SEC. 1285. REPORT ON COUNTERING ILLEGAL, UNREPORTED, AND UNREGULATED FISHING IN OCEANIA.

(a) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) many countries of the Oceania region depend on commercial tuna fisheries as a critical component of their economies;

(2) the Government of the People's Republic of China has used its licensed fishing fleet to exert greater influence in Oceania, but at the same time, its licensed fishing fleet is also a major contributor to illegal, unreported, and unregulated fishing (in this section referred to as "IUU fishing") activities;

(3) the sustainability of Oceania's fisheries is threatened by IUU fishing, which depletes both commercially important fish stocks and non-targeted species that help maintain the integrity of the ocean ecosystem;

(4) in addition, IUU fishing puts pressure on protected species of marine mammals, sea turtles, and sea birds, which also jeopardizes the integrity of the ocean ecosystem;

(5) further, because IUU fishing goes unrecorded, the loss of biomass compromises scientists' work to assess and model fishery stocks and advise managers on sustainable catch levels;

(6) beyond the damage to living marine resources, IUU fishing also contributes directly to illegal activity in the Oceania region, such as food fraud, smuggling, and human trafficking;

(7) current approaches to IUU fishing enforcement rely on established methods, such as vessel monitoring systems, logbooks maintained by government fisheries enforcement authorities to record the catches landed by fishing vessels, and corroborating data on catches hand-collected by human observer programs;

(8) such established methods are imperfect because—

(A) vessels can turn off monitoring systems and unlicensed vessels do not use them; and

(B) observer coverage is thin and subject to human error and corruption;

(9) maritime domain awareness technology solutions for vessel monitoring have gained credibility in recent years and include systems such as observing instruments deployed on satellites, crewed and uncrewed air and surface systems, aircraft, and surface vessels, as well as electronic monitoring systems on fishing vessels;

(10) maritime domain awareness technologies hold the promise of significantly augmenting the current IUU fishing enforcement capacities; and

(11) maritime domain awareness technologies offer an avenue for addressing key United States national interests, including those interests related to—

(A) increasing bilateral diplomatic ties with key allies and partners in the Oceania region;

(B) countering illicit trafficking in arms, narcotics, and human beings associated with IUU fishing;

(C) advancing security, long-term growth, and development in the Oceania region;

(D) supporting ocean conservation objectives;

(E) reducing food insecurity; and

(F) countering attempts by the Government of the People's Republic of China to grow its influence in the Oceania region.

(b) REPORT REQUIRED.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of State, in consultation with the Administrator of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the Commandant of the Coast Guard, and the Secretary of Defense, shall submit to the appropriate congressional committees a report assessing the use of advanced maritime domain awareness technology systems to combat IUU fishing in Oceania.

(2) ELEMENTS.—The report required by paragraph (1) shall include—

(A) a review of the effectiveness of existing monitoring technologies, including electronic monitoring systems, to combat IUU fishing;

(B) recommendations for effectively integrating effective monitoring technologies into an Oceania-wide strategy for IUU fishing enforcement;

(C) an assessment and recommendations for the secure and reliable processing of data from such monitoring technologies, including the security and verification issues;

(D) the technical and financial capacity of countries of the Oceania region to deploy and maintain large-scale use of maritime domain awareness technological systems for the purposes of combating IUU fishing and supporting fisheries resource management;

(E) a review of the technical and financial capacity of regional organizations and international structures to support countries of the Oceania region in the deployment and maintenance of large-scale use of maritime domain awareness technology systems for the purposes of combating IUU fishing and supporting fisheries resource management;

(F) an evaluation of the utility of using foreign assistance, security assistance, and development assistance provided by the United States to countries of the Oceania region to support the large-scale deployment and operations of maritime domain awareness systems to increase maritime security across the region; and

(G) an assessment of the role of large-scale deployment and operations of maritime domain awareness systems throughout Oceania to supporting United States economic and national security interests in the Oceania region, including efforts related to countering IUU fishing, improving maritime security, and countering malign foreign influence.

(3) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES DEFINED.—In this subsection, the term “appropriate congressional committees” means—

(A) the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate;

(B) the Committee on Armed Services of the Senate;

(C) the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives; and

(D) the Committee on Armed Services of the House of Representatives.

SEC. 1286. OCEANIA PEACE CORPS PARTNERSHIPS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Director of the Peace Corps shall submit to Congress a report on strategies to reasonably and safely expand the number of Peace Corps volunteers in Oceania, with the goals of—

(1) expanding the presence of the Peace Corps to all currently feasible locations in Oceania; and

(2) working with regional and international partners of the United States to expand the presence of Peace Corps volunteers in low-income Oceania communities in support of climate resilience initiatives.

(b) ELEMENTS.—The report required by subsection (a) shall—

(1) assess the factors contributing to the current absence of the Peace Corps and its volunteers in Oceania;

(2) examine potential remedies that include working with United States Government agencies and regional governments, including governments of United States allies—

(A) to increase the health infrastructure and medical evacuation capabilities of the countries of Oceania to better support the safety of Peace Corps volunteers while in those countries;

(B) to address physical safety concerns that have decreased the ability of the Peace Corps to operate in Oceania; and

(C) to increase transportation infrastructure in the countries of Oceania to better support the travel of Peace Corps volunteers and their access to necessary facilities;

(3) evaluate the potential to expand the deployment of Peace Corps Response volunteers to help the countries of Oceania address social, economic, and development needs of their communities that require specific professional expertise; and

(4) explore potential new operational models to address safety and security needs of Peace Corps volunteers in the countries of Oceania, including—

(A) changes to volunteer deployment durations; and

(B) scheduled redeployment of volunteers to regional or United States-based healthcare facilities for routine physical and behavioral health evaluation.

