The House met at 2 p.m. and was called to order by the Speaker.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, the Reverend Margaret Grun Kibben, offered the following prayer:

O Lord, You give and You take away. Blessed be Your name. By Your grace, You have given us Your noble and humble servant, Representative Donald McEachin, and we have been privileged to enjoy this, Your generous gift, and we are witnesses to his response to Your claim on his life. Representative McEachin lived into Your anointing, committing himself to bringing good news to the poor, proclaiming freedom for those imprisoned by the inequities that constrain, and working diligently to set the oppressed free. His compassionate manner and trusted counsel, so eagerly shared with all those graced to be in his sphere, are truly a blessing that we will cherish dearly.

O Lord, You give and You take away. Blessed be Your name. For even in the worst of his brave and valiant fight for his life, Representative McEachin held firm in his convictions that You gave him the strength to endure his sufferings. May this, his legacy of character and devotion, reveal the hope he found in You.

Then may all who grieve this day, his wife Colette, his dear family, his colleagues, and friends, find blessing in this same hope, that in his life and his death, Representative Donald McEachin will always bring glory to You.

It is in Your sacred name we pray.
Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day’s proceedings and announces to the Chamber her approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1 of rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. WILSON) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. Under clause 5(d) of rule XX, the Chair announces to the House that, in light of the passing of the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. McEachin), the whole number of the House is 432.

REIMAGINING THE SOUTH SHORE OF ST. CROIX

(Ms. PLASKETT asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. PLASKETT. Madam Speaker, for decades, my island, my home, St. Croix, was the home of the largest refinery in the Western Hemisphere, an identity that largely shaped our economic makeup to the detriment, in some instances, of historic industries such as agriculture or at the detriment of our environment but provided thousands of jobs throughout the years to our residents. The recent failure of the refinery to restart successfully has been a disappointment to many, but in there lies a unique opportunity before us.

With the rapid changes taking place in our climate and the urgency that the Biden administration has placed on environmental reform and the much-needed transition to green energy and renewables, we have an opportunity to reimagine how the south shore of St. Croix can be redeveloped.

The green energy initiatives and the focus on historically disadvantaged communities contained in the Inflation Reduction Act, along with the incentives and funding included in the bipartisan infrastructure law, are not only timely but critical for us as a territory.

I ask my colleagues, I ask Virgin Islanders, I ask our Governor and our elected officials to all join in reimaging and getting to work on redefining what we look like.

PERMITTING OFFICIAL PHOTOGRAPHS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES TO BE TAKEN WHILE THE HOUSE IS IN ACTUAL SESSION ON A DATE DESIGNATED BY THE SPEAKER

Mr. AGUILAR. Mr. Speaker, I send to the desk a resolution and ask unanimous consent for its immediate consideration in the House.

The Clerk read the title of the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. CUÉLLAR). Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

The text of the resolution is as follows:

H. Res. 1494

Resolved. That on such date as the Speaker of the House of Representatives may designate, official photographs of the House may be taken while the House is in actual session. Payment for the costs associated with taking, preparing, and distributing such photographs may be made from the applicable accounts of the House of Representatives.

The resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.
BIDEN ENERGY POLICIES ARE THE SOURCE OF INFLATION
(Mrs. MILLER-MEEKS asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. MILLER-MEEKS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to address the Biden administration’s self-made energy crisis. Since taking office, I have been vocal about my commitment to alternative forms of energy that bring revenue and flexibility to Iowa and allow Iowa to be a major energy exporter.

However, the Biden administration’s policies have relied on foreign nations instead of prioritizing American energy independence.

Iowans have felt the effect of President Biden’s policies. Grocery and energy prices continue to soar with inflation rates at historic highs. So while the temperatures drop into the teens, some are forced to choose between turning on their heat and buying groceries.

According to the National Energy Assistance Directors Association, diesel prices could top $6 per gallon this winter, but Iowa could fill the gap with biodiesel. Struggling families simply cannot afford President Biden’s energy policies.

I want to reiterate my calls to President Biden to unleash domestic energy and look toward Iowa as a framework for an any-of-the-above approach to lower energy costs for Americans.

I also want to wish a very happy birthday to Andy Swanson.

IN MEMORY OF DONALD MCEACHIN
(Mr. GRIJALVA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GRIJALVA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in shock and feeling an immense loss for the Member that will not be with us, Donald McEachin, the gentleman from Virginia, a dear friend.

The members of the Committee on Natural Resources extend to his family, his wife Colette, his children and his grandchildren, his loved ones, and his loyal and capable staff, our condolences, our sympathies, and our comfort.

This imposing man, Donald McEachin, was more than that. His strength came from his heart, his faith, his empathy, and his compassion for other people.

On this journey, I have had the privilege and pleasure to work with him for over 3 years to develop legislation that would assure every American had clean air, clean water, and a clean environment. That piece of legislation is historic, and it is the creation of great work on the part of Donald McEachin.

It is his legacy that I hope we advance, but it is also his character and his strength, as he guided me and other Members through a process that is sometimes difficult, sometimes contentious, but a process that at the end of the day has produced something that will be part of the legacy of a man that served his community, served his country, served his family, and gave honor to all of us. This is a deep loss, an immense loss, and one that I share with everyone.

AMERICANS ARE EXPERIENCING INFLATION AT A 40-YEAR HIGH
(Mr. WILSON of South Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, last week, families across America sat down to enjoy Thanksgiving meals. Unfortunately, this week, as a result of irresponsible policies of Biden and Democrats, families are paying massive costs.

Americans are experiencing inflation at a 40-year-high with families in South Carolina paying nearly 15 percent more for goods and services in the last year.

Average national costs have increased. Turkey is up 21 percent. Pie crusts and whipping cream are up 26 percent. Dinner rolls are up 22 percent. Milk is up 16 percent.

According to the recent Morning Consult poll, 41 percent of Thanksgiving shoppers were planning to cut side dishes to save money.

Our country is in a crisis, and Americans need relief, which is why voters elected a House Republican majority. Republicans will fight inflation with fiscal sanity.

In conclusion, God bless our troops who successfully protected America for 20 years, as the global war on terrorism continues moving from the Afghanistan safe haven to America.

RECOGNIZING JESSE PORRAS
(Mr. PFLUGER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. PFLUGER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize a servant leader in our community, Odessa native, Mr. Jesse Porras, a Marine veteran.

Mr. Porras has been cooking and serving a Thanksgiving meal to hundreds of Odessans in need every year since his children felt called to provide a warm and comforting meal to anyone in need or struggling with homelessness in our community. Since then, it has grown into a community feast, with local businesses and others partnering with Jesse. Over the past 9 years, Mr. Porras’ Thanksgiving meal has fed thousands and lifted the spirits of the entire community.

Jesse Porras is an inspiration to all of us. Not only was he willing to put his life on the line through his service to our country, but he continues that service through his generosity and philanthropic spirit today. This is something that we can all emulate, especially as we are approaching the holiday season.

I thank Mr. Porras personally for giving so much of his time, talent, and goodwill to share the blessings of Thanksgiving, which, in my opinion, should be celebrated every day. But on that particular day, he does a great job in Odessa. It is with heartfelt thanks that Texas’ 11th Congressional District thanks him.

MOURNING THE TRAGEDY AT UVA AND HONORING THE BRAVERY OF MIKE HOLLINS
(Mr. GOOD of Virginia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. GOOD of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to mourn the senseless and tragic loss of life at the University of Virginia on November 13, but I also rise to recognize and honor the bravery displayed by Mike Hollins during the recent shooting at the University of Virginia.

After getting off the bus and directing two students to run to safety, Mike Hollins, a running back on the Cavaliers football team, turned around and attempted to reboard the bus to help his teammates and others still trapped with the gunman.

Mike’s bravery was met with evil, however, as he was shot while trying to protect those still in harm’s way. Thankfully, Mike has been released from the hospital. I pray he will continue to have a full and complete recovery.

My prayers are also with the families of D’Sean Perry, Lavel Davis, Jr., and Devin Chandler, who are deeply hurting from the loss of their loved ones, along with the entire University of Virginia community.

We are always saddened in the face of tragedy, but bravery like Mike Hollins showed gives us hope. May God continue to heal our land.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE
The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, the Chair will postpone further proceedings today on motions to suspend the rules on which a recorded vote or the yeas and nays are ordered, or on which the vote is objected to under clause 6 of rule XX. The House will resume proceedings on postponed questions at a later time.

DELIVERING OPTIMALLY URGENT LABOR ACCESS FOR VETERANS AFFAIRS ACT OF 2022
Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 2521) to require the Secretary of Veterans Affairs to establish a pilot program to furnish doula services to veterans, as amended.
There is a growing body of research that shows that doula care is an effective tool in mitigating pre- and postpartum mental health crises and can be a factor in reducing childbirth complications. The VA must investigate the ability to provide such holistic and effective care.

Mr. Speaker, I wholeheartedly support this bill. I encourage all my colleagues to join me in supporting Mrs. LAWRENCE’s critical and commonsense legislation, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 2521, the Delivering Optimally Urgent Labor Access for Veterans Affairs Act of 2022, or the DOULA for VA Act of 2022.

Women are now our fastest growing group within the veteran community. More than 2 million women veterans live in the U.S. today. Many of them are within childbearing age.

In the last few years, the use of maternal services within the VHA has increased by 44 percent. The DOULA for VA Act would require VA to conduct a study to provide doula services for pregnant veterans enrolled in the VA healthcare system.

Mr. Speaker, a doula is a trained companion who provides physical and emotional support to women before, during, and after childbirth. They also serve on the appropriateness committee to establish guidelines for doula care.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to review the Report of the Select Committee on Veterans Affairs, and I request that they be inserted in the Record at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. Bost) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2521, as amended, the DOULA for VA Act of 2022. This bill, authored and long championed by Congresswoman BRAN- DAI LAWRENCE, would bring VA closer to providing full scope of reproductive healthcare that our veterans and their newborns deserve. This bill would require VA conduct a feasibility and advisability study to determine whether to provide pregnant veterans access to doula support services.

The United States has a maternal mortality crisis, and our veterans are not protected from it. In fact, they are disproportionately more likely to experience severe maternal mental health outcomes than their civilian counterparts.

H.R. 4601
Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
This Act may be cited as the “Commitment to Veteran Support and Outreach Act”.

SEC. 2. AUTHORITY FOR SECRETARY OF VETERANS AFFAIRS TO GRANT AWARDS TO STATES AND INDIAN TRIBES TO IMPROVE OUTREACH TO VETERANS.
(a) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 63 of title 38, United States Code, is amended—
(1) by redesignating sections 6307 and 6308 and sections 6306 and 6309, respectively; and
(2) by inserting after section 6306 the following new section 6307:

§ 6307. Grants to States and Indian Tribes to improve outreach to veterans.

(a) PURPOSE.—It is the purpose of this section to provide for assistance by the Secretary to States and Indian Tribes to carry out programs that—

(1) improve outreach and assistance to veterans and the spouses, children, and parents of veterans, to ensure that such individual veterans and veterans-related benefits and programs (including veterans programs of a State or Indian Tribe) for which they may be eligible; and

(2) facilitate opportunities for such individuals to receive competent, qualified services in the preparation, presentation, and prosecution of veterans benefits claims.

(b) AUTHORITY.—The Secretary may award grants under this section to States and Indian Tribes to—

(1) carry out, coordinate, improve, or otherwise enhance outreach activities;

(2) increase the number of county or Tribal veterans service officers serving in the State or Indian Tribe by hiring new, additional such officers; or

(3) expand, carry out, coordinate, improve, or otherwise enhance existing programs, activities, and services of the existing organization of the State or Indian Tribe that has been recognized by the Department of Veterans Affairs pursuant to section 5902, in the preparation, presentation, and prosecution of claims for veterans benefits through representatives who hold positions as county and Tribal veterans service officers.

(c) APPLICATION.—(1) To be eligible for a grant under this section, a State or Indian Tribe shall submit to the Secretary an application—

(1) containing information at such time, in such manner, and containing such information as the Secretary may require;

(2) A detailed plan submitted under paragraph (1) shall include the following:

(A) A detailed plan for the use of the grant;

(B) A description of the programs through which the State or Indian Tribe will meet the outcome measures developed by the Secretary under subsection (i);

(C) A description of how the State or Indian Tribe will distribute grant amounts equitably among counties (or Tribal lands, as the case may be) with varying levels of urbanization;

(D) A plan for how the grant will be used to meet the unique needs of American Indian or Alaska Native veterans, elderly veterans, women veterans, veterans from other underserved communities;

(E) DISTRIBUTION.—The Secretary shall ensure to seek that grants awarded under this section are suitably distributed among States and Indian Tribes with varying levels of urbanization.

(ee) PRIORITIZATION.—The Secretary shall prioritize awarding grants under this section that will serve the following areas:

(1) Areas with a critical shortage of county or Tribal veterans service officers.

(2) Areas with high rates of—

(A) suicide among veterans; and

(B) referrals to the Veterans Crisis Line.

(3) USE OF COUNTY OR TRIBAL VETERANS SERVICE OFFICERS.—A State or Indian Tribe receiving a grant under this section may only carry out the activity through—

(1) a county or Tribal veterans service officer of the State or Indian Tribe; or

(2) if the State or Indian Tribe does not have a county or Tribal veterans service officer, the county or Tribal veterans service officer of the State or Indian Tribe cover only a portion of that State or Indian Tribe, an appropriate entity of a State, local, or Tribal government, as determined by the Secretary.

(g) REQUIRED ACTIVITIES.—Any grant awarded under this section shall be used—

(1) to establish new programs, activities, and services.

(2) to hire and maintain additional county or Tribal veterans service officers; or

(3) for travel and transportation to facilitate carrying out paragraph (1) or (2).

(h) OTHER PERMISSIBLE ACTIVITIES.—A grant under this section may be used to provide education and training, including on-the-job training, for State, county, local, and Tribal government employees who provide or train veterans service officers to provide outreach services in order for those employees to obtain and maintain accreditation in accordance with procedures approved by the Secretary.

(i) OUTCOME MEASURES.—(1) The Secretary shall develop and provide to each State or Indian Tribe that receives a grant under this section written guidance on the following:

(A) Outcome measures;

(B) Policies of the Department;

(2) In developing outcome measures under paragraph (1), the Secretary shall consider the following goals:

(A) Increasing the use of veterans and veterans-related benefits, particularly among vulnerable populations.

(B) Increasing the number of county and Tribal veterans service officers recognized by the Secretary for the representation of veterans under chapter 59 of this title.

(j) TRACKING REQUIREMENTS.—With respect to each grant awarded under this section, the Secretary shall—

(1) track the use of funds and the effect of the grant on improving outreach services; and

(2) require that the grantee maintain and submit to the Secretary a report describing the effect of the grant on improving outreach services.

(k) PERFORMANCE REVIEW.—(1) The Secretary shall—

(A) annually review the performance of each State or Indian Tribe that receives a grant under this section; and

(B) make information regarding such performance publicly available.

(l) REMEDIATION PLAN.—(1) In the case of a State or Indian Tribe that receives a grant

(ee) PRIORITIZATION.—The Secretary shall prioritize awarding grants under this section to States to improve outreach to veterans, and for other purposes, as amended.
under this section and does not meet the outcome measures developed by the Secretary under subsection (i), the Secretary shall require the State or Indian Tribe to submit a new plan under this section. The State or Indian Tribe shall describe how and when it plans to meet such outcome measures.

(2) The Secretary may not award a subsequent grant under this section to a State or Indian Tribe described in paragraph (1) unless the Secretary approves the remediation plan submitted by the State or Indian Tribe.

(m) Maximum amount.—The amount of a grant awarded under this section may not exceed 10 percent of amounts made available for grants under this section for the fiscal year in which the grant is awarded.

(n) Supplement, not supplant.—Any grant awarded under this section shall be used to supplement and not supplant State and local funding that is otherwise available.

(o) Definitions.—In this section:

(1) The term 'county or Tribal veterans service officer' includes a local equivalent veterans service officer.

(2) The term 'Indian Tribe' has the meaning given in section 4 of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (25 U.S.C. 5304).

(3) The term 'State' includes the District of Columbia, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and any territory or possession of the United States.

(4) The term 'Veterans Crisis Line' means the toll-free hotline for veterans established under section 1720F(h) of this title.

(b) CLERICAL AMENDMENT.—The table of sections at the beginning of chapter 63 of such title is amended by striking the items relating to sections 6307 and 6308 and inserting the following new items:

(6307. Grants to States and Indian Tribes to improve outreach to veterans.

(6308. Outreach for eligible dependents.

(6309. Biennial report to Congress.

(c) MODIFICATION OF CERTAIN HOUSING LOAN FEE.—The loan fee table in section 3729(b)(2) of title 38, United States Code, is amended by striking "January 14, 2021" each place it appears and inserting "February 10, 2021.

(d) AUTHORIZATION OF ADDITIONAL FULL-TIME EQUIVALENT EMPLOYER.—During fiscal years 2024 through 2028, the Secretary of Veterans Affairs may hire two or more additional full-time equivalent employees in the Office of the General Counsel of the Department of Veterans Affairs, as compared to the number of full-time equivalent employees that would otherwise be authorized for such office, to carry out duties under the accreditation, discipline, and fees program.

SEC. 3. DETERMINATION OF BUDGETARY EFFECTS.

The budgetary effects of this Act, for the purpose of complying with the Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010, shall be determined by reference to the latest statement titled ‘Budgetary Effects of PAYGO Legislation’ as published in the Congressional Record by the Chairman of the House Budget Committee, provided that such statement has been submitted prior to the vote on passage.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) and the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO).

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and insert extraneous material on H.R. 4601, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was none.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 4601, the Committee to Veteran Support and Outreach Act, as amended. This bill authorizes VA to provide grants to States, counties, and Tribes to implement programs that improve outreach and assistance to veterans and their families to ensure that such individuals are fully informed about veterans' benefits and programs.

Specifically, VA may provide grants to States, counties, and Tribal entities to implement or enhance outreach activities or activities to assist in the development and submittal of claims for veterans or increase the number of county or Tribal veteran service officers in the State.

Additionally, VA would be required to prioritize awarding grants in areas with a critical shortage of county or Tribal veteran service officers, areas where veterans are living among veterans, and areas with high rates of referrals to the veterans crisis line.

With high-profile, sweeping veterans' legislation like the PACT Act recently signed into law, the support and outreach offered by H.R. 4601 would greatly assist in implementing such new programs as smoothly as possible.

With enhanced communication outreach focused on explaining new benefits and services to a broader range of veterans and their families, the more opportunities we will have to connect with potential beneficiaries interacting with VA for the very first time.

With more accredited claims representatives available to assist with the preparation and submittal of claim applications, the better positioned VA will be to decide these claims in a more timely and accurate manner.

With funds to recruit and train more county and Tribal veterans service officers, helpful skills and information related to life-changing benefits and other VA services will reach farther and deeper to our veteran communities that are so often and undeservedly overlooked.

Mr. Speaker, I wholeheartedly support this bill. I thank Representative LEVIN for crafting this important legislation. I urge my colleagues to vote for its passage, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 4601, as amended, the Committee to Veteran Support and Outreach Act.

This bill would provide VA the authority to award grants to States and Indian Tribes to improve outreach to veterans and their families about the benefits they may be eligible for.

H.R. 4601, as amended, would prioritize grants to the areas that have large populations of underserved veterans and high rates of suicide. Additionally, this bill would help county and Tribal VSOs assist veterans with preparing and presenting their disability compensation.

With the implementation of the PACT Act right around the corner, it is imperative that Congress provide local VSOs with the resources they need to assist veterans with their claims. Tribal veteran deserves access to the same wraparound help with their benefits regardless of where they live. Congressmen LEVIN and Congressman ROSENDALE's proposal would do exactly that.

I also want to point out that this bill has a mandatory cost because of toxic exposure funds created by the PACT Act. Now, I am happy to see the cost is now fully offset rather than swept under the rug.

I urge my colleagues to find a permanent solution to the toxic exposure fund scoring problem before we use up all of our offsets and become unable to move additional legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage all my colleagues to work toward that solution and I urge all Members to support H.R. 4601, as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, again, I ask all my colleagues to join me in passing H.R. 4601, as amended. I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I proudly stand in strong support of H.R. 4601, the Commitment to Veteran Support and Outreach Act, which will authorize the VA to provide grants to states to implement programs that improve outreach and assistance to veterans and their families to ensure that such individuals are fully informed about veterans' benefits and programs.

According to a report by the Department of Veterans Affairs, America has over 19 million veterans who over 1,567,000 live in the United States. The second most of any state. Over 179,000 live in Harris County and about 29,000 live in my district.

Of the total veteran population, the VA reports that only 49% (9.8 million out of 20.0 million) used at least one VA benefit or service in FY 2017.

That percentage is far too low. Too few veterans are taking advantage of the programs and services available to them to cope with the ravages of war.

Our veterans include everything from respiratory problems caused by burn-pit toxic exposure to combat conditions such as Traumatic Brain Injury (TBI) and Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD).
Prompt and easy access to services to address these problems determines a veteran’s ability to recover from them. For example, according to research conducted by the VA, veterans who received care soon after the end of their service had lower levels of PTSD and better follow-up evaluation a year after they initiated care. According to the study, for each year that a veteran waited to initiate treatment, there was about a 5 percent increase in the odds of their PTSD either not improving or worsening. In the National Academies of Sciences, Engineering and Medicine found that post-9/11 veterans who had not sought VA mental health care didn’t know how to apply for benefits—or were unsure whether they were even eligible. Some didn’t know what services the VA offered or felt that they didn’t deserve care even if they could get it. This bill addresses that problem by making grants available to states to help the thousands of veterans who need services for their conditions acquired or exacerbated by military service but who don’t know how to access them. This legislation will not only be key to assisting veterans to get over barriers to access their benefits but will also improve veteran mental health and help reduce the veteran suicide crisis.

