The Senate met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the President pro tempore [Mr. STEVENS].

PRAYER
The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

O God, our strength and refuge, who shows us unfailing love, we see Your majesty in the beauty of the Earth and the glory of the skies. Your voice speaks in the thunder and You form the mighty oak. You reign as King forever, blessing Your people with peace.

Lord, protect us from destructive forces and rescue us from setbacks that ambush our dreams. Rise and help us, and we will sing about Your power. Let the world come to know Your faithfulness, which is as enduring as the heavens.

Teach our Senators to walk in Your ways and to trust Your promises, which cannot fail. Bless the members of their families, who share the challenges of their work. We wait upon You to supply our needs and to quench our thirst for purpose. Blessed be Your name forever and ever. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The President pro tempore led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

RECOGNITION OF THE ACTING MINORITY LEADER

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The deputy Democratic Leader.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, one question I have gotten over here several times, and I have raised this issue on the floor, Senator MCCONNELL has said several times, and I have raised this issue on the floor previously that the veterans of America recognize how important our work is here. So much that we do reflects on these different programs. And, I also think if things are as difficult as they appear, we may have to do something on that Tuesday. That will certainly be up to the leader. But I also recognize that other than Senator FRIST and Senator DASCHLE, no one has had a more difficult job these last few weeks than the Presiding Officer and Senator BYRD. Trying to marshal through these appropriations bills is extremely difficult.

But we have made really good progress. To think we have been able in just the last few weeks to do as much as we have here on the Senate floor with the appropriations bills is significant. Debating the Interior appropriations conference report this coming Monday is also important. I think there is light at end of the tunnel. With the chairman cajoling, along with the Presiding Officer, we can continue to make progress.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, leadership time is reserved.

MORNING BUSINESS

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Under the previous order, there will now be a period of morning business with Senators permitted to speak for up to 10 minutes.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

RECALL THE IRAQI ARMY

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, last week a memorandum on the war on terrorism from Secretary of Defense Rumsfeld to his top subordinates was leaked to the press. In that memo, Secretary Rumsfeld asked a number of questions, including the following: Is our current situation such that “the harder we work, the behinder we get?” He also asked: “What else should we be considering?”

Well, I am dismayed that Secretary Rumsfeld says publicly something so differently than what he has said privately. I am glad he is looking for new ways, but since our policy is not working well, given the sustained and increasing attacks on our forces.

Secretary Rumsfeld asked—again—“What else should we be considering?” Well, the President of the Iraqi Governing Council has made a specific recommendation for us to consider: that the regular Iraqi Army units be called up to assist our troops in providing security for the reconstruction of their country.

Surely it is worthy of our consideration, when Iyad Allawi, this month’s serving President of the Iraqi Governing Council—the 25-member body selected by the United States to represent the Iraqi people—is making a suggestion to change course.

He wrote an important opinion piece entitled “America Must Let Iraq Rebuild Itself,” which was published by the New York Times on October 19. The key premise of the article is that “ultimately, only Iraqis themselves can restore security, rebuild national institutions, enact a constitution and elect a democratic government.”

I believe all of us would agree with that premise. For Mr. Allawi, the vital step is to “call up the Iraqi Army and the national police force [for] at least up to the mid-officer level” to deal with the insecurity and chaos in the country.

Mr. Allawi believes the Iraqi officer corps will have to be vetted to remove those who have committed crimes under the old regime. He points out that most of the Iraqi Army’s soldiers are “Iraqi patriots who chose not fight for Saddam Hussein” and “would probably return to their units and contribute to their country’s future.” He argues that it would be “much easier and quicker to retrain and reequip them within their existing organizational structure than to start from scratch.”

Mr. Allawi argues that these steps would not only relieve the burden on American troops but also would gain substantial good will among Iraqis. Tom Friedman, writing in the New York Times, on October 23, is of a similar mind. He urges the administration to declare the following: “We thank all the nations who offered troops, but we think the Iraqi people can and must serve their own country. We’re inviting all former Iraqi Army soldiers (not Republican Guards) to report back to duty. For every two Iraqi battalions that return to duty (they can weed out their own bad apples). We will withdraw American one. So Iraqis can liberate

The administration and the Coalition Provisional Authority have taken a different tack in reorganizing Iraqi security, particularly with regard to the Iraqi Army. They are essentially starting from scratch to build a completely new Army of 40,000 people who are being trained and equipped as a motorized infantry.

The goal is to form nine brigades by the end of 2004, but thus far only one battalion of 750 soldiers has been trained and equipped.

Additionally, the Coalition Provisional Authority is creating an Iraqi border patrol force, only 5,000 to date, with the aim to expand to more than 20,000 sometime in the future. A 20,000-person Facilities Protection Service is intended to take over security at fixed site locations from coalition forces, and an Iraqi civil defense corps of 6,600, expanding to more than 15,000 by 2004, is being brought into coalition military units to provide local intelligence and help with security patrolling.

While I have some questions regarding the need for four distinct security forces—Including a new Iraqi Army, in addition to the new border patrol force—i am open to arguments that this approach to building a new army may be desirable in the long run. A better educated, trained, equipped, and motivated army, whose members are more representative of the diverse Iraqi population, and which was created expressly to serve the people of the new Iraqi state, may be more ideal.

However, in the short term, I believe Mr. Alawi’s recommendation to reconstitute units of the old regular army is surely worthy of consideration. No one, including Mr. Alawi, argues for a continued role for those portions of the old army that were part of the repressive security apparatus of the Saddam regime—units such as the Special Secu-ritv Guards, the Special Republican Guards, and the Fedayeen Saddam.

In fact, those units were created by Saddam because he did not trust his regular army. In that portion of the State Department-sponsored The Future of Iraq Project, dealing with Iraqi Armed Forces, the Working Group that wrote this part of the report, discussed this issue.

They noted the following: “Saddam Hussein realized, with his sense of security, that he will not be able to earn the loyalty and trust of the army with its varied character in spite of many attempts to purify or clean the army from the disloyal elements—as he called them—so he created a federation of the army, by building a new army, which he called the Fedayeen, which became an army of ideology to protect the party and the revolution and defend the nation’s values.” They added that “Thus the army remained a source of worry, suspicion and threat to Saddam; in spite of the fact that the Army got into its many wars because Saddam desired it. There are some who think that the army was pushed into these wars to keep it continuously busy confronting outside aggressions.”

Finally, in its final findings, the Woking Group concluded that “In any event we think it necessary to keep the basic structure of the army, which can be easily rehabilitated. . . .

We probably made a mistake in formally disbanding the Iraqi army in May. I wonder if Ambassador Bremer doesn’t tacitly believe the same, given given the new situation that was made by him shortly thereafter by agreeing to pay monthly allowances to officers and noncommissioned officers after the unrest that was unleashed by that decision.

Beginning in July, monthly paymentst were made according to a rank-base scale, ranging from $50 for a non-commissioned officer to $150 for a general, somewhat below the base pay for the various ranks. Additionally, a one-time $40 stipend was paid to former conscripts. Since July, the Coalition Provitional Authority has paid from Iraqi funds approximately $78 million to about 260,000 individuals and just over $15 million to approximately 375,000 conscripts. The estimated cost for the stipend during the next year will be $190 million, if payments continue throughout the year.

In other words, we know where the men and women—mainly men—in the Iraqi army are located. They came for those payments, and we know how to locate them, so we should make a decision to reconstitute units of that Iraqi army.

That money was well spent. There is ample evidence from other conflicts that unemployed former soldiers can be a destabilizing and a disruptive influence, as some believe is currently the case in Iraq today. In view of the $156 billlion that is likely to be appropriated for Iraqi reconstruction in fiscal years 2003 and 2004, paying those sums to members of the old regular Iraqi army would be a modest expenditure.

But would it not make more sense to pay those sums to soldiers who are actually doing something? Would it not make sense to quickly reconstitute recently disbanded Iraqi regular army units to take on security tasks that are within their capabilities? Would it not be possible to put to work those disbanded Iraqi Army units would be able to more quickly assume duties for which the border patrol, the facilities protection service, and the civil defense corps are intended, including patrolling Iraqi streets with our own soldiers? Would this not more quickly give Iraqis the responsibility for and a stake in securing their own country? And, more importantly, wouldn’t it be better for all concerned if primarily Iraqi soldiers and Iraqi commanders were acting to restore security in Iraq and dealing with

The Governing Council President thinks so. . . .

Thus the army remained a source of worry, suspicion and threat to Saddam; in spite of the fact that the Army got into its many wars because Saddam desired it. There are some who think that the army was pushed into these wars to keep it continuously busy confronting outside aggressions.”

new army are members of the old army in any event, would it not be much quicker to reconstitute the units of that old army—again, below the mid-officer level, so we don’t have the Saddam regime involved—would it not be much quicker, with all the cooperation of the President of the Governing Council, reconstitute the units and move on from there?

The Secretary of Defense asked, in his leaked memorandum, if what the U.S. is doing is enough and what else should be done. I am glad he is raising questions. I am glad he is asking questions about whether we should change course in some way.

I have written to the Secretary of Defense to solicit his views on Mr. Alawi’s proposal. Again, I hope Ambassador Bremer will consult with the Iraqi Governing Council, seek their recommendations on this issue, and not only solicit their recommendations but seriously consider ways to formulate an integrated and comprehensive plan to move more quickly to involve Iraqis in their own security and in their overall governance.

AMILICA MUST LET IRAQ REBUILD ITSELF
(By Iyad Alawi)

BAGHDAD, IRAQ.—No Iraqi will ever forget the momentous April day when a crowd of hundreds of cheering Baghdadis, helped by an American armored vehicle, pull the huge statue of Saddam Hussein to the ground. With this act, we tore down three decades of tyranny and repression and began building in its place a foundation for freedom, democracy and a better future for our children.

To some, this has been achieved. The Bush administration has challenged me and my colleagues on the Iraqi Governing Council to draft a permanent constitution within six months. They must do this quickly as the Iraqis hold internationally monitored, free elections. We gladly accept that challenge, and welcome the vital assistance of the United Nations and Security Council resolution passed on Thursday, to see through to completion the enormous task ahead.

But we also realize that there are obstacles on Iraq’s march toward democracy. In the months since Iraq was liberated, jubilation has given way to insecurity and chaos. When months since Iraq was liberated, jubilation has given way to insecurity and chaos. When Brett was assigned to Company C, 2nd Battalion of the 502nd Infantry of the 101st Airborne Division. He trained to be a sniper and served a year in Korea before being called to Iraq.

Brett’s job in Iraq was to drive a 2½-ton diesel carrier. It was grueling and dangerous work. SGT Shane Harris described Brett as one of his most dependable drivers. He was able to log 20-hour days moving soldiers, loads of ammunition, thousands of gallons of fuel, and portage bottled water, MREs, and other supplies.

Brett was one of the first American soldiers to cross the line into Iraq. SGT John Ryan recalled how he sent Brett on a dangerous mission—leading the line up to the bridge. He said that he chose Brett because he was certainly up for it:

He believed in what we were there for. He knew what needed to be done. He knew how to lead from the front. He was sniper-qualified. He was mission-responsible. He was good under stress. He had a good head on his shoulders. He could always analyze and develop a course of action quickly.

On July 23, 2003, SGT Brett Christian was killed and seven others were wounded near Mosul, Iraq, when his convoy was ambushed by rocket-propelled grenades and small arms fire. He was 27 years old.

Brett had the most potential of anyone in the family—anyone I know. He’s a beautiful soul who could have changed so much of the world. He had the love and ability to change a lot of the world.

Madam President, Brett Christian did change the world. Brett Christian did make a difference.

Brett’s family—his mother Tess; his brothers Derek and Sloan; his grandparents; and his parents—remain in my thoughts and my prayers.

Madam President, I yield the floor.

ECONOMIC GROWTH

Mr. BENNETT. Madam President, one of the facts that those of us who live in the Washington area have grown accustomed to is that the world looks different this year. The eyes of the reporters for the Washington Post and the reporters for the Washington Times. My wife and I sometimes play the little game of opening both papers simultaneously and looking at the two headlines side by side. Usually, the Washington Times says things that sound good from the Republican point of view, and the Washington Post says things that sound good from the Democratic point of view.

The interesting thing this morning is that both papers covered the same story, and both papers said basically the same thing.

I went into the cloakroom, and I gathered some other papers to see if the headlines were the same there as well. I have them here. Let’s start with the Washington Times and the Washington Post.

The Washington Times says:

Growth Erupts in Summer Order. Consumers X-Businessmen On a Spending Spree.

Out of the Washington Post—they treat that not quite as enthusiastically, but they say:

So the Washington Post puts in a little bash there for the President that the Washington Times does not.

If we go to the Wall Street Journal, which some think of as a mouthpiece for the Republican National Committee, their headline is:

Higher Gear, Economy Turned in Its Best Quarter in Nearly Two Decades. GDP Surged 7.2 Percent in Quarter on Broad Based Gains. Bush Team Trumpet Data.

To balance that from the Wall Street Journal, which some think of as a mouthpiece for the Republican National Committee, their headline is:

Then I picked up USA Today, the screaming headline:

7.2 Percent GDP Growth, Fastest in 19 Years. Economists Credit Tax Relief and Shoppers.

For one day at least, everybody agrees that the No. 1 story is the tremendous performance turned in by the American economy in the third quarter, and the headlines trumpet the numbers, 7.2 percent GDP growth.

I would like to go behind the numbers. I would like to add a few numbers and do what I can to try to put this performance in perspective.

No. 1, we have to recognize what even the New York Times has recognized, which is this is an extraordinary accomplishment, and this is a sign of very good times.

I notice a quote from Howard Dean, who is running for President on the Democratic side, that indicates he is a little disappointed in this; he is a little unhappy that Americans are earning more money, that disposable income is up, that the economy is booming. Perhaps he was hoping he could ride into the White House on a wave of consumer dissatisfaction. If that is his hope, at least the third-quarter numbers say he has to find something else for which to hope.

But it is true that the numbers we have here are not sustainable long term, and that is not necessarily bad because what we are looking for is not a single quarter of extraordinary growth. What we are looking for is a sustained period of recovery. The signs are there that we are, indeed, in such a period. It is not just the 7.2 percent growth in GDP we need to pay attention to; it is some other numbers. Let me address some of those numbers.

They are in the newspaper stories, some of them buried a little further than I would do it if I were writing the story, but the first number that is of significance is the growth in business investment. Yes, as the headlines indicate, the tax relief sent the shoppers responsible for this, but the tax relief is, indeed, something of a one-time phenomenon. The mailing out of the checks for the child tax credit put more money in the hands of parents just before back-to-school shopping, and that showed up in the shopping figures.

Furthermore, the combination of the lowering of withholding rates along with the child tax credits causes people to buy and make some very significant purchases. New cars went up as a significant part of this performance in the third quarter, and you don’t buy a new car every quarter. Undoubtedly, you will see some tapering off of some of these major purchases. So we can say that the fourth quarter will not be at the 7.2 percent level as far as GDP is concerned.

One of the newspapers says it will fall all the way down to 4 percent. Madam President, this notion that an annual basis is very robust and wonderful growth for an economy as mature as ours. If we could maintain a 4 percent average for the next 2 or 3 years, we would all be very happy about that. So those who are saying the 7.2 won't last and we will fall all the way down to 4 percent should remember there was a time not far distant in our history when we would have been very happy with 4 percent. We took 4 percent any day as a steady, stable growth in the economy.

Let's go back to the business investment number, the number that did not get as much attention as the 7.3 percent GDP number. Business investment grew at 11.1 percent, up from 7.3 percent the previous quarter. The thing to remember is that 7.3 percent is, in and of itself, considered a very strong indication of further growth, and this is the number that holds the promise of future jobs because if business is investing, business eventually is going to have to start hiring.

Let me put the 7.3 percent number in some perspective. As I say, in historic terms, 7.3 percent would be a good number, but we have seen business investment go down, not a positive number of any kind, a negative number for 9 out of the last 11 quarters. To have it come in at 7.3, and then see the next quarter come in at 11.1, this is as strong a signal as we are going to get that the economy, which has been in recovery but struggling ever since the recession ended, is now in a period of takeoff for sustained growth for the coming year.

One of the other numbers the economists always look at is the question of inventory. How many goods do you have on the shelf, Mr. or Mrs. business person? How many goods do you have that are waiting to be sold? If the shelves are full, you are probably not going to be buying any more until they start to empty out. Until your inventories start to fall. Usually when you have a period of growth like we have experienced in the third quarter, your inventories go up because people are stocking their shelves as the sales are strong.

Inventories went down in the third quarter. The sales were so strong that we not only took everything we could out of the market, we took 4 percent of any day as a steady, stable growth in the economy.

RECENT ACCOMPLISHMENTS IN THE SENATE

Mr. FRIST. Mr. President, I wanted to take this opportunity while we are in the quorum call to come to the floor and comment briefly on what we have done in the last several days and look ahead.

We won't actually be closing here for a little bit as we are working on a couple of issues.

I want to thank everybody formally for the hard work they put forward this week. It was an aggressive week in terms of what we set out to accomplish, and we were able to finish everything we said we were going to do, with one exception, and that is set up to complete at the end of next week.

People worked very late last night, with 14 rollcall votes, finishing close to midnight. I thank everybody for that commitment manifested over the last several days.

The days have been very long. Everybody's schedules are full with activities not just on the floor. There is this constant balancing act. We had to deal with three or four issues and bills at the same time. It seems to individual schedulers of Senators that things are somewhat discombobulated. Despite all that, we were able to finish a number of issues.

The Healthy Forests legislation was accelerated into the schedule because we had not planned exactly when we were going to do that. That took a lot of cooperation. We were able to take it to the floor and complete it, which is especially important with the recent fires that are and have been burning in California. As we have watched those images, we could not help but extend our prayers to the families, for the individuals who are so directly affected in that part of the country and also by fires in other States. With those images now that we see every morning, every night, and over the course of the day, we extend our heartfelt prayers to those affected.

On the Foreign Operations bill, our majority whip did a tremendous job in ushering that bill through. We had the bill on the floor. We came to a point where we had certain challenges in terms of funding and paying for a particular very important amendment on HIV/AIDS, and the cooperation there on both sides of the aisle in being able to move off that bill for a period of time while the President pro tempore, chairman of the Appropriations Committee, Senator Ted Stevens, coming forward and working out a proposal that allowed us to reach out and send a strong message across the world that this little virus, HIV/AIDS, is not going to beat over time; and then, with all that cooperation, coming back to the floor and passing that amendment, and ultimately the Foreign Operations bill last night, gives me a great deal of satisfaction because it shows cooperation, partnership, working together, and the attention to people's schedules on the floor, an efficient use of everyone's time.

I congratulate Senator McConnell, the majority whip, who did a superb job in that regard.

The nomination of Michael Leavitt, now Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, was an issue we addressed, and it took a lot of work by both sides and on the floor of the Senate. We were able to vitiate cloture and we were able to give him an up-or-down vote, which I would like to see more of in other nominations, and we will continue to fight for that. Michael Leavitt, now Administrator, got that up-or-down vote. That stresses the importance of having that sort of process of an up-or-down vote for all of the President's nominees.

In the Leavitt debate, there were disagreements on various policy issues, but we had a qualified nominee at the time. He deserved that vote and he got it, and I was pleased that he was confirmed by a large bipartisan vote.

The Iraq supplemental is coming to a close. This agreement last night, we will deliver on the President's request in terms of supporting our military women and men overseas and doing everything we possibly can from a legislative and financial standpoint to ensure their safety, but to maximize the safety of the Iraqi people and the reconstructive efforts promoted aggressively and entirely consistent with what Ambassador Bremer told us was necessary, our military, our commander in Chief told us was necessary.

There are a number of issues we debated in terms of how we monitor the spending of this money, which has been resolved, and whether it should be grants versus loans. There was a lot of good debate, and the issue was ultimately resolved right where the President said it would be most useful. We will complete that Monday. There will be no rollcall vote because both sides of the aisle agreed to that, but we will talk further about the issue Monday. By Monday early evening or late afternoon, that bill will pass and that will bring that issue to a close.

We will spend a little time on the Interior conference report on Monday, and we will have a vote on that late Monday afternoon, somewhere between 5 and probably 5:30 to 6 p.m.

We have the fair credit reporting bill on which we have agreement to bring to the floor, and that will probably be Tuesday.

Then we have the Internet tax moratorium, which, as I said earlier this morning, I would have liked to have addressed today or last night, but because there are a number of Members who feel very strongly that we have to have a different time for debate, we all agree we will be doing that bill probably Thursday of next week. As I expressed this morning, my intention is to finish that either Thursday or Friday.

Last night, we did act on the continuing resolution, and that will fund our Governmental operations until November 7, and that will allow us to continue our work on the remaining business.

I also spoke earlier this morning about the urgency that I feel, which I want to express to my colleagues, to stay focused, to complete the appropriations process, as well as the work in the various conferences so we can adjourn at a reasonable time.

All of this work—again, most of this is just from the last several days—means that we have had to work throughout the day each day this past week and into the evening.

Also, because a lot of things we handle in wrap-up, and people are not generally aware because they are not done with a lot of fanfare but are done by unanimous consent of the entire body, I find it useful each evening when I close, but especially at the end of the week, to look at some of those bills.

This week the Senate passed S. 1194, Senator Mike DeWine's Mentally Ill Offender Treatment and Crime Reduction Act. I mentioned earlier that Senator DeWine was instrumental in putting together the amendment on HIV/AIDS to the veterans benefits bill, which we passed as well.

The bill S. 1768, the National Flood Insurance Program Reauthorization Act, which was introduced by Senator Bunning, was passed.

We are still hoping today to make progress on the military tax fairness bill. This bill is intended to hopefully level the playing field with respect to tax policy for many members of the Armed Forces. I know there is currently an objection, but I encourage those people who objected to it in the next few minutes or hours, whatever it takes, look at that bill and hopefully be able to clear that as soon as possible.

Senator Inhofe's bill, S. 1757 relating to the Kennedy Center reauthorization, was just cleared by both sides. There was another bill from Senator Specter and the Veterans' Committee, S. 1132, the veterans benefits bill, an important bill that we need to finish as we approach November 11. That will be finalized shortly.

The point is, we are able to proceed in a bipartisan manner, and we are making progress. We must continue to do that to get the needed work done as we move through these final days.

Again, we will not close the Senate until we work through a few remaining items of business, but I say thanks to my colleagues. We are making progress. We have a lot of work to do over the coming days, but we are going to be able to adjourn in a reasonable period of time if we stay focused and stay disciplined as we go forward.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the bill be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

PLASTIC GUN OR TOY GUN

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, yesterday the Cannon House Office Building was temporarily evacuated when a staff member apparently carried a toy plastic gun past a Capitol Police security checkpoint. This incident reminds us of how important it is that we maintain adequate security in our public buildings. Even though I raised this issue last week, I want to take this opportunity to highlight the importance of the Terrorist Firearms Detection Act, a bill that was last week by Senator KENNEDY. Originally passed in 1988, and sometimes called the “plastic gun” law, this Federal law makes it illegal for any person to manufacture, import, ship, deliver, possess, transfer or receive any firearm that is not detectable by walk-through metal detectors or the type of x-ray machines commonly used at airports.

Since September 11, 2001, Congress has worked hard to improve the security of our borders, airports, government buildings, and communities. In just over a month, on December 10, the plastic gun law is set to expire. The Terrorist Firearms Detection Act would permanently reauthorize this law. I support this bill because plastic guns, whose production has been endorsed by the National Rifle Association, should only be used by our military and intelligence agencies.

This legislation has the support of major gun safety organizations, including the Brady Campaign to Prevent Violence United with the Million Mom March, Americans for Gun Safety, and the Violence Policy Center. The Department of Justice, while failing to endorse Senator KENNEDY’s permanent ban, has indicated its support for extending the current ban.

I urge my colleagues in Congress to act quickly to pass the Terrorist Firearms Detection Act, so that hopefully President Bush can sign it into law.

THE BATTLE OF MIDWAY IN 1942

Mr. INOUYE. Mr. President, I would like to share with my colleagues a fascinating article by James Schlesinger, who served our Nation in a number of prestigious positions, such as Secretary of Defense, Secretary of Energy, and Director of the Central Intelligence Agency. The article, "Underappreciated Victory," was published in the October 2003, issue of the Naval History magazine, a publication of the Naval Institute Proceedings. The article calls for the recognition of the world-historical significance of the Battle of Midway in 1942 because it was the turning point in the war in the Pacific, which, in turn, proved critical to our efforts in the European theater of war. Yet the Battle of Midway, which played such a crucial strategic role for both the European and Pacific war, scarcely gets mentioned in the history books. I wish to submit a copy of Dr. Schlesinger’s article to be printed in the RECORD. This brilliant article sets the record straight.

I ask unanimous consent the article be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

[From Naval History Magazine, Oct. 2003]

UNDERAPPRECIATED VICTORY

(By James Schlesinger)

As we honor those who turned the tide of World War II over 61 years ago—too few of us understand the battle’s world-historical significance. It is essential, therefore, for us to go forth and proselytize.

I continue to be puzzled over the fact that it comes as something of a revelation to many people that this battle played such a crucial strategic role for the war in Europe. So the question before us is: Why is Midway not recognized as the crucial battle for the West in World War II, just as Stalingrad was recognized as a crucial battle for the Soviet Union? The comparative neglect of Midway is a great historical puzzle and, in a sense, a great injustice.

In relation to what British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and others called Grand Strategy, Midway was far more than a decisive naval battle. It was also a turning of the tide in the Pacific war. In a strategic sense, Midway represents one of the great turning points of world history. And in that role, the battle remains underappreciated.

Consider the Grand Strategy of the Allies, which Churchill naturally preferred and President Roosevelt was eager to endorse. It was, quite simply, to deal with Adolf Hitler and with the German threat in Europe first. It has been embraced shortly after the fall of Tobruk, in North Africa, and later the fall of Pearl Harbor, in the Pacific, at the Arcadia Conference. President Roosevelt clearly recognized and acted on the conviction that the Third Reich was the greater menace. Dramatic as the Japanese advance after Pearl Harbor had been, it was into slightly developed colonial regions—to those possessing no military assets. Yet, at its base, it was far less dangerous than Hitler’s continuing advance, crushing and then organizing the industrial nations of Europe to that point. It was only obliterating far more formidable resistance. But it was Japan that had attacked the United States, and it was Japan on which the anger of the American people had focused.

Though Churchill could almost automatically concentrate on Europe, it required conscious effort to carry through on the Grand Strategy. Germany’s declaration of war on the United States on 8 December 1941 provided a small but critical factor. Yet, it had it not been for Midway, President Roosevelt could not have persevered with a Europe-first policy. Public opinion would not have allowed it. Indeed, even after Midway, he paid a substantial political price. In the mid-term election of 1942, the Democrats lost 44 seats in the House of Representatives, barely retaining control, with comparable losses. Subsequent poll of all the Democratic congressional candidates, the principal reason given for the debacle, "frustration" and fury at Roosevelt’s German-first strategy, which translated into failure to punish the Japanese more aggressively for Pearl Harbor. Nonetheless, despite the rebuff of the public, President Roosevelt recognized that the larger threat lay elsewhere, and he prepared to pay the domestic political price for that larger national objective, defined by his Grand Strategy.

Consider the overall military situation in spring 1942. Japan was on a roll. The Philippines had fallen, islands and outposts of Bataan and Corregidor. The Japanese had swept through the Malay Peninsula from French Indochina, and on 15 February the supposedly “impenetrable fortress” of Singapore had fallen to numerically inferior Japanese forces. The Dutch East Indies had been captured. Japanese forces were advancing into Burma and threatening India. Even Australia appeared to be a target. U.S. naval forces significantly weakened by the attack at Pearl Harbor, appeared vastly inferior to the armada that Japan was gathering to advance eastward in the Pacific toward Midway—then possibly to the Hawaiian Islands or even to the U.S. West Coast. Additional victories would have weakened the U.S. position politically impossible for President Roosevelt to continue to pursue the Grand Strategy of Europe-first.

Then came Midway. Through an extraordinary combination of the skill and courage of our pilots, splendid intelligence, prudent risk-taking by our commanders and theirmid, and sheer good luck, the apparently inferior U.S. forces were victorious. This victory occurred despite inferior aircraft, ineffective anti-aircraft, and the substantial absence of backup surface ships, and our overall numerical inferiority. The rest is well known. Four Japanese carriers had been sunk, confirming the dictum of Otto von Bismarck: “The Lord God has special providence for fools, drunkards, and the United States of America.” The Japanese offensive had been blunted. The Japanese fleet turned back toward the home islands, their opportunity for victory lost forever.

President Roosevelt could then execute his Grand Strategy, with all that was to follow concerning the condition of postwar Europe.

After Midway, the United States could, to the chagrin of General Douglas MacArthur, attack the Japanese home islands in the Pacific theater. After the stunning surrender of Tobruk, which appeared to jeopardize both Cairo and the Suez Canal, President Roosevelt thus could accommodate the somewhat distraught Churchill’s request for 300 of the new Sherman tanks to bolster the de-defensive lines in Africa, ultimately leading to the victory at El Alamein. The Battle of the Atlantic gradually turned with the steady improvement in antisubmarine warfare, to ease the threat of a Nazi shortage. By the fall, Operation Torch, the landings in North Africa, initiated offensive operations that ultimately led to the destruction of Marshal Erwin Rommel and his Africa Korps. The invasion of Sicily soon followed, succeeded by the invasion of Italy and eventually the landings in Normandy.

Had the war had another phase, or been much delayed, it is possible the Soviet Union would not have survived. But if it had, and succeeded in its march westward, the face of postwar Europe would have been vastly different. Soviet forces would have deployed farther to the west. Germany likely would have been occupied in its entirety. The West’s foothold in Europe would have shrunk, perhaps dramatically. The ability of France and Italy to survive communist pressures, if it was in 1947, would have been much reduced. In brief, it was Midway, a battle in the distant Pacific, that shaped the face of postwar Europe.

Describing the historic role, Midway gets scarcely more attention in our history books than the War of 1812 naval battles on Lake Champlain or Lake Erie—let alone the scant attention Europeans have paid to it.
Let us reflect on a few other notable battles that turned the tide of history.

In 480 B.C., Athens had fallen to the Persian army, and Athens in a sense survived in the form of its 200 naval vessels that Athens, prodded by Themistocles, an early apostle of naval construction, had created. On 21 September, off the coast of Greece, before the very eyes of the Emperor Xerxes, the combined Greek naval force delivered a devastating blow, sinking some 200 Persian ships, with the loss of only 40 of their own.
Xerxes, as Herodotus describes, had wanted to rule Europe as well as Asia. Fearing an attack on its bridges over the Hellespont, the Persian army largely withdrew. Greek (and European) civilization had been preserved.
Indeed, begging pardon for a lapse from po-escary, more than the submarine force has dserved, requires a rel-

In 651, D-Day, which occurred 2 years later, but which has an anniversary that coincides with Midway in the calendar year. D-day, which was truly touch-and-go, deserves all the attention it has received. But it should not come at the detriment of Midway itself. For without Midway, there would have been D-Day on 6 June 1944, with all the implied about the condition of postwar Europe.

Third, it is also in a sense the fault of the U.S. Navy itself. The Navy (take no offense)

The British allies perennially have demonstrated a talent for displaying, not to say marketing, their armed forces and their accomplishments. Go to London. See the centrality of Trafalgar Square in the city. Observe Admiral Horatio Nelson towering over the castle. It provides a setting and reinforcement for the annual celebration of the naval battle itself. By contrast, Faraqat Square in Washington is a very dim competitor. And where, pray tell, is Midway? It is, of course, the Midway, part of the Cold War, a form of cold war. It is that the committee’s members approved the addition of a number of other measures which were drawn from other bills that had been referred to the committee for consideration. Among those provisions are the follow-

Provisions derived from bills introduced by Senators MURRAY (S. 517),
CRAIG (S. 1239), and GRAHAM of Florida
(S. 1281) to improve medical care and compensation benefits afforded to former prisoners of war. Service members whose deaths are attributed to administration-requested legislation (S. 1213) to increase benefits afforded to Filipinos who fought alongside U.S. troops in World War II.

Provisions derived from administration-requested legislation (S. 1133) to improve educational assistance, life insurance, and State ceme-der grant programs; and Provisions derived from a bill introduced by Committee Ranking Member,

Bob Graham, (S. 1281) to authorize further funding and oversight of the Department of Defense and Institute of Medicine activities to identify the causes of, and treatments for, injuries related to exposures to Agent Orange, radiation, and other environmental dangers by service members.

The bill also contains various measures to assure that, despite the enactment of the significant improvements contained within the bill, the bill will nonetheless be in compliance with the Budget Enforcement Act strictures against the enactment of “mandatory account” spending measures without accompanying “pay-go” offsets.

S. 1282, as amended, is good legislation that is supported, on a bipartisan basis, by all of the members of the Committee on Veterans’ Affairs. Further, its key provisions are supported by VA Secretary Anthony J. Principi and by the major veterans’ service organizations. I ask that the Senate approve it.

NOMINATION FOR THE EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY COMMISSION

Mr. KENNEDY. Mr. President, the nomination of Mr. Stuart Ishimaru to be a member of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission in the Department of Labor was approved today by the Health, Education, Labor and Pensions Committee, and I look forward to prompt confirmation of this qualified nominee by the full Senate.

Mr. Ishimaru brings a distinguished legal background and a demonstrated commitment to public service to the position.

For 10 years he served as counsel to the House Judiciary and Armed Services Committees and was a counsel and deputy assistant Attorney General in the Justice Department’s Civil Rights Division under Attorney General Janet Reno.

Through these positions he has helped enforce the great civil rights laws we have enacted over the last 50 years, from protections for the elderly, to protections for people with disabilities, to protection from discrimination in the workplace. And he has done so with a sense of fairness, compassion, and integrity that has earned him wide respect. I know he will continue his excellent work by enforcing our Nation’s employment laws at the EEOC.

I urge my colleagues to support this well qualified nominee to the EEOC.

THE NATION’S HOSPITALS

Mr. ALLARD. Mr. President, hospitals in the United States have enormous responsibility. The Nation’s hospitals care for patients, perform surgeries, train interns, research cures to diseases, and provide millions of dollars in care for the uninsured. Their services improve Americans’ health and lives and better our communities. I laud their service to Colorado and the Nation.

Recently Solucient, a company that provides health care data to improve health care results, published its list of the Nation’s 100 top hospitals. Four of Solucient’s designees are Colorado hospitals: Saint Joseph Hospital in Denver, Rose Medical Center in Denver, Swedish Medical Center in Englewood, and Lutheran Medical Center in Wheat Ridge. Solucient determines its selection of top hospitals according to hospitals’ consistent and superior quality with a sense of fairness, compassion, and commitment to providing quality health care for Colorado, the Nation, and the world. First, Solucient has recognized Saint Joe’s Hospital in Denver in its studies of orthopedic and intensive care units. According to the hospital, Saint Joe delivers more babies than any other Colorado hospital, serves more patients in gastroenterology, general surgery, pulmonology, cardiac care, nephrology and rheumatology, and other acute care hospital in the Denver metropolitan area, and for the past 5 years the hospital has cared for more cardiology and open heart surgery patients than any other acute care hospital in the metro area.

Second, Exempla Lutheran Medical Center specializes in cardiology, oncology, orthopedic services, and women’s health care. Lutheran Medical also provides special care to the community through its community clinics, special programs and services for the elderly, and hospice care. In addition, Lutheran Medical Center’s Emergency Department has the second highest patient load in the Denver metropolitan area.

Third, with a mission of commitment to patients, Rose Medical Center in Denver asserts a reputation for high quality health care and quality customer service. Rose Medical Center specializes in women’s health services, general surgery, internal medicine, pediatrics, and emergency services. Rose Medical Center also partners with philanthropic organizations to help offer services to the Colorado community. Further, Rose Medical Center is the official health care provider for the Denver Nuggets professional basketball team and the Colorado Avalanche professional hockey team.

Fourth, Solucient recognized a teaching hospital in Englewood, Colorado, Swedish Medical Center, which has six “Centers of Excellence”: the Colorado Neurological Institute, adult & pediatric trauma services, advanced radiology capabilities, cardiology services, cancer treatment services, and women’s health services. In addition, Swedish is a Level I Trauma Center and is a leading referral center for neurotrauma. Swedish also offers services for the elderly, emergency medical service education, and has a Family Medicine Residency Program.

I am pleased these Colorado hospitals have been recognized as leaders in quality, efficiency, and financial responsibility in institutional health care. I hope that their success will be an example for the continued high quality of care and progress for Colorado and the Nation.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

HONORING DR. MARTHA RHODES ROBERTS

Mr. GRAHAM of Florida. Mr. President, today I pay tribute to a fine humanitarian and Floridian, Dr. Martha Rhodes Roberts, who is retiring on October 31. Throughout her 34-year career with the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services, Dr. Martha Rhodes Roberts has contributed to Florida’s agriculture food safety industry as a scientific authority, industry counselor, strategist, and partner in the endeavors of Florida agricultural producers. She has become expert on minimizing food contamination for consumers, by helping to develop safer standards in food processing. Dr. Rhodes Roberts’ dedication to safe food practices has enriched the lives of Floridians and Americans.

Dr. Roberts was instrumental in Florida’s food safety program becoming one of the preeminent State food safety programs in the country. She also has overseen the divisions of pesticides, fertilizers, seeds, agricultural water policy, soil and water conservation, animal feeds, aquaculture and dairy and animal industries during her long career with the department.

Rhodes Roberts has served on several Federal advisory groups for the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce and she has served as president of the Association of Food and Drug Officials, comprised of all States, FDA and USDA. She was instrumental in organizing the Conference for Food Protection, a national body to set food safety standards for all, and she is a member of the Institute of Food Technologists’ Science Advisory Board, which provides scientific review and analysis of issues in food safety, food processing.
MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

At 10:03 a.m., a message from the House Representatives, delivered by Mr. Hays, one of the reading clerks, announced that the House has agreed to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the Senate to the bill (H.R. 3289) making emergency supplemental appropriations for defense and for the reconstruction of Iraq and Afghanistan for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2004, and for other purposes.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE
Partly cloudy, 70°.

EXECUTIVE MESSAGE REFERRED

As in executive session the PRESIDING OFFICER laid before the Senate a message from the President of the United States submitting a nomination which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The nomination received today is printed at the end of the Senate proceedings.

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS
By Mr. MCCAIN (for himself, Mr. REED, Mr. DEWINE, Mr. LIEBERMAN, Mr. CHAFEE, Mr. LAUTENBERG, and Mr. SCHUMER):
S. 1677. A bill to require criminal background checks on all firearms transactions occurring at events that provide a venue for the sale, offer for sale, transfer, or exchange of firearms, and for other purposes; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I take a backseat to no one in my support of Second Amendment rights. But this right, which Americans have fought and died for, does not extent to terrorists, criminals and illegal aliens. That is why I am pleased to announce today a landmark agreement with legislation that I have reached with Senators J ACK REED, MIKE DEWINE, and J OE LIEBERMAN.

The bill accomplishes two critical goals: It protects gun shows as a viable business and ongoing enterprise, and it slams the door on criminals, terrorists and illegal aliens who have successfully exploited a loophole in our gun
On October 30, 2003, Muhammad Asrar, a Pakistani national with suspected al-Qaeda ties, pleaded guilty in Federal court in Texas to firearms-related charges. He was convicted of illegally possessing 30 rounds of 4mm ammunition, 528 rounds of .22 caliber ammunition, and a .22 caliber firearm—illegally overstaying his student visa since 1988. Asrar was arrested after an anonymous informant told authorities that Asrar had asked him whether he would smuggle guns to the United States from the border from Mexico. Asrar also allegedly asked the informant if he would take pictures of tall buildings for him during his travels. Police seized several photos of tall buildings from Asrar’s store.

Asrar admitted to authorities that he had bought and sold a variety of guns at Texas gun shows over the previous 7 years, including a copy of a Sten submachine gun, a 9mm pistol, a 95% percent compact, two handguns, and a hunting rifle.

Despite the final adjudication of the ammunition and immigration charges, which can carry a penalty of up to 10 years in prison, Asrar remains under investigation by a Federal grand jury. According to the New York Times, Asrar is being investigated for possible links to al-Qaeda.