(c) VOLUNTEERS IN LOW-INCOME OCEANIA COMMUNITIES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—In examining the potential to expand the presence of Peace Corps volunteers in low-income Oceania communities under subsection (a)(2), the Director of the Peace Corps shall consider the development of initiatives described in paragraph (2).

(2) INITIATIVES DESCRIBED.—Initiatives described in this paragraph are volunteer initiatives that help the countries of Oceania address social, economic, and development needs of their communities, including by—

(A) addressing, through appropriate resilience-based interventions, the vulnerability that communities in Oceania face as result of extreme weather, severe environmental change, and other climate related trends; and

(B) improving, through smart infrastructure principles, access to transportation and connectivity infrastructure that will help address the economic and social challenges that communities in Oceania confront as a result of poor or nonexistent infrastructure.

(d) OCEANIA DEFINED.—In this section, the term “Oceania” includes the following:

- (1) Fiji.
- (2) Kiribati.
- (3) The Republic of the Marshall Islands.
- (4) The Federated States of Micronesia.
- (5) Nauru.
- (6) Palau.
- (7) Papua New Guinea.

TITLE _____—EAGLES ACT OF 2022

SEC. _____. 01. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the “EAGLES Act of 2022”.

SEC. _____. 02. FINDINGS; SENSE OF CONGRESS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) On February 14, 2018, 17 individuals lost their lives in a senseless and violent attack on Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School in Parkland Florida, a school whose mascot is the eagle.

(2) These individuals lived lives of warmth, joy, determination, service, and love, and their loss is mourned by the Nation.

(3) The shooter in that attack exhibited patterns of behavior that were alarming and that should have alerted law enforcement and other Federal, State, and local officials.

(4) The attack on Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School was preventable.

(5) Lives were saved because of the brave and exemplary conduct of many students, teachers, and staff at Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School, including several of the victims of the attack.

(6) The National Threat Assessment Center (referred to in this title as the “Center”) was established in 1998 to conduct research on various types of targeted violence.

(7) Studies conducted by the Center on targeted school violence, in particular, have shown that—

(A) most incidents were planned in advance;

(B) the attackers' behavior gave some indication that the individual was planning, or at least contemplating, an attack;

(C) most attackers had already exhibited a pattern of behavior that was of concern to other people in their lives; and

(D) prior to the attack, someone associated with the attacker, such as a family member or peer, knew the attack was to likely to occur.

(8) Through their research, the Center developed the threat assessment model for responding to indicators of targeted violence, which includes a 3-step process—

(A) identifying individuals who are exhibiting behaviors that indicate they are planning an attack on a school;

(B) assessing whether the individual poses a threat to the school, based on articulable facts; and

(C) managing the threat the individual may pose to the school.

(9) The threat assessment model works most effectively when all the relevant parties, including school officials, local law enforcement, and members of the community, are part of a comprehensive protocol to identify, assess, and manage a potential threat to the school.

(10) The primary goal of threat assessment programs in schools should be to prevent violent conduct, with an emphasis on early intervention, treatment, and care of individuals exhibiting behaviors associated with targeted violence.

(11) Early intervention, treatment, and prevention of violent behavior is an effective way to prevent violent conduct that would harm others and necessitate disciplinary action, including criminal penalties.

(12) The parties involved need the appropriate training and tools to establish the appropriate mechanisms for implementing this type of approach.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that a fact-based threat assessment approach, involving school officials, local law enforcement, and members of the community, is one of the most effective ways to prevent targeted violence in schools, and is a fitting memorial to those who lost their lives in the February 14, 2018, attack on Marjory Stoneman Douglas High School and those who heroically acted to preserve the lives of their friends, students, and colleagues.

DIVISION E—TAIWAN POLICY ACT OF 2022

SEC. 5001. SHORT TITLE; TABLE OF CONTENTS.

This division may be cited as the “Taiwan Policy Act of 2022”.

SEC. 5002. FINDINGS.

Congress finds the following:

(1) Since 1949, the close relationship between the United States and Taiwan has been of enormous benefit to both parties and to the Indo-Pacific region as a whole.

(2) The Taiwan Relations Act (Public Law 96-8; 22 U.S.C. 3301 et seq.) has enabled the people of the United States and the people of Taiwan to maintain a strong and important relationship that promotes regional security, prosperity, and shared democratic values.

(3) The security of Taiwan and the ability for the people of Taiwan to determine their own future are fundamental to United States interests and values.

(4) The Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office in the United States and the American Institute in Taiwan facilitate critical consular relations that—

(A) protect the interests of the people of the United States and the people of Taiwan; and

(B) strengthen people-to-people ties.

(5) Increased engagement between public officials, commercial interests, civil society leaders, and others enhances United States-Taiwan relations and its economic, security, and democratic dimensions.

(6) Taiwan serves as a critical partner on regional and transnational issues, such as public health, climate change, critical and emerging technologies, cybersecurity, trade, and freedom of navigation.

(7) Taiwan exemplifies a thriving democracy consisting of more than 23,000,000 people who value their suffrage, free markets, right to due process, freedom of expression, and other individual liberties.

(8) President Xi Jinping of the People's Republic of China (referred to in this division as the “PRC”) continues to repeat his desire to stifle the freedom of Taiwan, as evidenced by his July 2021 proclamation, in which he stated, “All sons and daughters of China, including compatriots on both sides of the Taiwan Strait, must work together and move forward in solidarity, resolutely smashing any Taiwan independence plots.”.