This bill focuses on equity by prioritizing grants to areas with high suicide rates among veterans and high referrals to the Veterans Crisis Line. This approach will help save veterans’ lives and ensure this funding is directed to areas most in need.

Smother access to VA mental health care and suicide prevention has never been more important than it is today. A disproportionate number of veterans die by suicide following separation from military service.

Veterans ages 18 to 34 have the highest rate of suicide. As reported by the Houston Chronicle, in 2020, the suicide rate for Texas veterans was 36.6 suicides per 100,000 veterans while the nationwide rate was 34.4, according to data from the U.S. Department of Veteran Affairs. This rate is in stark contrast to the suicide rate among Texas overall, which is 13.3 per 100,000 people.

I am proud to support this legislation because it will reduce veteran suicide among Texans and nationwide, and it will enable states to better serve veterans who are in need of many types of assistance.

This is especially important because of the Texas governor’s recent actions impacting troops and veterans in Texas with regard to the southern border. Texas’ governor has thrust our National Guard into a disastrous border operation, Operation Lone Star, by declaring a fictional “migrant invasion”, and falsely claiming that activation of the National Guard is needed for what he describes as “secure our communities against record-breaking illegal border crossings and transnational criminal activity.”

The result is that our National Guard troops are being forced to commit major human rights violations. The governor’s use of the National Guard to police misdemeanor trespassing by migrants has sparked a civil rights probe by the Justice Department. According to Human Rights Watch, the operation results in arrests that target people based on race and national origin and disregard due process, including abuses in detention.

Black and Brown migrants, and even US citizens, are subjected to racially discriminatory arrests, prosecutions on flimsy pretexts, and detention with substandard food and inadequate or nonexistent health care, according to detainees cited in a complaint filed with the US Justice Department. Defendants have been held for weeks or months in pretrial detention before they have an opportunity to see a judge.

Troops commanded to carry out this operation are so affected that at least four confirmed suicides have occurred since the operation began. On October 29, 2021, ten soldiers linked to the operation have died since September 2021, all via accident or suicide.

In addition to human rights abuses, Texas Guard troops have complained about pay problems, poor living conditions and inconsistent guidance from leaders since the operation expanded massively last Fall.

I strongly denounce the program, its abuses, and the trauma that it is inflicting on our troops who are charged to carry out the program’s edicts.

This legislation, H.R. 4601, will help these veterans who struggle with the aftermath of the psychological and physical toll of serving on this operation, just as veterans of combat in Afghanistan and Iraq elsewhere continue to wrestle with the aftereffects of their service.

We must help veterans access the benefits and services that they earned and so definitely deserve.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 4772) to amend title 38, United States Code, to improve the application and review process of the Department of Veterans Affairs for clothing allowance claims submitted by veterans, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The text of the bill is as follows: H.R. 4772

SEC. 2. IMPROVEMENTS TO PROCESS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS FOR CLOTHING ALLOWANCE CLAIMS.

(a) Process for Clothing Allowance Claims.—Section 112 of title 38, United States Code, is amended—

(1) by striking “The Secretary under” and inserting:

“(A) Eligibility Requirements.—The Secretary;

(2) in paragraph (2)—

(A) by striking “which (A) a physician” and inserting: “which—“(A) a physician; “(B) by striking “, and (B) the Secretary” and inserting: “, and”;

(B) by striking “; and”;

(3) by adding at the end the following new subsections:

“(b) Continuous Nature of Payments.—Payments made to a veteran under subsection (a) shall continue on an automatically recurring annual basis until the earlier of the following:

(1) The date on which the veteran elects to no longer receive such payments.

(2) The date on which the Secretary determines the veteran no longer eligible pursuant to subsection (d).

(c) Eligibility of Claimants.—(1) Except as provided in paragraph (2)(B), the Secretary shall conduct reviews of the claim on which the clothing allowance is based to determine the continued eligibility of the veteran as follows:

“(A) Beginning not earlier than five years after the date on which a veteran initially receives a clothing allowance under this section and on a periodic basis thereafter.

(B) Whenever the Secretary receives notice that the veteran no longer meets the requirements specified in subsection (a).”

(2) The Secretary shall prescribe in regulations standards for determining whether a claim for clothing allowance is based on a circumstance that is not subject to change.

(B) If the Secretary determines, pursuant to such standards, that a claim for clothing allowance is based on a circumstance that is not subject to change, paragraph (1)(A) shall not apply with respect to the claim.

(d) Determination Regarding Continued Eligibility.—If the Secretary determines, as the result of a review of a claim conducted under subsection (c)(1), that the veteran who submitted such claim no longer meets the requirements specified in subsection (a), the Secretary shall—

“(1) provide to the veteran notice of such determination that includes a description of applicable actions that may be taken following the determination, including the actions specified in section 5104C of this title; and

“(2) discontinue the clothing allowance based on such claim.”.

(b) Applicability.—The amendments made by subsection (a)(1) shall apply to claims for clothing allowance submitted on or after the date of the enactment of this Act.

(2) claims for clothing allowance submitted prior to the date of the enactment of this Act, if the veteran who submitted such claim is in receipt of the clothing allowance as of the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 3. ADJUSTMENTS OF CERTAIN LOAN FEES.

The loan fee table in section 3729(b)(2) of title 38, United States Code, is amended by striking “January 14, 2021” each place it appears and inserting “January 15, 2021”.

SEC. 4. DETERMINATION OF BUDGETARY EFFECTS.

The budgetary effects of this Act, for the purpose of complying with the Statutory
Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 4772, as amended, and I yield today in support of H.R. 4772, as amended, the Mark O'Brien VA Clothing Allowance Improvement Act.

The clothing allowance program was created to give veterans the financial means to replace clothes that have been damaged due to their service-connected disability. For example, a veteran who has a prosthetic or uses a wheelchair may wear out their clothes quickly and need to replace them often. Yet, under current law, veterans who qualify for the clothing allowance must go through a tedious process of re-applying every year to receive their benefit, even if their condition is unlikely to change.

H.R. 4772, as amended, would streamline the process for veterans receiving a clothing allowance by making the renewal process automatic. To ensure proper oversight of this program, VA would be required to re-evaluate the veteran 5 years after they have received the benefit to determine eligibility for the clothing allowance. If a veteran has a more permanent condition, such as an amputation, VA would have the authority to exempt the veteran from regular reevaluations. I support these commonsense changes, which would simplify the clothing allowance program and reduce the paperwork burden on our veterans, and I am glad to see the cost of the bill is also fully offset. I thank Congressman LEVIN and Congressman MOORE for their leadership on this issue.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support H.R. 4772, as amended, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 4772, as amended.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

The bill will make it easier for veterans—especially veterans living with lifelong disabilities—to receive their earned clothing benefits which enables them to live with the dignity and comfort that they earned and so rightfully deserve.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support H.R. 4772, as amended, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I ask all of my colleagues to join me in supporting Mr. LEVIN’s beneficial and commonsense legislation, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bill, H.R. 5943, as amended, which will appropriately honor the memory of Lance Corporal Dana C. Darnell as one of the more than 58,000 names etched on the Vietnam Veterans Memorial just down the street on The National Mall.

Like so many of those who served our great Nation, Lance Corporal Darnell’s life was tragically cut short. In April 1967, his Marine platoon was ambushed by enemy forces in the Quang Tri Province in north-central Vietnam.

Lance Corporal Darnell, at just 19 years old, displayed remarkable bravery and selflessness in the face of adversity. When his platoon’s mortar gunner was knocked unconscious, Lance Corporal Darnell quickly retrieved the weapon and began firing it into the enemy’s position.

After exhausting his ammunition, he moved from man to man, collecting additional mortar rounds to help silence the attack. In doing so, Lance Corporal Darnell undoubtedly saved the lives of others in his platoon.

Even after being temporarily blinded by enemy fire, Lance Corporal Darnell refused to be evacuated. Instead, he quickly began caring for his wounded comrades. Two days later, Lance Corporal Darnell killed in action.

For his extraordinary heroism, Lance Corporal Darnell was posthumously awarded the Navy Cross by President Johnson. The Greenville, South Carolina, native also received a Purple Heart and National Defense, Vietnam Service, and Vietnam Campaign Medals for his meritorious service.

I thank my colleague, Representative TIMMONS, for introducing this bill, which will designate the Department of Veterans Affairs outpatient clinic in Greenville, South Carolina, the Lance Corporal Dana Darnell Darnell Outpatient Clinic.

This bill has letters of support from The American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, and Disabled American Veterans. Mr. Speaker, I include these letters in the RECORD.

[From the American Legion]

Whereas, The American Legion is always preserving the memories in incidents in all wars of women and查明 sacrifices to the country of The United States of America will never be forgotten; and

Whereas, The American Legion has paid homage to the courage and commitments from the United States military and the values they have brought to our great nation; and

Whereas, The United States is a grateful nation for the ultimate sacrifice of 58,220 United States Service members during the war with the North Vietnamese from 1965–1975; and

Whereas, one of those conflicts was the battle of Quang Tri, the northern provincial capital of the republic of South Vietnam involving Company B, First Battalion, 9th Marines, Third Marine Division, Fleet Marine Force, Pacific, March 24, 1967; and

Whereas, Greenville South Carolina’s very own United States Marine Lance Corporal Dana Cornell Darnell was engaged in a search and destroy operation against the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese ambushed Cornell as they entered a field; and

Whereas, under heavy small arms, Lance Corporal Dana Cornell Darnell was knocked unconscious while seeking cover and still managed to face extraordinary calmness in the face of enemy fire. Cornell retrieved the mortar, and was unable to set it up properly, due to the urgency of the situation, holding it between his legs and stepping it from his hands, began firing into enemy positions; and

Whereas, Cornell exhausted all of his ammunition and moved from man to man collecting mortars until the enemy fire was silenced and he provided cover to call in support fire. Cornell was wounded, and unable to take cover, Cornell was killed in action.

Resolved, That South Carolina’s Largest Veterans organization the American Legion, Department of South Carolina Executive Committee at a specially called meeting assembled on this day in November 10, 2022 to support designation of the outpatient clinic of the Department of Veterans Affairs in Greenville, South Carolina, as the “Lance Corporal Dana Cornell Darnell Darnell Outpatient Clinic”.

JAMIE KVM, Chairman, Internal Affairs, VFW Department of South Carolina.

LANCE CORPORAL DANA CORNELL DARNELL

Whereas, using heavy small arms Lance Corporal Dana Cornell Darnell was killed in action.

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God, the Great Commander to summon his immortal soul at 19 years of age, on April 26, 1967.

Whereas, The American Legion has paid great credit upon this organization, and all great commanders and I hereby recommend that the VA Greenville CBOC be named in his honor.

Respectfully,

LARRY LONG,
Commander, DAV Dept. of South Carolina.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to join me in support of H.R. 5943, as amended, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 5943, as amended, a bill to designate the Department of Veterans Affairs community-based outpatient clinic in Greenville, South Carolina, as the Lance Corporal Dana Cornell Darnell VA Clinic.

Lance Corporal Darnell was born in Greenville, South Carolina, and joined the United States Marine Corps on his 18th birthday. He was deployed to the Republic of Vietnam in 1967, his unit was engaged in a mission against Vietcong and North Vietnamese forces in Quang Tri Province. His patrol was ambushed by enemy forces using heavy small arms and automatic weapons fire.

In the chaos that ensued, his mortar gunner was knocked unconscious. Displaying courage in the face of extreme danger, Lance Corporal Darnell quickly retrieved the mortar.

Despite being unable to set the mortar up properly, he continued to fire at the enemy. When he ran out of ammo, our elected representatives in support of this bill.
Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I ask all of my colleagues to join me in passing H.R. 5943, as amended, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5943, as amended.

The question is on the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 7158) to amend title 38, United States Code, to authorize the Secretary of Veterans Affairs to enter into contracts and agreements for the payment of care in medical foster homes for certain veterans who are unable to live independently, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I ask all of my colleagues to support H.R. 5943, as amended, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I encourage all of my colleagues to support this bill and honor the lance corporal by naming this facility after him.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 5943.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I encourage all of my colleagues to support this bill and honor the lance corporal by naming this facility after him.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. BOST) for his thoughtful remarks and my time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of our H.R. 5943, to designate the outpatient clinic of the Department of Veterans Affairs in Greenville, South Carolina, as the Lance Corporal Dana Cornell Darnell Outpatient Clinic.

A native of Greenville, South Carolina, Dana Cornell Darnell was a lance corporal in the United States Marine Corps during the Vietnam war. On April 24, 1967, his platoon was ambushed by North Vietnamese Army forces. He quickly worked to silence enemy fire. Even after being temporarily blinded, he refused to be evacuated and quickly began assisting in the care of the wounded.

For his extraordinary heroism, Lance Corporal Dana Cornell Darnell was awarded the Navy Cross. Renaming the Greenville VA clinic in honor of Lance Corporal Darnell will ensure we never forget the courage, service, and sacrifice of our fellow South Carolinian.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the entire delegation for their support of this bill. We believe the Lance Corporal Dana Cornell Darnell Outpatient Clinic will serve countless veterans throughout the upstate and upholds our promise to those who gave our country their all.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support H.R. 5943.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I encourage all of my colleagues to support this bill and honor the lance corporal by naming this facility after him.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.
Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 7158, the Long-Term Care Veterans Choice Act. This bill, authored and long championed by Congressman Higgins and Chairwoman Brownley, would enable VA to better provide long-term services and support for our aging and disabled veterans.

Veterans who are not yet ready for institutional care but need the help and assistance of professional caregivers are able to live in a home setting among other veterans in their communities. Satisfaction with the program is very high, but veterans have to pay for the care themselves, which is a barrier for many veterans. Yet, VA is currently prohibited from paying a veteran's room and board.

Community-based programs like these are what veterans want and deserve. They also prevent veterans from being forced into much more expensive institutional care settings.

Mr. Speaker, I wholeheartedly support this bill, and I encourage all of my colleagues to join me in supporting this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield my time.

The VA’s medical foster homes are one of its most creative and effective initiatives. Veterans who have access to these care settings thrive and are able to remain a part of their community, even if their conditions do not allow them to remain independently in their homes.

Veterans who are not yet ready for institutional care but need the help and assistance of professional caregivers are able to live in a home setting among other veterans in their communities. PROTECTING FIREFIGHTERS FROM ADVERSE SUBSTANCES ACT

Ms. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (S. 231) to direct the Administrator of the Federal Emergency Management Agency to develop guidance for firefighters and other emergency response personnel on best practices to protect them from exposure to PFAS and to limit and prevent the release of PFAS into the environment, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The text of the bill is as follows:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
This Act may be cited as the “Protecting Firefighters from Adverse Substances Act” or the “PFAS Act.”

SEC. 2. GUIDANCE ON HOW TO PREVENT EXPOSURE TO AND RELEASE OF PFAS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—Not later than 1 year after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Administrator of the United States Fire Administration, the Administrator of Environmental Protection Agency, the Director of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health, and the heads of any other relevant agencies, shall—

(1) develop and publish guidance for firefighters and other emergency response personnel on best practices to protect them from exposure to PFAS and to limit and prevent the release of PFAS into the environment, and for other purposes;

(b) CURRICULUM.—For the purpose of developing the curriculum required under subsection (a), the Administrator of the United States Fire Administration shall make recommendations to the Secretary of Homeland Security as to the content of the curriculum.

(c) CONSULTATION.—For the purpose of making recommendations under paragraph (1), the Administrator of the United States Fire Administration shall consult with interested entities, as appropriate, including—

(A) firefighters and other emergency response personnel, including national fire service and emergency response organizations;

(B) impacted communities dealing with PFAS contamination;

(C) scientists studying public and occupational health and safety experts, who are studying PFAS and PFAS alternatives in firefighting foam;

(d) voluntary standards organizations engaged in developing standards for firefighter and firefighting equipment;

(e) State fire training academies;

(f) manufacturers of firefighting tools and equipment; and

(g) any other relevant entities, as determined by the Administrators of the Department of Homeland Security and the Administrator of the United States Fire Administration.

(2) REVIEW.—Not later than 3 years after the date on which the guidance and curriculum required under subsection (a) is issued, and not less frequently than once every 3 years thereafter, the Secretary of Homeland Security, in consultation with the Administrator of the United States Fire Administration, the Administrator of the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Director of the National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health, shall review the guidance and curriculum and, as appropriate, issue updates to the guidance and curriculum.

(d) APPLICABILITY OF FACA.—The Federal Advisory Committee Act (5 U.S.C. App.) shall not apply to this Act.

(e) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this Act shall be construed to require the Secretary of Homeland Security to promulgate or enforce regulations under subchapter II of chapter 5 of title 5, United States Code (commonly known as the “Administrative Procedure Act”).

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the gentleman’s request, the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. STEVENS) and the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. LUCAS) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Michigan.

Ms. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and to include extraneous material on S. 231, the bill now before consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Michigan?

There was no objection.

Ms. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of S. 231, the Protecting Firefighters from Adverse Substances Act, or the PFAS Act, championed by my Michigan colleagues and dear friends, Congresswoman DEBBIE DINGELL and Senator PETERS.

I profoundly thank them for their steadfast and dedicated leadership on addressing PFAS contamination to protect our natural waters in the Great Lakes, our air, and beyond.

Exposure to PFAS chemicals continues to harm the health and well-being of families across America. My home state of Michigan has the most PFAS contaminated sites in the country, thus making it the State’s biggest environmental crisis in half a century. But we also have been one of the very first States tackling it.

Although scientific knowledge regarding PFAS continues to develop, we know PFAS chemicals are linked to serious adverse health effects in human beings. The more we find out, the worse the picture appears.

Recently, the EPA sounded the alarm bell and asked its Science Advisory Board, the SAB, to review new analyses and data that suggests that two chemicals, which have been found in many drinking waters and surface waters in Michigan and around the country, are far more toxic than previously thought.

While officials in Michigan have taken steps to address this crisis, there is so much more to be done at every level of government.

Our efforts in Michigan need to be strengthened by Congressional action. In order to adequately address this threat, we need the Federal Government to step it up. That is why I am proud to cosponsor the bill we are considering today, Congresswoman DINGELL’s and Senator PETERS’ Protecting Firefighters from Adverse Substances Act.

PFAS are human-made chemicals that have been manufactured since the 1940s and can be found in a wide range of both consumer and industrial products, including firefighting foam and firefighter turnout gear.

While firefighters have dedicated their lives to protecting others in keeping our communities safe, they have, unfortunately, been exposed to these forever chemicals on the job.

The Department of Defense, the National Institute of Standards and Technology, and the Federal Aviation Administration have taken steps to address PFAS contamination to free firefighter gear.

But we also have been one of the very few Federal Agencies tracking it.

This promising work across our Federal Government is vital to reducing exposure to PFAS, but more progress is needed. Until PFAS-free alternatives are widespread, we must do everything we can to protect firefighters, emergency medical responders, and the communities they serve from unneccessary PFAS exposure.

This bipartisan legislation directs the administrator of the Federal Emergency Management Agency to offer resources to help protect firefighters, emergency response personnel, and the communities they serve from PFAS exposure.

The bill also directs the administrator to provide resources that identify PFAS-free alternatives for firefighting gear and equipment. This guidance would be developed in consultation with other Federal agencies conducting research on PFAS-free alternatives, as well as a wide range of stakeholders, including firefighting and emergency response personnel, communities dealing with PFAS contamination, fire training academies, manufacturers of firefighting tools and equipment, and voluntary standards organizations.

This is America doing what America does best: innovating. This bill is an important step to protect our first responders in the line of duty from exposure to harmful chemicals.

It has already passed the Senate with bipartisan support, and today I urge my colleagues to join me in passing the bill here in the House and sending it to the President.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the PFAS Act.

PFAS refers to a large group of high-strength, high-durability chemicals used in industry and consumer products. They are critical to the reliable and effective performance of essential products like cell phones, military aircraft, solar panels, wind turbines, and medical devices. But because of their durability, they don’t break down easily and last a long time in the environment, creating hazards to human health.

There are more than 5,000 strands of PFAS in use, and their tremendous variation means we need to take a thoughtful and nuanced approach to regulating them. We absolutely need to protect the health and safety of firefighters, the military, and individuals exposed to harmful PFAS. That means preventing exposure to unsafe PFAS and addressing PFAS contamination now.

But not all PFAS are harmful, and some are indispensable for things like fighting fires and protecting our service members and women from chemical warfare. Others are used for lithium batteries and solar energy equipment. So my concern about some of the legislation on PFAS is that they would ban their use entirely, even when that might not be necessary.

The fact is that we don’t fully understand all the cases of all PFAS. Maybe a newly created strand has better fire suppression power and dissolves in a solution, or another has absolutely no human health effects and breaks down organically. We simply don’t know yet, and we can’t shut the door on innovation.

The Science, Space, and Technology Committee is working hard to improve and expand our knowledge about PFAS so that we can make individual determinations about what is safe and what is not.

For example, this summer, the House passed our Federal PFAS Research Evaluation Act which directs the National Academies to study the toxicity, effects, and behavior of different strands of PFAS. It also will study emerging PFAS strands in hopes of finding more harmless strains with effective and useful properties.

This is groundbreaking research, and it can’t be done overnight. So while the experts are working on it, my fellow Science, Space, and Technology Committee members and I urge the rest of this body to respect the scientific process.

Do not pass legislation that outright eliminates all 5,000-plus strands of PFAS without the scientific understanding to support that decision.

