THOMAS S. WILLIAMSON, JR. NOMINATION

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1978

U.S. SENATE,
COMMITTEE ON ENERGY AND NATURAL RESOURCES,
Washington, D.C.

The committee met, pursuant to notice, at 9:35 a.m., in room 3110, Dirksen Office Building, Hon. Henry M. Jackson, chairman, presiding.
Present: Senators Jackson, Hansen, and Hatfield.
Also present: Grenville Garside, staff director and counsel.

OPENING STATEMENT OF HON. HENRY M. JACKSON, A U.S. SENATOR FROM THE STATE OF WASHINGTON

The CHAIRMAN. The committee will come to order.

Today's hearing is to consider the President's nomination of Thomas S. Williamson, Jr., to be Deputy Inspector General of the Department of Energy.

Under the Department of Energy Organization Act, the Deputy Inspector General assists the Inspector General in the administration of his Office and acts as Inspector General during the absence or incapacity of the Inspector General. He would assist in directing the auditing and investigative work designed to prevent fraud and promote efficiency in the Department's programs.

Mr. Williamson has a distinguished academic record which includes a Rhodes scholarship. Since his graduation from law school he has had 4 years of varied law practice with the firm of Covington & Burling here in Washington.

Mr. Williamson, we are delighted to welcome you to the committee and we look forward to your testimony.

As you know, we have a committee rule that applies to all nominees, that they be sworn before they give their testimony. So would you stand and raise your right hand, please?

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Certainly, sir.

[Whereupon, Mr. Williamson was duly sworn by the chairman.]

The CHAIRMAN. We are very pleased to welcome you. And I believe you have an opening statement.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Yes, I do, Mr. Chairman. With your permission, I will read that statement.

The CHAIRMAN. Yes, sir.

STATEMENT OF THOMAS S. WILLIAMSON, JR., NOMINEE TO BE DEPUTY INSPECTOR GENERAL OF THE DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY

Mr. WILLIAMSON. I would like to begin by stating how honored I am to appear before you today. Although I have practiced law solely in the private sector since my graduation from law school, I left my home State of California and began my legal career in the District of Columbia in large part because of the potential opportunity to enter Government service. Accordingly, your consideration of my nomination to be the Deputy Inspector General for the Department of Energy represents a major step in the realization of my long-held desire to play a direct role in trying to promote the public interest.

I would like to express to you briefly my general understanding of the Office of the Inspector General and the role of the Deputy Inspector General. It seems clear from the applicable legislation that the Office was designed to assure that the Department of Energy will strive to achieve maximum efficiency and honesty in the operation of its programs and the enforcement of its regulations. My sense of the unique function of the Inspector General is to provide the Congress and the Secretary with independently conceived and forthrightly stated reports on waste, abuse, and fraud relating to the Department's activities.

Also, I concur wholeheartedly with the previously stated views of the current Inspector General to the effect that the Office must function as an exemplar of high professional standards and uncompromising integrity in its investigation and analysis of issues and controversies.

It appears to me that the Deputy Inspector General should be especially concerned with staying informed about the full range of investigations and audits being conducted by the Office as well as shouldering a major portion of the responsibility for actively supervising and assisting staff in the field. This degree of awareness and involvement is essential to permit the Deputy to oversee the office and be responsive when called upon by the Congress or the Secretary in the absence of the Inspector General.

In conclusion, I regard fulfilling the duties of the Inspector General's Office as a singularly important challenge in an area of vital concern to the public and the future of this country. And, if confirmed, I promise to make my very best effort to vindicate the trust and confidence that would have been placed in me.

Mr. Chairman, that concludes my statement.

Mr. CHAIRMAN. Thank you, Mr. Williamson.

I have some boiler plate questions that we ask of all the nominees. Will you be available to appear before this committee and other congressional committees to represent the departmental decisions and respond to issues of concern to Congress?

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Yes, sir, I will.

The CHAIRMAN. Your financial statement has been submitted to the committee. Our rules require that this statement be made public, unless the committee decides that special circumstances justify an exception. Do you have any objections to the publication of your financial statement?