(9) As President Xi Jinping concentrates his power in the Chinese Communist Party (referred to in this division as the “CCP”), he is escalating the PRC's campaign of coercion and intimidation against Taiwan, as evidenced by—

(A) the accelerated preparations made by the PRC and its People's Liberation Army (referred to in this division as the “PLA”) for an offensive attack against Taiwan, such as the PLA's January 2022 incursion of nearly 40 fighters, bombers, and other warplanes into Taiwan's air defense identification zone;

(B) the PLA's growing offensive preparations in the Taiwan Strait, such as amphibious assault and live-fire exercises and record-scale incursions into Taiwanese air space;

(C) the Foreign Ministry's diplomatic efforts to isolate Taiwan, such as abusing its position in international institutions and multilateral fora to exclude Taiwanese participation despite Taiwan's demonstrated expertise in relevant subjects, such as public health;

(D) threats and actions to compromise Taiwan's economy and critical suppliers, such as draconian export controls and the “31 Measures” intended to lure Taiwanese talent to mainland China and away from Taiwan;

(E) persistent and targeted cyberattacks, numbering nearly 20,000,000 per month, which are intended to compromise Taiwan's critical infrastructure and inflict civilian harm;

(F) political and economic pressure on other countries who seek closer ties with Taiwan, such as recent export controls related to Lithuania after Lithuania announced a permanent Taiwanese Representative Office in Lithuania.

(10) On multiple occasions, through both formal and informal channels, the United States has expressed its concern for the PRC's destabilizing activities in the Taiwan Strait and on the international stage that aim to subvert Taiwan's democratic institutions.

(11) The Indo-Pacific Strategy of the United States—

(A) identifies Taiwan as an important leading regional partner;

(B) seeks to bolster Taiwan's self-defense capabilities; and

(C) reaffirms that Taiwan's future must be determined peacefully and in accordance with the wishes and best interests of the people of Taiwan.

(12) The PRC considers stifling the freedom of Taiwan as a critical and necessary step to displacing the United States as the pre-eminent military power in the Indo-Pacific and continues its modernization campaign to enhance the power-projection capabilities of the PLA and its ability to conduct joint operations.

(13) Taiwan maintains a modern, ready, self-defense force that adheres to the highest democratic principles and benefits from continued state of the art security assistance.

(14) The defense of Taiwan is critical to—

(A) mitigating the PLA's ability to project power and establish contested zones within the First and Second Island Chains and limiting the PLA's freedom of maneuver to engage in unconstrained power projection beyond the First Island Chain in order to protect United States territory, such as Hawaii and Guam;

(B) defending the territorial integrity of Indo-Pacific allies, such as Japan;

(C) deterring other countries and competitors from exercising force as a means to revise the established status quo;

(D) championing democratic institutions and societies in the Indo-Pacific region and throughout the world; and

(E) maintaining a rules-based international order that—

(i) constrains authoritarian powers;

(ii) enshrines collective security;

(iii) promotes democracy and respect for human rights and fundamental freedoms; and

(iv) promotes peace and prosperity.

SEC. 5402. PARTICIPATION OF TAIWAN IN THE INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the United States fully supports Taiwan's participation in, and contribution to, international organizations and underscores the importance of the relationship between Taiwan and the United States;

(2) diversifying the donor base of the Inter-American Development Bank (referred to in this title as the "IDB") and increasing allied engagement in the Western Hemisphere reinforces United States national interests;

(3) Taiwan's significant contribution to the development and economies of Latin America and the Caribbean demonstrate that Taiwan's membership in the IDB as a non-borrowing member would benefit the IDB and the entire Latin American and Caribbean region; and

(4) non-borrowing membership in the IDB would allow Taiwan to substantially leverage and channel the immense resources Taiwan already provides to Latin America and the Caribbean to reach a larger number of beneficiaries.

SEC. 5403. PLAN FOR TAIWAN'S PARTICIPATION IN THE INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK.

The Secretary of State, in coordination with the Secretary of the Treasury, is authorized—

SEC. 5406. MEANINGFUL PARTICIPATION OF TAIWAN IN THE INTERNATIONAL CIVIL AVIATION ORGANIZATION.

(3) coercion by the Chinese Communist Party and the People's Republic of China has ensured the systematic exclusion of Taiwan from meaningful participation in ICAO, significantly undermining the ability of ICAO to ensure the safety and security of global aviation.

(b) PLAN FOR TAIWAN'S MEANINGFUL PARTICIPATION IN THE INTERNATIONAL CIVIL AVIATION ORGANIZATION.—The Secretary of State, in coordination with the Secretary of Commerce, is authorized—

TITLE V—ENHANCED DEVELOPMENT AND ECONOMIC COOPERATION BETWEEN THE UNITED STATES AND TAIWAN

SEC. 5501. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Taiwan has been an important trading partner of the United States for many years, accounting for $114,000,000,000 in two-way trade in 2021.

(2) Taiwan has demonstrated the capacity to hold a strong economic partnership with the United States. Along with a robust trading profile of goods and services, Taiwan supports an estimated 208,000 American jobs and its cumulative investment in the United States is at least $13,700,000,000, numbers that will only increase with a comprehensive bilateral trade agreement.

