Senate

THURSDAY, MAY 24, 2012

The Senate met at 9:30 a.m. and was called to order by the Honorable TOM UDALL, a Senator from the State of New Mexico.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Eternal God, the giver of every good and perfect gift, thank You for all that makes life worthwhile. Thank You for tasks to do, for health of body, for accuracy of hand and eye, for skill of mind, and for friends and loved ones.

Today, equip the minds of our Senators with three assurances to sustain them. Remind them of Your sovereignty, Your power, and Your love. Give them the wisdom to believe that there is no problem or circumstance beyond Your control. May this knowledge guide their thinking, speaking, and decisions in a way that will glorify You.

We pray in Your holy Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The Honorable TOM UDALL led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The majority leader is recognized.

SCHEDULE

Mr. REID. Mr. President, we are now considering S. 3187, the FDA user fees legislation. There is an agreement now reached to complete this legislation today. Under the agreement, debate time will expire at 2 p.m. today, but if we are able to yield back time, up to 12 rollcall votes could begin earlier in order to complete action on the bill and to have a couple of votes in relation to the student loan interest rate hike. We will notify everyone if time is yielded back, but people should be aware of the need to come here—we hope before noon—to have a couple of votes. There will be no votes between 1 and 2 o'clock because of meetings both sides have.

We also worked out a tentative agreement yesterday on flood insurance, which is important to 6 million people. We need to get that done today also. I hope we can get that done.

I was pleased yesterday to reach an agreement with the Republican leader on how to move forward with this FDA bill. This legislation addresses shortages of lifesaving medicines by establishing a protocol to accomplish just that. It will ensure that FDA resources are there to approve new drugs and medical devices quickly and efficiently. We are going to consider, as I indicated, a number of relevant amendments. I am optimistic we will pass this strong, bipartisan bill.

This week has been productive. We have not had to break or try to break a single Republican filibuster. That is a good day in Washington. It doesn't happen very often. I hope it happens more often. If this trend continues, we could return to the way we used to be; that is, do what is good for the country and not be trying to stop everything that comes along.

I am also hopeful that this week the Senate will be able to find a path ahead to temporarily renew the Flood Insurance Program, as I have already indicated. We need a long-term solution to this problem. We have about 40,000 loans every day that are approved, and they are approved because you can make that check that you do have flood insurance. If there is no way to buy flood insurance, you cannot make that check in that box and you cannot get a loan. This would be devastating to our fragile economy, so we have to get this done and get it done before the end of this month.

The collaborative work on that measure and the FDA bill renews my hope that Congress will reach an agreement to prevent student loan interest rates from doubling for 7 million young men and women. We will move to two proposals to freeze student interest rates at their current levels. The Republican proposal is paid for by stripping Americans of lifesaving preventive health care. I can't say it any more clearly than that. It would be a shame to use that pay-for. That program has already been stripped bare. To take any more from it would really hurt the health of America. Our proposal is paid for by closing a loophole that allowed wealthy Americans to dodge their taxes. I am certainly aware of how things work around here. Neither one of these is going to pass, I am sorry to say. These two proposals were not created equal. But I hope a few reasonable Republicans will join with us. We should not put Americans' health at risk. We need to come to an agreement on the student loan issue. We only have until the end of June to do this.

I also hope to resolve an issue dealing with paycheck fairness over the next work period. In addition to that, we are going to deal with the farm bill, flood insurance, as I have talked about, a small business tax relief program, cybersecurity, and some appropriations bills.

In the last Congress we passed the Lilly Ledbetter Fair Pay Act, named after a stalwart woman from the South who was in effect cheated out of pay she deserved. She did the same work as men for many years but didn't get the same money. She sought redress in the courts, and they said: No, you can't do that; you should have done that when you first started working there. She didn't know she was being cheated at that time. We changed the law. Now people in the same situation as Lilly Ledbetter are not going to be bound by some phony set of rules that prevent someone from filing a lawsuit when they have been aggrieved.

While the wage gap has narrowed in the five decades since Congress declared women entitled to equal pay for equal work, gender discrimination remains a serious problem in the workplace. The work we did with Lilly Ledbetter was the single most important piece of legislation to ensure women have a chance to protect themselves. It is something we should have done before. We didn't. It is done now. Women make up about half of today's workforce. More than half the students in our law schools are women. More than half the students in medical schools are women. They still, though, will only earn 77 cents on every dollar compared to their male colleagues for doing the same work, and with an increasing number of women leading American households, this is a problem that affects children and families across the country.

The legislation, led by Senator BARBARA MIKULSKI, the Paycheck Fairness Act, is a logical extension of protections under the Equal Pay Act. It will help close the gap by empowering women to negotiate for equal pay and creating strong incentives for employers to obey the laws already in place.

Republicans deny waging war on women. Yet they have launched a series of attacks on women's access to health care and contraception this year. Now they have an opportunity to back up their excuses with action, and we are going to give them that opportunity. We hope they will join us and send a clear message that America values the incredible contributions women make every day.

Would the Chair be so kind as to announce the work we are going to do here today.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

AMENDMENT NO. 2107

Mr. MCCAIN. I ask unanimous consent to call up amendment No. 2107 and make it pending.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered. The clerk will report.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senator from Arizona [Mr. MCCAIN] proposes an amendment numbered 2107.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the reading of the amendment be dispensed with.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To allow the importation by individuals of safe and affordable drugs from Canada)

At the end of title XI, add the following:

SEC. 11___. SAFE AND AFFORDABLE DRUGS FROM CANADA.

Chapter VIII of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 381 et seq.), as amended by this Act, is further amended by adding at the end the following:

the Internet Web site of the Food and Drug Administration a list of approved Canadian pharmacies, including the Internet Web site address of each such approved Canadian pharmacy, from which individuals may purchase prescription drugs in accordance with subsection (a).

''(c) ADDITIONAL CRITERIA.—To be an approved Canadian pharmacy, the Secretary shall certify that the pharmacy—

''(1) has been in existence for a period of at least 5 years preceding the date of enactment of this section and has a purpose other than to participate in the program established under this section;

''(8) meets any other criteria established by the Secretary.''.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, this is not a new issue. This has been before this body on several occasions. I want to assure my colleagues that if the lobbyists for the pharmaceutical companies in this town are able to block this, we will be revisiting this issue. This is an issue of fundamental fairness and decency and giving Americans the opportunity to have access to very important medication that in many cases is lifesaving. It has been blocked by one of the most powerful lobbies in Washington, that of the pharmaceutical companies.

For years, along with many other Senators and the current occupant of the White House—the President of the United States, when he was a U.S. Senator, supported this amendment. I would love to see the administration weigh in and take the same position that then-Senator Obama took on this issue of basic and fundamental decency and fairness to people who are badly in need of medicine to, in many cases, literally save their lives.

Industry opponents of the comprehensive importation proposals have found various ways to confuse the issue, raise red herrings about safety, or cut secret deals to block passage of reasonable and widely supported prescription drug importation programs.

Let me give an example—this recently came up—of the activities of the pharmaceutical companies in the formulation of ObamaCare. ''GOP probe uncovers deal between Obama and drug companies,'' by Philip Klein, the senior editorial writer of the Washington Examiner.

Three years ago, President Obama cut a secret deal with pharmaceutical company lobbyists to secure the industry's support for his national health care law. Despite Obama's promises during his campaign to run a transparent administration, the deal has been shrouded in mystery ever since. But internal emails obtained by House Republicans now provide evidence that a deal was struck and GOP investigators are promising to release more details in the coming weeks.

What the hell?'' White House Deputy Chief of Staff Jim Messina, who is now Obama's campaign manager, complained to a lobbyist for the Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America (PhRMA) in January 15, 2010 email. ''This wasn't part of our deal.''

This reference to ''our deal'' came two months before the final passage of Obamacare in an email with the subject line, ''FW: TAUZIN EMAIL.''

At the time Billy Tauzin was president and CEO of PhRMA—

And I might add, one of the highest paid lobbyists in history, millions of dollars—

the e-mail was uncovered as a part of Obama's closed-door health care negotiations that was launched by the House Energy and Commerce Committee oversight panel:

''In the coming weeks the Committee intends to show what the White House agreed to do as part of its deal with the pharmaceutical industry and how the full details of this agreement were kept from both the public and the House of Representatives,'' the committee's Republican members wrote in a memo today.

On June 20, 2009, Obama released a terse 296-word statement announcing a deal between pharmaceutical companies and the Senate that didn't mention any involvement by the White House.

''The investigation has determined that the White House, primarily through Office of Health Reform Director Nancy Ann DeParle and Messina, with involvement from Chief of Staff Rahm Emmanuel, was actively engaged in these negotiations while the role of Congress was limited,'' the committee members wrote. For example, three days before the June 20th statement, the head of PhRMA—promised Messina, ''we will deliver a final yes to you by morning.''

That is Mr. Tauzin—

Meanwhile, Ms. DeParle all but confirmed that half of the Legislative Branch was shut out in an e-mail to a PhRMA representative: ''I think we should have included the House in the discussions, but maybe we never would have gotten anywhere if we had.''

What went on in the formulation of ObamaCare is still one of the worst, sleaziest exercises I have seen in my many years here, and this involvement by the pharmaceutical companies was probably the most egregious. All this amendment does is allow U.S. consumers who need more affordable prescription drug options to either go without their medications or pay higher prices than they could get from legitimate Canadian pharmacies. But that is not a reason. It is not a reason for us to stop fighting for those in the United States who need more affordable prescription medications.

There are Americans in this country today who cannot afford their medications. They have a choice between eating or taking their prescription drugs. Meanwhile, there is a way for them to get much cheaper drugs, and this amendment does that.

We will hear from the pharmaceutical company supporters in the Senate who will talk about safety and how Canadians don't have the same standards we do. Really? Do we really believe the Canadian regulations and oversight are any better or worse than the United States? To ensure that U.S. patients have at least one option, this amendment takes a very narrow approach to safe importation by focusing on legitimate Canadian pharmacies.

Under this amendment the Secretary of Health and Human Services will certify ''approved Canadian pharmacies'' based on certain safety and quality criteria. To ensure that patients are not exposed to unsafe medications ''approved Canadian pharmacies'' can only sell drugs to U.S. customers that are the same as U.S. approved drugs. To protect U.S. patients against rouge distributors, a list of approved Canadian pharmacies must be published by the Secretary of Health and Human Services so Americans know which Canadian pharmacies are legitimate.

The cost of health care, including prescription drugs, continues to increase. However, there is nothing in the underlying FDA bill that will bring down the cost of prescription drugs. I wonder if the bill should be enacted when it doesn't do anything to address costs. The quality of pharmaceuticals in this country is outstanding, and I recognize that. But don't we all know how expensive it is?

For example, don't we know that in the United States of America, Nexium, 20-milligram, 30 tabs, is $195.99. The Canadian brand is $108.55, and Canadian generic is $69. For Plavix, the U.S. brand is $195; the Canadian brand, $132.

I am sure many Americans whose health coverage does not include these very expensive pharmaceuticals would be eager to take advantage of the same quality brand of prescription drugs that are available at these pharmacies in Canada.

As we all know, unemployment remains over 8 percent, and millions of families have mothers and fathers who remain unemployed or underemployed and have no health insurance coverage. But the unemployed and uninsured still have health conditions, and they need medications. Millions continue to search for more affordable ways to get their needed prescription drugs.

Unfortunately, in my State many of my fellow citizens who cannot afford it go to Mexico to get drugs, and I cannot guarantee what they purchase there will always be what it is purported to be. That is not a criticism of my friends south of the border. But the fact is in Canada they have the same kind of process we do. Despite there being no official program to import medications from Canada, approximately 1 million U.S. consumers use their own money to safely get their medications from legitimate Canadian pharmacies.

In Arizona, over 20,000 patients purchase their medications safely from Canadian pharmacies. In Florida over 85,000 patients purchase their medications safely from Canadian pharmacies. A recent study from Roger Bate, an AEI scholar, confirms that in drugs dispensed from legitimate Canadian pharmacies there was no failure of authenticity between drug samples obtained online from U.S. pharmacies compared to the same drug from Canadian pharmacies. Within the verified pharmacies U.S. prices on average were 52.5 percent higher than Canadian pharmacy prices. In other words, the drugs from Canadian pharmacy sites are the same dosage, form, and potency as drugs in the United States, only much less expensive.

The drugs are the same as I mentioned. This amendment doesn't authorize insurance companies, huge pharmacy chains, or drug wholesalers to import massive quantities into the U.S. system. This is about safely allowing uninsured, unemployed, and the underemployed to individually import these drugs they need.

So, please, somebody explain to me how we tell the struggling family who needs their medications that they cannot use their own money to get the same drug from legitimate Canadian pharmacies where the costs can be more than 50 percent lower than U.S. prices. It is not about the alarms of safety because this amendment requires the Secretary of Health and Human Services to promulgate regulations permitting individuals to safely import medications from Canada, and the following safety criteria must be met for a patient to import drugs from FDA-approved Canadian pharmacies: The prescribed drug must be dispensed by a licensed Canadian pharmacist; the prescribed drug must be for personal use in quantities that don't exceed a 90-day supply; the prescribed drug must be dispensed in accordance with a valid prescription issued by a physician licensed to practice in the United States; the imported drug must have ''the same active ingredient or ingredients, route of administration, dosage form, and strength as a prescription drug approved by the Secretary.''

The amendment recognizes that approved Canadian pharmacies meeting safety criteria can and should provide needed alternatives to U.S. patients using their own money to affordably obtain their medications. The Secretary is required to publish on the FDA Web site a list of ''approved Canadian pharmacies'' that meet the following stringent criteria: The pharmacy has been in existence for 5 years prior to enactment of the program and has a purpose other than to participate in the U.S.-Canadian safe drug importation program; the pharmacy operates in accordance with provincial pharmacy rules and regulations; the pharmacy complies with all inspection and data reporting procedures; the pharmacy agrees that labs approved by the Secretary shall be used to conduct product testing to determine the safety and efficacy of sample pharmaceutical products; the pharmacy does not resell products from online pharmacies located outside Canada to consumers in the United States.

Safe drug importation is a bipartisan issue. People in all of our States are still struggling with family budgets, and the Senate cannot do anything to give patients more choices about where they can get their needed drugs because the drug industry opposes allowing individual Americans to use their own money to safely get the same drugs from Canada, and it doesn't make sense.

Just a word about the types of medications that are eligible. I have been asked by colleagues whether biologic medicines can be part of the program. The answer is not unless they can be safely imported under the provisions of the amendment and regulations issued by the Secretary.

The amendment doesn't discriminate against the type of conditions or medicines that patients should be able to safely import under this program. Not all biologics are the same. Some biologic medicines are available in capsules; others are injectable medications that require refrigeration. Some injectables don't require refrigeration and are shipped to patients throughout the United States every day.

I don't believe U.S. patients should be necessarily prevented from saving money on biologics. If a biologic medicine cannot meet the various safety provisions in the amendment, it should not be eligible. If it can meet the requirements of the amendment, then a biologic can be available to U.S. patients.

If the past is a prologue, then obviously this amendment will go down. Then after this amendment is rejected, I hope none of my colleagues have any curiosity about the way the American people feel about us; about the incredible, inordinate, illegitimate, outrageous influence of the pharmaceutical companies in America over the average American citizen. American citizens should be able to purchase pharmaceuticals from an approved pharmacy in Canada that many times is saving them half the money.

I am sure the distinguished chairman, my friend from Iowa, knows how many families do not have prescription drug coverage who are making a choice today between eating and medicine. What are we going to do? We are going to turn down this commonsense amendment.

Congratulations ahead of time to the corrupt pharmaceutical companies and their influence in the United States Senate and Capitol.

Mr. President, I ask for the yeas and nays on the amendment.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Is there a sufficient second?

There appears to be a sufficient second.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I understand the Republican leader is about to come to the floor to give his leader remarks.

I just wish to let Senators know we are moving ahead on the bill. Senator MCCAIN just brought up his amendment and spoke about it. I know there are some who want to speak in opposition to the McCain amendment. We still have amendment No. 2111 by Senator BINGAMAN to be called up. We have two amendments, No. 2146 and No. 2145, by Senator PORTMAN that need to be called up. I ask Senators to please come over and call up their amendments so we can debate them and move ahead to expeditiously voting on those amendments and final passage of the bill.

I see the Republican leader is on the floor, and I yield the floor.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Republican leader is recognized.

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I think we are under a time agreement on the bill; is that correct?

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The leader is correct.

Mr. MCCONNELL. I wish to proceed under my leader time.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator has that right.

STUDENT LOAN INTEREST RATES

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, today we will once again attempt to prevent student loan interest rates from going up. This problem could have been solved literally weeks ago, but our friends on the other side were not interested in solving the problem; they wanted a scapegoat more than a solution.

So this afternoon we will vote on two different ways of addressing the issue. The Democratic plan is designed to fail. In order to cover the cost of a temporary rate freeze that both parties actually want, they propose to divert $6 billion from Medicare and to raise taxes on small businesses, hurting the very companies we are counting on to hire today's college graduates. They have known for months that we would not support this tax hike and that it couldn't pass this Chamber or the House of Representatives. It has already failed, but they are proposing it anyway, for a second time.

If our Democratic friends would allow it, the chairman and ranking member could write a bill that could actually pass. But since passage isn't their goal, our friends on the other side huddled behind closed doors, out of sight of the public and the press, and produced the tax hike instead of letting the committee actually do its work.

We already know how this story is going to end. We know exactly, already, how the story will end. So why are the Democrats forcing us to vote on their failed proposal yet again? Because, as I have said, they are more interested in drawing our opposition—of trying to create a bad guy—than in actually solving the problem.

When it comes to college graduates today, the bigger issue is the President's economic agenda which has created an environment in which most of them can't find a decent job. So I can understand why our Democratic friends want to change the subject, but if we are actually going to do something to solve the problem, we are going to need to get past the political theatrics.

If Senate Democrats reject the bipartisan fix the House already passed—one that doesn't raise taxes or divert a single dollar away from Medicare and is an offset they have used themselves before—then I hope they will turn around and work with us on a bipartisan fix that doesn't tax small businesses—a proposal that is actually designed to pass and become law.

But let's be clear about something. The real issue isn't the fact that certain students are going to see an interest rate hike because we will address that concern; it is that so many young people today can't find a job that will enable them to pay off their loans in the first place. That is the much larger problem. The solution is a progrowth agenda that would make it easier for U.S. businesses to hire, not a tax hike that will actually make it harder for them to hire.

In the short term, Republicans are ready to work to offer this temporary relief, but we are still waiting on the Democratic leadership to propose a solution of their own that can actually pass either one or two Chambers of Congress.

I would, once again, urge the President to get involved. If the President has time to run around to late-night comedy shows and college campuses talking about this issue, then he can pick up the phone and work out a solution with Democrats in the Senate.

Last week at the White House, I pressed the President to get involved in order to prevent the student interest rates from going up—a goal we all share. Think about it. If the President wants to pass this bill so badly, then why on Earth hasn't he picked up the phone and called the chairman or ranking Republican of the relevant committee? As with so many pressing issues, the President has not led on this issue. He has campaigned on it, but he has not worked to actually fix it.

The American people are tired of the posturing and the games. It is time for the President to lead. It is time for Senate Democrats to stop the political theater and to find a real solution.

THANKING SENATOR ENZI

Mr. President, on another matter, I wish to take a moment to thank my good friend, the senior Senator from Wyoming, MIKE ENZI, for the work he has done shepherding the FDA bill through the markup and across the Senate floor. This is an incredibly complex piece of legislation that strikes a difficult balance of protecting consumers while avoiding the stifling regulation that slows the process of bringing lifesaving drugs and devices to market.

Throughout a lengthy process, MIKE has shown the command of complex topics, steady leadership, and interest in his colleagues' priorities that have characterized his tenure at the HELP Committee. For that, those of us on this side of the aisle would like to thank him very much.

HONORING OUR ARMED FORCES

SPECIALIST DAVID W. TAYLOR

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I wish to address one other matter. I have a sad task today of informing my colleagues that a valued and honorable Kentuckian who enlisted in the U.S. Army has fallen in the performance of his duty. On March 29, 2012, SPC David W. Taylor of Dixon, KY, died from injuries sustained in an accident at an ammunitions supply point in Kandahar Province, Afghanistan. He was 20 years old.

For his service in uniform, Specialist Taylor received several awards, medals, and decorations, including the Army Commendation Medal, the Army Good Conduct Medal, the National Defense Service Medal, the Afghanistan Campaign Medal with Bronze Service Star, the Global War on Terrorism Service Medal, the Army Service Ribbon, the Overseas Service Ribbon, the NATO Medal, the Parachutist Badge, and the Overseas Service Bar.

After his tragic death at entirely too young an age, one of Specialist Taylor's commanders, Sergeant Addington, delivered a tribute to his fallen brother in arms. This is what he said:

> When his country called for young lives to offer themselves up for the preservation of freedom, young David Taylor answered the call and said, ''Here am I, take me.'' Specialist Taylor was my soldier, my battle buddy, and my friend. He was a fast learner and my greatest student. He sacrificed himself so we might be free.

Before he was a soldier, his mother Sarah Taylor recalled that David was a compassionate, dedicated young man. From a young age, he was always looking for ways to help others. Sarah says of her son: ''One Christmas he had received a large amount of gifts.''

David asked his parents ''if he could give some of his gifts to a classmate of his who he knew would not receive many items.''

David was a great athlete who played football and soccer and ran track. He loved to hunt and hunted turkey and deer, but his real passion was for duck hunting. He had many friends, was the life of the party, and he was popular with the girls. David ''would change outfits multiple times before going to school, as his hair and clothes had to be perfect,'' Sarah says.

David was also very dedicated to physical fitness. He worked out multiple times a week to stay in shape. Perhaps that is because young David knew his body was his instrument, and he had made up his mind to join the military by age 14.

David's high school did not have an ROTC program, so David worked hard to graduate 6 months early and eagerly enlisted. He skipped both the prom and graduation to take up his more important pursuit, enlisting in January 2010. He even waived his signing bonus saying, ''It is every young man's duty to serve.''

David planned to make the military his career and hoped to go into the medical field. He dedicated himself to the military handbook and doing everything ''by the book.'' He went on to serve as a paratrooper in a parachute infantry regiment, one of the most demanding specialties in the Army.

LT Eric Fitzgerald was Specialist Taylor's platoon leader. He says:

> David was one of the most outstanding paratroopers in the whole platoon, just striving to be the best. When you wanted something done, when you wanted it done right, you went to Taylor for it.

CPT Brian Bifulco, David's company commander, concurs:

> It was evident since the day I met him that David had all the qualities desirable in a paratrooper: Smart, aggressive, committed, and reliable. He displayed them readily in everything he did.

David maintained his rigorous workout schedule in the Army by following the Crossfit physical fitness programs 5 to 6 days a week so he could excel at the Army's physical fitness test. He could run his 2-mile fitness test in a full minute faster than anyone else in his platoon. Specialist Taylor was assigned to D Company, 2nd Battalion, 508th Parachute Infantry Regiment, 82nd Airborne Division, based out of Fort Bragg, NC. He deployed to Afghanistan for Operation Enduring Freedom in February of this year for what would be his first and only deployment.

David's fellow soldiers from his platoon named the small gym in their Afghanistan outpost in his honor as a remembrance of David's commitment to excellence. Nearly every soldier in the platoon wears a metal bracelet honoring Specialist Taylor. SFC Russ Kelley had this to say:

> For many of the guys, this is the first friend they've ever lost to combat. They wear the bracelets to remember.

At this time we are thinking of SPC David W. Taylor's family and his friends as I recount his story for the Senate, including his mother Sarah Taylor, his grandmother Laura Klutey, and many other beloved family members and friends. David was preceded in death by his father Kevin Taylor.

David's mother Sarah says David loved the Army and was excited to be in Afghanistan.

Sergeant Addington remembers:

> David seemed to live for the job, and while others would whine and complain in the field, David would just sling up his hammock and settle in. He was at home in the woods, a natural outdoorsman.
> David, who grew up in the woods, fit in perfectly. He seemed born to do this job, and I felt sorry for any Taliban that he was bound to run into in Afghanistan. The Taliban got lucky this time.

Even if that is the case, the tragedy of Specialist Taylor's death is certainly not lucky for anyone else, most of all not for the family he has left behind or his friends and fellow soldiers.

I know it is small solace in place of what they have lost, but I want them to know this Senate holds SPC David W. Taylor in the highest regard for his service on behalf of our country. We are honored, just a few days before Memorial Day, to recognize his enormous sacrifice on behalf of this Nation.

I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from New Jersey is recognized.

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr President, I rise in strong support of the underlying bill we are debating, the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act.

This legislation, which has been the model of bipartisanship and effective legislating on the part of Chairman HARKIN and Ranking Member ENZI, is critically important to the people of New Jersey and the Nation.

This bill is about more than drug safety. It is about more than protecting patients. It is about improving the approval process to speed access to new lifesaving, life-enhancing drugs and devices, and making sure the FDA is a partner in the production of safe and effective products.

This bill does this and accomplishes several key goals that are critically important to our Nation's health care system. Not only does it reauthorize the key user fee agreements for prescription drugs and medical devices, but it establishes agreements for generic drugs and generic biologic drugs called biosimilars.

Together, these user fee agreements will provide the FDA with the resources necessary to improve the drug and device approval process to more quickly and efficiently bring new products to market. It will enhance communication between manufacturers and the agency to foster a more cooperative environment, and it will allow for better and more thorough postmarket reviews to ensure continued patient safety and product efficacy.

There is more to this bill than the FDA user fees.

It permanently reauthorizes two vital programs that are a lifeline to our Nation's children—the Best Pharmaceuticals for Children Act and the Pediatric Research Equity Act, which are incredibly important to our children. It helps reduce and mitigate the ongoing problem of drug shortages we have heard about throughout the country. It provides for enhancements to the prescription drug supply chain and increases the accountability and transparency of the Food and Drug Administration.

It is good for children. It is good for business. It is good for patients. It makes the FDA a more effective partner in the process, and it demonstrates that we can reach across the aisle and work together to tackle tough issues and find solutions that benefit the people we collectively represent.

This just touches the surface of what this bill will accomplish. However, this incredibly hard work could very easily be unraveled by some of the amendments being considered.

It seems that, once again, despite the countless times—the countless times—the Senate has rejected the policy my friend from Arizona pursues, he has brought us an amendment that I believe puts Americans at risk, undermines FDA's authority, and would have a devastating ripple effect throughout our country's drug supply by allowing untraceable foreign pharmaceuticals into our country.

This amendment would ostensibly only allow drugs from Canada into the United States. However, nothing in the amendment comes close to ensuring that is the case. In fact, this amendment would easily allow Web-based pharmacies within Canada to provide untraceable, unaccountable drugs from all over the globe into the U.S. market without any FDA oversight whatsoever.

This amendment does not provide the FDA with any additional resources to monitor the drugs coming in from Canada, and even the Canadian authorities have said they cannot be expected to monitor all the drugs coming through their country and into ours. Once one of those drugs hits and causes consequences to some family, then we will all be running and saying: How did we allow that to happen?

The Senate has soundly and repeatedly voted against this type of drug importation because we understand the implications it has on bringing counterfeit and dangerous products into our Nation. As we work to strengthen the FDA, I ask my colleagues to join me in opposing this amendment, which would significantly weaken the agency and put Americans at risk.

AMENDMENT NO. 2109

Additionally, I wish to address another critically important issue brought up by my friend from Vermont. The Sanders amendment would lead to a radical change in how our Nation's biotech and pharmaceutical industry achieves the process of bringing lifesaving, life-enhancing drugs into the marketplace.

I certainly respect the passion for the issues he pursues. But there are over 200,000 people in New Jersey who work in the biopharmaceutical industry every day who take pride in the work they do creating breakthrough, lifesaving, life-enhancing drugs, and I take issue with this characterization of an industry which is responsible for some of the world's most important medical breakthroughs that have saved millions of lives. If you are one of those people waiting for one of those drugs to come to the marketplace, hoping that for your mother's Alzheimer's—the Alzheimer's that took my mother's life—we will finally have a breakthrough; that for your husband with Parkinson's, we will finally have a breakthrough; that for your loved one with cancer, we will finally have a breakthrough, you want to see that come to the marketplace.

This industry is responsible for finding the cures and treatments for diseases that kill people and destroy family incomes. This is the industry that has more than 1,600 active clinical trials in New Jersey on drugs to treat cancer, cardiovascular disease, diabetes, HIV/AIDS, mental and behavior disorders, and, especially important to me personally, trials for drugs treating Alzheimer's and other forms of dementia. Families look forward to those breakthroughs coming to the market to help cure their loved ones.

This work is what keeps our Nation competitive and on the cutting edge of medical science, providing billions of dollars in economic impact annually—roughly $900 billion nationally and more than $35 billion in New Jersey—and it provides countless people across the globe with lifesaving medications.

The amendment being offered could have a chilling effect on all this—all the hope for new treatments and perhaps new cures for diseases, having an opportunity for that to be turned around, to stop having those families lose a loved one who succumbs to a disease, ruining countless lives. It has the potential to dry up investment in the next cure and severely curtail the number of high-skill, high-paying jobs and billions of dollars in economic investment in the biopharmaceutical industry.

I know my friend from Vermont wants to prevent fraudulent behavior, and I wholeheartedly agree that bad actors who willfully commit fraud need to be punished, which is why we have the most incredible, stiff civil and criminal penalties in current law to prosecute those who commit fraud. But ultimately taking away the incentives we have in place to attract investment in this important research, especially when the penalties could be triggered by a minor, unrelated offense—the way the amendment is written—is just plain and simple bad policy. It is akin to having the death penalty for a simple assault.

The current intellectual property laws that protect pharmaceutical products provide researchers and their investors with a stable and predictable timeline that allows them to recoup the risky investments in research and development of new drugs.

We only think about the drugs that have success. But remember, out of every 5,000 to 10,000 potential drug compounds identified, only 1—only 1—of those 5,000 to 10,000 potential drug compounds will result in a new medicine on the market.

Do we want the companies not to take the risk of going through all those thousands and thousands of compounds to come up with the one that can be the cure for so many lives and save so much money in the government under Medicare and Medicaid and in our entire health care system? That is risky investing by anybody's standard, so removing incentives is bad policy for the public health of the United States.

This amendment will lead to uncertainty among investors. It will dry up capital. It will further delay access to new medical products. It will pull us back from the cutting-edge research and development that has always made this Nation great.

As I have said—and as my friends who are managing this bill have said—this FDA reauthorization is too important not to pass. So I urge my colleagues to reject these harmful amendments so we can move forward and have an FDA that has the ability to do its job on behalf of the American people to create a process that will be safe but will give us the lifesaving, life-enhancing cures that ultimately will lead to a better life for all of us.

With that, I yield the floor and suggest the absence of a quorum.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the time in quorum calls be evenly divided on the McCain amendment.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I again say we are rapidly coming to a close. Again, the sooner we can get to voting, the sooner we will close out the business for the day and probably for the week.

I again would point out that we have Senator BINGAMAN's amendment No. 2111 yet to be called up. Senator PORTMAN has two amendments—Nos. 2146 and 2145. Those basically are the only ones left to be brought up. So I would urge them to come and others who have indicated they want to come and speak on the amendments that are pending. The McCain amendment, the Sanders amendment, the Murkowski amendment, the Durbin amendment, and the Paul amendment are still pending. People have indicated they want to come over and speak on these various amendments. I would hope they would do so, so we can perhaps get to voting on the amendments and final passage of the bill sooner rather than later.

With that, I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

AMENDMENT NO. 2107

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I support Senator MCCAIN's amendment. That amendment would allow drug importation from approved pharmacies in Canada. I have been a long-time proponent of safe drug importation. I am currently a cosponsor of the Pharmaceutical Market Access and Drug Safety Act, a bill I have worked on for many years with Senator SNOWE and Senator MCCAIN.

In 2002 and 2003, I supported amendments similar to the one before us today that would permit the importation of prescription drugs from Canada. In the year 2004, the late Senator Kennedy and I worked together on a bill that would authorize drug importation, but it did not survive the partisan politics of this Chamber.

I then introduced my own comprehensive drug importation bill in 2004. I entitled that bill the Reliable Entry of Medicine and Everyday Discounts Through the Importation of Effective Safeguard Act, and that naturally works out to an acronym. we called it the REMEDIES Act.

In 2005, I combined that bill with the proposal sponsored by then-Senator Dorgan and Senator SNOWE. And in 2007 and 2009, we reintroduced the version of that legislation with hopes that our combined efforts would finally lower the cost of prescription drugs for all Americans.

During the health care reform debate in 2009, drug importation had a much better chance to pass than ever before. We had a Democratic supermajority in Congress and we had a Democratic President who supported drug importation in the past. But in backroom deals between the Obama White House and the pharmaceutical industry, those deals prevented us from finally lowering the drug costs for all Americans.

So after all of this decade-and-a-half effort, we are back here again trying to accomplish the same goal with Senator MCCAIN's amendment. I have always considered drug importation a free-trade issue. Imports create competition and keep domestic industry more responsive to consumers. Consumers in the United States pay far more for prescription drugs than those in other countries.

For instance, U.S. prices are, on average, 52½ percent higher than Canadian pharmacy prices. If Americans could legally and safely access drugs outside the United States, then drug companies would be forced to reevaluate their pricing strategies. They would no longer be able to gouge American consumers by making them pay more than their fair share for the high cost of research and development. Because that is a fact. We pay for most of the research and development of new drugs because other countries are getting by dirt cheap and there is not enough money coming in from those countries to pay for all of the research it takes, because, as you know, most of the cost of a drug is the research and development, it is not the manufacture of that little pill or a big pill, for that matter.

In the United States, it is a fact. We import everything consumers want. So why not pharmaceuticals? In fact, I look back at all my years working on trying to free up trade around the world through efforts to pass free-trade agreements, through efforts to get the President trade promotion authority, everything that would make global policies available to American consumers, and I can only think of two things our law prevents consumers in America from importing from other countries when everything else the consumers buy they can buy anywhere in the world if they want to—but not for pharmaceuticals or not for Cuban cigars.

Some opponents of this amendment have concerns about what drug importation would mean to the safety of drugs. Obviously, we have to be concerned about drug safety because that is what the FDA is all about—two things, making sure drugs are safe, and, No. 2, to make sure they are effective.

Everyone who knows me knows I care deeply about the safety of drugs. I would not be standing here today urging support for Senator MCCAIN's amendment if I did not think it would properly protect the safety of the Nation's prescription drug supply chain. The fact is that the unsafe situation is what we have today. Today patients who need a cheaper alternative are ordering drugs over the Internet from who knows where, and the FDA does not have the resources to do much of anything about it. The fact is the McCain amendment would not only help to lower the cost of prescription drugs for all Americans but will also establish a system where American patients can be certain that the drugs they are importing are safe.

The amendment has requirements that a pharmacy must meet before the Secretary may approve them for participation. This includes product testing in labs designated by the Secretary. A list of approved pharmacies will be published on the FDA Web site. Patients who are already forced to purchase their medications outside the United States would be able to access the list to choose a safe option. Additionally, the amendment lays out criteria that must be met before any patient may import drugs from an FDA-approved pharmacy. Patients must have a valid prescription from a physician licensed to practice in our country. The purchase must be for personal use, and the drug must have the same active ingredient, route of administration, dosage form, and strength as a prescription drug approved by the Secretary of HHS.

The McCain amendment would improve drug safety, it would not threaten drug safety. It would open trade to lower-cost drugs, and it would make other consumers around the world start paying for some of the research and development the American consumer is paying such a high price to provide. We should do all we can to get miracle drugs originated and developed, but the American consumer should not be paying the entire bill. We need to make sure Americans have even greater, more affordable access to lifesaving drugs by opening the doors to competition in the global pharmaceutical industry.

Obviously, after a decade and a half, I am continuing to urge my colleagues to join in this effort on the importation of drugs, and in this particular area to give support to Senator MCCAIN and support his amendment. I applaud him for the leadership he has shown in this area over a long period of time.

I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. ENZI. Mr. President, I rise in opposition to the McCain amendment No. 2107, which would facilitate the importation of prescription drugs from Canada. We are not talking about bus trips of seniors to reputable brick-and-mortar pharmacies right across the border. We are talking Canadian Internet pharmacies, which may not even be in Canada, which pose a significant threat to American patient safety.

This amendment would require the Food and Drug Administration to allow individuals to import prescription drugs into the United States from Canada, notwithstanding any other provision of the Federal Food Drug and Cosmetic Act.

Drugs that supposedly come from Canada can originate in any country in the world, and merely be shipped to the United States from Canada. Canadian law does not prohibit the shipment of drugs from any country into Canada and then into the United States. They do not care.

In 2005, FDA conducted an investigation of drugs that American patients thought they were ordering from Canada. Eighty-five percent of the drugs represented as coming from Canada actually came from 27 other countries. A number of drugs were found to be counterfeit.

A letter from Assistant Deputy Minister of Health, Canada, to the U.S. Surgeon General again said that Canada does not assure that products being sold to U.S. citizens are safe, effective, and of high quality, and does not intend to do so in the future.

The pending amendment would allow importation from Canadian Internet pharmacies. Canadian Internet pharmacies openly acknowledge they obtain most of their drugs from other countries. The specific language of the pending amendment gives rise to the additional safety concerns. For example, it will not prevent the importation of drugs that need special handling, such as refrigerated or photosensitive drugs. It would not prevent the importation of special drugs, such as those inhaled during surgery or administered intravenously.

The pending amendment would not require Canadian wholesalers that would be involved in the importation to be licensed or registered in any way. There would be a list but not a licensing or registration. Do we want anyone, even someone under investigation or with a suspended or revoked license, to be in the business of importing drugs, given the well-known risks?

FDA advises consumers that some imported drugs, including those that bear the name of U.S.-approved products, may, in fact, be counterfeit versions that are unsafe or completely ineffective. You know, they can have all of the ingredients to it, but if it is not put together the right way, it will not even dissolve as it goes through the body, and therefore there would be no benefit from that drug, even though it looked like the real thing, it tasted like the real thing, it went down like the real thing. But if it is not the real thing, it can cause some real trouble with people's health.

This is not a hypothetical concern. Last year Homeland Security Secretary Napolitano testified that counterfeit drugs are a growing problem. Two months ago, FDA testified about the dangers of purchasing counterfeit, unapproved, or diverted prescription drugs on line. My colleague Senator MIKULSKI has highlighted the growing involvement of organized crime in this area. Prescription drug counterfeiting can be dramatically more profitable than narcotic smuggling. Imported drugs pose additional dangers because their labels may lack important information or warnings.

FDA advises consumers that an imported medication may lack information allowing patients to be promptly and correctly treated for dangerous side effects.

We know imported drugs pose severe risks to American patients. The FDA and the Department of Health and Human Services have repeatedly said they cannot assure the safety of imported drugs. A side-by-side amendment that we used to put on this all the time was that you could import drugs as long as the Secretary of Health and Human Services said it was safe. Well, there hasn't been a Secretary of Health and Human Services who has been willing to sign that drugs imported from anywhere—even Canada—are safe.

FDA's Web site advises consumers that imported drugs—including drugs imported from Canada—may not have been manufactured under quality assurance procedures designed to produce a safe and effective product. That is the FDA Web site.

The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act represents over 100 years of lawmaking to protect the public health. It gives the FDA authority to make sure drugs are properly approved, manufactured, labeled, shipped, handled, and stored, that factories are inspected, and that numerous other protections are in place for American patients. Adopting this amendment would endanger American patients, and I therefore urge my colleagues to oppose it.

There is a lot more that could be said. I have been saying this for years and trying to find a way it could be done. At the present time, the safety of it makes me oppose this particular amendment. They keep revising the amendment. It is still online and everybody knows how things online can be redone. They talked about putting an official seal on each Web site, but I know fourth graders who can duplicate any seal you can put on the Internet. Any list can be changed—and who checks lists, anyway? The problem is not knowing where the drugs come from that go through Canada to the United States. If they are counterfeit, they can sell them for less. The Canadian secretary of health also doesn't want to be the pharmaceutical supplier to the United States. They have a little different system up there. It is a way of driving prices down, which is something we would not stand for in the United States, a mechanism where they have to bid on the drugs. The people who make hard medicine bid against each other, and your doctor might prefer the one that doesn't win the bid. That is how they drive the price down. It is probably something we would not allow in the United States.

I ask my colleagues to oppose the amendment.

I yield the floor.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. KYL. Mr. President, I will speak about two amendments that we will vote on later.

AMENDMENT NO. 2111

First is the Bingaman amendment. I urge my colleagues to oppose it. It ignores fundamental economic realities of pharmaceutical patent litigation, and it would ultimately result in fewer generic drugs being brought to market and delays in the launch of many of the generic drugs that do go to market.

Under current law, a generic drug company that is the first to file an abbreviated new drug application for an existing patented drug is entitled to 180 days of market exclusivity once the generic drug is approved. In other words, they have the exclusive market on it for half a year. This creates a powerful incentive for drug companies to bring generic drugs to market.

The present amendment would dilute this right of 180 days of exclusivity and potentially require the exclusivity period to be shared with another drug company's product. Under the amendment, the only way a generic drug company that files the first ANDA could be assured of getting 180 days of market exclusivity is by litigating a challenge to the validity of the branded drug's patent all the way to a final judgment.

This is not a sound approach. First of all, patent litigation is very expensive. Full litigation of a drug patent suit typically costs between $3 million and $5 million. Second, most drug patents are ultimately found by the courts to be not invalid; that is, most validity challenges to these patents fail.

Generic drug companies, as everyone else, have limited litigation budgets. As a practical matter, if we force them to litigate every patent case to a final judgment in order to preserve their exclusivity rights, they will pursue fewer abbreviated new drug applications, and fewer ANDAs means fewer generic drugs and higher costs for consumers.

Finally, it is often the case that part way into a drug patent lawsuit, the generic drug company comes to the conclusion that the brand's patent is strong and that the challenge to the patent is likely to lose. In such a situation, everyone is better off if the suit is settled. Typically, such settlements allow the generic drug to go to market somewhat earlier but still preserve the bulk of the patent term. Obviously if the generic drug company is forced to litigate this all the way to judgment in order to potentially receive exclusivity and they lose, the full patent term will run and there will be no early generic market entry. This hurts both the generic drug companies and, more importantly, the consumers.

For these reasons, I urge my colleagues to oppose the Bingaman amendment.

AMENDMENT NO. 2109

Second, I urge my colleagues to oppose the Sanders amendment. This amendment would undermine the government's ability to fight fraud and will harm patients and U.S. competitiveness by eviscerating existing incentives to invest in medical innovation.

The Sanders amendment would result in the automatic revocation of any remaining regulatory exclusivity on a product when a company is convicted or even enters into a settlement agreement for certain violations of the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, or any violations of the False Claims Act or several other listed statutes.

There are several reasons why this is the wrong approach. First and foremost, the amendment will result in less lifesaving drugs ever getting to patients. Obviously, we should be fighting for lifesaving drugs getting to patients even faster. We provide these periods for exclusivity, as I mentioned earlier, for a reason: to enable companies to recoup the significant investments they make—as high as $1.2 billion per drug—to develop new medicines. Some of the exclusivities the amendment would revoke are those we enacted to encourage companies to ensure the safe use of pharmaceuticals in children or to find a cure for rare diseases that affect a very small number of people.

Indeed, orphan drug exclusivity is a great example of how these exclusivity periods benefit patients. Since 1983, the year the Orphan Drug Act was signed into law, more than 350 medicines have been approved to treat rare diseases, compared to fewer than 10 in the 1970s. Why would we want to jeopardize such a great success story?

Second, reduced investment in U.S. drug development is not only bad for patients but for the economy. Because the Sanders amendment would create a disincentive to invest in drug development, the National Venture Capital Association has already expressed concerns, stating that the amendment has ''the potential to inadvertently undermine innovation and undermine decades of policies enacted by Congress with the goal of fostering medical innovation.'' Defined periods of exclusivity provide some small measure of predictability in what is otherwise a risky process, and companies and venture capitalists rely on these periods of exclusivity to make development and investment decisions.

By threatening the elimination of exclusivities for conduct that is likely many years removed from the development process, the Sanders amendment would introduce even greater uncertainty into the R&D process.

Let me restate that we need to reconsider the overall favorability of the environment for innovation in the United States. Yet here we are considering an amendment that, if enacted, would make the U.S. investment climate far less attractive for these companies, even as other countries are actively courting the biopharmaceutical industry.

Third, while the amendment purports to fight fraud, in reality it would actually undermine the ability of the government to fight fraud by undermining its ability to settle cases. The Sanders amendment would revoke exclusivity not only upon conviction—even if that conviction is later overturned on appeal—but also upon settlement. This is a huge problem because it creates a disincentive for companies to ever settle, as it would make more sense to drag out the district court litigation while any relevant exclusivity period is still running for the company.

Fourth, and finally, the amendment is not even necessary because the outcome called for by the Sanders amendment can already be achieved under current law in appropriate cases, because the government can, and does, have the power to negotiate the relinquishment of exclusivity as a condition of settlement. It can already do this. For example, this past January, the Department of Justice negotiated the relinquishment of a company's 180-day exclusivity as part of a settlement for violations of the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. Mandating this serious outcome in every case undermines the government's ability to use it as leverage to negotiate settlements.

