valid to all intents and purposes as part of the Constitution when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission by the Congress.

ARTICLE

Section 1. Equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

Section 2. The Congress shall have the power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

Section 3. This amendment shall take effect two years after the date of ratification; and

Whereas, The 95th Congress of the United States amended the resolution of the 92nd Congress for the time for ratification to June 30, 1982, thereby indicating its continued support of the amendment; and

Whereas, The Congress of the United States adopted the 27th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which was proposed in 1789 by our First Congress but not ratified by three-fourths of the States until May 7, 1952, and, on May 18, 1982, certified as the 27th Amendment; and

Whereas, The restricting time limit for ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment is in the enacting clause and is not part of the amendment which was proposed by Congress and which has already been ratified by 35 States; and

Whereas, Having passed a time extension for the Equal Rights Amendment on October 20, 1978, Congress demonstrated that a time limit in a resolving clause may be disregarded if it is not part of the proposed amendment; and

Whereas, The United States Supreme Court in Cousins v. Miller, 307 U.S. 458 (1939), recognized that Congress is in a unique position to judge the tenor of the nation, to be aware of the political, social and economic factors affecting the nation and to be aware of the importance to the nation of the proposed amendment; and

Whereas, If an amendment to the Constitution of the United States has been proposed by two-thirds of both houses of Congress and ratified by three-fourths of the state legislatures, it is for Congress, under the principles of Coleman v. Miller, to determine the validity of the state ratifications occurring after a time limit in the resolving clause, but not in the amendment itself; and

Whereas, The Legislature of the State of Nevada finds that the proposed amendment is meaningful and needed as part of the Constitution of the United States and that the present political, social and economic conditions demonstrate that constitutional equality for women and men continues to be a timely issue in the United States: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of Nevada, Jointly, That the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States as the presiding officer of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives at the request of each member of the Nevada Congressional Delegation; and be it further

Resolved, That the resolution be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, to the Committee on Commerce, Science, and Transportation, and to the Committee on Rules and Administration, and to such other committees of the Senate as may be necessary to consider this measure on the Committeeخاری
