lands and county open space surround it and therefore urban sprawl is not a concern.

According to Stewart, the Super IGA agreement is the culmination of years of hard work.

"I've been working on this for about the last three years," said Stewart. "Also, the city managers and administrators throughout the county were very helpful in putting this together. Every city council in the county ultimately voted in favor of this. Our county attorney told me that by the time we got it done, it was on its 30th draft."

The City of Lafayette was the last county municipality to agree to be part of the Super IGA. According to Stewart, it was difficult to create a draft that would satisfy everybody.

"Lafayette simply had more concern about the agreement than other cities, and it took us longer than others to work those issues out," said Stewart. "After the drought last year, they wanted assurance that they could build new reservoirs for water storage.

Not all of Boulder County was covered under an IGA before Thursday, but the Super IGA contains a clause to "cover additional unincorporated areas not covered by any Underlying Plan."

"The Super IGA covers additional territory in the county that would have been outside the area of those agreements," said Stewart.

The Super IGA document is also designed to limit annexation plans of one entity from encroaching on another entity's Influence Areas, according to the document.

"The Super IGA says that everyone will respect each other's planning area, and that one town isn't going to be providing utility services to another city's planning area," said Stewart. "It's the kind of commitment to planning and to a shared vision that allows us to keep the quality of life that we have in Boulder County."

Stewart added that Boulder residents should not fear situations like the city of Jamestown trying to influence the Boulder Valley Comprehensive Plan, since Underlying Plans would only be amended by members of the underlying IGA.

"No group or committee is created out of the Super IGA," said Stewart. "If anyone wants to change a land use designation, the various underlying IGAs would have to be amended. In our Comprehensive Plan, the city and county of Boulder could change it without the approval of the rest of the Super IGA."

Also, the Super IGA states that additional issues such as sales tax revenue sharing, affordable housing and library services could eventually become parts of regional agreements.

"There isn't any serious talk of revenue sharing right now," said Stewart. "That paragraph is meant to state that there is additional work that could be done in terms of regionalism."

James Burris, Boulder County media information officer, called the signing of the Super IGA "truly historic." Burris indicated that this is the only agreement of its kind in Colorado, and Stewart believes it has some national significance as well.

"There are places in America where they do this kind of planning, setting urban growth boundaries, but these are places where the law requires it to happen," said Stewart. "The historic thing here is that nobody expected anybody to do this. It was done voluntarily."

"This really is a statement that even in a state like Colorado, where land use laws don't encourage a lot of cooperation, we are all able to get on the same page on a voluntary basis," said Stewart.

IN HONOR OF MOTHER TERESA OF CALCUTTA

HON. MARCY KAPTUR
OF OHIO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 18, 2003

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, on October 19, 2003, Roman Catholics, humanitarians, and social justice advocates the world over celebrated the beatification of Mother Teresa of Calcutta by Pope John Paul II in Rome. Beatification is one of the steps toward sainthood in the Roman Catholic Church.

It is impossible to encapsulate the life and work of Mother Teresa into one entry. Many know the basics of her story: born in Albania in 1910, she turned from a comfortable existence when she decided to become a Catholic nun in 1928. Assigned to a convent school in Calcutta, she taught geography and history. Feeling the need to serve God and her fellow human beings in another way, Mother Teresa founded the Missionaries of Charity, in 1948. The order was based on reaching out to the poor, the suffering, and the dying wherever they were: streets and alleys, shacks and hovels. From that first mission there are now more than 400. The work has expanded to hundreds of communities so that these sufferers, along with the least among us, enjoy comfort and some measure of peace in their final days. Though 5,000 sisters are now members of the order, thousands more volunteer for periods of their lives in the Missions of Charity. So many of these are inspired by the example found herself, "My vocation is love" she said. "There is joy in transcending self to serve others."

Celebrated throughout the world for her works, honored with many awards including 1979's Nobel Peace Prize, Mother Teresa is already considered a saint by many of those whose lives she touched. No one who met her, who shook her strong hands, who looked at the deeply wrinkled face, who spoke to the dark eyes which penetrated into one's soul, who listened to the deep and powerful voice, came away from her without the same person. Even people who saw her only casually were moved by her graceful strength and quiet dignity. I am reminded of a leader in our own country recalling a story of a time on an airplane when people saw her and took out their checkbooks. She never said a word, simply her presence called them to help. In more dramatic ways, meetings with Mother Teresa changed the course of people's lives. Still, she eschewed such trappings of notoriety, gaining her greatest sustenance from her love of God and her work to alleviate the suffering in the world. More than anyone else in our time, Mother Teresa lived Christ's admonition "Whosoever you do to the least among you, that you do also to me.” She ignored the accouterments of affluence by admonishing, "God does not ask me to be successful, he only asks me to be faithful."

