put Agreement where (x) in the case of subclause (i) the Replacement Counterparty Procedures are not satisfied within 30 days of the termination of the swaps or (y) in the case of subclause (ii) or (iii) the party entitled to terminate such agreement has exercised such right shall constitute a "Mandatory Redemption".

Upon the occurrence of a Mandatory Redemption other than a Mandatory Redemption caused by a (i) termination of the Credit Default Swap pursuant to which the Protection Buyer is the defaulting party, (ii) termination of the Collateral Put Agreement pursuant to which the Collateral Put Provider is the defaulting party or (iii) termination of the Basis Swap pursuant to which the Basis Swap Counterparty is the defaulting party, the Trustee will liquidate all Eligible Investments and the Issuer or the Trustee will notify the Collateral Disposal Agent to liquidate all Collateral Securities and apply such proceeds as described under "—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Steted Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date".

In the case of a Mandatory Redemption caused by a (i) termination of the Credit Default Swap pursuant to which the Protection Buyer is the defaulting party, (ii) termination of the Collateral Put Agreement pursuant to which the Collateral Put Provider is the defaulting party or (iii) termination of the Basis Swap pursuant to which the Basis Swap Counterparty is the defaulting party, the Trustee will request that the Collateral Disposal Agent solicit bids for all of the Collateral Securities and take the actions described below.

If the Trustee determines that the expected liquidation proceeds of the Collateral Securities (as advised by the Collateral Disposal Agent) and the Eligible Investments will be an amount equal to or greater than the aggregate of (i) the amounts required to be paid under subclauses (i) through (iii) of "—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date" and (ii) with respect to the Class SS Notes, the Class A Notes, the Class B Notes and the Class C Notes, the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of each Series of such Classes of Notes plus any accrued interest thereon, the Trustee will liquidate the Eligible Investments and will notify the Collateral Disposal Agent to liquidate all Collateral Securities and, thereafter, apply such liquidation proceeds in accordance with the Priority of Payments.

If the Trustee determines that the expected liquidation proceeds of the Collateral Securities (as advised by the Collateral Disposal Agent) and the Eligible Investments cannot be sold in an amount equal to or greater than the aggregate of (i) the amounts required to be paid under subclauses (i) through (iii) of "—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date" and (ii) with respect to the Class SS Notes, the Class A Notes, the Class B Notes and the Class C Notes, the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of each Series of such Classes of Notes plus any accrued interest thereon, the Trustee will notify (such notice, the "Special Termination Notice") Holders of the Class SS Notes, the Class A Notes, the Class B Notes and Class C Notes (a) of such occurrence, (b) that such Noteholders have the following options: (1) with the consent of 100% of such Noteholders, the Issuer will direct the Collateral Disposal Agent to liquidate all Collateral Securities distributable to such Classes of Notes pursuant to the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure and (2) if such consent is not obtained, each such Noteholder will have the option of either requesting the Issuer to (A) deliver to it the Collateral Securities distributable to such Noteholder pursuant to the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure or (B) direct the Collateral Disposal Agent to liquidate the Collateral Securities distributable to such Noteholder pursuant to the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure and (c) of the identity of any Collateral Securities distributable to such Noteholders pursuant to the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure.

Each Holder of the Class SS Notes, the Class A Notes, the Class B Notes and the Class C Notes may, within ten Business Days of receipt of a Special Termination Notice, notify (such notice, a "Special Termination Request Notice") the Trustee the option(s) that it chooses to exercise under the Special Termination Notice and the delivery instructions for such Noteholder with respect to any Collateral Securities to be delivered to such Noteholder pursuant to the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure. If a Noteholder fails to so notify the Trustee within 10 Business Days of receipt of such Special Termination Notice, such Noteholder will be deemed to have selected option (1) of the Special Termination Notice.

Following the period in which the Trustee may receive timely Special Termination Request Notices, the Trustee and the Collateral Disposal Agent, at the direction of the Issuer, will follow the procedures described below (such procedure, the "Special Termination Liquidation Procedure"):

(i) the Trustee will liquidate all Eligible Investments;

(ii) to the extent the liquidation proceeds of Eligible Investments are insufficient to make the payment described in this subclause (ii), the Collateral Disposal Agent will liquidate the highest-priced Collateral Security in the smallest principal amount that, when added to the proceeds obtained pursuant to subclause (i), will be sufficient to provide the Issuer with funds to pay amounts owed pursuant to subclause (ii) of "—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date", subject to the Administrative Expense Cap on the Mandatory Redemption Date (and the Issuer shall make such payment); provided, that if more than one Collateral Security has received the highest bid price, the Collateral Disposal Agent will liquidate any of such Collateral Securities that it determines in a commercially reasonable manner would maximize the liquidation proceeds received on all Collateral Securities;

(iii) (A) if less than 100% of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Class SS Notes, the Class A Notes, the Class B Notes and the Class C Notes voting as a single class provide the Trustee with an effective Special Termination Request Notice exercising option (1) under the related Special Termination Notice, the Trustee will cause the remaining

Payments

Payments in respect of principal and interest on a Note will be made to the person in whose name the relevant Note is registered on the applicable record data. Payments on the Notes will be payable by wire transfer in immediately available funds to an account maintained by DTC or its nominee (in the case of the Global Notes) or each Noteholder (in the case of individual definitive Notes) to the extent practicable or otherwise by check drawn on a bank sent by mail either to DTC or its nominee (in the case of the Global Notes), or to each Holder of a Note at the Noteholder's address appearing in the applicable register (in the case of individual definitive Notes).

Final payments in respect of principal of the Notes will be made only against surrender of the Notes, at the office of any paying agent. None of the Issuers, the Trustee or any paying agent will have any responsibility or liability for any aspects of the records maintained by DTC or its nominee or any of its participants relating to, or for payments made thereby on account of beneficial interests in, a Global Note.

The Issuers expect that DTC or its nominee, upon receipt of any payment of principal or interest in respect of a Global Note held by DTC or its nominee, will immediately credit participants' accounts with payments in amounts proportionate to their respective beneficial interests in such Global Note as shown on the records of DTC or its nominee. The Issuers also expect that payments by participants to owners of beneficial interests in such Global Notes held through such participants will be governed by standing instructions and customary practices, as is now the case with securities held for the accounts of customers registered in the names of nominees for such customers. Such payments will be the responsibility of such participants.

For so long as the Notes are listed on any stock exchange and the rules of such exchange so require, the Issuers will have a listing agent, a paying agent and a transfer agent (which shall be the "Listing, Paying and Transfer Agent") for the Notes and will give prompt written notice to each Holder of the appointment, termination or change in the location of any such office or agency.

Priority of Payments

The Issuer will only make payments, subject to the final paragraph under "Summary—Decrease in the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of each Class of Notes", in accordance with priorities described below under "—Interest Proceeds", "—Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date" and "—Principal Proceeds—Other Payment Dates" (collectively, the "Priority of Payments").

Interest Proceeds.

On each Payment Date, the Optional Redemption Date, the Mandatory Redemption Date and/or the Stated Maturity, Interest Proceeds will be applied in the following order of priority:

(i) to the payment of Administrative Expenses, which, with respect to the sum of those amounts listed in subclauses (iii), (v) and (vi) of the definition of "Administrative Expenses", will be subject to the Administrative Expense Cap;

(ii) to the payment to the Portfolio Selection Agent of any accrued but unpaid Portfolio Selection Fees in accordance with the terms of the Portfolio Selection Agreement;

(iii) (a) to the payment of the Basis Swap Payment and (b) thereafter, to the payment of the Collateral Put Provider Fee Amount;

(iv) to the payment of the Class Interest Distribution Amounts of each Class of Notes in sequential order of priority by Class; provided that, to the extent there are insufficient proceeds to pay all amounts payable under this clause (iv) with respect to a Class with more than one Series Outstanding at such time of determination, any pro rata allocations of such payments with respect to any Series of Notes of such Class will be based on the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of each such Series; provided, further, that with respect to each Class of the Issuer Notes, such payment will be made to the Issuing and Paying Agent, for distribution to the Holders of such Class of Notes;

(v) to the payment of any Administrative Expenses not covered in subclause (i) above; and

(vi) the balance of Interest Proceeds (if any) will be distributed to the Protection Buyer.

In addition, if the Issuer purchases a Supplemental Collateral Security at the direction of the Protection Buyer, the Issuer may use Interest Proceeds on any Business Day to pay for the portion of the purchase price of a Supplemental Collateral Security constituting accrued and unpaid interest thereon (such amount, the "Purchased Accrued Interest Amount").

To the extent there is a sufficient amount of Interest Proceeds in each Approved Currency, the Trustee shall use Interest Proceeds in each such Approved Currency to make payments described in this section; provided that no payment is made toward any item until all higher ranking items have been paid in full.

If on any Determination Date (or, in connection with a Mandatory Redemption Date, the third Business Day immediately prior to such Mandatory Redemption Date) the Issuer determines that there would be an insufficient amount of Interest Proceeds in any Approved Currency on the related Payment Date or the Mandatory Redemption Date, as the case may be, to make the payments described in clauses (i) through (v) above, then the Issuer shall provide for the relevant items by exchanging any excess Interest Proceeds (as determined by the Protection Buyer after giving effect to the application of Interest Proceeds to make all payments of a higher priority) in any Approved Currency for proceeds in such other Approved Currency for which such shortfall existed at the relevant Spot FX Rate determined on such Determination Date (or, in connection with a Mandatory Redemption Date, the third Business Day immediately prior to such Mandatory Redemption Date); provided that to the extent there would be insufficient Interest Proceeds after giving effect to any such exchange to make all payments required under clause (iv) above with respect to any Class in which Notes are denominated in more than one Approved Currency, such distributions shall be made pro rata to Holders of such Class based on the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of each Series of such Class (or, in connection with a Mandatory Redemption Date, pro rata to Holders of such Class based on the Dollar equivalent principal amount of such Notes as determined using the Spot FX Rate as of the third Business Day immediately prior to such Mandatory Redemption Date).

Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date.

On the Stated Maturity of any Series of Notes, the Optional Redemption Date or the Mandatory Redemption Date, as the case may be, Principal Proceeds (together with, in the case of the Optional Redemption Date, any End Payment) will be applied, subject to the provisions described under "—Mandatory Redemption", in the following order of priority:

(i) (a) to the payment of amounts referred to in subclause (i) and (ii) of "—Interest Proceeds" above, but only to the extent not paid in full thereunder and then (b) in connection with an Optional Redemption in Whole, to the payment to the Portfolio Selection Agent of any Makewhole Amount pursuant to the Portfolio Selection Agreement;

(ii) to the payment of all amounts due to the Basis Swap Counterparty pursuant to the terms of the Basis Swap, other than a Basis Swap Counterparty Default Termination Payment (including, for the avoidance of doubt, any Basis Swap Payment not paid in full under subclause (iii)(a) of "—Interest Proceeds" above);

(iii) (a) to the payment of all amounts due to the Collateral Put Provider pursuant to the terms of the Collateral Put Agreement, and (b) thereafter, in the case of the Stated Maturity of any Series of Notes, the Optional Redemption Date or the Mandatory Redemption Date (other than in connection with a Collateral Default), to the payment of all amounts due to the Protection Buyer pursuant to the terms of the Credit Default Swap, other than a Protection Buyer Default Termination Payment;

(iv) (a) to the payment of amounts referred to in subclause (iv) of "—Interest Proceeds" above, but only to the extent not paid in full thereunder and then

(b) (1) in the case of the Stated Maturity of any Series of Notes, (A) to the payment of the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of each Series of Notes maturing on such date, at par, in each case, pursuant to the Note Payment Sequence (but only with respect to Classes in which any Series of Notes matures on such date) (provided that in each case determination of any pro rata allocations of such payments within any Class issued in more than one Series maturing on such date will be based on the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of such Notes) and (B) if a Redemption Writedown Refund is received by the Issuer in connection with such Stated Maturity to the payment, from any available Redemption Writedown Refund only, of an amount equal to the ICE Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount Differential of each Series for which a Redemption Writedown Refund has been calculated, in each case pursuant to the Note Payment Sequence (but only with respect to Classes in which a Series of Notes with an ICE Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount Differential greater than zero matures on such date), (provided that in each case determination of any pro rata allocations of such

Each Class of Notes sold in reliance on Rule 144A under the Securities Act will be represented by one or more Rule 144A Global Notes deposited with the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, as custodian for DTC and registered in the name of Cede & Co., as nominee of DTC.

Any interest in one of the Regulation S Global Notes and the Rule 144A Global Notes that is transferred to a person who takes delivery in the form of an interest in the other Global Note will, upon transfer, cease to be an interest in such Global Note and become an interest in the other Global Note and, accordingly, will thereafter be subject to all transfer restrictions and other procedures applicable to beneficial interests in such other Global Note for as long as it remains such interest.

Except in the limited circumstances described herein, owners of beneficial interests in either the Regulation S Global Notes or the Rule 144A Global Notes will not be entitled to receive physical delivery of certificated Notes. The Notes are not issuable in bearer form.

The Indenture

The following summary describes certain provisions of the Indenture. The summary does not purport to be complete and is subject to, and qualified in its entirety by reference to, the provisions of the Indenture.

Events of Default. An "Event of Default" is defined in the Indenture as:

(i) a default in the payment of principal on any Note at its Stated Maturity or the Optional Redemption Date;

(ii) the failure on any Payment Date to disburse amounts available in the Payment Account in accordance with the Priority of Payments and continuation of such failure for a period of five Business Days;

(iii) a circumstance in which either of the Issuers or the Issuer Assets becomes an investment company required to be registered under the Investment Company Act;

(iv) a default in the performance, in a material respect, or breach, in a material respect, of any covenant, representation, warranty or other agreement of the Issuers in the Indenture (other than a covenant or agreement which is specifically addressed elsewhere therein) or in any certificate or other writing delivered pursuant thereto or in connection therewith or if any representation or warranty of the Issuers in the Indenture, the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement or in any certificate or writing delivered pursuant thereto proves to be incorrect in any material respect when made, and the continuance of such default or breach for a period of 30 days after written notice thereof shall have been given to the Issuers and the Portfolio Selection Agent by the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, or to the Issuers, the Portfolio Selection Agent, the Trustee and the Issuing and Paying Agent by the Holders of at least 25% of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes, specifying such default, breach or failure and requiring it to be remedied and stating that such notice is a "Notice of Default" under the Indenture or the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement, as applicable;

(v) the entry of a decree or order by a court having competent jurisdiction adjudging either of the Issuers as bankrupt or insolvent or granting an order for relief or approving as properly filed a petition seeking reorganization, arrangement, adjustment or composition of or in respect of either of the Issuers under the Bankruptcy Code, the bankruptcy or insolvency laws of the Cayman Islands or any other applicable law, or appointing a receiver, liquidator, assignee, or sequestrator (or other similar official) of either of the Issuers or of any substantial part of its property, or ordering the winding up or liquidation of its affairs; or an involuntary case or proceeding shall be commenced against either of the Issuers seeking any of the foregoing and such case or proceeding shall continue in effect for a period of 60 consecutive days; or

(vi) the institution by either of the Issuers of proceedings to be adjudicated as bankrupt or insolvent, or the consent by it to the institution of bankruptcy or insolvency proceedings against it, or the filing by either of the Issuers of a petition or answer or consent seeking reorganization or relief under the Bankruptcy Code, the bankruptcy and insolvency laws of the Cayman Islands or any other applicable law, or the consent by it to the filing of any such petition or to the appointment of a receiver, liquidator, assignee, trustee or sequestrator (or other similar official) of either of the Issuers or of any substantial part of its property, or the making by it of an assignment for the benefit of creditors, or the admission by it in writing of its inability to pay its debts generally as they become due, or the taking of any action by either of the Issuers in furtherance of any such action.

If an Event of Default shall have occurred and be continuing, the Trustee by notice to the Issuers at the direction of a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class, may, subject to the Indenture, declare the principal of and accrued and unpaid interest on all the Notes to be immediately due and payable (except that, in the case of an Event of Default described in subclause (v) or (vi) above, such an acceleration will occur automatically and shall not require any action by the Trustee or any Noteholder).

At any time after such a declaration of acceleration of maturity has been made and before a judgment or decree for payment of the money due has been obtained by the Trustee as provided in accordance with the terms of the Indenture, a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class, by written notice to the Issuers and the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, may rescind and annul such declaration and its consequences if:

(i) the Issuer or the Co-Issuer has paid or deposited with the Trustee a sum sufficient to pay, and shall pay:

(A) all overdue installments of interest on and principal of the Notes (other than amounts due solely as a result of such acceleration);

(B) to the extent that payment of such interest is lawful, interest upon any Defaulted Interest at the applicable Series Interest Rate;

(C) all unpaid taxes and Administrative Expenses and other sums paid or advanced by the Trustee hereunder and the reasonable compensation, expenses, disbursements and advances of the Trustee and its agents and counsel; and

(D) all unpaid Portfolio Selection Fees;

(ii) the Trustee has determined that all Events of Default, other than the non-payment of the interest on or principal of Notes that have become due solely by such acceleration, have been cured and a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class by written notice to the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, has agreed with such determination or waived such Event of Default as provided in the Indenture; and

(iii) each of the Credit Default Swap, the Basis Swap, the Collateral Put Agreement and the Collateral Disposal Agreement has not been terminated or any such termination has been rescinded.

If an Event of Default should occur and be continuing, the Trustee will make payments to the Holders of the Notes only in the manner described in "Description of the Notes—Priority of Payments", except that if acceleration has occurred in accordance with the terms of the Indenture, or if a Payment Default has occurred and has not been cured or waived, no interest shall be payable on any Class of Notes until the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of each Series of all Classes of Notes that are senior to such Class, if any, have been repaid in full.

If an Event of Default should occur and be continuing, the Trustee will retain the Issuer Assets securing the Notes intact and continue making payments in the manner described above under "—Priority of Payments" unless:

(i) the Trustee determines that the anticipated proceeds of a sale or liquidation of the Collateral (after deducting the reasonable expenses of such sale or liquidation) would be sufficient to discharge in full the aggregate of the amounts referred to in subclause (i) through (vii) of "Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date" and a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class agrees with such determination; or

(ii) the Holders of at least 66-2/3% of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of each Class of Notes (voting separately by Class), subject to the provisions of the Indenture, direct the sale and liquidation of the Collateral.

As soon as practicable following the occurrence of either condition specified in subclause (i) or (ii) above, the Trustee will liquidate all Eligible Investments and the Issuer or the Trustee shall notify the Collateral Disposal Agent to liquidate all Collateral Securities.

A Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class will have the right to direct the Trustee in conducting any proceedings or in the sale of any or all of the Collateral, but only if (i) such direction will not conflict with any rule of law or the Indenture and (ii) the Trustee determines that such action will not involve it in liability (unless the Trustee has, in its opinion, received satisfactory indemnity against any such liability).

Pursuant to the Indenture, as security for the payment by the Issuer of the compensation and expenses of the Trustee and any sums the Trustee may be entitled to receive as indemnification by the Issuer, the Issuer has granted the Trustee a senior lien on the Issuer Assets, which is senior to the lien of the Holders of the Notes on the Issuer Assets. The Trustee's lien is exercisable by the Trustee only if the Notes have become due and payable following an Event of Default.

Subject to the provisions of the Indenture relating to the duties of the Trustee, in the event that an Event of Default with respect to the Notes occurs and is continuing, the Trustee is under no obligation to exercise any of the rights or powers under the Indenture at the request of any Holders of Notes, unless such Holders have offered to the Trustee reasonable security or indemnity in the opinion of the Trustee.

A Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class may, in certain cases, waive any default with respect to such Notes, except (a) a default specified in subclause (i), (ii), (v) or (vi) of the definition of "Events of Default" or (b) a default in respect of a covenant or provision of the Indenture that cannot be modified or amended without the waiver or consent of the Holder of each Outstanding Note adversely affected thereby.

No Holder of a Note will have the right to institute any proceeding with respect to the Indenture unless (i) such Holder previously has given to the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, written notice of a continuing Event of Default; (ii) except in the case of a default in the payment of principal, the Holders of at least 25% of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes have made a written request upon the Trustee to institute such proceedings in its own name as Trustee and such Holders have offered the Trustee reasonable indemnity; (iii) the Trustee has for 30 days failed to institute any such proceeding; and (iv) no direction inconsistent with such written request has been given to the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, during such 30-day period by a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class.

See "Glossary of Defined Terms—Outstanding" for determining whether the Holders of the requisite percentage of Notes have given any direction, notice or consent.

Notices. Notices to the Holders of the Notes shall be given by first class mail, postage prepaid, to each Holder at the address appearing in the Note Register or the Issuer Note Register, as applicable. In addition, for so long as any Series of Notes is listed on any stock exchange and the rules of such stock exchange so require, notice given to the Holders of any such Series of Notes shall also be given to the stock exchange in accordance with its procedures.