Here is the good news: The bill we are considering today isn’t intended to put us on a path toward banning PFAS. While some of the language could be construed by a creative mind to be broadly anti-PFAS, I know that is not the intention of the sponsors of this bill from Michigan, nor is it the intention of the Science, Space, and Technology Committee.

To further support this, I yield to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Mrs. DINGELL) to engage in a colloquy on her intent related to this bill.

Mrs. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I thank Ranking Member LUCAS for yielding.

Ranking Member LUCAS, I thank you for all of your hard work on this. I agree with you. The scientific process should be respected and used to inform and decide. That, in turn, will help us to effectively protect human health and our environment.

While it may take time to continue to develop the science around many of the lesser known PFAS compounds, a great deal of science has already been completed and known for years on the most notorious PFAS compounds.

With respect to this bill, the PFAS Act would help protect the health and safety of firefighters, the military, and individuals exposed to and ensuring that we act on behalf of our first responders to mitigate their exposure to harmful PFAS and to prevent its release into the environment.

Emergency response teams are frequently exposed to harmful PFAS in firefighting foams and personal protective equipment as they work to keep their communities safe. It is important that we act on behalf of our first responders to mitigate their exposure to these harmful PFAS chemicals and prevent environmental releases while the scientific work must continue, and we gain a full understanding of the effects of all PFAS compounds.

Again, I thank Ranking Member LUCAS for continuing to work with us on this important legislation. We shouldn’t delay, Mr. Speaker, without the gentleman today. It will make a meaningful difference for long-term first responders, their families, and the communities they serve.

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, reclaiming my time. I thank the gentlewoman for her remarks in agreement. We both share the understanding that instead of banning PFAS, this bill focuses on education, understanding, and knowledge of these chemicals. Specifically, it will ensure that we are protecting our firefighters who rely on PFAS to extinguish fires.

There aren’t many alternatives to PFAS when it comes to fighting fires, but firefighters put their lives at risk, and this bill will ensure they aren’t facing long-term health risks simply because of the equipment and the tools they use daily.

We can mitigate harmful effects by carefully studying what chemicals first responders are exposed to and ensuring they are properly educated about safety procedures and risks.

The curriculum authorized by this bill is just that. We are focusing on education, understanding, and knowledge of PFAS. The PFAS Act.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Mrs. DINGELL).

Mrs. DINGELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 231, the Protecting Firefighters From Adverse Substances Act, or the PFAS Act.

I am proud to stand here today in support of this important bipartisan legislation to protect our first responders from forever chemicals, which I am proud to support, sir, and my colleagues on both sides of the aisle.

Representative BRIAN FITZPATRICK.

This is a significant bill that has already passed the Senate with unanimous consent and bipartisan support thanks to the leadership of Senator GARY PETERS.

The PFAS Act would simply direct the U.S. Department of Homeland Security and other Federal agencies to provide important guidance for Federal, State, and local firefighters on training and best practices to reduce, limit, and prevent exposure to PFAS from firefighting foam and turnout gear, as well as provide resources that identify alternatives for firefighting tools and equipment that do not contain harmful PFAS. are frequently exposed to harmful PFAS in firefighting foams and personal protective equipment as they work to keep our communities safe. These manmade chemicals—but specifically the two most notoriously harmful chemicals, PFOA and PFOS—are extremely persistent in the environment, as well as a result of its use during fire training exercises and real-world emergency response situations. PFAS chemicals are persistent, bio-accumulative, and toxic. These chemicals are linked to harmful human health effects, including cancer, reproductive and developmental harms, and weaken immune systems.

Nearly every American has some level of PFAS coursing through their blood today.

Mr. POSEY. Mr. Speaker, I yield the gentleman from Michigan an additional 1 minute.

Mrs. DINGELL. This important bill is supported by the International Association of Fire Fighters, the International Association of Fire Chiefs, the National Volunteer Fire Council, and first responders all across this country. We get this important, commonsense, and bipartisan legislation to the President’s desk without delay to protect our firefighters and the communities they serve.

Finally, I thank leadership for bringing the PFAS Act to the floor under suspension today. I express a special thanks to Chair Eddie Bernice Johnson and Ranking Member Frank Lucas—who has really worked with me closely on this—and each of their staff for continuing to work with me to advance this critically important bill to the floor.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all my colleagues to support this PFAS Act. This is an important bipartisan and meaningful bill to protect the health and safety of our first responders from harmful PFAS in the line of duty.

Ms. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I yield the ranking member from Oklahoma for my time.

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE).

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Michigan for managing and her leadership and the gentleman from Oklahoma for his leadership.

As a member of the Homeland Security Committee that has dealt with PFAS over the years, I am extremely grateful for this legislation that has come from the Senate and particularly grateful because I use as a backdrop having been on the Homeland Security Committee since its origins, on 9/11, when firefighters rushed in to save lives. Some, of course, tragically lost their lives along with other law enforcement as they were attempting to save people from the burning buildings. But we do know that their long journey that was taken in order to get coverage and compensation for the terrible exposures that they had in the chemicals in the aftermath of 9/11.

This brings to mind the importance of this legislation having dealt with PFAS in many different forms, particularly in the agriculture arena, the Homeland Security Committee has looked at these chemicals and how they can be managed and particularly to the midst of the utilization that they have.

This legislation is extremely important because it works to develop guidance to firefighters and other emergency response personnel on training, education, and best practices to protect them from exposure from PFAS, these chemicals that they are bound to engage when they rush in to save lives and to save property from the terrors of fire.

I am excited about this legislation and hope that it gets to the President’s desk because I have seen what chemicals can do in the midst of a 9/11 but also in the midst of an ordinary house fire or business fire.

I applaud the proponents of this bill. I am excited about it reducing and eliminating exposure to PFAS from firefighter foam, personal protective equipment, PPE, prevent the release of the PFAS from firefighting foam into the environment so that it provides for an environmentally safe pathway, and educating firefighters and other emergency response personnel on the foams and non-foam alternative.
With S. 231, the Department of Homeland Security will be required to develop guidance for firefighters and other emergency response personnel on training and educational programs to protect them from exposure to PFAS.

This curriculum would not only educate firefighters on how to protect themselves, but also educate communities to prevent the release of PFAS into the environment.

Clear and swift action from Congress is needed to address the PFAS crisis, and we need an all-hands-on-deck effort to protect both the health of our first responders and our environment.

Back in the first responders should be a non-partisan issue, so I urge my colleagues to join me in voting for S. 231, the Protecting Firefighters from Adverse Substances Act.

Mr. LUCAS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, firefighters and emergency response personnel put themselves in harm’s way daily with no questions asked. They do this to save lives and protect their communities. Their bravery and selflessness are fitting, that Congress does what we can to protect their lives in return.

The bill we are considering today, the PFAS Act, arms our first responders with knowledge and procedures to avoid the long-term health effects from harmful chemicals.

This bill is also an example of strong bipartisan collaboration, with all the discussion and refinement that entails. My colleague from Michigan understood both the need for and the cost of getting ahead of the science and banning all PFAS. I understood her desire to take immediate action for her constituents. We worked together to do both walk away happy with the result.

My sincere thanks to Congresswoman DINGELL, the Science, Space, and Technology Committee staff, and everyone involved in these discussions.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. STEVENS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, we stand here today in strong support of S. 231, the PFAS Act, and certainly recognize the leadership that has come from the Michigan delegation here in the House with Congresswoman DEBBIE DINGELL, who has been steadfast, dedicated, and dogged. You don’t travel through Michigan without hearing Congresswoman DINGELL, Ms. Speaker.

We also appreciate the Senate leadership of Senator GARY PETERS, particularly in his chairmanship of the Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs Committee, in partnership with the gentleman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE) who just spoke, along with our full committee chair, EDDIE BERNICE JOHNSON, who has been a real role model for leadership and support in this body for bipartisan, collaborative legislation.

As I stand here with the last month of this term upon us in the 117th Congress, I can’t help but thank Ranking Member LUCAS for his very dedicated and remarkable leadership. One might say it is an anchor of sorts as we move to be bipartisan. Over the course of this term, I have had the privilege of sitting next to him in committee, and I will take the time to let him know that he has taught me a few things this term, which I will try to emulate.

As we move forward, Mr. Speaker, I encourage all of my colleagues on both sides of the aisle in this Chamber to continue to showcase the best of what America can be, coming together to solve problems and deliver for the American people.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of S. 231, the Protecting Firefighters from Adverse Substances Act or the PFAS Act.

PFAS are a group of human-made chemicals that have been manufactured since the 1940’s and can be found in a wide range of both consumer and industrial products, including firefighting foam and firefighter turnout gear. These chemicals are sometimes known as “forever chemicals” due to their widespread use, persistence in the environment, and a molecular structure that makes them very difficult to break down. There is growing evidence that PFAS are linked to adverse health outcomes including liver damage, thyroid disease, and an increased risk of cancer. While we still have much to learn about the health risks associated with prolonged exposure to PFAS, we understand it is better to understand the exposure pathway of PFAS and to develop alternatives to these chemicals.

The Department of Defense, the National Institutes of Standards and Technology, and the Federal Aviation Administration all conduct research on PFAS-free firefighting foam or PFAS-free fighter gear.

This promising work is vital to reducing the release of and exposure to PFAS but more progress is needed. Until PFAS-free alternatives are widespread, we must do everything we can to protect those who are exposed to PFAS in the course of their job and to limit the release of PFAS into the environment. S. 231 directs the Administrator of the Federal Emergency Management Agency to develop guidance for firefighters and other emergency response personnel on best practices to protect them from exposure to PFAS and to limit and prevent the release of PFAS into the environment. S. 231 directs the Administrator of the Federal Emergency Management Agency to develop guidance for firefighters and other emergency response personnel on best practices to protect them from exposure to PFAS and to limit and prevent the release of PFAS into the environment.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question was taken.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (S. 4003) to amend the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 to provide for training on alternatives to use of force, de-escalation, and mental and behavioral health crises.

Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill, S. 231. The question is on the motion offered by Mr. NADLER.

Mr. ROSENDALE. Mr. Speaker, on that I make the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered. The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 6 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.
respond to mental health-related calls, use appropriate de-escalation techniques, and assess if referral to services or transport for mental health evaluation is appropriate; and paragraph (1) for continuing education with respect to any covered topic.

"(C) START DATE OF AVAILABILITY OF FUNDING.—

"(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to clause (ii), a State or unit of local government may not use amounts received under a grant under paragraph (1) for continuing education with respect to a covered topic until the date that is 2 years after the date of enactment of the Law Enforcement De-Escalation Training Act of 2022.

"(ii) EXCEPTION.—A State or unit of local government may use amounts received under a grant under paragraph (1) for continuing education with respect to a covered topic during the 2-year period beginning on the date of enactment of the Law Enforcement De-Escalation Training Act of 2022 if the State or unit of local government complies with subparagraph (B) using amounts available to the State or unit of local government other than amounts received under a grant under paragraph (1).

"(3) MAINTAINING RELATIONSHIPS WITH LOCAL MENTAL HEALTH ORGANIZATIONS.—A State or unit of local government that receives funds under paragraph (1) shall establish and maintain relationships between law enforcement officers and local mental health organizations and health care services.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—Of the total amount appropriated to carry out this section for a fiscal year, the State shall provide—

"(i) funds to units of local government in the State for the purposes described in this section, which shall ensure that the funds are distributed as widely as practicable in terms of geographical location and to both large and small law enforcement agencies of units of local government;

"(ii) funds to units of local government in the State for that fiscal year, and each of the 2 fiscal years thereafter.

"(b) RETENTION OF FUNDS FOR TRAINING FOR STATE AND UNITS OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT.—

"(1) IN GENERAL.—Of the total amount appropriated for a fiscal year, each State may retain, for use in the training apply, in their jobs, the knowledge and skills gained in the training; and

"(2) REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—The Attorney General, in consultation with the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, shall establish a portal through which the data required under paragraphs (1) and (2) may be collected and submitted.

"(4) REPORTS ON THE USE OF DE-ESCALATION TACTICS AND OTHER TECHNIQUES.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The Attorney General, in consultation with the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, relevant law enforcement agencies of States and units of local government, associations that represent individuals with mental or behavioral health diagnoses or individuals with disabilities, labor organizations, professional law enforcement organizations, local law enforcement labor and representative organizations, law enforcement trade associations, mental health and suicide prevention organizations, family advocacy organizations, and civil rights and civil liberties groups, shall establish—

"(i) reporting requirements on interactions in which de-escalation tactics and other techniques in curricula developed or identified under section 1701(n)(1) are used by each law enforcement agency that receives funding under this section; and

"(ii) mechanisms for each law enforcement agency to submit such reports to the Department.

"(B) REPORTING REQUIREMENTS.—The requirements developed under subparagraph (A) shall—

"(i) specify—

"(II) the demographic and other relevant information about the officer and subjects involved in the interaction that shall be included in such a report; and

"(BB) the risk of serious physical injury to officers,

"(ii) including the number of law enforcement officers employed by the unit of local government that have completed a certified training program or course provided on or before the date on which the Attorney General begins certifying training programs or courses under section 1701(n)(2), the topics covered in those courses, and the number of officers who received training in each topic.

"(C) CONSULTATION.—The Attorney General shall include a description of any barriers to providing training on the topics described in section 1701(n)(1); and

"(D) MAINTAINING RELATIONSHIPS.—The Attorney General shall include information gathered through—

"(i) pre-training and post-training tests that assess relevant knowledge and skills covered in the training curricula, as specified in section 1701(n)(1); and

"(ii) follow-up evaluations to determine the degree to which participants in the training apply, in their jobs, the knowledge and skills gained in the training; and

"(ii) including the number of law enforcement officers employed by the unit of local government that receive funds under this subparagraph.

"(2) RETENTION OF FUNDS FOR TRAINING FOR STATE AND UNITS OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—A State shall make available to units of local government in the State for the purposes described in this section the amounts remaining after a State retains funds under paragraph (2).

"(B) ADDITIONAL USES.—A State may, with the approval of a unit of local government, use the funds allocated to the unit of local government under subparagraph (A)—

"(i) to facilitate offering a certified training program or course to law enforcement officers in the State described in section 1701(n)(1) to law enforcement officers employed by the unit of local government; or

"(ii) for the costs of training local law enforcement officers, including through law enforcement training academies of State or units of local government, to conduct a certified training program or course.

"(C) CONSULTATION.—The Attorney General, in consultation with relevant law enforcement agencies of States and units of local government, associations that represent individuals with mental or behavioral health diagnoses or individuals with disabilities, labor organizations, professional law enforcement organizations, local law enforcement labor and representative organizations, law enforcement trade associations, mental health and suicide prevention organizations, family advocacy organizations, and civil rights and civil liberties groups, shall—

"(i) indicating the number of law enforcement officers employed by the unit of local government that have completed a certified training program or course, including a certified training program or course provided on or before the date on which the Attorney General begins certifying training programs or courses under section 1701(n)(2), the topics covered in those courses, and the number of officers who received training in each topic, includ-
“(c) Review of reporting requirements.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this section, and every 2 years thereafter, the Attorney General, in consultation with the entities specified under subparagraph (A), shall review and consider updates to the reporting requirements.

“(d) Failure to report.—

“(1) In general.—An entity receiving funds under this section that fails to file a report as required under paragraph (1) or (2), as applicable and as determined by the Attorney General, shall not be eligible to receive funds under this section for a period of 2 fiscal years.

“(2) Rules of construction.—Nothing in subparagraph (A) shall be construed to prohibit a State that fails to file a report as required under paragraph (2), and is not eligible to receive funds under this section, from making funding available to a unit of local government of the State under subsection (c)(3), if the unit of local government has complied with the reporting requirements.

“(e) Attorney General reports.—

“(1) Implementation report.—Not later than 2 years after the date of enactment of this section, and each year thereafter in which grants are made under this section, the Attorney General shall submit a report to Congress on the implementation of activities carried out under this section.

“(2) Contents.—Each report under paragraph (1) shall include, at a minimum, information on—

“(A) the number, amounts, and recipients of awards the Attorney General has made or intends to make using funds authorized under this section;

“(B) the selection criteria the Attorney General has used or intends to use to select recipients of awards using funds authorized under this section;

“(C) the number of law enforcement officers of a State or unit of local government who were not able to receive training on the topics described in section 1701(n)(1)(A); due to unavailability of funds and the amount of funds that would be required to complete the training; and “(D) the nature, frequency, and amount of information that the Attorney General has collected or intends to collect under subsection (d).

“(3) Privacy protections.—A report under paragraph (1) shall disclose the identities of individual law enforcement officers who received, or did not receive, training under a certified training program or course.

“(4) National Institute of Justice study.—

“(1) Study and report.—Not later than 3 years after the first grant award using funds authorized under this section, the Comptroller General of the United States shall review the grant program under this section and submit to Congress a report assessing the grant program, including—

“(A) the process for developing and identifying curricula under section 1701(n)(1), including the effectiveness of the consultation by the Attorney General with the agencies, associations, and organizations identified under section 1701(n)(1)(C);

“(B) the certification of training programs and courses under section 1701(n)(2), including the development process for certification and its implementation;

“(C) the training of law enforcement personnel under section 1701(n)(3), including the geographic distribution of the agencies that employ the personnel receiving the training and the sizes of those agencies;

“(D) the allocation of funds under subsection (c) that were received by the geographic distribution of the agencies that receive funds and the degree to which both large and small agencies receive funds; and

“(E) the amount of funding distributed to agencies compared with the amount appropriated under this section, the amount spent for training, and whether plans have been put in place by the recipient agencies to use unspent available funds.

“(2) GAO access to portal.—For the purposes of preparing the report under paragraph (1), the Comptroller General of the United States shall have direct access to the portal developed under subsection (d)(3).

“(h) Authorization of Appropriations.—

“(1) STUDY AND REPORT.—Not later than 3 fiscal years after the first fiscal year for which funds are appropriated to carry out this section, the Attorney General, shall continue to consult with the entities specified under subsection (d)(3).

“(2) NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF JUSTICE ACCESS TO PORTAL.—For the purposes of preparing the report under paragraph (1), the Comptroller General of the United States shall have direct access to the portal developed under subsection (d)(3).

“(i) Privacy Protections.—The study under paragraph (1) shall not disclose the identities of individual law enforcement officers who received, or did not receive, training under a certified training program or course.

“(j) Funding.—Not more than 1 percent of the amount appropriated to carry out this section during any fiscal year shall be made available to conduct the study under paragraph (1).

“(k) GAO report.—

“(1) studying and report.—Not later than 3 years after the first grant award using funds authorized under this section, the Comptroller General of the United States shall review the grant program under this section and submit to Congress a report assessing the grant program, including—

“(A) the process for developing and identifying curricula under section 1701(n)(1), including the effectiveness of the consultation by the Attorney General with the agencies, associations, and organizations identified under section 1701(n)(1)(C);

“(B) the certification of training programs and courses under section 1701(n)(2), including the development process for certification and its implementation;

“(C) the training of law enforcement personnel under section 1701(n)(3), including the geographic distribution of the agencies that employ the personnel receiving the training and the sizes of those agencies;

“(D) the allocation of funds under subsection (c) that were received by the geographic distribution of the agencies that receive funds and the degree to which both large and small agencies receive funds; and

“(E) the amount of funding distributed to agencies compared with the amount appropriated under this section, the amount spent for training, and whether plans have been put in place by the recipient agencies to use unspent available funds.

“(2) GAO access to portal.—For the purposes of preparing the report under paragraph (1), the Comptroller General of the United States shall have direct access to the portal developed under subsection (d)(3).

“(h) Authorization of Appropriations.—

“(1) STUDY AND REPORT.—Not later than 3 fiscal years after the first fiscal year for which funds are appropriated to carry out this section—

“(1) $40,000,000 for fiscal year 2024);

“(2) $50,000,000 for fiscal year 2026.”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) and the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. TIFFANY) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York: General Leave

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on S. 4003.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bipartisan legislation to require that the Department of Justice’s Office of Community Oriented Policing Services to consult with a broad range of stakeholders in developing the training curriculum, including law enforcement and behavioral health groups, as well as civil rights and civil liberties groups and associations that represent individuals with disabilities.

This bill also requires the National Institute of Justice and the Government Accountability Office to evaluate the implementation of the program and the effect of the training to ensure that the curricula have a tangible impact on law enforcement encounters with people in crisis and to identify possible changes that would further improve outcomes.

This bipartisan bill improves public safety by developing and implementing evidence-based de-escalation training for law enforcement officers. I thank Senator CORNYN for introducing the bill and Congresswoman KAREN BASS for leading the House version of this important legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I have all of my colleagues to support the bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TIFFANY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 4003 creates a new Federal grant program to provide training for law enforcement officers. on de-escalation techniques, participation in crisis intervention teams, making referrals to community-based service providers, safely responding to individuals in a behavioral or mental health crisis, and alternatives to use of force.

It requires the Department of Justice to develop training curriculum in collaboration with mental health providers, law enforcement agencies, civil rights organizations, and other stakeholders.

It also authorizes $133 million in new money over the next 4 years with no offsets.

There are several problems with this legislation.

First, the COPS Office at the Justice Department currently funds programs that already do what this bill purports to support. For instance, the COPS Office funds the Community Policing Development De-Escalation Training Program through two different mechanisms.

Through one mechanism, the COPS Office provides $3 million over the next 2 years for the expansion of a network of regional centers to provide nationally certified de-escalation training opportunities, and the other mechanism, law enforcement agency de-escalation grants, provides nearly $12 million in grant funding over the next 2 years to support whole agency de-escalation, implicit bias, and duty-to-intervene training efforts.