Large penalties already apply for violations of the statutes listed in the Sanders amendment. The world of drug manufacturing and marketing is very heavily regulated, and noncompliance is subject to considerable penalties under current law. This amendment is not necessary. Rather than being outraged by settlements that occur, perhaps we ought to take them as an indicator that the government is doing a good job of using existing authority to go after those who seek to defraud the health care system.

I urge my colleagues to oppose the Sanders amendment.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The Senator from Maine is recognized.

Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, I rise to speak in support of the amendment offered by the Senator from Arizona.

NUCLEAR SUBMARINE FIRE

Before I do that, I want to recognize and acknowledge the tremendous and outstanding and remarkable work done by the crew at the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard and the local firefighters from numerous departments from the State of Maine, as well as from New Hampshire, because of the fire that occurred on the nuclear-powered submarine at the shipyard last evening, which was burning for more than 9 hours.

It was the extraordinary teamwork and coordination among all of the crews, as well as the firefighters and departments from both States, that managed to put out the fire. It is now smoldering. I offer my commendations and congratulations to those who did the exceptional and outstanding work, which exemplifies the kind of teamwork that already occurs at that shipyard. I wanted to offer my recognition to that extraordinary work in a very difficult circumstance.

AMENDMENT NO. 2107

I rise in support of the amendment offered by the Senator from Arizona, Senator MCCAIN, in authorizing a very limited drug importation program, whereby Americans can purchase medications from accredited online Canadian pharmacies. I am supporting this amendment, as I have in the past. In fact, we have had broader amendments offered on the floor of the Senate for almost more than a decade with respect to allowing importation of prescriptions from other countries that offer more competitive prices.

I applaud Senator MCCAIN, who obviously has been a very valuable ally in this effort for many years. But he proposed a very limited approach to address those who have concerns with the idea of importing prescription drugs. I, for one, cannot understand why there is such a fundamental concern about this issue because, first of all, Americans have been facing tremendous increases in prescription drug prices for far too long. I think it is at a point at which Congress should address this issue, and precisely on this particular piece of legislation that is before us today. It could not be more appropriate to have this amendment offered on this legislation.

In 2010, AARP found that retail prices for the most popular brandname drugs increased 41.5 percent, while the Consumer Price Index rose just 13 percent. In other words, the cost of prescription drugs rose more than three times as much as the inflation rate. That is completely unacceptable.

What has occurred as a result of this trend? First of all, American consumers are increasingly choosing to risk living without taking critical medications. According to the Commonwealth Fund, in 2010, 48 million Americans did not fill a prescription due to high costs. That represents an increase of 66 percent since 2001.

If the Senate and the overall Congress were to adopt the McCain amendment, it would allow Americans to purchase safe medications at a lower price than they are available for us in this country. We could begin to turn this disturbing trend around. I know people in Maine deserve access to affordable drug prices. Millions of Americans, and certainly those in Maine, have purchased drugs from Canada safely, at a significant savings over the years. They have had to go to great lengths in order to purchase lower price medications. They have taken bus trips to Canada to purchase that medication because that was the only way they could have access to the prescriptions they so desperately need. The McCain amendment builds on that foundation.

If we look at this first chart, Mr. President, an April 27, 2012, survey comparing average Canadian drug prices against major U.S. retail pharmacy prices, we find the average U.S. price for a 90-day supply of Nexium, which is a common blood thinner, is $560 in America but only $265 in Canada. So Americans are paying twice as much for Nexium as Canadians do. I think that is simply outrageous. Why should American consumers pay twice as much for a medication that so many Americans depend upon?

Here is another example of a drug that is a blood-thinning drug that is also very crucial in this process, and that is Plavix. That costs $585 in the United States versus $398 in Canada for a 90-day supply. So, again, American consumers are paying 50 percent higher costs for the same prescription drugs as Canadians do.

Then let's look at the very popular anticholesterol medication Lipitor. This chart illustrates, again, what Lipitor costs the American consumer. The cost is $478 in the United States as compared to $278 in Canada for a 90-day supply.

So for patients who are already trying to make ends meet in this very difficult economy by rationing their medications, splitting their pills, or even skipping medications entirely, why would we deny them access to safe drug products at these dramatically lower prices? That is why I have cosponsored Senator MCCAIN's amendment. It would allow Americans to import medication from accredited Canadian pharmacies from a list approved by the Secretary of Health and Human Services. These accredited pharmacies must commit to ongoing quality assurance programs and product testing to determine the safety and efficacy of these products.

This amendment is more narrowly focused than even the one that our former colleague Senator Dorgan and I had offered previously. This provides a pathway to a more limited approach for Americans to access affordable medications. In fact, there has been a very recent study conducted by Roger Bate of the American Enterprise Institute entitled ''Unveiling the Mystery of Online Pharmacies: An Audit Study.'' Let me quote from him as to what he discovered:

> If some foreign Web sites sell safe prescription drugs with substantial price discounts, but American consumers are guided to buy from U.S. Web sites only, the FDA could potentially discourage price competition between the U.S. and foreign pharmacies and, thereby, reduce drug affordability within the United States. The danger of reducing price competition depends on whether consumers can distinguish trustworthy Web sites from the vast pool of foreign Web sites.

So here we have the documentation by a very significant study that talks about how Americans can access these affordable medications. We shouldn't be discouraging price competition, as this study illustrates. That is one of the points I have been arguing over the years; that the real problem in this country with respect to prices for prescriptions is that we don't have competition within the industry and competition for those medications.

Americans have learned that citizens in other countries use the very same medications as we do. They are made in the very same plants. Yet they pay less. We talk about injecting greater free market competition in the health care marketplace as a way of achieving greater affordability, and this amendment attempts to address that very issue. As we look at what other countries do, when we are talking about accessing cheaper medications, we know in Canada that is the case, and it is certainly true in other industrialized nations.

I should add, in fact, they pay 35 to 55 percent less for their drugs because of the higher prices Americans pay, which is about $90 billion more for prescription drugs every year than we would otherwise. I think that is totally unacceptable. Why should American consumers be paying 35 to 55 percent more or nearly $90 billion more than consumers in other countries for the very same medications? It simply doesn't make sense.

According to former Pfizer CEO Hank McKinnell—looking at the quote on this chart:

> Competition is good medicine for economies. . . . Name an industry in which competition is allowed to flourish—computers, telecommunications, small package shipping, retailing, entertainment—and I will show you lower prices, higher quality, more innovation, and better customer service. There's nary an exception. Okay, there's one. So far, the health care industry seems immune to the discipline of competition.

When we last considered the legislation I introduced along with former colleague Senator Dorgan, we allowed importation only from Canada, the European Union, Australia, New Zealand, and Japan, and the Congressional Budget Office estimated the Federal Government would save almost $20 billion—$20 billion—if we allowed the importation of those medications. So we know for a fact allowing drug importation generates considerable cost savings to the government, to individuals, and businesses that provide health insurance coverage to their employees.

The bottom line is where nations institute safe, regulated trade in pharmaceuticals they achieve results. When Sweden entered the European Union system of trade, they saw a reduction of 12 to 19 percent in the price of traded drugs. In fact, Europe has had parallel trading for more than 30 years and has never had an incident.

Industries see the advantage in being a part of the global market when it comes to manufacturing costs. For example, according to a Pew study in 2011, the number of prescription drugs made at non-U.S. sites doubled between 2001 and 2008. That means they doubled at a sizable increase with respect to the number of prescription drugs that are made at non-U.S. sites. There are more than 50 plants where our medications are manufactured, and not all of those facilities are even inspected—not even inspected. Yet those are medications we use in this country because they are manufactured at other plants in other countries. As I said, there are more than 50 countries in which we have our prescriptions manufactured.

So let me see if I have this straight. It is fine for some foreign countries to manufacture drugs in their own plants for the U.S. market, ship those drugs here where the American people are given the privilege of paying higher prices than anywhere else in the world, but somehow we can't safely import those very drugs into the United States directly. It simply doesn't make sense.

The American taxpayer is underwriting more than $30 billion of research—basic and applied research—at the National Institutes of Health alone, so consumers in all those other nations are benefiting from the investments the American taxpayer is making with respect to research. That U.S. research produces these medications and these prescriptions that other nations pay 35 to 55 percent less for than the American consumer. The American taxpayer is paying more for those drugs, as I said, and also paying more of their tax dollars for the research that is ongoing at the National Institutes of Health. It simply doesn't make sense.

With all of the additional profit, industry invests nearly equally in R&D in the United States and in Europe and is increasingly moving research to low-cost Asian countries. So paying the world's highest prices for drugs doesn't ensure us more research, but it decreases our access to drugs. So that is the contradiction that Americans confront each and every day when they are purchasing their medications at a much higher cost than consumers in other countries.

The amendment that is offered by the Senator from Arizona is allowing importation solely from Canada, and it is for online pharmacies based on a list that has been drafted by the Department of Health and Human Services. That is a very prescribed, targeted, limited approach to allowing American consumers to benefit from those lower priced drugs that are offered in Canada.

It is very important we take this step. It is important for American consumers who otherwise are not going to be able to afford these medications when they are paying two to three times more than their counterparts in Canada, for example. The prices are rising five times more than the inflation rate year after year, so the compounding effect is significant and overwhelming for most American consumers and families. So what I hope is we will support the amendment that has been offered by Senator MCCAIN.

Some have suggested that providing support for the McCain amendment will hinder efforts to quickly move on the underlying legislation for the FDA. That concern is certainly not persuasive because the McCain amendment is a very narrowly focused approach. It represents a good-faith effort to find common ground. It has included strong safety-related measures and is done under very limited circumstances so the American consumer can take advantage of the lower prices I have demonstrated today with regard to some of the commonly used drugs, such as the anticholesterol medication Lipitor and the drug-thinning drugs such as Plavix. It is explicitly designed to make it more broadly acceptable to those who might have concerns in taking the approach of drug importation.

We must create a more competitive, more affordable health care system for the American people. The prescription drug market needs competition. Competition will lower prices. For some reason, even though we are underwriting all of the research that benefits consumers in so many other countries, and even though our medications are manufactured at other plants in 50 countries, the American consumers are paying up to 55 percent more than their counterparts around the world. It simply doesn't make sense. In fact, I would suggest it is outrageous.

So that is why I am supporting this amendment. We need to take this limited, modest first step that I think goes a long way to addressing any reservations anyone might have in this Chamber with respect to the issue of importation. I hope we will allow American consumers to benefit from the much lower prices, especially during these very difficult economic times. This is a first step toward a larger system of safe, regulated drug importation.

I commend the Senator from Arizona for offering this amendment, and I hope the Senate will adopt it.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. BROWN of Ohio). The Senator from Iowa.

SYNTHETIC DRUGS

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I ask to engage in a colloquy with Senator HARKIN.

I thank the Senator from Iowa for his hard work as chairman of the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions and, in particular, on the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act that the Senate is now considering. I appreciate Senator HARKIN reaching out to me about those amendments to his bill that fall within the jurisdiction of the Judiciary Committee. One of those amendments concerns the issue of synthetic drugs—a major problem that the committee has been addressing.

Mr. HARKIN. Amendment 2146, as modified, filed by Senator PORTMAN, places a number of synthetic drugs within schedule I under the Controlled Substances Act.

Mr. LEAHY. Yes. That amendment is the same in substance as three bills that the Senate Judiciary Committee passed last year—the Combating Dangerous Synthetic Stimulants Act, S. 409; the Combating Designer Drugs Act, S. 839; and the Dangerous Synthetic Drug Control Act, S. 605. It addresses substances commonly known as bath salts and other synthetic drugs that have no legitimate use and can too easily be obtained under current law. Bath salts have resulted in a number of reports of individuals acting violently in the United States, including in Vermont, and have led to injuries to those using them and to others.

Mr. HARKIN. I am glad that those bills and, therefore, the substance of this amendment have already been given careful consideration by the Senate Judiciary Committee. That gives me comfort in including this amendment among those to which the managers of the bill consent.

Mr. LEAHY. I agree. I want to be sure that the amendment to be included will be Senator PORTMAN's amendment that corresponds precisely to the bills that were considered by the Judiciary Committee. Adding chemicals to schedule I of the Controlled Substances Act has serious consequences and is not a step that we should undertake without careful consideration. Do you understand that the consent to include Senator PORTMAN's amendment is not consent to further amend the Controlled Substances Act, that it is limited to these chemicals and matters contained in that amendment, and that have been considered and approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee?

Mr. HARKIN. Absolutely.

Mr. LEAHY. It is unfortunate that the three synthetic drug bills that the Judiciary Committee passed last summer have been unable to move on the Senate floor because they have been held up by one Senator. They have been cleared for Senate passage on the Democratic side for some time.

Mr. HARKIN. It is too bad that so much progress has been blocked by so few in this Congress. I am glad that the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act may provide an opportunity to make progress on this important issue.

Mr. LEAHY. I thank the Senator for his assistance on this matter.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following pending amendments be agreed to: Leahy No. 2142, as modified; Portman No. 2145, as modified; and Coburn No. 2131; and that the Coburn amendment No. 2132 be withdrawn.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. BROWN of Ohio). Is there objection? Without objection, it is so ordered.

AMENDMENT NO. 2142, AS MODIFIED

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, I commend the Senate for unanimously adopting my amendment to address Freedom of Information Act, FOIA, concerns with section 708 of the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act. I especially thank Senators HARKIN and ENZI—the distinguished Chairman and Ranking Member of the HELP Committee—for working with me to protect the American public's ability to access important health and safety information under FOIA.

My amendment improves the bill by allowing the Food and Drug Administration, FDA, to obtain important information about drug inspections and drug investigations undertaken by foreign governments, while at the same time ensuring that the American public has access to information about potential health and safety dangers. Specifically, the amendment narrows the scope of the FOIA exemption in the original bill to No. 1 cover only information obtained from foreign government agencies and No. 2 clarify that the information to be withheld must be voluntarily provided to the FDA pursuant to a written Memorandum of Understanding. The amendment also preserves the right of the Congress to obtain this information. Lastly, the amendment places a 3 year time limit for withholding information pursuant to the exemption, unless a different time period is specified by the foreign government agency—so that the information will not automatically be shielded from the public indefinitely.

For more than four decades, the Freedom of Information Act has been an indispensible tool for the public to obtain Government information. This law carefully balances the need for the Government to keep some information confidential, with the need to ensure free flow of information in our Democratic society. I am pleased that by unanimously adopting my amendment, the Senate has worked in a bipartisan manner to ensure that this careful balance is maintained regarding FDA drug inspections and investigations.

I thank the many open government and consumer groups—including OpenTheGovernment.org and Public Citizen—that supported this amendment. Again, I also thank and congratulate the lead sponsors of this bill on the passage of this important legislation.

AMENDMENT NO. 2146, AS MODIFIED

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, it is my understanding that we are ready to act on the Portman amendment No. 2146, as modified.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there further debate on the amendment? If there is no further debate, the question is on the adoption of the amendment.

The amendment (No. 2146), as modified, was agreed to.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I yield the floor.

AMENDMENT NO. 2111

(Purpose: To provide substantial savings in health care costs to the Federal government and consumers by fostering competition among generic pharmaceutical manufacturers and ensuring that anti-competitive ''pay-for-delay'' settlements between brand-name and generic pharmaceutical manufacturers do not block generic drugs from entering the market)

Mr. BINGAMAN. Mr. President, I call up amendment No. 2111.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the amendment by number.

The Senator from New Mexico [Mr. BINGAMAN], for himself, Mr. VITTER, Mr. FRANKEN, Mrs. SHAHEEN, Mr. KOHL, Mr. UDALL of New Mexico, Mr. JOHNSON of South Dakota, Ms. KLOBUCHAR, Mr. MERKLEY, and Mr. SANDERS, proposes an amendment numbered 2111.

Mr. BINGAMAN. I ask unanimous consent that the reading be dispensed with.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

(The amendment is printed in the RECORD of Thursday, May 17, 2012 under ''Text of Amendments.'')

Mr. BINGAMAN. Mr. President, this amendment is one that is a bipartisan amendment. Senator VITTER is cosponsoring this with me, also Senators FRANKEN, SHAHEEN, KOHL, TOM UDALL, TIM JOHNSON, KLOBUCHAR, MERKLEY, SANDERS, and the Presiding Officer, Senator BROWN.

This amendment addresses the very same issue that the Senator from Maine was talking about; that is, how do we bring down the price of prescription drugs? How do we get competition into the market for prescription drugs?

We have a circumstance today in which an anticompetitive, anticonsumer practice is engaged in, and our amendment will change the law so that practice can no longer be engaged in. The practice I am talking about is the entering into so-called pay-for-delay settlements between brand-name drugs—brand-name pharmaceutical companies and generic manufacturers.

These pay-for-delay settlements have the effect of delaying timely access to generic drugs. These agreements between companies shield billions of dollars in sales each year from effective competition. The pharmaceutical companies benefit from this lack of competition and they do so at the expense of consumers and they do so at the expense of the Federal Government, since the Federal Government is a very large consumer and purchases a substantial amount of prescription drugs for the military and in other ways.

A preliminary estimate from the CBO indicates that this amendment will reduce direct spending by hundreds of millions of dollars at a minimum. Frankly, I believe it will, in fact, save us billions of dollars annually at the Federal Government level. The CBO also indicates that the amendment will reduce the average cost for prescription drugs and lower the cost of health insurance plans.

Early access to generic drugs is a key to saving money in the health care system. Kaiser Family Foundation has found this. They concluded that spending in the United States for prescription drugs reached $259.1 billion in 2010. That is nearly six times as much as we spent on prescription drugs in 1990. Since generic drugs are on average four times less expensive—or another way to put that is one-quarter of the cost of the brand-name alternatives—they can be a very important source for reducing the cost in our health care system. To actually receive these savings, consumers have to have access to these generic drugs and have access to them in a timely manner.

In 1984, Congress passed the bipartisan Hatch-Waxman Act to create market-based incentives for generic pharmaceutical companies to bring their drugs to market as quickly as possible. The purpose of the law was to incentivize the early generic drug competition while preserving incentives for pioneer companies to develop innovative new medicines. Unfortunately, pay-for-delay settlements between brand-name drugs that already have their products in the market and generic pharmaceutical manufacturers who have not yet brought their products to market have become commonplace, and these agreements, these so-called settlements, have stifled competition and delayed access to generic drugs at a significant cost to everyone who is involved in the health care system.

There is a table I want to put up. It relates to three particular drugs, and I will talk about the second two of these drugs because this gives some context to what I am concerned about.

This second drug is Lipitor. Everybody knows about Lipitor. It is a cholesterol-lowering drug. It is familiar to most people. It is the best-selling pharmaceutical ever in the history of the world.

According to a 2008 New York Times report, a pay-for-delay settlement delayed generic entry into that market—the entry of a generic version of Lipitor—by 20 months. The same report stated the generic version of the drug was estimated to sell for less than one-third the cost of the brand-name Lipitor. It pointed out that the brand-named Lipitor had earned $12.7 billion in sales the year before.

According to a letter sent to the FDA Director Hamburg last year from some of my colleagues in the Senate indicating that the Federal Government was spending $2.4 billion a year on Lipitor, they estimated that bringing a generic version to market would generate somewhere between $4 billion and $6.7 billion in savings annually to people who are purchasing this drug in this country.

The second example is Provigil. This is a sleep disorder drug. Due to the pay-for-delay settlement entered into there, a generic version of Provigil just came to market this year. Had this amendment we are offering as part of this bill been law, generics very likely would have entered the market 6 years ago with the expiration of exclusivity.

The chief executive officer of Cephalon—which is the brand-name manufacturer of Provigil—is quoted as saying:

> We were able to get six more years of patent protection. That's $4 billion in sales that no one expected.

In other words, the Provigil case represents 6 years and millions of dollars of lost savings to consumers, the largest consumer being the U.S. Government and particularly the U.S. military.

I have a chart that relates to the U.S. military's potential savings from this amendment. This translates this into dollars that are being paid out by the U.S. military as part of the defense budget, which we are going to be passing later this year.

Assuming that a generic version of Provigil would have been released in 2006, the Department of Defense alone would have saved $159 million from this one drug between 2006 and 2011. That is over $150 million from a single prescription drug.

If enacted, this amendment would foster more generic competition, would bring generic drugs to the market sooner, and would do so in a manner that is consistent with the original intent of the Hatch-Waxman Act. Passage of the amendment would significantly cut prescription drug costs for American consumers and help reduce the Federal deficit.

Let me also allude to an article on the front page of the New York Times. I know some of my colleagues take exception to the New York Times occasionally, but this is an article entitled ''New Fervor for Cutting Costs Among Hospitals and Insurers.'' The reporter is Reed Abelson. About three paragraphs into the article, he states:

> After years of self-acknowledged profligacy, hospitals, doctors and health insurers say there is a strong effort under way to bring medical costs under control.

I was struck by that phrase ''self-acknowledged profligacy in the health care system.'' I think that is what we have engaged in, in the Congress, frankly, is self-acknowledged profligacy in the health care system. This amendment will help to correct that.

The amendment has the strong support of AARP, of Families USA, Consumer Federation of America, U.S. PIRG, Consumers Union, the Center for Medicare Advocacy, AFL–CIO, AFSME, Walmart, the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare, among other groups and organizations.

If my colleagues favor competition, this amendment helps to promote competition. If we want to see reduced costs to the taxpayer for health care, then this amendment helps to reduce the cost to the taxpayer. If we want to reduce what patients and hospitals and insurance companies have to pay for prescription drugs, this amendment helps to do that as well.

I think this is something that is long past time we corrected this problem. This is a great opportunity for us to do so. I believe it is one of the first amendments that will be considered on this legislation. I hope my colleagues will put aside whatever other considerations they might have had in the past and go ahead and vote for this correction in Federal law. This is a problem, frankly, that we passed legislation that provided the opportunity—unfortunately. It was not intended. But an unintended consequence of the earlier legislation that we passed, the Hatch-Waxman Act, was to allow this kind of blocking, these kinds of pay-for-delay settlements to be entered into. We can correct that today. I hope very much we will.

I urge my colleagues to support the amendment, and I yield the floor.

Mr. SCHUMER addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On whose time is the Senator speaking?

Mr. SCHUMER. I am speaking on the majority's time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On the Bingaman amendment?

Mr. SCHUMER. No. I am speaking on the McCain amendment.

AMENDMENT NO. 2146

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I am going to speak for a brief moment on the amendment No. 2146 and then on a different issue, which is the reaction of some to the proposal Senator CASEY and I made about Eduardo Saverin and others who renounced their citizenship for tax purposes.

First, on 2146. I am glad this amendment has now finally passed the Senate. It places synthetic drugs on schedule I of the Controlled Substances Act as totally banned substances, which are where they belong.

These synthetic substances are also known as bath salts or, in the case of synthetic marijuana, Spice incense. Synthetic drugs aren't sold on street corners by slingers who keep hidden stashes; instead, these drugs are legal—even though they are dangerous—and can be found in local corner stores across the country. They are as easy to buy as a lollipop or a carton of milk but far more dangerous, even more dangerous than the common illegal drug on which they are based.

By passing this amendment, we finally get these poisonous drugs off our shelves and keep our Nation's youth out of emergency rooms.

I wish to thank Senators KLOBUCHAR and GRASSLEY for working with me on this amendment, as well as Chairman HARKIN and Senator ENZI, Chairman LEAHY, Senator GRASSLEY, and Senator FEINSTEIN for their leadership, and I want to thank Senator HARKIN and ENZI particularly for getting us in this package and Senator PORTMAN for working with us on this amendment.

EDUARDO SAVERIN

On the issue of Eduardo Saverin, last week, Senator CASEY and I introduced the Ex-Patriot Act. It is a bill that makes sure that people that renounce their citizenship for tax purposes do not escape what they owe and cannot come back without repaying all that they avoided paying this great country.

It is a modest proposal, made in response to the regrettable effort by a person named Eduardo Saverin, who renounced his American citizenship to avoid paying even the historically low level of 15 percent on capital gains for the several billion dollars in windfall profit he is set to receive from the Facebook IPO.

Mr. Saverin is no longer involved in the day-to-day running of the company, and it bears mentioning that the current, active leadership of Facebook is comprised of responsible corporate citizens who meet all of their responsibilities and obligations.

Mr. Saverin, on the other hand, has chosen to disown the United States to save some money on his taxes.

Senator CASEY and I have proposed a response. Our bill would bar Saverin—and others like him—from reentering the country. It would also re-impose taxes on investment income earned in the United States even if an expatriate is living abroad.

I believe that the vast majority of Americans, of all parties and persuasions, think that renouncing citizenship in America to avoid taxes is troubling, unwarranted and ungrateful.

It is upsetting, to say the least, when a person who has benefitted so thoroughly from being an American—a person who accessed and enjoyed so many exceptional aspects of American society—just takes the money and runs, rather than doing the right thing and repaying the debt he owes to a nation that nurtured, facilitated and cheered his success.

And I think that the vast majority of Americans are receptive to suggestions for how we can address this kind of unacceptable behavior.

Look, nobody enjoys paying taxes, but Americans know that we would not have a functioning society without them. We argue and debate about the proper rates, and what is fair, and what level will sustain and grow our economy and our middle class.

But I think that most Americans agree that paying a mere 15 percent in capital gains taxes on a sum of $3 billion or $4 billion is not too much to ask a person, especially a person who fled their own homeland because their native society could not provide a reasonable level of security to their family.

While the real point here is not just about this one case—our bill addresses a small group of evaders over the last decade or so—it is worth pointing out that in this particular case the Saverin family found security here thanks to taxpayer funded cops and stability thanks to a taxpayer funded military, and a world-class university system, like that at Harvard—again underpinned by public support.

And they also found an expansive middle class that would become the market for his product. And a dynamic, entrepreneurial, free market economy that allows for significant accumulation of wealth. And functioning capital markets that were recently saved from the brink of catastrophic collapse through who? The American taxpayer.

And they found a government that invests in research and development, in things like creating the internet, and the web, and GPS, and microprocessors, all of which are necessary precursors to what Saverin and his cohorts created via Facebook.

And let's not forget, a non-corrupt legal system, which decided a case in his favor that made him a billionaire.

Yes, Eduardo Saverin did well by being in America.

And I think that most Americans know full well that what he accomplished was not done in a vacuum and that his success is the also the outgrowth of his participation in an extraordinary American society—a society that we collectively support.

No one gets rich in America on their own. And when people do well in America, they should do well by America.

I believe the vast majority of Americans believe this, too. So when I introduced our legislation I was sure it would garner wide and deep support, and in general, it has.

That is why it is baffling that extreme right wing Republicans, people like Grover Norquist, the de-facto leader of the Republican Party on tax matters, would rush to the defense of a man who is turning his back on America by dodging taxes.

Amazingly, the extreme right-wing echo chamber has made Saverin into a cause célèbre, defending his decision to disown the country as somehow ''heroic''—Their words, not mine.

I was amazed. Just amazed. I took it as a given that citizenship—and all that it implies in terms of loyalty and duty to America—was axiomatic.

But that is no longer the case. Here is just some of what was said.

Forbes said that ''For De-Friending The U.S., Facebook's Eduardo Saverin Is An American Hero.'' An American hero? Renouncing your citizenship now qualifies as heroic for the hard right wing? George Washington was heroic. Rosa Parks was heroic. JOHN MCCAIN and Gabby Giffords are heroic. Navy SEALS are heroic. Eduardo Saverin is not.

National Review's Mario Loyola says, ''It is the foolish and counter-productive tax policies of the left that are chasing Eduardo Saverin to another country. . . .'' I'm sorry. 15 percent capital gains rate on several billion dollars is so onerous that it is chasing him away? I am sure any American worker would love to have that rate.

And if 15 percent is too high, what does Mr. Loyola or Mr. Norquist think the proper capital gains rate should be? Do they think we should have even lower taxes on capital gains, which disproportionately goes to the highest income earners?

What is the proper capital gains rate, Mr. Norquist? Should we make it 10 percent? 5 percent? Or should it be zero?

They won't say. Because if they did, they would be laughed out of town.

The Wall Street Journal says we are ''oppressive and demagogic.''

No. In America, You are free to leave. But if you leave to purposely avoid paying your fair share, then we will attach a consequence to that dodge.

Right wing blog after blog—from the American Thinker to the Daily Caller—echoes that, ''punishing Saverin for tax dodging is un-American.''

Really? Silly me. I thought that renouncing one's citizenship was un-American.

While on right wing radio they ask:

If it's a more favorable tax haven than you can find elsewhere, why is it automatic that you are unpatriotic? Why is it automatic that you are a coward?

Because, my fellow Americans, when you renounce your nation to fatten your bank account, you are—by definition—being greedy and unpatriotic.

Grover Norquist: says our bill is like fascist Nazi Germany or apartheid South Africa or communist Soviet Union, while in American Thinker we of erecting a ''Berlin Wall.'' And In the Examiner they are accused say we are ''totalitarian.''

The comparisons are absurd on their face and burden on the odious.

The law Mr. Norquist references in Nazi Germany was purely; discriminatory. It targeted a particular race of people—the Jewish people—and—punished them for nothing other than being Jewish and exercising freedom of movement. It was meant to constrain that freedom by forcing Jews to reside inside Germany.

Our proposal targets no single race, creed or class. It doesn't punish you for factors beyond your control, like who your parents were. It applies based on actions you take—namely, disowning the United States to avoid taxes. Our law is not triggered by a wish to travel beyond America's borders, or even reside permanently in a foreign country. It is the act of renouncing one's U.S. citizenship—for the purpose of avoiding taxes—that triggers our bill.

Another right wing opinion piece asks: ''If you leave to protest heavy taxation why must you pay a penalty?''

I am sorry, gentlemen, but Mr. Saverin is not protesting anything If he was protesting, he would stay here, and fight for a lower tax rate—not simply exempt himself and leave others like him to continue paying a rate he considers too high. What he is doing is free-riding on America, dodging paying his fair share, and pocketing the billions from an IPO windfall.

Yet another right wing blog says we are engaged in ''class warfare to vilify people that create wealth-just like the Nazi's did with the Jews.''—I know a thing or two about what Nazi's did—some of my relatives were killed by them—and saying that a person who made their fortune specifically because of the positive elements of American society, in turn, has a responsibility to do right by America is not even on the same planet as comparing to what the Nazis did to the Jews. That comparison is odious, but it is in a bunch of these right-wing blogs.

On and on it goes. The whole torrent of vitriol is absurd. Just absurd.

Mr. Saverin is, in essence, an economic tax dodger.

And once upon a time, the right wing castigated draft dodgers for failing to heed their nation's call. Those who fled the country were vilified by the right wing as cowards, as self-absorbed, as traitors.

Yet, in this case, the exact same kind of unpatriotic, un-American behavior is actually being defended by the extreme right wing.

It is off the deep end.

And when a view this irrational has overtaken one end of the political spectrum, it has serious, negative consequences for our ability to solve our nation's problems.

If those on the other side of the negotiating table are this obsessive on taxes—that they consider their minimization a higher priority than preserving our national identity—then it is no wonder a grand bargain on taxes and spending has been so out of reach.

In the last several years, the far right has disregarded one historically conservative priority after another in favor of an all-consuming obsession with protecting low tax rates for the wealthiest Americans.

First, it was the deficit. The Republicans have for years claimed that deficit reduction was their top priority. But that has since been exposed as a myth.

Every independent economist will tell you that the deficit problem cannot be solved except through both spending cuts and revenue increases. In fact, preserving tax cuts for the very wealthy is counterproductive to the goal of reducing our annual deficits.

Yet the far right marches on in defense of tax cuts for millionaires, deficits be damned.

Last August, our Nation's creditworthiness became a second casualty of the far right's insistence on low taxes for the wealthy. The right wing was so dug in against any reasonable fiscal compromise that they forced a manufactured crisis over raising the Nation's debt limit. This caused the first-ever downgrade of our Nation's credit rating.

Unbelievably, the far right prioritized millionaire tax breaks over our Nation's full faith and credit.

Despite that unreasonableness, we thought we had finally figured out a way to force the far right to come to grips with the need to deal with revenues. We come up with a mechanism called the sequester that would trigger harsh defense cuts if the Republicans continued to refuse any new revenues.

Surely, if there was one thing conservatives prized as much as tax cuts, it was defense spending, right?

Wrong. As we speak, the far right remains unwilling to cede an inch on revenues, no matter what it means for the Pentagon. The deficit; the Nation's creditworthiness; National security—all of these have taken a backseat to the far right's idolatry on taxes. Now they have gone so far, they have taken this idolatry all the way to its extreme end point by making Eduardo Saverin into their patron saint.

In the name of low taxes for the wealthy, they have lionized an inherently unpatriotic person.

The hero worship of Saverin is Norquist's extreme right wing anti-tax agenda being carried to its logical conclusion. And it is a scary, absurd place where even a tax dodger who renounces America for his own 30 pieces of silver is celebrated as a patriot and an American hero.

It is perverse.

Reasonable Republicans rightly seem wary to embrace taking things this far. House Speaker JOHN BOEHNER labeled Saverin's move ''absolutely outrageous'' and said he would support legislation to stop wealthy ex-pats relocating to avoid taxes.

Others have been quiet, perhaps cowed by fears of being the next target of the right wing echo chamber.

Shouldn't loyalty to America—and the broader responsibilities and duty of citizenship—trump base, non-essential financial self-interest?

Sadly, the answer of the extreme right is no.

The Wall Street Journal attacked the thrust of our proposed legislation as an example of the ''age of envy.'' Well, it is not envy. In fact, I am happy those who intended and invested in Facebook got very rich. Having an idea and succeeding and maybe getting rich off this great idea is the American way. More power to them.

However, what is not the American way is taking a free ride on all the exceptional aspects of American society. What is not the American way is deriving massive advantage from various publicly supported elements of that society and then skipping town when you hit the jackpot. Yes, you are free to leave. You have a right to be selfish—even greedy—when renouncing this Nation.

I understand this will make you more money and there is a rational, simplistic argument to be made in favor of doing it—if the only factor that mattered was always getting richer and all other values were irrelevant. But we Americans have other values too.

America is special for many reasons. It is secure, it offers freedom of expression, it is diverse and tolerant, it is entrepreneurial, and it is economically and culturally dynamic. Looking out for the common good is in our blood. It is a part of our shared history and vision of our Founding Fathers.

We provide for the common defense. We promote the general welfare. We are not just out for ourselves. No. We look to secure the blessings of liberty not just for ourselves but for our posterity. It is this, and so much more, that makes America an exceptional society.

I am appalled by the reaction. I am not appalled by a debate on tax policy. I am appalled by making heroic a man who renounces his citizenship to escape a tax rate, capital gains of 15 percent.

Too often I think every action and dilemma we face is now reduced to a question of whether this means bigger government or smaller government. Since those on the extreme right believe we must have smaller government at all costs, they vehemently oppose all taxes. But sometimes, as with this case and others like it, it is not just about the size of government. It is about doing what is fair and right and just based on your responsibilities as a citizen.

Citizenship is not simply a business decision, it is not just a transaction. Those on the right, such as Grover Norquist, defending this economic draft dodger are saying something very different. They are saying the social contract somehow excludes the accumulation of money. We know we give up certain rights and freedoms to live in a place like America, but we cannot just carry out vigilantism to pursue justice.

So in conclusion, being an American is not a one-way street. There are enormous benefits to being a citizen of our Nation and a member of the amazing society that has spawns. But there are also responsibilities and duties, such as patriotism, service, contributing your fair share, and commitment to community and family.

As we approach critical debates on the matters of taxation and fairness and job creation so critical to keeping America, the greatest Nation on the face of the Earth, I certainly hope it is these values, not glorified self-interest, that drowns out all other values that guide our actions.

Thank you. I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The senior Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. ENZI. Mr. President, while I agree with much of what the Senator has said, I hope this doesn't encourage other partisan diatribes to come to the floor when we are on a bipartisan bill and trying to solve getting necessary pharmaceuticals to the market as soon as possible. We have a limited time of debate, and we need to stay on the subject. So I hope others are not encouraged to come down to counter anything they may have heard or to make different charges.

We have some time left on Bingaman and some others, but I hope we can move forward on the bill.

I yield the floor to the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I concur with Senator ENZI on that, to stick to the bill.

I ask unanimous consent, notwithstanding the previous order, the Senate proceed to votes in relation to the following amendments at 12 noon with all other provisions of the previous order remaining in effect: Bingaman amendment No. 2111, Murkowski amendment No. 2108, and Paul amendment No. 2143.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. VITTER addressed the Chair.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Louisiana.

Mr. VITTER. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, I will not object. I want to ensure that I will have 10 minutes in support of the Bingaman-Vitter amendment prior to the vote as was promised to me.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Louisiana is notified that there is not 10 minutes remaining in support of that amendment.

Mr. VITTER. Mr. President, may I inquire to the Chair how much time is remaining.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There are 3 minutes left in support of the Bingaman-Vitter amendment.

Mr. VITTER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that as part of this agreement that I be given 7 minutes before the vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I would modify my unanimous consent request to have the vote start at 12:05.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? Without objection, it is so ordered.

The assistant majority leader is recognized.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I think that accommodation was to allow the Senator from Louisiana for 7 minutes, and I would ask for 5 minutes before the votes begin.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the Senator from Louisiana will be given 7 minutes and the assistant majority leader will be given 5 minutes and the vote will begin at 12:05. Is there objection? Without objection, it is so ordered.

The assistant majority leader.

AMENDMENT NO. 2127

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, today we are considering a bill that will improve the FDA's ability to assure the safety of drugs in our medicine cabinets and medical devices in our hospitals. The FDA is an essential guardian of the public's health and safety. In the past few years, FDA has faced obstacles that call on the agency to adapt and respond to the evolving nature of reviewing, manufacturing, and distributing drugs and devices.

Some of those obstacles and challenges are addressed in the reauthorizations of the Prescription Drug User Fee Act and the Medical Device User Fee Act, which are set to expire at the end of September 2012.

Last fall, I visited Cook Medical's medical device plant in Canton, Illinois, and representatives expressed concern about the amount of time it takes medical devices to be reviewed. The FDA needs sufficient time to review medical devices, in order to ensure their safety and effectiveness. However, inefficiencies and insufficient resources can result in longer review times, which mean patients have to wait longer to benefit from new medical devices.

This bill makes key changes to maintain the safety of devices and preserve our country's leadership in biomedical innovation. The bill will authorize the FDA to collect almost $600 million in user fees over 5 years. The FDA can use these additional resources to help hire and train staff.

Furthermore, the bill makes important improvements by streamlining the review process for devices and increasing communication between the FDA and device manufacturers throughout the review process. These changes to the review of medical devices will not only help innovative device companies get their product to market faster, but will prevent patients from having to wait extra weeks and months to benefit from a new device.

In addition to reauthorizing the Prescription Drug and Medical Device User Fee Acts, this bill also establishes the Drug User Fee Act and Biosimilar User Fee Act, which gives the FAA new authority to collect user fees for generic and biosimilar drugs. Currently the FDA does not collect user fees to support the review of generic drugs, and it takes about 30 months for the agency to review generic drug applications. This extra time reduces access to safe, affordable generic drugs and leaves patients and taxpayers paying the tab for brand-name drugs that lack competition from generics.

Since the first Prescription Drug User Fee Act was enacted in 1992, the FDA began collecting user fees to support the review of applications. The FDA has cut the review time for new drugs by 60%, from 2 years to a little over 1 year. Similarly, the Generic Drug User Fee Act will give the FDA the support it needs to cut the current 30-month review time for generic drugs down to 10 months. This improvement will promote competition in the marketplace and save money by reducing the amount of time patients have to wait for less expensive generic alternatives to brand name drugs. The process of negotiating and drafting this legislation started 18 months ago and the result is a comprehensive bill that improves the safety and quality of drugs and medical devices.

Chairman HARKIN and Senator ENZI have put together a bill that responds to many of these challenges, including one that is of particular interest to me——the national shortage of critical drugs. Between 2006 and 2010 the drug shortage increased 200 percent from 56 to 178 drugs. Currently the drug shortage includes over 200 drugs, like intravenous nutrition supplements, cancer treating drugs, and anesthesia.

Over the past few months, I have held three roundtable discussions at hospitals across Illinois to learn about the drug shortage and how it is affecting providers and patients. From these discussions it is clear that the drug shortage is being felt at most hospitals and those Illinois hospitals, providers, and pharmacists are working around the clock to ensure patients maintain access to drugs and safe treatments.

At Advocate Hospital in Libertyville, a doctor shared that he learned just days before starting a patient on chemotherapy that the drug was not available. Unfortunately, this is a common scenario across the country as doctors learn days before starting a treatment or even once the patient is on the hospital bed that a drug is not available. Pharmacists now spend part of each day scrambling to find drugs or an alternative treatment.

Recently I learned that a young woman on my staff here in D.C. is all too familiar with the drug shortage. She is a smart and hard-working woman who has been taking Concerta to treat her ADD since she was 14. Like most people with severe ADD, she must take her medicine at a certain time every day in order to keep her ADD symptoms from impeding basic life and work responsibilities. And while there are several ADD drugs on the market, each drug works differently and can have different side effects, so switching to a new prescription is not without risk.

Last year, the local CVS where she usually had her prescription filled started telling her they didn't have her drug in stock. She didn't think much of it as she would wake up early and walk to another CVS in the morning where she was usually able to get the prescription. Over time, she grew accustomed to going between these two CVS pharmacies to fill her prescription.

Until one month, when she carried her prescription with her for 3 days and was unable to find a pharmacy with enough Concerta to fill her 30-day prescription.

By the end of day 3, she was out of her supply. She woke up early and rode her bike to four or five CVS pharmacies until she was able to find a pharmacy that could fill her prescription. But by then it was 12 o'clock and past the prescribed time to take the drug.

The shortage of ADD drugs impacts children, adults, parents, and employees across the country. Congress needs to take action to address the drug shortage.

The FDA Safety and Innovation Act builds on Senator KLOBUCHAR's bill with key provisions to curb the national drug shortage. First, the bill requires drug manufacturers to notify the FDA 6 months in advance for certain drug shortages. With this much notice, the FDA can work with manufacturers to try to avoid a shortage and, when necessary, identify alternative sources of the drug to ensure we maintain a supply for patients.

This winter, thanks to open communication between the FDA and drug companies, the FDA successfully avoided a shortage of methotrexate, a vital drug to treat leukemia in children. The FDA collaborated with Illinois-based generic drug manufacturer, Hospira, to increase production of this live-saving drug when another company halted production. Requiring 6 months advance notice of a drug shortage will help the FDA to work with companies to avoid shortages of critical drugs.

Furthermore, the bill requires FDA to enhance the agency's response to shortages and will improve reporting of shortages by allowing third-parties to report drug shortages to the FDA.

This bill also takes steps to improve the safety of drugs and the drug supply chain.

In 2008, serious injuries and 81 deaths were linked to contamination of the crucial blood thinning drug heparin. The source of the contamination was a facility in China that intentionally adulterated the drug. This was a horrible illustration of what happens when adulterated and counterfeit drugs make their way into the drug supply chain and ultimately to patients. This case has also raised serious questions about the global manufacturing practices of drugs and drug ingredients and the FDA's responsibility to protect the drug supply chain.

Since the heparin incident, the global nature of the drug supply chain has only grown. Today 80 percent of active pharmaceutical ingredients are manufactured outside of the United States. This bill improves the safety of our supply chain, both domestically and internationally by requiring foreign manufacturers to register their facilities with the FDA. The bill also places greater responsibility on U.S. drug manufacturers to know their international suppliers and increases penalties for intentionally contaminating or counterfeiting drug. Counterfeit and adulterated drugs can have deadly consequences, yet the penalty for committing these crimes is less than the penalty for selling a counterfeit designer purse.

Currently, the penalty for intentionally counterfeiting or adulterating a drug is no more than 3 years in prison or a $10,000 fine or both.

This bill raises the penalty for intentionally adulterating a drug to no more than 20 years in prison or a $1 million fine or both.

And the penalty for intentionally counterfeiting drugs is raised to no more than 20 years in prison or a $4 million fine or both.

This bill addresses the drug shortage, reduces the review time for medical devices and drugs, improves the pipeline for antibiotics and pediatric drugs, and helps secure the supply chain for prescription drugs.

I would like to thank Chairman HARKIN and Senator ENZI for their extraordinary leadership and hard work on this bill.

The amendment we will face this afternoon is one I am offering relative to dietary supplements. I want to make it clear what this is about.

If someone walked into their neighborhood drugstore and looked at everything on the shelf, here is what they can say: All the prescription drugs the pharmacy has access to have been reviewed by the Food and Drug Administration that they are safe and effective. All of the over-the-counter drugs have been reviewed and registered with the Food and Drug Administration to make certain they are safe and have been precleared before they can be sold. Now when they move back to the vitamin counter, all bets are off. Those are called dietary supplements. They are not subject to the same level of scrutiny, inspection, testing or regulation. It is an entirely different world.

It is understandable that there are those of us who want to be able to walk in and buy vitamins, for example, without a prescription. That is our right as Americans. But we also want to make sure that whatever is on the shelf at the pharmacy is not dangerous or at least we know it is there.

