Hurricane Katrina Food

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, for millions of people in the Gulf Coast, Hurricane Katrina has shredded the very fabric of everyday life. As my colleagues from Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama have already described, the needs are immeasurable. For many people, 10 years after the basic task of feeding their families. This situation is exacerbated by the simple fact that retail food outlets have ceased to operate throughout the Gulf Coast. The Department of Agriculture has estimated that food stamps alone are likely to increase by 1.4 million people because of Katrina. Furthermore, the Department says that this is a "very conservative" estimate and that the real need may be considerably greater than this.

In Texas, over 400,000 people are already receiving food stamps through the Emergency Food Stamp Program. In Texas, over 100,000 people have received emergency food stamps. These numbers are rising rapidly with every passing day and are certain to continue to do so.

No American should live in the shadow of hunger and food insecurity, least of all those displaced and devastated by nature's fury. Fortunately, the Federal Government has long provided food assistance to help individuals and families in need. The Department of Agriculture is already working hard to get commodities and emergency food stamps to the victims of Hurricane Katrina. And while there has been much criticism of the disaster efforts generally, I have yet to hear of complaints about the response from the Department of Agriculture. Even so, we can and must do more.

That is why today, with my colleague Senator LEAHY, I am introducing the Hurricane Katrina Food Assistance Act of 2005. I am hopeful that my colleagues will join us in working to pass this legislation expeditiously to enhance our Federal response to the needs of hungry Americans devastated by Hurricane Katrina.

This proposal would provide USDA with additional funding and authorities to provide a strong and continuous response to the food needs of thousands of families adversely affected by Hurricane Katrina. The legislation builds upon the capacities of several Federal programs to assist our citizens in need. The legislation targets three groups of households: those living in areas hit by Katrina, those who have lost jobs in the disaster area, and those who have relocated from the disaster area to other parts of the country. This bill provides additional funds to allow for unanticipated caseload increases in the Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children.

It also gives the Department of Agriculture additional funds to purchase bulk commodities and to provide emergency food through food banks and local food pantries. The legislation especially strengthens the ability of the Food Stamp Program to respond to this tremendous disaster by increasing benefit amounts, expanding eligibility, and streamlining the application process and the delivery of benefits. It also provides additional Federal funds to State food stamp agencies that are likely to be overwhelmed by the workload associated with helping all those who seek aid.

I ask that my colleagues on both sides of the aisle, working to pass this legislation expeditiously to enhance our Federal response to the victims of Hurricane Katrina. The legislation that we are introducing today is a good faith effort to share an appropriate response to the food needs of the victims of Hurricane Katrina. The legislation that we are introducing today is a good faith effort and is, I believe, a generous and appropriate starting point. But I have no doubt that it can be improved. I welcome the advice and suggestions of my colleagues on both sides of the aisle and look forward to doing all that we can with all necessary haste to bring relief to the victims of Hurricane Katrina.

I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 1649
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE. This Act may be cited as the "Hurricane Katrina Food Assistance Relief Act of 2005".

SEC. 2. DEFINITION OF SECRETARY. In this Act, the term "Secretary" means the Secretary of Agriculture.

SEC. 3. FOOD STAMP PROGRAM DISASTER AUTHORITY. (a) IN GENERAL. The term 'affected area' means an area of a State that the Secretary determines was affected by Hurricane Katrina or a related condition.

(i) AFFECTED AREA. "(i) IN GENERAL. —The term 'affected area' includes any area that, as a result of Hurricane Katrina or a related condition, was affected by—

(aa) a natural disaster declaration under subsection (a)(1) by more than 50 percent when calculating the value of the allotment for an affected household under section 8(a);

(bb) a major disaster or emergency designation under the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5121 et seq.).

(ii) AFFECTIONED HOUSEHOLD. —(i) IN GENERAL. —The term 'affected household' means a household—

(aa) in an affected area;

(bb) in which a member worked immediately prior to August 29, 2005, in an affected area;

(cc) that was displaced as a result of Hurricane Katrina or a related condition to another areas of the same or another State; or

(dd) that the Secretary determines should receive relief under this paragraph as a result of Hurricane Katrina or a related condition.

