114TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. R. 400

To require the Secretary of State and the Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development to submit reports on definitions of placement and recruitment fees for purposes of enabling compliance with the Trafficking Victims Protection Act of 2000, and for other purposes.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

JANUARY 16, 2015

Mr. ROYCE (for himself and Mr. ENGEL) introduced the following bill; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs

A BILL

To require the Secretary of State and the Administrator of the United States Agency for International Development to submit reports on definitions of placement and recruitment fees for purposes of enabling compliance with the Trafficking Victims Protection Act of 2000, and for other purposes.

1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2 tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3 SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

4 This bill may be referred to as the “Trafficking Pre-
5 vention in Foreign Affairs Contracting Act”.

1 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

2 Congress finds the following:

3 (1) The Department of State and the United
4 States Agency for International Development
5 (USAID) rely on contractors to provide various serv-
6 ices in foreign countries such as construction, secu-
7 rity, and facilities maintenance.

8 (2) In certain cases, such as where the employ-
9 ment of local labor is impractical or poses security
10 risks, Department of State and USAID contractors
11 sometimes employ foreign workers who are citizens
12 neither of the United States nor of the host country
13 and are recruited from developing countries where 14 low wages and recruitment methods often make 15 them vulnerable to a variety of trafficking-related 16 abuses.

17 (3) A January 2011 report of the Office of the 18 Inspector General for the Department of State,
19 while it found no evidence of direct coercion by con-
20 tractors, found that a significant majority of their 21 foreign workers in certain Middle East countries re-
22 ported paying substantial fees to recruiters that, ac-
23 cording to the Inspector General, “effectively re-
24 sulted in debt bondage at their destinations”. Ap-
25 proximately one-half of the workers were charged re-
26 cruitment fees equaling more than six months’ sal-

1 ary. More than a quarter of the workers reported
2 fees greater than one year's salary and, in some of 3 those cases, fees that could not be paid off in two
4 years, the standard length of a contract.

5 (4) A November 2014 report of the United
6 States Government Accountability Office (GAO-15-
7 102) found that the Department of State, USAID,
8 and the Defense Department need to strengthen
9 their oversight of contractors' use of foreign workers
10 in high-risk environments in order to better protect 11 against trafficking in persons.

12 (5) The GAO report recommended that those 13 agencies should develop more precise definitions of 14 recruitment fees, and that they should better ensure 15 that contracting officials include prevention of traf-
16 ficking in persons in contract monitoring plans and 17 processes, especially in areas where the risk of traf-
18 ficking in persons is high.

19 (6) Of the three agencies addressed in the GAO
20 report, only the Department of Defense expressly
21 concurred with GAO's definitional recommendation
22 and committed to defining recruitment fees and to
23 incorporating that definition in its acquisition regu-
24 lations as necessary.

1 (7) In formal comments to GAO, the Depart-
2 ment of State stated that it forbids the charging of 3 any recruitment fees by contractors, and both the 4 Department of State and USAID noted a proposed
5 Federal Acquisition Regulation (FAR) rule that pro-
6 hibits charging any recruitment fees to employees.

7 (8) However, according to GAO, neither the 8 Department of State nor USAID specifically defines
9 what constitutes a prohibited recruitment fee: “Con-
10 tracting officers and agency officials with monitoring
11 responsibilities currently rely on policy and guidance
12 regarding recruitment fees that are ambiguous.
13 Without an explicit definition of the components of 14 recruitment fees, prohibited fees may be renamed
15 and passed on to foreign workers, increasing the risk
16 of debt bondage and other conditions that contribute 17 to trafficking.”.

18 (9) GAO found that, although Department of 19 State and USAID guidance requires their respective 20 contracting officials to monitor compliance with traf-
21 ficking in persons requirements, they did not con-
22 sistently have specific processes in place to do so in 23 all of the contracts that GAO sampled.

1 SEC. 3. REPORTS ON DEFINITION OF PLACEMENT AND RE-
2 CRUITMENT FEES AND ENHANCEMENT OF
3 CONTRACT MONITORING TO PREVENT TRAF-
4 FICKING IN PERSONS.

5 (a) DEPARTMENT OF STATE REPORT.—Not later
6 than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act,
7 the Secretary of State shall submit to the appropriate
8 committees of Congress a report that includes the matters
9 described in subsection (c) with respect to the Department
10 of State.

11 (b) USAID REPORT.—Not later than 180 days after 12 the date of the enactment of this Act, the Administrator
13 of the United States Agency for International Develop-
14 ment (USAID) shall submit to the appropriate committees
15 of Congress a report that includes the matters described 16 in subsection (c) with respect to USAID.

17 (c) MATTERS TO BE INCLUDED.—The matters de-
18 scribed in this subsection are the following:

19 (1) A proposed definition of placement and re-
20 cruitment fees for purposes of complying with sec-
21 tion 106(g)(iv)(IV) of the Trafficking Victims Pro-
22 tection Act of 2000 (22 U.S.C. 7104(g)(iv)(IV)), in-23 cluding a description of what fee components and 24 amounts are prohibited or are permissible for con-
25 tractors or their agents to charge workers under 26 such section.

1 (2) An explanation of how the definition de-
2 scribed in paragraph (1) will be incorporated into
3 grants, contracts, cooperative agreements, and con-
4 tracting practices, so as to apply to the actions of 5 grantees, subgrantees, contractors, subcontractors,
6 labor recruiters, brokers, or other agents, as speci-
7 fied in section 106(g) of the Trafficking Victims
8 Protection Act of 2000 (22 U.S.C. 7104(g)).

9 (3) A description of actions taken during the 10 180-day period preceding the date of submission of 11 the report and planned to be taken during the one-
12 year period following the date of submission of the 13 report to better ensure that officials responsible for 14 grants, contracts, and cooperative agreements and 15 contracting practices include the prevention of traf-
16 ficking in persons in plans and processes to monitor
17 such grants, contracts, and cooperative agreements
18 and contracting practices, particularly as such agree-
19 ments and contracting practices relate to areas of 20 the world in which the risk of trafficking in persons
21 is high.

22 (d) APPROPRIATE COMMITTEES OF CONGRESS.—In 23 this section, the term “appropriate committees of Con-
24 gress” means the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the

1 House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign
2 Relations of the Senate.

3 SEC. 4. DEFINITION.

4 In this Act, the term “trafficking in persons” has the 5 meaning given the term in section 103(9) of the Traf-
6 ficking Victims Protection Act of 2000 (22 U.S.C.
7 7102(9)).

114TH CONGRESS
1ST SESSION

H. RES. 53

Condemning the cowardly attack on innocent men, women, and children in the northeastern Nigerian town of Baga.

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

JANUARY 27, 2015

Ms. KELLY of Illinois submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs

RESOLUTION

Condemning the cowardly attack on innocent men, women, and children in the northeastern Nigerian town of Baga.