There are between 55,000 and 75,000 dietary supplements in America. We don't know the exact number. They include the obvious, vitamins and minerals, but they also go further. They include energy drinks. Ever heard of the 5-Hour Energy Drink, Monster Energy Drink? Those are not sold as colas, sodas, or beverages. They are sold as dietary supplements. Why? Because there is no regulation in terms of their contents.

We had a sad story I told on the Senate floor 2 days ago, with the family in the gallery, about a 16-year-old girl from Hagerstown, MD, who drank two Monster Energy Drinks within a 24-hour period and went into cardiac arrest. It was too much for her heart. She died. That was a dietary supplement.

My amendment says if they want to sell a dietary supplement in the United States, they have to do one basic thing: They have to go to the Food and Drug Administration and say: This is the name of my company. This is the name of my product and the ingredients in it. And here is a copy of the label. That is it.

So is it important that we know this? There will be 1,000 new products bought and sold in the United States as dietary supplements every year. Just in case we think knowing the dietary supplement facility company has been registered is enough, hang on tight. These dietary supplements are coming from all over the world. Sadly, a lot of them turn out to be dangerous.

In 2009 the FDA announced that Super Slim, a dietary supplement manufactured in China, contained the pharmaceutical ingredient sibutramine, which is no longer available in the United States and found to increase the risk of heart attack or stroke. If the manufacturers had registered this dietary supplement so we knew the ingredient, we could protect American consumers.

The same thing was true in 2001. Another Chinese-based weight-loss ingredient, aristolochic acid, was found to cause kidney damage and to be a potent carcinogen. Isn't it important for us to know this? Is it too much to ask the dietary supplement companies to go to the FDA and at least register their products before they put them on the shelves across America? Don't American families have the right to scrutiny and at least some basic knowledge of the sale of these products?

The industry is against this. They don't want to report it. They basically say: It is none of your business. We will sell what we want to sell, and that is the way it will be. If we want to volunteer the information, so be it. But we don't want to be required to disclose the information.

There are groups that see it differently. I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD letters that support my amendment. The Center for Science and Public Interest and the Consumers Union are in support of this amendment.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

CENTER FOR SCIENCE IN THE PUBLIC INTEREST,
Washington, DC, May 24, 2012.

Senator DICK DURBIN,
Attn.: Binta Beard, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR DURBIN: The Center for Science in the Public Interest is pleased that you are introducing an amendment to the Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act that would help improve public confidence in dietary supplements. Supplements are poorly tested, may be contaminated, can sometimes interact with pharmaceuticals, and are marketed with more hype than just about any other consumer product. Your amendment would do the minimum to protect both consumers and conscientious companies: require disclosure to the Food and Drug Administration of all ingredients, build a repository of labels, and require registration with the FDA. Much more really should be done to assure safety and efficacy, but we hope your amendment will receive widespread support.

Sincerely,

MICHAEL F. JACOBSON,
Ph.D., Executive Director.

Senator RICHARD J. DURBIN,
U.S. Senate, Hart Senate Office Building, Washington, DC.

DEAR SENATOR DURBIN: Consumers Union applauds your efforts to strengthen dietary supplement safety by requiring manufacturers to register their products with the Food and Drug Administration (FDA). Specifically, your proposed amendment to the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act (S. 3187) would require manufacturers to provide the FDA with accurate and up-to-date information regarding each dietary supplement product they manufacture, a list of ingredients included in those products, and a copy of the product labels.

Although many dietary supplements on the market may be safe and healthful, there are numerous ingredients that may pose significant dangers to consumers. Some supplement ingredients could, for example, interact with prescription drugs to produce dangerous side effects. Others can change the effectiveness of prescription drugs. Still others could be generally safe for most consumers, but have hazardous health effects for certain population subgroups, such as pregnant women or children.

Dietary supplement manufacturers are currently subject to limited registration requirements as food-processing facilities. However, these entities are not required to register their products with the FDA, in order to facilitate timely action in the event of a safety alert. As noted by the U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) in its 2009 report, FDA ''lacks complete information on the names and location of dietary supplement firms within the agency's jurisdiction,'' and does not have a comprehensive database of products currently being sold in the marketplace, and the ingredients they contain. This leaves the FDA without adequate marketplace information, should it need to take prompt or immediate action regarding supplement ingredients that are dangerous or found to be adulterated.

Requiring manufacturers to submit a list of products sold, product ingredients, and product labels to FDA on a regular basis would ensure that the agency can appropriately assess potential safety issues and quickly respond as they arise. The FDA's post-marketing surveillance of dietary supplements will be much more effective if the FDA has accurate, timely information about supplement products currently available in the U.S. marketplace.

Consumers Union believes this amendment will advance the safety of dietary supplements for consumers. We thank you for taking on this critically important issue, and look forward to working with you to support the amendment.

Sincerely,

CHUCK BELL,
Programs Director

IOANA RUSU,
Regulatory Counsel
Consumers Union.

Mr. DURBIN. I ask my colleagues when this vote comes before us, before we have another death in America from a dietary supplement from China, India, Mexico, or even in the United States, shouldn't we require the most basic information so we know the name of the company, the ingredients in the product, and what the label looks like?

The FDA has asked for this information. They asked expressly for this information. To say it is a burden on them, they already asked for it.

I ask my colleagues when this amendment comes up later this afternoon that they support this in the best interest of protecting American families and consumers.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. HAGAN). The Senator from Louisiana.

AMENDMENT NO. 211

Mr. VITTER. Madam President, I rise to strongly support the upcoming Bingaman-Vitter amendment, which is basically an amendment form that Bingaman-Vitter Fair Generics Act would stop an escalating trend in the drug industry which has pay-for-delay deals between a generic manufacturer and a big pharmaceutical manufacturer.

Over the last several years we have seen a huge increase, and we have seen this trend grow from modest to a raging trend, and it is anticompetitive. It is pay-for-delay deals in which the brand-name drug dealer pays off or settles with the first-to-file generic drugmaker, often restricting generic market entry for years into the future.

As prescription drug prices explode, they put real pressure and burdens on many Americans' budgets because they are making medications that should be more affordable in terms of coming onto the market. They are postponing those drugs, paying for the delay, and holding them off the market longer and longer.

The FTC has compiled data and made clear that this trend is happening, and the FTC, an official government agency, said:

> The continued trends of record numbers of brands and generics resolving patent litigation prior to a final court decision [yields] significant numbers of such settlements potentially involving pay-for-delay.

Those were the FTC's words.

In 2004 the FTC had identified zero of those sorts of pay-for-delay deals. In 2006 it was up to 14. In 2011 it doubled to 28. Clearly it is a big trend. That is ''28 final settlements (that) contain both compensation to the generic manufacturer and a restriction on the generic manufacturer's ability to market its product.''

This fair generics bill, through this amendment, fixes the problem. That was the intent of the original Hatch-Waxman language, but there was a loophole that has been exploited in this pay-for-delay deal because the first filer is granted exclusivity even if the first filer is paid off and settles and doesn't pursue its ability to enter the market.

The Fair Generics Act would fix that, and it would basically outlaw that sort of marketing of generics. It would realign and reaffirm the incentive and reward not just for filing first but for successfully challenging and invalidating a patent. So we would move the first filing exclusivity to a reward for filing and also successfully invalidating a patent.

It is a realistic proposal. It would allow the first filer to follow through on that filing. It would encourage it, but also if that is not going to happen, it would allow subsequent filers to litigate and validate the patent and thereby gain ability to enter the marketplace. I really think this was the intent of Hatch-Waxman.

Unfortunately, there is a loophole that has been exploited in Hatch-Waxman that has led to these serious pay-for delay cases. Again, this is an escalating trend that is still growing. I have no doubt that when we get the number for 2012, it is going to be significantly above the 2011 number of 28.

So to simplify it, if the first filer does not enter into a settlement with the restricted and delayed market entry date and if it does diligently challenge and invalidate a patent, nothing changes under present law. The current 6-month market exclusivity reward remains. So that incentive, that reward absolutely remains. However, if that doesn't happen and the first filer just wants to settle or park its filing and is generic, a subsequent filer would have the ability to step up and challenge the patent and, if it won, it would have market access.

This solution provides more litigation certainty. We propose basically a use-it-or-lose-it statute for the brand name to sue the generic within the 45-day window. Current law provides a brand manufacturer a 30-month stay if they sue the generic within the 45-day window but still allows a suit after.

So, again, I believe this is a reasonable and measured approach. This is not as Draconian or dramatic an approach as other proposals in the Senate. I believe this is the middle ground, and I believe this honors and gets us back to the original intent on this subject of Hatch-Waxman. But it is a measured response to this escalating trend that we clearly see, that the FTC has objectively identified and measured—a so-called pay-for-delay arrangement.

In conclusion, the goal of Hatch-Waxman was to bring generics to the market more quickly. This approach, the FAIR Generics Act, will do that. There are anticompetitive deals that are being struck more and more often—pay for delay—and they are becoming much more prevalent, and they are hurting American families.

The mega-lobbyist pharmaceutical industry, of course, opposes this reform because, quite frankly, those pay-for-delay deals are a way to buy more exclusivity and keep generics off the market longer. But that is not in the interests of the consumer. It is time to stand up to them. It is time to have some courage, to stand up to Big Pharma and say: We are going to preserve your exclusivity for developing a drug, but we are not going to let you buy off generics and unfairly extend that time period. We are going to let generics come to market in a reasonable time. We are going to create incentives to make sure that happens.

I urge all of my colleagues to support that proposal, which is embodied in the Bingaman-Vitter amendment, the FAIR Generics Act.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is now 2 minutes of debate equally divided on the Bingaman amendment.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, first I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There appears to be a sufficient second.

The Senator from New Mexico.

Mr. BINGAMAN. Madam President, I thank Senator VITTER for his comments and for his strong support of this amendment. I thank all of the other cosponsors of the legislation.

If we are interested in promoting competition in the health care field so that we can keep prices down, then we need to support this amendment. That is exactly what this does.

Under our law in this country, we provide exclusive rights to a company that develops a drug to sell that drug during the time the patent is in effect. But what we are concerned with here is that after that patent is no longer valid, companies are still extending their exclusivity, extending their time when they don't have any competition by entering into these agreements. So we think they can settle their disputes—we don't have a problem there—but they cannot keep other generic manufacturers from coming to the market who also have demonstrated the invalidity of a patent.

If we are worried about the cost of health care to the Federal Government—the Federal Government is paying too much for prescription drugs because of this flaw in the Hatch-Waxman Act that we are trying to correct. If we are worried about keeping prices down for hospitals, insurance companies, and consumers, this amendment will help to do that.

I urge my colleagues to support the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. ENZI. Madam President, I rise today to oppose the amendment addressing the patent settlements for generic claims.

I am sympathetic to the intent of the sponsors of this amendment. I believe that some drug patent settlements may be improper and could be unfairly increasing drug prices for consumers. If that is in fact happening, we should stop the bad settlements and encourage the ones that work.

The problem with this amendment, however, is that its scope is much broader and could lead to unintended consequences that could harm consumers and increase costs. That is why I must oppose it. The amendment uses a machete when a scalpel might solve the problem. Not all patent settlements are abusive. They do not all lead to higher costs. In fact, some settlements can actually expedite generic drugs coming to market. According to one recent study by RBC Capital Markets, patent settlements helped expedite 24 of the 37 most recent generic drug approvals.

The amendment would allow competing generic manufacturers, in certain cases, to share the 180 days of exclusivity provided under the drug patent law known as Hatch-Waxman. This period of exclusivity was intended to create a market incentive for generic manufacturers to be the first to file a generic drug application with FDA.

The amendment is intended to discourage generic manufacturers from reaching settlements with brand manufacturers to delay generic competition. Unfortunately, it may also have the unintended consequence of discouraging generic competition generally.

The Hatch-Waxman statute, which first established our current system of brand and generic drug approvals, was a careful compromise of competing interests. It struck a balance between encouraging research and development of new cures and promoting competition to lower costs. By all accounts, this law has been a success. Our Nation leads the world in the creation of new drugs and therapies that improve the lives of countless patients across the world. At the same time, generic drugs have promoted competition and lowered costs to American patients. According to one recent estimate, generic drugs have saved the American health care system over $930 billion over the last decade.

This amendment would disrupt that system and reduce the incentives that currently encourage manufacturers to file generic drug applications with the FDA. Allowing competitors to share the 180 days of exclusivity will undermine the market incentives for manufacturers to make such filings. It will also create uncertainty about whether generic manufacturers will ultimately be able to recoup their investments and could mean that there will be fewer generic drugs.

That is why the generic drug manufacturers oppose this amendment. While I genuinely appreciate the desire to prevent abusive settlements, I believe that we must be very careful in disrupting a system that has worked so well for patients and consumers.

We should hold hearings in the HELP Committee to hear from all of the stakeholders who have a role in this system. We need to learn how any proposal will impact the incentives to encourage competition. We also need to learn how any proposed solutions will affect settlements and patent litigation.

This is clearly an important and very complex issue, but this amendment could have serious and detrimental consequences for patients. This is why I would urge my colleagues to oppose this amendment.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

AMENDMENT NO. 2108

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I inquire what the next vote would be on?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Murkowski amendment No. 2108.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I ask that that vote be a 10-minute vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is already the order.

There are now 2 minutes equally divided.

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Madam President, I ask for support of the amendment that is before us. This is an amendment that will actually strengthen the role of NOAA as the Federal agency that has oversight over our fisheries.

Currently the FDA is considering an application for a genetically engineered fish, a fish that takes DNA from one salmon and an ell pout to accelerate the growth unnaturally. The FDA is not looking at labeling this fish. The FDA is not considering the environmental impact of escapement on this fish into the marine environment.

What we are asking for with this amendment is as the FDA proceeds in its process that the agency that has oversight of our fisheries be allowed to participate and weigh in as to whether there are any environmental consequences that may come about as a consequence of a release into a marine environment.

This is a situation where people have a right to know about the quality of their fish, where it comes from, what it is made of. What I am asking is for the agency that has oversight of our fisheries to have a role in this process. I urge Members to support the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader.

Mr. REID. Madam President, the time, as usual, did not run as quickly as we wanted. I ask unanimous consent that we only have two votes prior to lunch today, and that the next vote start at 5 minutes until 2 today after we complete this vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Kansas.

Mr. HARKIN. Regular order, please.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. For what purpose does the Senator seek recognition?

Mr. ROBERTS. Madam President, I rise in opposition to speak for 1 minute.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is 1 minute in opposition. The Senator is recognized.

Mr. ROBERTS. Madam President, I fear this legislation would insert Congress in the scientific process of approving applications that we have entrusted to the FDA. This application has been pending at FDA for over 15 years. We should allow the FDA to complete their scientific review of the product and not interfere with the ongoing reviews.

We have a science-based system that allows for complete review. We should allow that process to continue. This amendment sets up a two-tiered, two-agency approval system. That is not good. We know the FDA has already conferred with NOAA regarding the pending application.

Basically, Members of the Senate should not put on lab coats and tell the FDA to approve or deny the pending application. We should allow them to act on the statutory authority that is given to them. I reluctantly oppose the amendment of my colleague from Alaska.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Massachusetts.

Mr. KERRY. Madam President, this would be the first time Congress has ever interfered in an FDA-based, science-based approval process. If we open that, we would be opening an extraordinary can of worms.

I urge my colleagues to oppose this amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment.

The amendment (No. 2108) was rejected.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order requiring 60 votes for the adoption of the amendment, the amendment is rejected.

The Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. CORKER. Madam President, I understand I have 3 or 4 minutes to speak about the GAIN Act.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. How much time does the Senator wish to speak?

Mr. CORKER. About 3 or 4 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. On an amendment or on the bill?

Mr. CORKER. On the bill.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. There is a lot of commotion going on. I want to know where the time is coming from for the Senator from Tennessee.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator said he was speaking on the bill.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, how much time is left on the bill?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa controls 15 minutes, and the Senator from Wyoming controls 22 minutes.

Mr. HARKIN. How much time does the Senator from Tennessee need?

Mr. CORKER. Three minutes.

Mr. HARKIN. OK, that is fine.

Mr. ENZI. Madam President, I yield 3 minutes to the Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. HARKIN. I will, too, if he needs it.

Mr. CORKER. Madam President, I rise to thank both the majority and minority leaders of the bill for their great effort. I am pleased to speak about a provision in the FDA Safety Innovation Act that addresses a growing public threat in Tennessee and Connecticut and across the Nation.

Several months ago, Senator BLUMENTHAL and I introduced the GAIN Act, which is a bipartisan provision that provides a meaningful market incentive and reduces regulatory burdens to encourage development of new antibiotics that will help save lives and reduce health care costs.

Drug-resistant bacteria, or ''superbugs'' as we call them, are becoming harder to treat because we lack new antibiotics capable of combating these infections. Not only do these infections take a toll on patients and their families, but they also run up health care spending to the tune of $35 billion to $45 billion annually.

It is crucial that these new antibiotics are discovered in order to stay ahead of the growing trend of drug resistance. Drug discoveries do not happen overnight, so we must act now to ensure that we have lifesaving medications when we need them.

The GAIN Act is a straightforward, commonsense bill that provides market incentives to encourage innovation without putting Federal dollars at stake, and it is included in this FDA reauthorization. Antibiotic resistance is a growing issue that we need to address now to properly prepare for the future.

Dr. William Evans, director and CEO of St. Jude's Hospital in Tennessee, wrote a letter supporting this bill, which says:

We don't want to find ourselves in a situation in which we have been able to save a child's life after a cancer diagnosis only to lose them to an untreatable multi-drug resistant infection.

I thank Senator BLUMENTHAL from Connecticut for his leadership on this bill. I especially thank Senators HARKIN and ENZI for working with us the way they have to include this provision in the FDA Safety and Innovation Act.

I think I have stayed within my time limit.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Who yields time?

The Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. ENZI. Madam President, I yield 5 minutes to the Senator from Ohio.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Ohio.

AMENDMENTS NOS. 2145 AND 2146

Mr. PORTMAN. Madam President, I thank the ranking member and congratulate him for the good work today on this legislation.

There are a couple of amendments that are part of the bill I want to speak about. First is on prescription drug abuse—a problem we all face as representatives of our States. I particularly thank Senator WHITEHOUSE for his partnership on this important bill.

In the last decade, unfortunately, prescription drug abuse has reached epidemic proportions in States such as Ohio, and in so many other States around the country. In doing so, it has devastated the lives of so many individuals but also the well-being of our communities, and of course affected their families, affected our economy, and it has caused a big spike in crimes, including theft, as addicts look for ways to support their addictions. This crime, of course, has doubly strained law enforcement, which has already had to contend with the increase in drug trafficking with constrained budgets. It has also served as a gateway to other drug use, including heroin use, which tends to be less expensive and causes additional public health challenges.

Amazingly, since 2007, drug overdoses have now moved ahead of car accidents as the leading cause of accidental death in my home State of Ohio. Again, we have seen this, unfortunately, too often around the country. We have had record levels of hepatitis C infection from needle sharing. In one county on the Ohio River, in southern Ohio, 10 percent of the babies born in 2010 had drugs in their system.

The good news is progress is being made in places such as Scioto County and around the country thanks to the good work of health professionals, law enforcement, local, State, and Federal officials, along with community groups, families, schools, churches, and others. But they need some help. More work needs to be done, and one critical tool they are looking for in the fight against prescription drug abuse is a better way to monitor prescription drug use. There are databases around the country called prescription drug monitoring programs. They allow States to monitor and track the dispensing of prescription drug medications by health care providers to be able to identify and stop the abuse of people getting prescriptions for these drugs in various different doctors' offices and in what have been called pill mills. Preliminary research has shown monitoring programs are highly effective in stemming the tide of abuse. That is why 48 States and 1 territory now have them, with 41 of them operational.

There is a problem, however. Different States' monitoring programs can't communicate with one another, so one State doesn't know what the other State is doing, and drug trafficking is an interstate problem. This is especially true in places such as Scioto County in southern Ohio, right across the river from Kentucky and bordering West Virginia. We want these States to be able to work together, and that is why Senator WHITEHOUSE and I have offered this amendment, No. 2145, as a Federal solution to providing a framework for monitoring programs to participate in data sharing across State lines.

This amendment also supports collaboration between the Department of Health and Human Services and the Bureau of Justice Assistance in order to further their research to assess challenges that have an impact on States' interoperability.

Some have called for a national monitoring program—one Federal program. I don't think that is necessary. I don't think it will work as well. A lot of States have programs that are working extremely well and they have put a lot of money into them. There are differing protected health standards State by State. So rather than trying to federalize it, our amendment gets these disparate programs to work together securely, reliably, and efficiently without undermining or jeopardizing the State's autonomy in this area. States should remain free to establish laws that determine user eligibility and reporting requirements. So this amendment is to help, again, give these communities the tools they need to fight this prescription drug abuse.

Finally, I would say that our amendment has no effect on direct spending or revenues over the 10-year period.

The other amendment I want to mention also has to do with substance abuse—about the dangers of what we unfortunately all here in this Chamber have heard about—and that is synthetic drug abuse, including K2 Spice, bath salts, and herbal incense. Today we have an opportunity to do something about this problem. Let's prohibit these drugs from getting into the hands of our children, our service men and women, and others.

This amendment addresses the growing use and misuse of synthetic drugs by placing 15 cannabinoids, 2 stimulants, and 9 hallucinogens in Schedule I to expose those who manufacture, distribute, possess, import, and export synthetic drugs without proper authority to the full spectrum of criminal, civil, and administrative penalties, sanctions, and regulatory controls.

I want to give special thanks to the people who led this effort over the years—Senators GRASSLEY, SCHUMER, and KLOBUCHAR. They have worked hard on this issue, and we are all pleased this is part of the underlying legislation. It was Senator GRASSLEY, as well as the folks from the Community Anti-Drug Coalition, who originally introduced me to the prevalence of designer drugs. I was told of the story of David Mitchell Rozga and many others who have suffered, and of some of the deaths that have occurred around the country.

This amendment, again, would have no significant effect on direct spending or revenues over a 10-year period and is a good, commonsense approach to trying to get our hands around this issue and help the constituents we represent and help our communities fight to stem this particular substance abuse that is affecting us all.

Madam President, I yield the remainder of my time, and I yield the floor.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, if I may inquire of the Senator how much time she wishes.

Mrs. HAGAN. I would request 6 minutes.

Mr. HARKIN. I yield 6 minutes off the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mrs. MCCASKILL). The Senator from North Carolina.

Mrs. HAGAN. First, Madam President, I do want to applaud the hard work of the Senate HELP Committee chairman TOM HARKIN and the ranking member Senator MIKE ENZI. This bill is truly one of the most bipartisan efforts I have had the opportunity to be a part of in the 3 years I have served in the Senate. It ought to be a reminder that, yes, when we work together across the aisle, the Senate can get things done.

I am particularly proud to support this bill because of what it will mean for patients who are suffering with diseases, who do not have access to adequate treatments, or who do not have access to any treatment at all. This bill we are voting on includes key provisions of the TREAT Act—the Transforming the Regulatory Environment to Accelerate Access to Treatments Act—which I introduced in February. These important provisions will expedite the review of treatments for serious or life-threatening diseases without compromising the FDA's already high standards for safety and effectiveness.

I introduced the TREAT Act after meeting with a family whose child suffered from spinal muscular atrophy or SMA. This is an incurable neuromuscular disease and is the leading genetic cause of infant deaths. Of course, that family was not alone. There are 30 million Americans suffering from rare diseases, and I have had the honor to meet a number of them. Their stories are both heartbreaking and inspiring.

When I visited the North Carolina Children's Hospital last month, I met with Megan and Jarrod Hendren of Lumberton, NC, whose 13-month-old twins Logan and Lucas suffer from Gaucher's disease. This disease is a painful and potentially debilitating metabolic disorder for which currently there is no cure.

I also met with 8-year-old Ashley Burnette from Raleigh, who is resilient and wise beyond her years, but who is suffering from neuroblastoma.

For the families and patients like these, suffering from these rare diseases for which there are no approved medications, medical advances cannot come fast enough. There are so many rare diseases, but fewer than 250 have FDA-approved therapies. The provisions of the TREAT Act that have been included in this bill take great steps toward resolving the problem.

There is currently a pathway at the FDA to expedite the review of drugs for illnesses that are serious or life-threatening and for which there is no adequate treatment. This is called the Accelerated approval pathway. Since the early 1990s, it has been successfully used to advance treatments for patients with HIV and cancer by leaps and bounds. However, it has not been applied regularly or consistently to the review of drugs to treat other diseases.

This inconsistency is why I introduced the TREAT Act. My bill will broaden the application of the accelerated approval pathway beyond HIV/AIDS and cancer to a wider range of diseases, with a particular focus on rare diseases. That is why my proposal enjoys broad support from patient advocates, including the National Organization of Rare Diseases, Us Against Alzheimers, Parkinson's Action Network, the Huntington's Disease Society of America, and many more.

By providing for consistent application, we will help the FDA implement these provisions, assist drug sponsors to navigate the approval process, and, hopefully, bring safe and effective treatments more rapidly to the patients who need them.

I am also proud to have played a critical role in the legislation that led to the negotiations of the first biosimilars user fee agreement, which is also included in the bill before us. Last Congress, we passed the Biologics Price Competition and Innovation Act to facilitate the introduction of lower cost alternatives to biologic drugs, while ensuring continued research and development into innovative biologics which can save or improve the lives of millions of Americans.

The user fees negotiated by the industry and the FDA will provide the necessary funding for the review of these critical therapies. The biosimilars industry is in the earliest stages of development, and the biosimilars user fee agreement will help facilitate this industry's growth.

In addition, the FDA Safety and Innovation Act provides the necessary regulatory updates to keep pace with the rapid innovations of the biopharmaceutical industry. This is imperative for creating jobs in States such as mine—in North Carolina—and maintaining America's competitive edge in the global economy.

Companies with footprints in North Carolina are partnering with our world-class universities to improve the health of people all across the globe every day by researching, discovering, and developing lifesaving treatments for those suffering from these devastating diseases.

Passing the FDA Safety and Innovation Act for States such as North Carolina, and for our Nation, to remain global leaders is important. It is especially important if we are to help attract the jobs of the future.

The American public also expects the FDA to be the world's gold standard when it comes to ensuring the supply, the safety, and the integrity of our drug supply. By sending the FDA Safety and Innovation Act to the President's desk, we will establish a clear and effective pathway for turning ideas into cures and cures into treatments. And we will have shown the foresight and flexibility required to maintain our country's position at the top of the medical treatment and device industries.

I thank the Chair and I urge my colleagues to join in supporting the FDA Safety and Innovation Act.

I yield the floor.

Ms. MIKULSKI. Madam President, I rise in opposition to the McCain amendment No. 2107. I appreciate the intent of Senator MCCAIN to make lower cost drugs available to the American people, but I have many flashing lights about this amendment. I bring this from knowledge of being both on the Intelligence Committee and also in working with the FBI as the chair of the Subcommittee on Commerce, Justice, and Science.

This amendment allows individuals to import FDA approved drugs from Canada. It sounds great, but we don't know if the drug was made in Canada. No HHS Secretary has been able to demonstrate that importation will be safe. It is ironic that some faux populists who oppose a public option, who oppose allowing Medicare to negotiate drug prices, support importing price controls from Canada. This amendment doesn't guarantee cost savings for consumers, Medicare, Medicaid, or insurers.

I oppose this amendment for four reasons. First, it is a budget buster. Enforcing this will take enormous amounts of resources, and the amendment doesn't give the FDA the human resources, the financial resources, or the technological resources to ensure the safety of these drugs for U.S. consumers. It doesn't give FDA the resources to inspect and certify the brick-and-mortar and Internet-based Canadian pharmacies, nor does it give FDA the resources to verify that these pharmacies comply with Canada's laws. We all know that FDA needs more money to carry out its existing responsibilities overseas and domestically. The agency doesn't need another unfunded mandate.

The second reason I oppose this amendment is because I am concerned about organized crime and counterfeiting. We have a history of phony drugs coming from rogue Web sites. We cannot be sure that the drugs coming from Canada are not a counterfeit, lethal drug. There is no guarantee that these drugs originate from the legitimate supply chain. Where there is compelling, compassionate human need, there is greed. Where there is greed, there are scams and schemes. In this case, the scams and schemes can be lethal.

The third reason I oppose this amendment is that it doesn't exempt biologics. Biologics are different from chemical drugs. There is no way to ensure that the supply chain remains intact and that the product that reaches your doorstep will be effective. Because biologics tend to be more expensive than chemical drugs, criminals will make more money by counterfeiting them.

The final reason I oppose this amendment is because it doesn't guarantee that the drug you buy will be bioequivalent to the FDA-approved drug. How will consumers be assured that the drug they buy online is metabolized the same way? Also, what guarantee is there that the packaging and labeling will be identical?

We have examples of awful things that have happened. Interpol and the United States have seized millions of counterfeit pills. These drugs were made in unsanitary conditions and were deadly and ineffective. Remember the contaminated Heparin from China that killed over 150 people. Then there was cough syrup made from antifreeze instead of glycerin. Seventy-eight people died. There are also the ineffective drugs that may not kill you but certainly won't improve your health. I could list more, but I urge my colleagues to go talk to the FDA, FBI, and Customs and Border Protection and hear firsthand what they have experienced.

Counterfeiting is a real threat. It is a matter of life and death. We have to make affordable drugs in our own country, and we did so by closing the doughnut hole in health reform. Today we are doing so again. The FDA user fee reauthorization before us creates the first ever generic drug user fee program. It will speed generic drug entry into the U.S. market so that consumers get safe FDA approved drugs more quickly and cheaply.

If you want safety, then defeat the McCain amendment.

Mr. BENNET. Mr. President, I come to the floor today to support the goal of my friend and colleague from New Mexico of delivering lower cost medicines to Americans. But, unfortunately, I cannot support his underlying amendment, No. 2111 to S. 3187. I agree that we should increase access to generic drugs wherever we can, and I agree that the path to market for generic products is fraught with legal challenges. But I have several concerns about the amendment. First, as convoluted as it seems, the Hatch-Waxman law that created the pathway to bring generic drugs to market has been a tremendous success in doing just that. Eighty percent of the drugs on the market now are generic, and over the last decade consumers have saved $931 billion on their drug costs as a result. There is clearly a balance in the system, and mechanisms within that system are working to bring generics to market.

As I understand it, a key element of generic entry into the market is the incentive to challenge brand-name patents. The underlying amendment changes the key incentive for generic manufacturers—the 180 days of market exclusivity. The amendment allows late filers to now share in the exclusivity, significantly reducing the incentive for companies to file early and ensuring that products get to market as quickly as possible. Generic manufacturers have a limited window for market advantage, and it is the revenues gained during this incentive period that fuel additional product development. There is a balance here. If we need to adjust that balance, I think it needs to be done in a broader context. We need to be sure that any changes that we might make do not disrupt the balance and inadvertently harm consumers.

While other aspects of the amendment are well-meaning, they may also have unintended consequences. I look forward to continuing the dialog on this issue with my colleague and others as we all work collectively to provide lower cost medicines to our constituents while maintaining an appropriate incentive for companies to innovate and develop the therapies that patients need.

Mr. HARKIN. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I suggest the absence of a quorum, and I ask unanimous consent that the time during the quorum call be taken off of the Burr amendment and be equally divided on both sides.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. CARPER. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. CARPER. I ask unanimous consent to be recognized for 10 minutes and that the time be taken from the Burr amendment and equally divided.

AMENDMENT NO. 2131

Mr. CARPER. Madam President, we have three counties in Delaware. The southernmost county is called Sussex County. Several years ago, I was privileged to visit a Methodist Church there and speak as a lay speaker to try to encourage people to become mentors.

The minister that day was a great old guy, Reverend Reynolds. He is now deceased, but he said to me that day these words, and I have never forgotten them. He said, ''The main thing is to keep the main thing the main thing.''

That is what he said. ''The main thing is to keep the main thing the main thing.''

At first I wasn't sure what he was talking about, but the more I thought about it I thought: Boy, this guy is smart. And if I am smart, I will keep the main thing the main thing.

For us in the Senate and in Congress, the main thing for the voters of this country is they want us to work together—well, maybe the two main things are they want us to work together—they want Democrats and Republicans to work together—and they want us to get things done. One of the things they want us to get done is to create what I call a nurturing environment for job creation and job preservation. They want us to do things that are going to help encourage the creation of jobs and the preservation of jobs.

Little known to a lot of folks across the country, we actually have been doing some of that in the Senate for much of this year, and we have worked productively across party lines to pass a series of bills that I think do help create a more nurturing environment for job preservation and job creation.

Just a couple examples, if I could: One, the reauthorization of the Federal Aviation Administration to establish a new source of additional revenues to modernize and update airports across the country, to bring the air traffic control system of our country into the 21st century where we had kind of an analogue system, and to bring it into the digital age.

Patent reform was another significant step forward earlier this year, where we said enough of this patent patrol—people who come in after someone has filed for a patent and say: Oh, no, that was my idea, and just botch things up and drag things out in the courts. Under patent reform legislation, if you are first to file, you are first to file, and that is your patent. Also provided in the same legislation are the resources needed in the Patent Office to more expeditiously process patent applicants.

Free-trade agreements. One of our roles as the government is to try to make sure we have access to foreign markets. If our goods and services are being closed out in those foreign markets, then we have to open them up. We agreed by a broad bipartisan proposal this year—three of them, actually, three free-trade agreements—one with South Korea, one with Colombia, one with Panama negotiated originally by the George W. Bush administration and embraced by the Obama administration, which is now the law of the land, to make sure when businesses have the opportunity to export, the barriers that have maybe kept them out in the past are knocked down or eliminated, and to make sure if American businesses need financing and help to finance their exports, that they have that kind of help through the Export-Import Bank, which we have reauthorized and extended into the future.

Another one that we worked on this year together, a bipartisan bill and supported by the President, is something called the JOBS Act. What it is all about is trying to make sure companies have better access to capital, and if a small or medium privately held company wants to go public, to make sure they can do it through something called an IPO onramp as opposed to just trying to jump into it and get it done all at once. Or for companies that want to stay privately held, for them to be capped at 1964 levels, 500 shareholders, to say they can go up to 1,000, 2,000 shareholders to enable them to have that access to capital to continue to grow and to create jobs.

Other examples of bipartisan legislation we worked on, in one case the Transportation bill—land transportation: roads, highways, bridges, and transit—we passed a good bill in the Senate, paid for, to help over the next couple of years to meet our transportation needs and make sure the 3 million people who are working on transportation and transit projects across the country don't basically get laid off in a month or two. We passed a good bill. I give a lot of credit to Senators BOXER and INHOFE for helping to lead the bipartisan approach.

Also, 7 or 8 million jobs depend on the Postal Service. The Postal Service is in tough straits, running out of money and losing $125 million a day. We are hoping that the House of Representatives will pass the bill—they need to—so we can go to conference and help fix that problem. But there is good bipartisan legislation here to effect positively 7 or 8 million jobs that depend on the Postal Service. All that stuff, in terms of the American people wanting us to work together, and we have been. Those are just a couple examples.

In terms of actually doing things that help create jobs and preserve jobs, every one of the items I just mentioned does create a more nurturing environment for job creation and job preservation. In the coming weeks, we also want to work on agricultural legislation—a bipartisan bill, again, out of the Agriculture Committee that will save billions of dollars on the deficit side. It will also help to strengthen our agricultural economy.

We need to get to work on a national flood insurance update, and that legislation helps to bolster the home building industry in this country which is struggling, as we know, and we have the opportunity for those things that are on our to-do list, to get them done.

Today the Senate is considering another bipartisan piece of legislation, as we know, the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act, affectionately known by its acronym. I don't like acronyms, but I love this one. It is called PDUFA. So it is the FDA and how we make sure the FDA has the resources they need to do their job. As the other bills passed by the Senate I just talked about, this bill helps create a more nurturing environment for those businesses to thrive. Those businesses include the pharmaceutical business and businesses that make and sell medical devices. But just as important, this bill helps to ensure that Americans get access to lifesaving medications and medical devices that are developed in this country as soon and as safely as possible.

This bill reflects a strong bipartisan, bicameral effort, for which Chairman HARKIN and ranking member MIKE ENZI deserve enormous praise, and I praise them even though they are not in the Chamber right now. They have done great work, and I thank them and their staffs for bringing it to this point today.

The legislation builds upon the successful current user fee programs. For a number of years, the companies have paid a user fee if they want the FDA to approve a drug or medical device, and we are making progress to actually have more resources for the FDA to do this than we used to. But they need some additional help, and this legislation would do that, paid for by the industries that are seeking the consideration of their new pharmaceuticals and their new medical devices.

The legislation also adds important new user fees for generic and biological drugs. The user fees are paid, again, by the prescription drug and medical device industries to help cover the FDA's costs for reviewing new drugs and medical devices.

What this means is safer drugs and a speedier process to bring new and less expensive drugs and medical devices to markets for consumers, and I think it is a win-win for just about everybody.

As a result of the FDA legislation affectionately known as PDUFA, the FDA's drug review times have already been cut in half. That is good. If these user fees, these user programs are not reauthorized, though, the FDA would have to lay off, I am told, about 2,000 employees, which would put them back in the ditch, if you will, and begin to delay approval of new drugs. We don't want to see that happen. That would threaten patent access to new therapies, as well as pharmaceutical and medical device industry jobs, and America's global leadership in biomedical innovation.

This bill also makes medicines safer for millions of children, improves the FDA's tools to police the global drug supply chain, and reduces the risk of drug shortages. There are a number of amendments that are being offered to the bill—we have voted on a couple of those—and one of the amendments that we will be voting on, I believe, a little later this afternoon is legislation that would, in my view, weaken or contaminate our country's supply of prescription drugs and put our patients and our health care system at risk.

Some of my colleagues have proposed to include a measure in this bill that ostensibly would lower prescription drug prices. This amendment, in my view, however, is not without unintended consequences, and we always have to be careful of those.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator's time has expired.

Mr. CARPER. I ask unanimous consent for 3 more minutes equally divided.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. CARPER. Unfortunately, it would open our borders to increased numbers of contaminated and adulterated drugs.

The proposal to import drugs from Canada would allow drugs to be imported wholesale, often from illegal Internet pharmacies with no protection against abuse or contamination.

Also, though this measure is supposed to be about importing drugs from Canada, in truth it would allow drugs to come from countries that don't have the kind of strong inspection and policing of prescription drugs that we have in the United States.

Instead of going down that road, we should work to increase the FDA's abilities to protect and regulate our drug supply. While doing so, we should reject any proposals to import drugs from Canada that undermine our ability to ensure that prescription drugs are safe and effective.

One last thing I want to mention is there is an amendment that is going to be offered today—or maybe already has been, but I am going to mention this anyway—that deals with generic drugs and concern about the ability for larger pharmaceutical companies to work with and pay off, buy out the generic drug companies so they don't bring their generic version of the name-brand drug to market. I just want to say that we need to be careful what we are doing here.

I came out of the Navy and came to this Congress in 1983 as a freshman Congressman. In 1982, 20 percent of the prescriptions being filled in this country were generic drugs. This year, 80 percent of the medicines or prescriptions that are being filled are generic. One of the well-intentioned amendments to have been offered today is one that says we are not making enough progress toward allowing the generics to grow. Say that again?

We have gone from 20 percent generic penetration in 1982 to, today, 80 percent. I would suggest that we should declare victory, and as time goes by, even that 80 percent will become 85 percent or 90 percent. But we have come a long way. As a result of that, people who need to buy medicine can find a generic version of almost any medicine that is being sold in this country. I think the system is working just fine, and we ought to allow it to continue to work.

In closing, the main thing is the main thing. The main thing is to keep the main thing the main thing.

For us, the main thing is to work together. We are in a whole host of ways—including under the great leadership of Senator HARKIN and Senator ENZI—working to make sure our pharmaceutical industry is vibrantly strong, the medical device industry is vitally strong, but also that patients are not disadvantaged, that they are actually advantaged by all of that.

So responding to folks in Delaware and Iowa and across the country, we are working together. We are not just working together on a couple of things but on a whole host of things, a whole litany of provisions and laws and proposals that do what: help us to create a more nurturing environment for job creation and job preservation. That is a good thing. That is a very good thing.

I thank Senator HARKIN for giving me a chance to say a few words and for the great work that he and Senator ENZI have done. I am happy to follow their leadership here today.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I appreciate the remarks made by my good friend from Delaware. I thank him and his staff for their input on this bill. Again, this bill is the work of a lot of different people, and I want to thank the Senator from Delaware for helping us get to the point where we have a good consensus bill.

Madam President, is there any time remaining on the Burr amendment?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is no time remaining on the Burr amendment.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I yield 6 minutes off of the McCain amendment, on our side, to the Senator from New Jersey.

AMENDMENT NO. 2107

Mr. LAUTENBERG. Madam President, I rise to speak against amendment No. 2107, the one that talks about pharmaceutical products, medicines. We know how important the prescription medicines are in improving health in this country and the need to make sure those drugs are safe and affordable. Prescription drugs have brought great advances in health outcomes. Just look at how much longer people are living. Over the past century, life expectancy increased from 49 years to 77 years. We know that beneficial drugs need to be more affordable and more readily available. But allowing drugs to enter into the United States from other countries is not the answer.

The Department of Health and Human Services found that importing prescription drugs might save 1 to 2 percent on their prescription drugs—and I am not describing that as insignificant—but these are modest savings compared to what the outcome might be.

Importing risky prescription drugs from other countries could cause more health problems, more suffering, and in the final analysis, more expensive treatments. Americans buy medicine to lower their cholesterol, fight cancer, prevent heart disease. Some of these have had remarkable effects. Heart disease is much less threatening. It is still a dangerous disease but much less than it was years ago. Imagine what would happen to a mother or a child if they were relying on imported drugs only to find out that the drugs were unsafe. We need to be absolutely certain that we are not putting Americans' lives at risk.

That is why I am opposing amendment No. 2107, the McCain amendment, which would allow potentially unsafe prescription drugs to be shipped across our border, directly into the medicine cabinets of homes throughout America. Instead of safeguarding American patients, this amendment could bring potentially dangerous and ineffective drugs from Canada. I say that because, though Canadian drugs may seem safe, we already know that drugs that claim to be from Canada are not always reliable. They are not worth the risk. An FDA investigation found that 85 percent of drugs imported from Canadian Internet pharmacies were actually from 27 other countries. Many of these were pure counterfeit.

The Senate already recognized the danger that imported drugs pose to Americans. On five previous occasions, this Chamber has asked the Department of Health and Human Services to certify that importation will not put people at risk. The Secretary still has not been able to confirm that imported drugs would be safe.

I wish to make another observation. I find it kind of amusing to watch Republican colleagues talk about how wonderful the Canadian health system is. Last I checked, Canada's health care system is socialized medicine. During the health care reform debate these same colleagues were decrying the Canadian system as a horrible socialist experiment. My colleagues need to make up their minds. Do they prefer socialized medicine? If so, it comes with some risks.

I am proud that many of our country's drugs originate in the State of New Jersey, commonly known as the Medicine Chest State. In fact, there are over 46,000 highly skilled people in my home State working to produce lifesaving drugs. It would be wrong to undercut the hard work of these trained New Jerseyans, only to put Americans in danger.

Right now the drugs in our country are safe and effective, as we have seen by the results. Thanks to Senator HARKIN and Senator ENZI, this bill will even make our drugs more safe. Americans deserve real peace of mind. When they open the pill bottle and swallow their medicine, they have to know the product is safe and effective.

I urge my colleagues to support keeping medicine in our country safe and affordable. I urge the drug companies, the medicine companies, to do whatever they can to make drugs, medicines, more available at cheaper prices. I urge my colleagues to vote against amendment No. 2107.

I yield the floor.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I yield 6 minutes to the Senator from West Virginia, again off the opposition to the McCain amendment time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from West Virginia is recognized.

Mr. MANCHIN. Madam President, I wish to say to the chairman that I appreciate his hard work on this bill, a very important piece of legislation.

I would like to address an issue that touches all of us: Democrats and Republicans, rich and poor, young and old, West Virginians and New Yorkers.

As you know, the prescription drug epidemic is destroying communities across this nation, wreaking havoc on our education system, devastating our workforce and our economy, and tearing our families apart.

Prescription drug abuse is the fastest growing drug problem in the United States, and it is claiming the lives of thousands of Americans every year. According to a report issued by the Centers for Disease Control in November, the death toll from overdoses of prescription painkillers has more than tripled in the past decade. More than 40 people die every day—every single day—from overdoses involving narcotic pain relievers. These prescription painkillers kill more Americans than heroin and cocaine combined.

It's especially tough in my home state of West Virginia, which has the highest rate of drug overdose deaths in the country. Nearly 90 percent of those deaths are linked to prescription drug abuse.

For months now, I have been going out and listening to the stories of so many people in my State—law enforcement, business owners, school teachers, pastors, and especially the children who ask for help getting their parents off the stuff. So I worked with all of them to offer an amendment to this bill that would make it harder for anyone to abuse prescription drugs. That bipartisan amendment was submitted on behalf of the countless West Virginians and Americans whose lives have been cut short by drug abuse and the families who are picking up the pieces, and it is on their behalf that I thank my colleagues in the Senate for passing it unanimously.