Modification of Indenture. The Issuers and the Trustee may also enter into one or more supplemental indentures, without obtaining the consent of Holders of the Notes, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent or the Portfolio Selection Agent (x) so long as the S&P Rating Condition and the Moody's Rating Condition have been satisfied and if such supplemental indenture would have no material adverse effect on any of the Holders of the Notes, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent (as evidenced by an opinion of counsel or an officer's certificate of the Issuer) or the Portfolio Selection Agent or (y) for any of the following purposes:

(i) to evidence the succession of any person to either the Issuer or Co-Issuer and the assumption by any such successor of the covenants of the Issuer or Co-Issuer in the Notes and the Indenture;

(ii) to add to the covenants of the Issuers or the Trustee for the benefit of the Holders of the Notes or to surrender any right or power conferred upon the Issuers;

(iii) to convey, transfer, assign, mortgage or pledge any property to or with the Trustee, or add to the conditions, limitations or restrictions on the authorized amount, terms and purposes of the issue, authentication and delivery of the Notes;

(iv) to evidence and provide for the acceptance of appointment by a successor trustee and to add to or change any of the provisions of the Indenture as shall be necessary to facilitate the administration of the trusts under the Indenture by more than one Trustee;

(x) amend any limited recourse provision of the Indenture or any limited recourse provision of any other agreement entered into by the Issuer with respect to the transactions contemplated hereby (which limited recourse provision provides that the obligations of the Issuer are limited recourse obligations of the Issuer payable solely from the Issuer Assets in accordance with the terms of the Indenture).

The Trustee shall, consistent with the written advice of counsel, in its discretion determine whether or not the Holders of the Notes, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent or the Portfolio Selection Agent would be adversely or materially adversely affected by any supplemental indenture (after giving notice of such change to the Holders of Notes, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent and the Portfolio Selection Agent), and such determination shall be conclusive on all present and future Holders.

Unless the Portfolio Selection Agent has been given prior written notice of such amendment and has consented thereto in writing, no supplemental indenture may (a) affect the obligations or rights of the Portfolio Selection Agent including, without limitation, expanding or restricting the Portfolio Selection Agent's rights or obligations or (b) affect the amount, timing or priority of any fees payable to the Portfolio Selection Agent under the Portfolio Selection Agreement and the Indenture.

Under the Indenture, the Trustee will, for so long as the Notes are Outstanding and rated by the Rating Agencies, deliver a copy of any proposed supplemental indenture to the Rating Agencies not later than (i) 10 Business Days prior to the execution of such proposed supplemental indenture if such proposed supplemental indenture requires the S&P Rating Condition and the Moody's Rating Condition to be satisfied or (ii) at any time prior to the execution of such proposed supplemental indenture if such proposed supplemental indenture does not require the S&P Rating Condition or the Moody's Rating Condition to be satisfied, and no such supplemental indenture shall be entered into unless the S&P Rating Condition and the Moody's Rating Condition have been satisfied (other than a supplemental indenture entered into in accordance with clause (y) of the first paragraph of this section).

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary herein, any such supplemental indenture shall not alter the characterization of the Co-Issued Notes as debt for United States federal income tax purposes.

Additional Issuance. With respect to the Co-Issued Notes, a Series of any such Class may be issued from time to time following the Closing Date. Such additional issuance of such Series must satisfy the following conditions:

(a) the proceeds from any such additional issuance shall be used by the Issuer to purchase Collateral Securities at the direction of the Protection Buyer in a principal amount not less than the principal amount of such additional issuance or, pending such investment, deposited in the Principal Collection Account and invested in Eligible Investments; provided that the Collateral Securities and Eligible Investments purchased with the proceeds of such additional issuance will be denominated in the same Approved Currency in which such additional Series is denominated;

(b) the sum of the proceeds received from the issuance of such Series plus any Additional Issuance Upfront Payment received by the Issuer from the Protection Buyer in connection with such additional issuance must equal the principal amount of such Notes;

(c) the terms (other than the date of issuance, the Series Interest Rate, the Approved Currency in which such Notes are denominated, the Stated Maturity, the Non-Call Period, and the date from which interest will accrue) of any Series of Notes will be identical to the terms of any previously issued Notes of the relevant Class of such Series, if any;

(d) the Protection Buyer must notify the Rating Agencies of such additional issuance prior to such additional issuance;

(e) the S&P Rating Condition and the Moody's Rating Condition must be satisfied; and

(f) if the additional issuance will cause the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of any Class of Co-Issued Notes to exceed the Initial Class Notional Amount set forth in "Summary—Notes", the Issuer will receive written advice of counsel that, following such additional issuance, the Co-Issued Notes issued pursuant to such additional issuance will be treated as debt for U.S. federal income tax purposes and any Co-Issued Notes outstanding prior to such additional issuance would have received an opinion that such Co-Issued Notes will be treated as debt for U.S. federal income tax purposes after such additional issuance.

In connection with any such additional issuance, the Issuer shall, to the extent required by the rules thereof, provide any applicable stock exchange with a listing circular or an offering circular supplement, relating to such Notes.

Each Series of a given Class shall be pari passu with respect to Credit Event Adjustment Amounts, Notional Principal Adjustment Amounts and Reinstatement Adjustment Amounts as described herein.

For the avoidance of doubt, following a Partial Optional Redemption of any Series of Co-Issued Notes or Protection Buyer Notes that are Co-Issued Notes, additional Series of such Class may be issued in accordance with the requirements set forth in this section.

Jurisdictions of Incorporation. Under the Indenture, the Issuer and the Co-Issuer will be required to maintain their rights and franchises as a company and a corporation incorporated under the laws of the Cayman Islands and the State of Delaware, respectively, to comply with the provisions of their respective organizational documents and to obtain and preserve their qualification to do business as foreign corporations in each jurisdiction in which such qualifications are or shall be necessary to protect the validation and enforceability of the Indenture, the Notes or any of the Issuer Assets; provided, however, that the Issuer shall be entitled to change its jurisdiction of incorporation from the Cayman Islands to any other jurisdiction reasonably selected by the Issuer and approved by the common shareholder of the Issuer so long as (a) such change is not disadvantageous in any material respect to the Issuer, the Holders of any Class of Notes, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent and the Portfolio Selection Agent, (b) written notice of such change shall have been given by the Issuer to the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, the Holders of any Class of Notes, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Portfolio Selection Agent and each of the Reting Agencies at least 30 Business Days prior to such change of jurisdiction, (c) the S&P Rating Condition shall have been satisfied and (d) on or prior to the 15th Business Day following such notice the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, shall not have received written notice from a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider or the Collateral Disposal Agent objecting to such change.

Petitions for Bankruptcy. The Indenture will provide that neither (i) the Trustee, in its own capacity, or on behalf of any Noteholder nor (ii) the Noteholders may, prior to the date which is one year and one day (or, if longer, the applicable preference period) after the payment in full of all Notes institute against, or join any other person in instituting against, the Issuer or Co-Issuer any bankruptcy, reorganization, arrangement, moratorium or liquidation proceedings, or other proceedings under federal or state bankruptcy or similar laws, including under Cayman Islands law.

Satisfaction and Discharge of the Indenture. The Indenture will be discharged with respect to the Issuer Assets securing the Notes upon delivery to the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, for cancellation of all of the Notes, or, within certain limitations (including the obligation to pay principal and interest), upon deposit with the Trustee of funds sufficient for the payment or redemption thereof and the payment by the Issuers of all other amounts due under the Indenture.

Trustee. LaSalle Bank National Association will be the Trustee under the Indenture for the Notes. The Issuers and their Affiliates may maintain other banking relationships in the ordinary course of business with the Trustee. The payment of the fees and expenses of the Trustee relating to the Notes is solely the obligation of the Issuers. The Trustee and/or its Affiliates may receive compensation in connection with the Trustee's investment of trust assets in certain Eligible Investments as provided in the Indenture and in connection with the Trustee's administration of any securities lending activities of the Issuer.

The Indenture contains provisions for the indemnification of the Trustee for any loss, liability or expense incurred without negligence, willful misconduct or bad faith on its part, arising out of or in connection with the acceptance or administration of the Indenture.

Reports Prepared Pursuant to the Indenture. Upon the written request in the form of Exhibit A hereto, any Noteholder may request that the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, provide to such Noteholder the monthly reports and certain other reports prepared by or on behalf of the Issuer in accordance with the Indenture.

Governing Law. The Indenture and the Co-Issued Notes will be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the State of New York applicable to agreements made and to be performed therein.

The Notes will be in book-entry form. Persons acquiring beneficial ownership interests in the Notes will hold their interests through DTC if such Persons are direct participants in DTC, or indirectly through organizations that are participants in DTC. Therefore, a Person who holds a beneficial ownership interest in the Notes will only be permitted to exercise their rights through DTC and participants of DTC. DTC or its nominee shall be the registered holder of the Notes and DTC will only take action with respect to such rights at the instruction or the direction of the participants. Similarly, if the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, has to provide any notice to Noteholders or to solicit the consent of any Noteholder, the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, will only act through DTC (which in turn will notify its relevant participants, which in turn will notify Persons holding beneficial ownership interests in the Notes).

From time to time following the Closing Date, any Noteholder may submit to the Trustee, or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, in writing, a Noteholder Communication Notice requesting the contents of such communication be sent to all other Noteholders. Within three Business Days of receiving such Noteholder Communication Notice, the Trustee or Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, will deliver to all Noteholders a Trustee Noteholder Communication Notice.

The Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement

Pursuant to the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement, LaSalle Bank National Association will be appointed as the Issuing and Paying Agent. The Issuer may at any time and from time to time terminate the appointment of the Issuing and Paying Agent and appoint one or more additional Issuing and Paying Agents. The Issuer will give prompt notice to the Trustee of the appointment or termination of the Issuing and Paying Agent and of the location and any change in the location of the Issuing and Paying Agent's office or agency. The Issuing and Paying Agent will provide notice to the Holders of the Issuer Notes of any such change of which it receives notice.

Pursuant to the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement, LaSalle Bank National Association will be appointed as the Issuer Note Registrar. The Issuer Note Registrar will keep the note register and provide for the registration and transfer of the Issuer Notes. The Issuer may at any time and from time to time terminate the appointment of the Issuer Note Registrar and appoint one or more additional Issuer Note Registrars. The Issuer will give prompt notice to the Issuing and Paying Agent of the appointment or termination of the Issuer Note Registrar and of the location and any change in the location of the Issuer Note Registrar's office. The Issuer Note Registrar will provide notice to the Holders of the Issuer Notes of any such change of which it receives notice.

The Issuing and Paying Agent will make distributions on the Issuer Notes and perform various fiscal services on behalf of the Issuer. On or prior to the Closing Date, the Issuing and Paying Agent will establish a segregated bank account designated as the "Issuer Notes Distribution Account". The Issuing and Paying Agent will deposit any funds received from the Trustee pursuant to the Indenture (including, without limitation, all distributions of Interest Proceeds and Principal Proceeds on each Payment Date, any other Business Day on which Currency Adjusted Notional Principal Adjustment Amounts are paid by the Issuer to the Holders of the Issuer Notes or on the Stated Maturity for, or date of redemption of, the applicable Issuer Notes, made by the Trustee to the Issuing and Paying Agent pursuant to the Indenture as described herein under "—Priority of Payments") into the Issuer Notes Distribution Account.

Pursuant to the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement, the Issuing and Paying Agent, on behalf of the Issuer, will promptly give notice of the amount distributed thereunder for the relevant Payment Date to the Holders of the Issuer Notes and to the Issuer. The Issuing and Paying Agent will also make such information available to Holders of the Issuer Notes at its offices. Distributions to Holders of the Issuer Notes, if any, will be paid on each Payment Date, any other Business Day on which Currency Adjusted Notional Principal Adjustment Amounts are paid by the Issuer to the Holders of the Issuer Notes or on the Stated Maturity for, or date of redemption of, a Class of the Issuer Notes, as applicable, to the persons in whose names such Issuer Notes are registered in the Issuer Note Register at the close of business on the Record Date for such Payment Date. Pursuant to the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement, distributions to Holders of any Class of Issuer Notes will be paid pro rata to Holders of such Class; provided that such pro rata allocation will be based on the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of such Class of Notes held by each such Holder but will be payable to each such Holder in the applicable Approved Currency with respect to each such Holder's Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of such Notes.

The Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement also provides for the terms of transfer and exchange of the Issuer Notes described herein under "Transfer Restrictions". The payment of the fees and expenses of the Issuing and Paying Agent and the Issuer Note Registrar is solely the obligation of the Issuer. The Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement contains provisions for the indemnification of the Issuing and Paying Agent and the Issuer Note Registrar against any and all liabilities, costs and expenses (including reasonable legal fees and expenses) relating to or arising out of or in connection with their performance under the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement, except to the extent that such liabilities, costs and expenses are caused by the negligence, willful misconduct or bad faith of the Issuing and Paying Agent or the Issuer Note Registrar, as the case may be.

proceeds of such additional issuance will be denominated in the same Approved Currency in which such additional Series is denominated;

(d) the Protection Buyer must notify the Rating Agencies of such additional issuance prior to such additional issuance; and

In connection with any such additional issuance, the Issuer shall, to the extent required by the rules thereof, provide any applicable stock exchange with a listing circular or an offering circular supplement, relating to such Notes.

For the avoidance of doubt, following a Partial Optional Redemption of any Series of Issuer Notes or Protection Buyer Notes that are Issuer Notes, additional Series of such Class may be issued in accordance with the requirements set forth in this section.

Governing Law. The Issuer Notes and each Deed of Covenant will be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the Cayman Islands. The Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement will be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the State of New York applicable to agreements made and to be performed therein without regard to the conflict of laws principles thereof.

Upon the written request in the form of Exhibit A hereto, any Holder of the Issuer Notes may request that the Issuing and Paying Agent provide to such Holder the monthly reports and certain other reports prepared by or on behalf of the Issuer in accordance with the terms of the Indenture.

USE OF PROCEEDS

The aggregate net proceeds of the offering of the Notes are expected to equal approximately $192,000,000 (including the USD Equivalent of the Notes denominated in Approved Currencies other than Dollars). The Issuer will use such net proceeds, together with part or all of the Upfront Peyment, to purchase Collateral Securities and Eligible Investments that will have an aggregate principal amount of at least $192,000,000 (including the USD Equivalent of the Collateral Securities denominated in Approved Currencies other than Dollars); provided that, for each Approved Currency, the aggregate principal amount of Collateral Securities and Eligible Investments denominated in such Approved Currency and purchased with the proceeds of the offering will equal or exceed the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of Notes denominated in such Approved Currency on the Closing Date.

RATINGS OF THE NOTES

It is a condition to the issuance of the Notes issued on the Closing Date that the Notes of each such Class receive from the Rating Agencies the minimum rating indicated under "Summary—Notes". A credit rating is not a recommendation to buy, sell or hold securities and may be subject to revision or withdrawal at any time by the assigning rating agency.

THE CREDIT DEFAULT SWAP

The following description of the Credit Default Swap is a summary of certain provisions of the Credit Default Swap. The following summary does not purport to be complete, and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the detailed provisions of the Credit Default Swap.

The Notes do not represent an obligation of the Protection Buyer. Noteholders will not have any right to proceed directly against the Protection Buyer in respect of the Protection Buyer's obligations under the Credit Default Swap. However, the Holders of a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class will have the right to direct the Issuer with respect to the enforcement of any claims that it may have against the Protection Buyer. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if the Protection Buyer is the sole defaulting party or Affected Party under the Credit Default Swap, then the Issuer will have 30 days to enter into a replacement credit default swap and basis swap (otherwise a Mandatory Redemption will occur). See "—Replacement".

Effective Date and Termination Date

The effective date of the Credit Default Swap will be the Closing Date.

Unless terminated prior to its scheduled termination date, or unless an Extended Termination Date as described in this section occurs, the Credit Default Swap will terminate on February 22, 2038 (the "Scheduled Termination Date").

Credit Event Notices may be given (the "Notice Delivery Period") during the period from and including the Closing Date to and including the earlier of the Scheduled Termination Date or a Credit Default Swap Early Termination Date.

If, on the Scheduled Termination Date a Credit Event has occurred with respect to which the Conditions to Settlement have been satisfied, but with respect to which the Credit Default Swap Settlement Date has not occurred, the termination date of the Credit Default Swap will extend up to the day that is the last Credit Default Swap Settlement Date (such day, the "Extended Termination Date").

The "Termination Date" of the Credit Default Swap will be the later of (i) the Scheduled Termination Date and (ii) the Extended Termination Date.

Payments

Upfront Payment by the Protection Buyer to the Issuer.

On the Closing Date, the Protection Buyer will make an upfront payment (the "Upfront Payment") to the Issuer in an amount with respect to each Approved Currency, if greater than zero, equal to:

(i) the sum of (a) the amount needed to purchase the Initial Collateral Securities denominated in such Approved Currency (with an aggregate principal amount of at least the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of Notes denominated in such Approved Currency) and (b) expenses incurred on or prior to the Closing Date in such Approved Currency in connection with the offering of the Notes and the transactions contemplated hereby; less

(ii) the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of Notes denominated in such Approved Currency.

Cash Settlement Amounts paid by the Issuer to the Protection Buyer.

On a Credit Default Swap Calculation Date, the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent will determine the Cash Settlement Amount that will need to be paid by the Issuer on the related Credit Default Swap Settlement Date. See "Summary—The Credit Default Swap".

In addition, on a Credit Default Swap Calculation Date, the Trustee will direct the liquidation of any Eligible Investments held by the Issuer and denominated in the Approved Currency in which such Cash Settlement Amount is payable (assuming that the Issuer will receive at least 100% of par for such Eligible Investments in any such liquidation, other than Put Excluded Collateral) in an amount sufficient to pay the related Cash Settlement Amount on the Credit Default Swap Settlement Date.

If such liquidation proceeds are insufficient to pay such Cash Settlement Amount, the Issuer or Trustee will direct the Collateral Disposal Agent to attempt to sell a par amount of Collateral Securities (rounded up, if necessary, to reflect minimum denominations) in an amount (assuming that the Issuer will receive at least 100% of par for such Collateral Securities in any such liquidation, other than Put Excluded Collateral), when added to the amount of proceeds expected to be received by the Issuer from liquidation of Eligible Investments (assuming that the Issuer will receive at least 100% of par for such Eligible Investments, other than Put Excluded Collateral), sufficient to pay a Cash Settlement Amount (the par amount of Collateral Securities to be liquidated in connection with any liquidation of the Collateral Securities, the "Collateral Securities Principal Amount"), for settlement on the Credit Default Swap Settlement Date. The Collateral Disposal Agent shall select in its sole discretion the particular Collateral Securities to be liquidated in an aggregate principal amount equal to the Collateral Securities Principal Amount (the Collateral Securities selected by the Collateral Disposal Agent to be liquidated in connection with any liquidation of Collateral Securities, the "Selected Collateral Securities"); provided that any such Selected Collateral Securities will be denominated in the same currency as the Notes, the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of which is reduced by the related Currency Adjusted Credit Event Adjustment Amount. The Collateral Disposal Agent will then attempt to solicit bids for the sale of each such Selected Collateral Security. The Collateral Disposal Agent may, in its sole discretion, bid up to 100% for such Selected Collateral Security (excluding any accrued interest) if the Collateral Disposal Agent is not able to procure a third-party bid of at least 100%. A Selected Collateral Security will be sold to the highest bidder for settlement on the Credit Default Swap Settlement Date. Pursuant to the terms of the Credit Default Swap, if the liquidation proceeds of Eligible Investments and Collateral Securities would have been sufficient to pay a Cash Settlement Amount had such Collateral (other than Put Excluded Collateral) been liquidated at least at 100% of par (instead of below 100% of par), the Issuer will be deemed to have paid such Cash Settlement Amount in full upon the Protection Buyer's receipt of the actual related liquidation proceeds.

See "Summary—The Credit Default Swap—Cash Settlement Amount".

Payment by the Protection Buyer to the Issuer in connection with a Reference Obligation Reimbursement.

On the Payment Date immediately following the Due Period during which a Reference Obligation Reimbursement Amount is determined by the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent with respect to one or more Reference Obligation(s), and so long as such Reference Obligation(s) remains in the Reference Portfolio at the time of such Reference Obligation Reimbursement, the Protection Buyer will pay to the Issuer an amount equal to the aggregate of (i) the Currency Adjusted Reinstatement Adjustment Amounts payable on such date and (ii) the ICE Currency Adjusted Interest Reimbursement Amounts payable on such date.

Payments by the Protection Buyer to the Issuer in connection with an additional issuance of Notes.

Following the Closing Date, on or prior to the date on which the Issuer issues additional Notes, the Protection Buyer will (in the event such additional issuance occurs) make a payment to the Issuer (in the Approved Currency in which such additional Notes are denominated) equal to the product of (i) the par amount of such additional Notes and (ii) the greater of (a) 100% less the issuance price of such additional Notes (expressed as a percentage of the par amount thereof) and (b) zero (any such payment, an "Additional Issuance Upfront Payment").

Payment in Connection with a Replacement Credit Default Swap.

On the date a replacement credit default swap is entered into with a Replacement Counterparty, the Protection Buyer may receive a termination payment from the Issuer.

Payment on a Partial Optional Redemption Date.