Connor Claxton is an Irish national and an admitted member of the Irish Republican Army who is currently serving a prison term for attempting to smuggle guns bought in Florida to Ireland. At his trial he testified about how he came to the United States on a student visa, staying his student visa since 1988. Asrar admitted to authorities that he had bought and sold a variety of guns at Texas gun shows over the previous 7 years, including a copy of a Sten submachine gun, a 9mm pistol, a 95% percent compact, two handguns, and a hunting rifle.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I rise to join my colleague Senator McCaIN in introducing the Gun Show Loophole Closing Act of 2003. We offer this legislation to strengthen our Nation’s gun laws by closing a loophole that has allowed criminals to buy firearms at gun shows for far too long. I look forward to working with Senator McCaIN and our fellow cosponsors to offer this legislation to the first appropriate vehicle that comes before the Senate. In particular, it is our intention to offer this bill as an amendment to the gun industry immunity bill, S. 659. If the Senate is going to consider granting immunity from civil liability to the firearms industry—an industry that Congress already exempted from the consumer product safety laws that apply to virtually every other product sold in this country—it is critical that we protect... the American people by improving law enforcement oversight of commerce in firearms.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms reported to Congress in 2000 that gun shows are a major gun trafficking channel responsible for more than 26,000 illegal firearms sales during the 18-month period ATF studied. The FBI and ATF tell us again and again that convicted felons, domestic abusers, and other prohibited purchasers are taking advantage of the gun show loophole. At least three suspected terrorists that we know of have exploited this loophole to acquire firearms, including one suspected al Qaeda member.

Under Federal law, Federal Firearms Licensees are required to maintain careful records of their sales, and under the Brady Act, to check a purchaser’s background with the National Instant Criminal Background Check System before transferring any firearm. How- ever, a person does not need a Federal firearms license—and the Brady Act does not apply—if the person is not “engaged in the business” of selling firearms pursuant to Federal law. These licensed sellers make up one quarter of the sellers of firearms at thousands of gun shows in America each year. Consequently, felons and other prohibited persons who want to avoid Brady Act checks and records of their purchases buy firearms at gun shows.

Four years ago, Eric Harris and Dylan Klebold killed 13 people at Columbine High School with weapons purchased from an unlicensed seller at a gun show. The woman who purchased those guns on behalf of Harris and Klebold testified to the Colorado legislature that she never would have purchased the weapons had she been required to undergo a background check.

We have united behind this bipartisan legislation—which brings together provisions from several previous gun show bills—to make gun show transactions safer for all Americans. The bill would require Brady Law background checks on all firearms transactions at any event where 75 or more guns are offered for sale. Three years after enactment, States could apply to the Attorney General for certification for a 24-hour background check for unlicensed sellers at gun shows. However, to be eligible for 24-hour certification, a State would be required to have 95 percent of its disqualifying records automated and searchable under NICS, including 95 percent of all domestic violence misdemeanor and restraining order records dating back 30 years. Before certifying any State for 24-hour background checks, the Attorney General would be required to establish a toll-free telephone number to enable State and local agencies to immediately notify the NICS system. Any time a domestic violence restraining order is filed, and courts within a certified State would be required to use the telephone number immediately upon the filing of such an order. The bill also directs the Attorney General to work with States to encourage the development of computer systems that would allow courts to provide electronic records to NICS immediately. The Bureau of Justice Statistics’ final report on the review of all certified States to ensure they continue to meet the conditions for 24-hour background check certification.

Some will say that this legislation is an attempt to end gun shows, but the experience of States that have closed the gun show loophole proves otherwise. California, for example, requires not only background checks at gun shows but a 10-day waiting period for all gun sales, yet gun shows continue to thrive there. No, we are not trying to end gun shows. What we are trying to end is the free pass we’re giving to terrorists and convicted felons that allow them to simply walk into a gun show, buy whatever weapons they want and walk out without a Brady background check.

In overwhelming numbers, the American people believe that background checks should be required for all gun show sales. In fact, we confirmed this after the Columbine tragedy when they approved a ballot initiative to close the gun show loophole. I urge my colleagues to support the Gun Show Loophole Closing Act of 2003 so that we can simply close this loophole in every State and make sure that convicted felons, domestic abusers, and other prohibited persons do not use gun shows to purchase firearms without a Brady background check.

Mr. DEWINE. Mr. President, I rise today as an original co-sponsor of the Gun Show Loophole Closing Act of 2003. I would like to thank Senators MCCAIN, LIEBERMAN and REED for also sponsoring this common sense piece of legislation that closes the shows out of the hands of criminals and out of the hand of kids. It is a good bill—an important bill.

Gun ownership rights are clearly established in the United States Constitution. And, I am a firm supporter of the Second Amendment. I also strongly believe that we have an obligation to protect the safety of law-abiding citizens and the safety of our most precious resource, our children.

As a former prosecutor, I learned that the best way to reduce the illegal and often fatal use of guns is to pass and enforce tough laws that severely punish criminals who use them. That is why I consistently have supported measures that keep firearms from getting into the wrong hands in the first place and that increase the punishment of those who use firearms in the commission of a crime. The Gun Show Loophole Closing Act helps achieve that goal.

Under existing Brady law, when a purchaser buys a gun from a licensed dealer, he or she must undergo a background check through the Federal Government’s National Instant Criminal Background Check System (“NICS”), into which States feed records of certain criminals and others not qualified to own a gun. NICS has up to three days to inform the dealer as to whether the buyer is qualified to purchase a gun. If the dealer receives no response by the end of the three-day period, the dealer is allowed to sell the gun to that buyer. Ninety-five percent of NICS checks, however, do not take three days. They come up with an instant or near instant response.

This bill we are introducing today simply applies the same common-sense checks to gun show sales. Right now, there is no statute requiring that all sellers at gun shows run NICS checks on potential gun buyers; however, according to Federal officials, gun shows are the second leading source of illegal guns recovered from gun trafficking investigations. By leaving this loophole open—by not requiring all gun show sales to run NICS checks—we are giving gun traffickers and other criminals with a prime opportunity to acquire firearms. This is terrifying and this is unacceptable. Only last week, Federal authorities arrested a Georgia man who sold large quantities of firearms at Georgia gun shows. These firearms have been recovered in subsequent crimes in New York, New Jersey, Michigan, and here in Washington, DC.

Furthermore, following the attacks on September 11th, we have learned that Al Qaeda produced a handbook in which it advised terrorists to purchase firearms at gun shows in the United States. In fact, at least three suspected terrorists have exploited this loophole to acquire firearms. Therefore, it is imperative, now more than ever, to enact legislation to protect our citizens from this potential area of terrorist exploitation.

This bill is common sense. The laws for purchasing firearms at gun shows and stores should be the same. We have the same responsibility to make sure that gun owners are qualified—regardless of where they buy their guns. This bill closes the gun show loophole in a way that respects the Second Amendment and honest, law-abiding Americans’ right to buy and sell guns and attend gun shows. That’s good law. That’s good policy. That’s why we should pass this bill.

Mr. EBERMAN. Mr. President, I am proud to join Senators MCCAIN, REED, DEWINE, LAUTENBERG, SCHUMER and CHAFEE in introducing this important legislation. This bill aims to build common ground on gun violence—a problem that has too often divided Members of Congress. As citizens of this great Democracy, we have rights and we have responsibilities. We have the right to own guns, but we have a responsibility not to sell them to criminals. That is the simple but important point of the legislation we introduce today is founded.

For several decades, our Nation has had a clear policy against allowing convicted felons to buy guns, because we know that mixing criminals and guns far too often yields violent results. Through the Brady law, we established what seems like an obvious result. Through the Brady law, we established what seems like an obvious result. We know that background checks have stopped almost one million gun sales to those who by law aren’t allowed to own guns—convicted felons, spouse abusers, fugitives from justice, among others. This has saved an untold number of our citizens from the violence, injury or death the sale of many of these guns would have brought.

But the Brady law contained an unfortunate loophole that has since been exploited to allow convicted felons and other people who shouldn’t own guns to evade the background check requirement and buy guns. The problem is that Brady applies only to Federal Firearms Licensees, so-called FFLs—people who are in the business of selling guns. Brady explicitly exempts from the background check requirement anyone who makes occasional sales, exchanges, or purchases of firearms for the enhancement of a personal collection or for a hobby, or who sells all or part of his personal collection of firearms. As a result, any person selling guns as a hobby or only when they believe that if they go to a gun show, they will be able to avoid the background check at gun shows. Our bill will change that. We will make sure that nonlicensed sellers will have easy access to someone who can initiate background checks for them, by creating a new class of licensee whose sole purpose will be to initiate background checks at gun shows. Third, we have tried to respond to those who say that a three-day check is too long for gun shows, because those events only last a couple of days. It is worth noting that the length allowed for the check doesn’t affect the overwhelming majority of gun purchasers, because over 90 percent of checks are completed almost instantly. But to allay the concerns that have been expressed, we have come up with a compromise that authorizes a State to move to a 24-hour check for non-licensed dealers at gun shows when the State can prove that a 24-hour check is feasible. A State can prove by showing that 95 percent of the records that would disqualify people in that State are computerized and searchable by the NICS system. And, because of the particular need to keep guns out of the hands of spouse abusers, the bill specifically provides that a State must have completed all the pertinent domestic violence misdemeanor and restraining order records dating back 30 years before it is eligible to go to a 24-hour check at gun shows. There is a difference between the bill Senator McCain and I introduced last Congress and the one we introduce today is that my colleague from Rhode Island, Senator Reed, has worked with us to craft a single gun show loophole closing bill. I am truly pleased that we can now all go forward together in a unified effort to bring greater responsibility to our gun laws.

Now I know that there are many, including President Bush, who argue that what we need to solve the gun violence problem are not new laws but the enforcement of existing ones. I agree with part of that statement, and firmly support efforts to crack down on those who violate our gun laws. But I believe we must go farther than that, because we will never be able to enforce existing laws unless we close the loopholes in them that criminals exploit. And we all know that there is a big loophole in the provision saying that felons and spouse abusers aren’t supposed to buy guns, and that is that criminals know that if they go to a gun show, they will be able to avoid the background check that was set up to keep them from getting guns.

Gun crime remains a critical public safety problem. For too long, differences over finding a solution to that problem have unnecessarily divided the Congress, and the American people have been left to suffer the violent consequences. But the reality is that most of us agree on the basic factual questions. We agree that the laws on the books should be enforced, that the rights of law-abiding gun owners should be protected, and that convicted felons and spouse abusers shouldn’t be able to get guns. The bill we are introducing today would write those principles into law. I hope all of my colleagues support it.

By Mr. Sessions (for himself, Mr. Hollings, Mr. Lott, Mr. Shelby, Mr. Cochran, Mrs. Dole, Mr. Edwards, Mr. Inhofe, and Mrs. Hutchinson): S. 1808 A bill to provide for the preservation and restoration of historic buildings at historically women’s public colleges and universities; to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

Mr. Sessions. Mr. President, today I rise to re-introduce legislation to help preserve the heritage of seven historic women’s colleges and universities. The legislation would authorize the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development to provide restoration and preservation grants for historic buildings and structures at seven historically women’s public colleges or universities. The bill directs the Secretary to award $14 million annually from fiscal years 2004 through 2008 to the seven institutions.

The sweeping changes of the industrial revolution prompted Congress in 1862, with further action in 1887 and 1890, to provide Federal support for the establishment of agricultural and mechanical colleges with an emphasis on industrial and technical education. Unfortunately, these “land-grant” schools were only for men, leaving women untrained as they entered the expanded work force. Women’s advocates, such as Miss Julia Tutwiler in Alabama, immediately recognized the need for institutions where women could receive an equal education. Beginning in 1884, seven institutions in seven separate States were established as women’s colleges. These institutions include the Mississippi University for Women, the University of Montevallo in Alabama, Georgia College and State University, Winthrop University in South Carolina, University of North Carolina at Greensboro, Texas Women’s University, and the University of Science and Arts of Oklahoma. These seven institutions remain open, providing a liberal arts education for both men and women, but retain significant historical and academic features of those pioneering efforts to educate women. Despite their continued use, many of the structures located on these campuses are facing destruction or closure because preservation funds are not available. My legislation would channel these buildings to be preserved and maintained by providing funding for the historic buildings located at the colleges and universities I have identified. No more than $14 million would be available and would be distributed in equal amounts to the seven institutions. My bill also requires a 20 percent matching contribution from non-Federal sources and assures that alterations to the properties using the funds... are subject to approval from the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development and reasonable public access for interpretive and educational purposes. These historic women's colleges and universities have contributed significantly to the effort to attain equal opportunity through postsecondary education for women, many of whom would not have had the opportunity otherwise. I believe it is our duty to do all we can to preserve these historic institutions, and I ask my colleagues for their support.

SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

Whereas the October 1, 2003, marked the 50th anniversary of the signing of the Mutual Defense Treaty between the United States of America and the Republic of Korea, signed at Washington October 1, 1953, and entered into force November 17, 1954 (hereinafter referred to as the "Mutual Defense Treaty");

Whereas the United States and the Republic of Korea have formed a bond through the common struggle against communist aggression;

Whereas more than 34,000 Americans lost their lives fighting in the Korean War, and approximately 37,000 men and women of the United States Armed Forces are still deployed on the Korean peninsula, enduring separation from their families and other hardships in the defense of freedom;

Whereas the Mutual Defense Treaty has been instrumental in securing peace on the Korean peninsula and providing an environment in which the Republic of Korea has become politically vibrant, free, democratic society;

Whereas the foundation of the Mutual Defense Treaty rests not only on a common adversary, but more importantly on a shared interest in, and commitment to, peace, democracy, and freedom on the Korean peninsula, in Asia, and throughout the world;

Whereas South Korea President Roh Moo-hyun pledged on October 18, 2003, to dispatch additional troops to work alongside United States and coalition forces in Iraq. Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—
(1) observes the 50th anniversary of the Mutual Defense Treaty between the United States of America and the Republic of Korea, signed at Washington October 1, 1953, and entered into force November 17, 1954;
(2) reaffirms cooperation and friendship between the people of the United States and the people of the Republic of Korea; and
(3) thanks the Republic of Korea for its contributions to the global war on terrorism and to the stabilization and reconstruction of Afghanistan and Iraq.

Mr. BIDEN. Mr. President, this resolution is cosponsored by my distinguished colleague, the chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, Senator Lugar, as well as Senators Kerry, Brownback, Dodd, and Hagel. It recognizes the 50th anniversary of the United States-Republic of Korea Mutual Defense Treaty and is thanking the Republic of Korea for its contributions to the global war on terrorism.

The United States has no better friend in Asia than the Republic of Korea. South Koreans have been there for us time and again, just as we have been for them.

Our alliance has paid dividends on and off the Korean Peninsula. Most recently, South Korea has aided the U.S. effort in Afghanistan and Iraq. South Korea has already sent 700 military engineers and medical personal to Iraq, and President Roh pledged on October 18 to dispatch additional troops to work alongside U.S. forces there. South Korea has also pledged $260 million in grants to help Iraq.

The resolution I offer today observes the 50th anniversary of our alliance, thanks South Korea for its contributions to the global war on terrorism, and reaffirms the deep cooperation and friendship that exists between our two countries.

That cooperation and friendship are sorely needed now, given the challenges posed by North Korea. North Korea today is on the verge of becoming a nuclear bomb factory. The United States and its allies are constructing diplomatic efforts to persuade North Korea to change its course.

President Bush, I note, has repeatedly called for a "peaceful, diplomatic" solution to this crisis, and has worked with our friends and allies in that region toward that goal. I believe President Bush's instincts are correct on this issue.

Last week President Bush told the leaders of Asia that the United States is prepared to provide security assistance to North Korea if North Korea takes tangible steps to dismantle its nuclear program. I find that very encouraging. But in my view we need to do more. That is essentially where we left off at the end of the last administration, when we were working within the Agreed Framework.

What we need to do is have more contact with North Korea. There were only two meetings of our delegations with North Korea last August in Beijing. That, with the translation requirements, in such an exchange, is barely enough time to clear one's throat.

Second, we should use the combination of carrots and sticks to convince North Korea to change its course. The sticks are in play, including the proliferation security initiative and a coordinated crackdown on the North's illicit activities, including narcotics trafficking and counterfeiting, among others.

We need to identify as well some incentives for the good behavior that would come if, in fact, there is a verifiable North Korean effort along the path toward nuclear disarmament. This is not giving in to blackmail. It is a positive reinforcement, and there is a huge difference between the two.

Third, we need to sustain and consider increasing humanitarian food and assistance to North Korea. I think about this crisis will be improved by having more hungry or sick North Korean children. This year, the United States provided only 40,000 tons of food aid to the North a generous donation, to be sure, but a pittance against the more than 600,000 tons needed, and far below the food aid levels the United States has provided in previous years.

I note there is some dispute about the access of this food aid to the people of North Korea, people we need to help. The fact is the World Food Program and the director have reported significant progress towards monitoring delivery of food and ensuring that the aid reaches those most in need. Further, the food aid we have is far from being fairly well assured is in fact getting where it is intended.

Finally, we need to speak with one voice. The administration has yet to fully resolve the deep internal divisions over the direction of the President's policy. Some senior officials in the administration continue to argue against this policy of engagement. As a matter of fact, they seem to occasionally look forward to tweaking the North Koreans, rather than construct a diplomatic effort to persuade North Korea to change its course.

President Bush, I note, has repeatedly called for a "peaceful, diplomatic" solution to this crisis, and has worked with our friends and allies in that region toward that goal. I believe President Bush's instincts are correct on this issue.
The North's pursuit of nuclear weapons poses a great threat to the interests of the United States and to the entire region. As the North's stockpile of fissile material grows, the likelihood the North will test a nuclear weapon and prove the viability of its weapons program, terminates its export of ballistic missiles, and more closely integrates the North into the community of nations.

Some say North Korea cannot be trusted. They are right. Modifying President Reagan's maxim, we should mistrust, and verify. But the alternatives to negotiating are grim. Our current approach leads to one of two undesirable outcomes: either the United States will essentially acquiesce to the North's serial production of nuclear weapons or we may find ourselves in a military confrontation with a desperate, nuclear-armed regime. Any preemptive military strike would also met with monumental casualties of South Koreans and tens of thousands of Americans at risk.

How do we go to war with the North if the South does not support it, if that were the second option? Negotiations with North Korea are not easy, but they offer us the best chance—I believe the only chance—to avoid a nuclear nightmare on the Korean peninsula.

I would like to submit a bipartisan staff report by the members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee who traveled to North Korea immediately following the six-party talks in Beijing in August. I ask unanimous consent that it be printed in the RECORD following my remarks.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BIDEN. Mr. President, let me conclude by saying today's paper carries the news that the quixotic and unreliable and often inscrutable actions of the North Koreans have brought the Supreme Leader of North Korea to the position where he is now saying he will engage in multilateral talks again and renegotiate a treaty and that he is ready to consider what has been rejected before.

That is the sense of the article. I have no inherent faith that we can rely upon the President of North Korea. But it seems to me we have everything to gain and nothing to lose by continuing to pursue these talks. We give nothing, and at a minimum what we do is put ourselves in the position where the most isolated remaining country in the world at least is exposed to the influence of other nations in the world, including China, Russia, South Korea, Japan, and the United States as to what we consider to be appropriate behavior. Hopefully, that will have a salutary impact on the willingness to negotiate an end to these programs.

The alternative of not pursuing that is bleak. Therefore, I encourage the President of the United States to continue down this path and to continue down the path more quickly than we have thus far.

Sincerely,

KEITH LUSE, Professional Staff Member, Majority Staff, East Asian and Pacific Affairs, Senate Foreign Relations Committee.
FRANK JANNUZI, Professional Staff Member, Minority Staff, East Asian and Pacific Affairs, Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

SUMMARY

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee (SFRC) staff members Keith Luse and Frank Jannuzzi traveled to Northeast Asia August 21-September 2 to examine the prospects for a peaceful negotiated solution to the North Korean nuclear issue and to follow-up on their earlier set of visits to North Korea in an effort to gain greater transparency on food aid issues. Throughout the course of the visit, the staff delegation received commendable support from U.S. Diplomatic personnel. The delegation enjoyed high level access to Chinese, North Korean, and South Korean government officials. We also met with numerous academics, think tank specialists, and employees of non-governmental organizations concerned with developments on the Korean Peninsula. Our key finding was forming some recommendations for next steps on the Korean Peninsula, are reported below.

DEAR SENATORS LUGAR AND BIDEN: In late August, Keith Luse and Frank Jannuzzi traveled to China and North Korea, and Mr. Jannuzzi traveled to South Korea, to examine the prospects for a peaceful negotiated solution to the North Korean nuclear issue and to follow-up on their earlier set of visits to North Korea in an effort to gain greater transparency on food aid issues. Throughout the course of the visit, the staff delegation received commendable support from U.S. Diplomatic personnel. the point that such efforts are tangible proof that the United States has no hostile intent toward North Korea. SFRC staff strongly advised DPRK officials that they should perceive greater food aid to their people under the auspices of the World Food Program and various non-governmental organizations. The delegation pressed DPRK officials to take steps to reduce the threat of nuclear weapons in a region where human rights, including respect for religious freedom, and emphasized that the United States' concern for the human rights situation in the DPRK reflects the deeply held convictions of the American people.

KEY FINDINGS

Six party talks in Beijing helped improve coordination among the five nations trying to resolve the DPRK's nuclear ambitions, but DPRK officials left the talks uncoordinated and inconsistent. The United States genuinely seeks a peaceful, negotiated solution to the crisis. DPRK officials told the staff delegation that they believe the true aim of the United States is "regime change," and that de-nuclearization is just the first step toward that objective.

Under pressure from China, the DPRK will probably come to another round of multilateral talks. However, China's encouragement of the talks does not sit easily with the DPRK leadership, who said they had misled into believing the multilateral talks were substantive one-on-one discussions with the U.S. envoy. In one particularly blunt exchange, DPRK Vice Foreign Minister Kim Gye Gwon told the staff delegation the DPRK talks had "confirmed" the North's assessment that the United States has no intention of changing its "hostile policies." Kim said the DPRK, "had no choice but to maintain and reinforce its nuclear deterrent."

The SFRC delegation conveyed their personal views that the decision to enhance its nuclear weapons capabilities would be viewed by the United States as a grave threat to international peace and security. DPRK officials said that the United States has no choice but to work toward any future dialogue, but after the staff delegation's departure, the DPRK Foreign Ministry issued a statement claiming that there were no guarantees for dialogue and for a war. This statement represented a slight softening of the stance articulated immediately after the Beijing talks, and certainly leaves the door open to another round of multi-party talks in Beijing or some other venue.

With strong encouragement from China (a senior delegation from China visited the DPRK in late September), the DPRK may agree to another round of six-party talks, if only to avoid being held directly responsible for a belligerent nuclear posture. It remains unclear what stance the DPRK will take at any future talks, and at what level they will re-negotiate the issue of non-proliferation in the DPRK is highly centralized, with Kim Jong-il wielding the ultimate authority. Junior level DPRK officials such as Kim Jong-il, who visited Beijing in August, often are unable to engage in substantive dialogue, a fact which argues for the United States to try to elevate the talks to engage officials with real authority and the ear of Kim Jong-il.

and war of U.S. intentions

The difficult of communicating with the North Koreans was evident throughout the trip. DPRK officials in Pyongyang, highlighting the risk that conflict could arise from miscalculation or mis-communication. North Korean officials with whom we met had immediate and unambiguous support for United States security policy, especially the recently issued National Security Strategy and Nuclear Force Posture Review. They repeatedly expressed their belief that the threat to the United States' nuclear threat.

Sometime, confusion arose out of the impression of different English terms. DPRK officials explained the different meanings "simultaneous," "synchronous," "phased," and "reciprocal." Attention to such detail suggests the DPRK is actively studying how the nuclear issue might be resolved given what they characterized as the "zero trust" which exists between the two parties.

DPRK officials took note of recent U.S. efforts to curtail North Korean involvement in narcotics trafficking, counterfeiting, and other illicit activities. DPRK officials denied North Korean involvement in such illicit activities, and alleged that the United States had trumped up the charges as part of a general campaign to "stifle" the DPRK.

Food aid: slow progress on transparency and accountability

In one particularly blunt exchange, DPRK Vice Foreign Minister Kim Gye Gwon told the staff delegation the DPRK talked had "confirmed" the North's assessment that the United States has no intention of changing its "hostile policies." Kim said the DPRK, "had no choice but to maintain and reinforce its nuclear deterrent."

Third, WFP has increased the number of monthly inspection visits and now has approximately 50 international staff in residence. WFP offices are located in Sinuiju, Wonson, Hamhung, Chongjin, and Hyesan. WFP is the only... international agency working in the country with international staff permanently placed outside the capital.

Fourth, WFP has sustained its access to 34% of total counties in North Korea. WFP does not deliver food aid to those counties that remain off limits, most of which are concentrated along the sparsely populated mountainous border of the country and along the DMZ (see attached map).

Finally, through its inspection visits, WFP is gathering a detailed database of schools, hospitals, orphanages, and other institutions receiving WFP assistance. Although the DPRK still has not provided a comprehensive list of aid recipients, WFP is allotted access to 60% of the population, and hopes to press ahead with a major wind power survey project along the west coast in Korea. The project installed seven technicians needed to assess the maintenance required for wind turbines in a rural village on the west coast of North Korea near the port of Nampo. This region is known as a breadbasket for Korea, rich in arable land and other natural resources, including steady breezes off the Korea Bay. The turbines provide clean, renewable energy and help to electrify the village. Other projects, some of which have been able to continue food aid through non-governmental organizations, some of which have had to cease aid delivery because of the stand-off has disrupted visits by foreign experts. Non-governmental organizations had been limited by both Washington and Pyongyang. They have been unable to deliver food aid to North Korea. NGO’s making contribution to welfare of average North Koreans

Although WFP is the largest humanitarian organization working in North Korea, they are not the only international organization operating in the country. The Village Wind Power Project was the first attempt by a United States NGO to work side-by-side with North Korean counterparts to develop alternative energy. Previously, non-governmental organizations had been limited by both Washington and Pyongyang. They have been unable to deliver food aid to North Korea. Since the wind power project was completed in 1999, it has had its share of ups and downs. At present, the delegation found that the facility was not operating at full capacity due to maintenance problems with two inverters and damaged batteries. North Korea lacks adequately trained technicians to service the equipment, and the nuclear standoff has disrupted visits by the Eugene Bell Foundation. These initiatives have fostered good will on a “people-to-people” basis, and have measurably improved the quality of life for the North Korean beneficiaries.

The U.S. should search for ways to expand outreach efforts by NGOs in the fields of rural energy development, agriculture, and public health. The Joint Recovery Operation to identify the remains of U.S. servicemen from the Korean War affords the United States valuable contact inside North Korea. Any expansion of the operation, however, should be made contingent upon greater U.S. access to those North Korean citizens claiming to have first-hand knowledge of the whereabouts of remains.

STAFF CONCLUSIONS

So as to reduce what we believe is a significant risk of conflict arising out of miscommunication, the United States should be prepared to work towards a dialogue with North Korea, both within the framework of multi-party talks, as well as through informal or “Track II” bilateral negations.

The United States should appoint a senior official to represent the United States solely on issues related to the Korean Peninsula. Alternatively, the Administration should endow the current negotiator, Assistant Secretary of State James Kelly, with greater authority to direct and coordinate the President’s North Korea policy and gain access to more senior North Korean officials.

Thom Security Council, acknowledge recent improvements in WFP operations and continue food aid to the DPRK under UN auspices. The United States should also consider funneling a portion of future U.S. food aid through non-governmental organizations, some of which have been able to achieve strong monitoring capability for their humanitarian relief efforts.

The U.S. should search for ways to expand outreach efforts by NGOs in the fields of rural energy development, agriculture, and public health. The Joint Recovery Operation to identify the remains of U.S. servicemen from the Korean War affords the United States valuable contact inside North Korea. Any expansion of the operation, however, should be made contingent upon greater U.S. access to those North Korean citizens claiming to have first-hand knowledge of the whereabouts of remains.

The purposes of this Act are—

(1) to reduce wildfire risk to communities, municipal water supplies, and other at-risk Federal land through a collaborative process of planning, prioritizing, and implementing hazardous fuel reduction projects;

(2) to authorize grant programs to improve the commercial value of forest biomass (that otherwise contributes to the risk of catastrophic fire or insect or disease infestation) for producing electric energy, useful heat, transportation fuel, and petroleum-based product substitutes, and for other commercial purposes;

(3) to enhance efforts to protect watersheds and address threats to forest and rangeland health, including catastrophic wildfire, across the landscape;

(4) to promote systematic gathering of information to address the impact of insect and disease infestations and other damaging agents on forest and rangeland health;

(5) to improve the capacity to detect insect and disease infestations at an early stage, particularly with respect to hardwood forests; and

(6) to protect, restore, and enhance forest ecosystem components—

(A) to promote the recovery of threatened and endangered species;

(B) to improve biological diversity; and

(C) to enhance productivity and carbon sequestration.

SEC. 2. PURPOSES.

In this Act:

(1) FEDERAL LAND.—The term “Federal land” means—

(A) land of the National Forest System (as defined in section 101(9) of the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act of 1974 (16 U.S.C. 1602(9))), the surface of which is administered by the Secretary of Agriculture, acting through the Chief of the Forest Service; and

(B) public lands (as defined in section 103 of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1702)), the surface of which is administered by the Secretary of the Interior, acting through the Director of the Bureau of Land Management.

(2) INDIAN TRIBE.—The term “Indian tribe” has the meaning given the term in section 4 of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (25 U.S.C. 450b).

(d) EXCLUSION OF CERTAIN FEDERAL LAND.—The Secretary may not conduct an authorized hazardous fuel reduction project that would occur on—

(1) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(2) Federal land on which the removal of vegetation is prohibited by Act of Congress, except that Act of Congress may allow removal of vegetation for at-risk community wildfire protection purposes; or

(3) a Wilderness Study Area.

(e) OLD GROWTH STANDS.—

(1) PUBLIC REVIEW.—In this subsection and subsection (f):—

(A) COVERED PROJECT.—The term ‘‘covered project’’ means an authorized hazardous fuel reduction project carried out under paragraph (1), (2), (3), or (5) of subsection (a).

(B) OLD GROWTH STAND.—The term ‘‘old growth stand’’ means old-growth forest, meaning a forest that—

(i) has been present for at least 100 years;

(ii) does not exist as a result of human activity; and

(iii) contains old-growth characteristic of the forest type, and in accordance with applicable law, including section 6(g)(3)(B) of the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Planning Act of 1974 (16 U.S.C. 1604(g)(3)(B)).

(2) STANDARDS.—The term ‘‘standards’’ means definitions, designations, standards, guidelines, goals, or objectives established for an old growth stand under a resource management plan developed in accordance with paragraph (k). The term includes the Fire Regime Condition Class Guidebook, the Fire Regime Condition Class Handbook, and any other relevant scientific information the Secretary did not consider in formulating the resource management plan or other relevant direction.

(3) NOWER STANDARDS.—If the standards for an old growth stand were established before the 10-year period ending on the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall meet the requirements of paragraph (2) in carrying out a covered project by implementing the standards.

(A) AMENDMENTS OR REVISIONS.—Any amendment or revision to standards for which final administrative action is granted after the date of enactment of this Act shall be consistent with paragraph (2) for the purpose of carrying out covered projects.

(C) IN GENERAL.—If the standards for an old growth stand were established before the 10-year period described in paragraph (3)(A), the Secretary shall meet the requirements of paragraph (2) in carrying out a covered project by implementing the standards—

(i) during the 2-year period beginning on the date of enactment of this Act; or

(ii) if the Secretary is in the process of revising a resource management plan as of the date of enactment of this Act, during the 3-year period beginning on the date of enactment of this Act.

(B) REVIEW REQUIRED.—During the applicable period described in subparagraph (A) for the standards for an old growth stand under a resource management plan, the Secretary shall—

(i) review the standards, taking into account any relevant scientific information made available since the adoption of the standards; and

(ii) revise the standards to be consistent with paragraph (2), if necessary to reflect relevant scientific information the Secretary considers in formulating the resource management plan.

(C) REVIEW NOT COMPLETE.—If the Secretary does not complete the review of the standards in accordance with subparagraph (B), during the applicable period described in subparagraph (A), the Secretary shall not carry out any portion of a covered project in a stand that is identified as an old growth stand (based on substantial supporting evidence) by any person during scoping.

(ii) PRIORITY.—Clause (i) applies during the period—

(I) beginning on the termination of the applicable implementation plan for standards described in subparagraph (A); and

(II) ending on the earlier of—

(aa) the date the Secretary completes the action required by subparagraph (B) for the standards; or

(bb) the date on which the acreage limitation specified in subsection (c) (as that limitation may be adjusted by subsequent Act of Congress) is reached.

(f) LARG E TRE E R E T E N T I O N.—Except in old growth stands where the standards are consistent with subsection (e)(2), the Secretary shall carry out a covered project in a manner that—

(1) focuses largely on small diameter trees, thinning, strategic fuel breaks, and prescribed fire to modify fire behavior, as measured by the projected reduction of uncharacteristically severe wildfire effects for the forest type (such as adverse soil impacts, tree mortality or other impacts); and

(2) maximizes the retention of large trees, as appropriate for the forest type, to the extent that the trees promote fire-resilient stands and/or minimize the extent or likelihood of the occurrence of wildfire effects for the forest type, taking into account the contribution of the stand to landscape fire adaptation and watershed health, including the large trees contributing to old growth structure.

(b) EXCLUSION OF CERTAIN FEDERAL LAND.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall not use less than 50 percent of the funds allocated for hazardous fuel reduction projects on Federal land, the Secretary shall, in accordance with section 104, comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.).

(b) FUNDING ALLOCATION.—

(1) FEDERAL LAND.—(A) IN GENERAL.—For each Forest Service administrative region and each Bureau of Land Management State Office, the Secretary shall—

(i) monitor the results of the projects authorized under this section; and

(ii) not later than 5 years after the date of enactment of this Act, and each 5 years thereafter, issue a report that includes—

(I) an evaluation of the progress towards project goals; and

(II) recommendations for modifications to the projects and management treatments.

(B) COMPLIANCE.—In implementing authorized hazardous fuel reduction projects on Federal land, the Secretary shall, in accordance with section 104, comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.).

(b) FUNDING ALLOCATION.—

(1) FEDERAL LAND.—(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall not use less than 50 percent of the funds allocated for hazardous fuel reduction projects on Federal land, the Secretary shall, in accordance with section 104, comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.).

(b) FUNDING ALLOCATION.—

(1) FEDERAL LAND.—(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall not use less than 50 percent of the funds allocated for hazardous fuel reduction projects on Federal land, the Secretary shall, in accordance with section 104, comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.).

(1) FEDERAL LAND.—(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall not use less than 50 percent of the funds allocated for hazardous fuel reduction projects on Federal land, the Secretary shall, in accordance with section 104, comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.).

(b) FUNDING ALLOCATION.—

(1) FEDERAL LAND.—(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall not use less than 50 percent of the funds allocated for hazardous fuel reduction projects on Federal land, the Secretary shall, in accordance with section 104, comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.).

(b) FUNDING ALLOCATION.—

(1) FEDERAL LAND.—(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall not use less than 50 percent of the funds allocated for hazardous fuel reduction projects on Federal land, the Secretary shall, in accordance with section 104, comply with the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.).
(c) Public Notice and Meeting.—

(1) Public Notice.—The Secretary shall provide notice of each authorized hazardous fuel reduction project in accordance with applicable regulations and administrative guidelines.

(2) Public Meeting.—During the preparation stage of each authorized hazardous fuel reduction project, the Secretary shall:

(A) conduct a public meeting at an appropriate location proximate to the administrative unit of the Federal land on which the authorized hazardous fuel reduction project will be conducted; and

(B) provide notice advance of the location, date, and time of the meeting.

(d) Public Comment.—In order to encourage meaningful public participation during preparation of authorized hazardous fuel reduction projects, the Secretary shall facilitate collaboration among States and local governments, and Indian tribes, and participate of interested persons, during the preparation of each authorized fuel reduction project in a manner consistent with the Implementation Plan.

(e) Environmental Analysis and Public Comment.—In accordance with section 102(2) of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321(2)) and the applicable regulations and administrative guidelines, the Secretary shall provide an opportunity for public comment on the preparation of any environmental assessment or environmental impact statement for an authorized hazardous fuel reduction project.

(f) Decision Document.—The Secretary shall sign a decision document for authorized hazardous fuel reduction projects and provide notice of the final agency actions.

Sec. 105. Special Administrative Review Process.

(a) Interim Final Regulations.—

(1) In General.—Not later than 30 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Agriculture shall promulgate interim final regulations to establish a predecisional administrative review process for the project described in paragraph (2) that will serve as the sole means by which a person can seek administrative review regarding an authorized hazardous fuel reduction project on Forest Service land.

(2) Period.—The predecisional administrative review process required under paragraph (1) shall end at the end of the period:

(A) beginning after the completion of the environmental assessment or environmental impact statement; and

(B) ending not later than the date of the issuance of the final decision approving the project.

(3) Effective Date.—The interim final regulations promulgated under paragraph (1) shall take effect on the date of promulgation of the regulations.

(b) Final Regulations.—The Secretary shall promulgate final regulations to establish the process described in subsection (a)(1) after the interim final regulations have been published and reasonable time has been provided for public comment.

(c) Administrative Review.—

(1) In General.—Any person may bring a civil action challenging an authorized hazardous fuel reduction project in a Federal district court only if the person has challenged the authorized hazardous fuel reduction project by exhausting—

(A) the administrative review process established by the Secretary of Agriculture under this section; or

(B) the administrative hearings and appeals procedures established by the Department of the Interior.

(2) Issues.—An issue may be considered in the judicial review of an action under section 106 only if the issue was raised in an administrative review in paragraph (1).

(3) Exception.—An exception to the requirement of exhausting the administrative review process before seeking judicial review shall be available if a Federal court finds that the futility or inadequacy exception applies to a specific plaintiff or claim.

Sec. 106. Judicial Review in United States District Courts.

(a) Venue.—Notwithstanding section 1391 of title 28, United States Code, or other applicable law, an authorized hazardous fuel reduction project conducted under this title shall be subject to judicial review only in the United States district court for the district in which the Federal land on which the authorized hazardous fuels reduction project is located.

(b) Expeditive Completion of Judicial Review.—In any judicial review of an action challenging an authorized hazardous fuel reduction project under subsection (a), Congress encourages a court of competent jurisdiction to expedite, to the maximum extent practicable, the proceedings in the action with the goal of rendering a final determination on jurisdiction, and if jurisdiction exists, a final determination on the merits, as soon as practicable after the date on which a complaint or appeal is filed to initiate the action.

(c) Injunctions.—

(1) In General.—Subject to paragraph (2), the length of any preliminary injunctive relief and stays pending appeal covering an authorized hazardous fuel reduction project carried out under this title shall not exceed 60 days.

(2) Renewal.—(A) In General.—A court of competent jurisdiction may grant a renewal of any preliminary injunction, or stay pending appeal, granted under paragraph (1).

(B) Updates.—In any renewal of an injunction in an action, the parties to the action shall present the court with updated information on the status of the authorized hazardous fuel reduction project.

(d) Balancing of Short- and Long-Term Effects.—As part of its weighing the equities while considering any request for an injunction that would suspend an authorized hazardous fuel reduction project, the court reviewing the project shall balance the impact to the ecosystem likely affected by the project on—

(A) the short- and long-term effects of undertaking the agency action; against

(B) the short- and long-term effects of undertakings to reduce the risk of catastrophic fire; and

(e) Other Authority.—Nothing in this title affects, or otherwise biases, the use by the Secretary of other statutory or administrative authority (including categorical exclusions adopted to implement the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.) to authorize a hazardous fuels reduction project on Federal land (including Federal land identified in section 102(i)) that is not conducted using the process authorized by this section.

(f) National Forest System.—For projects and activities of the National Forest System other than authorized hazardous fuel reduction projects, nothing in this title affects, or otherwise biases, the notice, comment, and appeal procedures for projects and activities of the National Forest System contained in part 215 of title 36, Code of Federal Regulations, or the consideration or disposition of any legal action brought with respect to the procedures.

There is authorized to be appropriated $700,000,000 for each fiscal year to carry out—

(1) activities authorized by this title; and

(2) other hazardous fuel reduction activities of the Secretary, including making grants to States for activities authorized by law.

Sec. 108. Title II—Biomass

Title II. Biomass

Title II findings.