(iii) DISASTER RECOVERY PERIOD. —(i) IN GENERAL. —The term 'disaster recovery period' means the period of 180 days beginning on the date of enactment of this paragraph.

(iv) EXTENSION. —The disaster recovery period shall be extended for another 180 days unless the President determines that the extension is not necessary to fully meet the needs of affected households.

(b) DISASTER RECOVERY PERIOD. —During the disaster recovery period—

(i) the application of an affected household shall be processed under the procedures established under section 11(e)(9); and

(ii) the State agency shall increase the value of the affected household of the thirtieth food plan determined under section 6(b) by 10 percent when calculating the value of the allotment for an affected household under section 8(a).

(c) The Secretary shall pay each State agency an amount equal to 100 percent of administrative costs allowable under section 16(a) related to serving affected households in lieu of the payments section 16(a) would otherwise require for those costs.

(iii) an affected household shall be considered to meet the requirements of subsection (g)(2)(B), subsection (g)(2)(C), and (g)(2)(D), as calculated under subsection (g)(2), does not exceed the level permitted under subsection (g)(2)(B) by more than 50 percent; and

(iv) any resource that an affected household lost access because of Hurricane Katrina or a related condition shall not be considered a financial resource under subsection (g).

(d) The Secretary shall take all appropriate measures to rebuild or relocation (including payments from Federal, State, or local governments, charitable organizations, employers, or insurance companies) shall be excluded from consideration under subsection (g) in determining the eligibility of an affected household; and

(e) (v) an affected household may not be considered to customarily purchase food and prepare meals together with other individuals if the affected household did not customarily purchase food and prepare meals together with other individuals immediately prior to August 29, 2005.

(f) (C) DUPLICATE PARTICIPATION. —(i) IN GENERAL. —The Secretary shall pay only once to an affected household for home consumption with those individuals whose participation in more assistance from the food stamp program is considered to customarily purchase food and prepare meals together with other individuals immediately prior to August 29, 2005.

(g) (ii) NO ACTION TAKEN. —Except in the case of deliberate falsehoods, no action may be taken in lieu of the payments section 16(a) related to serving affected households.
taken against any affected household relating to any duplicate participation during the disaster recovery period that takes place prior to termination under clause (1).

(9) Clarification.—Except in the case of intentional program violations as determined under section 6(b), no claim may be established under section 13(b) relating to benefits issued under this subsection.

(10) Payment error rate.—For purposes of determining the payment error rate of a State agency under section 16(c), the Secretary shall disregard any errors resulting from the application of this paragraph to an affected household during the disaster recovery period.

(11) Effect of more generous disaster plans.—This paragraph shall not supersede any provision of a plan approved under paragraph (1) that—

(i) provides more complete or expeditious relief to affected households; or

(ii) provides assistance to more individuals.

(b) Program Information Activities.—

(1) In general.—From funds otherwise appropriated for the food stamp program established under the Food Stamp Act of 1977 (7 U.S.C. 2011 et seq.), the Secretary may use not more than $5,000,000 for the period of fiscal year 2005 or 2006 to carry out the special supplemental nutrition program for women, infants, and children established by section 17 of the Child Nutrition Act of 1966 (42 U.S.C. 1706(a)), the Secretary in consultation with the Secretary of Agriculture to carry out that program $200,000,000, to remain available until September 30, 2007.

(2) Expenditure provisions.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the Secretary shall be entitled to receive, shall accept, and shall use to carry out this section the funds transferred under subsection (a), without further appropriation.

(3) Emergency designation.—The amounts made available under this subsection are designated as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 402 of H. Con. Res. 95 (106th Congress).

(c) Allocation of Funds.—

(1) In general.—Out of any funds in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, in addition to other funds otherwise made available under section 22 of the Agriculture Act of 1996 (7 U.S.C. 1624), the Secretary, in consultation with the Secretary of Homeland Security, shall use funds made available under this section.

(2) Receipt and acceptance.—The Secretary shall be entitled to receive, shall accept, and shall use to carry out this section the funds transferred under subsection (a), without further appropriation.