In the case of a Partial Optional Redemption, at the sole discretion of the Protection Buyer, the Protection Buyer may pay to the Issuer an amount (the "Partial Optional Redemption End Payment") equal to (a) the aggregate amount required to be paid by the Issuer on the Partial Optional Redemption Date in accordance with subclause (iii) of "Description of the Notes—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Other Payment Dates" less (b) the Principal Proceeds that are expected to be available on the Partial Optional Redemption Date to pay the amount described in subclause (a) after giving consideration to any currency exchange; provided, however, that a Partial Optional Redemption will be effected only in accordance with the Indenture.

On each Credit Default Swap Settlement Date and with respect to each Approved Currency, the Protection Buyer will pay to the Issuer the difference, if greater than zero, between (i) the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount of all Notes denominated in such Approved Currency and (ii) the principal balance of Collateral (including Cash) held by the Issuer in the Collateral Account and denominated in such Approved Currency (for the avoidance of doubt, such amounts as determined after giving effect to the payment of any Cash Settlement Amount on such date) so long as such difference arises in connection with the liquidation of Collateral in order to pay a Cash Settlement Amount (any such payment, an "Approved Currency Collateral Payment").

Credit Events

"Failure to Pay Principal" means, with respect to any Reference Obligation (i) a failure by the related Reference Entity (or any Insurer thereof) to pay the Expected Principal Amount of such Reference Obligation on the applicable Final Amortization Date or the applicable Legal Final Maturity Date, as the case may be or (ii) payment on any such day of an Actual Principal Amount that is less than the Expected Principal Amount of such Reference Obligation; provided that the failure by such Reference Entity (or such Insurer) to pay any such amount in respect of principal in accordance with the foregoing shall not constitute a Failure to Pay Principal if such failure has been remedied within any grace period applicable to such payment obligation under the related Underlying Instruments or, if no such grace period is applicable, within three Business Days after the day on which such Expected Principal Amount was scheduled to be paid.

"Writedown" means with respect to any Reference Obligation, the occurrence at any time on or after the Closing Date of:

Removal of Reference Obligations from the Reference Portfolio

Following a Credit Event and the satisfaction of the Conditions to Settlement relating thereto, the Reference Obligation that is the subject of such Credit Event will not be removed from the Reference Portfolio, and in the case of a Reference Obligation that suffered a Writedown, such Reference Obligation may experience one or more subsequent Credit Events (including a subsequent Writedown).

Following the redemption or amortization in full of a Reference Obligation, the Reference Obligation that has been redeemed or amortized in full will be removed from the Reference Portfolio. Subject to the foregoing, if the Reference Obligation Notional Amount of a Reference Obligation that suffered one or more Credit Events is reduced to zero at any time on or prior to the Scheduled Termination Date and remains at zero for a period of one calendar year, such Reference Obligation shall be removed from the Reference Portfolio as of the last day of such one calendar year period; provided that if such Reference Obligation that suffered one or more Credit Events experiences a Reference Obligation Reimbursement for which the Reference Obligation Repayment Amount equals the ICE Reference Obligation Notional Amount Differential of such Reference Obligation immediately prior to such determination, the Reference Obligation shall be removed from the Reference Portfolio immediately following the determination of such Reference Obligation Repayment Amount by the Credit Default Swap Calculation Agent.

Credit Default Swap Termination Events.

The occurrence of any of the following events will constitute a "Credit Default Swap Termination Event":

(i) it becomes unlawful for the Protection Buyer, the Protection Buyer Credit Support Provider or the Issuer to perform its obligation to make a payment or delivery or to receive a payment or delivery under the Credit Default Swap or to comply with any other material provision thereof or for the Protection Buyer or the Protection Buyer Credit Support Provider to perform its obligations under any Protection Buyer Credit Support Document and no party is able to transfer its obligations to a different jurisdiction or substitute another entity in its place so that such illegality ceases to apply;

(ii) because of (a) any action taken by a taxing authority, or brought in a court of competent jurisdiction, on or after the Closing Date (regardless of whether such action is taken or brought with respect to the Issuer or the Protection Buyer) or (b) a change in tax law, such party will, or there is a substantial likelihood that it will, on the next succeeding payment date be required to (x) make a "gross-up" payment to the other party in respect of an indemnifiable tax or (y) receive a payment from the other party subject to withholding or deduction of a tax for which the other party is not required to make a "gross-up" payment;

(iii) as a result of the Issuer's or the Protection Buyer's consolidating or amalgamating with, or merging with or into, or transferring all or substantially all its assets to another entity, the Issuer or the Protection Buyer is required to (a) make a "gross-up" payment to the other party or (b) receive a payment from which an amount has been deducted or withheld for or on account of any indemnifiable tax;

(iv) a Collateral Default;

(v) the Notes becoming due and payable in accordance with the Indenture at any time prior to their Stated Maturity after the occurrence of an Event of Default;

(vi) an Adverse Tax Event;

(vii) an Optional Redemption in Whole;

(viii) the designation of a Basis Swap Early Termination Date; or

(ix) the designation of a Collateral Put Agreement Early Termination Date.

Upon the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent becoming aware of the occurrence of any event that gives rise to the right of the Issuer to terminate the Credit Default Swap, the Basis Swap or the Collateral Put Agreement, the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, will as promptly as practicable notify the Noteholders of such event and the Trustee will terminate any such agreement on behalf of the Issuer at the direction of (i) in the case of the Credit Default Swap or the Basis Swap, a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes and (ii) in the case of the Collateral Put Agreement, 100% of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes, in each case voting as a single class. In addition, if an Event of Default or a Termination Event (as such term is defined in the Credit Default Swap) for which the Protection Buyer is the sole defaulting party or Affected Party under the Credit Default Swap (as such term is defined in the Credit Default Swap), then the Issuer will have 30 days to enter into a replacement credit default swap. (i) any Cash Settlement Amounts owed by the Issuer to the Protection Buyer for any Credit Events that occur on or prior to the Credit Default Swap Early Termination Date for which the Conditions to Settlement have been satisfied; and

(ii) any Credit Default Swap Termination Payment.

Payment by the Protection Buyer. Upon the occurrence of a Credit Default Swap Early Termination, the Protection Buyer will be required to pay to the Issuer the following amounts:

(i) any accrued but unpaid Fixed Payments;

(ii) any Credit Default Swap Termination Payment; and

(iii) in the case of an Optional Redemption in Whole, at the sole discretion of the Protection Buyer, an amount (the "End Payment") equal to (a) the aggregate amount required to be paid by the Issuer on the Optional Redemption Date in accordance with subclauses (i) through (vii) of "Description of the Notes—Priority of Payments—Principal Proceeds—Stated Maturity, Optional Redemption Date or Mandatory Redemption Date" less (b) the Principal Proceeds that are expected to be available on the Optional Redemption Date to pay the amount described in subclause (a) (after giving consideration to any currency exchange, if necessary); provided, however, that an Optional Redemption in Whole will be effected only in accordance with the Indenture.

As used herein, "Credit Default Swap Termination Payment" means the replacement cost or gain for a portfolio credit default swap with the financial terms of the Credit Default Swap, calculated in accordance with the terms of the Credit Default Swap; provided, however, that no Credit Default Swap Termination Payment shall be payable by the Protection Buyer in connection with a Credit Default Swap Early Termination caused by an Optional Redemption in Whole.

Amendment

The Credit Default Swap may be amended at any time without satisfying the S&P Rating Condition or the Moody's Rating Condition or obtaining the consent of the Noteholders so long as such amendment would not have a material adverse effect on any Holders of the Notes. Otherwise, the Credit Default Swap may be amended only with the satisfaction of the S&P Rating Condition and the Moody's Rating Condition and with the consent of the Noteholders (in a percentage as would have been required had such amendment been taken pursuant to the Indenture).

Unless the Portfolio Selection Agent has been given prior written notice of such amendment and has consented thereto in writing, no amendment to the Credit Default Swap may (a) affect the obligations or rights of the Portfolio Selection Agent including, without limitation, expanding or restricting the Portfolio Selection Agent's discretion, rights or obligations or (b) affect the amount, timing or priority of any fees payable to the Portfolio Selection Agent under the Portfolio Selection Agreement and the Credit Default Swap.

Transfer

Neither the Issuer nor the Protection Buyer may transfer its rights and obligations under the Credit Default Swap without the prior written consent of the other party, which consent will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed, except that, and in any case subject to the S&P Rating Condition:

(i) a party may make such a transfer of its rights and obligations pursuant to a consolidation or amalgamation with, or merger into, or transfer of all or substantially all its assets to or reorganization, incorporation, reincorporating or reconstitution into or as, another entity;

(ii) a party may make such a transfer of all or any part of its interest in certain amounts payable to it from a defaulting party under the Credit Default Swap; and

(iii) the Protection Buyer may, without recourse, transfer the Credit Default Swap (in whole and not in part only) to any of the Protection Buyer's Affiliates so long as:

(a) GS Group (or another entity with a credit rating at least equal to that of GS Group) guarantees such transferred obligations of the transferee pursuant to a guaranty in substantially the form of the guaranty of GS Group specified in the Credit Default Swap or such transferee has a credit rating at least equal to that of GS Group;

(b) the Issuer will not have to make any tax gross-up payments to such Affiliate in an amount greater than what the Issuer would have been required to pay to the Protection Buyer in the absence of such transfer;

(c) any payment paid by such Affiliate to the Issuer will not be subject to any withholding tax in excess of what the Protection Buyer would have been required to so withhold or deduct in the absence of such transfer;

(d) it does not become unlawful for either party to perform any obligation under the Credit Default Swap as a result of such transfer; and

(e) a Credit Default Swap Early Termination does not occur as a result of such transfer.

Replacement

If an Event of Default or a Termination Event (as such term is defined in the Credit Default Swap, Basis Swap and/or Collateral Put Agreement, as applicable) for which the Protection Buyer, Basis Swap Counterparty or Collateral Put Provider is the sole defaulting party or Affected Party (as such term is defined in the Credit Default Swap, Basis Swap and/or Collateral Put Agreement, as applicable) under the Credit Default Swap, Basis Swap and/or Collateral Put Agreement, as applicable, then the Issuer will automatically terminate the Credit Default Swap, Basis Swap and Collateral Put Agreement and shall, within 30 days following such termination, enter into a replacement credit default swap and basis swap with a party nominated by the Protection Buyer, Basis Swap Counterparty and/or Collateral Put Provider, as applicable, (the "Replacement Counterparty"), subject to satisfaction of the following (the "Replacement Counterparty Procedures") on or prior to the completion of such 30 day period:

(i) all of the Collateral (other than Put Excluded Collateral) will be liquidated (and the Collateral Put Agreement will not be exercisable in the case of such liquidation), and the proceeds thereof, after giving effect to any termination payments payable by the Issuer to the Protection Buyer and the Basis Swap Counterparty will be used by the Issuer to acquire Put Excluded Collateral. In addition to satisfying the Collateral Security Eligibility Criteria, a Supplemental Collateral Security or BIE Collateral Security will be eligible for inclusion in the Collateral only if, after the inclusion of such Supplemental Collateral Security or BIE Collateral Security in the Collateral, the Weighted Average Life of the Collateral would not exceed 7.0 years, with such maximum declining by approximately 0.25 years each year from the Payment Date in April 2008; provided that such maximum shall not be reduced to less than 2.0 years. Such Weighted Average Life, calculated in terms of years, shall in each case be rounded to one decimal place prior to the determination of compliance with the constraint referred to in the previous sentence. For example, a Weighted Average Life of 7.05 years will be rounded to 7.1 years (the test described in this paragraph, the "Collateral Weighted Average Life Test").

In addition to satisfying the Collateral Security Eligibility Criteria and the Collateral Weighted Average Life Test, including following the purchase of any Supplemental Collateral Securities, the Issuer may hold Collateral Securities issued by no more than 15 obligors at any one time (the "Collateral Security Quantity Constraint").

In addition to satisfying the Collateral Security Eligibility Criteria, the Collateral Weighted Average Life Test and the Collateral Security Quantity Constraint, a Supplemental Collateral Security must be denominated in a certain Approved Currency if so required as described under "Summary—The Collateral Securities—Supplemental Collateral Securities—Purchase of Supplemental Collateral Securities".

Securities, in whole or in part. The Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, will promptly forward such Collateral Security Substitution Request Notice to the Protection Buyer. Within five Business Days of receiving such Collateral Security Substitution Request Notice, the Protection Buyer will determine whether each Proposed New BIE Collateral Security identified in the Collateral Security Substitution Request Notice is a BIE Collateral Security and will provide information and calculations in such respect to the Trustee. The Trustee will review and confirm such calculations and, if the BIE Collateral Security Eligibility Criteria are satisfied, the Trustee will determine the BIE Transaction Cost and (b) request the Basis Swap Calculation Agent to determine the BIE Basis Swap Payment. Upon such determination by the Trustee (or the Basis Swap Calculation Agent), the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, will deliver either (1) a Collateral Security Substitution Information Notice or (2) a Collateral Security Substitution Refusal Notice to the Originating Noteholder with respect to each Collateral Security Substitution Request Notice, as applicable; provided, however, if the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, delivers a Collateral Security Substitution Refusal Notice to the Originating Noteholder, the related Collateral Security Substitution Request Notice will be deemed to be void and of no further effect.

Within five Business Days of receiving a Collateral Security Substitution Information Notice relating to a Collateral Security Substitution Request Notice, the Originating Noteholder must (i) notify the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, and the Protection Buyer whether it wishes to proceed with the proposed substitution and, if so (ii) agree to pay any BIE Transaction Cost (regardless of whether the Holders of a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class consent to such proposed substitution) and, if the proposed substitution occurs, any applicable BIE Basis Swap Payment (the occurrence of subclauses (i) and (ii), a "Substitution Confirmation"). If a Substitution Confirmation is not received by the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, within the time period specified above, the related Collateral Security Substitution Request Notice will be deemed to be void and of no further effect. Upon the receipt of a Substitution Confirmation, the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, will deliver a BIE Consent Solicitation to the Portfolio Selection Agent and all Noteholders, including the Originating Noteholder. Upon receipt of such BIE Consent Solicitation, each Noteholder may, on or prior to the BIE Notification Date, submit written notice to the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, indicating either (1) approval or (2) disapproval of the Proposed New BIE Collateral Security. If the Trustee determines that (1) the BIE Consent Solicitation failed to receive the approval of the Holders of a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class by the BIE Notification Date, the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement will deliver a Collateral Security Substitution Noteholder Refusal Notice to the Originating Noteholder and the related Collateral Security Substitution Request Notice will be deemed void and of no further effect or (2) the BIE Consent Solicitation received the approval of Holders of a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class, it will deliver a BIE Acceptance Notice to the Originating Noteholder.

Upon receiving confirmation (1) from the Basis Swap Counterparty that the Originating Noteholder has paid the BIE Basis Swap Payment to the Basis Swap Counterparty, (2) that the Originating Noteholder has paid the BIE Transaction Cost to the Issuer and (3) that the relevant BIE Collateral Securities have been delivered to the Issuer, and the par amount of such delivered BIE Collateral Securities is equal to the par amount of the existing Collateral Securities to be substituted, the Trustee shall release its lien on the par amount of the relevant existing Collateral Securities to be substituted and deliver the par amount of such substituted Collateral Securities to such Originating Noteholder.

If (i) any BIE Collateral Security is not delivered to the Issuer, (ii) the Issuer is not paid the BIE Transaction Cost or (iii) the Basis Swap Counterparty is not paid the BIE Basis Swap Payment, in each case by the end of the BIE Exercise Period identified in the BIE Acceptance Notice, the BIE Acceptance Notice and the Collateral Security Substitution Request Notice will be deemed void and of no further effect.

the Issuer will have 30 days to enter into a replacement credit default swap and basis swap (otherwise a Mandatory Redemption will occur). See "The Credit Default Swap—Replacement". In connection with any Noteholder vote to terminate the Collateral Put Agreement, any Notes held by or on behalf of the Collateral Put Provider or any of its Affiliates will have no voting rights and will be deemed not to be Outstanding in connection with any such vote.

Amendment

The Collateral Put Agreement may be amended at any time without satisfying the S&P Rating Condition and the Moody's Rating Condition or obtaining the consent of the Noteholders so long as such amendment would not have a material adverse effect on any Holders of the Notes. Otherwise, the Collateral Put Agreement may be amended only with the satisfaction of the S&P Rating Condition and the Moody's Rating Condition and the consent of the Noteholders (in a percentage as would have been required had such amendment been taken pursuant to the Indenture).

Transfer

Neither the Issuer nor the Collateral Put Provider may transfer its rights and obligations under the Collateral Put Agreement without the prior written consent of the other party, which consent will not be unreasonably withheld or delayed, except that, and in any case subject to the S&P Rating Condition:

(i) a party may make such a transfer of its rights and obligation pursuant to a consolidation or amalgamation with, or merger into, or transfer of all or substantially all its assets to or reorganization, incorporation, reincorporating or reconstitution into or as, another entity;

(ii) a party may make such a transfer of all or any part of its interest in certain amounts payable to it from a defaulting party under the Collateral Put Agreement; and

(iii) the Collateral Put Provider may, without recourse, transfer the Collateral Put Agreement (in whole and not in part only) to any of the Collateral Put Provider's Affiliates so long as:

(a) GS Group (or another entity with a credit rating at least equal to that of GS Group) guarantees such transferred obligations of the transferee pursuant to a guaranty in substantially the form of the guaranty of GS Group specified in the Collateral Put Agreement, or such transferee must have a credit rating at least equal to that of GS Group;

(b) the Issuer will not have to make any tax gross-up payments to such Affiliate in an amount greater than what the Issuer would have been required to pay to the Collateral Put Provider in the absence of such transfer;

(c) any payment paid by such Affiliate to the Issuer will not be subject to any withholding tax in excess of what the Collateral Put Provider would have been required to so withhold or deduct in the absence of such transfer;

(d) it does not become unlawful for either party to perform any obligation under the Collateral Put Agreement or the Credit Support Annex, if any, as a result of such transfer; and

(e) a Collateral Put Agreement Early Termination does not occur as a result of such transfer.

Replacement

See "The Credit Default Swap—Replacement".

Guarantee

GS Group will guarantee the obligations of the Collateral Put Provider under the Collateral Put Agreement.

THE COLLATERAL DISPOSAL AGREEMENT

On the Closing Date, the Issuer will enter into the Collateral Disposal Agreement (the "Collateral Disposal Agreement") with Goldman, Sachs & Co. (in such capacity, the "Collateral Disposal Agent"). The following description of the Collateral Disposal Agreement is a summary of certain provisions of the Collateral Disposal Agreement. The following summary does not purport to be complete, and is qualified in its entirety by reference to the detailed provisions of the Collateral Disposal Agreement.

The Notes do not represent an obligation of the Collateral Disposal Agent. Noteholders will not have any right to proceed directly against the Collateral Disposal Agent in respect of the Collateral Disposal Agent's obligations under the Collateral Disposal Agreement. However, the Holders of a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class will have the right to direct the Issuer with respect to the enforcement of any claims that it may have against the Collateral Disposal Agent.

Liquidation

In connection with any liquidation in part of the portfolio of Collateral Securities for any of the circumstances described in subclauses (i), (ii), (v) and (viii) under "Summary—The Collateral Securities—Supplemental Collateral Securities—Liquidation of Collateral Securities", the Collateral Disposal Agent will determine the Selected Collateral Securities to be liquidated (if applicable, after taking into consideration any proceeds from the liquidation of any Eligible Investments); provided that any such Selected Collateral Securities will be denominated in the same currency as the Notes for which the Currency Adjusted Aggregate Outstanding Amount is reduced by the related Currency Adjusted Credit Event Adjustment Amount, Currency Adjusted Notional Principal Adjustment Amount, Partial Optional Redemption or a Stated Maturity, as applicable.

In connection with any liquidation of any Collateral Securities, the Collateral Disposal Agent will use commercially reasonable efforts to solicit bids on behalf of the Issuer. The Collateral Disposal Agent may, in its sole discretion, bid up to 100% of the principal amount of a Collateral Security (excluding any accrued interest) if the Collateral Disposal Agent is not able to procure a third-party bid of at least 100%. If such liquidation is in connection with the payment by the Issuer of a Currency Adjusted Notional Principal Adjustment Amount to the applicable Noteholders or an Optional Redemption in Whole or Partial Optional Redemption, the Issuer will have the benefit of the Collateral Put Agreement and no Collateral Security will be liquidated at less than 100% of par. See "The Collateral Put Agreement".

In connection with any liquidation of Collateral Securities as described in subclause (vii) under "Summary—The Collateral Securities—Supplemental Collateral Securities—Liquidation of Collateral Securities", the Collateral Disposal Agent will perform the acts described under "Description of the Notes—Mandatory Redemption", including, but not limited to, those acts described in the Special Termination Liquidation Procedure.

Exercise of Put, Repurchase or Similar Right

Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary contained herein, the Collateral Disposal Agent will direct the Trustee to exercise any put right, right under repurchase agreement or other similar right that the Issuer has under any Collateral Security within the applicable time period.