Last night I was so moved and encouraged to see the Members of the U.S. Senate come together across party lines and unanimously approve that measure, to take a serious step to fight this prescription drug epidemic. I strongly urge our friends in the House to do the same, and the President to sign this important bill.

This measure is not the work of just one person, however. I would like to thank the cosponsors of this bill, who all believe so strongly in it: Senator MARK KIRK of Illinois, Senator KIRSTEN GILLIBRAND of New York, Senator CHUCK SCHUMER of New York and, of course, Senator JAY ROCKEFELLER of my home State of West Virginia.

I also thank Governor Earl Ray Tomblin and Congressman NICK RAHALL for their tireless work on this issue, along with Congressman VERN BUCHANAN of Florida, who is doing excellent work to end pill mills. As we all know, last night's vote gives this amendment a solid step forward, but there is much work remaining to give our communities the right tools to fight this epidemic.

That's because all too often, we all hear stories like this one, which the Ohio County Substance Abuse Prevention Coalition in my State shared with me.

> A young boy was injured and was prescribed prescription pain killers containing hydrocodone. After the injury he began using the opiates with the other teens in school. They began by taking pills and eventually by graduation, snorting the pills on a daily basis. One day he was convinced by a friend to try IV use. He was married and was able to hold down a job until he began using IV. His wife was addicted to pain killers and their child was born addicted to drugs. He wanted more than anything to be a hard-working father and husband. He wanted to live and to amend his past behaviors. He completed treatment but eventually began using pain killers again. This man in his mid-twenties overdosed and died.

Think about it. This young man was snorting pills by high school graduation and dead in his mid-20s. Unfortunately, that story is more common than we would all like to believe.

A 2012 study by the National Institute on Drug Abuse found that 8 percent of high school seniors had admitted to abusing Vicodin in the past year. The Centers for Disease Control has found that about 12 million Americans have reported non-medical use of prescription painkillers in the past year.

Unlike many illegal drugs, prescription drugs are not produced in basement labs or smuggled across the border—they are found in our own medicine cabinets and are often prescribed for medically necessary reasons. And that makes it much easier for people to become addicted or abuse these medications.

In 2010 alone, pharmacies dispensed the equivalent of 42 tons of pure hydrocodone—that is enough to give every man, woman and child in the United States 24 Vicodin pills.

The fact is, that number is just too high. People are getting these pills because it is just too easy.

That is why this amendment would make it harder to get addictive prescription drugs, by moving them to a more restrictive category in our official drug classification system.

Practically, this means that patients would need an original prescription for refills and pills would have to be stored more securely.

Let me me close by sharing a few more personal stories about this problem—stories that show on a human level the urgency we need to put a stop to prescription drug abuse and why I am committed to this fight.

This is a problem that hits very close to home in my office. A member of my staff, a very bright young girl from Wyoming County who is doing very good work has lost three friends to drug abuse, all in their 20s. Theirs were lives full of promise, but they were tragically cut short by drug abuse.

In the past 7 years, more than 120 people have died from drug overdoses in Wyoming County alone, including 41 in 2011 and 12 just this year.

I visited Wyoming County in October to speak with a group of students at Oceana Middle School who are working very hard to take on the drug abuse crisis in their community.

These students were part of a letter writing campaign, organized by the faith-based group ''One Voice,'' which works to help addicts and their families. I want to share with you a few excerpts from some of these letters:

> ''My town, Oceana, has an issue about drugs. I write this letter to you because I hope that you can do something about it. In 2006, my godmother died of an overdose. She was the only person I could talk to. Drugs make people act in bad ways and if something doesn't happen about them then our town will be in worse shape.

I will give just one more example:

> I am 13 years old and I am a student at Oceana Middle School. I have witnessed drug deals, prostitution and homeless people in our town. I have medicine I take for ADHD and here recently some of my meds were stolen. I will graduate high school in 7 years. If nothing is done about these issues it'll be worse in the future.

I visited with these students in person. They want a better life for their parents, their siblings, their friends, their communities—and themselves. They are willing to fight, and they are asking for our help.

The amendment that passed last night with unanimous bipartisan support is a good step toward reaching their dream, and I offer my heartfelt thanks to my colleagues on behalf of all the people in West Virginia who have been affected by prescription drug abuse. And I urge my colleagues in the House to support this measure and the President to sign it—for the good of all the 12-year-old girls who are asking us to help get their daddies off this stuff.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The time of the Senator has expired.

Mr. MANCHIN. I would like to say to both chairmen on both sides of the aisle, thank you for legislation that is much needed. Thank you for an amendment agreed upon, voted on unanimously, and accepted last night. This will go a long way to fight drug abuse in America and save countless children's lives. I thank both Senators so much.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, how much time remains on the McCain opposition?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is 3 minutes.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I yield myself that time and a couple of minutes off the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator is recognized.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I wish Senators to know that we will start voting here in 9 or 10 minutes, and these will be 10-minute votes.

The first vote will be on the amendment offered by the Senator from Kentucky, Mr. PAUL, followed by Senator MCCAIN's amendment, Senator SANDERS' amendment, Senator DURBIN's amendment, and then final passage.

By an earlier consent, all of those votes will be 10-minute votes. I wanted to make sure that people knew what the lay of the land was here.

We are rapidly approaching the final passage of this bill. We have had great cooperation from all Senators on both sides in moving this legislation forward here on the floor. We have had good debates. They have not been drawn out endlessly, but we have had good debates and a good airing of the amendments on the bill. I thank all Senators for that, and hopefully we can move rapidly to wrap up this bill and move on.

This bill is the product of 18 months of very hard work by Senator ENZI and all of the Senators on our committee on both sides of the aisle. It is a true compromise and bipartisan bill. As I mentioned earlier, it has the support of a broad spectrum of stakeholders, from the pharmaceutical companies to pharmacists to consumer organizations, across the broad spectrum who support this bill, and it is necessary that we get it done. That is why we have urged everyone to expeditiously get this done before the break period coming up for Memorial Day so the Food and Drug Administration won't have to start sending pink slips out to people this summer, and so there will not be any disruptions. It will allow them to get on with the business of making sure we get drugs and devices to patients expeditiously but safely, making sure our drugs and our devices are safe.

It is a good bill, and it is the result of a lot of hard work by a lot of people, so I hope we can move these amendments rapidly and move to final passage this afternoon.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. ENZI. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that when we begin the next vote, Senator PAUL, who has 7 minutes left on his item, be given 2 minutes so he may explain his bill in exchange for those 7 minutes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I yield myself as much time as I may consume off the bill.

AMENDMENT NO. 2143

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, we are rapidly approaching a vote on the Paul amendment, and I know the Senator wants to have a couple of minutes to speak on that.

I rise in opposition to the Paul amendment. I oppose it for several reasons. Perhaps the most important reason is that this is a drug bill. This bill deals with drugs and devices. It does not deal with food. We dealt with dietary supplements and vitamins and things such as that in the food safety bill that we passed 2 years ago and that bill, again, was a consensus bill that has been through the committee structure. We brought it to the floor and had a lot of debate on it. We made modifications at that time to the whole area of vitamins, minerals, and supplements, and that is the proper place to address it, not on a bill such as this. This bill is a bill on drugs, not on supplements and food, so that is the most important reason.

I will make that same argument on the Durbin amendment. That should not be here because this is a drug bill.

On substance, I would say this bill kind of turns food law on its head. It would allow supplements to be sold with claims to cure any disease, such as AIDS or cancer, without any kind of FDA review whatsoever. I take a backseat to no one in terms of my support for the vitamin, mineral, and supplement industry and their products. Senator HATCH and I were the two people who put through the DSHEA bill, the Dietary Supplementary Health and Education Act in 1994. If I might say, we have sort of been protectors of it in working to make sure it has been implemented correctly since that time.

But the Paul amendment would go way too far. It is not consensus policy. In fact, it is strongly opposed by even the dietary supplement industry. I would note that the Natural Products Association, United Natural Products Alliance, and the Council on Responsible Nutrition, all three are big umbrella groups that oppose the Paul amendment. This would open this industry to snake oil salesmen.

Again, those of us who want to make sure people have unfettered access to safe products and to good, nutritious vitamins, minerals, and supplements, the last thing we want to see is people in their garages mixing it up and selling it as snake oil. This is not good for America, it is not good for people who want to take vitamins and supplements and minerals for their own health. It would throw this thing open and turn the clock back 50 years or more where anybody could make any claim they want and the FDA would have no way of reviewing it whatsoever.

I will move to table the amendment at the appropriate time, but I urge all Senators to oppose the Paul amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Who yields time?

Mr. ENZI. Madam President, I yield the Senator from Kentucky the time he is already entitled to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Kentucky is recognized for 2 minutes under the previous order.

Mr. PAUL. My amendment is to rein in the FDA. I believe they have gotten overzealous in their duties. They do have important duties, but I think they have gotten overblown. My amendment has three parts.

First, it attempts to stop the FDA's overzealous regulation of vitamins, foods, and supplements by codifying the first amendment prohibition on prior restraint. What this means is the first amendment says we cannot restrain speech before it happens. This amendment also helps to make explicit that commercial speech is speech and should be protected.

Under current rules, the FDA prevents even the manufacturer of prune juice from saying that prune juice relieves constipation. I think that is an FDA that has gotten a little bit out of hand. I think that vitamin supplement manufacturers and distributors should be allowed to give us information and that the buyers should be allowed to review that information in making decisions about the product and that this speech should not be restricted.

Second, my amendment says the FDA doesn't need to be carrying weapons. I don't need to see bureaucrats carrying automatic weapons. If there are police officers necessary in the operation of their duties, I would rather have the FBI. The FDA does not need to be sending armed agents to the Amish farms to arrest a farmer for selling milk from the cow.

Third, my amendment fixes what needs to be fixed in a lot of regulatory crimes. We need to add in the component of mens rea. Mens rea means that when a person commits a crime and they put that person in jail, they have to prove that person had a guilty mind and had intent to commit a crime. So we add two words. If they are going to accuse a person of a crime, it has to be knowing and willful. These are very simple words, but they change the burden of the government. If the government is going to accuse a person of the crime, they need to know this. If Congress is going to criminalize conduct at a Federal level, as it does in the FDA Act, then the least we can do is add in the mens rea requirement.

Thank you. I urge support for my amendment.

AMENDMENT NO. 2107

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote in relation to amendment No. 2107, offered by the Senator from Arizona, Mr. MCCAIN.

Who wishes the floor?

The Senator from Arizona.

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, this amendment is a simple one. It creates a safe individual drug importation program only from approved Canadian pharmacies, overseen by the Secretary of Health and Human Services.

In a normal world, this would probably require a voice vote. But what we are about to see is the incredible influence of the special interests, particularly PhRMA, here in Washington, where people who cannot afford it will have to make a choice between eating and medicine. They will not be allowed to purchase a medication at less than half the price, many times, than they will in American pharmacies in Canada.

So what you are about to see is the reason for the cynicism the American people have about the way we do business in Washington. PhRMA—one of the most powerful lobbies in Washington—will exert its influence again at the expense of average low-income Americans who will, again, have to choose between medication and eating.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from New Jersey.

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. President, it is not the special interests that have caused the Senate countless times to reject this policy. It is an amendment that puts Americans at risk, undermines the FDA's authority, and would have a devastating ripple effect throughout the country's drug supply by allowing foreign pharmaceuticals into the country.

It is not simply about Canada. The Canadians themselves have said they cannot be expected to monitor all the drugs coming through Canada and into our country, and all the Web-based opportunities would allow untraceable drugs to come through Canada into the United States.

This is about the health and security of the American people. That is why time after time the Senate has rejected it. It is why it should be rejected once again.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I have had, during this short period of time, four different Senators come to me and say: Please hold the votes to 10 minutes, with the 5-minute penalty. So we are going to do that. A number of Senators already missed votes today. We are going to cut those votes off. If you are not here, there is no excuse. These votes have been scheduled since yesterday. So we are going to turn in these votes exactly at 15 minutes. The clerks understand that. If a Senator is late, they are late.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order requiring 60 votes for the adoption of this amendment, the amendment is rejected.

AMENDMENT NO. 2109

Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote in relation to amendment No. 2109, offered by the Senator from Vermont, Mr. SANDERS.

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. President, this amendment is supported by Public Citizen, U.S. PIRG, the National Committee to Preserve Social Security and Medicare, and the National Women's Health Network.

In the United States, we pay by far the highest prices in the world for prescription drugs—much higher than Canada, much higher than Europe. There are a number of reasons for that. One of the reasons is the widespread fraud, systemic fraud being perpetrated on the American people by virtually every major drug company in this country.

In the last few years, companies such as Abbott, Pfizer, Johnson & Johnson, Merck, GlaxoSmithKline, and many others combined have paid billions of dollars in fines because they are ripping off Medicare, they are ripping off Medicaid, and they are ripping off the American consumer. It is high time we said that fraud cannot be perpetrated as a business model by some of the major corporations in this country.

I ask for a ''yes'' vote.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wyoming

Mr. ENZI. Mr. President, I would oppose this amendment. We do need to combat health care fraud, but this amendment goes too far in several aspects. First and most important, it would discourage any settlement agreements. People would fight it to the death if they are going to lose their exclusivity.

Second, as drafted, the amendment would require companies to forfeit exclusivity anytime there is a civil or criminal liability under the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act. It is disproportionate. This could be triggered by a misdemeanor. In addition, such liability may not reflect fraud. The amendment would discourage the development of new cures for patients. If manufactures know they could lose exclusivity for even minor infractions, they will not invest the millions of dollars necessary to create new lifesaving therapies for patients.

I ask that the Senate oppose the amendment.

AMENDMENT NO. 2130 WITHDRAWN

Mr. BURR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to withdraw the Burr amendment No. 2130.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. BURR. I thank the Chair.

AMENDMENT NO. 2127

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote in relation to amendment No. 2127, offered by the Senator from Illinois, Mr. DURBIN.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, this is a very simple amendment. If you go into the drugstore and look at the prescription drugs, every one of them has been registered with the FDA. The over-the-counter drugs have all been registered. When you go to the dietary supplement section, there is no requirement under the law for the company selling those products to register the name of the product, the ingredients of it, or a copy of the label.

The GAO did a study in 2009, and the FDA said we need this information to protect American consumers. From what? One of them is an example on this chart. This is a Chinese product that was imported into the United States, put up for sale, and then we discovered that one of the ingredients was life-threatening. It was never registered with the FDA, and there was no disclosure of its ingredients.

If you want to sell from the counters in America, shouldn't you be required, whether you are from China, India, Mexico, or anywhere in the United States, to register your product, the ingredients in it, and a copy of the label? The FDA says they need this information to keep America safe.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, first of all, this is a drug and device bill, not a food bill. We addressed food issues in the food safety bill 2 years ago. That doesn't solve the problem Senator DURBIN talked about. This bill is a very delicate balance. We have worked on this for 18 months. Stakeholders all over the country, consumers, the pharmaceutical industry, and pharmacists all support this bill. This would upset that delicate balance.

I say to the Senator that every supplement has a label, the ingredients, and the potency, by law, on every single item sold as a supplement. This is a drug bill, not a food bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah.

Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, I strongly oppose this amendment. I will be voting to table it, and I encourage my colleagues to do the same. It would impose another layer of regulations on an industry that already has a workable regulatory framework. It is totally unnecessary, and it will only increase costs for those who use dietary supplements.

I wish to make a few points clear.

First, HHS already has authority to impose an immediate ban on any dietary supplement that poses imminent hazard to public health.

Second, four previous FDA Commissioners and a former Deputy Commissioner agree that DSHEA already provides sufficient oversight of this industry. This amendment would strap the FDA with a huge burden at a time when the agency is already struggling to perform its current core responsibilities.

Third, it unnecessarily expands registration requirements without adding any additional consumer protections.

All this amendment does is penalize good companies, while doing nothing to go after the bad.

In the end, as a result of this amendment, consumers will suffer by paying higher prices for their supplements.

This amendment is bad for the FDA and bad for consumers. The Senate should reject it.

We already have a regulatory framework under DSHEA that works. A new intrusive regulatory regime is totally unnecessary. I urge my colleagues to vote with me to table this amendment.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have the same amount of time given on the other side.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, the FDA asked for this knowledge and information. What am I asking them to disclose? The name of the product, the ingredients of it, and a copy of the label. If a Chinese manufacturer wants to sell a dietary supplement in Des Moines, IA, shouldn't they have to report to the FDA the name of the product and its ingredients? It is not required by law now. Let's give the FDA this extra information to keep Americans safe.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I move to table the Durbin amendment, and I ask for the yeas and nays.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG INFORMATION

Mrs. GILLIBRAND. Madam President, earlier this week I introduced the Cody Miller Initiative for Safe Prescriptions Act. The legislation would require the Food and Drug Administration to issue regulations to ensure patients receive timely, consistent, and accurate information with their prescription drugs. The legislation would ensure patient medication information is regularly updated as new information becomes available and ensure that common information is applied consistently across similar products. Most importantly, the legislation would ensure patients are kept up to date about potential adverse side effects and dangerous drug interactions.

Mr. HARKIN. I applaud the work of the Senator from New York on this legislation and share her commitment to ensuring patients receive standardized and accurate information about their prescription drugs. While verbal counseling by a pharmacist is still critical, the patient medication information is also an important resource to help patients use medications safely.

Mrs. GILLIBRAND. I appreciate the Chairman's support and hope to work with him to advance this legislation. I also hope he will join me in calling on the FDA to use its existing authority to ensure patient medication information is uniform, accurate, and up-to-date. The FDA is currently engaged in efforts to revise the patient education materials that are distributed to patients. However, the FDA's current plan falls short of ensuring that consumers will receive unbiased and accurate information about their prescription drugs. It also fails to ensure that patient medication information is consistent for identical or similar products.

Mr. HARKIN. I agree we need to take steps to improve the information patients receive and look forward to working with the Senator on this issue.

ACCELERATED PATIENT ACCESS

Mrs. HAGAN. Section 901 of the managers' amendment to S. 3187, Enhancement of Accelerated Patient Access to New Medical Treatments states that an accelerated approval under section 506(b) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act is subject to certain limitations, including the requirement that the sponsor conduct appropriate postapproval studies to verify and describe the predicted effect on irreversible morbidity or mortality or other clinical benefit. Does the lack of an explicit reference to postapproval validation of surrogate endpoints, as described in current law, in any way restrict the Secretary's existing authority to require such validation postapproval?

Mr. HARKIN. The managers' amendment to 3187 revises section 506(b), removing the explicit language in current law requiring postapproval validation of surrogate endpoints. However, this is not intended to restrict the Secretary's current ability to require such validation postapproval, if appropriate. Equally important, the change likewise is not intended to suggest that any such validation should now occur prior to approval under section 506(b). Rather, in keeping with current practice, the bill's new language continues to permit the Secretary to require postapproval studies to verify the effect on the surrogate endpoint or predicted clinical outcome, i.e., verification of the predicted clinical benefit. In addition, it continues to allow the Secretary to withdraw an accelerated approval if the required studies fail to verify and describe the predicted effect.

Mr. ENZI. To receive accelerated approval, the managers' amendment requires that FDA determine that a surrogate or clinical endpoint is reasonably likely to be predictive of an effect on clinical benefit or on a clinical endpoint that can be measured earlier than irreversible morbidity or mortality as of the time of granting accelerated approval and the standards under section 505(c) of the FDCA or section 351(a) of the Public Health Service Act are met. In meeting such a requirement, it is appropriate for the Secretary to seek data and information to show that the surrogate or clinical endpoint is reasonably likely to predict an effect on irreversible morbidity or mortality or other clinical benefit.

I would just like to reiterate that nothing in these amendments to section 506(b) is intended to alter the FDA's historical practice of utilizing unvalidated surrogates to grant accelerated approval in appropriate cases or its practice of granting traditional approval under section 505(b) based on validated surrogates in appropriate cases.

Mr. LEAHY. Madam President, Senator MANCHIN's amendment, amendment 2151 to the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act, seeks to address the problem of prescription opiate drugs by tightening restrictions on hydrocodone. Opiate prescription drugs like hydrocodone have been a tremendous and growing problem in Vermont, as they have in West Virginia. I thank Senator MANCHIN for working with me to make the amendment better.

The scourge of prescription drug abuse has had a devastating effect in communities across the country. I heard about the lives destroyed by this epidemic and the violence and other ills it has brought with it in several hearings in Vermont in recent years. Senator MANCHIN's amendment seeks to make it more difficult for prescription drugs to get into the hands of those who would abuse them by requiring prescriptions more comprehensively and by restricting storage and transportation. I hope these steps will be helpful.

I am glad Senator MANCHIN was willing to work with me to modify the amendment so that it did not cause as many sentencing increases, and particularly to eliminate what would have been a new mandatory minimum sentence. Those who work on the problem of prescription drugs every day have not identified a lack of adequate criminal sentences to be part of the problem, so a significant change in the sentencing scheme was not needed or intended.

Indeed, the proliferation of severe sentences for drug offenses and of mandatory minimum sentences in particular is a large part of what has led to the serious problem we face now in having too many people in prison for too long. These sentences have contributed to the runaway prison costs that are so crippling to Federal and State budgets.

Overwhelming prison costs take resources away from programs focusing on drug prevention, drug treatment, and strong law enforcement, all of which are more effective in helping communities take on prescription drug problems than are lengthy sentences. I am glad that we could work to ensure that this amendment would help to address our prescription drug problem without contributing to the overincarceration of drug offenders.

I know some doctors in Vermont and elsewhere continue to have concerns about the effect this amendment will have on getting prescriptions to those who need them. I hope we can continue working together to ensure that we tackle the difficult problem of prescription drug addiction without hindering crucial medical care.

I thank Senator MANCHIN for his leadership on this issue.

Mr. REED. Madam President, I am pleased that last night, my amendment, No. 2126, which would ensure that there are no future delays on the implementation of new sunscreen labeling and testing standards, was adopted as part of the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act.

Because sunscreens have been considered a cosmetic, they have largely avoided government oversight and the FDA hasn't changed its recommendations for sunscreen standards in over 30 years.

However, last June, after years of prodding by our former colleague Senator Dodd, me, and others, the FDA finally acted.

The agency finalized comprehensive new sunscreen regulations that were scheduled to go into effect on June 18, just a few weeks from now and in time for summer. Indeed, this was considered a victory for families across the country that spend more time outdoors and under the sun's harmful UVA and UVB rays during the summer months.

But just 2 weeks ago, the FDA announced it is now giving the industry an extra 6 months to make changes, meaning the standards will take effect in mid-December instead of this summer.

For too long the FDA has allowed manufacturers to get away with inaccurate claims about sun protection. My amendment will protect against any future delays and ensure the new sunscreen safety and labeling standards go into effect no later than the end of this year.

I am pleased that the Environmental Working Group supports this amendment, and the Consumer Health Care Products Association, which represents sunscreen manufacturers, has agreed to the amendment's inclusion in this bill. Finally, the Congressional Budget Office has informed me that my amendment would not result in any additional cost to the Federal government.

I thank Chairman HARKIN and Senator ENZI for reviewing this amendment and including it in this FDA reauthorization bill.

Mr. LEVIN. Madam President, I will support final passage of the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act which will reauthorize the user fee agreements that govern the fees paid by the pharmaceutical and medical device industries to the Food and Drug Administration, FDA, to expedite the drug and device approval process.

These fees are an important funding source that provides the FDA with resources necessary to ensure potentially lifesaving drugs and medical devices can be reviewed and ultimately brought to market quickly and safely. I understand this legislation is the product of a tremendous amount of work by the chairman and ranking member of the HELP Committee, in conjunction with various stakeholders, and enjoys broad support from industry, the FDA, and consumer groups.

For the first time, this bill will also create new user fee agreements for generic drug manufacturers; manufacturers of biologics; and would make permanent the Best Pharmaceuticals for Children Act and the Pediatric Research Equity Act. These two laws together help improve the safety and efficacy of pharmaceuticals for children.

Of particular interest, the bill aims to address drug shortages by requiring all manufactures of certain drugs to provide advance notification of possible supply disruptions and any permanent discontinuance of these products to the Health and Human Services Secretary. In addition, it will also require HHS to establish a task force to address possible drug shortages and will grant the secretary the authority to expedite the inspection and review process of substitute products that could mitigate a shortage.

The bill will allow the FDA to continue to collect fees from pharmaceutical manufacturers and medical device manufacturers through 2017. I am pleased to join with colleagues from both sides of the aisle in voting in favor of this important legislation.

Ms. MIKULSKI. Madam President, I applaud the effort underway between the FDA and industry to develop a transitional pathway for the regulation of emerging diagnostic tests. In addition, I am pleased that the FDA expressed its commitment to work with industry on this important initiative in the MDUFA III commitment letter.

Many new diagnostic tests serve as the missing link to improved health care through better detection, treatment, and monitoring of disease. Thus, it is critical for public health that FDA's premarket review system for diagnostics be modernized in a manner that supports advances in the sciences and promotes patient access.

I look forward to developments with respect to the agency's plans to develop a transitional in vitro diagnostics pathway and steps taken related to its implementation.

I also wish to talk about two massively important laws that work to ensure that medications used in children are tested and labeled correctly—the Best Pharmaceuticals for Children Act, known as BPCA, and the Pediatric Research Equity Act, known as PREA.

Taken together, these two laws encourage and require drug companies to study their products in children. They have been hugely successful in ensuring that physicians and parents have information needed to best treat our Nation's children.

Most drugs on the market have never been tested in children, largely because manufacturers face economic, mechanical, ethical, and legal obstacles that work to discourage pediatric testing.

With respect to economic obstacles, the pediatric drug marketplace is generally small, with little economic incentive for manufacturers to commit resources to testing in children when they could just test in the much larger adult population.

With respect to mechanical obstacles, young children often cannot swallow pills. This presents a challenge for drug manufacturers, who often then have to develop alternate formulations, such as liquids or chewable tablets. Finally, even for adults, ethical and legal requirements for participation in a clinical trial are incredibly complex and challenging. Trying to recruit children for trials is even more difficult. Parents don't want their kids used in experiments, and drug companies face added liability concerns.

We understand these challenges, but doctors still must treat children—many with serious and life-threatening conditions. And, too often, doctors are forced to prescribe drugs that have never been studied in kids. So in 2002 and 2003 Congress passed laws that serve as a carrot and stick to generate more pediatric drug information. We passed the Pediatric Research Equity Act, which requires safety and efficacy studies in children for all new drugs. For drugs that were on the market before PREA was enacted, the law allows FDA to go back and mandate child studies where appropriate.

We also passed the Best Pharmaceuticals for Children Act, which rewards drug companies with 6 months additional exclusivity if they complete additional pediatric testing requested by FDA.

As a result of BPCA and PREA, over 425 drug labels have been revised with important pediatric information. Before BPCA and PREA, more than 80 percent of drugs used in kids were used off-label without data on safety and efficacy. Today, that number has been reduced to approximately 50 percent. New pediatric studies conducted as result of BPCA and PREA have resulted in new dosing information, new indications of use, new safety information, and new data on effectiveness in children.

The Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act removes the 5-year sunsets for BPCA and PREA, giving biopharmaceutical companies a more predictable regulatory path and providing certainty that these programs will still be up and running when companies complete their pediatric trials.

This bill also makes important pediatric information publicly available. The last reauthorization of BPCA and PREA ensured that certain pediatric studies were made publicly available but did not ensure the availability of pre-2007 studies. This bill ensures that pediatric studies conducted between 2002 and 2007, which resulted in a labeling change, are made publicly available for physicians, researchers, and parents.

Finally, this bill gives FDA new tools to ensure that studies required by PREA are completed on time, unless there is an appropriate reason for delay.

Children are not small adults. They have different medical needs. The only way to improve the health of current and future generations of children is to better understand how drugs work in pediatric populations. We need to help doctors by getting them more information so that treatment of pediatric diseases is less of a guessing game and more of an informed practice. I believe these two pediatric programs have been incredibly successful, and I am very encouraged by the improvements we make in the bill before us today.

Finally Madam President, I wish to talk about the safety of our Nation's prescription drug supply. Today, there are many challenges and obstacles facing our families—from trying to find or keep a job, to figuring out how to pay off crushing student loans, to obtaining affordable health insurance. One thing that our families shouldn't have to worry about is whether the drug they are taking or whether the drug their loved one is taking to cure or treat an illness is going to harm them instead of help them.

When the modern FDA was first established in 1938, most of our medical products were developed and manufactured within our own borders. That is no longer the case. Nearly 40 percent of drugs Americans rely upon are made outside our borders. About 80 percent of the active ingredients used in drugs made in the United States come from 150 other countries. The increased globalization of our drug industry, coupled with the fact that we have not given our Federal agencies additional authorities to keep pace, has created great challenges for FDA and industry and great danger to patients in need.

Where there is need, there is greed. Where there is greed, there is scam and schemes. In this case, we know that increased globalization and insufficient authorities to regulate at a Federal level has created a dangerous opportunity for bad actors to take advantage. And they have taken advantage—from adulteration, to counterfeiting, to cargo theft, to manufacturing drugs in unsanitary conditions, to mislabeled products. We have seen it all in recent years and the consequences have been deadly.

In recent years, a highly toxic solvent, known as DEG, added to fever medicine, cough syrup, and teething products resulted in the deaths of children and adults in Panama, Haiti, and Nigeria.

In 2007, pet food adulterated with melamine and acid sickened several thousand pets in the United States. Melamine and acid was added to infant formula in China, poisoning and killing six babies and sickening 300,000 others.

In 2008, contaminated Heparin from China killed and sickened hundreds across the United States.

In 2003, more than $20 million in illegally imported and counterfeit Lipitor was sold throughout the United States.

In 2009, an estimated 46 drug cargo thefts occurred, valued at $184 million.

Many stolen drugs are then improperly stored or handled before being sold back to consumers, putting patients at risk. For instance, stolen insulin was reintroduced into the drug supply and caused adverse events in patients because it had not been refrigerated. I could go on and on with examples of how counterfeit, adulterated, and stolen drugs have sickened and killed people and animals worldwide.

But, I am encouraged by the bill before us today. The FDA Safety and Innovation Act takes a number of important steps to improve the safety of our Nation's drug supply. For instance, this legislation requires every foreign establishment engaged in the manufacture of a drug or device imported into the United States, to electronically register with the FDA.

Under current law, there are no requirements governing how often FDA must inspect foreign facilities. The bill before us requires FDA to set up a risk-based inspection frequency to ensure that we are getting in there and inspecting facilities that pose the greatest risks.

This legislation gives the Secretary of Homeland Security the authority to refuse admission into the United States any drug or ingredient if it was manufactured, processed, packed, or held at an establishment that has refused or delayed inspection by FDA.

This bill requires drug manufacturers and wholesalers to notify the FDA if they become aware that their drug has been counterfeited or has been stolen or lost in substantial quantities.

Finally, this bill increases penalties for bad actors who knowingly adulterate or counterfeit drugs.

In developing this legislation, the question we had to ask was this: Does the Federal agency tasked with ensuring the safety of our Nation's drugs have the resources and authorities necessary to do their job and protect the public health? The answer was no. But I believe the new authorities contained in the FDA Safety and Innovation Act—which we developed on a bipartisan basis in the Senate HELP committee—will help us ensure that the next time we ask this question, the answer will be yes.

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, today, we are considering a bill that will improve the FDA's ability to assure the safety of drugs in our medicine cabinets and medical devices in our hospitals.

The FDA is an essential guardian of the public's health and safety.

In the past few years, FDA has faced obstacles that call on the agency to adapt and respond to the evolving nature of reviewing, manufacturing, and distributing drugs and devices.

Some of those obstacles and challenges are addressed in the reauthorizations of the Prescription Drug User Fee Act and the Medical Device User Fee Act, which are set to expire at the end of September 2012.

Last fall, I visited Cook Medical's medical device plant in Canton, IL, and representatives expressed concern about the amount of time it takes medical devices to be reviewed.

FDA needs sufficient time to review medical devices in order to ensure their safety and effectiveness. However, inefficiencies and insufficient resources can result in longer review times, which means patients have to wait longer to benefit from new medical devices.

This bill makes key changes to maintain the safety of devices and preserve our country's leadership in biomedical innovation.

The bill will authorize the FDA to collect almost $600 million in user fees over 5 years. FDA can use these additional resources to help hire and train staff.

Furthermore, the bill makes important improvements by streamlining the review process for devices and increasing communication between the FDA and device manufacturers throughout the review process.

These changes to the review of medical devices will not only help innovative device companies get their product to market faster but will prevent patients from having to wait extra weeks and months to benefit from a new device.

In addition to reauthorizing the Prescription Drug and Medical Device User Fee Acts, this bill also establishes the Generic Drug User Fee Act and Biosimilar User Fee Act, which give FDA new authority to collect user fees for generic and biosimilar drugs.

Currently the FDA does not collect user fees to support the review of generic drugs, and it takes about 30 months for the agency to review generic drug applications. This extra time reduces access to safe, affordable generic drugs and leaves patients and taxpayers paying the tab for brand-name drugs that lack competition from generics.

Since the first Prescription Drug User Fee Act was enacted in 1992, the FDA began collecting user fees to support the review of applications.

FDA has cut the review time for new drugs by 60 percent, from 2 years to a little over 1 year.

Similarly, the Generic Drug User Fee Act will give FDA the support it needs to cut the current 30-month review time for generic drugs down to 10 months.

This improvement will promote competition in the marketplace and save money by reducing the amount of time patients have to wait for less expensive generic alternatives to brand-name drugs.

The process of negotiating and drafting this legislation started 18 months ago, and the result is a comprehensive bill that improves the safety and quality of drugs and medical devices.

Chairman HARKIN and Senator ENZI have put together a bill that responds to many of these challenges, including one that is of particular interest to me—the national shortage of critical drugs.

Between 2006 and 2010 the drug shortage increased 200 percent—from 56 to 178 drugs. Currently the drug shortage includes over 200 drugs, such as intravenous nutrition supplements, cancer treating drugs, and anesthesia.

Over the past few months, I have held three roundtable discussions at hospitals across Illinois to learn about the drug shortage and how it is affecting providers and patients. From these discussions it is clear that the drug shortage is being felt at most hospitals, and those Illinois hospitals, providers, and pharmacists are working around the clock to ensure patients maintain access to drugs and safe treatments.

At Advocate Hospital in Libertyville, a doctor shared that he learned just days before starting a patient on chemotherapy that the drug was not available. Unfortunately, this is a common scenario across the country as doctors learn days before starting a treatment or even once the patient is on the hospital bed that a drug is not available.

Pharmacists now spend part of each day scrambling to find drugs or an alternative treatment.

I recently learned that a young woman on my staff here in DC is all too familiar with the drug shortage. She is a smart and hardworking woman who has been taking Concerta to treat her ADD since she was 14. Like most people with severe ADD, she must take her medicine at a certain time every day in order to keep their ADD symptoms from impeding basic life and work responsibilities. And while there are several ADD drugs on the market, each drug works differently and can have different side effects, so switching to a new prescription is not without risk.

Last year, the local CVS where she usually had her prescription filled started telling her they didn't have her drug in stock. She didn't think much of it, as she would wake up early and walk to another CVS in the morning where she was usually able to get the prescription.

Over time, she grew accustomed to going between these two CVS pharmacies to fill her prescription until one month when she carried her prescription with her for 3 days and was unable to find a pharmacy with enough Concerta to fill her 30-day prescription. By the end of day 3, she was out of her supply. She woke up early and rode her bike to four or five CVS pharmacies until she was able to find a pharmacy that could fill her prescription. But by then it was 12 o'clock and past the prescribed time to take the drug.

The shortage of ADD drugs impacts children, adults, parents, and employees across the country.

Congress must take action to address the drug shortage.

The FDA Safety and Innovation Act builds on Senator KLOBUCHAR's bill, with key provisions to curb the national drug shortage.

First, the bill requires drug manufacturers to notify the FDA 6 months in advance for certain drug shortages.

With this much notice, the FDA can work with manufacturers to try to avoid a shortage and, when necessary, identify alternative sources of the drug to ensure we maintain a supply for patients.

This winter, thanks to open communication between the FDA and drug companies, the FDA successfully avoided a shortage of methotrexate, a vital drug to treat leukemia with children.

FDA collaborated with Illinois-based generic drug manufacturer Hospira to increase production of this lifesaving drug when another company halted production.

Requiring 6 months' advance notice of a drug shortage will help the FDA to work with companies to avoid shortages of critical drugs.

Furthermore, the bill requires FDA to enhance the agency's response to shortages and will improve reporting of shortages by allowing third parties to report drug shortages to the FDA.

This bill also takes steps to improve the safety of drugs and the drug supply chain.

In 2008, serious injuries and 81 deaths were linked to contamination of the crucial blood thinning drug heparin. The source of the contamination was a facility in China that intentionally adulterated the drug. This was a horrible illustration of what happens when adulterated and counterfeit drugs make their way into the drug supply chain and ultimately to patients.

This case has also raised serious questions about the global manufacturing practices of drugs and drug ingredients and the FDA's responsibility to protect the drug supply chain. Since the heparin incident, the global nature of the drug supply chain has only grown. Today, 80 percent of active pharmaceutical ingredients are manufactured outside of the United States.

This bill improves the safety of our supply chain both domestically and internationally by requiring foreign manufacturers to register their facilities with the FDA.

The bill also places greater responsibility on U.S. drug manufacturers to know their international suppliers and increases penalties for intentionally contaminating or counterfeiting drugs.

Counterfeit and adulterated drugs can have deadly consequences, yet the penalty for committing these crimes is less than the penalty for selling a counterfeit designer purse. Currently, the penalty for intentionally counterfeiting or adulterating a drug is no more than 3 ears in prison or a $10,000 fine or both. This bill raises the penalty for intentionally adulterating a drug to no more than 20 years in prison or a $1 million fine or both. And the penalty for intentionally counterfeiting drugs is raised to no more than 20 years in prison or a $4 million fine or both.

This bill addresses the drug shortage, reduces the review time for medical devices and drugs, improves the pipeline for antibiotics and pediatric drugs, and helps secure the supply chain for prescription drugs.

I thank Chairman HARKIN and Senator ENZI for their extraordinary leadership and hard work on this bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the engrossment and the third reading of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading and was read the third time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will now be 2 minutes of debate equally divided prior to a vote on passage of the bill, as amended.

The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, we have all put in a lot of work and benefited greatly by the constructive ideas and efforts of all the Members of this body. I sincerely thank all my colleagues, especially Senator ENZI, for their hard work on this must-pass legislation.

This excellent bill is a shining example of what we can achieve when we all work together. Now we must keep our promise to patients and the biomedical industry and pass this critical bill.

Today, with one vote, we can reauthorize the essential FDA's user fee agreements, systematically modernize FDA's medical product authority, and help to boost American innovation and ensure that patients have access to the therapies they need.

So I urge my colleagues to join in this bipartisan spirit of cooperation and pass this important legislation, the FDA Safety and Innovation Act.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wyoming.

Mr. ENZI. Madam President, the chairman has said it well. We appreciate the bipartisan spirit in which people have participated, especially in committee for a year and a half, working out amendments, working out ideas, and coming up with a bill that had a good consensus.

I appreciate the action on the Senate floor, the people who were willing to do time limits on their amendments, and how quickly we have gotten through the votes.

I particularly want to thank the chairman for the way he has handled this in committee and the process since then. We had a couple of issues that were outstanding and those got worked out.

I also want to thank the staffs on both sides. Their dedication for a year and a half is what made this happen, and we have some outstanding staff on both sides. Every member of the committee and every committee member's staff helped on this one, and that makes a difference. So I ask everyone to support the bill.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, Shall the bill pass?

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There appears to be a sufficient second.

The clerk will call the roll.

The assistant bill clerk called the roll.

Mr. DURBIN. I announce that the Senator from Connecticut (Mr. BLUMENTHAL) is necessarily absent.

Mr. KYL. The following Senators are necessarily absent: the Senator from Texas (Mrs. HUTCHISON) and the Senator from Illinois (Mr. KIRK).

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any other Senators in the Chamber desiring to vote?

The result was announced—yeas 96, nays 1, as follows:

''(c) ADJUSTMENTS.—

''(1) INFLATION ADJUSTMENT.—For fiscal year 2014 and subsequent fiscal years, the revenues established in subsection (b) shall be adjusted by the Secretary by notice, published in the Federal Register, for a fiscal year by the amount equal to the sum of—

''(A) one;

''(B) the average annual percent change in the cost, per full-time equivalent position of the Food and Drug Administration, of all personnel compensation and benefits paid with respect to such positions for the first 3 years of the preceding 4 fiscal years, multiplied by the proportion of personnel compensation and benefits costs to total costs of the process for the review of human drug applications (as defined in section 735(6)) for the first 3 years of the preceding 4 fiscal years; and

''(C) the average annual percent change that occurred in the Consumer Price Index for urban consumers (Washington-Baltimore, DC–MD–VA–WV; Not Seasonally Adjusted; All items; Annual Index) for the first 3 years of the preceding 4 years of available data, multiplied by the proportion of all costs other than personnel compensation and benefits costs to total costs of the process for the review of human drug applications (as defined in section 735(6)) for the first 3 years of the preceding 4 fiscal years.

The adjustment made each fiscal year under this paragraph shall be added on a compounded basis to the sum of all adjustments made each fiscal year after fiscal year 2013 under this paragraph.

''(2) WORKLOAD ADJUSTMENT.—For fiscal year 2014 and subsequent fiscal years, after the fee revenues established in subsection (b) are adjusted for a fiscal year for inflation in accordance with paragraph (1), the fee revenues shall be adjusted further for such fiscal year to reflect changes in the workload of the Secretary for the process for the review of human drug applications. With respect to such adjustment:

''(A) The adjustment shall be determined by the Secretary based on a weighted average of the change in the total number of human drug applications (adjusted for changes in review activities, as described in the notice that the Secretary is required to publish in the Federal Register under this subparagraph), efficacy supplements, and manufacturing supplements submitted to the Secretary, and the change in the total number of active commercial investigational new drug applications (adjusted for changes in review activities, as so described) during the most recent 12-month period for which data on such submissions is available. The Secretary shall publish in the Federal Register the fee revenues and fees resulting from the adjustment and the supporting methodologies.

''(B) Under no circumstances shall the adjustment result in fee revenues for a fiscal year that are less than the sum of the amount under subsection (b)(1)(A) and the amount under subsection (b)(1)(B), as adjusted for inflation under paragraph (1).

''(C) The Secretary shall contract with an independent accounting or consulting firm to periodically review the adequacy of the adjustment and publish the results of those reviews. The first review shall be conducted and published by the end of fiscal year 2013 (to examine the performance of the adjustment since fiscal year 2009), and the second review shall be conducted and published by the end of fiscal year 2015 (to examine the continued performance of the adjustment). The reports shall evaluate whether the adjustment reasonably represents actual changes in workload volume and complexity and present options to discontinue, retain, or modify any elements of the adjustment. The reports shall be published for public comment. After review of the reports and receipt of public comments, the Secretary shall, if warranted, adopt appropriate changes to the methodology. If the Secretary adopts changes to the methodology based on the first report, the changes shall be effective for the first fiscal year for which fees are set after the Secretary adopts such changes and each subsequent fiscal year.

''(3) FINAL YEAR ADJUSTMENT.—For fiscal year 2017, the Secretary may, in addition to adjustments under this paragraph and paragraphs (1) and (2), further increase the fee revenues and fees established in subsection (b) if such an adjustment is necessary to provide for not more than 3 months of operating reserves of carryover user fees for the process for the review of human drug applications for the first 3 months of fiscal year 2018. If such an adjustment is necessary, the rationale for the amount of the increase shall be contained in the annual notice establishing fee revenues and fees for fiscal year 2017. If the Secretary has carryover balances for such process in excess of 3 months of such operating reserves, the adjustment under this paragraph shall not be made.

''(4) ANNUAL FEE SETTING.—The Secretary shall, not later than 60 days before the start of each fiscal year that begins after September 30, 2012, establish, for the next fiscal year, application, product, and establishment fees under subsection (a), based on the revenue amounts established under subsection (b) and the adjustments provided under this subsection.

''(5) LIMIT.—The total amount of fees charged, as adjusted under this subsection, for a fiscal year may not exceed the total costs for such fiscal year for the resources allocated for the process for the review of human drug applications.''; and

(4) in subsection (g)—

(A) in paragraph (1), by striking ''Fees authorized'' and inserting ''Subject to paragraph (2)(C), fees authorized'';

(B) in paragraph (2)—

(i) in subparagraph (A)—

(I) in clause (i), by striking ''shall be retained'' and inserting ''subject to subparagraph (C), shall be collected and available''; and

(II) in clause (ii), by striking ''shall only be collected and available'' and inserting ''shall be available''; and

(ii) by adding at the end the following new subparagraph:

''(C) PROVISION FOR EARLY PAYMENTS.—Payment of fees authorized under this section for a fiscal year, prior to the due date for such fees, may be accepted by the Secretary in accordance with authority provided in advance in a prior year appropriations Act.'';

(C) in paragraph (3), by striking ''fiscal years 2008 through 2012'' and inserting ''fiscal years 2013 through 2017''; and

(D) in paragraph (4)—

(i) by striking ''fiscal years 2008 through 2010'' and inserting ''fiscal years 2013 through 2015'';

(ii) by striking ''fiscal year 2011'' and inserting ''fiscal year 2016'';

The adjustment made each fiscal year under this subsection shall be added on a compounded basis to the sum of all adjustments made each fiscal year after fiscal year 2013 under this subsection.