(3) Allocation of Funds.—The amounts made available under this subsection are designated as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 402 of H. Con. Res. 95 (106th Congress).

(d) Receipt and Acceptance.—The Secretary shall be entitled to receive, shall accept, and shall use to carry out this section the funds transferred under subsection (a), without further appropriation.

(e) Emergency Designation.—The amounts made available under this subsection are designated as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 402 of H. Con. Res. 95 (106th Congress).

(f) Allocation of Funds.—The Secretary shall use funds made available under subsection (a) as the Secretary determines to be necessary to provide assistance to women, infants, and children described in the Secretary in consultation with the Secretary of Homeland Security.

(1) are victims of Hurricane Katrina or a related condition;

(2) have been displaced by Hurricane Katrina or a related condition.

SEC. 6. COMMODITY SUPPLEMENTAL FOOD PROGRAM AND SECTION 32 ASSISTANCE.

(a) Definition of Eligible Recipient.—In this section, the term ‘‘eligible recipient’’ means an individual or household that, as determined by the Secretary in consultation with the Secretary of Homeland Security—

(1) is a victim of Hurricane Katrina or a related condition;

(2) has been displaced by Hurricane Katrina or a related condition; or

(3) is temporarily housing 1 or more individuals who have been severely affected by Hurricane Katrina.

(b) Assistance.—

(1) In general.—In addition to funds otherwise available for the special supplemental food programs established under the Emergency Food Assistance Act of 1983 (7 U.S.C. 7501 et seq.), out of any funds in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, the Secretary of Agriculture shall transfer to the Secretary of Agriculture $200,000,000, to remain available until September 30, 2007.

(2) Receipt and acceptance.—The Secretary shall be entitled to receive, shall accept, and shall use to carry out this section the funds transferred under subsection (a), without further appropriation.

(3) Distribution.—The amounts made available under this subsection are designated as an emergency requirement pursuant to section 402 of H. Con. Res. 95 (106th Congress).

(c) Congressional Review of Agency Rulemaking.—In carrying out this section, the Secretary shall use the authority provided under section 988 of title 5, United States Code.

By Mr. BOXER.

S. 1644. A bill to promote the employment of workers displaced by Hurricane Katrina in connection with Hurricane Katrina reconstruction efforts; to the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, we have all watched in horror as the Gulf Coast has been stricken by what could be the worst natural disaster in U.S. history, leaving unimaginable suffering in its wake. It is difficult to put into words how heartbroken we are for the Americans affected by Hurricane Katrina.

Brave souls everywhere are still searching for some family members, wondering the truth, and remaining hopeful. We have seen the inspiring courage of the survivors and dedicated men and women working around the clock to help them.

Thousands of people have lost their lives. Far more have lost life as they know it—their families, their homes, their communities, and their jobs.

There has already been an increase in people filing for unemployment benefits due to Hurricane Katrina. And, the jobs that have been lost will be gone for a long time.

To help people who have lost their jobs because of this crisis, I am introducing the "Hurricane Katrina Reconstruction and Displaced Worker Assistance Act of 2006." This legislation would give priority in awarding Federal contracts for the rebuilding efforts to those companies where workers displaced by Hurricane Katrina comprise at least 25 percent of the workforce fulfilling the contract. This will help provide jobs to those who have been severely affected by the hurricane.
We must show those who have suffered so much that their government will help them rebuild their lives. I urge my colleagues to support the bill.

By Mrs. BOXER:

S. 1645. A bill to establish a first responder interoperable communications grant program; to the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs.

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, today I am reintroducing a bill to provide help to State and local first responders in purchasing interoperable communications systems—so that everyone can talk to one another during an emergency.

This need has been glaringly apparent for over a decade now, but especially since the 2001 terrorist attacks. It was all the more evident in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina.

The 9/11 Commission described the inability to communicate as an "critical element" at the World Trade Center and at the crash sites, where multiple agencies and multiple jurisdictions responded in September 2001. And yet four years after that attack, our first responders still cannot talk to each other.