Credit Support Amount Due and Payable

If a Credit Support Annex has been entered into by the Collateral Put Provider and the Issuer and any credit support amount becomes due and payable pursuant to the terms thereof, the Collateral Disposal Agent will (i) calculate the market value of each Collateral Security and (ii) notify the Collateral Put Provider of any such Collateral Security that has a market value of 95% or less.

Amendment

The Collateral Disposal Agreement may be amended only (i) if the S&P Rating Condition and the Moody's Rating Condition have been satisfied and (ii) with the consent of a Majority of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of the Notes voting as a single class and the Protection Buyer. However, the Collateral Disposal Agreement may be amended at any time without the consent of the Noteholders so long as such amendment will not (i) reduce in any manner the amount of, or delay the timing of, payments which are required to be made to the Issuer or (ii) materially adversely affect the Noteholders (as evidenced by a failure of a Majority of the Noteholders to object to such amendment within 10 Business Days of the Issuer's delivering a notice of such amendment to all Noteholders).

INCOME TAX CONSIDERATIONS

General

Purchasers of Notes may be required to pay stamp taxes and other charges in accordance with the laws and practices of the country of purchase in addition to the issue price of each Note.

Potential purchasers who are in any doubt about their tax position on purchase, ownership, transfer or exercise of any Note should consult their own tax advisers. In particular, no representation is made as to the manner in which payments under the Notes would be characterized by any relevant taxing authority. Potential investors should be aware that the relevant fiscal rules or their interpretation may change, possibly with retrospective effect, and that this summary is not exhaustive. This summary does not constitute legal or tax advice or a guarantee to any potential investor of the tax consequences of investing in the Notes.

Cayman Islands Tax Considerations

The following discussion of certain Cayman Islands income tax consequences of an investment in the Notes is based on the advice of Maples and Calder as to Cayman Islands law. The discussion is a general summary of present law, which is subject to prospective and retroactive change. It assumes that the Issuer will conduct its affairs in accordance with assumptions made by, and representations made to, counsel. It is not intended as tax advice, does not consider any investor's particular circumstances, and does not consider tax consequences other than those arising under Cayman Islands law.

The following is a general summary of Cayman Islands taxation in relation to the Notes.

Under existing Cayman Islands laws:

(i) payments of principal and interest in respect of, or distributions on, the Notes will not be subject to taxation in the Cayman Islands and no withholding will be required on such payments to any Holder of a Note and gains derived from the sale of Notes will not be subject to Cayman Islands income or corporation tax. The Cayman Islands currently have no income, corporation or capital gains tax and no estate duty, inheritance tax or gift tax; and

(ii) no stamp duty is payable in respect of the issue of the Notes. The Notes themselves will be stampable if they are executed in or brought into the Cayman Islands.

The Issuer has been incorporated under the laws of the Cayman Islands as an exempted company and, as such, has applied for and obtained an undertaking from the Governor in Cabinet of the Cayman Islands substantially in the following form:

United States Federal Income Taxation

General.

The following summary describes the principal U.S. federal income tax consequences of the purchase, ownership and disposition of the Notes to investors that acquire the Notes at original issuance for an amount equal to the "Issue Price" of the relevant Class of Notes (for purposes of this section, with respect to each such Class of Notes, the first price at which a substantial amount of Notes of such Class are sold to the public (excluding bond houses, brokers, underwriters, placement agents, and wholesalers) is referred to herein as the "Issue Price"). This summary does not purport to be a comprehensive description of all the tax considerations that may be relevant to a particular investor's decision to purchase the Notes. In addition, this summary does not describe any tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, locality or taxing jurisdiction other than the United States federal income tax laws. In general, the summary assumes that a holder holds a Note as a capital asset and not as part of a hedge, straddle, or conversion transaction, within the meaning of Section 1258 of the Code.

advice is written to support the promotion or marketing of the transaction. Each taxpayer should seek advice based on the taxpayer's particular circumstances from an independent tax advisor.

The foregoing disclaimer is provided to satisfy obligations under Circular 230 governing standards of practice before the Internal Revenue Service.

This summary is based on the U.S. tax laws, regulations (final, temporary and proposed), administrative rulings and practice and judicial decisions in effect or available on the date of this Offering Circular. All of the foregoing are subject to change or differing interpretation at any time, which change or interpretation may apply retroactively and could affect the continued validity of this summary.

This summary is included herein for general information only, and there can be no assurance that the U.S. Internal Revenue Service (the "IRS") will take a similar view of the U.S. federal income tax consequences of an investment in the Notes as described herein. ACCORDINGLY, PROSPECTIVE PURCHASERS OF THE NOTES SHOULD CONSULT THEIR OWN TAX ADVISORS AS TO U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE PURCHASE, OWNERSHIP AND DISPOSITION OF THE NOTES, AND THE POSSIBLE APPLICATION OF STATE, LOCAL, FOREIGN OR OTHER TAX LAWS. IN PARTICULAR, NO REPRESENTATION IS MADE AS TO THE MANNER IN WHICH PAYMENTS UNDER THE NOTES WOULD BE CHARACTERIZED BY ANY RELEVANT TAXING AUTHORITY.

As used in this section, the term "U.S. Holder" includes a beneficial owner of a Note that is, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, a citizen or individual resident of the United States of America, an entity treated for United States federal income tax purposes as a corporation or a partnership created or organized in or under the laws of the United States of America or any state thereof or the District of Columbia, an estate the income of which is includable in gross income for U.S. federal income tax purposes regardless of its source, or a trust if, in general, a court within the United States of America is able to exercise primary supervision over its administration and one or more U.S. persons have the authority to control all substantial decisions of such trust, and certain eligible trusts that have elected to be treated as United States persons. This summary assumes that a U.S. Holder has a U.S. Dollar functional currency and the Issuer has a non-U.S. Dollar functional currency. This summary also does not address the rules applicable to certain types of investors that are subject to special U.S. federal income tax rules, including but not limited to, dealers in securities or currencies, traders in securities, financial institutions, U.S. expatriates, tax-exempt entities, charitable remainder trusts and their beneficiaries, insurance companies, persons or their qualified business units ("QBUs") whose functional currency is not the U.S. Dollar, persons that own (directly or indirectly) equity interests in holders of Notes and subsequent purchasers of the Notes.

For U.S. federal income tax purposes, the Issuer, and not the Co-Issuer, will be treated as the issuer of the Co-Issued Notes.

Tax Treatment of the Issuer

The Code and the Treasury regulations promulgated thereunder provide a specific exemption from net income-based U.S. federal income tax to non-U.S. corporations that restrict their activities in the United States to trading in stocks and securities (and any other activity closely related thereto) for their own account, whether such trading (or such other activity) is conducted by the corporation or its employees or through a resident broker, commission agent, custodian or other agent. This particular exemption does not apply to non-U.S. corporations that are engaged in activities in the United States other than trading in stocks and securities (and any other activity closely related thereto) for their own account or that are dealers in stocks and securities.

The Issuer intends to rely on the above exemption and does not intend to operate so as to be subject to U.S. federal income taxes on its net income. In this regard, on the Closing Date, the Issuer will receive an opinion from McKee Nelson LLP, special U.S. tax counsel to the Issuer and the Co-Issuer ("Special U.S. Tax Counsel") to the effect that, although no activity closely comparable to that contemplated by the Issuer has been the subject of any Treasury regulation, administrative ruling or judicial decision, under current law and assuming compliance with the Issuer's relevant governing documents, the Indenture, the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement, the Portfolio Selection Agreement and other related documents (the "Documents"), the Issuer's permitted activities will not cause it to be engaged in a trade or business in the United States, and consequently, the Issuer's profits will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax on a net income basis. The opinion of Special U.S. Tax Counsel will be based on the Code, the Treasury regulations (final, temporary and proposed) thereunder, the existing authorities, and Special U.S. Tax Counsel's interpretation thereof and judgment concerning their application to the Issuer's permitted activities, and on certain factual assumptions and representations as to the Issuer's permitted activities. The Issuer intends to conduct its affairs in accordance with the Documents and such assumptions and representations, and the remainder of this summary assumes such result. In addition, in complying with the Documents and such assumptions and representations, the Issuer is entitled to rely upon the advice and/or opinions of their selected counsel, and the opinion of Special U.S. Tax Counsel will assume that any such advice and/or opinions are correct and complete. However, the opinion of Special U.S. Tax Counsel and any such other advice or opinions are not binding on the IRS or the courts, and no ruling will be sought from the IRS regarding this, or any other, aspect of the U.S. federal income tax treatment of the Issuer. Accordingly, in the absence of authority on point, the U.S. federal income tax treatment of the Issuer is not entirely free from doubt, and there can be no assurance that positions contrary to those stated in the opinion of Special U.S. Tax Counsel or any such other advice or opinions may not be asserted successfully by the IRS.

If, notwithstanding the Issuer's intention and the aforementioned opinion of Special U.S. Tax Counsel or any such other advice or opinions, it were nonetheless determined that the Issuer were engaged in a United States trade or business and the Issuer had taxable income that was effectively connected with such U.S. trade or business, the Issuer would be subject under the Code to the regular U.S. corporate income tax on such effectively connected taxable income (and possibly to the 30% branch profits tax as well). The imposition of such taxes would materially affect the Issuer's financial ability to make payments with respect to the Notes and could materially affect the yield of the Notes. In addition, the imposition of such taxes could constitute an Adverse Tax Event.

Legislation recently proposed in the U.S. Senate would, for tax years beginning at least two years after its enactment, tax a corporation as a U.S. corporation if the equity of that corporation is regularly traded on an established securities market and the management and control of the corporation occurs primarily within the United States. It is unknown whether this proposal will be enacted in its current form and, whether if enacted, the Issuer would be subject to its provisions. However, upon enactment of this or similar legislation, the Issuer will be permitted, with an opinion of counsel, to take such action as it deems advisable to prevent the Issuer from being subject to such legislation. These actions could include removing some classes of Notes from listing on a stock exchange.

Generally, foreign currency gains are sourced to the residence of the recipient. Thus, foreign currency gains of a non-U.S. corporation are generally treated as foreign source income. However, if for this purpose a non-United States corporation has a principal place of business in the United States (the "U.S. business"), even if the corporation has another principal place of business outside the United States, generally any foreign currency gain properly reflected as income of the U.S. business is treated as U.S. source income. Any U.S. source foreign currency gains that are not derived from the sale of property are subject to U.S. withholding tax. A non-U.S. corporation could be considered to have a U.S. business for this purpose even if it does not have any income effectively connected to a United States trade or business for purposes of being subject to U.S. taxation on its net income. The Issuer intends to take the position that none of its foreign currency gains will be subject to U.S. withholding tax. However, the application of these rules is unclear and the activities of the Issuer could cause it to have foreign currency gains subject to U.S. withholding tax. In addition, the imposition of such taxes could constitute an Adverse Tax Event.

United States Withholding Taxes. Although, based on the foregoing, the Issuer is not expected to be subject to U.S. federal income tax on a net income basis, income derived by the Issuer may be subject to withholding taxes imposed by the United States or other countries. Generally, U.S. source interest income received by a foreign corporation not engaged in a trade or business within the United States is subject to U.S. withholding tax at the rate of 30% of the amount thereof. The Code provides an exemption (the "portfolio interest exemption") from such withholding tax for interest paid with respect to certain debt obligations issued after July 18, 1984, unless the interest constitutes a certain type of contingent interest or is paid to a 10% shareholder of the payor, to a controlled foreign corporation related to the payor, or to a bank with respect to a loan entered into in the ordinary course of its business. In this regard, the Issuer is permitted to acquire a particular Collateral Security only if the payments thereon are exempt from U.S. withholding taxes at the time of purchase or commitment to purchase or the obligor is required to make "gross-up" payments that offset fully any such tax on any such payments. The Issuer does not anticipate that it will derive material amounts of any other items of income that would be subject to U.S. withholding taxes. Accordingly, assuming compliance with the foregoing restrictions and subject to the foregoing qualifications, interest income derived by the Issuer will be free of or fully "grossed up" for any material amount of U.S. withholding tax. As for the Credit Default Swap, payments under the Credit Default Swap do not constitute interest for purposes of U.S. withholding taxes. The Issuer intends to treat the Credit Default Swap as either a "notional principal contract" or an option for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Generally, payments made pursuant to a notional principal contract or an option are not subject to U.S. withholding. However, the IRS may seek to characterize the Credit Default Swap in a manner that would make payment under it subject to U.S. withholding. Furthermore, there can be no assurance that income derived by the Issuer will not generally become subject to U.S. withholding tax as a result of a change in U.S. tax law or administrative practice, procedure, or interpretations thereof. Any change in U.S. tax law or administrative practice, procedure, or interpretations thereof resulting in the income of the Issuer becoming subject to U.S. withholding taxes could constitute an Adverse Tax Event. It is also anticipated that the Issuer will acquire Collateral Securities that consist of obligations of non-U.S. issuers. In this regard, the Issuer may only acquire a particular Collateral Security if either the payments thereon are not subject to foreign withholding tax or the obligor of the Collateral Security is required to make "gross-up" payments.

Prospective investors should be aware that, under certain Treasury Regulations, the IRS may disregard the participation of an intermediary in a "conduit" financing arrangement and the conclusions reached in the immediately preceding paragraph assume that such Treasury Regulations do not apply. Those Treasury Regulations could require withholding of U.S. federal income tax from payments to the Issuer. In order to prevent "conduit" classification, each Non-U.S. Holder and beneficial owner of an Issuer Note that is acquiring, directly or in conjunction with affiliates, more than 33 1/3% of the Aggregate USD Equivalent Outstanding Amount of any such Class of Issuer Notes, as applicable, will make or be deemed to make a representation to the effect that it is not an Affected Bank. "Affected Bank" means a "bank" for purposes of Section 881 of the Code or an entity affiliated with such a bank that neither (x) meets the definition of a U.S. Holder nor (y) is entitled to the benefits of an income tax treaty with the United States under which withholding taxes on interest payments made by obligors resident in the United States to such bank are reduced to 0%.

Tax Treatment of U.S. Holders of the Co-Issued Notes

Treatment of the Co-Issued Notes. Although there is no authority directly on point, and as a result, the opinion cannot be free from doubt, in the opinion of Special U.S. Tax Counsel, the Co-Issued Notes will be treated as debt for U.S. federal income tax purposes when issued. Although the Issuer Notes are denominated as debt, based on the capital structure of the Issuer and the characteristics of the Issuer Notes, it is unlikely that all the Issuer Notes, when issued, would be treated as debt of the Issuer for U.S. federal income tax purposes. However, it is possible that the IRS could assert that the Notes should be treated as the issuance of credit-linked debt by the Protection Buyer. The Holder of such Notes would have accrued income under the contingent debt rules which could affect the timing of such income. Any gain and certain losses from the sale of such Notes would result in ordinary income or loss because such Notes would be treated as contingent debt. This summary assumes that the treatment of the Co-Issued Notes as debt and the Issuer Notes as equity of the Issuer for U.S. federal income tax purposes is correct. The Issuer Notes are discussed below under "—Tax Treatment of U.S. Holders of Issuer Notes". Further, the Issuer will treat, and each holder and beneficial owner of Co-Issued Notes (by acquiring such Notes or an interest in such Notes) will agree to treat, the Co-Issued Notes as debt for U.S. federal income tax purposes except (x) as otherwise required by applicable law, (y) to the extent a Holder of such Co-Issued Notes makes a protective QEF election (as described below under "—Tax Treatment of U.S. Holders of Issuer Notes—Investment in a Passive Foreign Investment Company") or (z) to the extent that the Holder files certain United States tax information returns required of only certain equity owners with respect to various reporting requirements under the Code (as described below under "—Transfer Reporting Requirements" and "—Tax Return Disclosure and Investor List Requirements"). The determination of whether a Co-Issued Note will be treated as debt for United States federal income tax purposes is based on the applicable law and facts and circumstances existing at the time such Note is issued. Material changes from those existing on the Closing Date (e.g. a material decline in the value of the Issuer's assets and/or, a material change in the likelihood a Note will be repaid in full) may adversely affect the characterization of any Co-Issued Notes issued after (but not before) such changes. However, the opinion of Special U.S. Tax Counsel is based on current law and certain representations and assumptions (including the assumption that any subsequent opinion with respect to the tax characterization of the Co-Issued Notes is correct) and is not binding on the IRS or the courts, and no ruling will be sought from the IRS regarding this, or any other, aspect of the U.S. federal income tax treatment of the Notes. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that the IRS will not contend, and that a court will not ultimately hold, that one or more Classes of the Co-Issued Notes are properly treated as equity in the Issuer for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Recharacterization of a Class of Notes, particularly the Class C Notes because of their place in the capital structure, may be more likely if a single investor or a group of investors that holds all of the Issuer Notes also holds all of the more senior Class of Notes in the same proportion as the Issuer Notes are held. If any Class of the Co-Issued Notes were treated as equity in, rather than debt of, the issuer for U.S. federal income tax purposes, U.S. Holders of such Class would be subject to taxation under rules substantially the same as those set forth below under "—Tax Treatment of U.S. Holders of Issuer Notes" which could cause adverse tax consequences for such U.S. Holders upon the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of, or the receipt of certain types of distributions on, such Notes.

In this regard, any U.S. Holder of a Co-Issued Note that treats such Note as equity in the Issuer for U.S. federal income tax purposes, inconsistently with the Issuer's treatment of such Notes for such purposes, is required to disclose such treatment on its U.S. federal income tax return. Additionally, if a U.S. Holder of a Co-Issued Note treats such Note as debt of the Issuer for U.S. federal income tax purposes, consistently with the Issuer's treatment of such Note for such purposes, it is unclear whether such U.S. Holder will be able to make a protective QEF election (described below in "—Tax Treatment of U.S. Holders of Issuer Notes—Investment in a Passive Foreign Investment Company") in anticipation of any possible recharacterization of such Note as equity in the Issuer.

Interest or Discount on the Co-Issued Notes. The Co-Issued Notes may be subject to the rules applicable to contingent payment debt instruments because the timing of their principal repayment is contingent on the principal payments of the Reference Obligations rather than obligations held by the Issuer. If these Notes are not treated as contingent payment debt obligations and subject to the discussion below, U.S. Holders of these Notes generally should include in gross income payments of stated interest received, in accordance with their usual method of accounting for U.S. federal income tax purposes, as ordinary interest income from sources outside the United States.

If the Issue Price of the Co-Issued Notes is less than such Note's respective "stated redemption price at maturity" by more than a de minimis amount, U.S. Holders will be considered to have purchased such Notes with original issue discount ("OID"). The respective stated redemption price at maturity of the Co-Issued Notes will be the sum of all payments to be received on such Notes, other than payments of stated interest which is unconditionally payable in money at least annually during the entire term of a debt instrument ("Qualified Stated Interest"). Interest can be considered unconditionally payable if nonpayment is sufficiently remote under the terms of the obligations or reasonable legal remedies exist to compel timely payment. Prospective U.S. Holders of the Co-Issued Notes should note that if any interest is not unconditionally payable in money on each Payment Date (and, therefore, not Qualified Stated Interest), all of the stated interest payments may be included in the stated redemption prices at maturity, and required to be accrued by U.S. Holders pursuant to the rules described below.

A U.S. Holder of a Co-Issued Note issued with OID will be required to accrue and include in gross income the sum of the daily portions of total OID for each day during the taxable year on which the U.S. Holder held the Co-Issued Note, generally under a constant yield method, regardless of such U.S. Holder's usual method of accounting for U.S. federal income tax purposes. In addition, if a Co-Issued Note is not treated as issued with OID a U.S. Holder should include any de minimis OID in gross income proportionately as stated principal payments are received. Such de minimis OID should be treated as gain from the sale or exchange of property and may be eligible as capital gain if the Co-Issued Note is a capital asset in the hands of the U.S. Holder.

Because the Co-Issued Notes provide for a floating rate of interest, the amount of OID to be accrued over the term of each Co-Issued Note will be based initially on the assumption that the floating rate in effect for the first Interest Accrual Period will remain constant throughout the term. To the extent such rate varies with respect to any Interest Accrual Period, such variation will be reflected in an increase or decrease of the amount of OID accrued for such period. Under the foregoing method, if stated interest on a class of Co-Issued Notes is required to be accrued under the OID rules, U.S. Holders may be required to include in gross income increasingly greater amounts of OID and may be required to include OID in advance of the receipt of cash attributable to such income.

Unless the contingent payment obligation rules apply each Class of Co-Issued Notes issued with more than de minimis OID may be subject to rules requiring the use of an essumption as to the prepayments, as discussed below under "—OID on the Co-Issued Notes". A prepayment assumption applies to debt instruments if payment under such debt instruments may be accelerated by reason of prepayments of other obligations securing such debt instruments. Application of a prepayment assumption is uncertain because prepayments on the Co-Issued Notes are generally dependent on prepayments on the Reference Portfolio rather than the Collateral Securities.