''(2) FINAL YEAR ADJUSTMENT.—For fiscal year 2017, the Secretary may, in addition to adjustments under paragraph (1), further increase the fee revenues and fees established in subsection (b) if such an adjustment is necessary to provide for not more than 3 months of operating reserves of carryover user fees for human generic drug activities for the first 3 months of fiscal year 2018. Such fees may only be used in fiscal year 2018. If such an adjustment is necessary, the rationale for the amount of the increase shall be contained in the annual notice establishing fee revenues and fees for fiscal year 2017. If the Secretary has carryover balances for such activities in excess of 3 months of such operating reserves, the adjustment under this subparagraph shall not be made.

''(2) USE OF AUDIT AGENTS.—An accredited third-party auditor may conduct drug safety and quality audits and may employ or use audit agents to conduct drug safety and quality audits, but must ensure that such audit agents comply with all requirements the Secretary deems necessary, including requirements under paragraph (1) and subsection (b)(5).

TITLE IX—DRUG APPROVAL AND PATIENT ACCESS

SEC. 901. ENHANCEMENT OF ACCELERATED PATIENT ACCESS TO NEW MEDICAL TREATMENTS.

(a) FINDINGS; SENSE OF CONGRESS.—

(1) FINDINGS.—Congress finds as follows:

(A) The Food and Drug Administration (referred to in this section as the ''FDA'') serves a critical role in helping to assure that new medicines are safe and effective. Regulatory innovation is 1 element of the Nation's strategy to address serious and life-threatening diseases or conditions by promoting investment in and development of innovative treatments for unmet medical needs.

(B) During the 2 decades following the establishment of the accelerated approval mechanism, advances in medical sciences, including genomics, molecular biology, and bioinformatics, have provided an unprecedented understanding of the underlying biological mechanism and pathogenesis of disease. A new generation of modern, targeted medicines is under development to treat serious and life-threatening diseases, some applying drug development strategies based on biomarkers or pharmacogenomics, predictive toxicology, clinical trial enrichment techniques, and novel clinical trial designs, such as adaptive clinical trials.

(C) As a result of these remarkable scientific and medical advances, the FDA should be encouraged to implement more broadly effective processes for the expedited development and review of innovative new medicines intended to address unmet medical needs for serious or life-threatening diseases or conditions, including those for rare diseases or conditions, using a broad range of surrogate or clinical endpoints and modern scientific tools earlier in the drug development cycle when appropriate. This may result in fewer, smaller, or shorter clinical trials for the intended patient population or targeted subpopulation without compromising or altering the high standards of the FDA for the approval of drugs.

(D) Patients benefit from expedited access to safe and effective innovative therapies to treat unmet medical needs for serious or life-threatening diseases or conditions.

(E) For these reasons, the statutory authority in effect on the day before the date of enactment of this Act governing expedited approval of drugs for serious or life-threatening diseases or conditions should be amended in order to enhance the authority of the FDA to consider appropriate scientific data, methods, and tools, and to expedite development and access to novel treatments for patients with a broad range of serious or life-threatening diseases or conditions.

(2) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that the Food and Drug Administration should apply the accelerated approval and fast track provisions set forth in section 506 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 356), as amended by this section, to help expedite the development and availability to patients of treatments for serious or life-threatening diseases or conditions while maintaining safety and effectiveness standards for such treatments.

(b) EXPEDITED APPROVAL OF DRUGS FOR SERIOUS OR LIFE-THREATENING DISEASES OR CONDITIONS.—Section 506 (21 U.S.C. 356) is amended to read as follows:

''SEC. 506. EXPEDITED APPROVAL OF DRUGS FOR SERIOUS OR LIFE-THREATENING DISEASES OR CONDITIONS.

''(a) DESIGNATION OF DRUG AS FAST TRACK PRODUCT.—

''(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall, at the request of the sponsor of a new drug, facilitate the development and expedite the review of such drug if it is intended, whether alone or in combination with one or more other drugs, for the treatment of a serious or life-threatening disease or condition, and it demonstrates the potential to address unmet medical needs for such a disease or condition. (In this section, such a drug is referred to as a 'fast track product'.)

''(2) REQUEST FOR DESIGNATION.—The sponsor of a new drug may request the Secretary to designate the drug as a fast track product. A request for the designation may be made concurrently with, or at any time after, submission of an application for the investigation of the drug under section 505(i) or section 351(a)(3) of the Public Health Service Act.

''(3) DESIGNATION.—Within 60 calendar days after the receipt of a request under paragraph (2), the Secretary shall determine whether the drug that is the subject of the request meets the criteria described in paragraph (1). If the Secretary finds that the drug meets the criteria, the Secretary shall designate the drug as a fast track product and shall take such actions as are appropriate to expedite the development and review of the application for approval of such product.

''(b) ACCELERATED APPROVAL OF A DRUG FOR A SERIOUS OR LIFE-THREATENING DISEASE OR CONDITION, INCLUDING A FAST TRACK PRODUCT.—

''(1) IN GENERAL.—

''(A) ACCELERATED APPROVAL.—The Secretary may approve an application for approval of a product for a serious or life-threatening disease or condition, including a fast track product, under section 505(c) or section 351(a) of the Public Health Service Act upon a determination that the product has an effect on a surrogate endpoint that is reasonably likely to predict clinical benefit, or on a clinical endpoint that can be measured earlier than irreversible morbidity or mortality, that is reasonably likely to predict an effect on irreversible morbidity or mortality or other clinical benefit, taking into account the severity, rarity, or prevalence of the condition and the availability or lack of alternative treatments. The approval described in the preceding sentence is referred to in this section as 'accelerated approval'.

''(B) EVIDENCE.—The evidence to support that an endpoint is reasonably likely to predict clinical benefit under subparagraph (A) may include epidemiological, pathophysiological, therapeutic, pharmacologic, or other evidence developed using biomarkers, for example, or other scientific methods or tools.

''(2) LIMITATION.—Approval of a product under this subsection may be subject to 1 or both of the following requirements:

''(A) That the sponsor conduct appropriate post-approval studies to verify and describe the predicted effect on irreversible morbidity or mortality or other clinical benefit.

''(B) That the sponsor submit copies of all promotional materials related to the product during the preapproval review period and, following approval and for such period thereafter as the Secretary determines to be appropriate, at least 30 days prior to dissemination of the materials.

''(3) EXPEDITED WITHDRAWAL OF APPROVAL.—The Secretary may withdraw approval of a product approved under accelerated approval using expedited procedures (as prescribed by the Secretary in regulations which shall include an opportunity for an informal hearing) if—

''(A) the sponsor fails to conduct any required post-approval study of the drug with due diligence;

''(B) a study required to verify and describe the predicted effect on irreversible morbidity or mortality or other clinical benefit of the product fails to verify and describe such effect or benefit;

''(C) other evidence demonstrates that the product is not safe or effective under the conditions of use; or

''(D) the sponsor disseminates false or misleading promotional materials with respect to the product.

''(c) REVIEW OF INCOMPLETE APPLICATIONS FOR APPROVAL OF A FAST TRACK PRODUCT.—

''(1) IN GENERAL.—If the Secretary determines, after preliminary evaluation of clinical data submitted by the sponsor, that a fast track product may be effective, the Secretary shall evaluate for filing, and may commence review of portions of, an application for the approval of the product before the sponsor submits a complete application. The Secretary shall commence such review only if the applicant—

''(A) provides a schedule for submission of information necessary to make the application complete; and

''(B) pays any fee that may be required under section 736.

''(2) EXCEPTION.—Any time period for review of human drug applications that has been agreed to by the Secretary and that has been set forth in goals identified in letters of the Secretary (relating to the use of fees collected under section 736 to expedite the drug development process and the review of human drug applications) shall not apply to an application submitted under paragraph (1) until the date on which the application is complete.

''(d) AWARENESS EFFORTS.—The Secretary shall—

''(1) develop and disseminate to physicians, patient organizations, pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies, and other appropriate persons a description of the provisions of this section applicable to accelerated approval and fast track products; and

''(2) establish a program to encourage the development of surrogate and clinical endpoints, including biomarkers, and other scientific methods and tools that can assist the Secretary in determining whether the evidence submitted in an application is reasonably likely to predict clinical benefit for serious or life-threatening conditions for which significant unmet medical needs exist.

''(e) CONSTRUCTION.—

''(1) PURPOSE.—The amendments made by the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act to this section are intended to encourage the Secretary to utilize innovative and flexible approaches to the assessment of products under accelerated approval for treatments for patients with serious or life-threatening diseases or conditions and unmet medical needs.

''(2) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this section shall be construed to alter the standards of evidence under subsection (c) or (d) of section 505 (including the substantial evidence standard in section 505(d)) of this Act or under section 351(a) of the Public Health Service Act. Such sections and standards of evidence apply to the review and approval of products under this section, including whether a product is safe and effective. Nothing in this section alters the ability of the Secretary to rely on evidence that does not come from adequate and well-controlled investigations for the purpose of determining whether an endpoint is reasonably likely to predict clinical benefit as described in subsection (b)(1)(B).''.

(c) GUIDANCE; AMENDED REGULATIONS.—

(1) DRAFT GUIDANCE.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Health and Human Services (referred to in this section as the ''Secretary'') shall issue draft guidance to implement the amendments made by this section. In developing such guidance, the Secretary shall specifically consider issues arising under the accelerated approval and fast track processes under section 506 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended by subsection (b), for drugs designated for a rare disease or condition under section 526 of such Act (21 U.S.C. 360bb) and shall also consider any unique issues associated with very rare diseases.

(2) FINAL GUIDANCE.—Not later than 1 year after the issuance of draft guidance under paragraph (1), and after an opportunity for public comment, the Secretary shall issue final guidance.

(3) CONFORMING CHANGES.—The Secretary shall issue, as necessary, conforming amendments to the applicable regulations under title 21, Code of Federal Regulations, governing accelerated approval.

(4) NO EFFECT OF INACTION ON REQUESTS.—If the Secretary fails to issue final guidance or amended regulations as required by this subsection, such failure shall not preclude the review of, or action on, a request for designation or an application for approval submitted pursuant to section 506 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended by subsection (b).

(d) INDEPENDENT REVIEW.—The Secretary may, in conjunction with other planned reviews, contract with an independent entity with expertise in assessing the quality and efficiency of biopharmaceutical development and regulatory review programs to evaluate the Food and Drug Administration's application of the processes described in section 506 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, as amended by subsection (b), and the impact of such processes on the development and timely availability of innovative treatments for patients suffering from serious or life-threatening conditions. Any such evaluation shall include consultation with regulated industries, patient advocacy and disease research foundations, and relevant academic medical centers.

SEC. 902. BREAKTHROUGH THERAPIES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 506 (21 U.S.C. 356), as amended by section 901, is further amended—

(1) by redesignating subsections (a) through (c) as subsections (b) through (d), respectively;

(2) by redesignating subsection (d) as subsection (f);

(3) by inserting before subsection (b), as so redesignated, the following:

''(a) DESIGNATION OF A DRUG AS A BREAKTHROUGH THERAPY.—

''(1) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary shall, at the request of the sponsor of a drug, expedite the development and review of such drug if the drug is intended, alone or in combination with 1 or more other drugs, to treat a serious or life-threatening disease or condition and preliminary clinical evidence indicates that the drug may demonstrate substantial improvement over existing therapies on 1 or more clinically significant endpoints, such as substantial treatment effects observed early in clinical development. (In this section, such a drug is referred to as a 'breakthrough therapy'.)

''(2) REQUEST FOR DESIGNATION.—The sponsor of a drug may request the Secretary to designate the drug as a breakthrough therapy. ''(3) DESIGNATION.—

''(A) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 60 calendar days after the receipt of a request under paragraph (2), the Secretary shall determine whether the drug that is the subject of the request meets the criteria described in paragraph (1). If the Secretary finds that the drug meets the criteria, the Secretary shall designate the drug as a breakthrough therapy and shall take such actions as are appropriate to expedite the development and review of the application for approval of such drug.

''(B) ACTIONS.—The actions to expedite the development and review of an application under subparagraph (A) may include, as appropriate—

''(i) holding meetings with the sponsor and the review team throughout the development of the drug;

''(ii) providing timely advice to, and interactive communication with, the sponsor regarding the development of the drug to ensure that the development program to gather the non-clinical and clinical data necessary for approval is as efficient as practicable;

''(iii) involving senior managers and experienced review staff, as appropriate, in a collaborative, cross-disciplinary review;

''(iv) assigning a cross-disciplinary project lead for the Food and Drug Administration review team to facilitate an efficient review of the development program and to serve as a scientific liaison between the review team and the sponsor; and

(4) in subsection (f)(1), as so redesignated, by striking ''applicable to accelerated approval'' and inserting ''applicable to breakthrough therapies, accelerated approval, and''; and

(5) by adding at the end the following:

''(g) REPORT.—Beginning in fiscal year 2013, the Secretary shall annually prepare and submit to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions of the Senate and the Committee on Energy and Commerce of the House of Representatives, and make publicly available, with respect to this section for the previous fiscal year—

''(1) the number of drugs for which a sponsor requested designation as a breakthrough therapy;

''(2) the number of products designated as a breakthrough therapy; and

''(3) for each product designated as a breakthrough therapy, a summary of the actions taken under subsection (a)(3).''.

(b) GUIDANCE; AMENDED REGULATIONS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—

(A) GUIDANCE.—Not later than 18 months after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Health and Human Services (referred to in this section as the ''Secretary'') shall issue draft guidance on implementing the requirements with respect to breakthrough therapies, as set forth in section 506(a) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (21 U.S.C. 356(a)), as amended by this section. The Secretary shall issue final guidance not later than 1 year after the close of the comment period for the draft guidance.

(B) AMENDED REGULATIONS.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—If the Secretary determines that it is necessary to amend the regulations under title 21, Code of Federal Regulations in order to implement the amendments made by this section to section 506(a) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, the Secretary shall amend such regulations not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this Act.

''SEC. 569. CONSULTATION WITH EXTERNAL EXPERTS ON RARE DISEASES, TARGETED THERAPIES, AND GENETIC TARGETING OF TREATMENTS.

''(a) IN GENERAL.—For the purpose of promoting the efficiency of and informing the review by the Food and Drug Administration of new drugs and biological products for rare diseases and drugs and biological products that are genetically targeted, the following shall apply:

''(1) CONSULTATION WITH STAKEHOLDERS.—Consistent with sections X.C and IX.E.4 of the PDUFA Reauthorization Performance Goals and Procedures Fiscal Years 2013 through 2017, as referenced in the letters described in section 101(b) of the Prescription Drug User Fee Amendments of 2012, the Secretary shall ensure that opportunities exist, at a time the Secretary determines appropriate, for consultations with stakeholders on the topics described in subsection (c).

''(2) CONSULTATION WITH EXTERNAL EXPERTS.—The Secretary shall develop and maintain a list of external experts who, because of their special expertise, are qualified to provide advice on rare disease issues, including topics described in subsection (c). The Secretary may, when appropriate to address a specific regulatory question, consult such external experts on issues related to the review of new drugs and biological products for rare diseases and drugs and biological products that are genetically targeted, including the topics described in subsection (c), when such consultation is necessary because the Secretary lacks specific scientific, medical, or technical expertise necessary for the performance of its regulatory responsibilities and the necessary expertise can be provided by the external experts.

Mr. REID. Madam President, I move to reconsider the vote and move to lay that motion on the table.

The motion to lay on the table was agreed to.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader is recognized.

Mr. REID. Madam President, I know people are very anxious to move on. I am, too, but I have to say just a word. I have said in my own caucus how much I appreciate the cooperation of Senator ENZI. He is a fine Senator. He and Senator HARKIN have worked so well together. It is exemplary for what the rest of us should do. I appreciate very much the work they have done. I repeat, it is how we should get other work done.

This is an important piece of legislation, and we made it look simple; it was not. But because of these two fine Senators, we were able to get this done in a very short period of time and get good things done for the American people.

Mr. HARKIN. Madam President, today, with passage of the FDA Safety and Innovation Act and the reauthorization of the FDA user fee agreements, we have helped both the FDA and the biomedical industry ensure that they can get needed medical products to patients quickly and safely.

This legislation will ensure that the FDA can swiftly approve drugs and medical devices, save biomedical industry jobs, protect patient access to new therapies, and preserve America's global leadership in biomedical innovation. It will keep patients safer by modernizing FDA's inspection process for foreign manufacturing facilities, while also improving access to new and innovative medicines and devices. It will reduce drug costs for consumers by speeding the approval of lower cost generic drugs and help prevent and address drug shortages. Finally, by improving the way FDA does business, increasing accountability and transparency, U.S. companies will be better able to innovate and compete in the global marketplace.

By passing the FDA Safety and Innovation Act, we have taken an important step to improve American families' access to lifesaving drugs and medical devices.

As I have said throughout this debate, the bipartisan process that produced this excellent bill has been quite remarkable. I have worked closely with my colleagues on both sides of the aisle, as well as industry stakeholders, patient groups, and consumer groups to solicit ideas and improvements on the critical provisions in this bill. We have a better product thanks to everyone's input.

I extend a special thank-you to my colleague, Ranking Member ENZI. I have been working with Senator ENZI for over a year on this bill. It has been a wonderful and cooperative partnership and a trusting friendship. I can honestly say we would not have gotten this done without his excellent leadership and wise counsel. I thank him for that.

I also thank all of the HELP Committee members, as well as members off the committee, who were thoroughly engaged with this process from the beginning as part of the bipartisan working groups we established. Each of them has contributed significantly to this legislation, and I am sincerely grateful for all their contributions.

Madam President, I will submit for the RECORD a list of all staff members who were part of our bipartisan working groups throughout the past year. We all know we could not have achieved this without the tireless and diligent work of our loyal staffs. I extend my deep appreciation for their hard work and extraordinary efforts.

I ask unanimous consent that the list of staff members be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

Mr. HARKIN. On that note, I specifically thank the staff of Ranking Member ENZI's office. I thank Frank Macchiarola, Chuck Clapton, Keith Flanagan, Melissa Pfaff, Grace Stuntz, Katy Spangler, and Riley Swinehart. I know they have developed a close working relationship with my staff throughout the year, and I am sincerely grateful for their dedicated efforts.

I thank my own staff on the HELP Committee, who have spent many a night, long days, and weekends with Senator ENZI's staff and other Members' offices working to come to consensus on the critical policy issues in this legislation.

I thank our staff director, Dan Smith; his assistant, Pam Smith, who, by the way, will be very shortly taking over as our new staff director. Dan Smith is leaving our staff and going into the private sector. Pam Smith will be taking over as our new staff director. I also thank Jenelle Krishnamoorthy, who heads our health division, for all of the tireless work she has put in. I can't thank her enough for all her hard work. I also thank Elizabeth Jungman, Bill McConagha, Kathleen Laird, Kathleen Wise, Dan Goldberg, Justine Sessions, Kate Frischmann, Elizabeth Donovan, Lory Yudin, Frank Zhang, and Evan Griffis. Each of them has done a remarkable job. I thank them from the bottom of my heart for getting this legislation through.

We would be remiss if we didn't also thank the Congressional Budget Office for their knowledgeable and capable team that was willing to work around the clock to estimate the budgetary effects of this legislation.

Finally, we owe an enormous debt of gratitude to the staff members in the Legislative Counsel's Office. They too worked long hours, nights and weekends, to assist my staff in drafting this critical legislation and working out technical issues.

This bill's passage is a victory for the millions of Americans who need medicines or medical devices—a victory that would not have been possible without the dedicated work of our Senate family. I thank all of you for your extraordinary public service.

STOP THE STUDENT LOAN INTEREST RATE HIKE ACT OF 2012

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will proceed to S. 2343, which the clerk will report.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 2343) to amend the Higher Education Act of 1965 to extend the reduced interest rate for Federal Direct Stafford Loans, and for other purposes.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there will be 10 minutes of debate equally divided and controlled between the two leaders or their designees.

The Republican leader.

Mr. MCCONNELL. Madam President, we are in a rather ridiculous staring contest, waiting for our Democratic friends to offer a proposal that can actually pass when we already have one right in front of us. We have wasted actually 2 weeks on this student loan issue for no good reason. Neither I nor the ranking member has heard a word from the Democrats on how they propose to resolve the issue and actually prevent the interest rate from rising.

As we learned earlier this week, the President doesn't seem to even talk to his committee chairmen anymore. All of this suggests that the White House doesn't want to solve the problem; that it would rather allow these rates to double in a few weeks so he can run around all summer pointing the finger at those Republicans in the Senate.

I would still like to believe that is not the case. We had a chance to talk to the President about this and other issues last week down at the White House. I am convinced he would like to get a solution. Yet the fact is, all he would have to do is simply pick up the phone and tell the Democratic leadership that we would like to get this done, and I am pretty confident we could work it out. Unfortunately, we cannot just wait around hoping the President is going to pick up the phone. College students cannot wait either. They want us to resolve the issue now, and I know we can.

To move the ball forward, I would say to my colleague, the majority leader, if he agrees with me—Senator HARKIN and Senator ENZI just did a good job with coming up with a bipartisan solution to the FDA bill. I am confident they could do the same thing on the student loan issue. They are the chairman and the ranking member of the committee that oversees student loan legislation. I have a lot of confidence in their ability to do it.

I am going to proffer a consent agreement that I think would allow us to go forward. My colleague from Tennessee will take the balance of our time after I have concluded.

I ask unanimous consent that following the conclusion of the two scheduled votes on the student loan bill, which we are about to have, the next order of business be a Harkin-Enzi bill dealing with the issue of the current student loan rate; provided further that no motion to proceed to other items be in order unless agreed to by both leaders.

The purpose of this consent agreement I have just proffered is to allow Senator HARKIN and Senator ENZI to negotiate on this important issue, the increase in the student loan rates, and to keep the Senate focused on how to resolve this issue in a timely way before the rate goes up. The bill they would negotiate would be the next order of business, but it would also provide that both leaders could agree to allow the Senate to work on other measures if necessary as those student loan discussions continue.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. REID. I am going to use the leader time, not the 5 minutes we were allocated.

Madam President, we have all heard of reverse engineering. What we just heard is reverse reasoning. This is one of the most interesting things I have heard—that makes no sense. We have been trying to get on this bill for weeks. The Republicans have refused to allow us to get on the bill.

The student loan issue is important. We should have already completed this—had we been allowed to get on the bill—but we were not allowed to get on the bill. We were faced with one of our many filibusters—scores of them. Not one, two, three or four, scores of them. This is another example of them stopping us from legislating on a bill. Now to come here and say we could have been doing something—my friend knows the rules of this Senate as well as I do. He knows his suggestion is absurd.

I object.

AMENDMENT NO. 2153

Mr. MCCONNELL. On behalf of Senator ALEXANDER I call up amendment No. 2153.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report.

The Senator from Kentucky [Mr. MCCONNELL], for Mr. ALEXANDER, for himself, Mr. MCCONNELL, Mr. ENZI, Mr. BARRASSO, Mr. BLUNT, Mr. COATS, Mr. COCHRAN, Mr. CORNYN, Mr. HELLER, Mr. INHOFE, Mr. ISAKSON, Mr. JOHANNS, Mr. ROBERTS, Mrs. HUTCHISON, Mr. RUBIO, and Ms. AYOTTE, proposes an amendment numbered 2153.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: In the nature of a substitute)

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the ''Interest Rate Reduction Act''.

SEC. 2. INTEREST RATE EXTENSION.

Subparagraph (D) of section 455(b)(7) of the Higher Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 1087e(b)(7)(D)) is amended—

(1) in the matter preceding clause (i), by striking ''2012'' and inserting ''2013''; and

(2) in clause (v), by striking ''2012'' and inserting ''2013''.

SEC. 3. REPEALING PREVENTION AND PUBLIC HEALTH FUND.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 4002 of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (42 U.S.C. 300u–11) is repealed.

(b) RESCISSION OF UNOBLIGATED FUNDS.—Of the funds made available by such section 4002, the unobligated balance is rescinded.

SEC. 4. COMPLIANCE WITH STATUTORY PAY-AS-YOU-GO ACT OF 2010.

The budgetary effects of this Act, for the purpose of complying with the Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010, shall be determined by reference to the latest statement titled ''Budgetary Effects of PAYGO Legislation'' for this Act, submitted for printing in the Congressional Record by the Chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, provided that such statement has been submitted prior to the vote on passage.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Madam President, on July 1, 7 million students getting new loans to go to college, the rate for interest will go from 3.4 to 6.8. This is an amendment to get a result. This is the House-passed bill. President Obama says he wants to freeze the rate for a year. Governor Romney says he wants to freeze the rate for a year. The House of Representatives has voted to freeze the rate for a year. A vote yes on the House-passed bill will permit us to send it to them and quickly send it to the President, he will sign it, and we solve the problem.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, while I appreciate the confidence the Republican leader has in the ability of Mr. ENZI and me to get things done, frankly, we are confronted now with two votes. Which way do we want to go? What they are proposing is that we totally end, totally eliminate all of the prevention and wellness money that we have out there in the wellness fund.

What would this do? We have vaccinations for children, immunizations, smoking cessation programs, colorectal screenings, diabetes prevention, breast cancer screening, obesity prevention—all funded by this Prevention and Wellness Fund. Not one of those would be funded from that fund if that amendment passes.

The choice is very clear on the two amendments we have coming up. We can either vote to close a tax loophole that allows wealthy tax dodgers not to pay their fair share of taxes—we can close that loophole and keep the interest rates at 3.4 percent—or, as the Republicans want to do, totally eliminate the Wellness and Prevention Fund and end the money that we are putting into diabetes prevention and breast cancer and colorectal screening and all the things I mentioned.

I do not think the choice could be more clear to the American people about the direction we ought to go. Close the tax loophole. Keep the prevention fund in there. Keep our people healthy.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Mr. President, we have 2 minutes left. I will use one of them.

Our friends on the other side have their usual solution to almost any problem: Let's put some more taxes on small business men and women in America during a time of the greatest recession we have had.

We have a better idea for how to pay for this bill. We will take some of the savings the Congressional Budget Office said they found when they took over the student health program in the health care bill—instead of giving the students the benefit of those savings, they spent it on government. They spent $8.3 billion on the health care bill. We will give back to the students enough money to pay for this freezing of the rate.

We will not tax the small businesspeople. We will have a little left over, and we will reduce the debt. Then we can send our bill to the House, they will pass it like that, send it to the President, and the problem is solved.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Rhode Island.

Mr. REED. Madam President, as Senator HARKIN pointed out, the Republican proposal goes right to the heart of prevention, and that will have two effects. It will deny critical services to families all across this country, and it will do something else—it will deny us the chance to bend that proverbial cost curve. If we do not control those costs, we will be in a fiscal disaster. The proposal they are making does not make sense. We have proposed to close a tax loophole that has been described by the Treasury inspector general for tax administration as a multibillion-dollar employment tax shelter.

We have restricted it to the people who are receiving over $200,000 a year. This is not small business men and women. This is not the corner hardware store. These are lobbyists. These are lawyers who have craftily used subchapter S corporations to avoid paying payroll taxes.

This loophole has been criticized on the editorial pages of the Wall Street Journal. This is no ''just raise taxes.'' This is trying to find a loophole which has been criticized by the right as well as the left to pay for and ensure that we do not double the interest rate on students. I cannot think of a clearer choice: Reject the Republican proposal; accept our proposal; do not allow the subsidized student loan interest rate to rise on July 1.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be in order. The Senator from Tennessee.

Mr. ALEXANDER. How much time is remaining?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There is 1 minute 20 seconds.

Mr. ALEXANDER. It is reassuring to me my friend on the other side of the aisle is reading the editorial pages of the Wall Street Journal. I am sure that will have some constructive benefit over the next several months. But here is the bottom line, a result. This is the same as the House-passed bill which freezes interest at 3.4 percent for a year. We send it to the House, down to the President, he signs it, the problem is solved. Instead of raising taxes on small businesspeople, we give back to students the money they should have had the benefit of when the other side took over the whole student loan program before.

If you want a result, please vote yes. If you want more debate and delay, vote no.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. The President has already said if the Republican measure were to pass and sent to him, he would veto it. That is a nonstarter. Surely my friend from Tennessee does not want to cut out all of this funding that we do for hepatitis screening and colorectal screening, diabetes prevention, vaccination for our kids, all of which are funded. All of that would be ended by their amendment.

I do not know what my friend is talking about in terms of student money and this and that. Their provision takes all of this money out of the Prevention and Wellness Fund. That is not what we want. We do not want to keep our kids from getting vaccinations or hepatitis screening or diabetes prevention in order to keep the interest rates low. Let's close the tax loophole that has been talked about, that both Senator REID from Nevada and Senator REED from Rhode Island talked about. Close that tax loophole and send it to the President. He will sign it. That way we will keep the interest rates down at 3.4 percent and not allow them to double on July 1.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Who seeks recognition?

Mr. REID. Has all time expired?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The minority has 35 seconds and the majority 38 seconds.

Mr. ALEXANDER. Our case is so compelling, Mr. President. We yield back the rest of our time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader.

Mr. REID. Time has been yielded back. We think there will be two more votes. I can't say there will be no more votes. We have a few more items to be worked out, such as flood insurance. I can't give everyone that assurance at this time.

I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on agreeing to the amendment offered by the Senator from Kentucky.

Mr. CONRAD. I ask for the yeas and nays.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a sufficient second?

There is a sufficient second.

The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk called the roll.

The amendment was rejected.

Mr. INHOFE. Mr. President, while the Republican alternative was definitely better than the Democrat-endorsed proposal, at the end of the day, neither option presented a long term answer to the impending rise in student loan interest rates.

In 2007, Congress passed the College Cost Reduction and Access Act, which I opposed. This legislation used a stepped reduction of interest rates for subsidized Stafford loans, from 6.8 percent to the current 3.4 percent. Also as a part of this law, these rates are scheduled to reset to the original 6.8 percent on July 1. So for five years, we have known this day was coming. A one-year extension of the current interest rate is merely a six billion dollar temporary fix. It would simply postpone finding an actual solution to the problem of college affordability. Congress has gotten too comfortable with band aid fixes: payments to physicians, the Highway bill, and flood insurance being recent examples. It is because of increased government intervention that we continually find ourselves in this predicament. With every government takeover, whether it is education, health care, or the EPA, the result is less competition, less consumer choice, and less innovation.

Mr. President, I understand the importance and value of a good education. My wife was a teacher, and my two daughters became teachers as well, one even at a university. I also commend the efforts of all students who strive to achieve a higher education and improve their lives, especially those struggling through financial burdens. However, we owe it to these students to address the problem, not just put a band aid on it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority leader is recognized.

EXTENSION OF THE NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM

Mr. REID. Mr. President, as we have noted on the floor many times in the last few days, the Flood Insurance Program covers almost 6 million people. It was set to expire next week. If it were to expire, new housing construction would stall—in fact, it may come to a halt—real estate transactions would come to a screaming halt, and taxpayers would be on the hook for future disasters. We have no choice. We have to get this done.

I appreciate the work of Chairman JOHNSON, Ranking Member SHELBY, the chairman of the subcommittee, Senator TESTER, and Ranking Member VITTER. I also appreciate the work that was put into this effort by Senator COBURN, who worked closely with Senator SCHUMER, and we were able to get this extension done. I am grateful for everyone's help. It was team work that got us where we are.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to Calendar No. 407, H.R. 5740, flood insurance extension; that a Johnson of South Dakota substitute amendment, which is at the desk, be agreed to; that the bill, as amended, be read a third time and passed; and that motions to reconsider be laid upon the table, with no intervening action or debate. And if anyone has anything to say about this, they can put it in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment (No. 2154) was agreed to, as follows:

(Purpose: In the nature of a substitute)

(c) EFFECTIVE DATE.—The first increase in chargeable risk premium rates for residential properties which are not the primary residence of an individual under section 1308(e)(2) of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as added by this Act, shall take effect on July 1, 2012, and the chargeable risk premium rates for such properties shall be increased by 25 percent each year thereafter, as provided in such section 1308(e)(2).

SEC. 3. COMPLIANCE WITH PAYGO.

CLIMATE CHANGE

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Mr. President, I want to take a few moments this afternoon to do something that has become a bit of a ritual with me; that is, to try to take some time each week to speak about the damage we are doing to our atmosphere, to our oceans, and to our climate with the relentless carbon pollution we are discharging.

As each week goes by, the information continues to pile up about the harms we are causing.

A recent story says rising temperatures could eliminate two-thirds of California's snowpack by the end of this century.

The snowpack that helps provide water for California cities and farms could shrink by two-thirds because of climate change, according to new research submitted to the state's Energy Commission.

Higher temperatures appear likely to wipe out a third of the Golden State's snowpack by 2050 and two-thirds by the end of the century, the Scripps Institution of Oceanography found.

Science Daily reports:

Black carbon aerosols and tropospheric ozone, both humanmade pollutants emitted predominantly in the Northern Hemisphere's low- to mid-latitudes—

That is basically us—

are most likely pushing the boundary of the tropics further poleward—

North and south—

in that hemisphere, new research by a team of scientists shows. . . .

The lead climatologist, Robert J. Allen, says:

If the tropics are moving poleward, then the subtropics will become even drier. If a poleward displacement of the mid-latitude storm tracks also occurs, this will shift mid-latitude precipitation poleward, impacting regional agriculture, economy, and society.

The American people have not been taken in by the campaign of propaganda that primarily the polluting industries have put out. There have been significant reports in the past on ExxonMobil's funding of essentially phony research agencies so they can offer their opinions on this issue without having it be ExxonMobil's opinion. They either create or take over or subsidize organizations that then put out the message, and they sound legit—Heartland Institute, Annapolis Center.

But the American people are not fooled, it turns out. Seventy-one percent of visitors who have come to the Nation's wildlife refuges say they were personally concerned about climate change's effects on fish, wildlife, and habitat. Seventy-four percent said that working to limit climate's effects on fish, wildlife, and habitat would benefit future generations. And 69 percent said doing so would improve the quality of life today.

One of the original researchers on climate change—I quoted an article earlier, describing how over time the facts have proven his initial predictions accurate—is James Hansen. He wrote an article a few weeks ago in the New York Times headlined ''Game Over for the Climate.'' It begins with these two sentences:

Global warming isn't a prediction. It is happening.

Clearly we see that in measurements and observations around the planet. But what happens if it keeps going? He is talking about the tar sands up in Canada, and he says this:

If we were to fully exploit this new oil source, and continue to burn our conventional oil, gas, and coal supplies, concentrations of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere would eventually reach levels higher than in the Pliocene era, more than 2.5 million years ago, when sea level was at least 50 feet higher than it is now. That level of heat-trapping gases would assure that the disintegration of the ice sheets would accelerate out of control. Sea levels would rise and destroy coastal cities. Global temperatures would become intolerable. Twenty to 50 percent of the planet's species would be driven to extinction. Civilization would be at risk.

That is clearly, as he admits, a long-term outlook, but it is an outlook that deserves our attention, because when he has given us long-term outlooks in the past, as time has marched forward they have been proven over and over to be true.

It is convenient around here to pretend that none of this is happening. And it would be nice if we could wait until the disaster, the wolf was at the door and then do something about it, but there is a strong likelihood that by the time we take action, it will be too late.

In September of 1940, there was an American living in the Philippines with his wife and son. He looked at what was happening over in Europe. He looked at the threat to Britain. He cabled back to the United States his recommendation. He said:

The history of failure in war can almost be summed up in two words—''too late.'' Too late in comprehending the deadly purpose of a potential enemy. Too late in realizing the mortal danger. Too late in preparedness. Too late in uniting all possible forces for resistance. Too late in standing by one's friends.

The author of that cable was GEN George MacArthur. He continued later on in the cable:

The greatest strategic mistake in all history will be made if America fails to recognize the vital moment, if she permits again the writing of that fatal epitaph ''too late.''

Of course, General MacArthur was talking about what was becoming World War II, he was not talking about climate change. Yet his warning rings very true against this threat as well. ''Too late'' will be the epitaph if we do not prepare now. And I very much regret that we are in a situation in which we do not seem able as a body to take this threat seriously. The House shows no indication whatsoever of taking this threat seriously. Even the White House has dialed back its expressions of interest and concern on this issue, probably for the practical reason that the Republican-controlled House does not want to deal with this issue at all. Period. End of story. But it is happening out there. It is happening out there.

People see the dying forests of the West as the pine bark beetle works its way more and more north because winters are no longer cold enough to kill off the larvae. People see the habitat of quail, of trout, of pheasant, of game animals, change in their lifetimes.

They see the places where they used to be able to go to fish with their grandchildren no longer available. Farmers see changes. Gardeners see changes. Plants that could not grow in certain zones now can. Tropical plants can grow in northern areas because of changes. In Rhode Island we have had winter blooms of some of our fruit trees because it has gotten so warm.

My wife did her dissertation on the species called the winter flounder, which was a very significant cash crop for the Rhode Island fishing industry. It was not very long ago. She wrote her dissertation about it because it was such an important part of the Rhode Island fishing industry, and because it had an interesting connection with a shrimp, Crangon septemspinosa, in which one fed on the other until it got big enough, and then the predatory cycle reversed itself and the winter flounder began to eat the shrimp instead of vice versa.

Well, landings of winter flounder in Rhode Island have crashed catastrophically. The reason? The mean winter water temperature of Narragansett Bay is up about 4 degrees. That is enough of an ecosystem shift that the winter flounder is gone. Fishermen now catch scup instead, which is a far less remunerative crop and frankly not as good a fish to eat, in my opinion anyway.

So these changes are happening. It is regrettable that we are unable to address them. The science has been discredited by propaganda campaigns that are deliberately and strategically designed to create doubt in the minds of the public where no doubt should exist. The fact is this science is rock solid.

The notion that when you put lots of carbon dioxide up into the atmosphere it warms the atmosphere has been around since the Civil War. The scientist who discovered it was an English-Irish scientist named John Tyndall. He first reported this phenomenon in 1863. For 150 years we have known this. This is nothing new. We can measure the gigatons of carbon that we are discharging into the atmosphere. Of course, it is going to make a difference. The notion that it does not has been a public relations and propaganda campaign by well-heeled special interests to protect pollution, because it makes money for those companies. But with the damage it is doing to our future, it is very hard to honestly look my children in the eye and say I am doing my job for them here in Washington while we do nothing on carbon pollution.

In fact, we continue to subsidize the biggest polluters. ExxonMobil makes more money than any corporation has in the history of the world and they still claim a subsidy from the American taxpayer. It is a ridiculous subsidy. And yet we subsidize them. I see the distinguished chairman of the Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee is here on the floor. I want to conclude my remarks and thank him for the amazing work he and the ranking member, Michael Enzi, did on the FDA bill we just passed with such a strong vote, virtually a unanimous vote. There was a lot of very good work that was done there, so that proves there are areas where we can do good work.

I hope the day comes when we can begin to do good work on the damage we are doing to our atmosphere and to our oceans with our relentless discharge of carbon dioxide into the atmosphere, with our relentless subsidy of the polluters. One day we will be called into account for our inaction, and we will have earned the condemnation of history.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

Mr. HARKIN. Mr. President, I want to thank my friend from Rhode Island for a very eloquent speech—elegant speech too—eloquent and elegant—in portraying what is so frustrating. And that is science knows what is happening. The scientists know what is happening. We have good data points about what is happening to our climate, our atmosphere, our oceans, and yet it seems we cannot do anything about it.

I say to my friend from Rhode Island, I think I was reading recently in a Scientific American magazine, which I love to read every month, that in terms of this whole global climate change, what is happening is that by the time we recognize it is happening—that is broadly, not just the scientists and others who do know what is happening—by the time it is broadly accepted, it will be too late, that we will have reached that tipping point. But the evidence is there for all to see. It is a shame that we cannot do something about it.

The Senator mentioned the fish catch in Rhode Island. I think also in the recent issue of Scientific American was a story about the fisheries and oceans at large, and there were three pictures. One was a picture taken on a pier in Key West in the 1950s showing the size of the fish that were caught. Big. I think the average weight was like 30-some pounds. Then there was a picture taken in the 1970s—late 1970s, early 1980s—now it is down to maybe 15 pounds. Same pictures, same pier, same dock and everything, and now the catch is down to teeny little fish. Same place, same ocean, same waters.

The article went on to point out how, if you look at the first picture, people are very happy. They are happy with this big fish. Then the second page, people are happy with what they caught. And now you have got this little teeny fish and people are still happy, because we kind of tend to accept what it is right now and be happy with what we have got without realizing what we have lost in the past.

Again, I thank the Senator for his speech. We need to do more of that around here. We need to focus on this. We seem to be drifting. You are right, our grandkids are going to wonder why we did not do something.

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. I would suggest that it is more than just that we are drifting. I would suggest we are being drifted by politics and by the money in politics, particularly the big money the big polluters can throw into politics, not only directly by giving campaign contributions to people but by flooding money into phony so-called scientific organizations that then parrot their message, but without people being able to say: Wait a minute, this is ExxonMobil telling me; maybe I should be a little more guarded about it. So they launder it through a legitimate-sounding organization—not one, dozens—and we get bombarded with false propaganda. Scientists are not good at propaganda. It is not why they went to graduate school. It is not why they got their Ph.D. It is not what they do when they are out in the field taking measurements. So you put them up against a company such as ExxonMobil with all of its money and its propaganda skills and it is not an even contest.

As the Chairman points out, by the time we are looking around and seeing, oh, my gosh, what have we allowed to happen—now we are awake—we reject the propaganda. We have to do something about this, and it will probably be, as General MacArthur said, too late. That is the great danger.

I thank the chairman for his recognition.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from South Dakota.

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that I be allowed to speak as in morning business.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. FRANKEN). Without objection, it is so ordered.

HONORING SENATOR JAMES ABDNOR

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize a former Member of this body and my long-time friend and mentor, Senator Jim Abdnor of South Dakota. Senator Abdnor passed away last Wednesday, May 16, 2012, in South Dakota in the company of friends and family.

We are both products of the dusty short-grass country just west of the Missouri River on the plains of central South Dakota. Jim was a product of the active and civically-minded political culture of Lyman County and I was from next door Jones County. Despite these counties' sports rivalries over the years, Jim took me under his wing and introduced me to the American political process. If not for Jim Abdnor, I would not be standing here today.

After a basketball game when I was a freshman in high school, Jim struck up a conversation with me that would change the course of my life. I went to work for Jim as a legislative assistant when he was a Senator and later at the Small Business Administration. When I first ran for office, Jim's guidance and support were invaluable to me.

This past weekend, hundreds of South Dakotans came out to honor Jim Abdnor and remember his great love for them and his state. His funeral was held in a Lutheran church in the shadow of the State capital in Pierre, where Jim first served in statewide office as Lieutenant Governor. Jim was buried just outside of his small hometown of Kennebec near where his immigrant father first homesteaded.

Mr. President, Jim leaves us with many legacies and I want to mention a few of them here today.

First and foremost, Jim's was an American story. It started as the tale of an immigrant who boarded a ship for the United States not even knowing the English language but knowing he was heading for the land of opportunity. That immigrant, Jim's father Sam Abdelnour, wanted to escape the growing authoritarianism of his native Lebanon, for American freedom.

Jim's story is also a frontier story. His father Sam settled in Lyman County, South Dakota. Sam Abdnor became a homesteader and planted corn and wheat. He also peddled his wares to the other farmers in the area and when Kennebec was organized as a town, Sam was one of the first people to establish a business on main street. Jim grew up learning how to balance the books in a small town store and knowing how to work the family farm. He learned financial responsibility and hard work and how one can climb the ladder of success in America.

Jim's story is also a story of the land and farming. Some of us who knew Jim through politics may forget that before he was elected to Congress Jim had owned and run the family farm for three decades. Jim was very proud of the fact that he was good at representing South Dakota agriculture because he was an active farmer who did the planting and hauled his grain to the elevator in the fall. When he was in Congress, South Dakota was ranked as the most agricultural state in the Nation and Jim was the first farmer elected to Congress from South Dakota. Jim was proud of that correlation and he never forgot his farming roots.

During the 1970s, when people were organizing sit-ins and teach-ins and other protests, Jim helped organize a ''beef-in.'' He brought 100 West River ranchers to Washington, DC, to talk about farm issues. They set up pens of cattle on the Washington mall and met with agriculture officials. Jim didn't rest until these ranchers had their voices heard.

Jim's story is also about water. We all live comfortably now with running water and hot showers, but that's not how Jim grew up. He grew up on his family's windy, dry-land farm in Lyman County. He lived through the droughts of the 1930s. He understood the importance of water. He never stopped working on the issues of water access—including being a champion of the WEB water project in Walworth, Edmunds, and Brown counties in north central South Dakota that began in 1983.

