1 SEC. 3. FINDINGS.

2 Congress finds the following:

3 (1) GENERAL FINDINGS ON CREDIT REPORT-
4 ING.—

5 (A) Consumer reporting agencies
6 (“CRAs”) are companies that collect, compile, 7 and provide information about consumers in the 8 form of consumer reports for certain permis-
9 sible statutory purposes under the Fair Credit
10 Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. 1681 et seq.)
11 (“FCRA”). The three largest CRAs in this 12 country are Equifax, TransUnion, and 13 Experian. These CRAs are referred to as na-
14 tionwide CRAs and the reports that they pre-

1           pare are commonly referred to as credit reports.
2           Furnishers, such as creditors, lenders, and debt
3           collection agencies, voluntarily submit informa-4           tion to CRAs about their accounts such as the 5           total amount for each loan or credit limit for 6           each credit card and the consumer's payment
7           history on these products. Reports also include 8           identifying information about a consumer, such 9           as their birthdate, previous mailing addresses, 10          and current and previous employers.

11           (B) In a December 2012 paper, "Key Di-12          mensions and Processes in the U.S. Credit Re-13          porting System: A review for how the nation's 14          largest credit bureaus manage consumer data", 15          the Bureau of Consumer Financial Protection
16          ("Consumer Bureau") noted that the three na-
17          tionwide CRAs maintain credit files on approxi-
18          mately 200 million adults and receive informa-
19          tion from about 10,000 furnishers. On a 20          monthly basis, these furnishers provide infor-
21          mation on over 1.3 billion consumer credit ac-
22          counts or other trade lines.

23           (C) The 10 largest institutions furnishing 24          credit information to each of the nationwide

1 CRAs account for more than half of all ac-
2 counts reflected in consumers' credit files.

3 (D) Consumer reports play an increasingly 4 important role in the lives of American con-
5 sumers. Most creditors, for example, review 6 these reports to make decisions about whether 7 to extend credit to consumers and what terms
8 and conditions to offer them. As such, informa-9 tion contained in these reports affects whether 10 a person is able to get a private education loan 11 to pay for college costs, to secure a mortgage 12 loan to buy a home, or to obtain a credit card, 13 as well as the terms and conditions under which 14 consumer credit products or services are offered 15 to them.

16 (E) Credit reports are also increasingly 17 used for many noncredit decisions, including by 18 landlords to determine whether to rent an 19 apartment to a prospective tenant and by em-
20 ployers to decide whether to hire potential job 21 applicants or to offer a promotion to existing 22 employees.

23 (F) CRAs have a statutory obligation to 24 verify independently the accuracy and complete-

1           ness of information included on the reports that 2           they provide.

3           (G) The nationwide CRAs have failed to 4           establish and follow reasonable procedures, as 5           required by existing law, to establish the max-
6           imum level of accuracy of information contained 7           on consumer reports. Given the repeated fail-
8           ures of these CRAs to comply with accuracy re-9           quirements on their own, legislation is intended 10          to provide them with detailed guidance improv-11          ing the accuracy and completeness of informa-12          tion contained in consumer reports, including 13          procedures, policies, and practices that these 14          CRAs should already be following to ensure full 15          compliance with their existing obligations.

16          (H) The presence of inaccurate or incom-17          plete information on these reports can result in 18          substantial financial and emotional harm to 19          consumers. Credit reporting errors can lead to 20          the loss of a new employment opportunity or a 21          denial of a promotion in an existing job, stop 22          someone from being able to access credit on fa-23          vorable terms, prevent a person from obtaining 24          rental housing, or even trigger mental distress.

1 (I) Current industry practices impose an 2 unfair burden of proof on consumers trying to 3 fix errors on their reports.

4 (J) Consumer reports containing inac-
5 curate or incomplete credit information also un-6 dermine the ability of creditors and lenders to 7 effectively and accurately underwrite and price 8 credit.

9 (K) Recognizing that credit reporting af-10 fects the lives of almost all consumers in this 11 country and that the consequences of errors on 12 a consumer report can be catastrophic for a 13 consumer, the Consumer Bureau began accept-14 ing consumer complaints about credit reporting
15 in October 2012.

16 (L) As of early December 2019, the Con-17 sumer Bureau has handled approximately 18 391,560 credit reporting complaints about the 19 top three CRAs, making credit reporting con-20 sistent in the top third most-complained-about 21 subject matter on which the Consumer Bureau
22 accepts consumer complaints. Incorrect infor-
23 mation in reports and frustrations about bur-
24 densome and time-consuming process to dis-

1           puting items is are consistently top reported 2           concerns from consumers.

3           (M) Other common types of credit report-
4           ing complaints submitted to the Consumer Bu-
5           reau related to the improper use of a report, 6           trouble obtaining a report or credit score, 7           CRAs' investigations, and credit monitoring or 8           identity protection.

9           (N) In the fall 2019 "Supervisory High-10          lights", the Consumer Bureau noted that one or 11          more of the largest CRAs continue to struggle 12          to adequately oversee furnishers to ensure that 13          they were adhering to the CRA's vetting poli-14          cies and to establish proper procedures to verify 15          public record information.

16          (O) According to the fall 2016 "Super-17          visory Highlights", Consumer Bureau exam-18          iners determined that one or more debt collec-19          tors never investigated indirect disputes that 20          lacked detail or were not accompanied by at-21          tachments with relevant information from the 22          consumer. Examiners also found that notifica-
23          tions sent to consumers about disputes consid-
24          ered frivolous failed to identify for the con-
25          sumers the type of material that they could pro-

1           vide in order for the debt collector to complete 2           the investigation of the disputed item.

3           (P) A February 2014 Consumer Bureau
4           report titled “Credit Reporting Complaint
5           Snapshot” found that consumers are confused
6           about the extent to which the nationwide CRAs
7           are required to provide them with validation 8           and documentation of a debt that appears on 9           their credit report.

10          (Q) As evidence that the current system 11          lacks sufficient market incentives for CRAs to 12          develop more robust procedures to increase the 13          accuracy and completeness of information on 14          credit reports, litigation discovery documented
15          by the National Consumer Law Center
16          (“NCLC”), as part of a February 2019 report
17          titled “Automated Injustice Redux: Ten Years
18          after a Key Report, Consumers Are Still Frustrated 19          Trying to Fix Credit Reporting Errors”, 20          showed that at least two of the three largest 21          CRAs use quota systems to force employees to 22          process disputes hastily and without the oppor-
23          tunity for conducting meaningful investigations.
24          At least one nationwide CRA only allowed dis-
25          pute resolution staff five minutes to handle a

1 consumer's call. Furthermore, these CRAs were 2 found to have awarded bonuses for meeting
3 quotas and punished those who didn't meet pro-4 duction numbers with probation.

5 (R) Unlike most other business relation-6 ships, where consumers can register their satis-
7 faction or unhappiness with a particular credit 8 product or service simply by taking their busi-9 ness elsewhere, consumers have no say in 10 whether their information is included in the 11 CRAs databases and limited legal remedies to 12 hold the CRAs accountable for inaccuracies or 13 poor service.

14 (S) Accordingly, despite the existing statu-
15 tory mandate for CRAs to follow reasonable 16 procedures to assure the maximum possible ac-
17 curacy of the information whenever they pre-18 pare consumer reports, numerous studies, the 19 high volume of consumer complaints submitted
20 to the Consumer Bureau about incorrect infor-
21 mation on consumer reports, and supervisory 22 activities by the Consumer Bureau demonstrate 23 that CRAs continue to skirt their obligations 24 under the law.

1           (2) INCORRECT INFORMATION ON CONSUMER
2       REPORTS.—

3           (A) Consumers are entitled to dispute er-4       rors on their consumer reports with either the 5       CRA, who issued the report, or directly with 6       furnishers, who supplied the account informa-
7       tion to the CRA, and request that mistakes be 8       deleted or removed. Consumers, who believe an 9       investigation has not correctly resolved their 10      dispute, however, have few options, other than 11      requesting that a statement about the dispute 12      be included with their future reports.

13          (B) CRAs have a statutory obligation
14      under the FCRA to perform a reasonable inves-15      tigation by conducting a substantive and 16      searching inquiry when a consumer disputes an 17      item on their report. In doing so, CRAs must 18      conduct an independent review about the accu-19      racy of any disputed item and cannot merely 20      rely on a furnisher’s “rubber-stamp”
21      verification of the integrity of the information
22      they have provided to CRAs.