These programs are appropriated and up and running as we speak. We should not be creating new programs that are duplicative of current programs without at least examining the efficacy of the currently funded programs.

Second, this legislation represents a departure from traditional law enforcement techniques, one that advances a soft-on-crime approach. In recent years, these kinds of approaches to fighting crime have been a boon to criminals and have led to our current crime epidemic.

We need to seriously address the crime epidemic, not fund duplicative programs that would keep cops in cars.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to oppose this legislation, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the distinguished gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE), a member of the committee.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to counter my good friend and indicate that this is important legislation. It is documented to be important legislation, and the documentation is clear because of the widespread support of such a wide range of Americans.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today on the floor to support S. 4003. I thank my colleagues, Senator CORNYN from Texas and Congresswoman Bass.

As this legislation came out of the Judiciary Committee as well, this is legislation that fits very well under the Crime, Terrorism and Homeland Security Subcommittee, which I chair. Our responsibilities are to address the question of crime but also to address the question of social justice and reform.

We have heard over the last couple of months—many of us have been in the mode of campaigning—challenges against Democrats, as to whether or not we can work to protect our communities. One thing that protects our communities is strong law enforcement that knows how to engage with the community and is given the tools that will allow them to help the community engage with law enforcement so that they can collectively solve crime.

This legislation is a bipartisan bill that would improve public safety and strengthen public trust in law enforcement, one of the first steps toward bringing down crime.

S. 4003 would require the Department of Justice to develop a de-escalation training curriculum in collaboration with mental health providers, law enforcement agencies, civil rights organizations, and associations representing individuals with mental health diagnoses.

How many times have mothers and fathers had to deal with the loss of a child because they were having a mental health episode?

This legislation continues to be a need to improve the practices that law enforcement officers can use to reduce use-of-force incidents and also protect themselves.

When individuals are in crisis, police are often the first to respond. We understand that is not their total responsibility, but because of our lack of access to mental health resources, they have been on the front lines; and so, without training necessary to recognize a mental health crisis, someone winds up injured or dead. Interactions between law enforcement and civilians can escalate to potentially deadly consequences.

As the country faces an epidemic of violence committed by officers and the disproportionate impact that this violence has on people of color, we remember the lives lost to police violence, including Nicolas Chavez, who was killed by law enforcement, among others in cities across the land.

Just this week, we learned that two Colorado deputies that killed Christian Glass in June have been indicted. That was a sad circumstance. We wish it had not happened, and it did not need to happen.

This legislation will give us the opportunity, again, to do what we want to do; to keep America safe; to bring down crime; and to protect our officers and to give them the training that helps them to be able to engage in de-escalation tactics.

Somewhat similar to the overall bill that I introduced, and John Conyers before me, I introduced the Law Enforcement Trust and Integrity Act, which I hope to reintroduce again, and seeking bipartisan support; this would authorize $70 million in annual grant funding for training that includes improving community officer relations and engage in training on use of force or de-escalation scenario-based exercises.

In addition, this bill would provide support to law enforcement agencies to train and equip officers. This legislation, of course, is widely supported.

Mr. Speaker, I quickly want to acknowledge that the faith community is squarely in support of this, and they certainly care about law enforcement and bringing down crime.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a letter signed by Catholic Charities USA, Catholic Prison Ministry Coalition, Committee on Domestic Justice and Human Development, United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, Center for Public Justice, Jesuit Conference, Office of Justice and Ecology, National Association of Evangelicals, National Latino Evangelical Coalition, National Hispanic Christian Leadership Coalition, and Prison Fellowship; a letter from CPAC; a letter from National Fraternal Order of Police; and a letter from Major Cities Chiefs Associations.

Senator JOHN CORNYN, Hart Senate Office Building, Washington, DC.

Senator SHELDON WHITEHOUSE, Hart Senate Office Building, Washington, DC.

Dear Senators CORNYN and WHITEHOUSE:

Our faith-based organizations write to urge for broad co-sponsorship among your colleagues and the swift passage of the Law Enforcement De-escalation Training Act of 2022 (S. 4003) as it would help police officers better serve vulnerable populations and keep our communities safe. Furthermore, this bill would promote a more restorative justice system that respects the dignity of each person and promote safe communities for both law enforcement officers and residents. The bill would also provide law enforcement officers with the tools needed to respond appropriately to the needs of the communities they protect and serve.

Police officers respond every day to calls for service for men and women grappling with grave mental and behavioral health challenges. However, they are not consistently trained to address these situations effectively. Inadequately trained law enforcement officers’ wellbeing and job satisfaction, and increase incidents of excessive use of force that erodes public trust.

Policymakers must better equip law enforcement officers with evidence-based training for interactions with people in crisis that... fosters community partnership, promotes understanding of mental illness, and prioritizes the lowest level of force necessary to keep communities safe.

Several prominent lawmakers position the Law Enforcement De-Escalation Training Act (S. 4003) to be a catalyst for modernizing American policing. The legislation would create a new federal funding stream to provide training for law enforcement agencies on de-escalation techniques, on participation in crisis intervention teams, on making referrals to community-based service providers, on safely responding to individuals in a behavioral or mental health crisis, and on alternatives to use of force. Furthermore, the bill would advance knowledge and accountability by putting effective strategies and best practices through strong reporting and evaluation requirements from the Department of Justice, National Institute of Justice, and Government Accountability Office.

To foster public trust, the Department of Justice will develop training curriculum in collaboration with mental health providers, law enforcement agencies, civil rights organizations, and other stakeholders. The legislation would provide funding for continuing education for law enforcement officers to further develop knowledge and tactical skills beyond initial training requirements.

We support the passage of the Law Enforcement De-Escalation Training Act of 2022 as it provides law enforcement officers the training needed to carefully respond to the needs of the community in a way that would promote human dignity and strengthen public trust.

Sincerely,

Re S. 4003—Law Enforcement De-Escalation Training Act of 2022

Hon. JERROLD NADLER,
Chairman, House Judiciary Committee,
Washington, DC

Hon. JIM JORDAN,
Ranking Member, House Judiciary Committee,

DEAR SENATORS NADLER AND JORDAN:
The American Conservative Union (‘‘ACU’’) is the nation’s oldest grass-roots advocacy organization. Founded in 1964 by William F. Buckley, we have a 58-plus year track record of advancing policies that reduce the size and scope of government, advance liberty, and reduce burdens on families. Our legislative agenda is compatible and consistent with your support for S. 4003, the ‘‘Law Enforcement De-Escalation Training Act.’’

Law enforcement officers face numerous challenges when responding to threats against public safety, and not all of these threats are necessarily criminal in nature. Police are on the front lines and are often called to deal with individuals experiencing mental illness, substance abuse issues, or similar psychological impairments who may become dangerous to themselves or to the public. Recent studies found that as many as ten percent of all law enforcement encounters involve individuals experiencing these issues. The Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) has estimated that over 2 million individuals arrested each year are struggling with a serious mental illness.

Your legislation would address this issue by providing $50 million in annual grant funding from the Edward Byrne Memorial Justice Assistance Grant (‘‘Byrne-JAG’’) to State and local law enforcement agencies to train officers in de-escalation tactics and alternatives to the use of force. The U.S. Department of Justice’s Office on Community Oriented Policing Services (COPS), through consultation with State and local law enforcement agencies, would be required to develop a curriculum that would train officers in de-escalation tactics, including de-escalation tactics, use of force alternatives, establishing and maintaining crisis intervention teams, as well as how to safely respond to mental and behavioral health crises using public benefits programs, housing assistance programs, and other relevant programs. The funding from this bill will be used to cover the costs of training, attendance, overtime fees, and the procurement of certifications. Additionally, the National Institute of Justice (NIJ) and the Government Accountability Office (GAO) would study and evaluate the impacts of the training.

The implementation of de-escalation techniques would have a tremendous positive impact on public safety and the relationship between the public and law enforcement officers. Numerous studies have shown that civilians base their perceptions of law enforcement on their last encounter. Providing officers with the skills and training to avoid needless escalation of calls for service enables the public to trust and safely interact with the police.

On behalf of the more than 364,000 members of the Fraternal Order of Police, we thank you both for your leadership on this important issue. If I can provide any additional information about this bill, please do not hesitate to contact me or Executive Director Jim Pasco in our Washington, DC office.

Sincerely,

DEAR SENATORS CORNYN AND WHITEHOUSE:
I’m writing on behalf of the Major Cities Chiefs Association (MCCA) to register our support for S. 4003, the Law Enforcement De-Escalation Training Act of 2022. The MCCA is a professional organization of law enforcement executives representing the largest cities in the United States and Canada.

The MCCA is a leader in national policy debates on policing reform and, in January 2021, released a comprehensive report that addressed a number of topics, including training. This report recommended that all law enforcement officers undergo training on de-escalation tactics.

De-escalation training is already a part of many MCCA members’ standard training curriculums. Law enforcement training is quick and effective, however, and the Law Enforcement De-Escalation Training Act will provide critical grant funding to help offset the costs associated with de-escalation training. Furthermore, MCCA members will also benefit from using these resources for continuing education, which will help further enhance existing de-escalation training programs.

Thank you for your leadership on this issue and your continued support of law enforcement. Please do not hesitate to contact me if the MCCA can be of additional assistance.

Sincerely,

Dear Representatives Bass, Issa, Thune, and Chabot:

Thank you for championing America’s mental health. The undersigned national organizations representing consumers, family members, mental health and substance use treatment providers, advocates, and others committed to strengthening access to mental health care and substance use treatment write to voice our strong support for H.R. 8637, the Law Enforcement De-Escalation Training Act. We are grateful for your ongoing commitment to our country’s public safety officers and to improving behavioral health crisis response.

This legislation comes at a moment of crisis in American life. According to CDC data from August 2020 to February of 2021, over 4 in 10 adults reported experiencing anxiety or depression. From 2009 to 2019, the number of high school students reporting feelings of sadness or hopelessness increased by 46%, the number of young people seriously considering suicide increased by 36%, and the share of high school students creating a suicide plan increased by 36%. Nearly one in twenty American adults (4.9%) report having had self-harm thoughts. We know that the individuals were in crisis and suffering, and the share of high school students creating a suicide plan increased by 44%. Nearly one in twenty American adults (4.9%) report having had self-harm thoughts. We know that the individuals were in crisis and suffering.

Law enforcement officers must be equipped with the skills necessary to interact with people with mental or behavioral health issues safely and with compassion. The numerous highly involved encounters that ended badly, which we know all too well, might have led to better outcomes if the officers involved had known: 1) how to recognize that the individuals were in crisis and suffering from the effects of mental health issues or disabilities; 2) how to communicate with such individuals; and 3) how to maximize officer and subject safety.

The Law Enforcement De-Escalation Training Act would authorize $70 million in annual grant funding for training that includes improving community-officer relations, de-escalation, and use of force, scenario-based exercises, and follow-up evaluative assessments.

In addition, this bill would provide support to law enforcement agencies to train and equip officers to respond to crises and connect them with the necessary mental and behavioral health services.

It would also promote transparency by requiring grantees to evaluate and provide reports on the application of deescalation tactics acquired through the training by officers in the field.

S. 4003 is bipartisan legislation that would take meaningful steps toward improving policing practices in America, increasing public safety, and restoring trust between law enforcement and the communities they serve.

I thank Representative (Mayor-elect) Karen Bass for her leadership on the House companion—which I am proud to cosponsor along with a bipartisan coalition of members—and encourage my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to support it.

Mr. TIFFANY. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to oppose this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time to close.

S. 4003 is bipartisan legislation that would improve training for law enforcement officers, including using alternatives to force and de-escalation tactics. This training will reduce use-of-force incidents and improve officer and community safety.

I cannot imagine how anybody can think this will somehow increase crime, Senator CONNYN, who is not here, who is not up on crime, is the major Senate sponsor.

I urge all Members to support it, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, S. 4003.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. TIFFFANY. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

JUSTICE AND MENTAL HEALTH COLLABORATION REAUTHORIZA-
TION ACT OF 2022

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (S. 3846) to reauthorize the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program, and for other purposes, as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (S. 3846) to reauthorize the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program.
SEC. 2. REAUTHORIZATION OF THE JUSTICE AND MENTAL HEALTH COLLABORATION PROGRAM

Section 251(c)(5) of title I of the Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968 (34 U.S.C. 10651(b)(5)) is amended—

(1) in subparagraph (I)—

(A) striking “teams and treatment accountability services for communities” and inserting “teams, treatment accountability services for communities, and training for State and local prosecutors relating to diversion programming and implementation”;

(B) in clause (v)—

(i) in clause (III), by striking “and” at the end;

(ii) in clause (IV), by striking the period at the end and inserting “; and”; and

(iii) by adding at the end the following:—

“(V) Coordinate, implement, and administer models to address mental health calls that include specially trained officers and mental health crisis workers responding to those calls together.”;

(C) by adding at the end the following:

“(vi) SUICIDE PREVENTION SERVICES.—Funds may be used to support, develop, and promote, and implement comprehensive suicide prevention programs and services for incarcerated individuals that include ongoing risk assessment.

“(vii) PREVENTION AND MENTAL HEALTH CRISIS SERVICE.—Funds may be used for case management services for preliminary qualified offenders and individuals who are released from any penal or correctional institution to—

“(I) reduce recidivism; and

“(II) assist those individuals with reentry into the community.

“(viii) ENHANCING COMMUNITY CAPACITY AND LINKS TO MENTAL HEALTH CARE.—Funds may be used to support, administer, or develop treatment capacity and increase access to mental health and substance abuse treatment and substance abuse disorders and substance abuse treatment programs; and services for preliminary qualified offenders and individuals who are released from any penal or correctional institution

“(I) shall, to the extent practicable, provide response capability 24 hours each day and 7 days each week to respond to crisis or mental health calls; and

“(II) may place a portion of the team in a 911 call center to facilitate the timely response to mental health crises.”.

SEC. 3. EXAMINATION AND REPORT ON PREVALENCE OF MENTALLY ILL OFFENDERS.

Section 5(d) of the Mentally Ill Offender Treatment and Crime Reduction Reauthorization and Improvement Act of 2008 (Public Law 110–146; 122 Stat. 4355) is amended by striking “2009” and inserting “each of fiscal years 2023 through 2027”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) and the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. TIFFANY) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and insert extraneous material on S. 3846.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 3846, the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Reauthorization Act of 2022, is bipartisan legislation that would reauthorize and make improvements to the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program, or JMHCP, within the Department of Justice.

Since the start of the COVID–19 pandemic, communities across the country have grappled with the prevalence of mentally ill offenders and mental health. There continues to be a need to adequately address the mental health needs of our communities, and to redirect people in crisis away from the criminal justice system and into the healthcare system.

State and local governments use JMHCP grants for critical services to address the mental health needs of their communities, including by establishing diversion programs, creating or expanding community-based treatment programs, supporting the development of curricula for police academies and orientations, and providing in-jail treatment and transitional services.

Additional improvements are used to train law enforcement on identifying and improving their responses to people experiencing a mental health crisis. This program, which was first created in 2004, was reauthorized in 2008 and again in 2018 with bipartisan support.

S. 3846 will make needed improvements to the grant program by strengthening support for mental health courts and crisis intervention teams; supporting diversion programming and training for State and local prosecutors; strengthen support for co-responder teams; and supporting the integration of the national suicide prevention and mental health crisis hotline system into the existing public safety system.

This bill will also increase allowable uses for grant funds to include suicide prevention in jails and clarify that crisis intervention teams can be placed in 911 call centers.

This bipartisan bill improves the efficacy of the JMHCP grant program and is supported by a wide range of stakeholders, including the Addiction Policy Forum, the American Foundation for Suicide Prevention, the Major Cities Chiefs Association, Major County Sheriffs of America, National Alliance on Mental Illness, and many others.

I thank Senator CORNYN for introducing the bill and Congressman BOBBY SCOTT for introducing the House version of this important legislation. I urge all of my colleagues to support the bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, S. 3846 makes a number of changes to the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program.

The Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program is a Department of Justice program that assists State, local governments, and Indian Tribes with providing treatment to individuals with mental health problems and substance abuse disorders that come into contact with the criminal justice system.

This bill allows funds under this program to be used for crisis intervention teams and co-responder teams made up of law enforcement officers and mental health professionals. These teams can be placed within 911 call centers to better respond to individuals facing mental health challenges.

It also allows funds under this program to help State and local governments implement the 988 universal telephone number, which is the national suicide prevention and mental health hotline.

This legislation also authorizes $2 million for each of the next 5 years for the Department of Justice to report on the prevalence of mentally ill offenders in the criminal justice system.

While this bill is well-intentioned, more needs to be done to address the surge of violent crime this Nation has seen over the past 3 years.

Violent crime is especially bad in Democrat-run cities with rogue leftist prosecutors who don’t enforce the laws on the books and in cities that have denigrated and defunded their police departments. I would point you to Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

It is no wonder that 27 of the 30 cities with the highest homicide rates have Democrat mayors. We need to keep violent criminals behind bars and put an end to soft-on-crime policies that are wreaking havoc on our communities.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON LEE), a member of the Judiciary Committee.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise, first of all, to thank the chairman and to thank the sponsor, my friend from Virginia, Congressman BOBBY SCOTT.

As I think of my dear friend from Virginia, let me also acknowledge my deep sadness for the loss of our dear friend, Congressman McEachin, and acknowledge the beauty of his service and, of course, his compassion and his true spirit, a true American hero.

Mr. Speaker, I will quickly say that any of us who have been engaged in the criminal justice arena, who have engaged with police officers, whether they be in State, State, Federal, those of us who have served as judges, understand the value of this important legislation. It is bipartisan and will build on the success of the JMHCP grant program and make necessary improvements to enable State and local governments to better serve their communities.

The reauthorization will make critical improvements to the JMHCP program which supports services for individuals with mental health issues who are involved in the criminal justice system, including expansions in suicide prevention in jails and prisons, and co-responder programs that pair law enforcement with mental health professionals and, of course, recognizing that while we give them this responsibility, law enforcement needs to have wraparound services and those that have the expertise to work with those suffering from mental health crises.

With the continued impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, communities across the country have suffered increased challenges in addressing mental health. We, as Democrats, have consistently said that we need a holistic approach.

Again, I said that we take no back seat to fighting crime and being successful, but we understand public safety and activity.

I thank Chairman SCOTT for this work and for acknowledging where we are at a loss; that is, with people who are suffering mental health issues.

Now, we have had a series of mass murders, mass killings, of course using the weapon of choice for young men who espouse hatred, but many have been determined or assessed to have had mental health crises, at least that has been the defense. We now need to really invest in this program and ensure that this is a national program.

In 2018, Harris County Jail, mental health division expanded as an alternative to jail, diverting individuals with mental health illnesses away from incarcerated. I want to see this program grow. The updated diversion program allows law enforcement to direct individuals with mental illness over to these programs, those picked up for low-level, nonviolent offenses. Many of us know that these are sometimes homeless persons, and many of these persons are veterans. By the way, we have a veterans’ court in Harris County.

I am so excited about this bipartisan legislation that would also support State implementation of the newly established 988 suicide crisis hotline. I ask my colleagues to support this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD letters of support from the National Fraternal Order of Police, the Conference of Chief Justices Conference of State Court Administrators, among others.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to support this legislation.

NATIONAL FRATERNAL ORDER OF POLICE, April 29, 2022.

Hon. John Cornyn III,
U.S. Senate,
Washington, DC.

Dear Law Enforcement,

I am writing on behalf of the members of the Fraternal Order of Police to advise you of our support for S. 3846, the “Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Reauthorization Act.”

According to recent studies, one in ten calls for service to law enforcement involve a person suffering from a mental illness. One in three people taken to a hospital emergency room for psychiatric reasons are transported there by law enforcement. Our officers respond to these calls for service with care, compassion, and professionalism. When we have come a long way in our ability to handle these incidents safely and effectively, law enforcement officers need the training and resources this legislation provides.

The legislation would reauthorize the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program (JMHCJP) through 2026. First, authorized in 2004, JMHCJP grants have funded mental health courts, other court-based initiatives, diversion and deflection programs, crisis intervention teams, training for local police departments, and other programs to improve outcomes for people with mental illness and co-occurring substance use conditions who come into contact with the justice system.

In addition to adding $10 million to program funding, this legislation would also expand and adapt JMHCJP grants to include the funding of crisis response teams, suicide prevention in jails, and the hiring of community health centers.

Law enforcement officers have one of the toughest and most dangerous jobs in the United States. They are tasked with keeping our streets and neighborhoods safe from crime, ensuring that every citizen can live free and without fear. By putting funding and resources into improving mental health outcomes across the criminal justice system, this bill ensures that law enforcement officers will have a reduced risk of encountering dangerous situations on a day-to-day basis.

On behalf of the more than 361,000 members of the Fraternal Order of Police, I am pleased to offer our support for this legislation. If I can be of any further assistance, please do not hesitate to contact me or Executive Director Jim Pasco in our Washington, D.C. office.

Sincerely,

Patrick Yoex,
National President.

CONFERENCE OF CHIEF JUSTICES,
CONFERENCE OF STATE COURT ADMINISTRATORS, November 22, 2022.

Hon. John Cornyn,

Washington, DC.
Hon. Robert C. Scott,
Washington, DC.
Hon. Amy Klobuchar,
U.S. Senate,

Hon. Steve Chabot,
Washington, DC.