The question of water was never far from Jim's mind and I think it had something to do with his heritage. That's certainly true of his Lyman County roots, which is where the humid Midwest begins to turn into the arid High Plains, but also of his roots in Lebanon, where water is also scarce. His family's home village of Ain Arab was founded because it was a watering hole. Ain Arab literally means ''spring'' or ''well.'' More specifically, it means ''spring of the Arab.'' When they had enough water in Ain Arab they would grow wheat, just like the Abdnors would do out in Lyman County.

Jim's is also a story about organizing. As soon as he came home from college, he started organizing Republicans in Lyman County and became head of the Lyman County Young Republicans. He helped organize and found the Elks lodge in Pierre in 1953. He joined every organization he could and he brought as many people into community affairs and politics and civic organizations as he could.

Jim also pushed other people to organize. He liked to tell the story of the people in Faith, SD, who wanted a new grandstand at their rodeo grounds. They took one look at the Federal regulations involved with some grant program and promptly did everything themselves, raising all the money they needed from local sources and fundraisers and did it at 10 percent of the cost. They put in 4,000 hours of their own time and made it happen themselves and Jim appreciated that. He liked communities working together to solve their own problems.

During the 1970s, when tensions in the Middle East worsened, Jim called for his fellow Arab-Americans to become more involved in the political process. He opposed what he saw as their tendency toward isolation and self-segregation. He said his ethnic compatriots should ''get out and mix.'' ''They should become more involved,'' he said, ''become part of the community.'' Jim never stopped believing in the importance of being involved and working with others to make life better.

This is why Jim had so many friends. He never stopped working to meet people and bring them together around issues and simply to socialize. A friend of mine says that he doesn't think anyone in the State of South Dakota has ever attended more weddings, graduations, ceremonial dinners, or basketball, baseball, and football games than Jim.

As someone from the wide open plains who wanted groups of people to come together to solve problems on their own, Jim was always resisting Federal encroachment on local control. As the son of a small businessman, Jim was sensitive to the growing encroachment of Federal regulations and how much this encroachment cost small businesses. For many years, Jim was especially incensed about OSHA mandating rules for small stores on South Dakota main streets. In the 1970s, Jim also had a big fight with OSHA because it was trying to mandate that South Dakota wheat farmers maintain portapotties in the fields, which a practicing wheat farmer from Lyman County, South Dakota knew was the definition of absurd.

As a small businessman and farmer, Jim was always worried about the bottom line and he constantly tried to apply these concerns in the area of the Federal budget. Jim was sounding the alarm bell in the 1970s when the Federal Government spent less than $400 billion a year, which today seems laughably small given our current state of affairs. Back then, he was attacking deficits of $70 billion. He was also adamantly opposed to the Federal Government bailing out New York City in the 1970s because he said it would set a bad precedent. He attacked a Federal debt ceiling limit of $500 billion as being highly irresponsible. He criticized the fact that each American owed $2,000 because of the Federal Government's debt. Jim liked to quote the editor of the Freeman Courier, who asked ''how can it be that a government which is unable to balance its own budget and lives far beyond its means, has the authority to tell a businessman'' how to run his business.

Jim wasn't afraid to make hard votes to fix our problems, votes that probably cost him his Senate seat. But Jim Abdnor had the moral courage to make the tough decisions.

Mr. President, Jim Abdnor leaves us with a critical reminder. He embodied the American dream. He was the son of a poor Lebanese peddler who built a successful business and raised a great family, including a son who ascended the heights of American politics and became a U.S. Senator. Jim Abdnor shows how hard work and diligence can pay off.

On this occasion of remembrance and during this time of honoring my good friend Jim Abdnor, I hope we can remember our solemn duty to protect the American dream that the Abdnor family represented.

Mr. President, I yield the floor and suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—H.R. 5652

Mr. REID. Mr. President, last month, the Senate passed the Violence Against Women Act Reauthorization on a strong bipartisan vote of 68 to 31. Fifteen Republican Senators—including all the women on the other side of the aisle—joined Senate Democrats to support this important legislation. Senate Democrats strongly stand behind the bill we passed. It makes clear that all victims of domestic violence and sexual assault should enjoy the protections of the Violence Against Women Act. We don't believe we should be in the business of picking and choosing which victims deserve protection.

In contrast, the bill passed by House Republicans fails to include crucial protections for Native American women—I have 22 tribal organizations in my State, for example—gay and lesbian victims, battered immigrant women, and victims on college campuses and in subsidized housing. The House bill would roll back many important and longstanding protections in current law for abused immigrant victims—protections that have never been controversial and previously have enjoyed widespread bipartisan support.

So there are many differences to be worked out between the House and the Senate in this crucial piece of legislation. The right place to work out these differences is in conference. That is why we seek today to go to conference with the House on this important legislation, and that is why we object to simply passing the House bill that has been sent to us.

The House has raised, I think unfortunately, the so-called blue slip problem, which seems to be an issue they raise all the time when there is a bill they do not like.

Having said that, I now ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the consideration of H.R. 5652, Calendar No. 398; that all after the enacting clause be stricken and the language of S. 1925, the Violence Against Women Act Reauthorization, as passed by the Senate on April 26 by a vote of 68 to 31, be inserted in lieu thereof; that the Senate insist on its amendment, request a conference with the House on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses; and the Chair be authorized to appoint conferees on the part of the Senate, with all the above occurring with no intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I object.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—H.R. 4970

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, let me make a few observations and then I intend to offer a consent request myself.

This is a problem that has been created by the majority, and I am sorry they will not accept our offer to fix their problem so we can move forward on this legislation. We have all known for literally years when the Violence Against Women Act was going to expire. We have known that for years. During this time, Democrats controlled the Senate. Yet our friends on the other side waited until February of this year—nearly 6 months after the current authorization expired—before they even reported a bill out of committee, and they chose to wait almost 3 months more to bring a bill to the floor.

I don't know why that decision was made. Press reports indicate that members of the Democratic leadership thought they could use VAWA as a campaign issue. When they finally chose to bring this bill to the Senate floor, Republicans consented to going to the bill, Republicans consented to bringing the debate to a close, and Republicans consented to limiting ourselves to just two amendments—just two. Our Democratic colleagues also added an amendment. It was a complete substitute. They offered it at the last minute.

This substitute was a couple hundred pages long and it added new sections to the bill. One of those sections would generate revenue by assessing new fees on immigration visas. I gather our Democratic colleagues did this because their bill, unlike the Hutchison-Grassley bill, would add over $100 million to the debt.

Including this provision is obviously a problem, in that adding a revenue provision in a Senate bill violates the Origination Clause of the U.S. Constitution. If we sent the Senate bill to the House in its current form, it would trigger a blue slip point of order, as it always does.

It is not our fault Senate Democrats waited until well after VAWA expired to start moving a bill. It is not our fault their bill would add to the debt. It is not our fault our friends waited until the last minute to try to fix the problem, and, in the course of doing so, they created yet another problem. We have offered to help them fix their problem. They do not have to accept our help, but they should stop demagoguing the issue and blaming others.

Therefore, I would offer another consent: I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the consideration of Calendar No. 406, H.R. 4970, the House-passed Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act; provided further that all after the enacting clause be stricken, the text of the Senate-passed Violence Against Women bill, S. 1925, with a modification that strikes sections 805 and 810 related to the immigration provisions; that the bill be read three times and passed, the Senate insist on its amendment, request a conference with the House, and the Chair be authorized to appoint conferees on the part of the Senate with a ratio agreed to by both leaders.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. REID. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, the Republican leader is now proposing an amendment to the Senate-passed bill—a Senate-passed bill that we are very proud of. It has been engineered and advocated by all Democratic Senators but mainly by the 12 women who are part of our caucus. This is an important piece of legislation. We all feel very strongly about this.

I haven't looked at all the details of this amendment, but I understand it. My first response is that the amendment is something the conferees should be working on. We can't do that without the proper input from all the interested parties, and we have 52, other than myself, on my side of the Capitol. That is why I have sought to go to conference with the product the Senate passed.

It may be that sometime in the future, after we evaluate all these pieces that have been suggested by my friend, the Republican leader, we may be able to proceed along this route, if, in fact, we get to conference. But we have to get to conference, and we have to have wider discussions airing the proposed amendment we have had just a little time to look at, at this stage.

I understand my friend's proposal, and I object to it.

MORNING BUSINESS

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that we proceed to a period of morning business, with Senators permitted to speak therein for up to 10 minutes each.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

REMEMBERING BILL STEWART

Mr. MANCHIN. Mr. President, before I speak today about the bill before us, I want to commemorate the life of a dear friend and a true West Virginian, Bill Stewart.

Bill was taken from us 2 days ago at the age of 59, but he left behind a lifetime of memories and love for our State.

Bill Stewart was a proud West Virginian in every sense of the word, and he was the best cheerleader this State ever had. Whether it was playing ball at Fairmont State—where I first met him—or coaching West Virginia University to a Fiesta Bowl win—where he took an underdog team to a thrilling victory—you never had to worry about Bill's enthusiasm; he had enough for all of us. In fact, you were either a friend of Bill Stewart's or he hadn't met you yet.

Bill was raised in New Martinsville and was a West Virginian through-and-through. Countless young men thrived under his coaching, but he was also truly dedicated to his family—his wife Karen and his son Blaine. I hope Karen and Blaine know just how much Bill meant to the people of our State, how much we loved him and how much we all will miss him.

My wife Gayle and I will keep Bill's entire family in our thoughts and prayers.

RECOGNIZING GARY BATES

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize the exemplary citizenship of Gary Bates. This is recognition for a life that has been lived and is continuing to be lived well—the kind of honorable life that too often goes unrecognized.

Gary's life has been defined by fighting. He began life in Henderson, NV fighting to avoid the challenges of a difficult home. He took this fighting spirit into the Marine Corps, where he served honorably until 1966 when he began an impressive career as a professional heavyweight boxer. As a regular name on the Las Vegas strip, he faced off with big names like Ken Norton, Ron Lyle and Gerry Cooney. There is nothing to idealize about many of the choices he made and paths he took in this phase of his life, but what is admirable is how he fought to turn his life around. He learned from the mistakes he made, and turned potential stumbling blocks into effective stepping stones to a productive life.

Recognizing a better way of living, Gary settled down by marrying his wife Carmen and raising two daughters. But Gary did not stop fighting. Finding inspiration in his Catholic faith, he picked up the fight for the less fortunate and endangered. Some of Gary's feats border on the incredible. He once saved the life of a complete stranger, Charles H. Case. While visiting Las Vegas, Charles crashed into an off-ramp rail and his car exploded into flames. Luckily for Charles, Gary witnessed the crash, broke the front left window and freed his pinned body from the enflamed car. Another time, while working in a downtown casino, Gary chased a fleeing thief through an alley into another casino and, as the police reported, decked him with a single punch to the right cheekbone. Gary was never motivated by or sought praise for these actions, a fact that is evidenced by many other low-profile acts of service. He has donated more than 25 gallons of his blood. Additionally, Gary has uniquely compatible blood marrow that he has amazingly matched with five non-relatives. He will tell you that of all his feats he is most proud of his marrow donation that saved the life of a 1-year-old boy.

I am pleased to recognize my friend Gary Bates and to give him some of the praise he has never asked, but certainly deserves. He has said he would take a bullet for me, but I think he would take one for anyone in need. Even at 67 he exercises daily so that he can be physically, not just mentally, ready to meet the call of anyone in distress. He continues to be an example to Nevadans and Americans that anyone can turn in their boxing gloves or brass knuckles for the work gloves of a citizen making our society a better place.

TRIBUTE TO DR. LARRY D. SHINN

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to a great educator who has impacted the lives of thousands of Kentuckians over the course of his career. My good friend, Dr. Larry D. Shinn, will retire in a little more than a month's time after serving 18 years as president of Berea College in Berea, KY, and I know I speak for many when I say I am very sorry to see him go.

Dr. Shinn has served as president since 1994 and is the eighth president of Berea College, a proud liberal-arts college which is dedicated to serving students of great promise and limited economic means. Its primary focus is on serving students from the Appalachian region. Berea College generously offers a full-tuition scholarship to each of its 1,500 students and requires all of them to work in positions on campus. Berea College is proud of its heritage as the first interracial and coeducational college in the South and proud of its focus on a Christian ethic of service and its historic mission to promote the cause of Christ.

Dr. Shinn is a magna cum laude graduate of Baldwin-Wallace College and a summa cum laude graduate of Drew University Theological School. He received his Ph.D. in history of religions from Princeton University. Before coming aboard as Berea's president, he taught at Oberlin College for 14 years and served as dean and vice president at Bucknell University for 10 years. He has authored several books and numerous articles and book reviews.

Then there is the remarkable progress Berea College has made under Dr. Shinn's leadership. During his presidency, Dr. Shinn has led the school's strategic-planning process and the creation of its strategic plan for Berea College to thrive in the 21st century. He has instituted a decisionmaking process that has enhanced virtually every area of academic life, from student retention and graduation rates to residential life, academic planning, development, and facilities renovation. He has led Berea's sustainability initiative, which is responsible for the creation of the Sustainability and Environmental Studies Program; the ecological renovations of several campus buildings, including the first LEED, Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design, building in Kentucky; and the establishment of a residential ''eco-village'' for student families.

Dr. Shinn also led the ''Extending Berea's Legacy'' campaign that raised $162 million for endowments to fund student scholarships, undergraduate research, a new technology program for students, a study abroad program, an entrepreneurship program, and other key initiatives.

I know that Larry and his wife Nancy are looking forward to having a little more time to themselves and to spend with their family, but their gain will certainly be Berea College's and Kentucky's loss. In his 18 years at the helm, Dr. Shinn has proven himself to be one of the finest college presidents in Kentucky and the Nation. I salute him for his incredible legacy of service towards improving the lives of the thousands of Kentuckians and other students who have passed through Berea College's doors. He is a great Kentuckian whom I have been honored to represent and to work with over his nearly two decades as Berea College's president. He will be missed.

Mr. President, the Berea Spotlight, a publication of Berea College, published an article highlighting the many accomplishments of Dr. Larry Shinn around the time he announced his retirement. I ask unanimous consent that said article be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

LARRY SHINN, BEREA COLLEGE PRESIDENT, PLANS RETIREMENT

(By Tim Jordan)

Berea College President Dr. Larry D. Shinn announced today that he will be retiring from the College, effective June 30, 2012. Berea's 8th president, Dr. Shinn has served in this capacity since 1994. In a letter to trustees, faculty, staff and students, Shinn stated that, with the College emerging strongly from the challenges of the Great Recession, it is a good time for Berea to begin the process of a leadership transition.

The combined efforts of Berea's faculty, staff, administrators, trustees, and other stakeholders have, over the span of the past 17 years, resulted in dramatic progress at the College. Enrollment of African-American students has increased from 6 percent to 18 percent, while service to the Appalachian region has been expanded. Retention and graduation rates have improved more than 30 percent while new program initiatives have enhanced educational quality. The College has successfully completed over $140 million in sustainable building renovations, and in 2005 a $150-million sesquicentennial campaign exceeded its goal. In response to the financial crisis of 2008–09, the College has embraced a bold and creative vision for carrying out its historic mission in a rapidly changing world. Dr. Shinn noted that Berea is a stronger and more resilient institution today that has greater capacity to address future opportunities and challenges.

President Shinn indicated that while he and his wife, Nancy, are looking forward to extended time with their children and grandchildren during their pending retirement, he cited a number of challenging initiatives that Berea must engage over the next 15 months, including the transition from academic departments to divisions, development of the College's new Center for Transformative Learning, and ''deep green'' science and residence hall projects.

Dr. David E. Shelton, chair of the Berea College Board of Trustees, commented: ''President Shinn's unique blend of academic and leadership skills passionately applied to Berea's mission, in partnership with the entire College community, has produced outstanding results. Berea is well-positioned for the future, and we look forward to the unfolding of a number of new developments and opportunities during Larry's remaining tenure as president. Dr. Shinn's extraordinary abilities, personal commitment, and strong work ethic have set the example for the next generation of presidential leadership at Berea. The Board of Trustees is grateful to Larry and Nancy for their extraordinary service to the College.''

MEMORIAL DAY

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, this Monday, May 28, is Memorial Day. It is a day for all Americans to honor the brave men and women in uniform who have served and defended our Nation—especially those who sacrificed their very lives for this sacred duty.

It is only right that we set aside this day to remember those who have given us so much. Freedom as we know it in America could not exist without their heroism.

On Memorial Day, we honor servicemembers who laid down their lives fighting under the command of GEN George Washington, to those who have perished in Afghanistan and Iraq. What a proud legacy of fighting for freedom our country has. I am honored to live in a nation that boasts the bravest warriors in the world.

I am also honored to serve my fellow Kentuckians, who understand the importance of this day more, I think, than most. Kentucky has a proud tradition of military service that is upheld today by the many Armed Forces members at our State's military bases, the members of the Kentucky National Guard, our reservists, and Kentuckians fighting around the world. Since September 11, 2001, 107 Kentucky servicemembers have fallen while fighting for their country.

I have been honored to meet many of the family members of these soldiers, sailors, airmen, and Marines who did not return home. I have let them know that their loved ones will not be forgotten. Memorial Day is a chance to make sure that message is heard loud and clear across America.

I want to share with my colleagues a special story about one soldier in particular from Kentucky. SGT Felipe Pereira of the 101st Airborne Division, based out of Fort Campbell, KY, recently was awarded the Nation's second highest military honor, the Distinguished Service Cross, for his acts of bravery in battle.

Sergeant Pereira is the first soldier from the 101st Airborne to be awarded the Distinguished Service Cross since the Vietnam war. At a ceremony this April at Fort Campbell, Chief of Staff of the Army GEN Ray Odierno presented Sergeant Pereira with the venerated military decoration.

According to the award citation, on November 1, 2010, in Kandahar province, Afghanistan, a squad of soldiers that included Sergeant Pereira was on dismounted patrol when an improvised explosive device went off, killing two of Sergeant Pereira's comrades and wounding Sergeant Pereira with shrapnel that caused his lung to begin to collapse. As an enemy ambush began to unfold, ''with little regard for his own safety or care'' Sergeant Pereira drove an all-terrain vehicle into enemy fire to help evacuate wounded soldiers.

After moving the first set of casualties, the sergeant went back into the line of fire once more to help others. Sergeant Pereira is credited with ''saving the lives of two of his fellow soldiers while risking his own [on] multiple occasions. Only after all the wounded soldiers had been evacuated and were receiving medical care did he accept treatment himself.''

Mr. President, Sergeant Pereira's selfless actions demand our admiration and respect. What is more, so does his selfless attitude about his bravery on that fateful day.

''Every time I have the opportunity, I always say remember those that gave the ultimate sacrifice,'' said Sergeant Pereira in an article published by the Fort Campbell Courier. ''I still get to come back and enjoy barbecues with my family and their love and everything. Those guys, they really gave it all. Those are truly the heroes. Just remember those guys. I think even on a happy occasion like this, I think we need to celebrate their life and their sacrifice.''

I can't improve on those words. Sergeant Pereira has captured the meaning of Memorial Day right there, in those words of wisdom.

So I hope this Memorial Day, people will heed the advice of SGT Felipe Pereira. The men and women who ''really gave it all'' are truly the heroes, and this Monday is their day to receive our admiration and our respect. I know my friends in Kentucky and people across America will not forget that.

Mr. CARDIN. Mr. President, Memorial Day is a time to pay tribute to those who have given ''the last full measure of devotion'' in the service of our great country. I believe this Memorial Day is especially significant as we pause to reflect on some of the events of the past year and acknowledge the passing of the last surviving veteran of World War I, the end the Iraq War, and a renewed commitment to wind down our engagement in Afghanistan by 2014.

Since the first colonial troops took up arms in the fight for our independence in 1775, more than 1.1 million American soldiers, sailors, and airmen have died in the wars and conflicts fought to defend our Nation, our freedom, and our ideals. In the past 10 years, we have lost over 6,400 brave Americans in Iraq and Afghanistan. The death of each one of these servicemen and women represents not only a tragic loss to their loved ones, but to their community, and to our Nation.

The American tradition of Memorial Day—originally known as Decoration Day—has its roots in local springtime tributes that were held in the North and the South during and immediately after the Civil War and following the assassination of President Abraham Lincoln on April 14, 1865. On May 1, 1865, nearly 10,000 freedmen, teachers, preachers, missionaries, and Union troops properly landscaped and covered with flowers the unmarked graves of some 250 or more Union prisoners of war who had died in captivity at the Charleston Race Course, a site now known as Hampton Park. On April 26, 1866, grieving mothers, sisters, wives, and daughters in Columbus, MS placed flowers on the graves of Confederate soldiers who had died in the Battle of Shiloh. While they grieved for their own lost loved ones, they saw that nearby graves of the Union soldiers were neglected, so they placed flowers on these graves as well. On May 5, 1866, an official commemoration was held in Waterloo, NY to honor local veterans of the Civil War. Businesses were closed and flags were flown at half-mast to honor the dead. On May 5, 1868, MG John A. Logan, who headed the Grand Army of the Republic, GAR, which was an organization of Union veterans, declared that May 30 of each year should be Decoration Day, a time for the Nation to festoon the graves of Union and Confederate war dead with flowers. Logan said, ''We should guard their graves with sacred vigilance. . . . Let pleasant paths invite the coming and going of reverent visitors and fond mourners. Let no neglect, no ravages of time, testify to the present or to the coming generations that we have forgotten as a people the cost of a free and undivided republic.'' The first large observance was held that same year at Arlington National Cemetery. In 1966, Congress and President Lyndon Johnson declared that Waterloo is the official birthplace of Memorial Day but it is apparent that many communities and people across America can claim some of the credit.

Shortly after World War I, Decoration Day ceremonies were no longer limited to honoring those who had died in the Civil War. Rather, the commemoration was altered to embrace the men and women who have died in all American wars. In 1971, Congress passed legislation to make Memorial Day a national holiday and to fix its date as the last Monday in May. In December 2000, Congress passed ''The National Moment of Remembrance Act'' (Public Law 106–579, which encourages all Americans to pause wherever they are at 3:00 PM local time on Memorial Day for 1 minute of silence to remember and honor those who have died in service to our Nation.

While the Memorial Day we will celebrate this Monday is approaching the sesquicentennial of its birth, the tradition of honoring those who have fallen in war is probably as old—or nearly as old—as human history itself. Over 2,400 years ago—in 431 B.C.E.—Pericles paid tribute to the Athenian soldiers who had fallen in battle at the beginning of the Peloponnesian War, saying

For this offering of their lives made in common by them all they each of them individually received that renown which never grows old, and for a sepulchre, not so much that in which their bones have been deposited, but that noblest of shrines wherein their glory is laid up to be eternally remembered upon every occasion on which deed or story shall call for its commemoration. For heroes have the whole earth for their tomb; and in lands far from their own, where the column with its epitaph declares it, there is enshrined in every breast a record unwritten with no tablet to preserve it, except that of the heart.

This Memorial Day, in the spirit of compassion and empathy shown by the Confederate widows who placed flowers on the graves of Union soldiers in Columbus, MS nearly 150 years ago, I would like to mention some facts about those fallen servicemen and women we too often neglect to consider. According to a recent study by the Army, suicides among U.S. servicemembers increased 80 percent from 2004 to 2008. The study confirmed that there is an increased risk of suicide among those who experience mental health disorder diagnosis associated with the stress of combat. Protracted military operations requiring multiple deployments over the past decade have made mental health disorders the signature wounds for our military members returning from the conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan. A comprehensive study by RAND found that approximately 18.5 percent of those servicemen and women returning from deployment reported symptoms consistent with a diagnosis of post-traumatic stress disorder, PTSD, or depression. Up to 30 percent of troops returning home from combat develop serious mental health problems within 3 to 4 months. And since mental health issues often are not immediately addressed while our servicemen and women are on active duty, or because of the lasting traumas of war, we see even higher numbers of mental illness diagnosis among our veterans. According to a Government Accountability Office report, U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, VA, data ''show that from fiscal year 2004 through fiscal year 2008, the number of unique veterans receiving treatment for PTSD increased by 60 percent from over 274,000 to over 442,000.''

I believe that the best way we can truly honor those who have sacrificed themselves upon the altar of freedom is not just to fulfill our solemn obligation to care for their widows and orphans. More than that, we must care for their brothers and sisters in arms who have also borne the battle, and who have returned to us wounded, ill and injured, and for the family members and other individuals who selflessly care for them. These soldiers and sailors and airmen and their caregivers also deserve our gratitude, our accolades, our compassion—and our support. Therefore, I commend the VA Secretary Shinseki's recent decision to hire an additional 1,900 mental health staff at VA facilities to ensure greater care for our servicemembers suffering from the wounds of war, both physical and emotional.

It is not just about providing adequate resources, however. Having an adequate number of mental health professionals is just one component of ensuring access to care. Former Secretary of Defense Robert Gates correctly acknowledged that the greatest obstacle to servicemembers receiving necessary mental health treatment is the stigma too often associated with seeking help for their psychological injuries. I frequently hear from servicemembers who believe that seeking mental health services will hurt their military and post-military careers. We must overcome these real and perceived barriers to care by changing the policies that govern how we provide mental health care to our active duty military members, reservists, and veterans. Those who suffer in silence will seek treatment only when they are assured they can truly seek such treatment and speak about their problems freely and off-the-record. Meanwhile, as more and more go untreated, we will continue to see a rise in suicides and other tragic incidents among our military members and veterans—a preventable epidemic, which is heaping tragedy upon tragedy.

During this holiday weekend and on Monday in particular we will see many American flags and flowers adorning the graves of those who have made the ultimate sacrifice for our Nation. I will remember in particular the 114 Marylanders who have been killed in our most recent conflicts as I remind myself that our freedom is not free. And I will remind myself that the best way to honor their ultimate sacrifice is to ensure that we are unwavering in our resolve not only to care for their widows and orphans, but also for those who do return to us wounded, ill, and injured—including those whose injuries are emotional. Let us reaffirm our commitment to support all of these individuals and their families and other caregivers this Memorial Day, and every Memorial Day hereafter.

Ms. MURKOWSKI. Mr. President, I rise to recognize the importance of Memorial Day, a day that means so much to me and those I represent in Alaska. For so many of us, it means sunlight nearly all day, the unofficial beginning of summer, and enjoying the great outdoors.

But let us never forget the deep, true meaning of Memorial Day. It means the payment of respect, memories, time and energy to the sacrifices of men and women who have defended the rights and privileges we enjoy today.

Memorial Day first began nearly 100 years before Alaskan statehood, but even in our territorial days we had Alaskans fighting on our own soil against foreign enemies—one of the few States that can say such a thing. It is because of those early successes—and the success of Alaskans from then to those deployed today—that we salute our flag, speak our mind and continue to be a global leader.

As many Alaskans know first-hand, those successes often came at the ultimate price. On Memorial Day we make a small attempt to repay them with our support, prayers and appreciation. I ask that all Alaskans and Americans join me in devoting a few minutes of our time in reflection as a small tribute to those who have given their lives for the cause of freedom.

Although we may not be able to fully measure the cost of our heroes' sacrifice, we can commit ourselves to preserving their memory. So on Memorial Day 2012, I ask that we honor our fallen heroes, comfort the loved ones of those we lost, and carry on our lives in a manner that is worthy of their sacrifice. May God continue to bless our great Nation.

Mr. President, I yield the floor.

Mr. HELLER. Mr. President, today I wish to pay tribute to the men and women of our Nation who have given their lives for the cause of freedom and to honor those who are still with us today. On this Memorial Day weekend, let us stand together as Americans to pay our respects and mourn the loss of those brave soldiers who fought in defense of our liberty. As we gather across the Nation, we need to remember the invaluable sacrifices of our troops and their families are debts that can never fully be repaid.

Every soldier whose life is taken in the line of duty is a great loss to our Nation. Lives have been sadly shortened, and we all feel an absence. We may never be able to measure the loss, but we can take solace in knowing that their lives served to inspire, defend freedom, and preserve life. Today, we commemorate the brave men and women in uniform who gave their lives while serving our country.

We must also remember the members of our Armed Forces who are currently in harm's way. In this trying time in America's history, our soldiers have accepted the call of duty, knowing that the road ahead is dangerous and full of hardship. Their courage and resiliency are what make our military the best in the world. Our servicemembers face perilous situations in order to protect Americans from harm, and I am so grateful for all they do. Their commitment of service and self-sacrifice is what we admire, appreciate, and respect. As we continue withdrawing some of our combat forces, we pray for their safe return.

As someone whose father is a disabled veteran and whose brother served overseas, I understand firsthand the struggles of our servicemembers and the significant sacrifices made by their families. The families of our military men and women also make tremendous sacrifices for our country and for the safety of our Nation. Each and every deployment causes great stress and a burden of separation that every member of these families experience. They have loved ones far away from home and are sacrificing their own well-being for the protection of our country. We must remember that these families serve as the backbone for the men and women who wear the uniform of our armed services, and our Nation owes them a debt of great gratitude.

Today, we honor those who have given their life in service to their country. We will never forget our soldiers who fought for a better America and served our country with honor. I ask my colleagues to join me today in honoring our Nation's heroes who have given the ultimate sacrifice to make sure that our country remains safe and free.

RECOGNIZING THE S.S. ''BADGER''

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, recently Chicagoans were asked in a poll what asset of their great city they valued most. By a large margin, they chose Lake Michigan.

Lake Michigan is the primary source of drinking water for more than 10 million people—not just in my home State of Illinois but also in Wisconsin, Indiana, and Michigan.

The lake is also part of the $7 billion per year Great Lakes fishing industry. Millions of people visit Lake Michigan for its recreational opportunities like swimming, kayaking, boating, or just taking a walk along the beach. It is a beautiful lake.

Unfortunately, we are faced with a threat to the health of our Great Lake.

This week, on Thursday, May 24, the coal-fired car-ferry S.S. Badger will begin its 60th year sailing on Lake Michigan.

Many people have fond memories of the Badger, steaming from its homeport of Ludington, MI, to Manitowoc, WI, every summer. But they need to be reminded of this: It is the last coal-fired ferry in the United States, and every year it dumps another 500 tons of coal ash into Lake Michigan. Think about that for a moment—500 tons of coal ash every year since the 1950s. What must the bottom of the lake look like?

The owner of the Badger insists that the coal ash is basically just sand, but we know better. Scientists are concerned about coal ash because it contains chemicals like arsenic, lead, and mercury.

Once in the lake, these chemicals enter the food chain through the water we drink and the fish we eat. Then they accumulate in our bodies and can cause cancer and neurological damage. In fact, we already are facing problems from mercury contamination of the fish that are part of our food supply. How can we continue to accept behavior that will just make this problem worse?

If the Badger's owners had only recently found that dumping coal was a problem, it might be OK to cut them some slack. But the Badger's owners have a long history of avoiding the steps needed to clean up their act.

Most other vessels on the Great Lakes converted from coal to diesel fuel long ago but not the Badger.

In 2008, conversion to a new fuel was way overdue. But a waiver was placed into EPA's vessel general permit to allow the Badger to continue dumping coal ash through 2012. I think that was 5 years too many of toxic dumping. But to make matters worse, the Badger's owners still have not made a reasonable effort to stop dumping coal ash into the lake. Instead, they are doing everything they can to avoid switching to a new fuel.

Last fall, the Badger was nominated to be a national historic landmark, and an amendment was added to House Coast Guard and Maritime Transportation Act to exempt all vessels of historic significance from environmental regulation.

The national historic landmark designation was created to commemorate properties that have special significance in American history. The designation has been appropriately used to protect sites including the home of President Abraham Lincoln in Springfield, IL, and the S.S. Milwaukee Clipper, a retired steamship in Muskegon, MI. The national historic landmark designation was never intended to allow polluters to avoid complying with Federal regulations that protect our health and the environment.

I have urged Interior Secretary Salazar to oppose the designation of the Badger as a national historic landmark. I also ask my fellow Senators to join me in opposing language in the House Coast Guard and Maritime Transportation Act that would exempt ''vessels of historic significance'' from EPA regulation.

After I came out in opposition to this strategy, the Badger's owner came to Washington to talk to me.

He mentioned that he was applying for an EPA permit to continue dumping coal ash while he pursues conversion of the Badger to run on liquefied natural gas. He would like to make the Badger the greenest vessel on the Great Lakes. That would be terrific, but it just isn't a realistic option right now. Today, there are few suppliers of liquefied natural gas. There are no shipyards in the United States qualified to convert passenger vessels to run on liquefied natural gas. And it would take close to $50 million just to develop the infrastructure needed to fuel the Badger at the dock.

One day, all the boats on the Great Lakes might be powered by natural gas. But it isn't a realistic plan for the Badger to stop dumping coal ash. It is just another delaying tactic, when the Badger's owners were given a deadline 5 years ago.

The Badger has blatantly avoided complying with current EPA regulations. We cannot reward the owners for their negligence with permanent statutory protection from EPA regulation.

This is more than a car ferry with a venerable tradition. This is a vessel that generates and dumps 4 tons of coal ash laced with mercury, lead, and arsenic into Lake Michigan every day. This Great Lake cannot take any more toxic dumping, no matter how historic or quaint the source may be.

HONORING OUR ARMED FORCES

Mr. COCHRAN. Mr. President, I rise today to offer a Memorial Day tribute to the brave men and women who have lost their lives protecting the safety and security of our citizens and American interests around the world.

Today, there are media reports about the American people becoming ''war weary'' after more than a decade of combat activities in Afghanistan, Iraq and elsewhere. Many lives and great expense have been marshaled since the 9/11 attacks, but I would submit that Americans are unfaltering in their appreciation for the honor, courage and dedication shown by our servicemen and women. This is especially the case for those who have made the ultimate sacrifice by giving their lives for their country.

This Memorial Day, I will take time to honor our brave fallen warriors, including the more than 70 military personnel from Mississippi who have died in the service of our Nation in Iraq, Afghanistan and around the world over the past decade.

For the RECORD, I offer the names of these brave Mississippians who have fallen since the Nation commemorated Memorial Day last year. They are:

Sgt. Christopher R. Bell, 21, of Golden, who died June 4, 2011.

Petty Officer Stacy O. Johnson, 35, of Rolling Fork, who died July 18, 2011.

LCpl. Edward J. Dycus, 22, of Greenville, who died Feb. 1, 2012.

SFC Billy E. Sutton, 42, of Tupelo, who died Feb. 7, 2012.

MSG Scott E. Pruitt, 38, of Gautier, who died April 28, 2012.

SSG Carlous Perry, 30, of West Point, who died April 30, 2012.

I am confident that the people of my State will join the national commemoration to remember these men and the thousands of Mississippians, who over the course of this great nation's history, have courageously served and sacrificed their lives in that service. We will also recall their families and their profound loss. On this day of remembrance, we salute those sacrifices and express our gratitude for their brave service.

In these challenging times, we should also reaffirm our commitment to the servicemen and women who today put themselves in danger on our behalf. We must remain resolved to ensure that those who join our Armed Forces are the best equipped and best trained in the world, and that we meet our obligations to those who have served and sacrificed in the defense of our nation.

Let me close by expressing my personal gratitude to all our fallen heroes, and communicating my sincere appreciation to those Mississippians and Americans who answer the call to arms and find themselves in harm's way.

VOTE EXPLANATION

Mr. BLUMENTHAL. Mr. President, I was unavoidably absent during today's votes on the Food and Drug Administration Safety and Innovation Act due to my daughter's high school graduation. I supported this bipartisan legislation earlier this year when it was before the Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee, and had I been able to attend today's votes, I would have voted in support of final passage of this important legislation.

Additionally, I would have voted to support the Bingaman amendment No. 2111, the Murkowski amendment No. 2108, the Sanders amendment No. 2109 and the McCain amendment No. 2107. I would have voted against tabling the Durbin amendment No. 2127 and voted to table the Paul amendment No. 2143.

During the Senate's debate on S. 2343, the Stop the Student Loan Interest Rate Hike Act of 2012, I would have opposed the Alexander amendment No. 2153 and supported passage of S. 2343.

OFFICER SAFETY ACT

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I would like to make clear for the record a matter relating to the Officer Safety Act of 2012. I thank my colleague from Iowa for working with me on this legislation. I cosponsored this bill after changes were made, in the nature of a substitute amendment, to clarify the limited scope of the legislation. The Officer Safety Act clarifies when an officer is ''acting under the color of his office'' for removal purposes only. As my colleague has stated previously, the bill provides no liability protection. Whether a law enforcement officer is deemed to have been ''acting under the color of his office'' for removal purposes under 28 U.S.C. §1442(c), as amended, is a separate question from whether that officer should subsequently be held liable for his conduct, whether the officer should be considered immune from suit, or whether the officer's defense in a criminal trial has merit.

The clarification of ''color of . . . office'' and the expansion of removal eligibility granted by this legislation is not meant to affect those latter determinations of liability and immunity. The bill is simply meant to give these law enforcement officers the ability to make arguments pertaining to liability, immunity, and potential criminal defenses in Federal rather than in State court. Does my colleague agree?

Mr. GRASSLEY. My colleague from Illinois is correct.

STRUGGLING AGAINST BUREAUCRACY

Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, this week is National Small Business Week, which is a time to celebrate the entrepreneurial spirit behind American enterprise. But, as I was reminded by a piece that was published recently in the Wall Street Journal, it is also a time to remember how government can better serve the small businesses in America. In today's economy, the Nation needs an effective regulatory environment that allows small business to grow and create jobs while keeping our families and environment safe. I ask unanimous consent to have this article printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

[From the Wall Street Journal, May 22, 2012]

THE RED TAPE DIARIES—ONE SMALL BUSINESS OWNER'S STRUGGLE AGAINST BUREAUCRACY

(By Nicholas N. Owens)

This week is National Small Business Week, a time to celebrate the ingenuity of entrepreneurs—and to consider how government can provide better service to the small enterprises that form the backbone of American industry.

Consider the Environmental Protection Agency official who described his agency's work as akin to crucifixion. In a Web video from 2010 that recently came to light, Al Armendariz likened regulatory enforcement to the Roman imperial practice of crucifying people to serve as an example to others: soldiers would go to ''a town somewhere, they'd find the first five guys they saw, and they'd crucify them,'' he explained. ''And then, you know, that town was really easy to manage for the next few years.''

Mr. Armendariz's point was that making examples of certain businesses or industries would serve as a deterrent to ensure compliance. But the way he illustrated his point provoked outrage, and within days he had resigned from the agency—proving again that the journalist Michael Kinsley was right to say that a ''gaffe'' in Washington is when someone accidentally tells the truth.

I know first-hand that Mr. Armendariz's view is a truthful representation of how many regulators view their function. While serving as the Small Business Administration's (SBA) national ombudsman from 2006 to 2009, I worked with small business owners who believed they were falling victim to unfair or excessive regulatory enforcement. All too often, I saw federal regulators take a stridently adversarial stance toward the industries they oversee.

In 2007, for example, I was contacted by Rob Latham, who runs a small Internet sales company in Greenville, S.C. Mr. Latham started his business in 2005 and was prepared to work hard to make it succeed.

He wasn't prepared for how easily a run-in with federal regulators could bring him to the brink of ruin. That's what happened in 2007 after he found himself embroiled in a months-long dispute with the EPA over a shipment of engines he had imported.

The issue came down to labeling. Although the product Mr. Latham was importing met the EPA's environmental standards, regulators ordered the shipment seized because it contained labels that could be removed with a razor blade. (In other words, they were somewhat vulnerable to damage or tampering.) Mr. Latham thought the dispute could be easily resolved but was surprised by the EPA's intransigence—its dedication to junking his entire shipment—when he tried to work with them.

Mr. Latham wasn't ignorant of the regulations that governed his business—quite the opposite. He had carefully studied the rules that governed the products he was importing, and he thought he had taken all appropriate steps to ensure compliance. But as a small business owner with no in-house legal team, he had little idea how complicated the bureaucratic process would be.

He met with regulators in Washington to resolve the issue but found that they doubled down on their position, becoming hostile and aggressive.

That's when he reached out to my office. Hearing of his plight, I contacted the EPA on his behalf and started working with regulators to resolve the case. Soon thereafter, the regulators relented and allowed Mr. Latham's imports to move forward—but only after he paid a substantial penalty of $10,000, an apparent tribute to the regulators to allow them to save face.

The story ends happily: Once the EPA dispute was resolved, Mr. Latham's business grew swiftly. Today his company boasts three warehouses and more than 20 employees.

But had Mr. Latham not connected with my office, he might have lost his business. It's frightening to think what other small business owners encounter in similar situations. What about those who don't know where to turn, or who aren't lucky enough to stumble across the right advice or the right advocate?

As of 2008, small businesses faced an annual regulatory cost of $10,585 per employee, according to an SBA regulatory impact study published two years ago.

So was Rob Latham crucified? That's too strong a word, because it's likely he wasn't specifically targeted—he was simply caught up in a web of red tape and bureaucracy, and the regulators had little interest in helping him get through the impasse. His struggle is a case study in why we need a regulatory regime that's fair, accountable and allows our economy to grow again.

RECOGNIZING NATIONAL SMALL BUSINESS WEEK

Mr. BOOZMAN. Mr. President, this week marks the 49th annual National Small Business Week, a time to celebrate the innovations, ideas, and hard work of our entrepreneurs. Small businesses are the backbone of our economy, accounting for 65 percent of new jobs over the last 17 years. This vital economic component also employs about half of all private sector employees.

As a former small business owner I recognize the difficulty these owners have to plan for future growth and investment. It is our job to make sure we provide an environment that helps these engines of economic growth. We need to make sure our small businesses have the resources they need to continue providing good, well-paying jobs for hard-working Americans. I was pleased to support the American Jobs Act in March. This legislation seeks to increase capital formation, spur the growth of startups and small businesses, and enable more small-scale businesses to enter public markets.

Arkansans are familiar with what it takes to build a business from the ground up. As home to Fortune 500 companies—including the world's largest retailer, Wal-Mart, and the world's largest processor of chicken, Tyson's—that both started as a small business, residents of the Natural State understand the risks and rewards associated with small businesses.

This week the U.S. Small Business Administration recognized the work of Americans who excel in their work to help small businesses. I am proud to say that Kelly Massey of the Henderson State University Small Business and Technology Development Center in Arkadelphia, AR was recognized as the SBA's Small Business Development Center Counselor of the Year winner.

As director of the State's premier business assistance program, Massey dedicates himself to helping the area's small businesses achieve success and promoting the mission and goals of the SBDC program to help spur economic development.

We are also proud of Arkansas Power Electronics International, Inc., for its recognition as the 2012 Arkansas State Small Business Person of the Year. The company continues to strive for success as it develops the next generation of high energy-efficiency power electronics systems. APEI is a great small business model, growing from one person to more than 35 in 15 years, with plans for expansion in the coming years.

These Arkansas business leaders will help move America into the future and construct the groundwork for economic recovery. We need to continue pursuing policies that support the entrepreneurial spirit of these economic building blocks.

TAIWAN'S PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

Mr. LIEBERMAN. Mr. President, on Sunday, the 20th of May, Taiwan marked the second inauguration of President Ma Ying-jeou. Since its first direct presidential elections in 1996, Taiwan's democracy has emerged as model for the rest of the Asia Pacific region. Over these 16 years, power has changed hands twice between Taiwan's two largest political parties, demonstrating for the world the rapid maturation of its democracy and the commitment of its people to exercising their democratic freedoms. I rise today to congratulate President Ma on his inauguration, and note Taiwan's remarkable history as a kindred democracy, key partner in security and trade, and great friend of the United States.

I take deep pride in the partnership between the United States and the people of Taiwan, which is rooted in shared values, shared interests, and a shared vision for a peaceful and prosperous future. For more than 6 decades, the United States has stood with Taiwan as it has transformed into a prosperous free market democracy.

Just as the United States has supported Taiwan, so too has Taiwan been a great friend to America. Taiwan is among America's top trading partners. Moreover, time and time again from the Korean War, to the Vietnam War, to our continued security cooperation today Taiwan has stood shoulder to shoulder with the United States. I am deeply grateful to the people of Taiwan for their contributions to our shared security and prosperity.

Looking to the future, I hope and believe that President Ma's second inauguration will mark another milestone in the deepening relationship between the United States and Taiwan. For all of our progress, we still have a big agenda ahead.

It is past time for us to remove the barriers to trade between the U.S. and Taiwan and negotiate a Free Trade Agreement with Taiwan. We must also ensure that the people of Taiwan are secure, so they can continue to decide their future for themselves. That, in turn, means the United States should take common-sense steps to deepen our security ties with Taiwan and support Taiwan in acquiring the weapons it needs and has requested. As the United States focuses increasingly on the Asia-Pacific region, the Obama Administration must do more to make Taiwan an integral part of our broader strategy to uphold the balance of power in this critical part of the world as a way to maintain peace.

In closing, I again congratulate President Ma on his inauguration and thank Taiwan's people for their decades of friendship.

TRIBUTE TO RICHARD F. WALSH

Mr. MCCAIN. Mr. President, I would be remiss if I did not recognize that today's meeting of the Senate Committee on Armed Services to vote out its annual Defense authorization bill was the last for Richard F. Walsh of my staff. I know Dick's Winnebago is packed and idling outside and is probably out of gas because he delayed his retirement to see us through mark up, but I want to say a few words before we adjourn.