23          (C) In “Report to Congress Under Section
24      319 of the Fair and Accurate Credit Trans-25      actions Act of 2003” released by the Federal

1 Government in December 2012, found that 26
2 percent of survey participants identified at least 3 one potentially material error on their consumer 4 reports, and 13 percent experienced a change in 5 their credit score once the error was fixed.

6 (D) Consumer Bureau examiners have 7 identified repeated deficiencies with the nation-
8 wide CRAs' information collection. In the fall
9 2019 "Supervisory Highlights", the Consumer
10 Bureau noted continued weaknesses with CRAs' 11 methods and processes for assuring maximum 12 possible accuracy in their reports. Examiners 13 also found, with certain exceptions, no quality 14 control policies and procedures in place to test 15 consumer reports for accuracy.

16 (E) In its "Credit Reporting Complaint
17 Snapshot" released in February 2014, the Con-
18 sumer Bureau found that consumers were un-19 certain about the depth and validity of the in-20 vestigations performed about a disputed item.
21 Consumers also expressed frustration that, even 22 though they provided supporting materials that 23 they believed demonstrated the inaccuracy of 24 the information provided by furnishers, errors
25 continued to remain on their reports.

1 (F) In the winter 2015 “Supervisory High-
2 lights” released in March 2015, the Consumer
3 Bureau reported that one or more nationwide
4 CRAs failed to adequately fulfill their dispute-5 handling obligations, including by not for-6 warding to furnishers all relevant information 7 found in letters and supporting documents sup-8 plied by consumers when they submitted dis-9 putes failing to notify consumers that they had 10 completed investigations, and not providing con-
11 sumers with the results of the CRAs’ reviews 12 about their disputes.

13 (G) Consumer Bureau examiners also 14 noted in the fall 2016 “Supervisory Highlights”
15 released in October 2016 that one or more enti-16 ties failed to provide adequate guidance and 17 training to staff about how to differentiate 18 FCRA disputes from general customer inquir-
19 ies, complaints, or debt validation requests.
20 Consumer Bureau supervisors also directed one 21 or more entities to develop and implement rea-22 sonable procedures to ensure that direct and in-23 direct disputes are appropriately logged, cat-24 egorized, and resolved.

1 (H) Consumers’ increasing frustration
2 about the difficulties of trying to fix credit re-3 porting errors, evidenced through the volume of 4 consumer complaints related to errors sub-5 mitted to the Consumer Bureau, are also 6 echoed in another Federal Government study
7 issued in January 2015. In the “Report to Con-
8 gress under Section 319 for the Fair and Accu-9 rate Credit Transactions Act of 2003”, the 10 study found that nearly 70 percent (84 people) 11 of participants from a previous survey that had 12 filed disputes with CRAs continued to believe 13 that at least some of the disputed information 14 remained inaccurate at the time of the follow-15 up survey. Despite these views, 50 percent (42 16 people) of the survey participants decided to 17 just give up trying to fix the errors, with only 18 45 percent (38 people) of them planning to con-19 tinue to try to resolve their disputes.

20 (I) The consistently high volume of con-
21 sumer complaints submitted to the Consumer 22 Bureau about credit reporting errors, coupled 23 with the largest CRAs’ repeated quality control
24 weaknesses found by Consumer Bureau exam-25 iners, show that the nationwide CRAs have

1 failed to establish and follow reasonable proce-
2 dures to assure maximum accuracy of informa-
3 tion and to conduct independent investigations
4 of consumers' disputes. These ongoing problems 5 demonstrate the need for legislation to—

6 (i) enhance obligations on furnishers
7 to substantiate information and require 8 furnishers to keep records for the same
9 amount of time that adverse information 10 about these accounts may appear on a per-11 son's consumer report;

12 (ii) eliminate CRAs' discretion to de-
13 termine the relevancy of materials provided 14 by consumers to support their dispute
15 claims by instead requiring them to pass
16 all material onto furnishers and elimi-
17 nating CRA's discretion to deem some dis-
18 putes frivolous or irrelevant when a con-
19 sumer resubmits a claim that they believe 20 has been inadequately resolved;

21 (iii) enhance educational content on 22 CRAs' websites to improve consumers' un-23 derstanding of the dispute process and to 24 make it easier for all consumers to initiate 25 claims, including by providing these dislo-

1           sures in other languages besides English;
2           and

3                   (iv) create a new consumer right to 4           appeal reviews by CRAs and furnishers of 5           the initial disputes.

6           (3) INJUNCTIVE RELIEF.—

7                   (A) Despite the fact that the FCRA cur-
8           rently provides implicit authority for injunctive 9           relief, consumers have been prevented from ex-
10          ercising this right against CRAs. Legislation 11          explicitly clarifying this right is intended to un-12          derscore congressional intent that injunctive re-13          lief should be viewed as a remedy available to 14          consumers.

15                   (B) Myriad findings by the courts, regu-
16          lators, consumers, and consumer advocates
17          make clear that CRAs have failed to establish 18          adequate standards for the accuracy and com-
19          pleteness of consumer reports, yet the nation-20          wide CRAs have demonstrated little willingness 21          to voluntarily retool their policies and proce-22          dures to fix the problems.

23                   (C) Providing courts with explicit authority 24          to issue injunctive relief, by telling the CRAs to 25          remedy unlawful practices and procedures,

1 would further CRAs' mandate under the FCRA
2 to assure the maximum possible accuracy and 3 completeness of information contained on credit
4 reports.

5 (D) Absent explicit authority to issue in-6 junctions, history suggests that the nationwide
7 CRAs are likely to continue conducting business
8 as usual in treating any monetary settlements 9 with individual consumers and fines imposed by 10 State attorneys general and Federal regulators, 11 simply as the "cost of doing business".

12 (4) CREDIT SCORES.—

13 (A) While nationwide CRAs are required 14 by law to supply consumers with a free copy of 15 their credit report annually, they can charge 16 consumers to obtain a credit score disclosure.

17 (B) Many consumers do not realize that 18 they have more than just "one" credit score.
19 Because the submission of credit information to 20 CRAs is voluntary and not all furnishers submit 21 information to every CRA, the information con-22 tained in a report also varies among CRAs. As 23 a result, the credit score generated by each 24 CRA is also likely to vary, resulting in poten-25 tially different credit decisions based on an

1 evaluation of different credit reports obtained
2 from different CRAs.

3 (C) A February 2015 Consumer Bureau
4 report titled “Consumer Voices on Credit Re-5 ports and Scores” found that consumers had 6 questions about what actions to take to improve 7 their scores once they had seen them, sug-
8 gesting that additional disclosures and edu-
9 cational content would be helpful to consumers.
10 The Consumer Bureau found that consumers 11 were confused by conflicting advice on how to 12 improve their scores.

13 (D) That report also noted that consumers
14 found the process for obtaining consumer re-
15 ports and credit scores confusing. Consumers 16 also were uncertain about whether, and under 17 what circumstances, they could obtain a con-
18 sumer report for free.

19 (5) PRIVATE EDUCATION LOANS.—

20 (A) The Consumer Bureau’s October 2014
21 report titled “Annual Report of the CFPB Stu-22 dent Loan Ombudsman” noted many private 23 education loan borrowers, who sought to nego-
24 tiate a modified repayment plan when they were 25 experiencing a period of financial distress, were

1           unable to get assistance from their loan holders, 2           which often resulting in them defaulting on 3           their loans. This pattern resembles the dif-
4           ficulty that a significant number of mortgage 5           loan borrowers experienced when they sought to 6           take responsible steps to work with their mort-7           gage loan servicer to avoid foreclosure during 8           the Great Recession.

9           (B) Although private student loan holders
10          may allow a borrower to postpone payments 11          while enrolled in school full-time, many limit
12          this option to a certain time period, usually 48
13          to 66 months. This limited time period may not 14          be sufficient for those who need additional time 15          to obtain their degree or who want to continue 16          their education by pursuing a graduate or profes-17          sional degree. The Consumer Bureau found 18          that borrowers who were unable to make pay-19          ments often defaulted or had their accounts 20          sent to collections before they were even able to 21          graduate.

