Senate

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 2009

The Senate met at 9:31 a.m. and was called to order by the Honorable MARK R. WARNER, a Senator from the Commonwealth of Virginia.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Eternal Spirit, our shelter in the time of storm, our rock in a weary land, Lord, we live in challenging times that require more than human solutions for our problems. In the midst of these days, help our lawmakers to find in You a sure place to stand and a strong support they can absolutely trust. Lord, give them such faith in You that they will seek and follow Your guidance, living lives that honor Your Name. Rule in their hearts as they deliberate so that Your higher wisdom will prevail. Help them to remember that they must give an account to You for how responsible they are in carrying out their duties.

We pray in Your strong Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The Honorable MARK R. WARNER led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

serve on the Senate Judiciary Committee, and that committee held hearings regarding Mr. Holder's confirmation. Regrettably, last Wednesday, when the Senate Judiciary Committee voted that nomination out of the committee, I was a "no" vote.

I wish to say that originally I approached this nomination with an open mind and a determination to ask—indeed to demand—answers to legitimate questions. I think that is the responsibility of each Senator under the Constitution in performing our duties of advice and consent. I also think it is important for me to explain why, even though I approached that nomination with an open mind and a predisposition to vote for Mr. Holder's nomination, I ultimately concluded, as a result of some of the evidence, which I will lay out, I could not do so in good conscience.

Mr. Holder, of course, served as Deputy Attorney General during the Clinton administration, and if there is any public service that is more illustrative of how someone will actually perform as Attorney General, I think it would be in performing as Deputy Attorney General. The Deputy Attorney General is the one job on Earth most similar to the job for which Mr. Holder will be confirmed on Monday. It is rare to have such a clear picture of the job a nominee will do if confirmed. Thus, I reviewed Mr. Holder's record with great care, as you might expect, and also with great interest.

Unfortunately, two of Mr. Holder's actions as Deputy Attorney General: the recommendation that President Clinton commute the sentences of 16 Puerto Rican separatist terrorists and the recommendation that President Clinton pardon the billionaire fugitive Marc Rich, raised serious questions about Mr. Holder's judgment and independence from the wishes of his political sponsors—two key qualities I would hope the Senate would want for any Attorney General, independence, adherence and fidelity only to the rule of law—and good judgment.

Two other aspects of Mr. Holder's record also raised concerns for me. Mr. Holder's record demonstrates a failure to understand the profound threat posed by radical Islamic terrorism; and, second, Mr. Holder has often appeared to be hostile to the second amendment, to the constitutional right to keep and bear arms.

As I said, in the Judiciary Committee, Mr. Holder failed to answer my questions, regrettably, and the questions of my colleagues in a way that alleviated these concerns. As I will explain, I indeed found Mr. Holder's answers to be nothing short of evasive in some key respects. Because I have doubts about Mr. Holder's judgment and independence, I am opposing this nomination, and the four reasons, as I tried earlier to summarize but which I will repeat are Mr. Holder's role in the FALN and Los Macheteros commutations, his role in the Marc Rich pardon, his misjudgments and shifting opinions with regard to the war on terror, and his record of hostility toward the individual's right to keep and bear arms.

First, I would ask my colleagues to consider Mr. Holder's role in the FALN and Los Macheteros commutations. In August 1999, President Clinton offered clemency to 16 members of two Puerto Rican separatist terrorist organizations, FALN and Los Macheteros. Deputy Attorney General Eric Holder made the recommendation that he should do so. The FALN was a clandestine terrorist group devoted to bringing about the independence of Puerto Rico through violent means. Its members waged open war on the United States, with more than 150 bombings, arsons, kidnappings, prison escapes, threats and intimidation, which resulted in the deaths of at least six people and injuries to many more between 1974 and 1983.

The most gruesome attack was in 1975 in lower Manhattan. Timed to explode during the lunch hour, the bomb decapitated 1 of the 4 people killed and injured another 60. In another attack in Puerto Rico, Los Macheteros opened fire on a bus of U.S. sailors. Two American sailors were killed and nine were wounded. Fortunately, much of the leadership and membership of these terrorist groups was captured and brought to justice in the late 1970s and early 1980s. By the late 1980s, the worst of the FALN's reign of terror was over.

In the early 1990s, sympathetic activists petitioned for clemency on behalf of these terrorists, and it was an easy call for the pardon attorney. The pardon attorney is the attorney at the Department of Justice who reviews clemency requests and makes recommendations. They make sure the record is thoroughly reviewed and, as I said, then make recommendations. The fact is these unrepentant terrorists who were given clemency by the Clinton administration never even petitioned for clemency. They never even asked for it.

Pardon attorney Margaret Love, who worked for then-Deputy Attorney General Jamie Gorelick, recommended against clemency for any of these prisoners, and a recommendation was transmitted to the President. Shortly thereafter, when Eric Holder became Deputy Attorney General, he rescinded that recommendation opposing clemency and recommended that President Clinton grant clemency to these unrepentant terrorists.

Strangely, Mr. Holder still stands behind this recommendation, saying he considered it reasonable. But the reasons he gives are not persuasive. Mr. Holder claims these men were not linked to violence. That is false. These men were active members of a terrorist organization that had committed dozens of violent crimes, including, as I mentioned earlier, bombings, murder, and arson. It is true the particular crimes for which these individuals were convicted were not, in and of themselves, violent crimes, but by that standard, Saddam Hussein did not commit crimes, unless he pulled the trigger himself. Likewise, Osama bin Laden, responsible for the deaths of thousands of innocent American citizens, would not be linked to crime under the standard Mr. Holder posits.

There is ample evidence that at least some of the men for whom Eric Holder recommended clemency were, in fact, murderers. These commutations were, at the time, widely believed to have some political motivation. Indeed, the Clinton White House discussed how these clemencies would affect then-Vice President Gore's political standing within the Puerto Rican community. For this reason, I believe a full accounting of whom Mr. Holder met with, what they discussed, and what went into his decision to recommend these commutations is in order.

But there is another equally important reason that these questions must be answered. The victims of the FALN and the Los Macheteros deserve answers. I would encourage all my colleagues, before voting, to review the testimony of Joseph Connor, whose father was killed in the bombing in lower Manhattan in 1975. Mr. Connor testified that Mr. Holder did not consult with him, did not inform him or his family or other victims before recommending that the President set FALN terrorists free.

I cannot vote for Mr. Holder until I can explain my vote to Joseph Connor. Because Mr. Holder has failed to answer my questions about the FALN commutations, I do not have an explanation I can give to Mr. Connor.

One of the reasons Mr. Holder has refused to answer some questions is, it appears he is invoking executive privilege. But it is very odd because this apparent assertion of executive privilege comes despite the fact that President Clinton waived executive privilege for all testimony concerning these commutations. That is in the record of the hearing before the Judiciary Committee. I think it is unfortunate that the current administration's first apparent assertion of executive privilege seems to come for no purpose other than to protect Mr. Holder's record from scrutiny.

As I said, in 2001, President Clinton waived executive privilege with regard to the commutations and pardons he granted. In a letter to the House of Representatives, President Clinton's lawyer explicitly stated President Clinton "will interpose no executive privilege objections to the testimony of his former staff concerning these pardons, or to other pardons and commutations he granted."

Nonetheless, Mr. Holder continues to assert he is not authorized to testify about the so-called options memorandum, which is part of the record underlying these commutations. Instead of forthright answers about Mr. Holder's decision to recommend these commutations or present the options memo to then-President Clinton, he has repeatedly refused to answer questions submitted by Judiciary Committee members, including me.

For example, I asked Mr. Holder whether he was aware at the time he made his commutation recommendation of the leadership positions of three of these terrorists and their alleged involvement of another murder of a U.S. Navy sailor—more than one. Mr. Holder responded that this information “was included in [their] presentence reports which in the ordinary course would be requested and reviewed by the Office of Pardon Attorney as one of the first investigative steps.”

This answer, I have to say, is a very lawyerly answer, but it is nonresponsive to my question. It avoids the question of whether he was aware of these matters when he recommended commutation. In fact, Chairman LEAHY and Ranking Member SPECTER sent a letter to the Department of Justice citing President Clinton’s waiver of executive privilege and requesting the relevant documents regarding the clemency decision. This request, inexplicably, has been denied.

Because President Clinton has waived this privilege, this assertion of privilege is apparently now being made by the present administration of President Obama. Of course, executive privilege only belongs to the principal, to the client—in this case the Executive—so it has to be either President Clinton or President Obama, and clearly President Clinton has waived it.

The Justice Department has apparently advanced the argument that the Clinton waiver applied only to testimony and not to documents, but Mr. Holder’s testimony about the options paper is clearly testimony and not a document. Thus, his assertion of privilege is indeed broader than the most restrictive reading of the Clinton waiver. So who is denying the Holder authorization to testify about the options paper? Apparently, I conclude, it could only be President Obama.

Assertions of executive privilege, as we know, raise questions about the balance of power between the executive branch and the legislative branch. The Executive’s interest in secrecy and confidential communications, and Congress’s right to information, particularly in the context of a confirmation hearing when performing our constitutional duty of advice and consent, are in tension and, in this case, conflict. It is up to the branches to negotiate and work together to take both interests into account and to make public relevant information that bears on the qualifications and experience of members of the President’s Cabinet—in this instance, Mr. Holder. I believe President Obama owes the American people—consistent with his ideals on open government, which I enthusiastically support—to make his assertion of privilege plainly and in the light of day.

Moreover, it is hard to imagine any significant executive branch interest in keeping this information secret. These documents are a decade old and concern crimes committed about 30 years ago. President Clinton, of course, is no longer in office, and he has waived the privilege. The context of these documents has been alluded to in U.S. major newspapers and even by Mr. Holder himself. So it seems to me there is no further executive branch interest in continuing to hide these documents, only a desire to shield Mr. Holder from hard questions.

In short, Mr. Holder’s responses to questions regarding these commutations has been evasive. The Senate and the American people deserve forthright answers to questions that pertain to Mr. Holder’s judgment, his independence, his seriousness of mind when it comes to the threat of Islamic extremism, and his qualifications to be Attorney General.

I also believe the families of the victims of the terrorist acts by the FALN and Los Macheteros terrorists deserve a full accounting for the release of terrorists who were partly to blame for their loved one’s deaths. Instead of providing a forthright accounting, Mr. Holder has simply dodged the question, hidden behind an apparent claim of executive privilege, and refused to cooperate with the Judiciary Committee in getting to the bottom of some of these matters.

The next concern I have has to do with the Rich pardon I alluded to at the very beginning. Less than 2 years after the controversy surrounding the FALN commutations, on the very last night of the Clinton administration, Mr. Holder made a very similar error of judgment when he recommended that President Clinton pardon the notorious fugitive by the name of Marc Rich. At the time, Mr. Rich was No. 6 on the FBI’s Ten Most Wanted List.

In 1983, then-U.S. attorney Rudy Giuliani in the Southern District of New York, obtained an indictment of international commodities trader Marc Rich and his business partner, Pincus Green. The indictment charged 65 counts of tax evasion, racketeering, and trading with the enemy.

Specific charges include illegally trading with the Ayatollah Khomeini’s Iranian terrorist regime in violation of U.S. energy laws and a trade embargo against Iran.

Indeed, Mr. Rich made a fortune trading with the Ayatollah’s regime at the same time that 52 American diplomats were still being held hostage in the U.S. Embassy in Iran. Mr. Rich profited by trading with Cuba, Libya, and South Africa during apartheid—all despite U.S. embargoes. Rather than face these charges head on, Mr. Rich simply fled to Switzerland where he remained a fugitive for 17 years. Federal law enforcement, with help from the CIA, the NSA, and other agencies, expended substantial resources in an effort to apprehend Mr. Rich. These efforts included extradition requests and attempts by U.S. marshals to arrest him abroad. Rich refused to return to the United States, despite an offer by prosecutors to drop the racketeering charges in exchange for his return.

In an effort to avoid his extradition, though, Mr. Rich went so far as to renounce his U.S. citizenship, and he tried to become a citizen of Bolivia. It is hard to imagine a more inappropriate candidate for a pardon than a fugitive from justice accused of trading with the enemy. Mr. Rich’s own lawyer told him he “spit on the American flag” by avoiding the jurisdiction of U.S. courts.

According to those involved in the pardon process, including President Clinton and Marc Rich’s lawyer, Eric Holder was more responsible for this controversial decision than any other member of the Clinton administration with the exception of the President himself.

In fact, on the last evening of the Clinton administration, White House counsel called Mr. Holder to solicit his views on the Rich pardon application. As Deputy Attorney General, Holder was effectively speaking for the entire Department of Justice during this crucial phone call.

Disregarding the strongly held views of hundreds of Department of Justice prosecutors and FBI agents who worked nearly two decades to bring Marc Rich to justice, Mr. Holder told Nolan he was “neutral, leaning to favorable.”

What is crucial to understand is that Mr. Holder was not just speaking for himself but the entire Department of Justice. But with this recommendation from the Deputy Attorney General, President Clinton granted the Rich pardon, one of his last and most despicable actions.

Even after having ample opportunity to explain himself, it is unclear what Mr. Holder’s rationale was for recommending this despicable pardon, as I said, which former FBI Director Louis Freeh called a “corrupt act” on the part of President Clinton.

Mr. Holder has admitted he made a mistake, which is commendable. But never in a full day of hearings and in answers to several written questions did Mr. Holder offer a persuasive reason for supporting this pardon—other than, apparently, caving in to pressure from the Clinton White House. Mr. Holder defends himself by claiming he was naive; and, again, we have all made mistakes. I grant that. He now admits the Rich pardon was a mistake and promises he will never make a similar mistake again. In fact, he takes the position he will be a better Attorney General because of learning from this mistake.

But this pledge is difficult to square with the fact that Mr. Holder had essentially made the same error in judgment less than 2 years before with the FALN commutation. I am also concerned that Mr. Holder's testimony regarding key conversations and meetings on the Rich pardon seem to contradict the recollections of members of the Marc Rich legal and lobbying team.

In the fall of 2000, there was an e-mail from former White House Counsel Jack Quinn—who was representing Rich in his quest for a pardon—to the rest of the Rich legal team indicating Mr. Rich told Mr. Quinn to “go straight to the White House.”

This suggests that Holder was telling Quinn to bypass the typical pardon process through the Department of Justice, where opponents of the Rich pardon were legion. Mr. Holder disputes this interpretation, arguing that an application sent to the White House would be forwarded to the Department of Justice in any case. Whether this is true, it is indisputable that the prosecutors in the Southern District of New York who indicted Marc Rich for the crimes I mentioned earlier—they were never asked about their views on the Rich pardon, as they would have been if the normal pardon process had been followed at the Department of Justice.

If Mr. Holder advised the Rich pardon team on strategic matters, it would be a serious violation of his duties as the second highest law enforcement officer in the land. Such aid would be particularly disappointing because a House committee had specifically reprimanded Mr. Holder for improperly aiding and facilitating the clemency application of the FALN terrorists 2 years earlier. It is not disputed, though, that the Rich pardon application was fast-tracked and sheltered from its many opponents.

It is clear to me that Mr. Holder played a role in clearing the way for this pardon and, at a minimum, he knew it had not been appropriately handled through the Department of Justice pardon process.

Nevertheless, he declared himself as “neutral, leaning favorable” when the White House asked him about his opinion.

In summary, Mr. Holder appears once again to simply have given President Clinton the answer he wanted. The Rich pardon recommendation is the most recent major action by Mr. Holder as a public official. I believe the evidence casts doubt on his independence and his judgment once again.

My greatest concerns, however, are that Mr. Holder fails to fully understand the unique challenges and threats posed to our country by radical Islamic terrorism. I want to explain why I say that. I agree with Mr. Holder when he says the most important duty of the Attorney General is to protect America from another terrorist attack. But his public statements regarding the war on terror too often betray a willingness to advance ideological rhetoric without fully appreciating the sensitivity and the complexity of this issue.

I find it especially troubling that Mr. Holder's legal views on national security have seemed to shift, depending upon the political mood of the day and the audience to whom he is speaking.

Shortly after the terrorist attacks of 9/11, Mr. Holder voiced support for the Bush administration's interpretation of the status of terrorist detainees. Mr. Holder said, in January 2002, that al-Qaida terrorists:

... are not, in fact, people entitled to the protection of the Geneva Convention. They are not prisoners of war.

He went on to endorse indefinite detention of terrorist prisoners at Guantanamo Bay and argued that such prisoners should not be afforded Geneva Conventions protections so that they could, in fact, be interrogated to provide actionable intelligence.

He did insist, as did the Bush administration at the time, that these detainees should be treated humanely, though. But more recently, as the political winds have shifted, Mr. Holder has chastised the Bush administration for policies he now seems to believe defy the law.

There is a disturbing Jekyll-and-Hyde quality to Mr. Holder's legal pronouncements concerning our counterterrorism policies. I wish to quote from an Associated Press article entitled “Obama AG pick defended Guantanamo policy,” dated November 22, 2008. I ask unanimous consent that this article be printed in the RECORD following my remarks.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

(See exhibit 1.)

Mr. CORNYN. Asked whether terrorism suspects could be held forever, Holder responded:

It seems to me that you can think of these people as combatants and we are in the middle of a war.

Holder said in a CNN interview in January 2002:

And it seems to me that you could probably say, looking at precedent, that you are going to detain these people until the war is over, if that is ultimately what we wanted to do.

Just weeks later, Holder told CNN he did not believe al-Qaida suspects qualified as prisoners of war under the Geneva Conventions.

One of the things that we clearly want to do with these prisoners is to have an ability to interrogate them and find out what their future plans might be, where other cells are located. Under the Geneva Convention, you are really limited to the amount of information that you can elicit from people.

Holder said it was important to treat detainees humanely, but he said they:

... are not, in fact, people entitled to the protection of the Geneva Convention. They are not prisoners of war.

He also downplayed criticism that prisoners were being mistreated.

Those in Europe and other places who are concerned about the treatment of al-Qaida members should come to Camp X-ray and see how people are, in fact, being treated.

Those were essentially the same arguments the Bush administration made with regard to Guantanamo Bay with regard to holding enemy combatants who wear no uniform, who do not obey the laws of war, and are not citizens of a state, a nation state, but, in fact, are a terrorist organization bent on killing innocent civilians here and abroad in an effort to pursue their ideology.

Since then, however, these arguments have been heavily criticized, as we know, by human rights activists and leading Democrats and, inexplicably to me, Mr. Holder himself.

He said in June of 2008:

We must close our detention center at Guantanamo Bay.

He said that in a speech to the American Constitution Society. He said:

A great nation should not detain people, military or civilian, in dark places beyond the reach of law. Guantanamo Bay is an international embarrassment.

Holder added he never thought he would see the day when the “Supreme Court would have to order the President of the United States to treat detainees in accordance with the Geneva Convention.”

These sharply contrasting legal conclusions were made, again inexplicably by one and the same person, Eric Holder, the nominee for the highest law enforcement officer in the United States. One can only wonder what he truly believes.

In a 2008 speech to the liberal American Constitution Society, he attacked many of the same legal positions he once held as “making a mockery of the rule of law.”

In that same speech, Holder called for a “reckoning” over the Bush administration's “unlawful practices in the war on terror.”

He also accused the Bush administration of “act[ing] in direct defiance of Federal law” and railed against counterterrorism policies that he claimed “violate international law and the United States Constitution.”

In this way, Mr. Holder appears to have already publicly prejudged a potential prosecutorial question that may come before him as Attorney General, without knowing all the facts.

Now, it is one thing to change your mind, but it is quite different to change your mind and then attack the very same position you once held as one that could only be held in bad faith, describing it as “making a mockery of the rule of law.”

I can only conclude that as an act of pure cynicism, somebody who tells you, particularly a lawyer who takes a legal position he once embraced, as now only being able to be held in bad faith, is a person who has made a bad-faith legal argument at least once.

The recent terrorist attacks in India, in Mumbai, have reminded Americans of the possibility of further attacks on U.S. soil or literally anywhere around the world. On November 26, last year, Mumbai, as we know, was ravaged by a gang of terrorists. One of the attackers was captured while the rest were killed.

More than 170 individuals died as a result of bombings and gunfire, including 6 Americans. If a U.S. city was targeted in the same way Mumbai was, or worse, biological, chemical, other even nuclear weapons being used, it is critical that we be able to obtain the intelligence from captured terrorists in order to assess whether any other imminent attacks are in the works.

If we captured the terrorist in an ongoing attack on an American city, it is critically important that we not treat him as an ordinary criminal, with all the rights conferred by the Constitution on an American citizen. That, I believe, is one of the most important lessons we must recall and never forget from the tragedy of 9/11. To do so would effectively shut down the intelligence-gathering process and risk American lives.

When this sort of unpredictable legal challenge arises in the war on terrorism, I wish to know whether the Eric Holder of 2002 or the Eric Holder of 2008 will be calling the shots. I was not encouraged by Mr. Holder's refusal to say he would authorize aggressive interrogation against terrorists, even if he knew that to do so would prevent a major attack on an American city.

I also fear his recommendation for and continued endorsement of the FALN terrorist commutations is evidence of a failure to appreciate the continuing dangers of terrorism. At his confirmation hearing, Mr. Holder attempted to defend his poor judgment on the terrorist clemency issue by noting these commutations occurred long before 9/11.

But as I reminded him, the FALN clemencies came after the first World Trade Center bombing of 1993, and the al-Qaida attacks on U.S. embassies in Kenya and Tanzania in 1998. As Senator COBURN rightly pointed out, his clemency recommendation came in the wake of the 1995 Oklahoma City bombing right here on our own soil, the most horrific domestic terror attack that has ever occurred in our country.

So I worry that Mr. Holder is not prepared to lead the Department of Justice at a moment when this Nation is waging an asymmetric war whose battlefield extends across the globe and even onto U.S. soil.

If confirmed as the next Attorney General, Mr. Holder will inherit a complex legal architecture constructed to prevent terrorist attacks here in America and against our allies. That has admittedly been controversial. But I do not think anyone can question its effectiveness given the fact that we have not had another terrorist attack on our own soil since 9/11.

If Mr. Holder is confirmed, I hope he will study these issues and treat them more carefully and with greater deliberation and greater soundness of judgment than he has demonstrated by his conflicting positions in 2002 and 2008. I hope that rather than shifting his opinions with the political winds, he will do his very best to uphold the rule of law and the Constitution of the United States while protecting the American people by making sure we are protected within the limits of our law from future attacks.

The final issue I wish to mention is my concern about Mr. Holder's adherence to the Supreme Court ruling in the District of Columbia v. Heller, which interpreted an individual's right to keep and bear arms.

That case reversed the District of Columbia's position that said individuals could not own firearms in their homes to protect their family and their possessions. I believe this is an important victory for the second amendment that must be protected and preserved.

As the Nation's chief law enforcement officer, the Attorney General steers Federal gun law policy. The next Attorney General's views will shape not only law enforcement and prosecution priorities with regard to these issues but also the positions the Department of Justice takes in court. The views of the Justice Department will always be given considerable weight during the early stages of the law's development post-Heller.

It is crucial the next Attorney General fully appreciate that an individual's right to keep and bear arms is a fundamental freedom protected by our Constitution. I was not comforted by Mr. Holder's vague assurance that Heller now is the law of the land because it cannot be reconciled with his long record of hostility to second amendment rights.

Through his service as Deputy Attorney General and continuing to private practice, Mr. Holder has opposed the individual right to keep and bear arms. As Deputy Attorney General, he advocated for a wide variety of Federal gun restrictions. Mr. Holder's fierce hostility to gun rights continued after, as I say, his tenure as Deputy Attorney General.

Mr. Holder feels so strongly about his opposition to gun rights that he, along with his former boss, the former Attorney General Janet Reno, filed a brief with the Supreme Court in the Heller case and argued against the individual rights approach to the second amendment and in favor of the view that the second amendment protects only militia activities.

The Holder-Reno brief argued:

The Second Amendment does not protect firearms possession or use that is unrelated to participation in a well-regulated militia.

Although the individual rights approach prevailed in the Supreme Court and in the D.C. Circuit, Holder's brief described that approach as "unwise" and "unjustified." The Holder-Reno brief goes on to argue that, even if the second amendment protects an individual right, that right should be narrowly construed.

I worry it will be impossible for Mr. Holder to vigorously protect the second amendment rights of all Americans when he is so clearly opposed to the decision in the Heller case. I believe his hostility to the second amendment could lead the Department of Justice to take opposing positions to narrow that Supreme Court decision, particularly in court.

Holder's Heller brief was directly at odds with the Court's opinion, as we have seen. Can we expect him to vigorously enforce and protect the constitutional right to bear arms, a right with which he personally and strenuously disagrees?

Let me say, in conclusion, the Senate's advice and consent function requires us to carefully review a nominee's career, to ask hard questions, and to insist on satisfactory answers. I take this duty seriously, as I know all my colleagues do. With this nominee, I conclude that there are simply too many questions to which I have not yet heard a satisfactory answer.

Why would he recommend clemency for unrepentant terrorists?

Why would he recommend a pardon for a fugitive who made billions trading with America's enemies? Did Mr. Holder know one of the men whose clemency he recommended was linked to the murder of a U.S. sailor and, if so, did he communicate this to the White House? Why did Mr. Holder consult with Mr. Rich's prosecutors before recommending a pardon? Why is President Obama asserting executive privilege to prevent Mr. Holder from testifying about these commutations? Was Mr. Holder's judgment in the Rich and FLAN clemency decisions influenced by the outcome that he believed President Clinton wanted so badly? How can I explain to Joseph Connor, whose father was killed in the 1975 bombing in lower Manhattan, that the man who never spoke to his family before championing clemency for the men responsible for his father's murder will be the next Attorney General of the United States?

Does Mr. Holder appreciate the gravity of the threats and the complexity of the legal issues posed by the war on terror? Can Mr. Holder be counted on to support and defend the constitutional right to keep and bear arms?

I can't answer these questions with any degree of certainty. I regret to say I will vote against the nomination of Eric Holder to be the next Attorney General.

EXHIBIT 1

OBAMA AG PICK DEFENDED GUANTANAMO POLICY)

(By Matt Apuzzo)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 22, 2008—President-elect Barack Obama's choice to become the next attorney general, Eric Holder, once defended the Bush administration's arguments for holding detainees at Guantanamo Bay, a position that runs counter to his more recent comments—and to a signature policy of the incoming administration.

Holder, a confidant to Obama on legal issues, recently has been a leading voice in the chorus calling to close Guantanamo Bay, which he has described as an international embarrassment. Likewise, Obama has called it a "sad chapter in American history," pledged to close the island prison and criticized the Bush administration for arguing that terrorism suspects aren't covered by standards set by the Geneva Conventions.

But in the months after the Sept. 11, 2001, terror attacks, Holder defended the Bush administration's policies at Guantanamo.

Asked whether terrorism suspects could be held forever, Holder responded: "It seems to me you can think of these people as combatants and we are in the middle of a war," Holder said in a CNN interview in January 2002. "And it seems to me that you could probably say, looking at precedent, that you are going to detain these people until war is over, if that is ultimately what we wanted to do."

Just weeks later, Holder told CNN he didn't believe al-Qaida suspects qualified as prisoners of war under the Geneva Conventions.