Let me mention just one example from the areas affected by Hurricane Katrina.

National Guard members have compared communications capabilities in New Orleans unfavorably with those in Iraq. Ground commanders for New Orleans have been functioning without the ability to track the location of some units reporting to them. This is unacceptable.

Almost every community I visit in California—from big to small—mentions the need for interoperable communications for first responders and the need for assistance from the federal government. California suffered from a lack of interoperable communications in the fall of 2003, when communities could not communicate with each other to convey what was happening with fires that were sweeping through the State, greatly complicating the response.

We need to provide funding so that State and local first responders can purchase the technology that makes interoperability possible. We need to do our job at the national level and provide the resources to protect our communities in the case of a terrorist attack, natural disaster, or other emergency.

I have tried to get funds for interoperable communications systems as part of the Intelligence Bill, the Rail Security Bill, and the Homeland Security Appropriations Bill. The time to act is past. We need to get this done before the next disaster strikes, which is why I am reintroducing this bill.

My bill would authorize $300 million for fiscal years 2006 and 2007 to help State and local agencies improve existing communications systems or purchase new systems. This funding would help local agencies purchase equipment for real-time interoperable communications between first responders.

Guaranteeing that first responders will have the communications equipment necessary to respond to a future attack is exactly the kind of preemptive action that should have been taken after 9/11 and should be taking now.

A report on the needs of first responders by Warren Rudman and Richard Clarke found that fixing this problem would cost $6.8 billion. My bill does not fund this all, but we need to do something.

This bill is an important step in fulfilling our federal responsibility to protect our citizens during emergencies. I urge my colleagues to support it.

By Mr. AKAKA (for himself, Mr. REID, and Mrs. MURRAY):

S. 1646. A bill to provide for the care of veterans affected by Hurricane Katrina; to the Committee on Veterans' Affairs.

Mr. AKAKA. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce legislation that would provide continuous care to those veterans who have been affected by Hurricane Katrina, beginning with the patients in VA hospitals, staff and family members, and now in the recovery stage of the aftermath.

Earlier today, I attended a briefing given by VA Secretary Nicholson and other VA officials on VA's response to the hurricane. VA truly stepped up in the midst of this crisis, and successfully evacuated all of their patients and staff without any loss of life. I commend VA for their coordination and execution of their relief effort. The Department should serve as a model for other government agencies in dealing with disasters.

There is one area, however, where I believe even more can be done to help veterans in Louisiana and Mississippi who have been affected by this tragedy. The legislation I'm introducing will extend a humanitarian hand to those middle-income veterans in the region who do not have access to VA health care because of a decision made by this administration in 2003. The bill extends hospital care and medical services to the Priority 8 veterans affected by Hurricane Katrina, who have previously been denied access to the system.

Veterans residing in areas of New Orleans, LA; Biloxi, MS, or Gulfport, MS, during the hurricane—who have most likely lost everything in this disaster—will be able to find solace in knowing that VA will continue to be there for them even after the media attention fades. It would simply be wrong to exclude these men and women who have served our country as VA beneficiaries, especially now in their time of need.

This bill also serves to relieve some of the financial burden placed on the veterans by waiving copayments for care and medications.

VA's mission is to take care of veterans and also to provide support to other Federal agencies during times of disaster. VA has upheld that mission by establishing a legacy of first rate service to our nation's first responders now through the response efforts to Hurricane Katrina. We can do more for these veterans by allowing VA to serve as a beacon of hope in their time of recovery.

I would like to thank the countless VA volunteers who have answered the call of duty to our Nation, just as our veterans once did. These volunteers have left their duty stations to support efforts at the surrounding VA hospitals that have taken on the evacuated patients, as well as manning the mobile clinics currently touring the affected areas to provide care. These men and women are true heroes.

I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 1646

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. HEALTH CARE AND SERVICES FOR VETERANS AFFECTED BY HURRICANE KATRINA.

(a) REQUIREMENT FOR HOSPITAL CARE AND MEDICAL SERVICES FOR PRIORITY 8 VETERANS AFFECTED BY HURRICANE KATRINA.