DEAR LEADERS OF THE SENATE AND THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES: The Conference of Chief Justices (CCJ) and Conference of State Court Administrators (COSCA) represents the highest judicial officer and court leaders. Together with the National Center for State Courts (NCSC), the Conferences work to improve the administration of justice throughout the United States. State courts are our nation’s primary courts serving more than 85 percent of the nation’s litigation. It is in this capacity that we write as the presidents of the Conferences to express our support for your legislation, S. 386/H.R. 8166. If enacted, this legislation would reauthorize and further expand the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program (JMHCJP) to provide resources for mental health courts, veterans treatment courts, crisis intervention services, and other key interventions to improve the justice system’s response to individuals with mental illness.

The prevalence of mental illness in the United States has an impact on our communities and a disproportionate impact on our state and local courts. According to the National Institute of Mental Health, nearly one in five U.S. adults live with a mental illness—over 47 million in 2020—and over 13 million adults live with serious mental illness. Individuals with mental illnesses in the U.S. are 10 times more likely to be incarcerated than they were in 1992. On any given day, approximately 380,000 people with mental illnesses are in jail or prison across the U.S., and another 574,000 are under some form of correctional supervision.

For too many individuals with serious mental illness, substance use disorder, or both, the justice system is the de facto provider of treatment services. Except for self-referral, state and local courts are the first point of entry for a nation for treatment services.

In March 2020, the CCJ, COSCA, and NCSC established the National Judicial Task Force to Examine State Courts’ Response to Mental Illness to assist state courts in their efforts to respond to the needs of court-involved individuals with severe mental illness more effectively. The task force recently released its national report, which provides examples of successful programs from across the nation and shares recommendations for change that call for action by all state and local court leaders, behavioral health and other community partners, and other state and federal agencies to more effectively meet the needs of justice-involved individuals with serious mental illness. The report can be found at: MTTF State Courts Leading Change.pdf (ncsc.org).

Recommendations from the Task Force include:

- Examine the continuum of behavioral health deflection and diversion options available to each community to promote deflection and diversion to treatment options at the earliest point possible.
- Convene justice and behavioral health system partners to identify opportunities to co-intensively improve care for individuals with behavioral health disorders.
- Proactively promote processes to identify and divert individuals with behavioral health disorders at every stage of system involvement toward treatment and away from further penetration into the criminal justice system.
- Examine current case management and calendaring practices for all types of cases and implement strategies to more quickly and effectively address issues presented in cases involving individuals with behavioral health needs.

Thank you for your continued leadership and commitment to helping each intercept point in the criminal justice system improve our response to individuals experiencing a mental health crisis. Please feel free to direct your staff to Chris Wu if there is any way we can be of assistance.

Sincerely,

Chief Justice Loretta Rush, President, Conference of Chief Justices.

Rush, President,
Conference of Chief Justices.

Conference of State Court Administrators.
Dear Leaders of the House of Representatives: We are writing today to strongly urge you to bring up and swiftly pass H.R. 2663, the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Reauthorization Act of 2022 on suspension when the House of Representatives returns for the lame-duck session. This legislation makes critical improvements to the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program (JMHCPR), which supports jurisdictions creating collaborative strategies to help people with mental illnesses or co-occurring mental health and substance abuse disorders in the criminal justice system. We applaud the work of the Senate. On August 10, 2022, the Senate unanimously approved the bill in June. The Senate has already shown their strong support for the bill by passing it by unanimous consent in June. Now it is time for the House to show their support for state and local governments that are working on this complex issue by bringing the bill to the floor.

Since its inception, JMHCPR has supported initiatives across the country to reduce contact with the criminal justice system and increase diversion and support for people with behavioral health needs. JMHCPR was created by the Bureau of Justice Assistance in 2006 as a critical way to support the Mental Health Treatment and Crime Reduction Act (MIOTCRA), which was signed into law in 2001 by then-President George W. Bush. JMHCPR’s mission, then and now, has been to bring health and safety around a common goal: reducing criminal justice involvement for people with mental illness.

Collectively, state and local governments use JMHCPR grants for a broad range of activities, including establishing diversion programs, creating or expanding community-based treatment programs, supporting the development of curricula for police academies and orientations, and providing in-jail treatment and transitional services, and training programs to teach criminal justice, law enforcement, corrections, mental health, and substance use personnel how to identify and appropriately respond to incidents involving veterans. Additionally, grant funds may be used to train law enforcement on identifying and improving their responses to people experiencing a mental health crisis. The program was reauthorized in 2008 and again in 2016 with bipartisan support.

The Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Reauthorization Act of 2022 will:

- Strengthen support for mental health courts and crisis intervention teams (CTTs);
- Support diversion programming and training for state and local prosecutors; strengthen support for co-responder teams; support the integration of 988 into the existing public safety system;
- Amend allowable uses for grant funds to include suicide prevention in jails and information-sharing between mental health systems and jails/prisons;
- Amend allowable uses to include case management services and supports; and
- Clarify that crisis intervention teams can be placed in all counties.

The law enforcement, training and treatment components of JMHCPR will help law enforcement better handle calls involving people with health and substance use challenges. Jurisdictions across the country are implementing strategies to improve the outcomes of these encounters, which included specialized training and tools that can yield a response that prioritizes treatment over incarceration, when appropriate. CTTs, along with other practices under the law, have been shown to be effective in reducing recidivism, enhancing public safety, and freeing up criminal justice resources for traditional crime-fighting purposes.

With the responsibility of treating people with mental illness often falling on an already-overburdened system, it is imperative that we provide resources to help law enforcement officers, judges, corrections officers and mental health professionals develop more thoughtful and cost-effective programs. We strongly urge the House to support law enforcement and our communities better serve individuals with mental health disorders and to increase public safety by passing the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Reauthorization Act in the lame-duck session.

Sincerely,

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 3846, the “Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Reauthorization Act of 2022,” which would build on the success of the JMHCPR program and make necessary improvements to enable state and local governments to better serve their communities.

This reauthorization would make critical improvements to the JMHCPR program—which supports services for individuals with mental health issues who are involved in the criminal justice system—including expansions in suicide prevention in jails and prisons; co-responder programs that pair law enforcement with mental health professionals; and crisis intervention teams within 911 call centers.

With the continued impact of the COVID-19 pandemic, communities across the country have suffered increased challenges in addressing mental health. We know that individuals suffering from mental illness belong in our healthcare system and not our criminal justice system.

Democrats have worked consistently throughout this Congress to address issues of public safety from a holistic approach, one that does not sacrifice our safety and our rights. We know that public safety and respect for civil rights can coexist and that supporting interventions to respond to individuals in crisis with compassion rather than force builds stronger and safer communities.

This bill would improve existing programs within the Department of Justice that divert individuals with mental illness away from the criminal justice system towards treatment and health care.

Since 2006, JMHCPR grants have funded 620 awardees across 49 states and territories. With these funds law enforcement agencies have established co-responder teams, mobile crisis teams, and crisis intervention teams to improve encounters with individuals in crisis and connect them with the services they need.

JMHCPR supports 14 law enforcement mental health learning sites, including both the Harris County Sheriff’s Department and the Healdsburg Police Department that serve as peer resources to grantees and communities throughout the country.

In 2018, the Harris County Mental Health Jail Diversion Program expanded as an alternative for diverting individuals with mental illness away from incarceration and into the health care and treatment that they need. The updated diversion program allows law enforcement to direct individuals with mental illness, who have been picked up for low-level, non-violent offenses, to more appropriate mental health interventions.

These initiatives at the state and local level have been successful and S. 3846 would provide an opportunity for the federal government to increase support to these programs and build on what we know works.

This bipartisan legislation would also support state implementation of the newly established 988 Suicide and Crisis hotline, which is a one-line for individuals in suicidal crisis or emotional distress seeking help.

This bill would also provide additional resources for law enforcement as they work to keep communities safe and respond effectively and appropriately to individuals in mental health crisis.

S. 3846 is a common-sense bipartisan bill that would improve public safety and strengthen our communities. I thank Representative BOBBY SCOTT for taking the lead on the House companion, of which I cosponsored along with Representatives STEVE CHABOT and TOM EMMER. I urge all my colleagues to support this legislation.

Mr. TIFFANY. Mr. Speaker, I am prepared to close. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. SCOTT).

Mr. SCOTT of Virginia. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I rise in support of the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Reauthorization Act. The Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program is authorized through the Mentally Ill Offender Treatment and Crime Reduction Act, which we call MIOTCRA, legislation that I was proud to work on nearly 20 years ago as the then-ranking member of the Crime Subcommittee of Judiciary Committee.

This legislation has proven to successfully connect State and local governments with necessary resources to effectively implement initiatives designed to increase public safety, save tax dollars on ineffective or even counterproductive incarceration, and improve the lives of people with mental illness and their families.

These grants for States and localities allow for the development of programming that connects those with mental illness and substance use issues with evidence-based and comprehensive treatment within the criminal justice system. Each year there are about 2 million people with serious mental illnesses admitted to jails across the country.
In fact, according to the National Alliance of Mental Illness, 44 percent of those in jail and 37 percent of those in prisons have a history of mental illness.

Furthermore, once incarcerated, individuals with mental illness tend to stay in jail longer, and upon release are more likely to return to incarceration than those without mental illnesses. These grants encourage collaboration between law enforcement and healthcare providers. The reforms to this program included in this reauthorization are centered on reducing suicide, increasing access to case management services, bolstering the roles of co-responder and crisis intervention teams, and continuing the strong support of mental health courts. This bill recognizes that prevention is the best investment in the criminal justice system for long-term success and cost savings.

This legislation is the result of the hard work of many, including State government organizations, mental health organizations, and law enforcement organizations. I thank all of those and my colleagues who have led this effort with me, including Representatives CHABOT, JACKSON LEE, and EMMER; the chairman of the committee, Mr. NADLER; as well as Senators CORNYN, KLOBUCHAR, MORA, DURBIN, GRASSLEY, WHITEHOUSE, TILLIS, and CORTEZ MASTO.

Mr. Speaker, I hope that my colleagues will join me in supporting the reauthorization of this legislation so we can get it to the President’s desk before the end of the year.

Mr. TIFFANY. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, the Justice and Mental Health Collaboration Program funds a variety of essential services to support the mental health needs of communities across the country and assist people in crisis away from the criminal justice system and into the healthcare system. This legislation would reauthorize and strengthen this important program so that it can continue to serve those in need of its services.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, S. 3115, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. ROSENDALE. Mr. Speaker, on that, yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

PRO BONO WORK TO EMPOWER AND REPRESENT ACT OF 2021

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (S. 3115) to remove the 4-year sunset from the Pro bono Work to Empower and Represent Act of 2018.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The text of the bill is as follows:

S. 3115. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Pro bono Work to Empower and Represent Act of 2021” or the “POWER 2.0 Act”.

SEC. 2. REMOVAL OF SUNSET.

Section 3(a) of the Pro bono Work to Empower and Represent Act of 2018 (Public Law 115–257; 132 Stat. 2448) is amended by striking “for a period of 4 years”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) and the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. TIFFANY) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members of the Committee may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on S. 3115.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, nearly 25 percent of women suffer from domestic violence at some point in their lives. Domestic violence destroys families, homes, and shatter families. Among the many challenges that victims face is a lack of legal representation when seeking assistance from the court system.

According to the National Network to End Domestic Violence, in just one day in September 2014, domestic violence assistance programs received more than 10,000 requests for services, including legal representation, that were not met. The effect of this lack of representation is devastating. Research has shown that 83 percent of victims represented by counsel were able to obtain protective orders, while only 32 percent of unrepresented victims were able to do so.

That is why in 2018, Congress stepped forward to bring hope and healing to many more survivors across the country. We have already planted the seeds, and with the PASS Act—amending the 4-year sunset provision from the original POWER Act, we have allowed these vital programs to continue to grow and thrive, helping more and more survivors every year.

I thank Senator DAN SULLIVAN for introducing this important and time-sensitive legislation and the gentlewoman from Alaska (Ms. PELTOLA) for leading the House version of this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in support of this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TIFFANY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, the POWER 2.0 Act permanently authorizes the Pro bono Work to Empower and Represent Act of 2018, which is scheduled to sunset at the end of this year.

It requires the chief judge for each district to conduct public events to promote pro bono legal services for survivors of domestic violence, dating violence, sexual assault, and stalking.

In addition, the bill requires the chief judge for a district that includes an Indian or Alaska Native tribal area to conduct an event to promote pro bono legal services for Indian or Alaska Native victims of these crimes every 2 years.
Research has shown that survivors of domestic abuse have significantly better outcomes, such as successfully obtaining a protective order, when represented by an attorney. This bill will hopefully assist victims in accessing quality representation through the Power Act of 2021, or the POWER 2.0 Act. This has to be one of the more important bills on the floor, among many. This is a bill that saves lives, and I certainly want to, at the very beginning, thank certainly the Senator, but as well, I want to acknowledge our friend and colleague in the House and thank her so very much, Congresswoman PELTOLA, for her great work that has generated something that is very close to my heart.

The POWER Act will offer a lifeline to domestic violence sufferers, those who have been abused by domestic violence. As the author of the Violence Against Women Act in the House for a number of Congresses, I know how important any legislation is dealing with domestic violence and domestic abuse.

I speak to law enforcement and often say to them that domestic violence calls are the most dangerous that law enforcement engage in.

Remember, as I started on this floor, I indicated that as Democrats, we know how to bring down crime and also engage in social justice. We understand that it is extremely important that those in the criminal justice system deserve due process. But the victims of domestic violence, more often than not, women, suffer greatly.

In Texas, 40.1 percent of women and 34 percent of men experience intimate partner physical violence, intimate partner rape, and/or intimate partner stalking in their lifetimes. Thousands of incidents are reported every day. On a single day in 2020, domestic violence hotlines across the country receive 21,321 calls.

The provision of legal services through the southern district or through the various Federal districts that train over 600,000 lawyers and then send them out to be able to give assistance to State and local governments is a lifeline. It is a lifesaver. Less than one-third of domestic violence victims successfully obtain protective orders. Protective orders can be the cause of saving life, keeping a mother protected, keeping children, keeping an aunt or a grandmother. The POWER Act has an indelible impact on the lives of the most vulnerable Americans, and I stand here in grand support of this important effort.

As a former board member of the Houston Area Women’s Center, I know what it means to get calls late into the night and calling the executive director and asking for relief for a woman who is running for her life. Over this past Thanksgiving weekend, unfortunately, in my own community, there were a series of domestic violence killings of women who suffered at the hands of an ex.

It is important to eliminate the sunset of this provision and to be able to say that no one should be left alone without the idea or the help of ensuring that there is legal protection and that you have access to legal protection.

Again, I want to commend Congresswoman MARY SATTLER PELTOLA, a friend and someone who I appreciate her leadership.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD the following articles, The Justice in Government Project and HAWC.

[From the Justice in Government Project]

KEY STUDIES AND DATA ABOUT ABOUT HOW LEGAL AID AIDS DOMESTIC VIOLENCE SURVIVORS

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention reports that in the U.S., 36.4 percent of women and 33.6 percent of men experience sexual or physical violence or stalking perpetrated by a current or intimate partner in their lifetimes. Individuals who have experienced domestic violence display a multitude of legal needs. They may require assistance with filing protective orders, issues, housing, identity theft, and employment (Lee & Backes, 2018; Allen et al., 2004).

RESEARCH HIGHLIGHTS

Providing civil counsel in divorce, custody, and protective order proceedings can significantly improve outcomes for DV (domestic violence) and IPV (intimate partner violence) victims and their children as well as serve as a cost-effective strategy for reducing violence and generating positive social norms” (Lee & Backes, 2018).

In a study of survivors of IPV, researchers concluded that “[c]ivil legal services can most directly address economic self-sufficiency in two ways: by increasing income and decreasing economic liability” (Hartley & Renner, 2015).

98 percent of victims represented by an attorney successfully obtained a protective order, as compared to just 32 percent of victims without an attorney” (Institute for Policy Integrity, 2015).

In custody matters, “attorney representation, particularly representation by legal aid attorneys, results in greater protections being awarded to IPV victims and their children. Improved access of IPV victims to legal representation, particularly by attorneys with expertise in IPV, is indicated” (Kernic, 2015).

“In 2005, for example, requests for restraining orders in Dane County were granted approximately 55 percent of the time. With the aid of a legal advocate provided by DAIS, however, that number increased to 69 percent” (Elwart et al., 2006).

Women living in counties with shelters, healthy homes, safe homes, more transportation, programs for battered children, their programs, and counseling are not significantly less likely to be victims of intimate violence or stalking, however, that number increased to 69 percent” (Allen et al., 2004).

The overwhelming fraction of our state’s intimate partner violence deaths are directly connected to economic self-sufficiency, to ending the cycle of violence and violent acts by one partner or among family members. The U.S. Department of Justice Bureau of Justice Statistics differentiates between DV violence from family members and former partners (same-sex, opposite-sex) and IPV (violence only from current or former partners). Experiencing violence can lead to a profound impact. Those who have been directly victimized report higher rates of depression, are at higher risk for repeat victimization, are at higher risk for perpetrating DV in their lifetime than those who have not experienced violence.

Experiencing IPV/DV is common: The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention report that in the U.S., 36.4 percent of women and 33.6 percent of men experience sexual or physical violence or stalking perpetrated by an intimate partner in their lifetimes. In 2017, data from the National Crime Victimization Survey found that 1,237,960 Americans had experienced DV in the six months prior to the survey.

IPV/DV has disproportionate effects on elderly, disabled, LGBTQ, minority and low-income people due to increased social risks associated with violence and decreased access to services. One study found that, while 6 to 12 percent of older adults self-identify as being abused, the actual number of participants reporting indicators of abuse was about five times greater. A published review reported that, in comparison to non-Hispanic White women, Black, Latina, and Native American/Alaska Native women experienced higher lifetime rates of IPV associated with various mental health disorders, reproductive health outcomes, and barriers to services. These barriers are often the result of things like housing, employment, and transportation needs, and compounding mental and physical health needs experienced in historically marginalized communities. Additional evidence shows that even when survivors in vulnerable populations have access to legal interventions intended to reduce future risk of harm, they may be less protected from re-victimization. For example, Bennett & Michel (2018) found that Black women were at elevated risk of renewed abuse after legal intervention (i.e., obtaining a protection order or the arrest of a partner following a DV incident) compared to white women.

DATA AND STUDIES SHOW LEGAL AID HELPS

Individuals who have experienced domestic violence often display a myriad of legal needs: from assistance with filing protection orders, custody issues, housing, identity... thief, and employment (Lee & Backes, 2018; Allen et al., 2004). Domestic violence survivors and sexual assault survivors are likely to report more legal needs than the average low-income American (Social & Economic Sciences Research Center, 2014). Studies show how access to legal aid can both reduce domestic violence and mitigate some of its collateral damage. Koenig (2015) found that when DV survivors have access to legal representation in child custody cases, they are granted greater protections and visitation opportunities compared to those who are not represented. Another study agrees. The National Network to End Domestic Violence (2017) found in their survey of 1,762 shelters that without legal representation are more likely to be later victimized than those without access to legal representation.

Having access to legal representation reduces the likelihood of future violence. In their seminal study, Farmer and Tiefenthaler (2003) found that increased access to legal representation and services is partly responsible for the decrease in domestic violence observed in the 1990s. More recently, Hartley and Renner found that with legal aid, DV survivors are able to obtain a protective order or on a family law issue, survivors of domestic violence in Iowa saw increases in monthly income and personal growth and support. They also found that receiving free civil legal services for intimate partner violence, depression and PTSD decreased significantly over one year (Renner & Hartley, 2018).

The Institute for Policy Integrity (2015) also found that providing legal services to DV survivors reduced domestic violence, as well as the social costs of domestic violence. Elwart and colleagues (2006) found that when state funding of domestic violence service providers was at $9.1 million, the maximum benefits were $57.3 million.

Seven Reasons Why Abuse Victims Need Legal Services—HAWC

On average, survivors have multiple legal problems associated with their abusive situation, and many cannot afford the assistance of an attorney. Agencies like HAWC (Healing Abuse, Violence, & Change) seek to ensure all abuse survivors can have access to the appropriate legal services they need to secure and maintain their utmost safety. Why legal assistance helps.

It dramatically increases the likelihood of obtaining a protective order. Research from the Institute for Policy Integrity shows that 96 percent of domestic violence victims who were represented by an attorney were successful at obtaining a protective order. The rate for abuse survivors without legal representation was only 32 percent.

Hundreds of thousands of people who need help are turned away every year. Each year, hundreds-of-thousands of domestic violence victims and abuse survivors are turned away from help, including legal services. This often leads to victims feeling helpless and, in some cases, going back to their abuser. Each day from various domestic violence services, including shelters. Lack of funding and donations are the primary cause for the decreasing lack of services for victims.

Three-quarters of victims need additional and transitional services. Legal representation doesn’t end in the court room. Attorneys and legal advocates assist in every step of the proceedings, from property protection, when related to the abuse.

Legal problems are complex. A domestic violence survivor will, on average, have at least six obstacles to remove for obtaining safety and during any criminal proceedings. In many instances, survivors don’t realize how many separate legal issues will arise when initially trying to escape their abuser.

5. Without legal representation, a victim’s voice is silenced. DV survivors without legal representation often report that police, hospital staff, and judges do not take their claims “seriously,” going as far as to ignore them completely.

6. Immigrants and adolescents are the most underserved. Obtaining legal services is an uphill battle for DV survivors of abuse. However, immigrants, adolescents, and their family are at the highest risk of not obtaining the appropriate legal representation because of various barriers to service.

7. The likelihood of losing of custody of children increases without an attorney. Present Tooths of abuse victims lose custody of their children each year because they could not afford an attorney. The same research shows that, without an attorney, children may not receive the therapy and other psychological support they need during such a traumatic period.

How HAWC Helps

Our trained legal advocates provide advice, assistance, and, depending on availability, representation to those who seek a life free from fear and violence. Part of our mission is to make these services immediately available for everyone who needs them.