"One of the things we clearly want to do with these prisoners is to have an ability to interrogate them and find out what their future plans might be, where other cells are located," said Holder, the former deputy attorney general during the Clinton administration. "Under the Geneva Convention, you are really limited in the amount of information that you can elicit from people."

Holder said it was important to treat detainees humanely. But he said they "are not, in fact, people entitled to the protection of the Geneva Convention. They are not prisoners of war." He also downplayed criticism that prisoners were being mistreated.

"Those in Europe and other places who are concerned about the treatment of al-Qaida members should come to Camp X-ray and see how the people are, in fact, being treated," he said.

Those were essentially the arguments of the Bush administration. Since then, those arguments have been criticized by human rights groups, leading Democrats, and Holder himself.

"We must close our detention center in Guantanamo Bay," Holder told the American Constitution Society this summer. "A great nation should not detain people, military or civilian, in dark places beyond the reach of law. Guantanamo Bay is an international embarrassment."

Holder added that he never thought he'd see the day where the "Supreme Court would have to order the President of the United States to treat detainees in accordance with the Geneva Convention."

Those comments are in line with Obama's views. Holder did not return e-mail and telephone messages seeking comment about his earlier interviews. Brooke Anderson, a spokeswoman in Obama's transition office, restated Obama's commitment to opposing torture.

"Eric Holder shares that view," she said. "The president-elect has complete confidence that Eric Holder will be an attorney general who will restore respect for the rule of law and for our international commitments."

Obama's advisers are crafting plans to close Guantanamo Bay, release some detainees and bring others to the United States to face trial. One unanswered question, however, is what to do with detainees who could not be prosecuted in criminal courts without jeopardizing national security.

The Justice Department under Holder almost certainly would help answer that question.

In introducing Holder and other members of his national security team, Obama said he welcomed differences of opinion.

"I assembled this team because I am a strong believer in strong personalities and strong opinions," he said. "I think that's how the best decisions are made."

"I will be responsible for the vision that this team carries out," Obama said, "and I will expect them to implement that vision once decisions are made."

Mr. CORNYN. I yield the floor and suggest the absence of a quorum.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. ALEXANDER. I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

ECONOMIC STIMULUS

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, next week the Senate begins the debate of the so-called stimulus package. I wish to talk about that for a few minutes. It is $1.2 trillion of borrowed taxpayer money to be spent in an effort to help get our economy restarted. Here is my position on it, and I believe the position of most Republicans and of some Democrats. We believe that in order for the stimulus to be effective, it should be reoriented on housing. First, fix the real problem: housing. If housing is restarted, if home values are stabilized, and if people are buying homes, that will do more to help restart the economy than anything else. Second, we should let people keep more of their own money. A true stimulus is permanent tax relief. If people have more of their own money in their pockets, they will have more confidence. They will be able to buy more. After reorienting toward housing, that will also help restart the economy.

Since we are borrowing so much of this money, especially, we believe it ought to be oriented directly toward those items that would specifically create jobs now. It should not go toward good sounding ideas such as Head Start and Pell grants for college students that we may want to take up later, maybe as early as the following week, in a regular appropriations bill. So that is our belief: reorient the stimulus toward housing, let people keep more of their own money, and get the stuff out of the bill that has nothing to do with creating jobs now, in the next few months or in the first year.

We know Americans are hurting. Every single Senator knows that. Our country's economic turmoil is hitting every family where it matters, in the family budgets. More than 860,000 properties were repossessed by lenders in 2008, more than double the 2007 level. Manufacturing is at a 28-year low. Tennessee is a State that relies heavily on manufacturing. The unemployment rate is 7.2 percent, too high. It has been higher. I can remember at a time when I was Governor of Tennessee in 1982, the unemployment rate was 12 percent, but 7.2 percent is too high. There were 1.9 million jobs lost in the last 4 months of 2008. The long-term unemployed, people out of work for 27 weeks or more, rose to 2.6 million in December of 2008. So there are a number of steps we need to take as a government, and we have been taking them.

At a hearing this week, where the Presiding Officer and I are both members of the Budget Committee—and we probably agree those hearings were excellent—Douglas Elmendorf, Director of the Congressional Budget Office, reminded us of the steps the Government is already taking. The Federal Reserve negotiated the sale of Bear Stearns to JPMorgan Chase, $29 billion, to form a new limited liability company. Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, the agencies that guaranteed half the home loans in the country, were taken over by their regulator and the Treasury put up $100 billion to stabilize that situation. The Federal Reserve extended $60 billion in a line of credit to the American International Group, the insurance company called AIG. We had a debate in October where on both sides of the aisle, two-thirds of Republicans as well as many Democrats voted to give the Secretary of the Treasury $700 billion to invest in troubled assets or to use in a variety of ways to try to keep our economy from going straight down. It has gone down, but it didn't go straight down; we believe this is partly because of the action the Congress and the President took at that time.

What we had was, in effect, a wreck on the highway. There is an old Roy Acuff song by that title. I think that is the best way to explain what was happening. It was like a wreck on the interstate outside Knoxville and suddenly traffic is backed up all the way to Lenoir City or even Kingston. One lane was the money for the bank loan, the next lane was the money for your auto loan, and the next lane was for meeting payroll. As long as that wreck was on the highway, none of the money could get where it needed to go, and nobody could borrow on anything. It is better today than it would have been, but we still have a deeply serious problem.

The law we passed in October temporarily raised the insurance for deposits from $100,000 to $250,000. Steps were taken to guarantee money market funds. The Treasury, Federal Reserve, and Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation announced agreements with Citibank and Bank of America. They created a liquidity program for the banking system.

The Federal Government, in all of its variety of agencies, has been very busy since October using taxpayer dollars, where necessary, or the Federal Reserve balance sheet, or Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation funds collected from banks to try to create a situation in which our economy can restart.

We know, having visited with President Obama and his team of advisers, that they are thinking of even more things we may need to do. But next week in the Senate we will be talking about whether it is a good idea to borrow $1.2 trillion and spend it as the Appropriations and Finance Committees have recommended we spend it as a way of trying to restart the economy. What I am here today to say is: we believe there ought to be a stimulus, but we believe it ought to be reoriented toward housing, that it ought to be reoriented toward permanent tax cuts, and that we ought to take out of this so-called stimulus anything that doesn't stimulate jobs now.

Let me try to give an idea of how much money $1.2 trillion is. It is more money than we spent on the Vietnam war in today's dollars. This comes from an article in Politico this week. It is more money than we spent on the invasion of Iraq. It is more money than we spent on the entire New Deal in today's dollars, and a lot more money than we spent on the Marshall plan. It is nearly as much money as we've spent on NASA ever since it started. It is a lot more money than we spent going to the Moon. This is a lot of money. We throw dollars around up here. Years ago Senator Dirksen said: A billion here, a billion there, sooner or later it adds up to real money. This is a trillion, a number that is hard for us to imagine. It is borrowed money, which I will get to in a moment.

Let me give one example of how I have been trying to describe how much money $1.2 trillion is. The Presiding Officer was Governor of Virginia. I was Governor of Tennessee. I looked around the Budget Committee the other day and almost every member there had been in State government in one way or another. In other words, we used to deal with real dollars. We couldn't print anything. At the end of the year, we had to balance our budgets. Sometimes we had to veto $25,000 programs for epilepsy. I had to do that in 1981, 1982, and 1983, when we had an economic turndown. That is why this amount of money is hard for me to get my arms around. I think it is hard for most Americans.

Let me give you an idea about how much money it is. The previous Governor of Tennessee, one who came after me, Governor Sundquist, thought we needed a State income tax. He recommended Tennessee should have a State income tax. It was about 4 percent. It would have raised about $400 million a year. There was never a more unpopular act in our State than the Governor Sundquist proposal that we have a State income tax. Many people said he was courageous for recommending it, but it was rejected. People wouldn't even invite him to dinner for a few months. I would, but many other people wouldn't. That was $400 million a year. The State of Tennessee will receive almost $4 billion of this money. I am sure it will make life easier for the current Governor and the current legislature, but think about that. The State only collects close to $12 billion a year in State tax dollars, and it is going to get $4 billion over the next 2 years from this so-called stimulus package. This would be the equivalent of imposing about a 20-percent new income tax on the people of Tennessee for 2 years to raise that same amount of money. There would be a revolution in Tennessee if we did this. That is the amount of money we're talking about.

We are not talking about giving the State of Tennessee $40 million or $4 million or $400 million. Its shortfall this year is $900 million, which is the worst it has ever had. We are talking about shipping $4 billion of borrowed taxpayer money to Tennessee. My point is, that is a lot of money.

There is another aspect to this amount of money. I listed a number of things that the Federal Reserve Board and the Congress have done to try to create a better economic situation, to get housing going, to help stabilize banks, and even to deal with automobile companies. Almost all of those dollars we used either came from the Federal Reserve Board, which is not part of the Federal budget, not part of taxpayer dollars, or it was an investment.

In Tennessee, people don't like the word "bailout." It has come to be right up there with the top number. I voted twice, because I thought our country needed it, first to give President Bush, then to give President Obama the amount of money he needed to actually invest in banks or nonfinance companies so we could get the credit moving again. But in that case, we were investing dollars. We were not spending dollars. We hope and believe that we will get almost all of those dollars back for the taxpayer. When those dollars are put in a bank, for example, they pay 5 percent or 8 percent or even 10 percent interest, in some cases, back to the taxpayer. Maybe we will lose some of that money, but we don't intend to. It is not our goal. That is the purpose of it, investment. In this case, this is money gone.

This is borrowed taxpayer dollars, more than $1.2 trillion. I get to $1.2 trillion because the Senate bill is $900 billion, and the interest over the next 10 years is another $300 billion. That is the real cost of the stimulus package over the next 10 years. It is borrowed money.

Let me go to the borrowed money part.

We print money in Washington. We Governors cannot. That is one of the adjustments you make when you come here. It just takes a little while to do, and I understand the difference. The truth is, there is a reasonable level of debt a strong industrial country such as the United States can tolerate and still continue to grow. As the country grows, the debt reduces as a percentage of our output.

While it might be important for the State of Tennessee, as we always did, to balance our budget and almost never have any debt—and we did not even have an income tax—the Federal Government structure is different. I recognize that. But there is some reasonable limit to the amount of debt we should have, and there are good reasons there is a reasonable limit to that.

I think it is important to understand exactly what the debt we have is. USA Today did a story last year that talked about each family's share of Government debt and Government obligations. By "obligations," I mean what we owe for programs such as Medicare, what we owe for Medicaid, what we owe veterans. It is real money. It is money we are obligated to pay. It comes down to more than $500,000 per family a year.

So I think the way to talk about this stimulus package is: Should we ask every American family to increase their $531,000 debt in order to spend money for a stimulus package to try to restart the economy? I believe we should increase our debt for some purposes, such as restarting housing or permanent tax cuts—that actually allows people to keep their own money. Or possibly increase our debt for programs that would, perhaps, actually do things in the next 6 months or 12 months to stimulate the economy. There are roads, and bridges, and national park maintenance that could happen right now that would create jobs that would be genuinely stimulative. But that is a very severe test we should ask the American people.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the USA Today article detailing the obligation every American family owes be printed in the RECORD following my remarks.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

(See exhibit 1.)

Mr. ALEXANDER. Now, there is another problem of running up too much debt. At the hearing where the Acting President pro tempore, the Senator from Virginia, and I were at earlier this week, I asked a question of the three witnesses: What can we learn from the rest of the world about how much debt is too much debt for the United States of America? The general answer was, today our debt is measured at about 40 percent of our annual gross domestic product. The estimates they gave suggested if the stimulus packages and if the other things that are going on continue to happen, we will be up to 60 or 70 percent of GDP. If the entitlement growth—the automatic spending we have in the Government from Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid—keeps growing, and we keep adding at the rate we are doing, we will soon be at 100 percent of GDP. In other words, every year, government debt could equal everything we produced in this great country of ours—which produces 25 percent of all the wealth in the world every single year. We forget how fortunate we are. Twenty-five percent of all the wealth in the world, every single year, is produced in the United States of America and distributed among just 5 percent of the people in the world, which is us, those of us who live here. So we would have to take all that production for a whole year and use it to pay off our national debt.

Those economists who were testifying before us said that is too high. Forty percent is OK. They thought 60 percent is getting into a little bit of a problem. Eighty percent is too much, and 100 percent is a real problem. The practical problem is, as that number goes up—for example, as the entitlement spending goes up and other debt goes up—it squeezes out our ability to do anything else. I worked last year across party lines with Senator BINGAMAN and many others, and Senator WARNER worked in the private sector in this way, to try to do something about American competitiveness. We put into the law that we needed to double our investments in scientific research, and if we wanted to keep this high standard of living, we have a lot of work to do in high technology.

If we keep spending all the money on welfare, Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security, and debt, we are not going to have anything left for the great universities in the country on a yearly basis or for investments in our future. Those are annual investments. We will be squeezing them out. That is another problem with debt. With a lower debt, we have more money for not just the investments in our future but for our national parks, our clean air, and the other things we need to do to have a desirable country.

Let me go back to the stimulus package and ask: What do we need to do? We need to, in the words of Senator GREGG—and I believe it is fair to characterize Senator CONRAD, the chairman of the Budget Committee, in the testimony this week—we need to reorient the stimulus package toward real estate, toward housing, and toward credit having to do with banks. First, fix the problem: housing.

Every big mess has a way into it, and I believe—and many on this side, and I think some on the other side also believe—the way into it is housing. How would one fix that? Well, one suggestion by Glenn Hubbard—former chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors and now at Columbia University is have the Treasury back, for a period of a year or 18 months, a 4-percent, 30-year fixed rate mortgage for creditworthy customers.

In other words, a bank in Nashville would say to you, if you are creditworthy: We will give you a 30-year mortgage at 4 percent. If today's prevailing rate were 5.2 or 5.3 percent—which it is in the marketplace—the Government would make up the difference, and it would probably guarantee the loan. That would create a new demand for housing.

I was talking with someone in the mortgage business yesterday who pointed out that for one of our large lenders in America, when the rates went down naturally after the Federal Reserve action a few weeks ago, the number of mortgages issued by that bank quadrupled.

So if we were to say to the American people: If you are creditworthy, you can buy a house; you can get a 4-percent mortgage for a principal residence, and we are going to keep that option open for a year. That will cost us some money. That could be part of this stimulus. It would create demand in housing. It would create liquidity. It would get banks lending. We believe it would make a real difference. It would be a better way to start the stimulus package.

A second idea, as Senator ISAKSON and others have suggested, is to create a tax credit for home buyers. We would say $15,000. So if you are sitting around thinking today, well, homes in Richmond have actually gotten down to a pretty good level, and I like that house—you could get a $15,000 tax credit when you buy the house, and when you file your income tax return, you get $15,000 back. This is real money, and you do not have to pay it back. If you had a combination of a 4-percent mortgage and a $15,000 tax credit for the next year, maybe we could get housing stabilized, maybe we could get demand stirring, and maybe we could get people confidence that there is liquidity in the market. That might not solve every problem, but it is the place to start. We would say first, fix housing. That is the way to restart the economy.

Senator GREGG has suggested we take some of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation's ideas about helping people who are stuck in houses that are about to be foreclosed on and help to relieve those foreclosures. There may be a way for us to encourage servicers for all of these mortgages out across the country to modify the loans as some banks are now doing. By modifying the loan, they simply say to you: What can you afford to pay? As long as you can pay that and pay the interest on a regular basis, we will change the loan to fit you. That way there is no foreclosure. The loan does not go bad. The houses on that same street do not go down in value because your house is foreclosed on. We suggest we should spend the next week talking about reorienting the money that we seek to spend to stimulate the economy on housing first.

Second, we suggest the next component of a stimulus package should be tax relief that would help create jobs now. My own view is that temporary tax relief is nice. I like having the money in my pocket, but it does not stimulate very much. Permanent tax relief, the economists tell us—money you can depend on for the future—builds confidence and stimulates the economy.

For example, the small business expensing provision, which would spur investments by doubling the amount that small business owners can immediately write off on their taxes for capital investments and for purchases of new equipment in 2009. Another example is the bonus depreciation provision, that would be helpful. Middle-class tax relief—this is the permanent tax relief I was talking about—by lowering the 15-percent bracket to 10 percent and the 10-percent bracket to 5 percent.

Those are examples of permanent tax relief or business tax relief that could help create jobs now.

Third, we should not spend this kind of money on many of these programs. We should not borrow this money when each family already owes over a half a million dollars. We should not borrow the money to spend on programs we do not have to have. That is not a wise use of our dollars. We ought to take all of that out of this stimulus bill.

For example, there are small examples: buying new cars, money for contraceptives, rehabilitating off-road trails, honey bee insurance. We can find items like that which don't create jobs now. But the fact is, I am more concerned about the $190 billion of entitlement spending, the automatic spending that is in this $1.2 trillion. Every estimate is that $130 billion, $140 billion, $150 billion of that will never get out of the budget. The House put in almost $100 billion of new Medicaid spending for the States.

Well, Governors and legislators are going to like that except we are never going to be able to reform the Medicaid Program. The Federal contribution to it is so rich that States cannot afford to take a fresh look at it. What is Tennessee going to do after it gets $2 billion—$1 billion a year—for the Medicaid Program for the next 2 years and, then, in the third year, gets zero of that money? That sort of money ought not to be in a so-called stimulus package.

We need some truth in packaging. If it stimulates—and all of us can think of things that do—then put it in; if it does not, keep it out. Historic preservation fund grants, I love those, but they are not going to stimulate jobs in the next few months. Head Start, I was the principal sponsor of that. Pell grants, I was a college president. Next week, after the stimulus, we will be talking about how much we can afford in our budget to increase those. Federal spending for Pell grants has doubled in the last 6 years, but those things do not belong in a stimulus budget.

Some things do. There are highways that can be built. There are Corps of Engineers projects that can be completed. There are National Park Service infrastructure projects that can be worked on next month. These are important improvement programs. That would help stimulate as well. We should be able to make an intelligent distinction between those things that can actually stimulate and those things that are just good-sounding things that we might vote for if we had the money and if we did not have to borrow so much of it. That is our third suggestion about what we should do.

One other suggestion—here is an area where we actually have potential, I believe, for bipartisan support. We should do something, when we debate the stimulus package, about automatic spending, entitlement spending, and by that we mean Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid.

As I mentioned earlier, by the year 2015—not so far away—that will be 70 percent of our budget. In other words, when we come here, we get to vote to appropriate 30 percent of the taxpayer dollars we spend because 70 percent is automatically spent on those entitlement programs. That is forcing our debt up to 100 percent of gross domestic product.

We had a breakfast on Tuesday here, the bipartisan breakfast we have on Tuesday mornings. It is a chance for us to get together across party lines. It was evenly divided, actually. There were 24 Members who came. The whole subject was the Senator Conrad-Senator Gregg proposal to create a commission that would come up with a way to deal with Social Security, Medicare, and Medicaid, and present it to us. We would vote it up or down, and some way we would be forced to deal with this entitlement growth problem.

Senator McCONNELL, the Republican leader, said in a speech a week ago today that he was ready to deal with the entitlement programs, but he was disappointed it was not dealt with in the last 2 years. He pledged to President Obama he would give him more support on dealing with it than the Democrats gave to President Bush during the last few years. You will remember President Bush tried in the beginning of his second term to deal with Social Security. He wanted private accounts. The Democrats said no to private accounts. So they just went down their parallel tracks and never got anywhere. Somehow they never got together and said: Well, let's drop private accounts, or let's try to do this; we can't do that.

President Obama has made clear he is serious about this. Senator McCONNELL has made clear we are serious about it. We have a Conrad-Gregg proposal. We had 24 Senators meeting last Tuesday. We are meeting again next Tuesday. We believe something ought to be in this stimulus package that at least begins the process of dealing with entitlements in the long term so we can say to the American people: Yes, we are going to borrow some amount of money—maybe hundreds of billions of dollars—to stimulate the economy, and we know it contributes to the debt, but we are at least taking a step toward dealing with the long-term excessive debt we are experiencing in our country.

Finally, after listening to the Budget Committee hearings this week, the conclusion I came to was that I wish we were doing it all now. Here is what I mean by that. I spoke a little earlier about all the things we have tried to do since October at the Washington level—some by Congress, some by the Federal Reserve, and some by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation—to restart the economy. Whether it was dealing with the banks or the auto companies or troubled assets, there has been a lot of effort here.

After listening to the testimony in the Budget Committee, it seems perfectly obvious that we are going to have to do more. We are going to have to do more in housing. We would like to suggest we at least start addressing housing in this stimulus package, but if we don't do it here, President Obama and his team are going to have to recommend some steps for us to take in housing because that is how you restart the economy.

Everyone who looks at the Nation's banks and financial institutions knows we are going to have to do something there. We passed a bill in October called the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act, providing money to Treasury to address troubled assets. We thought it was going to be used to go get those bad assets off of the bank balance sheets so they could get back in good shape and lend again. That is what happens when banks fail or get in trouble. In normal times, the FDIC swoops in and takes the troubled assets out, sells them to another bank, and it closes on Friday and opens on Monday. Depositors are protected, and sometimes stockholders lose, but we go on and barely notice it. However, that is not what the money we passed was used for. It was used, basically, to give money to banks to capitalize, and the reason, apparently, was they were in such bad shape, they had to have it. So maybe it wasn't a bad thing to do, but it wasn't what we thought was going to be done, and now we still have the problem of bad assets.

We asked the witnesses: How many troubled assets do we have in all of these banks? They said $1 trillion or $2 trillion. I am not talking about a stimulus package; I am talking about troubled assets in financial institutions in the United States. We said: Well, then, what are we supposed to do about that? They suggested that the ideas we are likely to hear—they did not represent the administration, but the administration is listening to many of the same people—was that they may recommend, for example, some entity that will actually take the troubled assets out of the banks at some price, and then the banks are free to go ahead and with confidence start lending again. And we can start borrowing again, the economy goes again, but then we still have this entity over here. If it is going to buy $1 trillion or $2 trillion worth of bad assets, where does it get the money? Some of it is going to come from the taxpayers. How much of it? One witness said as much as we can afford to put in. So maybe $500 billion, $600 billion, $700 billion, $800 billion more dollars, not to spend as the stimulus package does but to invest in assets that we hope to sell for at least as much as we paid for them. That could happen. We might lose some money, we might make some money, but we are not spending it. But it is a lot of money, and it is taxpayers dollars, and there will be a lot of concern in Virginia and in Tennessee and in every State when we have to do that on top of what we have done before—on top of this stimulus. So why aren't we considering that today? Why aren't we considering that bad bank or what we are going to have to do about troubled assets?

So I think a better way to do it would be to say: Let's bring in the amount of money for troubled assets—is it $500 billion?—let's bring in the money to reorient toward housing, $200 billion or $300 billion, and then let's see what projects really do stimulate. Let's do it all together, and then let's see how much money we are talking about so that we are not surprised and the people we represent are not surprised. I would like to see us do it all at once.

So next week in the Senate is a very important week. There is a good deal of talk about bipartisanship. We appreciate President Obama's efforts on that. In my view, he and his team have been genuine in their outreach to Republicans. Just because we don't agree with their ideas doesn't mean there is not a bipartisan spirit here. And as time goes on, maybe we will get into a situation where even though the Democrats have enough votes to pass most bills and we have enough votes to stop cold some bills and to slow down any bill, that is not the way we work. If we come up with a better idea, maybe the majority will adopt it and create a bill that builds confidence in the country.

President Bush technically didn't need Congress's approval, except on appropriations, to wage the war in Iraq. Some of us thought it would be better if he had it, though, so Senator SALAZAR and I, along with 17 Senators and about 60 House Members across party lines, suggested that we adopt a resolution approving the principles of the Iraq Study Group as a way to conclude the war in Iraq honorably. President Bush didn't like that, and Majority Leader REID wouldn't bring it up for a vote. We might have been the only group that unified Senator REID and President Bush on the Iraq war, but we couldn't get it done.

I think it is a shame we couldn't because Secretary Rice and Secretary Gates told me not long ago they thought where we were going to end up in Iraq under Secretary Gates' administration is about where the Iraq Study Group said we should. If we had adopted that as a Congress, perhaps the war would have been easier, and our enemies would have gotten a clearer message, and our troops would have gotten more support, and President Bush would have had a more successful Presidency.

So we won the election, and we passed the bill. That is the recipe for passing many bills, but it is not the recipe for a successful Presidency. I think President Obama knows that, and that is why he has gone out of his way to visit with us and talk with us. I hope—with the stimulus package, with entitlements coming down the road and health care plans coming down the road—that the ideas we have on this side of the aisle, if they are good, are adopted on the other side of the aisle and we genuinely can work together in a legislative way. I think that can happen, and I would like for it to happen starting next week.

Next week is important for the Senate and important for the American people. We on the Republican side of the aisle believe we need a stimulus package, but we believe it needs to be the right stimulus package.

First, it should fix the problem, and the problem is housing. That would help restart the economy. And we have specific ideas about how to do that which I have suggested.

Second, we should let people keep more of their own money. That means permanent tax cuts. That is a way to build confidence.

Third, because we are borrowing this extraordinary amount of money and because we have other requirements for borrowed dollars, we should be very careful about what we borrow and what we spend it for and only spend it for those items that genuinely stimulate the economy and create jobs in the very near term. That is the truth in packaging.

If we adopt those three principles, then I think there will be genuine bipartisan support next week for a stimulus. If we don't, there won't be. That is why we have the Senate. That is why we have the debate. That is why I think we are here.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD following my remarks an article by R. Glenn Hubbard and Christopher J. Mayer detailing the proposal for a 4.5-percent mortgage loan over 30 years.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD as well an article from the Wall Street Journal this week called "A 40-Year Wish List" as an example of the kinds of items that are in the stimulus bill that ought not to be if we are careful about the money we are borrowing to spend.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

TAXPAYERS' BILL LEAPS BY TRILLIONS

(By Dennis Cauchon)

The federal government's long-term financial obligations grew by $2.5 trillion last year, a reflection of the mushrooming cost of Medicare and Social Security benefits as more baby boomers reach retirement.

That's double the red ink of a year earlier.

Taxpayers are on the hook for a record $57.3 trillion in federal liabilities to cover the lifetime benefits of everyone eligible for Medicare, Social Security and other government programs, a USA TODAY analysis found. That's nearly $500,000 per household.

When obligations of state and local governments are added, the total rises to $61.7 trillion, or $531,472 per household. That is more than four times what Americans owe in personal debt such as mortgages.

The $2.5 trillion in federal liabilities dwarfs the $162 billion the government officially announced as last year's deficit, down from $248 billion a year earlier.

"We're running deficits in the trillions of dollars, not the hundreds of billions of dollars we're being told," says Sheila Weinberg, chief executive of the Institute for Truth in Accounting of Chicago.

The reason for the discrepancy: Accounting standards require corporations and state governments to count new financial obligations, even if the payments will be made later. The federal government doesn't follow that rule. Instead of counting lifetime benefits for programs such as Social Security, the government counts the cost of benefits for the current year.

The deteriorating condition of these programs doesn't show up in the government's bottom line, but the information is released elsewhere—in Medicare's annual report, for example. Since 2004, USA TODAY has collected the information to provide taxpayers with a financial report similar to what a corporation would give shareholders. Big new liabilities taken on in 2007:

Medicare: $1.2 trillion.