(1) REQUIREMENT.—The Secretary of Veterans Affairs shall furnish hospital care and medical services which the Secretary determines to be needed to each priority 8 veteran affected by Hurricane Katrina as if such veteran were a veteran described by section 1710(a)(2) of title 38, United States Code.

(2) ENHANCED ENROLLMENT PRIORITY.—For purposes of furnishing hospital care and medical services under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall deem each priority 8 veteran affected by Hurricane Katrina, upon the date on which representation of such veteran to the Department of Veterans Affairs by the Department of Veterans Affairs shall furnish hospital care and medical services to any veteran affected by Hurricane Katrina, the Secretary shall not collect from or with respect to such veteran any payment for such care and services otherwise required under any provision of law, including any copayment for medical services otherwise required by section 1722A of title 38, United States Code.

(c) DEFINITIONS.—In this section:

(1) The term "veteran affected by Hurricane Katrina" means any veteran who, as of August 29, 2005, resided in the catchment region of the Department of Veterans Affairs medical center in New Orleans, Louisiana, Biloxi, Mississippi, or Gulfport, Mississippi.

(2) The term "priority 8 veteran affected by Hurricane Katrina" means any veteran affected by Hurricane Katrina who, as of August 29, 2005, would have been a veteran covered by paragraph (8) of section 1722A of title 38, United States Code.
purposes of enrollment in the system of annual patient enrollment of the Department of Veterans Affairs under such section.

By Mr. FIEGOLD (for himself, Ms. LANDRIEU, Mr. LEAHY, Mr. DURBIN, Mr. LIEBERMAN, Mr. BAYH, Mrs. CLINTON, Ms. CANTWELL, Mr. AKAKA, Mr. OBAMA, Mr. KENNEDY, Mr. HARKIN, Mrs. BOXER, Mr. SALAZAR, Mr. CORZINE, and Mrs. FEINSTEIN): S. 1647. A bill to amend title 11, United States Code, to provide relief to victims of Hurricane Katrina and other natural disasters; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. FIEGOLD. Mr. President, in the wake of Hurricane Katrina, the Senate is faced with a daunting but absolutely crucial task. How can Congress best respond to the horrific damage caused by this disaster? I want to express my full support to the people from all of the affected regions in Louisiana, Mississippi, and Alabama and their congressional delegations. In this time of desperate need, we all must pull together and do everything we can to help.

We can see the devastating effects of the hurricane and flooding on our television screens every night. It will take years to rebuild the affected areas. In the meantime, the residents and small businesses in those areas have suffered catastrophic losses. Some will undoubtedly, through no fault of their own, be too slow to file for bankruptcy sometime in the future. The bankruptcy system is an important safety net for people who suffer this kind of devastation. In this country, we do not sentence people who have been through a disaster of this type to a lifetime of financial servitude. Bankruptcy lets them get a fresh start. And a fresh start is what so many of the relief efforts going on are all about.

As my colleagues are aware, Congress earlier enacted major changes to the Bankruptcy Code. The Bankruptcy Abuse Prevention and Consumer Protection Act (“BAPCPA”) was the first major overhaul of the bankruptcy system in more than 25 years. Most provisions of the new law will become effective on October 17, 2005, six months after enactment. Any bankruptcy case filed before that date is still subject to current law.

We do not yet know how many families and businesses affected by the hurricane will end up filing for bankruptcy. A study just released a few days ago by Professor Bob Lawless, a law professor at the University of Nevada, indicates that bankruptcy filings increase significantly in areas where natural disasters occur. Professor Lawless looked at 18 hurricanes and tropical storms since 1980 and the rate of bankruptcy filings in the States where the storms made landfall compared to the surrounding States and the rest of the country. He looked in the first, second and third year after the event.

According to this study, bankruptcy filings climbed in landfall States at more than 1 1/2 times the pace of unaffected States and remained stuck at that rate even three years later. Given the enormous impact of this storm, we can expect a similar if not greater, increase in filings. And this new influx of filings will occur as the new law is going into effect. Katrina victims will in essence be guinea pigs, testing the new provisions with the most desperate of circumstances.