Whereas, on the night of January 3, 2015, the terrorist group Boko Haram launched a cowardly attack on innocent men, women, and children in the northeastern Nigerian town of Baga;

Whereas the terrorists of Boko Haram used assault rifles,
grenade launchers, and fire to slaughter innocent civilians;

Whereas the scope of casualties in this attack totals in the hundreds and possibly thousands;

Whereas most of the victims of this attack were women, children, and elderly people;

Whereas Amnesty International describes the attack as the terrorist group's "deadliest massacre" to date;

Whereas local defense groups are reported to have given up counting the bodies left lying on the streets of Baga;

Whereas these unprovoked attacks have resulted in many Nigerians being not likely to vote in the upcoming Presidential elections;

Whereas human rights groups have indicated that the Nigerian state security forces should improve efforts to protect civilians during offensive operations against Boko Haram;

Whereas numerous reports have indicated security forces in the region are fleeing when confronted by Boko Haram;

Whereas Boko Haram now reportedly controls Baga and 16 neighboring towns in northeastern Nigeria;

Whereas this terrorist group killed 10,000 people in Nigeria alone in 2014; and

Whereas Boko Haram has displaced over 1,000,000 innocent people: Now, therefore, be it

1 Resolved, That the House of Representatives—

2 (1) expresses its strong support for the people
3 of Nigeria, especially the men, women, and children
4 in the northeastern Nigerian town of Baga who were 5 victimized, abducted, trafficked, and murdered by 6 the terrorist group Boko Haram;

7 (2) condemns Boko Haram for its violent at-
8 tacks on civilian targets, including schools, mosques,

1 churches, villages, and agricultural centers in Nige-
2 ria;

3 (3) encourages the Government of Nigeria to
4 strengthen efforts to protect civilians from the ter-
5 rorists of Boko Haram;

6 (4) supports offers of United States assistance
7 to the Government of Nigeria in the search for the 8 school girls abducted by Boko Haram; and

9 (5) encourages the Government of Nigeria to
10 work with the United States, and other governments
11 in the region such as Chad, Niger, and Cameroon,
12 to defeat Boko Haram.

AMENDMENT IN THE NATURE OF A SUBSTITUTE
TO H. RES. 53
OFFERED BY MS. KELLY OF ILLINOIS

Strike the preamble and insert the following:

Whereas on the night of January 3, 2015, the terrorist group Boko Haram launched a horrific attack on innocent men, women, and children in the northeastern Nigerian town of Baga;

Whereas the terrorists of Boko Haram used assault rifles, grenade launchers, and fire to slaughter innocent civilians and the scope of casualties in this one attack totals in the hundreds and possibly thousands;

Whereas some nongovernmental organizations have described the attack in Baga as the terrorist group's "deadliest massacre" to date;

Whereas Nigerian security forces have been largely unable to prevent Boko Haram's territorial advances in the northeast since July 2014;

Whereas human rights groups have indicated that the Nigerian state security forces should improve efforts to protect civilians during offensive operations against Boko Haram;

Whereas this Islamist terrorist group, designated as a United States Foreign Terrorist Organization in November 2013, has killed over 5,000 people in Nigeria in 2014 alone and displaced over 1,000,000 innocent people;

Whereas Boko Haram has launched attacks in the neighboring countries of Cameroon, Niger, and Chad;

Whereas Boko Haram's leadership have voiced support for and received some funding and training from other Islamist terrorist groups, such as al Qaeda and its affiliates and has recently embraced propaganda tactics similar to the Islamic State of Iraq and Levant;

Whereas Boko Haram has abducted hundreds of civilians, using women and children as slaves, subjecting them to sexual abuse, and deploying them as suicide bombers, and forcibly recruiting boys as child soldiers;

Whereas Boko Haram has threatened to disrupt the Nigerian elections and attacks such as the one in Baga may result in many Nigerians being unable to vote in the upcoming national elections;

Whereas election-related violence in Nigeria has occurred in successive elections, including in 2011, when nearly 800 people died and some 65,000 were displaced in clashes following the presidential election;

Whereas President Goodluck Jonathan, Major General (retired) Muhammadu Buhari, and other presidential candidates signed the "Abuja Accord" on January 14, 2015, committing themselves and their campaigns to refrain from public statements that incite violence, to run on issue-based platforms that do not seek to divide citizens along religious or ethnic lines, and to support the impartial conduct of the electoral commission and the security services;

Whereas Secretary of State John Kerry traveled to Nigeria on January 25, 2015, to emphasize the importance of ensuring the upcoming elections are peaceful, nonviolent, and credible;

Whereas Nigeria was scheduled to hold national elections on February 14, 2015, but the elections were postponed for 6 weeks and are now scheduled for March 28, 2015;

Whereas political tensions in the country are high, and either electoral fraud or violence could undermine the credibility of the upcoming election;

Whereas Nigeria is Africa's largest economy, biggest oil producer, and most populous nation, making it an influential country in the region; and

Whereas Nigeria is an important partner of the United States and it is in the best interest of the United States to maintain close ties with Nigeria: Now, therefore, be it

Strike all after the resolving clause and insert the following:

That the House of Representatives—

- 1 (1) expresses its strong support for the people
- 2 of Nigeria, especially the men, women, and children
- 3 in northeastern Nigeria, including the town of Baga,
- 4 who have been terrorized, abducted, trafficked, and

- 7 tacks on civilian targets, including schools, mosques,
- 8 churches, villages, and markets in Nigeria;

1 (3) encourages the Government of Nigeria to
2 strengthen efforts to protect civilians from the ter-
3 rorists of Boko Haram, including through coopera-
4 tion with neighboring countries and other inter-
5 national actors;

6 (4) urges all political candidates to uphold the 7 commitments outlined in the “Abuja Accord” and 8 the Government of Nigeria to hold their elections
9 without further delay on March 28, 2015;

10 (5) remains committed to protecting democratic
11 principles and universal human rights worldwide;

12 (6) supports efforts of United States assistance
13 to the Government of Nigeria to combat Boko
14 Haram and the search of those who have been ab-
15 ducted by Boko Haram; and

16 (7) applauds the countries of the region and the 17 African Union for their efforts to establish a re-
18 gional security force, which will include Chad, Niger,
19 Nigeria, Cameroon, and Benin, to combat Boko
20 Haram and supports offers robust security of assist-
21 ance to strengthen the force’s capacity.

Amend the title so as to read: “A resolution condemning the cowardly attacks on innocent men, women, and children in northeastern Nigeria by Boko Haram and urging a peaceful and credible national election.”.

Chairman ROYCE. So we begin with H.R. 400, Trafficking Prevention in Foreign Affairs Contracting Act. And this has to do with a problem that we have at some of our posts overseas. The State Department, as you know, and the USAID rely on contractors to provide services like construction, security and maintenance. And those contractors employ foreign workers and often they are recruited from faraway developing countries, where they are vulnerable to abuse. And, in particular, labor recruiters may charge prospective employees recruitment fees or payments, basically, for the right to work. So current law prohibits U.S. contractors from, in theory, charging foreign workers unreasonable recruitment fees and the State Department claims to prohibit any recruitment fees at all.

However, neither State nor USAID have defined what constitutes a recruitment fee. And this ambiguity, unfortunately, has allowed some recruiters to simply rename these fees and continue charging them. And this is a serious problem.

We have a 2011 report by the State Department Inspector General, and in that report they found that a majority of State's foreign contract workers in certain Middle Eastern countries were paying substantial fees to recruiters, sometimes more than a year's salary, resulting in—and this is in the words of the Inspector General—"effective debt bondage." To ensure that our overseas contracting does not feed the problem, this bill requires State and USAID to define what prohibited recruitment fees are and to report to Congress on their plans to improve contract monitoring to protect against human trafficking.

Then, the other bill I will mention is amendment to House Resolution 53, a resolution condemning Boko Haram and urging a peaceful and credible national election. And last month Boko Haram launched what some say is the worst attack to date, a powerful statement if you think of their previous atrocities, including kidnapping nearly 300 school girls in Chibok. But satellite images from Baga show a town now completely leveled, thousands, thousands of boys and girls, mothers, and fathers, killed in this attack. It is no wonder that Boko Haram is being called the ISIS of Africa. And this resolution condemns the attack and expresses support for U.S. security assistance to the recently established African Union Regional Force, stood up to fight Boko Haram. Alongside these security concerns, Nigeria is also facing a watershed Presidential election. The political environment is extremely tense. The Nigerian Government has already delayed elections originally scheduled for mid-February, and this resolution urges Nigeria to avoid any further delays as well.