Social Security: $900 billion.

Civil servant retirement: $106 billion.

Veteran benefits: $34 billion.

The multitrillion-dollar loss is a more meaningful financial number than the official deficit, says Tom Allen, chairman of the Federal Accounting Standards Advisory Board, which helps set federal accounting rules.

Medicare has an unfunded liability of $30.4 trillion.

That means, in addition to paying all future Medicare taxes, the government needs $30.4 trillion set aside in an interest-earning account to pay benefits promised to existing taxpayers and beneficiaries. The amount is sure to rise when the oldest of 79 million baby boomers—62 this year—reach 65 and become eligible.

Economist Dean Baker says the huge liabilities are potentially misleading because future generations will have greater income. "If we fix health care, then our deficits can be easily dealt with," he says.

LOW-INTEREST MORTGAGES ARE THE ANSWER—STOP THE DECLINE IN HOME PRICES, STOP THE CRISIS

(By R. Glenn Hubbard and Christopher J. Mayer)

Recent news articles suggest that the Treasury Department is considering a plan to offer a 4.5% mortgage for home buyers for a period of time. Let's hope it does. It would help arrest the decline in house prices that is at the base of the ongoing financial crisis and recession.

Raising the demand for housing makes sense now. While fundamental factors clearly played a role in driving down house prices that were at excessive levels two years ago, we have argued in a paper (to be published in the Berkeley Electronic Journal of Economic Analysis and Policy) that in most markets house values are today lower than what is consistent with the average level of affordability in the past 20 years.

Nonetheless, without policy action house prices are likely to continue falling, thanks largely to the meltdown in mortgage markets and the weakening employment outlook. Conversely, we see little risk that increasing the demand for housing will touch off another housing bubble. And indexing the mortgage rate to the Treasury yield could avoid this outcome in the future. While the economy is contracting, low interest rates would spur housing activity. When economic activity improves, the U.S. Treasury yield and mortgage rates would rise.

A 4.5% mortgage rate is not too low. The 10-year U.S. Treasury yield closed at 2.3% on Dec. 12, 2008. Hence a 4.5% mortgage rate is 2.2% above the Treasury yield, above the 1.6% spread that would prevail in a normally functioning mortgage market.

Some have argued that lenders should earn more than the average 1.6% spread, to compensate for the fact that housing is a much riskier investment today. We don't think so. Recall that a mortgage can be thought of as a risk-free bond plus two possibilities that increase risk to lenders: default and/or prepayment. Historically, the risk of default adds about 0.25% to the interest rate. The remaining spread of the mortgage rate over the Treasury yield represents the risk of prepayment and underwriting costs. With falling house prices, the risk of default could indeed add 0.75% or more for a newly underwritten and fully documented loan. But 4.5% would be the lowest mortgage rate in more than 30 years—so the additional risk to lenders of prepayment would be almost nil. And low mortgage rates would substantially reduce the risk of further house price declines.

Moreover, a 4.5% mortgage rate will raise housing demand significantly. A simple forecast can be obtained by applying the 2003–2004 homeownership rates to 2007 households. We use the 2003–2004 home ownership rates because those were the years of the lowest previous mortgage rates (the average mortgage rate was 5.8%).

An increase in the homeownership rate from 67.9 (third quarter, 2008) to 68.6 (the average rate from 2003–2004) would increase homeownership by about 800,000 new homeowners. If we also take into account the changing relative age distribution of the population, there would be a total of 1.6 million new homeowners. A simple statistical analysis examining the impact of lower mortgage rates and higher unemployment rates yields an even higher, and firmer, estimate of 2.4 million additional owner occupied homes in 2009.

The increased demand for housing arising from lower mortgage rates would provide a floor on further house price declines. Estimates in our recent paper suggest that real house prices increase by about 75% of the decline in after-tax mortgage payments. So a decline in mortgage payments of 16% would result in approximately a 12% floor on the decline in house prices.

Current futures markets suggest that house prices will decline by 12%–18% in the next 18 months. So a 4.5% interest rate might well lead to flat or even slightly higher house prices in 2009.

Stabilizing house prices will likely improve consumer confidence substantially. Increases in house prices relative to where they would have gone with higher mortgage rates would also provide a housing wealth effect—that is, higher annual increases in spending as consumers feel richer—on consumption of as much as $76 billion to $113 billion each year.

The 4.5% mortgage rate that the Treasury is considering also should be available for present homeowners who want to refinance, because of the benefits for the economy as a whole. We calculate that up to 34 million households would be able to do so, at an average monthly savings of $428—or a total reduction in mortgage payments of $174 billion. This is a permanent reduction in payments and is thus likely to spur appreciable increases in consumption.

Moreover, trillions of dollars of refinancings would retire a large number of the existing mortgage-backed securities. This would reduce uncertainty about the value of existing mortgage-backed securities. It would flood the market with additional liquidity that the private sector could deploy to other uses such as auto loans, credit cards, commercial mortgages and general business lending.

A reduction of mortgage interest rates to 4.5% (or, given yesterday's Fed action, to a lower level) is superior to other proposals that focus only on stopping foreclosures, or on reforming the bankruptcy code to keep people in their homes. Stopping foreclosures, however meritorious, may not limit the dangerous decline in house prices as much as proponents claim. It could work the other way. Stripping down mortgage balances in bankruptcy would likely raise future mortgage interest rates and lower the availability of mortgages, reducing house prices.

Finally, a decrease in the mortgage rate, even though it is intended to be a temporary intervention in the present exigency, plants a seed for future thought. Given the chaos of the recent past, wouldn't a return to simple, 30-year fixed-rate mortgages with a low rate be the right foundation for the long-term future?

[From the Wall Street Journal, Jan. 28, 2009]
A 40-YEAR WISH LIST

"Never let a serious crisis go to waste. What I mean by that is it's an opportunity to do things you couldn't do before."

So said White House Chief of Staff Rahm Emanuel in November, and Democrats in Congress are certainly taking his advice to heart. The 647-page, $825 billion House legislation is being sold as an economic "stimulus," but now that Democrats have finally released the details we understand Rahm's point much better. This is a political wonder that manages to spend money on just about every pent-up Democratic proposal of the last 40 years.

We've looked it over, and even we can't quite believe it. There's $1 billion for Amtrak, the federal railroad that hasn't turned a profit in 40 years; $2 billion for child-care subsidies; $50 million for that great engine of job creation, the National Endowment for the Arts; $400 million for global-warming research and another $2.4 billion for carbon-capture demonstration projects. There's even $650 million on top of the billions already doled out to pay for digital TV conversion coupons.

In selling the plan, President Obama has said this bill will make "dramatic investments to revive our flagging economy." Well, you be the judge. Some $30 billion, or less than 5% of the spending in the bill, is for fixing bridges or other highway projects. There's another $40 billion for broadband and electric grid development, airports and clean water projects that are arguably worthwhile priorities.

Add the roughly $20 billion for business tax cuts, and by our estimate only $90 billion out of $825 billion, or about 12 cents of every $1, is for something that can plausibly be considered a growth stimulus. And even many of these projects aren't likely to help the economy immediately. As Peter Orszag, the President's new budget director, told Congress a year ago, "even those [public works] that are 'on the shelf' generally cannot be undertaken quickly enough to provide timely stimulus to the economy."

Most of the rest of this project spending will go to such things as renewable energy funding ($8 billion) or mass transit ($6 billion) that have a low or negative return on investment. Most urban transit systems are so badly managed that their fares cover less than half of their costs. However, the people who operate these systems belong to public-employee unions that are campaign contributors to . . . guess which party?

Here's another lu-lu: Congress wants to spend $600 million more for the federal government to buy new cars. Uncle Sam already spends $3 billion a year on its fleet of 600,000 vehicles. Congress also wants to spend $7 billion for modernizing federal buildings and facilities. The Smithsonian is targeted to receive $150 million; we love the Smithsonian, too, but this is a job creator?

Another "stimulus" secret is that some $252 billion is for income-transfer payments—that is, not investments that arguably help everyone, but cash or benefits to individuals for doing nothing at all. There's $81 billion for Medicaid, $36 billion for expanded unemployment benefits, $20 billion for food stamps, and $83 billion for the earned income credit for people who don't pay income tax. While some of that may be justified to help poorer Americans ride out the recession, they aren't job creators.

As for the promise of accountability, some $54 billion will go to federal programs that the Office of Management and Budget or the Government Accountability Office have already criticized as "ineffective" or unable to pass basic financial audits. These include the Economic Development Administration, the Small Business Administration, the 10 federal job training programs, and many more.

Oh, and don't forget education, which would get $66 billion more. That's more than the entire Education Department spent a mere 10 years ago and is on top of the doubling under President Bush. Some $6 billion of this will subsidize university building projects. If you think the intention here is to help kids learn, the House declares on page 257 that "No recipient . . . shall use such funds to provide financial assistance to students to attend private elementary or secondary schools." Horrors: Some money might go to nonunion teachers.

The larger fiscal issue here is whether this spending bonanza will become part of the annual "budget baseline" that Congress uses as the new floor when calculating how much to increase spending the following year, and into the future. Democrats insist that it will not. But it's hard—no, impossible—to believe that Congress will cut spending next year on any of these programs from their new, higher levels. The likelihood is that this allegedly emergency spending will become a permanent addition to federal outlays—increasing pressure for tax increases in the bargain. Any Blue Dog Democrat who votes for this ought to turn in his "deficit hawk" credentials.

This is supposed to be a new era of bipartisanship, but this bill was written based on the wish list of every living—or dead—Democratic interest group. As Speaker Nancy Pelosi put it, "We won the election. We wrote the bill." So they did. Republicans should let them take all of the credit.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, I yield the floor, and I note the absence of a quorum.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. SESSIONS. Mr. President, there is a growing recognition in the Congress that the so-called spending stimulus bill is colossal in nature, and it is going to be moved through the Congress with little or no significant changes. Those of us who have been around a while can see what is happening. The bill moved through committee. A lot of good amendments and suggestions for change were made in the Appropriations Committee, but none passed. A lot of ideas and suggestions were made in the Finance Committee, and none were agreed to, at least none of any significance. There are provisions in the bill I would strongly support and believe should be part of a stimulus package because I think a targeted, smart bill can help improve our economy, but it is not going to change the difficulties we are in, I am convinced of that.

Christina Romer, President Obama's top economist, has predicted that if we pass a stimulus bill, the unemployment rate will not reach quite so high. Her numbers were referred to in the Budget Committee, of which the Presiding Officer, Senator WARNER, is a member. Those numbers were brought out, but even without any stimulus, she projected the unemployment rate would not reach 10 percent.

During the tough recession when President Reagan broke the inflationary spiral we were in, we hit almost 11 percent unemployment. The Congressional Budget Office also projected that with no stimulus, the unemployment rate would not reach 10 percent. When asked if the stimulus package would make it any better, Mr. Sunshine, the Acting Director of the Budget Office at that time, said it might.

I think a stimulus package can help but I do not think a stimulus package is going to change the fundamentals of this tremendous economy, which is going through a period of rebalancing and adjustment that is painful. It is not going to be bought away by throwing a few billion dollars or maybe even a trillion dollars at it.

I wish to make that point in general. We are in a tough time. We are going to go through a tough time. It is not going to be easy, but this country has gone through tough times before. We can hope and pray it will not be as tough as the tough recession we had in the early to mid-1980s. We survived that. We developed some economic principles that ended inflation, and we had 25 years of steady progress based on a sound dollar and sound economy. I guess I would say let's be a bit humble in what we think we can accomplish.

I will add one more point. Politically, Presidents and Congress like to do something. When there is difficulty out there and the TV every night is coming with some bad news stories and our constituents are worried, elected officials feel like they must do something; if we don't do something, our constituents will get mad at us and vote us out of office. But what if the right thing to do is to not overreact?

What if the right thing for America is to ask ourselves what it is that can actually be of benefit, and let's do that. But let's not go hog-wild, let's not do some things that are going to do long-term damage to the country. That is where we are. Good people can disagree on where that line is drawn. A lot of people are talking about politics—Republicans did not get this amendment or that amendment. I am beyond discussing those issues at this point. My view is: Is the stimulus bill that is going to be moved in this Senate, which is even bigger than the one in the House—it was $818 billion, I believe, in the House legislation, and this one is already now at $888 billion. They added $70 billion for the AMT tax fix. So it is now almost $900 billion.

I am not sure how much thought we have given to it. We certainly have not had extensive hearings on this legislation. That is where we are strategically.

Let me say to my colleagues on both sides of the aisle, the more people look at this so-called stimulus bill, really a spending bill, the more disastrous and the more flawed they are finding it to be. Most Members of Congress, most Members of the Senate, I think, want to support a stimulus bill. They probably have made public statements that they want to support a stimulus bill. But all of a sudden, people are saying: Whoa, really? Is that much in it? This is in it? Only 3 percent of the money goes to roads? Really? I thought it was a roads bill. We are hearing that kind of talk. People are beginning to ask questions about what is in the legislation that can spend $900 billion.

It doesn't just cost $900 billion. The Congressional Budget Office has looked at it, as they are supposed to do. They are a nonpartisan office. They give us good information on how much legislation costs, among other things.

Remember, every dime of spending, all of this $900 billion increases the debt. We are already in debt. Any other dollar that is spent increases the debt. So the $900 billion spending bill will increase the debt in 10 years by $900 billion, and you have to ask yourself: Where do we get that money? We have to borrow the money. And to borrow the money, we have to pay interest on it. The Congressional Budget Office has calculated it. They didn't at first, but now they have. They calculate $347 billion over the next 10 years, the budget period we are looking at, will be expended by the American taxpayers to pay interest on this debt. By the way, the deficit this year is the largest one in the history of the Republic.

I will talk about the debt a little bit more because it is important. There is no free lunch. Julie Andrews in "The Sound of Music" said nothing comes from nothing, nothing ever could. Debts will be repaid. You think: Well, we may not repay these debts. We will have to, and we will pay interest on it. We may succumb to the very pernicious temptation to inflate the currency and pay back our debt with dollars less valuable than the ones we borrow today. That is what we call debasing the currency. That is inflation. That is a corrosive situation the country must not get into and has not been in for the last 25 years. Those are the temptations we can fall into when the debt gets too great.

The argument is we want to have shovel-ready projects, and those shovel-ready projects will increase employment and will help us work our way through this recession. It is going to be longer than most recessions. It is going to end, but it will be longer than most recessions.

The message that has gone out is infrastructure is behind. Roads and bridges are not up-to-date. We need to spend money on them. Now would be a good time to go into debt and borrow money and fix roads and bridges and that we would, therefore, be able to create jobs and have something concrete after it is all over.

I like building bridges because it is a concrete thing, and when it is over, people can benefit from it for generations to come. Unlike a lot of the Government programs that are in this bill, we spend billions and billions of dollars, and when it is over, we ask ourselves: Did it do any good at all?

As I indicated, we now know the request for roads and bridges in the $900 billion stimulus bill amounts to around $30 billion—$15 billion the first year, $15 billion the second. There is other infrastructure spending—on hospitals, school money, those kinds of things.

The idea that this is a roads and bridge bill is false. It is false. It is not so.

In addition to that point, I note the Congressional Budget Office examined the legislation to ask whether this spending we would be participating in would actually come forward quickly, as everybody says it must, to create jobs now and, therefore, help us ease the rising unemployment we are seeing.

CBO has found that only around 50 percent of the spending that is in the legislation will occur in the first 2 years.

What about this year, the first year? But even over 2 years, only 50 percent of it is spent. The other 50 percent is going to be spent after 2 years, in years 3, 4, 5. According to Ms. Romer, the President's top adviser on the economy, we will be coming out of the recession by then anyway without a stimulus package.

The programs, in addition to the construction projects and spending plans that are put together, have been poorly cobbled together in haste. They have not been well thought out. There is no way they could have been well thought out.

Three hundred economists, including three Nobel laureates, have signed a petition condemning the stimulus plan as it is now written. Many of them would favor a stimulus plan, but when they look at this one, they are aghast, and they are warning us that infrastructure spending has never successfully lifted a country out of an economic slowdown. There are many examples of that around the world. These economists are saying that.

Marty Feldstein, an economist President Reagan admired and conservatives have admired and most Americans have admired, said at one point he favored a stimulus bill. I think about $350 billion. He has now written an op-ed in the Wall Street Journal saying this is bad; do not pass this stimulus bill. He opposes it.

The Chamber of Commerce—I like the Chamber of Commerce. They are great folks. But if anybody thinks they are not self-interested does not know what they do. They have a lot of Members who are going to benefit from this program. They are going to get bucks out of it. They favored a stimulus package sometime ago, and they said we need a stimulus package. Now they are saying they are not for this bill. They are opposing it, even though their members, a lot of them, are going to get bucks out of it. Because we are throwing a lot of bucks out there, and they are going to get some. Even they, in the interest of their country and the long-term vision for the economy, have concluded it is not good for this country to pass the bill we are dealing with now.

The bottom line is that I am convinced now that the extreme long-term cost of this legislation outweighs any short-term benefits. And remember, the $1.2 trillion, the $900 billion plus the interest on it that CBO has calculated—and it is only right that they do so—comes on top of a $700 billion bank/Wall Street bailout that proved ineffectual, has not been successful. We are being told now—and President Obama met with the Republicans in a very nice discussion, and the President acknowledged that they are going to have to be coming back and asking for more Wall Street money not that many weeks from now. So we are not through yet with throwing taxpayers' money into this vortex.

The surge in debt and reckless spending that we have seen in the last year, from both parties, is unlike anything this Nation has ever seen in its history, yet there has been such little serious discussion about where the money is going, how we are going to account for it, and whether we will receive a legitimate benefit from it. It is amazing to me. So I think we have to reconsider the size and the nature of this legislation. We cannot do this. It is bad for America. It is not a question of Republicans and Democrats and that kind of thing. I know the conventional wisdom is we have to do something; if we don't do something, people will be mad at us; if we don't do something and the economy gets worse, they will say: You didn't do anything, you stupid goof. You sat on the sideline and didn't do anything. But I have to say, at some point you can do too much and you can do things that are unwise, and that is what we are paid to decide here.

So I am committed, and I will do what I can, to defeat the bill as written. I will support a more targeted, cost-effective, temporary plan that can help our economy, but it must be done at a price we can afford.

I am going to talk in a minute about the size of the deficit we are facing. As a member of the Budget Committee, I know it is a grim discussion. I have concluded that this is a fight for the very financial soul of our country. I mean, what is it we are doing here? Are we fulfilling our responsibilities to watch over the taxpayers' money? Presidents can't spend money if we don't appropriate it. Every dime President Bush spent on the Wall Street bailout, we gave to him. Every dime President Bush spent on sending out those checks last spring that were supposed to stop the recession went to the debt. It increased our debt, causing us last year to have the biggest deficit in the history of the Republic. It didn't work, but we gave the money. It is not President Bush who did it; we funded it. And no stimulus spending bill is going to get passed and no money is going to be available to be spent unless Congress spends it. It is our responsibility. We can't pass it off on President Obama.

Let me show this chart. As a member of the Budget Committee who has dealt with these issues for a number of years, this chart is where my mind is, if you want to know the truth. In 2004, after that recession, when President Bush cut taxes and did some other things—I think he even sent out some stimulus checks in that period of time—the deficit that year amounted to $413 billion. That is how much we spent that year more than we took in, in 2004. It was the largest number we had ever seen. And he was pummeled by the loyal opposition, my Democratic colleagues, for wasteful spending and for putting us in deficit and that kind of thing, and some of that was justified, in my view.

In 2005, the deficit dropped about $100 billion. It dropped to $318 billion. In 2006, it dropped to $248 billion. In 2007, a year and a half ago, it was $161 billion. We were heading in the right direction. I began to feel better about the country. Last spring, we sent out $160 billion in checks to try to stop this economic slowdown, and that virtually doubled the deficit. We came in, September 30 of last year, when the fiscal year ended, the deficit was $455 billion—the largest, I think, ever, but certainly the largest since World War II—and we didn't hear much talk about that. The Congressional Budget Office is our expert office on this, and we now see that they have estimated that without the stimulus package, without the stimulus bill, the deficit this year will be $1.2 trillion, more than twice the highest deficit in the history of the Republic. To give you some idea of how much money we are talking about, imagine all the income tax payments that come to our country from individuals. That amounts to $1.1 trillion. Right here, without the stimulus, we are at $1.2 trillion, equal to the entire revenue from the income tax in America. With the stimulus package, CBO estimates it will be just over $2 trillion, and that does not include the interest that will be accumulated on it.

That $1.2 trillion deficit that they are projecting now includes $200-plus billion for the Wall Street bailout, and they are also including about $240 billion for the Freddie and Fannie financial bailout, those huge institutions that bought up these bad mortgages and then we bailed them out. That is what helps drive the number. Next year, they are projecting $703 billion and then $498 billion—all of those bigger than any in previous history, and we will be seeing some additional expenditures there.

For example, this $703 billion does not include the alternative minimum tax fix, which costs $70 billion a year. I think most of my colleagues probably know this, but I see some new Members of the Senate here, so to tell you all how we gimmick the system, the alternative minimum tax is $70 billion a year to fix it. Everybody knows we are not going to allow it to kick in and hit the American economy at the full amount. So why don't we go on and fix it permanently and set a rate? Because CBO will score it. And if we score it for $70 billion a year, for a 10-year budget, that is $700 billion. So we pass a law that fixes it for 1 year, and the next year, when they calculate the debt, they assume we are going to have $70 billion more in revenue from the alternative revenue tax. But we are not going to have that money because we are going to fix it again. There are a lot of gimmicks in here, so those numbers are going to be a lot higher. I know this. I have been here, and I know how the system works.

Finally, I will add one more thing to the discussion, and that is the interest on the debt. We are now a little under $200 billion a year in paying interest on the debt. The debt has been growing. I think it is about $10 trillion. In the next 10 years, the estimates are it could be $21 trillion in debt—the total debt of America. This bill, by the way, raises the debt limit. It has to, because we are adding another trillion dollars in debt. The Congressional Budget Office scores that in 2014–5 years from now—the interest on the debt will not be $200 billion, but counting the stimulus package it will be around $430 billion.

Now, how much money is that—$430 billion? Today, it is $200 billion, and 5 years from now it will be $430 billion. Big deal. But that is every year, No. 1. It is every year. And to give some perspective on how large that is, it is more than a third of the income tax revenue of the entire U.S. Government from individuals, and it is a number that is almost equal to the 5-year cost of the Iraq war. We have spent about $500 billion on the Iraq war in the 5 years that has occurred. That has been a major expense of the U.S. Government, and it has been very painful to us. People have been not happy about it. But by surging this debt, we will in the future be incurring an interest payment almost equal every year to the 5-year cost of the Iraq war.

So I say to my colleagues, I know the momentum has been going forward. I know the House moved forward with the bill and people have expected that we are going to pass it, but I am not sure. I think the American people are getting concerned about this, and they are saying, let's pare this down. Why can't we do a $200 billion or a $300 billion dollar stimulus package that will actually create jobs and won't add so much money to our deficit and will create things that are of permanent value to the public, not providing relief to soldiers who fought with us in world wars and other programs that are in the legislation.

This is the beginning of a discussion, or it ought to be the beginning of a national discussion about what this country is about. We need to ask ourselves: Isn't it important that we have a sound currency? Shouldn't a sound dollar be one of the highest possible goals of the Congress? And to have that, aren't we, as a Congress, going to have to be responsible enough to, in times of uncertainty and fear, be able to rationally think through this and do this right?

My 90-year-old aunt, who I was with last week in Alabama, said to me: You all don't know what you are doing up there, do you? And I don't think we do. I think that was as good a synopsis of what the American people are thinking about us as anything I have heard. We don't know, and we have to get serious here. It is our responsibility. When we are talking about trillions, we are talking about real money.

I thank the Chair, and I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Colorado is recognized.

OUR COUNTRY'S CHALLENGES

Mr. UDALL of Colorado. Mr. President, I rise today with full and humble appreciation for the critical scrutiny a Senator's maiden speech usually attracts. I am also aware of the somewhat forgotten tradition here in which freshmen Senators took some considerable time before throwing caution to the wind, opening their mouths, and hoping to enlighten their wiser and more experienced colleagues. That tradition like many others has eroded over time, such that in recent years freshmen Senators have taken to the floor early and often. I hope my words today will not encourage a revival of the older tradition.

I am also aware that many new Senators use the occasion of their first speech to introduce a specific bill or to speak at length about pending legislation. I hope to do something different today. I will not speak about specific legislation, but I will speak about this moment in our country's history, the perils we face, and my sincere hope that we will address the critical issues of our time in a new way, with less rancor and with a shared commitment to bridge the partisan divide that has characterized so much of our recent political experience.

We have inaugurated a new President and a new administration, and a new Congress is taking shape. These developments represent a fresh start, a new start, one in which every American, regardless of party or political affiliation, can rejoice because if there were ever a time when our country hungered for a fresh start, it is here and it is now.

The American people are impatient with politics, and with good reason. Our country is facing significant peril. More of our fellow citizens are losing their jobs and their homes. Credit is drying up. Businesses, large and small, are cutting back. Americans have seen the value of their college and retirement savings plans reduced dramatically. We may be facing the most significant and difficult economic crisis since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

This has put me in mind of a great and courageous predecessor, Senator Edward Costigan, who served here, from Colorado, from 1931 to 1937, the very depths of the Great Depression. I have reverence for Senator Costigan because he was born of the progressive tradition of the West—a tradition the Udall family has participated in over many generations. Senator Costigan is largely remembered for his effort to pass an antilynching law at a time when people of color were under a constant threat of mob violence. He was also a champion of economic reform.

I found it interesting that Senator Costigan, in this Chamber in 1932, spoke on behalf of a stimulus bill—which was then called a relief bill—using words that are eerily relevant 76 years later. Arguing for the bill, Senator Costigan said:

One almost despairs of the ability of America's industrial and political generals to save America in its present crisis. . . .

Thankfully, we have not reached a point of economic collapse anything like that which occurred when Senator Costigan spoke. But Americans who have lost their jobs or their savings know this crisis is every bit as real and every bit as devastating.

This current crisis is made worse by our continued addiction to oil and our dangerous dependence on foreign oil in particular. While the global market price of oil and gasoline dropped remarkably from record highs of last year, no one should be under any illusion that this price slide will continue. Continued instability in the Middle East, combined with ever-increasing demand in China, in India, and other global markets, will inevitably mean that the price of oil will rise. We have not seen the end of the energy crisis that crippled our economy last summer. We did survive the first wave of this energy tsunami, but we must prepare for the waves to come.

This economic crisis is also made more perilous by the fact that our country is still engaged in two unfinished wars. Mr. President, 150,000 of our best and bravest are serving in Iraq and Afghanistan. Our Army has been stretched to the breaking point, and our national security depends on implementing a new strategy that includes rebuilding our defense capability.

Elsewhere in the world, in North Korea, in Gaza, in the winding alleys of Pakistan, in the shadowy corridors of power in Iran, we face threats from new enemies, the risks of widening conflict, and the gravest danger of all in the new century—the potential for a nuclear weapon to fall into the hands of terrorists.