22          (6) DECEPTIVE PRACTICES AT CERTAIN PRO-
23          PRIETARY EDUCATION INSTITUTIONS AND CAREER
24          EDUCATION PROGRAMS.—

1 (A) NCLC cited the proliferation of law
2 enforcement actions against many for-profit 3 schools in its June 2014 report, titled “Ensuring 4 Educational Integrity: 10 Steps to Improve 5 State Oversight of For-profit Schools”, to demonstrate 6 the pervasive problem in this sector of 7 targeting low-income students with deceptive
8 high-pressure sales techniques involving inflated 9 job placement rates and misleading data on 10 graduate wages, and false representations about 11 the transferability of credits and the employ-12 ability of graduates in occupations that require 13 licensure. Student loan borrowers at these 14 schools may be left with nothing but worthless
15 credentials and large debt. Those who default 16 on their student loans face years with damaged 17 credit that will adversely impact their ability to 18 rent or buy homes, purchase cars, and find em-19 ployment.

20 (B) The closure and bankruptcy of Corin-
21 thian Colleges, which was found to have de-22 ceived students by steering them into high-in-23 terest student loans based on misleading grad-24 uation rates and employment data, is a good 25 example of the problem. Even after its closure,

1 many Corinthian students remained saddled
2 with student loan debt, worthless degrees, and 3 few prospects for employment.

4 (C) Attending a two-year, for-profit college 5 costs, on average, four times as much as at-6 tending a community college. Students at for-7 profit colleges represent only about 11 percent
8 of the total higher education population but a 9 startling 44 percent of all Federal student loan
10 defaults, according to the United States De-11 partment of Education (“DOE”).

12 (D) According to NCLC, a dispropor-13 tionate number of for-profit students are low-in-14 come and people of color. These schools target 15 veterans, working parents, first-generation stu-
16 dents, and non-English speaking students, who 17 may be more likely than their public or private 18 nonprofit school counterparts to drop out, incur 19 enormous student debt, and default on this 20 debt. In the 2011–2012 school year, 28 percent
21 of African Americans and 15 percent of Latinos 22 attending four-year institutions were enrolled in 23 a for-profit school, compared to 10 percent of 24 Whites.

1 (E) As highlighted in a press release titled 2 “Obama Administration Announces Final Rules
3 to Protect Students from Poor-Performing Ca-4 reer College Programs”, that was issued by the 5 DOE on October 30, 2014, “[t]oo often, stu-
6 dents at career colleges—including thousands of 7 veterans—are charged excessive costs, but don’t 8 get the education they paid for. Instead, stu-
9 dents in such programs are provided with poor 10 quality training, often for low-wage jobs or in 11 occupations where there are simply no job op-12 portunities. They find themselves with large 13 amounts of debt and, too often, end up in de-14 fault. In many cases, students are drawn into 15 these programs with confusing or misleading in-16 formation.”.

17 (7) MEDICAL DEBT.—

18 (A) Research by the Consumer Bureau has 19 found that the inclusion of medical collections 20 on consumer reports has unfairly reduced con-21 sumers’ credit scores.

22 (B) The Consumer Bureau’s review of 5
23 million anonymized credit files from September 24 2011 to September 2013, for example, found 25 that credit scores may underestimate a person’s

1 creditworthiness by up to 10 points for those 2 who owe medical debt, and may underestimate
3 a person's creditworthiness by up to 22 points
4 after the medical debt has been paid. For con-5 sumers with lower credit scores, especially those 6 on the brink of what is considered subprime, a 7 10 to 22 point decrease in their credit scores 8 can have a significant impact on their lives, in-9 cluding by affecting whether they are able to 10 qualify for credit and, if so, the terms and con-11 ditions under which it is extended to them.

12 (C) The Consumer Bureau found that half 13 of all collections trade lines that appear on con-
14 sumer reports are related to medical bills
15 claimed to be owed to hospitals and other med-
16 ical providers. These trade lines affect the re-17 ports of nearly 1/5 of all consumers in the cred-18 it reporting system.

19 (D) The Consumer Bureau has found that 20 there are no objective or enforceable standards 21 that determine when a debt can or should be 22 reported as a collection trade line. Because debt 23 buyers and collectors determine whether, when, 24 and for how long to report a collection account, 25 there is only a limited relationship between the

1 time period reported, the severity of a delin-
2 quency, and when or whether a collection trade 3 line appears on a consumer's credit report.

4 (E) Medical bills can be complex and con-5 fusing for many consumers, which results in 6 consumers' uncertainty about what they owe, to 7 whom, when, or for what, that may cause some 8 people, who ordinarily pay their bills on time, to 9 delay or withhold payments on their medical 10 debts. This uncertainty can also result in med-11 ical collections appearing on consumer reports.
12 In a December 2014 report titled "Consumer 13 Credit Reports: A Study of Medical and Non-14 Medical Collections", the Consumer Bureau 15 found that a large portion of consumers with 16 medical collections show no other evidence of fi-
17 nancial distress and are consumers who ordi-18 narily pay their other financial obligations on 19 time. Unlike with most credit products or serv-20 ices, such as credit cards, installment loans, 21 utilities, or wireless or cable services that have 22 contractual account disclosures describing the 23 terms and conditions of use, most consumers 24 are not told what their out-of-pocket medical 25 costs will be in advance. Consumers needing ur-

1           gent or emergency care rarely know, or are pro-
2           vided, the cost of a medical treatment or proce-
3           dure before the service is rendered.

4           (F) The Consumer Bureau concluded that 5           the presence of medical collections is less pre-6           dictive of future defaults or serious delin-
7           quencies than the presence of a nonmedical col-8           lection in a study titled “Data Point: Medical 9           Debt and Credit Scores”, issued in May 2014.

10          (G) FICO’s latest credit scoring model, 11          “FICO 9”, changes the treatment of paid col-12          lections to disregard any collection matters that 13          the consumer has paid in full. FICO 9, how-14          ever, is not yet widely used by lenders.

15          (H) VantageScore’s latest credit scoring 16          model, “VantageScore 4.0”, will be available in 17          the fall of 2017. This model will penalize med-18          ical collections less than non-medical ones.

19          (I) The three nationwide CRAs entered 20          into a settlement agreement with the New York
21          State attorney general in 2015 to address defi-22          ciencies in their dispute resolution process and 23          enhance the accuracy of items on reports. These 24          policy changes will be implemented in a three-25          phrased rollout, culminating by June 2018.

1           Subsequently, these CRAs entered into a coop-
2           erative agreement with 31 State Attorneys Gen-3           eral, which was the basis of the creation of the 4           National Consumer Assistance Plan (“NCAP”)
5           to change some of their business practices.

6           (J) While the CRAs appear to be volun-
7           tarily adopting policy changes on a nationwide
8           basis, they are not obligated to do so for con-
9           sumers who reside in States that are not party 10          to any of the consent orders.

11          (K) As a result of the settlement agree-12          ments, the three nationwide CRAs will set a 13          180-day waiting period before including medical 14          collections on a report and will remove a med-15          ical collection from a report once it is paid by 16          an insurance company. While this change will 17          benefit many, once a medical collection appears 18          on a report, it will only be deleted or suppressed 19          if it is found to have been the insurance com-20          pany’s obligation to pay and the insurer pays it.
21          Given the research showing there is little pre-22          dictive value in medical debt information, med-23          ical collections that are paid or settled should 24          quickly be removed from a report, regardless of 25          who pays or settles this debt.

1 (8) FINANCIAL ABUSE BY KNOWN PERSONS.—

2 (A) Financial abuse and exploitation are 3 frequently associated with domestic violence.
4 This type of abuse may result in fraudulent
5 charges to a credit card or having fraudulent 6 accounts created by the abuser in the survivor's 7 name that could affect ratings by CRAs. Finan-8 cial abuse may also result in the survivor's in-9 ability to make timely payments on their valid 10 obligations due to loss or changes in income 11 that can occur when their abuser steals from or 12 coerces the survivor to relinquish their pay-13 checks or savings that could affect ratings by 14 CRAs.

15 (B) By racking up substantial debts in the 16 survivor's name, abusers are able to exercise fi-
17 nancial control over their survivors to make it 18 economically difficult for the survivor, whose 19 credit is often destroyed, to escape the situa-
20 tion.

21 (C) Domestic abuse survivors with poor 22 credit are likely to face significant obstacles in 23 establishing financial independence from their 24 abusers. This can be due, in part, because con-25 sumer reports may be used when a person at-

1           tempts to obtain a checking account, housing, 2           insurance, utilities, employment, and even a se-
3           curity clearance as required for certain jobs.