I want to thank Representative Kelly for introducing this timely resolution, and I should also recognize the leadership of multiple committee members, including the Africa Subcommittee Chairman Smith on Nigeria—and Boko Haram in particular—along with Karen Bass, the ranking member on that subcommittee. I will now turn to Mr. Eliot Engel for his comments on these two measures.

Mr. ENGEL. Thank you very much, Mr. Chairman. And thank you for holding this markup and, as always, for working with us in a bipartisan manner. I strongly support the two measures in this en bloc, H.R. 400, Trafficking Prevention in Foreign Affairs Contracting Act, and H. Res. 53, a resolution condemning the attacks by Boko Haram in Northeastern Nigeria.

Mr. Chairman, I want to commend your leadership on human trafficking issues. You mentioned all of the people, our colleagues who have done this, Mr. Smith for years, and so many other people on this committee. As you noted, current law prohibits U.S. Government contractors from charging foreign workers unreasonable placement and recruitment fees, but as the GAO has pointed out, neither the State Department nor USAID has adequately defined what “unreasonable” means. We don’t want to leave any ambiguity that could lead to debt bondage or any other form of human trafficking. The bill simply requires State Department and USAID to submit a report clarifying this definition.

Human trafficking is a modern slavery, a horrific crime and an assault on freedom and justice. As a leader in fighting this scourge, our Government needs to make sure that our procurement and contracting practices don’t lead to abuse or exploitation of workers. The bill before us today will help ensure taxpayer dollars aren’t inadvertently making this problem worse. I strongly support this legislation and urge all of my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. Chairman, I also support H. Res. 53, a resolution condemning Boko Haram and encouraging free, fair, and ontime elections in Nigeria. I want to commend our new colleague on the committee, Congresswoman Robin Kelly, for introducing this important measure and for her leadership on this issue. Nigeria is going through a very difficult period right now. The brutal terrorist group Boko Haram has continued its reign of terror ruthlessly killing hundreds of civilians in the northeast part of the country, and in a controversial move, Nigeria’s Presidential election has been postponed.

Over the past 5 years, Nigeria’s leaders have not dealt adequately with the challenge of Boko Haram. They must do better. And that is what this resolution says. It also applauds the efforts of other countries in the region, including Chad, Niger, and Cameroon, to cooperate in the offensive against Boko Haram.

With respect to Nigeria’s elections, I am deeply concerned by the 6-week delay announced earlier this month by the elected commission. Many believe this action was politically motivated. Nigeria is Africa’s largest democracy and economy. The continent cannot afford the illegitimate elections to undermine stability in that country. This resolution urges the Government of Nigeria to hold elections on March 28, and calls on all parties to refrain from violence. Credible elections in such an important country will help project stability across the continent.

So I urge my colleagues to as well support this important resolution.

Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Engel.

I want to turn next to Congresswoman Robin Kelly of Illinois, the author of House Resolution 53.

Ms. KELLY. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I want to extend my thanks to Chairman Royce, Ranking Member Engel, and the majority and minority staffs for their work in organizing today’s markup.

The resolution that I have offered in a substitute amendment is intended to serve as a direct message to Boko Haram that their terror and extremism will not be ignored. Their ideology will not be tolerated, and their legacy of savagery will not endure in the annals of history. Like so many across the world, I am outraged by the brutality and senselessness of Boko Haram's crimes. As we work with the international community to reduce the threat of terrorism around the world, we are reminded that Boko Haram has killed over 5,000 people in Nigeria in 2014 and displaced over 1 million innocent people.

Boko Haram has abducted hundreds of civilians using women and children as slaves and subjecting them to sexual abuse, suicide bombers, and child soldiers. Boko Haram has threatened to disrupt the Nigerian elections and intimidate would-be voters. Victimizing innocent men, women, and children for perverse and ideological gain will never be tolerated or treated as just by the international community. With our vote today, this committee can affirm that we stand for the human rights, dignity, and security of the Nigerian people. We will not tolerate a world in which Boko Haram or any terrorist organization can slaughter innocent civilians; we respect the right of women to be educated without the threat of violence; and that we support free and fair elections that do not have the threat of suppression and intimidation lingering around them.

While they are not on this committee, I want to thank our colleagues Congresswomen Frederica Wilson and Corrine Brown for their leadership on this issue, and I again thank the chairman and ranking member for their work in marking up this resolution.

I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. We turn now to Mr. Matt Salmon of Arizona.

Mr. SALMON. Thanks, Mr. Chairman, and thank you for drafting this important bill and bringing it up so quickly at the beginning of the Congress. I have consistently supported any measures and legislation that would hold North Korea accountable to its intolerable actions.

Chairman ROYCE. Mr. Salmon, we will take that bill up next, but right now, the en bloc amendment, sir.

Mr. SALMON. Oh, the en bloc amendment. Thank you.

Chairman ROYCE. Any other members seek to—Mr. Cicilline from Rhode Island.

Mr. CICILLINE. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I want to thank you and Ranking Member Engel for swiftly scheduling the first markup of a new Congress to address critical issues in the world right now. I am happy to see us move forward on a number of bills that I am very proud to have cosponsored. I am particularly grateful to the chairman and the ranking member for their leadership on human trafficking with the Trafficking Prevention in Foreign Affairs Contracting Act. Put simply, human trafficking is slavery. It violates the founding principles of the United States of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness, and humanity's very basic principle of respect. The United States must continue to lead efforts in combating human trafficking, and I am very pleased that we are marking up legislation to improve transparency and enforcement regarding the oversight of recruitment fees paid by foreign workers.

Finally, I was proud to cosponsor the resolution offered by my friend and colleague Congresswoman Robin Kelly condemning the violence and terrorism perpetrated by Boko Haram, abducting innocent students and forcing children into marriage or slavery is unconscionable. And no child in any part of the world should live in constant fear of kidnapping or death. We must send a strong message to Boko Haram that these heinous acts and their other terrorist activities are unacceptable. There is no question that the United States must do everything in its power to work with our partners to stop Boko Haram.

And I, too, want to acknowledge the advocacy and passionate work of our colleague, Congresswoman Frederica Wilson.

But also in our partnership with Nigeria, we must also enforce our expectations that the Nigerian Government is honest, fair, and treats all of its citizens with dignity.

Last year, Nigeria enacted a law which added additional criminal penalties against lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender individuals. Although titled "The Same-Sex Marriage Prohibition bill," the law goes well beyond prohibiting marriage equality to actively discriminate against LGBT individuals and their allies in meaningful ways. Since enactment of the law, we have received reports of escalated violence, police and government oppression, and censorship. And while we commit to the full might of the United States to fighting Boko Haram, we cannot ignore egregious human rights violations at the same time.

Again, I commend the chairman and the ranking member for moving these important pieces of legislation, and I look forward to their passage, and I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Cicilline.

We go now to Mr. Smith of New Jersey. His Africa Subcommittee has done key work on Nigeria and Boko Haram, pushing for its designation as a foreign terrorist organization.

Mr. SMITH. Mr. Chairman, thank you very much for bringing these bills before the committee and for your leadership on the trafficking bill. I think that is a very timely bill. The GAO report adds exclamation points to what this will seek to accomplish, the one that was done just a few months ago. So thank you for that leadership.

You know, on the whole idea of exploiting workers and falsifying recruitment procedures as well as recruitment fees, this has been a problem that has plagued our own procurement process. I held a series of hearings, Mr. Chairman, and two of them were joint hearings; one with Duncan Hunter when he was the chairman of the Armed Services Committee and the other with John McHugh when he was a subcommittee chairman. And we were able to probe and discover very, very egregious practices on the part of our own procurement, whereby contractors as well as recruitment people in Jordan and elsewhere were inviting people to come to work for us, only to be told once they got here that they couldn't leave. They were in substandard housing. Their passports were taken away from them, and then they were living in despicable circumstances and getting pay that was nowhere near what they were earning—or should have earned—and what they were promised.