Congress finds that—

(1) (A) thousands of communities in the United States, many located near Federal land, are at risk of wildfire;

(B) more than 100,000,000 acres of land managed by the Secretary of Agriculture and the Secretary of the Interior are at risk of catastrophic fire in the near future; and

(C) the accumulation of forest and rangeland fuel loads continues to increase as a result of fire exclusion, disease, insect infestations, and drought, further raising the risk of wildfire; and

(2) (A) more than 70,000,000 acres across all land ownerships are at risk of higher than normal mortality during the 15-year period beginning on the date of enactment of this Act because of insect infestation and disease; and

(B) high levels of tree mortality from insects and disease result in—

(i) increased fire risk;

(ii) loss of older trees and old growth;

(iii) degraded watershed conditions;

(iv) changes in species diversity and productivity; and

(v) diminished fish and wildlife habitat;

(vi) increased timber values; and

(vii) increased threats to homes, businesses, and community watersheds.

(C) (A) preventive treatments (such as reducing fuel loads, crown density, ladder fuels, and hazard trees), planting proper species mix, restoring and protecting early successional habitat, and completing other specific restoration treatments designed to reduce the susceptibility of forest and rangeland to insect outbreaks, disease, and catastrophic fire prior to future fire events, including the opportunity for long-term forest and rangeland health, maintenance, and enhancement by creating a mosaic of species-mix and age distributions; and

(B) those vegetation management treatments are widely acknowledged to be more successful and cost-effective than suppression treatments in the case of insects, disease, and fire.

(4)(A) the byproducts of vegetative management treatment (such as trees, brush, thinnings, chips, slash, and other hazardous fuels) removed from forest and rangeland represent an abundant supply of—

(i) biomass for bioenergy; and

(ii) raw material for bioenergy; and

(B) there are currently few markets for the extraordinary volumes of by-products being generated as a result of the necessary large-scale preventive treatments activities; and

(5) the United States should—

(A) promote economic and entrepreneurial opportunities in using by-products removed through vegetation treatment activities relating to hazardous fuels reduction, disease, and insect infestation;

(B) develop and expand markets for traditional and underused wood and biomass as an outlet for by-products of preventive treatment activities; and

(C) promote research and development to provide, for the by-products, economically and environmentally sound—

(i) management systems; and

(ii) harvest and transport systems; and

(iii) utilization options.

In this title:

(1) Biomass.—The term "biomass" means woody and woody products (including limbs, tops, weeds, other woody parts, and wood waste) and byproducts of preventive treatment (such as wood, brush, thinnings, chips, and slash) that are—

(A) to reduce hazardous fuels;

(B) to reduce the risk of or to contain disease or insect infestation; or

(C) to improve forest health and wildlife habitat conditions.

(2) Person.—The term "person" includes—

(A) an individual; and

(B) a community (as determined by the Secretary); or

(C) an Indian tribe;
SEC. 202. GRANTS TO IMPROVE COMMERCIAL VALUE OF FOREST BIOMASS FOR ELECTRICITY, HEAT, TRANSPORTATION FUELS, COMPOST, VALUE-ADDED PRODUCTS, AND PETROLEUM-BASED PRODUCT SUBSTITUTES.

(a) BIOMASS COMMERCIAL UTILIZATION GRANT PROGRAM.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary may make grants to any person that owns or operates a facility that uses biomass as a raw material to produce energy, heat, transportation fuels, substitutes for petroleum-based products, wood-based products, pulp, or other commercial products to offset the costs incurred to purchase biomass for use by the facility.

(2) GRANT AMOUNTS.—A grant under this subsection may not exceed $20 per green ton of biomass delivered.

(b) MONITORING OF GRANT RECIPIENT ACTIVITIES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—As a condition of a grant under this subsection, the grant recipient shall keep such records as the Secretary may require to fully and correctly disclose the use of the grant funds and all transactions involved in the purchase of biomass.

(2) AGRICULTURAL CONSERVATION PROGRAM.—

The purposes of this title are—

(A) to accelerate adoption of technologies using biomass and small-diameter materials;

(B) to create community-based enterprises through marketing activities and demonstration projects;

(C) to establish small-scale business enterprises to make use of biomass and small-diameter materials.

(TITLE III—WATERSHED FORESTRY ASSISTANCE

SEC. 301. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) there has been a dramatic shift in public attitudes and perceptions about forest management, particularly in the understanding and practice of sustainable forest management;

(2) it is commonly recognized that the proper stewardship of forest land is essential to sustaining and restoring the health of watersheds; that forests can provide essential ecological services in filtering pollutants, buffering important rivers and estuaries, and minimizing flooding, which makes forest restoration worthy of special focus; and

(3) strengthened education, technical assistance, and financial assistance for nonindustrial private forest landowners and communities, relating to the protection of watershed health, is needed to realize the expectations of the general public.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this title are—

(1) to improve landowner and public understanding of the connection between forest management and watershed health;

(2) to encourage landowners to maintain tree cover on property and to use tree plantings and vegetative treatments as creative solutions to watershed problems associated with varying land uses;

(3) to enhance and complement forest management and buffer use for watersheds, with an emphasis on community watersheds;

(4) to establish new partnerships and collaborative watershed approaches to forest management, stewardship, and conservation;

(5) to provide technical and financial assistance to States to deliver a coordinated program that enhances State forestry best-management practices programs, and conserves and improves forested land and potentially forested land, through technical, financial, and educational assistance to qualifying individuals and entities; and

(6) to maximize the proper management and conservation of wetland forests and to assist in the restoration of those forests.

SEC. 302. WATERSHED FORESTRY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM.

The Cooperative Forest Assistance Act of 1978 is amended by inserting after section 5 (16 U.S.C. 7624 note) the following:

(SEC. 6. WATERSHED FORESTRY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM.

(1) DEFINITION OF NONINDUSTRIAL PRIVATE FOREST LAND.—In this section, the term 'non-industrial private forest land' means rural land, as determined by the Secretary, that—

(A) a small business, microbusiness, or a corporation that is incorporated in the United States; and

(E) a nonprofit organization.

(2) PREFERRED COMMUNITY.—The term 'preferred community' means—

(A) any town, township, municipality, Indian tribe, or other similar unit of local government (as determined by the Secretary) that—

(i) has a population of not more than 50,000 individuals; and

(ii) the Secretary, in the sole discretion of the Secretary, determines contains or is located near, or with a water supply system that contains or is located near, land that—

(i) is at significant risk of catastrophic wildfire, disease, or insect infestation; or

(ii) suffers from disease or insect infestation; or

(B) any area or unincorporated area represented by a nonprofit organization approved by the Secretary, that—

(i) is not wholly contained within a metropolitan statistical area; and

(ii) the Secretary, in the sole discretion of the Secretary, determines contains or is located near, or with a water supply system that contains or is located near, land that—

(i) the condition of which is at significant risk of catastrophic wildfire, disease, or insect infestation; or

(ii) the Secretary, in the sole discretion of the Secretary, determines contains or is located near, land that—

(i) is at significant risk of catastrophic wildfire, disease, or insect infestation; or

(ii) suffers from disease or insect infestation; or

(C) the Secretary, the grant recipient shall afford the recipients from the project; and

(D) opportunities for the creation or expansion of small businesses and microbusinesses resulting from the project; and

(E) the potential for new job creation as a result of the project.

(3) GRANT AMOUNT.—A grant under this subsection shall not exceed $100,000.

(C) RELATION TO OTHER ENDANGERED SPECIES AND RIPARIAN PROTECTIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall comply with applicable endangered species and riparian protections in making grants under this section.

(2) PROJECTS.—Projects funded using grants under this section shall be required to comply with the protections.

(D) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—

There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $5,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2004 through 2008.

SEC. 204. REPORTING REQUIREMENT.

(a) REPORT REQUIRED.—Not later than Octo-ber 1, 2008, the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of the Interior, shall submit to the Committee on Resources and the Committee on Agriculture of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources and the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry of the Sen-ate a report describing the results of the grant programs authorized by section 203.

(b) CONTENTS OF REPORT.—The report shall include—

(1) an identification of the source, size, type, and the end-use of biomass by persons that receive grants under section 203;

(2) the haul costs incurred and the distance between the location from which the biomass was removed and the facilities that used the biomass;

(3) the economic impacts, particularly new job creation, resulting from the grants to and operation of the eligible operations; and

(4) the environmental effects of the activities described in this section.

SEC. 205. IMPROVED BIOFUELS USE RESEARCH PROGRAM.

(a) USES OF GRANTS, CONTRACTS, AND ASSISTANCE.—Section 307(d) of the Biomass Research and Development Act of 2000 (7 U.S.C. 7624 note; Public Law 106-224) is amended—

(1) in paragraph (3), by striking "or" at the end;

(2) in paragraph (4), by striking the period at the end and inserting "and"; and

(3) by adding at the end the following:

"(5) research to integrate silviculture, harvesting, product development, processing information, and market development to provide the science, technology, and tools to forest managers and community developers for use in evaluating forest treatment and production alternatives, including—

(A) to develop tools that would enable land managers, locally or in a several-State region, to estimate—

(i) the cost to deliver varying quantities of wood to a particular location; and

(ii) the amount that could be paid for stumpage if delivered wood was used for a specific mix of products; and

(B) to conduct research focused on developing appropriate thinning systems and equipment designs that are—

(i) capable of being used on land without significant adverse effects on the land;

(ii) capable of handling large and varied landscapes;

(iii) adaptable to handling a wide variety of tree sizes;

(iv) inexpensive; and

(v) adaptable to various terrains; and

(C) to develop, including land held in trust for the benefit of an Indian tribe.

(b) FUNDING.—Section 310(b) of the Biomass Research and Development Act of 2000 (7 U.S.C. 7624 note; Public Law 106-224) is amended by striking "$49,000,000" and inserting "$54,000,000."
Title IV

S13724

CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — SENATE

October 31, 2003

“(1) has existing tree cover or that is suitable for growing trees; and

“(2) is owned by any nonindustrial private individual, group, association, corporation, or other legal entity that has definitive decisionmaking authority over the land.

(b) General Authority and Purpose.—The Secretary, in cooperation with the Chief of the Forest Service, may provide technical, financial, and related assistance to State foresters, equivalent State officials, and officials of the Cooperative State Research, Education, and Extension Service for the purpose of expanding State forest stewardship capacities and activities through watershed forest-management practices and other means at the State level to address water-quality problems in urban and rural areas; and

(c) Technical Assistance to Protect Water Quality.—

“(1) In General.—The Secretary, in cooperation with State foresters, officials of the Cooperative State Research, Education, and Extension Service, or equivalent State officials, shall engage interested members of the public, including nonprofit organizations and local watershed councils, to develop a program of technical assistance to protect water quality described in paragraph (2).

“(2) Purpose of Program.—The program under this subsection shall be designed—

“(A) to build and strengthen watershed partnerships that focus on forested landscapes at the State, regional, and local levels;

“(B) to provide State forestry best-management practices and water quality technical assistance directly to owners of nonindustrial private forest land;

“(C) to provide technical guidance to land managers and policymakers for water quality protection through forest management;

“(D) to complement State and local efforts to protect water quality and provide enhanced opportunities for consultation and cooperation among Federal agencies charged with responsibility for water and watershed management; and

“(E) to provide enhanced forest resource data and support for improved implementation and monitoring of State forestry best-management practices.

(3) Implementation.—In the case of a participating State, the program of technical assistance shall be implemented by State foresters or equivalent State officials.

(d) Watershed Forestry Cost-Share Program.—

“(1) In general.—The Secretary shall establish a program of cost-share assistance—

“(A) which shall be—

“(i) administered by the Forest Service; and “(ii) provided to State foresters or equivalent State officials in participating States; and “(B) under which funds or other support provided to participating States shall be made available for forest restoration and replanting projects and watershed forest-management projects.

“(2) Watershed Forestry Projects.—The State forester, State Research, Education and Extension official, or equivalent State official of a participating State, in coordination with the State forester and State agencies charged with responsibility for water and watershed management, shall make awards to communities, nonprofit groups, and owners of nonindustrial private forest land under the program for watershed forest-management projects described in paragraph (3).

“(3) Watershed Forest Management Objectives.—A watershed forestry project shall accomplish critical forest stewardship, watershed protection, and restoration needs within a State by demonstrating the value of trees and forests to water quality, as described in paragraph (2).

“(A) The use of trees as solutions to water quality problems;

“(B) Application of and dissemination of monitoring information on forestry best-management practices relating to watershed forestry;

“(C) Watershed-scale forest management activities and conservation planning;

“(D) to complement State and local efforts to protect water quality and provide enhanced opportunities for consultation and cooperation among Federal agencies charged with responsibility for water and watershed management; and

“(E) To provide enhanced forest resource data and support for improved implementation and monitoring of tribal forestry best-management practices.

(5) Prioritization.—The State Forest Stewardship Coordination Committee for a State, or an equivalent committee for that State, shall prioritize watersheds in that State to target watershed forest projects funded under this subsection.

“(6) Watershed Forester.—Financial and technical assistance made available to the State Forest or equivalent State official to create a State watershed or best-management practice forestry program for water quality—

“(A) lead statewide programs; and

“(B) coordinate watershed-level projects.

(e) Distribution.—

“(1) In General.—Of the funds made available for a fiscal year under subsection (g), the Secretary shall use—

“(A) at least 75 percent of the funds to carry out the cost-share program under subsection (d); and

“(B) the remainder of the funds to deliver technical assistance, education, and planning, at the local level, through the State Forester or equivalent State official.

“(2) Special Considerations.—Distribution of funds by the Secretary among States under paragraph (1) shall be made only after giving appropriate consideration to—

“(A) the acres of agricultural land, nonindustrial private forest land, and highly erodible land in each State;

“(B) the miles of riparian buffer needed;

“(C) the miles of impaired stream segments and other impaired water bodies where forestry practices can be used to restore or protect water resources;

“(D) the number of owners of nonindustrial private forest land in each State;

“(E) water quality cost savings that can be achieved through forest watershed management.

“(f) Willing Owners.—In general, the Secretary shall prioritize watershed projects in the service area of communities, nonprofit groups, and owners of nonindustrial private forest land under the program for watershed forest-management projects described in paragraph (3), for willing owners.

“(g) Authorizations of Appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this title $2,500,000 for each of fiscal years 2004 through 2008.

SEC. 303. TRIBAL WATERSHED FORESTRY ASSISTANCE.

(a) In General.—The Secretary of Agriculture (referred to in this section as the ‘‘Secretary’’), acting through the Chief of the Forest Service, shall provide technical, financial, and related assistance to Indian tribes for the purpose of expanding tribal stewardship capacities and activities through tribal forestry best-management practices and other means at the tribal level to address watershed issues on land under the jurisdiction of or administered by the Indian tribes.

(1) Technical Assistance to Protect Water Quality.—

“(1) In General.—The Secretary, in cooperation with State foresters, officials of the Cooperative State Research, Education, and Extension Service, may provide technical, financial, and related assistance to Indian tribes for the purpose of expanding State forest stewardship capacities and activities through watershed forest-management practices and other means at the State level to address water-quality problems in urban and rural areas; and

“(2) Purpose of Program.—The program under this subsection shall be designed—

“(A) to build and strengthen watershed partnerships that focus on forested landscapes at the State, regional, tribal, and local levels;

“(B) to provide tribal forestry best-management practices and water quality technical assistance directly to Indian tribes.

“(c) Federal Share.—The percentage of the cost of a project described in clause (i) that is not covered by funds made available under this subsection may be paid using other Federal funds, except that the total Federal share of the costs of the project may not exceed 90 percent.

“(d) Form.—The non-Federal share of the costs of a project may be provided in the form of cash, services, or other in-kind contributions.

“(e) Prioritization.—The Secretary shall establish a program of cost-share assistance for watersheds in that State to target watershed forest projects funded under this subsection.

“(f) Federal Assistance.—Financial and technical assistance made available to the State Forest or equivalent State official to create a State watershed or best-management practice forestry program for water quality—

“(A) lead statewide programs; and

“(B) coordinate watershed-level projects.

“(g) Watershed Forester.—The Secretary shall establish a program of cost-share assistance for watersheds in that State to target watershed forest projects funded under this subsection.

“(h) Distribution.—The Secretary shall use—

“(1) at least 75 percent of the funds to carry out the cost-share program under subsection (d); and

“(2) the remainder of the funds to deliver technical assistance, education, and planning, at the local level, through the State Forest or equivalent State official.

“(i) Special Considerations.—Distribution of funds by the Secretary among States under paragraph (1) shall be made only after giving appropriate consideration to—

“(1) the acres of agricultural land, nonindustrial private forest land, and highly erodible land in each State;

“(2) the miles of riparian buffer needed;

“(3) the miles of impaired stream segments and other impaired water bodies where forestry practices can be used to restore or protect water resources;

“(4) the number of owners of nonindustrial private forest land in each State;

“(5) water quality cost savings that can be achieved through forest watershed management.

“(j) Willing Owners.—In general, the Secretary shall prioritize watershed projects in the service area of communities, nonprofit groups, and owners of nonindustrial private forest land under the program for watershed forest-management projects described in paragraph (3), for willing owners.

“(k) Authorizations of Appropriations.—There is authorized to be appropriated to carry out this section $2,500,000 for each of fiscal years 2004 through 2008.

TITLE IV—INSECT INFESTATIONS AND RELATED DISEASES

SEC. 401. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

(a) Findings.—Congress finds that—
(1) high levels of tree mortality resulting from insect infestation (including the interaction between insects and diseases) may result in—
   (A) increased fire risk;
   (B) loss of old trees and old growth;
   (C) loss of threatened and endangered species;
   (D) loss of species diversity;
   (E) increased losses to producers and consumers of forest products;
   (F) increased potential for damage from other agents of disturbance, including exotic, invasive species; and
   (G) increased timber values;

(2) forest-damaging insects destroy hundreds of thousands of acres each year;

(3) deciduous trees are at risk across all land ownerships; and

(4) severe drought conditions in many areas of the Middle West;

(5) the rapid spread of several insect and disease complexes has created more than 1,000,000 acres infested at population levels exceeding 146 percent and 111 percent increases, respectively, in the vicinity of the red oak borer in Arkansas and Virginia; and

(6) the emerald ash borer pest threatens to destroy up to 21,000,000 ash trees in forests in Michigan and Ohio alone, and between 5 and 10 percent of urban street trees in the Upper Midwest;

(7) epidemics of Southern pine beetles are ravaging forests in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia;

(8) according to the Forest Service, recent outbreaks of Southern pine beetles in forests in Michigan and Ohio alone, and between 5 and 10 percent of urban street trees in the Upper Midwest;

(9) Southern pine beetle infestations are almost always fatal to affected trees; and

(10) other forest-damaging insects and associated diseases;

(11) oak and ash trees are at risk across all land ownerships; and

(12) severe drought conditions in many areas of the Midwest;

In this title:

SEC. 402. DEFINITIONS.

In this title:

(1) APPLIED SILVICULTURAL ASSESSMENT. The term "applied silvicultural assessment" means any vegetative or other treatment carried out for a purpose described in section 403.

(2) INCLUSION. The term "applied silvicultural assessment" includes (but is not limited to) timber harvesting, thinning, prescribed burning, pruning, and any combination of those activities.

(3) 1890 INSTITUTION. The term "1890 Institution" means a college or university that is eligible to receive funds under the Act of August 30, 1890 (7 U.S.C. 321 et seq.).

(4) FEDERAL, STATE, AND LOCAL AGENCIES. The term "Federal, State, and local agencies" means any unit of government, including Federal, State, and local agencies.

(5) APPLIED SILVICULTURAL ASSESSMENT. The term "applied silvicultural assessment" means any vegetative or other treatment carried out for a purpose described in section 403.

(6) COOPERATION AND ASSISTANCE. The Secretary shall—

(1) establish and carry out the program in cooperation with—
   (A) scientists from colleges and universities (including forestry schools, land grant colleges and universities, and 1890 Institutions);
   (B) Federal, State, and local agencies; and
   (C) private and industrial landowners; and

(2) in the Northwest, where trees are at risk, the Secretary shall request that colleges and universities assist in carrying out the program.

SEC. 404. APPLIED SILVICULTURAL ASSESSMENTS.

(a) ASSESSMENT EFFORTS. For information gathering and research purposes, the Secretary may conduct applied silvicultural assessments on Federal land that the Secretary determines is at risk from insect infestation by, or is infested with, forest-damaging insects.

(b) LIMITATIONS. The Secretary may conduct applied silvicultural assessments on Federal land that the Secretary determines is at risk from insect infestation by, or is infested with, forest-damaging insects.

(c) EXCLUSION OF CERTAIN AREAS. Subsection (a) does not apply to—
   (A) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;
   (B) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or
   (C) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(d) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(e) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(f) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(g) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(h) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(i) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(j) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(k) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(l) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(m) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(n) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(o) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(p) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(q) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(r) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(s) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(t) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(u) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(v) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(w) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(x) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(y) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(z) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(aa) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(bb) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(cc) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(dd) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(ee) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(ff) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(gg) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(hh) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(i) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(jj) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(kk) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(ll) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

( kk) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(mm) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(nn) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(oo) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(pp) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(qq) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(rr) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(ss) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(tt) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

( uu) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(vv) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(ww) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(xx) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(yy) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(zz) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(aa) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(bb) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(cc) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(dd) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

( ee) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(ff) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(gg) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(hh) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(ii) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(jj) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(kk) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(ll) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(mm) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(nn) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(oo) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(pp) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(qq) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(rr) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(ss) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(tt) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(uu) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

(vv) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(ww) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(xx) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is prohibited; or

(yy) a congressionally-designated wilderness study area; or

(zz) a component of the National Wilderness Preservation System;

(aa) any Federal land on which, by Act of Congress or Presidential proclamation, the removal of vegetation is restricted; or

SEC. 501. ESTABLISHMENT OF HEALTHY FORESTS RESERVE PROGRAM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary of Agriculture shall establish the healthy forests reserve program for the purpose of restoring and enhancing forest ecosystems—

(1) to promote the recovery of threatened and endangered species; and

(2) to improve biodiversity; and

(3) to enhance carbon sequestration.

(b) COORDINATION.—The Secretary of Agriculture shall carry out the healthy forests reserve program in coordination with the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Commerce.

SEC. 502. ELIGIBILITY AND ENROLLMENT OF LANDS IN PROGRAM.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Agriculture, in coordination with the Secretary of Commerce, shall establish and define forest ecosystems that are eligible for enrollment in the healthy forests reserve program.

(b) ELIGIBILITY.—To be eligible for enrollment in the healthy forests reserve program, land shall—

(1) provide habitat for species listed as endangered or threatened under section 4 of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1533); and

(2) be used for the purpose of restoring and enhancing forest ecosystems.

(c) OTHER CONSIDERATIONS.—In enrolling land that satisfies the criteria under subsection (b), the Secretary of Agriculture shall give additional consideration to the enrollment of land that—

(1) provides the largest number of ecological benefits per dollar expended.

(2) improves biological diversity; and

(3) increases the likelihood of recovery of a species listed as endangered or threatened under section 4 of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1533); or

(d) ENROLLMENT BY WILLING OWNERS.

(1) AGRANDS OF NOT MORE THAN 99 YEARS.—In the case of land enrolled in the healthy forests reserve program using an agreement of not more than 99 years described in section 502(f)(1), the Secretary of Agriculture shall pay the owner of the land an amount equal to not less than 75 percent, nor more than 100 percent, of (as determined by the Secretary)

(1) the fair market value of the enrolled land during the period the land is subject to the agreement, less the fair market value of the land encumbered by the agreement; and

(2) the actual costs of the approved conservation practices or the average cost of approved practices carried out on the land during the period in which the land is subject to the agreement.

(2) 30-YEAR AGREEMENT.—In the case of land enrolled in the healthy forests reserve program using a 30-year agreement, the Secretary of Agriculture shall pay the owner of the land an amount equal to not more than (as determined by the Secretary)

(1) 75 percent of the fair market value of the enrolled land, less the fair market value of the land encumbered by the agreement; and

(2) 75 percent of the average cost of the approved conservation practices or 75 percent of the average cost of approved practices.

(c) 10-YEAR AGREEMENT.—In the case of land enrolled in the healthy forests reserve program using a 10-year agreement, the Secretary of Agriculture shall pay the owner of the land an amount equal to not more than (as determined by the Secretary)

(1) 50 percent of the actual costs of the approved conservation practices or 50 percent of the average cost of approved practices.

(2) ACCEPTANCE OF CONTRIBUTIONS.—The Secretary of Agriculture may accept and use contributions of non-Federal funds to make payments under this section.

SEC. 503. RESTORATION PLANS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—In enrolling land in the healthy forests reserve program shall be subject to a restoration plan, to be developed jointly by the landowner and the Secretary of Agriculture.

(b) PROVISIONS.—The restoration plan shall—

(1) require such restoration practices as are necessary to restore and enhance habitat for—

(i) species listed as endangered or threatened under section 4 of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1533); and

(ii) animal or plant species before the species reach threatened or endangered status, such as candidate, State-listed species, and special concern species.

(2) improvement of biological diversity; and

(3) increase carbon sequestration.

(c) 10-YEAR AGREEMENT.—In the case of land enrolled in the healthy forests reserve program using a 10-year agreement, the Secretary of Agriculture may accept and use contributions of non-Federal funds to make payments under this section.

SEC. 504. FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE.

(a) AGREEMENTS OF NOT MORE THAN 99 YEARS.—In the case of land enrolled in the healthy forests reserve program using an agreement of not more than 99 years described in section 502(f)(1), the Secretary of Agriculture shall pay the owner of the land an amount equal to not less than 75 percent, nor more than 100 percent, of (as determined by the Secretary)

(1) the fair market value of the enrolled land during the period the land is subject to the agreement, less the fair market value of the land encumbered by the agreement; and

(2) the actual costs of the approved conservation practices or the average cost of approved practices carried out on the land during the period in which the land is subject to the agreement.

(b) 30-YEAR AGREEMENT.—In the case of land enrolled in the healthy forests reserve program using a 30-year agreement, the Secretary of Agriculture shall pay the owner of the land an amount equal to not more than (as determined by the Secretary)

(1) 75 percent of the fair market value of the enrolled land, less the fair market value of the land encumbered by the agreement; and

(2) 75 percent of the average cost of the approved conservation practices or 75 percent of the average cost of approved practices.

(c) 10-YEAR AGREEMENT.—In the case of land enrolled in the healthy forests reserve program using a 10-year agreement, the Secretary of Agriculture shall pay the owner of the land an amount equal to not more than (as determined by the Secretary)

(1) 50 percent of the actual costs of the approved conservation practices or 50 percent of the average cost of approved practices.

(2) ACCEPTANCE OF CONTRIBUTIONS.—The Secretary of Agriculture may accept and use contributions of non-Federal funds to make payments under this section.

SEC. 505. TECHNICAL ASSISTANCE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of Agriculture shall provide landowners with technical assistance to assist the owners in complying with the terms of plans (as included in agreements) under the healthy forests reserve program.

(b) TECHNICAL SERVICES.—The Secretary of Agriculture may request the services of, and enter into cooperative agreements with, individuals or entities certified as technical service providers under section 1242 of the Food Security Act of 1985 (16 U.S.C. 3842), to assist the Secretary in providing technical assistance necessary to develop and implement the healthy forests reserve program.

SEC. 506. PROTECTIONS AND MEASURES.

(a) PROTECTIONS.—In the case of a landowner that enters into a forest management agreement in a net conservation agriculture account or a net conservation agriculture account in a cooperative agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture, the Secretary of Agriculture shall make available to the landowner, with respect to any practices the landowner is required to implement under such agreement, the following protections:

(1) section 7(b)(4) of the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1536(b)(4)); or

(2) section 10(a)(1) of that Act (16 U.S.C. 1539(a)(1)).

(b) MEASURES.—If protection under subsection (a) requires the taking of measures that are in addition to the measures covered by the applicable restoration plan agreed to under section 503, the cost of the additional measures, as well as the cost of any permit, shall be considered part of the average cost of approved practices for purposes of financial assistance under section 504.

SEC. 507. INFLUENCE OF OTHER AGENCIES AND ORGANIZATIONS.

In carrying out this title, the Secretary of Agriculture may consult with—

(1) nonindustrial private forest landowners;

(2) other Federal agencies;

(3) State and local government agencies;

(4) State forestry agencies;

(5) State environmental quality agencies;

(6) other State conservation agencies; and nonprofit conservation organizations.

SEC. 508. AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

There are authorized to be appropriated to carry out this title—

(1) $250,000 for fiscal year 2004; and

(2) such sums as are necessary for each of fiscal years 2005 through 2008.

TITLE VI—PUBLIC LAND CORPS

SEC. 601. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this title are—

(1) to carry out, in a cost-effective and efficient manner, rehabilitation, enhancement, and beautification projects;

(2) to foster young people, ages 16 through 25, particularly those who are at-risk or economically disadvantaged, the opportunity to gain productive employment and exposure to the world of work;

(3) to give those young people the opportunity to serve their communities and their country; and

(4) to expand educational opportunities by rewarding individuals who participate in the Public Land Corps with an increased ability to pursue higher education or job training.

SEC. 602. DEFINITIONS.

In this title:

(1) ALASKA NATIVE CORPORATION.—The term "Alaska Native Corporation" means a Regional Corporation or Village Corporation, as defined in section 101(11) of the National and Community Service Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. 12511(11)).

(2) CORPS.—The term "Corps" means the Public Land Corps established under section 603(a).

(3) HAWAIIAN HOME LANDS.—The term "Hawaiian home lands" means that term, within the meaning of the National and Community Service Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. 12511 et seq.).

(4) INDIAN LANDS.—The term "Indian lands" has the meaning given in the term section 101 of the National and Community Service Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. 12511).

(5) SECRETARIES.—The term "Secretaries" means—

(A) the Secretary of Agriculture; and

(B) the Secretary of Commerce.

(6) SERVICE AND CONSERVATION CORPS.—The term "service and conservation corps" means any organization established by a State or local government, nonprofit organization, or Indian tribe that—

(1) has a demonstrable capability to provide productive work to individuals;

(2) gives participants a combination of work experience, basic and life skills, education, training, and support services; and

(3) provides participants with the opportunity to develop citizenship skills through service to their communities and the United States.

(7) STATE.—The term "State" means—

(A) a State;

(B) the District of Columbia;

(C) the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico;

(D) Guam;

(E) American Samoa;

(F) the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands;
SEL. 701. PURPOSE.
The purpose of this title is to assist in the economic revitalization of rural forest resource-dependent communities through incentives and collaboration to promote investment in private enterprise and community development by—
(1) the Department of Agriculture;
(2) the Department of the Interior;
(3) the Department of Commerce;
(4) the Small Business Administration;
(5) land grant colleges and universities; and
(6) 1890 Institutions.

SEC. 702. DEFINITIONS.
In this title:
(1) 1890 INSTITUTION—The term “1890 Institution” has the meaning given the term in section 2 of the Agricultural Research, Extension, and Education Reform Act of 1998 (7 U.S.C. 7601).
(2) ELIGIBLE ENTITY—The term “eligible entity” means—
(A) a unit of State or local government;
(B) an Indian tribe;
(C) a nonprofit organization;
(D) a small forest products business;
(E) a rural forest resource-dependent community;
(F) a land grant college or university; or
(G) an 1890 institution.
(3) ELIGIBLE PROJECT—The term “eligible project” means a project described in section 703 that will provide long-term benefits by reducing hazardous fuels on Federal and State lands, and that will—
(C) a sense of personal responsibility; and
(3) provide in-kind contributions of services or materials.
SEC. 704. NONDISPLACEMENT.
(i) the northern forest land of Maine;
(ii) New Hampshire;
(iii) New York;
(iv) Vermont;
(v) the Upper Peninsula of Michigan;
(vi) northern California; and
(vii) eastern Oregon.

SEC. 801. SHORT TITLE.
This title shall be referred to as the “Firefighters Medical Monitoring Act of 2003”.

SEC. 802. MONITORING OF FIREFIGHTERS IN DISASTER AREAS.
(a) IN GENERAL.—The National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health shall monitor the long-term medical health of those firefighters who fought fires in any area declared a disaster area by the Federal Government.

(b) HEALTH MONITORING.—The long-term health monitoring referred to in subsection (a) shall include, but not be limited to, pulmonary illness, neurological damage, and cardiovascular damage, and shall utilize the medical expertise in the local areas affected.

(c) AUTHORIZATION.—To carry out this title, there are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary in each of fiscal years 2004 through 2008.

TITLE IX—DISASTER AIR QUALITY MONITORING ACT

SEC. 1001. SHORT TITLE.
This title shall be referred to as the “Disaster Air Quality Monitoring Act of 2003.”

SEC. 1002. MONITORING OF AIR QUALITY IN DISASTER AREAS.
(a) IN GENERAL.—No later than six (6) months after the enactment of this legislation, the Environmental Protection Agency shall provide each of its regional offices a mobile air pollution monitoring network to monitor the emissions of hazardous air pollutants in areas declared a disaster as referred to in subsection (b), and publish such information on a daily basis on its web site and in other forums, until such time as the Environmental Protection Agency has determined that the danger has subsided.

(b) DISASTER AREAS.—The areas referred to in subsection (a) are those areas declared a disaster by the Federal Government.

(c) CONTINUOUS MONITORING.—The monitoring referred to in subsection (a) shall include continuous and spontaneous monitoring of hazardous air pollutants, as defined in Public Law 95–95, section 112(b).

(d) AUTHORIZATION.—To carry out this title, there are authorized to be appropriated $8,000,000.00.

TITLE X—HIGHLANDS REGION CONSERVATION

SEC. 1001. SHORT TITLE.
This title may be cited as the “Highlands Conservation Act.”

SEC. 1002. FINDINGS.
Congress finds the following:

(1) The Highlands region is a physiographic province that encompasses more than 2,000,000 acres extending from eastern Pennsylvania through the States of New Jersey and New York to northwestern Connecticut.

(2) The Highlands region is an environmental, historical, recreational, and economic treasure.

(a) Provides clean drinking water to over 15,000,000 people in metropolitan areas in the States of New Jersey, New York, and Pennsylvania.

(b) Provides critical wildlife habitat, including habitat for 247 threatened and endangered species.

(c) Maintains an important historic connection to early Native American culture, colonial settlement, the American Revolution, and the Civil War.

(d) Contains recreational resources for 14 million visitors annually.

(e) Provides other significant ecological, natural, tourism, recreational, educational, and economic benefits.

(f) Promotes homeownership opportunities and access to affordable housing that is safe, clean, and healthy.

(3) An estimated 1 in 12 citizens of the United States live within a 2-hour drive of the Highlands region.

(4) More than 1,400,000 residents live in the Highlands region.

(5) The Highlands region forms a greenbelt adjacent to the Philadelphia-New York City-Hartford urban corridor that offers the opportunity to protect the forest and agricultural resources, wildlife habitat, recreational areas, and historic sites, while encouraging sustainable economic growth and development in a fiscally and environmentally sound manner.

(a) Continued population growth and land use patterns in the Highlands region—

(A) reduce the availability and quality of water;

(B) reduce air quality;

(C) fragment the forests;

(D) destroy critical migration corridors and forest habitat; and

(E) result in the loss of recreational opportunities and scenic, historic, and cultural resources.

(7) The water, forest, wildlife, recreational, agricultural, and cultural resources of the Highlands region, in combination with other regions of the Highlands region to the largest metropolitan areas in the United States, make the Highlands region nationally significant.

(b) The national significance of the Highlands region has been documented in—

(A) the New York-New Jersey Highlands Regional Study conducted by the Forest Service in 1990;

(B) the New York-New Jersey Highlands Region Study: 2002 Update conducted by the Forest Service;

(C) the Skylands Greenway Task Force Report;

(D) the New Jersey State Development and Redevelopment Plan;

(E) the New York State Open Space Conservation Plan;

(F) the Green Plan: Open Space Acquisition FY 2001–2006;

(G) the open space plans of the State of Pennsylvania; and

(H) other open space conservation plans for States in the Highlands region.

(c) The Highlands region includes or is adjacent to numerous parcels of land owned by the Federal Government or federally designated areas that protect, conserve, or restore resources of the Highlands region, including—

(A) the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area;

(B) the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area;

(C) the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area;

(D) the Delaware and Lehigh Canal Corridor;

(E) the Delaware River Basin;

(F) the Susquehanna River Basin;

(G) the Appalachian National Scenic Trail;

(H) the Appalachian National Scenic Trail;

(I) the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York;

(J) the Highlands National Millennium Trail;

(K) the Great Swamp National Wildlife Refuge;

(L) the proposed Crossroads of the Revolution National Heritage Area;

(M) the proposed Musconetcong National Scenic and Recreational River in New Jersey; and

(N) the Farmington River Wild and Scenic Area in Connecticut.

(d) It is in the interest of the United States to protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(e) The Highlands region includes more than 2,000,000 acres extending from eastern Pennsylvania through the States of New Jersey and New York to northwestern Connecticut.

(f) The Highlands region includes or is adjacent to numerous parcels of land owned by the Federal Government or federally designated areas that protect, conserve, or restore resources of the Highlands region, including—

(A) the Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area;

(B) the Delaware River Basin;

(C) the Appalachia National Scenic Trail;

(D) the United States Military Academy at West Point, New York;

(E) the Highlands National Millennium Trail;

(F) the Great Swamp National Wildlife Refuge;

(G) the proposed Crossroads of the Revolution National Heritage Area;

(H) the proposed Musconetcong National Scenic and Recreational River in New Jersey; and

(I) the Farmington River Wild and Scenic Area in Connecticut.

(j) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(k) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(l) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(m) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(n) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(o) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(p) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(q) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(r) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(s) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(t) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(u) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(v) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(w) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(x) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(y) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.

(z) To protect, conserve, and restore the resources of the Highlands region for the residents of, and visitors to, the Highlands region.
(2) identifies the source of funds to provide the non-Federal share required under subsection (d); and

(3) describes the management objectives for the lands and natural resources in the Highlands region.

SEC. 1007. PRIVATE PROPERTY PROTECTION AND LACK OF REGULATORY EFFECT.

(a) ACCESS TO PRIVATE PROPERTY.—Nothing in this title shall be construed to impair any right of the Secretary of Agriculture, the Forest Service, or any other Federal agency or the State or local governments to enter upon private lands with the consent of the owner for the purpose of conducting a study, update, or any future study that the Forest Service determines to be necessary.

(b) LIABILITY.—Nothing in this title shall be construed to create any liability, or to have any effect on any liability under any other law, of any private property owner with respect to any persons injured in the performance of any activity authorized under this title.

(c) RECOGNITION OF AUTHORITY TO CONTROL LAND USE.—Nothing in this title shall be construed to modify any authority of Federal, State, or local law with regard to public access to or use of private lands.

(d) PARTICIPATION OF PRIVATE PROPERTY OWNERS.—Nothing in this title shall be construed to require the owner of any private property to participate in the land conservation, financial, or technical assistance or any other programs established under this title.

(e) PURCHASE OF LANDS OR INTERESTS IN LANDS FROM WILLING SELLERS ONLY.—Funds appropriated to carry out this title shall be used to purchase lands or interests in lands only from willing sellers.

TITLE XI—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SEC. 1101. FOREST INVENTORY AND MANAGEMENT.

Section 17 of the Cooperative Forestry Assistance Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2301 note; Public Law 93-333) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 17. FOREST INVENTORY AND MANAGEMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall carry out a program using geospatial and information management technologies (including remote sensing imaging and decision support systems) to inventory, monitor, characterize, assess, and identify forest stands and potential forest conditions.

(b) ESTABLISHMENT.—The Secretary shall establish the Forest Inventory and Management Program for the purposes of this title.

(c) ISSUES TO BE ADDRESSED.—The program shall address issues described in subsection (b).

(d) PROGRAM.—The program shall carry out the program through the use of—

(1) management practices of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the United States Geological Survey;
(2) teaming technologies, including coordination and reconciliation with existing data through field verification, using application demonstrations and
(3) integration of results into pilot operational systems.

(e) ISSUES TO BE ADDRESSED.—In carrying out the program, the Secretary shall address issues including—

(1) early detection, identification, and assessment of environmental threats (including insect, disease, fire, acid deposition, and weather-related risks and other episodic events);
(2) loss or degradation of forests;
(3) degradation of the quality forest stands caused by inadequate forest regeneration practices;
(4) quantification of carbon uptake rates;
(5) management practices that focus on preventing further forest degradation; and
(6) characterization of vegetation types, density, fire regimes, post-fire effects, and condition class.

(f) EARLY WARNING SYSTEM.—In carrying out the program, the Secretary shall develop a comprehensive early warning system for potential catastrophic environmental threats to forests to increase the likelihood that forest managers will be able to—

(1) isolate and treat a threat before the threat gets out of control; and
(2) prevent epidemics, such as the American chestnut blight in the first half of the twentieth century, that could be environmentally and economically devastating to forests.