She wrestled within herself and struggled through daily hardships, yet she somehow transcended the difficulties and was cherished as a living embodiment of God's love for every human being. I close this recognition of Mother Teresa's life with her own summation of her life's work: "My community is the poor. Their security is my own. Their heart is my own. My house is the house of the poor—not just the poor, but the poorest of the poor; those who are so dirty and full of germs that no one goes near them; those who do not go to pray because they are naked; those who do not eat because they do not have the strength; those who collapse on the sidewalks knowing they are about to die while the living walk by without even looking back; those who do not cry because they have no more tears left."

In one's own lifetime, rarely does a person observe a living saint. Mother Teresa will remain for all time such a living legend. May her selflessness inspire a world beleaguered by war, affluence, and ancient hatreds.

CONFERENCE REPORT ON H.R. 1588,
NATIONAL DEFENSE AUTHORIZA-
TION ACT FOR FISCAL YEAR 2004

SPEECH OF
HON. RICHARD BURR
OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Friday, November 7, 2003

Mr. BURR. Mr. Speaker, with the passage of the conference report on H.R. 1588 today, we have taken a great step forward in the development of our homeland and the future of our military forces. Not only are we equipping our military with the tools and resources they need to carry out their missions today, we are also providing for the research and development necessary to meet future threats.

I am particularly pleased to see that the House and Senate have seen fit to include a long-awaited agreement regarding concurrent receipt for our disabled veterans. While I regret that we could not provide the full benefits for all of our disabled military veterans, I am encouraged that we are providing full receipt of both retirement and disability pay to more veterans than have ever been previously allowed by law. This Congress has achieved something that hasn't been seen in any previous Congress. I am hopeful that in the coming years we can expand this important benefit for our veterans.

Additionally, Mr. Speaker, I am encouraged to see that the benefits of TRICARE have been extended to our National Guardsmen and Reservists and their families. All too often, many of these families are unable to meet their premium payments for private insurance when a family member is called away to serve his or her country. With this provision, we will be providing the health care that our soldiers' families need.

I am pleased to see that reform of the procurement and acquisitions process to the benefit of small businesses is also included in the conference report. It is certainly my desire to see our military receive only the best equipment and services, but not without allowing our nation's small businesses the chance to compete and to offer quality services or innovative products.

Mr. Speaker, our safety and freedom ultimately relies on our troops. I am glad that this legislation provides a strong across the board pay raise and other important provisions for our men and women in uniform and their families. I am deeply grateful for the sacrifices our troops make every day in the name of freedom, and am pleased the House was able to pass it today.
Unfortunately, I was unable to be present for the vote on this conference report due to a visit to my district by President Bush. Had I been present, I would have voted “aye” on agreeing to the conference report.

TRIBUTE TO BRIGETTE BALET
HON. SCOTT McINNIS
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 18, 2003

Mr. McINNIS, Mr. Speaker, it is my honor to rise and pay tribute to a remarkable young woman and a dedicated community servant, Brigette Balet from Montrose, Colorado. Sacrificed her summer break to assist friends in need. For her service, Brigette recently received the Key Citizens Award from the City of Montrose and I am proud to join the citizens of Montrose in recognizing Brigette’s contributions before this body of Congress here today.

Last summer, Susan and Paul Beaston lost their home to fire. Without being asked, Brigette donned a mask and set to work helping the Beastons clean up the mess. Throughout the summer, and into the fall, Brigette worked tirelessly to clean the home and itemize the damage.

Brigette’s service to the Beastons illustrates her selfless and altruistic nature. It is truly a tremendous young woman who is willing to forego a summer vacation to work in a soot and smoke filled home.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to rise and pay tribute to Brigette Balet. She is an amazing young woman with a bright future and a fine example to young people everywhere. I would like to thank the Beastons and the Montrose community in congratulating Brigette on this well-deserved award.

TRIBUTE TO MRS. LELER VIRGINIA SCARBOROUGH GEORGE
HON. JAMES E. CLYBURN
OF SOUTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 18, 2003

Mr. CLYBURN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to one of my constituents, Mrs. Leler Virginia Scarborough George, who celebrated her 100th Birthday on November 16, 2003. Mrs. George, whose life has reflected not only her exemplary character, courage and commitment to family, but also a dedication to the education of her children, her faith and an unflinching work ethic.

Mrs. George, which was born on November 16, 1903, to Samuel and Lydia Scarborough of Lee County in Bishopville, S.C. Later, Mrs. George married Jimmy George from Wysacky, SC. They purchased their first home on 75 acres of land, which Mrs. George still owns today. Mr. and Mrs. George placed great importance on educating their children and found the resources to send them to Mayesville Institute, a private, boarding school attended by the incomparable civil and human rights pioneer Mary McLeod Bethune. Despite grave challenges, the Georges successfully balanced the financial demands of schooling their children and running a farming operation.