It fits the definition of a labor trafficking offense. We have pressed repeatedly that in all procurement, across the board in the United States Government, that we set the standard, not be part of the problem but be part of the solution when it comes to purchasing and when it comes to employing people, particularly overseas. It has not been a good record. And, again, this I think helps us get further information, further clarification about how we can do much better.

I would also point out that, in 2003, when we did the reauthorization of the Trafficking Victims Protection Act, legislation that I was the author of, the act had specific language about contracting; and if a contractor is complicit in human trafficking, that not only are we able to take that contract away from them in a very expeditious way, but we will hold all those who are complicit in that trafficking labor or sex trafficking to account criminally so that we can bring charges against them. Again, you now bring further push, amplification, light, and scrutiny to what has not been a very good or well-executed policy, and I thank you for it.

Chairman ROYCE. I thank you. You still have time.

Mr. SMITH. Just briefly on the Boko Haram issue if I could. And Boko Haram, we can't say enough about how bad Boko Haram is, how lethal, how radical they are. They are radical Islamists. I have been, along with my staff director, Greg Simpkins. We have been to places like Jos. Jos is a place where several churches were firebombed, and I met with, as did Greg, with the survivors. And to hear them tell their stories about how they were targeted simply because they were Christians, no other reason. We had a man testify. I met him in an IDP camp in Jos. Adamu, his name was, and he was taken out of his house—he lived in the north—an AK-47 was put to his jaw and he was told, You renounce your faith in Christ, or I will blow your head off. Well, he said, I am willing to meet my Savior, and I am not going to renounce my faith. The Boko Haram terrorist pulled the trigger, blew the entire side of his face off.

When I met him, I was in awe of his courage, his faith, so we invited him here. He came and gave testimony, and Members who were there, you could have heard a pin drop when he explained what it is that he went through and the love, even after that, that he holds for those who were his tormenters. He has forgiven them. He wants them to stop, obviously, because this, like ISIS and like these other radical Islamists, like al-Shabaab and others, are on a tear to destroy Christianity, to destroy moderate Muslims as well.

So we need in this committee—and I thank you for doing this—to continually bring forward resolutions, statements, expressions, debate time, on Boko Haram. Let me also say, and I asked Secretary of State this just a couple of days ago, I think we are failing in our obligation to provide the training that the Nigerian military needs in order to operate an effective counterinsurgency operation. I have met with the people who do it in our Embassy in Abuja, wonderful military people. I have met with the military of Nigeria. I met with the Foreign Minister of Nigeria most recently, and I was encouraged by the Secretary's statement that this needs to be gotten back on track. But it has been slow. And it has not been as expansive enough.

There was a false statement made earlier in this debate by several that we couldn't vet sufficient numbers of Nigerian military pursuant to the Leahy amendment. So I convened a hearing on that, and we heard from not only a number of human rights organizations, but we also heard from the administration. And they said at least 50 percent of the Nigerian military could pass muster under the Leahy provision. So let's do it. They don't want our troops. They do need certain weapons and night-vision goggles and the like because we know Boko Haram often operates at night. But let's train these men and women and their officer corps so they can protect these children who are being abducted, the boys being killed, the young girls being abducted like the Chibok schoolgirls. I have met several of the lucky ones, the Chibok schoolgirls, both in Nigeria and a few that have made it here, to hear them tell their stories. It is just frightening, the horror that they live with, the PTSD that they now have to cope with in the middle of the night when they think of what that was like to have been taken hostage by this terrorist group.

The Nigerian military is capable. I have seen them, Mr. Chairman, all over the world, especially in Africa, but also in places like Sarajevo during the Balkan wars as peacekeepers. They have stepped up to the plate time and again. In Darfur, I was with a Nigerian group who were peacekeepers. They have done a very good job, but the skill set that they have needs to be ramped up. We are not doing it. So, again, I appeal to the administration. We need to work this out. I pleaded with them, let's get a jointness going with their military and get this training up and running to mitigate this threat and hopefully to abolish it.

And I thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Smith.

Anyone else seeking recognition on this legislation?

Mr. Trott of Michigan.

Mr. TROTT. I want to thank the chairman and the ranking member for scheduling the markup of H.R. 400. We should obviously expect and demand transparency and accountability of contractors employing foreign workers. And when we discover practices that exacerbate human trafficking, we should demand not only detailed plans to correct the violations, but also penalties should be imposed.

I also want to thank the chairman for scheduling a markup of House Resolution 53. The aggression on the part of Boko Haram has been unconscionable and has been a breach of the principles of political and religious freedom that this country is built on. The ability to freely practice religion and participate in the political system has brought us prosperity and would bring prosperity to Nigeria as well. In this spirit, we should encourage Nigeria to not submit to terrorism and fear but instead move forward with their elections.

We stand with the Nigerian Government.

They have our support, and we thank the African Union for all of their efforts to combat this problem.

I yield back my time.

Chairman ROYCE. Hearing no further requests for recognition, the question occurs on the items considered en bloc.

All those in favor, say aye.

All those opposed, no.

In the opinion of the Chair, the ayes have it, and the measures are considered en bloc. H.R. 400 and the House Resolution 53, as amended by Kelly's amendment 14, are agreed to.

And I now call up H.R. 757.

Clerk, if you could read the bill.

Ms. MARTER. H.R. 757, a bill, to improve the enforcement of sanctions against the Government of North Korea, and for other purposes.

Chairman ROYCE. Without objection, the bill is considered as read and open for amendment at any point.

1 SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

2 Congress finds the following:

3 (1) The Government of North Korea has re-
4 peatedly violated its commitments to the complete,
5 verifiable, irreversible dismantlement of its nuclear
6 weapons programs, and has willfully violated mul-
7 tiple United Nations Security Council resolutions

1 calling for it to cease its development, testing, and
2 production of weapons of mass destruction.

3 (2) North Korea poses a grave risk for the pro-
4 liferation of nuclear weapons and other weapons of 5 mass destruction.

6 (3) The Government of North Korea has been
7 implicated repeatedly in money laundering and illicit
8 activities, including prohibited arms sales, narcotics
9 trafficking, the counterfeiting of United States cur-
10 rency, and the counterfeiting of intellectual property
11 of United States persons.

12 (4) The Government of North Korea has, both
13 historically and recently, repeatedly sponsored acts
14 of international terrorism, including attempts to as-
15 sassinate defectors and human rights activists, re-
16 peated threats of violence against foreign persons,
17 leaders, newspapers, and cities, and the shipment of 18 weapons to terrorists and state sponsors of ter-
19 rorism.

20 (5) North Korea has unilaterally withdrawn
21 from the 1953 Armistice Agreement that ended the 22 Korean War, and committed provocations against
23 South Korea in 2010 by sinking the warship
24 Cheonan and killing 46 of her crew, and by shelling
25 Yeonpyeong Island, killing four South Koreans.

1 (6) North Korea maintains a system of brutal
2 political prison camps that contain as many as
3 120,000 men, women, and children, who live in atro-
4 cious living conditions with insufficient food, cloth-
5 ing, and medical care, and under constant fear of 6 torture or arbitrary execution.

7 (7) The Congress reaffirms the purposes of the 8 North Korean Human Rights Act of 2004 contained
9 in section 4 of such Act (22 U.S.C. 7802).

10 (8) North Korea has prioritized weapons pro-
11 grams and the procurement of luxury goods, in defi-
12 ance of United Nations Security Council resolutions,
13 and in gross disregard of the needs of its people.

14 (9) The President has determined that the Gov-
15 ernment of North Korea is responsible for knowingly
16 engaging in significant activities undermining cyber 17 security with respect to United States persons and 18 interests, and for threats of violence against the ci-
19 vilian population of the United States.