(g) ADMINISTRATION.—To carry out this section, the Secretary—

(1) shall designate a facility within Forest Service Region 8 that—

(A) is best-suited to take advantage of existing resources to coordinate and carry out the program through the means described in subsection (b); and

(B) will address the issues described in subsection (c), with a particular emphasis on hardwood forest stands in the Eastern United States; and

(2) shall designate a facility in the Ochoco National Forest headquarters within Forest Service Region 6 that will address the issues described in subsection (c), with a particular emphasis on coniferous forest stands in the Western United States.

(h) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this section.

SEC. 1102. PROGRAM FOR EMERGENCY TREATMENT AND REDUCTION OF NON-NATIVE INVASIVE PLANTS.

(a) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) INTERFACE COMMUNITY.—The term ‘‘interface community’’ has the meaning given the term in the notice published at 66 Fed. Reg. 751 (January 4, 2001) (including any subsequent revision to the notice).

(2) INTERMIX COMMUNITY.—The term ‘‘intermix community’’ has the meaning given the term in the notice published at 66 Fed. Reg. 751 (January 4, 2001) (including any subsequent revision to the notice).

(3) PLANT.—The term ‘‘plant’’ includes—

(A) a tree;
(B) a shrub; and
(C) a vine.

(4) PROGRAM.—The term ‘‘program’’ means the program for emergency treatment and reduction of nonnative invasive plants established under subsection (b)(1).

(b) ELIGIBLE LAND.—A project under the program shall—

(1) be carried out only on land that is located in an interface community or intermix community; or
(2) in such proximity to an intermix community or intermix community as would pose a significant risk in the event of the spread of a fire disturbance event from the land (including a risk that would threaten human life or property or cause a significant economic impact to or within the interface community or intermix community), as determined by the Secretaries:
(3) remove fuel loads determined by the Secretary or intermix community to protect land for use as a fuel break or other fuel management practices that would contribute to preventing the spread of wildfire;
(4) remove fuel loads that pose a significant risk of fire, shall coordinate with such Federal agencies, State and local governments, and willing private landowners grants for use in carrying out hazardous fuel reduction projects to address threats of catastrophic fires that have been determined by the Secretaries to pose a serious threat to—

(A) property;
(B) human life; or
(C) the ecological stability of an area.

(5) COORDINATION.—In carrying out the program, the Secretaries shall coordinate with such Federal agencies, State and local governments, and agency or intermix community of interest as determined by the Secretaries:
(6) ELIGIBLE LAND.—A project under the program shall—

(1) be carried out only on land that is located in an interface community or intermix community; or
(2) be in such proximity to an intermix community of interest as determined by the Secretaries;
(3) remove fuel loads determined by the Secretary or intermix community as would pose a significant risk in the event of the spread of a fire disturbance event from the land (including a risk that would threaten human life or property or cause a serious economic impact to or within the interface community or intermix community), as determined by the Secretaries:
(4) remove fuel loads that pose a significant risk of fire, shall coordinate with such Federal agencies, State and local governments, and agency or intermix community of interest as determined by the Secretaries;
(5) remove fuel loads determined by the Secretary or intermix community to protect land for use as a fuel break or other fuel management practices that would contribute to preventing the spread of wildfire; and
(6) remove fuel loads that pose a significant risk to—

(A) property;
(B) human life; or
(C) the ecological stability of an area.

(7) ADMINISTRATION.—To carry out this section, the Secretary—

(a) shall authorize the use of funds appropriated under this section for emergency treatment and reduction of non-native invasive plants established under subsection (b)(1); and

(b) may provide financial assistance to Federal agencies, State and local governments, and willing private landowners to carry out such projects.
(A) property;
(B) human life; or
(C) the ecological stability of an area; and
(3) involve the removal of nonnative invasive plants;
(d) USE OF FUNDS.—Funds made available for a project under the program shall be used only for—
(1) the removal of plants or other potential fuels that are—
(A) adjacent to or within the wildland urban interface;
(B) adjacent to a municipal watershed, river, or water course;
(2) the removal of erosion structures that impede the removal of nonnative plants; or
(3) the replanting of native vegetation to reduce the reestablishment of nonnative invasive plants in a treatment area.
(e) REVOLVING FUND.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—In the case of a grant provided to a willing owner to carry out a project on non-Federal land under this section, the owner shall deposit into a revolving fund established by the Secretary any proceeds derived from the sale of timber or biomass removed from the non-Federal land under the project.
(2) USE.—The Secretary shall use amounts in the revolving fund to make additional grants under this section.
(f) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.— There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this section, to remain available until expended.

SEC. 1103. USDA NATIONAL AGROFORESTERY CENTER.
(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 1243 of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 (16 U.S.C. 1642 note; Public Law 101-624) is amended—
(1) by striking the section heading and inserting the following:
"SEC. 1243. USDA NATIONAL AGROFORESTERY CENTER.", and
(2) in subsection (a)—
(A) by striking "SEMIARID" and inserting "USDA NATIONAL"; and
(B) by striking "Semiarid" and inserting "USDA National".
(b) PROGRAM.—Section 1243(b) of the Food, Agriculture, Conservation, and Trade Act of 1990 (16 U.S.C. 1642 note; Public Law 101-624) is amended—
(1) by inserting "local governments, community organizations, the Institute of Tropical Forestry and the Institute of Pacific Islands Forestry of the Forest Service," after "entities;");
(2) in paragraph (1), by striking "so miarid lands" and inserting "semi-arid land";
(3) in paragraph (3), by striking "from semi-arid land";
(4) by striking paragraph (4) and inserting the following:
"(4) collect information on the design, installation, and function of forested riparian and upland buffers to—
(A) protect water quality; and
(B) manage water flow;"
(5) in paragraphs (6) and (7), by striking "so miarid lands" each place it appears;
(6) by striking paragraph (8) and inserting the following:
"(8) provide international leadership in the worldwide development and exchange of agroforestry practices;
(7) in paragraph (9), by striking "so miarid lands";
(8) in paragraph (10), by striking "and" at the end;
(9) in paragraph (11), by striking the period at the end and inserting a semicolon; and
(10) by adding at the end the following:
"(12) authorize the carbon storage potential of agroforesty practices such as—
(A) windbreaks;
SEC. 1110. SUBURBAN AND COMMUNITY FORESTRY AND OPEN SPACE PROGRAM; FOREST LEGACY PROGRAM.

(a) SUBURBAN AND COMMUNITY FORESTRY AND OPEN SPACE PROGRAM.—The Cooperative Forestry Assistance Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2101 et seq.) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"SEC. 21. SUBURBAN AND COMMUNITY FORESTRY AND OPEN SPACE PROGRAM.

"(g) Definitions.—In this section:

"(1) COMMITTEE—The term 'Committee' means a State Forest Stewardship Coordinating Committee established under section 19(b).

"(2) SUBURBAN AND COMMUNITY FORESTRY.—The term 'eligible entity' means a local government or a nonprofit organization that—

"(A) the Secretary determines, in consultation with the Committee, shall, based on the criteria established under paragraph (c)(1)(A)(i)(II), be able to receive a grant under subsection (c)(2); and

"(B) the State forester, in consultation with the Committee, determines—

"(i) has the resources necessary to monitor and enforce any terms applicable to the eligible project;

"(ii) is capable of carrying out the terms of the conservation easement; and

"(iii) the identification of eligible entities.

"(B) CONDITIONS FOR ELIGIBLE PRIVATE FOREST LAND.—Private forest land identified for conservation under subparagraph (A)(i)(II) shall be eligible for a grant under this section if—

"(i) it is located in a State in which less than 25 percent of the land is owned by the United States; and

"(ii) the landowner consents to the Secretary's determination that the share of the cost of carrying out any eligible project described in subparagraph (A) that is not funded by the grant awarded under this section has been secured.

"(C) FORM.—The share of the cost of carrying out any eligible project described in subparagraph (A) that is not funded by a grant awarded under this section may be provided in cash or in kind (including a donation of land).

"(D) USE OF GRANT FUNDS FOR PURCHASES OF LAND OR EASEMENTS.—

"(1) PURCHASES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraph (B), funds made available, and grants awarded, under this section may be used to purchase private forest land or interests in private forest land (including conservation easements only from willing sellers at fair market value).

"(B) SALES AT LESS THAN FAIR MARKET VALUE.—A sale of private forest land or an interest in private forest land at less than fair market value shall be permitted only on certifica-

"(C) COST SHARING.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—The amount of a grant awarded under this section to carry out an eligible project shall not exceed 50 percent of the total cost of the land and the contiguous forest land that is the subject of the grant.

"(2) ASSURANCES.—As a condition of receipt of a grant under this section, an eligible entity shall provide to the Secretary such assurances as the Secretary deems necessary to demonstrate that the share of the cost of each eligible project that is not funded by the grant awarded under this section has been secured.

"(D) FORM.—The share of the cost of carrying out any eligible project described in subparagraph (A) that is not funded by a grant awarded under this section may be provided in cash or in kind (including a donation of land).
SEC. 110. WILDFIRE SAFETY.

(a) WILDFIRE SAFETY AGENCY.—In this section, the term ‘‘Secretary’’ means—

(1) the Secretary of Agriculture, with respect to land of the National Forest System described in section 3(1)(A); and

(2) the Secretary of the Interior, with respect to public lands described in section 3(1)(B).

(b) WILDFIRE SAFETY AND TRAINING BUDGET.—The Secretary shall—

(1) track funds expended for firefighter safety and training programs and activities; and

(2) include a line item for such expenditures in each budget request submitted after the date of enactment of this Act.

(c) ANNUAL REPORT TO CONGRESS.—The Secretary shall, on an annual basis, jointly submit to Congress a report on the implementation and efficacy of wildland firefighter safety and training programs and activities.

(d) QUALIFICATION OF PRIVATE CONTRACTORS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall ensure that any Federal contract or agreement entered into with a private party for wildland firefighting services requires the entity to provide firefighter training that is consistent with qualification standards established by the Federal Government.

(2) COMPLIANCE.—The Secretary shall develop a program to monitor and enforce compliance with the requirements of paragraph (1).

SEC. 1112. GREEN MOUNTAIN NATIONAL FOREST BOUNDARY ADJUSTMENT.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The boundaries of the Green Mountain National Forest are modified to include all parcels of land depicted on the Forest maps entitled ‘‘Green Mountain Expansion Area Map I’’ and ‘‘Green Mountain Expansion Area Map II’’, each dated February 20, 2002, which shall be filed for public inspection in the Office of the Chief of the Forest Service, Washington, District of Columbia.

(b) MANAGEMENT.—Any amendments to a conservation easement under this paragraph shall be subject to approval by the Secretary or the State, as appropriate.

(c) ELIGIBILITY.—To be eligible to acquire and manage conservation easements under this paragraph, a qualified organization described in subparagraph (B) shall, as determined by the Secretary, acting through the State forester, demonstrate the ability necessary to acquire, monitor, and enforce interests in forest land consistent with the Forest Legacy Program and the assessment of need for the State.

(d) MONITORING AND ENFORCEMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A qualified organization that acquires a conservation easement under this paragraph shall be responsible for monitoring and enforcing the terms of the conservation easement and any of the costs of the qualified organization associated with such monitoring and enforcement.

(2) CONTINGENT RIGHTS.—If a qualified organization that acquires a conservation easement under this paragraph fails to enforce the terms of the conservation easement, as determined by the State, the State or the Secretary shall have the right to control the terms of the conservation easement under Federal or State law.

(3) AMENDMENTS.—Any amendments to a conservation easement that materially affect the terms of the conservation easement shall be subject to approval by the Secretary or the State, as appropriate.

(e) TERMINATION OF EASEMENT.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in clause (ii), all right, title, and interest of a qualified organization described in subparagraph (B) in and to a conservation easement shall vest in the State or other qualified designee if the State determines that—

(1) the qualified organization fails to enforce the terms of the conservation easement;

(2) the conservation easement has been modified in a way that is inconsistent with the purposes of the Forest Legacy Program or the assessment of need for the State; or

(3) the conservation easement has been conveyed to another person (other than to a qualified organization).

(ii) TERMINATION TO ANOTHER QUALIFIED ORGANIZATION.—If the State makes a determination under clause (i), the State may convey or authorize the qualified organization to convey the conservation easement to another qualified organization.

(f) IMPLEMENTATION.—The Secretary, acting through the State forester, shall implement this paragraph in accordance with the assessment of need for the State as approved by the Secretary.

SEC. 1113. PUERTO RICO KARST CONSERVATION.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the ‘‘Puerto Rico Karst Conservation Act of 2003’’.

(b) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) in the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico there are areas—

(A) of some of the largest areas of tropical forests in Puerto Rico, with a higher density of tree species than any other area in the Commonwealth; and

(B) unique geological formations that are critical to the maintenance of aquifers and water-sheds that provide the Commonwealth with enough water supply for much of the Commonwealth;

(2) the Commonwealth is threatened by development that, if unchecked, could permanently damage the Commonwealth’s environment and damage to natural and environmental assets that are unique to the United States;

(3) the Commonwealth has 1 of the highest population densities in the United States, which makes the protection of the Commonwealth imperative for the maintenance of the public health and welfare of the citizens of the Commonwealth;

(4) the Commonwealth—

(A) possesses extraordinary ecological diversity, including the habitats of several endangered and threatened species and tropical migrants; and

(B) is an area of critical value to research in tropical forest management; and

(5) coordinated efforts at land protection by the Federal Government and the Commonwealth are necessary to conserve the environmentally critical Karst Region.

(c) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this section are—

(1) to authorize and support conservation efforts to acquire, manage, and protect the trop- ical forest in the Commonwealth, with particular emphasis on water quality and the protection of the aquifers that are vital to the health and wellbeing of the citizens of the Commonwealth; and

(2) to promote cooperation among the Commonwealth, Federal agencies, corporations, orga- nizations, and individuals in those conservation efforts.

(d) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) COMMONWEALTH.—The term ‘‘Commonweal th’’ means the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(2) FOREST LEGACY PROGRAM.—The term ‘‘Forest Legacy Program’’ means the program established under section 7 of the Cooperative Forestry Assistance Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 2103c).

(3) FUND.—The term ‘‘Fund’’ means the Puerto Rico Karst Conservation Fund established by subsection (f).

(4) KARST REGION.—The term ‘‘Karst Region’’ means the areas in the Commonwealth generally depicted on the map entitled ‘‘Puerto Rico Karst Conservation Area’’, and dated March 2001, which shall be on file and available for public inspection in—

(A) the Office of the Secretary, Puerto Rico Department of Natural and Environmental Resources; and

(B) the Office of the Chief of the Forest Service.

(5) LAND.—The term ‘‘land’’ includes land, water, and an interest in land or water.

(6) SECRETARY.—The term ‘‘Secretary’’ means the Secretary of Agriculture.

(e) CONSERVATION OF THE KARST REGION.—In furtherance of the acquisition, protection, and management of land and in adjacent to the Karst Region and in implementing related natural resource conservation strategies, the Secretary may—

(A) make grants to and enter into contracts and cooperative agreements with the Comm- monwealth or other Federal agencies, organizations, corporations, and individuals; and

(B) use all authorities available to the Secretary, including—

(i) the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Research Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 1614 et seq.),

(ii) section 417 of the National Agricultural Research, Extension, and Teaching Policy Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 3318); and

(f) FUNDING SOURCES.—The activities authorized by this subsection may be carried out using—

(1) funds appropriated to the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Research Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 1614(d));

(2) funds appropriated from the United States Treasury;

(3) amounts in the Fund; and

(4) any other funds made available for such activities.

(g) MANAGEMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Land acquired under this subsection shall be managed, in accordance with the Forest and Rangeland Renewable Resources Research Act of 1978 (16 U.S.C. 1614 et seq.), in a manner that protects and conserves the water quality and aquifers and the geological, ecological, fish and wildlife, and other natural values of the Commonwealth.

(2) FAILURE TO MANAGE AS REQUIRED.—In any deed, grant, contract, or cooperative agreement implementing this subsection and the Forest Legacy Program in the Commonwealth, the Secretary may require that, if land acquired by the Commonwealth or other cooperating entity under this subsection is sold or conveyed in whole or in part, it is not managed in conformity with subparagraph (A), title to the land shall, at the discretion of the Secretary, vest in the United States.

(h) WILLING SELLERS.—Any land acquired by the Secretary in the Karst Region shall be acquired only from a willing seller.
(5) Relation to Other Authorities.—Nothing in this subsection—
(A) diminishes any other authority that the Secretary may have to acquire, protect, and manage land and natural resources in the Commonwealth; or
(B) exempts the Federal Government from Commonwealth water laws.

SEC. 1114. PUERTO RICO KART CONSERVATION FUND.

(1) Establishment.—There is established in the Treasury an interest-bearing account to be known as the "Puerto Rico Kast Conservation Fund".

(2) Credits to Fund.—There shall be credited to the Fund:
(A) amounts appropriated to the Fund;
(B) all amounts donated to the Fund;
(C) all amounts generated from the Caribbean National Forest that would, but for this paragraph, be deposited as miscellaneous receipts in the Treasury of the United States, but not including amounts authorized by law for payment to the Commonwealth or authorized by law for retention by the Secretary for any purpose;
(D) all amounts received by the Administrator of General Services from the disposal of surplus real property in the Commonwealth under sub-tile 1 of title 40, United States Code; and
(E) interest derived from amounts in the Fund.

(3) Use of Fund.—Amounts in the Fund shall be available to the Secretary until expended, without further appropriation, to carry out subsection (b).

(4) Miscellaneous Provisions.—

(A) Donations.—
(i) In general.—The Secretary may accept donations, including land and money, made by public and private agencies, corporations, organizations, and individuals in furtherance of the purposes of this subsection.

(ii) Donations to Puerto Rico Kast Region.—Any donations made under paragraph (1) to satisfy any cost-sharing requirements of the Forest Legacy Program shall be deposited in the Puerto Rico Kast Conservation Fund up to the amount of the cost-sharing requirement.

(B) Conflict of Interest.—The Secretary may accept donations even if the donor conducts business with or is regulated by the Department of Agriculture or any other Federal agency.

(C) Applicable Law.—Public Law 95-442 (7 U.S.C. 2266) shall apply to donations accepted by the Secretary under this paragraph.

(5) Relation to Forest Legacy Program.—
(A) In general.—All land in the Kast Region shall be eligible for inclusion in the Forest Legacy Program.

(B) Cost Sharing.—The Secretary may credit donations made under paragraph (1) to satisfy any cost-sharing requirement of the Forest Legacy Program.

(6) Authorization of Appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this section.

SEC. 1114A. FARM SECURITY AND RURAL INVESTMENT ACT.

Section 10806(b)(1) of the Farm Security and Rural Investment Act of 2002 (2 U.S.C. 231d; 70 Pub. L. 107-171) is amended—

(A) by redesignating subsections (c) through (h) as subsections (d) through (i), respectively;

(B) by inserting after subsection (b) the following:

"(C) Sharp Instruments.—It shall be unlawful for any person to knowingly sell, buy, transport, or deliver in interstate or foreign commerce a knife, sickle, or any other sharp instrument attached, or designed or intended to be attached, to the leg of a bird for use in an animal fighting venture;"

(1) in subsection (d) (as redesignated by paragraph (1))—
(A) by striking "(a), (b), or (c)" and inserting "(a), (b), (c), or (d);"

(B) by striking "1 year" and inserting "2 years;"

(2) by striking subsection (g) (as redesignated by paragraph (1)) and inserting the following:

"(g) APPLICATION; EXECUTION.—
(i) In general.—The Secretary or any person authorized by the Secretary shall make such investigations as the Secretary considers necessary to determine whether any person has violated or is violating any provision of this section.

(ii) Penalty.—(A) The Secretary or any person authorized by the Secretary may, in a violation of paragraph (1), by order, injunctive relief, or other appropriate remedy, require the violation to cease and desist.

(B) In any civil action brought in a district court or other court of the United States, or by any tribal court, for any jurisdiction in which the animal is found to post, not later than 10 days after the animal is seized, a bond shall be filed in an appropriate court in an amount sufficient to provide for the care of the animal (including housing, feeding, and veterinary treatment) for not less than 30 days.

(iii) Renewal.—The owner, custodian, or other person claiming an interest in a seized animal may renew a bond, or be ordered to renew a bond, by posting a new bond, in an amount sufficient to provide for the care of the animal for at least an additional 30 days, not later than 10 days after the expiration of the period for which a previous bond was posted.

(iv) Disposition.—If a bond expires and is not renewed, the animal may be disposed of as provided in subparagraph (A)."

(3) Warrants.—

(A) Issue.—A warrant shall be issued by the Secretary, judge or judge of a State or tribal court of competent jurisdiction in the Commonwealth, for the arrest of any person who violates any provision of this section.

(B) Arrest.—(i) In general.—An arrest under this section shall not be made without probable cause, and a warrant may not be issued under this section until it appears to a judge or judge of a State or tribal court of competent jurisdiction in the Commonwealth that probable cause exists to believe that an offense has been committed.

(ii) Return of Warrant.—If a warrant is issued under this section, the judge who issued the warrant shall order that the warrant be returned to the court that issued it upon the arrest of the person the warrant was issued for.

(4) Authorization of Appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as may be necessary to carry out this section.

SEC. 1116. INCREASE IN MAXIMUM FINES FOR VIOLATION OF PUBLIC LAND REGULATIONS AND ESTABLISHMENT OF MINIMUM FINE FOR VIOLATION OF PUBLIC LAND FIRE REGULATIONS DURING FIRE BAN.

(a) Lands Under Jurisdiction of Bureau of Land Management.—Section 303(a) of the Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (43 U.S.C. 1733(a)) is amended—

(1) in the second sentence, by striking "no more than $1,000" and inserting "as provided in title 18, United States Code;" and

(2) by inserting after the second sentence the following:

"(3) Effective Date.—The amendments made by this section take effect on the later of—
(A) the date of enactment of this Act; or
(B) May 13, 2003.

SEC. 1117. INCREASE IN MAXIMUM FINES FOR VIOLATION OF PUBLIC LAND REGULATIONS AND ESTABLISHMENT OF MINIMUM FINE FOR VIOLATION OF PUBLIC LAND FIRE REGULATIONS DURING FIRE BAN.

(a) Lands Under Jurisdiction of National Park Service.—Section 4 of the Act of October 31, 1916 (popularly known as the National Park Service Organic Act; 16 U.S.C. 3) is amended—

(1) in the second sentence, by striking "the three hundred dollar fine" and inserting "the one thousand dollar fine;" and

(2) by striking the fourth sentence and inserting the following:

"(4) Authorization of Appropriations.—There are authorized to be appropriated such sums as are necessary to carry out this Act."
reckless conduct and occurred in an area subject to a complete ban on open fires by individuals on such lands, if the violation of the rule or regulation was the result of reckless conduct and occurred in an area subject to a complete ban on open fires, the fine may not be less than $500.

Therefore, I object for the reasons previously stated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The objection is heard.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of H.R. 7, the charitable choice bill. I further ask unanimous consent that all after the enacting clause be stricken; that the Snowden amendment and the Grassley-Baucus amendment, which are at the desk, be agreed to en bloc; that the substitute amendment, which is the text of S. 476, the Senate-passed version of the charitable choice bill as amended by the Snowden and Grassley-Baucus amendments, be agreed to; that the bill, as amended, be read the third time and passed; that the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table; further, that the Senate insist upon its amendments and request a conference with the House; and, lastly, that the Chair be authorized to appoint conferees with a ratio of 3 to 2, and that any statements relating to the bill be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Nevada.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, as some will remember, we on this side are ready to base our bill with the amendments and send it over to the House for their consideration. The majority insists on going to conference and we object to this part of the consent only. Therefore, I object for the reasons previously stated.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The objection is heard.

FOREIGN OPERATIONS APPROPRIATIONS

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following nominations be discharged from the Rules Committee and be placed on the calendar: Paul S. DeGregorio, Gracie Hillman, Raymundo Martinez, Deforest Soaries, Jr., and the Senate then return to legislative session.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will now return to legislative session.

MEASURE READ THE FIRST TIME—S. 1806

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I understand S. 1806, which was introduced earlier today, is at the desk. I ask for its first reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 1806) to prohibit civil liability actions from being brought or continued against manufacturers, distributors, dealers, or importers of firearms or ammunition for damages resulting from the misuse of their products by others.

Mr. MCCONNELL. I now ask for its second reading and object to further proceedings on the matter.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard. The bill will be read the second time on the next legislative day.

MEASURE READ THE FIRST TIME—S. 1805

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I understand S. 1805, which was introduced earlier today, is at the desk. I ask for its first reading.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 1805) to prohibit civil liability actions from being brought or continued against manufacturers, distributors, dealers, or importers of firearms or ammunition for damages resulting from the misuse of their products by others.

Mr. MCCONNELL. I now ask for its second reading and object to further proceedings on the matter.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Objection is heard. The bill will be read the second time on the next legislative day.
Mr. MCConnell. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of Calendar No. 319, S. 1400.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will by title of the bill—

The legislative clerk reads as follows:

A bill (S. 1400) to develop a system that provides for ocean and coastal observations, to implement a research and development program to improve the safety and security and efficiency of United States ports, to implement a data and information system required by all components of an integrated ocean observing system and related purposes.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill, which had been reported from the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, with an amendment to strike all after the enacting clause and insert the part shown in italic.]

S. 1400

BE IT ENACTED BY THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA IN CONGRESS ASSEMBLED, THAT:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Ocean and Coastal Systems Act.''

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds the following:

(1) The 95,000-mile coastline of the United States is vital to the Nation's homeland security, transportation, trade, environmental and human health, recreation and tourism, food production, scientific research and education, historical and cultural heritage, and energy production.

(2) More than half the Nation's population lives and works in coastal communities that together make up 11 percent of its land and its most ecologically and economically important regions, supporting approximately 100 sea ports, containing most of our largest cities, and providing access to coastal waters rich in natural resources.

(3) More than 95 percent of the Nation's trade moves by sea and nearly half of all goods carried by products, products, carried in maritime commerce are hazardous materials.

(4) The rich biodiversity of marine organisms provides society with essential food resources, a promising source of marine products with commercial and medical potential, and an important contribution to the national economy.

(5) The oceans drive climate and weather factors causing severe weather events and threatening the health of coastal ecosystems and creating or affecting both natural and man-made coastal hazards such as hurricanes, tsunamis, erosion, oil spills, harmful algal blooms, and pollution, which can pose threats to human health.

(6) Each year, the United States Coast Guard relies on ocean information to save 4,380 people, conduct over 65,000 rescue missions, and more than 11,000 environmental cleanups and responses to pollution.

(7) Safeguarding homeland security requires improved understanding of the Nation's ports and coastline, including the ability to track vessels and to provide rapid response teams with real-time environmental conditions and other information.

(8) Advances in ocean technologies and scientific understanding have made possible long-term and continuous observation from space and in situ of ocean characteristics and conditions.

(9) Many elements of an ocean and coastal system are already in place, though in a patchwork manner that is fragmented, intermittent, incomplete, and not integrated.

(10) Important coastal uses, such as tourism, recreation, sustainable development, require assurance of healthy coastal waters, and while the Interagency National Coastal Condition Report provides an annual assessment of the nation's coastal conditions, substantial data gaps exist that could be reduced through measurement of coastal quality through a coordinated observing system that incorporates Federal, State, and local monitoring programs.

(11) National investment in a sustained and integrated ocean and coastal observing system and in coordinated programs of research would assist this Nation and the world in understanding the oceans and the global climate system, strengthen homeland security, improve weather and climate forecasts, strengthen management of marine resources, improve the safety and efficiency of maritime operations, and mitigate coastal hazards.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this Act are to provide for—

(1) development and maintenance of an integrated ocean and coastal observing system and in coordinated programs of research in order to assist this Nation and the world in understanding the oceans and the global climate system, strengthen homeland security, improve weather and climate forecasts, strengthen management of marine resources, improve the safety and efficiency of maritime operations, and mitigate coastal hazards;

(2) promote collaboration among agencies;

(3) promote collaboration among regional coastal observing systems established pursuant to subsection (f)

(4) prepare annual and long-term plans for consideration by the Council for the design and implementation of an integrated ocean and coastal observing system, including the regional coastal observing systems and taking into account the science and technology advances considered ready for operational use;

(5) provide information for the development of agency budgets;

(6) identify requirements for a common set of measures to be collected and distributed;

(7) establish standards and protocols for quality control and data management and implementation in consultation with the Joint Operations Center established pursuant to subsection (d);

(8) work with regional coastal observing entities, the National Sea Grant College Program, and other bodies as needed to access user needs, develop data products, make effective use of existing capabilities, and incorporate new technologies, as appropriate; and

(9) coordinate program planning and implementation.

SEC. 3. INTEGRATED OCEAN AND COASTAL OBSERVING SYSTEM.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—The President, through the National Ocean Research Leadership Council, established by section 7902(a) of title 10, United States Code, (hereinafter in this Act referred to as the "Council") shall establish and maintain an integrated system of marine monitoring, data communication and management, data analysis, and research development. The Council shall assist in the establishment of an integrated system and related research.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this Act are to provide for—

(1) strengthening homeland security.

(2) improving weather forecasts and public warning of natural disasters and coastal hazards and mitigating such disasters and hazards.

(3) understanding, assessing, and responding to human and environmental aquatic processes of global change.

(4) enhancing the safety and efficiency of marine operations.

(5) supporting efforts to protect, maintain, and restore the health of and marine ecosystems and living resources.

(6) enhancing public health.

(7) conducting focused research to enhance the national understanding of coastal and global ocean systems.

(8) providing information that contributes to public awareness of the condition and importance of the oceans.

(b) COUNCIL FUNCTIONS.—In carrying out responsibilities under this section, the Council shall—

(1) serve as the lead entity providing oversight of Federal ocean and coastal observing requirements and activities; and

(2) adopt and maintain plans for the design, operation, and improvement of such system.

(c) INTERAGENCY PROGRAM OFFICE.—There is established under the Council an interagency planning office. It shall—

(1) serve as the lead agency for ocean systems and related research; and

(2) promote collaboration among agencies.

(1) work with regional coastal observing entities, the National Sea Grant College Program, and other bodies as needed to access user needs, develop data products, make effective use of existing capabilities, and incorporate new technologies, as appropriate; and

(9) coordinate program planning and implementation.

SEC. 4. NATIONAL OCEANIC AND ATOMIC ADMINISTRATION.

(a) THE NATIONAL OCEANIC AND ATMOSPHERIC ADMINISTRATION.—The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, in consultation with other Federal agencies, shall coordinate implementation of the Act in consultation with the Secretary of State to coordinate relevant Federal activities with those of other nations.

(b) NATIONAL environmentally AND COASTAL SYSTEMS ACT—The Secretary for Science and Technology of the Department of Commerce, Science, and Transportation, in consultation with other Federal agencies, shall coordinate implementation of the Act in consultation with the Secretary of State to coordinate relevant Federal activities with those of other nations.
(2) shall maintain a joint operations center that reports to the Council; and
(3) is authorized, without limitation—
(A) to acquire, integrate, and deploy required and provide support for an ocean and coastal observing system based on annual long-term plans developed by the interagency planning office;
(B) to implement national standards and protocols developed in consultation with the inter-agency planning office for—
(i) network operations and data access;
(ii) data collection and assessment of data and design;
(iii) data access and management, including data management and archiving;
(iv) testing and employment of forecast models for ocean conditions; and
(v) system products;
(C) to ensure the timely dissemination and technology advancements from research and development to operational deployment based on the annual and long-term plans of the interagency program office;
(D) to integrate and extend existing programs into an operating coastal and ocean and coastal observing system based on the annual and long-term plans of the inter-agency program office;
(E) to coordinate the data communication and management system;
(F) to provide products and services as specified by national, regional, and international users;
(G) to verify that regional coastal observing systems meet the standards established in subsection (f) and to ensure a periodic process for review and certification of the regional coastal observing systems; and (H) to implement standards to ensure compatibilit ity and interoperability among existing and planned system components.
(e) STEM EL ECTRA.—
(I) IN GENERAL.—The integrated ocean and coastal observing system shall consist of the following closely linked components:
(A) A global ocean system to make observations in all oceans (including chemical, physical, and biological observations) for the purpose of documenting, at a minimum, long-term trends in sea level change, ocean and coastal observing systems and the
(3) RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT.—A research and development program for the integrated coastal ocean observing system shall be conducted under the National Oceanographic Partnership Program and shall consist of the following elements:
(A) Coastal, relocatable, and cabled sea floor observatories.
(B) Focused research projects to improve understanding of the relationship between the oceans and the atmosphere and earth systems and the impact of these systems on human activities.
(C) Applied research to develop new observing technologies and techniques, including ocean mapping and remote sensing.
(D) Large scale computing resources and research to improve ocean processes modeling.
(E) Programs to improve public education and awareness of the marine environment and its goods and services.

tems regionally and sub-regional jurisdiction for the collection, management, analysis, and related works.
(G) to certify that regional coastal observing systems in the coastal regions extending to the seaward boundary of the United States Exclusive Economic Zone, included national and international areas.
(H) adhering to national standards and protocols to ensure that data and related products can be fully exchanged among all of and others who use, or are affected by, the system that meets national goals;
(I) maintaining sustained, 24-hour-a-day operations and disseminating observations in a manner that is routine, predictable and, if necessary, in real-time or near real-time;
(J) coordinating efforts within a region or sub-region;
(K) developing and implementing the full system;

work manner that is fragmented, intermittent, in situ of ocean characteristics and conditions. Scientific understanding have made possible long-time environmental conditions necessary for coastline, including the ability to track vessels' and responses to pollution.

- More than 11,680 environmental cleanups relying on ocean information to save 4,380 people, pose threats to human health. Algal blooms, hypoxia, and pollution, which can diminish the health of coastal ecosystems and communities by creating or affecting both natural and man-made coastal hazards such as hurricanes, tsunamis, erosion, oil spills, harmful algal blooms, hypoxia, and pollution, which can pose threats to human health.

- More than 95 percent of the ocean trade moves by sea and nearly half of all goods, including food products, carried in maritime commerce are hazardous materials.

- The rich biodiversity of marine organisms provides valuable food products. Such an integrated ocean and coastal observing system and research designed to provide data and information for the rapid and timely detection and prediction of changes occurring in the marine environment that impact the nation's social, economic, and ecological systems. Such an integrated ocean and coastal observing system shall support operational decision making by providing long-term and continuous observations of the oceans and coasts for the following purposes:

  1. Strengthening homeland security.
  2. Improving weather forecasts and public warnings of natural disasters and coastal hazards and mitigating such disasters and hazards.
  3. Helping to respond to human-induced and natural processes of global change.
  4. Enhancing the safety and efficiency of marine operations.
  5. Supporting efforts to protect, maintain, and restore the health of and manage coastal and marine ecosystems and living resources.
  7. Monitoring and evaluating the effectiveness of ocean and coastal environmental policies.
  8. Conducting focused research to enhance the national understanding of coastal and global ocean systems.
  9. Providing information that contributes to public awareness of the condition and importance of the oceans.

- Coordinate program planning and implementation for ocean and coastal observing system based on annual long-term plans developed by the interagency planning office.

- Establish and maintain an integrated system of marine monitoring, data communication and management, data analysis, and research designed to provide data and information for the rapid and timely detection and prediction of changes occurring in the marine environment that impact the nation's social, economic, and ecological systems.

- Develop and coordinate long-range and operational deployment based on the annual and long-term plans of the interagency program to enhance security at United States ports and minimize security risks; and

- Work with regional coastal observing entities and the National Sea Grant College Program, the oceanic and atmospheric science education and communication through other bodies as needed to assess user needs, priorities, and technologies and provide support for an ocean observing system that incorporates Federal, State, and local monitoring programs.

- Provide for long-term and continuous observation of ocean conditions; and

- ...
(f) to provide products and services as specified by national, regional, and international users;

(g) to certify that regional coastal observing systems do not duplicate the standards established in subsection (f) and to ensure a periodic process for review and recertification of the regional coastal observing systems; and

(h) to adopt funding standards to ensure compatibility and interoperability among existing and planned system components.

(e) SYSTEM ELEMENTS.

(1) GENERAL.—The integrated ocean and coastal observing system shall consist of the following closely linked components:

(A) an ocean system to make observations in all oceans (including chemical, physical, and biological observations) for the purpose of documenting, at a minimum, long-term trends in sea level change, sea surface temperatures, and heat uptake and release by the ocean; and to monitor ocean locations for signs of abrupt or long-term changes in ocean circulation leading to changes in climate.

(B) the National network of observations and data management that establishes reference and sentinel stations, links the global ocean system to local and regional observations, and provides data and information required by multiple regions.

(C) Regional coastal observing systems that provide observations through the national network and detect and predict conditions and events on a regional scale through the measurement and dissemination of a common set of ocean observations and related products in a uniform manner and according to sound scientific practice using national standards and protocols.

(D) Subsystem Linkage.—The integrated ocean and coastal observing system shall link 3 subsystems for rapid access to data and information:

(a) An observing subsystem to measure, manage, and serve a common set of chemical, physical, geological, and biological variables required to achieve the purposes of this Act on time scales required by users of the system.

(b) An ocean and coastal data management and assimilation subsystem that provides for organization, cataloging, and dissemination of data and information to ensure full use and long-term archival.

(c) A data analysis and applications subsystem to translate data into products and services in response to user needs and requirements.

(2) INTEGRATION OF EXISTING CENTERS.—The integrated ocean and coastal observing system shall be integrated with the National Ocean Service Center and the National Coastal Data Development Center of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, and with other appropriate centers.

(3) RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT.—A research and development program for the integrated ocean and coastal observing system shall be conducted at the National Oceanographic Partnership Program and shall consist of the following elements:

(A) Coastal, relocatable, and cabled sea floor observatories.

(B) Focused research projects to improve understanding of the relationship between the oceans and human activities.

(C) Applied research to develop new observing technologies and techniques, including data management and dissemination.

(D) Large scale computing resources and research to improve ocean processes modeling.

(E) Programs to improve public education and awareness of the marine environment and its goods and services.

(F) REGIONAL COASTAL OBSERVING SYSTEMS.—The Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, through the joint operation and work with representatives of entities in each region that provide ocean data and information to users, to form regional associations. The regional associations shall be responsible for the development and operation of observing systems in the coastal regions extending to the seaward boundary of the United States Exclusive Economic Zone, including the Great Lakes. Participation in a regional association may consist of legal entities including, research institutions, institutions of higher education, private nonprofit corporations, State, local, and regional agencies, and consortia of 2 or more such institutions or organizations that:

(1) have demonstrated an organizational structure capable of supporting and integrating all aspects of a coastal ocean observing system within a region or subregion;

(2) have prepared a detailed business plan including research components and gained documented acceptance of its intended regional or sub-regional jurisdiction by users and other partners of the region or sub-region with the objectives of—

(A) delivering an integrated and sustained system that meets national goals;

(B) incorporating into the system existing and appropriate regional observations collected by Federal, State, regional, or local agencies;

(C) responding to the needs of the users, including the public, within the region;

(D) maintaining sustained, 24-hour-a-day operations and disseminating observations in a manner that is routine, predictable and, if necessary, in real-time or near real-time;

(E) providing services that include the collection and dissemination of data and data management for timely access to data and information;

(F) providing free and open access to the data collected with financial assistance under this Act; and

(G) adhering to national standards and protocols to ensure that data and related products can be freely exchanged among all of the regional coastal systems and will be accessible to any user in any part of the nation.

(3) For purposes of determining the civil liability under section 2671 of title 28, United States Code, any regional observing system and any employee thereof that is designated part of a regional association under this subsection shall be deemed to be an instrumentality of the United States and to be subject to the laws with respect to torts or omission committed by any such system or any employee thereof in fulfilling the purposes of this Act.

(i) PILOT PROJECTS.—(1) IN GENERAL.—The Administrator, in consultation with the interagency planning office, shall initiate pilot projects through the National Oceanographic Partnership Program. A pilot project is an organized, planned set of activities designed to provide an evaluation of technology, methods, or concepts within a defined schedule and having the goal of advancing the development and deployment of the Regional Coastal Ocean Observing System. The pilot projects will—

(A) develop protocols for coordinated implementation of the system;

(B) design and implement regional coastal ocean observing systems;

(C) establish mechanisms for the exchange of data between and among regions and Federal agencies;

(D) specify products and services and related requirements for observations, data management, and analysis in collaboration with user groups; and

(E) develop and test new technologies and techniques to improve all three subsystems to more effectively meet the needs of users of the system.

(ii) INFRASTRUCTURE CAPITAL PROJECTS.—The pilot projects shall include one or more projects to carry out activities for the collection, management, analysis, and distribution of data and one or more projects where the basic infrastructure and institutional mechanisms already exist for ongoing coastal observations, to fund the operations necessary for the collection of the common set of observations approved by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

(4) AUTHORIZATION OF APPROPRIATIONS.