4           (D) Providing documentation of identity 5           (“ID”) theft in order to dispute information on 6           one’s consumer report can be particularly chal-7           lenging for those who know their financial 8           abuser.

9           (E) While it is easier for consumers who 10          obtain a police report to remove fraudulent in-11          formation from their consumer report and pre-12          vent it from reappearing in the future, accord-13          ing to the Empire Justice Center, safety and 14          other noncredit concerns may impact the capac-
15          ity of a survivor of financial abuse committed 16          by a known person to turn to law enforcement 17          to get a police report.

18          (F) According to the Legal Aid Society in 19          New York, domestic abuse survivors, seeking to 20          remove adverse information stemming from fi-
21          nancial abuse by contacting their furnishers di-22          rectly, are likely to face skepticism about claims 23          of ID theft perpetrated by a partner because of 24          an assumption that they are aware of, and may

1           have been complicit in, the activity which the 2           survivor alleges stems from financial abuse.

3           (9) DECEPTIVE AND MISLEADING MARKETING
4           PRACTICES.—

5                   (A) The Consumer Bureau’s February
6           2015 report titled “Consumer Voices on Credit
7           Reports and Scores” found that some con-
8           sumers did not obtain a copy of their consumer 9           report due to concerns about security or of 10          being trapped into purchasing unwanted prod-
11          ucts like an additional report or a credit moni-
12          toring service.

13                   (B) In January 2017, the Consumer Bu-
14          reau fined TransUnion and Equifax for decep-
15          tively marketing credit scores for purchase by 16          consumers as the same credit scores typically 17          used by lenders to determine creditworthiness
18          and for luring consumers into costly subscrip-
19          tion services that were advertised as “free” or 20          “$1” that automatically charged recurring fees
21          unless cancelled by consumers. The Consumer
22          Bureau also found that Equifax was illegally
23          advertising its products on webpages that con-
24          sumers                   accessed                   through 25          AnnualCreditReport.com before consumers ob-

1           tained their free disclosures. Because of these 2           troubling practices, TransUnion was ordered to
3           pay $13.9 million in restitution to harmed con-
4           sumers and a civil penalty of $3 million to the 5           Consumer Bureau. Equifax was ordered to pay
6           more than $3.7 million to affected consumers
7           as well as a civil money penalty of $2.5 million
8           to the Consumer Bureau. As part of the con-
9           sent orders, the CRAs are also supposed to 10          change the way that they sell their products to 11          consumers. The CRAs must also obtain con-
12          sumers' express consent before enrolling them
13          into subscription services as well as make it
14          easier for consumers to cancel these programs.

15                 (C) The Consumer Bureau fined the other
16          nationwide CRA—Experian—in March 2017
17          for deceiving consumers about the use of credit
18          scores that it marketed and sold to consumers
19          as credit scores that were used by lenders and 20          for illegally advertising its products on web
21          pages that consumers accessed through
22          AnnualCreditReport.com before they obtained
23          their free annual disclosures. Experian was or-
24          dered to pay more than $3.7 million in restitu-
25          tion to harmed consumers and a civil monetary

1 penalty of $2.5 million to the Consumer Bu-
2 reau.

3 (D) The Consumer Bureau's January and
4 March 2017 consent orders with the three na-
5 tionwide CRAs show that these CRAs have en-
6 ticed consumers into purchasing products and 7 services that they may not want or need, in 8 some instances by advertising products or serv-
9 ices "free" that automatically converted into an 10 ongoing subscription service at the regular price
11 unless cancelled by the consumer. Although
12 these CRAs must now change their deceptive
13 marketing practices, codifying these duties is an 14 appropriate way to ensure that these companies
15 never revert back to such misleading tactics.

16 (E) Given the ubiquitous use of consumer
17 reports in consumers' lives and the fact that 18 consumers' participation in the credit reporting
19 system is involuntary, CRAs should also
20 prioritize providing consumers with the effective
21 means to safeguard their personal and financial 22 information and improve their credit standing,
23 rather than seeking to exploit consumers' con-
24 cerns and confusion about credit reporting and 25 scoring, to boost their companies' profits.

1 (F) Vulnerable consumers, who have legiti-
2 mate concerns about the security of their per-
3 sonal and financial information, deserve clear,
4 accurate, and transparent information about
5 the credit reporting tools that may be available
6 to them, such as fraud alerts and freezes.

7 (10) CLARITY IN CREDIT SCORING.—

8 (A) The February 2015 report of the Bu-
9 reau of Consumer Financial Protection titled 10 “Consumer Voices on Credit Reports and 11 Scores” found that some consumers are reluc-12 tant to comparison shop for loans and other 13 types of consumer credit products out of fear 14 that they will lower their credit scores by doing 15 so.

16 (B) The Consumer Bureau found that one
17 of the most common barriers for people in re-18 viewing their own credit reports and shopping 19 for the best credit terms was a lack of under-20 standing of the differences between “soft” and 21 “hard” inquiries and whether requesting a copy 22 of their own report would adversely impact their 23 credit standing.

24 (C) The Bureau of Consumer Financial 25 Protection revealed that consumers with accu-

1 rate perceptions of their creditworthiness may 2 be better equipped to shop for favorable credit 3 terms.

4 (11) CREDIT CHECKS AND EMPLOYMENT DECI-
5 SIONS.—

6 (A) The use of consumer reports as a fac-
7 tor in making hiring decisions has been found 8 to be prevalent in a diverse array of occupa-
9 tions, and is not limited to certain high-level 10 management or executive positions.

11 (B) According to the California Labor
12 Federation, only 25 percent of employers re-13 searched the credit history of job applicants in 14 1998. However, this practice had increased to 15 43 percent by 2006 and to 60 percent by 2011.

16 (C) A study titled “Do Job Applicant
17 Credit Histories Predict Job Performance Ap-18 praisal Ratings or Termination Decisions?”, 19 published in 2012, found that, while credit his-20 tory might conceptually measure a person’s 21 level of responsibility, ability to meet deadlines, 22 dependability, or integrity, it does not, in prac-
23 tice, actually predict an employee’s performance 24 or likelihood to quit. Credit reports contain 25 many inaccuracies and credit history can be

1 contaminated by events that are sometimes out-
2 side a person's control, such as a sudden med-
3 ical expense after an accident or the loss of a 4 job during an economic downturn. The study
5 found that there is no benefit from using credit 6 history to predict job performance or turnover.

7 (D) Despite the absence of data showing a
8 correlation between job performance and credit-
9 worthiness, employers continue to use credit 10 checks as a proxy for assessing character and 11 integrity. According to a 2012 Society for 12 Human Resource Management survey, organi-
13 zations indicated that they used credit checks 14 on job candidates primarily to reduce or prevent 15 theft and embezzlement and to minimize legal 16 liability for negligent hiring.

17 (E) The use of credit checks for employ-18 ment purposes creates a true "catch-22" for 19 unemployed people with impaired credit. For 20 example, the financial hardship caused by losing 21 a job may cause some unemployed individuals 22 to make late or partial payments on their bills, 23 but their poor credit standing caused by this 24 negative information on their consumer report

1 can also impede their chances of obtaining a
2 new job to end their financial distress.

3 (F) A September 2014 report by the New 4 York City Council’s Committee on Civil Rights
5 noted that, for those who have been unemployed
6 for an extended period of time and whose credit 7 has suffered as they fell behind on bills, the use 8 of credit reports in the hiring process can exacer-9bate and perpetuate an already precarious sit-10uation.

11 (G) In a March 2013 Demos report titled 12 “Discredited: How Employment Credit Checks 13 Keep Out Qualified Workers Out of a Job”, one 14 in four survey participants who were unem-
15ployed said that a potential employer had re-16quested to check their credit report as part of 17a job application. Among job applicants with 18blemished credit histories in the survey, one in 19seven had been told that they were not being 20hired because of their credit history.

21 (H) While job applicants must give prior 22approval for a prospective employer to pull their 23credit reports under the FCRA, this authoriza-24tion, as a practical matter, does not constitute 25an effective consumer protection because an

1 employer may reject any job applicant who re-2 fuses a credit check.