By supporting our legal service efforts you are giving thousands of domestic violence victims the chance to be safe from physical, emotional, and economic harm. Specifically, each donation goes towards:

- Abuse and harassment prevention for survivors.
- Access to clinics with our team of pro-bono attorneys.
- Referrals for other services like individualized safety plans.
- Legal representation for high risk clients.
- HAWC offers immediate, comprehensive support to those experiencing domestic violence.

Access our legal service offerings, we can ensure that all victims of domestic violence get access to the legal support they need.

Mr. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, this bill must be passed.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of S. 3115, the "Pro Bono Work to Empower and Represent Act of 2021," also known as the POWER Act, which amends the authorization of vital programs that help victims and survivors of domestic abuse and sexual violence receive free legal assistance—without which they would be unlikely to receive any semblance of justice, let alone safety and security.

No community is safe from domestic violence. It touches people of every socioeconomic status, race, and ethnicity—in red states and blue states.

Nearly a quarter of women in this country experience domestic violence or sexual assault at some point in their lives. Many victims of domestic violence are poor, helpless, and living in underserved communities. Many are mere children.

In Texas, 40.1 percent of women and 34.9 percent of men experience intimate partner physical violence, intimate partner rape and/or intimate partner stalking in their lifetimes. Thousands of incidents are reported daily. On a single day in 2020, domestic violence hotlines across the country received 21,321 calls—an average of almost 15 calls every minute.

The provision of legal services following the first occurrence of domestic violence can be a proactive solution that minimizes the likelihood of victims experiencing further incidents of abuse. But without access to legal representation, those in most need of protection—which our courts can provide—are often unable to receive the help they need to escape the cycle of violence.

Unfortunately, less than one third of domestic violence victims successfully obtain protective orders if they seek one on their own, without the assistance of counsel.

Congress enacted the Power Act, which requires every judicial district within the United States and its territories to hold annual public pro-bono summits to recruit and encourage attorneys to provide free legal services to survivors of domestic violence, dating violence, stalking, and sexual assault. It also requires targeted programs in areas with large populations of Native Americans and Alaska Natives.

The Power Act has had an indelible impact on the lives of the most vulnerable Americans. From 2017 to 2019, courts have held nearly 250 pro-bono summits, reaching more than 60,000 attorneys—educating them about the need for their services and letting them know how they can help.

That is only the beginning. An innumerable number of domestic and sexual violence victims still need legal assistance to survive. Yet the programs authorized under the Act are set to expire in just a few short weeks.

That is why it is imperative we pass the POWER 2.0 Act, which would remove the 4-year sunset provision from the original legislation and allow us to continue growing an army of capable, volunteer attorneys available to represent, protect, and provide a lifeline to victims and survivors, who so desperately need their help.

I commend Representative MARY SATTLER PELTOLA for her work on the POWER 2.0 Act, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. TIFFANY. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Alaska (Mrs. PELTOLA), the House sponsor of the bill and a worthy successor to my late colleague, DON YOUNG.

Mrs. PELTOLA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to speak on S. 3115, the POWER 2.0 Act. This bill is the Senate companion to my bill of the same title, H.R. 9113.

Both bills address the same flaw in our system, that survivors of intimate partner-related violence and intimidation often lack the legal resources they need to protect themselves from future incidents. While many survivors are too often unable to escape their perpetrators, often to devastating effect. Thankfully, in 2018, Congress offered an avenue to relief. The Pro bono Work to Empower and Represent Act, sponsored by my Senate colleague, Senator SULLIVAN, authorized a pilot project calling for each district court to hold at least one event annually in concert with domestic violence service providers to promote pro bono legal service offerings for victims of partner-related violence and intimidation.

Additionally, to address the appalling victimization rates among Alaska
Natives and American Indians in particular, the bill also mandates partnerships between district courts and Tribes and Tribal organizations.

Since its enactment, the POWER Act has brought together dozens of service organizations and tens of thousands of law enforcement professionals in an aim of combating our skyrocketing rates of violence and intimidation endemic across many parts of our country.

As one of my first legislative actions in Congress, I am proud to introduce the PRO 2.0 Act. This bill removes the sunset on the POWER Act and will ensure more victims have the ability to protect themselves from further violence and intimidation.

I am both grateful and filled with anticipated to see this body act so uniformly in favor of this bill, S. 3115, today.

Mr. TIFFANY. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time for closing.

Mr. Speaker, there are an untold number of victims of domestic and sexual violence in this country, including young children, who are without legal recourse to escape their abusers, to protect themselves and their families, and to obtain the services they need to rebuild their lives.

The POWER Act has started the hard work of incentivizing and encouraging thousands of pro bono legal services to the victims and survivors that are most in need. But we need more attorneys to join the cause.

By removing the sunset date from the POWER Act, S. 3115 will allow us to continue and expand the critical programs we created in 2018, while ensuring that there is no gap in access to services for those who need them.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to join me in support of this crucial legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SCHNEIDER). The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, S. 3115.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, the two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. ROSENDALE. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

TERRY TECHNICAL CORRECTION ACT

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 5455) to amend the First Step Act of 2018 to permit defendants convicted of certain offenses to be eligible for reduced sentences, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

"(N) any attempt, conspiracy or solicitation to commit an offense described in subparagraphs (A) through (M), ; and"

"in subsection (c), by inserting "A motion made under this section that was denied after a court determination that a violation described in subsection (a) was not a covered offense shall not be considered a denial after a complete review of the motion on the merits within the meaning of this section" after the period at the end of the second sentence."

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) and the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. TIFFANY) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from New York.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise extraneous material on H.R. 5455.

There was no objection.

There was no objection.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days to revise extraneous material on H.R. 5455.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5455, which would clarify that the retroactivity provision of section 404 of the First Step Act of 2018 is available to all offenders who were sentenced for a crack offense before the Fair Sentencing Act of 2010 became effective, including individuals convicted of offenses involving small quantities of crack.

After decades of unfair sentences that swept too broadly, most often applied to low-level dealers and impacted minorities disproportionately, Congress has worked to right some of the wrongs of the misguided war on drugs, often on a bipartisan basis. This legislation continues that important effort.

In 1986, in response to a surge in the use of crack cocaine and several high-profile cocaine-related deaths, Congress passed the Anti-Drug Abuse Act, which created mandatory minimum penalties for drug offenses and introduced a 100–1 sentencing disparity between crack cocaine and powder cocaine offenses.

This meant that a person who distributed 5 grams of crack cocaine received the same 5-year mandatory minimum sentence as a person who distributed 500 grams of powder cocaine, and the person who distributed 5 grams of crack cocaine received the same 10-year mandatory minimum sentence as the person who distributed 5,000 grams of powder cocaine.

It soon became evident that this sentencing disparity had also created a significant racial disparity. Four years after Congress passed the Anti-Drug Abuse Act, the average Federal sentence for African-American defendants was 49 percent higher than the average for White defendants.

In 2010, Congress passed the Fair Sentencing Act, which did not eliminate the disparity but which significantly reduced the ratio from 100–1 to 18–1. Unfortunately, that legislation applied only to pending and future cases, leaving thousands of inmates without a path to petition for relief.

In 2018, the bipartisan First Step Act made the Fair Sentencing Act retroactive if an inmate received "a sentence for a covered offense," as defined in section 404 of the Act, providing a pathway to relief for some but not all individuals affected by the sentencing disparity.

Three years later, after roughly 4,000 motions for sentence reductions had been granted, the Supreme Court, in Terry v. United States, limited the availability of sentence reductions under the Fair Sentencing Act, contrary to the intent of the legislation.

Based on a narrow reading of the meaning of "covered offense," the Court held that individuals convicted of crack offenses are only eligible for a sentence reduction under the First Step Act if their convictions triggered mandatory minimum penalties.

That means that individuals like Mr. Terry, who possessed less than 4 grams of crack, are unable to seek sentence reductions, while individuals convicted of sentences involving much larger quantities of crack can seek a sentence reduction, and many have already done so, which is simply absurd and unfair.

The First Step Act was meant to make retroactive sentencing relief available to all individuals sentenced for crack cocaine offenses before the Fair Sentencing Act of 2010 took effect. As Justice Sotomayor’s concurrence indicates, in the words of the late H.R. 5455, the Terry Technical Correction Act, is one of these tools.

The bill provides a new, expanded definition of “covered offense” that includes a list of drug offenses in the criminal code that do not trigger mandatory minimum sentences. The bill also ensures that no person seeking a sentencing reduction under section 404 will be barred from filing a new petition for relief on the grounds that a judge had previously denied relief based on a determination that the offense of conviction was not a “covered offense” under the meaning provided in the First Step Act.

I understand Subcommittee Chairwoman JACKSON Lee, Representatives CICILLINE, JEFFRIES, OWENS, MASSIE, and Delegate HOLMES NORTON for introducing this important bipartisan bill. I urge all of my colleagues to support it, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TIFFANY. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5455 responds to a Supreme Court ruling that held certain low-level drug offenders do not qualify for resentencing under the retroactive provisions of the First Step Act. That was not Congress’ intent in adopting the First Step Act.

This problem dates back to the drug epidemic of the 1980s. At that time, Congress imposed sentences for Federal drug offenses, including mandatory minimum sentences.

The Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986 created a 100-to-1 sentencing disparity between crack and powder cocaine, meaning an individual convicted of selling 5 grams of crack cocaine would receive the same sentence as someone convicted of selling 500 grams of powder cocaine.

In 2010, Congress passed the Fair Sentencing Act, which reduced the sentencing disparity between crack and powder from 100-to-1 to 18-to-1.

In 2018, Congress passed, and President Trump signed, the First Step Act into law. The First Step Act made the sentencing disparity provision retroactive, and it allows individuals convicted of or sentenced for Federal drug offenses related to cocaine to move for a resentencing.

However, that law did not specifically address individuals whose crimes did not trigger the mandatory minimums. As a result, some of those individuals are serving longer sentences than those whose offenses triggered the mandatory minimums. This legislation today makes technical corrections and brings parity to crack-related offenses. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 4 minutes to the gentlewoman from Texas (Ms. JACKSON Lee), a member of the committee.

Ms. JACKSON Lee. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman of the full committee, and I rise in strong support of H.R. 5455, the Fair Sentencing Act, which has widespread support from really the people who count that deal with these issues day after day, our law enforcement officers and attorneys general across America.

Mr. Speaker, I include for the RECORD a letter from several attorneys general, as well as the Major Cities Chiefs Association.

Hon. CHUCK SCHUMER, Senate Majority Leader, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Hon. NANCY PELOSI, Speaker of the House, Washington, DC.

Hon. MITCH MCCONNELL, Senate Minority Leader, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Hon. KEVIN MURPHY, Washington, DC.

Dear Leader SCHUMER, Leader MCCONNELL, Speaker PELOSI, and Leader MCCARTHY, Chiefs Association.

As our jurisdictions’ Attorneys General, we are responsible for protecting the health, safety, and well-being of our residents. Although our jurisdictions vary in size, geography, and political composition, we are united in our commitment to an effective criminal justice system that safeguards the communities of our states. To that end, a bipartisan coalition of Attorneys General supported the passage of the First Step Act of 2018—landmark legislation that brought common sense improvements to myriad aspects of the criminal justice system. Central to these reforms was retroactive relief for individuals sentenced under the discredited 100-to-1 crack-to-powder cocaine ratio that Congress enacted in 2010. Following the Supreme Court’s recent opinion in Terry v. United States, however, the lowest level crack cocaine offenders remain categorically ineligible for resentencing. We write today to urge Congress to amend the First Step Act, and to clarify that its retroactive relief applies to all individuals sentenced under the prior regime.

Congress enacted the historic First Step Act of 2018 to modernize the criminal justice system, implementing comprehensive reform in areas such as corrections, criminal charging, community re-entry, and beyond. The product of a unique bipartisan consensus, the First Step Act received strong support from organizations across the ideological spectrum, including the Heritage Foundation, the American Civil Liberties Union, Freedomworks, the National Urban League, the American Conservative Union, the Public Defender Association, Americans for Prosperity, and the Center for American Progress, among many others. Over three dozen Attorneys General supported the Act as a critical tool for strengthening our criminal justice system and better serving the people of our states.

One of the First Step Act’s key pillars was sentencing reform. This reform included Section 404, which provides retroactive relief for individuals convicted of or sentenced under the discredited 100-to-1 crack cocaine-to-powder-cocaine ratio that Congress repudiated through the Fair Sentencing Act of 2010. That earlier legislation abolished the 100-to-1 ratio going forward, reflecting the overwhelming consensus that treating crack cocaine and powder cocaine radically overemphasized racial inequality in the criminal justice system.

Unfortunately, that critical work remains incomplete. In Terry v. United States, the Supreme Court concluded that while Section 404 clearly authorized certain mid- or high-level crack cocaine offenders to seek resentencing, it did not extend relief to the lowest-level offenders sentenced under the prior regime. Specifically, the Court relied on Section 404’s definition of a covered offense as any “violation of a Federal criminal statute, the statutory penalties for which were modified by the Fair Sentencing Act.” Congress therefore included Section 404 in the Part I Act, which allowed individuals sentenced under the discredited 100-to-1 ratio to seek discretionary resentencing. But the Fair Sentencing Act did not formally change the elements or penalties for the lowest level era offenses—it merely changed the quantities needed to trigger mid- and high-level charges—the Act failed to modify the “statutory penalties” for the lowest category of offenders. As a result, individuals sentenced under the earlier crack cocaine quantities that remain categorically ineligible for the First Step Act’s historic relief.

We urge Congress to close this gap. There is no reason why these individuals—and these individuals alone—should continue to serve sentences informed by the now-discredited crack-to-powder ratio. Discretionary relief is unambiguously available to serious dealers and kingpins sentenced under the prior regime; extending Section 404’s scope would simply allow low-level crack cocaine offenders to have the same opportunity for a second chance. We therefore urge Congress to clarify that Section 404’s relief is available to all individuals convicted of crack cocaine offenses and sentenced under the 100-to-1 ratio—including the lowest level offenders.

We thank you for your leadership on this important matter.

Sincerely,

Hon. CORY BOOKER, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Hon. CINDY AXELROD, Ranking Member, Committee on the Judiciary, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

Hon. MIKE LEE, U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR CHAIRMAN DURBIN, RANKING MEMBER GRASSLEY, SENATOR BOOKER, AND SENATOR LEE: I write on behalf of the Major Cities Chiefs Association (MCCA) to register our support for S. 2914, the Terry Technical Corrections Act. The MCCA is a professional organization of police executives representing the largest cities in the United States and Canada.

In 2010, Congress reduced the federal sentencing disparity for crack versus powder cocaine offenses. However, due to an unclear definition in statute, the Supreme Court recently held in Terry v. United States that individuals convicted of some of the least serious crack cocaine offenses are ineligible to be resentenced under the reduced disparity. The Terry Technical Corrections Act will address this issue by clarifying that all offenders to be resentenced under the reduced disparity.

Ms. JACKSON LEE, As Justice Thomas noted in his opinion in Terry v. United States, citing my introduction of H.R. 4545, the Drug Sentencing Reform and Cocaine Kingpin Trafficking Act of 2007, I have long worked to address the sentencing disparity between crack cocaine and powder cocaine offenses, introducing legislation to eliminate the disparity completely.

Mr. Speaker, I include this opinion that cites this legislation, among others, for the RECORD.

141 S.Ct. 1858 Supreme Court of the United States Tara харак Terry, Petitioner v. UNITED STATES No. 20–5940 Argued May 4, 2021 Decided June 14, 2021

THOMAS, J., delivered the opinion of the Court, in which ROBERTS, C.J., and BREYER, ALITO, KAGAN, GORSUCH, KAVANAUGH, and BARRETT, JJ., joined. THOMAS, J., delivered the opinion of the Court.

In 1986, Congress established mandatory minimum penalties for cocaine offenses. If the quantity of cocaine involved in an offense exceeded a minimum threshold, then courts were required to impose a heightened sentence. Congress deliberately set the mandatory minimum thresholds for crack offenses far lower than for powder offenses. But it has since narrowed the gap by increasing the thresholds for crack offenses.

In the mid-1980s, the United States witnessed a steep surge in the use of crack cocaine, and news of high-profile, cocaine-related deaths permeated the media. Witnesses before Congress and the Supreme Court of the United States, themselves, believed that a “crack epidemic” was also fueling a crime wave. Crack, they said, was far more addictive and dangerous than powder cocaine; it was cheaper and thus easier to obtain; and these and other factors spurred violent crime.

In response to these concerns, Congress quickly passed a bill with near-unanimity. The new law created mandatory-minimum penalties for various drug offenses, and it set much lower trigger thresholds for crack offenses. The Act included two base penalties that depended on drug quantity: a 5-year mandatory minimum (triggered by 5 grams of crack or 500 grams of powder) and a 30-year mandatory minimum (triggered by 50 grams of crack or 5 kilograms of powder). 100 Stat. 5207–2, 5207–3. The Act also created a third penalty—possessing with intent to distribute an unspecified amount of a schedule II drug—that did not treat crack and powder offenses differently, did not depend on drug quantity, and did not include a mandatory minimum. 21 U.S.C. § 841(b)(1)(B).

Petitioner was convicted under this Act and subject to the third penalty. In exchange for the dropping of two firearm charges, petitioner pleaded guilty in 2008 to possession with intent to distribute an unspecified amount of crack. At sentencing, the district court held that his offense involved about 4 grams of crack, a schedule II drug. It also determined that petitioner was a career offender under the Sentencing Guidelines. The career-offender Guidelines controlled because they recommended a higher sentence than the drug-quantity Guidelines. The District Court sentenced petitioner to 18 months, the bottom of the career-offender Guidelines range.

All this occurred while Congress was considering whether to modify the statutory thresholds for crack penalties. In 1995, the Sentencing Commission issued a report to Congress stating that it thought the 100-to-1 ratio was too high. It was stressed that the then-mandatory Guidelines helped make the ratio excessive because the Guidelines, which were not yet in effect when Congress passed the law, contained some of Congress’ concerns about crack. Addressing those concerns through both the ratio and the Guidelines, the Commission said, “doubly punished” offenders. United States v. Remmey, Special Report to the Congress: Cocaine and Federal Sentencing Policy, 193–205 (Feb. 1995). Although the Commission thought that it was reasonable to conclude that “crack cocaine poses greater harms to society than does powder cocaine,” it determined that the ratio overstated the difference in harm. Finally, the Commission noted that persons convicted of crack offenses were disproportionately black, so a ratio that was too high created a “perception of unfairness” even though there was no reason to believe “that race, or any racial animus, underlay the initiation of this federal sentencing law.” Members of Congress responded to this and similar reports. For example, Senators Sessions and Hatch introduced legislation in 1999 to lower the ratio to 20 to 1. S. 1874, 107th Cong., 1st Sess. Representative Jackson-Lee led a similar effort in the House, but would have created a 1-to-1 ratio. H. R. 4545, 110th Cong., 1st Sess. (2007).

Two years later petitioners were sentenced, these attempts to change the ratio came to fruition. In the Fair Sentencing Act of 2010, 124 Stat. 2372, Congress reaffirmed its view that the triggering threshold should be lower for crack offenses, but it reduced the 100-to-1 ratio to about 18 to 1. It did so by increasing the crack quantity thresholds from 5 grams to 28 grams for the 5-year mandatory minimum and from 50 grams to 280 grams for the 10-year mandatory minimum. § 2(a), 124 Stat. 2372. These changes did not apply to those who had been sentenced under the old ratio.

The Sentencing Commission then altered the drug quantity table used to calculate Guidelines ranges. It decreased the recommended sentence for crack offenders to track the statutory change Congress made. It then made the change retroactive, giving previous offenders an opportunity for resentencing. Courts were still constrained, however, by the statutory minimums in place before 2010. Many offenders would have been sentenced under that Act. The District Court denied his motion, and the Eleventh Circuit affirmed, holding that offenders are eligible for a sentence reduction only if they were convicted of a crack offense that triggered a mandatory minimum. 828 Fed.Appx. 563 (2010) (per curiam). We granted certiorari, 592 U.S. 941 (2011) 131 S.Ct. 973 (2021).

On the day the Government’s brief was due, the United States informed the Court that, after the change in administration, it would no longer defend the judgment. Because of the timeline, the Court rescheduled oral argument. The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit expressed its concern that the Guidelines, the Commission said, “doubly punished” offenders. United States v. SAC, 310 F.3d 268, 270 (D.C. Cir. 2002) (per curiam). We granted certiorari, 592 U.S. 941 (2011) 131 S.Ct. 973 (2021).
§404(a), ibid. Here, "statutory penalties" references the entire, integrated phrase "a violation of a Federal criminal statute." And that phrase means "offense." Black's Law Dictionary, 11th ed. (2019) ("A violation of the law.") We thus ask whether the Fair Sentencing Act modified the statutory penalties for petitioner's offense. It did not.

The elements of petitioner's offense are presented by two subsections of 21 U.S.C. §841. Subsection (a) makes it unlawful to know or intentionally possess with intent to distribute any controlled substance. Subsection (b) lists additional facts that, if proved, trigger penalties.

Before 2010, §§841(a), (b)(1)(A)(i) and (b) together defined three crack offenses relevant here. The elements of the first offense were (1) knowing or intentional possession with intent to distribute, (2) crack, of (3) at least 50 grams. §§841(a), (b)(1)(B)(iii). This subparagraph (A) offense was punishable by 10 years to life, in addition to financial penalties and supervised release. The elements of the second offense were (1) knowing or intentional possession with intent to distribute, (2) crack, of (3) at least 5 grams. §§841(a), (b)(1)(B)(iii). This subparagraph (B) offense was punishable by 5 to 40 years, in addition to financial penalties and supervised release. And the elements of the third offense were (1) knowing or intentional possession with intent to distribute, (2) some unspecified amount of a schedule I or II drug. §§841(a), (b)(1)(C).