At the young age of 45, Mr. Jimmy George suddenly passed away, leaving Mrs. George with eight children to raise and a ninth child on the way. With undaunted courage, Mrs. George resolved to hold on to their home and farm, and continue pursuing their shared dreams. Mrs. George demonstrated her business acumen and success as a farmer by converting the horse and plow operations she inherited to a completely mechanized farm. In 1983, she was named by the Smithsonian Museum as head of one of the eight outstanding farm families in America.

Mrs. George’s greatest legacy and contribution to society are the self discipline and burning desire for education that she instilled in each of her children. All nine of whom went to college and received graduate degrees. Their achievements against remarkable odds attest to the determination and sacrifices of Mrs. George. Her oldest son, James, now deceased, attended Morris College, owned several businesses, and served as director of Training and Rehabilitation for the City of Sumter; Rosella G. Toney, now retired, was an Associate Professor of English in the College of South Carolina Central University as an Associate Professor of English and served for a year as Executive Assistant to the Interim Chancellor; W. Arthur L. George, formerly an educator with both local schools and the University of South Carolina at Spartanburg, retired a sales manager with Prudential Insurance Company and presently serves as Senior Chaplain for the Fairfax County Adult Detention Center in Virginia; Kershaw George, a former University of South Carolina Administrator in Admissions, has become an entrepreneur; Dr. Eugene George, formerly an Assistant Professor of Education at the University of South Carolina and Asso- ciate Superintendent of Richland School District #1, is presently a school principal in Columbia; Doris Baskette, a former school principal, is now a principal leader and mentor with the South Carolina Department of Education.

A dedicated and lifelong member of St. Mark Baptist Church, Mrs. George received St. Mark’s “Mother of the Church” honor this year. An active member, she has served as president of the Missionary Society and Floral Club, Treasurer of the Sunday School, and member of the Usher Board. She maintains her political activism through her membership with the National Council of Negro Women.

Mr. Speaker, Mrs. George’s 100th birthday marks a life of stellar achievements, and she is still going strong. There is no question that Mrs. Leler Virginia Scarborough George is a role model for all of us, and ask you and my colleagues to join me in wishing her God-speed.

MISSED ROLLCALL VOTES
HON. DOUG BEREUTER
OF NEBRASKA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 18, 2003

Mr. BEREUTER. Mr. Speaker, on November 17, 2003, this Member unavoidably missed Rollcall Votes Number 620, 621, 622, 623, 624 due to official business off the Hill. Had this Member been present, this Member would have voted “aye” on these rollcall votes on three suspensions and one procedural vote. The three suspensions were S. J. Res. 22, a resolution recognizing the Agricultural Research Service of the Department of Agriculture for 50 years of outstanding service to the Nation through agricultural research; S. J. Res. 18, a resolution commending the Inspectors General for their efforts to prevent and detect waste, fraud, abuse, and mismanagement, and to promote economy, efficiency, and effectiveness in the Federal Government during the past 25 years; and H. Con. Res. 299, a resolution honoring Mr. Sargent Shriver for his dedication and service to the United States of America, for his service in the United States Navy, and for his lifetime of work as an ambassador for the poor and powerless citizens of the United States of America. The fourth vote was a procedural motion changing the hour of meeting for Tuesday, November 18, 2003.

CONFERECE REPORT ON H.R. 1598,
NATIONAL DEFENSE AUTHORIZATION ACT FOR FISCAL YEAR 2004
SPEECH OF
HON. TOM UDALL
OF NEW MEXICO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Friday, November 7, 2003

Mr. UDALL of New Mexico. Mr. Speaker, today, with our soldiers in harm’s way around the globe, and as seemingly constant reports come on the television of brave men and women either killed or wounded, I rise in support of the FY04 National Defense Authorization Act conference report. This important legislation provides much-needed pay increases for our troops, as well as authorizes funding for important construction projects at New Mexico’s military bases. This is, however, far from perfect legislation and I have very serious concerns about several provisions included in this year’s bill. This legislation has supposedly been free of traditional pork-barrel issues, which, unfortunately, have found their way into this year’s authorization.

I would first like to touch on the exemptions to the Endangered Species Act (ESA) and Marine Mammal Protection Act (MMPA) that were included in this legislation. I was a con- ferenee on this section of the bill and believe that the exemptions included in the conference report do not strike an adequate balance between maintaining a level of high military readiness, which I strongly support, and protecting at-risk species.

The DOD argues that the existing national security exemptions in our environmental laws are not good enough for the military, even though the GAO found that claim was without basis. The DOD Authorization Conference Report creates a far weaker and unwarranted regulatory process for the Navy. Therefore, Mr. Speaker, we should have rejected the exemptions to the ESA and MMPA. As Mr. Rumsfeld acknowledged in Qatar, we have the “best trained, best equipped and finest troops on the face of the earth.” Considering this, the military exemptions this legislation creates are unnecessary and should have been struck from the Report.