The new bankruptcy law makes it significantly more difficult and complicated to file for bankruptcy. No one disputes that. It was intended to weed out abusers of the system. It contains new documentation requirements and the so-called “means test” which is a fairly rigid formula designed to identify debtors who really can continue to pay their debts and shouldn’t get a discharge.

Everyone in the Senate knows that I strongly opposed the BAPCPA and tried very hard to amend it to make it less onerous for debtors. But my goal now is not to try to undermine or reopen the new law, but simply to make sure that it doesn’t compound the hardship faced by victims of Hurricane Katrina and other natural disasters.

That is why I offered to introduce today, the Hurricane Katrina Bankruptcy Relief and Community Protection Act of 2005, aims to do.

This bill first deals directly with the fact that the new law is scheduled to take effect on October 17, a half from now, when the victims of Katrina will still be in the initial stages of putting their lives back together. I believe the best way to handle this extraordinary situation is to give Katrina victims a grace period during which the old bankruptcy law, which has essentially been in effect for 27 years, will still apply to their cases. The bill provides that cases filed within one year of the effective date of the new law by people who lived in the natural disaster area declared by the President will be handled under the law in effect on August 29, 2005, the date of the hurricane. This provision will mean that all the complicated work to apply and interpret the new law that will take place in the first year after it becomes effective will not affect the cases of the victims of Hurricane Katrina.

I understand that some may argue that the new law contains adequate safeguards and judicial discretion to deal with the concerns I have raised. But we can’t know that for sure at this point. At the very least, there will be litigation and disagreement over how some provisions will be interpreted. Those issues will be settled by the courts all across the country, and that process will not be affected by this bill. But Katrina’s victims should not be the test cases. Giving them a year to proceed under the old law seems entirely reasonable.

Providing this added grace period also addresses the fact that some of the hurricane victims might have filed their petitions before October 17 were it not for the hurricane. These people have been deprived of that right, which Congress provided in the new law itself, by a natural disaster. Given all they are now going through, we should give them adequate time to take care of their most immediate needs before closing the door on their ability to file for bankruptcy under the old law. A one year grace period should be sufficient, and seems fair.

Professor Lawless’s study indicates that the financial effects of a disaster like Katrina last for more than a year. And of course, there will be future disasters, perhaps some as grave as this one. I believe we need to take a close look at the new bankruptcy law and make sure that disaster victims are treated fairly. There is simply no justification for applying provisions designed to stop abuse of the system to people who have been through this disaster. And, of course, there will be other provisions of the new law that will apply not only to Katrina victims who file for bankruptcy after the one year grace period is over but to victims of other natural disasters. Let me describe some of those provisions.

First, the bill builds on an exemption to the means test that applies to disabled veterans and simply adds victims of natural disasters to that exemption. No person driven to bankruptcy by a natural disaster should have a case dismissed or converted to a Chapter 13 filing under the means test.

The bill also exempts from the definition of income accounts, social security and other disaster relief funds. Whatever money people receive to help them survive the aftermath of a disaster should not be included in the calculation of how much they have available to satisfy their creditors. Generous citizens around the country are making contributions to make sure disaster victims are fed and clothed and their homes rebuilt, not to give more money to the credit card companies.

The bill contains a provision to make clear that expenses incurred as a result of a disaster are considered reasonable expenses for purposes of the means test. The rigid IRS standards obviously don’t include money to replace things that were lost in a hurricane, or pay for a hotel stay while a home is rebuilt.