(3) In addition to supplementing United States goods and services, Taiwan is a reliable partner in many United States' industries, which is not only critical for diversifying United States supply chains, but is also essential to reducing the United States' reliance on other countries, such as China, who seek to leverage supply chain inefficiencies in their path to regional and global dominance. Such diversification of United States supply chains is critical to our national security.

(4) The challenges to establishing an agreement with Taiwan, such as reaching an agreement on agricultural standards, must not prevent the completion of a bilateral trade agreement. Taiwan has already taken steps to further the progress towards such an agreement by announcing its intent to lift restrictions on United States pork and beef products, which will greatly increase the accessibility of American farmers and ranchers to Taiwan markets. In light of this important development, the United States should immediately move forward with substantial negotiations for a comprehensive bilateral trade agreement with Taiwan.

(5) A free and open Indo-Pacific is a goal that needs to be actively pursued to counter China's use of unfair trading practices and other policies to advance its economic dominance in the Indo-Pacific region. An agreement with Taiwan would—

(A) help the United States accomplish this goal by building a network of like-minded governments dedicated to fair competition and open markets that are free from government manipulation; and

(B) encourage other nations to deepen economic ties with Taiwan.

(6) Since November 2020, Taiwan and the United States have engaged in the U.S.-Taiwan Economic Prosperity Partnership Dialogue, covering a broad range of economic issues including—

(A) 5G networks and telecommunications security;

(B) supply chains resiliency;

(C) infrastructure cooperation;

(D) renewable energy;

(E) global health; and

(F) science and technology.

(7) A trade agreement between the United States and Taiwan would promote security and economic growth for the United States, Taiwan, and the entire Indo-Pacific region.

(8) Excluding Taiwan from the Indo-Pacific Economic Framework would—

(A) create significant distortions in the regional and global economic architecture; and

(B) run counter to the United States' economic interests.

(9) Taiwan is the United States' largest trading partner with whom we do not have an income tax treaty or agreement. Taiwan has such agreements with 34 countries, including countries that have trade agreements with the United States and do not maintain diplomatic relations with Taiwan.

(10) The American Chamber of Commerce in Taipei, in its "2022 Taiwan White Paper", called for the United States and Taiwan to continue exploring an income tax agreement to boost bilateral trade and investment by reducing double taxation and increasing economic efficiency and integration.

SEC. 5502. SENSE OF CONGRESS ON A FREE TRADE AGREEMENT AND BILATERAL TAX AGREEMENT WITH TAIWAN, THE INDO-PACIFIC ECONOMIC FRAMEWORK, AND CBP PRECLEARANCE.

It is the Sense of Congress that—

(1) the United States Trade Representative should resume meetings under the United States and Taiwan Trade and Investment Framework Agreement with the goal of reaching a bilateral free trade agreement with Taiwan;

(2) the United States Trade Representative should undertake efforts to assess whether the Agreement Concerning Digital Trade, signed at Washington October 7, 2019, and entered into force January 1, 2020, between the United States and Japan, provides a model for a similar agreement between the United States and Taiwan to strengthen economic ties with Taiwan in key sectors;

(3) the United States Trade Representative and the Secretary of Commerce should undertake efforts to assure Taiwan's engagement and participation in the Indo-Pacific Economic Framework;

(4) the United States should utilize and expand Preclearance programs to meet the needs of the United States travel and tourism industry, including by prioritizing the establishment of Preclearance facilities with Indo-Pacific allies and partners, including Taiwan; and

(5) the United States should—

(A) begin negotiations on an income tax agreement between the American Institute in Taiwan and the Taipei Economic and Cultural Representative Office in the United States; and

(B) work on a congressional-executive agreement to establish such an income tax agreement.

SEC. 5503. SENSE OF CONGRESS ON UNITED STATES-TAIWAN DEVELOPMENT CO-OPERATION.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the United States and Taiwan share common development goals in a wide range of sectors, including public health, agriculture, food security, democracy and governance, and education;

(2) enhanced cooperation between the United States and Taiwan would better advance these goals; and

(3) the United States Agency for International Development should explore opportunities to partner with Taiwan on projects in developing countries related to inclusive economic growth, resilience, global health, education, infrastructure, humanitarian assistance, disaster relief, and other areas.

TITLE VI—SUPPORTING UNITED STATES EDUCATIONAL AND EXCHANGE PROGRAMS WITH TAIWAN

SEC. 5601. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as the "Taiwan Fellowship Act".

SEC. 5602. FINDINGS.

Congress makes the following findings:

(1) The Taiwan Relations Act (Public Law 96-8; 22 U.S.C. 3301 et seq.) affirmed United States policy "to preserve and promote extensive, close, and friendly commercial, cultural, and other relations between the people of the United States and the people on Taiwan, as well as the people on the China mainland and all other peoples of the Western Pacific area".

(2) Consistent with the Asia Reassurance Initiative Act of 2018 (Public Law 115-409), the United States has grown its strategic partnership with Taiwan's vibrant democracy of 23,000,000 people.

(3) Despite a concerted campaign by the People's Republic of China to isolate Taiwan from its diplomatic partners and from international organizations, including the World Health Organization, Taiwan has emerged as a global leader in the coronavirus global pandemic response, including by donating more than 2,000,000 surgical masks and other medical equipment to the United States.

(4) The creation of a United States fellowship program with Taiwan would support—

(A) a key priority of expanding people-to-people exchanges, which was outlined in President Donald J. Trump's 2017 National Security Strategy;

(B) President Joseph R. Biden's commitment to Taiwan, "a leading democracy and a critical economic and security partner", as expressed in his March 2021 Interim National Security Strategic Guidance; and

(C) April 2021 guidance from the Department of State based on a review required under the Taiwan Assurance Act of 2020 (sub-title B of title III of division FF of Public Law 116-260) to "encourage U.S. government engagement with Taiwan that reflects our deepening unofficial relationship".