(a) OBSERVING SYSTEM AUTHORIZATION.—For development and implementation of an integrated ocean and coastal observing system under section 3, including financial assistance to regional coastal observing systems and in addition to any amounts previously authorized, there are authorized to be appropriated:

(1) the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, $83,000,000 in fiscal year 2004, $87,250,000 in fiscal year 2005, $91,500,000 in fiscal year 2006, $95,000,000 in fiscal year 2007, and $95,000,000 in fiscal year 2008;

(2) the National Science Foundation, $25,000,000 in fiscal year 2004, $26,250,000 in fiscal year 2005, $27,500,000 in fiscal year 2006, $29,000,000 in fiscal year 2007, and $29,000,000 in fiscal year 2008;

(3) the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, $30,000,000 in fiscal year 2004, $31,500,000 in fiscal year 2005, $33,000,000 in fiscal year 2006, and $34,750,000 in each of fiscal years 2007 and 2008;

(4) the United States Coast Guard, $8,000,000 in fiscal year 2004, $8,400,000 in fiscal year 2005, $9,700,000 in fiscal year 2006, $9,500,000 in fiscal year 2007, and $9,750,000 in fiscal year 2008;

(5) the Office of Naval Research, $25,000,000 in fiscal year 2004, $26,250,000 in fiscal year 2005, $27,500,000 in fiscal year 2006, $29,000,000 in fiscal year 2007, and $29,000,000 in fiscal year 2008; and

(6) the Office of the Oceanographer of the Navy, $30,000,000 in fiscal year 2004, $31,500,000 in fiscal year 2005, $33,000,000 in fiscal year 2006, $34,750,000 in each of fiscal years 2007 and 2008, and

(7) other Federal agencies with operational coastal or ocean monitoring systems or which provide funds to States, or to regional coastal observing systems based on the plans adopted by the Council and may be used to leverage non-Federal funds.

(b) HIGH-FREQUENCY SURFACE WAVE RADIATION.—The Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration shall make 51 percent of the funds appropriated pursuant to subsection (a)(1) available as grants for the development and implementation of regional coastal observing systems, based on the plans adopted by the Council and may be used to leverage non-Federal funds.

(c) HIGH-FREQUENCY SURFACE WAVE RADAR.—The Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration may make available up to $25,000 of the funds appropriated pursuant to subsection (a)(1) for fiscal year 2004 to demonstrate the capabilities of shore-based high-frequency surface wave radar to measure real-time wind velocity, wave height, wave period, tidal velocity, and wind speed within and beyond the Exclusive Economic Zone of the United States.

(d) AVAILABILITY.—Sums authorized to be appropriated by this section shall remain available until expended.

Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, I thank you for allowing the Senate to consider...
Those familiar with the challenges of trying to monitor and predict ocean and marine environmental conditions—whether for marine science, resource management, and maritime transportation and safety—are aware of our tremendous need for better collection of basic ocean data. This bill, the Ocean and Coastal Observation Systems Act of 2003, would develop and formalize an integrated network of ocean observing systems around our Nation’s coastlines, thereby allowing comprehensive and consistent ocean data to be gathered and fulfilling this critical information need. It would revolutionize our Nation’s efforts in collecting, processing, and communicating ocean and coastal data.

Like other coastal states, Maine has an enduring connection to the ocean. We are highly dependent on the fishery resources and other essential services provided to us by the sea, and we understand that our lives and livelihoods are firmly rooted in how well we understand and adapt to ocean conditions. This became much easier to do in 2001, when the Gulf of Maine Ocean Observation System, or GoMOOS, deployed its first observation buoys in the Gulf of Maine. This prototype system has transformed how we gather information about the ocean and track ocean conditions over time. On the surface, these buoys measure currents, temperature, salinity, turbidity, dissolved oxygen, and other key environmental variables. By modifying the instrumentation, other data can be gathered from these platforms.

What sets the GoMOOS observation system apart from the traditional data gathering approach, however, is that it takes all these ocean and surface condition measurements on an hourly basis through a network of linked buoys, and these near real-time measurements can be monitored and accessed by the general public through the internet. GoMOOS thereby provides a tremendous public service.

The need for this type of ocean data gathering and access is not limited to the Gulf of Maine. The U.S. coastline spans 95,000 miles, and all States that border our oceans and Great Lakes would benefit from this service. Ocean and coastal observing systems have been planned or developed for other coastal regions, many in conjunction with the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, State coastal management agencies, universities, and other regional partners. These systems, however, use different approaches for collecting, managing, processing, and communicating data through their network, and these data are often incompatible with data from other regions. As a result, we lose a valuable opportunity to develop a comprehensive picture of coastal and ocean conditions around the Nation.

S. 1400, the Ocean and Coastal Observation Systems Act, seeks to solve this problem. This bill would coordinate ocean and coastal observation efforts with the support of the Federal Government. It would help develop regional observation systems, link them through a nationwide network, and provide public access to the information on oceans, coastal, and land track ocean and coastal conditions. It would call on the National Ocean Research Leadership Council to design, operate, and improve a Nationwide observation system, as well as administrate an ocean data research and development program. This Council would plan these activities through a collaborative interagency planning office and carry them out through a joint operations center.

The American public—over half of which lives along our coastlines—will be very well served through the many uses and applications of this system. Fishery, scientists, and managers can use this information to predict ocean conditions that affect productivity and rely on it for better resource management. Fishermen, sailors, Coast Guard search-and-rescue units, the military, and others who traverse the ocean can better predict safe sea conditions, and shippers can transport goods more efficiently. Ocean scientists and regulators can better understand, predict, and rapidly respond to marine pollution. Educators and students can learn more about marine science. Clearly, anyone who relies upon the ocean stands to benefit from this Nationwide observation system.

Mr. President, as Chair of the Subcommittee on Oceans, Fisheries, and Coast Guard and as a coastal State Senator, I am extremely proud to sponsor and support this bill. Considering the tremendous public good and services that these systems provide, it is imperative that we in Congress facilitate the development and funding of a national, integrated, and sustained ocean observation network. We can do this by passing the Ocean and Coastal Observation Systems Act. Following action by the Senate, I encourage the House of Representatives to take action on this bill to facilitate its passage into law. I am confident that this bill, once enacted, will serve the public well by facilitating better understanding of our Nation’s oceans and coasts, and I thank my colleagues for supporting it.

Mr. McConnell. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the committee amendment be agreed to, the bill be read a third time and passed, the motions to reconsider be laid upon the table, and that any statements relating to the bill be printed in the Record.

Mr. McCaskill. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the committee amendment be agreed to, the bill be read a third time and passed, the motions to reconsider be laid upon the table, and that any statements relating to the bill be printed in the Record.

The PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The committee amendment was agreed to.

The bill (S. 157), as amended, was read the third time and passed, as follows:

MARINE TURTLE CONSERVATION ACT OF 2003

Mr. MCONNELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to immediate consideration of S. 1210.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will read the bill by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 1210) to assist in the conservation of marine turtles and the nesting habitats of marine turtles in foreign countries.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

Mr. MCONNELL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the bill be read a third time and passed, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and that any statements relating to the bill be printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The bill (S. 1210) was read the third time and passed, as follows:

S. 1210

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Marine Turtle Conservation Act of 2003".

SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that:

(1) marine turtle populations have declined to the point that the long-term survival of the loggerhead, green, hawksbill, Kemp’s ridley, olive ridley, and leatherback turtle in the wild is in serious jeopardy;

(2) 6 of the 7 recognized species of marine turtles are listed as threatened or endangered species under the Endangered Species Act of 1973 (16 U.S.C. 1533 et seq.), and all 7 species have been included in Appendix I of CITES;

(3) because marine turtles are long-lived, late-maturing, and highly migratory, marine turtles are particularly vulnerable to the impacts of human exploitation and habitat loss;

(4) illegal international trade seriously threatens wild populations of some marine turtle species, particularly the hawksbill turtle;

(5) the challenges facing marine turtles are immense, and the resources available have not been sufficient to cope with the continued loss of nesting habitats caused by human activities and the consequent diminution of marine turtle populations;

(6) the effective protection of the nesting sites is beneficial for the ecosystems in which marine turtle populations are found, sustaining healthy populations of many other species of wildlife, including many other threatened or endangered species;

(7) marine turtles are important components of the ecosystems that they inhabit, and studies of wild populations of marine turtles have provided important biological insights on system wide processes;

(8) changes in marine turtle populations are most reliably indicated by changes in the numbers of nests and nesting females; and

(9) the reduction, removal, or other effective addressing of the threats to the long-term viability of populations of marine turtles will require the joint commitment and effort of a variety of persons and entities to which paragraph (1) applies.

(b) PURPOSE.—The purpose of this Act is to assist in the conservation of marine turtles and the nesting habitats of marine turtles in foreign countries by supporting and providing financial resources for projects to conserve the nesting habitats, conserve marine turtles in those habitats, and address other threats to the survival of marine turtles.

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

In this Act:

(1) CITES.—The term "CITES" means the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (27 UST 1837; TIAS 6240).

(2) CONSERVATION.—The term "conservation" means the use of all methods and procedures necessary to protect nesting habitats of marine turtles in foreign countries and of marine turtles in those habitats, including—

(A) protection, restoration, and management of nesting habitats;

(B) onsite survey and monitoring of nesting populations, nesting habitats, annual reproduction, and species population trends;

(C) assistance in the development, implementation, and improvement of national and regional management plans for nesting habitat ranges;

(D) enforcement and implementation of CITES and laudatory countries to—

(i) protect.user error and manage nesting populations and nesting habitats; and

(ii) prevent illegal trade of marine turtles;

(E) training of law enforcement officials in the interdiction and prevention of—

(i) the illegal killing of marine turtles on nesting habitat; and

(ii) illegal trade of marine turtles;

(F) initiatives to resolve conflicts between humans and marine turtles over habitat used by marine turtles for nesting;

(G) community outreach and education; and

(H) strengthening of the ability of local communities to implement nesting population and nesting habitat conservation programs.

(3) FUND.—The term "Fund" means the Marine Turtle Conservation Fund established by section 5.

(4) MARINE TURTLE.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term "marine turtle" means any member of the family Cheloniidae or Dermochelyidae.

(B) INCLUSIONS.—The term "marine turtle" includes—

(i) any part, product, egg, or offspring of a marine turtle described in subparagraph (A); and

(ii) a carcass of such a turtle.

(5) MULTINATIONAL SPECIES CONSERVATION FUND.—The term "Multinational Species Conservation Fund" means the fund established under the heading "MULTINATIONAL SPECIES CONSERVATION FUND" in title I of the Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 1990 (16 U.S.C. 426).

(6) SECRETARY.—The term "Secretary" means the Secretary of the Interior.

SEC. 4. MARINE TURTLE CONSERVATION ASSISTANCE.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Subject to the availability of funds and other Federal officials, the Secretary shall use amounts in the Fund to provide financial assistance for projects for the conservation of marine turtles for which project proposals are approved by the Secretary in accordance with this section.

(b) PROJECT PROPOSALS.—

(1) REQUIREMENTS.—A project proposal for a project for the conservation of marine turtles may be submitted to the Secretary by—

(A) any wildlife management authority of a foreign country that has within its boundaries marine turtle nesting habitat if the activities of the authority directly or indirectly affect marine turtle conservation; or

(B) any other person or group with the demonstrated expertise required for the conservation of marine turtles.

(2) REQUIRED ELEMENTS.—A proposal shall include—

(A) a statement of the purposes of the project;

(B) the name of the individual or otherwise responsible for the project;

(C) a description of the qualifications of the individuals that will conduct the project;

(D) a description of—

(i) methods for project implementation and outcome assessment; and

(ii) staff and community management for the project;

(E) a statement that includes—

(i) the logistics of the project; and

(F) any other information that the Secretary considers necessary for evaluating the eligibility of the project for funding under this Act.

(c) PROJECT REVIEW AND APPROVAL.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall—

(A) not later than 30 days after receiving a project proposal, provide a copy of the proposal to other Federal officials, as appropriate; and

(B) review each project proposal in a timely manner to determine whether the proposal meets the criteria specified in subsection (d).

(2) CONSULTATION; APPROVAL OR DISAPPROVAL.—Not later than 90 days after receiving a project proposal, subject to the availability of funds, the Secretary, after consulting with other Federal officials, as appropriate, shall—

(A) consult on the proposal with the government of each country in which the project is to be conducted;

(B) after taking into consideration any comments resulting from the consultation, approve or disapprove the project proposal; and

(C) provide written notification of the approval or disapproval to the person that submitted the project proposal, other Federal officials, and each country described in subparagraph (A).

(d) CRITERIA FOR APPROVAL.—The Secretary may approve a project proposal under this section if the proposal meets the criteria specified in—

(1) DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR; AND

(2) FINAL REGULATIONS. and sustain viable populations of marine turtles in the wild by assisting efforts in foreign countries to implement marine turtle conservation programs.

(4) MAINTAIN SUSTAINABILITY.—To the maximum extent practicable, in determining whether to approve project proposals under this section, the Secretary shall give preference to projects that are designed to ensure effective, long-term conservation of marine turtles and their nesting habitats.

(5) MATCHING FUNDS.—In determining whether to approve project proposals under this section, the Secretary shall give preference to projects for which matching funds are available.

(6) PROJECT REPORTING.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Each person that receives assistance under this section for a project shall submit to the Secretary a periodic report (at such intervals as the Secretary may require) that include all information that the Secretary, after consultation with other government officials, determines necessary to evaluate the progress and success of the project for the purposes of ensuring positive results, assessing problems, and formulating improvements.

(2) AVAILABILITY TO THE PUBLIC.—Reports under paragraph (1), and any other documents relating to projects for which financial assistance is provided under this Act, shall be made available to the public.

SEC. 5. MARINE TURTLE CONSERVATION FUND.

(a) ESTABLISHMENT.—There is established in the Multinational Species Conservation Fund a separate account to be known as the "Marine Turtle Conservation Fund", consisting of—

(1) amounts transferred to the Secretary of the Treasury for deposit into the Fund under subsection (e);

(2) amounts appropriated to the Fund under section 6 and

(3) any interest earned on investment of amounts in the Fund under subsection (c).

(b) EXPENDITURES FROM FUND.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), on request by the Secretary, the Secretary of the Treasury shall transfer from the Fund to the Secretary, without further appropriation, any amounts in the Fund that the Secretary determines are necessary to carry out section 4.

(2) ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES.—Of the amounts in the account available for each fiscal year, the Secretary may expend not more than 3 percent, or up to $80,000, whichever is greater, to pay the administrative expenses necessary to carry out this Act.

(3) BLENDING OF AMOUNTS.—

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary of the Treasury shall invest such portion of the Fund as is not, in the judgment of the Secretary, required to meet current withdrawals. Investments may be made only in interest-bearing obligations of the United States.

(b) INVESTMENT OF OBLIGATIONS.—For the purpose of investments under paragraph (1), obligations may be acquired—

(A) on original issue at the issue price; or

(B) on purchase of outstanding obligations at the market price.

(c) SALE OF OBLIGATIONS.—Any obligation acquired by the Fund may be sold by the Secretary of the Treasury at the market price.

(d) CREDITS TO FUND.—The interest on, and the proceeds from the sale or redemption of, any obligations held in the Fund shall be credited to and form a part of the Fund.

(e) TRANSFERS OF AMOUNTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—The amounts required to be transferred under section 4 shall be transferred at least monthly from the general fund of the Treasury to the Fund on the basis of estimates made by the Secretary of the Treasury.

(f) ADJUSTMENTS.—Proper adjustment shall be made in amounts subsequently transferred to the extent prior estimates were in excess of or less than the amounts required to be transferred.

(g) ACCEPTANCE AND USE OF DONATIONS.—The Secretary may accept and use donations provided under this section 4. Amounts received by the Secretary in the form of donations shall be transferred to the Secretary of the Treasury for deposit in the Fund.

SEC. 6. ADVISORY GROUP.

(a) IN GENERAL.—To assist in carrying out this Act, the Secretary may convene an advisory group consisting of—

(A) private individuals representing public and private organizations actively involved in the conservation of marine turtles;

(B) public participation, including—

(1) meetings, the Advisory Group shall provide to the Secretary periodic reports on request by the Secretary, the Secretary of the Treasury shall transfer from the Fund to the Secretary, the Secretary of the Treasury, required to meet cur-

The concurrent resolution (H. Con. Res. 159) was agreed to. The preamble was agreed to.

VETERANS' BENEFITS ENHANCEMENTS ACT OF 2003

Mr. MCCONNEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of calendar item No. 316, S. 1132. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The legislation would not be feasible to establish a number of veterans. We all realize that we needed a national holiday to commemorate all veterans of all wars, not just those of World War I. With the support from the community of Emporia, Mr. King took his idea to Washington. There, he found a close ally in Representative Ed Rees, who introduced a bill to change the holiday.

Mr. Rees said, "The United States has now been involved in many great military efforts, and each has produced its number of veterans. We all realize that it would not be feasible to establish a national holiday to commemorate the closing of each war. This legislation does not establish a new holiday. Rather, it expands an existing holiday so that we may honor all veterans at the same time."

On November 11 of each year, we pay tribute to our veterans. Americans, as in all great countries, owed their independence to their men and women who went off to defend the American way of life. And, as some of those soldiers returned, we embraced and thanked them for their sacrifice. And for those that did not come home we remembered them in somber ceremonies, silent prayers, and grieving moments. On November 11 we pay reverence to anyone that has wore the uniform. We should, also, recognize the shoe cobbler from Emporia, who had a vision for a national holiday; a representative woman, listened to his hometown; and a President, who a veteran himself, saw the completion of this idea. I urge my colleagues to pass this resolution.

Mr. MCCONNEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the concurrent resolution be agreed to, the preamble be agreed to, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, and that any statements relating to the concurrent resolution be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.
of covered service in Korea who is suffering from spina bifida the health care, vocational training and rehabilitation, and monetary allowance required to be paid to a child of a Vietnam veteran who is suffering from spina bifida under subchapter I of this chapter as if such child of a veteran of covered service in Korea were a child of a Vietnam veteran who is suffering from spina bifida under such subchapter I.

(b) Spina Bifida Conditions Covered.—This section applies with respect to all forms and manifestations of spina bifida, except spina bifida occulta.

(c) Veteran of Covered Service in Korea.—For purposes of this section, a veteran of covered service in Korea is an individual, regardless of age or marital status, who—

(1) served in the active military, naval, or air service in or near the Korean demilitarized zone (DMZ), as determined by the Secretary in consultation with the Secretary of Defense, during the period beginning on January 1, 1967, and ending on December 31, 1969; and

(2) is determined by the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Defense, to have been a herbicide agent during such service in or near the Korean demilitarized zone.

(d) Herbicide Agent.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘herbicide agent’ means a chemical in a herbicide used in support of United States and allied military operations in or near the Korean demilitarized zone, as determined by the Secretary in consultation with the Secretary of Defense, during the period beginning on January 1, 1967, and ending on December 31, 1969.

(e) Child Defined.—Section 1831 of that title, as redesignated by subsection (a), is further amended by striking paragraph (1) and inserting the following new paragraph (1):

(i) The term ‘child’ means the following:

(A) For purposes of subchapters I and II of this chapter, an individual, regardless of age or marital status, who—

(B) is the natural child of a Vietnam veteran; and

(ii) was conceived after the date on which that veteran first entered the Republic of Vietnam during the Vietnam era.

(f) For purposes of subchapter III of this chapter, an individual, regardless of age or marital status, who—

(i) is the natural child of a veteran of covered service in Korea (as determined for purposes of section 1821 of this title); and

(ii) was conceived after the date on which that veteran first entered service described in subsection (c) of that section.

(g) Nonduplication of Benefits.—Section 1834(a) of that title, as redesignated by subsection (a), is further amended by adding at the end the following new sentence: “In the case of a child eligible for benefits under subchapter I or II of this chapter who is also eligible for benefits under subchapter III of this chapter, a monetary allowance shall be paid under the subchapter of this chapter elected by the child.”.

Conforming Amendment.—(1) Section 1831(i)(1) of that title is amended by striking “section 1821(1)” and inserting “section 1831(1)”.

(2) The heading for chapter 18 of that title is amended to read as follows:

“CHAPTER 18—BENEFITS FOR CHILDREN OF VIETNAM VETERANS AND CERTAIN OTHER VETERANS.”

(3) Clerical Amendments.—(1) The table of sections at the beginning of chapter 18 of that title is amended by striking the items relating to subchapter III and inserting the following new items:

SEC. 331. RADIATION DOSE RECONSTRUCTION PROGRAM OF DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE.

(a) REVIEW OF MISSION, PROCEDURES, AND ADMINISTRATION.—(1) The Secretary of Veterans Affairs and the Secretary of Defense shall jointly develop and maintain a review of the procedures, and administration of the Radiation Dose Reconstruction Program of the Department of Defense.

(2) In conducting the review under paragraph (1), the Secretaries shall—

(A) determine whether any additional actions are required to ensure that the quality assurance and quality control mechanisms of the Radiation Dose Reconstruction Program are adequate and sufficient for purposes of the program; and

(B) determine the actions that are required to ensure that the mechanisms of the Radiation Dose Reconstruction Program for communication and interaction with veterans are adequate and efficient for purposes of the program, including mechanisms to permit veterans to review the assumptions utilized in their dose reconstructions.

(3) Not later than 90 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretaries shall jointly submit to Congress a report on the review under paragraph (1). The report shall set forth—

(A) the results of the review;

(B) a plan for any actions determined to be required under paragraph (2); and

(C) such other recommendations for the improvement of the mission, procedures, and administration of the Radiation Dose Reconstruction Program as the Secretaries jointly consider appropriate.

(b) ON-GOING REVIEW AND OVERSIGHT.—The Secretaries shall jointly take appropriate actions to ensure the on-going independent review and oversight of the Radiation Dose Reconstruction Program, including the establishment of the advisory board required by subsection (c).

(c) ADVISORY BOARD.—(1) In taking actions under subsection (b), the Secretaries shall jointly appoint an advisory board to provide review and oversight of the Radiation Dose Reconstruction Program.

(2) The advisory board under paragraph (1) shall be composed of the following:

(A) At least one expert in historical dose reconstruction of the type conducted under the Radiation Dose Reconstruction Program.

(B) At least one expert in radiation health matters.

(C) At least one expert in risk communications matters.

(D) A representative of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

(F) At least three veterans, including at least one veteran who is a member of an atomic veterans group.

(3) The advisory board under paragraph (1) shall—

(A) conduct periodic, random audits of dose reconstructions under the Radiation Dose Reconstruction Program and of decisions by the Department of Veterans Affairs on claims for service connection of radiogenic diseases;

(B) make periodic reports to the Department of Veterans Affairs and the Defense Threat Reduction Agency in communicating to veterans information on the mission, procedures, and evidentiary requirements of the Radiation Dose Reconstruction Program; and
(c) carry out such other activities with respect to the review and oversight of the Radiation Dose Reconstruction Program as the Secretaries shall jointly specify.
(4) The advisory board under paragraph (1) may make such recommendations on modifications in the mission or procedures of the Radiaton Dose Reconstruction Program as the advisory board considers appropriate as a result of the audits conducted under paragraph (3)(A).

SEC. 332. STUDY ON DISPOSITION OF AIR FORCE HEALTH STUDY.
(a) IN GENERAL.—(1) The Secretary of Veterans Affairs shall, in accordance with this section, carry out a study to determine the appropriate disposition of the Air Force Health Study, an epidemiologic study of Air Force personnel who were responsible for conducting aerial spray missions of herbicides during the Vietnam era.
(b) STUDY THROUGH NATIONAL ACADEMY OF SCIENCES.—Not later than sixty days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall seek to enter into an agreement with the National Academy of Sciences, or another appropriate scientific organization, to carry out the study required by subsection (a).
(c) ELEMENTS.—Under the study under subsection (b), the National Academy of Sciences, or other appropriate scientific organization, shall address the following:
(1) The scientific merit of retaining and maintaining the medical records, other study data, and laboratory specimens collected in the course of the Air Force Health Study after the current-scheduled termination date of the study in 2004;
(2) Whether or not any obstacles exist to retaining and maintaining the medical records, other study data, and laboratory specimens re-fured to in paragraph (1), including privacy concerns;
(3) The advisability of providing independent oversight of the medical records, other study data, and laboratory specimens referred to in paragraph (1), and of any further study of such records, data, and specimens, and, if so, the mechanisms and cost of providing such oversight;
(4) The advisability of extending the Air Force Health Study, including the potential value and relevance of extending the study, the potential cost of extending the study, and the feasibility for non-Federal entity best suited to continue the study if extended;
(5) The advisability of making the laboratory specimens collected in the course of the Air Force Health Study available for independent research, including the potential value and relevance of such research, and the mechanisms to provide such research;
(d) REPORT.—Not later than 60 days after entering into an agreement under subsection (b), the National Academy of Sciences, or other appropriate scientific organization, shall submit to the Secretary and Congress a report on the results of the study under subsection (a). The report shall include the results of the study, including the matters addressed under subsection (c), and such other recommendations as the Academy, or other appropriate scientific organi-cation, considers appropriate as a result of the study.

SEC. 333. FUNDING OF MEDICAL FOLLOW-UP AGENCY OF INSTITUTE OF MEDICINE FOR ACADEMIC ACADEMY SCIENCES FOR EPIDEMIOLOGICAL RESEARCH ON MEMBERS OF THE MILITARY FORCE AND VETERANS
(a) FUNDING BY DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS.—(1) The Secretary of Veterans Affairs shall make available to the National Academy of Sciences in each of fiscal years 2004 through 2013, $250,000 for the Medical Follow-Up Agency of the Institute of Medicine of the Academy for purposes of epidemiological research on members of the Armed Forces and veterans.
(2) The Secretary of Veterans Affairs shall make available amounts under paragraph (1) for a fiscal year from amounts available for the Department of Veterans Affairs for that fiscal year.
(b) FUNDING BY DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE.—
(1) The Secretary of Defense shall make available to the National Academy of Sciences in each of fiscal years 2004 through 2013, $250,000 for the Medical Follow-Up Agency for purposes of epidemiological research on members of the Armed Forces and veterans.
(2) The Secretary of Defense shall make available amounts under paragraph (1) for a fiscal year from amounts available for the Department of Defense for that fiscal year.
(c) USE OF FUNDS.—The Medical Follow-Up Agency shall use funds made available under subsection (a) for—
(1) the epidemiological study of Air Force personnel who were responsible for conducting aerial spray
missions of herbicides during the Vietnam era;
(2) the potential value and relevance of such research, and the potential cost of such research; and
(3) the advisability of providing independent oversight of the medical records, other study data, and laboratory specimens referred to in sections (a) and (b), by striking "chapter 106" and inserting "chapter 1066"; and
(4) in subsection (b), by striking "chapter 30" and inserting "chapter 300".

SEC. 343. TEMPORARY AUTHORITY FOR PERfORMANCE OF MEDICAL DISABIL-ITIES EXAMINATIONS BY CONTRACT PHYSICIANS.
(a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding the limitations in section 504(b) of the Veterans Benefits Improvement Act of 2004, as added by Pub.
L. 108-276; 113 Stat. 3341; 38 U.S.C. 5101 note) and using funds subject to appropriation (other than funds available for compensation and pension), the Secretary of Veterans Affairs may provide for the conduct of examinations with respect to the medical disabilities of applicants for benefits under laws administered by the Secretary by persons other than Department of Veterans Af-airs employees.
(b) PERFORMANCE BY CONTRACT.—Examinations under the authority in subsection (a) shall be conducted by persons under contract to or administered by the Under Secretary for Benefits.
(c) EXPIRATION.—The authority in subsection
(a) shall expire on December 31, 2009. No examination may be carried out under the authority in that subsection after that date.
(d) REPORT.—Not later than four years after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall submit to Congress a report on the utilization of the authority in subsection (a), including an assessment of the effect of examinations under that authority on the adequacy, thoroughness, and thoroughness of examinations with respect to the medical disabilities of applicants for benefits under laws administered by the Secretary.

SEC. 344. TECHNICAL AMENDMENT.
Section 1974(a)(5) is amended by striking "December 31, 2004" and inserting "December 31, 2007".
In order to avoid Federal laws prohibiting veterans from assigning their benefits to another party, these scams require the veteran to open a joint account from which the lending company automatically withdraws the veterans benefits.

We can all agree that a law preventing veterans from assigning their benefits to another individual should also bar this type of an arrangement—where money is directly withdrawn before the veteran can access their benefits or pension.

Last May the National Consumer Law Center, NCLC, released a report about financial and commercial scams directed at our military, veterans and their families—this report included an examination of these veterans benefits buy-out schemes.

The NCLC concluded that lump sum pension schemes are illegal under a variety of Federal and State truth in lending, usury or consumer laws, and that remedies exist, but require burdensome and costly court action on the part of the veteran.

I was not surprised to see that they agree with my findings that the assignment of veterans benefits is indeed illegal under current law.

But they also agree that due to a lack of clarity in the law and, therefore, the absence of any enforcement efforts, veterans are left open to unscrupulous exploitation and the loss of their benefits.

The analysis and conclusion in the report by the National Consumer Law Center have removed any doubt about the risk to our disabled veterans and the need for congressional action.

I want to make it abundantly clear that we are not trying to deny veterans access to normal credit systems: credit cards, personal loans, or home loans. We are trying to ensure that loans made to veterans are not out of the reach of State usury laws, which protect all types of consumers.

Greater protection is needed for our most vulnerable veterans—the disabled and the elderly. They are among the most needy and, once ensnared by these schemes, intimidated and threatened with lawsuits.

As you know, I introduced similar legislation last year, cosponsored by Senator McCain and others that would tighten our laws and better protect our veterans from these schemes. Although we adopted this legislation in the Senate as part of last year’s veterans benefits bill, the House conferees would not agree to include it in the conference report.

This year, we must ensure that the conference report includes this language and that we are doing all we can to protect veterans from these unscrupulous and predatory practices.

I thank the Veterans Affairs Committee and for Senator Specter’s and Senator Graham’s leadership in support of this effort. I respectfully request that they continue this effort and fight for this language during conference in the interest of our veterans and their benefits.

Mr. McCONNEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the committee-reported substitute be agreed to, the bill, as amended, be read a third time and passed.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The committee amendment in the nature of a substitute was agreed to.

The bill (S. 1132), as amended, was read the third time and passed.

ORDERS FOR MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 2003

Mr. McCONNEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that when the Senate completes its business today, it adjourn until 11 a.m., Monday, November 3. I further ask consent that following the prayer and pledge, the morning hour be deemed expired, the journal of proceedings be approved to date, the time for the two leaders be reserved for their use later in the day, and the Senate then proceed to the consideration of the conference report to accompany H.R. 2691, the Iraq-Afghanistan supplemental appropriations bill, as provided under the previous order; provided that following the disposition of the conference report, the Senate proceed to the consideration of the conference report to accompany H.R. 2691, the Interior appropriations bill, as provided under the previous order.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

PROGRAM

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, for the information of all Senators, on Monday, the Senate will begin consideration of the conference report to accompany the Iraq-Afghanistan supplemental appropriations bill. There will be 6 hours of debate prior to adopting the conference report; however, that conference report will not require a rollcall vote. Following the disposition of the conference report, the Senate will take up the conference report to accompany H.R. 2691, the Interior appropriations bill. There will be 1 hour of debate prior to a vote on the adoption of the conference report. The vote on the interior appropriations conference report will occur between 5:30 and 6 on Monday, and that vote will be the first vote of Monday’s session.

ADJOURNMENT UNTIL MONDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 2003, AT 11 A.M.

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, if there is no further business to come before the Senate, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate stand in adjournment under the previous order.

There being no objection, the Senate, at 12:34 p.m., adjourned until Monday, November 3, 2003, at 11 a.m.

THE ABOVE NOMINATIONS WERE APPROVED SUBJECT TO THE NOMINEES’ COMMITMENT TO RESPOND TO REQUESTS TO APPEAR AND TESTIFY BEFORE ANY DUTY CONSTITUTED COMMITTEE OF THE SENATE.
Mr. Speaker, as you can imagine, south Alabama and indeed, our entire State and Nation, are but now in the infant stages of a new day the First Congressional District of Alabama is truly mourning the loss of this fine young man. In conversations with his friends and family, the one characteristic that was mentioned time and again when describing Paul was his love for life. As the Rev. Timothy Deasy noted during Paul's funeral mass, "he lived more in 19 years than many of us live in a lifetime. Paul gave his life for all of us."

A devoted brother, son, and grandson, Paul Bueche never wanted to have appreciation for the many wonderful gifts of love and friendship that came his way during his brief 19 years. To a person, his fellow students and teachers from McGill-Toolen Catholic High School, his minister and fellow parishioners at Christ the King Catholic Church, and his many other family and friends spoke affectionately of Paul's boundless energy and enthusiasm and the genuinely warm feelings he displayed for his fellow man.

A telling story of his generosity came just days before he died. Recently, Paul had won a lottery held within his unit in Iraq which would have allowed him a 2-week furlough back in the United States in December. However, Paul chose to give that pass to a fellow guardman from the unit, feeling it was more important that he—a husband and father—be at home with his children who needed him more during the holidays.

Mr. Speaker, it is only right for us to pause and give thanks to God that there are still young men like Paul Joseph Bueche. On his handsome, young face, the world can see the very best America has to offer. I urge my colleagues to take a moment and pay tribute to Specialist Paul Bueche and his selfless devotion to not only our country and the freedom we enjoy, but to a people who are but now in the infant stages of a new life—a new freedom—in their own land.

We should also remember his parents, Emory Paul and Maria Bueche, his sisters Jessica and Melissa, and his grandparents, Sydney and Doris Bueche and Jose and Elena Alonso. Our prayer is that God will give them all the strength and courage that only He can provide to sustain them during the difficult days ahead.

It was Joseph Campbell who said, "A hero is someone who has given his or her life to something bigger than oneself." Make no mistake, young Paul Bueche was not only a dedicated soldier who made the ultimate sacrifice serving in the uniform of his country, but he was also a true American hero.

In addition, I ask that an accompanying article from the October 25th Mobile Register, written by Robert Buchanan, be included in this tribute to Paul. May he rest in peace.

A TIME TOO SOON TO COMPREHEND

There is a time for everything. And a season for every activity under heaven:

A time to be born and a time to die.
A time to plant and a time to uproot,
A time to kill and a time to heal,
A time to tear down and a time to build,
A time to laugh and a time to weep,
A time to search and a time to give up,
A time to embrace and a time to refrain,
A time to keep and a time to throw away,
A time to kill and a time to heal,
A time to mourn and a time to dance,
A time to scatter stones and a time to gather them,
A time to embrace and a time to refrain,
A time to search and a time to give up,
A time to keep and a time to throw away,
A time to tear and a time to mend,
A time to be silent and a time to speak,
A time to love and a time to hate,
A time for war and a time for peace.

—Ecclesiastes 3:1-8

When you cradle your infant in your arms, rocking back and forth while reading to his young ears, more than likely it will be from a book of fairy tales with glorious, happy endings. Surely, though, it’s not the time to tell him that the 16 lines from Ecclesiastes sum up the life that he will face. Of course, he couldn’t comprehend it, nor would you want him to, life as a baby has its own time for being, for growing, and for learning.

A time to be born and a time to die.

It’s left to the parents to do the worrying, often quietly, without evidence that there is damage in that infant’s way. As he grows to be a toddler, it’s the parents who fret about the stumbling boy crashing into furniture, hitting walls, slapping the sofa. The rite of passage into official boyhood comes with its share of nicks and scratches. But a boy he is, and a boy he will be.

The years evaporate, and your baby boy is a man. Your concerns, however, have grown with him. You watched him waddle in a sand box, not thinking that one day his life could end in the sands of an Iraqi village so small that it would be difficult to spot on a map. It’s too soon for a 19-year-old to die.

As humans comprehend this, lacking the understanding of why someone so young should leave this Earth now. It’s even more heartbreaking for parents to have a son die before them.

It’s not supposed to be this way.

A time to weep and a time to laugh.

The order of life has turned upside down for Emory and Maria Bueche. They have already told stories—terrible stories—about their son, Paul. They have shared them with family, friends, and the media. It’s a normal therapeutic exercise to keep their minds clear while preparing for funeral services.

Others will share their stories, bringing more laughter and tears. They’ll be proud of the people Paul touched in his short life. They’ll be proud he died serving his country. The Bueches won’t be able to feel it, yet all the parents of our American babies will share in their pain.

Meanwhile, three more American soldiers die in Iraq. Three more sets of parents are experiencing the trauma of children passing too soon. All of us will be suffering along with them.

There is a time for everything.

“Paul Bueche died in Iraq,” he’s told.

“What?” he answers. “I didn’t know he was over there. Oh, my God. What happened?”

He is told about the unfortunate circumstances, but the explanation falls flat. A classmate had died; the first member of the 2002 class was gone. It’s too incredible for the student to absorb.

“Man, he was cool. We were in the Model U.N. together. I mean . . . I can’t believe it. What happened?”

“Of all the people over there, that accident, it happened to one of us.”

The McGill-Toolen senior class of 2002 was close, unusually close. The Bueches recalled how their house was always full of kids, that it wasn’t unusual to wake up and find Paul’s friends asleep on the den floor.

That was the class of 2002.

From house to house, class members found parents with open doors. Now these same parents are sharing the Bueches’ ache, along with their young-adult children who are experiencing a type of grief they were not prepared to handle. It’s just too soon.

Eventually, though, they will realize that Paul’s death was not in vain, for there are few earthly callings higher than sacrificing for one’s country, for one’s friends back home.
In the meantime, they can pray and take solace that there will be a time for peace.

OCTOBER IS NATIONAL BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

HON. SHELLEY MOORE CAPITO OF WEST VIRGINIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mrs. CAPITO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Breast Cancer Awareness Month on behalf of the Hampshire County Cancer Coalition. October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month, a disease that will kill an estimated thirty-nine thousand, eight hundred women along with four hundred men in the year 2003 alone. It is through the extensive work of medical experts, as well as awareness groups like the Hampshire County Cancer Coalition, that there is hope to extinguish this horrible disease.

I am proud to recognize two Hampshire County residents, Clara Belle Lee and Nellie Lew, who are the two oldest living breast cancer survivors in our state of West Virginia. Ms. Lee has been a survivor for fifty-two years, and Ms. Lew has been a survivor for fifty-seven years. I have come to hear these women, along with the rest of the Coalition, at the fourth Annual Breast Cancer Survivors Luncheon and wreath hanging ceremony. Their passion and their enthusiasm for life are characteristics of these two incredible women, who have beaten the odds of this fatal disease.

I would like to take some time to recognize the Hampshire County Cancer Coalition and their work. This organization has been instrumental in the state of West Virginia with educating the general public about cancer, as well as striving to initiate the early detection of cancers among women.

The Hampshire County Cancer Coalition was formed in 1993 under the direction of the Appalachia Leadership Initiative on Cancer, a cooperative agreement between the National Cancer Institute and Mary Babb Randolph Cancer Center, to address cancer control issues in our county. The Coalition has sought to increase public awareness and promote early detection of breast, cervical, and colorectal cancer throughout Hampshire County.

The Coalition has collaborated with various community entities in its cancer awareness efforts. Shortly after its formation, the Coalition sponsored two “Friend to Friend Summits,” with one held in Romney and one in Capon Bridge. These summits brought together community members, cancer survivors, doctors and nurses for a sharing of the latest information regarding breast cancer awareness, prevention and treatment.

The Coalition has sponsored the Tower of Solace, which is a photo display of sixty breast cancer survivors dedicated to a charter member of the Coalition who is now deceased. The Tower is displayed in churches, libraries and the courthouse as a testimony to a courageous fight against a powerful disease.

Another focus area has been community education. Placemats with the warning signs and statistics regarding breast cancer awareness, prevention and treatment.

In addition, the Coalition recently joined forces with the Tobacco Control Coalition to increase opportunities for promoting awareness.

Mr. Speaker, it is with great admiration and pride that I honor this wonderful organization as well as these incredible women and their strides to beat this disease. This disease is the leading cancer cited in women, yet with proper awareness and prevention, this disease does not have to be the leading cause of cancer deaths among women between the ages of forty and fifty-nine years of age. With organizations like the Hampshire County Cancer Coalition, and amazing women survivors, there are rays of hope for people diagnosed with breast cancer.