Petitioner's offense of the third offense—subparagraph (C). Before 2010, the statutory penalties for that offense were 0–20 years, up to a $1 million fine, or both, and a period of supervised release. After 2010, these statutory penalties remain exactly the same. The Fair Sentencing Act thus did not modify the statutory penalties for petitioner's offense.

Petitioner's offense is starkly different from the offenses that triggered mandatory minimums. The Fair Sentencing Act plainly "modified" the "statutory penalties" for those. It did so by increasing the triggering quantities from 50 grams to 280 grams in subparagraph (A) and from 5 grams to 28 grams in subparagraph (B). Before 2010, a person charged with the original elements of subparagraph (A)—knowing or intentional possession with intent to distribute at least 50 grams of crack—was exposed to a prison range of between 10 and 40 years. But because the Act increased the trigger quantity under subparagraph (A) to 280 grams, a person charged with those original elements in 2020 is now subject to the more lenient prison range for subparagraph (B): 5–40 years. Similarly, the elements of an offense under subparagraph (B) before 2010 were knowing or intentional possession with intent to distribute at least 5 grams of crack. Originally punishable by 5 to 40 years, the offense defined by those elements was punishable by 0–20 years that is, the penalties under subparagraph (C). The statutory penalties thus changed for all subparagraph (A) and (B) offenders. But no statutory change occurred for subparagraph (C) offenders. That is hardly surprising because the Fair Sentencing Act addressed "cocaine sentencing disparity," §2, 124 Stat. 2772. Before 2010, the United States simply asserted that petitioner is eligible for a sentence reduction if the Fair Sentencing Act changed the "penalty scheme." But it is not sufficed to convert nouns to adjectives and vice versa. As stated above, "statutory penalties" references the entire phrase "a violation of a Federal criminal statute." It thus directs our focus to the statutory penalties for petitioner's offense, not the statute or statutory scheme.

The United States similarly relied on "penalty statute." The United States similarly asserted that petitioner is eligible for a sentence reduction if the Fair Sentencing Act modified "penalty scheme." The United States similarly asserted that petitioner is eligible for a sentence reduction if the Fair Sentencing Act modified "sentence." And it is not sufficed to convert adjectives to nouns and vice versa. As stated above, "statutory penalty" references the entire phrase "statutory penalties." In fact means "penalties." The United States similarly argued that petitioner is eligible for a sentence reduction if the Fair Sentencing Act changed the "penalty scheme." The United States similarly argued that petitioner is eligible for a sentence reduction if the Fair Sentencing Act changed the "sentence." The United States notes that prosecutors before 2010 could charge offenders under subparagraph (B) if the offense involved 500 grams or more of crack; now, prosecutors can charge those offenders only under subparagraph (C). But even before 2010, prosecutors could charge those offenders under subparagraph (C) because quantity has never been an element under that subparagraph. See, e.g., United States v. Birt, 966 F.3d 257, 259 (CA3 2020) (noting that an offense charged under subparagraph (C) had possessed 186 grams of crack). It also defies common parlance to say that altering a different provision modified subparagraph (C). Instead, we must conclude that the Fair Sentencing Act modified the statutory penalties and supervised release. And the elements of petitioner's offense.

In light of the clear text, we hold that §2 of the Fair Sentencing Act modified the statutory penalties for subparagraphs (A) and (B) crack offenses—that is, the offenses that triggered mandatory-minimum penalties. The judgment of the Court of Appeals is affirmed.

It is so ordered.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. That is why I introduced H.R. 5455, the Terry Technical Correction Act. This bill reaffirms Congress' intent to provide retroactive sentencing relief to all individuals convicted of crack cocaine offenses before the Fair Sentencing Act of 2010 took effect; and now I support Mr. Jeffries' EQUAL Act, which I hope will be on the President's desk.

With the declaration of the war on drugs in the early 1970s began a dramatic rise in the U.S. prison population. In fact, Mr. Speaker. It was nothing short of an exces- sive, unwarranted drug sentences, some for minimal drug sentences and actions, putting particularly young African-American men in incarceration for decades.

The Federal Government played a pivotal role in America's era of mass incarceration. During the 1980s and 1990s, Congress passed several pieces of legislation that moved away from rehabilitation toward excessive punishment. In one such example is the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986, which created mandatory minimum penalties for most drug offenses and established the 100–1 cocaine to crack disparity. We have found that that does not bring down crime. It does not bring down crime.

What brings down crime is an effective rehabilitation system so that law enforcement officers do not have to confront recidivists ever again because we have given them a pathway to enter into society.

As Justice Sotomayor acknowledges in her concurring opinion in Terry, African Americans "bore the brunt of the disparity.

Between 1992 and 2006, roughly 80 to 90 percent of those convicted of crack offenses were African American. There were many who sounded the alarm during this time, including the U.S. Sentencing Commission, which repeatedly called upon Congress to revisit the mandatory minimum sentencing structure because of the racial disparities in cocaine versus crack sentencing. Sadly, Congress refused to listen for many years, and thereby failed to see any strong impact on that approach.

Thankfully, Members of Congress, on an increasingly bipartisan manner, have worked hard to reduce the harmful impact of the failed policies of the war on drugs, including putting an end to the crack to powder sentencing disparities.

Those who are supporting us—law enforcement officers, attorneys general—Republicans and Democrats alike. Through our efforts, we have learned that there is no greater danger to public safety from crack offenders than powder cocaine offenders, and that the 100-to-1 ratio overstated the relative harmfulness of the two forms of cocaine. Congress divested Federal resources away from prosecuting the highest level of traffickers.

In 2010, Congress began the process to eradicate the devastating consequences of the poorly conceived war on drugs by abolishing punitive response to the crack epidemic.

We have had circumstances where false warrants were used to enter people's homes under the false premise that they were using drugs. That didn't bring down crime. That didn't help eliminate those who were doing ill to people. That was not the right approach.

The Fair Sentencing Act of 2010 reduced the sentencing disparity to 18–1, and the First Step Act of 2019 made the Fair Sentencing Act retroactive.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 30 seconds to the gentlewoman.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, although the Terry decision bars crack offenders convicted of offenses involving small amounts of crack—like the 3.5 grams of crack that the petitioner possessed—that decision did not alter the mandatory minimum penalties. Congress can address this injustice.

H.R. 5455, aptly named the Terry Technical Correction Act, would guarantee the ability to seek a sentence reduction to all individuals who have unfairly lost years of freedom under the unfounded 100–1 disparity, including those whose requests for sentence reduction was previously denied based on the narrow interpretation of the First Step Act.

While I continue to look forward to the day that we will fully eliminate the powder-to-crack disparity, I thank Representatives CICILLINE, JEFFRIES, OWENS, MASSIE, and Delegate HOLMES NORTON for working with me on this crucial bipartisan piece of legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to support this. It is long overdue. I also include for the RECORD a press release from the Maryland Attorney General.

[Telegraph from Brian E. Frosh, Maryland Attorney General, Sept. 2, 2021]

ATTORNEY GENERAL FROSH CALLS ON CONGRESS TO CLARIFY FIRST STEP ACT AND APPLY FAIR SENTENCING REFORMS TO LOW-LEVEL DRUG OFFENSES

BALTIMORE, MD.—Attorney General Brian E. Frosh today joined a bipartisan coalition of 25 attorneys general urging Congress to amend the First Step Act and extend critical resentencing reforms to low-level crack cocaine offenders.

The coalition is calling on legislators to take this needed step in the wake of the Supreme Court’s recent decision in Terry v. United States, which held that certain mid-level and high-level crack cocaine offenders could seek resentencing under the law, but low-level offenders were not eligible.

"The intent of the First Step Act was to correct a clearly unjust sentencing disparity, " said Attorney General Frosh. "Congress needs to fix this oversight and ensure those who committed lower-level crimes and were subject to inequitable sentencings could seek resentencing under the law, but low-level offenders were not eligible."

The First Step Act, a landmark criminal justice reform law, passed Congress with strong bipartisan support in 2018. One key reform aimed to correct injustices caused by the earlier crack cocaine vs. powder cocaine sentencing regime. This now-discredited regime punished users and dealers of crack cocaine much more harshly than users and dealers of powder cocaine, which disproportionally harmed communities of color.

In 2010, Congress passed the Fair Sentencing Act to reduce the disparity between sentences for crack cocaine and powder cocaine. However, the law did not help the many people sentenced for crack cocaine offenses before 2010 who remained in prison.

The First Step Act then included a provision that makes retroactive sentencing reforms retroactive, allowing those serving harsh sentences imposed under the former federal law to seek relief. U.S. Senators Richard J. Durbin, Charles E. Grassley, Cory A. Booker, and Mike Lee—the drafters of the First Step Act—confirmed in an amicus brief that the sentencing relief was intended to apply to all crack cocaine offenders sentenced before 2010. Nevertheless, in Terry v. United States, the Supreme Court held while the First Step Act clearly authorized certain mid- or high-level crack cocaine offenders to seek resentencing, it failed to extend relief to the lowest-level offenders.

In today’s letter, the attorneys general urge Congress to close that gap and clarify that the sentencing relief provided by the First Step Act extends to all individuals convicted of crack cocaine offenses under the earlier regime, including the lowest-level offenders. They argue that there is no reason that low-level offenders should continue to serve sentences informed by now-discredited standards, and that they should have an opportunity to seek a second chance.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 5455, the "Terry Technical Correction Act."

As Justice Thomas wrote in his opinion in Terry v. United States, citing my introduction of H.R. 4545, the "Drug Sentencing Reform and Cocaine Kingpin Trafficking Act of 2007," I have long worked to address the sentencing disparity between crack cocaine and powder cocaine offenses to eliminate the disparity completely.

That is why I introduced H.R. 5455, the "Terry Technical Correction Act"—which reaffirms Congress’s intent to provide retroactive resentencing relief to all individuals convicted of crack cocaine offenses before the Fair Sentencing Act of 2010 took effect.

With the declaration of the "War on Drugs" in the early 1970’s began a dramatic rise in the U.S. prison population—fueled largely by excessive, unwarranted drug sentences.

The federal government played a pivotal role in America’s era of mass incarceration. During the 1980s and 1990s, Congress passed numerous pieces of legislation that moved away from rehabilitation toward excessive punishment.

One such example is the Anti-Drug Abuse Act of 1986, which created mandatory minimum penalties for most drug offenses, and established the 100-to-1, cocaine to crack disparity.

And, as Justice Sotomayor acknowledges in her concurring opinion in Terry, African Americans "bore the brunt of the disparity.

Between 1992 and 2006, roughly 80 to 90 percent of those convicted of crack offenses were African American.

There were many who sounded the alarm during this time, including the U.S. Sentencing Commission, which repeatedly called upon Congress to revisit the mandatory minimum sentencing structure because of the racial disparities in cocaine versus crack sentencing. Sadly, Congress refused to listen for many years.

Thankfully, members of Congress, on an increasingly bipartisan basis have worked hard to reduce the harmful impact of the failed policies of the War on Drugs, including putting an end to the crack to powder sentencing disparity.

Throughout our efforts, we have learned that there is no greater danger to public safety from crack offenders than powder cocaine offenders, and that the 100-to-1 ratio overstated the relative harmfulness of the two forms of cocaine and diverted federal resources away from prosecuting the highest-level traffickers.

In 2010, Congress began the process to eradicate the devastating consequences of the poorly conceived War on Drugs—and the punitive response to the crack epidemic.

Although the Terry decision bars crack offenders convicted of offenses involving small amounts of crack—like the 3.9 grams of crack that the petitioner possessed that do not trigger the mandatory minimum penalties—Congress can correct this and make the law more equitable.

H.R. 5455, aptly named the "Terry Technical Correction Act," would guarantee the ability to seek a sentence reduction to all individuals who have unfairly lost years of freedom under the unfounded 100 to 1 disparity, including those whose requests for sentence reductions were previously denied based on the narrow interpretation of the First Step Act.

While I continue to look forward to the day that we will have fully eliminated the crack disparity, I thank Representatives CICILLINE, JEFFRIES, OWENS, and MASSIE, and Delegate HOLMES NORTON for working with me on this crucial, bipartisan piece of legislation and ask my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to support it.

Mr. TIFFANY. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 5455, the Terry Technical Correction Act, is a straightforward bipartisan bill that advances our efforts to make our criminal justice system more fair. I urge my colleagues to support it, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 5455, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. BIGOS. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

CONDEMNING THE USE OF HUNGER AS A WEAPON OF WAR AND RECOGNIZING THE EFFECT OF CONFLICT ON GLOBAL FOOD SECURITY AND FAMINE

WHEREAS, in 2021, 193,000,000 people experienced crisis levels of food insecurity, with nearly 139,000,000 people living in environments where conflict was the main driver of this crisis, and the COVID-19 pandemic has worsened rising global food insecurity;

WHEREAS conflict acutely impacts vulnerable populations such as women and children, persons with disabilities, refugees, and internally displaced persons;

WHEREAS armed conflict’s impacts on food security can be direct, such as displacement from land, destruction of livestock grazing areas and fishing grounds, or destruction of food stocks and agricultural assets, or indirect, such as disruptions to food systems, leading to increased food prices, including fuel, and the displacement of persons; and WHEREAS a government’s ability to enforce regulations or perform its judiciary functions;
Whereas aerial bombing campaigns targeting agricultural heartlands, scorched earth methods of warfare, and the use of landmines and other explosive devices have directly and indirectly deprived food and livelihoods of civilians in situations of armed conflict, requires respect for international humanitarian law by all parties to the conflict, and allowing and facilitating the rapid and unimpeded movement of humanitarian relief to all those in need;

Whereas efforts to restrict humanitarian aid and the operational integrity and impartiality of humanitarian aid works and distribution efforts, including through blockades, security implications, or irrelevant bureaucratic requirements is another means by which combatants employ starvation and food deprivation as a weapon of war; and

Whereas the United States Government has the tools to fight global hunger, provide and protect livesaving assistance, and promote the prevention of conflict, including through the Global Fragility Act of 2019 (title V of division J of Public Law 116–94), the Global Food Security Act of 2016 (Public Law 114–180), and the Agriculture Improvement and Food Security Act of 2018 (Public Law 115–234), which has the potential to hold accountable those using hunger as a weapon in conflict through the Global Magnitsky Human Rights Accountability Act (D.T.D.C. of 2018, Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of H. Res. 222 to condemn the use of hunger as a weapon of war and recognize the impact of conflict on global food security. I thank Chair Meeks for his support and my colleagues, Representatives Peter Meijer, Bobby Rush, and Tracy Mann, for co-leading this with me. Even before Russia’s invasion of Ukraine, we have seen how climate change, the pandemic, and conflict fuel food crises around the world in Yemen, Syria, Ethiopia, and South Sudan, and now this war has exacerbated all of these crises.

In Ukraine, Russia’s unprovoked war has left one in three families without enough food and disrupted critical supply chains in the country and around the world. But we also have to recognize that we shouldn’t only sound the alarm and mobilize aid and attention when and where humanitarian crises affect people who look like us. Around the world, especially in some of the poorest countries, millions of people are hungry and suffering as a direct result of Putin’s relentless crusade for power.

In the Horn of Africa, the combined effects of climate change, conflict, and rising food prices from Russia’s invasion of Ukraine have all exacerbated the crisis. More than 37 million people, including 7 million children, on the verge of famine as the region endures the longest drought in more than 40 years.

Afghanistan continues to face an acute humanitarian crisis this upcoming winter, where over 95 percent of the population cannot afford to feed themselves or their families. Haiti imports 70 percent of its food, mainly from Russia and Canada, and is experiencing catastrophic hunger levels, with 4.7 million on the verge of famine. In Syria, Yemen, and South Sudan, millions of people are facing acute hunger.

In Ethiopia, over 20 million people in Tigray, Amhara, and Afar are in dire need of humanitarian assistance and rely on wheat imports from Ukraine and Russia.

In South Sudan, where I traveled earlier this year, 8.3 million people are experiencing severe food insecurity, the most extreme level of food insecurity in the country since it became independent in 2011. But we have also seen the power of the U.N., diplomacy, and global cooperation in alleviating this crisis. The humanitarian Black Sea Grain Initiative, which was recently extended, has facilitated the export of millions of tons of agricultural exports from Ukraine’s Black Sea ports.

I commend Ukraine’s new humanitarian initiative, Grain from Ukraine, that came out of the first International Summit on Food Security. It will ship grain to African countries most in need. Governments around the world have already contributed $150 million, with hopefully more to come. The crisis in Ukraine has made clear why it is so important that we, as a body, recognize the consequences of war on food security, condemn starvation of civilians as a weapon of war, and call on the United States Government and the administration to continue addressing these crises and hold perpetrators accountable.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to lead this important resolution today, and I urge my colleagues to support it. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. Kim of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this resolution authored by my colleagues, Congresswoman Jacobs and Congresswoman Meijer. This resolution condemns the use of hunger as a weapon of war and recognizes the impact that conflict has on global food security and famine.

Around the world, over 300 million people are in urgent need of food assistance. Many are facing emergency food needs due to years of protracted conflict, whether in Syria, Yemen, the Sahel, Nigeria, or South Sudan. But shockingly, we are also seeing the increasing use of hunger and starvation as a deliberate weapon of war, with worldwide effects. Ukraine just commemorated the solemn anniversary of the Holodomor famine, which killed millions of Ukrainians at Stalin’s direction. Ninety years later, Putin is reviving this evil, targeting wheat fields and grain silos, deliberately seeking to destroy vital sources of food for the Ukrainian people and the world.

The Kremlin’s propaganda machine is attempting to blame international sanctions for the worsening global food crisis, but that is a lie. In reality, this crisis is a direct result of Putin’s unprovoked war of aggression against Ukraine.

Meanwhile, Russia uses its influence at the U.N. to exert control over the vital food aid that millions of Syrians rely on in an effort to bolster Bashar al-Assad’s brutal grip on power.
In Yemen, Iran-backed Houthi rebels have weaponized food aid, using it for military gains and personal profit, while millions of Yemenis continue to face famine-like conditions. These atrocities must be condemned by all. Deliberately starving innocent civilians as a weapon of war must be condemned wherever it occurs. This resolution also condemns the acts of looting, diversion, or other denials of humanitarian access that impede the delivery of lifesaving assistance to populations in the most need.

Finally, I take this moment to commend the humanitarians who put their lives at risk every day to get food to vulnerable children, women, and men who need it just to stay alive. Their efforts deserve our support, and so does this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JACOBS of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, H. Res. 922 is an important piece of legislation to put this body on record as condemning the weaponization of hunger around the world and the impact conflict has on global food security.

As the world works together to alleviate multiple crises, this resolution serves as an important reminder of the cost of war and the need to hold perpetrators of starvation accountable.

Mr. Speaker, I hope my colleagues will join me and support this resolution, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H. Res. 922, "Condemning the use of hunger as a weapon of war and recognizing the effect of conflict on global food security and famine Act".

This resolution condemns the use of starvation of civilians as a weapon of warfare. It also calls on the U.S. government to prioritize diplomatic efforts to call out and address instances where hunger and intentional deprivation of food is being utilized as a weapon.

We must show the world that we do not condone this type of behavior and that we will not stand for it.

The United States should prioritize diplomatic efforts to call out and address instances where hunger and intentional deprivation of food is being utilized as a weapon.

We must do everything in our power to protect innocent civilians from this barbaric practice.

Starvation is a terrible thing. It's something that nobody should have to go through. And yet, there are people in this world who are starving right now as a consequence of war, or, perhaps even worse, by means of warfare.

The people of Ethiopia's Tigre Province are being subjected to a truly vile and malicious use of food deprivation in this way. The region was already suffering from drought, and when compounded by forced starvation from denial of access to food as a weapon of war, the effect is heinous and the consequences are unforgivable.

In Pakistan, food deprivation is compounded by the human toll from recent floods and other natural disasters. Using drought to strategically exacerbate starvation is unacceptable.

Russia's aggression against Ukraine is a global food insecurity tragedy on multiple levels. As Putin wages his war against the people of Ukraine, he uses food as a weapon by destroying the food production and transportation capacity of the country he invaded. At the same time, since Ukraine grows grains and crops that feed much of the world, Putin's deviation of Ukraine's food production infrastructure and takeovers of Ukrainian food exports causes food insecurity in populations of countless countries to suffer, especially in Africa.

Finally, I condemn the use of government blockades as a weapon of war to deliberately increase starvation.

Government blockades are nothing more than collective punishment, and they're a violation of the human rights of the people who are suffering under them.

CONDEMNING THE GOVERNMENT OF IRAN'S STATE-SPONSORED VIOLATION OF THE UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND ITS CONTINUED VIOLATION OF THE UNIVERSAL DECLARATION OF HUMAN RIGHTS AND THE INTERNATIONAL COVENANT ON CIVIL AND POLITICAL RIGHTS

Ms. Jacobs of California. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the resolution (H. Res. 744) condemning the Government of Iran's state-sponsored persecution of its Baha'i minority and its continued violation of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the resolution.