Mr. WILLIAMSON. No; I do not.

The CHAIRMAN. Are you aware of any personal holdings, investment or interests which would constitute a conflict of interest or create the appearance of such a conflict, should you be confirmed and assume the office to which you have been nominated by the President?

Mr. WILLIAMSON. No, Mr. Chairman. I am not aware of any such holding.

The CHAIRMAN. You alluded a bit to the nature of your experience at Covington & Burling. I wonder if any of this legal experience might have some relevance to the work that you would be undertaking as Deputy Inspector General?

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Yes, Mr. Chairman. I think there is some of it that does have relevance. A number of my clients have been States; I have represented these States in dealing with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. In the course of that representation as counsel, often acting in the role of independent counsel for State clients, I have had occasion to both evaluate and investigate the findings that were presented to States in reports and investigations that were made of State activities that receive Federal funding. Also, in general, in my practice at Covington, the issues usually arise from Federal regulations, so I have had a good deal of experience acquainting myself with relatively complex regulatory schemes and trying to understand what the purposes really were and how the public interest was intended to be served.

The CHAIRMAN. Well, I must say, Mr. Williamson, you have a most impressive academic record, and certainly working in the firm of Covington & Burling, one of the top legal firms in the community, I think, speaks well of your qualifications.

I am very pleased that you have agreed to undertake this responsible position. You are going to be dealing in areas where obviously the temptation for wrongdoing can be rather substantial and on subject matters that have a pervasive impact on all our people. I think all of us on this committee simply want you to do, as I am sure you will, your duty and call the shots as you see them, so to speak, without desire to get anyone, but just to get the facts, get the truth, and see that the law is upheld.

I am sure you have no hesitancy in approaching this position.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. None whatsoever, Mr. Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN. Senator Hansen.

Senator HANSEN. I have no questions, Mr. Chairman. I am impressed with the academic record and the later achievements of the nominee.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Thank you, sir.

The CHAIRMAN. Senator Hatfield.

Senator HATFIELD. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

Mr. Williamson, you have very distinguished credentials and a marvelous record. I note no involvement in anything political except citing a letter urging the repeal of the Byrd amendment, if one could call that political. Have you had any political involvement or activity?

Mr. WILLIAMSON. No; I have not.

Senator HATFIELD. I don't know where you would have time, looking at this biography.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. I am afraid that is the problem. And also, having been more or less displaced from my home State, I have been primarily involved in trying to establish my professional career here.

Senator HATFIELD. Bear in mind I would not consider that a handicap. I was merely inquiring because I see your record is so broadly based considering your academic pursuits and your involvement with athletics as well as special involvements, and I was just interested in knowing whether you had had any political activity.

Mr. Chairman, may I say that the President has sent a number of names and a number of candidates, but I don't know of one that has more superb qualifications based upon his record than Mr. Williamson. I am very delighted to see the Government able to attract people like you into its service. We desperately need people of great talent and skill. I think it will no doubt be a sacrifice that you will make, a financial sacrifice, considering what your future would be with Covington & Burling. But I want to commend you and the President for this nomination. I shall support it.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Thank you very much, Senator.

The CHAIRMAN. I wanted to say, Mr. Williamson, that the statute, staff just reminded me, specifically provides that selection should be without regard to political affiliation. I might say that I know that Mr. Mansfield and Dr. Schlesinger were out to find a topflight person. It was a straight recruitment effort that was not based on any partisanship; they were out to find the very best, and they narrowed it down, I think, to two or three people and Mr. Williamson was the candidate who was selected. Well, I think you get the drift here. I don't see too much trouble in getting this nomination approved.

[Laughter.]

The CHAIRMAN. We would act now, but the rules of the Senate require that we have seven more present. But as soon as we get a quorum, we will act on your nomination. I would also like to observe, and I will yield to my friend, Mr. Williamson, you are the last of the nominees under the law. With your confirmation, there will have been 21 nominations approved by this committee and by the Senate for the Department of Energy.