SEC. 5603. PURPOSES.

The purposes of this title are—

(1) to further strengthen the United States-Taiwan strategic partnership and broaden understanding of the Indo-Pacific region by temporarily assigning officials of any agencies of the United States Government to Taiwan for intensive study in Mandarin and placement as Fellows with the government in Taiwan or a Taiwanese civic institution;

(2) to provide for eligible United States personnel—

(A) to learn or strengthen Mandarin Chinese language skills; and

Subtitle G—Countering Economic Coercion Act of 2022

SEC. 1281. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the “Countering Economic Coercion Act of 2022”.

SEC. 1282. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

The following is the sense of Congress:

(1) Foreign adversaries are increasingly using economic coercion to pressure, punish, and influence United States allies and partners.

(2) Economic coercion causes economic harm to United States allies and partners and creates malign influence on the sovereign political actions of such allies and partners.

(3) Economic coercion of United States allies and partners has negative effects on the national security of the United States.

(4) Economic coercion is often characterized by—

(A) arbitrary and discriminatory actions that seek to interfere with sovereign actions, violate international trade rules, and run counter to the rules-based international order;

(B) capricious and non-transparent actions taken without due process afforded;

(C) intimidation or threats of punitive actions; and

(D) informal actions that take place without explicit government action.

(5) Recent acts of economic coercion have included instances in which foreign adversaries have—

(A) acted in a capricious and non-transparent manner to prevent or dissuade consumers from purchasing imports from a foreign trading partner;

(B) enacted discriminatory administrative fees or technical barriers to trade in goods and services in response to sovereign political actions taken by a foreign trading partner;

(C) arbitrarily restricted market access or otherwise limited the import of goods or services from a foreign trading partner;

(D) arbitrarily restricted investment in or export of goods or services to a foreign trading partner; and

(E) acted in a non-transparent manner to manipulate a private entity with the intent of causing economic harm to or influencing sovereign political actions of a foreign trading partner.

(6) Existing mechanisms for trade dispute resolution and international arbitration are inadequate for responding to economic coercion in a timely and effective manner as foreign adversaries exploit plausible deniability and lengthy processes to evade accountability.

(7) The United States should provide material support to foreign trading partners affected by economic coercion.

(8) Supporting foreign trading partners affected by economic coercion can lead to opportunities for United States businesses, investors, and workers to reach new markets and customers.

(9) Responding to economic coercion will be most effective when the United States provides relief to affected foreign trading partners in coordination with allies and like-minded countries.

(10) Such coordination will further demonstrate broad resolve against economic coercion.

SEC. ____. ANTI-MONEY LAUNDERING SAFEGUARDS REGARDING GATEKEEPERS.

(a) SHORT TITLE.—This section may be cited as the “Establishing New Authorities for Business Laundering and Enabling Risks to Security Act of 2022” or the “ENABLERS Act of 2022”.

(b) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Kleptocrats and other corrupt actors across the world are increasingly relying on non-bank professional service providers, including those operating in the United States, to move, hide, and grow their ill-gotten gains.

(2) In 2003, the Financial Action Task Force (referred to in this subsection as the “FATF”), an intergovernmental body formed by the United States and other major industrial nations, determined that designated non-financial businesses and professions should be subject to the same anti-money laundering and counter-terrorist financing rules and regulations as financial institutions, including the requirement to know your customer or client and to perform due diligence, as well as to file suspicious transaction reports, referred to as suspicious activity reports or “SARs” in the United States.

(3) In 2016, an FATF evaluation of the United States rated the United States as noncompliant with 4 of the 40 recommendations of the FATF regarding combating money laundering and the financing of terrorism and proliferation. Of the 4 noncompliant ratings described in the preceding sentence, 3 of those ratings pertained to designated non-financial businesses and professions, including lawyers, accountants, and trust and company service providers, and the fourth such rating pertained to transparency and the beneficial ownership of legal entities. The United States also received the lowest mark from the FATF for the effectiveness of the United States in combating the misuse of legal entities. The FATF evaluation listed, as a priority action, applying appropriate anti-money laundering and countering the financing of terrorism obligations “to lawyers, accountants, trust and company service providers (other than trust companies which are already covered)” to improve the anti-money laundering and counter-terrorist financing regime in the United States.

(4) In line with the procedures of the FATF, members of the FATF are expected to address deficiencies in the regimes of those members not later than 3 years after adopting their mutual evaluation. In March 2020, the FATF published the “3rd Enhanced Follow-up Report & Technical Compliance Re-Rating” with respect to the United States, which continued to score the United States noncompliant with respect to the 4 recommendations described in paragraph (3).

(5) On January 1, 2021, the United States took steps to address the non-compliant rating of the United States with respect to the beneficial ownership of legal entities through the enactment of the Corporate Transparency Act (title LXIV of Public Law 116-283), but, as of the date of enactment of this Act, Congress has yet to address the non-compliant rating of the United States with respect to designated non-financial businesses and professions.

(6) In October 2021, the “Pandora Papers”, the largest exposé of global financial data in history, revealed to a global audience how the United States plays host to a highly specialized group of “enablers” that help the world’s elite move, hide, and grow their money.