OID on the Co-Issued Notes. The Treasury regulations governing the calculation of OID on instruments having contingent interest payments specifically do not apply for purposes of calculating OID on debt instruments required to use a prepayment assumption. The Issuer intends to base its computations on a prepayment assumption for the Reference Portfolio, although, as noted above, it is uncertain whether such assumption is required or permitted. In addition, no regulatory guidance currently exists under the Code for prepayment assumptions. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that this methodology represents the correct manner of calculating OID. If the IRS were to successfully contend that another method of accruing OID with respect to the Co-Issued Notes is appropriate, the U.S. federal income tax consequences to a U.S. Holder of the Co-Issued Notes could be adverse or more favorable. If the Co-Issued Notes are deemed to be contingent debt obligations, then U.S. Treasury regulations may apply to the Co-Issued Notes that would apply the non-contingent bond method to non-U.S. Dollar denominated debt instruments that provide for certain contingent payments.

A subsequent purchaser of a Co-Issued Note issued with OID who purchases that Note at a cost less than the remaining stated redemption price at maturity will also be required to include in gross income the sum of the daily portions of OID on the Co-Issued Note. In computing the daily portions of OID for a subsequent purchaser of a Co-Issued Note (as well as an initial purchaser that purchases at a price higher than the adjusted Issue Price, but less than the stated redemption price at maturity), however, the daily portion is reduced by the amount that would be the daily portion for the day (computed in accordance with the rules set forth above) multiplied by a fraction, the numerator of which is the amount, if any, by which the price paid by the U.S. Holder for the Co-Issued Note exceeds the difference between (a) the sum of the Issue Price plus the aggregate amount of OID that would have been able to be included in the gross income of an original U.S. Holder (who purchased the Co-Issued Note at the Issue Price) and (b) any prior payments included in the stated redemption price at maturity, and the denominator of which is the sum of the daily portions for the Co-Issued Note for all days beginning on the date after the purchase date and ending on the maturity date computed under the prepayment assumption.

A U.S. Holder who pays a premium for a Co-Issued Note (i.e., purchases the Co-Issued Note for an amount greater the stated redemption price at maturity) may elect to amortize such premium under a constant yield method over the life of the Co-Issued Note. The amortizable amount for any Interest Accrual Period would offset the amount of interest that must be included in the gross income of a U.S. Holder in such Interest Accrual Period. The U.S. Holder's basis in the Co-Issued Note would be reduced by the amount of amortization. It is not clear whether the prepayment assumption would be taken into account in determining the life of the for the timing of the amortization of such premium for this purpose.

If the U.S. Holder acquires a Co-Issued Note at a discount to the adjusted Issue Price of the Co-Issued Note that is greater than a specified de minimis amount, such discount is treated as market discount. Absent an election to accrue into income currently, the amount of accrued market discount on a Co-Issued Note is included in income as ordinary income when principal payments are received or the U.S. Holder disposes of the Co-Issued Note. Market discount is accrued ratably unless the U.S. Holder elects to use a constant yield method for accrual. For this purpose, the term "rateably" may be based on the term of the Co-Issued Note or a U.S. Holder may be permitted to accrue market discount in proportion to interest on Co-Issued Notes issued without OID or in proportion to OID on Co-Issued Notes issued with OID.

As a result of the complexity of the OID rules, each U.S. Holder of any Co-Issued Notes should consult its own tax advisor regarding the impact of the OID rules on its investment in such Notes.

Election to Treat All Interest as OID. The OID rules permit a U.S. Holder of a Co-Issued Note to elect to accrue all interest, discount (including de minimis market or original issue discount) and premium in income as interest, based on a constant yield method. If an election to treat all interest as OID were to be made with respect to a Co-Issued Note with market discount, the U.S. Holder of such Note making such election would be deemed to have made an election to include in income currently market discount with respect to all other debt instruments having market discount that such U.S. Holder acquires during the year of the election or thereafter. Similarly, a U.S. Holder that makes this election for a Note that is acquired at a premium will be deemed to have made an election to amortize bond premium with respect to all debt instruments having amortizable bond premium that such U.S. Holder owns or acquires. The election to accrue interest, discount and premium on a constant yield method with respect to a Co-Issued Note cannot be revoked without the consent of the IRS.

Disposition of the Co-Issued Notes. In general, a U.S. Holder of a Co-Issued Note initially will have a basis in such Note equal to the cost of such Note to such U.S. Holder, (i) increased by any amount includable in income by such U.S. Holder as OID with respect to such Note, and (ii) reduced by any amortized premium and by payments on the Co-Issued Note, other than payments of stated interest on the Co-Issued Note. Upon a sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of a Co-Issued Note, a U.S. Holder will generally recognize gain or loss equal to the difference between the amount realized on the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition (other than amounts attributable to accrued interest on a Co-Issued Note, which will be taxable as described above) and the U.S. Holder's tax basis in such Note. Except to the extent of accrued interest or market discount not previously included in income, or unless the rules applicable to contingent payment debt obligations apply, gain or loss from the disposition of a Co-Issued Note generally will be long-term capital gain or loss if the U.S. Holder held the Co-Issued Note for more than one year at the time of disposition, provided that the Co-Issued Note is held as a "capital asset" (generally, property held for investment) within the meaning of Section 1221 of the Code, except to the extent of accrued market discount not previously included in income.

However, if the IRS or a court determines that any Class of the Co-Issued Notes constitute contingent payment debt obligations subject to the non-contingent bond method, then a U.S. Holder generally will have a basis in such Co-Issued Note equal to the cost of such Co-Issued Note to such U.S. Holder (i) increased by OID accrued with respect to the Co-Issued Notes (determined without regard to adjustments made to reflect the differences between actual and projected payments), and (ii) reduced by the amount of any non-contingent payments and the projected amount of any contingent payments previously made on the Co-Issued Notes. Any gain recognized on the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of the Co-Issued Note will be treated as ordinary interest income. Further, in such a case, any loss will be treated as ordinary loss to the extent of prior interest inclusions with respect to the Co-Issued Notes, reduced by the total net negative adjustments that the U.S. Holder has taken into account as ordinary loss with respect to the Co-Issued Notes; any remaining loss will be a capital loss.

In certain circumstances, U.S. Holders that are individuals may be entitled to preferential treatment for net long-term capital gains; however, the ability of U.S. Holders to offset capital losses against ordinary income is limited.

Any gain recognized by a U.S. Holder on the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of a Co-Issued Note generally will be treated as from sources within the United States assuming that such Co-Issued Note is not held by a U.S. Holder through a non-U.S. branch.

Alternative Characterization of the Co-Issued Notes. Notwithstanding special U.S. tax counsel's opinion, U.S. Holders should recognize that there is some uncertainty regarding the appropriate classification of instruments such as the Co-Issued Notes. It is possible, for example, that the IRS may contend that a Class of Co-Issued Notes should be treated as equity interests (or as part debt, part equity) in the Issuer. Such a recharacterization might result in material adverse U.S. federal income tax consequences to U.S. Holders. If U.S. Holders of a Class of the Co-Issued Notes were treated as owning equity interests in the Issuer, the U.S. federal income tax consequences to U.S. Holders of such recharacterized Co-Issued Notes would be as described under "—Tax Treatment of U.S. Holders of Issuer Notes", "—Transfer Reporting Requirements" and "—Tax Return Disclosure and Investor List Requirements". In order to avoid the application of the PFIC rules, each U.S. Holder of a Note should consider making a qualified electing fund election provided in Section 1295 of the Code on a "protective" basis (although such protective election may not be respected by the IRS because current regulations do not specifically authorize that particular election). See "Tax Treatment of U.S. Holders of Issuer Notes—Investment in a Passive Foreign Investment Company". Further, U.S. Holders of any Class of Co-Issued Notes that may be recharacterized as equity in the Issuer should consult with their own tax advisors with respect to whether, if they owned equity in the Issuer, they would be required to file information returns in accordance with sections 6038, 6038B, and 6046 of the Code (and, if so, whether they should file such returns on a protective basis).

Payments of Interest and OID in Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen. A U.S. Holder with a U.S. Dollar functional currency that uses the cash method of accounting for U.S. federal income tax purposes and receives a payment of interest on a Co-Issued Note (other then OID) denominated in Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, will be required to include in gross income the U.S. Dollar value of the payment in Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, on the date such payment is received (based on the U.S. Dollar spot rate for the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, on the date such payment is received) regardless of whether the payment is in fact converted to U.S. Dollars at that time. No exchange gain or loss will be recognized with respect to the receipt of such payment.

A U.S. Holder that uses the accrual method of accounting for U.S. federal income tax purposes, or that otherwise is required to accrue interest prior to receipt, will be required to include in gross income the U.S. Dollar value of the amount of interest income that has accrued and is otherwise required to be taken into account with respect to a Co-Issued Note during an accrual period. The U.S. Dollar value of such accrued interest income will be determined by translating such interest income at the average U.S. Dollar exchange rate for the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, in effect during the accrual period or, with respect to an accrual period that spans two taxable years, the partial period within the taxable year. A U.S. Holder may elect, however, to translate such accrued interest income using the U.S. Dollar spot rate for the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, on the last day of the accrual period or, with respect to an accrual period that spans two taxable years, on the last day of the taxable year. If the last day of an accrual period is within five business days of the date of receipt of the accrued interest, a U.S. Holder may translate such interest using the U.S. Dollar spot rate on the date of receipt. The above election must be applied consistently to all debt instruments from year to year and may not be changed without the consent of the IRS. Prior to making such an election, a U.S. Holder should consult its own tax advisor.

A U.S. Holder that uses the accrual method of accounting for U.S. federal income tax purposes may recognize exchange gain or loss with respect to accrued interest income on the date the payment of such income is received. The amount of any such exchange gain or loss recognized will equal the difference, if any, between the U.S. Dollar value of the payment in the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, received (based on the U.S. Dollar spot rate for the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, on the date such payment is received) with respect to such accrued interest and the U.S. Dollar value of the income inclusion with respect to such accrued interest (computed as determined above). Any such exchange gain or loss will be treated as ordinary income or loss, but generally will not be treated as an adjustment to interest income, and will generally be treated as U.S. source income or loss, respectively.

The Issuer intends to take the position that OID for any accrual period on a Co-Issued Note will be determined in Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, and then translated into U.S. Dollars in the same manner as stated interest accrued by an accrual basis U.S. Holder, as described above. As described above, however, the treatment of Co-Issued Notes issued with OID is subject to uncertainty, and it is possible that different rules would apply. Applying this method, all payments on a Co-Issued Note (other than payments of Qualified Stated Interest) will generally be viewed first as payments of previously-accrued OID (to the extent thereof), with payments attributed first to the earliest-accrued OID, and then as payments of principal. Upon receipt of a payment attributable to OID (whether in connection with a payment of interest or on the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of a Co-Issued Note), a U.S. Holder may recognize exchange gain or loss as described above with respect to accrued interest income. Any such exchange gain or loss will be treated as ordinary income or loss, but generally will not be treated as an adjustment to interest income, and will generally be treated as U.S. source income or loss, respectively.

Receipt of Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen. Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, received as payment on a Co-Issued Note or on a sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of a Co-Issued Note will have a tax basis equal to its U.S. Dollar value at the time such payment is received or at the time of such sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition, as the case may be. Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, that are purchased will generally have a tax basis equal to the U.S. Dollar value of the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, on the date of purchase. Any exchange gain or loss recognized on a sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen (including their use to purchase Co-Issued Notes or upon exchange for U.S. Dollars), as applicable, will be ordinary income or loss and will generally be treated as U.S. source income or loss, respectively.

Foreign Currency Gain or Loss on Purchase or Disposition. A U.S. Holder that purchases the Co-Issued Notes with Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, generally will recognize exchange gain or loss in an amount equal to the difference (if any) between the U.S. Dollar fair market value of the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, used to purchase the Co-Issued Notes determined at the spot rate of exchange in effect on the date of purchase of the Co-Issued Notes and such U.S. Holder's tax basis in the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable. If a U.S. Holder receives Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, on a sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of a Co-Issued Note, the amount realized will be based on the U.S. Dollar value of the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, on the date the payment is received or the date of disposition of the Co-Issued Note. Any gain or loss realized upon the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of a Co-Issued Note that is attributable to fluctuations in currency exchange rates will be exchange gain or loss. Any gain or any loss attributable to fluctuations in exchange rates will equal the difference between the U.S. Dollar value of the principal amount of the Co-Issued Note, determined on the date such payment is received or such Co-Issued Note is disposed based on the U.S. Dollar spot rate for the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, on such date and the U.S. Dollar value of principal amount of such Co-Issued Note, determined on the date the U.S. Holder acquired such Co-Issued Note based on the U.S. Dollar spot rate for the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, on such date. Such exchange gain or loss will be recognized only to the extent of the total gain or loss realized by the U.S. Holder on the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of such Co-Issued Note. Any exchange gain or loss will be treated as ordinary income or loss, but generally will not be treated as an adjustment to interest income, and will generally be treated as U.S. source income or loss, respectively.

As a result of the uncertainty regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences to U.S. Holders with respect to the Co-Issued Notes and the complexity of the foregoing rules, each U.S. Holder of a Co-Issued Note is urged to consult its own tax advisor regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences to the Holder of the purchase, ownership and disposition of such Co-Issued Note.

Tax Treatment of U.S. Holders of Issuer Notes

Investment in a Passive Foreign Investment Company. The Issuer will constitute a passive foreign investment company ("PFIC"). By treating the Issuer Notes, when issued, as equity in the Issuer, U.S. Holders of Issuer Notes (other than certain U.S. Holders that are subject to the rules pertaining to a controlled foreign corporation with respect to the Issuer, described below) will be considered U.S. shareholders in a PFIC. In general, a U.S. Holder of a PFIC may desire to make an election to treat the Issuer as a qualified electing fund ("QEF") with respect to such U.S. Holder. Generally, a QEF election should be made with the filing of a U.S. Holder's federal income tax return for the first taxable year for which it held the Issuer Notes. If a timely QEF election is made for the Issuer, an electing U.S. Holder will be required in each taxable year to include in gross income (i) as ordinary income, such holder's pro rata share of the Issuer's ordinary earnings and (ii) as long-term capital gain, such holder's pro rata share of the Issuer's net capital gain, whether or not distributed and translated into U.S. Dollars using the average U.S. Dollar exchange rate for the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, for the Issuer's taxable year. In determining the Issuer's ordinary earnings, the OID interest that accrues on the Co-Issued Notes may be expensed by the Issuer (whether or not the OID is de minimis). For purposes of calculating the income of the Issuer, the deduction for interest paid to certain related parties may be deferred and ultimately denied. Related parties generally include a person owning more than 50% of the aggregate value of all Classes of Notes treated as equity of the Issuer (with special rules for partnerships) and any real estate investment trust that treats the Issuer as a taxable REIT subsidiary. A U.S. Holder will not be eligible for the dividends received deduction with respect to such income or gain. In addition, any losses of the Issuer in a taxable year will not be available to such U.S. Holder and may not be carried back or forward in computing the Issuer's ordinary earnings and net capital gain in other taxable years. An amount included in an electing U.S. Holder's gross income should be treated as income from sources outside the United States for U.S. foreign tax credit limitation purposes. However, if U.S. Holders collectively own (directly or constructively) 50% or more (measured by vote or value) of the Issuer Notes, such amount will be treated as income from sources within the United States for such purposes to the extent that such amount is attributable to income of the Issuer from sources within the United States. If applicable to a U.S. Holder of Issuer Notes, the rules pertaining to a controlled foreign corporation, discussed below, generally override those pertaining to a PFIC with respect to which a QEF election is in effect.

In certain cases in which a QEF does not distribute all of its earnings in a taxable year, U.S. shareholders may also be permitted to elect to defer payment of some or all of the taxes on the QEF's income subject to an interest charge on the deferred amount. As a result, the Issuer may have in any given year substantial amounts of earnings for U.S. federal income tax purposes that are not distributed on the Issuer Notes. Thus, absent an election to defer payment of taxes, U.S. Holders that make a QEF election with respect to the Issuer may owe tax on significant "phantom" income.

Moreover, there is no direct authority dealing with the tax treatment of financial instruments like the Credit Default Swap. The Issuer intends to treat the Credit Default Swap as a "notional principal contract" for U.S. federal income tax purposes, in which case the Issuer's earnings for any period would be determined by taking into account the Credit Default Swap payments to the Issuer attributable to that period. In a statement in its preamble to recently proposed guidance regarding the tax accounting for contingent nonperiodic payments under notional principal contracts, the U.S. Department of Treasury indicated that certain persons, such as the Issuer, would be required under current law to take such payments into account for income tax purposes over the life of the contract under a reasonable amortization method. Although the application of this rule to the Credit Default Swap is not entirely clear, the income of the Issuer may need to be determined by taking into account an adjustment for any such contingent payments which the Issuer may be required to make under the Credit Default Swap. It is possible, however, that a Credit Default Swap could be characterized for tax purposes as an option written by the Issuer. Because payments received for writing an option are generally taken into account only upon the termination of the transaction, characterizing the Credit Default Swap as an option may concentrate the Issuer's positive earnings, as determined for U.S. federal income tax purposes, into one or more taxable periods, which may result in the recognition of income in excess of any cash distributed on the Issuer Notes by the Issuer. U.S. Holders of the Issuer Notes should consult their tax advisors regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences of holding any of the Issuer Notes.

The Issuer will provide, upon request, all information and documentation that a U.S. Holder making a QEF election is required to obtain for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

A U.S. Holder of Issuer Notes (other than certain U.S. Holders that are subject to the rules pertaining to a controlled foreign corporation with respect to the Issuer, described below) that does not make a timely QEF election will be required to report any gain on disposition of any Issuer Notes as if it were an excess distribution, rather than capital gain, and to compute the tax liability on such gain and any excess distribution received with respect to the Issuer Notes as if such items had been earned ratably over each day in the U.S. Holder's holding period (or a certain portion thereof) for the Issuer Notes. The U.S. Holder will be subject to tax on such items at the highest ordinary income tax rate for each taxable year, other than the current year of the U.S. Holder, in which the items were treated as having been earned, regardless of the rate otherwise applicable to the U.S. Holder. Further, such U.S. Holder will also be liable for an additional tax equal to interest on the tax liability attributable to income allocated to prior years as if such liability had been due with respect to each such prior year. For purposes of these rules, gifts, exchanges pursuant to corporate reorganizations and use of the Issuer Notes as security for a loan may be treated as a taxable disposition of the Issuer Notes. Very generally, an "excess distribution" is the amount by which distributions during a taxable year with respect to an Issuer Note exceed 125% of the average amount of distributions in respect thereof during the three preceding taxable years (or, if shorter, the U.S. Holder's holding period for the Issuer Note). In addition, a stepped-up basis in the Issuer Note upon the death of an individual U.S. Holder may not be available.

In many cases, application of the tax on gain on disposition and receipt of excess distributions will be substantially more onerous than the treatment applicable if a timely QEF election is made. ACCORDINGLY, U.S. HOLDERS OF ISSUER NOTES SHOULD CONSIDER CAREFULLY WHETHER TO MAKE A QEF ELECTION WITH RESPECT TO THE ISSUER NOTES AND THE CONSEQUENCES OF NOT MAKING SUCH AN ELECTION.

Furthermore, in order to avoid the application of the PFIC rules, each U.S. Holder of a Note should consider making a qualified electing fund election on a "protective" basis (although such protective election may not be respected by the IRS because current regulations do not specifically authorize that particular protective election). Further, U.S. Holders of any Class of Notes that may be recharacterized as equity in the Issuer should consult with their own tax advisors with respect to whether, if they owned equity in the Issuer, they would be required to file information returns in accordance with sections 6038, 6038B, and 6046 of the Code (and, if so, whether they should file such returns on a protective basis).

Investment in a Controlled Foreign Corporation. The Issuer may be classified as a controlled foreign corporation ("CFC"). In general, a foreign corporation will be classified as a CFC if more than 50% of the shares of the corporation, measured by reference to combined voting power or value, is owned (actually or constructively) by "U.S. Shareholders". A U.S. Shareholder, for this purpose, is any U.S. person that possesses (actually or constructively) 10% or more of the combined voting power (generally the right to vote for directors of the corporation) of all classes of shares of a corporation. Although Issuer Notes do not vote for directors of the Issuer, it is possible that the IRS would assert that the Issuer Notes are de facto voting securities and that U.S. Holders possessing (actually or constructively) 10% or more of the total stated amount of outstanding Issuer Notes are U.S. Shareholders. If this argument were successful and Issuer Notes representing more than 50% of the voting power or value of the Issuer's equity are owned (actually or constructively) by such U.S. Shareholders, the Issuer would be treated as a CFC.