Senator HATFIELD. May I make another observation Mr. Chairman?

The CHAIRMAN. Yes, sir.

Senator HATFIELD. You note, Mr. Williamson, that you have elicited bipartisan support here this morning, but I have also observed that it is Republican two to one.

[Laughter.]

Senator HANSEN. We hope that trend may find further expression in time.

[Laughter.]

The CHAIRMAN. And the one on the end here is very broadminded.

[Laughter.]

Senator HANSEN. But the one hath a pocket full of proxies.

[Laughter.]

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Mr. Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN. Mr. Williamson.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. There is one minor thing that I wanted to raise.

The CHAIRMAN. Do you want to talk right into the microphone there? Just pull it toward you.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. All right. I noted in reviewing the papers that I had submitted to the committee that I had indicated that I would sever all connections with Covington & Burling. There is one area which I think could be properly understood as trivial or frivolous, but I wanted to bring it to the attention of the committee for your guidance, since it is somewhat a qualification of that statement. For the past 4 years I have been playing with the Covington & Burling touch football team in a lawyer's league on the weekends. Our games and practices take place during nonbusiness hours, and normally we do not discuss cases or business at that time. But certainly if an energy matter were raised in the huddle, I would sequester myself from that play.

[Laughter.]

I was wondering if you would have any objections to my continuing to play with the team this season.

The CHAIRMAN. Does Covington & Burling have a football team?

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Yes, there's a lawyers' league in which Covington & Burling plays.

The CHAIRMAN. Who do they play, the Supreme Court?

[Laughter.]

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Other private law firms and Government agencies.

The CHAIRMAN. Tell us about your record, as long as we are on all these relevant matters.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Well, my first year, when I was just a player on the team, we won the championship. However, I was subsequently promoted to coordinator, and we have not been able to qualify—

The CHAIRMAN. Coordinator on the team?

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Coordinator of the team. Not quarterback, but coordinator of the team, and since then, we have not been able to qualify for the playoffs.

[Laughter.]

The CHAIRMAN. Well, I think it is helpful to have a complete disclosure and I don't think it will constitute a conflict of interest.

Mr. WILLIAMSON. Thank you, Mr. Chairman.

The CHAIRMAN. I hope that will make you feel better and maybe you will win the next one. It will give you at least an incentive. Thank you very much, Mr. Williamson. We will act as soon as we have a full quorum present, which I hope we will have in the next day or two. Thank you for a fine statement.

I will include in the record at this point a letter from Lynn Coleman, General Counsel, Department of Energy, pertaining to the conflict-of-interest provisions.

[The letter follows:]

DEPARTMENT OF ENERGY,
Washington, D.C., September 22, 1978.

HON. HENRY M. JACKSON,
Chairman, Committee on Energy and Natural Resources,
U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: This is in response to your request for an opinion as to the effect of the conflict of interest provisions contained in Title VI of the Department of Energy Organization Act (Pub. L. 95-91) on the financial holdings of Thomas S. Williamson, Jr., who has been nominated to be Deputy Inspector General in the Department of Energy.

Section 602(a) of the Department of Energy Organization Act (the "Act") prohibits supervisory employees of the Department of Energy from knowingly receiving compensation from, holding any official relation with, owning the stocks or bonds of, or having any pecuniary interest in any energy concern.

"Energy concern," defined in section 601(b) of the Act, is described in terms of entities "significantly engaged in the business" of a variety of activities related to energy production, distribution, sale, research, and development, as well as entities engaged in such research and development functions pursuant to DOE-funded programs irrespective of whether they otherwise are engaged in such "business." The term also includes any entity holding an interest in property from which energy resources are commercially produced or obtained.

We have reviewed the list of financial holdings Mr. Williamson has provided to the Committee. Since Mr. Williamson himself has no financial holding in any entity which has been determined to be an energy concern, no action is required on his part to comply with section 602(a) of the Act.