(7) The Pandora Papers described how an adviser to the former Prime Minister of Malaysia reportedly used affiliates of a United States law firm to assemble and consult a network of companies, despite the adviser fitting the “textbook definition” of a high-risk client. The adviser went on to use his companies to help steal $4,500,000,000 from Malaysia’s public investment fund in one of “the world’s biggest-ever financial frauds”, known as IMDB.

(8) Russian oligarchs have used gatekeepers to move their money into the United States. For example, a gatekeeper formed a company in Delaware that reportedly owns a $15,000,000 mansion in Washington, D.C., that is linked to one of Vladimir Putin’s closest allies. Also reportedly connected to the oligarch is a $14,000,000 townhouse in New York City owned by a separate Delaware company.

(9) On May 8, 2022, the Office of Foreign Assets Control of the Department of the Treasury (referred to in this subsection as “OFAC”), pursuant to Executive Order 14071 (87 Fed. Reg. 20999; relating to prohibiting new investment in and certain services to the Russian Federation in response to continued Russian Federation aggression), prohibited “the exportation, reexportation, sale, or supply, directly or indirectly, from the United States, or by a United States person, wherever located, of accounting, trust and corporate formation, or management consulting services to any person located in the Russian Federation.”

(10) On June 30, 2022, OFAC blocked a trust holding more than $1,000,000,000 linked to designated Russian oligarch Suleiman Kerimov. These efforts revealed that Kerimov used a complex series of legal structures and front persons to obscure his interest in Heritage Trust, the funds of which first entered the financial system of the United States through 2 foreign, Kerimov-controlled entities before the imposition of sanctions against him. The funds were subsequently invested in large public and private companies in the United States and managed by a series of investment firms and facilitators in the United States.

(11) The Pandora Papers uncovered more than 200 United States-based trusts across 15 States that held assets of more than $1,000,000,000, “including nearly 30 trusts that held assets linked to people or companies accused of fraud, bribery, or human rights abuses”. In particular, South Dakota, Nevada, Delaware, Florida, Wyoming, and New Hampshire have emerged as global hotspots for those seeking to hide their assets and minimize their tax burdens.

(12) In 2016, an investigator with the non-profit organization Global Witness posed as an adviser to a corrupt African official and set up meetings with 13 New York City law firms to discuss how to move suspect funds into the United States. Lawyers from all but 1 of the firms provided advice to the faux adviser, including advice on how to utilize anonymous companies to obscure the true owner of the assets. Other suggestions included naming the lawyer as a trustee of an offshore trust in order to open a bank account and using the law firm’s escrow account to receive payments.

(13) The autocratic Prime Minister of Iraqi Kurdistan, reportedly known for torturing and killing journalists and critics, allegedly purchased a retail store valued at more than $18,000,000 in Miami, Florida, with the assistance of a Pennsylvania-based law firm.

(14) Teodoro Obiang, the Vice President of Equatorial Guinea and son of the country’s authoritarian President, embezzled millions of dollars from his home country, which was then used to purchase luxury assets in the United States. Obiang relied on the assistance of 2 lawyers in the United States to move millions of dollars of suspect funds through United States banks. The lawyers incorporated 5 shell companies in California and opened bank accounts associated with the companies for Obiang’s personal use. The suspect funds were first wired to the lawyers’ attorney-client and firm accounts, then transferred to the accounts of the shell companies.

(15) A consulting company in the United States reportedly made millions of dollars working for companies owned or partly owned by Isabel dos Santos, the eldest child of a former President of Angola. This included working with Angola's state oil company when it was run by Isabel dos Santos and helping to "run a failing jewelry business acquired with Angolan money". In 2021, a Dutch tribunal found that Isabel dos Santos and her husband obtained a $500,000,000 stake in the oil company through "grand corruption".

(16) In December 2021, the United States Government issued a first-ever "United States Strategy on Countering Corruption", which includes "Curbing Illicit Finance" as a strategic pillar. An express line of effort to advance this strategic pillar states that: "Deficiencies in the U.S. regulatory framework mean various professionals and service providers—including lawyers, accountants, trust and company service providers, incorporators, and others willing to be hired as registered agents or who act as nominees to open and move funds through bank accounts—are not required to understand the nature or source of income of their clients or prospective clients. . . While U.S. law enforcement has increased its focus on such facilitators, it is both difficult to prove 'intent and knowledge' that a facilitator was dealing with illicit funds or bad actors, or that they should have known the same. Cognizant of such constraints, the Administration will consider additional authorities to cover key gatekeepers, working with the Congress as necessary to secure additional authorities".

(17) This section, and the amendments made by this section, provide the authorities needed to require that professional service providers that serve as key gatekeepers to the financial system of the United States adopt anti-money laundering procedures that can help detect and prevent the laundering of corrupt and other criminal funds into the United States. Absent such authorities, the United States Government will be unable to adequately protect the financial system of the United States, identify funds and assets that are the proceeds of corruption and other crimes, support foreign states in their efforts to combat corruption and promote good governance, or maintain the role of the United States as a leader in international bodies that are committed to combating money laundering and corruption.

(c) REQUIREMENTS FOR GATEKEEPERS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Section 5312(a)(2) of title 31, United States Code, as amended by section 6110(a) of the William M. (Mac) Thornberry National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2021 (Public Law 116-283), is amended—

Subtitle G—Additional Measures in Response to Invasion of Ukraine by the Russian Federation

SEC. 1280. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the “Russian Elites, Proxies, and Oligarchs Act of 2022” or the “REPO Act of 2022”.