3 (I) Some negative information on a report 4 may stem from uncontrollable circumstances, or 5 significant life events in a consumer's life, such 6 as a medical crisis or a divorce. Demos found 7 that poor credit is associated with household 8 unemployment, lack of health coverage, and 9 medical debt, which are factors that reflect eco-10 nomic conditions in the country and personal 11 misfortune that have little relationship with how 12 well a job applicant would perform at work.

13 (J) In October 2011, FICO noted that 14 from 2008 to 2009 approximately 50 million 15 people experienced a 20-point drop in their 16 credit scores and about 21 million saw their 17 scores decline by more than 50 points. While 18 the Great Recession reduced many consumers'
19 credit scores due to foreclosures and other fi-20 nancial hardships, the financial crisis had a 21 particularly harsh impact on African Americans 22 and Latinos, as racial and ethnic minorities and 23 communities of color were frequently targeted 24 by predatory mortgage lenders who steered bor-25 rowers into high-cost subprime loans, even when

1           these borrowers would have qualified for less 2           costly prime credit.

3           (K) A May 2006 Brookings Institution re-4           port titled “Credit Scores, Reports, and Getting 5           Ahead in America” found that counties with a 6           relatively higher proportion of racial and ethnic 7           minorities in the United States tended to have 8           lower credit scores compared with counties that 9           had a lower concentration of communities of 10          color.

11          (L) Studies have consistently found that 12          African American and Latino households tend, 13          on average, to have lower credit scores than 14          White households. The growing use of credit 15          checks, therefore, may disproportionately screen
16          otherwise qualified racial and ethnic minorities
17          out of jobs, leading to discriminatory hiring 18          practices, and further exacerbating the trend 19          where unemployment for African American and 20          Latino communities is elevated well above the 21          rate of Whites.

22          (M) A 2012 Demos survey found that 65 23          percent of White respondents reported having 24          good or excellent credit scores while over half of

1 African American households reported only hav-
2 ing fair or bad credit.

5 (A) The Consumer Bureau’s February
6 2015 report titled “Consumer Voices on Credit
7 Reports and Scores” found that some con-
8 sumers did not obtain a copy of their consumer
9 report due to concerns about security or of
10 being trapped into purchasing unwanted prod-
11 ucts like an additional report or a credit moni-
12 toring service.

13 (B) In January 2017, the Consumer Bu-
14 reau fined TransUnion and Equifax for decep-
15 tively marketing credit scores for purchase by 16 consumers as the same credit scores typically
17 used by lenders to determine creditworthiness
18 and for luring consumers into costly subscrip-
19 tion services that were advertised as “free” or
20 “$1” that automatically charged recurring fees
21 unless cancelled by consumers. The Consumer
22 Bureau also found that Equifax was illegally
23 advertising its products on webpages that con-
24 sumers accessed through
25 AnnualCreditReport.com before consumers ob-

1           tained their free disclosures. Because of these
2           troubling practices, TransUnion was ordered to
3           pay $13.9 million in restitution to harmed con-
4           sumers and a civil penalty of $3 million to the 5           Consumer Bureau. Equifax was ordered to pay
6           more than $3.7 million to affected consumers
7           as well as a civil money penalty of $2.5 million
8           to the Consumer Bureau. As part of the con-
9           sent orders, the CRAs are also supposed to 10          change the way that they sell their products to
11          consumers. The CRAs must also obtain con-
12          sumers' express consent before enrolling them
13          into subscription services as well as make it
14          easier for consumers to cancel these programs.

15                 (C) The Consumer Bureau fined the other
16          nationwide CRA—Experian—in March 2017
17          for deceiving consumers about the use of credit
18          scores that it marketed and sold to consumers
19          as credit scores that were used by lenders and
20          for illegally advertising its products on web
21          pages that consumers accessed through
23          their free annual disclosures. Experian was or-
24          dered to pay more than $3.7 million in restitu-
25          tion to harmed consumers and a civil monetary

1 penalty of $2.5 million to the Consumer Bu-
2 reau.

3 (D) The Consumer Bureau's January and
4 March 2017 consent orders with the three na-
5 tionwide CRAs show that these CRAs have en-
6 ticed consumers into purchasing products and
7 services that they may not want or need, in
8 some instances by advertising products or serv-
9 ices "free" that automatically converted into an
10 ongoing subscription service at the regular price
11 unless cancelled by the consumer. Although
13 marketing practices, codifying these duties is an
14 appropriate way to ensure that these companies
15 never revert back to such misleading tactics.

17 reports in consumers' lives and the fact that
18 consumers' participation in the credit reporting
19 system is involuntary, CRAs should also
20 prioritize providing consumers with the effective
21 means to safeguard their personal and financial
22 information and improve their credit standing,
23 rather than seeking to exploit consumers' con-
24 cerns and confusion about credit reporting and
25 scoring, to boost their companies' profits.

1 (F) Vulnerable consumers, who have legiti-
2 mate concerns about the security of their per-
3 sonal and financial information, deserve clear,
4 accurate, and transparent information about
5 the credit reporting tools that may be available
6 to them, such as fraud alerts and freezes.

7 (13) PROTECTIONS FOR CONSUMERS' CREDIT
8 INFORMATION.—

9 (A) Despite heightened awareness, inci-
10 dents of ID theft continue to rise. In February 11 2015, the Federal Government reported that ID
12 theft was the top consumer complaint that it 13 received for the 15th consecutive year. As these 14 incidents increase, consumers experience signifi-
15 cant financial loss and emotional distress from 16 the inability to safeguard effectively and inex-
17 pensively their credit information from bad ac-18 tors.

19 (B) According to a Carnegie Mellon study, 20 children are 50 times more likely than adults to 21 have their identities stolen. Child identities are 22 valuable to thieves because most children do not 23 have existing files, and their parents may not 24 notice fraudulent activity until their child ap-25 plies for a student loan, a job, or a credit card.

1 As a result, the fraudulent activity of the bad
2 actors may go undetected for years.

3 (C) Despite the increasing incidents of 4 children's ID theft, parents who want to 5 proactively prevent their children from having 6 their identity stolen, may not be able to do so.
7 Only one of the three nationwide CRAs cur-
8 rently allows parents from any State to set up 9 a freeze for a minor child. At the other two na-
10 tionwide CRAs, parents can only obtain a freeze 11 after a child has become an ID theft victim be-12 cause, it is only at this point, that these CRAs 13 have an existing credit file for the child. While 14 many States have enacted laws to address this 15 problem, there is no existing Federal law.

16 (D) According to Javelin Strategy &
17 Research's 2015 Identity Fraud study, $16 bil-18 lion was stolen by fraudsters from 12.7 million 19 American consumers in 2014. Similarly, the 20 United States Department of Justice found an 21 estimated 7 percent of all residents age 16 or 22 older (about 17.6 million persons) in this coun-
23 try were victims of one or more incidents of ID
24 theft in 2014, and the number of elderly victims

1 age 65 or older (about 86 percent) increased 2 from 2.1 million in 2012 to 2.6 million in 2014.

3 (E) Consumers frequently express concern
4 about the security of their financial informa-
5 tion. According to a 2015 MasterCard survey, 6 a majority of consumers (77 percent) have anx-7 iety about the possibility that their financial in-8 formation and Social Security numbers may be 9 stolen or compromised, with about 55 percent 10 of consumers indicating that they would rather 11 have naked pictures of themselves leaked online 12 than have their financial information stolen.

13 (F) That survey also revealed that con-14 sumers' fears about the online security of their 15 financial information even outweighed con-
16 sumers' worries about other physical security 17 dangers such as having their houses robbed (59 18 percent) or being pickpocketed (46 percent).

19 (G) According to Consumer Reports,
20 roughly 50 million American consumers spent 21 about $3.5 billion in 2010 to purchase products 22 aimed at protecting their identity, with the an-23 nual cost of these services ranging from $120
24 to $300. As risks to consumers' personal and fi-
25 nancial information continue to grow, con-

1 consumers need additional protections to ensure 2 that they have fair and reasonable access to the 3 full suite of ID theft and fraud prevention 4 measures that may be right for them.