David Sanger points out in his compelling book, "The Inheritance," that America's response to 9/11 has not been without strategic error. America's position in the world, military and economic, has been weakened at the very moment we need to lead the world.

This list of challenges is daunting, and it does not include other pressing problems bearing down on us, such as the escalating cost of health care, a Federal budget deficit that threatens to wash away the foundation for our children's economic future, illusive solvency for key programs such as Medicare and Social Security, a broken immigration system, and mounting evidence that global climate change is threatening our natural environment.

In addition to losing influence on the world stage and struggling to restore a wrecked economy, in addition to Iraq and Afghanistan, we may also have a third war on our hands—this one with Mother Nature. If Mother Nature fails, our list of challenges will seem small by comparison.

The question, then, before us is, Will this be a moment of anxiety or optimism? In truth, I believe it is both. The challenges we face are among the most significant ever faced by a new President and Congress.

Although I join the Senate as a proud western Democrat, buoyed by the success my party enjoyed in the last election, I think it would be a terrible mistake to see the challenge of this moment in purely partisan terms. The problems we face are not Democratic or Republican problems, they are American problems, and they will only be met by American solutions. Much lipservice is given to the idea of bipartisanship and the notion of working across the aisle. Frankly, I have to tell you, I think it is cynicism to breathe life and action into these words that hamstring us.

Like many of you, I was serving in the Congress on 9/11. That tragedy awakened a deep spirit, a deep spirit of shared purpose. I call it the spirit of 9/11, in the best sense of that term. I want to invoke it here, not to use it as a patriotic bludgeon but to remind us how it felt to know our country had been attacked and that we were united in our response and in our resolve. If there were ever a time when we needed to recapture that spirit of 9/11, it is now. Surely we do not need another tragedy to unite us in that common response and resolve. We need only look ahead at the deep challenges we face.

I am comforted by our history. A reading of our history shows that we have been through worse. We have endured a terrible Civil War, two world wars, and an economic catastrophe of far greater dimension. With each successive American generation, we have worked to cleanse the Nation from the stain of slavery, bigotry, and racial prejudice. With each successive generation, we have grown wiser, more enlightened, and more prosperous. We have seen the great middle class lifted and engaged in building the strongest and most creative economy the world has ever seen. So if history is our guide, I know we will meet the challenge of this moment.

As a son of the West, I am also proud of our special history. Of course, every region of America has a story to tell and a contribution to make to the whole. Among many qualities in the West, we particularly treasure independence and we have little time for brooding pessimism. The great western writer Wallace Stegner put it best when he wrote about the people he called "stickers," those who settled the West against all odds and obstacles. He called them stickers because they were not quitters and they did not leave the scene of a challenge. They stuck to the land because of their spirit, their courage, and their hopes for a better community in which to raise their children—and, to be honest, because they were too doggone ornery to give up.

We are a country of stickers, and now it is up to the 111th Congress to be stickers too. The American people have vested their hopes and aspirations in us, to serve them well in the institutions of democracy we call the Congress.

As I close, I want to return to my predecessor in this seat, Senator Edward Costigan, and his long fight against the evil of lynching. In a speech on this subject in 1935, he expressed the hope that partisan and sectional division would give way to a true common purpose. He said:

Ours is truly at last a new South, a new North, a new East, and a new West, unitedly building a new America of common humanity, guarded by just and ever more equal laws.

Senator Costigan was calling for a new way of looking at the political challenge in his day, one that looked toward a uniting purpose. We have a similar calling today. We may often divide as Republicans and Democrats on what we think is best for our country. Debate is good. We should encourage a vigorous exchange of ideas and not fear disagreement. But we ought always, always to strive for a common purpose.

I wish to express my deep thanks to my fell Coloradans who have given me the opportunity and honor to represent them here at this challenging and important time in our history.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. UDALL of Colorado.) Without objection, it is so ordered.

CONGRATULATING THE UNIVERSITY OF UTAH

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I rise today to speak about the recent college football season and the success enjoyed by our own University of Utah football team.

First, I want to mention that a while back, during last week's festivities, I had the opportunity to meet with members of the University of Utah Marching Band as they were in town to march and perform in the inauguration parade.

I want to publicly recognize the members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints in Ashburn, VA, who offered their homes to these musicians and the band, allowing them the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to perform for the President of the United States of America. The band would not have been able to make it to Washington had it not been for the generosity of these private citizens who housed them and took care of them and fed them. I appreciate their willingness to help some of my fellow Utahns.

My meeting with the band out in Ashburn reminded me of what a wonderful year it has been for sports fans in my State. I wish to once again publicly extend my congratulations to the Utah Utes on an outstanding season.

On January 2, the Utes capped an undefeated season with a 31-to-17 victory in the Sugar Bowl over a highly favored Alabama team. Under the scrutiny of the national spotlight, Utah played with poise and precision, silencing the naysayers who claimed they could not compete with a national powerhouse such as Alabama.

Alabama had been rated No. 1 much of the season. This was Utah's second undefeated season in 5 years, demonstrating that school's football team deserves to be considered among the country's elite college football programs.

In particular, I want to congratulate Coach Kyle Whittingham, who, on January 13, was named National Coach of the Year by the American Football Coaches Association. What an honor.

Coach Whittingham took over the head coaching job at Utah 4 years ago, following what was, at that time, the most successful season in school history. The Whittingham family is sort of a football institution in the State of Utah. So fans and alumni had high expectations about the future of the program, and Coach Whittingham has not disappointed them. In each of his four seasons, the Utes have finished with a winning record and have won a bowl game. In fact, the University of Utah has won a bowl game in six consecutive seasons and, overall, they have been victorious in their last eight bowl appearances—the longest current streak in college football. Coach Whittingham has been on the staff that entire time, first as defensive coordinator and now as the head coach.

The Utes have been lead on the field by quarterback Brian Johnson. He capped an outstanding college career this past season by winning the Mountain West Conference's Offensive Player of the Year Award. He was also a finalist for numerous national quarterback awards. Brian's story is actually a very inspirational one. Late in the 2005 season, he suffered what is, in many cases, a career-ending injury when he tore his ACL. This injury forced him to sit out the entire 2006 season. Then, in the first game of the 2007 season, he was injured again and missed two more games. But he was able to finish the season, leading the Utes to a winning record and an impressive victory over Navy in the Poinsettia Bowl. He returned for his senior season, fully healed and ready to take the team on his shoulders for what proved to be a historic season.

One of the most popular members of the Ute squad has been kicker and punter Louie Sakoda who, in each of the last three seasons, was the Mountain West Special Teams Player of the Year and named to several All-America teams. Nicknamed "King Louie," this 5-foot-9, 178-pound team captain is something of a celebrity in Salt Lake City. Last year, he offered himself as a date for a campus charity auction and drew the highest bid of any item on sale—though NCAA restrictions kept him from actually going on the date. His parents, according to news stories, can join any pregame party in the parking lot outside Rice Eccles Stadium if they just mention their son's name. He has also lent his celebrity to an ad campaign started by Utah First Lady Mary Kaye Huntsman aimed at combating teenage drinking and driving. Louie can be seen in TV commercials in Utah urging teens and anyone who's been drinking to "punt the keys."

Indeed, the entire University of Utah football team has become the toast of every town in my State—even among those who typically root for the Utah's other fine football programs. They have also become one of the most talked about teams in college football nationwide.

Unfortunately, the success enjoyed by the Utah football team has been marred somewhat by the controversy surrounding the Bowl Championship Series. The Utes were the only football team in NCAA Division I to finish the season 2008 undefeated. Their season included victories against a powerhouse team at Brigham Young University, Oregon State, Texas Christian University, and Alabama, all of which finished the season ranked in the Associated Press Top 25—the latter two in the Top 10. In fact, Alabama spent much of the regular season ranked number one in the country before losing to Florida near the end of the season.

Yet despite these accomplishments, even with its perfect record and impressive schedule, the University of Utah finished the season ranked second in the country. Florida, the team that won the so-called BCS Championship Game, had a very good year. But unlike Utah, they were not undefeated; they had one loss, as did at least three other teams in the country. Yet under the BCS system, this unbeaten Utah team was denied an opportunity to even play for the national championship. One has to wonder what more Utah could have done with its season in order to get into the national championship game. It is interesting that the former Utah coach under whom Coach Whittingham served, Urban Meyer, had a championship team. We all admired him. He was a great coach at Utah and one of the greatest coaches in America today. Unfortunately, the answer to this question is even more disheartening than the question itself: nothing. The fact of the matter is that the Utah team was left out of the national championship picture, not due to any competitive shortcoming, but because the BCS system categorically excluded them from consideration.

Under the BCS, the champions of six athletic conferences receive automatic bids to play in the five most lucrative and prestigious bowl games. Collectively, those six conferences include 66 of the 119 teams in NCAA Division I football. So, in short, nearly half of all college football teams begin the season virtually left out of the BCS picture, yet the BCS still wants to call the winner of its championship game the "national champion." I don't know about you, Mr. President, but that strikes me as odd.

Of course, it needs to be acknowledged that teams from non-BCS conferences can play their way into a BCS game. The University of Utah did so both this year and in 2004. In other years, teams from Boise State and Hawaii have earned bids to play BCS bowl games. But in doing so, these teams had to overcome serious competitive disadvantages. For example, it is virtually impossible for a school from a non-BCS conference to get a BCS bid without going undefeated in the regular season, and even that is not a guarantee. Yet this past season, each of the six BCS conference champions had at least one regular season loss—three of them had two or more. Two non-BCS teams—Utah and Boise State—were undefeated after the 2008 regular season. In addition, Texas Christian University, another non-BCS team, had only one loss and was higher in the BCS rankings than two of the conference champions with automatic berths. Yet of these three teams, only Utah was invited to play in a BCS game.

These are the disadvantages non-BCS teams must face just to get into one of five prestigious BCS bowl games. While mere participation is an uphill battle, the system makes it virtually impossible for a non-BCS team to win the national championship. The BCS relies on a combination of polls and computer formulas to determine its rankings. For decades, these polls have almost invariably tended to favor teams from the bigger BCS conferences, evidenced by the fact that no team from an outside conference has finished a season atop a major college football poll since 1984. So unless a team from a non-BCS conference begins the season with a very high national ranking in the polls, they stand virtually no chance of getting ranked high enough to play in the championship game, even if they go undefeated. This system excludes teams like this year's Utah team, which began the season unranked and spent the season shocking opponents and exceeding expectations, from national championship contention.

The flaws of the BCS system might not be so bad if it helped to clear what traditionally had been a muddled national championship picture. But unfortunately, that is not the case. In at least 6 out of the last 10 years, there has been substantial controversy over the selection of the teams to play for the championship. So the system is not only biased, but ineffective as well.

Mr. President, the BCS system is anti-competitive, unfair, and, in my opinion, un-American. I am not just saying that because my team was treated unfairly. I am making the case that many teams are not treated fairly. In no other sport in this country are champions selected by arbitrary and biased polls and computer ranking systems. Much worse, the BCS ensures that the millions of dollars paid to the participants of these prestigious games remain concentrated among a few elitist conferences. Such exclusionary practices put teams from non-BCS conferences at a monetary, recruiting and competitive disadvantage. This may not only be unfair in the normative sense, it may very well violate our nation's antitrust laws.

In 1984, in NCAA v. Board of Regents of the University of Oklahoma, the Supreme Court determined that NCAA is not exempt from the requirements of the Sherman Antitrust Act. That being the case, college football, like most other industries in this country, must conduct business in a manner that does not intentionally stifle competition or systematically favor specified competitors. Specifically, in the words of the Sherman Antitrust Act, no "contract, combination, or conspiracy" may be undertaken to exclude competitors.

In my opinion, it is quite probable that the BCS violates the Sherman requirements. In 2003, I chaired a series of Judiciary Committee hearings to investigate the antitrust implications of the BCS. I stated at that time that I believed the BCS was anticompetitive and in dire need of reform. Shortly thereafter, the BCS added another bowl game and, to some extent, expanded the field of eligibility. However, as this past season demonstrates, these changes leave much to be desired in terms of fairness and competition. Utah Attorney General Mark Shurtleff shares this view and is consulting with lawyers and investigators to determine whether the BCS system constitutes an antitrust violation. Indeed, it appears that litigation over this matter may be on the horizon. Also, on at least two separate occasions, President Obama has publicly stated his concern about the fairness of the BCS and his hope to see the creation of a playoff system. Therefore, it is not unreasonable to predict that a Justice Department investigation into the potential antitrust violations of BCS will be forthcoming.

Mr. President, I would prefer that reforms take place without putting the matter before the courts. In addition, given the many problems facing our nation, I hope that the Justice Department will not have to get involved in this issue. And while some have proposed a legislative fix, this also would not be my preferred solution, though ultimately, this may end up being the only effective means of addressing these problems. Instead, I would hope that those with the power to change or eliminate the BCS, including NCAA President Myles Brand as well as the university presidents and the conference commissioners in the BCS conferences, will hear the public outcry against the BCS and voluntarily work to reform the system to ensure that, as in every other American sport, championships are decided on the field and not in arbitrary polls and computer calculations. While a playoff seems like the most natural solution, other means may be available.

That said, I want to say that I believe the University of Utah football team are champions in the truest sense of the word. They won on the field against worthy competition in a year when literally everyone else proved unable to do so. Once again, I want to congratulate University President Michael Young, Coach Whittingham and every member of the team for what proved to be an exhilarating and tremendous season. I also congratulate other teams that qualified for bowl games who were winners and deserve certainly the plaudits of all of us.

I hope this helps to bring this matter to a head. I hope we can change this system that is an unjust system.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Rhode Island.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. President, let me say, first, what a pleasure it is to hear the distinguished Senator from Utah speak about his beautiful State and his beloved Utes.

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION AND THE BAILOUTS

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Thank you, Mr. President. I have a different topic today. This speech is about a stove, a jet, and $40 billion.

The stove belonged to Margarita Fuentes, and a local deputy sheriff in Florida repossessed it for the finance company. The case went all the way to the Supreme Court, and became the famous case of Fuentes v. Shevin, which every first year law student has to read.

The court held that you couldn't take away Ms. Fuentes' stove, not without giving her a hearing; that she had a constitutional right to a hearing. The court stated:

[T]he constitutional right to be heard is a basic aspect of the duty of government to follow a fair process of decision-making when it acts to deprive a person of his possessions.

Important rule: The finance company may well have been right about the stove, but the sheriff still cannot take property without due process.

That is the stove. Now the jet.

Citigroup has received billions and billions in Federal funds—$45 billion in preferred stock purchases alone—to prevent Citigroup from failing. What did they do? Bought a $50 million French-made luxury private jet.

It took the new Secretary of the Treasury to personally talk them out of it, with a helpful push from our colleague, Senator LEVIN. And that's not all. Here's how Maureen Dowd reports they spent the money on executive office furnishings at Merrill Lynch, just bought by Citigroup:

... big-ticket items included curtains for $28,000, a pair of chairs for $87,000, fabric for a "Roman Shade" for $11,000, Regency chairs for $24,000, six wall sconces for $2,700, a $13,000 chandelier in the private dining room and six dining chairs for $37,000, a "custom coffee table" for $16,000, an antique commode "on legs" for $35,000, and a $1,400 "parchment waste can."

A lot of executive compensation goes to the same executives who led their companies into this mess, while reaping vast sums.

For example, Wells Fargo, which received $25 billion in bailout money, is planning layoffs but is keeping its CEO and chairman who were paid $12.5 million and nearly $23 million in 2007, respectively.

JP Morgan received $25 billion in bailout money, but is keeping its CEO who was paid $28 million in 2007.

Capital One bought and closed GreenPoint mortgage—1,900 layoffs, 1,900 families where someone lost a job—received about $3.5 billion in bailout money, and is keeping its CEO who was paid more than $73 million in 2007.

And this week's New York Times reports that despite "crippling losses, multimillion dollar bailouts and the passing of some of the most important names in the business," an estimated $18.4 billion in bonuses were paid out to Wall Street employees in 2008—the sixth highest total in history—in what was most certainly not the sixth best year in Wall Street's history.

In other words, firms on the brink of extinction that were saved only by the U.S. taxpayer still saw fit to reward people who created the mess with over $18 billion for their performance this past year. President Obama rightly called this shameful.

So that jet is symbolic of a Wall Street culture of unrestrained self-indulgence that now, because of the bailouts, begins to happen at public expense and shows no signs of abating.

And now we come to the $40 billion.

According to an analysis by the Wall Street Journal, the executive-deferred compensation obligations of bailed out Wall Street firms amount to more than $40 billion. As shown on this chart: Banks Owe Billions To Executives. Financial giants getting injections of Federal cash owed their executives more than $40 billion for past years' pay and pensions as of the end of 2007, a Wall Street Journal analysis shows.

By the way, this whole executive-deferred compensation scheme is nothing but a big tax dodge to begin with.

Banks participating in the bailout program carried these obligations on their books, and the cash from our bailout is being used to pay them, or will be used to pay them. Mr. President, $40 billion in taxpayer dollars will end up in the pockets of the very executives who tanked those firms.

How much is $40 billion? Here is how it breaks down State by State based on population.

If you are the Governor of California, you can look forward to $4.780 billion as your State's share of that $40 billion bailout.

If you are, as the wonderful new Presiding Officer is, from Colorado, you can look forward to $636 million as your State's share of deferred executive compensation for Wall Street.

If you are from Missouri, as is the distinguished Senator in the Chamber, you are looking at $768 million as Missouri taxpayers' share of the $40 billion bailout.

Generally, when a company goes into bankruptcy, the executives who are owed the $40 billion in deferred compensation would have become general unsecured creditors and have to wait in line with other such general unsecured creditors.

Experts report that in most cases this means losing all deferred compensation or recovering pennies on the dollar. Executives at Lehman Brothers, which was allowed to go into bankruptcy, will probably lose out on their deferred compensation.

By contrast, nothing has been done to address the deferred compensation obligations of Citigroup, Goldman Sachs, Bank of America, JP Morgan, and other banks that have been given a lifeline.

As shown on this chart, you will see the estimated debt to executives at Goldman Sachs is actually bigger than the capital injection. It is an astonishing sum of money.

I should throw in my own home State of Rhode Island. We are a small State. Here is our share of it: $140 million. That is our entire budget for our two 4-year State colleges for a year—the entire State budget for them; $140 million out of Rhode Island to pay for $40 billion in tax-dodged, deferred executive compensation.

As people who are on the floor will recall, that is more than the entire program we spent so many hours fighting about for the U.S. auto industry. Remember that. That was sort of $18 billion to $35 billion. This is $40 billion, and nobody is even talking about it. And we fought for days about whether to support our own domestic auto industry.

Well, I think the jet shows that the Wall Street culture of lavish self-indulgence is not likely to change. But something very important has changed, and that is the taxpayers are now starting to pay for it, and they are not going to stand for it for long.

If something is going to change, we in Congress have to change it; we need to do it now, and we need to do it in a way that sticks. That's where Ms. Fuentes' stove comes in.

The constitutional right to be heard is a basic aspect of the duty of government to follow a fair process of decision-making when it acts to deprive a person of his possessions.

That is the case of Ms. Fuentes' stove.

If it takes due process before poor Ms. Fuentes can have her stove taken away, then it takes due process before certain adjustments can be made to the obscene and grotesque executive compensation paid for by bailouts.

It takes some due process before anything can be done about this $40 billion in executive-deferred compensation.

Without a due process forum, we have unilaterally disarmed the powers of Government that can make those adjustments. That is a choice we make to unilaterally disarm the powers of Government that could do something about the $40 billion.

I submit if we don't make some reasonable adjustments, that failure will so damage public credibility and faith in the entire exercise; in addition to being profoundly unfair, in fact, that it will eliminate or diminish our ability to manage the crisis. People will not want to hear any longer from us.

The ordinary due process forum for troubled companies, bankruptcy court, is not the best forum for this, for the very reasons that corporations need rescue: they serve a public utility for us in the economy. But the fact that they provide that vital public utility function is no reason to say these other things cannot also be adjusted. That does not mean they should not have to change their ways.

As I said, the only way to change their ways, it appears, is to make them change. So, I will shortly be filing legislation to create a Temporary Economic Recovery Oversight Court, a forum that could provide due process, short of a full bankruptcy filing, and empower Government to take reasonable steps to restrain the lavish self-indulgences to which these masters of the universe have become accustomed. I am also exploring other ways of addressing this critical issue.

But I encourage colleagues of mine who are interested in this issue to talk to me about how we can make this right. There are technical issues. If anybody is interested, please contact me. I think this is a bipartisan issue. I do not think a Republican is any happier about $40 billion in deferred executive compensation coming out of the public fisc than a Democrat, and if we do not take action, the swelling river of the righteous and proper anger of the American people will rise up, and overswell its banks. I have lived through difficult economic situations in Rhode Island, where public anger overswelled its banks. It is not a good place to be.

The people's confidence in their Government's ability to treat them fairly will be justifiably compromised, and we will have lost their confidence, the old-fashioned way: We will have earned it.

The poet William Blake spoke of times when we should not let our sword sleep in our hand. American Government gives us a vital sword, one that can trim away the lavish excesses of the lotus years, and treat all Americans fairly, not create a favored taxpayer-supported Wall Street class that is treated differently than workers in Michigan and elsewhere. I submit we must not let that sword sleep in our hands.

I thank the Presiding Officer and yield the floor.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Missouri.

(The remarks of Mrs. MCCASKILL pertaining to the introduction of S. 360 are printed in today's RECORD under "Statements on Introduced Bills and Joint Resolutions.")

Mrs. MCCASKILL. Mr. President, I yield the floor and I suggest the absence of a quorum.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

THE PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

TRIBUTE TO DR. JOHN LOGAN

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I rise today to honor a well-respected Kentuckian, Dr. John Logan. Mr. Logan's outstanding dedication to Kentucky history is truly immeasurable as is his devotion to the Commonwealth itself.

Recently the Gleaner in Henderson, KY, published a story highlighting Dr. Logan's new book about the extraordinary history of Methodist Hospital in Henderson, KY. The story highlights not only Dr. Logan's allegiance to the medical industry but his unknown talents as an archivist. Dr. Logan was able to compile such a vast amount of research for his new book because, as he says, he "lived" it. Having been involved with the hospital since 1962, Dr. Logan has certainly seen his share of history firsthand. Without Dr. Logan's remarkable efforts to preserve history, the triumphant story of this great Kentucky institution would be lost forever.

Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to join me in honoring Dr. Logan as a true patriot and Kentuckian whose legacy will forever be remembered, and I further ask unanimous consent to have the full article printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

[From the Gleaner, Jan. 17, 2009]

TIME TO TELL THE STORY: LOCAL PHYSICIAN ADMINISTERS DOSE OF HISTORY WITH NEW BOOK ON METHODIST HOSPITAL

(By Judy Jenkins)

It wasn't so much a want as it was a need. And it wasn't so much a need as it was a deep conviction that time wouldn't wait forever and something important could be lost.

That's why, five years ago, Dr. John Logan began a long-contemplated project that required the patience of a saint, more than a few detective skills, and the excavation of nearly half a century of his own memories.

The result, just off the press, is the 192-page "History of Methodist Hospital, Henderson, Ky., 1948-2008."

The hardcover volume, published by McClanahan Publishing House, Inc. of Lyon County, Ky., is chock full of photographs and doesn't merely chronicle the development of the hospital from a simple, one-story brick building with 12 doctors and 35 employees to the towering complex it is today.

It also pays tribute to the legions of people of all ages, races and socio-economic backgrounds who have done everything from polishing the floors and baking the bread to utilizing space age diagnostic technology and performing life-saving procedures.

"I decided it was time to tell the story," says John, who has served as the hospital's medical director for 22 years, been president of the medical staff, and completed 19 terms as chief of the medical staff.

His thought, he said, was, "If I don't tell it, it's gone."

He couldn't let that happen because "It's a great story. That this hospital all these years has survived across the river from hospitals twice our size. That says we're doing something right."

Because he has been associated with the hospital since 1962 and has witnessed its growth and advancements, he didn't have to spend all of his time in a basement room with dusty boxes of scrapbooks and loose clippings.

"I've LIVED the research," he said, grinning.

He came to this area as a brand new physician, hanging out his shingle in Sebree in his wife Jackie's home county.

Probably no one in his native Edmonson County had expected him or his brother Tom to become doctors. Their family was thick with attorneys, but the siblings opted to follow the medical path.

John's mentor was a country doctor named Sidney Farmer, who hired him at age 14 to clean his offices. When John got a driver's license, he drove Farmer to make house calls.

A year after the youthful family practitioner came to these parts, he was introduced to a dynamic 31-year-old named Charles "Chuck" Jarrett, who had accepted the post of Methodist Hospital executive director.

Chuck, who was a former Marine and "a dreamer" who had the unique ability to persuade others to dream with him, soon was plotting a tall, gleaming modern hospital on that hill off Twelfth and Elm Streets.

When he died, far too young, in 1973, the institution had four sprawling wings and was just as he had envisioned it.

Since that time, his successors Ron Chapman and Bruce Begley have kept the dreams alive and the hospital is flanked by a North Tower and South Tower.

In his book, John fleshes out what otherwise could be the bare bones of history. For instance, he relates that in addition to being a popular veteran pediatrician and hunter, Dr. John Jenkins is a pig farmer.

The author says Jenkins once told him, "If I work very hard practicing medicine, I can almost cover my losses in pig farming."

John also writes about the late Dr. M.G. Veal, a fellow with a well developed sense of humor and hobby sideline as a trumpet player in several area bands. He smoked, though he knew better, and "His trademark was a cigarette with an inch of ashes hanging."

(I can vouch for that mischievous sense of humor. Once he passed me in the hospital lobby and loudly congratulated me. When I, confused, asked why he was congratulating me, he said, "I just heard that you're expecting your tenth child, Mrs. Jenkins!" Heads turned, believe me. For the record, I only had three kids at the time and the fourth and last was born a year later).

As I read the book, I was reminded of the tragic losses the hospital medical staff has suffered over the years.

Among them, the death of the young and much-revered Dr. W.B. Blue, who practiced in Henderson's East End. He died in a vehicular accident here.

And there was Dr. Elton House, who was reaching the height of his career when he drowned during an outing on Barkley Lake.

And Dr. Joe McGruder, who had brought so many babies into the world, lost his life while scuba diving on vacation.

John is proud of the fact that he unearthed photos of every Methodist Hospital physician—but one—who was on the original staff, or who had served at least 20 years.

His only failure was Dr. Ira Cosby, an original staff member who regularly made house calls and was never known to drive faster than 35 mph.

John and his faithful helpers searched high and low, contacting relatives and doing everything possible to come up with a likeness of the doctor, but had to admit defeat.

There are numerous photos of hospital employees who have made their own marks on the institution. They include the late Bill Beck, director of materials management. He was a soft-spoken man who never minded going above and beyond the call of duty to honor a request.

James "Rip" Van Winkle was like that too, and I don't recall an instance when the late director of building and grounds left a room without relating an anecdote or witticism that had everyone laughing.

John himself could fill a book, but because space is limited we'll just say he played a major role in many things we take for granted here, including the spacious YMCA, the Henderson Fine Arts Center, the Depot/Tourism Center—and the hospital's Level II Neonatal Intensive Care Unit that makes it possible to care for most of the tiniest and sickest babies right here.