PART I—CONFISCATION AND REPURPOSING OF RUSSIAN ASSETS

SEC. 1281. FINDINGS; SENSE OF CONGRESS.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) On February 24, 2022, the Government of the Russian Federation violated the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Ukraine by again engaging in a premeditated and illegal invasion of Ukraine.

(2) The international community has condemned the illegal invasion of Ukraine by the Russian Federation, as well as the commission of war crimes by the Russian Federation, including through the deliberate targeting of civilians and civilian infrastructure and the commission of sexual violence.

(3) The leaders of the Group of Seven (G7) have called the Russian Federation’s “unprovoked and completely unjustified attack on the democratic state of Ukraine” a “serious violation of international law and a grave breach of the United Nations Charter and all commitments Russia entered in the Helsinki Final Act and the Charter of Paris and its commitments in the Budapest Memorandum”.

(4) The United Nations General Assembly adopted a resolution, by a vote of 141 to 5, that demanded that the Russian Federation “immediately cease its use of force against Ukraine and immediately, completely, and unconditionally withdraw all of its military forces from the territory of Ukraine within its internationally recognized borders”.

(5) On March 16, 2022, the International Court of Justice issued provisional measures ordering the Russian Federation to “immediately suspend the military operations that it commenced on 24 February 2022 in the territory of Ukraine”.

(6) Under international law, a country that is responsible for an internationally wrongful act is under an obligation to make restitution by reestablishing the situation that existed before the wrongful act was committed. The Russian Federation bears such responsibility to provide restitution to Ukraine.

(7) As of April 21, 2022, the World Bank estimated that the invasion of Ukraine by the Russian Federation had led to at least $60,000,000,000 in damage to the physical infrastructure of Ukraine.

(8) According to the President of Ukraine, Volodymyr Zelenskyy, as of May 3, 2022, it could cost an estimated $600,000,000,000 to rebuild Ukraine as a result of the illegal invasion by the Russian Federation.

(b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of Congress that the extreme illegal actions taken by the Russian Federation present a unique situation, justifying the establishment of a legal authority. In this case, that authority is the authority of the United States Government or other countries to confiscate sovereign assets of the Russian Federation for the purpose of assisting Ukraine.

SEC. 1282. SENSE OF CONGRESS REGARDING IMPORTANCE OF THE RUSSIAN FEDERATION PROVIDING DUE REPARATIONS TO UKRAINE.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the Russian Federation bears responsibility for the financial burden of the reconstruction of Ukraine and for countless other costs associated with the illegal invasion of Ukraine by the Russian Federation that began on February 24, 2022;

(2) the full cost of the Russian Federation’s unlawful war against Ukraine and the amount of money the Russian Federation must pay Ukraine should be assessed by a bona fide independent, international arbitral body or claims commission;

(3) the Russian Federation should participate in any international process to assess the full cost of the Russian Federation’s unlawful war on Ukraine, and if it fails to do so, the United States should explore other avenues for providing reparations to Ukraine, including confiscation and repurposing of frozen assets;

(4) the Secretary of State should lead robust engagement on all bilateral and multilateral aspects of the United States response to the efforts of the Russian Federation to undermine the sovereignty and territorial integrity of Ukraine, including on any policy coordination and alignment regarding the disposition of sovereign assets of the Russian Federation in the context of restitution;

(5) the confiscation and repurposing of sovereign assets of the Russian Federation by the United States is in the vital national security interests of the United States and consistent with United States and international law; and

(6) the United States should work with international allies and partners on the confiscation and repurposing of sovereign assets of the Russian Federation as part of a coordinated, multilateral effort, including with G7 countries and other countries in which assets of the Central Bank of the Russian Federation are located.

SEC. ____. ADDITION OF VIRGIN ISLANDS VISA WAIVER TO GUAM AND NORTHERN MARIANA ISLANDS VISA WAIVER.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Section 212(l) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(l)) is amended to read as follows:

“(l) GUAM AND NORTHERN MARIANA ISLANDS VISA WAIVER PROGRAM; VIRGIN ISLANDS VISA WAIVER PROGRAM.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—The requirement of subsection (a)(7)(B)(i) may be waived by the Secretary of Homeland Security, in the case of an alien applying for admission as a non-immigrant visitor for business or pleasure and solely for entry into and stay in Guam or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, or the Virgin Islands of the United States, for a period not to exceed 45 days, if the Secretary of Homeland Security, after consultation with the Secretary of the Interior, the Secretary of State, and the Governor of Guam and the Governor of the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, or the Governor of the Virgin Islands of the United States, as the case may be, determines that—

“(A) an adequate arrival and departure control system has been developed in Guam and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, or the Virgin Islands of the United States; and

“(B) such a waiver does not represent a threat to the welfare, safety, or security of the United States or its territories and commonwealths.

“(2) ALIEN WAIVER OF RIGHTS.—An alien may not be provided a waiver under this subsection unless the alien has waived any right—

“(A) to review or appeal under this Act an immigration officer’s determination as to the admissibility of the alien at the port of entry into Guam or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, or the Virgin Islands of the United States; or

“(B) to contest, other than on the basis of an application for withholding of removal under section 241(b)(3) of this Act or under the Convention Against Torture, or an application for asylum if permitted under section 208 of this Act, any action for removal of the alien.

“(3) REGULATIONS.—All necessary regulations to implement this subsection shall be promulgated by the Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of State. The promulgation of such regulations shall be considered a foreign affairs function for purposes of section 553(a) of title 5, United States Code. At a minimum, such regulations should include, but not necessarily be limited to—

“(A) a listing of all countries whose nationals may obtain the waivers provided by this subsection; and

“(B) any bonding requirements for nationals of some or all of those countries who may present an increased risk of overstays or other potential problems, if different from such requirements otherwise provided by law for nonimmigrant visitors.