I believe in the nobility of public service, and I think Dick exemplifies that, not just through his tenure here but throughout his entire career. Many may not know that Dick came to the Armed Services Committee after a distinguished 30-year career in the Navy, much of it as a judge advocate. He served in a number of challenging assignments, including counsel to the Chief of Naval Personnel; commander of the Naval Legal Service Office, National Capital Region; director of legislation in the Navy's Office of Legislative Affairs; and executive director for Senate affairs under the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Legislative Affairs.

In 2001, my good friend Senator John Warner hired Dick to handle personnel issues. From the halls of the service academies to the bones of Tripoli, Dick has seen it all. He has worked on issues of military pay, benefits, and education. Some were high profile, others not. Some were for the dogs, literally and figuratively. During his tenure, he strived to ensure fairness in the military justice system and remained vigilant so that military standards continue to reflect the honor of military service. I am proud of the work we did together on the GI bill to ensure the transferability of military benefits to family members. Through it all, he showed himself a consummate professional.

Our committee works on issues vital to our national security and the men and women who protect it. Dick's work in particular over the last decade touches our soldiers, sailors, airmen, marines, and their families, daily, in very real, very meaningful ways. I know Dick will have mixed emotions when he leaves us, but he can take comfort in the knowledge that he has made a difference.

So from one retired Navy officer to another, I wish Dick Walsh and his wife Gail fair winds and following seas as they board their Winnebago and push off for a well-earned retirement together.

REMEMBERING DENISE ADDISON

Mr. NELSON of Nebraska. Mr. President, I rise today to honor the life of one of my long-time aides, Denise Addison, who was a devoted public servant and cherished friend. Sadly, Denise lost her long battle with cancer on May 12, 2012.

Denise first came to my office back in 2001. While I was just starting my Senate career that year, she was already an experienced veteran, having worked in Congress for 25 years.

Although Denise was not a native of Nebraska, having grown up right here in our Nation's capital, she found something special in our great State and adopted it as her own. In 1998, she began working with former Nebraska Senator Chuck Hagel, later transitioning to the office of then-Senator Bob Kerrey, whose staff members were so impressed by Denise's performance that they strongly recommended she be one of my first hires.

Denise's work with my constituent services team was impeccable. She was well aware of how important my constituents are to me and, as such, took great pride in her work. Her amazing memory and attention to detail made her a valuable staff member, and her complete satisfaction with her daily work made her irreplaceable. In this town, it is rare to find someone who possesses all of the qualities Denise brought to my staff, including loyalty, dedication, and genuine fulfillment.

Yet that was the kind of person Denise was—both at work and in her personal life. Even more remarkable than her tenure in the Senate was her commitment to her family—her husband Carl, whom she affectionately called ''Mr. A;'' her three children, Al, Dominique, and Jasmine; her parents; her five brothers; and her cousins, who were always more like sisters to her.

When Denise and I first started working together, her youngest daughter, Jasmine, was just starting kindergarten. Today, she is almost through high school. Denise was incredibly proud of her children and always put the needs of her family before all else.

Although the last 2 years of Denise's life were definitely a struggle for her, she never complained. Instead, she remained, as always, more concerned for those around her than for herself. I do not think she ever fully recognized what an immense impact she had on all those who knew her.

While Denise was taken from us far too soon, there is solace in knowing she confronted her illness by continuing to be the same kind, caring person she had always been, living life to the fullest right up to the end. Denise Addison was truly one of a kind, beloved and missed by everyone who had the pleasure of being her friend.

Thank you, Denise, for who you were and for all you did for me, for my staff, and, most important, for the State of Nebraska. The ''good life'' will not be quite the same without you.

TRIBUTE TO COMMANDER BRYAN E. HELLER

Mr. HELLER. Mr. President, I am so proud to rise today to honor a Nevadan whom I have known for my entire life and who has my utmost admiration and respect. It is with great pleasure to recognize my brother, Bryan Heller, as he retires from the U.S. Navy after 20 years of service to his State and country. On June 1, 2012, he will enter the next chapter of his life, and I am thrilled to see what he will accomplish next. On behalf of a grateful nation, I thank Bryan for his many years of faithful, selfless service and extend heartfelt congratulations on the occasion of his retirement.

Bryan began his naval career while studying civil engineering at Brigham Young University. In 1992, he entered the Navy in the Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate Program and was later commissioned at Officer Candidate School in Newport, RI. Bryan successfully completed the rigorous nuclear pipeline and submarine school and subsequently reported to the USS Georgia, where he earned his gold dolphins and qualified as nuclear engineer officer.

Over the course of his career, Bryan and his family moved across the country to respond to his next call of duty. Returning to his civil engineering roots, he transferred to the Civil Engineering Corps, CEC, where he experienced his first CEC tour aboard the NAS Oceana and became registered as a professional engineer. He also earned his master of science in civil engineering from the University of Texas. In 2007, Bryan reported to Commander, U.S. Naval forces Central Command, where he headed the Navy's construction program in Bahrain, United Arab Emirates, Oman, Kuwait, Jordan, and Lebanon.

Currently serving as the desert operation officer, Bryan leads the Desert Integrated Product Team, which supports Navy bases outside of San Diego and Ventura County. Bryan continues to be an incredible asset to the naval community, and I know it will be difficult to replace him. Throughout his career, Bryan has been extensively decorated, exemplifying his strong work ethic and commitment to serve. He has been awarded three Meritorious Service Medals, three Navy and Marine Corps Commendation Medals, and two Navy and Marine Corps Achievement Medals.

Today, it is also my distinct honor to recognize and express my gratitude to Bryan's family—his wife, Kristi, and children, Natascha, Heidi, Josef, and Jakob. Their strength during times when their family was apart embodies the resilience that makes our military communities strong. I constantly find myself in awe of the sacrifices and efforts that have been made by our military families. Each and every deployment causes great stress and a burden of separation that every member of these families experience. We must remember that these families serve as the backbone for the men and women who wear the uniform of our armed services, and they deserve our support. The invaluable sacrifices of our servicemembers and their families are debts that can never fully be repaid.

I am proud to honor my brother today and recognize his accomplished career in the U.S. Navy. On the eve of this Memorial Day holiday weekend, we must recognize all our brave servicemembers and their commitment to our country. It is with great appreciation that I ask my colleagues to stand with me in honoring Bryan's service to our Nation as he moves onto the next phase of his life.

DENVER GAY MEN'S CHORUS

● Mr. BENNET. Mr. President, today I wish to congratulate the Denver Gay Men's Chorus on its 30th anniversary. For the last 30 years, the group has shown great commitment to educational, cultural, and social enrichment in the community on behalf of the Rocky Mountain Arts Association.

Since the Denver Gay Men's Chorus was formed in 1982, it has performed more than 130 concerts and more than 1,400 compositions, arrangements, and medleys. The group has commissioned 25 works. It performed at the 1996 World Summer Olympics in Atlanta at the opening of the Olympic Diversity Center. It has also received the Denver Mayor's Award for Excellence in the Arts.

Today, the organization has more than 170 volunteer singers who perform at numerous community outreach events every year. They include performances at Manhattan Middle School's Diversity Week to end school bullying and a performance at the World AIDS Day Concert.

I join the State of Colorado in thanking this organization for working to address social issues and spread a message of tolerance and for enriching our community and our State. I look forward to its future work and the effect it will continue to have on our community.●

RECOGNIZING THE WORLD TRADE CENTER UTAH

● Mr. HATCH. Mr. President, today I wish to congratulate the World Trade Center Utah on the naming of one of Utah's finest buildings in their honor. On May 23, 2012, my Utah staff had the pleasure of attending a ceremony whereby the building formerly known as Eagle Gate Tower became the World Trade Center at City Creek. Naming one of Salt Lake's premier business addresses after the World Trade Center Utah is a fitting tribute to the important role the organization plays in guiding Utah's world-leading companies into new markets. This achievement is all the more remarkable when you consider that the organization was only founded in 2006.

We hear time and time again about the fact that 95 percent of our potential consumers live outside the United States. But we all know that reaching those customers can be difficult. Since 2006, the World Trade Center Utah has assisted over 1,000 companies to do just that, through educational classes and seminars, international business development events, and networking opportunities. The World Trade Center Utah rightly prides itself on being the ''first stop'' for Utah businesses seeking to expand their trade opportunities. By assessing their capabilities, providing educational opportunities and connections to the right people and organizations, the World Trade Center Utah provides the businesses of the Beehive State a much needed roadmap to engaging in international trade.

Their hard work has paid off. Thanks in no small part to the World Trade Center Utah and the leadership of its CEO, Lew Cramer, Utah merchandise exports increased 37 percent in 2011 compared to 2010, growing from $13.8 billion to $18.9 billion. In a time of great economic difficulty for our Nation, this was no easy feat and was no doubt welcome news to the nearly 93,000 Utahns whose jobs depend on exports, as well as the companies in Utah which collectively exported to over 190 foreign markets.

I congratulate the World Trade Center Utah, as well as its founding CEO, Lew Cramer, and his dedicated staff for this achievement.●

KEEPING CHILDREN ALCOHOL FREE

● Mr. HOEVEN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to have printed the attached statement in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

RECOGNIZING THE LEADERSHIP TO KEEP CHILDREN ALCOHOL FREE FOUNDATION

Mr. HOEVEN. Mr. President, today it is my honor to recognize the accomplishments of a group of dedicated volunteers who have devoted extensive time, resources and energy toward the worthy effort of helping our children avoid the pitfalls of alcohol dependence and binge drinking. The Leadership To Keep Children Alcohol Free Foundation is a unique coalition of current and former Governors' spouses, Federal agencies, and public and private organizations united in their goal to prevent the use of alcohol by children ages nine to fifteen. It is the only national effort that focuses on alcohol use in this age group. Childhood drinking leads to adolescent alcohol abuse, and in my state of North Dakota, I want to acknowledge that the rate of alcohol abuse among young people is an ongoing challenge that we must address. For this reason especially, I am motivated by a sense of duty and public concern to extend my gratitude to the volunteers of this Foundation and enter into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD a comprehensive summary of the accomplishments and impact that this Foundation has achieved from 2000 to 2012 for the families of my state and our nation.

I would like to provide some background on how this Foundation came to be. In partnership with The Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) and in response to childhood drinking as a national public health threat, the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA), an institute of the National Institutes of Health charged with research on alcohol abuse and its causes, the many medical and social consequences of heavy drinking, and approaches to new prevention and treatment, established the Leadership Initiative in 2000. The initiative would engage First Spouses in each state, with the underlying assumption that top-level state leadership could serve as a collective and powerful force to bring the scope and dangers of early alcohol use to the public's attention and to mobilize National, State, and local action to prevent it. And thus, it was launched as a national initiative in 2000 and subsequently evolved in 2004 as The Leadership To Keep Children Alcohol Free Foundation with a non-profit, non-partisan membership of over 50 current and former governors' spouses.

The seamless transition from the Initiative into the Foundation enabled the work of the Leadership Initiative to continue without interruption. Its purpose, membership, and accomplishments remained the same. That is, its purpose is to support the efforts of current Governor's spouses or their representatives, both in their states and nationally, to prevent or reduce underage drinking, especially among the 9–15 year old population.

This multiyear, multimillion-dollar initiative provided support to participating Governors' spouses, who conveyed the initiative's messages within their States and nationally through State policy briefings, outreach to and through the media, broad distribution of educational materials and public service announcements, and personal appearances. Both the RWJ and NIAAA funding ended in 2007.

Leadership membership has always been composed of Governors' spouses or their designate that are also prosecutors, judges, educators, business leaders, substance abuse prevention specialists, and parents. They often act as a point of contact in their state conveying news about their state's underage drinking prevention initiatives, and also taking information back to their constituency. The Leadership initiative provides members with a source of information to use as they reach out to these audiences.

At this time, The Leadership Foundation has 26 current spouses as members, 22 emeritus spouses as members, and 20 Partners of like-minded organizations.

I will now offer to you, Mr. President, the major accomplishments of The Leadership Foundation form 2000 through 2011. As originally conceptualized, The Leadership to Keep Children Alcohol Free Foundation has been uniquely qualified to help move the conversation around underage drinking to a higher level and broader audience. Its niche has been its ability to educate and engage policy makers at all levels. Its non-partisan membership of over 50 current and former governors' spouses has allowed it to influence the debate over childhood drinking both nationally and within states.

It has been remarkably successful in a relatively short time. Many organizations and experts in the field of prevention view the Governors' spouses' work on childhood drinking as key in placing childhood and underage drinking front and center on the national agenda. Often in collaboration with national and state partners, The Leadership Foundation has accomplished our purpose by voicing concerns in national conversations on related issues; providing ongoing support of First Spouse underage prevention activity within their respective states; maintaining timely contact and delivery of information on underage drinking; and distributing resources/tools to assist the efforts of First Spouses in their states.

In the first few years of formation (2000–2005), members of the Leadership to Keep Children Alcohol Free initiative worked extensively at the federal level in support of a federal collaborative effort to address underage drinking. During that period, members engaged in the following activities: encouraged Congress to call for the National Academy of Science's Institute of Medicine Report on Underage Drinking; worked with several US Surgeon Generals to produce the Call to Action to Prevent and Reduce Underage Drinking; provided information related to the STOP Act of 2006; testified before several Congressional Committees, served as key partners in April is Alcohol Awareness Month activities with the National Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependence (NCADD); served on the Advisory Councils of Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA), Center for Substance Abuse Prevention (CSAP), Center for Substance Abuse Treatment (CSAT), National Institute on Alcoholism and Alcohol Abuse (NIAAA), Safe and Drug Free Schools and Communities Act, Drug Free Communities Act, and NIAAA's Steering Committee for Underage Drinking Research Initiative, and the board of the National Center on Addiction and Substance Abuse at Columbia University (CASA); garnered national media attention in newspapers and magazines; and worked with the National Attorneys Generals Association's Youth Access to Alcohol standing committee to convince the alcohol industry not to advertise to youth.

In addition to the aforementioned national accomplishments and activities, the Leadership Foundation provides ongoing service to its membership through such activities as providing ongoing support of underage drinking prevention activities by First Spouses within their respective states.

Annually, a one-day seminar is held for Leadership membership, usually in conjunction with the winter Community Anti-Drug Coalitions of America (CADCA) conference. SAMHSA/CSAP and NABCA have been strong supporters of the Prevention Days. In 2010, the Center for Substance Abuse Prevention, National Institute on Alcohol, Abuse and Alcoholism, National Alcohol Control Beverage Association, Shinnyo-en Foundation, Wyoming Association of Sheriffs and Chiefs of Police, Paxis Institute, International Survey Associates/Pride Survey, The Christopher D. Smithers Foundation Inc., and State Farm Insurance Company provided financial support for the 10th anniversary education seminar in Washington DC in February. At these annual events, speakers are engaged to provide latest research news on products such as alcohol energy drinks, coalition creation and maintenance, and minimum drinking age laws.

In 2008 and 2009, with financial support from SAMHSA, the Leadership Foundation organized thirteen state visits for the US Surgeon General to promote his Call to Action to Prevent and Reduce Underage Drinking. The Leadership Foundation President, Hope Taft, accompanied the Surgeon General on the visits at the invitation of the First Spouses, and/or their designate. At these state visits, First Spouses convened and encouraged statewide partnerships to address underage drinking within their respective states through such activities as the following:

In Hawaii, the Lieutenant Governor James R. ''Duke'' Aiona, Jr., Co-Chair of Leadership to Keep Children Alcohol Free, hosted the Surgeon General's visit to Hawaii to promote the Call to Action. They provided media interviews; visited an inner-city Honolulu elementary school, where Lt. Governor Aiona conducted a teach-in, engaging students in an interactive, lively discussion and delivering a presentation on Too Smart to Start, a SAMHSA-sponsored underage alcohol use prevention initiative; met with Hawaii Governor Linda Lingle to discuss the Call to Action; met with the Hawaii Partnership to Prevent Underage Drinking (HPPUD); and attended a Town Hall meeting sponsored by HPPUD at which 120 university researchers, health care providers, Department of Health officials, policymakers, law enforcement personnel, educators, business representatives, members of the faith-based community, youth, and parents were in attendance.

In Maine, the First Lady Karen Baldacci and the Surgeon General met with the Governor and Maine legislators in the Senate and House of Representatives, Maine's Attorney General, and community leaders. The Surgeon General also gave a keynote address at the annual New England School of Addiction Studies. As part of Maine's response to the Call to Action, the Department of Health and Human Services Office of Substance Abuse (OSA) announced the second phase of a statewide media campaign, ''Find Out More, Do More,'' targeted to parents.

In Nebraska, the First Lady Sally Ganem and the Surgeon General provided several speaking engagements with teachers, parents, students, and community leaders. Follow-up activities included the following: twenty-one town hall meetings were held in the spring of 2008; the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission requested that Nebraska wholesalers limit pocket-sized liquor containers until an investigative panel evaluates the product's appeal to youth; the First Lady raised funds to make a video of the Acting Surgeon General's Town Hall Meeting for distribution throughout the State; officials and other stakeholders developed a Nebraska ''call to action'' on underage drinking; Nebraska Educational Television (NET) developed a 30-minute documentary on underage drinking featuring First Lady Sally Ganem; and the First Lady and University of Nebraska's Coach Bo Pelini developed PSAs to be shown during every high school sports events covered by NET. The PSAs are expected to reach more than 85,000 people with a message about underage drinking.

In New Mexico, the First Lady Barbara Richardson and the Surgeon General provided a medical round table discussion, a public forum in Santa Fe about underage drinking, and a lecture in Albuquerque as part of Governor Bill Richardson's DWI Research Speaker Series.

In North Carolina, during the Surgeon General's visit, the First Lady Mary Easley announced the states ''Media Ready'' program, a media literacy substance abuse prevention program that is taught in middle schools. They also met with State legislators, policy makers, education leaders, and representatives from the Governor's Office, the judicial system, law enforcement, and health and substance abuse prevention organizations that work on the State and local levels to address underage drinking in North Carolina. In addition, the Surgeon General spoke about the Call to Action at North Carolina State University's Millennium Seminar.

In North Dakota, the First Lady Mikey Hoeven and the Surgeon General provided an address at the 2007 Alcohol and Substance Abuse Summit in Bismarck and visited a middle school where the Surgeon General spoke to students.

In Ohio, the First Lady Frances Strickland hosted the Surgeon General's visit that included an address to college and university presidents, as well as an address to the prevention and treatment professionals in Ohio.

In Oklahoma, the Surgeon General spoke at several events including a town hall meeting at the Oklahoma History Center in Oklahoma City, and an address at the University of Oklahoma College of Public Health.

In Oregon, the Surgeon General and the Oregon Attorney General spoke at a news conference on underage drinking where the Attorney General announced he was reconstituting a State underage-drinking task force to examine binge drinking on college campuses, energy drinks that contain alcohol, and the possible creation of a driver's license suspension program for minors caught with alcohol.

In Wyoming, the First Lady Nancy Freudenthal hosted the Surgeon General's visit that included a news conference at the annual meeting of the National Prevention Network, a meeting on Wind River Reservation to discuss underage drinking, and participation at a Town Hall Meeting on the Central Wyoming Campus that highlighted not only the Surgeon General's information but also the prevention efforts under way across the State. This event also served as the kick-off meeting for the national Town Halls. In addition, Wyoming Public Television taped a discussion of underage drinking issues including the Surgeon General, Wyoming youth involved in prevention activities, and community members.

In Montana, the First Lady Nancy Schweitzer hosted the Surgeon General's three-day visit to Montana that included several speaking engagements with community groups, teens, and university staff/students; production of a PSA of the Surgeon General and First Lady; and meeting with the Lt Governor and the State Interagency Coordinating Council. Following the Surgeon General's visit, there were twenty-six town hall meetings in Montana on underage drinking.

In Maryland, the First Lady Katie O'Malley and the Surgeon General met with the Lt Governor, Attorney General and several state leaders; gave a press conference; provided remarks to the House and Senate legislators; gave a keynote address and roundtable discussion at the Baltimore Health Department; and attended a meeting with students in a middle school.

In Rhode Island, the First Lady Suzanne Carcieri hosted the Surgeon General's visit that included a meeting with Family Court and Traffic Tribunal Judges with RI Family Court Chief Judge Jeremiah S. Jeremiah who presented information about the Family Court's Alcohol Calendar; a press conference on underage drinking, a meeting with Substance Abuse Task Force Coordinators, State Room, State House; a Lunch with Governor and Mrs. Carcieri in the Governor's Personal Office; a speaking engagement with university presidents, vice presidents, and researchers, hosted by University of Rhode Island President Dr. Robert Carothers; a meeting with Policymakers in Providence, State Room, State House; an address in both the House of Representatives and Senate; and a Town Hall Meeting in Woonsocket, RI, City Hall.

Additionally, in 2008–2009, through the generosity of Motorola, P&G, and Pride Surveys, the Foundation was able to give stipends to support 25 Town Hall Meetings in member states across the country to focus community attention on underage drinking. These Town Hall Meetings were in addition to the ones funded by SAMHSA/CSAP.

The Leadership also worked with Utah 2009 on a meeting of medical examiners with NIAAA and CDC to see how the routine screening for alcohol use in all deaths of persons under the age of 21 could be actualized.

To accomplish its purpose of supporting First Spouse underage drinking prevention initiatives, the Leadership Foundation has produced weekly email updates, an information-packed website, distribution of opinion editorials, and presentations at national conferences.

The Weekly Update was supported with funding from NIAAA, a Scaife Foundation grant in 2009, and their own resources. The Weekly Update was distributed weekly from 2000–2011 to more than 1,900 individuals. The Update contained timely information on latest research, news from states, new partners, grant and conference information. When a Facebook page was developed, the Leadership decided to use the social media network to distribute timely alerts about underage drinking prevention. The website is also used extensively to distribute information with an average of 400 new visitors each week.

As issues pertaining to underage drinking have arisen, The Leadership Foundation provided Draft Opinion Editorials to First Spouses. First Spouses were encouraged to shape a final draft based on their state data and/or opinions for distribution to their media outlets. The Op Eds were intended to raise awareness in the early 2000's on childhood/underage drinking and more recently on specific issues such as the costs of underage drinking to states, the minimum drinking age laws, and alcohol energy drinks.

The Leadership Foundation has also been recognized as a leader in the area of underage drinking prevention. As such, representatives of the Leadership Foundation have been invited to present at a variety of national and state conferences. These included numerous presentations at the Enforcing Underage Drinking Laws (EUDL) Conference, the Mid-Year CADCA Institute, NPN/NASADAD conference, and state conferences such as the Ohio Prevention and Education Conference.

Since 2000, the Leadership Foundation membership, in particular Advisory Board members, have provided significant support at the national level by prompting the development of important documents such as the Surgeon General's Call to Action [SAMHSA, NIAAA, SG], and a state-level analysis of alcohol costs to the state [NM, CDC].

In addition several products were developed and distributed on-line, at conferences, and in print. All materials are free, and downloadable from the Foundation's website at http://www.alcoholfreechildren.org. These have included a statistical brochure for lay audiences which distills the most current research findings about early alcohol use and its effects; a brochure describing three basic strategies for preventing alcohol use by children, and bookmarks on ''Stay Smart; Don't Start,'' a video entitled ''Drinking It In,'' a program for Drug Free Workplace, a discussion guide for communities on childhood drinking and a parent ''book club'' discussion guide on the book ''Messengers in Denim.''

Several members of the Leadership Foundation have been recognized for their outstanding efforts through The Racicot Leadership Award, and The Hope Award.

In 2009, the Leadership Foundation Board of Directors created the Racicot Award to be named for Theresa Racicot, first lady emeritus of Montana for her efforts to turn the Leadership Initiative into the Leadership Foundation in 2006–7. The Award would be given annually to a sitting First Spouse who had made significant accomplishments in his/her state on underage drinking prevention and contributed time and energy into the Leadership Foundation's work. Recipients of the Racicot Award have been First Lady Mikey Hoeven who served as co-chair of the Leadership Foundation Board, started the successful ''Let's Keep Our Kids Alcohol Free'' campaign, raised money for her efforts through Applebee's and a MOMS cookbook, created the ''I Choose'' CD and served on the Governor's Prevention Advisory Council on Drugs and Alcohol during her tenure as First Spouse; Wyoming First Lady Nancy Freudenthal who worked collaboratively with the Wyoming Liquor Division, the Mental Health & Substance Abuse Division of the Wyoming Department of Health, the Wyoming Association of Sheriffs and Chiefs of Police and parents to develop new partnerships and programs on underage drinking prevention; and First Lady Sally Ganem of Nebraska who worked to create several videos that are still widely used in Nebraska and available to other states that serve as discussion openers.

In 2011, the Leadership Board of Directors voted at their 10th Anniversary Annual Meeting to create a recognition program for Emeritus spouses to be named for Hope Taft, first lady emeritus of Ohio and current president of the Foundation. Patterned after the annual Racicot Leadership Award, the Hope Award recipient is selected from nominations of Leadership members and given to a former governor's spouse who has stayed involved and committed to the vision of the Leadership Foundation after leaving the Governor's Residence. Recipients of the Hope Award have been Hope Taft, First Lady Emeritus of Ohio who was a leader in underage drinking prevention in Ohio during her tenure as First Spouse, and who has represented the Leadership Foundation at the national level; and Karen Baldacci, First Lady Emeritus of Maine who has led the recruiting effort, and stayed on as chair of the Leadership Foundation beyond the normal term.

In 2010, the Leadership Foundation developed a Promise Partnership Program where agencies with a like-minded mission were invited to submit an application for becoming a Leadership partner Promise Partners include the Hepatitis Foundation; Marin Institute (AlcoholJustice.org); Drug Free Action Alliance; Lee County Coalition For a Drug Free Southwest Florida; NABCA; Dr. Parnell Donahue, author of Messengers in Denim; FACE; Prevention Council of Roanoke County; Kansas Family Partnership; Outside the Classroom; The NV Children's Cabinet; 7 Valleys Council on Alcoholism and Substance Abuse, Inc.; Center for Prevention and Counseling; Partnership for a Drug Free Community of S. Florida; Coalition for a Healthy Middletown; Operation Snowball, Inc.; Hope Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse; Hope Whispers Community Organization; Southwest Counseling Services; Parent Resource Center at Families in Action/

In closing, the Leadership Foundation, through its strong advocacy by First Spouses, have prompted significant state-level advancements in underage drinking prevention. Many states have passed laws focused on environmental issues such as keg registration, server training, social hosting and graduated licensing. Many members have worked in their states to bring awareness to the issue, changes in policy and coordination in efforts to prevent childhood drinking. As an example of extensive grassroots activity in underage drinking, more than 2,000 grassroots events were held in 2010 to focus on underage drinking.

The combined national initiatives, state focus, and grassroots activities have contributed to a significant decline in underage drinking in the United States as discussed on page 1–2 of this document. In 1991 when the first Youth Risk Behavior Surveillance System, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (YRBS) survey was administered, 50.8% of youth in grades 9–12 reported current alcohol use, or use with 30 days prior to the survey. The latest survey results in 2009 showed that number had dropped to 41.8%, a statistically significant drop with a p-value of 0.00. That statistical difference means that youth in 1991 were more likely than youth in 2009 to be current drinkers. The number of states and territories participating in YRBS survey data collection was fifty-three (53) in 2009; thirty-six (36) were states in which there was a First Spouse member of the Leadership Foundation. When looking at the data from those specific states, all states showed a marked decline in current alcohol with an average decline of 9.4%. Ten out of the 36 showed a statistically significant decline in current youth alcohol users. The front-runners in decline were New Mexico, Rhode Island and North Dakota, and Utah showed the lowest rate of current alcohol use among all states in 1991 and 2009 (26.6 to 18.2).

Despite significant headway in the prevention of underage drinking, current levels are still too high. Researchers continue to document the importance of protecting the development of the adolescent brain from the toxic effect of alcohol. Adolescent alcohol use contributes to a host of social, emotional, legal, academic, and physical consequences. Children who begin using alcohol before age 15 are more likely to develop a full-blown addiction and a lifetime of lost productivity from it. The country's attention to it must be continued and expanded.

Therefore, the Leadership Foundation has launched a 2012 initiative to create ''virtual statewide coalitions'' with support from NABCA (National Alcohol Beverage Control Board Association). The website, with the First Spouse as the convener, provides a place for all the coalitions in a state to register along with vital, relevant state departments, and agencies as well as relevant alcohol reduction and youth serving agencies. The purpose of this initiative is to facilitate more effective conversations between state and local efforts to prevent underage drinking, and to distribute timely alerts from national agencies to state and local groups.

Mr. President, I hereby offer these aforementioned accomplishments of The Leadership To Keep Children Alcohol Free Foundation, and in so doing, seek to commemorate for posterity their important work and highlight the value of protecting our nation's children from the dangers of underage drinking.●

TRIBUTE TO LOUIE A. WRIGHT

● Mrs. MCCASKILL Mr. President, today I Wish to honor the work of Louie A. Wright. In our great Nation, there are labor leaders and then there are exceptional labor leaders. Louie Wright is one of those exceptional labor leaders.

Louie recently retired as the head of the International Association of Firefighters Local 42 in Kansas City, but Louie will never stop working and fighting for working men and women of Missouri and, for that matter, the Nation.

Louie is exceptional for many reasons, not the least of which are his intellect, his professionalism, and his ability to work with, not against, management to the benefit of his membership.

I have known Louie for over 30 years. I have watched him under pressure. I have watched him succeed. I have watched him stumble from time to time. But through it all he remained steadfast and loyal to his friends and willing to do anything for his fellow firefighters.

Louie grew up in Kansas City and, as a young man, became a firefighter for the city of Kansas City, MO, Fire Department. It was a full-time job, but for Louie full-time is 24 hours-a-day, so in 1988 he entered law school at the University of Missouri in Kansas City.

He received a law degree and was admitted to the Missouri, Kansas, Colorado and Federal bar. Louie also clerked in the U.S. District Court in the Western District of Missouri, and he accomplished all of this while serving the people of Kansas City as one of their most dedicated firefighters.

Having a labor leader with a law degree is a powerful force when negotiating labor contracts, and the men and women of the city's fire department recognized that, electing Louie president of IAFF Local 42 in 1995.

What also set Louie apart was his understanding that for firefighters to expect decent wages and benefits, the department had to demand that it become a first-rate firefighting and fire prevention force. And today Kansas City has one of the best and most well-respected fire departments in the Nation.

Louie did not just care about his firefighters, but he cared for all the working men and women of Kansas City and was and remains a member of the executive committee of the Greater Kansas City AFL–CIO. In addition, one of his true passions is health care and its delivery to all Kansas Citians. Louie spent untold volunteer hours on the board of the Truman Medical Center and the Mid-America Health Coalition.

In conclusion, we honor him today as an exceptional labor leader. Upon Louie's retirement, IAFF Local 42 lost an amazing president. However, Kansas City has not lost one of its finest advocates for the working men and women. Thankfully, his work will continue. I treasure his friendship and am proud to recognize his immense contributions.●

RURAL HEALTH EDUCATION NETWORK

● Mr. NELSON of Nebraska. Mr. President, today I wish to recognize the 20th anniversary of a successful program in my home State of Nebraska called the Rural Health Education Network, or RHEN which focuses on increasing the health workforce.

The RHEN program was established at the University of Nebraska Medical Center, UNMC, as an effort to develop a network of volunteer faculty in communities across the State who would serve as mentors for students entering into various health care professions to perform rural rotations as part of their training. This partnership between UNMC and these Nebraska communities provides hands-on training for these health profession students.

Working with volunteer faculty across rural Nebraska communities, almost all UNMC students are able to complete a rural rotation during their education. Students spend up to 2 months living and working in a rural community under the guidance of a local health professional. In 2010, more than 530 students from UNMC participated in 854 rural rotations in 74 Nebraska communities. The program allows these UNMC students to experience the good life in Nebraska communities, inspiring many students to launch a health career in a smaller community.

The RHEN program has since expanded to promote career opportunities in health care to students in rural areas and smaller communities. In fact, RHEN has become the umbrella under which most of UNMC's rural outreach education activities are accomplished.

One goal of RHEN has been to create innovative programs at the undergraduate level and establish a career pipeline for students from rural areas to become health care professionals in rural Nebraska. A key component in attaining this goal was the establishment of the Rural Health Opportunities Program, or RHOP.

Built on the logic that persons raised in rural areas are more likely to return to rural areas after school, RHOP gives youth from rural areas a head start in pursuing a health care career. Under RHOP, qualified high school graduates receive tentative acceptance into one of nine UNMC health profession programs when they begin undergraduate studies at either Chadron State or Wayne State College in Nebraska. The undergraduate tuition is waived for these students, provided they meet all applicable academic standards.

The RHOP program provides students a career path to nearly every health care field, including medicine, nursing, pharmacy, dentistry, dental hygiene, physical therapy, physician assistant, radiography, and clinical laboratory science. Since its inception,

Seventy-five percent of all practicing UNMC RHOP graduates have worked in a rural community for at least part of their careers;

Currently, 183 out of 359 practicing RHOP graduates are health care providers in rural Nebraska;

Two hundred fifty-three RHOP alumni are practicing in 57 Nebraska counties; and Seventy percent of RHOP graduates stay in Nebraska.

Based on RHOP's initial success, UNMC has since developed three additional early admission programs:

The Kearney Health Opportunities Program grants students at the University of Nebraska-Kearney, UNK, pre-admission to UNMC in five programs including medicine, nursing, pharmacy, radiography, and clinical laboratory science.

A collaboration between Peru State College and the UNMC College of Pharmacy reserves three slots each year in the College of Pharmacy for Peru State graduates.

The Public Health Early Admission Student Track allows Chadron State, Wayne State, Peru State, and UNK to each annually select three students for direct enrollment into a UNMC Public Health graduate program to help relieve the critical shortage of public health workers in rural Nebraska.

Additionally, since 1993, UNMC has sponsored annual science meets for eighth graders in Nebraska communities to get students interested in science-based careers. More than 1,000 students have participated in these meets. Further, RHEN hosts a career day each year for more than 250 students to visit and experience UNMC.

Now recognized as one of the most effective health workforce development programs in my state, RHEN's anniversary provides the perfect opportunity to recognize the accomplishments of this amazing program and how it is making a difference across Nebraska. To illustrate, RHEN's focus is one of the reasons why U.S. News & World Report ranks UNMC's primary care medicine program among the top 10 in the country.

In closing, the Rural Health Education Network program has made a significant difference in helping students become health care professionals for rural Nebraska, and I extend my congratulations to this program on 20 years of making a positive impact and increasing the health care workforce across Nebraska.●

JEWISH HERITAGE MONTH

● Mr. BROWN of Ohio. Mr. President, throughout the month of May, we celebrate Jewish Heritage Month, a time to reflect upon and celebrate those who have helped shape Jewish culture and the shared American experience. Since arriving on the shores of New Amsterdam in 1654, the men and women of the Jewish faith have worked to promote opportunity, justice, and equality for all.

In communities across the United States, public service, social action, and charity are rooted in both the religious and cultural components of Judaism.

Every day, members of Ohio's Jewish community make contributions that better the lives of their families, friends, and cities. While so many of these men and women deserve our praise and gratitude, I would like to highlight a few leaders within the Ohio Jewish community both past and present.

Dr. Albert Sabin, a pioneer in the field of medicine, called Cincinnati, OH home. While a professor at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine, Dr. Sabin developed and perfected the oral polio vaccine. In 1960, after extensive preliminary trials, Dr. Sabin's oral polio vaccine was first used in Europe.

Between the years of 1962 and 1964, nearly 100 million people—children and adults—benefited from this vaccine in the United States. Dr. Sabin's contributions to the field of medical research saved countless lives from the ravages of polio and in the process, shaped modern vaccine study. It is no exaggeration to say that his efforts bettered and saved the lives of millions worldwide.

Such values are also extremely evident in the work of Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel. Born in Poland in 1907 and deported by the Nazi's in 1938, he was rescued and brought to the United States by Cincinnati's Hebrew Union College. Both an activist and religious leader, Rabbi Heschel played a powerful role in forging the bonds of faith, social action, and civil rights. In 1965, Rabbi Heschel marched arm-in-arm with Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., in Selma in support of the civil rights movement. Following this experience, he spoke the iconic words: ''I felt my feet were praying.''

Just 3 years later, on March 25, 1968—10 days before that fateful day in Memphis, TN—Rabbi Heschel introduced Dr. King to the 68th Annual Convention of the Rabbinical Assembly. Rabbi Heschel closed his introduction by saying, ''The situation of the poor in America is our plight, our sickness. To be deaf to their cry is to condemn ourselves.''

Dr. King began his opening statement by saying, ''I have heard 'We Shall Overcome' probably more than I have heard any other song over the last few years. It is something of the theme song for our struggle. But tonight was the first time that I ever heard it in Hebrew, what a beautiful experience for me.''

Rabbi Heschel's legacy is carried on by his daughter, Dr. Susannah Heschel, a professor of Jewish studies at Dartmouth College. I was proud to join Dr. Heschel at a series of events we conducted in Ohio to celebrate her father's legacy and to discuss the future of social action and civil rights.

Another resident of Ohio who had a tremendous impact on Jewish heritage is Samuel Melton. Born in Austria-Hungary in 1900, Melton was just 4 years old when he and his mother joined his father in Toledo, OH.

As a student at the Ohio State University, Mr. Melton first became interested in reforming how Judaism was studied. While his career path led him away from Judaism and into the production of stainless steel fittings, his passion for Jewish education remained.

After Mr. Melton's retirement from Capitol Manufacturing and Supply of Columbus in 1959, he devoted his time and financial resources to modernizing and reforming Jewish education. He established the Melton Fellowship to encourage talented men and women to pursue work in Jewish education and financed the Samuel M. Melton Center for Jewish Studies at the Ohio State University, the first center for Jewish Studies at an American public university. Additionally, Mr. Melton's impact on Jewish heritage spans the globe through his entrepreneurial and philanthropic involvement in Israel.

Some have said that Mr. Melton spent the first half of his life earning his fortune and the second half giving it away. I commend Mr. Melton for this generosity. His passion for Judaism has impacted thousands of young Jewish men and women in Ohio and across the world.

Finally, I would like to highlight Alfred Tibor, a current Columbus resident, who was born in Hungary in 1920. Mr. Tibor has used his experiences as a Holocaust survivor to create sculptures that not only commemorate but also inspire humanity.

In his youth, Mr. Tibor was a talented gymnast and acrobat, but his Jewish heritage kept him from competing in the 1936 Olympics in Berlin. In 1940, he was forced by the Germans to perform slave labor before being sent to a prisoner of war camp in Siberia. After the war, Alfred and his brother returned to Hungary to find that they were the only members of their family to escape the war. Fearing further anti-Semitic activities, he fled Hungary, arriving in the United States and settling in Columbus.

For more than half a century, Alfred Tibor has used his talents to inspire and educate. According to Mr. Tibor, ''Art for art's sake is not enough.'' His sculptures are seen across the world as tributes to those lost and as reminders of hope and faith in times of tragedy and unspeakable horror.

During Jewish Heritage Month, let's honor Dr. Sabin, Rabbi Heschel, Mr. Melton, and Mr. Tibor, as well as all the men and women within the Ohio Jewish community who are seeking to better their neighborhoods while working to advance social justice. Thank you for your service to the Nation.●

STATEMENTS ON INTRODUCED BILLS AND JOINT RESOLUTIONS

By Mrs. FEINSTEIN:

S. 3239. A bill to provide for a uniform national standard for the housing and treatment of egg-laying hens, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry.

Mrs. FEINSTEIN. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce legislation, with Senators BLUMENTHAL, BROWN, CANTWELL, MERKLEY, VITTER, and WYDEN, that will codify an agreement reached by the nation's largest egg producer organization, the United Egg Producers, and the largest animal welfare organization, the Humane Society of the United States.

In its most simple terms, the legislation sets a national standard for the treatment of egg-laying hens and the labeling of eggs.

As of today, 6 States, including California, have set their own standards about how egg-laying hens should be raised, and 18 other States allow citizen ballot initiatives could initiate similar laws in the future.

These State standards will make it difficult for egg producers to freely ship across State lines.

Starting in 2015, eggs produced in Iowa, Indiana and other egg-exporting states can no longer be shipped to California because the hens will have been raised in cages that do not meet California's standards.

Different standards in Michigan and Ohio will take effect later, further adding to the patchwork of regulations.

As States with disparate standards continue to protect their own egg producers by banning the sale of eggs from States with lower or no standards, a complicated web of State laws will impair interstate commerce.

I have met with a number of egg producers and their concerns vary.

For some producers, different regulations increase costs because new cages must be designed for each State in which they operate.

Other producers fear that egg prices in states without regulations will plummet as imports flood their market.

Some egg producers selling to national grocery stores will have to produce eggs that meet different standards in different States.

Concerns don't end with producers.

Consumers can expect to see higher prices at grocery stores and restaurants will have to pay more for every egg they prepare.

Millions of individuals, including myself, are concerned about the living conditions of these animals.

That is why I am pleased to introduce this legislation today. The United Egg Producers and the Humane Society of the United States worked for over a year to reach this compromise, and I believe it is one that strikes a very fair balance.

Producers must enlarge cages for egg-laying hens and allow space for the birds to engage in natural behaviors such as nesting and perching.

Producers will have up to 18 years to meet this standard and make the required investments.

The legislation will officially outlaw the practice of starving chickens to increase egg-production, a cruel practice that is rarely used today, and one with consensus to end.

The bill will also lead to improved air quality in hen-houses by prohibiting excessive ammonia levels and it requires humane euthanasia of spent hens. This is also already common practice in the industry.

At its heart, this legislation is about protecting the future of the egg industry.

The egg industry brought this legislation to Congress and has asked us to help them implement the uniform regulations needed to survive and grow.

With this legislation, egg producers will have the market certainty they need and a reasonable timetables to make the required changes.

Producers need these uniform national standards so they can invest in new cages without facing the risk of more stringent state laws rendering their investments moot.

The egg industry is prepared to make these investments, many of which can be accomplished during the normal course of replacing aged equipment.

In addition to promoting industry stability, this bill will save jobs and strengthen the economy.

Furthermore, consumers are already embracing these reforms. Polls indicate broad support for the provisions in this bill and for humane treatment of egg-laying hens in general.

A recent survey found that 64 percent of Americans say that these newer facilities should be required through Federal legislation.

The survey found 92 percent of consumers support the industry transitioning to these new enriched cages.

Candidly, it is not often that we see this sort of compromise in Washington.

Two groups that have been in fundamental conflict for years sat down and reached a deal.

The egg industry and the Humane Society are lock-step in their support for this bill. They are joined in endorsing the bill by the American Veterinary Medical Association and the Consumer Federation of America.

Even though the egg industry supports this bill, some still target this legislation as anti-agriculture they suggest the legislation will somehow be applied to, or set a precedent for Federal regulation of other industries.

That is simply not the case.

I want to be clear: requirements in the Egg Products Inspection Act Amendments of 2012 only apply to the production of eggs. The bill will not affect any other agricultural product including beef, pork, poultry and milk.

This legislation is a responsible compromise between those who advocate for more humane treatment for egg-laying hens and those who put breakfast on our tables.

I hope that even in this partisan climate we can enact this commonsense and widely endorsed legislation.

This legislation protects restaurants, bakers, food processors and American consumers from unnecessarily high egg prices. It protects egg producers from having eggs they can't sell.

This legislation is a reasonable, widely-supported solution to a real, costly and growing problem. The bill has the support of the United Egg Producers, which represents nearly 90 percent of the Nation's egg industry, as well as nine state and regional egg producer groups, more than 100 individual egg farms and more than 880 other family farms.

I urge you to join me in supporting this important legislation.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

SEC. 5. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This Act shall take effect upon enactment.

By Mr. LEAHY (for himself and Mr. GRASSLEY):

S. 3245. A bill to permanently reauthorize the EB–5 Regional Center Program, the E-Verify Program, the Special Immigrant Nonminister Religious Worker Program, and the Conrad State 30 J–1 Visa Waiver Program; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. LEAHY. Mr. President, today I am pleased to be joined by Senator GRASSLEY, in introducing legislation that will permanently authorize four expiring immigration programs. I thank Senator GRASSLEY for working with me on this needed legislation.

The bill we introduce will permanently authorize the EB–5 Regional Center Program, the voluntary E-Verify electronic work authorization program, the State 30 J–1 Visa program that Senator CONRAD champions and the Special Immigrant Nonminister Religious Worker Program that is so important to Senator HATCH. All of these programs have been in temporary status for many years, and the time has come for Congress to make them permanent so that the proponents of these programs can get to work building upon the benefits these programs bring to communities across the country. Permanency for these programs will strengthen our economy, create jobs, and enhance the security of American workers. Permanency will help medically underserved areas obtain talented physicians and religious institutions welcome individuals from around the world to participate in good works. These programs serve diverse and important interests in America, and should become permanent fixtures in our immigration law.

I am particularly pleased that the EB–5 Regional Center Program is a part of this package. With permanency, I believe this program can become an even greater economic driver than it has been in communities across the United States. Making the program permanent will also create a solid foundation for me and others interested in its success to begin in earnest to make improvements and reforms that will make it more business friendly, more predictable and stable for investors, and will provide U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services with the tools it needs to ensure that the program meets the highest standards of quality and integrity. There is little reason that this program should not continue to improve as a deficit-neutral source of capital investment and job creation across America.