2           THE DISPUTE PROCESS

3   SEC. 101. DISPUTE PROCEDURES AND DISCLOSURES RE-
4           LATING TO REINVESTIGATIONS.

5           (a) IN GENERAL.—Section 611(a) of the Fair Credit
6 Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. 1681i(a)) is amended to read 7 as follows:

8           “(a) REINVESTIGATIONS OF DISPUTED INFORMA-9 TION BY A CONSUMER REPORTING AGENCY.—

10           “(1) REINVESTIGATIONS REQUIRED.—

11           “(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subsection 12 (f), if the completeness or accuracy of any item 13 of information contained in a consumer’s file at 14 a consumer reporting agency is disputed by the 15 consumer and the consumer notifies the agency 16 (either directly or indirectly through a reseller 17 or an authorized third party) of such dispute, 18 the agency shall, free of charge—

19           “(i) conduct a reasonable reinvestiga-20 tion using the process described in para-
21 graph (3) to determine whether the dis-
22 puted information is inaccurate, incom-
23 plete, or cannot be verified;

24           “(ii) notify the consumer that a nota-25 tion described in section 605(e) will be

1 added to the consumer’s file until the re-2 investigation has been completed and that 3 such notation can be removed at the re-4 quest of the consumer; and 5 “(iii) before the end of the 30-day pe-6 riod beginning on the date on which the 7 consumer reporting agency receives the no-

8 tice of the dispute from the consumer or 9 the reseller—

10 “(I) record the current status of 11 the disputed information; or 12 “(II) delete or modify the item in 13 accordance with paragraph (3)(D).

14 “(B) EXTENSION OF PERIOD TO REINVES-
15 TIGATE.—Except as provided in subparagraph
16 (C), the 30-day period described in subpara-
17 graph (A) may be extended for period not to ex-18 ceed 15 days if the consumer reporting agency
19 receives additional information from the con-
20 sumer or the reseller regarding the dispute
21 after the date on which the consumer reporting 22 agency notified any person who provided any 23 item of information in dispute under paragraph 24 (2)(A).

1           “(C) LIMITATIONS ON EXTENSION OF PE-
2           RIOD TO REINVESTIGATE.—Subparagraph (B)
3           shall not apply to any reinvestigation in which,
4           during the 30-day period described in subpara-5           graph (A), the disputed information is found to 6           be inaccurate or incomplete, or the consumer 7           reporting agency determines that the disputed 8           information cannot be verified.

9           “(2) PROMPT NOTICE OF DISPUTE TO FUR-
10          NISHER OF INFORMATION; PROVISION OF INFORMA-
11          TION REGARDING DISPUTE PROVIDED BY THE CON-
12          SUMER OR RESELLER.—

13           “(A) IN GENERAL.—Before the end of the 14          period of 5 business days beginning on the date 15          on which a consumer reporting agency receives 16          notice of a dispute from any consumer or re-
17          seller under paragraph (1)(A), the consumer re-18          porting agency shall provide notification of the 19          dispute to any person who provided any item of 20          information in dispute, at the address and in 21          the manner established with such person. The 22          notice shall include all information, including 23          substantiating documents, regarding the dispute 24          that was submitted to the consumer reporting 25          agency.

1           “(B) PROVISION OF ADDITIONAL INFORMA-
2           TION REGARDING DISPUTE AFTER NOTIFICA-
3           TION TO THE FURNISHER OF INFORMATION.—

4           If a consumer reporting agency receives addi-5           tional information regarding the dispute from 6           the consumer or reseller after the agency pro-
7           vides the notification described under subpara-
8           graph (A) and before the end of the 30-day pe-
9           riod described in paragraph (1)(A), the con-
10          sumer reporting agency shall, not later than 3 11          business days after receiving such information, 12          provide such information to the person who pro-
13          vided the information in dispute.

14          “(3) REASONABLE STANDARDS FOR CONSUMER
15          REPORTING AGENCIES FOR CONDUCTING REINVES-16          TIGATIONS AND RESOLVING DISPUTES SUBMITTED
17          BY CONSUMERS.—

18                 “(A) IN GENERAL.—In conducting a re-19                 investigation of disputed information, a con-
20                 sumer reporting agency shall, at a minimum—

21                         “(i) maintain sufficient resources and 22                         trained staff, commensurate with the vol-23                         ume and complexity of disputes received or 24                         reasonably anticipated to be received, to 25                         determine whether the disputed informa-

2           verified by the person who provided the in-
3           formation;

4           “(ii) ensure that all staff involved at 5           any level of the reinvestigation process, in-6           cluding any individual with ultimate au-
7           thority over determining whether the dis-
8           puted information is inaccurate, incom-
9           plete, or cannot be verified, are located 10          within the United States;

11          “(iii) verify that the personally identi-12          fiable information of the consumer submit-

15          consumer’s file, and that such information 16          is accurate and complete;

17          “(iv) verify that the consumer report-

22          stantiating documents, provided by the 23          consumer or reseller.

24          “(B) CONSUMER REPORTING.—The con-25          sumer reporting agency shall not impose any

1 limitation or otherwise impede the ability of a 2 consumer to submit information about the dis-
3 puted item.

4 “(C) INDEPENDENT ANALYSIS.—The re-
5 investigation conducted under subparagraph
6 (A) shall be an independent analysis, separate 7 from any investigation by a reseller or a person 8 who provided the disputed information.

9 “(D) DELETION OR MODIFICATION OF IN-10 FORMATION CONTAINED IN A CONSUMER
11 FILE.—If the disputed information is found to 12 be inaccurate, incomplete, or cannot be verified, 13 the dispute resolution staff of the consumer re-14 porting agency shall have the direct authority to 15 delete or modify such information in the con-
16 sumer’s file, as appropriate, during the 30-day 17 period described in paragraph (1)(A), shall 18 promptly notify the consumer of the results of 19 the reinvestigation as described in paragraph 20 (4), and shall promptly notify any person who 21 provided such information to the consumer re-
22 porting agency of the modification or deletion
23 made to the consumer’s file.

24 “(4) NOTICE TO CONSUMER OF RESULTS OF 25 REINVESTIGATION.—

1           “(A) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 5 busi-
2           ness days after the conclusion of a reinvestiga-
3           tion conducted under this subsection, the con-
4           sumer reporting agency shall provide written 5           notice to the consumer of the results of the re-6           investigation by postal mail or, if authorized by 7           the consumer for that purpose, by other means 8           available to the agency.

9           “(B) CONTENTS OF NOTICE TO CONSUMER
10          OF RESULTS OF REINVESTIGATION.—The notice

16                 sumer as to whether the disputed informa-

19                 ment of the specific reasons supporting the 20                 determination;

21                 “(iii) if information in the consumer’s 22                 file has been deleted or modified as a re-

3 “(II) a statement identifying the 4 specific information from the con-

8 or unverifiable by the consumer re-9 porting agency;

10 “(III) a statement that the con-11 sumer has the right, free of charge, to 15 month period following the date of the 16 conclusion of the reinvestigation, re-

17 gardless of whether the consumer ob-

19 consumer report and credit score or 20 educational score (if applicable) under 21 section 612; and

22 “(IV) a statement that the con-

8 ing address, telephone number, and Inter-9 net website address (if available) of any 10 person who provided information who was 11 contacted by the staff in connection with 12 the determination;

13 “(v) a statement that the consumer
14 has the right, free of charge, to add a nar-
15 rative statement to the consumer's file dis-
16 puting the accuracy or completeness of the 17 information, regardless of the results of 18 the reinvestigation by the agency, and the 19 process for submitting such a narrative
20 pursuant to subsection (b);

21 “(vi) a copy of all information relating 22 to the consumer that was used by the con-23 sumer reporting agency in carrying out the 24 reinvestigation and relied upon as the basis
25 for the determination about the accuracy

1 and completeness of the disputed informa-
2 tion;

3 “(vii) a statement that a consumer
4 may, free of charge, challenge the results
5 of the reinvestigation by appeal within 120
6 days after the date the notice of the results 7 of the reinvestigation was provided to the 8 consumer and the process for submitting 9 an appeal;

10 “(viii) a statement informing the con-
11 sumer that a notation described in section 12 605(e) will be added to the file of the con-

15 tion and that such notation can be re-16 moved at the request of the consumer; and 17 “(ix) any other information, as deter-

18 mined by the Bureau.