He's not happy about everything related to the hospital. It just irks him that while the facility regularly performs cardiac catheterizations and has a staff of 24 cardiologists as well as a dedicated telemetry unit, it hasn't yet been able to obtain a state Certificate of Need to permit angioplasty procedures or stent placements here.

He'll keep pursuing that, no doubt, as he has, at 71, no immediate plans to retire.

Nor does he plan a sequel to the history.

"I've done the first 60 years. Somebody else will have to do the next 60."

SPENCER COUNTY FFA DAIRY JUDGING TEAM

Mr. McCONNELL. Mr. President, I rise today to honor the Spencer County FFA Dairy Judging Team for winning the 2008 National FFA Dairy Cattle Judging Contest. This team is comprised of four outstanding young ladies: Whitney Owen, Cassandra Peterson, Kelli Smitha, and Michella White.

After countless hours spent preparing for the Kentucky FFA Dairy Judging Contest, they were awarded top honors at the State competition last August. The team then had the privilege of representing the Commonwealth at the 2008 National FFA Dairy Cattle Judging Contest in Indianapolis, IN, where they were again victorious.

Founded in 1928 as the Future Farmers of America, the group that is today known as the National FFA Organization brings together students, teachers, and members of the agribusiness community to promote agricultural education. In Kentucky, the National FFA Organization has over 15,000 members spread across 145 chapters. And over 24,000 Kentucky middle- and high-school students are enrolled in agricultural education programs.

Agriculture is obviously an important sector of the economy for my State, and I am proud of the many young people and adults who work with the National FFA Organization in Kentucky to ensure that the Bluegrass State remains at the forefront of agricultural education and innovation for years to come. Members are always recognizable during their visits to our Nation's Capitol by their distinctive blue jackets.

By securing a first-place finish at the national competition, the Spencer County FFA Dairy Judging Team now has the opportunity to represent America this summer at the International Dairy Judging Contest in Scotland. FFA is known for producing many of our Nation's future leaders, and I won't be surprised to see that trend continue based on the success Whitney, Cassandra, Kelli, and Michella have already achieved. I know my fellow Senators join me in wishing them the best of luck in their future endeavors.

SELECT COMMITTEE ON ETHICS 2008 ANNUAL REPORT

Mrs. BOXER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD the 2008 Annual Report of the Select Committee on Ethics.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

ANNUAL REPORT FOR 2008—SELECT COMMITTEE ON ETHICS

The Honest Leadership and Open Government Act of 2007 (the "Act") calls for the Select Committee on Ethics of the United States Senate to issue an annual report no later than January 31 of each year providing information in certain categories describing its activities for the preceding year. Reported below is the information describing the Committee's activities in 2008 in the categories set forth in the Act:

(1) The number of alleged violations of Senate rules received, from any source [in 2008], including the number raised by a Senator or staff of the Committee: 85. (This figure does not include 13 alleged violations from the previous year carried into 2008.)

(2) The number of alleged violations that were dismissed—

(A) For lack of subject matter jurisdiction or in which, even if the allegations in the complaint are true, no violation of Senate rules would exist: 52. (This figure includes 5 matters originating in the previous year.)

(B) Because they failed to provide sufficient facts as to any material violation of the Senate rules beyond mere allegation or assertion: 21. (This figure includes 4 matters originating in the previous year.)

(3) The number of alleged violations in which the Committee staff conducted a preliminary inquiry: 10. (This figure includes 4 matters from the previous year carried into 2008.)

(4) The number of alleged violations that resulted in an adjudicatory review: 0.

(5) The number of alleged violations that the Committee dismissed for lack of substantial merit: 4. (This figure includes 1 matter from the previous year carried into 2008.)

(6) The number of private letters of admonition or public letters of admonition issued: 2.

(7) The number of matters resulting in a disciplinary sanction: 0.

(8) Any other information deemed by the Committee to be appropriate to describe its activities in the previous year.

Between January 4 and February 25, 2008 the Committee staff conducted mandatory ethics training for all Senate employees: 8 training sessions for Members, 19 training sessions for staff, and 1 training session for Member spouses. In addition, the Committee conducted 11 new employee training sessions during the year; 17 ethics seminars for Member DC offices, state offices, Senate committees, and outside delegations; 2 mandatory campaign related ethics briefings; and 1 Senator-elect orientation session and 1 training session for transition staff.

In 2008, Committee staff handled 15,555 telephone inquiries for ethics advice and guidance.

In 2008, the Committee wrote 1,264 ethics advisory letters and responses, including 869 advisories concerning gifts or travel.

The Committee issued 3,395 letters concerning financial disclosure filings by Senators, Senate staff and Senate candidates and reviewed 1,510 reports.

HOLDER NOMINATION

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, I believe I am speaking on behalf of Americans who value their second amendment personal right to own their own firearms. I also believe I am speaking on behalf of Americans who favor justice over political patronage. Finally, I believe I am speaking on behalf of Americans who realize we are in a war on terror and want to continue the strong efforts to bring terrorists to justice. I am opposed to the appointment of Eric Holder to be the next Attorney General of the United States.

I take particular interest in this nomination because I, as well as the voters of the State of Oklahoma, feel strongly that the rights conferred upon us by the second amendment of the Constitution guarantee an individual freedom that no government regulation can take away. Eric Holder's record and his true beliefs about the second amendment are clear. In a brief filed in the Heller case, Holder joined other past Department of Justice officials by saying: "[t]he Second Amendment Does Not Protect Firearms Possession or Use That Is Unrelated To Participation In a Well-Regulated Militia." The brief also stated that the "recognition of an expansive individual right to keep and bear arms for private purposes will make it more difficult for the government to defend present and future firearms laws." During his confirmation hearing, Eric Holder noted the importance of the Heller decision and recognized it as precedent. But I certainly do not believe that the decision in Heller has changed the underlying beliefs held by Eric Holder, and his leadership as the chief lawyer of the United States will be a detriment to the gun ownership rights of American citizens.

I am also very uncomfortable with Mr. Holder's judgment and record on pardons and clemency during the Clinton administration. He apparently chose to circumvent the standard process by which all pardons are considered and granted, and clouded this process with the appearance of impropriety. If the pardon of Mark Rich was not impropriety, and I believe it was, then it was at the very least extreme negligence, and such negligence has no place in any level of government. Mark Rich, whom many label a tax evader, is in fact even more than that. Rich was indicted in 1983 on 65 counts of not only tax evasion, but also fraud, racketeering, and trading with the enemy. Rich fled to Switzerland before he could stand trial, which is perhaps the most egregious element of this case—he was a fugitive and a regular fixture on the FBI's Ten Most Wanted List. How can one justify recommending a pardon, bypass the Department of Justice and the hundreds of individuals who worked to bring Mark Rich to justice, when the man who is being pardoned is not even willing to face the same justice system to which every other American must answer? In fact, Holder admitted during his confirmation hearing that he did not adequately acquaint himself with the facts of the case. The United States Senate should not allow such injustice to go unanswered.

Equally egregious, Holder was Deputy Attorney General in an administration which granted clemency to 16 members of the Armed Forces of National Liberation, or FALN. This is a group which not only carried out violent protests, FALN set off bombs several times in New York City and Chicago and were convicted for conspiracies to commit robbery, bomb-making, and sedition. The Clinton administration granted clemency despite opposition from the U.S. Attorney's Office, FBI, and most importantly, the victims of FALN terrorist activities.

Finally, we continue to be in a war on terror, however, Holder is an individual who is opposed to the military commissions which have tried terrorists and is opposed to the Guantanamo Bay detention facility for detaining terrorists. This Senate and the American people should know that since October 2001, the U.S. has detained almost 800 al-Qaida and Taliban combatants at GTMO. Currently, 60 more are ready for transfer or release to another country, 70 have either been tried or in process, and 130 are a high threat to the U.S. Since 2002, more than 525 detainees have departed GTMO for other countries. Today, there are approximately 240 detainees at GTMO. If GTMO is no longer a prison, some U.S. domestic or overseas prison will have to house these men while they await a habeas hearing and trial. All the while, the military detention facilities at GTMO meet the highest international standards. The Pentagon spends $2.5 million each year on Korans, prayer rugs, and special meals for prisoners. There are on average two lawyers for every detainee at GTMO. He believes our military commissions currently in place would have to be substantially revamped and even holds the position that U.S. interrogation techniques should be published for the world to see.

For at least these reasons, I cannot vote to support the nomination of an individual who holds opinions on a wide range of issues which I find so objectionable and objectionable to my constituents. I will be voting a definitive no on the Holder nomination.

CHILDREN'S HEALTH INSURANCE PROGRAM

Mr. NELSON of Florida. Mr. President, I wish to express my optimism that with a new administration and a new Congress, we will finally be able to achieve what was left unfinished last year: the expansion of the Children's Health Insurance Program. Though we are in difficult economic times, we can never afford to squander our Nation's most precious resource—our children.

From 1994 to 2000 I served as the State of Florida's elected treasurer and insurance commissioner. During my tenure, I oversaw the implementation of the SCHIP program, or the Healthy Kids Program, as it is known in Florida. There is no doubt in my mind that this program works. Nationwide, in 1997 23.3 percent of low-income children were uninsured. By 2006, this number had dropped to 15.4 percent.

However, much remains to be done. The rate of uninsured children in Florida is nearly 19 percent—the second worst in the country. Around 8.6 million children in America are uninsured; nearly 900,000 of these children are in Florida. One of the reasons I support this bill so strongly is that it expands coverage and offers incentives for States like Florida to find and enroll uncovered children. During difficult economic times such as these, there are more children in need of the CHIP program, not fewer.

While I am very satisfied with the progress this legislation would make in covering children, I do have concerns about its financing. I want to emphasize that increasing the tobacco tax is an appropriate funding mechanism for this legislation. It will have significant positive impacts on health, save untold millions in health care costs, and reduce the prevalence of smoking among the children whom this bill is designed to protect. However, I am concerned that the tax is applied unequally across different tobacco products.

Under the current legislation, there is a much higher tax increase for large cigars than for other tobacco products. This is no small problem for Florida—90 percent of large cigars in the U.S. are either manufactured or imported through Florida, accounting for approximately 3,000 jobs. While I remain opposed to placing an unfair tax burden on any one product, I still feel we have a strong bill on the whole, one that will improve health care dramatically for America's children.

IDAHOANS SPEAK OUT ON HIGH ENERGY PRICES

Mr. CRAPO. Mr. President, in mid-June, I asked Idahoans to share with me how high energy prices are affecting their lives, and they responded by the hundreds. The stories, numbering well over 1,200, are heartbreaking and touching. While energy prices have dropped in recent weeks, the concerns expressed remain very relevant. To respect the efforts of those who took the opportunity to share their thoughts, I am submitting every e-mail sent to me through an address set up specifically for this purpose to the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD. This is not an issue that will be easily resolved, but it is one that deserves immediate and serious attention, and Idahoans deserve to be heard. Their stories not only detail their struggles to meet everyday expenses, but also have suggestions and recommendations as to what Congress can do now to tackle this problem and find solutions that last beyond today. I ask unanimous consent to have today's letters printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

You are asking Idahoans to write about gas prices? You mean you do not know? I think Washington D.C. may as well be registered as another planet because I think your colleagues are so far from reality of the rest of the people it is absolutely outrageous.

[Some of] your colleagues [suggest that] Americans use alternative [modes] of transportation and that it is a good thing that gas prices force people to take the bus, ride bikes, or walk to their destination because it helps reduce global warming.

I have something [for you to share with your colleagues]:

I am a driver for a living. I deliver products right here in Boise. I have to drive I have no choice. I am also a salesman, and a night supervisor. I live in Idaho. I do not have the option of riding the bus. I cannot walk my deliveries or ride my bike with my products.

I find it absolutely insulting [to think this suggestion can be taken seriously. Too many liberals] love these high gas prices because they want to use it as an excuse to make us live how they want us to live to fight so-called global warming, while [they make no sacrifices in their own personal travel behaviors.] That is eco-socialism in my opinion.

Senator Crapo, I have three jobs!! Three jobs, and I am still having problems fueling up. I have had to open credit card accounts for the first time in my life, and my debt is still going up!

You would think with three jobs and three paychecks for one person! I am not married, no kids. I would be starving with fuel prices if I had a family. I am just barely paying my bills on time as they are, to about $1,500 a month, not including gas prices!

Starting in 2005 till 2007, I did very well financially. I was saving up and putting money away in my savings account. I loved myself for putting money away. This month [June 2008], I had to take one-quarter of my life savings out of my bank to pay for bills, including gas because the price skyrocketed from $3 to $4 a gallon in one month. This is outrageous!

I think it is 80 percent the government's fault for this and 20 percent the oil companies. The only thing the oil companies are doing wrong is speculating the price of oil for really dumb reasons.

Congress has done this because [legislation to drill for oil in ANWR has been blocked because of environmental concerns that do not exist.] Congress is more worried about a stupid deer than they are about [the lives of Americans]? More worried about the mating season of the caribou than they are about the economy? My jobs? My gas prices? My bills? My lifestyle?

You will not allow drilling off shore? Well, did you know that China is drilling for oil off the coast of Florida? But we cannot. Why? This is outrageous!

Do not listen to those radical environmentalists. They were wrong about the second Ice Age in the 70s. When I was kid in school in the 1980s, my teachers told me by the year 1999, New York would be underwater and Los Angeles would be a bunch of Islands. It has not happened. Of course, the earth's temperature changes and jumps over time. The earth's climate changes all the time, has been since the earth cooled and formed. The earth's temperature does not stay the same all the time. There are so many scientists and people who disagree with Al Gore, but if we disagree, we are labeled "flat-earthers" and "Holocaust Deniers."

My question for [conservatives] is this. Why did you not approve drilling for oil when you [controlled Congress and the White House]?

You want to help me? A person with three jobs and struggling with gas prices? I have not had a vacation since March of 2007. I cannot even take a one-day vacation to Jackpot anymore. I work all seven days a week, get no weekends and I still struggle to pay gas prices of about $15 a day, not a week, a day!

Drill here, drill in ANWR, drill in America!
AARON, Boise.

Thank you, Senator, for your sincere concern for Idaho residents. I am 58 next month and on disability from a very severe fire I was trapped in several years ago. Though I do get an income, this is where it goes:

1. I receive $625 a month.
1. $200 a month mobile home space rent.
2. $156 a month mortgage payments for my mobile home . . . which without the owner of the mobile home, I would not be on my way to being a first time home owner!
3. $48 a month mobile home insurance.
4. $40 a month vehicle insurance . . . it is a 1988 Plymouth Voyager van that I have had since 1988.
5. $39 phone bill, which was supposed to be reduced several months ago through my social worker, and still remains at the normal price and I do not have long distance.
6. $30-40 electricity monthly; I do not have an air conditioner for summer but do open my windows and use my ceiling fans that helps.

7. $125 and up in winter for gas to run my heater monthly. That is after I receive fuel assistance which for some reason only lasts 1-2 months and only use the heater to warm up the area so can start my wood stove which is usually one-half hour.

So, if I am lucky, all I can afford to do is put up to $20 a month in gas, which gives me almost 1/4 tank and that has to last the month. I have medical problems that mean many trips to the doctor and pharmacy, and with such a low amount of gas I have to depend on others for rides when I run out of gas. Thank you for your sincere concern and we are all hoping and praying that gas will once again come down to where people like me can afford to purchase more.

LORETTA, Nampa.

From your letter on gas prices that you sent me, you are starting to understand that the Congress holds most of the blame for high oil (and thus gas) prices. Congress has failed to act in the thirty years since the last gas crisis, continually failing to take responsible action to make sure domestic supplies are developed and used to reduce dependence on foreign oil.

It should be clear that the single most deleterious action of Congress over the last forty years was the Environmental Protection Act. It has desperately needed revision since the early seventies and because it was not, the economic impact on America has been extreme. The inability to build domestic gas refineries, increase domestic oil production and take advantage of resources in ANWR are only a few of the unintended and disastrous impacts of that act. An environmentalist has only to write a single letter to cause the price of any such proposal to escalate exponentially. The latest case of the proposed nuclear reactor in Idaho is an example. One man writing one letter can cause the waste of hundreds of thousands of dollars to "prove" the lack of environmental impacts of such a proposal. The price of a house in Idaho has risen by 10–15 percent, for instance, because of the ludicrous and technically flawed environmental studies and reactions on the spotted owl.

Still, no action in Congress to alleviate the situation. We simply need someone to stand up and take the actions necessary to replace political correctness with what used to be common sense.

So the bottom line, Senator, is that Congress bears the responsibility to stop passing stupid laws and start reigning in those that are hurting the nation's ability to do the right things rather than the politically correct things. Do you have the courage to start?

ROBERT, Meridian.

You asked what the high gas prices are doing to me. It has become very difficult to even do normal things. I cannot afford to go up town and buy necessary things. Since I am on Social Security Disability, my sister and I have been living off my money. Since my sister does not have a car and I cannot afford to buy one for her, nor could I afford the gas. She would love to go to work. How would she get there? Idaho, and particularly this area has a really horrible public transportation system. It truly is a disgrace to our state. My sister walks as much as possible. Our nation needs to stop depending on foreign oil. I love all the animals and have tried to protect them as much as possible, but we need to start taking care of our families first.

The oil companies are making over the profit margin; that is disgusting by itself. I do not trust one thing they say or do. Therefore, we need to have alternative fuel. The wind can run electricity. The air can fuel a car, water can do both, after seeing the pictures of a car that runs on air. America, the greatest country in the world needs to step up to the plate. Oil companies need to step up to the plate before they become the dinosaurs. Therefore, we need to drill. Do it. Many families like mine are being devastated by the high gasoline prices which makes high food prices we cannot afford. Thank you for your time

MARIAN, Nampa.

This is in response to a solicitation from Senator Crapo regarding personal stories on how high energy prices are affecting lives. Greed is the source of most of the world's evil. I know I sound like an ideologue, but please read on.

It is hard to disaggregate the effects of the high cost of energy from other economic hits our family is experiencing. When construction activity slowed in Valley and Adams County, wage earning families left our valleys looking for jobs elsewhere.

The resulting reduced school enrollment (now compounded by the end of Craig-Wyden) in our districts led me to being one of the teachers RIF'd from the Council School District. Fortunately, I found work part-time in the McCall School District. Unfortunately, this 70-mile, round-trip commute (in my 2000 140,000+ mile Dodge AWD Caravan—needed for unpredictable roads) costs me $9.00–$12.00 a trip! I would like to buy a more fuel efficient Subaru—but I cannot afford to.)

My school-age children suffer because programs are being severely reduced—shop and art are gone. Some high school courses will only be offered every other year. Summer school for poor learners is truncated. Field trips? Sports? Both are severely reduced. How can our small-town children go out and experience the world when there is not even money for gas?

As consumers, our family lives so far from "the source" that not only gas, but also milk and other basic commodities seem to cost at least 25 percent more than they did a year ago. Last year I was able to find milk for $2.29 gallon; now milk costs close to $4.00/gallon. Healthy bread costs close to $4.00/loaf. As a family, we certainly have not received a COLA to offset these price increases.

As middle-class professionals (my husband is a forester) and as parents, the drain on our budget means belt-tightening for any of "fun things" like vacation trips. Additionally, we have experienced a health crisis (and have met our catastrophic limits). I now must commute to Fruitland (140 miles round trip) every 2 weeks for chemo; in the fall I will need to commute 5 days a week for radiation for 6 weeks! (My doctor cavalierly denied me two prescriptions for drugs since they are also available OTC. "They only cost a few dollars." He casually shrugged off my request for RXs. Well, the two drugs cost more than $30 altogether. I do not think that the upper-middle-class and upper-class have a clue that there is an exponential difference between a few bucks (a latte) and $30 (a chance to visit a museum or movie, or half-way fill up a gas tank to make it to a chemo session!)

I believe that our tax system rewards the rich on the backs of the poor and middle class. I believe that oil companies and owners of stocks are making fortunes as the little guy suffers.

I believe we should take global warning seriously and allow tax credits for the development of alternative energy. We need to take recycling very seriously. We also need to be a world economic partner on a fair playing field (Kyoto convention), quit out-sourcing to countries that do not provide the labor protections we do to our workers, and build respectful relationships among all peoples and all cultures—as a first step to world peace and understanding and a step away from the ugliness of war.

I also believe that limiting population growth and sharing the world's resource's equably is the only way we will ever establish peace on earth.

Locally, for our family, what have been the effects of high energy costs? Higher food and medical costs, loss of job, reduced school programs for my children, dwindled savings, "making do" with older cars and housing needs, fewer amenities, no vacation.

Glad you asked.

LYNN, Fruitvale.

I read your letter sent out today. Glad to hear that at least one of our Senators in Washington gets it. I hope there are more of you in DC that can support the policies you want to support in your letter.

We do need to start drilling again in the US and offshore. We need to make sure that we take precautions to avoid damage to the environment. We cannot sacrifice one for the other. But we must start drilling again, and do so in a respective manner of Mother Nature.

And we are going to need some new refining capability. Again, do it new technology and with respect to our environment. Build it in Eastern Idaho—we have the space and we could use the jobs and economic boost. Tough to get oil here, but if they need a place for it, bring it here.

We must start the nuclear programs again. We need to build some new reactors soon. I do not know for sure, but I am betting some of our older reactors are getting long in the tooth, and if they go off the grid, then what happens? Besides we need more power and money spent to renew our grid system.

We need to take a serious look at Ethanol. I am not sure it is all it is being promoted to be. I am not sure the benefits outweigh all of the costs. With the flooding in the Midwest,

I wonder what the cost of corn will be now? But it is not just food issues, but the processing issues as well.

Wind Power should be promoted as well. But a Nuclear Power Plant is much easier on the eyes than 1000 wind towers, and not as susceptible to the changes in the wind.

Coal alternatives should be looked at as well. We need to check if the benefits we can gain from technology like coal gasification are valid and have low impact. Some of the claims you hear and read about look promising. But as I am learning with Ethanol, there may be some significant costs to chase this type of technology.

But the short of it—we need to develop our energy and become more independent. The amount of jobs created would be incredible in the process. You want a better health care system and less unemployment and less government care programs—just set the energy companies loose and see this economy rebound in a heartbeat. These energy companies can afford health care plans and benefits for their workers. Our current policies are killing us—and I really hope there are enough in Congress to turn this around. We have been shooting ourselves in the foot for more than 20 years.

Good Luck.

STEPHEN, Rigby.

Thank you for inviting me to share how the increased gas prices has affected my daily life. I have begun carpooling and eliminating unnecessary trips, and have really saved a lot of money, not to mention reducing the pollution my daily commute had been producing. Though it has not always been convenient, I look at it as one small step that I can do to help our world for future generations. You opposed the proposed climate change legislation that would further hike gas prices up, though I called and wrote your office to ask you to support it. I feel that the higher the gas prices are, the more people will look to limit extraneous trips which will help reduce emissions (greenhouse gases). I also think that the more you reduce the prices on gas, people will use more gas and will choose not to conserve.

Measures I want you to support would be to develop a larger, stronger infrastructure of public transportation so that people do not have to worry about getting to work the traditional way of driving singly in their own vehicle. We should encourage production and development of non-fossil fuels, such as cellulosic ethanol, which does not take from the food supply, but does give work to both the scientific developers as well as the laborers necessary to move this idea to fruition. Also, you should support solar, geothermal, and wind production. If measures could be discovered that would allow for the long-term safe storage of nuclear waste, as well as safe practices of running plants on a daily basis, no matter the weather conditions (i.e., drought), keeping in mind the larger picture of our environment, including fish and other natural resources, I would be supportive of that method as well. I know these newer methods are not as easy or convenient as just simply reducing gas prices, but your legacy for truly caring about the environment would be something that would be worth the extra work.

Thank you for reading this, even though it probably goes against what you are looking for.

SUSAN, Boise.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

REMEMBERING HARRY MAGNUSON

• Mr. CRAPO. Mr. President, on January 24, a man whose life was intricately woven into Idaho's history passed on. Harry Frank Magnuson, son of an Italian immigrant mother and Polish immigrant father, was born in Idaho in the early part of the 20th century in the small Idaho mining town of Wallace. As a young man, Harry sought and obtained his education, first at the University of Idaho. After completing his military service with the U.S. Navy during World War II, he obtained a master's degree in business administration at Harvard University. Harry returned to his hometown of Wallace, ID, and opened an accounting firm that was active for 60 years. At the time of his death, Harry Magnuson was known well beyond Idaho's borders for his leadership, philanthropy and business acumen.

Harry was a devoted father and husband and committed man of the community. He was first and foremost an Idahoan. His work brought him accolades from the University of Idaho, Gonzaga University, and Idaho State University. In 1990, our State's largest newspaper, the Idaho Statesman, named him Idaho Citizen of the Year. He chaired the Idaho Centennial Commission from 1987 to 1991. In 1999, Harry received the "Esto Perpetua" award from the Idaho State Historical Society, an award that honors an individual's lifetime contributions to the history of Idaho. One of the projects closest to his heart was the Cataldo Mission in north Idaho, the preservation of which he contributed mightily over the years.

My thoughts and prayers are with Colleen Magnuson and their children at this difficult time.●

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mrs. FEINSTEIN (for herself, Mr. SPECTER, and Mr. FEINGOLD):

S. 357. A bill to allow for certiorari review of certain cases denied relief or review by the United States Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, today I am pleased to join with Senators SPECTER and FEINGOLD in introducing the Equal Justice for U.S. Servicemembers Act. The Act would eliminate an inequity in current law by allowing all court-martialed U.S. servicemembers who face dismissal, discharge or confinement for a year or more to petition the United States Supreme Court for discretionary review through a writ of certiorari.

The bill is a simple one, and would do the following: allow a writ of certiorari to be filed in any case in which the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces has denied review; and allow a writ of certiorari to be filed in any case in which the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces denied a petition for extraordinary relief.

In our civilian courts today, all person convicted of a crime, if they lose on appeal, have a right to petition the U.S. Supreme Court for discretionary review. Even enemy combatants have the right to direct appellate review in the Supreme Court.

In contrast, however, our men and women in uniform do not share this same right. Our military personnel can apply to the U.S. Supreme Court only if the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces actually conducts a review of their case or grants a petition for extraordinary relief. That only happens about 10 percent of the time.

In other words, in 90 percent of their case, our U.S. servicemembers are prevented from ever seeking or obtaining direct review from the Supreme Court.

This disparity is not limited to our civilian and military court systems. A similar disparity exists within our military court system relief. The Government routinely has the chance to petition the Supreme Court for review of adverse court-martial rulings in any case where the charges are severe enough to make a punitive discharge possible. But our military personnel do not share the same rights to petition the Supreme Court as the military prosecutors on the other side of the aisle.

This is wrong, and this inequity was recently noted by the American Bar Association, which passed a resolution calling on Congress on fix this longstanding "disparity in our laws governing procedural due process."

Every day, our U.S. service personnel place their lives on the line in defense of American rights. It is unacceptable for us to continue to routinely deprive our men and women in uniform one of those rights—the ability to petition their Nation's highest court for direct relief. It is a right given to common criminals in our civilian courts, to the Government, and even to some of the terrorists who we hope to prosecute as war criminals.