I hope our introduction of this legislation today is the beginning of a strong bipartisan effort to make these programs permanent. I look forward to working with Senator GRASSLEY and others to accomplish this goal.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

By Ms. SNOWE:

S. 3246. A bill to improve the Service Corps of Retired Executives, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship.

Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, I rise today to introduce legislation to strengthen the resources and support that we provide to entrepreneurs, and to strengthen oversight of the SCORE program.

In 1964, the Small Business Administration recognized that retired business executives who volunteered to share their knowledge and expertise could be invaluable to entrepreneurs. From this, SCORE was established and has since grown to over 360 chapters across America. As with any type of growth, there comes an essential need for increased organization and oversight. This bill seeks to assist the SBA and SCORE with just that.

The key to getting our nation on the road to economic recovery lies in the hands of small business, which is why I am always looking for ways to improve the SBA's entrepreneurial assistance programs. By creating a SCORE Advisory Board which functions to monitor and develop initiatives for programs affecting SCORE chapters, we can ensure that entrepreneurs in all areas of our economy are served by high-quality mentoring services. Specifically, this board is compromised of six members coming from the owners and employees of small businesses themselves, in addition to current members of SCORE chapters.

While some may argue that funding for SCORE should be increased, in this budget environment, where Federal revenues and spending are misaligned to the tune of $1.1 trillion this year alone, we must find ways to be more efficient with existing resources. I am hopeful that with administrative reforms and increased transparency, we can make the SCORE program more cost effective, while maintaining its vital assistance to small businesses.

For example, there is currently no oversight for funding allocations to individual SCORE chapters. In the past three fiscal years, only $2.5 million of the $7 million appropriated to SCORE has been distributed to the SCORE districts and chapters. The bulk of their funding, $4.5 million, has been spent on staffing, administrative expenses, technology, and overhead. As a non-profit organization, SCORE seeks to support small businesses across the country with thousands of volunteers but only very limited resources. It is imperative that there are transparent and fair practices in place for allocation of SBA funding to best provide for these small businesses. Therefore, my bill requires the creation of an Allocation Committee, comprised of Advisory Board members who will ensure that not less than 50 percent of SCORE's total allocation goes to the districts and chapters that directly serve small business clients.

To safeguard funds appropriated to SCORE, my bill also places a limit on the taxpayer funded salary of SCORE's CEO, which according to the latest Internal Revenue Service filing, is 43 percent higher than that of the SBA's Administrator, who oversees the entire agency, including SCORE. This bill establishes in statute that the SCORE CEO follow the salary cap of a Senior Executive Service level Federal employee, ensuring that more money is available for the small businesses driving our economy. Additionally, this bill proposes to limit the Federal share of this salary even further when that CEO serves in a leadership capacity on a foundation affiliated with SCORE.

Through the Advisory Board and its Allocation Committee, we will add much needed improvements to an already successful program. By enhancing integration between SCORE chapters and the SBA, small businesses will have even more support to sustain their contributions to our recovering economy.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the text of the bill be printed in the RECORD.

There being no objection, the text of the bill was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

By Mr. ENZI (for himself, Mr. JOHNSON of South Dakota, Mr. CONRAD, Mr. HOEVEN, Mr. THUNE, Mr. BENNET, Mr. UDALL of Colorado, Mr. MORAN, Mr. UDALL of New Mexico, Mr. JOHANNS, and Mr. WHITEHOUSE):

S. 3248. A bill to designate the North American bison as the national mammal of the United States; to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Mr. ENZI. Mr. President, I wish to provide a few comments regarding the introduction of the Bison Legacy Act. Senator TIM JOHNSON of South Dakota and I are introducing this legislation today because of the significant role the North American Bison has played in the history of our Nation. This bill honors that legacy by designating the bison as the national mammal of the United States.

The bison has been integrally linked to the economic and spiritual lives of many Native American tribes over the centuries. Since our frontier days, the bison has become a symbol of American strength and determination. The Department of Interior has depicted the bison on its official seal for 94 years and the buffalo nickel played an important role in modernizing our currency in the early 20th century. At one point in American history, bison were brought in to graze outside the original Smithsonian building here in Washington, DC.

I must also add that my home State of Wyoming is one of three states that recognize the bison as its official state mammal and has honored an image of a bison on the Wyoming state flag since it was first adopted in 1917. Today, thousands of American bison freely roam Yellowstone and Grand Teton National Park in Wyoming. The bison is also important to our state's economic well-being with a growing number of ranchers raising bison for consumers all over the world.

This bill is supported by a wide variety of stakeholders. I want to recognize the National Bison Association who represents the interests of the bison ranchers in nearly every single State. Also behind this bill is the Intertribal Bison Council supporting the cultural role the bison has played in Native American history. Finally, there is the Wildlife Conservation Society who wishes to honor the restoration of bison in North America since the 19th century.

I ask my colleagues to help me support and pass this legislation honoring the bison and designating it as our national mammal. The bison has and will continue to be a symbol of America, its people and a way of life.

By Ms. LANDRIEU (for herself and Ms. SNOWE):

S. 3253. A bill to amend the Small Business Investment Act of 1958 to enhance the Small Business Investment Company Program, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship.

Ms. LANDRIEU. Mr. President, as National Small Business Week is coming to a close, I come to the floor today to make a strong commitment that the Senate Committee on Small Business and Entrepreneurship will not lose momentum on our relentless push to help America's small businesses grow, thrive, and excel. So today, along with the senior senator from Maine, I am introducing the Expanding Access to Capital for Entrepreneurial Leaders Act, or the EXCEL Act. This legislation will enhance the already successful Small Business Investment Company, SBIC, program at the Small Business Administration, SBA, that has helped over 100,000 small businesses. The best part of our bill is that the EXCEL Act should not cost the taxpayer anything.

The SBA runs a venture capital program by guaranteeing money borrowed by qualified investment funds who invest in small businesses. The qualified funds, or Small Business Investment Companies, SBICs, are privately owned and operated, but licensed and regulated by the SBA. Using a combination of private investments and the loans guaranteed by the SBA, typically at a ratio of $2 in guaranteed funds for every $1 of private capital, SBICs make long-term investments in American small businesses. In order to participate in the program, funds pay licensing fees which serve to cover all SBIC program costs. As a result, the core SBIC program, Debenture SBICs, not only boasts a strong success rate, but also incurs no cost to the U.S. government. Since the program's inception, over $50 billion has been invested in over 100,000 small businesses.

The Ranking Member of the Small Business Committee and I conducted a roundtable with 14 participants from the SBA, SBICs, investors in SBICs, and small businesses to elicit suggestions on enhancing the program. Out of that was born the EXCEL Act.

The EXCEL Act is a bipartisan effort encompassing much-needed changes that will allow the SBIC program to meet growing demand and will make improvements so that more small businesses can access capital.

The first thing the EXCEL Act does is raises the SBIC program authorization level from $3 billion to $4 billion and pegs it to inflation. This change is long overdue—the ceiling has been at $3 for some time, despite inflation and the impressive growth in the SBIC program. To illustrate: the program grew 50 percent in FY2011 alone. In order to meet demand, we need to give the program room to grow.

Secondly, the EXCEL Act will encourage successful investors by raising the limit on ''families of funds.'' Family of funds refers to a team of SBIC fund managers who operate several funds. These are currently limited to $225 million of SBA-guaranteed debt. However, SBIC fund managers who manage more than one fund generally see better investment results. The EXCEL Act will encourage that kind of success by giving families of funds a higher limit of $350 million, which will be indexed to inflation.

Next, the EXCEL Act improves transparency and accountability in the program. The legislation requires that the SBA make public how effective individual SBICs are in their small business investments, guaranteeing that SBA-backed money is being used responsibly.

Finally, the EXCEL Act promotes outreach, thereby ensuring that the maximum possible number of small businesses can benefit from the SBIC program. The legislation encourages outreach to community banks and other lenders, states and municipalities, and asks the SBA to make their SBIC website more user-friendly.

The EXCEL Act contains a number of common sense provisions supported across the aisle, and is sponsored by the Chair and Ranking Member of the Small Business Committee. It enhances a program with proven success in providing capital to small businesses, and does so with the expectation that it will not add a dime to the deficit. Let us get this bill passed. Let us help small businesses excel.

Whereas Operation Enduring Freedom is the longest ongoing war in which the United States is involved;

Whereas the wounded warriors who have served in Operation Enduring Freedom carry the scars of war, both seen and unseen;

Whereas nearly 1,800 patriots in the United States Armed Forces have made the ultimate sacrifice while serving in Afghanistan;

Whereas the war in Afghanistan should not fade from the hearts and minds of the people of the United States; and

SENATE RESOLUTION 473—COMMENDING ROTARY INTERNATIONAL AND OTHERS FOR THEIR EFFORTS TO PREVENT AND ERADICATE POLIO

Mr. DURBIN (for himself, Mr. KIRK, Mr. BROWN of Ohio, Mr. MENENDEZ, Mr. LUGAR, and Mr. LAUTENBERG) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

S. RES. 473

Whereas polio is a highly infectious disease that primarily affects children and for which there is no known cure;

Whereas polio can leave survivors permanently disabled from muscle paralysis of the limbs and occasionally leads to a particularly difficult death through the paralysis of respiratory muscles;

Whereas polio was once one of the most dreaded diseases in the United States, killing thousands annually in the late 19th and early 20th centuries and leaving thousands more with permanent disability, including the 32nd President of the United States, Franklin Delano Roosevelt;

Whereas severe polio outbreaks in the 1940s and 1950s caused panic in the United States, as parents kept children indoors, public health officials quarantined infected individuals, and the Federal Government restricted commerce and travel;

Whereas 1952 was the peak of the polio epidemic in the United States, with more than 57,000 people affected, 21,000 of whom were paralyzed and 3,000 of whom died;

Whereas safe and effective polio vaccines, including the Inactivated Polio Vaccine (commonly known as ''IPV''), developed in 1952 by Jonas Salk, and the Oral Polio Vaccine (commonly known as ''OPV''), developed in 1957 by Albert Sabin, rendered polio preventable and contributed to the rapid decline of polio incidence in the United States;

Whereas polio, a preventable disease that the United States has been free from since 1979, still needlessly lays victim to children and adults in several countries where challenges such as active conflict and lack of infrastructure hamper access to vaccines;

Whereas the eradication of polio is the highest priority of Rotary International, a global association that was founded in 1905 in Chicago, Illinois, is currently headquartered in Evanston, Illinois, and has 1,200,000 members in more than 170 countries;

Whereas Rotary International and its members (commonly known as ''Rotarians'') have contributed more than $1,000,000,000 and volunteered countless hours in the global fight against polio;

Whereas the Federal Government is the leading public sector donor to the Global Polio Eradication Initiative and provides technical and operational leadership to this global effort through the work of the Centers for Disease Control and the United States Agency for International Development;

Whereas Rotary International, the World Health Organization, the United States Government, the United Nations Children's Fund (commonly known as ''UNICEF''), and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation have joined together with national governments to successfully reduce cases of polio by more than 99 percent since 1988, from 350,000 reported cases in 1988 to fewer than 700 reported cases in 2011;

Whereas polio was recently eliminated in India and is now endemic only in Nigeria, Pakistan, and Afghanistan; and

Whereas the eradication of polio is imminently achievable and will be a victory shared by all of humanity: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) commends Rotary International and others for their efforts in vaccinating children around the world against polio and for the tremendous strides made toward eradicating the disease once and for all;

(2) encourages the international community of governments and non-governmental organizations to remain committed to the elimination of polio; and

(3) encourages continued commitment and funding by the United States Government to the global effort to rid the world of polio.

S. RES. 474

Whereas the United States joins together each May to pay tribute to the contributions of generations of Asian-Americans and Pacific Islanders who have enriched the history of the United States;

Whereas the history of Asian-Americans and Pacific Islanders in the United States is inextricably tied to the story of the United States;

Whereas the Asian-American and Pacific Islander community is an inherently diverse population, comprised of over 45 distinct ethnicities and over 100 language dialects;

Whereas according to the United States Census Bureau, the Asian-American population grew faster than any other racial or ethnic group over the last decade, surging nearly 46 percent between 2000 and 2010, which is a growth rate 4 times faster than the total United States population;

Whereas the 2010 decennial census estimated that there are 17,300,000 United States residents who identify as Asian and 1,200,000 United States residents who identify as Native Hawaiian and Other Pacific Islander, making up nearly 6 percent of the total United States population;

Whereas the month of May was selected for Asian-Pacific American Heritage Month because the first Japanese immigrants arrived in the United States on May 7, 1843, and the first transcontinental railroad was completed on May 10, 1869, with substantial contributions from Chinese immigrants;

Whereas the year 2012 marks several important historic milestones for the Asian American and Pacific Islander community, including the—

(1) 20th anniversary of the formal establishment of Asian-Pacific American Heritage Month;

(6) 150th anniversary of the enactment of the Act of July 1, 1862 (12 Stat. 489, chapter 120), which promoted the construction of the transcontinental railroad;

Whereas section 102 of title 36, United States Code, officially designates May as Asian-Pacific American Heritage Month and requests the President to issue each year a proclamation calling on the people of the United States to observe the month with appropriate programs, ceremonies, and activities;

Whereas the Congressional Asian Pacific American Caucus, a bicameral caucus of Members of Congress advocating on behalf of Asian-Americans and Pacific Islanders, is composed of a record high 41 Members in 2012;

Whereas today, Asian-Americans and Pacific Islanders are serving in State legislatures across the United States, in States as diverse as Alaska, Arizona, California, Connecticut, Georgia, Hawaii, Idaho, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas, Virginia, Utah, and Washington;

Whereas the commitment of the United States to diversity in the judiciary has been demonstrated by the nominations of high-caliber Asian-American and other minority jurists at all levels of the Federal bench;

Whereas there still remains much to be done to ensure that Asian-Americans and Pacific Islanders have access to resources, a voice in the Federal Government, and continue to advance in the political landscape of the United States; and

Whereas celebrating May 2012 as Asian-Pacific American Heritage Month provides the people of the United States with an opportunity to recognize the achievements, contributions, and history of, and address the challenges faced by, Asian-Americans and Pacific Islanders: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate recognizes—

(1) the significance of May 2012 as Asian-Pacific American Heritage Month as an important time to celebrate the significant contributions of Asian-Americans and Pacific Islanders to the history of the United States; and

IRAN THREAT REDUCTION ACT OF 2011

H.R. 1905

Resolved, That the bill from the House of Representatives (H.R. 1905) entitled ''An Act to strengthen Iran sanctions laws for the purpose of compelling Iran to abandon its pursuit of nuclear weapons and other threatening activities, and for other purposes.'', do pass with the following amendment:

Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

(b) TABLE OF CONTENTS.—The table of contents for this Act is as follows:

Sec. 1. Short title; table of contents.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Successive Presidents of the United States have determined that the pursuit of nuclear weapons capabilities by the Government of Iran presents a danger to the United States, its friends and allies, and to global security.

(2) Successive Congresses have recognized the threat that the Government of Iran and its policies present to the United States, its friends and allies, and to global security, and responded with successive bipartisan legislative initiatives, including most recently the enactment of the Comprehensive Iran Sanctions, Accountability, and Divestment Act of 2010 (22 U.S.C. 8501 et seq.) on July 1, 2010.

(3) If the Government of Iran achieves a nuclear weapons capability, it would pose a threat to the United States and allies and friends of the United States, particularly Israel, destabilize the Middle East, increase the threat of nuclear terrorism, and significantly undermine global nonproliferation efforts.

(4) The United States and its allies in the international community recognize the threat posed by the pursuit of nuclear weapons capabilities by the Government of Iran and have imposed significant sanctions against the Government of Iran, including through the enactment of the Comprehensive Iran Sanctions, Accountability, and Divestment Act of 2010 in the United States and the adoption of a series of successive, increasingly stringent United Nations Security Council resolutions. While such efforts, together with others, have served to slow the development of Iran's nuclear program, they have not yet deterred Iran from its nuclear ambitions, and international efforts to do so must be intensified.

SEC. 3. DEFINITIONS.

In this Act:

(1) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.—The term ''appropriate congressional committees'' has the meaning given that term in section 14 of the Iran Sanctions Act of 1996 (Public Law 104–172; 50 U.S.C. 1701 note).

TITLE I—EXPANSION OF MULTILATERAL SANCTIONS REGIME WITH RESPECT TO IRAN

SEC. 101. POLICY OF THE UNITED STATES WITH RESPECT TO DEVELOPMENT OF NUCLEAR WEAPONS CAPABILITIES BY IRAN.

It shall be the policy of the United States—

(1) to prevent the Government of Iran from—

(A) acquiring or developing nuclear weapons;

(B) developing its advanced conventional weapons and ballistic missile capabilities; and

(C) continuing its support for terrorist organizations and other activities aimed at undermining and destabilizing its neighbors and other countries; and

(2) to fully implement all multilateral and bilateral sanctions against Iran, as part of larger multilateral and bilateral diplomatic efforts, in order to compel the Government of Iran—

(A) to abandon efforts to acquire a nuclear weapons capability;

(B) to abandon and dismantle its ballistic missile and unconventional weapons programs; and

(C) to cease all support for terrorist organizations and other terrorist activities aimed at undermining and destabilizing its neighbors and other countries.

SEC. 102. SENSE OF CONGRESS ON ENFORCEMENT OF MULTILATERAL SANCTIONS REGIME AND EXPANSION AND IMPLEMENTATION OF SANCTIONS LAWS.

It is the sense of Congress that the goal of compelling Iran to abandon efforts to acquire a nuclear weapons capability and other threatening activities can be effectively achieved through a comprehensive policy that includes economic sanctions, diplomacy, and military planning, capabilities and options, and that this objective is consistent with the one stated by President Barack Obama in the 2012 State of the Union Address: ''Let there be no doubt: America is determined to prevent Iran from getting a nuclear weapon, and I will take no options off the table to achieve that goal''. Among these economic sanctions are—

(1) prompt enforcement of the current multilateral sanctions regime with respect to Iran;

(2) full, timely, and vigorous implementation of all sanctions enacted into law, including sanctions imposed or expanded by this Act or amendments made by this Act, through—

(A) intensified monitoring by the President and his designees, including the Secretary of the Treasury and the Secretary of State, along with senior officials in the intelligence community, as appropriate;

(B) more extensive use of extraordinary authorities provided for under the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (50 U.S.C. 1701 et seq.) and other sanctions laws;

(C) reallocation of resources to provide the personnel necessary, within the Department of the Treasury, the Department of State, and the Department of Defense, and, where appropriate, the intelligence community, to apply and enforce sanctions; and

(D) expanded cooperation with international sanctions enforcement efforts;

(3) urgent consideration of the expansion of existing sanctions with respect to such areas as—

(A) the provision of energy-related services to Iran;

(B) the provision of insurance and reinsurance services to Iran;

(C) the provision of shipping services to Iran;

(D) those Iranian financial institutions not currently designated for the imposition of sanctions that may be acting as intermediaries for Iranian financial institutions that are designated for the imposition of sanctions; and

(4) a focus on countering Iran's efforts to evade sanctions, including—

(A) the activities of telecommunications, Internet, and satellite service providers, within and outside of Iran, to ensure that such providers are not participating in or facilitating, directly or indirectly, the evasion of the sanctions regime with respect to Iran or violations of the human rights of the people of Iran;

(B) the activities of financial institutions or other businesses or government agencies, within or outside of Iran, not yet designated for the imposition of sanctions; and

(C) urgent and ongoing evaluation of Iran's energy, national security, financial, and telecommunications sectors, to gauge the effects of, and possible defects in, particular sanctions, with prompt efforts to correct any gaps in the existing sanctions regime with respect to Iran.

SEC. 103. DIPLOMATIC EFFORTS TO EXPAND MULTILATERAL SANCTIONS REGIME.

(a) MULTILATERAL NEGOTIATIONS.—In order to further the policy set forth in section 101, Congress urges the President to intensify diplomatic efforts, both in appropriate international fora such as the United Nations and bilaterally with allies of the United States, to expand the multilateral sanctions regime with respect to Iran, including—

(1) expanding the United Nations Security Council sanctions regime to include—

(A) a prohibition on the issuance of visas to any official of the Government of Iran who is involved in—

(i) human rights violations in or outside of Iran;

(ii) the development of a nuclear weapons program and a ballistic missile capability in Iran; or

(iii) support by the Government of Iran for terrorist organizations, including Hamas and Hezbollah; and

(B) a requirement that each member country of the United Nations prohibit the Islamic Republic of Iran Shipping Lines from landing at seaports, and cargo flights of Iran Air from landing at airports, in that country because of the role of those organizations in proliferation and illegal arms sales;

(2) expanding the range of sanctions imposed with respect to Iran by allies of the United States;

(3) expanding efforts to limit the development of petroleum resources and the importation of refined petroleum products by Iran;

(4) developing additional initiatives to—

(A) increase the production of crude oil in countries other than Iran; and

(B) assist countries that purchase or otherwise obtain crude oil or petroleum products from Iran to reduce their dependence on crude oil and petroleum products from Iran; and

(5) eliminating the revenue generated by the Government of Iran from the sale of petrochemical products produced in Iran to other countries.

(b) REPORTS TO CONGRESS.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, and every 180 days thereafter, the President shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report on the extent to which diplomatic efforts described in subsection (a) have been successful that includes—

(1) an identification of the countries that have agreed to impose additional sanctions or take other measures to further the policy set forth in section 101 and a description of those measures;

(2) an identification of the countries that have not agreed to impose such sanctions or measures;

(3) recommendations for additional measures that the United States could take to further the policy set forth in section 101; and

(4) a description of any decision by the World Trade Organization with respect to whether the imposition by any country of any sanction with respect to Iran is inconsistent with the obligations of that country as a member of the World Trade Organization or under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, done at Geneva October 30, 1947.

SEC. 104. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING THE IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS WITH RESPECT TO IRAN.

It is the sense of Congress that all efforts should be made by the President to maximize the effects of existing sanctions with respect to Iran and the United States should take all necessary measures to preserve robust information-sharing activities.

TITLE IV—MEASURES RELATING TO HUMAN RIGHTS ABUSES IN IRAN

Subtitle A—Expansion of Sanctions Relating to Human Rights Abuses in Iran

SEC. 401. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The Government of Iran continues to violate systematically the basic human rights of citizens of Iran, including by cutting off their access to information and technology, suppressing their freedom of expression, and punishing severely, and sometimes brutally, their attempts to exercise political rights.

(2) In a March 20, 2012, speech celebrating Nowruz, the Iranian New Year, President Barack Obama described censorship of the Internet and monitoring of computers and cell phones by the Government of Iran as depriving the people of Iran of ''the information they want [and] stopping the free flow of information and ideas into the country''. The President concluded that ''in recent weeks, Internet restrictions have become so severe that Iranians cannot communicate freely with their loved ones within Iran, or beyond its borders, [so that] an electronic curtain has fallen around Iran.''.

(3) At a time when growing numbers of Iranians turn to the Internet as a source for news and political debate, the response of the Government of Iran has combined increasingly pervasive jamming and filtering of the Internet, blocking of email, social networking and other websites, and interception of Internet, telephonic, and mail communications.

(4) The March 2012 Report of the United Nations Human Rights Council Special Rapporteur on Iran details the Government of Iran's widespread human rights abuses and censorship, its chronic disregard of due process, and its equally chronic harassment, abuse, and intimidation of the people of Iran.

(5) There has been no independent investigation into the months of violence that followed Iran's fraudulent 2009 presidential election, violence that included the beatings of scores of Tehran University students by security forces using weapons, such as chains, metal rods, and electrified batons, and the subsequent imprisonment of many students, some of whom died in captivity.

(6) The Government of Iran has failed to cooperate with human rights investigations by the Special Rapporteur, and its failure to cooperate in those and similar investigations has been criticized in reports of the United Nations Secretary-General, General Assembly, and Human Rights Council, even as human rights abuses continue.

SEC. 402. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the Government of Iran, especially Iran's Revolutionary Guard Corps, continues to engage in serious, systematic, and ongoing violations of human rights and the rise in the level of such violations after the 2009 presidential elections has not abated;

(2) the Government of Iran is engaging in a systematic campaign to prevent news, entertainment, and opinions from reaching media that are not subject to government control and to eliminate any free Internet or other electronic media discussion among the people of Iran; and

(3) the Government of Iran has refused to cooperate with international organizations, including the United Nations, seeking to investigate or to alleviate those conditions.

NOMINATION OF SARA MARGALIT AVIEL TO BE UNITED STATES ALTERNATE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR OF THE INTERNATIONAL BANK FOR RECONSTRUCTION AND DEVELOPMENT

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to consider the following nomination: Calendar No. 640, and that the Senate proceed to vote without intervening action or debate.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered. The clerk will report the nomination.

The legislative clerk read the nomination of Sara Margalit Aviel, of California, to be United States Alternate Executive Director of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, the Senate will proceed to consideration of the nomination.

Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. President, I rise to speak on the nomination of Sara Aviel to be the Alternate Executive Director to the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development. Had the Senate conducted a recorded vote, I would have voted against Ms. Aviel's nomination.

In 2011, the World Bank released a new 10-year energy sector lending strategy which includes a proposal to limit lending for new coal generation projects. I strongly disagree with the World Bank blocking any access to coal-powered energy. Their strategy will drive up energy prices around the world, and will make affordable and reliable energy for poor countries difficult to secure.

The World Bank should be focused on poverty reduction and economic growth. Using advanced technologies, coal provides a clean, low cost and reliable energy source which is critical to countries looking for assistance in poverty alleviation and economic development. I believe representatives of the United States at the World Bank should support low cost and dependable energy sources as a means to help countries spur economic growth.

Sara Aviel supports the World Bank providing financing for coal power generation but only to the poorest countries when no other options are available. She reiterated this point when I asked her whether she would support the World Bank's financing of a new coal-fired power plant project in Kosovo. She stated:

> There are a number of compelling reasons in favor of this project. First, Kosovo, one of the poorest countries in Europe, is greatly in need of reliable base load power and there appears to be no other viable alternatives.

Since the majority of lending by the World Bank is for middle-income countries, and not to the poorest of countries, the World Bank strategy supported by Sara Aviel will place significant limits, if not eliminate, lending for coal power generation. I believe she will use the World Bank 10-year energy strategy as a means to restrict World Bank lending for coal power generation projects, even when the proposal represents the most cost effective alternative. Requiring borrowers to accept higher cost projects when affordable and reliable alternatives are readily available is no way to operate a bank, especially when the bank is being funded with taxpayer dollars.

The World Bank has also started a shift from providing financing to help the poorest of countries with economic growth and reducing poverty, to a focus in other areas with a strong emphasis on lending to middle-income countries. Middle-income countries that receive the vast majority of World Bank financing include nations such as China and Brazil.

While Sara Aviel agrees that middle-income countries are able to borrow on international capital markets at commercial rates, she believes the World Bank should continue its lending to these countries. I disagree with her support of this policy.

The World Bank should be aggressively working towards the graduation of middle-income countries from borrowers to donors. The resources of the World Bank should be directed at helping the poorest of countries eradicate poverty and implement successful economic development projects. Their primary focus should be on assisting countries that cannot access international capital markets at commercial rates, not financing middle-income countries that can tap other financing resources.

The World Bank is at a critical juncture. The Bank needs to pursue serious reforms, especially in the areas of corruption and transparency. It must not be used to push social agendas and political priorities to the detriment of poor nations, or to use donor funds in a manner that is not cost-effective. The United States representative must be a strong advocate for reform and accountability. I do not believe that Sara Aviel is the person to get that job done.

It is for these reasons that I oppose the nomination of Sara Aviel.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is, Will the Senate advise and consent to the nomination of Sara Margalit Aviel to be United States Alternate Executive Director of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development?

The nomination was confirmed.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent the Senate consider the following nominations: Calendar Nos. 261, 338, 339, 340, 665, 678, 679, 680, 681, 682, 706, 707, 708, 710, 711, 712, 713, 715, 716, 717, 725, 727 through 757, and 758; and all nominations placed on the Secretary's desk in the Air Force, Army, Foreign Service, Marine Corps, and Navy; that the nominations be confirmed en bloc, the motions to reconsider be considered made and laid on the table, there being no intervening action or debate, and no further motions be in order to any of the nominations; that any related statements be printed in the RECORD; that President Obama be immediately notified of the Senate's action and the Senate then resume legislative session.

INTERNATIONAL PROTECTING GIRLS BY PREVENTING CHILD MARRIAGE ACT OF 2011

Mr. REID. I ask unanimous consent the Senate proceed to consideration of Calendar No. 412, S. 414.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 414) to protect girls in developing countries through the prevention of child marriage, and for other purposes.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to consider the bill.

Ms. SNOWE. Mr. President, I rise today to urge that the Senate pass S. 414, the ''Protecting Girls by Preventing Child Marriage Act.'' As the Senate prepares to approve this bipartisan measure, we should take a moment to acknowledge and reflect upon the critical impact this legislation will have on the estimated 100 million girls in developing countries who are at risk of being married as children over the next decade.

The harmful practice of forced child marriage often exacerbates social, economic, and political instability in the developing world, and can prohibit smooth economic and political transition.

For example, Afghanistan's high female illiteracy rates and maternal mortality rates are among the most significant obstacles standing in the way of long-term progress and stability. Without ending child marriage, which remains one of the many underlying catalysts of these poor outcomes, the road ahead for women in Afghanistan will be all the more grueling. And women in Afghanistan are by no means alone in the struggle the discriminatory norms that perpetuate child marriage also prohibit full participation of women in the economic and political life in many other regions of the world.

According to the United Nations Children's Fund—UNICEF—an estimated 60,000,000 girls between the ages of 20 through 24 were married before they turned 18. The Population Council estimates that the number will increase by 100 million over the next decade if current trends continue. In addition to denying these tens of millions of women and girls their dignity, child marriage continues to endanger their health. Marriage at an early age puts girls at greater risk of dying as a result of childbirth. Pregnancy and childbirth complications are the leading cause of death for women 15 to 19 years old in most Third World countries.

Furthermore, women and girls are the world's greatest untapped resources. Studies conducted by the Food and Agricultural Organization—FAO—have confirmed that women are the main-stay of small scale agriculture, farm labor, and day-to-day family subsistence accounting for half of the world's food production.

However, child marriage continues to be a barrier to the improvement of society and the development of these young women. And, unfortunately, early marriages continue to pull girls out of school and prohibit them from gaining vital skills to engage in income generating activities, actively participate in efforts to shape their communities, and often block their ability to achieve food security.

I am heartened to see the United States Senate affirm the United States' commitment to promote the basic human rights of all individuals and through this small step improve the lives of millions of girls by passing this bill today.

Before closing, let me briefly commend my friend and colleague, Senator DURBIN of Illinois. He has been a leader on this topic for a number of years and

I have been privileged to work with him on this bill. Once the Senate completes action on this bill, I hope that the U.S. House will able to quickly approve it and send it to the White House for signature by President Obama.

Mr. REID. I ask the bill be read a third time and the Senate proceed to a voice vote on passage of the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The question is on the engrossment and third reading of the bill.

The bill (S. 414) was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading and was read the third time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The bill having been read the third time, the question is, Shall the bill pass?

The bill (S. 414) was passed, as follows:

S. 414

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the ''International Protecting Girls by Preventing Child Marriage Act of 2011''.

SEC. 2. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Child marriage, also known as ''forced marriage'' or ''early marriage'', is a harmful traditional practice that deprives girls of their dignity and human rights.

(2) Child marriage as a traditional practice, as well as through coercion or force, is a violation of article 16 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, which states, ''Marriage shall be entered into only with the free and full consent of intending spouses''.

(3) According to the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF), an estimated 60,000,000 girls in developing countries now ages 20 through 24 were married under the age of 18, and if present trends continue more than 100,000,000 more girls in developing countries will be married as children over the next decade, according to the Population Council.

(4) Between ½ and ¾ of all girls are married before the age of 18 in Niger, Chad, Mali, Bangladesh, Guinea, the Central African Republic, Mozambique, Burkina Faso, and Nepal, according to Demographic Health Survey data.

(5) Factors perpetuating child marriage include poverty, a lack of educational or employment opportunities for girls, parental concerns to ensure sexual relations within marriage, the dowry system, and the perceived lack of value of girls.

(6) Child marriage has negative effects on the health of girls, including significantly increased risk of maternal death and morbidity, infant mortality and morbidity, obstetric fistula, and sexually transmitted diseases, including HIV/AIDS.

(7) According to the United States Agency for International Development (USAID), increasing the age at first birth for a woman will increase her chances of survival. Currently, pregnancy and childbirth complications are the leading cause of death for women 15 to 19 years old in developing countries.

(8) Most countries with high rates of child marriage have a legally established minimum age of marriage, yet child marriage persists due to strong traditional norms and the failure to enforce existing laws.

(9) Secretary of State Hillary Clinton has stated that child marriage is ''a clear and unacceptable violation of human rights'', and that ''the Department of State categorically denounces all cases of child marriage as child abuse''.

(10) According to an International Center for Research on Women analysis of Demographic and Health Survey data, areas or regions in developing countries in which 40 percent or more of girls under the age of 18 are married are considered high-prevalence areas for child marriage.

(11) Investments in girls' schooling, creating safe community spaces for girls, and programs for skills building for out-of-school girls are all effective and demonstrated strategies for preventing child marriage and creating a pathway to empower girls by addressing conditions of poverty, low status, and norms that contribute to child marriage.

SEC. 3. CHILD MARRIAGE DEFINED.

In this Act, the term ''child marriage'' means the marriage of a girl or boy, not yet the minimum age for marriage stipulated in law in the country in which the girl or boy is a resident or, where there is no such law, under the age of 18.

SEC. 4. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) child marriage is a violation of human rights, and the prevention and elimination of child marriage should be a foreign policy goal of the United States;

(2) the practice of child marriage undermines United States investments in foreign assistance to promote education and skills building for girls, reduce maternal and child mortality, reduce maternal illness, halt the transmission of HIV/AIDS, prevent gender-based violence, and reduce poverty; and

(3) expanding educational opportunities for girls, economic opportunities for women, and reducing maternal and child mortality are critical to achieving the Millennium Development Goals and the global health and development objectives of the United States, including efforts to prevent HIV/AIDS.

(5) assistance to train adolescent girls and their parents in financial literacy and access economic opportunities, including livelihood skills, savings, microfinance, and small-enterprise development;

(6) support for education, including through community and faith-based organizations and youth programs, that helps remove gender stereotypes and the bias against girls used to justify child marriage, especially efforts targeted at men and boys, promotes zero tolerance for violence, and promotes gender equality, which in turn help to increase the perceived value of girls;

(7) assistance to create peer support and female mentoring networks and safe social spaces specifically for girls; and

(8) support for local advocacy work to provide legal literacy programs at the community level to ensure that governments and law enforcement officials are meeting their obligations to prevent child and forced marriage.

SEC. 6. RESEARCH AND DATA.

It is the sense of Congress that the President and all relevant agencies should, as part of their ongoing research and data collection activities—

(1) collect and make available data on the incidence of child marriage in countries that receive foreign or development assistance from the United States where the practice of child marriage is prevalent; and

(2) collect and make available data on the impact of the incidence of child marriage and the age at marriage on progress in meeting key development goals.

SEC. 7. DEPARTMENT OF STATE'S COUNTRY REPORTS ON HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES.

The Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 is amended—

(1) in section 116 (22 U.S.C. 2151n), by adding at the end the following new subsection:

''(g) The report required by subsection (d) shall include, for each country in which child marriage is prevalent, a description of the status of the practice of child marriage in such country. In this subsection, the term 'child marriage' means the marriage of a girl or boy, not yet the minimum age for marriage stipulated in law or under the age of 18 if no such law exists, in the country in which such girl or boy is a resident.''; and

(2) in section 502B (22 U.S.C. 2304), by adding at the end the following new subsection:

''(j) The report required by subsection (b) shall include, for each country in which child marriage is prevalent, a description of the status of the practice of child marriage in such country. In this subsection, the term 'child marriage' means the marriage of a girl or boy, not yet the minimum age for marriage stipulated in law or under the age of 18 if no such law exists, in the country in which such girl or boy is a resident.''.

Mr. REID. I now ask the motion to reconsider be laid on the table, there be no intervening action or debate, and any statements related to this measure be printed in the RECORD as if read.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

AUTHORIZING THE ARCHITECT OF THE CAPITOL TO ESTABLISH BATTERY RECHARGING STATIONS

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the consideration of Calendar No. 44, S. 739.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the bill by title.

The legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (S. 739) to authorize the Architect of the Capitol to establish battery recharging stations for privately owned vehicles in parking areas under the jurisdiction of the Senate at no net cost to the Federal Government.

There being no objection, the Senate proceeded to the bill.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. President, I am very pleased that the Senate today is passing legislation that would allow the Senate to continue its leadership of our country toward a clean-energy future. This bill provides the authority for the Architect of the Capitol to provide for charging of batteries for privately owned vehicles in parking areas under the jurisdiction of the Senate and, of great importance, at no cost to the Federal Government.

Plug-in hybrid and electric vehicles offer great potential in meeting our goal of reducing greenhouse gas emissions, and auto manufacturers are moving toward developing a broad choice of electric-drive vehicles. Batteries and components are now being manufactured in the U.S., and we are developing the supply chain necessary to support these home-grown technologies. But in addition to making the vehicles and components available, we also need to take steps to ensure the infrastructure exists to make these vehicles desirable and accessible to consumers. Increased use of plug-in hybrid and electric vehicles will bring changes in how we think about cars and driving. Instead of looking for gas stations, drivers will need to have places where they can replenish the batteries that power their vehicles.

This bill will ensure that the Senate leads by example as we transition to that cleaner-energy future. It will ensure that the capability to charge plug-in hybrid and electric vehicles will exist in the Senate—at no cost to the taxpayer. I am a proud owner of a Chevrolet Volt, but I also want to ensure that the taxpayers do not subsidize the cost of my or anyone else's use of electricity to power these vehicles.

I appreciate the efforts and support of the cosponsors of this bill—Senators ALEXANDER, SCHUMER, KERRY, MURKOWSKI, BINGAMAN, STABENOW, and MERKLEY—and the great assistance of the staffs of Senators SCHUMER and ALEXANDER on the Rules Committee in getting this bill passed. It has been our explicit intention to ensure there would be no cost to the taxpayer in providing access to electricity for those wishing to charge their vehicle batteries in the parking areas of the Senate, but I am pleased that we were able to include language to clarify any questions in that regard.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I rise today to discuss S. 739, a bill which authorizes the Architect of the Capitol, AOC, at no cost to the Federal government, to create and install electric vehicle recharging stations in Senate parking facilities.

This bill likely would have never seen the light of day it were it not for the perseverance and hard work of my good friend Senator LEVIN. He worked tirelessly to make this bill a reality, and I am so proud to stand with him. This bill was drafted with bipartisan support. Senator ALEXANDER and I join Senators KERRY, MURKOWSKI, BINGAMAN, MERKLEY and STABENOW in supporting this bill sponsored by Senator LEVIN.

It bears repeating: This bill creates a program that will not cost the Federal government one dime. S. 739 funds the installation and maintenance of the charging stations by billing the individuals who use the plug-in stations. S. 739 works on a simple premise: the more people who drive electric cars on campus, the more plug-in stations the AOC will install. S. 739 insures that the demand for plug-in stations will match the number of dues paying participants who fund the program.

This bill is needed as more and more people decide to buy electric cars. Currently, the Architect does not have the authority to install plug-in stations on the Capitol campus. This bill fixes that problem in a smart, cost effective manner.

Mr. REID. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that a Levin amendment be agreed to, the bill, as amended, be read a third time and passed, the motion to reconsider be laid upon the table, with no intervening action or debate, and any statements related to the bill be printed in the RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The amendment (No. 2155) was agreed to, as follows:

(Purpose: To improve oversight over the program and ensure no subsidy is received by Senators and employees)

On page 4, strike lines 14 through 19, and insert the following:

(e) REPORTS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 30 days after the end of each fiscal year, the Architect of the Capitol shall submit a report on the financial administration and cost recovery of activities under this section with respect to that fiscal year to the Committee on Rules and Administration of the Senate.

(2) AVOIDING SUBSIDY.—

(A) DETERMINATION.—Not later than 3 years after the date of enactment of this Act and every 3 years thereafter, the Architect of the Capitol shall submit a report to the Committee on Rules and Administration of the Senate determining whether Senators and covered employees using battery charging stations as authorized by this Act are receiving a subsidy from the taxpayers.

(B) MODIFICATION OF RATES AND FEES.—If a determination is made under subparagraph (A) that a subsidy is being received, the Architect of the Capitol shall submit a plan to the Committee on Rules and Administration of the Senate on how to update the program to ensure no subsidy is being received. If the committee does not act on the plan within 60 days, the Architect of the Capitol shall take appropriate steps to increase rates or fees to ensure reimbursement for the cost of the program consistent with an appropriate schedule for amortization, to be charged to those using the charging stations.

The bill (S. 739), as amended, was ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, was read the third time, and passed, as follows:

S. 739

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. BATTERY RECHARGING STATIONS FOR PRIVATELY OWNED VEHICLES IN PARKING AREAS UNDER THE JURISDICTION OF THE SENATE AT NO NET COST TO THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.

(1) an employee whose pay is disbursed by the Secretary of the Senate; or

(2) any other individual who is authorized to park in any parking area under the jurisdiction of the Senate on Capitol Grounds.

(b) AUTHORITY.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (3), funds appropriated to the Architect of the Capitol under the heading ''CAPITOL POWER PLANT'' under the heading ''ARCHITECT OF THE CAPITOL'' in any fiscal year are available to construct, operate, and maintain on a reimbursable basis battery recharging stations in parking areas under the jurisdiction of the Senate on Capitol Grounds for use by privately owned vehicles used by Senators or covered employees.

(2) VENDORS AUTHORIZED.—In carrying out paragraph (1), the Architect of the Capitol may use 1 or more vendors on a commission basis.

(3) APPROVAL OF CONSTRUCTION.—The Architect of the Capitol may construct or direct the construction of battery recharging stations described under paragraph (1) after—

(B) approval by that Committee.

(c) FEES AND CHARGES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (2), the Architect of the Capitol shall charge fees or charges for electricity provided to Senators and covered employees sufficient to cover the costs to the Architect of the Capitol to carry out this section, including costs to any vendors or other costs associated with maintaining the battery recharging stations.

(2) APPROVAL OF FEES OR CHARGES.—The Architect of the Capitol may establish and adjust fees or charges under paragraph (1) after—

Whereas the brave men and women of the United States Armed Forces, who proudly serve the United States, risk their lives to protect the freedom of the United States and deserve the investment of every possible resource to ensure their lasting physical, mental, and emotional well-being;

Whereas more than 2,000,000 servicemembers have deployed overseas as part of overseas contingency operations since the events of September 11, 2001;

Whereas the military has sustained an operational tempo for a period of time unprecedented in the history of the United States, with many servicemembers deploying multiple times, placing them at high risk of PTSD;

Whereas according to the Armed Forces Health Surveillance Center, approximately 90,000 servicemembers who have returned from overseas contingency operations have been clinically diagnosed with PTSD;

Whereas the Department of Veterans Affairs reports that—

(1) since 2002, more than 217,000 of the more than 750,000 veterans of overseas contingency operations who have sought care at a Department of Veterans Affairs medical center have been diagnosed with PTSD; and

(2) in fiscal year 2011, more than 475,000 of the nearly 6,000,000 veterans from all wars who sought care at a Department of Veterans Affairs medical center received treatment for PTSD;

Whereas many cases of PTSD remain unreported, undiagnosed, and untreated due to a lack of awareness about PTSD and the persistent stigma associated with mental health issues;

Whereas PTSD significantly increases the risk of depression, suicide, and drug- and alcohol-related disorders and deaths, especially if left untreated;

Whereas perceived or actual symptoms of PTSD or other mental health issues create unique challenges for veterans seeking employment;

Whereas the Departments of Defense and Veterans Affairs have made significant advances in the prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of PTSD and the symptoms of PTSD, but many challenges remain; and

Whereas the establishment of a National Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder Awareness Day will raise public awareness about issues related to PTSD, reduce the stigma associated with PTSD, and help ensure that those suffering from the invisible wounds of war receive proper treatment: Now, therefore, be it

(1) designates June 27, 2012, as ''National Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder Awareness Day'';

(2) supports the efforts of the Secretary of Veterans Affairs and the Secretary of Defense to educate servicemembers, veterans, the families of servicemembers and veterans, and the public about the causes, symptoms, and treatment of post-traumatic stress disorder (referred to in this resolution as ''PTSD''); and

(3) respectfully requests that the Secretary of the Senate transmit a copy of this resolution to the Secretary of Veterans Affairs and the Secretary of Defense.

Whereas James Abdnor was appointed Vice Chairman of the Joint Economic Committee and served on the Committee on Indian Affairs of the Senate;

Whereas James Abdnor was a voice for the rural United States in Congress, where he advocated for family farms and small business, rural water systems and electrification, a balanced budget, and small-town values;

Whereas James Abdnor was appointed by President Ronald Reagan to serve as the Administrator of the United States Small Business Administration from 1987 to 1989 following his service in the United States Congress;