19 “(5) REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO REINSER-20 TION OF PREVIOUSLY DELETED OR MODIFIED MATE-
21 RIAL.—

22 “(A) CERTIFICATION OF NEW DETERMINA-
23 TION THAT ITEM IS ACCURATE OR COM-
24 PLETE.—A consumer reporting agency may not 25 reinsert into a consumer’s file any information

1 that was previously deleted or modified pursu-2 ant to paragraph (3)(D), unless the person who 3 provided the information—

4 “(i) requests that the consumer re-5 porting agency reinsert such information;

6 “(ii) submits a written certification
7 that the information is accurate and com-8 plete; and

9 “(iii) provides a statement describing 10 the specific reasons why the information 11 should be inserted.

12 “(B) NOTICE TO CONSUMER BEFORE RE-
13 INSERTION CAN OCCUR.—Upon receipt of a re-
14 quest for reinsertion of disputed information
15 under subparagraph (A), the consumer report-
16 ing agency shall, not later than 5 business days
17 before the consumer reporting agency reinserts 18 the information into the consumer’s file, notify 19 the consumer in writing of such request for re-
20 insertion. Such notice shall include—

21 “(i) the business name, mailing ad-
22 dress, telephone number, and Internet
23 website address (if available) of any person 24 who provided information to or contacted

1 the consumer reporting agency in connec-
2 tion with the reinsertion;

3 “(ii) a copy of the information relat-4 ing to the consumer, the certification that 5 the information is accurate or complete,
6 and the statement of the reasons sup-
7 porting reinsertion provided by the person
8 who provided the information to the con-
9 sumer reporting agency under subpara-
10 graph (A);

11 “(iii) a statement that the consumer 12 may obtain, free of charge and within the 13 12-month period following the date the no-
14 tice under this subparagraph was issued, a 15 consumer report and credit score or edu-
16 cational score (if applicable) from the con-17 sumer reporting agency that includes the 18 reinserted information, regardless of 19 whether the consumer obtained or will ob-20 tain a free annual consumer report and 21 credit score or educational credit score (if 22 applicable) under section 612;

23 “(iv) a statement that the consumer
24 may appeal the determination that the pre-25 viously deleted or modified information is

1 accurate or complete and a description of 2 the procedure for the consumer to make 3 such an appeal pursuant to subsection (i);
4 and

5 “(v) a statement that the consumer
6 has the right to add a narrative statement, 7 free of charge, to the consumer’s file dis-
8 puting the accuracy or completeness of the 9 disputed information and a description of 10 the process to add such a narrative state-11 ment pursuant to subsection (b).

12 “(6) EXPEDITED DISPUTE RESOLUTION.—If a 13 consumer reporting agency determines that the in-14 formation provided by the consumer is sufficient to 15 substantiate that the item of information is inac-16 curate, incomplete, or cannot be verified by the per-17 son who furnished such information, and the con-18 sumer reporting agency deletes or modifies such in-19 formation within 3 business days of receiving notice 20 of the dispute, the consumer reporting agency shall 21 be exempt from the requirements of paragraph (4), 22 if the consumer reporting agency provides to the 23 consumer—

24 “(A) prompt notice confirming the deletion
25 or modification of the information from the con-

1           sumer’s file in writing or by other means, if 2           agreed to by the consumer when the informa-
3           tion is disputed;

4           “(B) a statement of the consumer’s right
5           to request that the consumer reporting agency
6           furnish notifications of a revised consumer re-7           port pursuant to subsection (d);

8           “(C) not later than 5 business days after 9           deleting or modifying the information, a copy of 10          the consumer report and credit score or edu-11          cational score (if applicable) that is based upon 12          the consumer’s revised file; and 13          “(D) a statement that the consumer may 14          obtain, free of charge and within the 12-month 15          period following the date the notice under this 16          paragraph was sent to the consumer, a con-

17          sumer report and credit score or educational 18          score (if applicable) from the consumer report-
19          ing agency, regardless of whether the consumer 20          obtained or will obtain their free annual con-
21          sumer report and credit score or educational 22          score (if applicable) under section 612.

23          “(7) NO EXCUSE FOR FAILURE TO CONDUCT
24          REINVESTIGATION.—A consumer reporting agency 25          may not refuse to conduct a reinvestigation under

1       this subsection because the agency determines that 2       the dispute was submitted by an authorized third 3       party, unless the agency has clear and convincing 4       evidence that the third party is not authorized to 5       submit the dispute on the consumer’s behalf. If the 6       consumer reporting agency refuses to reinvestigate a 7       dispute for these reasons, it shall provide a clear and 8       conspicuous notice to the consumer explaining the 9       reasons for the refusal and describing the specific in-10      formation the consumer is required to provide for 11      the agency to conduct the reinvestigation.”.

12      (b) ENSURING CONSUMER REPORTING AGENCIES
13 FURNISH CERTAIN NOTIFICATIONS WITHOUT CHARGE.—
14 Section 611(d) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act (15 15 U.S.C. 1681i(d)) is amended by inserting “and without 16 charge” after “request of the consumer”.

17      (c) INCLUDING SPECIALTY CONSUMER REPORTING
18 AGENCIES IN REPORTS.—

19           (1) IN GENERAL.—Section 611(e) of the Fair 20      Credit Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. 1681i(e)) is 24 the ‘furnisher’), including the full name of 25 a consumer, the date of birth of a con-

3           “(vii) establish any other factors, pro-4           cedures, or processes determined by the 5           Bureau to be necessary to assist consumer 6           reporting agencies in achieving maximum 7           possible accuracy and completeness of the

9           “(3) CORRECTIVE ACTION FOR FURNISHERS 10          THAT REPEATEDLY FURNISH INACCURATE OR IN-

12          nisher that repeatedly fails to furnish accurate, com-13          plete, or verifiable information to consumer report-14          ing agencies, the Bureau shall—

15                 “(A) ensure the prompt removal of any ad-16                 verse information relating to a consumer’s ac-17                 counts submitted by such furnisher; and

19                 clude—

20                         “(i) mandatory revised training and 21                         training materials for the staff of the fur-22                         nisher regarding the furnishing of accurate 23                         and complete information;

1 “(ii) sharing industry best practices
2 and procedures regarding accuracy and 3 completeness; or

4 “(iii) temporarily prohibiting a fur-
5 nisher from providing information to a 6 consumer reporting agency.”.

14 TITLE II—FREE CREDIT SCORES 15 FOR CONSUMERS

16 SEC. 201. DEFINITIONS.

17 (a) IN GENERAL.—Section 603 of the Fair Credit
18 Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. 1681a) is amended by adding 19 at the end the following new subsection:

20 “(bb) CREDIT SCORE AND EDUCATIONAL CREDIT
21 SCORE DEFINITIONS.—

22 “(1) CREDIT SCORE.—The term ‘credit score’ 23 means a numerical value or a categorization derived 24 from a statistical tool or modeling system used by a 25 person who makes or arranges a loan or extends

1 credit to predict the likelihood of certain credit be-2 haviors, including default, as determined by the Bu-
3 reau.

4 “(2) EDUCATIONAL CREDIT SCORE.—The term
5 ‘educational credit score’ means a numerical value or 6 categorization derived from a statistical tool or mod-7 eling system based upon information from a con-8 sumer report that assists consumers in under-9 standing how a lender or creditor may view the con-10 sumer’s creditworthiness in deciding whether to 11 make a loan or extend credit to that consumer.

12 “(3) KEY FACTORS.—The term ‘key factors’ 13 means any relevant elements or reasons affecting the 14 credit score for the particular individual, listed in 15 the order of importance based on the effect of each 16 element or reason on the credit score or educational 17 credit score.

18 “(4) CREDIT SCORING MODEL.—The term
19 ‘credit scoring model’ means a scoring algorithm, 20 formula, model, program, or mechanism used to gen-21 erate a credit score or an educational credit score.”.

22 (b) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—The Fair Credit
23 Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. 1681 et seq.) is amended—

24 (1) in section 605(d)(2), by striking “(as de-25 fined in section 609(f)(2)(B))”; and

1 (2) in section 615—

2 (A) by striking “as defined in section 3 609(f)(2)(A)” each place that term appears;
4 and

5 (B) in subsection (a)(2)(B), by striking 6 “set forth in subparagraphs (B) through (E) of 7 section 609(f)(1)” and inserting “with respect 8 to a credit score described in section 609(f)(2), 9 if available” each place that term appears.