If the Issuer were treated as a CFC, a U.S. Shareholder of the Issuer would be treated, subject to certain exceptions, as receiving a deemed dividend at the end of the taxable year of the Issuer in an amount equal to that person's pro rata share of the subpart F income (as defined below) of the Issuer. Such deemed dividend would be treated as income from sources within the United States for U.S. foreign tax credit limitation purposes to the extent that it is attributable to income of the Issuer from sources within the United States. Among other items, and subject to certain exceptions, subpart F income includes dividends, interest, annuities, gains from the sale or exchange of shares and securities, certain gains from commodities transactions, certain types of insurance income and income from certain transactions with related parties. It is likely that, if the Issuer were to constitute a CFC, all or most of its income would be subpart F income and, in general, if the Issuer's subpart F income exceeds 70% of its gross income, the entire amount of the Issuer's income will be subpart F income. For purposes of calculating the income of the Issuer, the deduction for interest paid to certain related parties may be deferred and ultimately denied. Related parties generally include a person owning more than 50 percent of the aggregate value of all Classes of Notes treated as equity of the Issuer (with special rules for partnerships) and any real estate investment trust that treats the Issuer as a taxable REIT subsidiary. In addition, special rules apply to determine the appropriate exchange rate to be used to translate such amounts treated as a dividend and the amount of any foreign currency gain or loss with respect to distributions of previously taxed amounts attributable to movements in exchange rates between the times of deemed and actual distributions. U.S. Holders should consult their tax advisors regarding these special rules.

If the Issuer were treated as a CFC, a U.S. Shareholder of the Issuer which made a QEF election with respect to the Issuer would be taxable on the subpart F income of the Issuer under rules described in the preceding paragraph and not under the QEF rules previously described. As a result, to the extent subpart F income of the Issuer includes net capital gains, such gains will be treated as ordinary income of the U.S. Shareholder under the CFC rules, notwithstanding the fact that the character of such gains generally would otherwise be reserved under the QEF rules.

Furthermore, if the Issuer were treated as a CFC and a U.S. Holder were treated as a U.S. Shareholder therein, the Issuer would not be treated as a PFIC or a QEF with respect to such U.S. Holder for the period during which the Issuer remained a CFC and such U.S. Holder remained a U.S. Shareholder therein (the "qualified portion" of the U.S. Holder's holding period for the Issuer Notes). If the qualified portion of such U.S. Holder's holding period for the Issuer Notes subsequently ceased (either because the Issuer ceased to be a CFC or the U.S. Holder ceased to be a U.S. Shareholder), then solely for purposes of the PFIC rules, such U.S. Holder's holding period for the Issuer Notes would be treated as beginning on the first day following the end of such qualified portion, unless the U.S. Holder had owned any of such Class of Issuer Notes for any period of time prior to such qualified portion and had not made a QEF election with respect to the Issuer. In that case, the Issuer would again be treated as a PFIC which is not a QEF with respect to such U.S. Holder and the beginning of such U.S. Holder's holding period for the Issuer Notes would continue to be the date upon which such U.S. Holder acquired such Issuer Notes, unless the U.S. Holder made an election to recognize gain with respect to such Issuer Notes and a QEF election with respect to the Issuer.

Credit Default Swap, Basis Swap and Collateral Put Agreement. The IRS may argue that the Issuer does not own the Collateral Securities because the Credit Default Swap, the Basis Swap and the Collateral Put Agreement transfer the benefits and burdens of the ownership of the Collateral Securities to Goldman Sachs. Under such characterization, the Issuer would hold an obligation of Goldman Sachs to pay to the Issuer principal equal to the par value of the Collateral Securities and interest equal to the excess, if any, of interest payments on the Notes and the interest received on the Collateral Securities. Thus, under the PFIC or CFC rules discussed above, the timing of the income that that a U.S. Holder reports may differ from the timing of such income if the Credit Default Swap, the Basis Swap and the Collateral Put Agreement are respected. Alternatively, the IRS could argue that the Credit Default Swap, the Basis Swap and the Collateral Put Agreement create a contingent payment debt obligation subject to the non-contingent bond method. Under such characterization, the Issuer generally will have a basis in the contingent debt obligation equal to the cost of such obligation to the Issuer (i) increased by OID accrued with respect to such obligation (determined without regard to adjustments made to reflect the differences between actual and projected payments), and (ii) reduced by the amount of any non-contingent payments and the projected amount of any contingent payments previously made on such obligation. Any gain recognized on the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of the obligation will be treated as ordinary interest income. Further, in such a case, any loss will be treated as ordinary loss to the extent of prior interest inclusions with respect to the contingent debt obligation, reduced by the total net negative adjustments that the Issuer has taken into account as ordinary loss with respect to such obligation; any remaining loss will be a capital loss. Such characterization would affect the timing and character of tha income that that a U.S. Holder reports. U.S. Holders of the Issuer Notes should consult their own tax advisors regarding the tax issues associated with the Credit Default Swap, the Basis Swap and the Collateral Put Agreement.

Distributions on the Issuer Notes. The treatment of actual distributions of cash on each Class of Issuer Notes, in very general terms, will vary depending on whether a U.S. Holder has made a timely QEF election as described above. See "—Investment in a Passive Foreign Investment Company". If a timely QEF election has been made, distributions should be allocated first to amounts previously taxed pursuant to the QEF election (or pursuant to the CFC rules, if applicable) and to this extent will not be taxable to U.S. Holders. Distributions in excess of amounts previously taxed pursuant to a QEF election (or pursuant to the CFC rules, if applicable) will be taxable to U.S. Holders as ordinary income upon receipt to the extent of any remaining amounts of untaxed current and accumulated earnings and profits of the Issuer. Distributions in excess of any current and accumulated earnings and profits will be treated first as a non-taxable reduction to the U.S. Holder's tax basis for such Issuer Notes to the extent thereof and then as capital gain.

In the event that a U.S. Holder does not make a timely QEF election, then except to the extent that distributions may be attributable to amounts previously taxed pursuant to the CFC rules, some or all of any distributions with respect to the Issuer Notes may constitute excess distributions, taxable as previously described. See "—Investment in a Passive Foreign Investment Company". In that event, except to the extent that distributions may be attributable to amounts previously taxed to the U.S. Holder pursuant to the CFC rules or are treated as excess distributions, distributions on the Issuer Notes generally would be treated as dividends to the extent paid out of the Issuer's current or accumulated earnings and profits not allocated to any excess distributions, then as a non-taxable reduction to the U.S. Holder's tax basis for the Issuer Notes to the extent thereof and then as capital gain. Dividends received from a foreign corporation generally will be treated as income from sources outside the United States for U.S. foreign tax credit limitation purposes. However, if U.S. Holders collectively own (directly or constructively) 50% or more (measured by vote or value) of the Class of Issuer Notes, a percentage of the dividend income equal to the proportion of the Issuer's earnings and profits from sources within the United States generally will be treated as income from sources within the United States for such purposes.

Distributions paid in Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, will be translated into a U.S. Dollar amount based on the spot rate of exchange in effect on the date of receipt whether or not the payment is converted into U.S. Dollars at that time. A U.S. Holder will recognize exchange gain or loss with respect to distributions of previously taxed amounts attributable to movements in exchange rates between the times of the deemed distributions and actual distributions, and any such exchange gain or loss will be treated as ordinary income from the same source as the associated income inclusion. The tax basis of the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, received by a U.S. Holder generally will equal the U.S. Dollar value of the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, determined at the spot rate of exchange in effect on the date the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, are received, regardless of whether the payment is converted into U.S. Dollars at that time. Any gain or loss recognized on a subsequent conversion of the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, for U.S. Dollars, in an amount equal to the difference between the U.S. Dollars received and the U.S. Holder's tax basis in the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, generally will be U.S. source ordinary income or loss.

Purchase or Disposition of the Issuer Notes. A U.S. Holder that purchases the Issuer Notes with Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, generally will recognize U.S. source ordinary income or loss in an amount equal to the difference (if any) between the U.S. Dollar fair market value of the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, used to purchase the Issuer Notes determined at the spot rate of exchange in effect on the date of purchase of the Issuer Notes and such U.S. Holder's tax basis in the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable. In general, a U.S. Holder of an Issuer Note will recognize a gain or loss upon the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of an Issuer Note equal to the difference between the amount realized and such U.S. Holder's adjusted tax basis in the Issuer Note. Except as discussed below (or if the applicable Class of Issuer Notes were characterized as a contingent debt instrument), such gain or loss will be a capital gain or loss and will be a long-term capital gain or loss if the U.S. Holder held such Class of Issuer Notes for more than one year at the time of the disposition. In certain circumstances, U.S. Holders who are individuals may be entitled to preferential treatment for net long-term capital gains; however, the ability of U.S. Holders to offset capital losses against ordinary income is limited. Any gain or loss recognized by a U.S. Holder on the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of an Issuer Note (other than, in the case of a U.S. Holder treated as a "U.S. Shareholder", any such gain characterized as a dividend, as discussed below) generally will be treated as from sources within the United States.

Initially, a U.S. Holder's tax basis for an Issuer Note will equal the cost of such Issuer Note to such U.S. Holder. The cost of an Issuer Note to a U.S. Holder will be the U.S. Dollar value of the Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollar, Australian Dollar, New Zealand Dollars or Yen purchase price, as applicable, based on the spot rate of exchange in effect on the date of purchase. Such basis will be increased by amounts taxable to such U.S. Holder by virtue of a QEF election, or by virtue of the CFC rules, as applicable, and decreased by actual distributions from the Issuer that are deemed to consist of such previously taxed amounts or are treated as a non-taxable reduction to the U.S. Holder's tax basis for such Issuer Note (as described above). If a U.S. Holder receives Euro, Sterling, Canadian Dollars, Australian Dollars, New Zealand Dollars or Yen, as applicable, on the sale or other taxable disposition of an Issuer Note, the amount realized in U.S. Dollars generally will be based on the spot rate of exchange in effect on the date of the sale or other taxable disposition.

If a U.S. Holder does not make a timely QEF election as described above, any gain realized on the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of an Issuer Note (or any gain deemed to accrue prior to the time a non-timely QEF election is made) will be taxed as ordinary income and subject to an additional tax reflecting a deemed interest charge under the special tax rules described above. See "—Investment in a Passive Foreign Investment Company".

Subject to a special exception applicable to individuals, if the Issuer were treated as a CFC and a U.S. Holder were treated as a "U.S. Shareholder" therein, then any gain realized by such U.S. Holder upon the disposition of Issuer Notes, other than gain constituting an excess distribution under the PFIC rules, if applicable, would be treated as ordinary income to the extent of the U.S. Holder's share of the current or accumulated earnings and profits of the Issuer. In this regard, earnings and profits would not include any amounts previously taxed pursuant to a timely QEF election or pursuant to the CFC rules, as applicable.

Transfer Reporting Requirements

A U.S. Holder of Issuer Notes that owns (actually or constructively) at least 10% by vote or value of the Issuer (and each officer or director of the Issuer that is a U.S. citizen or resident) may be required to file an information return on IRS Form 5471. A U.S. Holder of Issuer Notes generally is required to provide additional information regarding the Issuer annually on IRS Form 5471 if it owns (actually or constructively) more than 50% by vote or value of the Issuer. U.S. Holders should consult their own tax advisors regarding whether they are required to file IRS Form 5471.

A U.S. Person that purchases the Issuer Notes for cash will be required to file a Form 926 or similar form with the IRS if (i) such person owned, directly or by attribution, immediately after the transfer at least 10% by voting power or value of the Issuer or (ii) if the transfer, when aggregated with all transfers made by such person (or any related person) within the preceding 12 month period, exceeds U.S.$100,000. In the event a U.S. Holder fails to file any such required form, the U.S. Holder could be required to pay a penalty equal to 10% of the gross amount paid for such Issuer Notes subject to a maximum penalty of U.S.$100,000, except in cases involving intentional disregard). U.S. Persons should consult their tax advisors with respect to this or any other reporting requirement that may apply with respect to their acquisition of the Issuer Notes.

Tax Return Disclosure and Investor List Requirements

Any person that files a U.S. federal income tax return or U.S. federal information return and participates in a reportable transaction in a taxable year is required to disclose certain information on IRS Form 8886 (or its successor form) attached to such person's U.S. tax return for such taxable year (and also file a copy of such form with the IRS's Office of Tax Shelter Analysis) and to retain certain documents related to the transaction. In addition, under these regulations, under certain circumstances, certain organizers and sellers of a reportable transaction will be required to maintain lists of participants in the transaction containing identifying information, retain certain documents related to the transaction, and furnish those lists and documents to the IRS upon request. There are significant penalties for failure to comply with these disclosure and list keeping requirements. The definition of reportable transaction is highly technical. However, in very general terms, a transaction may be a "reportable transaction" if, among other things, it is offered under conditions of confidentiality or it results in the claiming of a loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes in excess of certain threshold amounts.

In this regard, in order to prevent the transactions described herein from being treated as offered under conditions of confidentiality, the Issuer and the Holders and beneficial owners of the Notes (and each of their respective employees, representatives or other agents) may disclose to any and all persons, without limitation of any kind, the U.S. tax treatment and U.S. tax structure of the transactions described herein and all materials of any kind (including opinions or other tax analyses) that are provided to them relating to such U.S. tax treatment and U.S. tax structure. However, any such disclosure of the tax treatment, tax structure and other tax-related materials shall not be made for the purpose of offering to sell the Notes offered hereby or soliciting an offer to purchase any such Notes. For purposes of this paragraph, the terms "tax treatment" and "tax structure" have the meaning given to such terms under Treasury regulation section 1.6011-4(c) and applicable state or local tax law. In general, the tax treatment of a transaction is the purported or claimed U.S. tax treatment of the transaction under applicable U.S. federal, state or local tax law, and the tax structure of a transaction is any fact that may be relevant to understanding the purported or claimed U.S. tax treatment of the transaction under applicable U.S. federal, state or local tax laws.

In addition, under these Treasury regulations, if the Issuer participates in a reportable transaction, a U.S. Holder of the Issuer Notes that is a "reporting shareholder" of the Issuer will be treated as participating in the transaction and will be subject to the rules described above. Although most of the Issuer's activities generally are unlikely to give rise to "reportable transactions", it is nonetheless possible that the Issuer will participate in certain types of transactions that could be treated as reportable transactions. A U.S. Holder of Issuer Notes will be treated as a reporting shareholder of the Issuer if (i) such U.S. Holder owns 10% or more of the Issuer Notes and makes a QEF election with respect to the Issuer or (ii) the Issuer is treated as a CFC and such U.S. Holder is a U.S. Shareholder (as defined above) of the Issuer.

Prospective investors in the Notes should consult their own tax advisors concerning any possible disclosure obligations with respect to their ownership or disposition of the Notes in light of their particular circumstances.

Tax Treatment of Non-U.S. Holders of Notes

In general, payments on the Notes to a Holder that is not, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, a U.S. Holder (a "non-U.S. Holder") and gain realized on the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition of the Notes by a non-U.S. Holder, will not be subject to U.S. federal income or withholding tax, unless (i) such income is effectively connected with a trade or business conducted by such non-U.S. Holder in the United States, or (ii) in the case of gain, such non-U.S. Holder is a non-resident alien individual who holds the Notes as a capital asset and is present in the United States for more than 182 days in the taxable year of the sale, exchange, redemption, retirement or other taxable disposition and certain other conditions are satisfied.

Information Reporting and Backup Withholding

Under certain circumstances, the Code requires "information reporting", and may require "backup withholding" with respect to certain payments made on the Notes and the payment of the proceeds from the disposition of the Notes. Backup withholding generally will not apply to corporations, tax-exempt organizations, qualified pension and profit sharing trusts, and individual retirement accounts. Backup withholding will apply to a U.S. Holder if the U.S. Holder fails to provide certain identifying information (such as the U.S. Holder's taxpayer identification number) or otherwise comply with the applicable requirements of the backup withholding rules. The application for exemption from backup withholding for a U.S. Holder is available by providing a properly completed IRS Form W-9.

A non-U.S. Holder of the Notes generally will not be subject to these information reporting requirements or backup withholding with respect to payments of interest or distributions on the Notes if (1) it certifies to the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, its status as a non-U.S. Holder under penalties of perjury on the appropriate IRS Form W-8, and (2) in the case of a non-U.S.

Holder that is a "nonwithholding foreign partnership", "foreign simple trust" or "foreign grantor trust" as defined in the applicable Treasury regulations, the beneficial owners of such non-U.S. Holder also certify to the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, their status as non-U.S. Holders under penalties of perjury on the appropriate IRS Form W-8.

The payments of the proceeds from the disposition of a Note by a non-U.S. Holder to or through the U.S. office of a broker generally will not be subject to information reporting and backup withholding if the non-U.S. Holder certifies its status as a non-U.S. Holder (and, if applicable, its beneficial owners also certify their status as non-U.S. Holders) under penalties of perjury on the appropriate IRS Form W-8, satisfies certain documentary evidence requirements for establishing that it is a non-U.S. Holder or otherwise establishes an exemption. The payment of the proceeds from the disposition of a Note by a non-U.S. Holder to or through a non-U.S. office of a non-U.S. broker will not be subject to backup withholding or information reporting unless the non-U.S. broker has certain specific types of relationships to the United States, in which case the treatment of such payment for such purposes will be as described in the following sentence. The payment of proceeds from the disposition of a Note by a non-U.S. Holder to or through a non-U.S. office of a U.S. broker or to or through a non-U.S. broker with certain specific types of relationships to the United States generally will not be subject to backup withholding but will be subject to information reporting unless the non-U.S. Holder certifies its status as a non-U.S. Holder (and, if applicable, its beneficial owners also certify their status as non-U.S. Holders) under penalties of perjury or the broker has certain documentary evidence in its files as to the non-U.S. Holder's foreign status and the broker has no actual knowledge to the contrary.

Backup withholding is not an additional tax and may be refunded (or credited against the U.S. Holder's or non-U.S. Holder's U.S. federel income tax liability, if any); provided that certain required information is furnished to the IRS. The information reporting requirements may apply regardless of whether withholding is required.

ERISA CONSIDERATIONS

The advice below was not written and is not intended to be used and cannot be used by any taxpayer for purposes of avoiding United States federal income tax penalties that may be imposed. The advice is written to support the promotion or marketing of the transaction. Each taxpayer should seek advice based on the taxpayer's particular circumstances from an independent tax advisor.

The foregoing disclaimer is provided to satisfy obligations under Circular 230 governing standards of practice before the Internal Revenue Service.

The United States Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, as amended ("ERISA") imposes certain requirements on "employee benefit plans" (as defined in and subject to Section 3(3) of ERISA), including entities such as collective investment funds and separate accounts whose underlying assets include the assets of such plans and on those persons who are fiduciaries with respect to such plans. Investments by the plans are subject to ERISA's general fiduciary requirements, including the requirement of investment prudence and diversification and the requirement that a plan's investments be made in accordance with the documents governing the plan. The prudence of a particular investment must be determined by the responsible fiduciary of a plan by teking into account the plan's particular circumstances and all of the facts and circumstances of the investment including, but not limited to, the matters discussed above under "Risk Factors" and the fact that in the future there may be no market in which such fiduciary will be able to sell or otherwise dispose of the Notes.

Section 406 of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code prohibit certain transactions involving the assets of plans and arrangements subject to ERISA (as well as those plans that are not subject to ERISA but which are subject to Section 4975 of the Code, such as individual retirement accounts (the "Plans")) and certain persons (referred to as "parties in interest" or "disqualified persons") having certain relationships to such Plans, unless a statutory or administrative exemption is applicable to the transaction. A party in interest or disqualified person who engages in a prohibited transaction may be subject to excise taxes and other penalties and liabilities under ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code.

The U.S. Department of Labor has promulgated regulations, 29 C.F.R. Section 2510.3-101 (the "Plan Asset Regulations"), describing what constitutes the assets of a Plan with respect to the Plan's investment in an entity for purposes of certain provisions of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code, including the fiduciary responsibility provisions of Title I of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code. Under the Plan Asset Regulations, if e Plan invests in an "equity interest" of an entity that is neither a "publicly offered security" nor e security issued by an investment company registered under the Investment Company Act, the Plan's assets include both the equity interest and an undivided interest in each of the entity's underlying assets, unless it is established that the entity is an "operating company" or, as further discussed below, that equity participation in the entity by "benefit plan investors" is not "significant."

Prohibited transactions within the meaning of Section 406 of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code may arise if the Notes are acquired with tha assets of a Plan with respect to which the Issuer, the Initial Purchaser, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, any seller of Collateral Securities to the Issuer, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider or any of their respective Affiliates, is a party in interest or a disquelified person. Certain exemptions from the prohibited transaction provisions of Section 406 of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code may be applicable, however, depending in part on the type of Plan fiduciary making the decision to acquire a Note and the circumstances under which such decision is made. Included among these exemptions are Prohibited Transaction Class Exemption ("PTCE") 91-38 (relating to investments by bank collective investment funds), PTCE 84-14 (relating to transactions effected by a "qualified professional asset manager"), PTCE 90-1 (relating to investments by insurance company pooled separate accounts), PTCE 95-60 (relating to investments by insurance company general accounts), and PTCE 96-23 (relating to transactions effected by in-house asset managers), ("investor-Based Exemptions"). There is also a statutory exemption that may be available under Section 408(b)(17) of ERISA and Section 4975(d)(20) of the Code to a party in interest that is a service provider to a Plan investing in the Securities for adequate consideration, provided such service provider is not (i) the fiduciary with respect to the Plan's assets used to acquire the Securities or an affiliate of such fiduciery or (ii) an affiliate of the employer sponsoring the Plan (the "Service Provider Exemption"). Adequate consideration means fair market value as determined in good feith by the Plan fiduciary pursuant to regulations to be promulgated by the U.S. Department of Labor. There can be no assurance that any of these Investor-Based Exemptions or the Service Provider Exemption or any other administrative or statutory exemption will be available with respect to any particular transaction involving the Notes.