“(4) FACTORS.—In determining whether to grant or continue providing the waiver under this subsection to nationals of any country, the Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of State, shall consider all factors that the Secretary of Homeland Security deems relevant, including electronic travel authorizations, procedures for reporting lost and stolen passports, repatriation of aliens, rates of refusal for nonimmigrant visitor visas, overstays, exit systems, and information exchange.

“(5) SUSPENSION.—The Secretary of Homeland Security shall monitor the admission of nonimmigrant visitors to Guam and the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Virgin Islands of the United States, under this subsection. If the Secretary determines that such admissions have resulted in an unacceptable number of visitors from a country remaining unlawfully in Guam or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, or the Virgin Islands of the United States, unlawfully obtaining entry to other parts of the United States, or seeking withholding of removal or asylum, or that visitors from a country pose a risk to law enforcement or security interests of Guam or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, or of the Virgin Islands of the United States, or of the United States (including the interest in the enforcement of the immigration laws of the United States), the Secretary shall suspend the admission of nationals of such country under this subsection. The Secretary of Homeland Security may in the Secretary’s discretion suspend the Guam and Northern Mariana Islands visa waiver program, or the Virgin Islands visa waiver program, at any time, on a country-by-country basis, for other good cause.

“(6) ADDITION OF COUNTRIES.—The Governor of Guam and the Governor of the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, or the Governor of the Virgin Islands of the United States, may request the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of Homeland Security to add a particular country to the list of countries whose nationals may obtain the waiver provided by this subsection, and the Secretary of Homeland Security may grant such request after consultation with the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of State, and may promulgate regulations with respect to the inclusion of that country and any special requirements the Secretary of Homeland Security, in the Secretary’s sole discretion, may impose prior to allowing nationals of that country to obtain the waiver provided by this subsection.”.

(b) REGULATIONS DEADLINE.—Not later than one year after the date of the enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Secretary of the Interior and the Secretary of State, shall promulgate any necessary regulations to implement the waiver provided in the amendment made by subsection (a) for the Virgin Islands of the United States.

(c) WAIVER COUNTRIES.—The regulations described in subsection (b) shall include a listing of all member or associate member countries of the Caribbean Community whose nationals may obtain, on a country-by-country basis, the waiver provided by this section, except that such regulations shall not provide for a listing of any country if the Secretary of Homeland Security determines that such country's inclusion on such list would represent a threat to the welfare, safety, or security of the United States or its territories and commonwealths, or would increase fraud or abuse of the nonimmigrant visa system.

(d) CONFORMING AMENDMENTS.—

(1) DOCUMENTATION REQUIREMENTS.—Section 212(a)(7)(B)(iii) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(a)(7)(B)(iii)) is amended to read as follows:

“(iii) SPECIAL VISA WAIVER PROGRAMS.—For a provision authorizing waiver of clause (i) in the case of visitors to Guam or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, or the Virgin Islands of the United States, see subsection (I).”.

(2) ADMISSION OF NONIMMIGRANTS.—Section 214(a)(1) of such Act (8 U.S.C. 1184(a)(1)) is amended by striking “Guam or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands” each place such term appears and inserting “Guam or the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, or the Virgin Islands of the United States”.

(e) FEES.—The Secretary of Homeland Security shall establish an administrative processing fee to be charged and collected from individuals seeking to enter the Virgin Islands of the United States in accordance with section 212(I) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1182(I)), as amended by this Act. Such fee shall be set at a level that will ensure recovery of the full costs of such processing, any additional costs associated with the administration of the fees collected, and any sums necessary to offset reduced collections of the nonimmigrant visa fee or the electronic travel authorization fee that otherwise would have been collected from such individuals.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) Global supply chain disruptions have become more common, with recent events highlighting risks and vulnerabilities that undermine the national security of the United States.

(2) The February 2022 report of the Department of Defense entitled “Securing Defense-Critical Supply Chains: An action plan developed in response to President Biden’s Executive Order 14017” and the 2022 industrial capabilities report of the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Industrial Base Policy each outline strategic focus areas and enabling capabilities, and associated vulnerabilities, and provide recommendations to strengthen the defense industrial base.

(3) The Department of Defense relies on a skilled workforce to innovate, produce, and sustain weapon systems.

(4) Decades of erosion across workforce development pipelines jeopardize and threaten the United States industrial base’s ability to remain competitive.

(5) The Department of Defense has expressed that a focus area for investment in fiscal year 2023 will be efforts that continue to focus on recruitment, training, and placing skilled workers in support of defense priorities and in support of priority defense programs.

(6) The stated primary effort by the Department of Defense will be a major, multi-year, endeavor with the Navy, focused on ensuring the health and capacity of the submarine workforce of the Department of Defense.

(7) The Industrial Base Analysis and Sustainment program, in partnership with the Navy submarine enterprise, has stated an intent to invest in the development of the necessary training and education programs of the industrial base, with the aim of creating sufficient capability to provide a “ready to work”, high-skill workforce at the production levels needed to meet the nuclear submarine modernization requirements of the Navy.

(b) SENSE OF SENATE.—It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) the Department of Defense should continue investment in the National Imperative for Industrial Skills Initiative; and

(2) accelerate efforts to expand pilot programs under that Initiative as part of a broader push to set up networks of at-scale regional workforce training centers around the United States.