OCTOBER AS NATIONAL BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

HON. TODD TIAHRT OF KANSAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. TIAHRT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of Breast Cancer Awareness Month. I am proud that October can be dedicated to raising awareness of the need for regular mammograms and doctor’s visits. A member of my staff has come face to face with this disease, and I am proud to share her story. Hannah’s mother was diagnosed with breast cancer in 1990 at the age of 58. Hannah was only 11 years old, with one older brother and two younger sisters, but she remembers being frightened when her parents told her about her mother’s cancer. The doctor had found the lump, which was too small for her to feel. If she had not gone to the doctor, it would have spread fast and deadly.

Fortunately, because of awareness, Hannah’s mother’s cancer was found early, surgery was performed, and she has done great ever since. Fortunately, because of awareness, Hannah only remembers being frightened, but she doesn’t have to remember losing her mother to breast cancer because that did not happen. This story is only one of many which emphasize the need for breast cancer awareness. We all need to insist that our mothers, sisters, aunts, grandmothers, wives, and daughters need to get regular mammograms and talk to their doctors about this disease. It is absolutely essential that the information gets out to these women, and that the cancer is caught early. Hannah is grateful that her mother paid attention and has since fostered this awareness in Hannah and her two sisters.

I support reauthorization for the National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program. Breast cancer remains the second highest cause of death for women today. This is a reality that can stop only through awareness.

BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

HON. DAVID VITTER
OF LOUISIANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. VITTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor victims, survivors, volunteers, and professionals, who combat breast cancer each day.

The facts are grim, every 2½ minutes someone is diagnosed with breast cancer. An estimated 211,300 women and 1,300 men, in the United States will be diagnosed this year with breast cancer. An estimated 40,200 deaths are anticipated this year from breast cancer. In my home state of Louisiana, 3,800 new female breast cancer cases will be diagnosed this year, and 700 hundred women will lose their battle against the disease.

Breast Cancer Awareness Month provides a special opportunity to recognize these valiant fighters and to educate the public about the importance of monthly breast self-examinations and annual mammograms. Early detection greatly increases victims’ chances of survival.

There is hope. When breast cancer is found early, the five-year survival rate is 96 percent. Monthly breast self-examinations and mammograms are the key components of early detection. I join my House colleagues in saluting the breast cancer survivors alive today in the United States.

I salute the volunteers across the country, including the Louisiana Breast Cancer Task Force, for their work to help educate people about the importance of early detection. Thank you for taking time today to honor all the victims, survivors, volunteers, and professionals, who combat breast cancer each day.

REGARDED BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

HON. GARY L. ACKERMAN
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. ACKERMAN. Mr. Speaker, every 12 minutes a woman in America dies of breast cancer. October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month, but I am not sure that awareness is the right word. Unfortunately, many of us are painfully aware. Many, if not all of us have known someone – mother, grandmother, aunt, sister, friend – who has fought against this devastating disease. I would like to express my deep appreciation to the many soldiers in the battle against breast cancer. There are too many to name right now, but their dedication and tireless efforts are critical and so deeply appreciated by us all.

A recent study found that the presence of mutated BRCA-1 or BRCA-2 genes made cancer risk soar. This information proves that passage of legislation such as the Genetic Non-Discrimination in Health Insurance and Employment Act is imperative. Mr. Speaker, I am a cosponsor of this bipartisan legislation, which has 230 cosponsors. By not acting on this legislation, we are placing women’s health in jeopardy on a daily basis. Women are not being tested because they fear they will be discriminated against by their insurer should they test positive. This legislation is imperative.

This body has begun the job of funding the National Institutes of Health and cancer research over the past five years. However, our work is not done. It is imperative that we are able to fund new research and continue existing research. In order to ensure that this progress is not lost and valuable information left uncovered, we must continue to increase funding for the National Institutes of Health.
One of the things I am most proud to have motivated and enacted was the establishment of the Long Island Breast Cancer Study, a comprehensive effort to investigate whether environmental factors are responsible for breast cancer. The historic investigation began in 1993, and was coordinated by the National Cancer Institute and the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences. When the study was released late last year, I was disappointed to find the study could not identify specific environmental factors from among the three compounds studied as a cause for breast cancer. Many of the other compounds remain to be ruled out; more funding and research are necessary. However, the lessons learned proved very important. Many of the results provided clues for future research. We must build on this information, we must try until we succeed because the alternative is much more costly.

We need to work together to turn “Awareness” into “A-cure.”

THE 40TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ARECIBO OBSERVATORY

HON. ANIBAL ACEVEDO-VILA

OF PUERTO RICO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. ACEVEDO-VILA. Mr. Speaker, this week Puerto Rico is celebrating the 40th Anniversary of the Arecibo Observatory, home of the largest single dish radio telescope in the world. For this occasion, more than 100 scientists from around the world will gather November 1 through the 4th for a series of workshops, including one on the most recent astronomical advances of the giant telescope. For Puerto Ricans, there is another reason to celebrate: for the first time since the creation of the Observatory in 1963, a Puerto Rican is at its helm. Sixto González, who has served as assistant director of special and atmospheric sciences of the observatory since 2001, was named Director of the observatory October 1.

The Arecibo Observatory is part of the National Astronomy and Ionosphere Center (NAIC), a national research center operated by Cornell University under a cooperative agreement with the National Science Foundation (NSF). The NSF is an independent federal agency whose aim is to promote scientific and engineering progress in the United States. NAIC also provides additional support for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) as the site of the world’s largest single-dish radio telescope, the Observatory is recognized as one of the most important national centers for research in radio astronomy, planetary radar and terrestrial aeronomy. Use of the Arecibo Observatory is available on an equal, competitive basis to all scientists from throughout the world. Observing time is granted on the basis of the most promising research as ascertained by a panel of independent referees who review the proposals sent to the Observatory by interested scientists. Every year about 200 scientists visit the Observatory facilities to pursue their research project, and numerous students perform observations that lead to their master and doctoral dissertations.

The Arecibo Observatory has its origins as an idea of Professor William E. Gordon, then of Cornell University, who was interested in the study of the ionosphere. Gordon’s research during the 1950’s led him to the idea of radar back-scatter studies of the ionosphere. Professor Gordon’s persistence culminated in the construction of the Arecibo Observatory, which began in the summer of 1960 and three years later the Arecibo Ionospheric Observatory (AIO) was in operation under the direction of Gordon. The formal opening ceremony took place on November 1, 1963.

On October 1, 1969 the National Science Foundation assumed ownership of the facility from the Department of Defense and the Observatory was made a national research center. On September 71 the AIO became the National Astronomy and Ionosphere Center (NAIC).

The Arecibo Observatory employs about 140 persons in support of the operation. A scientific staff of about 16 divides their time between scientific research and assistance to visiting scientists, computer experts, and technicians design and build new instrumentation and keep it in operation.

The Arecibo Observatory is a Puerto Rican landmark. Hundreds of tourists visit it every year and it has been a desired site for recent filming of many movies as well. As this notable landmark appears frequently in films and TV, it is a source of pride for all Puerto Ricans, both as the home of the Arecibo Observatory and as an emblem of the contributions to science from Puerto Rico in general.

Mr. Speaker, today I want to congratulate the people of Puerto Rico, the Arecibo Observatory and its scientists on its 40-year anniversary. Also, congratulations to Director Sixto González for his great job and recent ascension to the leadership of the Arecibo Observatory.

HONORING THE WORK OF SISTER LECLARE BERES

HON. RON KIND

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. KIND. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the work of Sister Leclaire Beres from La Crosse, Wisconsin, in recognition of her retirement. Sister Leclare has worked tirelessly for many years as a nurse and a nun, aiming to provide all people with access to healthcare.

Sister Leclare grew up in Etno, Wisconsin. Living on a farm surrounded by her large family, she learned early the importance of hard work and compassion to others. In the early 90s, Sister Leclare saw the medical needs of refugee immigrants and called upon the four area hospitals to sponsor a free clinic. The Indochinese Screening Clinic later became the St. Clare Health Mission. As the director of the St. Clare Health Mission, Sister Leclare has been a leader in providing health services to the poor in the La Crosse, Wisconsin area. In addition, she has worked in Guam and Jamaica as well as with organizations such as Place of Grace and the Salvation Army.

Moreover, after she retires this fall, her dedication and service of Sister Leclare Beres as she retires. She is a role model of service, compassion, and generosity, and we could all learn from her dedication.

Thus, I would like to leave you with the words of Sister Leclare’s successor, Sister Dawn Kutt. “Sister Leclare’s compassion for the poor and underserved dwells deep within her heart’s desire. Her service to the poor is undertaken with joy and tender love as her gentle presence reflects God’s love for each of them. She certainly brings the richness out of the poorest of God’s poor.”

WORLD POPULATION AWARENESS WEEK

HON. MICHAEL H. MICHAUD

OF MAINE

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. MICHAUD. Mr. Speaker, the week of October 20—25 has been designated as World Population Awareness Week with the theme of “Water: Our Most Precious Natural Resource.”

Over the next 20 years the world’s population of 6.3 billion is projected to increase to nearly 9 billion before leveling off. As currently, these 6.3 billion people are dependent on 1 percent of all the water on earth. A recent study revealed that 58 areas of the United States—from Florida and Georgia to western Texas to northern California and southern Oregon, as well as most of heartland U.S.A.—are water stressed. Acting on the global consensus that water scarcity must be a top development priority, the Population Institute has decided to dedicate the 19th World Population Awareness Week to the issue of water and I applaud their efforts.

More than 80 nations, 165 organizations, 127 mayors, and 22 governors, including Governor John Baldacci of Maine, have proclaimed the week of October 20—25 as World Population Awareness Week with the theme “Water: Our Most Precious Natural Resource.” I call that proclamation to my colleagues and colleagues’ attention in hopes of promoting the importance of an adequate and safe water supply for future generations.
Recognizing October as National Breast Cancer Awareness Month

Hon. Judy Biggert
Of Illinois

In the House of Representatives
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mrs. BIGGERT. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize October as National Breast Cancer Month. Today, 3 million American women are living with the disease—2 million who have been diagnosed and 1 million who do not yet know they have it. These women are our sisters, daughters, coworkers, neighbors, and friends.

But there is good news. Due in large part to federally funded research, we know more than ever about what causes breast cancer and how to more effectively treat the disease. In fact, since 1990, we have increased Federal funding for breast cancer research by nearly 600 percent. We also have made tremendous progress in increased access to mammography, which is the most effective way to diagnose breast cancer early. If detected and treated early, breast cancer has one of the highest survival rates.

I also want to pay tribute to the many wonderful organizations that provide support to breast cancer patients and their families, like Y-Me in my home State of Illinois. These organizations offer invaluable services to the millions touched by this disease and have been crucial in bringing this issue to the forefront of the healthcare debate.

October may be National Breast Cancer Awareness Month, but every day of the year, this issue deserves our attention. I thank my colleagues for their support, and encourage them to continue to work for the millions touched by this disease.

In Memory of 1LT David R. Bernstein of the U.S. Army

Hon. Curt Weldon
Of Pennsylvania

In the House of Representatives
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. WELDON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today with great sadness and tremendous gratitude to honor the life of a brave young man, First Lieutenant David R. Bernstein, who made the ultimate sacrifice for our country. He died on Saturday, October 18, 2003, when his patrol was ambushed in Taza, Iraq. First Lieutenant Bernstein was just 24 years old.

For me, the news of David’s death was particularly shocking and hard to bear. I had the honor and privilege to nominate this fine young man to the United States Military Academy at West Point, and was one of the brightest stars among an incredible constellation of talent that graduated from the Academy in 2001.

Soon after graduation from West Point, David volunteered for Army Ranger School. He excelled there, acquiring additional skills and advanced training, and became Ranger qualified. Having arduous assignments based on his standing at West Point, David chose duty close to the hot spots in the world, and joined the Army’s 173rd Airborne Infantry Brigade, the storied “911 squad” of Europe, headquartered at Camp Ederle in Italy.

As a member of the 1st of the 508th Regiment of the 173rd, Lieutenant Bernstein, parachuted into Northern Iraq in the early morning darkness on March 27 of this year, one of only approximately 1,000 soldiers from the 173rd sent to secure the Bashur airfield in the north of Iraq. As those who followed the war well know, this small band of soldiers performed magnificently and heroically behind enemy lines to establish the important “second front” in the struggle to liberate Iraq and the world from the grip of Saddam Hussein.

This brave and gifted officer shouldered the burdens of command with uncommon ability, intelligence and grace. He was a natural leader who inspired those in his command, always leading by example and with an unwavering commitment and dedication to his men and to the service of his country.

He last spoke with his parents, Richard and Gail Bernstein, only a week before his death. The call was brief, lasting less than 10 minutes, because of the long line of soldiers waiting for their turn. In that short call David told his parents of the pride he felt for his men and their mission. He also conveyed his own sense of pride in being able to answer the call of duty by serving as an Army officer. As his father has said, David was “a soldier who appreciated serving his country.”

In his final moments, even though mortally wounded and under continuous enemy fire, Lieutenant Bernstein maneuvered his way to the driver’s seat of his Humvee and moved the vehicle off of a soldier in his command who was trapped under its wheels and badly wounded. His unselfish act of bravery likely saved the life of his comrade.

All of Pennsylvania mourns the loss of this brave and good young man who will be laid to rest this Friday, October 31, 2003 at West Point. Our hearts go out to his parents, Richard and Gail, to his sister Michelle, to his brother Doug, and to all of his friends and loved ones.

Mr. Speaker, First Lieutenant David R. Bernstein, exemplified the spirit of service that has made this nation great. It is proper to remember and honor a man of such worth and character and to pay tribute to what he stood for. Our pride in David shall live on—his life, his courage, his sacrifice and strength of character. The example of his citizenship and dedication to duty will be his enduring legacy. Mr. Speaker, at this time I ask you and my other distinguished colleagues to join me in honoring the memory, life and service of First Lieutenant David R. Bernstein, and in sending our heartfelt condolences to his family, his friends, and community.

Martin Luther King, Jr., National Historic Site Land Exchange Act

SPEECH OF
Hon. Elijah E. Cummings
Of Maryland

In the House of Representatives
Tuesday, October 28, 2003

Mr. CUMMINGS. Madam Speaker, I rise to thank my colleagues for their support of the “Martin Luther King, Jr., National Historic Site Land Exchange Act,” H.R. 1616 and the bill to extend the authority for the construction of a memorial to Martin Luther King, Jr., S. 470. These bills extend the authority for and make possible the construction of a national memorial commemorating the achievements of the late Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and his commitment to the struggle for civil rights for all Americans.

Dr. King dedicated his life to the realization of full equal and civil rights for all Americans irrespective of race, ethnicity, gender, and sexual orientation. He stood on the front lines in the struggle against social injustice, discrimination, and inequality, often at great risk to himself. Despite numerous death threats, Dr. King never wavered in his commitment.

Madam Speaker, the Lewis and Sarbanes bills are a win-win situation for all parties involved. The National Park Service currently owns a vacant lot that does not have any significant historic value. The city of Atlanta would like to acquire this land for the sole purpose of encouraging commercial development within its city limits. In addition, the land on which the National Historic Site Visitor Center and Museum currently sits is land-locked and lacks adequate emergency access. Exchanging this land within the Martin Luther King, Jr., National Historic Site for property in which the National Park Service could establish easy access to the Visitor Center and Museum would be mutually beneficial to both parties. This would simultaneously resolve the National Park Service’s access issue and give the city of Atlanta much needed commercial space.

Madam Speaker, once again I am proud to support both bills—the Martin Luther King, Jr., National Historic Site Land Exchange Act and the bill to extend the authority for construction of the MLK Memorial. I would like to give a special thanks to my colleagues Mr. Lewis and Senator SARBANES for their leadership in sponsoring these important pieces of legislation and in helping to keep the dream alive.

TrIBUTE TO THE GREATER WILKES-BARRE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE ON CELEBRATING 50 YEARS OF PROGRESS

Hon. Paul E Kanjorski
Of Pennsylvania

In the House of Representatives
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. KANJORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to call the attention of the House of Representatives to the Greater Wilkes-Barre Chamber of Commerce as they celebrate the region’s progress over the past 50 years at their annual dinner Thursday, October 30 at the Wachovia Arena in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania.
Mr. Speaker, as I have said many times before, progress doesn’t just happen by accident. From the beginning of the creation of the Industrial Fund 50 years ago, it has taken hard work, vision, dedication, and leadership by those who have transformed the area’s economy from an aging coal mining town to a diversified economy with a bright future.

These leaders, whose accomplishments will be recognized at the dinner celebration, set the goals of elevating the economy by encouraging and supporting business growth, increasing capital investment in the region, and enhancing the area’s quality of life by serving as a catalyst for key community projects. My colleagues, while we need to continue to strive toward these ambitious goals, I would like to pay tribute to the business leaders who make up this Chamber and this community for their success in moving us closer to these goals over the past 50 years.

Mr. Speaker, this organization has a proud and storied history highlighted by individuals who rose to the occasion and helped transform this region. Charles Weissman, William O. Swart, Frank Burns, Herbert Morris, Edward Schechter, and many more leaders helped build our economy on a proud tradition of doing what it takes to make northeastern Pennsylvania the best it can be by working in partnership with elected officials and volunteers from the business community.

The Greater Wilkes-Barre Chamber is relentlessly working in partnership with local, State and Federal officials to rebuild our region’s economic base from the ground up. Whether it is working to reclaim mine-scarred land, building and managing five business parks in the region like the new Innovation Center, promoting key community projects like the Arena, the levee raising and riverfront redevelopment projects, or working on the Downtown revitalization efforts, The Chamber serves as a vocal leader on issues and initiatives—from transportation to education, and from diversity to the knowledge economy—that help to advance the Greater Wilkes-Barre community.

Most recently, the Chamber deserves commendations for reaching out to neighboring organizing the area’s quality of life by serving a more regional approach to economic development, which I strongly support.

It has been a pleasure to work with Chamber leaders on many of these important projects during my tenure in office, and I look forward to many more years of productive partnership for the benefit of northeastern Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, it is my sincere honor to recognize the business and community leaders of the Greater Wilkes-Barre Chamber of Commerce as they celebrate 50 years of progress on Thursday evening.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

HON. LUIS V. GUTIERREZ
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. GUTIERREZ. Mr. Speaker, I was unavoidably absent from this Chamber on October 28, 2003. I would like the RECORD to show that had I been present, I would have voted “yea” on rollover vote 569. I also would have voted “nay” on rollover vote 570. Further, I would have voted “yea” on rollover votes 571, 572, and 573.

HONORING JOSEPH CARL NORQUIST
HON. BARBARA LEE
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the memory of a fallen soldier and American patriot, 26-year-old Army Specialist Joseph Carl Norquist, for his unstinting service to the community and devotion to the country. On October 9, 2003, Spc. Norquist, a 26-year-old Oakland man, was in a convoy in Baqubah, Iraq when he was killed in a barrage of grenades and bullets.

Norquist was serving with the 588th Engineering Battalion, based in Fort Hood, Texas. In Iraq, the battalion is assigned to the 4th Infantry Division, also of Fort Hood. The 588th is conducting two separate missions in Baqubah; they are searching for weapons and rebuilding schools.

"Joe believed in the job he was doing in Iraq," his parents said in a statement. "He thought it was the right thing to be doing for our country and the children, who would have better opportunities for a better life. We deeply mourn the loss of our son."

Norquist, a native of Martinez, attended high school in Benicia, where he played on the football team. He received an associate degree from Diablo Valley College in Pleasant Hill and joined the Army in 2001. He served for a year in Korea before being assigned to his unit in Texas, where he was trained in evaluating obstacles and operating conditions for tank maneuvers.

Joseph was a big, broad-shouldered man who liked to watch wrestling on TV. According to his friends, Joseph liked to spend his spare time in the base gym, working out with weights. In the evenings, he would try out wrestling moves on his Army buddies. He was contemplating enrolling in a pro wrestling school in Austin once his Army days were done. He was recognized for his attention to detail and thoroughness, and will posthumously receive the Bronze Star and Purple Heart medals.

Finally, as we remember Spc. Norquist today, I take great pride in joining Joseph’s parents, Carl and Sue, his friends and fellow soldiers to recognize and salute the accomplishments and contributions of Joseph Carl Norquist.

RECOGNIZING WORLD POPULATION AWARENESS WEEK

HON. DAVID E. PRICE OF NORTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. PRICE of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, the week of October 20–25th has been designated as World Population Awareness Week with the theme of “Water: Our Most Precious Natural Resource.” Over the next 20 years, the world’s population of 6.3 billion is projected to increase to nearly 9 billion before leveling off. Since the entire population depends on 1 percent of the earth’s water, many fear a future where water scarcity will undermine health and security and lead to political and social unrest. Acting on the global consensus that water scarcity must be a top development priority, the Population Institute has decided to dedicate the nineteenth World Population Awareness Week to the issue of water.

More than 80 nations, 165 organizations, 127 mayors, and 22 governors have proclaimed World Population Awareness Week. Governor Michael Easley of North Carolina is among those doing so, and I am pleased to call that proclamation to my colleagues’ attention.

BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

HON. LOUISE McINTOSH SLAUGHTER
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, Breast Cancer Awareness Month is an opportunity to celebrate the great strides breast cancer education, treatment, and survival that American women enjoy today. It must also serve as a reminder not to take our health for granted—to schedule a mammogram, perform a breast self-exam, and call a friend to urge her to do the same.

In the United States, every 21⁄2 minutes another woman is diagnosed with breast cancer and every 13 minutes another woman dies from this dreadful disease. Almost one-third of these deaths could have been prevented if the disease had been discovered in the early stages. The lives lost are those of wives, mothers, daughters, and friends.

Thankfully, a breast cancer diagnosis is no longer a sure death sentence. When discovered and treated in the early stages, the five-year survival rate is 97 percent. Today, there are more than two million breast cancer survivors in the United States. These women live to celebrate birthdays, holidays, every day with their families and friends.

Breast cancer detection opens the door to beating breast cancer, and mammograms are the key to that door. Mammograms can find 40 percent of cancers not detectable during a breast self-exam or a doctor’s exam. It is the most effective method of early detection, yet only 63 percent of American women between the ages of 40 and 64 had a mammogram in the past year. Furthermore, we must search diligently for more effective detection technology to improve upon the mammogram.

Sadly, many women don’t pay for essential screenings. I was proud to be an original cosponsor of the National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection program. Due to this program and other initiatives, a lack of insurance is no longer a barrier to breast cancer survival.

Let’s make the most of October, Breast Cancer Awareness Month; let’s seize this opportunity to take control of our health and our lives. Every one of us is at risk for breast cancer, regardless of age, health, or family history, simply by being women. Let’s say goodbye to needless cancer deaths and hello to breast self-exams, clinical breast exams, and mammograms. Let’s say hello to the thousands of women who are here today and will be here tomorrow thanks to early breast cancer detection and treatment.

FALLEN PATRIOTS TAX RELIEF ACT

SPEECH OF
HON. ADAM B. SCHIFF
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, October 29, 2003

Mr. SCHIFF. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to call attention to a bill scheduled to be heard today regarding the military death benefit paid to survivors of military personnel killed in the line of duty. Under current law, the military death benefit provides a surviving spouse $6,000, of which $3,000 is subject to federal tax.

At the tragic time of a death of a service member, it is an unimaginable loss to the family and represents the greatest sacrifice to our nation. To avoid adding insult to injury, we must make the Military Death Benefit fully tax-exempt. Families of our patriots should not be penalized on a benefit meant to express the nation’s gratitude. The death benefit has historically been exempt from this taxation, yet an oversight in the tax code—after the benefit was raised to $6,000 in 1991—left half of the payment subject to taxation.

The death benefit was designed to assist surviving family with financial needs following the death of the service member. Unfortunately, the current benefit is not sufficient. We should increase this benefit to $12,000 to cover additional expenses. This bill would make this benefit retroactive for military personnel who have died in battle since September 11, 2001.

As of this morning, 232 American service-men and women have died in battle in Iraq after the end to major combat operations in Iraq was announced. This represents 232 cases where a grieving family has had to sustain itself financially with limited funds while suffering the loss of a loved one who will not return home. Let us not let partisan politics get in the way of doing what is right for our fallen soldiers.

WELCOMING PRESIDENT CHEN SHUI-BIAN OF TAIWAN TO UNITED STATES

SPEECH OF
HON. DAVID WU
OF OREGON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, October 29, 2003

Mr. WU. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H. Con. Res. 302, and urge my colleagues to support this important resolution.

For the past half-century, Taiwan and its people have been one of the United States’ most reliable friends and allies in Asia, and around the world. Our two nations have cultivated many mutual interests, including trade, cultural, security in the Western Pacific Ocean, and democracy advancement.

On October 31st, President Chen Shui-bian will be visiting the United States. On behalf of the American people, I would like to extend my warmest welcome to the President, and hope that our two nations will continue to deepen various aspects of our relationship.

As we host President Chen, I urge my colleagues to support this important resolution, and urge Congress and the Administration to support Taiwan’s efforts to secure meaningful participation in international organizations and forums.

IN HONOR OF THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF PEARL BUCK CENTER, EUGENE, OREGON

HON. PETER A. DeFAZIO
OF OREGON
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. DeFAZIO. Mr. Speaker, it is my distinct privilege and honor to congratulate the Pearl Buck Center in Eugene, Oregon on 50 years of supporting families with special needs in Lane County.

When the Pearl Buck Center opened in 1953, it was one of the only educational programs in Oregon providing educational services to children with mental retardation and other developmental disabilities. The Pearl Buck Center has continued this tradition of leadership in the community, the state, and the nation, providing vocational training, employment, education, and case management services to people with developmental disabilities.

Annually, the Pearl Buck Center provides services to over 400 individuals with developmental disabilities and their children. Since it was founded, the Pearl Buck Center has helped thousands of adults and children meet the challenges of their disabilities and find opportunities to succeed in school and on the job; to succeed as parents and as self-sufficient individuals; and to contribute to the community and society.

I would like to acknowledge the vision and dedication that characterizes this organization. I hope that all Americans will reflect on the commitment of the staff and volunteers of the Pearl Buck Center to help our families and sturdy who serve. October 2003 has been designated as National Disability Employment Awareness Month. In this special month, I extend my deepest appreciation and thanks to the Pearl Buck Center for their efforts, past and present, to help individuals with disabilities more fully realize their abilities, potential, and independence. We are all richer for your half-century of service.

RECOGNIZING THE 2D ANNUAL YOUTH CONFERENCE OF THE ASIAN LIVER CENTER AT STANFORD UNIVERSITY

HON. FORTNEY PETE STARK
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I rise in recognition of the 2D annual Youth Conference on Asian and Pacific Islanders’ Health being organized by the Asian Liver Center at Stanford University on November 7 through November 9, 2003.

During this 3-day conference, more than 100 high school students and their families from throughout California will discuss a variety of health issues of particular concern to the API community. These issues include youth identity, teen smoking and cultural competence in healthcare. A major issue to be addressed is the high vulnerability that Asian and Pacific Islanders have to hepatitis B and its related effect of liver cancer.

The Asian and Pacific Islanders community comprise over 11% of my home state of California. Unfortunately, many Americans of Asian and Pacific Island background have no awareness of their heightened risk of acquiring hepatitis B. While the rate of hepatitis B infection for all Americans is less than .5%, for API Americans the rate is 7%—14 times higher.

The symptoms of this illness are often not apparent to the individual until the irreversible effects of liver cancer become evident. This silent killer is often spread from unsuspecting mothers to newborn infants at birth. It is also spread through child-to-child infection as result of contact with shared sores, small breaks in the skin or such activities as sharing a toothbrush. Luckily, the spread of this awful disease can be prevented through a simple series of vaccinations. But, people need to be educated about the need for such vaccinations.

A major goal of the Youth Conference is to create a cadre of emissaries to go out into the API community to increase awareness of this vulnerability to hepatitis B and liver cancer and to educate the populace on means of prevention and treatment. Many in the API community are not aware that there is a vaccine that offers full protection from hepatitis B. Many are not vaccinated because they simply are not aware of the problem. The unnecessary deaths from this disease must be stopped now.

The Asian Liver Center has it right—increased knowledge is the key to prevention. I commend the students and their families for taking time out of their busy lives to become more knowledgeable about these important health issues and to help spread their knowledge throughout their communities. I also commend the staff of the Asian Liver Center at Stanford University for organizing this conference and for their mission of addressing the high incidence of hepatitis B among API youth. This project is clearly one that should be emulated by many other organizations around the country.

REGARDING INDIAN RIVER COMMUNITY COLLEGE

HON. ALCEE L. HASTINGS OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. HASTINGS of Florida. Mr. Speaker, I rise to pay commendation to Indian River Community College, which serves the east coast of Central Florida and many of my constituents. The school has developed an innovative program to combat a local, state and national problem—shortage of teachers. The Indian River Community College pioneered the “Bridge to Teaching” program to recruit and train college graduates to embark on careers in teaching.
In addition to the praise of local school officials benefiting from the recent graduates, the accelerated teacher certification program has been selected as a national model of "best practices" for colleges throughout the country by the National Council for Continuing Education and Training.

For their commitment to quality programs and responsiveness to the needs of the community, Indian River Community College and its President, Ed Massey, deserve the congratulations of Congress.

TRIBUTE TO THE 150TH ANNIVERSARY OF BAUSCH AND LOMB

HON. LOUISE MCINTOSH SLAUGHTER
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Ms. SLAUGHTER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to the 150th anniversary of Bausch & Lomb—a community institution, an outstanding corporation, and a global innovator.

In 1853, a German immigrant named John Jacob Bausch started a modest business selling optical goods. He got off at an uneven start, but in capital from a close friend, Henry Lomb. Bausch promised to make Lomb a full partner if the business prospered. Indeed, the business grew beyond its founders' wildest dreams. Today, Bausch & Lomb is the premiere name, recognized around the world, for eye health products.

Headquartered in my district of Rochester, New York, Bausch & Lomb employs over 11,000 people and generates annual revenues of almost $2 billion. B&L, as it is affectionately known, is also deeply committed to our community and its future. More than 5,000 schools nationwide participate in the Bausch & Lomb Science Award, which is bestowed on selected high school sophomores for excellence in science. Along with a medal, winners are eligible for a Bausch & Lomb scholarship for study at the University of Rochester, and an associated paid summer internship in B&L labs. The B&L science awards and scholarships promote science scholarship and foster the next generation of scientists and researchers.

At its facilities in Rochester, B&L has created some of the most innovative optical equipment and goods in the world. During World War I, B&L produced the special sunglasses for military men. B&L researches invented the first optical-quality glass. And in 1917, Bausch & Lomb introduced the first soft contact lenses, a product that has improved the quality of life for millions of people around the globe. Today, tens of millions depend upon high quality B&L products to improve and maintain one of their most precious assets: their vision.

Mr. Speaker, I am deeply proud of the fine work done by my constituents at Bausch & Lomb every day. One's sight is a precious thing, and it speaks volumes that more people entrust their vision to Bausch & Lomb than to any other company in the world. I salute Bausch & Lomb—company CEO Ronald Zarella, his leadership team, and every one of his outstanding employees—on their 150th anniversary. We all look forward with great anticipation to seeing what the coming years bring to and from Bausch & Lomb.

EULOGY FOR CORINNE MICHEL

HON. STENY H. HOYER
OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, it's with great regret that I come to the floor today to note the untimely passing on October 22 of Corinne Michel, a friend of so many of us privileged to serve in this House, and the wife of former House Minority Leader Bob Michel of Illinois.

As Millie Arends, a former Chief of Staff for Bob Michel, told Copley News Service: "[Corinne] was never affected by all the limelight. Bob used to say to people in politics have their feet planted in midair. Hers were always planted firmly on the ground."

And as Millie Arends, the city treasurer in the Michel's home city of Peoria, Illinois, noted: "She was well-read on everything. Her husband said she was one his best assets."

Corinne Michel was born in Onida, South Dakota, and was raised in St. Paul, Minnesota, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and Chicago, Illinois, where her father managed the Livestock Market News. In 1943, she graduated from Peoria High School, and then met Bob when the two sang in the a cappella choir at Bradley University.

Corinne was an accomplished classical pianist who graduated with two music degrees and then taught music in the Peoria public schools. In 1948, the Michels were married and eight years later Bob was elected to the House, where he served with distinction for 38 years—including 14 as the Republican leader—before retiring in 1995.

While Bob served his constituents and nation in Washington, Corinne raised the couple's four children back in Peoria. She was active in Peoria Players and Central Illinois Youth Symphony and helped bring opera and ballet to Peoria. She also represented Bob at events in his home District.

In Washington, she was active in Congressional spouse organizations and chaired the Republican Women's Federal Forum.

The Michels' son Scott told the Chicago Tribune: "Music played a huge role in her [his mother's] life and she passed it on [to her children]. I would come home from school and there would be classical music on the stereo and she would be playing the piano."

And said our colleague Ray LaHood, a former Chief of Staff for Leader Michel and the successor in his seat, said: "She was one of the loveliest persons I have ever met." A sentiment that all who knew her shared.

He continued: "She never sought the limelight... she always sought her advice and she gave it to him in her own quiet way."

Mr. Speaker, I want to extend my sincerest condolences to my friend, the former Republican Leader, who not only is a great credit to this institution but also an American of uncommon talent and courage.

Bob Michel, today is mourned as an innkeeper in World War II and received two Bronze Stars, the Purple Heart and four battle stars. His life was literally on the line so that succeeding generations could experience the freedoms that we enjoy—and too often take for granted. Today, his will shines through his life.

Let's recognize today that while Bob Michel soared to great heights throughout his career, he always had a steady, able partner on that journey—his beloved wife, Corinne, whose loss we mourn today.

I also want to express my condolences to the Michels' sons, Scott, Bruce and Robin; daughter, Laurie; and three grandsons. Our thoughts and prayers are with them.

VETERANS HEALTH CARE FACILITIES CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT ACT

SPEECH OF
HON. CIRO D. RODRIGUEZ
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, October 29, 2003

Mr. RODRIGUEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 1720, the Veterans Health Care Facilities Capital Improvement Act of 2004.

H.R. 1720, as amended, authorizes a new approach to funding VA construction after the Department addresses a number of compelling needs identified throughout the system. Through this measure we have outlined Congressional priorities for the projects VA should fund, but would allow VA to identify the locations where there is the most need.

I am particularly interested in VA's plan to address the needs of veterans in far south Texas. Parts of my district have the worst access to hospital care in the country. I am especially pleased that the amended version of H.R. 1720 contains a section that authorizes the development of a strategy by the Secretary of Veterans Affairs to address the great need for hospital care for veterans who reside far south Texas. Under H.R. 1720, the Secretary of Veterans Affairs would be required to submit findings to the Senate and House of Representatives no later than January 31, 2004.

Mr. Speaker, it is shameful that veterans in McAllen, Texas, just east of my district, must travel up to 6 hours one-way to reach the San Antonio VA Medical Center. Data collected for VA's Capital Assets Realignment for Enhanced Services (CARES) process showed that veterans in one of the area's markets—the Valley Coastal Bend—have the worst access to acute inpatient hospital care of veterans in any other VA market in the United States.

The time has passed for us to address this crisis in access. This bill will put VA on a sure path for doing that, and I will eagerly await the opportunity to respond to VA's recommendations for increasing access for South Texas veterans. This bill is an important step to ensure that VA keeps its promise to veterans.

80TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE TURKISH REPUBLIC

HON. CHRISTOPHER H. SMITH OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, this week the Turkish Republic, an original participating State of the Organization for Security and Cooperation in Europe, will mark its 80th anniversary. The Turkish Government, led by Prime Minister Recep Tayyip Erdoğan, is working hard toward membership in the European Union. The accession of Turkey to the Union would recognize the important reforms that have already been adopted and accelerate the reform process.

The various constitutional reform packages in recent years have addressed, or begun to address, many longstanding human rights concerns. As Chairman of the Helsinki Commission, I note that a significant change is beginning to take place. For example, the crucial issue of torture is finally receiving the attention necessary to prevent such abuse and address the legacy of this epidemic scourge. Perpetrators of torture are facing punishment by a new generation of state prosecutors. For the first time, police who have committed acts of torture are being brought to justice. However the ongoing use of torture in southeast Turkey in the guise of anti-terrorism is an outrage that Turkey must bring to a halt. It is not enough to pass these reforms; instead, the new legal provisions must be enforced.

There must be a zero tolerance policy in place on torture. Other issues of concern have also benefited from the reform package process. For example, new communities with “foundation” status may now acquire real property, as well as construct new churches and mosques and other structures for religious use. However, there is a considerable gap between the law and its application.

Also, the problem of allowing the return of internally displaced persons who fled the internal conflict with the PKK terrorist organization remains. Renewed efforts to address this problem are promising, such as inviting the UN Rapporteur on IDPs to visit and the possibility that Turkey may host an international conference on internally displaced persons. While Turkey still has a long way to go to successfully eradicate human trafficking in its borders, the government has taken some positive steps. While I am pleased Turkey has expanded its list of countries with source-country programs to improve its victim protection efforts, I want to encourage continued improvement to wipe out this modern day slavery.

Unfortunately, Mr. Speaker, other serious concerns remain. While Turkey works to bring its laws and regulations into conformity with the Copenhagen criteria for EU accession and works toward fulfilling human rights commitments as an OSCE participating State, actions taken by police and other government authorities raise doubts as to the sincerity of these reforms.

The imprisonment this month of Nurcihan Tarkan and Nurulhak Saatcioglu for attending demonstrations four years ago protesting the prohibition against head scarves in public institutions, is deeply troubling. The fact that the government denies women who choose this religious expression the ability to attend state-run universities and work in public buildings, including schools and hospitals, is counterproductive and an encroachment of their right to freedom of expression. Similarly, authorities severely cull the public sharing of religious belief by either Muslims or Christians with the intent to persuade the listener to another point of view. These limitations on religious clothing and speech stifle freedom of religion and expression and are contrary to Turkey’s OSCE commitments.

At a fundamental level, the inability of religious groups to maintain property holdings is problematic, as the Office of Foundations has closed and seized properties of non-Muslim religious groups for contrived and spurious reasons. Groups most affected by this policy are the Syrian Orthodox, Armenian Apostolic and Greek Orthodox churches, which have also experienced problems when their historic buildings need repair and maintain existing buildings or purchase new ones. I hope the application of the aforementioned reforms will rectify this problem.

The most notable property issue concerns the continued closure of the Orthodox Theological School of Halki on the island of Heybeli in the Sea of Marmara. Considering the reportedly promising conversations between the church and government, I urge Turkey to return full control to the Ecumenical Patriarchate and allow religious training to resume, in keeping with relevant OSCE commitments.

Furthermore, religious groups not envisioned by the Lausanne Treaty have no legal route for purchasing property and building facilities, since the new legal provisions affect only communities with the official status of a “foundation.” As no process exists for these other groups to obtain foundation status, they are forced to meet in private apartments. This lack of official status has real consequences, since provincial governments and the Ministry of Interior have initiated efforts to close these meeting places, leaving the smaller Protestant groups and Jehovah’s Witnesses without any options. Churches and their leaders in Diyarbakir, Mersin, Iskenderun and other towns all face troubling government persecutions and threats of closure. I urge Turkey to create a transparent and straightforward process to grant religious groups so desiring official recognition, so that they too can enjoy the right to establish and freely maintain accessible places of worship of assembly.

The continued incarceration of four Kurdish former parliamentarians: Leyla Zana, Hatip Dicle, Orhan Dogan and Selim Sadak is particularly disturbing. Convicted in 1994, they have won their appeal to the European Court of Human Rights and were granted a retrial under recent Government of Turkey legal reforms. The retrial began March 28, and after eight sessions, most recently October 17, the court has refused to release the defendants. Their continued imprisonment is an outrage.

Mr. Speaker, on the 80th anniversary of the Turkish Republic, the initial legal reforms put in place by the government display Turkey’s— or at least the legislators in Ankara’s—apparent willingness to address much needed reforms in human rights practices. But actions speak louder than words. We need to see implementation of these reforms seriously carried out before we can rest assured that Turkey has met minimal OSCE human rights commitments. As Turkey strives to enter the European Union, I applaud the efforts that have been made to date and urge Ankara to intensify the reform process.

The imprisonment this month of Nurcihan Tarkan and Nurulhak Saatcioglu for attending demonstrations four years ago protesting the prohibition against head scarves in public institutions, is deeply troubling. there continues to be a lack of focus on a culturally specific domestic violence outlook. Studies have found that minority and immigrant communities face additional barriers to seek help, such as cultural beliefs and lack of resources in agencies like translators and bilingual materials. The "Domestic Violence Prevention, Education and Awareness Act" would amend the Violence Against Women Act to provide grants and develop informational public media campaigns specifically targeting racial and ethnic minority and immigrant communities. This will bring much needed attention to racial and ethnic minority and immigrant communities, communities that are often overlooked and undererved.