If I can be of further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,

LYNN R. COLEMAN,
General Counsel.

The CHAIRMAN. The hearing is adjourned.
[Whereupon, at 9:50 a.m., the hearing was adjourned.]

EMPLOYMENT EXPERIENCE:

September 1974 to present - Associate at Covington & Burling
(Washington, D.C.)

My work generally involves analyzing regulations, interpreting statutes, researching case law and drafting memoranda. This work is done both independently and under supervision.

During my first year at Covington I principally represented broadcast clients in matters arising from FCC regulation of cable television. Subsequently, I spent 7 months at a local office of the Neighborhood Legal Services Program on loan from Covington & Burling. Since my return I have concentrated on representing states on issues relating to the Medicaid program and other welfare-oriented programs under the Social Security Act. In addition, I have been responsible for a variety of litigation tasks. The subject areas include employment discrimination, securities regulation and labor law.

Summer 1973 - Summer law clerk at Kaplan, Livingston, Goodwin, Berkowitz & Selvin (Beverly Hills, California)

I reviewed contracts and prepared memoranda based on legal research.

January-May 1973 - Clinical semester law clerk at Public Advocates, Inc. (San Francisco, California)

My responsibilities included researching legal issues, interviewing clients, and investigating bases for potential lawsuits.

Summer 1972 - Summer law clerk at Pettit, Evers & Martin (San Francisco, California)

I did legal research for the firm and drafted memoranda.

October 1970-June 1971 - Management consultant to the training division of Alem Public Relations Consultants (Addis Ababa, Ethiopia)

I supervised the division of the company engaged in training U.S. Peace Corps volunteers for service in Ethiopia. In addition, I provided management consultant services to upgrade the management capabilities of other supervisory staff.

Summer 1970 - Crossroads Africa Group leader (Yaounde, Cameroun)

I was responsible for 16 American and Camerounian students who were working and traveling in the Cameroun.

Summer 1970 - Job description continued from page 2.

My duties included making travel arrangements, maintaining the funds for group expenses, arranging for building supplies and generally acting as liaison with government officials.

January-June 1970 - Consultant to the Office of Planning and Evaluation, Department of Health, Education and Welfare (Washington, D.C.)

I assisted in the planning of a program to use minority graduate students and recipients of HEW services as evaluators of HEW programs. I primarily acted as liaison between the Central Office and Regional Offices, and between the Regional Offices and the contracting firm that was selected to operate the program.

Summer 1969 - Consultant to the Peace Corps Office of Evaluation (Washington, D.C.)

I observed Peace Corps training programs in the States and overseas and prepared narrative evaluation reports based on interviews of trainees, training staff and Peace Corps staff.

Summer 1968 - Assistant to Lewis H. Butler who was then the president of Opportunity Enterprises Corporation (OPEN), a small nonprofit corporation organized to encourage improved delivery of social services (San Francisco, California)

I assisted the president of OPEN by drafting and responding to correspondence, reviewing reports on various social service projects, and preparing presentations for meetings with leaders of government and private industry.

June 1967-August 1967 - Researcher and investigator for California Rural Legal Assistance (Los Angeles, California)

I investigated the factual bases for contemplated lawsuits and engaged in a limited amount of legal research.

June 1966-August 1968 - Yale Summer High School (New Haven, Connecticut)

The Yale Summer High School was part of the nationwide Upward Bound program. I acted as a tutor, proctor and counselor for 8 high school boys and also taught a seminar on social movements to a group of approximately 15 students.

June 1965-August 1965 - Pacific Telephone (Oakland, California)

As a frameman, I was responsible for connecting and disconnecting telephone lines inside a central office.

June 1964-August 1964 - Pacific Telephone (Oakland, California)

See job description above for 6/65 to 8/65.

I assisted the president of OPEN by drafting and responding to correspondence, reviewing reports on various social service projects, and preparing presentations for meetings with leaders of government and private industry.