20 (10) Persons, including financial institutions,
21 who engage in transactions with, or provide financial 22 services to, the Government of North Korea and its 23 financial institutions without establishing sufficient
24 financial safeguards against North Korea's use of 25 these transactions to promote proliferation, weapons

1 trafficking, human rights violations, illicit activity,
2 and the purchase of luxury goods, aid and abet
3 North Korea’s misuse of the international financial 4 system, and also violate the intent of relevant United
5 Nations Security Council resolutions.

6 (11) The Government of North Korea’s conduct
7 poses an imminent threat to the security of the 8 United States and its allies, to the global economy,
9 to the safety of members of the United States
10 Armed Forces, to the integrity of the global financial 11 system, to the integrity of global nonproliferation
12 programs, and to the people of North Korea.

13 (12) The Congress seeks, through this legisla-
14 tion, to use nonmilitary means to address this crisis,
15 to provide diplomatic leverage to negotiate necessary
16 changes in North Korea’s conduct, and to ease the 17 suffering of the people of North Korea.

20 SEC. 201. DETERMINATIONS WITH RESPECT TO NORTH
 21 KOREA AS A JURISDICTION OF PRIMARY
 22 MONEY LAUNDERING CONCERN.

23 (a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following find-
 24 ings:

1 (1) The Undersecretary of the Treasury for
2 Terrorism and Financial Intelligence, who is respon-
3 sible for safeguarding the financial system against il-
4 licit use, money laundering, terrorist financing, and 5 the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction, has
6 repeatedly expressed concern about North Korea's
7 misuse of the international financial system as fol-
8 lows:

9 (A) In 2006, the Undersecretary stated
10 that, given North Korea's "counterfeiting of 11 U.S. currency, narcotics trafficking and use of 12 accounts worldwide to conduct proliferation-re-
13 lated transactions, the line between illicit and 14 licit North Korean money is nearly invisible" 15 and urged financial institutions worldwide to 16 "think carefully about the risks of doing any 17 North Korea-related business."

18 (B) In 2011, the Undersecretary stated
19 that "North Korea remains intent on engaging 20 in proliferation, selling arms as well as bringing 21 in material," and was "aggressively pursuing
22 the effort to establish front companies."

23 (C) In 2013, the Undersecretary stated, in 24 reference to North Korea's distribution of high-
25 quality counterfeit United States currency, that

1 “North Korea is continuing to try to pass a
2 supernote into the international financial sys-
3 tem,” and that the Department of the Treasury
4 would soon introduce new currency with im-
5 proved security features to protect against
6 counterfeiting by the Government of North
7 Korea.

8 (2) The Financial Action Task Force, an inter-
9 governmental body whose purpose is to develop and 10 promote national and international policies to com-
11 bat money laundering and terrorist financing, has 12 repeatedly—

13 (A) expressed concern at deficiencies in
14 North Korea’s regimes to combat money laun-
15 dering and terrorist financing;

16 (B) urged North Korea to adopt a plan of 17 action to address significant deficiencies in 18 these regimes and the serious threat they pose
19 to the integrity of the international financial 20 system;

21 (C) urged all jurisdictions to apply coun-
22 termeasures to protect the international finan-
23 cial system from ongoing and substantial money
24 laundering and terrorist financing risks ema-
25 nating from North Korea;

1 (D) urged all jurisdictions to advise their
2 financial institutions to give special attention to 3 business relationships and transactions with 4 North Korea, including North Korean compa-
5 nies and financial institutions; and

6 (E) called on all jurisdictions to protect 7 against correspondent relationships being used
8 to bypass or evade countermeasures and risk
9 mitigation practices, and take into account
10 money laundering and terrorist financing risks
11 when considering requests by North Korean fi-
12 nancial institutions to open branches and sub-
13 sidiaries in their jurisdiction.

14 (3) On March 7, 2013, the United Nations Se-
15 curity Council unanimously adopted Resolution
16 2094, which—

17 (A) welcomed the Financial Action Task
18 Force's recommendation on financial sanctions
19 related to proliferation, and its guidance on the 20 implementation of sanctions;

21 (B) decided that Member States should 22 apply enhanced monitoring and other legal 23 measures to prevent the provision of financial 24 services or the transfer of property that could
25 contribute to activities prohibited by applicable

1 United Nations Security Council resolutions;
2 and

3 (C) called on Member States to prohibit
4 North Korean banks from establishing or main-
5 taining correspondent relationships with banks
6 in their jurisdictions, to prevent the provision of 7 financial services, if they have information that 8 provides reasonable grounds to believe that
9 these activities could contribute to activities
10 prohibited by an applicable United Nations Se-
11 curity Council resolution, or to the evasion of 12 such prohibitions.

13 (b) SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING THE DESIGNA-
14 TION OF NORTH KOREA AS A JURISDICTION OF PRIMARY
15 MONEY LAUNDERING CONCERN.—Congress—

16 (1) acknowledges the efforts of the United Na-
17 tions Security Council to impose limitations on, and 18 require enhanced monitoring of, transactions involv-
19 ing North Korean financial institutions that could 20 contribute to sanctioned activities;

21 (2) urges the President, in the strongest terms,
22 to immediately designate North Korea as a jurisdic-
23 tion of primary money laundering concern, and to 24 adopt stringent special measures to safeguard the fi-
25 nancial system against the risks posed by North Ko-

1 rea's willful evasion of sanctions and its illicit activi-
2 ties; and

3 (3) urges the President to seek the prompt im-
4 plementation by other states of enhanced monitoring
5 and due diligence to prevent North Korea's misuse
6 of the international financial system, including by 7 sharing information about activities, transactions,
8 and property that could contribute to activities sanc-
9 tioned by applicable United Nations Security Council
10 resolutions, or to the evasion of sanctions.

11 (c) DETERMINATIONS REGARDING NORTH KOREA.—

12 (1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Treas-
13 ury shall, not later than 180 days after the date of 14 the enactment of this Act, determine, in consultation
15 with the Secretary of State and Attorney General,
16 and in accordance with section 5318A of title 31,
17 United States Code, whether reasonable grounds
18 exist for concluding that North Korea is a jurisdic-
19 tion of primary money laundering concern.

20 (2) SPECIAL MEASURES.—If the Secretary of 21 the Treasury determines under this subsection that 22 reasonable grounds exist for finding that North
23 Korea is a jurisdiction of primary money laundering
24 concern, the Secretary of the Treasury, in consulta-
25 tion with the Federal functional regulators, shall impose one or more of the special measures described in paragraphs (1) through (5) of section 5318A(b) of title 31, United States Code, with respect to the jurisdiction of North Korea.

(3) REPORT REQUIRED.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—If the Secretary of the Treasury determines that North Korea is a jurisdiction of primary money laundering concern, the Secretary of the Treasury shall, not later than 90 days after the date on which the Secretary makes such determination, submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on the determination made under paragraph (1) together with the reasons for that determination.

(B) FORM.—A report or copy of any report submitted under this paragraph shall be submitted in unclassified form but may contain a classified annex.