While there are services out there designed to help women combat domestic violence, how do these services help those women who are not able to communicate with the counselors at these services, are afraid of being discriminated against for accessing these services, or who don't know what services are available to them?

It is so important in this fight against domestic violence to offer these women all the support we possibly can. We need to create avenues necessary to increase the number of survivors of domestic violence and make sure they are able to move on and rebuild their lives.

Arnold Saavedra

Hon. Solomon P. Ortiz

In the House of Representatives

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. ORTIZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to an extraordinary educator and patriot, Arnold Saavedra. The product of a strong family, he was raised with his three siblings to understand the importance of education.

His parents taught their children that teachers have a mighty impact on the lives of the students they teach. His father taught in a one-room schoolhouse in Duval County. The lessons of his family were not lost on any of the children; each one became a teacher, on a mission to make the lives of children better through education.

One day when he was in the 7th grade, Mr. Saavedra glanced out the classroom window and saw the football coach out in the field with the players. At that moment, he knew he wanted to be a coach and teacher.

He taught and coached at a number of Corpus Christi Independent School District schools from 1973 through this year. In July 2003, he moved to the Adult Learning Center as the Lead Administrator to apply lessons in learning to adults.

In those years when he taught classes and coached young athletes on fields of play, he taught the same lesson he'd learned in his parents' home... the key to success in life begins with an education. For 30 years he has shared those lessons with the young people of Corpus Christi. His legacy is in the success of his students.

While at Texas A&M College, Mr. Saavedra met and married his college sweetheart, Ida Ortega Saavedra, and she has been his most constant source of support. They have two children, Tricia Dunlap and Arnold Andrew Saavedra, and a granddaughter, Sage Elizabeth Dunlap. Mr. Saavedra will retire on November 25, 2003, after more than 30 years with the Corpus Christi Independent School District. I ask my colleagues to join me in commending him for his life's work.

Expressing Gratitude to Members of the U.S. Armed Forces Deployed in Operation Restore Hope in Somalia in 1993

Speech of Hon. Ron Paul of Texas

In the House of Representatives

Tuesday, October 28, 2003

Mr. PAUL. Mr. Speaker, I voted in favor of this legislation because I do believe it is important to express our gratitude to our armed forces, and particularly to remember those who lost their lives in Somalia in Operation Restore Hope. Indeed, members of our armed forces have been asked to make extraordinary sacrifices in this post Cold War era, as US military presence across the globe has, despite what many of us hoped, increased significantly and military deployments into hostile situations have also increased.

Mr. Speaker, while I do want to join those praising members of our armed forces, I must point out that legislation like H. Con. Res. 291 is dishonest and actually disrespectful to our military. It is obvious that praising the soldiers is only one small part of this legislation. Under cover of this praise is an attempt to re-write history and to praise a foreign policy that sends our military into useless and meaningless battle zones, like Somalia, where they are asked to fight and die for a cause completely unrelated to the US national interest. It is shameful for legislators to wrap themselves in the sacrifice of our troops in praise of a policy that does not serve the United States and ends up getting these same troops killed and maimed.

The legislation states, falsely, that our failed Somali nation-building fiasco was somehow related to the war against terrorism. This attempt at revisionist history is more than dishonest: it is likely interventions like these actually increased resentment of the US and may have even led to more recruits to terrorist organizations.

This legislation expresses gratitude for our troops "provid[ing] humanitarian assistance to the people of Somalia in 1993." I see nowhere in our Constitution a provision that allows the United States armed forces to be used for the purpose of "provid[ing] humanitarian assistance" to any foreign country or people. Our armed forces are to be used in defense of our homeland. Pence. So I am deeply disturbed by legislation such as this. Yes, we must honor troops, but we cannot honor a foreign policy that sends them into harm's way for "nation-building" or "humanitarian assistance" or any other reason not directly related to the defense of the United States. I hope the next time we see legislation congratulating the brave service of our armed forces it is more honest. Our servicemembers deserve at least this, don't they?

The Domestic Violence Courts Assistance Act

Speech of Hon. Hilda L. Solis of California

In the House of Representatives

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Ms. SOLIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in an effort to help end the cycle of violence against women.

I have introduced the "Domestic Violence Courts Assistance Act" because it is important to recognize the prevalence of domestic violence in our community and take the necessary steps to eradicate this problem. A study released earlier this year estimated that nearly half of the adult population in my home state of California reported knowing a victim of domestic violence. In the United States, nearly 2 million women are victims of domestic violence. While there have been great strides to build upon and improve domestic violence legislation, the high rate of domestic violence victims is evidence for the continuing need for attention to this problem.

This bill will help provide grant money from the Violence Against Women Act to be used for establishing domestic violence courts. Because many local court systems are overwhelmed with the number of cases that come before them everyday, many domestic violence cases are not given the attention and time sensitivity that is crucial in raising the conviction rate of offenders. The bill also makes clear that funds can be used for translation and interpretation services, which is critical for domestic violence victims who are limited English proficient.
We all need to contribute in this effort to end violence against women. Violence against women has far ranging affects. It affects the victim herself, the batterer, the children who are witness to the battering, and friends and family of the victim.

It is our responsibility to give a voice to those who cannot speak out for themselves and provide strength and support to those who need it. I urge my colleagues to help make a difference in the struggle to combat domestic violence by supporting the “Domestic Violence Courts Assistance Act”.

Mr. ORTIZ. Mr. Speaker, due to official business, I was unable to vote during the following rollcall votes. Had I been present, I would have voted as indicated below:

- Rollcall No. 576, "yes;" rollcall No. 577, "yes;" rollcall No. 578, "yes;" and rollcall No. 579, "yes."

ENCOURAGING PEOPLE’S REPUBLIC OF CHINA TO FULFILL COMMITMENTS UNDER INTERNATIONAL TRADE AGREEMENTS, SUPPORT UNITED STATES MANUFACTURING SECTOR, AND ESTABLISH MONETARY AND FINANCIAL MARKET REFORMS

SPEECH OF

HON. RON PAUL

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, October 29, 2003

Mr. PAUL. Mr. Speaker, like all Americans, I am concerned about the loss of jobs in America’s manufacturing sector and the role currency manipulation plays in that loss. For many years, I have warned my colleagues that China’s monetary policy is endangering America’s economy. The economic difficulties currently facing this country are a classic example of the harm resulting from a boom-and-bust cycle caused by an inflationary monetary policy. An open debate on monetary issues is therefore long overdue.

However, instead of debating America’s monetary policy, we are debating China’s monetary policy. Specifically, the goal of this resolution is to pressure China to change the valuation of its currency. Whatever short-term benefit our manufacturers may gain from this action, the policies urged today are not in the long-term interest of the American people.

In arguing for fluctuating rates, the backers of H. Res. 414 are demanding that the Chinese Government adopt an irrational policy. A sound economy requires a sound and dependable unit of economic measurement. Yet, by definition, under fluctuating rates the currency, which serves as the basic unit of economic measurement, will not be sound and dependable. Instead, that value will change depending on the whims of politicians and the perceived economic needs of politically powerful special interests.

China, in fact, has done very well with a fixed measurement of value. China’s economic growth rate is high; China is also exporting many products into our market while our domestic producers are suffering. Therefore, China makes a good scapegoat for our economic problems. Demanding that the Chinese government adopt a convenient deviation from addressing the real economic problems facing our country.

Instead of having fluctuating currency exchange rates and the inevitable instability that accompanies them, we should be working to establish a gold-backed currency whose value is determined by the market. This would provide an objective measurement of the value of economic goods and services and thus strengthen the economy by freeing it from the negative effects of our unstable monetary policy.

I would also urge my colleagues to consider the benefits we receive from our relationship with China. Of course, consumers benefit from lower-priced goods. Adopting the policy urged by supporters of this bill would cause consumers to pay higher prices for our consumers’ wealth. Other producers would suffer as a result of the consumers decreased purchasing power.—While there is not an organized lobby arguing against the policy recommendations of H. Res. 414, I doubt many of our constituents want to increase the prices they pay for goods and services.

Congress should also consider how the Chinese benefit the United States Government by holding our debt. The dollars the Chinese acquire by selling us goods and services must be returned to the United States. Since the Chinese are not buying an equivalent amount of American goods and services, they are using the dollars to finance our extravagant spending.

In fact, Mr. Speaker, our ability to continue to fund the welfare-warfare state without destroying the American economy depends on foreigners buying our debt. Perhaps we should think twice before we start bullying and brow-beating our foreign creditors to change their economic or other policies to our liking.

H. Res. 414 also fails to recognize that sovereign countries have a duty to fashion economic policies that benefit the United States and it is a proper concern of Congress if these countries fail to do so. H. Res. 414 attempts to justify Congressional interference in the internal economic affairs of China by claiming that China is not living up to its obligations as a member of the World Trade Organization (WTO). I would remind my colleagues that the WTO has oftentimes ruled against the United States and Congress is right now fighting laws to please the WTO. Ceding control over United States tax and trade policy to this international organization violates the United States Constitution and is contrary to the interests of American citizens. Therefore, it is not wise to endorse the WTO process by encouraging other countries to submit to WTO control.

Instead of promoting global economic government, the United States Congress should reform those policies that reduce our manufacturers’ competitiveness. Recently, a financial journalist visited businessmen who are launching new enterprises in China. When he asked them why they chose to invest in China, they answered: “It is so much easier to start a business in China than in the United States, especially in places like Massachusetts and California.” This answer should send a clear message to every lawmaker in America: the taxes and regulations imposed on American businesses are damaging economic growth and killing jobs. If we were serious about creating jobs, we would be working on an aggressive program of cutting taxes and repealing needless regulations.

Congress can also improve America’s competitive position by ending the practice of forcing American workers to subsidize their foreign competitors through organizations such as the Export-Import Bank and the International Monetary Fund. I have introduced the Steel Financing Fairness Act (H. R. 3072) to accomplish this goal. H. R. 3072 prevents taxpayer funds from being sent to countries, such as China, that subsidize their steel industries. Of course, our ultimate goal should be to end all taxpayer subsidies of foreign corporations and governments.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I remind my colleagues that stability in currencies is something we should seek, not something we should condemn. Instead of urging China to adopt a floating rate, Congress should be working to adopt a stable, commodity-backed currency whose value is determined by the market and encourage other countries to adopt a market-based currency. This will benefit American workers, entrepreneurs, and consumers. Congress should also strengthen America’s economy by reducing taxes and repealing unnecessary and unconstitutional regulations and stop forcing American taxpayers to subsidize their foreign competitors.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO BILL BULLOCK

HON. SCOTT McNINIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. McNINIS. Mr. Speaker, it is with profound sadness that I rise today to recognize the life and contributions of Bill Bullock, who recently passed away after a long and courageous fight with cancer. Bill, who lived in Glenwood Springs, will long be remembered for his service to our country, his contributions to his community and his unyielding love for his family.

Bill was born and raised in the neighboring state of Wyoming. It was there, while attending the University of Wyoming, that he met and married his wife Doris in 1942. Following his marriage, Bill answered his country’s call to duty and joined the Army to fight in World War II, serving honorably as a gunner on a B-24 bomber.

Following the war, Bill moved to Glenwood Springs, where he entered the retail business with his father and established himself as a leader in the Colorado business community. Under Bill’s guidance, “Bill Bullock’s” apparel stores spread throughout Western Colorado. Because of his dedication to his business, and commitment to excellence, Bill was named Colorado’s “Apparel Retailer of the Year” in 1974.

Despite his business success, Bill never lost sight of the importance of the people who shopped in his stores. Bill’s love for people was clearly illustrated by his eagerness to get to work each day, looking forward to friendly conversations with his friends, neighbors and customers.

Mr. Speaker, the dedication and selflessness demonstrated throughout Bill's life certainly deserves the recognition of this body of Congress and this nation. There is no question that Bill will be remembered as a great businessman. However, he will best be remembered as a selfless person, a great friend and dedicated family man. It is my privilege to pay tribute to a man who dedicated his life to his country, family and community. Bill's life was the embodiment of all that makes this country great and I consider it an honor to have been Bill's friend.

WELCOMING PRESIDENT CHEN SHUI-BIAN OF TAIWAN TO UNITED STATES

SPEECH OF
HON. DAN BURTON OF INDIANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, October 29, 2003

Mr. BURTON of Indiana. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H. Con. Res. 302. I also congratulate my colleagues in supporting this resolution that expresses the sense of Congress welcoming President Chen Shui-bian of Taiwan to the United States on October 31, 2003.

Taiwan is a beacon of liberty and democracy in a region of the world where human rights and personal freedoms are routinely denied, and I believe that this Chamber should recognize Taiwan's achievements and congratulate President Chen on his outstanding leadership.

I ask my colleagues to consider the following facts: Taiwan has become one of the world's freest nations, and is now one of the most successful models of rapid reform in the region. Fifty years ago, Taiwan was a closed authoritarian society with no freedom of speech, no freedom of assembly, and no right to vote. Today, Taiwan is a full-fledged democracy. It has robust political parties, and virtually every office in Taiwan is contested through free and fair elections.

Taiwan supports the same democratic, economic and security values, which we as a Nation cherish. Taiwan shares our belief in free-market economics, which has resulted in Taiwan providing its people with one of the highest standards of living in Asia. Furthermore, U.S. strategic interests in the region are closely intertwined with Taiwan's security in the region. In addition, Taiwan and the U.S. share the same respect for human rights. In fact, I would like to take this opportunity to congratulate President Chen Shui-bian for receiving the Human Rights Award from the International League for Human Rights.

In a region of 30 million, it provides us with a golden opportunity to affirm our friendship and support for the free people of Taiwan. Because Taiwan is such a steadfast ally of the U.S., I am a proud cosponsor of H. Con. Res. 302. I also wish to thank my colleague from Florida, Mr. WEXLER, for introducing this resolution and the House Democratic leadership for scheduling a vote on it. I believe that Congress should extend a warm and public welcome to President Chen of Taiwan upon his arrival in the United States on October 31, 2003. President Chen's visit will serve to broaden and deepen the strong alliance between the United States and Taiwan. Also, his visit is of tremendous importance to all Americans who join me in recognizing the value of a longstanding friendship between the U.S. and Taiwan.

Once again, Mr. Speaker, I ask that my colleagues join me in support of this resolution, and I offer a hearty welcome to President Chen and wish him great success upon his visit to the U.S.

SALUTING JESSIE ROBERSON
HON. JOHN J. DUNCAN, JR.
OF TENNESSEE
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. DUNCAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to salute and congratulate Jessie Roberson, Department of Energy's (DOE) Assistant Secretary for Environmental Management, and Gerald Boyd, DOE's Oak Ridge Operations Manager, his team and their many partners, for recently winning the prestigious Phoenix Award from the Environmental Protection Agency—for their outstanding local reindustrialization program and for excellence in brownfield redevelopment.

This Phoenix Award, which is comparable to winning a Hollywood Oscar in the brownfield development world, was recently presented at the International Brownfields 2003 Conference in Portland, Oregon.

The Department of Energy's office in Oak Ridge, along with the Community Reuse Organization of East Tennessee and the Bechtel Jacobs reindustrialization team, has worked on remediating and redeveloping the former K-25 Gaseous Diffusion Plant in Oak Ridge, now called the East Tennessee Technology Park, into a thriving new economic development model celebrated by brownfield developers around the world.

Sixty years ago, the K-25 facility was constructed to help America win a war. From 1943 through most of the Cold War, this facility served as an example to the world of our Nation's technological capabilities. This technology played an essential role in our Nation's security. I believe it is a great testament to the men and women who made this work possible that today, the East Tennessee Technology Park is once again an example of American ingenuity. From preserving our Nation's freedom to helping restore our Nation's environment, those working at the East Tennessee Technology Park are recognized as leaders.

They have taken dirty, abandoned government-owned properties and cleaned them up and turned them into available commercial properties to help create new jobs in our region. To date, more than 1,200 jobs have been created, with over $40 million in new annual payroll.

As chairman of the Water Resources and Environment Subcommittee of the House Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, I am proud that EPA's region 4 office has recognized this outstanding example right in the heart of the Tennessee Valley Science and Technology Corridor of how we can work to transform abandoned, industrial properties into productive new economic development projects that help create new jobs and new opportunities for more Americans.

I ask the entire House to join me in thanking and congratulating DOE and their partners for their innovation and this outstanding achievement.

INTRODUCTION OF LEGISLATION CALLING FOR THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT TO BUY RECREATIONAL LAND FROM THE CITY OF CRAIG, ALASKA

HON. DON YOUNG OF ALASKA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. YOUNG of Alaska. Mr. Speaker, the legislation I am introducing today calls for the federal government to buy 349 acres of recreational land from the City of Craig, Alaska. The land includes a trail leading to Mount Sunnahaa, its trailhead, a parking area, and mountaintop property. The legislation requires an appraisal before purchase. The bill also allows for a $250,000 appropriation to the U.S. Forest Service for trail maintenance and property rehabilitation.

I am introducing the bill at the request of Prince of Wales Island residents. The City of Craig, with the economic base of Wales Island—which is the third largest island in the country. The town contains the major retail shopping and service outlets on the island. Craig also has the most active and largest commercial fishing harbor and fleet on the island. But the local economy, like many other parts of South East Alaska, has suffered from a downturn in the timber industry. In the early 1980's, the city and Prince of Wales Island were the center of a solid timber economy that provided thousands of direct and indirect jobs to the Island. Much of that is now gone as a result of terrible Federal forest management policies. According to the Alaska Department of Labor, unemployment rates in Craig regularly exceed 20 percent. This is more than twice the national average. This bill will help community expansion and development as well as facilitate Forest Service land management.

One of the Forest Service's main administrative facilities, the Craig Ranger District Station, is located in Craig. The Craig Ranger has management authority over approximately one million acres on Prince of Wales Island. Right now, there is not any Forest Service land near the Ranger Station. In an unusual situation for Alaska, the Ranger Station is an in-holding among private, state, and City owned land. So when visitors come to the Craig Ranger Station, they orient themselves to the Forest, there is no onsite recreation. However, the city of Craig owns almost 350 acres of prime recreational land including a dedicated trail in the immediate vicinity from the Ranger Station. The Forest Service should own this land so that it can integrate the parcel into its land management plans.

The property to be acquired by the city of Craig is a cannery site dating from the early 1900's which has not been used since the early 1980's. It is prime land for the city to re-develop in order to provide economic stimulus in Craig. The parcel of Craig to develop a good port and harbor and to provide first class land for retail merchants and other community services.
The Federal Government will receive equal value in land from the city. The passage of this Act is good for the public and for the residents of Craig.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO ARTHUR MOSS

HON. SCOTT McINNIS
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, it is with a heavy heart that I rise before this body of Congress and this nation today to pay tribute to the life and memory of an outstanding citizen and community leader. Arthur Moss of Grand Junction, Colorado recently passed away at the age of eighty-four. Art was very active in his community and leaves a legacy in Grand Junction worthy of praise. As his family and friends mourn his loss, I am honored to pay tribute to his life and accomplishments here today.

Born in Canada and raised in Michigan, Art moved to Grand Junction in 1955. He was a community leader from the beginning, serving as the first Director of Club 20, an organization dedicated to representing the concerns and interests of the communities of Western Colorado. Art helped bring Grand Valley Day Break, an adult daycare program, to Grand Junction. In addition, he served as President of the Western Colorado American Boy Scouts and Chairman of Mesa County Republicans. An endless list of organizations have benefited from Art’s influence, from the Masonic Lodge to the United Fund. No matter what the cause, Art always helped get the job done.

Mr. Speaker, Arthur Moss was a true community leader. Unconcerned with seeking credit for his work, Art worked tirelessly to improve his community. He was a dedicated and driven man who wanted the best for his friends and neighbors. While Art has passed on, his legacy is sure to live for many years to come. I am honored to join with my colleagues in remembering the life and accomplishments of Arthur Moss here today, and my thoughts are with his family during this difficult time.

SUPPORT OF NATIONAL BREAST CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

HON. MADELEINE Z. BORDALLO OF GUAM
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Ms. BORDALLO. Mr. Speaker, today I join my colleagues in support of the fight against breast cancer. I am told that this year 211,300 new cases of breast cancer are being diagnosed. A few years ago, two of those cases were my nieces, Donna and Catherine.

I will never forget their experiences in fighting the disease, the pain and side effects of treatment. I will never forget the feelings of fear and helplessness that their parents and the rest of us felt because we could not take away their suffering.

So today as we celebrate the progress made in the fight against breast cancer, I want to express my gratitude to those who work to raise awareness and who encourage self-testing and early screening. I also commend those involved in research, those who fight to fund that research, and the survivors of breast cancer and their families for the strength and support they provide to other victims. Without your efforts, Donna, Catherine, and many other breast cancer victims would not be here today.

To my colleagues in Congress, I urge you to do your part in the fight against breast cancer: let us ensure that when the reauthorization of the Mammography Quality Standards Act and the National Breast and Cervical Cancer Early Detection Program comes before us, we provide the necessary funding so that one day there will be no need for Breast Cancer Awareness Month.

MEDIACID PSYCHIATRIC HOSPITAL FAIRNESS ACT OF 2003

HON. JIM McCРERу
OF LOUISIANA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. McCРERу. Mr. Speaker, last week, I introduced H.R. 3363, the Medicaid Psychiatric Hospital Fairness Act of 2003. This measure would allow states to use federal matching funds to pay for the care of Medicaid recipients between the ages of 21 and 65 in IMDs if the patient is admitted pursuant to EMTALA or as a result of a transfer from another hospital and required immediate in-patient hospital care.

The measure is supported by the National Alliance for the Mentally Ill—the country’s largest advocacy organization for the mentally ill, the National Association of Psychiatric Health Systems, the American Hospital Association, the American Psychiatric Association, and the National Association of County Behavioral Healthcare Directors.

Mr. Speaker, I urge swift action on this legislation that will help ensure nongovernmental psychiatric hospitals remain open to serve one of our most vulnerable individuals with serious and persistent mental illness.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO BERNICE TOONE COOPER

HON. SCOTT McINNIS
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. McINNIS. Mr. Speaker, I rise before this body of Congress and this nation today to pay tribute to the life and service of a true woman of exceptional character. Bernice Cooper of Durango, Colorado passed away recently at the age of 90. As her family and friends mourn their loss, I would like to tell my colleagues about this remarkable woman here today.

Born in 1913 in Wisconsin and raised in California, Bernice moved to Colorado in 1940. Trained as a nurse, she devoted 40 years to her profession, and many Durango residents chose to receive care in the hospital where she worked, simply to have Bernice be their nurse. Several physicians with whom she regularly worked regarded her as the best nurse in town.
Bernie was also known to have one of the biggest hearts in town. She had an infectious love for people and always had a hot meal ready when her many friends stopped by to visit. Known for her bright, loving eyes and scintillating smile, even people Bernie had met decades before in the hospital would stop to greet her on the street.

Mr. Speaker, although Bernice Toonen Cooper is no longer with us, her charitable, loving spirit left an indelible mark on countless residents in Durango. Bernie was a true credit to her profession and her community, and I am honored to tell her story here today. My thoughts and prayers are with her family and friends during this difficult time.

TRIBUTE TO ROBERT AND SHIRLEY FORTINSKY FOR BEING HONORED AS "AMUDEI TZIBOR"—"PILLARS OF THE COMMUNITY" BY TEMPLE ISRAEL

HON. PAUL E. KANJORSKI
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. KANJORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to call the attention of the House of Representatives to Robert and Shirley Fortinsky as they are honored as "Amudei Tzibor"—"Pillars of the Community" at the 81st Annual Dinner Meeting of Temple Israel on Sunday, November 2, at the Woodlands Inn and Resort in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, Bob and Shirley Fortinsky have built successful businesses and have continued what is a family tradition of hard work and success, commitment to their community, and a focus on the value of education. They both have been long involved in Temple Israel and are noted for their philanthropy and community activism.

Robert is a Past President and Chairman of the Board of Trustees of Temple Israel. He was the Chairman of the 1972 United Jewish Appeal campaign, the 1985 Israel Bond campaign, and the 1989 Pennsylvania drive for the Appeal campaign, the 1985 Israel Bond campaign, and the 1989 Pennsylvania drive for the Jewish United Fund.

Mr. Speaker, Bob and Shirley Fortinsky have been an integral part of the Wilkes-Barre community over the last century. The story of the Nativity Parish begins on February 2, 1902 when Reverend Michael J. Hoban, Bishop of Scranton, announced that a new parish would be built on the corner of Hemlock Street and South Webster Avenue. The Parish, built on the same property where the first Catholic Church in Scranton stood, would be called Nativity of Our Lord.

Led by Father James A. O’Reilly, the Nativity Parish celebrated its first mass on November 1, 1903 at St. John’s T.A.B. Hall. It is this date that marks the official beginning of the Nativity Parish.

On May 23, 1904, new ground was broken for the present Nativity Church. A few months later, on July 31st, Bishop Hoban laid the first cornerstone. On July 16, 1905, the lower Church was officially dedicated.

After Father O’Reilly’s passing in the spring of 1907, Reverend John J. Loughran was appointed Pastor of the Nativity. He would remain with the Church until his own passing in the spring of 1940. During his long and distinguished tenure with the Parish, Dr. Loughran oversaw the expansion of the Nativity Parish, including the additions of the Rectory in 1909, upper Church in 1911, and the school and convent in 1933.

Mr. Speaker, because of the leadership displayed by Bishop Hoban, Reverend O’Reilly, and Reverend Loughran, the Nativity Parish became an exemplary institution in the city of Scranton. The dedication of these men to both their religion and their community resulted in a beautiful Church being built to serve the residents of Scranton.

Today, under the stewardship of Reverend Joseph R. Kelly, the congregation remains a vital organization for the City of Scranton and her people. As the new Congressman representing the City of Scranton, it is a privilege to recognize the 100th anniversary of the Nativity Parish.

TRIBUTE TO DR. PAUL R. JONES

HON. MICHAEL C. BURGESS
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. BURGESS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today during National Chemistry Week to recognize Dr. Paul R. Jones from the University of North Texas, which is located in my district, for his outstanding career as an educator and researcher in the field of Organic Chemistry.

On Tuesday, Congress voted to pass H. Res. 395 that recognized the importance of national contributions made by those involved with the field of chemistry. I am proud to recognize the work of Dr. Paul R. Jones.

As a student at the University of North Texas, I had the opportunity to take one of Dr. Jones Chemistry courses which helped inspire me to pursue a career in medicine. Dr. Jones received his PhD from Purdue University in 1966 and has taught at The University of North Texas for the last thirty-five years. While educating eager students, Dr. Jones served as an officer in the American Chemistry Society and the Alpha Chi Sigma Professional Chemistry Fraternity.

Dr. Jones once said that the greatest fulfillment he gets out of life is seeing his students succeed; and I am here to say that his work as an educator truly did inspire me, and I’m sure countless other students. Dr. Paul R. Jones should serve as motivation for other educators.

Once again, I’d like to express my gratitude to Dr. Paul R. Jones for his dedication to the field of Chemistry, and for the knowledge he provided to me and thousands of other students over his long, successful career at The University of North Texas.

A PROCLAMATION HONORING CLINTON BEAMON JONES IV

HON. ROBERT W. NEY
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. NEY. Mr. Speaker: Whereas, Clinton Beamon Jones III is celebrating the arrival of his son, Clinton Beamon Jones IV; and

Whereas, Clinton Beamon was born on the sixteenth Day of August, 2003, and weighed five pounds and ten ounces; and

Whereas, Jones is proud to welcome his new son into his home; and

Whereas, Clinton Beamon will be a blessed addition to his family, bringing love, joy and happiness for many years to come;

Therefore, I join with Members of Congress and Congressional Staff in celebrating with Clinton Beamon Jones III and wishing Clinton Beamon Jones IV a very Happy Birthday.

HON. PAUL E. KANJORSKI
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. KANJORSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the Nativity Parish in Scranton, Pennsylvania as it celebrates its 100th Anniversary on November 1st. I ask that my colleagues pay tribute to this Parish that has been an integral part of the Scranton community over the last century.

MOTION TO INSTRUCT CONFERREES ON H.R. 6, ENERGY POLICY ACT OF 2003

SPEECH OF
HON. JOHNNY ISAKSON
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Wednesday, October 29, 2003

Mr. ISAKSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to oppose a motion offered by Representative...
E2192

COMMITTEE ON ENERGY AND HOME;

SHERMAN, DENNIS FRANK;

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Eddie Bernice Johnson to instruct the House conferrees on H.R. 6, The Energy Policy Act of 2003. This motion would strike language in the conference draft that would prevent areas of the country from having to bear the economic burden of transported air emissions from other areas.

In 1998 the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) developed a policy that allowed the EPA to extend the attainment date for moderate or serious ozone non-attainment areas that were affected by transported pollution. That policy was successfully challenged in court in several regions of the country, where courts ruled that the EPA did not have the authority to extend the ozone attainment dates for those areas. The proposal in the energy bill is a good proposal that would simply codify a 5-year old policy designed to prevent an unjust result. I think we can all agree that downwind areas not attaining ozone standards should not be penalized for pollution they do not generate. An area that is “bumped up” to a higher non-attainment classification automatically forces a region into a more stringent and expensive regulatory regime through no fault of their own.

The codification of the 1998 policy allows the EPA flexibility in remedying this situation but does not let downwind areas off the hook for attainment of the ozone standards. In order to qualify, an area must be a victim of pollution transported from another area that significantly contributes to non-attainment in the downwind area. The EPA must approve a plan that complies with all requirements of the Clean Air Act (CAA) that are currently applicable to the areas, as well as includes any additional measures needed to reach attainment by the date for the upwind area. Finally, the extension of any date must provide for attainment of CAA standards “as expeditiously as practicable” but in no case later than the time in which upwind controls are in place.

In my State of Georgia and, more specifically, the metro Atlanta area, we have been working hard to improve our air quality and I am pleased to report that based upon the last 3 years of air quality data, we are almost in attainment for the 1-hour ozone standard. In fact, one bad air day, at one monitoring station has kept Atlanta from attaining the one-hour standard. As you know to be in compliance, each monitor must not have more than 3 “exceedances” over a 3-year period. The Conyers station reported 4 “exceedances” between 2001 and 2002.

Striking the language in H.R. 6 will roll back years of progress that we have made in the Atlanta region, while at the same time forcing us to adopt a regimen that will only serve to hurt business, commerce, and government through more regulation. The Senate and House energy conferees are working hard to achieve a balanced, long-term energy bill that provides adequate energy supplies at affordable prices. I urge my colleagues to vote against the Eddie Bernice Johnson motion to instruct and to give the EPA the flexibility it needs in implementing its ozone policy.

In the last couple of years, Congress has begun to pay more attention to dietary supplement safety. Senator Durbin held hearings on ephedra and has introduced comprehensive legislation to ensure that supplements are safe. The House Commerce Committee has also held hearings, and today we are introducing legislation that would enhance FDA’s authority to protect consumers from unsafe products. This is a common sense bill that contains many of the same elements as the Durbin bill and responds to concerns raised by consumers, medical groups, parents, and providers. They have said it is time to mend the Dietary Supplement Health and Education Act in order to protect consumers from the few dietary supplements—like ephedra—that could pose a real risk to health and safety. The bill accomplishes this goal in four steps. First, the bill assures that the Food and Drug Administration has basic information about who makes dietary supplements. If a problem surfaces with a particular product, FDA will know who makes the product and can quickly inspect the plant or take other appropriate action.

Second, the bill assures that FDA receives information about adverse effects associated with supplements. This information will allow the agency to spot signs of danger. The agency can then investigate further. This provision would prevent a repeat of the ephedra disaster, where one manufacturer denied the existence of thousands of adverse event reports for years.

Third, the bill allows FDA to prohibit the sale to minors of supplement products that may cause significant harm. This is a very important power that FDA does not currently have. There are products being targeted to kids for which there is little or no evidence of safety but there is real evidence of risk. Many of these products are sold as performance enhancers and contain ephedra or steroid-like substances.

Fourth, the bill gives FDA the tools to understand whether a potentially risky dietary supplement is dangerous or safe. Imagine a dietary supplement that is linked by physicians to serious illnesses and deaths. Under current law, this product is essentially assumed safe until demonstrated by FDA to be unsafe. This is a burden of proof that literally requires that more and more consumers be seriously injured or killed before the agency can take action. Under our bill, FDA can require that a manufacturer of a product provide evidence of safety if FDA has evidence that the product may pose serious risks to consumers. Most manufacturers say they already have substantiation of safety in their files. If this is true, this requirement should not pose an undue burden on manufacturers.

Let me make one comment about what this bill does not do. This legislation will not in any way affect the regulation of vitamins and minerals. Vitamins and minerals are expressly exempted from this legislation.

If passed, this legislation will address many of the concerns of medical groups, athletic organizations and leagues, and parents while preserving access to low-risk dietary supplements. It is a common sense approach that is urgently needed.

Although this bill does not specifically address stimulants, like ephedra, in dietary supplements, I am very concerned about the risks associated with these products. These products can raise blood pressure and increase metabolism, which may lead to a number of serious problems, including increased susceptibility to heatstroke, as well as heart attack, stroke, and sudden death. I have written to FDA Commissioner McClellan asking him if there is any evidence that proves that these stimulant ingredients that are being marketed in “ephedra-free” products are any safer than ephedra, and asking him if FDA shares the concern of many experts who believe that stimulants pose particular health risks.

Tribute to Jon J. Fey

HON. WILLIAM O. LIPINSKI
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. LIPINSKI. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Jon Fey for his 27 years of dedication to the community of Berwyn, Illinois, located in my District on the southwest side of Chicago. Mr. Fey will be presented with the Berwyn Development Corporation’s 2003 “Charles E. Piper Award” at a distinguished ceremony on November 8, 2003.

I am honored to pay tribute to Jon for his dedication and years of service to building a better Berwyn. He is the founder and owner of SWF Products, a national promotional products business on Ogden Avenue in Berwyn. Jon graduated from Miami University, Ohio, earning a degree in Business Administration, and since has joined his family in generations of successful entrepreneurs.

Jon Fey is the current president of the Berwyn Development Corporation, a charitable and educational nonprofit organization that has enhanced the community for twenty years. I salute him for his active involvement in the community and commend the BDC as it celebrates its 20th Anniversary this year. Jon Fey and the BDC are dedicated to improving the overall business climate in the City of Berwyn. Presently, Jon is responsible for the creation of the New Business Taskforce within the BDC, generating business contacts and interest in local opportunities. Past accomplishments also include sitting on the board for two terms, participating over the years as Treasurer, serving as a member and chairman of the organization’s Ogden Avenue/South Berwyn Depot District TIF Advisory Commission, and as a member of the Commercial Load Committee.

The commitment and energy given by Jon Fey to his community has been an inspiration to many individuals. Since 1990, he has contributed valuable time and effort as president of the Berwyn Preservation of Historic Route 66. Jon continues his involvement and support of the annual Berwyn Historic Route 66 Car Show Committee, which promotes the Ogden Avenue Business District in Berwyn and draws thousands of vintage car enthusiasts to the area.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that my colleagues join me in honoring Jon Fey on his achievements and wish Jon many years of future success.

Breast Cancer Awareness Month

HON. STEPHANIE TUBBS JONES
OF OHIO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mrs. JONES of Ohio. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. In October 2003, the National Breast Cancer Awareness Month campaign celebrates 18 years of educating women about breast cancer, especially the importance of detecting the disease in its earliest stages through screening mammography, clinical breast examination, and for women 20 years of age and older, breast self-examination.

The third Friday in October each year is National Mammography Day, first proclaimed by President Clinton in 1993. On this day, or throughout the month, radiologists provide discounted or free screening mammograms. In 2002, more than 680 American College of Radiology (ACR) accredited facilities took part. In 2003, National Mammography Day was celebrated on October 17.

Ohio ranks as the 6th highest percentage of new cases of breast cancer in the nation. Ohio ties with Illinois for the 6th highest percentage of deaths due to breast cancer in the nation. All women are at risk for developing breast cancer. The older a woman is, the greater her chances of developing breast cancer. Approximately 77% of breast cancer cases occur in women over 50 years of age.

According to the Surveillance, Epidemiology, and End Results (SEER) Program of the National Cancer Institute, White, Hawaiian, and African-American women have the highest incidence of invasive breast cancer in the United States (approximately four times higher than the lowest group);

Korean, American Indian, and Vietnamese women have the lowest incidence of invasive breast cancer in the United States.

African-Americans have the highest death rate from breast cancer and are more likely to be diagnosed with a later stage of breast cancer than White women;

In the age groups, 30–54 and 55–69 years, African-American women have the highest death rate from breast cancer, followed by Hawaiian women, and white non-Hispanic women. However, in the 70 year old age group, the death rate from breast cancer for white women is higher than for African-American.

The key to surviving breast cancer is early detection and treatment. According to the American Cancer Society, when breast cancer is confined to the breast, the five-year survival rate is close to 100%. The early detection of breast cancer helps reduce the need for therapeutic treatment and minimizes pain and suffering, allowing women to continue leading happy, productive lives.

Beginning at the age of 20, every woman should practice monthly breast self-exams and begin a routine program of breast health, including scheduling physician performed clinical breast exams at least every three years. As a woman ages, her risk of breast cancer also increases. About 77% of women with breast cancer are over age 50 at the time of diagnosis. Women between the ages of 20 and 29 account for only 0.3% of breast cancer cases.

Beginning at the age of 40, all women should have annual screening, mammograms, receive clinical breast exams each year, and practice breast self-exams every month.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to reiterate my support for National Breast Cancer Awareness Month. “Making Strides Against Breast Cancer,” is a true pink and white American Cancer Society campaign to educate women and girls about breast cancer. In 2000, the ACS fought to make the Breast and Cervical Cancer Treatment Act federal law, earmarking $1,000,000,000 to treat medically underserved women. The reality is that breast cancer spells death for approximately 40,000 women in the U.S. a year. There is an urgency to educate and support early detection, which is critical to prevent this ugly mass.

The cost of breast cancer on women’s lives cannot be overstated. As Cleveland “Plain Dealer” columnist Regina Brett stated in 2000: “The approximate cost for surgery for breast cancer is $6,000. Four cycles of chemotherapy is approximately $5,000. Six weeks of radiation is $16,000. Living to see your children grow up: PRICELESS.” Day after day, when dollars are not provided for research and treatment, more women struggle and don’t receive the medical assistance that is needed. If you don’t have insurance or enough revenue Liz Schulte, president of Northern Ohio Breast Cancer Coalition states, “you quit your job, sell your car, give up your home and go on disability.”

Filipino World War II Veterans

HON. BOB FILNER
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. FILNER. Mr. Speaker and colleagues, I rise today to report on the progress we are making towards the passage of benefits for Filipino World War II veterans.

My colleagues know of the extreme sacrifices made by Filipino soldiers during World War II in the battles of Bataan and Corregidor. They know that Filipino soldiers were instrumental in the successful outcome of this war in the Pacific. And they know, too well, that many of these soldiers were denied their benefits by a law passed by the 1946 Congress. Today, I am happy to report that the House of Representatives and the Senate Veterans’ Affairs Committee have passed legislation to restore health care services, improved disability compensation, and burial benefits to many Filipino World War II veterans living in the United States. We are working to get this legislation passed by the Senate and forwarded to the President to sign into law.

In addition, the President announced during his recent visit to the Philippines that we will be doubling, from $500,000 to $1 million in FY2004, the amount of medical supplies and equipment that the United States is sending to the Veterans’ hospital in Manila.

These are important steps in restoring benefits to the brave Filipino World War II soldiers who have been waiting for sixty years for equity.
INTRODUCTION OF THE SECURITY AND FINANCIAL EMPOWERMENT ACT (SAFE)

HON. LUCILLE ROYBAL-ALLARD
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Ms. ROYBAL-ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, as we near the end of Domestic Violence Awareness Month, I rise today to announce the reintroduction of legislation I authored to truly recognize and help the estimated two million women in this country who are victims of domestic violence.

Victims of domestic violence suffer on many fronts. In addition to the physical and emotional battery, women who are abused also struggle to maintain employment and, as a result, experience tremendous financial hardships. According to a 1998 report of the U.S. General Accounting Office, between one-quarter and one-half of domestic violence victims surveyed in three studies reported losing a job due, wholly or in part, to domestic violence. For victims of sexual assault, the numbers are even more alarming. Nearly 50 percent of survivors say they were forced to leave their jobs because of the crime. Stalking victims also report losing significant time at work.