The bill is supported by the American Bar Association, the Military Officers Association of America, and the National Institute of Military Justice. Robinson Everett, the former Chief Judge of the U.S. Court of Military Appeals, the predecessor to the Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces, also supports the bill.

It's long past time we give them the same rights as the American citizens they fight, and sometimes die, to protect.

I urge my colleagues to support this important legislation to give equal justice to our U.S. servicemembers.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

S. 357

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "Equal Justice for United States Military Personnel Act of 2009".

SEC. 2. CERTIORARI TO THE UNITED STATES COURT OF APPEALS FOR THE ARMED FORCES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 1259 of title 28, United States Code, is amended—

(1) in paragraph (3), by inserting "or denied" after "granted"; and

(2) in paragraph (4), by inserting "or denied" after "granted".

(b) TECHNICAL AND CONFORMING AMENDMENT.—Section 867a(a) of title 10, United States Code, is amended by striking "The Supreme Court may not review by a writ of certiorari under this section any action of the Court of Appeals for the Armed Forces in refusing to grant a petition for review."

By Mr. INOUE:

S. 359. A bill to establish the Hawai'i Capital National Heritage Area, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources.

Mr. INOUE. Mr. President, I rise to introduce a bill that will establish the Hawai'i Capital National Heritage Area.

National Heritage Areas allow residents, government agencies, nonprofit groups and private partners to collaboratively plan and implement programs that recognize and preserve America's defining landscapes. Of the 40 National Heritage Areas established, only a few are west of the Mississippi River. This will be Hawaii's first official Heritage Area.

I believe that Hawaii's unique cultural make up coupled with its historical significance will surely attract both residents and visitors to this special place. The proposed area is rich with cultural sites, museums, historic buildings, art galleries, performing arts venues, ethnic markets, and restaurants that will surely provide the average person with an experience of a lifetime.

This makes Hawaii Capital Cultural district an ideal candidate for a Heritage Area designation.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

By Mrs. MCCASKILL:

S. 360. A bill to limit compensation to officers and directors of entities receiving emergency economic assistance from the Government; to the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs.

Mrs. MCCASKILL. Mr. President, I could not agree more with my colleague from Rhode Island. There are a lot of things we need in this country right now. We need jobs. We need something to stimulate our economy. We need certainty in the credit market. But probably more than anything what we need in this country right now is confidence, confidence that we can face down these problems and move forward like America has always done.

What do we have instead of confidence? Raw anger. I am mad. Everyone I work for is mad. Anger can be constructive. It can be channeling. I am here today to say it is time we channel this anger and change the law. We do not need anger. We have a bunch of idiots on Wall Street who are kicking sand in the face of the American taxpayer. My colleague talked about some of them. Let me review. These financial institutions, on the brink of extinction, come to the American taxpayer for hundreds of billions of dollars at the very same time they think they are going to buy a $50 million corporate jet. They are going to pay out $18 billion in bonuses. They paid an average of $2.6 million to every executive at the first 116 banks that got taxpayer money under TARP. Let me say that again: An average of $2.6 million in executive pay to the folks at the first 116 banks that got money from the taxpayers.

They don't get it. These people are idiots. You can't use taxpayer money to pay out $18 billion in bonuses. Merrill Lynch is unbelievable. They saved $3 billion to $4 billion from the pot of money that was going to Bank of America, the sale that was going to close the first week in January. They always gave bonuses in January. Do you know what these sneaky guys did? They decided to give their bonuses in December before the Bank of America took over. They paid out $3 billion to $4 billion in bonuses in December, and that quarter, Merrill Lynch lost $21 billion. What planet are these people on? What could they be thinking about?

So here is what this bill is going to do. This is called the Cap Executive Officer Pay Act of 2009, and it is very simple. Going forward, you want taxpayers to help you survive? You want the people at your financial institution to have a job tomorrow? Then you are going to have to limit everyone's pay at your company to the same salary the President of the United States makes. Is that so unreasonable? It is eight times the median household income in the United States of America—$400,000 a year. I don't think that sounds like a bad deal. Should these people be making more than the President of the United States? Now, really, should they? They should not be making more than the President of the United States. So every executive going forward could not make more than $400,000 a year, and they have to limit that executive compensation for everyone in their company until they pay back every dime to the taxpayers.

Now, once they are off the public dole, once the taxpayers aren't footing the bill, then it is not as much our business what they get paid. But right now, they are on the hook to us, and they owe us something other than a fancy wastebasket and a $50 million jet. They owe us some common sense. If any of them think it is a hardship to take the salary of the President of the United States, I dare them to say so out loud right now because that is not going to instill confidence.

What is going to instill confidence is for the men and women in these companies to realize it is time for everyone in this country to tighten their belt. It is time for everyone to realize we must have our financial institutions survive but not with a culture that thinks it is OK to kick the taxpayer in the shins while they drink champagne and fly in fancy jets. It doesn't work; not in the United States of America.

I ask my colleagues to sign on to this bill. I think it makes sense. We should have done it in the first place, but I don't think any of us thought these guys were this stupid. I don't think any of us believed they would take billions of dollars of bonuses while their institutions were literally days from being wiped out, but they did, and we have learned our lesson.

So I hope all my colleagues will sign on this bill. I hope we can get it passed quickly so that from this day forward, the President of the United States will make the same amount of money as the executives of these companies who owe the taxpayers hundreds and hundreds of billions of dollars.

S. 362. A bill to amend title 38, United States Code, to improve the collective bargaining rights and procedures for review of adverse actions of certain employees of the Department of Veterans Affairs, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Veterans' Affairs.

Mr. ROCKEFELLER. Mr. President, I rise today to reintroduce legislation designed to fix the personnel laws that cover the Department of Veterans Affairs health care professionals, including registered nurses, physicians, physician assistants, dentists, podiatrists, optometrists, and dental assistants. I am proud to have the support of my colleagues, Senators WEBB, BROWN, MIKULSKI, and SANDERS.

Whenever I visit VA Medical Centers and meet with veterans, I hear wonderful stories about nurses and other VA health care professionals who work long and hard to provide care to our veterans. Too often, our health care professionals are working under real stress due to lack of funds or staff shortages. Almost 22,000 of the registered nurses caring for our veterans will be eligible to retire by 2010. Even more stunning is that 77 percent of all resignations of nurses occur within the first 5 years. This is a clear signal that more must be done to retain VA nurses and quality health care staff. Anyone involved in health care understands the important role that nurses play in the quality of care and patient satisfaction.

The goal of this bill is to support the VA health care professionals who work hard to provide quality care to our veterans. The bill seeks to return to the partnership agreement of the 1990s between VA management and workforce. Flexible scheduling and basic fairness from management are key issues that must be addressed to recruit and retain a strong workforce. Morale is important in every workplace, and particularly in a VA Medical Center.

West Virginia has four VA Medical Centers, each with a dedicated team of health care professionals. I have met with the nurses and other professionals to hear their requests for flexible scheduling. I believe that we should restore the management partnership and work hard to retain our dedicated team of health professionals for our aging veterans, and those newly returning from Iraq and Afghanistan, with both physical and mental wounds of war, that deserve experienced VA care.

(excluding a crop insurance pilot program under that Act) for the next insurance year for which crop insurance is available to the eligible producers on the farm at a level of coverage equal to 70 percent or more of the recorded or appraised average yield indemnified at 100 percent of the expected market price, or an equivalent coverage; and

“(II) in the case of each noninsurable commodity of the eligible producers on the farm, agree to file the required paperwork, and pay the administrative fee by the applicable State filing deadline, for the noninsured crop assistance program for the 2009 crop year.

“(B) AMOUNT OF ASSISTANCE.—Eligible producers on a farm that meet the requirements of subparagraph (A) shall be eligible to receive assistance under this section as if the eligible producers on the farm—

“(i) in the case of each insurable commodity of the eligible producers on the farm, had obtained a policy or plan of insurance for the 2008 crop year at a level of coverage not to exceed 70 percent or more of the recorded or appraised average yield indemnified at 100 percent of the expected market price, or an equivalent coverage; and

“(ii) in the case of each noninsurable commodity of the eligible producers on the farm, had filed the required paperwork, and paid the administrative fee by the applicable State filing deadline, for the noninsured crop assistance program for the 2008 crop year, except that in determining yield under that program, the Secretary shall use a percentage that is 70 percent.

“(C) EQUITABLE RELIEF.—Except as provided in subparagraph (D), eligible producers on a farm that met the requirements of paragraph (1) before the deadline described in paragraph (4)(A) and received, or are eligible to receive, a disaster assistance payment under this section for a production loss during the 2008 crop year shall be eligible to receive an additional amount equal to the greater of—

“(i) the amount that would have been calculated under subparagraph (B) if the eligible producers on the farm had paid the appropriate fee under that subparagraph; or

“(ii) the amount that would have been calculated under subparagraph (A) of subsection (b)(3) if—

“(I) in clause (i) of that subparagraph, ‘120 percent’ is substituted for ‘115 percent’; and “(II) in clause (ii) of that subparagraph, ‘125’ is substituted for ‘120 percent’.

“(D) LIMITATION.—For amounts made available under this paragraph, the Secretary may make such adjustments as are necessary to ensure that no producer receives a payment under this paragraph for an amount in excess of the assistance received by a similarly situated producer that had purchased the same or higher level of crop insurance prior to the date of enactment of this paragraph.

“(E) AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY.—The Secretary may provide such additional assistance as the Secretary considers appropriate to provide equitable treatment for eligible producers on a farm that suffered production losses in the 2008 crop year that result in multiyear production losses, as determined by the Secretary.

“(F) LACK OF ACCESS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the Secretary may provide assistance under this section to eligible producers on a farm that—“(i) suffered a production loss due to a natural cause during the 2008 crop year; and

“(ii) as determined by the Secretary—

“(I)(aa) except as provided in item (bb), lack access to a policy or plan of insurance under subtitle A; or

“(bb) do not qualify for a written agreement because 1 or more farming practices, which the Secretary has determined are good farming practices, of the eligible producers on the farm differ significantly from the farming practices used by producers of the same crop in other regions of the United States; and

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISION

SEC. 1002. PAYMENTS TO ELIGIBLE PERSONS WHO SERVED IN THE UNITED STATES ARMED FORCES IN THE FAR EAST DURING WORLD WAR II. (a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The Philippine islands became a United States possession in 1898 when they were ceded from Spain following the Spanish-American War.

(2) During World War II, Filipinos served in a variety of units, some of which came under the direct control of the United States Armed Forces.

(3) The regular Philippine Scouts, the new Philippine Scouts, the Guerilla Services, and more than 100,000 members of the Philippine Commonwealth Army were called into the service of the United States Armed Forces of the Far East on July 26, 1941, by an executive order of President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

(4) Even after hostilities had ceased, wartime service of the new Philippine Scouts continued as a matter of law until the end of 1946, and the force gradually disbanded and was disestablished in 1950.

(5) Filipino veterans who were granted benefits prior to the enactment of the so-called Rescissions Acts of 1946 (Public Laws 79-301 and 79-391) currently receive full benefits under laws administered by the Secretary of Veterans Affairs, but under section 107 of title 38, United States Code, the service of certain other Filipino veterans is deemed not to be active service for purposes of such laws.

(6) These other Filipino veterans only receive certain benefits under title 38, United States Code, and, depending on where they legally reside, are paid such benefit amounts at reduced rates.

(7) The benefits such veterans receive include service-connected compensation benefits paid under chapter 11 of title 38, United States Code, dependency indemnity compensation survivor benefits paid under chapter 13 of title 38, United States Code, and burial benefits under chapters 23 and 24 of title 38, United States Code, and such benefits are paid to beneficiaries at the rate of $0.50 per dollar authorized, unless they lawfully reside in the United States.

(8) Dependents' educational assistance under chapter 35 of title 38, United States Code, is also payable for the dependents of such veterans at the rate of $0.50 per dollar authorized, regardless of the veterans' residency.

(2) TREASURY REGULATORY AUTHORITY.—It is the intent of Congress in providing the broadband Internet access credit under section 48D of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (as added by this section) to provide incentives for the purchase, installation, and connection of equipment and facilities offering expanded broadband access to the Internet for users in certain low income and rural areas of the United States, as well as to residential users nationwide, in a manner that maintains competitive neutrality among the various classes of providers of broadband services. Accordingly, the Secretary of the Treasury shall prescribe such regulations as may be necessary or appropriate to carry out the purposes of section 48D of such Code, including—

SEC. 1281. CLARIFICATION OF REGULATIONS RELATED TO LIMITATIONS ON CERTAIN BUILT-IN LOSSES FOLLOWING AN OWNERSHIP CHANGE.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds as follows:

(1) The delegation of authority to the Secretary of the Treasury under section 382(m) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 does not authorize the Secretary to provide exemptions or special rules that are restricted to particular industries or classes of taxpayers.

(2) Internal Revenue Service Notice 2008–83 is inconsistent with the congressional intent in enacting such section 382(m).

(3) The legal authority to prescribe Internal Revenue Service Notice 2008–83 is doubtful.

(4) However, as taxpayers should generally be able to rely on guidance issued by the Secretary of the Treasury legislation is necessary to clarify the force and effect of Internal Revenue Service Notice 2008–83 and restore the proper application under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 of the limitation on built-in losses following an ownership change of a bank.

(b) DETERMINATION OF FORCE AND EFFECT OF INTERNAL REVENUE SERVICE NOTICE 2008–83 EXEMPTING BANKS FROM LIMITATION ON CERTAIN BUILT-IN LOSSES FOLLOWING OWNERSHIP CHANGE.—

(B) shall have no force or effect with respect to any ownership change after such date.

(2) BINDING CONTRACTS.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), Internal Revenue Service Notice 2008–83 shall have the force and effect of law with respect to any ownership change (as so defined) which occurs after January 16, 2009, if such change—

(A) is pursuant to a written binding contract entered into on or before such date, or

(B) is pursuant to a written agreement entered into on or before such date and such agreement was described on or before such date in a public announcement or in a filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission required by reason of such ownership change.

Any State which is a party to an agreement under this section may, upon providing 30 days’ written notice to the Secretary, terminate such agreement.

(b) PROVISIONS OF AGREEMENT.—

(1) ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION.—Any agreement under this section shall provide that the State agency of the State will make payments of regular compensation to individuals in amounts and to the extent that they would be determined if the State law of the State were applied, with respect to any week for which the individual is (disregarding this section) otherwise entitled under the State law to receive regular compensation, as if such State law had been modified in a manner such that the amount of regular compensation (including dependents’ allowances) payable for any week shall be equal to the amount determined under the State law (before the application of this paragraph) plus an additional $25.

(2) ALLOWABLE METHODS OF PAYMENT.—Any additional compensation provided for in accordance with paragraph (1) shall be payable either—

(A) as an amount which is paid at the same time and in the same manner as any regular compensation otherwise payable for the week involved; or

(B) at the option of the State, by payments which are made separately from, but on the same weekly basis as, any regular compensation otherwise payable.

(c) NONREDUCTION RULE.—An agreement under this section shall not apply (or shall cease to apply) with respect to a State upon a determination by the Secretary that the method governing the computation of regular compensation under the State law of that State has been modified in a manner such that—

(1) the average weekly benefit amount of regular compensation which will be payable during the period of the agreement (determined disregarding any additional amounts attributable to the modification described in subsection (b)(1)) will be less than

(2) the average weekly benefit amount of regular compensation which would otherwise have been payable during such period under the State law, as in effect on December 31, 2008.

(d) PAYMENTS TO STATES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—

(A) FULL REIMBURSEMENT.—There shall be paid to each State which has entered into an agreement under this section an amount equal to 100 percent of—

(i) the total amount of additional compensation (as described in subsection (b)(1)) paid to individuals by the State pursuant to such agreement; and

(ii) any additional administrative expenses incurred by the State by reason of such agreement (as determined by the Secretary).

(B) TERMS OF PAYMENTS.—Sums payable to any State by reason of such State's having an agreement under this section shall be payable, either in advance or by way of reimbursement (as determined by the Secretary), in such amounts as the Secretary estimates the State will be entitled to receive under this section for each calendar month, reduced or increased, as the case may be, by any amount by which the Secretary finds that his estimates for any prior calendar month were greater or less than the amounts which should have been paid to the State. Such estimates may be made on the basis of such statistical, sampling, or other method as may be agreed upon by the Secretary and the State agency of the State involved.

(2) CERTIFICATIONS.—The Secretary shall from time to time certify to the Secretary of the Treasury for payment to each State the sums payable to such State under this section.

(3) APPROPRIATION.—There are appropriated from the general fund of the Treasury, without fiscal year limitation, such sums as may be necessary for purposes of this subsection.

(g) APPLICATION TO OTHER UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Each agreement under this section shall include provisions to provide that the purposes of the preceding provisions of this section shall be applied with respect to unemployment benefits described in subsection (i)(3) to the same extent and in the same manner as if those benefits were regular compensation.

(2) ELIGIBILITY AND TERMINATION RULES.—Additional compensation (as described in subsection (b)(1))—

(A) shall not be payable, pursuant to this subsection, with respect to any unemployment benefits described in subsection (i)(3) for any week beginning on or after the date specified in subsection (e)(1)(B), except in the case of an individual who was eligible to receive additional compensation (as so described) in connection with any regular compensation or any unemployment benefits described in subsection (i)(3) for any period of unemployment ending before such date; and

(B) shall in no event be payable for any week beginning after the date specified in subsection (e)(3).

(h) DISREGARD OF ADDITIONAL COMPENSATION FOR PURPOSES OF MEDICAID AND SCHIP.—A State that enters into an agreement under this section shall disregard the monthly equivalent of $25 per week for any individual who receives additional compensation under subsection (b)(1) in considering the amount of income of the individual for any purposes under the Medicaid program under title XIX of the Social Security Act and the State Children's Health Insurance Program under title XXI of such Act.

(i) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this section—

(1) the terms "compensation", "regular compensation", "benefit year", "State", "State agency", "State law", and "week" have the respective meanings given such terms under section 205 of the Federal-State Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1970 (26 U.S.C. 3304 note);

(2) the term "emergency unemployment compensation" means emergency unemployment compensation under title IV of the Supplemental Appropriations Act, 2008 (Public Law 110-252; 122 Stat. 2353); and

(3) any reference to unemployment benefits described in this paragraph shall be considered to refer to—

(A) extended compensation (as defined by section 205 of the Federal-State Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1970); and

(B) unemployment compensation (as defined by section 85(b) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986) provided under any program administered by a State under an agreement with the Secretary.

SEC. 2003. UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION MODERNIZATION.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 903 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1103) is amended by adding at the end the following:

"Special Transfers for Modernization

"(f)(1)(A) In addition to any other amounts, the Secretary of Labor shall provide for the making of unemployment compensation modernization incentive payments (hereinafter 'incentive payments') to the accounts of the States in the Unemployment Trust Fund, by transfer from amounts reserved for that purpose in the Federal unemployment account, in accordance with succeeding provisions of this subsection.

"(B) The maximum incentive payment allowable under this subsection with respect to any State shall, as determined by the Secretary of Labor, be equal to the amount obtained by multiplying $7,000,000,000 by the same ratio as would apply under subsection (a)(2)(B) for purposes of determining such State's share of any excess amount (as described in subsection (a)(1)) that would have been subject to transfer to State accounts, as of October 1, 2008, under the provisions of subsection (a).

"(C) Of the maximum incentive payment determined under subparagraph (B) with respect to a State—

"(i) one-third shall be transferred to the account of such State upon a certification under paragraph (4)(B) that the State law of such State meets the requirements of paragraph (2); and

"(ii) the remainder shall be transferred to the account of such State upon a certification under paragraph (4)(B) that the State law of such State meets the requirements of paragraph (3).

"(2) The State law of a State meets the requirements of this paragraph if such State law—

"(A) uses a base period that includes the most recently completed calendar quarter before the start of the benefit year for purposes of determining eligibility for unemployment compensation; or

"(B) provides that, in the case of an individual who would not otherwise be eligible for unemployment compensation under the State law because of the use of a base period that does not include the most recently completed calendar quarter before the start of the benefit year, eligibility shall be determined using a base period that includes such calendar quarter.

"(3) The State law of a State meets the requirements of this paragraph if such State law includes provisions to carry out at least 2 of the following subparagraphs:

"(A) An individual shall not be denied regular unemployment compensation under any State law provisions relating to availability for work, active search for work, or refusal to accept work, solely because such individual is seeking only part-time (and not full-time) work, except that the State law provisions carrying out this subparagraph may exclude an individual if a majority of the weeks of work in such individual's base period do not include part-time work.

"(B) An individual shall not be disqualified from regular unemployment compensation for separating from employment if that separation is for any compelling family reason. For purposes of this subparagraph, the term 'compelling family reason' means the following:

"(i) Domestic violence, verified by such reasonable and confidential documentation as the State law may require, which causes the individual reasonably to believe that such individual's continued employment would jeopardize the safety of the individual or of any member of the individual's immediate family (as defined by the Secretary of Labor).

"(ii) The illness or disability of a member of the individual's immediate family (as defined by the Secretary of Labor).

"(iii) The need for the individual to accompany such individual's spouse—

"(I) to a place from which it is impractical for such individual to commute; and

"(II) due to a change in location of the spouse's employment.

"(C) Weekly unemployment compensation is payable under this subparagraph to any individual who is unemployed (as determined under the State unemployment compensation law), has exhausted all rights to regular unemployment compensation under the State law, and is enrolled and making satisfactory progress in a State-approved training program or in a job training program authorized under the Workforce Investment Act of 1998. Such programs shall prepare individuals who have been separated from a declining occupation, or who have been involuntarily and indefinitely separated from employment as a result of a permanent reduction of operations at the individual's place of employment, for entry into a high-demand occupation. The amount of unemployment compensation payable under this subparagraph to an individual for a week of unemployment shall be equal to the individual's average weekly benefit amount (including dependents' allowances) for the most recent benefit year, and the total amount of unemployment compensation payable under this subparagraph to any individual shall be equal to at least 26 times the individual's average weekly benefit amount (including dependents' allowances) for the most recent benefit year.

"(D) Dependents' allowances are provided, in the case of any individual who is entitled to receive regular unemployment compensation and who has any dependents (as defined by State law), in an amount equal to at least $15 per dependent per week, subject to any aggregate limitation on such allowances which the State law may establish (but which aggregate limitation on the total allowance for dependents paid to an individual may not be less than $50 for each week of unemployment or 50 percent of the individual's weekly benefit amount for the benefit year, whichever is less).

"(4)(A) Any State seeking an incentive payment under this subsection shall submit an application therefor at such time, in such manner, and complete with such information as the Secretary of Labor may within 60 days after the date of the enactment of this subsection prescribe (whether by regulation or otherwise), including information relating to compliance with the requirements of paragraph (2) or (3), as well as how the State intends to use the incentive payment to improve or strengthen the State's unemployment compensation program. The Secretary of Labor shall, within 30 days after receiving a complete application, notify the State agency of the State of the Secretary's findings with respect to the requirements of paragraph (2) or (3) (or both).

"(B)(i) If the Secretary of Labor finds that the State law provisions (disregarding any State law provisions which are not then currently in effect as permanent law or which are subject to discontinuation) meet the requirements of paragraph (2) or (3), as the case may be, the Secretary of Labor shall thereupon make a certification to that effect to the Secretary of the Treasury, together with a certification as to the amount of the incentive payment to be transferred to the State account pursuant to that finding. The Secretary of the Treasury shall make the appropriate transfer within 7 days after receiving such certification.

"(ii) For purposes of clause (i), State law provisions which are to take effect within 12 months after the date of their certification under this subparagraph shall be considered to be in effect as of the date of such certification.

"(C)(i) No certification of compliance with the requirements of paragraph (2) or (3) may be made with respect to any State whose State law is not otherwise eligible for certification under section 303 or approvable under section 3304 of the Federal Unemployment Tax Act.

"(ii) No certification of compliance with the requirements of paragraph (3) may be made with respect to any State whose State law is not in compliance with the requirements of paragraph (2).

"(iii) No application under subparagraph (A) may be considered if submitted before the date of the enactment of this subsection or after the latest date necessary (as specified by the Secretary of Labor) to ensure that all incentive payments under this subsection are made before October 1, 2010. In the case of a State in which the first day of the first regularly scheduled session of the State legislature beginning after the date of enactment of this subsection begins after December 31, 2010, the preceding sentence shall be applied by substituting 'October 1, 2011' for 'October 1, 2010'.

"(5)(A) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), any amount transferred to the account of a State under this subsection may be used by such State only in the payment of cash benefits to individuals with respect to their unemployment (including for dependents' allowances and for unemployment compensation under paragraph (3)(C)), exclusive of expenses of administration.

"(B) A State may, subject to the same conditions as set forth in subsection (c)(2) (excluding subparagraph (B) thereof, and deeming the reference to 'subsections (a) and (b)' in subparagraph (D) thereof to include this subsection), use any amount transferred to the account of such State under this subsection for the administration of its unemployment compensation law and public employment offices.

"(6) Out of any money in the Federal unemployment account not otherwise appropriated, the Secretary of the Treasury shall reserve $7,000,000,000 for incentive payments under this subsection. Any amount so reserved shall not be taken into account for purposes of any determination under section 902, 910, or 1203 of the amount in the Federal unemployment account as of any given time. Any amount so reserved for which the Secretary of the Treasury has not received a certification under paragraph (4)(B) by the deadline described in paragraph (4)(C)(iii) shall, upon the close of fiscal year 2011, become unrestricted as to use as part of the Federal unemployment account.

"(7) For purposes of this subsection, the terms 'benefit year', 'base period', and 'week' have the respective meanings given such terms under section 205 of the Federal-State Extended Unemployment Compensation Act of 1970 (26 U.S.C. 3304 note).

"Special Transfer in Fiscal Year 2009 for Administration

"(g)(1) In addition to any other amounts, the Secretary of the Treasury shall transfer from the employment security administration account to the account of each State in the Unemployment Trust Fund, within 30 days after the date of the enactment of this subsection, the amount determined with respect to such State under paragraph (2).

"(2) The amount to be transferred under this subsection to a State account shall (as determined by the Secretary of Labor and certified by such Secretary to the Secretary of the Treasury) be equal to the amount obtained by multiplying $500,000,000 by the same ratio as determined under subsection (f)(1)(B) with respect to such State.

"(3) Any amount transferred to the account of a State as a result of the enactment of this subsection may be used by the State agency of such State only in the payment of expenses incurred by it for—

"(A) the administration of the provisions of its State law carrying out the purposes of subsection (f)(2) or any subparagraph of subsection (f)(3);

"(B) improved outreach to individuals who might be eligible for regular unemployment compensation by virtue of any provisions of the State law which are described in subparagraph (A);

"(C) the improvement of unemployment benefit and unemployment tax operations, including responding to increased demand for unemployment compensation; and

"(D) staff-assisted reemployment services for unemployment compensation claimants."

(b) REGULATIONS.—The Secretary of Labor may prescribe any regulations, operating instructions, or other guidance necessary to carry out the amendment made by subsection (a).

"(i) any interest payment otherwise due from a State under this subsection during such period shall be deemed to have been made by the State; and

"(ii) no interest shall accrue on any advance or advances made under section 1201 to a State during such period.