SEC. 202. ENSURING THE CONSISTENT ENFORCEMENT OF UNITED NATIONS SECURITY COUNCIL RESOLUTIONS AND FINANCIAL RESTRICTIONS ON NORTH KOREA.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

1 (1) all states and jurisdictions are obligated to
2 implement and enforce applicable United Nations
3 Security Council resolutions fully and promptly, in-
4 cluding by—

5 (A) blocking the property of, and ensuring
6 that any property is prevented from being made
7 available to, persons designated by the Security
8 Council under applicable United Nations Secu-
9 rity Council resolutions;

10 (B) blocking any property associated with
11 an activity prohibited by applicable United Na-
12 tions Security Council resolutions; and

13 (C) preventing any transfer of property
14 and any provision of financial services that 15 could contribute to an activity prohibited by ap-
16 plicable United Nations Security Council resolu-
17 tions, or to the evasion of sanctions under such 18 resolutions;

19 (2) all states and jurisdictions share a common
20 interest in protecting the international financial sys-
21 tem from the risks of money laundering and illicit
22 transactions emanating from North Korea;

23 (3) the United States Dollar and the Euro are 24 the world's principal reserve currencies, and the 25 United States and the European Union are pri-

1 marily responsible for the protection of the inter-
2 national financial system from these risks;

3 (4) the cooperation of the People's Republic of 4 China, as North Korea's principal trading partner,
5 is essential to the enforcement of applicable United
6 Nations Security Council resolutions and to the pro-
7 tection of the international financial system;

8 (5) the report of the Panel of Experts estab-
9 lished pursuant to United Nations Security Council
10 Resolution 1874, dated June 11, 2013, expressed
11 concern about the ability of banks in states with less
12 effective regulators and those unable to afford effec-
13 tive compliance to detect and prevent illicit transfers
14 involving North Korea;

15 (6) North Korea has historically exploited in-
16 consistencies between jurisdictions in the interpreta-
17 tion and enforcement of financial regulations and 18 applicable United Nations Security Council resolu-
19 tions to circumvent sanctions and launder the pro-
20 ceeds of illicit activities;

21 (7) Amrooggang Development Bank, Bank of 22 East Land, and Tanchon Commercial Bank have 23 been designated by the Secretary of the Treasury,
24 the United Nations Security Council, and the Euro-
25 pean Union;

1 (8) Korea Daesong Bank and Korea Kwangson
2 Banking Corporation have been designated by the
3 Secretary of the Treasury and the European Union;

4 (9) the Foreign Trade Bank of North Korea
5 has been designated by the Secretary of the Treas-
6 ury for facilitating transactions on behalf of persons
7 linked to its proliferation network, and for serving as 8 “a key financial node”; and

9 (10) Daedong Credit Bank has been designated
10 by the Secretary of the Treasury for activities pro-
11 hibited by applicable United Nations Security Coun-
12 cil resolutions, including the use of deceptive finan-
13 cial practices to facilitate transactions on behalf of 14 persons linked to North Korea’s proliferation net-
15 work.

16 (b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Con-
17 gress that the President should intensify diplomatic ef-
18 forts, both in appropriate international fora such as the 19 United Nations and bilaterally, to develop and implement
20 a coordinated, consistent, multilateral strategy for pro-
21 tecting the global financial system against risks emanating
22 from North Korea, including—

23 (1) the cessation of any financial services whose 24 continuation is inconsistent with applicable United
25 Nations Security Council resolutions;

1 (2) the cessation of any financial services to
2 persons, including financial institutions, that present
3 unacceptable risks of facilitating money laundering
4 and illicit activity by the Government of North
5 Korea;

6 (3) the blocking by all states and jurisdictions,
7 in accordance with the legal process of the state or 8 jurisdiction in which the property is held, of any 9 property required to be blocked under applicable
10 United Nations Security Council resolutions;

11 (4) the blocking of any property derived from il-
12 licit activity, from significant activities undermining
13 cyber security, from the misappropriation, theft, or 14 embezzlement of public funds by, or for the benefit
15 of, officials of the Government of North Korea;

16 (5) the blocking of any property involved in sig-
17 nificant activities undermining cyber security by the 18 Government of North Korea, directly or indirectly,
19 against United States persons, or the theft of intel-
20 lectual property by the Government of North Korea,
21 directly or indirectly from United States persons;
22 and

23 (6) the blocking of any property of persons di-
24 rectly or indirectly involved in censorship or human 25 rights abuses by the Government of North Korea.

1 SEC. 203. PROLIFERATION PREVENTION SANCTIONS.

2 (a) EXPORT OF CERTAIN GOODS OR TECHNOLOGY.—

3 (1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to section
4 207(a)(2)(C) of this Act, a license shall be required
5 for the export to North Korea of any goods or tech-
6 nology subject to the Export Administration Regula-
7 tions (part 730 of title 15, Code of Federal Regula-
8 tions) without regard to whether the Secretary of 9 State has designated North Korea as a country the 10 government of which has provided support for acts
11 of international terrorism, as determined by the Sec-
12 retary of State under section 6(j) of the Export Ad-

26 that Act, shall also apply to exporting or otherwise

1 providing (by sale, lease or loan, grant, or other
2 means), directly or indirectly, any munitions item to 3 the Government of North Korea without regard to 4 whether or not North Korea is a country with re-
5 spect to which subsection (d) of such section (relat-
6 ing to designation of state sponsors of terrorism) ap-
7 plies.

8 (2) FINANCIAL TRANSACTIONS.—Except as pro-
9 vided in section 207 of this Act and the North Ko-
10 rean Human Rights Act of 2004 (22 U.S.C. 7801
11 et seq.), the penalties provided for in section 2332d
12 of title 18, United States Code, shall apply to a 13 United States person that engages in a financial 14 transaction with the Government of North Korea on 15 or after the date of the enactment of this Act to the 16 same extent that such penalties apply to a United

8 (3) WAIVER.—The President may, on a case-
9 by-case basis, waive the prohibition under this sub-
10 section with respect to a country for a period of not 11 more than 180 days, and may renew the waiver for 12 additional periods of not more than 180 days, if the 13 President determines and so reports to the appro-
14 priate congressional committees that it is vital to the 15 national security interests of the United States to 16 exercise such waiver authority.

22 (b) FAR.—The Federal Acquisition Regulation
23 issued pursuant to section 1303 of title 41, United States
24 Code, shall be revised to require a certification from each
25 person that is a prospective contractor that such person

2 section (a) or (b) of section 104. Such revision shall apply
3 with respect to contracts in an amount greater than the

25 section may be construed to limit the use of other remedies

1 available to the head of an executive agency or any other
2 official of the Federal Government on the basis of a deter-
3 mination of a false certification under subsection (b).

4 (f) EXECUTIVE AGENCY DEFINED.—In this section,
5 the term “executive agency” has the meaning given such
6 term in section 133 of title 41, United States Code.

7 SEC. 205. ENHANCED INSPECTIONS AUTHORITIES.

8 (a) REPORT REQUIRED.—Not later than 180 days

14 SEC. 405. EFFECTIVE DATE.

15 Except as otherwise provided in this Act, this Act and 16 the amendments made by this Act shall take effect on the 17 date of the enactment of this Act.

Chairman ROYCE. And, again, after recognizing myself and the ranking member, I am glad to recognize other members seeking recognition to speak on the underlying bill. And then we will consider en bloc a package of bipartisan amendments. And so this is the North Korea Sanctions Enforcement Act. And this relates to the attack in November, the cyberattack on Sony Pictures. North Korea, once again, reminded the world that behind its belligerent rhetoric is a country that poses a very real and a very serious threat to our security.

This bill, the North Korean Sanctions Enforcement Act, is a direct response to North Korea's continued aggression, and I want to thank the ranking member, Mr. Engel, who has been twice to North Korea, for working with me to introduce this bill, which is substantially similar to our North Korea sanctions bill that passed the House last July.

This bill codifies a robust array of tough sanctions against the regime and its enablers, much like the penalties that were successfully applied by the Treasury Department back in 2005 when the agency targeted a small bank in Macau that was complicit in Pyongyang's counterfeiting at the time. And this seriously crippled North Korea's financing and was one of the most effective steps we have taken against North Korea, until the sanctions were foolishly lifted in 2008 in exchange for fruitless negotiations over the country's nuclear program.

Nearly 7 years later, some analysts believe that North Korea has succeeded in miniaturizing a nuclear warhead. Some of you may have seen this reported yesterday, but they reportedly could be on track to have a stockpile of 100 atomic bombs within 5 years. It is time to end the administration's policy of strategic patience. And this bill will prevent Kim Jong-un and his top officials from reaching those assets they maintain in foreign banks, as well as the hard currency that sustains their rule.