There are many reasons for this volatile employment picture. Abusers often track down and harass their victims at work and may even follow them home. By creating disturbances on the job and making threats, the perpetrator may force the victim to quit or place her at risk of being fired. I was told recently of a woman named Nancy who is a victim of domestic violence in my Los Angeles district. She, like so many other women, was forced to quit her job at a fast food restaurant after her husband showed up there, pounded on the door, scratched her car with his keys and repeatedly threatened her. Nancy, whose name has been changed, sought help at a local domestic violence shelter where she received the support she needed—first for herself and her two-year-old child. Now, she is taking a non-violent parenting class and undergoing counseling. She also receives support in court proceedings to get a restraining order enforced, divorce her husband, and settle a child custody dispute.

For Nancy, quitting her job and seeking help at the shelter gave her the support and the time she needed to get her life back in order. But many victims—especially depending upon the state in which they live—do not feel they have the same choices as Nancy and, as a result, may not be as willing to seek help, placing themselves and their families in greater danger.

That's because Federal law does not specifically allow women who leave work as a result of domestic violence to collect unemployment compensation. Nor does Federal law specifically allow victims of domestic violence to take leave from work to attend court proceedings, without the fear of being fired or deserted. Further, to make sure victims retain financial independence, the SAFE Act would require all States to provide unemployment benefits to women who are forced to leave work (whether they quit or are fired) due to domestic violence. Up to date, I'm proud to say that more than 30 States have already enacted similar provisions, including my home State of California, but a uniform national policy is needed. The SAFE Act would also provide employers with a workplace safety program tax credit as an incentive to provide employees with domestic violence safety and education programs.

After all, employers also pay a high price in decreased productivity, employee absenteeism and staff turnover because of domestic violence. In fact, the US Department of Labor has estimated that domestic violence costs U.S. employers between $3 billion and $13 billion annually.

Mr. Speaker, I would urge all of my colleagues to support the SAFE Act and, in doing so, help victims of domestic violence and businesses deal more effectively with this serious problem. Let's pass this needed legislation and help millions of victims of domestic violence to obtain the employment and financial stability they need to do what Nancy is doing—repair their lives and build a safe future for themselves and their families.

HONORING WELDON RUCKER

HON. BARBARA LEE
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Ms. LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a great man and public servant, Weldon Rucker, a former member of the Berkeley Unified School District Board of Education. They have two adult daughters and two grandchildren. He is a graduate of Saint Mary's College and holds a bachelor's degree in business management. On the national stage, Mr. Rucker serves as Vice President of the National Forum of Black Public Administrators.

Mr. Rucker leaves behind a legacy of outstanding public service and leadership. He began his career with the City of Berkeley in 1961 and was director of the Berkeley Housing Authority. He then served as Director of the Berkeley Housing Authority. He moved through the ranks of the City's administration, occupying the positions of Director of Human Resources and in the late 1980s and early 1990s as Director of the Health and Human Services Department.

He was appointed to the position of City Manager in February 2001 after having served as acting City Manager following the departure of his predecessor. Rucker previously served as an Interim City Manager in 1995 but declined an appointment to the City's top post at that time.

Under his leadership, the City of Berkeley has taken numerous initiatives to address chronic issues within the City and to firmly establish an open, accessible, and efficient City government.

Mr. Rucker is directly responsible for establishing the Office of Neighborhood Services, a direct link between City staff and the public that works to ensure fast and effective responses to local concerns. Under Neighborhood Services, Weldon set up the Department of Timer Service to provide close tabs on problem properties, graffiti, and illegal dumping among many other issues.

In an effort to improve access to city government, he also established the City Center, a one-stop information center for residents to help them navigate City bureaucracies and to provide answers to frequently asked questions and common requests. City Center provides information to thousands of residents and has proved to be an invaluable community resource.

Finally, as we honor Mr. Rucker today, I want to thank him for being an exemplary role model for administrators. I take great pride in joining the residents of Berkeley, Mr. Rucker's family, friends and colleagues to recognize and salute the accomplishments and contributions of Weldon Rucker.

MINISERIES ON THE REAGANS

HON. FORTNEY PETE STARK
OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. STARK. Mr. Speaker, I don't know how many people have seen that CBS will soon air a miniseries on the Reagans. I must admit that the only reason I'm aware of it is because our esteemed colleague, JOHN D. DINGELL, was good enough to share the letter below with us.

He's got it right. If CBS is going to commemorate the Reagan years, they should do it accurately. I recommend the letter below as an effective tool for remembering the host of egregious events that occurred during the Reagan Administration.

Mr. Leslie Moonves, President and CEO, CBS Television, New York, NY.

DEAR MR. MOONVES: I write to you with regard to your upcoming mini-series "The Reagans." I share the concerns expressed by others that it may not present an accurate depiction of the Reagan administration and America during the 1980s. I trust that CBS will not be a party to a distorted presentation of American history and that the mini-series will present a fair and balanced portrayal of the Reagans, the 1980s and their legacy.

As someone who served with President Reagan, and in the interest of historical accuracy, please allow me to share with you some of my recollections of the Reagan years that I hope will make it into the final cut of the mini-series: $640 Pentagon toilet seats; ketchup as a vegetable; union busting; firing striking air traffic controllers; IranContra; selling arms to terrorist nations; trading arms for hostages; defeating from terrorists in Beirut; lying to Congress; financing an illegal war in Nicaragua; a cozy relationship with Saddam Hussein; shredding documents; Ed Meese; Fawn

HALL; OLIVER NORTH; JAMES WATT; APARTHEID APOLOGIA; THE SAVINGS AND LOAN SCANDAL; VODDIO ECONOMICS; RECORD BUDGET DEFICITS; DOUBLE DIGIT UNEMPLOYMENT; FARM BANKRUPTCIES; TRADE DEFICITS OF PROLOGERS IN THE WHITE HOUSE; STAR WARS; AND INFERENCE PEILLING.

I hope you find these facts useful in accurately depicting President Reagan’s time in office.

With every good wish,

Sincerely yours,

JOHN D. DINGELL, MEMBER OF CONGRESS.

THE HEALTHY CHILDREN THROUGH BETTER NUTRITION ACT OF 2003

HON. GEORGE MILLER
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. GEORGE MILLER of California. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to be able to introduce along with 20 of my Democratic colleagues on the Education and the Workforce Committee, the Healthy Children Through Better Nutrition Act of 2003.

Since coming to Congress in 1975, I have been a steadfast advocate of child nutrition programs and the significant role they play in meeting the health and educational needs of our nation’s children. In my first year in Congress, along with Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, I authored the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) program and the role of this program, and other nutrition programs, in improving the health, safe development, and school performance of our nation’s children remains as strong as at that time.

I have seen first hand—at school cafeterias, summer programs and WIC clinics—children who receive their only meals through our federal nutrition programs. Today, the challenge to increase access to these programs for low-income children remains, and the programs must meet new demands.

Mr. Speaker, our children face a health threat that requires our immediate attention and response. We know that over the past thirty years, the childhood obesity rate has tripled. Among teenagers, childhood obesity increased from 5 percent in 1970 to 14 percent in 1999. This crisis spans age, race and gender groups and is leading to significant increases in the early onset of traditionally adult diseases such as hypertension, diabetes, and heart disease in young children. Leading medical researchers believe that—in conjunction with expanded exercise and nutritional education—improving the quality of foods served in schools can have a significant beneficial effect on reducing childhood obesity and its related health effects.

The Healthy Children Through Better Nutrition Act of 2003 offers a multifaceted school- and community-based approach to responding to this dangerous trend in childhood obesity. School- and community-based nutrition programs have been serving the nutritional needs of American children for over 50 years. Today, it is well recognized that schools and communities have an even greater task in responding to the myriad food related challenges in daily challenges in a healthy and nutritious meal. The Healthy Children Through Better Nutrition Act of 2003 provides schools and communities with the tools and resources they need to promote a healthy and nutritious environment for children in need.

SCHOOL-BASED INITIATIVES

Federal school nutrition programs serve about 28 million children daily through school breakfast, school lunch and after-school snack programs. For a child to receive two-thirds of her daily diet while at school.

Meals served under these federal school nutrition programs must meet American Dietary Guidelines, and we congratulate the school food service program that continues to make real progress toward meeting these goals. However, the school cafeteria also plays host to foods that lack any significant nutritional value. These foods, sold side by side with school food, are not subject to any dietary guidelines and can have a negative impact on healthy eating and student participation in the school meals program.

The Miller/Woolsey proposal will direct the Institutes of Medicine to recommend nutritional standards for foods sold side-by-side with foods that are offered as part of the federal school meals in the cafeteria. These standards would take into consideration the different dietary requirements of students in elementary, middle and high school. These recommendations would be submitted to the Secretary of Agriculture for implementation.

School food directors are in the best position and are most qualified to make decisions about the nutritional quality of foods made available to students. Unfortunately, in many schools, school food directors have little authority to implement policies that encourage a healthy school nutrition environment. The school food director often faces competing interests from school administrators to increase revenues through the sale of foods outside of the federal school meals program, such as soda, high fat and high sodium snacks. These “competitive foods” do not meet the nutritional standards we want for our children. The growing revenue constraints faced by many school districts have increased the proportion of unhealthy competitive foods in the cafeteria and has negatively impacted the school nutrition environment.

The Miller/Woolsey proposal will require schools to establish a nutrition policy and give operation authority to the school food directors. This approach coordinated with new standards for “competitive foods” will strengthen and protect the integrity and nutritional quality of the school meals program.

While school food service authorities have made progress improving the quality of school meals, consumer confidence remains low. Currently menus are reviewed for nutritional quality once every five years, and few schools publish the nutrient quality of their menus.

The Miller/Woolsey proposal will increase the number of nutritional reviews of school menus and require that this information be disclosed to the public. Technical assistance will be offered to schools that need additional assistance in improving the quality of meals.

The Farm Bill established a limited pilot in 4 states to provide for the introduction of more fresh fruits and vegetables into the school meals program. The increased availability of fresh fruits and vegetables produced a dramatic difference in the dietary intake of students in those schools.

The Miller/Woolsey proposal will expand the number of states and schools participating in this successful program, targeting schools in high poverty areas.

Nutrition Education provides students with meaningful information on the importance of good dietary habits as well as professional development for nutritional professionals and teachers. The lack of guaranteed funding for nutrition education has limited states in their ability to provide assistance to LEAs.

The Miller/Woolsey proposal will authorize mandatory funding for a nutrition education program that will fund a Team Nutrition Network State Coordinator in each state and promote a coordinated approach for nutrition education.

The Healthy Children through Better Nutrition Act of 2003 also: Streamlines eligibility requirements for school meals for children who are currently eligible for Food Stamps, TANF and Medicaid; makes homeless children automatically eligible for school nutrition programs; provides startup and expansion grants for school breakfast; provides schools with commodities for the school breakfast program; establishes a demonstration project to evaluate the impact of universal breakfast in high schools; and provides grants to schools for improving the use of technology in the school meals program.

COMMUNITY-BASED INITIATIVES

The community outside of the schoolhouse is playing an enhanced role in meeting the nutritional needs of children. The Healthy Children Through Better Nutrition Act of 2003 introduces new programs as well as professional paper- work and streamline participation requirements for community-based providers of nutrition programs.

The Year Round Community Child Nutrition program fills a gap in current nutrition services for children in before and after care programs, homeless shelters, and after-school programs. Currently community-based programs, such as after-school programs and homeless shelters, serve up to 2 meals and a snack to the children participating in their programs. Some of these programs run only during the summer, while other programs run full year but must submit paperwork for two separate programs in order to serve children year round. Under this legislation, the Year Round Community Child Nutrition program will:

- Allow community-based non-profit organizations to serve healthy and nutritious meals to children year round.
- Offer up to three meals and two snacks to children who participate.

21st Century Community Learning Centers automatically eligible to participate.
- Give program providers greater flexibility in when and where meals are served.

The Healthy Children Through Better Nutrition Act of 2003 also:

- Allows more states to serve an additional meal to children in full day childcare programs.
- Allows homeless children up to 18 years of age to receive meals through the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) program.
- Provides startup and expansion grants for the summer food program.
- Streamlines paperwork for summer food providers.
- Eliminates unnecessary paperwork for CACFP providers.
- Establishes a demonstration project for streamlining the monitoring of CACFP providers.
The WIC program continues to be successful in improving the nutritional status of over 7 million low-income women, infants, and children. The Healthy Children Through Better Nutrition Act of 2003 enables WIC to be more flexible in meeting the needs of women and children, thereby promoting a highly nutritious food package.

This legislation: Emphasizes greater consumption of fruits and vegetables in the WIC program; Allows infants and children to be certified for the WIC program for up to 1 year and allows offices to waive the “physical presence” requirement for infants and children under specific circumstances; and requires a decennial review of the WIC food package.

Mr. Speaker, as the Committee moves forward with the reauthorization of child and school nutrition programs, I encourage my colleagues to review the set of proposals in the Healthy Children Through Better Nutrition Act of 2003. This legislation which has been endorsed by the American School Food Service Association, the Food Research Action Center, America’s Second Harvest and California Food Policy Advocates, offers a comprehensive means for improving access to child nutrition programs and addressing the troubling rise in childhood obesity rates. The Healthy Children Through Better Nutrition Act of 2003 reflects a commitment to the future by investing in our children’s nutrition and overall health. They deserve no less.

RIPKEN POST OFFICE BUILDING
HON. C.A. DUTCH RUPPERSBERGER OF MARYLAND
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. RUPPERSBERGER. Mr. Speaker, today I am introducing legislation to designate the postal facility in Aberdeen, Maryland as the Ripken Post Office Building in honor of the Ripken family and their contributions to this great city in the Maryland 2nd Congressional District.

It is difficult to think of baseball and not think of the Ripken name. The accomplishments of Cal Ripken, Jr. are literally the stuff of legend. His work ethic, his career accomplishments with an induction into the Baseball Hall of Fame, are shamefully tardy in coming to the city of Aberdeen, Maryland.

Bill Ripken had a 12 year major league baseball career as a second baseman with incredible skills that evoked affection from the people of the Baltimore Orioles and the District. Bill and Cal are actively involved in youth camps, tournaments and, of course, The Cal Ripken World Series.

In a world where sport and commercialism is so often intertwined, the Ripken family—the individual and the whole—serve as incredible role models for what baseball means to this nation and what it was meant to be. These are real sports heroes and truly admirable people. Mr. Speaker I am honored to introduce this legislation on behalf of this incredible family from my home state and I urge my colleagues to vote for this bill.

COMMEMORATION FOR WALTER EDWARD WASHINGTON
HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, I arise today to inform the House of the passing of the first Mayor of the District of Columbia in the 20th century. Some members will remember Walter Washington's service or will know him by reputation because no mayor here or, dare I say, elsewhere has enjoyed more respect from the body. Mayor Washington enjoyed the same bipartisan admiration from the two presidents during his tenure, Lyndon Johnson, who appointed Washington the District’s first mayor in 1968 and Richard Nixon who signed the Home Rule Act in 1973 giving the District its current home rule status, complete with an elected mayor and city council.

The conventional wisdom is that home rule for the District depended upon Mayor Washington’s performance as appointed mayor. Few would disagree. If home rule was passed due then, more than 150 years after the city’s founding, surely full self-government, democracy and congressional voting representation are shamefully tardy in coming to the city’s approximately 600,000 residents today. Mayor Washington, who did more than any person to pave the way for an elected mayor and the District, deserved to see its full realization before his death.

Home rule happened because people made it happen, with Walter Washington as the leader.
races were polarized. And in the span of just a little over a decade, he brought people together through love and compassion, he helped bring about home rule... and helped people have more meaningful, satisfying and enjoyable lives.

This noble self-remembrance of Walter Edward Washington, born in Seattle, Washington in 1902 and died yesterday at the age of 81, is—like so much that he accomplished for the city he deeply loved—just right. More than anyone in this century, he was the soul, spirit and creator of the capital city as it is enjoyed today. Were it not for his perfect presence at a critical point in the city's history, the people of Washington would not be enjoying the limited self-government they now have.

To appreciate fully the importance of this most likable and shrewd negotiator-leader, we need only recall a 70-percent-black city in strict colonial bondage, barred from acting on any significant local policy matter without the assent of an indisputably hostile and domineering U.S. House committee of mostly Southern segregationists. For many years before President Johnson pressured Congress to accord home rule to the District of Columbia, city officials had to suffer an embarrassing defeat—Walter Washington had been among the tireless workers on behalf of enfranchising the citizens of the capital. Mr. Johnson, determined to strike back at Congress, used his executive powers to reorganize the District government from an arm's-length federal body headed by appointed commissioners to a new system with a single appointed commissioner and a council. For commissioner—a position whose holder, the president, officially but force-fully dubbed “mayor”—the president chose Mr. Washington, the first African American named to lead a U.S. city.

Washington Mr. Washington's keen sense of the politically possible, the knowledge of the bureaucratic ropes that he gained as a federal official and his exquisite abilities to put the most wary people at ease, the city began to enjoy new status on its road to limited home rule. He transformed the face of the District government, placing blacks in key positions that were long the exclusive preserve of whites. Until his arrival, the District Building had been a tomb, barely visible to the streets to the businesses, embassies and focal points of the city. Now Washington simply smiled and, calling Eagleton by his first name, said, "Now you can go out of here and publicly attack me if you want, and I will understand," he said, "But I've got to do this..."

Workers might not hurt you politically but I won't be able to live with myself if we turn over the D.C. government to the city with the books in a mess," I recall a weary Washington telling Eagleton as they sat in Eagleton's Senate office, and the purpose of the gathering wasn't social. Sitting across the sofa directly in front of Eagleton was Walter Washington, the presi-dentially appointed mayor of the District. Next to him sat Julian Dugas, the mayor's longest-serving liaison to Congress. Walter Washington was the most relaxed person in the room.

It was 1973. Congress had just passed the home rule bill Washington was now positioning himself to run for mayor in the city's first municipal election in 70 years. Eagle ton had asked the mayor to come to Capitol Hill because he was going to break some bad news and wanted to do it face to face. The committee had asked the General Accounting Office to take a look at the city's books. The GAO's preliminary view was that the books weren't audit able. Eagle ton was going to call for reorganization of the city's finances by a public accounting firm, and he expected the timing would be embarrassing to Washington.

The committee had asked the General Accounting Office to take a look at the city's books. The GAO's preliminary view was that the books weren't audit able. Eagle ton was going to call for reorganization of the city's finances by a public accounting firm, and he expected the timing would be embarrassing to Washington.

"Walter didn't want to hurt you politically, but I won't be able to live with myself if we turn over the D.C. government to the city with the books in a mess," I recall a weary Washington telling Eagleton as they sat in Eagleton's Senate office, and the purpose of the gathering wasn't social. Sitting across the sofa directly in front of Eagleton was Walter Washington, the presi-dentially appointed mayor of the District. Next to him sat Julian Dugas, the mayor's longest-serving liaison to Congress. Walter Washington was the most relaxed person in the room.

It was 1973. Congress had just passed the home rule bill Washington was now positioning himself to run for mayor in the city's first municipal election in 70 years. Eagle ton had asked the mayor to come to Capitol Hill because he was going to break some bad news and wanted to do it face to face. 102 years old marks the departure of one of this country’s most impassioned conservation leaders.

From her early upbringing in Alaska, Mardy gained a deep respect and love of the region’s vast rugged terrain—its unspoiled lands and its remarkable wildlife. As the first woman graduate of the University of Alaska in Fairbanks, she became a tireless advocate for the protection of Alaska as a national treasure. She once said, “When I was a child, Alaska seemed too vast and wild ever to be changed, but now we are coming to realize how vulnerable this land is. I hope we have the sensitivity to protect Alaska’s wilderness...”

Upon graduation in 1924, Mardy married naturalist Olaus Murie and together they formed a partnership to not only protect this spectacular land, but other parts of the remaining American wilderness.

As an author and a lifelong activist, she inspired her husband, her family and her fellow citizens to build an entire conservation movement. For decades, the Murie family traveled the Alaskan wilderness, and once established in Wyoming, where Olaus served with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, they studied the biology of both regions—its mossy tundra, its streams, grassy sloughs, its elk, coyote and moose, and its wilderness.

While her children were growing up, Mardy became an active community member, serving on the school board, campaigning for education and the local library and promoting activities for local youth. In World War II, she grew a victory garden and managed a dude ranch.

In 1944, the Murie moved to Moose, Wyoming, where their home would become a center of the wilderness movement. Following Olaus’ retirement from federal service, he accepted the directorship of the Wilderness Society, later to serve as its president.

Through her wilderness experiences with Olaus, Mardy became a fierce advocate for the protection of the Brooks Range in Alaska. She authored a book, Two in the Far North, which chronicled their summer-long adventure to this remote region and inspired countless others to visit the Arctic area and fight for its protection.

Their dedication and effort paid off in 1960, when the Arctic National Wildlife Range—later renamed a National Wildlife Refuge—was created.

In 1964, the Muries and many other conservationists won another major victory when President Lyndon Johnson signed the Wilderness Act into law. Working for the National Park Service, the Sierra Club, the Wilderness Society and the Izaaq Walton League at various times in her historic career, Mardy explored additional areas in Alaska and other parts of the country to determine their suitability for wilderness designation.

These continuing efforts helped achieve enactment of the Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act in 1980, when President Jimmy Carter signed into law the bill that my father had sponsored in the House of Representatives.

Mardy Murie was the recipient of numerous prestigious awards honoring her outstanding environmental work. She was awarded the Audubon Medal in 1980, the John Muir Award in 1983, the Robert Marshall Conservation Award in 1986, and an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters from her alma mater, the University of Alaska. As she neared her 100th birthday in 2002, Mardy was honored with the J.N. Ding Darling Conservationist of the Year Award, the National Wildlife Federation’s highest tribute.

In 1998, President Clinton awarded Mardy the Presidential Medal of Freedom, our country’s highest civilian award. At the event presenting her this distinction, President Clinton said “For Mardy Murie, wilderness is personal. She and her husband, Olaus, spent their honeymoon on a 550-mile dogsled expedition through the mountains of Alaska. Fitting for a couple whose love for each other was matched only by their love of nature.”

Margaret Mardy Murie was a national treasure. As a pioneer of the American conservation movement, she was and will continue to be an inspiration to us all. Her commitment to this country’s wilderness sites will be a lasting legacy to the beauty of this nation and the importance and value of preserving our wild landscapes. May her spirit and inspiration live on in all of us for decades to come.

Jack Welch provides an important lesson in corporate management to those who don’t understand what makes an economy grow. Growth comes from businesses that are constantly striving to make themselves more competitive in a global marketplace.

As the article points out, many in the media believe a story isn’t complete unless there is some bad news. Sometimes I think if the modern media had existed in biblical times, it would have written, “Moses laid down the Ten Commandments today. Five of which were immediately denounced by civil rights and environmental activists.”

Jack Welch’s article makes for instructive reading about why our economy just posted one of its strongest performances in recent memory.

THE ‘BuT’ ECONOMY

By Jack Welch

Guess what? There is an economic recovery under way, but you never would have known it last week when earnings reports came out. Even though many companies from battered sectors, such as Lucent, were reporting good results, many companies also reported dead just two or three years ago—recorded positive results, their successes were almost universally reported with the word “BuT” prominent in the headlines. The stories in the newspapers and on TV went something like this:

Sales were up—but analysts warned that cost cutting explained most of the gains. Cash flow was up—but analysts warned that it was attributed mainly to cost-cutting. Of course they did! While innovation and creativity results, it was reported, mainly came from companies were still taking on water. The good results, it was reported, mainly came from companies were still taking on water. The good results, it was reported, mainly came from companies were still taking on water. The good results, it was reported, mainly came from companies were still taking on water. The good results, it was reported, mainly came from companies were still taking on water.

Of course you have to wonder—why all the grumpiness? Why has every cloud got a dingy gray lining? There are probably many reasons but two come right to my mind.

Go back to 1999, the last year that positive results were routinely reported. There was no “BuT” economy greasing then. And that’s exactly the problem. The media (and pretty much everyone else) believed that trees did indeed grow to the sky. Very few asked, “How solid are these results? How long can they last? Will these markets grow forever?”

When the bubble burst, a lot of people got burned—and not just shareholders. Many people who ran companies that flamed out because they were based on unrealistic business models or turned out to be rotten apples, got burned too.

Today, when the media reports good news, it feels safer to stick “BuT” in every sentence. The other reason is political. Back in the days of Clinton-bashing, the ideological divide in the country seemed like it couldn’t get wider. Well, it has. Bush-hating has pushed it to new levels. Never before have Republicans and Democrats been more vitriolic in their disdain for each other; it feels like war. And frankly, what would be worse for the Democrats right now than an economic recovery? That’s an awful big battle to lose as the election approaches.

Now, I’m not suggesting “irrational exuberance” again. First of all, it’s not warranted (yet) and giddiness about the economy didn’t really help last time. And I’m also not asking that people forget what happened during the boom. Some companies and executives abuse the right to get nothing but disrespect and doubt.

If we are ever to get competitive again, though, we can’t let the “BuT” mentality go. Without it, companies need to get every employee, with every idea in their heads and every morsel of energy in their bodies, into the game.

The free market companies are not bricks and mortar, but people, with blood and sweat and tears. People are the reason for the recent recovery, and people are the reason it will continue. Only people can make that happen. It is dishonest to say that’s why we need to tell the people who have earned it not “BuT,” but “Bravo.”

EXPRESSING GRATITUDE TO MEMBERS OF U.S. ARMED FORCES DEPLOYED IN OPERATION RESTORATION HOPE IN SOMALIA IN 1993

HON. RAHM EMANUEL

OF ILLINOIS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, October 28, 2003

Mr. EMANUEL. Madam Speaker, I am proud to rise in strong support of H. Con. Res. 291, expressing gratitude to the members of the United States Armed Forces who demonstrated valor and dedication to the cause of freedom and humanitarian relief during Operation Restore Hope.

This year marks the tenth anniversary of the battle of Mogadishu, and I am very pleased to join with my colleagues in recognizing the courageous actions of the Army’s Special Forces, the soldiers of the 10th Mountain Division, and members of the Armed Forces who were deployed to capture the terrorist warlord Mohamad al-Amin. Today we remember and honor the sixteen special operations personnel assigned to Task Force Ranger who were killed, and the sacrifices of another eighty-three troops who were wounded during one of the most intense firefights in modern history. We cannot forget the sacrifices of these soldiers, sailors, airmen, and Marines. Their service should be recognized as a significant contribution to the war on terrorism and oppression. This resolution is important not only because it commemorates their enduring contributions on behalf of the people of Somalia, but also because of its symbolism that continues today in the fight against oppression and terror on the streets of Baghdad, Kabul and other hostile areas where we try to make people’s lives better.

Madam Speaker, my thoughts and prayers go out to the families and friends of those who lost a loved one or were wounded in the battle of Mogadishu. I urge my colleagues to join me in expressing our appreciation to all those who volunteer to defend our Nation’s freedom and to remember the sacrifices of all those who served.

RECOGNIZING THE HOLY CROSS ARMENIAN APOSTOLIC CATHEDRAL

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Ms. SOLIS. Mr. Speaker, I stand before you today to recognize one of the great and historically rich institutions in the United States. On November 1, 2003, the Holy Cross Armenian Apostolic Cathedral of Montebello, California will be celebrating its eighty years of service to the Los Angeles Armenian American community under the auspices of their Prelate, His Eminence Archbishop Moushegh Marderosian.

This historic occasion for the Holy Cross Cathedral is a culmination of leadership, dedication, commitment, and community work. Since its erection in 1922, Holy Cross is the oldest Armenian cathedral in the state of California and the oldest in Los Angeles County. For eighty years, Holy Cross has touched the lives of millions of churchgoers and other religious individuals looking for spiritual fulfillment. In addition, it has given positive direction to Armenian children and adolescents through its exceptional Mesrobian school system.

Additionally, Holy Cross’s leadership has paved the way for other Armenian Apostolic churches throughout Southern California. Inspired by Holy Cross, over seven churches and congregations have been established. I am happy to note that all of them serve their congregations, youth, community, and country with all their love and energy.
I am proud to say that the Holy Cross Armenian Apostolic Cathedral exemplifies the great-ness in our nation’s religious and community institutions.

LET’S NOT BREAK OLD PROMISES TO OUR VETERANS

HON. CHET EDWARDS
OF TEXAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. EDWARDS. Mr. Speaker, there’s something wrong when the administration says we can afford to build new hospitals in Iraq, but we cannot afford to keep open six veterans’ hospitals here in America.

It would be shameful, during a time of war, to be cutting medical services for American veterans, even as we are improving health care for Iraqi citizens. As we make new promises to Iraqis, let’s not break old promises to our veterans.

Vote “yes” on the motion to recommit to increasing VA health care by $1.3 billion. Our vets deserve no less.

TRIBUTE TO JOHN M. CORCORAN

HON. MARTIN T. MEEHAN OF MASSACHUSETTS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. MEEHAN. Mr. Speaker, on Monday, October 27, 2003 I attended a Mass of Christian Burial for John M. Corcoran of Massachusetts. The Mass, held at St. Elizabeth’s Church in Milton, Massachusetts celebrated the life of a very special person. I offer my condolences to John’s two sons, John and Thomas; his sisters, Mary, Theresa, Claire, Bernadette and Frances, and his two brothers, Joe and Leo. I would also ask unanimous consent to enter in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD the Boston Globe obituary, that was so eloquently written by Tom Long.

JOHN CORCORAN, DEVELOPER OF REAL ESTATE, GOOD WILL; AT 80

J ohn M. Corcoran grew up in a triple-deck-er at the end of the driveway to St. Margaret’s Hospital in Dorchester, and he never forgot where he came from. After earning millions as a real estate developer, he contributed time and money in the creation of St. Mary’s Women and Infant Center, a multiservice agency for Dorchester residents that was born in 1993 after St. Margaret’s closed.

“He knew what it was like to live in pov-erty, and knew what a difference it could make when you had support around you,” Judy Beckler, president of the Women and Infant Center, said of Mr. Corcoran, 80, who died Wednesday at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Beckler said she couldn’t give a figure for how much money Mr. Corcoran donated to the center. “It’s not something he would ap-prove of,” she said. “He hoped, in time, peo-ple would understand that his time and com-mitment were more important than any money he donated.”

But the total was at least $500,000, ac-cording to a story published in the Globe in 1995. The center now includes a homeless shelter, has 20 beds for pregnant teenagers and is home to nine nonprofit groups that offer a number of services from child care to computer training.

“He wanted us to become a vital institu-tion in Dorchester,” said Beckler. “He had a commitment and a vision, and really be-lieved that folks could make a difference in other people’s lives.”

As a member of the center’s board of trustees, Mr. Corcoran was always willing to ask the hard questions. “He once told me, ‘I learned long ago not to practice trustee eti-quette,’” said Beckler.

One of eight children of an Irish-immigrant factory worker, Mr. Corcoran sometimes hawked newspapers as a young man to help his family make ends meet. He shoveled snow at St. Margaret’s. And he spent a childhood summer with relatives in Ireland.

He attended Boston English High School. When the United States entered World War II, he answered the call and became a para-trooper.

In the months before the D-Day invasion of France, his family lost contact with him for three months. Every night, the sound of ro-sary beads rattled through the two-bedroom apartment in Dorchester as his siblings prayed for his safe return.

Finally his mother received a letter. “Mom, I smelled something today that I haven’t smelled since I was 7,” he wrote, “the sweet smell of turf burning on a fire.”

To his family’s relief, Mr. Corcoran was alive and well and training in Ireland.

Mr. Corcoran parachuted into France in the early hours of D-Day.

“I once asked him what D-Day was like,” his brother Joe of Milton said yesterday. “He said: ‘It was the most exhilarating and most exciting time of my life; unfortunately, some people got killed, and others got hurt.’”

Mr. Corcoran was among the injured. He was awarded a Bronze Star as well as a Purple Heart.

After the war, Mr. Corcoran attended Bos-ton College. He completed his bachelor’s de-gree in three years, even though he was working 40 hours a week shoveling coal at St. Margaret’s.

He then began John M. Corcoran & Co., a real estate development firm, which he oper-ated with his brothers Leo and Joe, who later left to start his own firm, Corcoran Jennison Companies.

“We were a lot more confident than our parents were,” Mr. Corcoran told The World of Hibernia magazine. “We knew we were at least as smart as anyone else—if not smart-er. And you also knew you were an Ameri-can, and you had that right.”

John M. Corcoran & Co. has built or man-aged more than 15,000 apartment units and a million square feet of suburban properties including Quincy Commons and Weymouth Commons apartment complexes.

Mr. Corcoran contributed many char-ities, among them the Christian Jewish Cen-ter at Boston College, where he was a trust-eer, heterosexual, gay, lesbian, living to-gether, separated or dating.

Each year, Mr. Corcoran took a trip to the Alps to ski. At 80, he had 50 nieces and nephews, and he loved to ski. Every year, he brought his extended family on a ski trip to New Hampshire. For many years, he rented the entire Bartlett Hotel for his family, and children would be running through its hallways for a week.

“His family was a very special person. I offer my condolences to his family,” Mr. Meehan said.

HON. DENISE L. MAJETTE
OF GEORGIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Ms. MAJETTE. Mr. Speaker, every three minutes a woman in America is diagnosed with breast cancer. One in eight women will develop breast cancer in their lifetime.

Breast cancer is the leading cause of death for women between the ages of 40 and 55.

In my state of Georgia, this year an esti-mated 5,400 women will be diagnosed with breast cancer, and 1,000 women will die from the disease.

In the two counties I represent, 86 people a year die from breast cancer in Dekalb County and in Gwinnett County, 38 people a year die from breast cancer.

The breast cancer death rate is even higher among African American women—with an es-timated 20,000 expected new cases in 2003. Early detection is the key. Mammography screening can detect the disease before any symptoms occur.

Women must have guaranteed access to mammograms and preventive care, including regular checkups.

We also need to prevent insurers and em-ployers from discriminating against women because they are more likely to get diseases like breast cancer. We must pass the Genetic In-formation Nondiscrimination in Health Insur-ance and Employment Act.

But our top priority must be finding a cure. Too many of our sisters, mothers, daughters and friends die from this disease. Funding early prevention and finding a cure should be national priorities.

IN RECOGNITION OF NATIONAL DOMESTIC VIOLENCE AWARENESS MONTH

HON. DANNY K. DAVIS
OF ILLINOIS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in honor of October being the month to increase awareness of domestic violence, and educate individuals about the services available to assist victims.

Therefore, it is significan-t that we recognize October as the Na-tional Awareness Month for Domestic Vi-oence.

According to the United States Department of Justice, domestic violence can be defined as, a pattern of coercive behavior designed to exert power and control over a person in an intimate relationship through the use of inti-mating, threatening, harmful, or harassing be-havior. Partners may be married or not mar-ried, heterosexual, gay, lesbian, living to-gether, separated or dating.

Over the last thirty years, there has been a ra-dical change in not only the understanding of domestic violence, but also the acknowl-edgement of responses from individuals and... society. According to the most recent report from the Department of Justice, there were almost 700,000 incidents of domestic violence in 2001. Approximately one-third of women who are murdered each year are killed by their current or former husband or partner. Children who are subjected to domestic violence too often grow up to become perpetrators, creating a cycle of violence that must be stopped.

Nearly one in every three adult women experience at least one physical assault by a partner during adulthood. Approximately four million women experience violence by an intimate partner each year. Six times as many women who experience violence by an intimate partner, 18 percent, as by a stranger, 3 percent, do not report the crime. Several types of violence and abuse usually occur within the family; men who batter their intimate partners are more likely to abuse their children too. Unfortunately, every fifteen seconds in the United States, a woman is brutally battered by her partner. As you hear these words, a woman is being beaten.

Despite the increase reports of domestic violence in Chicago, the police and other related agencies receive an average of 560 domestic violence calls each day. About half the murders involved domestic disputes and approximately fifty percent of homicides are attributed to a domestic situation.

To bring attention to this horrendous issue, October has been designated as the National Domestic Violence Awareness Month. Mr. Speaker, let all of us renew our Nation’s commitment to prevent and punish the perpetrators of this despicable crime and bring hope and healing to those affected by it.

INDIANA 293RD GUARD SERVED NATION WELL

HON. MARK E. SOUDER OF INDIANA IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. SOUDER. Mr. Speaker, after 10 months of serving our Nation in Iraq, the heroic soldiers of the 293rd National Guard Division of Indiana have returned home.

These brave soldiers left three of their colleagues behind: SFC Craig A. Bolling, SPC Brian M. Clemens, and PFC Anthony R. Wagner. They gave the ultimate sacrifice so the rest of us may be free.

The soldiers of the 293rd are not full-time soldiers. They have other jobs. Their families, and their employers, did not expect them to be gone so long. They too have made sacrifices in the war on terrorism.

Because of their efforts, we are fighting in the streets of Baghdad—not in the streets of Indiana and the United States. Because of their efforts we have at least temporarily disrupted the worldwide terrorist networks. Because of their efforts the people of Iraq at least have a chance to exercise freedom and a life free from terror.

We know not what the future holds. But we do know that because of the soldiers in the 293rd Indiana Guard, as well as all the other brave men and women serving in the Iraq arena, we at least have done what we can in the battle for freedom and against terrorism. We honor them for their sacrifices for us.

The following is a list of all those who served in the 293rd.
Mr. GONZALEZ. Mr. Speaker, on rollcall Nos. 576, 577, 578, and 579, had I been present, I would have voted “yea” on all four.

HON. MIKE ROSS OF ARKANSAS
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Thursday, October 30, 2003

Mr. ROSS. Mr. Speaker, October is National Breast Cancer Awareness month, and as this month comes to an end, it is important for us to reflect upon the progress we have made toward defeating this illness.

An increased awareness of the steps necessary to defeat breast cancer, including mammography screenings, has led to early detection and higher survival rates.

However, we still have a long way to go. This year nearly 40,000 women will die of breast cancer, and over 211,000 new cases will be diagnosed.

Unfortunately, many of these cases will be diagnosed, and deaths will occur, in communities where access to advanced medicine is limited.

Congress’s commitment to increasing the funding for cancer prevention and early detection is helping us battle this disease. Today we can be proud of the advancements we have made. But we must continue our commitment to defeating breast cancer by raising the public’s awareness, expanding health care screenings to include all women, and continuing to fund the research necessary to fight this disease.
Senate

Chamber Action

Routine Proceedings, pages S13699–S13749

Congressional Record

The Congressional Record (USPS 087-390). The Periodicals postage is paid at Washington, D.C. The public proceedings of each House of Congress, as reported by the Official Reporters thereof, are printed pursuant to directions of the Joint Committee on Printing as authorized by appropriate provisions of Title 44, United States Code, and published for each day that one or both Houses are in session, excepting very infrequent instances when two or more unusually small consecutive issues are printed one time. Public access to the Congressional Record is available online through GPO Access, a service of the Government Printing Office, free of charge to the user. The online database is updated each day the Congressional Record is published. The database includes both text and graphics from the beginning of the 103rd Congress, 2d session (January 1994) forward. It is available through GPO Access at www.gpo.gov/gpoaccess. Customers can also access this information with WAIS client software, via telnet at swais.access.gpo.gov, or dial-in using communications software and a modem at (202) 512-1663. Questions or comments regarding this database or GPO Access can be directed to the GPO Access User Support Team at E-Mail: gpoaccess@gpo.gov; Phone 1-888-293-6498 (toll-free), 202-512-1530 (D.C. area); Fax: 202-512-1262. The Team's hours of availability are Monday through Friday, 7:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, except Federal holidays. The Congressional Record paper and 24x microfiche will be furnished by mail to subscribers, free of postage, at the following prices: paper edition, $217.00 for six months, $434.00 per year, or purchased for $6.00 per issue, payable in advance; microfiche edition, $141.00 per year, or purchased for $1.50 per issue payable in advance. The semimonthly Congressional Record Index may be purchased for the same per issue prices. To place an order for any of these products, visit the U.S. Government Online Bookstore at: bookstore.gpo.gov. Mail orders to: Superintendent of Documents, P.O. Box 371954, Pittsburgh, PA 15250–7954, or phone orders to (866) 512–1800 (toll-free), (202) 512–1800 (D.C. Area), or fax to (202) 512–2250. Remit check or money order, made payable to the Superintendent of Documents, or use VISA, MasterCard, Discover, American Express, or GPO Deposit Account. Following each session of Congress, the daily Congressional Record is revised, printed, permanently bound and sold by the Superintendent of Documents in individual parts or by sets. With the exception of copyrighted articles, there are no restrictions on the republication of material from the Congressional Record.