Governmental plans and certain church plans, while not subject to the fiduciary responsibility provisions of ERISA or the provisions of Section 4975 of the Code, may nevertheless be subject to state, local or other federal laws that are substantially similar to the foregoing provisions of ERISA and the Code. Fiduciaries of any such plans should consult with their counsel before purchasing any Notes.

Any insurance company proposing to invest assets of its general account in the Notes should consider the extent to which such investment would be subject to the requirements of Title I of ERISA end Section 4975 of the Code in light of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision in John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. v. Harris Trust and Savings Bank, 510 U.S. 88 (1993), and the enactment of Section 401(c) of ERISA on August 20, 1996. In particular, such an insurance company should consider (i) the exemptive relief granted by the U.S. Department of Labor for transactions involving insurance company general accounts in PTCE 95-60 and (ii) if such exemptive relief is not available, whether its purchase of the Notes will be permissible under the final regulations issued under Section 401(c) of ERISA. The final regulations provide guidance on which assets held by an insurance company constitute "plan assets" for purposes of the fiduciary responsibility provisions of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code. The regulations do not exempt the assets of insurance company general accounts from treatment as "plan assets" to the extent they support certain participating annuities issued to Plans after December 31, 1998.

The Co-Issued Notes

The Plan Asset Regulations define an "equity interest" as any interest in an entity other than an instrument that is treated as indebtedness under applicable local law and which has no substantial equity features. As noted above in Income Tax Considerations, it is the opinion of tax counsel to the Issuer that the Co-Issued Notes will be treated as debt for U.S. income tax purposes. Although there is little guidance on the subject, at the time of their issuance, the Co-Issued Notes should be treated as indebtedness without substantial equity features for purposes of the Plan Asset Regulations. This determination is based in part upon (i) tax counsel's opinion that the Co-Issued Notes will be classified as debt for U.S. federal income tax purposes when issued and (ii) the traditional debt features of the Co-Issued Notes, including the reasonable expectation of purchasers of the Co-Issued Notes that they will be repaid when due, as well as the absence of conversion rights, warrants and other typical equity features. Based upon the foregoing and other considerations, subject to the considerations described below, the Co-Issued Notes may be purchased by a Plan. Nevertheless, without regard to whether the Co-Issued Notes are considered equity interests, prohibited transactions within the meaning of Section 406 of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code may arise if the Co-Issued Notes are acquired with the assets of a Plan with respect to which the Issuer, the Initial Purchaser or the Trustee and the Issuing and Paying Agent or in certain circumstances, any of their respective affiliates, is a party in interest or a disqualified person. The Investor-Based Exemptions or the Service Provider Exemption may be available to cover such prohibited transactions.

By its purchase of any Co-Issued Notes, each purchaser and subsequent transferee thereof will be deemed to have represented and warranted, at the time of its acquisition and throughout the period it holds such Co-Issued Note, either that (a) it is neither a Plan nor any entity whose underlying assets include "plan assets" (within the meaning of the Plan Asset Regulations) by reason of such Plan's investment in the entity, nor a governmental, church, non-U.S. or other plan which is subject to any federal, state, local or non-U.S. law that is substantially similar to the provisions of Section 406 of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code or (b) its purchase, holding and disposition of a Co-Issued Note will not constitute or result in a non-exempt prohibited transaction under Section 406 of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code (or, in the case of a governmental, church, non-U.S. or other plan, a non-exempt violation under any substantially similar law).

The Issuer Notes

Equity participation in the Issuer of the Notes by "benefit plan investors" is "significant" and will cause the assets of the Issuer to be deemed the assets of an investing Plan (in the absence of another applicable Plan Asset Regulations exception) if 25% or more of the value of any Class of equity interest in the Issuer is held by "benefit plan investors". Recently, Section 3(42) of ERISA, as enacted under the Pension Protection Act of 2006, effectively amended, by statute, the definition of "benefit plan investors" in the Plan Asset Regulations. Employee benefit plans that are not subject to Title I of ERISA and plans that are not subject to Section 4975 of the Code, such as U.S. governmental and church plans or non-U.S. plans, are no longer considered "benefit plan investors." Accordingly, only employee benefit plans subject to Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code or an entity whose underlying assets include plan assets by reason of such plan's investment in the entity are considered in determining whether investment by "benefit plan investors" represents 25% or more of any class of equity of the Issuer. Therefore, the term "benefit plan investor" includes (a) an employee benefit plan (as defined in Section 3(3) of ERISA) that is subject to the fiduciary responsibility provisions of ERISA, (b) a plan as defined in Section 4975(e)(1) of the Code that is subject to Section 4975 of the Code, (c) any entity whose underlying assets include "plan assets" by reason of any such employee benefit plan's or plan's investment in the entity or (d) as such term is otherwise defined in any regulations promulgated by the U.S. Department of Labor under Section 3(42) of ERISA (collectively, "ERISA Plans").

The Issuer Notes would likely be considered to have substantial equity features under the Plan Asset Regulations. In order to not exceed the 25 percent. limit referred to above, no ERISA Plans shall be permitted to acquire the Issuer Notes in the initial offering or thereafter. Therefore, the fiduciary responsibility and prohibited transaction provisions of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code should not be applicable to the Issuer. An unlimited number of other types of employee benefit plans, such as governmental or non-U.S. plans may invest in the Issuer Notes as their investment is disregarded for these purposes.

BY ITS PURCHASE OR HOLDING OF AN ISSUER NOTE, OR ANY INTEREST THEREIN, THE PURCHASER AND/OR HOLDER THEREOF AND EACH TRANSFEREE WILL BE DEEMED TO HAVE REPRESENTED AND WARRANTED THAT, AT THE TIME OF ITS ACQUISITION, AND THROUGHOUT THE PERIOD THAT IT HOLDS SUCH NOTE OR INTEREST THEREIN, THAT (1) IT IS NOT AN ERISA PLAN; AND IF AFTER ITS INITIAL ACQUISITION OF AN ISSUER NOTE OR ANY INTEREST THEREIN, THE INVESTOR DETERMINES, OR IT IS DETERMINED BY ANOTHER PARTY, THAT SUCH INVESTOR IS AN ERISA PLAN, THE INVESTOR WILL DISPOSE OF ALL OF ITS ISSUER NOTES IN A MANNER CONSISTENT WITH THE RESTRICTIONS SET FORTH IN THE INDENTURE, AND (2) IF IT IS A GOVERNMENTAL, CHURCH, NON-U.S. OR OTHER PLAN THAT IS SUBJECT TO ANY FEDERAL, STATE, LOCAL OR NON-U.S. LAW THAT IS SUBSTANTIALLY SIMILAR TO THE PROVISIONS OF TITLE I OF ERISA OR SECTION 4975 OF THE CODE, ITS PURCHASE, HOLDING AND DISPOSITION OF THE ISSUER NOTES WILL NOT CAUSE A NON-EXEMPT VIOLATION OF ANY U.S. FEDERAL, STATE OR LOCAL LAW OR ANY NON-U.S. LAW THAT IS SUBSTANTIALLY SIMILAR TO TITLE I OF ERISA OR SECTION 4975 OF THE CODE AS A RESULT OF THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED HEREIN AND (3) IT WILL NOT SELL OR OTHERWISE TRANSFER ANY SUCH NOTE OR INTEREST THEREIN TO ANY PERSON WHO IS UNABLE TO SATISFY THE SAME FOREGOING REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES.

There can be no assurance that, despite the transfer restrictions relating to purchases by ERISA Plans, ERISA Plans will not in actuality own 25% or more of such value.

If for any reason the assets of the Issuer are deemed to be "plan assets" of an ERISA Plan because one or more ERISA Plans is an owner of Issuer Notes (or of a Note characterized as an "equity interest" in the Issuer), certain transactions that the Issuer might enter into, or may have entered into, in the ordinary course of its business might constitute non-exempt "prohibited transactions" under Section 406 of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code and might have to be rescinded at significant cost to the Issuer. The Issuer may be prevented from engaging in certain investments (as not being deemed consistent with the ERISA prudent investment standards) or engaging in certain transactions or fee arrangements because they might be deemed to cause non-exempt prohibited transactions. It also is not clear that Section 403(a) of ERISA, which generally requires that all of the assets of a plan or arrangement subject to ERISA be held in trust and limits delegation of investment management responsibilities by fiduciaries of such plans or arrangements, would be satisfied. In addition, it is unclear whether Section 404(b) of ERISA, which generally provides that no fiduciary may maintain the indicia of ownership of any assets of a plan outside the jurisdiction of the district courts of the United States, would be satisfied or any of the exceptions to the requirement set forth in 29 C.F.R. Section 2550.404b-1 would be available.

Any fiduciary of a benefit plan investor or other person who proposes to use assets of any benefit plan investor to purchase any Notes should consult with its counsel regarding the applicability of the fiduciary responsibility and prohibited transaction provisions of ERISA and Section 4975 of the Code to such an investment, and to confirm that such investment will not constitute or result in a non-exempt prohibited transaction or any other violation of an applicable requirement of ERISA.

The sale of any Note to a benefit plan investor, or to a person using assets of any benefit plan investor to effect its purchase of any Note, is in no respect a representation by the Issuer or the Initial Purchaser that such an investment meets all relevant legal requirements with respect to investments by Such accounts initially will be designated by or on behalf of the Initial Purchaser. Ownership of beneficial interests in Global Notes denominated in Dollars will be limited to persons who have accounts with DTC or Euroclear, as the case may be, ("participants") or persons who hold interests through participants. Ownership of beneficial interests in a Global Note will be shown on, and the transfer of that ownership will be effected only through, records maintained by DTC or Euroclear, as the case may be, or their nominee (with respect to interests of participants) and the records of participants (with respect to interests of persons other than participants).

With respect to Notes denominated in Dollars, so long as DTC, or its nominee, is the registered owner or Holder of the Global Notes, DTC or such nominee, as the case may be, will be considered the sole owner or Holder of each Class of the Notes represented by such Global Notes for all purposes under the Indenture and the Issuing and Paying Agency Agreement, as applicable, and such Notes. With respect to Notes denominated in Dollars, Clearstream and Euroclear will hold interests in the Regulation S Global Notes on behalf of their participants through their respective depositaries, which in turn will hold the interests in the Regulation S Global Notes in customers' securities accounts in the depositaries' names on the books of DTC. Investors may hold their interests in a Rule 144A Global Note directly through DTC if they are participants in the system, or indirectly through organizations that are participants in the system.

With respect to Notes denominated in an Approved Currency other than Dollars, payments of the principal of and interest or distributions on such Global Notes will be made to the Common Depository, as the registered owner thereof. None of the Issuers, the Trustee nor any paying agent will have any responsibility or liability for any aspect of the records relating to or payments or distributions made on account of beneficial ownership interests in the Global Notes or for any notice permitted or required to be given to Holders of Notes or any consent given or actions taken by DTC or Euroclear, as applicable, as Holder of Notes. The Issuers expect that DTC or Euroclear or their nominee, as the case may be, upon receipt of any payment of principal, interest or distributions, as the case may be, in respect of a Global Note representing any Notes held by it or its nominee, will immediately credit participants' accounts, in the currency in which the Note is denominated, with payments in amounts proportionate to their respective interests in the principal amount of such Note in global form as shown on the records of DTC or Euroclear, as the case may be, or a nominee thereof. The Issuers also expect that payments by participants to owners of interests in such Global Note held through such participants will be governed by standing instructions and customary practices, as is now the case with securities held for the accounts of customers registered in the names of nominees for such customers. Such payments will be the responsibility of such participants. Payments of the principal of and interest or distributions on the Regulation S Global Notes denominated in Dollars will be made to Clearstream or Euroclear, as applicable, as indirect participants in DTC, in accordance with their respective rules and operating procedures. Payments of the principal of and interest or distributions on the Regulation S Global Notes denominated in Approved Currencies other than Dollars will be made directly to the nominee of Clearstream or Euroclear, as applicable, in accordance with their respective rules and opereting procedures.

Transfers between participants of the same Clearing Agency will be effected in the ordinary way in accordance with such Clearing Agency's rules and will be settled in same-day funds. The laws of some jurisdictions require that certain persons take physical delivery of securities in definitive form. Consequently, the ability to transfer beneficial interests in Global Notes to these persons may be limited. Because the Clearing Agencies can only act on behalf of participants, who in turn act on behalf of indirect participants end certain banks, the ability of a person having e beneficial interest in Global Notes to pledge its interest to persons or entities that do not participate in the DTC or Euroclear system, or otherwise take actions in respect of its interest, may be affected by the lack of a physical certificate of the interest. Transfers between participants or account holders in Euroclear and Clearstream will be effected in the ordinary way in accordance with their respective rules and operating procedures.

With respect to Notes denominated in Dollars, subject to compliance with the transfer restrictions applicable to the Notes described above, cross-market transfers between DTC participants, on the one hand, and, directly or indirectly through Euroclear or Clearstream account holders, on the other, will be effected in DTC in accordance with DTC's rules on behalf of Euroclear or Clearstream, as the case may be, by its respective depositary; however, these cross-market transactions will require delivery of instructions to Euroclear or Clearstream, as the case may be, by the counterparty in the system in accordance with its rules and procedures and within its established deadlines (Brussels time). Euroclear or Clearstream, as the case may be, will, if the transaction meets its settlement requirements, deliver instructions to its respective depositary to take action to effect final settlement on its behalf by delivering or receiving interests in a Regulation S Global Note in DTC, and making or receiving payment in accordance with normal procedures for a same-day funds settlement applicable to DTC. Clearstream and Euroclear account holders may not deliver instructions directly to the depositaries for Clearstream or Euroclear. Notes denominated in Approved Currencies other than Dollars may only be transferred through nominees of Euroclear and Clearstream and may not be transferred through DTC.

Because of time zone differences, the securities account of a Euroclear or Cleerstream participant purchasing an interest in a Global Note from a DTC participant will be credited during the securities settlement processing day (which must be a Business Day for Euroclear or Clearstream, as the case may be) immediately following the DTC settlement date and the credit of any transactions in interests in a Global Note settled during the processing day will be reported to the relevant Euroclear or

Clearstream participant on that day. Cash received in Euroclear or Clearstream as a result of sales of interests in a Global Note by or through a Euroclear or Clearstream participant to a DTC participant will be received with value on the DTC settlement date but will be available in the relevant Euroclear or Clearstream cash account only as of the Business Day following settlement in DTC.

DTC has advised the Issuers that it will take any action permitted to be taken by a Holder of the Notes (including the presentation of the applicable Notes for exchange as described below) only at the direction of one or more participants to whose account with DTC interests in a Global Note are credited and only in respect of that portion or number of the aggregate principal amount of the Notes as to which the participant or participants has or have given direction.

The giving of notices and other communications by any Clearing Agency to participants, by participants to persons who hold accounts with them and by such persons to Holders of beneficial interests in a Global Note will be governed by arrangements between them, subject to any statutory or regulatory requirements as may exist from time to time.

DTC has advised the Issuers as follows: DTC is a limited purpose trust company principally located under the laws of the State of New York, a member of the Federal Reserve System, a "clearing corporation" within the meaning of the Uniform Commercial Code and a "Clearing Agency" registered pursuant to the provisions of Section 17A of the Exchange Act. DTC was created to hold securities for its participants and facilitate the clearance and settlement of securities transactions between participants through electronic book-entry changes in accounts of its participants, thereby eliminating the need for physical movement of certificates. Participants include securities brokers and dealers, banks, trust companies and clearing corporations and may include certain other organizations. Indirect access to the DTC system is available to others such as banks, brokers, dealers and trust companies that clear through or maintain a custodial relationship with a participant, either directly or indirectly ("indirect participants").

Euroclear and Clearstream each hold securities for their customers and facilitate the clearance and settlement of securities transactions through electronic book-entry transfer between their respective accountholders. Indirect access to Euroclear and Clearstream is available to other institutions that clear through or maintain a custodial relationship with an accountholder of either system. Euroclear and Clearstream provide various services including safekeeping, administration, clearance and settlement of internationally-traded securities and securities lending and borrowing. Euroclear and Clearstream also deal with domestic securities markets in several countries through established depository and custodial relationships. Euroclear and Clearstream have established an electronic bridge between their two systems across which their respective customers may settle trades with each other. Their customers are worldwide financial institutions including underwriters, securities brokers and dealers, banks, trust companies and clearing corporations. Investors may hold their interests in a Regulation S Global Note directly through Euroclear or Clearstream if they are accountholders therein ("direct participants") or as indirect participants through organizations that are direct or indirect accountholders in direct participants.

Although the Clearing Agencies have agreed to the foregoing procedures in order to facilitate transfers of interests in Global Notes among participants of the Clearing Agencies, they are under no obligation to perform or continue to perform these procedures, and the procedures may be discontinued at any time. Neither the Issuers, the Trustee nor the Issuing and Paying Agent will have any responsibility for the performance by the Clearing Agencies or their respective participants or indirect participants of their respective obligations under the rules and procedures governing their operations.

Each Regulation S Global Note denominated in an Approved Currency other than Dollars will have an ISIN and a Common Code and will be registered in the name of ABN AMRO GSTS NOMINEES LIMITED as nominee for ABN AMRO Bank N.V. (London Branch) as common depository for Clearstream and Euroclear, and deposited with the Common Depository.

Individual Definitive Securities

Upon receipt of such notice from any Clearing Agency, the Issuer will use its best efforts to make arrangements with such Clearing Agency for the exchange of interests in the Global Notes for individual definitive Notes and cause the requested individual definitive Notes to be executed and delivered to the Note Registrar or Issuer Note Registrar, as applicable, in sufficient quantities and authenticated by or on behalf of the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, for delivery to Holders of the Notes. Persons exchanging interests in a Global Note for individual definitive Notes will be required to provide to the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, through DTC, Clearstream or Euroclear, (i) written instructions and other information required by the Issuer and the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, to complete, execute and deliver such individual definitive Notes, (ii) in the case of an exchange of an interest in a Rule 144A Global Note, such certification as to "Qualified Institutional Buyer" status, and that such Holder is a Qualified Purchaser, as the Issuer shall require and (iii) in the case of an exchange of an interest in a Regulation S Global Note, such certification as the Issuer shall require as to non-U.S. Person status. In all cases, individual definitive Notes delivered in exchange for any Note in global form or beneficial interests therein will be registered in the names, and issued in denominations in compliance with the minimum denominations specified for the applicable Notes in global form, requested by the applicable Clearing Agency.

Individual definitive Notes will bear, and be subject to, such legend as the Issuer requires in order to assure compliance with any applicable law. Individual definitive Notes will be transferable subject to the minimum denomination applicable to such Notes, in whole or in part, and exchangeable for individual definitive Notes of the same kind at the office of the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, or the office of any transfer agent, upon compliance with the requirements set forth in the Indenture. Individual definitive Notes may be transferred through any transfer agent, upon the delivery and duly completed assignment of such Notes. Upon a partial transfer of any Notes represented by the applicable definitive notes therefor, the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, will issue in exchange therefor to the transferee one or more individual definitive Notes representing the amount being so transferred and will issue to the transferor one or more individual definitive Notes representing the remaining amount not being transferred. No service charge will be imposed for any registration of transfer or exchange, but payment of a sum sufficient to cover any tax or other governmental charge may be required. TRANSFER RESTRICTIONS

Because of the following restrictions, purchasers are advised to consult legal counsel prior to making any offer, resale, pledge or transfer of the Notes. Any purchase or transfer of the Notes will be subject to the minimum denomination set forth in "Summary—Notes".

Rule 144A Global Notes

Each purchaser of a beneficial interest in a Rule 144A Global Note will be deemed to have represented and agreed with the Issuer as follows:

(i) (A) The purchaser is a Qualified Institutional Buyer and a Qualified Purchaser, (B) the purchaser is purchasing the Notes for its own account or the account of another Qualified Purchaser that is also a Qualified Institutional Buyer as to which the purchaser exercises sole investment discretion, (C) the purchaser and any such account is acquiring the Notes as principal for its own account for investment and not for sale in connection with any distribution thereof, (D) the purchaser and any such account was not formed solely for the purpose of investing in the Notes (except when each beneficial owner of the purchaser or any such account is a Qualified Purchaser), (E) to the extent the purchaser (or any account for which it is purchasing the Notes) is a private investment company formed on or before April 30, 1996, the purchaser and each such account has received the necessary consent from its beneficial owners, (F) neither the purchaser nor any such account is a pension, profit sharing or other retirement trust fund or plan in which the partners, beneficiaries or participants, as applicable, may designate the particular investments to be made, (G) the purchaser agrees that it and each such account shall not hold such Notes for the benefit of any other Person and shall be the sole beneficial owner thereof for all purposes and that it shall not sell participation interests in the Notes or enter into any other arrangement pursuant to which any other Person shall be entitled to a beneficial interest in the distributions on the Notes, (H) the Notes purchased directly or indirectly by the purchaser or any account for which it is purchasing the Notes constitute an investment of no more than 40% of the purchaser's and each such account's assets (except when each beneficial owner of the purchaser and each such account is a Qualified Purchaser), (I) the purchaser and each such account is purchasing the Notes in a principal amount of not less than the minimum denomination requirement for the purchaser and each such account, (J) the purchaser will provide notice of the transfer restrictions set forth in the Indenture (including the exhibits thereto) to any transferee of its Notes, (K) the purchaser understands and agrees that the Issuer may receive a list of participants in the Notes from one or more book-entry depositories and (L) the purchaser understands and agrees that any purported transfer of the Notes to a purchaser that does not comply with the requirements of this paragraph (i) shall be null and void ab initio.