The bill's sanctions target North Korea's money laundering, its counterfeiting, and its smuggling and narcotics trafficking, undermining these key finances of the regime's nuclear program. Disrupting North Korea's illicit activities will also place tremendous strain on the country's ruling elite who have done so much harm to the North Korean people. I have seen some of that harm firsthand in the eastern part of North Korea when I was there.

Last year, the U.N. Commission of Inquiry released the most comprehensive report on North Korea to date, finding that the Kim regime has for decades pursued policies involving crimes that "shock the conscience of humanity," in their words. H.R. 757 requires the State Department to use the Commission of Inquiry's findings to identify the individuals responsible for such abuses. And the bill also requires the administration to report on activities that seek to undermine our cybersecurity and to study the feasibility of bringing cellular and Internet communications to North Korea's people to break the information blockade.

We will now turn to Mr. Engel for his opening statement on North Korea Sanctions Enforcement Act.

Mr. ENGEL. Mr. Chairman, I want to personally thank you for bringing up this important bipartisan legislation. As always, you are clearheaded and determined and steady on important issues, such as North Korea. You and I agree about the threat posed by North Korea. I want to thank you for giving this issue the attention it deserves, and I am proud to be the lead Democratic sponsor of the North Korea Sanctions Enforcement Act.

North Korea's unrelenting pursuit of nuclear weapons and ballistic missiles, their blazing disregard for international law, and their brutality against their own people has gone on for far too long. The United States and governments around the world must be clear to leaders in Pyongyang: The only way for the regime to end its political and economic isolation is to abandon its current course. This legislation sends just that message. Specifically, this bill broadens sanctions against North Korea. It targets those who are helping to sustain the Kim regime through illicit activities. It also enhances the enforcement of sanctions. I have been to North Korea twice, and I must tell you that the North Korean people certainly deserve better than what they have. This legislation gives the President important tools and the flexibility to act in a way that best serves our national interests. It also provides important exceptions to the humanitarian relief organizations providing food, medicine, and other assistance to the North Korean people. We have seen this regime's track record, a cyberattack against Sony Pictures in December of last year, gross human rights abuses against its own people, an illegal nuclear weapon's program. It is time to raise the costs on the Kim Jong-un government. This is the right legislation, the right time, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

I yield back, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Eliot. Do any other members seek recognition to speak on the bill?

Mr. Rohrabacher of California.

Mr. ROHRABACHER. Thank you.

First of all, I would like to thank both you and the ranking member for the leadership you have provided on this, and on this and a lot of issues that we have been facing. This is a really contentious time in our history, and we are lucky to have both of you and giving this committee and all of the rest of us the guidance and leadership we need.

I would just like to add on this particular bill, where we are focusing on North Korea, I would like to make sure that we go on the record—or at least I am on the record—as pointing out that many of the things that we are blaming North Korea for, which they deserve blame for, can be traced back to the influences of Beijing on their policies. The Communist Chinese, I am of certainty, are helping them in their efforts when it comes to nuclear weapons development, for example, and cyberattacks. I do not believe that all of these activities, which are criminal activities against the West and trying to put us in jeopardy and also especially aimed at putting Japan, we have to understand that much of what is going on in North Korea is aimed at sort of a—giving an ominous threat to Japan. And the Japanese are fully aware that this isn't just coming from North Korea. It is Beijing giving a message to Japan through their puppet state in North Korea. So I, just for the record, I want to make sure that we understand this is a chess game going on here, and the and the main player on the other side is Beijing.

So thank you very much to both of you, and I, of course, urge your support for this resolution.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Rohrabacher.

Mr. Connolly of Virginia.

Mr. CONNOLLY. Thank you, Mr. Chairman, and I do want to thank you and Mr. Engel for your leadership.

This is a terribly important piece of legislation and maybe more critical now than ever. And adding the cyber piece, I echo what my friend Mr. Rohrabacher just said. I think that is critical. It was only a few years ago that the entire banking system of South Korea actually was shut down in a cyberattack almost certainly from the North. So reporting on that is very important. I want to thank you also for—I know we are supposed to speak to the underlying bill, but I have got to run back to another hearing where I am a ranking member, but two amendments that I authored, and I thank you and Mr. Engel for accepting them, one was in the core bill from last year, and this is, expanding reporting requirements, including asking the State Department to tell us, what are you telling China? What are you asking China to do with respect to the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry on Human Rights in Korea? And I think that is actually very important. That China relationship is changing. It is evolving. It can be a critical piece of leverage we otherwise don't have. And so while it looks like a simple reporting requirement, actually, I am hopeful and I know that you and Mr. Engel are as well, Mr. Chairman, that we can use this as a point of leverage.

And then, finally, thank you for accepting an amendment in this markup on family reunification. I can tell you in my district I have got constituents, Korean constituents, who have not seen their families since the end of the—well, since the secession of hostilities in the Korea conflict. To go 70 years without seeing a loved one is heartbreaking, and they probably will die before they get to see their relatives. And so family reunification, a very major issue, and we know that South Korean President Park Geun-hye has sought to improve in that regard in her peace and reunification initiative. And I think we should be supportive of that. And I thank you both for including those provisions and for your leadership in this matter.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Connolly.

Mr. Ted Poe of Texas and then Mr. Matt Salmon.

Mr. POE. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

I appreciate the chair and the ranking member supporting the amendment that I have offered. I would like to speak briefly about the amendment and underlying bill in the next few minutes. The underlying bill, when we think of Iran, we always need to think of North Korea, and when we think of North Korea, we need to think of Iran. They are working together. One has nuclear capability; the other has weapons, and they are, in my opinion, wanting to trade off each other's facilities or knowledge so that they could both be worse than they are individually.

Iran calls North Korea a member of their Axis of Resistance. They are really, I think, an axis of world terror. North Korea, their new President Kim Jong-un, I don't know if the chairman remembers this, but he made a statement—I think it was last year—that he is excited about getting nuclear weapons and wants to send his first intercontinental ballistic missile to Austin, Texas. I don't know why he picked Austin, but I am offended by that. I take it real personal that he would want to——

Chairman ROYCE. You probably should.

Mr. POE. University of Texas. Sir?

Chairman ROYCE. Judge, you probably should.

Mr. POE. I am the reason. I don't know about that, but, anyway, I think we should take them seriously about their world-domination goals and always think of both of them working together, which leads to the amendment. The amendment is very simple. It requires that the President submit a report stating the cooperation between Iran and their buddies over in North Korea on their nuclear program and what is taking place between the two. And that is a loophole, I think, in the ongoing nuclear talks with Iran, and we need to encourage the administration to give us information about what Iran and North Korea are doing together in their nuclear weapon development.

So once again, I think we should support the bill. I appreciate the chairman and the ranking member for bringing this up. We need to focus America's attention on both of these axes of terror and immediately approve this legislation but require that the administration continue to tell Congress what is taking place between these two world threats. And I yield back the balance of my time.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Judge Poe.

Ms. Tulsi Gabbard of Hawaii.

Ms. GABBARD. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Like the Judge, I too am deeply offended that North Korea has called out my constituents in the State of Hawaii, placing us in their crosshairs. Understanding that with what is happening in the region this is actually something that is top of mind for people, something that is very real. So as you look at the growing threats across the world, both conventional and unconventional, I appreciate your leadership and the ranking member's leadership, and continuing to hold the line and maintain this pressure on North Korea as they openly continue to develop their ballistic missile capabilities, and their nuclear capabilities, understanding that that consistency and that increased pressure is necessary if we want this to have a very real effect. Again, my constituents in Hawaii and others in the Asia-Pacific Region are acutely aware of what North Korea is doing on the one hand, and what we are doing to stop them. Thank you very much.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you.