10 SEC. 202. CONSUMER INFORMATION ON CALCULATION OF 11 SCORES.

12 Section 609(f) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act (15 13 U.S.C. 1681g(f)) is amended to read as follows:

14 “(f) DISCLOSURE OF CREDIT SCORE AND EDU-15 CATIONAL CREDIT SCORE BY CONSUMER REPORTING
16 AGENCIES.—

17 “(1) IN GENERAL.—Upon the request of a con-18 sumer for a credit score or educational credit score, 19 a consumer reporting agency shall supply to the con-20 sumer a statement—

21 “(A) containing—

22 “(i) a current credit score at the time 23 of the request generated using a commonly 24 used credit scoring model to generate cred-

1 it scores, subject to regulations of the Bu-
2 reau;

3 “(ii) an educational credit score at the 4 time of the request, if it is not practicable
5 to generate such a credit score, as deter-6 mined by the Bureau; or

7 “(iii) an explanation that the con-
8 sumer’s file does not have sufficient infor-
9 mation from which to generate such a 10 credit score or educational credit score;
11 and

12 “(B) with respect to each previous credit 13 score in the file of the consumer—

14 “(i) the date on which the credit score 15 was generated;

16 “(ii) the name of any entity that the 17 credit score was provided to; and 18 “(iii) the credit score itself.

19 “(2) REQUIREMENTS.—A statement provided 20 under clause (i) or (ii) of paragraph (1)(A) shall in-
21 clude—

22 “(A) a minimum of 4 key factors, if avail-23 able, that adversely affected the credit score or 24 educational credit score, except that if one of 25 the key factors consists of the number of

1 enquiries made with respect to a consumer re-
2 port, that factor shall be provided to the con-3 sumer in addition to the factors required by 4 this subparagraph;

5 “(B) to the extent possible, specific actions 6 a consumer could take with respect to each key 7 factor listed in subparagraph (A) to improve 8 the consumer’s credit score or educational cred-
9 it score;

10 “(C) a minimum of 4 key factors, if avail-11 able, that positively affected the credit score or 12 educational credit score;

13 “(D) the range of possible credit scores or 14 educational credit scores under the credit scor-
15 ing model used;

16 “(E) the distribution of credit scores or 17 educational credit scores among consumers who 18 are scored under the same credit scoring model 19 by the consumer reporting agency, and using 20 the same scale as that of the score that is pro-
21 vided to a creditor or consumers—

22 “(i) in the form of a bar graph con-
23 taining a minimum of 6 bars that illus-24 trates the percentage of consumers with 25 credit scores or educational credit scores

1 within the range of scores represented by 2 each bar; or

3 “(ii) by another clear and readily un-
4 derstandable graphical depiction, state-
5 ment, or illustration comparing the con-
6 sumer’s credit score or educational credit 7 score to the scores of other consumers, as 8 determined by the Bureau;

9 “(F) the date on which the credit score or 10 educational credit score was created; and 11 “(G) the name of the person that devel-12 oped the credit scoring model on which the 13 credit score or educational credit score was 14 based.

15 “(3) APPLICABILITY TO CERTAIN USES.—This 16 subsection shall not be construed so as to compel a 17 consumer reporting agency to—

18 “(A) develop or disclose a credit score if 19 the agency does not distribute credit scores 20 used by a person who makes or arranges a loan 21 or extends credit to predict the likelihood of 22 certain credit behaviors; or

23 “(B) develop or disclose an educational 24 credit score if the agency does not develop edu-25 cational credit scores that assist in under-

1 standing the general credit behavior of a con-
2 sumer and predicting the future credit behavior
3 of the consumer.

4 “(4) MAINTENANCE OF CREDIT SCORES.—

5 “(A) IN GENERAL.—All consumer report-
6 ing agencies shall maintain in the consumer’s 7 file credit scores relating to the consumer for a 8 period of 2 years from the date on which such 9 information is generated.

10 “(B) DISCLOSURE ONLY TO CON-
11 SUMERS.—A past credit score maintained in a
12 consumer’s file pursuant to subparagraph (A) 13 may only be provided to the consumer to which 14 the credit score relates and may not be included 15 in a consumer report or used as a factor in gen-16 erating a credit score or educational credit 17 score.

18 “(C) REMOVAL OF PAST CREDIT
19 SCORES.—A past credit score maintained in a
20 consumer’s file pursuant to subparagraph (A)
21 shall be removed from the consumer’s file after 22 the end of the 2-year period described under 23 subparagraph (A).”.

1 SEC. 203. DISCLOSURES RELATING TO CREDIT SCORES AND 2 EDUCATIONAL CREDIT SCORES.

3 Section 609(f) of the Fair Credit Reporting Act (15
4 U.S.C. 1681g(f)), as amended by section 202, is further 5 amended by adding at the end the following new para-6 graphs:

7 “(5) WEBSITE DISCLAIMER.—A consumer re-
8 porting agency that generates or provides credit 9 scores or educational credit scores shall clearly and 10 conspicuously display on the home page of the agen-
11 cy’s Internet website, and as part of any application, 12 solicitation, or marketing material or media pro-
13 viding information related to a credit score or edu-
14 cational credit score, the following notice, in boldface
15 type of 18-point font or larger and in a text box 16 with boldface outer borders:

17 “CREDIT SCORE DISCLAIMER. ““

18 There is no “one” credit score. There are many scor-
19 ing formulas derived from a wide variety of models avail-
20 able to a consumer and used by lenders and creditors. Dif-
21 ferent lenders and creditors use different scoring formulas 22 to determine whether to extend credit or make a loan to 23 you, and the terms of the credit or loan. An educational 24 credit score is not a credit score that a person who makes 25 a loan or extends credit to you is likely to use. Educational 26 credit scores are merely intended to be used as an edu-

1 cational tool to help consumers understand how the infor-2 mation contained in a consumer report may affect the 3 terms and conditions of a loan or extension of credit that 4 may be available to a consumer. Lenders and creditors
5 may also rely on information not contained in your con-6 sumer report and not reflected in the calculation of your 7 credit score.’.

8 “(6) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR EDU-
9 CATIONAL CREDIT SCORES.—

10 “(A) DISCLAIMER.—If an educational 11 credit score is provided pursuant to paragraph 12 (1), a consumer reporting agency shall clearly 13 and conspicuously include in a prominent loca-
14 tion on the statement, in boldface type of 18-15 point font or larger, and in a text box with 16 boldface outer borders, the following notice:

17 “EDUCATIONAL CREDIT SCORE DISCLAIMER. “

18 The educational credit score provided to you is not 19 a credit score that a lender or creditor is likely to use to 20 make a loan or extend credit to you. There are many dif-
21 ferent credit scores derived from a wide variety of models
22 used by lenders and creditors. An educational credit score 23 is merely an educational tool. It is intended to provide con-
24 sumers with a basic understanding of how the information 25 contained in a consumer report may affect the terms and

1 conditions of credit that are available. The credit scores
2 you receive directly from different lenders and creditors
3 may not be the same as an educational credit score. There 4 are a number of reasons for this:

5           “(1) Each company may use a different for-6           mula for calculating credit scores and the differences 7           in the formulas may lead to differences in your 8           scores.

9           “(2) Companies may produce scores that give 10          results on different scales.

11          “(3) Not all lenders or creditors report to 12          every consumer reporting agency, and therefore the 13          information contained in your consumer report that 14          the consumer reporting agencies use to calculate 15          your educational credit score may differ among 16          agencies.’.

17                   “(B) PROHIBITION ON MISLEADING REP-
18                   RESENTATIONS.—A consumer reporting agency 19                   may not refer to an educational credit score as 20                   a credit score in any application, solicitation, 21                   marketing, or other informational materials or 22                   media.

23                   “(7) MODIFICATION OF DISCLAIMERS.—The 24                   Bureau may modify the content, format, and man-25                   ner of the disclaimers required under paragraphs (5)

1 and (6), if warranted, after conducting consumer
2 testing or research.”.

3 SEC. 204. FREE CREDIT SCORE DISCLOSURES AND CON-
4 SUMER REPORTS.

5 (a) IN GENERAL.—Section 612 of the Fair Credit
6 Reporting Act (15 U.S.C. 1681j) is amended—

7 (1) in subsection (a)—

8 (A) in paragraph (1)—

9 (i) in subparagraph (A), by inserting 10 after “section 609” the following: “(includ-
11 ing the disclosure of a credit score or edu-12 cational credit score under subsection (f) 13 of such section)”;

14 (ii) in subparagraph (C)—

15 (I) by striking “Commission”