Another provision of the new law that seems unfair to apply to victims of natural disasters is that debtors seek credit counseling before they file for bankruptcy. The new law also already includes a provision to exempt debtors who are on active duty military service overseas or who are incarcerated. But debtors who have no records for the credit counselor to evaluate, they shouldn’t be prevented from filing for bankruptcy.
One of the most tragic effects of a natural disaster is homelessness. Millions of homes were destroyed by Katrina. People who lived in these homes will be in temporary shelters for months, but may eventually find apartments to live in in a new location. If they end up having to file for bankruptcy, that filing puts in place an automatic stay of any legal proceedings against them, including eviction proceedings for nonpayment of rent. This automatic stay allows debtors to get their affairs in order and catch up on their rent payments, but the new law makes it much easier for landlords to have the stay lifted. The prospect of a natural disaster victim being put out on the street during a bankruptcy proceeding should be chilling to all Americans. This bill will simply require landlords of natural disaster victims to seek a lifting of the stay chapter 11. If we want to help as many businesses hit by disasters to survive as possible, we need to give the courts flexibility to extend those deadlines.

I know that many people in this body worked very hard over a period of many years to pass the BAPCPA. As much as we disagreed about the merits of that bill, I respect their hard work. But I truly hope that my colleagues will not let pride of authorship or the fact that they supported that bill stand in the way of providing desperately needed help to the victims of Hurricane Katrina and other natural disasters. The changes in this bill are modest and will allow us to deal very quickly. But I believe the law must be changed to better meet the needs of the victims of this disaster.

I hope my colleagues will join me in supporting these modest but important changes to the law. I ask that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD. There being no objection, the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 1647
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
This Act may be cited as the "Hurricane Katrina Bankruptcy Relief and Community Protection Act of 2005".

SEC. 2. BANKRUPTCY RELIEF FOR VICTIMS OF NATURAL DISASTERS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, the provisions of title 11, United States Code, as in effect on August 29, 2005, shall apply to any case described in subsection (b).

(b) ELIGIBILITY.—A case described in this subsection begins during the 12-month period beginning on the effective date of the Bankruptcy Abuse Prevention and Consumer Protection Act of 2005, under (other than under chapter 12 of that title 11), by or on behalf of a debtor—

(1) who resided, or who resided on August 29, 2005, in any area that is subject to a declaration by the President of a major disaster, as defined under section 102 of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5122) in connection with Hurricane Katrina; and

(2) whose financial condition is materially adversely affected by the major disaster.

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS; WHO MAY BE A DEBTOR.

(a) CURRENT MONTHLY INCOME.—Section 101(16A)(B) of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking "and payments" and inserting "payments; and"

(2) by inserting before the period at the end "and payments to a natural disaster victim of a natural disaster, on account of their status as victims of a natural disaster";

(b) NATURAL DISASTER; NATURAL DISASTER ZONE.—Section 101 of title 11, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by redesignating paragraphs (40A) and (40B) as paragraphs (40C) and (40D), respectively; and

(2) by inserting after paragraph (40) the following:

"(40A) The term 'natural disaster' means—

"(A) a major disaster, as defined in section 102 of the Robert T. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5122); or

"(B) a situation similar to such a major disaster (as so defined), with respect to which a determination is made in accordance with State law that such situation exists.

"(40B) The term 'natural disaster zone' means the geographical area included in the determination of a natural disaster.

(c) VICTIM OF NATURAL DISASTER.—Section 101 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(96) The term 'victim of a natural disaster' means a person—

"(A) whose financial condition is materially adversely affected by a natural disaster; and

"(B) whose domicile, residence, or principal place of business in the United States, was in a half of a debtor—

SEC. 5. AMENDMENTS TO CHAPTER 3.
Section 522(b)(2) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by inserting "as a debtor who is a victim of a natural disaster" after "debtor" the first place that term appears.

SEC. 6. AMENDMENTS TO CHAPTER 7.
Section 707(b)(2)(B) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(X) in addition, the debtor's monthly expenses may include the actual reasonably necessary expenses incurred as a result of being a victim of a natural disaster.

SEC. 7. AMENDMENTS TO CHAPTER 8.
Section 1103 of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(1) in subparagraph (A), by inserting "as a debtor who is a victim of a natural disaster" after "debtor"; and

SEC. 8. AMENDMENTS TO CHAPTER 13.
Section 1307(e) of title 11, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following:

"(X) in addition, the debtor's monthly expenses may include the actual reasonably necessary expenses incurred as a result of being a victim of a natural disaster.

SEC. 9. AMENDMENTS TO TITLE 26.