We go to Mr. Matt Salmon of Arizona.

Mr. SALMON. Thank you.

Mr. Chairman, I greatly appreciate your tenacity on this issue, and the ranking member. And I am very, very hopeful that this year it will actually pass the Senate and get to the President's desk because I think it is vitally needed. It is legendary what bad actions that Korea—North Korea—has taken on the world stage both in terms of its nuclear proliferation and threats as well as its cyberterrorism with Sony Pictures, and if we don't start drawing some hard lines in the sand now, this escalation will continue.

The one thing I would like to point out is that we will be going to visit the folks in China in the not-so-distant future, and I am really hopeful that China takes more of an interest in containing North Korea. They have a disproportionate influence than any other country in the world because of North Korea's dependence on their—for their economic wellbeing. And I truly do believe that Beijing has a big hand to play, and I am disappointed that they haven't.

I hope that we will continue to encourage them to do the responsible thing because it is not only in the world's best interest, but it is in their best interest too. So, thank you, Mr. Chairman, for doing this yet one more time, and let's get it across the finish line this time. Thank you.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Salmon.

As I recall, I raised this issue, as did Eliot Engel, with the Premier in Beijing, and as I recall, you may have said the same thing in Mandarin, and your Mandarin is very good. Afterwards, the delegation on the other side commented on that.

So other members seeking recognition here?

If not, hearing no further—Mr. Trott.

Mr. TROTT. I just wanted to thank the chairman and the ranking member for moving H.R. 757 forward. The chairman wisely scheduled a hearing a couple of weeks ago on North Korea. And I for one found the answers from the representative from the State Department and his complete confidence in the President's Executive order on North Korea—I think it is Executive Order 13687—his belief that that Executive order would singularly correct North Korea's bad behavior a little disturbing. And it was clear from the discussion that additional, more vigorous sanctions are required.

So, thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Trott.

Hearing no further requests for recognition to speak on the bill, we now—Mr. Chabot, you are recognized. We are on the legislation on North Korea, Mr. Chabot.

Mr. CHABOT. Okay, I had a different—yeah, that is the one. I just spoke on the floor. I apologize. I just raced over here from speaking on the bill that we are taking up on the floor today. I appreciate, Mr. Chairman, I would like to express my support for H.R. 757, the North Korea Sanctions Enforcement Act of 2015.

Kim Jong-un's regime represents an imminent threat to the global nonproliferation effort, to the global economy, and the global financial system. North Korea has made its intentions clear that it will not halt its nuclear weapons and missile programs. But its trajectory will not last long if the U.S. denies access to its offshore accounts and funding.

As you know, H.R. 757 puts banks everywhere on notice that they must choose between doing business with Kim Jong-un and making use of the U.S. financial system, and that U.S. must maintain a consistent position that makes it crystal clear to the regime in Pyongyang that we will not concede to its unreasonable demands. The time for willful blindness, for looking the other way at North Korea's proliferation, money laundering, and its kleptocracy is over. I look forward to working with my colleagues to ensure this happens, and hope that the administration pursues a path that will increase security for South Korea and the international community.

And, again, I apologize for getting here at the last minute. But I had to be in two places at once. So I yield back.

Chairman ROYCE. Well, we thank you, Mr. Chabot, and as I say, hearing no further requests, we now move to consider en bloc the bipartisan amendments. There were three of them provided to your office just yesterday, which are also in your packets.

And without objection, the following amendments to H.R. 757 will be considered as en bloc and are considered as read: One is the Castro amendment 22, the Connolly amendment 23, and the Poe amendment 83.

[The information referred to follows:]

AMENDMENT TO H.R. 757
OFFERED BY MR. CASTRO OF TEXAS

Page 47, after line 23 (at the end of title II), insert the following:

6 (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:
 7 (1) The United States, Japan, and the Republic
 8 of Korea (South Korea) share the values of democ-
 9 racy, free and open markets, the rule of law, and re-
 10 spect for human rights.
 11 (2) The alliance relationship between the 12 United States, Japan, and South Korea are critical
 13 to peace and security in the Asia-Pacific region.
 14 (3) The United States, Japan, and South Korea
 15 are committed to continuing diplomatic efforts to en-
 16 sure continued peace and stability in the Asia-Pa-
 17 cific region.
 18 (4) On December 28, 2014, the United States,
 19 Japan, and South Korea finalized a trilateral mili-

1 tary intelligence-sharing arrangement concerning the
2 nuclear and missile threats posed by North Korea.

4 arrangement reinforces and strengthens the commit-
5 ment between the United States, Japan, and South
6 Korea toward a Korean Peninsula free of nuclear 7 weapons.

8 (b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Con-
9 gress that North Korea’s nuclear and ballistic missile pro-
10 grams are of mutual concern to the United States, Japan,
11 and South Korea and a trilateral military intelligence-
12 sharing arrangement is essential to the security of each
13 nation and the Asia-Pacific region.

AMENDMENT TO H.R. 757
OFFERED BY MR. CONNOLLY OF VIRGINIA

Page 50, line 10, add at the end the following: “The report shall include a description of actions taken by the Department of State to implement or support the recommendations of the Commission of Inquiry’s Report on Human Rights in the Democratic People’s Republic of North Korea, including efforts to press China and other countries to implement Commission recommendations.”.

OFFERED BY MR. POE OF TEXAS

 15 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

16 (2) FORM.—The report required under sub-
 17 section (a) shall be submitted in an unclassified
 18 form, but may contain a classified annex.

Chairman ROYCE. I am assuming no one wants to speak on any of these en bloc. Mr. Castro would. Mr. Castro.

Mr. CASTRO. Sure. Thank you, Chairman, and thank you and the ranking member for all of your work on this issue. Yesterday, Director of National Intelligence James Clapper stated that North Korea's offensive cyber operations, growing stockpile of ballistic missiles, and nuclear weapons pose "A serious threat to the United States and to the security environment in East Asia."

My amendment echoes Director Clapper's assessment by adding a sense of Congress that North Korea's nuclear ballistic missiles program are of mutual concern to the United States, Japan, and South Korea, and that trilateral cooperation is essential to the security of each Nation and the stability of Asia-Pacific Region. Last December, the United States, Japan, and South Korea finalized a trilateral military intelligence-sharing agreement concerning threats posed by North Korea. The United States has had bilateral agreements with Japan and South Korea, but this is a new trilateral agreement that creates a more effective bulwark against North Korea and strengthens our collective response capabilities the event of future aggression from North Korea.

The United States, Japan, and South Korea share the values of democratic governance and the rule of law and respect for human rights. It makes sense that we share intelligence related to North Korea's military threats.

I yield back, Mr. Chairman.

Chairman ROYCE. Thank you, Mr. Castro.

Any other members seeking time?

Hearing no further requests for recognition, the question occurs on the amendments considered en bloc.

All those in favor, say aye.

All those opposed, no.

In the opinion of the Chair, the ayes have it, and the Castro, Connolly, and Poe amendments are agreed to.

Are there any further amendments to the bill? Hearing no further amendments, the question occurs on agreeing to H.R. 757, as amended.

All those in favor, say aye.

All those opposed, no.

In the opinion of the Chair, the ayes have it. The bill, as amended, is agreed to. And, without objection, H.R. 757, as amended, is ordered favorably reported and will be reported as a single amendment in the nature of a substitute. Staff is directed to make any technical and conforming changes, and also without objection, the Chair is authorized to seek House consideration of any of today's measures under suspension of the rules. And that concludes our business today.

I want to thank Ranking Member Engel and all of the committee members for their contributions and all of your assistance in today's markup. We stand adjourned.

[Whereupon, at 10:22 a.m., the committee was adjourned.]