ATTACHMENT CPersonal Qualifications

My qualifications for the position of Deputy Inspector General of the Department of Energy are based on my experiences as an attorney, evaluator, and administrator. Most of my legal experience has been in the area of litigation where I have frequently been called upon to organize and carry out extensive factual investigations. In several instances these investigations have focused on whether a state or corporate client has complied with federal laws and regulations. In addition, in the course of preparing cases, I have been required to analyze and interpret complex federal legislative and regulatory schemes. Although I have principally dealt with matters arising under the Social Security Act and the Health Resources and Planning Development Act, I believe the skills I have gained will allow me to develop promptly an understanding of energy-related laws and regulations and effectively assist in their implementation and enforcement.

I have also supervised and participated in evaluations of governmental programs. Most recently, during the second half of 1977, I coordinated the staff members of the D.C. City Council's Task Force on the Department of Human Resources who studied the nature and quality of services provided to delinquent youths by the District of Columbia. And several years ago in 1969 I was employed by the Peace Corps to evaluate training programs for volunteers in the States and abroad. Also, during 1970 I worked on the design of programs to evaluate the effectiveness of human services furnished by agencies of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare in different regions of the country. These experiences acquainted me with a variety of approaches to obtaining information about the effectiveness of governmental program operations in the field.

Finally, I have had limited experience as an administrator. In 1970 and 1971 I was the manager of the training division of Alem Public Relations Consultants, an Ethiopian company which formerly trained Peace Corps volunteers. The staff under my supervision ranged from 10 to 60 persons depending on the size of the training program we were handling. My time at Alem permitted me to gain some background in coordinating and motivating staff groups with diverse professional skills.

ATTACHMENT DAffecting the Administration and Execution of Law or Public Policy

Except for possibly having signed a letter urging repeal of the "Byrd amendment" which permitted importation of Rhodesian chrome, I have not engaged in any activity during the past five years for the purpose of directly or indirectly influencing the passage, defeat or modification of any legislation. However, in the course of my duties as an attorney, I have engaged in activities for the purpose of affecting the administration and execution of law or public policy. During my first year at Covington & Burling, I represented broadcast interests seeking enforcement of the cable television regulations of the Federal Communications Commission. Also, during my first year I assisted in a securities case that was settled between Westinghouse and the Securities Exchange Commission. The case arose from statements relating to the sale of Westinghouse's household appliance division. In addition, I did research for a lawsuit involving a challenge to the merger of an investment holding company (Christiana) into its operating affiliate (du Pont). Du Pont was our client.

For approximately seven months in 1976 I was a full-time legal services lawyer at the District of Columbia Neighborhood Legal Services Program. While there on loan from Covington, I occasionally represented indigent clients in actions brought against the Social Security Administration, the Veterans Administration and local welfare agencies.

When I returned to Covington in the summer of 1976, I began representing states in administrative and judicial proceedings in which the states were attempting to obtain reimbursement for expenditures for "social services" provided to welfare recipients. I have also represented states in matters relating to Medicaid, the National Health Planning and Resource Development Act and the Food Stamp Program. In addition, during the summer of 1977 I participated in an investigation of the District of Columbia's Department of Human Resources.

In recent months, my clients have included the following: a class of black furniture plant employees suing under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act, an airline trade association desiring to resist a union subpoena, a hospital opposing decertification as a kidney transplant center, and tobacco industry groups questioning the authority of the Civil Aeronautics Board to prohibit cigar and pipe smoking on commercial aircraft.

ATTACHMENT ESafeguards Against Conflicts of Interest

If confirmed, I would resign my position as an associate at Covington & Burling and completely sever my employment relationship with the firm. In addition, during my first year in office, I would disqualify myself from the following types of cases or matters:

- 1) Department of Energy proceedings or investigations where Covington & Burling is acting as counsel for the party to the proceeding or the subject of the investigation;
- 2) Department of Energy proceedings or investigations where the private party is a client of Covington & Burling for whom I have personally provided legal services in any respect.

Also, of course, I intend to comply fully with all federal laws and regulations as well as the President's policy guidelines relating to conflicts of interest.