"(B) The provisions of subparagraph (A) shall have no effect on the requirement for interest payments under this subsection after the period described in such subparagraph or on the accrual of interest under this subsection after such period."

“(II) CONTINUED APPLICATION OF STATE REQUIREMENT TO MAKE SUPPLEMENTAL PAYMENT.—Nothing in subclause (I) or subparagraph (A) or (B) shall be construed as waiving the application of section 1902(bb)(5) regarding the State plan requirement to make any supplemental payment due under such section to a federally-qualified health center for services furnished by such center to an enrollee of a managed care entity (regardless of whether the federally-qualified health center is or is not a participating provider with the entity).

“(D) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this paragraph shall be construed as waiving the application of section 1902(a)(30)(A) (relating to application of standards to assure that payments are consistent with efficiency, economy, and quality of care).

“(3) SPECIAL RULE FOR ENROLLMENT FOR INDIAN MANAGED CARE ENTITIES.—Regarding the application of a Medicaid managed care program to Indian Medicaid managed care entities, an Indian Medicaid managed care entity may restrict enrollment under such program to Indians and to members of specific Tribes in the same manner as Indian Health Programs may restrict the delivery of services to such Indians and tribal members.

“(o) INCENTIVES FOR ADOPTION AND MEANINGFUL USE OF CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY.—

“(1) INCENTIVE PAYMENTS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to clause (ii) and the succeeding subparagraphs of this paragraph, with respect to covered professional services furnished by an eligible professional during a payment year (as defined in subparagraph (E)), if the eligible professional is a meaningful EHR user (as determined under paragraph (2)) for the reporting period with respect to such year, in addition to the amount otherwise paid under this part, there also shall be paid to the eligible professional (or to an employer or facility in the cases described in clause (A) of section 1842(b)(6)), from the Federal Supplementary Medical Insurance Trust Fund established under section 1841 an amount equal to 75 percent of the Secretary’s estimate (based on claims submitted not later than 2 months after the end of the payment year) of the allowed charges under this part for all such covered professional services furnished by the eligible professional during such year.

“(ii) NO INCENTIVE PAYMENTS WITH RESPECT TO YEARS AFTER 2015.—No incentive payments may be made under this subsection with respect to a year after 2015.

“(B) LIMITATIONS ON AMOUNTS OF INCENTIVE PAYMENTS.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—In no case shall the amount of the incentive payment provided under this paragraph for an eligible professional for a payment year exceed the applicable amount specified under this subparagraph with respect to such eligible professional and such year.

“(ii) AMOUNT.—Subject to clauses (iii) through (v), the applicable amount specified in this subparagraph for an eligible professional is as follows:

“(I) For the first payment year for such professional, $15,000 (or, if the first payment year for such eligible professional is 2011 or 2012, $18,000).

“(II) For the second payment year for such professional, $12,000.

“(III) For the third payment year for such professional, $8,000.

“(IV) For the fourth payment year for such professional, $4,000.

“(V) For the fifth payment year for such professional, $2,000.

“(VI) For any succeeding payment year for such professional, $0.

“(iii) PHASE DOWN FOR ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONALS FIRST ADOPTING EHR IN 2014.—If the first payment year for an eligible professional is 2014, then the amount specified in this subparagraph for a payment year for such professional is the same as the amount specified in clause (ii) for such payment year for an eligible professional whose first payment year is 2013.

“(iv) INCREASE FOR CERTAIN RURAL ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONALS.—In the case of an eligible professional who predominantly furnishes services under this part in a rural area that is designated by the Secretary (under section 332(a)(1)(A) of the Public Health Service Act) as a health professional shortage area, the amount that would otherwise apply for a payment year for such professional under subclauses (I) through (V) of clause (ii) shall be increased by 25 percent. In implementing the preceding sentence, the Secretary may, as determined appropriate, apply provisions of subsections (m) and (u) of section 1833 in a similar manner as such provisions apply under such subsection.

“(v) NO INCENTIVE PAYMENT IF FIRST ADOPTING AFTER 2014.—If the first payment year for an eligible professional is after 2014 then the applicable amount specified in this subparagraph for such professional for such year and any subsequent year shall be $0.

“(D) PAYMENT.—

“(i) FORM OF PAYMENT.—The payment under this paragraph may be in the form of a single consolidated payment or in the form of such periodic installments as the Secretary may specify.

“(ii) COORDINATION OF APPLICATION OF LIMITATION FOR PROFESSIONALS IN DIFFERENT PRACTICES.—In the case of an eligible professional furnishing covered professional services in more than one practice (as specified by the Secretary), the Secretary shall establish rules to coordinate the incentive payments, including the application of the limitation on amounts of such incentive payments under this paragraph, among such practices.

“(iii) COORDINATION WITH MEDICAID.—The Secretary shall seek, to the maximum extent practicable, to avoid duplicative requirements from Federal and State Governments to demonstrate meaningful use of certified EHR technology under this title and title XIX. In doing so, the Secretary may deem satisfaction of State requirements for such meaningful use for a payment year under title XIX to be sufficient to qualify as meaningful use under this subsection and subsection (a)(7) and vice versa. The Secretary may also adjust the reporting periods under such title and such subsections in order to carry out this clause.

“(E) PAYMENT YEAR DEFINED.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘payment year’ means a year beginning with 2011.

“(ii) FIRST, SECOND, ETC. PAYMENT YEAR.—The term ‘first payment year’ means, with respect to covered professional services furnished by an eligible professional, the first year for which an incentive payment is made for such services under this subsection. The terms ‘second payment year’, ‘third payment year’, ‘fourth payment year’, and ‘fifth payment year’ mean, with respect to covered professional services furnished by such eligible professional, each successive year immediately following the first payment year for such professional.

“(2) MEANINGFUL EHR USER.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of paragraph (1), an eligible professional shall be treated as a meaningful EHR user for a reporting period for a payment year (or, for purposes of subsection (a)(7), for a reporting period under such subsection for a year) if each of the following requirements is met:

“(i) MEANINGFUL USE OF CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY.—The eligible professional demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary, in accordance with subparagraph (C)(i), that during such period the professional is using certified EHR technology in a meaningful manner, which shall include the use of electronic prescribing as determined to be appropriate by the Secretary.

“(ii) INFORMATION EXCHANGE.—The eligible professional demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary, in accordance with subparagraph (C)(i), that during such period such certified EHR technology is connected in a manner that provides, in accordance with law and standards applicable to the exchange of information, for the electronic exchange of health information to improve the quality of health care, such as promoting care coordination.

“(iii) REPORTING ON MEASURES USING EHR.—Subject to subparagraph (B)(ii) and using such certified EHR technology, the eligible professional submits information for such period, in a form and manner specified by the Secretary, on such clinical quality measures and such other measures as selected by the Secretary under subparagraph (B)(i).

The Secretary may provide for the use of alternative means for meeting the requirements of clauses (i), (ii), and (iii) in the case of an eligible professional furnishing covered professional services in a group practice (as defined by the Secretary). The Secretary shall seek to improve the use of electronic health records and health care quality over time by requiring more stringent measures of meaningful use selected under this paragraph.

“(B) REPORTING ON MEASURES.—

“(i) SELECTION.—The Secretary shall select measures for purposes of subparagraph (A)(iii) but only consistent with the following:

“(I) The Secretary shall provide preference to clinical quality measures that have been endorsed by the entity with a contract with the Secretary under section 1890(a).

“(II) Prior to any measure being selected under this subparagraph, the Secretary shall publish in the Federal Register such measure and provide for a period of public comment on such measure.

“(ii) LIMITATION.—The Secretary may not require the electronic reporting of information on clinical quality measures under subparagraph (A)(iii) unless the Secretary has the capacity to accept the information electronically, which may be on a pilot basis.

“(iii) COORDINATION OF REPORTING OF INFORMATION.—In selecting such measures, and in establishing the form and manner for reporting measures under subparagraph (A)(iii), the Secretary shall seek to avoid redundant or duplicative reporting otherwise required, including reporting under subsection (k)(2)(C).

“(C) DEMONSTRATION OF MEANINGFUL USE OF CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY AND INFORMATION EXCHANGE.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—A professional may satisfy the demonstration requirement of clauses (i) and (ii) of subparagraph (A) through means specified by the Secretary, which may include—

“(I) an attestation;

“(II) the submission of claims with appropriate coding (such as a code indicating that a patient encounter was documented using certified EHR technology);

“(III) a survey response;

“(IV) reporting under subparagraph (A)(iii); and

“(V) other means specified by the Secretary.

“(ii) USE OF PART D DATA.—Notwithstanding sections 1860D-15(d)(2)(B) and 1860D-15(f)(2), the Secretary may use data regarding drug claims submitted for purposes of section 1860D-15 that are necessary for purposes of subparagraph (A).

“(3) APPLICATION.—

“(A) PHYSICIAN REPORTING SYSTEM RULES.—Paragraphs (5), (6), and (8) of subsection (k) shall apply for purposes of this subsection in the same manner as they apply for purposes of such subsection.

“(B) COORDINATION WITH OTHER PAYMENTS.—The provisions of this subsection shall not be taken into account in applying the provisions of subsection (m) of this section and of section 1833(m) and any payment under such provisions shall not be taken into account in computing allowable charges under this subsection.

“(C) LIMITATIONS ON REVIEW.—There shall be no administrative or judicial review under section 1869, section 1878, or otherwise of the determination of any incentive payment under this subsection and the payment adjustment under subsection (a)(7), including the determination of a meaningful EHR user under paragraph (2), a limitation under paragraph (1)(B), and the exception under subsection (a)(7)(B).

“(D) POSTING ON WEBSITE.—The Secretary shall post on the Internet website of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, in an easily understandable format, a list of the names, business addresses, and business phone numbers of the eligible professionals who are meaningful EHR users and, as determined appropriate by the Secretary, of group practices receiving incentive payments under paragraph (1).

“(4) CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY DEFINED.—For purposes of this section, the term ‘certified EHR technology’ means a qualified electronic health record (as defined in 3000(13) of the Public Health Service Act) that is certified pursuant to section 3001(c)(5) of such Act as meeting standards adopted under section 3004 of such Act that are applicable to the type of record involved (as determined by the Secretary, such as an ambulatory electronic health record for office-based physicians or an inpatient hospital electronic health record for hospitals).

“(5) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this subsection:

“(A) COVERED PROFESSIONAL SERVICES.—The term ‘covered professional services’ has the meaning given such term in subsection (k)(3).

“(B) ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONAL.—The term ‘eligible professional’ means a physician, as defined in section 1861(r).

“(C) REPORTING PERIOD.—The term ‘reporting period’ means any period (or periods), with respect to a payment year, as specified by the Secretary.”

“(7) INCENTIVES FOR MEANINGFUL USE OF CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY.—

“(A) ADJUSTMENT.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraphs (B) and (D), with respect to covered professional services furnished by an eligible professional during 2015 or any subsequent payment year, if the eligible professional is not a meaningful EHR user (as determined under subsection (o)(2)) for a reporting period for the year, the fee schedule amount for such services furnished by such professional during the year (including the fee schedule amount for purposes of determining a payment based on such amount) shall be equal to the applicable percent of the fee schedule amount that would otherwise apply to such services under this subsection (determined after application of paragraph (3) but without regard to this paragraph).

“(ii) APPLICABLE PERCENT.—Subject to clause (iii), for purposes of clause (i), the term ‘applicable percent’ means—

“(I) for 2015, 99 percent (or, in the case of an eligible professional who was subject to the application of the payment adjustment under section 1848(a)(5) for 2014, 98 percent);

“(II) for 2016, 98 percent; and “(III) for 2017 and each subsequent year, 97 percent.

“(iii) AUTHORITY TO DECREASE APPLICABLE PERCENTAGE FOR 2018 AND SUBSEQUENT YEARS.—For 2018 and each subsequent year, if the Secretary finds that the proportion of eligible professionals who are meaningful EHR users (as determined under subsection (o)(2)) is less than 75 percent, the applicable percent shall be decreased by 1 percentage point from the applicable percent in the preceding year, but in no case shall the applicable percent be less than 95 percent.

“(B) SIGNIFICANT HARDSHIP EXCEPTION.—The Secretary may, on a case-by-case basis, exempt an eligible professional from the application of the payment adjustment under subparagraph (A) if the Secretary determines, subject to annual renewal, that compliance with the requirement for being a meaningful EHR user would result in a significant hardship, such as in the case of an eligible professional who practices in a rural area without sufficient Internet access. In no case may an eligible professional be granted an exemption under this subparagraph for more than 5 years.

“(C) APPLICATION OF PHYSICIAN REPORTING SYSTEM RULES.—Paragraphs (5), (6), and (8) of subsection (k) shall apply for purposes of this paragraph in the same manner as they apply for purposes of such subsection.

“(D) NON-APPLICATION TO HOSPITAL-BASED ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONALS.—No payment adjustment may be made under subparagraph (A) in the case of hospital-based eligible professionals (as defined in subsection (o)(1)(C)(ii)).

“(E) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this paragraph:

“(i) COVERED PROFESSIONAL SERVICES.—The term ‘covered professional services’ has the meaning given such term in subsection (k)(3).

“(ii) ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONAL.—The term ‘eligible professional’ means a physician, as defined in section 1861(r).

“(iii) REPORTING PERIOD.—The term ‘reporting period’ means, with respect to a year, a period specified by the Secretary.”

(c) APPLICATION TO CERTAIN MA-AFFILIATED ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONALS.—Section 1853 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395w-23) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“(1) APPLICATION OF ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONAL INCENTIVES FOR CERTAIN MA ORGANIZATIONS FOR ADOPTION AND MEANINGFUL USE OF CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraphs (3) and (4), in the case of a qualifying MA organization, the provisions of sections 1848(o) and 1848(a)(7) shall apply with respect to eligible professionals described in paragraph (2) of the organization who the organization attests under paragraph (6) to be meaningful EHR users in a similar manner as they apply to eligible professionals under such sections. Incentive payments under paragraph (3) shall be made to and payment adjustments under paragraph (4) shall apply to such qualifying organizations.

“(2) ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONAL DESCRIBED.—With respect to a qualifying MA organization, an eligible professional described in this paragraph is an eligible professional (as defined for purposes of section 1848(o)) who—

“(A)(i) is employed by the organization; or “(ii) is employed by, or is a partner of, an entity that through contract with the organization furnishes at least 80 percent of the entity’s patient care services to enrollees of such organization; and

“(II) furnishes at least 75 percent of the professional services of the eligible professional to enrollees of the organization; and

“(B) furnishes, on average, at least 20 hours per week of patient care services.

“(3) ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONAL INCENTIVE PAYMENTS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—In applying section 1848(o) under paragraph (1), instead of the additional payment amount under section 1848(o)(1)(A) and subject to subparagraph (B), the Secretary may substitute an amount determined by the Secretary to the extent feasible and practical to be similar to the estimated amount in the aggregate that would be payable if payment for services furnished by such professionals was payable under part B instead of this part.

“(B) AVOIDING DUPLICATION OF PAYMENTS.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—If an eligible professional described in paragraph (2) is eligible for the maximum incentive payment under section 1848(o)(1)(A) for the same payment period, the payment incentive shall be made only under such section and not under this subsection.

“(ii) METHODS.—In the case of an eligible professional described in paragraph (2) who is eligible for an incentive payment under section 1848(o)(1)(A) but is not described in clause (i) for the same payment period, the Secretary shall develop a process—

“(I) to ensure that duplicate payments are not made with respect to an eligible professional both under this subsection and under section 1848(o)(1)(A); and

“(II) to collect data from Medicare Advantage organizations to ensure against such duplicate payments.

“(C) FIXED SCHEDULE FOR APPLICATION OF LIMITATION ON INCENTIVE PAYMENTS FOR ALL ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONALS.—In applying section 1848(o)(1)(B)(ii) under subparagraph (A), in accordance with rules specified by the Secretary, a qualifying MA organization shall specify a year (not earlier than 2011) that shall be treated as the first payment year for all eligible professionals with respect to such organization.

“(D) CAP FOR ECONOMIES OF SCALE.—In no case may an incentive payment be made under this subsection, including under subparagraph (A), to a qualifying MA organization with respect to more than 5,000 eligible professionals of the organization.

“(4) PAYMENT ADJUSTMENT.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—In applying section 1848(a)(7) under paragraph (1), instead of the payment adjustment being an applicable percent of the fee schedule amount for a year under such section, subject to subparagraph (D), the payment adjustment under paragraph (1) shall be equal to the percent specified in subparagraph (B) for such year of the payment amount otherwise provided under this section for such year.

“(B) SPECIFIED PERCENT.—The percent specified under this subparagraph for a year is 100 percent minus a number of percentage points equal to the product of—

“(i) a percentage equal to 100 percent reduced by the applicable percent (under section 1848(a)(7)(A)(ii)) for the year; and

“(ii) a percentage equal to the Secretary’s estimate of the proportion for the year, of the expenditures under parts A and B that are not attributable to this part, that are attributable to expenditures for physicians’ services.

“(C) APPLICATION OF PAYMENT ADJUSTMENT.—In the case that a qualifying MA organization attests that not all eligible professionals of the organization are meaningful EHR users with respect to a year, the Secretary shall apply the payment adjustment under this paragraph based on the proportion of all eligible professionals of the organization that are not meaningful EHR users for such year. If the number of eligible professionals of the organization that are not meaningful EHR users for such year exceeds 5,000, such number shall be reduced to 5,000 for purposes of determining the proportion under the preceding sentence.

“(5) QUALIFYING MA ORGANIZATION DEFINED.—In this subsection and subsection (m), the term ‘qualifying MA organization’ means a Medicare Advantage organization that is organized as a health maintenance organization (as defined in section 2791(b)(3) of the Public Health Service Act).

“(6) MEANINGFUL EHR USER ATTESTATION.—For purposes of this subsection and subsection (m), a qualifying MA organization shall submit an attestation, in a form and manner specified by the Secretary which may include the submission of such attestation as part of submission of the initial bid under section 1854(a)(1)(A)(iv), identifying—

“(A) whether each eligible professional described in paragraph (2), with respect to such organization is a meaningful EHR user (as defined in section 1848(o)(2)) for a year specified by the Secretary; and “(B) whether each eligible hospital described in subsection (m)(1), with respect to such organization, is a meaningful EHR user (as defined in section 1886(n)(3)) for an applicable period specified by the Secretary.

“(7) POSTING ON WEBSITE.—The Secretary shall post on the Internet website of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, in an easily understandable format, a list of the names, business addresses, and business phone numbers of—

“(A) each qualifying MA organization receiving an incentive payment under this subsection for eligible professionals of the organization; and

“(B) the eligible professionals of such organization for which such incentive payment is based.”

(d) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—Section 1853 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395w-23) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)(1)(A), by striking “and (i)” and inserting “(i), and (1)”; and

(1) Section 1848(a)(5)(A) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395w-4(a)(5)(A)) is amended—

(A) in clause (i), by striking “or any subsequent year” and inserting “, 2013, or 2014”; and

(B) in clause (ii), by striking “and each subsequent year”.

(2) Section 1848(m)(2) of such Act (42 U.S.C. 1395w-4(m)(2)) is amended—

(A) in subparagraph (A), by striking “For 2009” and inserting “Subject to subparagraph (D), for 2009”; and

(B) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

“(D) LIMITATION WITH RESPECT TO EHR INCENTIVE PAYMENTS.—The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to an eligible professional (or, in the case of a group practice under paragraph (3)(C), to the group practice) if, for the reporting period the eligible professional (or group practice) receives an incentive payment under subsection (o)(1)(A) with respect to a certified EHR technology (as defined in subsection (o)(4)) that has the capability of electronic prescribing.”

(f) PROVIDING ASSISTANCE TO ELIGIBLE PROFESSIONALS AND CERTAIN HOSPITALS.—

(2) USE OF ENTITIES WITH EXPERTISE.—To the extent practicable, the Secretary shall provide such assistance through entities that have expertise in the choice, implementation, and use of such certified EHR technology.

SEC. 4202. INCENTIVES FOR HOSPITALS.

(a) INCENTIVE PAYMENT.—Section 1886 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395ww) is amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“(n) INCENTIVES FOR ADOPTION AND MEANINGFUL USE OF CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to the succeeding provisions of this subsection, with respect to inpatient hospital services furnished by an eligible hospital during a payment year (as defined in paragraph (2)(G)), if the eligible hospital is a meaningful EHR user (as determined under paragraph (3)) for the reporting period with respect to such year, in addition to the amount otherwise paid under this section, there also shall be paid to the eligible hospital, from the Federal Hospital Insurance Trust Fund established under section 1817, an amount equal to the applicable amount specified in paragraph (2)(A) for the hospital for such payment year.

“(2) PAYMENT AMOUNT.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Subject to the succeeding subparagraphs of this paragraph, the applicable amount specified in this subparagraph for an eligible hospital for a payment year is equal to the product of the following:

“(i) INITIAL AMOUNT.—The sum of—

“(I) the base amount specified in subparagraph (B); plus

“(II) the discharge related amount specified in subparagraph (C) for a 12-month period selected by the Secretary with respect to such payment year.

“(ii) MEDICARE SHARE.—The Medicare share as specified in subparagraph (D) for the hospital for a period selected by the Secretary with respect to such payment year.

“(iii) TRANSITION FACTOR.—The transition factor specified in subparagraph (E) for the hospital for the payment year.

“(B) BASE AMOUNT.—The base amount specified in this subparagraph is $2,000,000.

“(C) DISCHARGE RELATED AMOUNT.—The discharge related amount specified in this subparagraph for a 12-month period selected by the Secretary shall be determined as the sum of the amount, based upon total discharges (regardless of any source of payment) for the period, for each discharge up to the 23,000th discharge as follows:

“(i) For the 1,150th through the 9,200th discharge, $200.

“(ii) For the 9,201st through the 13,800th discharge, 50 percent of the amount specified in clause (i).

“(iii) For the 13,801st through the 23,000th discharge, 30 percent of the amount specified in clause (i).

“(D) MEDICARE SHARE.—The Medicare share specified under this subparagraph for a hospital for a period selected by the Secretary for a payment year is equal to the fraction—

“(i) the numerator of which is the sum (for such period and with respect to the hospital) of—

“(I) the number of inpatient-bed-days (as established by the Secretary) which are attributable to individuals with respect to whom payment may be made under part A; and

“(II) the number of inpatient-bed-days (as so established) which are attributable to individuals who are enrolled with a Medicare Advantage organization under part C; and

“(ii) the denominator of which is the product of—

“(I) the total number of inpatient-bed-days with respect to the hospital during such period; and

“(II) the total amount of the hospital's charges during such period, not including any charges that are attributable to charity care (as such term is used for purposes of hospital cost reporting under this title), divided by the total amount of the hospital's charges during such period.

Insofar as the Secretary determines that data are not available on charity care necessary to calculate the portion of the formula specified in clause (ii)(II), the Secretary shall use data on uncompensated care and may adjust such data so as to be an appropriate proxy for charity care including a downward adjustment to eliminate bad debt data from uncompensated care data. In the absence of the data necessary, with respect to a hospital, for the Secretary to compute the amount described in clause (ii)(II), the amount under such clause shall be deemed to be 1. In the absence of data, with respect to a hospital, necessary to compute the amount described in clause (i)(II), the amount under such clause shall be deemed to be 0.

“(E) TRANSITION FACTOR SPECIFIED.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to clause (ii), the transition factor specified in this subparagraph for an eligible hospital for a payment year is as follows:

“(I) For the first payment year for such hospital, 1.

“(II) For the second payment year for such hospital, $\frac{3}{4}$.

“(III) For the third payment year for such hospital, $\frac{1}{2}$.

“(IV) For the fourth payment year for such hospital, $\frac{1}{4}$.

“(V) For any succeeding payment year for such hospital, 0.

“(ii) PHASE DOWN FOR ELIGIBLE HOSPITALS FIRST ADOPTING EHR AFTER 2013.—If the first payment year for an eligible hospital is after 2013, then the transition factor specified in this subparagraph for a payment year for such hospital is the same as the amount specified in clause (i) for such payment year for an eligible hospital for which the first payment year is 2013. If the first payment year for an eligible hospital is after 2015 then the transition factor specified in this subparagraph for such hospital and for such year and any subsequent year shall be 0.

“(F) FORM OF PAYMENT.—The payment under this subsection for a payment year may be in the form of a single consolidated payment or in the form of such periodic installments as the Secretary may specify.

“(G) PAYMENT YEAR DEFINED.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of this subsection, the term ‘payment year’ means a fiscal year beginning with fiscal year 2011.

“(ii) FIRST, SECOND, ETC. PAYMENT YEAR.—The term ‘first payment year’ means, with respect to inpatient hospital services furnished by an eligible hospital, the first fiscal year for which an incentive payment is made for such services under this subsection. The terms ‘second payment year’, ‘third payment year’, and ‘fourth payment year’ mean, with respect to an eligible hospital, each successive year immediately following the first payment year for that hospital.

“(3) MEANINGFUL EHR USER.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—For purposes of paragraph (1), an eligible hospital shall be treated as a meaningful EHR user for a reporting period for a payment year (or, for purposes of subsection (b)(3)(B)(ix), for a reporting period under such subsection for a fiscal year) if each of the following requirements are met:

“(i) MEANINGFUL USE OF CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY.—The eligible hospital demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary, in accordance with subparagraph (C)(i), that during such period the hospital is using certified EHR technology in a meaningful manner.

“(ii) INFORMATION EXCHANGE.—The eligible hospital demonstrates to the satisfaction of the Secretary, in accordance with subparagraph (C)(i), that during such period such certified EHR technology is connected in a manner that provides, in accordance with law and standards applicable to the exchange of information, for the electronic exchange of health information to improve the quality of health care, such as promoting care coordination.

“(iii) REPORTING ON MEASURES USING EHR.—Subject to subparagraph (B)(ii) and using such certified EHR technology, the eligible hospital submits information for such period, in a form and manner specified by the Secretary, on such clinical quality measures and such other measures as selected by the Secretary under subparagraph (B)(i).

The Secretary shall seek to improve the use of electronic health records and health care quality over time by requiring more stringent measures of meaningful use selected under this paragraph.

“(B) REPORTING ON MEASURES.—

“(i) SELECTION.—The Secretary shall select measures for purposes of subparagraph (A)(iii) but only consistent with the following:

“(I) The Secretary shall provide preference to clinical quality measures that have been selected for purposes of applying subsection (b)(3)(B)(viii) or that have been endorsed by the entity with a contract with the Secretary under section 1890(a).

“(II) Prior to any measure (other than a clinical quality measure that has been selected for purposes of applying subsection (b)(3)(B)(viii)) being selected under this subparagraph, the Secretary shall publish in the Federal Register such measure and provide for a period of public comment on such measure.

“(ii) LIMITATIONS.—The Secretary may not require the electronic reporting of information on clinical quality measures under subparagraph (A)(iii) unless the Secretary has the capacity to accept the information electronically, which may be on a pilot basis.

“(iii) COORDINATION OF REPORTING OF INFORMATION.—In selecting such measures, and in establishing the form and manner for reporting measures under subparagraph (A)(iii), the Secretary shall seek to avoid redundant or duplicative reporting with reporting otherwise required, including reporting under subsection (b)(3)(B)(viii).