(ii) If any U.S. Person that is not both a Qualified Institutional Buyer and a Qualified Purchaser at the time it acquires an interest in a Note shall become the beneficial owner of any Note, (any such Person, a "Non-Permitted Holder"), the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, shall, promptly after discovery that such Person is a Non-Permitted Holder by the Issuer, the Co-Issuer, the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable (and notice by the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent or the Co-Issuer to the Issuer, if any of them makes the discovery), send notice to such Non-Permitted Holder demanding that such Non-Permitted Holder transfer its interest to a Person that is not a Non-Permitted Holder within 14 days of the date of such notice. Permitted Holder, to sell such Notes or interest in Notes to a purchaser selected by the Issuer that is not a Non-Permitted Holder on such terms as the Issuer may choose. The Issuer, or the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, acting on behalf of the Issuer, may select the purchaser by soliciting one or more bids from one or more brokers or other market professionals that regularly deal in securities similar to the Notes, and selling such Notes to the highest such bidder. However, the Issuer or the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, may select a purchaser by any other means determined by it in its sole discretion and the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, may, at the expense of the Issuer, engage an independent investment bank to assist in such sale. The Holder of each Note, the Non-Permitted Holder and each other Person in the chain of title from the Holder to the Non-Permitted Holder, by its acceptance of an interest in the Notes, agrees to cooperate with the Issuer and the Trustee or the Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, to effect such transfers. The proceeds of such sale, net of any commissions, expenses and taxes due in connection with such sale shall be remitted to the Non-Permitted Holder. The terms and conditions of any sale under this paragraph shall be determined in the sole discretion of the Issuer, and neither the Issuer nor the Trustee or Issuing and Paying Agent, as applicable, shall be liable to any Person having an interest in the Notes sold as a result of any such sale or the exercise of such discretion.

If (1) an ERISA Plan or (2) a governmental, church, non-U.S. or other plan that is subject to any federal, state, local or non-U.S. law that is substantially similar to the provisions of Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code whose purchase, holding or disposition of an Issuer Note or any beneficial interest therein will result in a non-exempt violation of any federal, state, local or non-U.S. law substantially similar to Section 406 of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code (any such person described in clause (1) or (2) a "Non-Permitted ERISA Plan Holder") becomes the owner of Issuer Notes, the Issuer shall, promptly after discovery that such person is a Non-Permitted ERISA Plan Holder by the Issuer or the Issuing and Paying Agent (and notice by the Issuing and Paying Agent to the Issuer, if the Issuing and Paying Agent makes the discovery), send notice to such Non-Permitted ERISA Plan Holder demanding that such Non-Permitted ERISA Plan Holder transfer its Issuer Notes to a Person that is eligible to purchase such Issuer Notes hereunder within 14 days of the date of such notice. If such Non-Permitted ERISA Plan Holder fails to so transfer such Issuer Notes, the Issuer shall have the right, without further notice to the Non-Permitted ERISA Plan Holder, to sell such Issuer Notes to a purchaser selected by the Issuer that is eligible to purchase such Issuer Notes hereunder on such terms as the Issuer may choose. The Issuer, or the Issuing and Paying Agent acting on behalf of the Issuer, may select the purchaser by soliciting one or more bids from one or more brokers or other market professionals that regularly deal in securities similar to the Issuer Notes and selling such Issuer Notes to the highest such bidder. However, the Issuer or the Issuing and Paying Agent acting on behalf of the Issuer may select a purchaser by any other means determined by it in its sole discretion. The Holder of each Issuer Note, the Non-Permitted ERISA Plan Holder and each other Person in the chain of title from the Holder to the Non-Permitted ERISA Plan Holder, by its acceptance of Issuer Notes agrees to cooperate with the Issuer and the Issuing and Paying Agent to effect such transfers. The proceeds of such sale, net of any commissions, expenses and taxes due in connection with such sale shall be remitted to the Non-Permitted ERISA Plan Holder. The terms and conditions of any sale under this paragraph shall be determined in the sole discretion of the Issuer, and the Issuer shall not be liable to any Person having an interest in the Issuer Notes sold as a result of any such sale or the exercise of such discretion.

(iii) The purchaser understands and agrees that the Notes have not been and will not be registered or qualified under the Securities Act or any applicable state securities laws or the securities laws of any other jurisdiction and the sale of the Notes to the purchaser is being made in reliance on an exemption from registration under the Securities Act, and may be reoffered, resold, pledged or otherwise transferred only (A)(i) to a Person whom the purchaser reasonably believes is a Qualified Institutional Buyer purchasing for its own account or for the account of a Quelified Institutional Buyer as to which the purchaser exercises sole investment discretion in a transaction meeting the requirements of Rule 144A or (ii) in an offshore transaction complying with Rule 903 or Rule 904 of Regulation S and (B) in accordance with all applicable securities laws of the states of the United States. having the effect of causing the Issuer, the Co-Issuer or the Issuer Assets to be required to be registered as an investment company under the Investment Company Act will be recognized. The Notes are subject to the restrictions on transfer set forth herein and in the Indenture and the Notes. The purchaser understands and agrees that any purported transfer of the Notes to a purchaser that does not comply with the requirements of this paragraph (iii) shall be null and void ab initio.

(iv) The purchaser is not a member of the public of the Cayman Islands.

(v) The purchaser is not purchasing the Notes with a view toward the resale, distribution or other disposition thereof in violation of the Securities Act. The purchaser understands and agrees that an investment in the Notes involves certain risks, including the risk of loss of its entire investment in the Notes under certain circumstances. The purchaser has had access to such financial and other information concerning the Issuer and the Notes as it deemed necessary or appropriate in order to make an informed investment decision with respect to its purchase of the Notes, including an opportunity to ask questions of, and request information from, the Issuer.

(vi) In connection with the purchase of the Notes: (A) none of the Issuers, the Initial Purchaser, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, the Protection Buyer, the Basis Swap Counterparty, the Collateral Put Provider, the Collateral Disposal Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent, the Administrator or the Share Trustee (or any of their respective Affiliates) is acting as a fiduciary or financial or investment adviser for the purchaser; (B) the purchaser is not relying (for purposes of making any investment decision or otherwise) upon any advice, counsel or representations (whether written or oral) of the Issuers, the Initial Purchaser, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent, the Administrator or the Share Trustee (or any of their respective Affiliates) other than in the final offering circular for such Notes and any representations expressly set forth in a written agreement with such party; (C) none of the Issuers, the Initial Purchaser, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent, the Administrator or the Share Trustee (or any of their respective Affiliates) has given to the purchaser (directly or indirectly through any other Person) any assurance, guarantee, or representation whatsoever as to the expected or projected success, profitability, return, performance, result, effect, consequence or benefit (including legal, regulatory, tax, financial, accounting or otherwise) as to an investment in the Notes; (D) the purchaser has consulted with its own legal, regulatory, tax, business, investment, financial and accounting advisers to the extent it has deemed necessary, and it has made its own investment decisions (including decisions regarding the suitability of any transaction pursuant to the Indenture) based upon its own judgment and upon any advice from such advisers as it has deemed necessary and not upon any view expressed by the Issuers, the Initial Purchaser, the Trustee, the Issuing and Paying Agent, the Portfolio Selection Agent, the Administrator or the Share Trustee (or any of their respective Affiliates); (E) the purchaser has evaluated the terms and conditions of the purchase and sale of the Notes with a full understanding of all of the risks thereof (economic and otherwise), and it is capable of assuming, and willing to assume (financially and otherwise) those risks; (F) the purchaser is a sophisticated investor; and (G) if acquiring the Notes for any account, the purchaser has not made any disclosure, assurance, guarantee or representation not consistent with the provisions and the requirements contained herein.

(vii) In the case of the Co-Issued Notes, at the time of its acquisition and throughout the period it holds such Co-Issued Note, either (A) the purchaser is not a Plan nor any entity whose underlying assets include "plan assets" (within the meaning of the Plan Asset Regulations) by reason of such Plan's investment in the entity, nor a governmental, church, non-U.S. or other plan which is subject to any federal, state, local or non-U.S. law that is substantially similar to the provisions of Section 406 of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code or (B) if the purchaser is an entity described in (A), the purchase, holding and disposition of a Co-Issued Note, as the case may be, will not constitute or result in a non-exempt prohibited transaction under Section 406 of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code (or, in the case of a governmental, church or non-U.S. or other plan, a non-exempt violation under any substantially similar federal, state, local or non-U.S. law). Any purported transfer of a Note to a purchaser that does not comply with the requirements of this paragraph (vii) shall be null and void ab initio.

(viii) In the case of the Issuer Notes, each purchaser and subsequent transferee of a beneficial interest in any such Note will be deemed to represent that the purchaser or transferee, as the case may be, from the date on which it acquires its interest in such Notes through and including the date on which such purchaser or transferee disposes of its interest in such Notes (1) it is not an ERISA Plan; and if after its initial acquisition of any such Note or any interest therein, the investor determines, or it is determined by another party, that such investor is an ERISA Plan, the investor will dispose of all of its Issuer Notes in a manner consistent with the restrictions set forth in the Indenture, and (2) if it is a governmental, church, non-U.S. or other plan that is subject to any federal, state, local or non-U.S. law that is substantially similar to the provisions of Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code, its purchase, holding and disposition of any such Notes will not cause a non-exempt violation of any U.S. federal, state or local law or any non-U.S. law which is substantially similar to Title I of ERISA or Section 4975 of the Code as a result of the transactions contemplated herein and (3) it will not sell or otherwise transfer any such Note or interest therein to any person who is unable to satisfy the same foregoing representations and warranties.

UNDERWRITING

Subject to the terms and conditions set forth in the Purchase Agreement, the Issuers, with respect to the Co-Issued Notes issued on the Closing Date and the Issuer, with respect to the Issuer Notes issued on the Closing Date have agreed to sell, on the Closing Date, and Goldman, Sachs & Co. has agreed to purchase all of such Notes.

Under the terms and conditions of the Purchase Agreement, the Initial Purchaser is committed to take and pay for all the Notes to be offered to the Initial Purchaser, not if any are taken. Under the terms and conditions of the Purchase Agreement, Goldman, Sachs & Co. will be entitled to an underwriting discount. After the Notes are released for sale, the Initial Purchaser may change the offering price and other selling terms.

The Notes have not been and will not be registered under the Securities Act for offer or sale as part of their distribution and may not be offered or sold within the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, a U.S. Person or a U.S. resident (as determined for purposes of the Investment Company Act, a "U.S. Resident") except in certain transactions exempt from, or not subject to, the registration requirements of the Securities Act.

The Issuers have been advised by the Initial Purchaser that (a) the Initial Purchaser proposes to resell the Notes outside the United States through its agent, Goldman Sachs International, in offshore transactions in reliance on Regulation S and in accordance with applicable law, and (b) the Initial Purchaser proposes to resell the Notes in the United States in reliance on Rule 144A under the Securities Act only to Qualified Institutional Buyers purchasing for their own accounts or for the accounts of Qualified Institutional Buyers each of which purchasers or accounts is a Qualified Purchaser. The offering price and the Initial Purchaser's underwriting discount will be the same for the Regulation S Global Notes and the Rule 144A Global Notes within each Class of Notes. Any offer or sale of Rule 144A Global Notes in reliance on Rule 144A or another exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act will be made by broker-dealers who are registered as such under the Exchange Act. After the Notes are released for sale, the offering price and other selling terms may from time to time be varied by the Initial Purchaser.

The Initial Purchaser has acknowledged and agreed that it will not offer, sell or deliver any Notes sold pursuant to Regulation S to, or for the account or benefit of, any U.S. Person or U.S. Resident (as determined for purposes of the Investment Company Act) as part of its distribution at any time and that it will send to each distributor, dealer or person receiving a selling concession, fee or other remuneration to which it sells Notes pursuant to Regulation S e confirmation or other notice setting forth the prohibition on offers and sales of Notes sold pursuant to Regulation S within the United States or to, or for the account or benefit of, any U.S. Person or U.S. Resident.

With respect to the Notes initially sold pursuant to Regulation S, until the expiration of 40 days after the commencement of the distribution of the offering of Notes by the Initial Purchaser, an offer or sale of Notes within the United States by a dealer that is not participating in the offering may violate the registration requirements of the Securities Act if such offer or sale is made otherwise than in accordance with Rule 144A or pursuant to another exemption from registration under the Securities Act.

In connection with the offering, the Initial Purchaser may purchase and sell the Notes in the open market. These transactions may include short sales, stabilizing transactions and purchases to cover positions created by short sales. Short sales involve the sale by the Initial Purchaser of a greater amount of Notes than they are required to purchase in the offering. Stabilizing transactions consist of certain bids or purchases made for the purpose of preventing or retarding a decline in the market price of the Notes while the offering is in progress.

The Initial Purchaser also may impose a penalty bid. This occurs when the Initial Purchaser repays a portion of the underwriting discount received by it because such Initial Purchaser or its Affiliates have repurchased Notes sold by or for the account of such Initial Purchaser in stabilizing or short covering transactions.

These activities by the Initial Purchaser may stabilize, maintain or otherwise affect the market price of the Notes. As a result, the price of the Notes may be higher than the price that otherwise might exist in the open market. If these activities are commenced, they may be discontinued by the Initial Purchaser at any time. These transactions may be effected in the over-the-counter market or otherwise.

In relation to each Member State of the European Economic Area which has implemented the Prospectus Directive (each, a "Relevant Member State"), the Initial Purchaser has represented and agreed that with effect from and including the date on which the Prospectus Directive is implemented in that Relevant Member State (the "Relevant Implementation Date") it has not made and will not make an offer of Notes to the public in that Relevant Member State prior to the publication of a prospectus in relation to the Notes which has been approved by the competent authority in that Relevant Member State or, where appropriate, approved in another Relevant Member State and notified to the competent authority in that Relevant Member State, all in accordance with the Prospectus Directive, except that it may, with effect from and including the Relevant Implementation Date, make an offer of Notes to the public in that Relevant Member State at any time:

(i) to legal entities which are authorized or regulated to operate in the financial markets or, if not so authorized or regulated, whose corporate purpose is solely to invest in securities;

(ii) to any legal entity which has two or more of (1) an average of at least 250 employees during the last financial year; (2) a total balance sheet of more than €43,000,000 and (3) an annual net turnover of more than €50,000,000, as shown in its last annual or consolidated accounts; or

(iii) in any other circumstances which do not require the publication by the Issuer of a prospectus pursuant to Article 3 of the Prospectus Directive.

For the purposes of this provision, the expression an "offer of Notes to the public" in relation to any Notes in any Relevant Member State means the communication in any form and by any means of sufficient information on the terms of the offer and the Notes to be offered so as to enable an investor to decide to purchase or subscribe the Notes, as the same may be varied in that Relevant Member State by any measure implementing the Prospectus Directive in that Relevant Member State and the expression Prospectus Directive means Directive 2003/71/EC and includes any relevant implementing measure in each Relevant Member State.

The Initial Purchaser has represented and agreed that:

(i) it is a person whose ordinary activities involve it in acquiring, holding, managing or disposing of investments (as principal or agent) for the purposes of its business and (ii) it has not offered or sold and will not offer or sell the Notes other than to persons whose ordinary activities involve them in acquiring, holding, managing or disposing of investments (as principal or as agent) for the purposes of their businesses or who it is reasonable to expect will acquire, hold, manage or dispose of investments (as principal or agent) for the purposes of their businesses where the issue of the Notes would otherwise

"ABS Car Rental Receivable Securities": Securities that entitle the holders thereof to receive payments that depend (except for rights or other assets designed to assure the servicing or timely distribution of proceeds to holders of such securities) on the cash flow from leases and subleases of vehicles to car rental companies and their franchisees, generally having the following characteristics: (1) the leases and subleases have varying contractual maturities; (2) the subleases are obligations of numerous franchisees and accordingly represent a diversified pool of obligor credit risk; (3) the repayment stream on such leases and subleases is primarily determined by a contractual payment schedule, with early termination of such leases and subleases predominantly dependent upon the disposition to a lessee or third party of the underlying vehicle; and (4) such leases or subleases typically provide for the right of the lessee or sublessee to purchase the vehicle for its stated residual value and are subject to payments at the end of lease term for excess mileage or use in the event that the lessee or sublessee does not exercise such purchase option.

"ABS Credit Card Securities": Securities that entitle the holders thereof to receive payments that depend (except for rights or other assets designed to assure the servicing or timely distribution of proceeds to holders of such securities) on the cash flow from balances outstanding under revolving consumer credit card accounts, generally having the following characteristics:

(i) the accounts have standardized payment terms and require minimum monthly payments;

(ii) the balances are obligations of numerous borrowers and accordingly represent a diversified pool of obligor credit risk; and

(iii) the repayment stream on such balances does not depend upon a contractual payment schedule, with repayment depending primarily on interest rates, availability of credit against a maximum credit limit and general economic matters.

"ABS Future Flow Securities": Securities that are financings by companies that export products and involve securitizations of offshore U.S. Dollar-denominated receivables under contracts with foreign buyers or from sale through an established market pursuant to which cash generated from the existing and future receivables is captured, typically paid to a trust or collateral account in the United States and is used to service the debt evidenced by such securities. In a typical existing and future receivables transaction, the originator of the receivables establishes a limited purpose financing vehicle that issues such securities. The originator receives the issuance proceeds and may use these funds for general corporate purposes. ABS Future Flow Securities are generally backed by one or more contracts requiring the originator to generate the receivables backing the securities. In such a situation, if the receivables are not generated or if insufficient amounts of receivables are generated, holders of such securities may not receive the payments they are owed. Sellers of receivables in future receivables transactions are frequently in countries with low credit ratings. ABS Future Flow Securities may achieve a rating above the foreign currency sovereign rating of such company's country of domicile, thereby enabling the originator to obtain financing at a relatively lower cost than traditional loans or direct issuance of bonds by the originator. The determination of whether an ABS Future Flow Security shall be classified as an Excluded Specified Type shall be made by reference to the types of receivables expected to be generated. Any ABS Future Flow Security so classified as an Excluded Specified Type will be excluded from the definition of "Structured Product Security" (unless it is a Wrapped Security) and each other Excluded Specified Type.

proceeds to holders of such securities) on the cash flow from loans made to students (or their parents) to finance educational needs.

"ABS Subprime Auto Securities": Securities that entitle the holders thereof to receive payments that depend (except for rights or other assets designed to assure the servicing or timely distribution of proceeds to holders of such securities) on the cash flow from subprime installment sale loans made to finance the acquisition of, or from leases of, automobiles, generally having the following characteristics: (1) the loans or leases may have varying contractual maturities; (2) the loans or leases are obligations of numerous borrowers or lessees and accordingly represent a diversified pool of obligor credit risk; (3) the borrowers or lessees under the loans or leases generally have a poor credit rating; (4) the repayment stream on such loans or leases is primarily determined by a contractual payment schedule, with early repayment on such loans or leases predominantly dependent upon the disposition of the underlying vehicle; and (5) such leases typically provide for the right of the lessee to purchase the vehicle for its stated residual value and are subject to payments at the end of the lease term for excess mileage or use in the event that the lessee does not exercise such purchase option; provided that any security falling within this definition will be excluded from the definition of "Structured Product Security" (unless it is a Wrapped Security) and each other Excluded Specified Type.

"ABS Timeshare Securities": Securities that entitle the holders thereof to receive payments that depend (except for rights or other assets designed to assure the servicing or timely distribution of proceeds to holders of such securities) on the cash flow from borrowers under timeshare mortgage loans. Timeshare mortgage loans are generally fixed rate, fully amortizing loans that are secured by first mortgage liens on timeshare estates. A timeshare estate consists of an interval (generally measured in weeks) in vacation ownership of fully furnished vacation units or apartments. Usage and ownership is generally divided into 52 one-week intervals, with one or two weeks reserved for maintenance. Ownership can also be through undivided fee simple interests ("UDIs") in a group of units. Owners become tenants in common with other owners of undivided interests, with "use" rights which allow more flexibility in terms of length and timing of stay than fixed week intervals, as purchasers are not restricted to fixed fee usage. Any security falling within this definition will be excluded from the definition of "Structured Product Security" (unless it is a Wrapped Security) and each other Excluded Specified Type.