“(C) DEMONSTRATION OF MEANINGFUL USE OF CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY AND INFORMATION EXCHANGE.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—A hospital may satisfy the demonstration requirement of clauses (i) and (ii) of subparagraph (A) through means specified by the Secretary, which may include—

“(I) an attestation;

“(II) the submission of claims with appropriate coding (such as a code indicating that inpatient care was documented using certified EHR technology);

“(III) a survey response;

“(IV) reporting under subparagraph (A)(iii); and

“(V) other means specified by the Secretary.

“(ii) USE OF PART D DATA.—Notwithstanding sections 1860D–15(d)(2)(B) and 1860D–15(f)(2), the Secretary may use data regarding drug claims submitted for purposes of section 1860D–15 that are necessary for purposes of subparagraph (A).

“(4) APPLICATION.—

“(A) LIMITATIONS ON REVIEW.—There shall be no administrative or judicial review under section 1869, section 1878, or otherwise of the determination of any incentive payment under this subsection and the payment adjustment under subsection (b)(3)(B)(ix), including the determination of a meaningful EHR user under paragraph (3), determination of measures applicable to services furnished by eligible hospitals under this subsection, and the exception under subsection (b)(3)(B)(ix)(II).

“(B) POSTING ON WEBSITE.—The Secretary shall post on the Internet website of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, in an easily understandable format, a list of the names of the eligible hospitals that are meaningful EHR users under this subsection or subsection (b)(3)(B)(ix) and other relevant data as determined appropriate by the Secretary. The Secretary shall ensure that a hospital has the opportunity to review the other relevant data that are to be made public with respect to the hospital prior to such data being made public.

“(5) CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY DEFINED.—The term ‘certified EHR technology’ has the meaning given such term in section 1848(o)(4).

“(6) DEFINITIONS.—For purposes of this subsection:

“(A) ELIGIBLE HOSPITAL.—The term ‘eligible hospital’ means—

“(i) a subsection (d) hospital; and

“(ii) a critical access hospital (as defined in section 1861(mmm)(1)).

“(B) REPORTING PERIOD.—The term ‘reporting period’ means any period (or periods), with respect to a payment year, as specified by the Secretary.”

(b) INCENTIVE MARKET BASKET ADJUSTMENT.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 1886(b)(3)(B) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395ww(b)(3)(B)) is amended—

(A) in clause (viii)(I), by inserting “(or, beginning with fiscal year 2016, by one-quarter)” after “2.0 percentage points”; and

(B) by adding at the end the following new clause:

“(ix)(I) For purposes of clause (i) for fiscal year 2015 and each subsequent fiscal year, in the case of an eligible hospital (as defined in subsection (n)(6)(A)) that is not a meaningful EHR user (as defined in subsection (n)(3)) for the reporting period for such fiscal year, three-quarters of the applicable percentage increase otherwise applicable under clause (i) for such fiscal year shall be reduced by 33½ percent for fiscal year 2015, 66½ percent for fiscal year 2016, and 100 percent for fiscal year 2017 and each subsequent fiscal year. Such reduction shall apply only with respect to the fiscal year involved and the Secretary shall not take into account such reduction in computing the applicable percentage increase under clause (i) for a subsequent fiscal year.

“(II) The Secretary may, on a case-by-case basis, exempt a subsection (d) hospital from the application of subclause (I) with respect to a fiscal year if the Secretary determines, subject to annual renewal, that requiring such hospital to be a meaningful EHR user during such fiscal year would result in a significant hardship, such as in the case of a hospital in a rural area without sufficient Internet access. In no case may a hospital be granted an exemption under this subclause for more than 5 years.

“(III) For fiscal year 2015 and each subsequent fiscal year, a State in which hospitals are paid for services under section 1814(b)(3) shall adjust the payments to each subsection (d) hospital in the State that is not a meaningful EHR user (as defined in subsection (n)(3)) in a manner that is designed to result in an aggregate reduction in payments to hospitals in the State that is equivalent to the aggregate reduction that would have occurred if payments had been reduced to each subsection (d) hospital in the State in a manner comparable to the reduction under the previous provisions of this clause. The State shall report to the Secretary the methodology it will use to make the payment adjustment under the previous sentence.

“(IV) For purposes of this clause, the term ‘reporting period’ means, with respect to a fiscal year, any period (or periods), with respect to the fiscal year, as specified by the Secretary.”

(2) CRITICAL ACCESS HOSPITALS.—Section 1814(l) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395f(1)) is amended—

(A) in subparagraph (1), by striking “paragraph (2)” and inserting “paragraphs (2) and (3)”; and

(B) by adding at the end the following new paragraph:

“(3)(A) Subject to subparagraph (B), for fiscal year 2015 and each subsequent fiscal year, in the case of a critical access hospital that is not a meaningful EHR user (as defined in section 1886(n)(3)) for the reporting period for such fiscal year, paragraph (1) shall be applied by substituting the applicable percent under subparagraph (C) for the percent described in such paragraph (1).

“(B) The Secretary may, on a case-by-case basis, exempt a critical access hospital from the application of subparagraph (A) with respect to a fiscal year if the Secretary determines, subject to annual renewal, that requiring such hospital to be a meaningful EHR user during such fiscal year would result in a significant hardship, such as in the case of a hospital in a rural area without sufficient Internet access. In no case may a hospital be granted an exemption under this subparagraph for more than 5 years.

“(C) The percent described in this subparagraph is—

“(i) for fiscal year 2015, 100.66 percent;

“(ii) for fiscal year 2016, 100.33 percent; and

“(iii) for fiscal year 2017 and each subsequent fiscal year, 100 percent.”

(c) APPLICATION TO CERTAIN MA-AFFILIATED ELIGIBLE HOSPITALS.—Section 1853 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395w-23), as amended by section 4201(c), is further amended by adding at the end the following new subsection:

“(m) APPLICATION OF ELIGIBLE HOSPITAL INCENTIVES FOR CERTAIN MA ORGANIZATIONS FOR ADOPTION AND MEANINGFUL USE OF CERTIFIED EHR TECHNOLOGY.—

“(1) APPLICATION.—Subject to paragraphs (3) and (4), in the case of a qualifying MA organization, the provisions of sections 1814(l)(3), 1886(n), and 1886(b)(3)(B)(ix) shall apply with respect to eligible hospitals described in paragraph (2) of the organization which the organization attests under subsection (1)(6) to be meaningful EHR users in a similar manner as they apply to eligible hospitals under such sections. Incentive payments under paragraph (3) shall be made to and payment adjustments under paragraph (4) shall apply to such qualifying organizations.

“(2) ELIGIBLE HOSPITAL DESCRIBED.—With respect to a qualifying MA organization, an eligible hospital described in this paragraph is an eligible hospital (as defined in section 1886(n)(6)(A)) that is under common corporate governance with such organization and serves individuals enrolled under an MA plan offered by such organization.

“(3) ELIGIBLE HOSPITAL INCENTIVE PAYMENTS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—In applying section 1886(n)(2) under paragraph (1), instead of the additional payment amount under section 1886(n)(2), there shall be substituted an amount determined by the Secretary to be similar to the estimated amount in the aggregate that would be payable if payment for services furnished by such hospitals was payable under part A instead of this part. In implementing the previous sentence, the Secretary—

“(i) shall, insofar as data to determine the discharge related amount under section 1886(n)(2)(C) for an eligible hospital are not available to the Secretary, use such alternative data and methodology to estimate such discharge related amount as the Secretary determines appropriate; and “(ii) shall, insofar as data to determine the Medicare share described in section 1886(n)(2)(D) for an eligible hospital are not available to the Secretary, use such alternative data and methodology to estimate such share, which data and methodology may include use of the inpatient bed days (or discharges) with respect to an eligible hospital during the appropriate period which are attributable to both individuals for whom payment may be made under part A or individuals enrolled in an MA plan under a Medicare Advantage organization under this part as a proportion of the total number of patient-bed-days (or discharges) with respect to such hospital during such period.

“(B) AVOIDING DUPLICATION OF PAYMENTS.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—In the case of a hospital that for a payment year is an eligible hospital described in paragraph (2) and for which at least one-third of their discharges (or bed-days) of Medicare patients for the year are covered under part A, payment for the payment year shall be made only under section 1886(n) and not under this subsection.

“(ii) METHODS.—In the case of a hospital that is an eligible hospital described in paragraph (2) and also is eligible for an incentive payment under section 1886(n) but is not described in clause (i) for the same payment period, the Secretary shall develop a process—

“(I) to ensure that duplicate payments are not made with respect to an eligible hospital both under this subsection and under section 1886(n); and

“(II) to collect data from Medicare Advantage organizations to ensure against such duplicate payments.

“(4) PAYMENT ADJUSTMENT.—

“(A) Subject to paragraph (3), in the case of a qualifying MA organization (as defined in section 1853(l)(5)), if, according to the attestation of the organization submitted under subsection (1)(6) for an applicable period, one or more eligible hospitals (as defined in section 1886(n)(6)(A)) that are under common corporate governance with such organization and that serve individuals enrolled under a plan offered by such organization are not meaningful EHR users (as defined in section 1886(n)(3)) with respect to a period, the payment amount payable under this section for such organization for such period shall be the percent specified in subparagraph (B) for such period of the payment amount otherwise provided under this section for such period.

“(B) SPECIFIED PERCENT.—The percent specified under this subparagraph for a year is 100 percent minus a number of percentage points equal to the product of—

“(i) the number of the percentage point reduction effected under section 1886(b)(3)(B)(ix)(I) for the period; and “(ii) the Medicare hospital expenditure proportion specified in subparagraph (C) for the year.

“(C) MEDICARE HOSPITAL EXPENDITURE PROPORTION.—The Medicare hospital expenditure proportion under this subparagraph for a year is the Secretary’s estimate of the proportion, of the expenditures under parts A and B that are not attributable to this part, that are attributable to expenditures for inpatient hospital services.

“(D) APPLICATION OF PAYMENT ADJUSTMENT.—In the case that a qualifying MA organization attests that not all eligible hospitals are meaningful EHR users with respect to an applicable period, the Secretary shall apply the payment adjustment under this paragraph based on a methodology specified by the Secretary, taking into account the proportion of such eligible hospitals, or discharges from such hospitals, that are not meaningful EHR users for such period.

“(5) POSTING ON WEBSITE.—The Secretary shall post on the Internet website of the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, in an easily understandable format, —

“(A) a list of the names, business addresses, and business phone numbers of each qualifying MA organization receiving an incentive payment under this subsection for eligible hospitals described in paragraph (2); and

“(B) a list of the names of the eligible hospitals for which such incentive payment is based.”

(d) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) Section 1814(b) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395f(b)) is amended—

(A) in paragraph (3), in the matter preceding subparagraph (A), by inserting “, subject to section 1886(d)(3)(B)(ix)(III),” after “then”; and

(B) by adding at the end the following: “For purposes of applying paragraph (3), there shall be taken into account incentive payments, and payment adjustments under subsection (b)(3)(B)(ix) or (n) of section 1886.”

(2) Section 1851(i)(1) of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395w–21(i)(1)) is amended by striking “and 1886(h)(3)(D)” and inserting “1886(h)(3)(D), and 1853(m)”.

(3) Section 1853 of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1395w–23), as amended by section 4311(d)(1), is amended—

(A) in subsection (c)—

(i) in paragraph (1)(D)(i), by striking “1848(o)” and inserting “, 1848(o), and 1886(n)”; and

(ii) in paragraph (6)(A), by inserting “and subsections (b)(3)(B)(ix) and (n) of section 1886” after “section 1848”; and

(B) in subsection (f), by inserting “and subsection (m)” after “under subsection (l)”.

(1) in subsection (a)(3)—

(A) by striking “and” at the end of subparagraph (D);

(B) by striking “plus” at the end of subparagraph (E) and inserting “and”; and

(C) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

“(F)(i) 100 percent of so much of the sums expended during such quarter as are attributable to payments for certified EHR technology (and support services including maintenance and training that is for, or is necessary for the adoption and operation of, such technology) by Medicaid providers described in subsection (t)(1); and

“(ii) 90 percent of so much of the sums expended during such quarter as are attributable to payments for reasonable administrative expenses related to the administration of payments described in clause (i) if the State meets the condition described in subsection (t)(9); plus”; and

“(t)(1)(A) For purposes of subsection (a)(3)(F), the payments for certified EHR technology (and support services including maintenance that is for, or is necessary for the operation of, such technology) by Medicaid providers described in this paragraph are payments made by the State in accordance with this subsection of the applicable percent of the net allowable costs of Medicaid providers (as defined in paragraph (2)) for such technology (and support services).

“(B) For purposes of subparagraph (A), the term ‘applicable percent’ means—

“(i) in the case of a Medicaid provider described in paragraph (2)(A), 85 percent;

“(ii) in the case of a Medicaid provider described in clause (i) or (ii) of paragraph (2)(B), 100 percent; and “(iii) in the case of a Medicaid provider described in clause (iii) of paragraph (2)(B), a percent specified by the Secretary, but not less than 85 percent.

“(2) In this subsection and subsection (a)(3)(F), the term ‘Medicaid provider’ means—

“(A) an eligible professional (as defined in paragraph (3)(B)) who is not hospital-based and has at least 30 percent of the professional’s patient volume (as estimated in accordance with standards established by the Secretary) attributable to individuals who are receiving medical assistance under this title; and

“(B)(i) a children’s hospital, (ii) an acute-care hospital that is not described in clause (i) and that has at least 10 percent of the hospital’s patient volume (as estimated in accordance with standards established by the Secretary) attributable to individuals who are receiving medical assistance under this title, or (iii) a Federally-qualified health center or rural health clinic that has at least 30 percent of the center’s or clinic’s patient volume (as estimated in accordance with standards established by the Secretary) attributable to individuals who are receiving medical assistance under this title.

An eligible professional shall not qualify as a Medicaid provider under this subsection unless the professional has waived, in a manner specified by the Secretary, any right to payment under section 1848(o) with respect to the adoption or support of certified EHR technology by the eligible professional. In applying clauses (ii) and (iii) of subparagraph (B), the standards established by the Secretary for patient volume shall include individuals enrolled in a Medicaid managed care plan (under section 1903(m) or section 1932).

“(3) In this subsection and subsection (a)(3)(F):

“(A) The term ‘certified EHR technology’ means a qualified electronic health record (as defined in 3000(13) of the Public Health Service Act) that is certified pursuant to section 3001(c)(5) of such Act as meeting standards adopted under section 3004 of such Act that are applicable to the type of record involved (as determined by the Secretary, such as an ambulatory electronic health record for office-based physicians or an inpatient hospital electronic health record for hospitals).

“(B) The term ‘eligible professional’ means a physician as defined in paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 1861(r), and includes a nurse mid-wife and a nurse practitioner.

“(C) The term ‘hospital-based’ means, with respect to an eligible professional, a professional (such as a pathologist, anesthesiologist, or emergency physician) who furnishes substantially all of the individual’s professional services in a hospital setting (whether inpatient or outpatient) and through the use of the facilities and equipment, including qualified electronic health records, of the hospital.

“(4)(A) The term ‘allowable costs’ means, with respect to certified EHR technology of a Medicaid provider, costs of such technology (and support services including maintenance and training that is for, or is necessary for the adoption and operation of, such technology) as determined by the Secretary to be reasonable.

“(B) The term ‘net allowable costs’ means allowable costs reduced by any payment that is made to the Medicaid provider involved from any other source that is directly attributable to payment for certified EHR technology or services described in subparagraph (A).

“(C) In no case shall—

“(i) the aggregate allowable costs under this subsection (covering one or more years) with respect to a Medicaid provider described in paragraph (2)(A) for purchase and initial implementation of certified EHR technology (and services described in subparagraph (A)) exceed $25,000 or include costs over a period of longer than 5 years;

“(ii) for costs not described in clause (i) relating to the operation, maintenance, or use of certified EHR technology, the annual allowable costs under this subsection with respect to such a Medicaid provider for costs not described in clause (i) for any year exceed $10,000;

“(iii) payment described in paragraph (1) for costs described in clause (ii) be made with respect to such a Medicaid provider over a period of more than 5 years;

“(iv) the aggregate allowable costs under this subsection with respect to such a Medicaid provider for all costs exceed $75,000; or

“(v) the allowable costs, whether for purchase and initial implementation, maintenance, or otherwise, for a Medicaid provider described in paragraph (2)(B)(iii) exceed such aggregate or annual limitation as the Secretary shall establish, based on an amount determined by the Secretary as being adequate to adopt and maintain certified EHR technology, consistent with paragraph (6).

“(5) Payments described in paragraph (1) are not in accordance with this subsection unless the following requirements are met:

“(A) The State provides assurances satisfactory to the Secretary that amounts received under subsection (a)(3)(F) with respect to costs of a Medicaid provider are paid directly to such provider without any deduction or rebate.

“(B) Such Medicaid provider is responsible for payment of the costs described in such paragraph that are not provided under this title.

“(C) With respect to payments to such Medicaid provider for costs other than costs related to the initial adoption of certified EHR technology, the Medicaid provider demonstrates meaningful use of certified EHR technology through a means that is approved by the State and acceptable to the Secretary, and that may be based upon the methodologies applied under section 1848(o) or 1886(n). In establishing such means, which may include the reporting of clinical quality measures to the State, the State shall ensure that populations with unique needs, such as children, are appropriately addressed.

“(D) To the extent specified by the Secretary, the certified EHR technology is compatible with State or Federal administrative management systems.

“(6)(A) In no case shall the payments described in paragraph (1), with respect to a hospital, exceed in the aggregate the product of—

“(i) the overall hospital EHR amount for the hospital computed under subparagraph (B); and “(ii) the Medicaid share for such hospital computed under subparagraph (C).

“(B) For purposes of this paragraph, the overall hospital EHR amount, with respect to a hospital, is the sum of the applicable amounts specified in section 1886(n)(2)(A) for such hospital for the first 4 payment years (as estimated by the Secretary) determined as if the Medicare share specified in clause (ii) of such section were 1. The Secretary shall publish in the Federal Register the overall hospital EHR amount for each hospital eligible for payments under this subsection. In computing amounts under clause (ii) for payment years after the first payment year, the Secretary shall assume that in subsequent payment years discharges increase at the average annual rate of growth of the most recent three years for which discharge data are available.

“(C) The Medicaid share computed under this subparagraph, for a hospital for a period specified by the Secretary, shall be calculated in the same manner as the Medicare share under section 1886(n)(2)(D) for such a hospital and period, except that there shall be substituted for the numerator under clause (i) of such section the amount that is equal to the number of inpatient-bed-days (as established by the Secretary) which are attributable to individuals who are receiving medical assistance under this title and who are not described in section 1886(n)(2)(D)(i). In computing inpatient-bed-days under the previous sentence, the Secretary shall take into account inpatient-bed-days attributable to inpatient-bed-days that are paid for individuals enrolled in a Medicaid managed care plan (under section 1903(m) or section 1932).

“(7) With respect to health care providers other than hospitals, the Secretary shall establish and implement a detailed process to ensure coordination of the different programs for payment of such health care providers for adoption or use of health information technology (including certified EHR technology), as well as payments for such health care providers provided under this title or title XVIII, to assure no duplication of funding. The Secretary shall promulgate regulations to carry out the preceding sentence.

“(8) In carrying out paragraph (5)(C), the State and Secretary shall seek, to the maximum extent practicable, to avoid duplicative requirements from Federal and State Governments to demonstrate meaningful use of certified EHR technology under this title and title XVIII. In doing so, the Secretary may deem satisfaction of requirements for such meaningful use for a payment year under title XVIII to be sufficient to qualify as meaningful use under this subsection. The Secretary may also specify the reporting periods under this subsection in order to carry out this paragraph.

“(9) In order to be provided Federal financial participation under subsection (a)(3)(F)(ii), a State must demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Secretary, that the State—

“(A) is using the funds provided for the purposes of administering payments under this subsection, including tracking of meaningful use by Medicaid providers;

“(B) is conducting adequate oversight of the program under this subsection, including routine tracking of meaningful use attestations and reporting mechanisms; and

“(C) is pursuing initiatives to encourage the adoption of certified EHR technology to promote health care quality and the exchange of health care information under this title, subject to applicable laws and regulations governing such exchange.

“(10) The Secretary shall periodically submit reports to the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Finance of the Senate on status, progress, and oversight of payments under paragraph (1).”

(b) IMPLEMENTATION FUNDING.—In addition to funds otherwise available, out of any funds in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, there are appropriated to the Secretary of Health and Human Services for the Center for Medicare & Medicaid Services Program Management Account, $40,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2009 through 2015 and $20,000,000 for each succeeding fiscal year through fiscal year 2018, which shall be available for purposes of carrying out the provisions of (and the amendments made by) this part. Amounts appropriated under this subsection for a fiscal year shall be available until expended.

(c) HHS REPORT ON IMPLEMENTATION OF DETAILED PROCESS TO ASSURE NO DUPLICATION OF FUNDING.—Not later than July 1, 2012, the Secretary of Health and Human Services shall submit to Congress a report on the establishment and implementation of the detailed process under section 1903(t)(7) of the Social Security Act, as added by subsection (a), together with recommendations for such legislation and administrative action as the Secretary determines appropriate.

The State may rely on a finding from an Express Lane agency notwithstanding sections 1902(a)(46)(B) and 1137(d) or any differences in budget unit, disregard, deeming or other methodology, if the following requirements are met:

“(I) PROHIBITION ON DETERMINING CHILDREN INELIGIBLE FOR COVERAGE.—If a finding from an Express Lane agency would result in a determination that a child does not satisfy an eligibility requirement for medical assistance under this title and for child health assistance under title XXI, the State shall determine eligibility for assistance using its regular procedures.

“(II) NOTICE REQUIREMENT.—For any child who is found eligible for medical assistance under the State plan under this title or child health assistance under title XXI and who is subject to premiums based on an Express Lane agency’s finding of such child’s income level, the State shall provide notice that the child may qualify for lower premium payments if evaluated by the State using its regular policies and of the procedures for requesting such an evaluation.

“(C) OPTIONS FOR SATISFYING THE SCREEN AND ENROLL REQUIREMENT.—

“(ii) ESTABLISHING A SCREENING THRESHOLD.—

“(I) IN GENERAL.—Under this clause, the State establishes a screening threshold set as a percentage of the Federal poverty level that exceeds the highest income threshold applicable under this title to the child by a minimum of 30 percentage points or, at State option, a higher number of percentage points that reflects the value (as determined by the State and described in the State plan) of any differences between income methodologies used by the program administered by the Express Lane agency and the methodologies used by the State in determining eligibility for medical assistance under this title.

“(II) CHILDREN WITH INCOME NOT ABOVE THRESHOLD.—If the income of a child does not exceed the screening threshold, the child is deemed to satisfy the income eligibility criteria for medical assistance under this title regardless of whether such child would otherwise satisfy such criteria.

If such a child is enrolled in child health assistance under title XXI, the State shall provide the parent, guardian, or custodial relative with the following:

Such procedures may not require the child’s parent, guardian, or custodial relative to provide or verify information that already has been provided to the State agency by an Express Lane agency or another source of information unless the State agency has reason to believe the information is erroneous.

“(V) AVAILABILITY OF CHIP MATCHING FUNDS DURING TEMPORARY ENROLLMENT PERIOD.—Medical assistance for items and services that are provided to a child enrolled in title XXI during a temporary enrollment period under this clause shall be treated as child health assistance under such title.

“(D) OPTION FOR AUTOMATIC ENROLLMENT.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—The State may initiate and determine eligibility for medical assistance under the State Medicaid plan or for child health assistance under the State CHIP plan without a program application from, or on behalf of, the child based on data obtained from sources other than the child (or the child’s family), but a child can only be automatically enrolled in the State Medicaid plan or the State CHIP plan if the child or the family affirmatively consents to being enrolled through affirmation in writing, by telephone, orally, through electronic signature, or through any other means specified by the Secretary or by signature on an Express Lane agency application, if the requirement of clause (ii) is met.

“(ii) INFORMATION REQUIREMENT.—The requirement of this clause is that the State informs the parent, guardian, or custodial relative of the child of the services that will be covered, appropriate methods for using such services, premium or other cost sharing charges (if any) that apply, medical support obligations (under section 1912(a)) created by enrollment (if applicable), and the actions the parent, guardian, or relative must take to maintain enrollment and renew coverage.

“(II) annually provide the Secretary with a statistically valid sample (that is approved by Secretary) of the children enrolled in such plans through reliance on such a finding by conducting a full Medicaid eligibility review of the children identified for such sample for purposes of determining an eligibility error rate (as described in clause (iv)) with respect to the enrollment of such children (and shall not include such children in any data or samples used for purposes of complying with a Medicaid Eligibility Quality Control (MEQC) review or a payment error rate measurement (PERM) requirement);

“(III) submit the error rate determined under subclause (II) to the Secretary;

“(IV) if such error rate exceeds 3 percent for either of the first 2 fiscal years in which the State elects to apply this paragraph, demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Secretary the specific corrective actions implemented by the State to improve upon such error rate; and

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 2105(c) (42 U.S.C. 1397ee(c)), as amended by sections 114(a) and 211(c), is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(10) STATE OPTION TO OFFER PREMIUM ASSISTANCE.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A State may elect to offer a premium assistance subsidy (as defined in subparagraph (C)) for qualified employer-sponsored coverage (as defined in subparagraph (B)) to all targeted low-income children who are eligible for child health assistance under the plan and have access to such coverage in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph. No subsidy shall be provided to a targeted low-income child under this paragraph unless the child (or the child’s parent) voluntarily elects to receive such a subsidy. “(III) that is offered to all individuals in a manner that would be considered a nondiscriminatory eligibility classification for purposes of paragraph (3)(A)(ii) of section 105(h) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 (but determined without regard to clause (i) of subparagraph (B) of such paragraph).

“(iii) EMPLOYER OPT-OUT.—An employer may notify a State that it elects to opt-out of being directly paid a premium assistance subsidy on behalf of an employee. In the event of such a notification, an employer shall withhold the total amount of the employee contribution required for enrollment of the employee and the child in the qualified employer-sponsored coverage and the State shall pay the premium assistance subsidy directly to the employee.

“(iii) establish such other procedures as the State determines necessary to ensure that parents are fully informed of the choices for receiving child health assistance under the State child health plan or through the receipt of premium assistance subsidies.

“(L) APPLICATION TO QUALIFIED EMPLOYER-SPONSORED BENCHMARK COVERAGE.—If a group health plan or health insurance coverage offered through an employer is certified by an actuary as health benefits coverage that is equivalent to the benefits coverage in a benchmark benefit package described in section 2103(b) or benchmark-equivalent coverage that meets the requirements of section 2103(a)(2), the State may provide premium assistance subsidies for enrollment of targeted low-income children in such group health plan or health insurance coverage in the same manner as such subsidies are provided under this paragraph for enrollment in qualified employer-sponsored coverage, but without regard to the requirement to provide supplemental coverage for benefits and cost-sharing protection provided under the State child health plan under subparagraph (E).

“(M) SATISFACTION OF COST-EFFECTIVENESS TEST.—Premium assistance subsidies for qualified employer-sponsored coverage offered under this paragraph shall be deemed to meet the requirement of subparagraph (A) of paragraph (3).