H. RES. 744

Whereas since 1979, Iranian authorities have killed or executed more than 200 Baha'i leaders, and more than 10,000 have been dismissed from government and university jobs; whereas the Baha'i International Community documented a more than 50-percent increase in hate propaganda directed against the Baha'is in the 12-month period ending in August 2020, compared with more than 9,500 such articles, videos, or web pages appearing in Iranian government-controlled or government-sponsored media;

Whereas, on December 16, 2021, the United Nations General Assembly adopted a resolution (A/C.3/76/L.28) criticizing Iran for human rights abuses and calling on Iran to carry out wide-ranging reforms, including—

(1) “ceasing use of the death penalty and commuting the sentences for child offenders on death row”;

(2) “ensuring that no one is subjected to torture or other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment”;

(3) “ceasing the widespread and systematic use of arbitrary arrests and detention”;

(4) “releasing persons detained for the exercise of their human rights and fundamental freedoms”;

(5) “improving conditions inside prisons”;

(6) “eliminating discrimination against women and girls”;

(7) “eliminating discrimination against ethnic, linguistic, and other minorities”;

Whereas in the motion offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Jacobs) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution, H. Res. 922, as amended,

The motion was adopted.

The Speaker took the chair.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Jacobs) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution, H. Res. 922, as amended.
Resolved, That the House of Representatives—

(1) condemns the Government of Iran's state-sponsored persecution of its Bahá'í minority and its violation of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR); (2) calls on the President of Iran—

(A) to immediately release the imprisoned or detained Bahá'ís and all other prisoners held solely on account of their religion; (B) to end its state-sponsored campaign of hate propaganda against the Bahá'ís; and (C) to reverse state-imposed policies denying Bahá'ís and members of other religious minorities equal opportunities to higher education, earning a livelihood, due process under the law, and the free exercise of religious practices; (3) calls on the President and the Secretary of State, in cooperation with responsible nations, to immediately condemn the Government of Iran's continued violation of human rights, and demand the immediate release of prisoners held solely on account of their religion; and (4) urges the President and the Secretary of State, in cooperation with responsible nations, to impose sanctions on officials of the Government of Iran and other individuals directly responsible for serious human rights abuses, including abuses against the Bahá'í community of Iran.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Jacobs) and the gentlewoman from California (Ms. Kim) each will control 20 minutes.

woman from California (Ms. Jacobs).

GENERAL LEAVE

Ms. Jacobs of California. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the material on H. Res. 744, as amended. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the material on H. Res. 744, as amended. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the material on H. Res. 744, as amended.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this legislation that condemns Iran's state-sponsored persecution of its Bahá'í minority and calls for the release of all religious prisoners in Iran.

In recent months, the Iranian regime has responded to the Iranian people's peaceful demands for change with violent suppression. The world has been a witness to that brutality. Sadly, Iran's Bahá'í community is very familiar with the regime's cruelty. For years, the Bahá'ís have been subjected to a campaign of state-sponsored persecution. Bahá'ís across Iran face arbitrary arrest, forced disappearances, property expropriation, and economic discrimination every day.

nies Iranians access to basic human rights.

Persecution based on religious belief is abhorrent and warrants condemnation in the strongest possible terms. This resolution is a reminder of Congress' continued commitment to promoting and protecting human rights in Iran, including freedom of worship and belief.

Mr. Speaker, I thank our former colleague, Ted Deutch, for his longtime work to support the Bahá'í in Iran and for his original authorship of this bipartisan measure.

The House of Representatives will continue to work tirelessly to protect and defend the human rights of the Iranian people.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. Jacobs of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, the Bahá'í people of Iran have suffered enough at the hands of Iran's regime since the revolution. The brutality of Iran's Government has denied Baha'is access to higher education, government jobs, and permits to work in 25 professions, and Iran subjects them to arbitrary harassment, arrest, and imprisonment.

Mr. Speaker, it is long past time for this religious persecution to end, so I strongly urge all Members to vote in support of this critical resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. Kim of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of this bipartisan measure that condemns Iran's state-sponsored persecution of its Bahá'í minority and calls for the release of all religious prisoners in Iran.

In recent months, the Iranian regime has responded to the Iranian people's peaceful demands for change with violent suppression. The world has been a witness to that brutality. nian people.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. Jacobs of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, the Bahá'í people of Iran have suffered enough at the hands of Iran's regime since the revolution. The brutality of Iran's Government has unfortunately been on display now for weeks for the entire world to see.

This body will always defend human rights in Iran and around the world, because it is long past time for this bipartisan measure. The House of Representatives will continue to work tirelessly to protect and defend the human rights of the Iranian people.
CONGRESSIONAL RECORD — HOUSE

Mr. Speaker, I hope my colleagues will join me and support this resolution, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H. Res. 744—Condemning the Government of Iran’s state-sponsored persecution of its Baha’i minority and its continued violation of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights.

This resolution condemns Iran’s state-sponsored persecution of its Baha’i minority and its continued violation of the international covenants on human rights.

Further, the resolution calls on Iran to immediately release all imprisoned or detained Baha’i’s, and it urges the President and the Department of State to impose sanctions on Iranian officials and others who are responsible for serious human rights abuses, including abuses against Iran’s Baha’i community.

Persecution of religious minorities in Iran is rampant. For over decades, the Government of Iran has persecuted members of the Baha’i faith, killing over 200 Baha’i leaders, dismissing more than 10,000 from their government and university jobs, and using intimidation and violence to target them as enemies of the state.

The Iranian regime routinely arrests Baha’is and imposes lengthy prison sentences. Between 50 and 100 Baha’i’s were reported to be in prisons in Iran during 2020, despite the widespread prevalence of COVID–19.

Since 31 July 2022, Ministry of Intelligence agents have raided and confiscated dozens of Baha’i properties and arrested at least 30 members of the Baha’i community on account of their faith in various cities throughout Iran. Iran’s state-sponsored propaganda encourages citizens to avoid all dealings with Baha’is, citing that they “create anxiety in the minds of the public and those of the Iranian officials.”

The onslaught against the Baha’i community is yet another example of the Iranian government’s ongoing treatment of minorities and women and is a vivid reminder of the regime’s extremist and intolerant foundation.

Iranians from all socioeconomic backgrounds are desperate for a democratic government that respects the universal rights of all humans, basic respect for human rights, and the rule of law.

The arrest and murder of Mahsa Amini, a 22-year-old woman arrested by “morality police” in Tehran on September 13, 2022, for allegedly violating Iran’s strict rules requiring women to cover their hair with a hijab, or headscarf, sparked massive protests around Iran and the world.

For the past two months, since the day of Mahsa’s funeral, women and men have taken to the streets, risking their lives for a free and democratic Iran.

Since the protests started in September, more than 350 protesters have been killed, and thousands have been arrested.

Two weeks ago, an Iranian court issued the first death sentence linked to the protests, convicting an unnamed person of “enmity against God” and “spreading corruption on Earth.” Three more people have since been sentenced to death on the same charges, according to the Iranian government.

We are presented with evidence everyday of Iranians putting their lives at risk in pursuit of a better tomorrow.

To all the Iranian women, men, children, and protestors who are leading the fight for democracy, I say loud and clear that I stand with you.

The United States Congress will always support a democratic movement in Iran. We support the organized and peaceful resistance by women, students, and youth against this extremist regime.

Let us remain dedicated to advocating for a democratic secular government in Iran founded on universal respect for human rights, religious tolerance, and equality among all citizens.

I urge all my colleagues to support H. Res. 744—Condemning the Government of Iran’s state-sponsored persecution of its Baha’i minority and its continued violation of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights.

We must consistently demonstrate to the Iranian people and the entire world that we stand with them in solidarity for the atrocious injustices being committed by the Iranian Government, to give voice to the oppressed support human rights, and freedom in Iran, because freedom is a universal right.

I will always champion global democracy stand against human rights violations, and never shy away from speaking truth to power in the presence of oppression. May the Iranian people soon enjoy all the rights and benefits of freedom and democracy.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from California (Ms. JACOBS) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution. H. Res. 744, as amended.

The Speaker was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. BIGGS, Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

Ms. JACOBS of California. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 4785) to support the human rights of Uyghurs and members of other minority groups of the Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region (XUAR) in northwestern China and other areas of their habitual residence.

Uyghurs, and other predominantly Muslim ethnic minorities historically making up the majority of the XUAR population, have maintained throughout their history a distinct religious and cultural identity.

(3) Human rights, including freedom of religion or belief, and respect for the Uyghurs’ unique Muslim identity are legitimate interests of the international community.

(4) The People’s Republic of China has ratified the International Covenant on Economic, Social, and Cultural Rights and is legally bound by its terms. The PRC has also signed the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights. Article One of both covenants state that all peoples have the right to self-determination.

(5) An official campaign to encourage Han Chinese migration into the XUAR has placed immense pressure on those who seek to preserve the ethnic, cultural, religious, and linguistic traditions of the Uyghur people. Chinese authorities have supported an influx of Han Chinese economic immigrants into the XUAR, implemented discrimination against Uyghurs in hiring practices, and provided unequal access to healthcare services.

(6) The authorities of the People’s Republic of China have many political objectives of the international war on terror to mask their increasing cultural and religious oppression of the Muslim population residing in the XUAR.

(7) Following unrest in the region, in 2014, Chinese authorities launched their “Strike Hard against Violent Extremism” campaign, in which dubious allegations of widespread extremist activity were used as justification for gross human rights violations committed against members of the Uyghur community in the XUAR.

(8) PRC authorities have made use of the legal system as a tool of repression, including for the imposition of arbitrary detentions and for torture against members of the Uyghur community and other populations.

(9) Uyghurs and Kazakhs who have secured citizenship or permanent residency outside of the PRC have faced threats, harassment, and surveillance by PRC officials.

(10) Reporting from international news organizations has found that over the past decade, family members of Uyghurs living outside of the PRC have gone missing or been detained to force Uyghur expatriates to return to the PRC or silence their dissent.

(11) Credible evidence from human rights organizations, think tanks, and journalists confirms that many more than 1,000,000 Uyghurs and members of other Muslim ethnic minority groups have been imprisoned in “political reeducation” centers.

(12) Independent accounts from former detainees of “political reeducation” centers describe inhumane conditions and treatment including forced political indoctrination, torture, beatings, rape, forced sterilization, and food deprivation. Police and detainees also confirmed that they were told by guards the only way to secure release was to demonstrate sufficient political loyalty to the Chinese Communist Party.

(13) Popular discourse surrounding the ongoing atrocities in the XUAR and advocacy efforts to assist Uyghurs remains muted in most Muslim majority nations around the world.

(14) Both Secretary of State Antony Blinken and Former Secretary of State Michael Pompeo have stated that the PRC government has committed genocide and crimes against humanity against Uyghurs and other ethnic and religious minorities in the XUAR.

(15) Government bodies of multiple nations have also declared that PRC government atrocities against Uighur populations in the XUAR constitute genocide, including the parliaments of the United Kingdom, Belgium, Czechia, Lithuania, the Netherlands, and Canada.

SEC. 3. DECLARATIONS OF POLICY.

Congress—

(1) calls upon the Government of the People’s Republic of China to cease all government-sponsored crackdowns, imprisonments, and detentions of people throughout the Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region (XUAR) involved in the peaceful expression of their ethnic, cultural, political, or religious identity;

(2) requests that the United States Government should facilitate the unhindered dissemination of information about the Uighur minority in the XUAR and other like-minded countries, including to prisoners in the XUAR, and to Uyghur populations in Central Asia, and to religious, cultural, and political leaders, in nongovernmental fora hosted by or other international organizations, including the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation countries and other regions on issues regarding the human rights and religious freedom of Uyghurs and members of other ethnic and religious minority groups persecuted in the PRC;

(3) urges countries with sizeable Muslim populations, given commonalities in their religious and cultural identities, to demonstrate concern over the plight of Uyghurs.

SEC. 4. UNITED STATES SPECIAL COORDINATOR FOR UYGUR ISSUES.

(a) IN GENERAL.—There is authorized to be established the Office of the Coordinator for Uyghur Issues (in this section referred to as the “Special Coordinator” or “Coordinator”), to be designated by the Secretary of State in accordance with subsection (b).

(c) CENTRAL OBJECTIVE.—The Special Coordinator should seek to protect the promotion and preservation of the distinct ethnic, cultural, religious, and linguistic identities of the Uyghurs.

(d) DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES.—The Special Coordinator should, as appropriate—

(1) coordinate United States Government policies, programs, and projects concerning the Uyghurs; and

(2) vigorously support the United States Congress on policies relevant to the XUAR and the Uyghurs;

(3) make efforts to establish contacts with foreign, U.S.-based, cultural, religious, and academic organizations, including the United Nations, the Organisation of Islamic Cooperation, the European Union, and Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate a report detailing the reasons for the delay.

SEC. 7. REQUIREMENT FOR UYGUR LANGUAGE TRAINING.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the United States Government should provide any efforts to prevent consideration of the issues related to the Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region (XUAR) in any body of the United Nations; and

(2) the United States Government should oppose any efforts to prevent participation of any Uyghur human rights advocates in nongovernmental fora hosted by or other international organizations.

SEC. 8. UYGUR CONSIDERATIONS AT THE UNITED NATIONS.

The Secretary of State shall ensure that the United States Permanent Representative to the United Nations—

(1) request the immediate and unconditional release of all prisoners detained for expressing their political or religious beliefs in the XUAR.

(2) seek access for international human rights organizations, including the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies, to prisoners in the XUAR to ensure such prisoners are not being mistreated and are receiving necessary medical care; and

(3) seek the immediate release of all prisoners who have been arbitrarily detained and are receiving necessary medical care.

SEC. 9. ACCESS TO DETENTION FACILITIES AND PRISONS AND THE RELEASE OF PRISONERS.

(a) SENSE OF CONGRESS ON POLITICAL REEDUCATION AND DETENTION FACILITIES.—It is the sense of Congress that the United States Government should cooperate with other like-minded countries, develop a strategy to—

(1) pressure the People’s Republic of China to immediately close all detention facilities and “political reeducation” camps housing Uyghurs and members of other ethnic minority groups in the Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region (XUAR) and the Uyghurs in the XUAR and to Uyghur populations in Central Asia, Turkey, Albania, and other parts of Europe;

(2) ensure coordination efforts for the release of political prisoners in the XUAR who are being detained for exercising their human rights; and

(3) consult with the United States Congress on policies relevant to the XUAR and the Uyghurs;

(4) coordinate with relevant Federal agencies to administer aid to Uyghur rights advocates; and

(5) consult with the United States Congress on policies relevant to the XUAR and the Uyghurs.

SEC. 10. REQUIREMENT FOR UYGUR LANGUAGE TRAINING.

The United States Agency for Global Media should ensure that the United States Agency for Global Media—

(1) make efforts to establish contacts with foreign and United States Agency for Global Media representatives in the XUAR and the United States Special Coordinator for Uyghur Issues in consultation with representatives of the U.S.-based Uighur community, to speak at public diplomacy forums in Organisation of Islamic Cooperation countries and other regions on issues regarding the human rights and religious freedom of Uyghurs and members of other ethnic and religious minority groups persecuted in the PRC.

SEC. 6. REQUIREMENT FOR UYGUR LANGUAGE TRAINING.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) the United States Government should provide any efforts to prevent consideration of the issues related to the Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region (XUAR) in any body of the United Nations;

(2) the United States Government should oppose any efforts to prevent participation of any Uyghur human rights advocates in nongovernmental fora hosted by or other international organizations.

(3) the Secretary of State should instruct the United States Permanent Representative to the United Nations to support the appointment of a special rapporteur or working group for the XUAR for the purposes of monitoring human rights abuses in the XUAR and for making reports available to the High Commissioner for Human Rights, the United Nations Human Rights Committee, the General Assembly, and other United Nations bodies.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Ms. Jacobs) and the gentleman from California (Mrs. Kim) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

Ms. Jacobs of California. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 4785.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. There objection to the request of the gentleman from California.

There was no objection.

Ms. Jacobs of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 4785, the Uyghur Policy Act of 2021, sponsored by my committee colleague, Representative Young Kim.
The world has watched in horror as the People’s Republic of China has continued its genocide and crimes against humanity against Uyghurs and members of other religious and ethnic minorities in the Xinjiang region. The scale and scope of the PRC’s human rights abuses are horrific. As many as 1.8 million people have been arbitrarily detained in mass internment camps, prisons, and detention centers. They have shown no limits to their cruelty and depravity—subjecting people to torture, political indoctrination, suppression of religious practices, forced sterilizations and abortions, family separation, sexual abuse, and so much more.

While we have seen graphic images and heard testimony revealing the truth of these camps, the PRC continues to hide behind disinformation. We know that the PRC is actively trying to stamp out the unique ethnic, cultural, religious, and linguistic traditions of minorities in the Xinjiang region.

Despite outrage from the global community, these gross atrocities have only increased in their severity and cruelty.

Evidence collected from journalists, human rights defenders, and scholars, as well as harrowing firsthand accounts from survivors and their families, point to the continued oppression of Uyghurs and Muslims.

During this Congress, this body has taken multiple steps to condemn these atrocities and hold the PRC accountable for perpetrating these heinous crimes. But we need to do more to protect the millions of Uyghurs and their way of life.

By passing this important bipartisan legislation, we would strengthen U.S. Government efforts to protect and promote the distinct ethnic, religious, cultural, and linguistic identity of the Uyghur people.

This legislation furthers a whole-of-government approach to combat the PRC’s egregious human rights violations. It also takes steps to bolster international support towards promoting greater respect for human rights in the Xinjiang region.

Most importantly, this legislation signals that the U.S. Congress unequivocally stands with the Uyghur people and will continue speaking out until this genocide and crimes against humanity ends.

I thank Representative Kim for authoring this important bipartisan legislation, which I was proud to vote for in the Foreign Affairs committee.

I support swift passage of this timely and urgent bill, and I urge my colleagues to do the same.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. KIM of California. Mr. Speaker, I am privileged to rise in support of H.R. 4785, the Uyghur Policy Act. I thank Chairman Ami BERA of the Subcommittee on Asia, The Pacific, Central Asia, and Nonproliferation for leading this with me, as well as the 79 bipartisan cosponsors—Ms. SARA Jacobs from California being one of them. They all made consideration of this important bill possible.

The Uyghur Policy Act comes at a critical time as the world is seeing past the Chinese Communist Party’s censorship filters and sharing videos of thousands of people in China standing up and speaking out against strict lockdowns and against the CCP.

Since Xi Jinping assumed his rule during the Communist Party Congress last month, anti-lockdown protests have erupted all over China, including in Xinjiang, where at least 10 people under COVID lockdown were killed in an apartment fire with their doors locked from the outside.

The people of China are waking up to the CCP’s oppression and are demanding basic freedoms. Whether it is lockdown of protesters in Shanghai, or Uyghurs and other ethnic minorities in Xinjiang or Tibet, the footage isic show us through words and through actions that we will have their backs in their fight against the CCP’s tyranny.

The People’s Republic of China continues to deny carrying out genocide against the Uyghur people, but even so, we have verified reports of forced sterilization, forced labor, brainwashing, and gang rape in the Xinjiang Uyghur Autonomous Region.

The Uyghur Policy Act will help us lead from a position of strength and will address several shortcomings in our existing approach to responding to these human rights abuses. It authorizes the State Department to appoint a special coordinator for Uyghur issues, which will consolidate the State Department’s diplomatic strategy to ensure that department-wide resources are being used to respond to the Uyghur genocide is better coordinated.

Ms. JACOBS of California. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from California (Ms. PELOSI), the distinguished Speaker of the House.

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman for yielding, and for her management of this very important legislation as a member of the Committee on Foreign Affairs.

It is my honor to stand on this floor today in support of the Uyghur Policy Act and to join my colleague, Mr. SMITH. For decades, Mr. SMITH and I—as well as Frank Wolf and so many others—have been working together for human rights throughout the world. I thank him for his leadership and his remarks on this important legislation. Again, a strong step in our continued work to counter the genocide of the Uyghur people.

In Xinjiang and across China, millions of Uyghurs and other Muslim minorities are enduring outrageous and barbaric abuses, from mass surveillance and discriminatory policing to mass incarceration in forced labor camps to mass torture, including solitary confinement and sterilization.

In its latest Human Rights Report, our own State Department has unequivocally declared that the Chinese...
Mr. Speaker, I again thank our colleagues for bringing these pieces of legislation to the floor, and I urge a “yes” vote on both.

Mrs. KIM of California. Mr. Speaker, seeing no other Members on my side, I am prepared to vote, and I yield myself such time as I may consume for the purpose of closing.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to join me in voting “yes,” and I urge the Senate to immediately take up this critically important legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of the Uyghur Policy Act and what it does, in addition to what we passed in 2020, the Uyghur Human Rights Policy Act; in 2021, the Uyghur Forced Labor Prevention Act. It includes the establishment of a Special Coordinator at State to spearhead the effort, which will ensure a laser focus on the brutal conditions facing the Uyghurs.

For decades, the Chinese Communist Party has waged a campaign of cruelty, terror, and repression, from cracking down on the culture, religion, and language of Tibet, intimidating the people of Taiwan, to restricting basic freedoms in Hong Kong, to jailing journalists and dissidents; and more.

We support and salute the courageous citizens across mainland China who are in the streets today speaking out for their freedom.

I join freedom-loving people around the world supporting the Chinese people for exercising this Fundamental right to make their voices heard.

Yet let us not forget how the government of China has, since 2017, responded to the demonstrations with a heavy hand: whether in Xinjiang in 1989 or more recently against those marching for their rights in Hong Kong, the past must be precedent for Beijing’s response to this wave of peaceful protests.

As I always say: if we do not speak out for human rights in China because of commercial interests, we lose all moral authority to speak out for human rights anywhere.

This is America’s moral imperative—and today, we take another step to honor this charge today with the legislation before us.

I urge a strong, bipartisan yes vote on the Uyghur Policy Act.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of legislation, H.R. 4785, honoring a legendary leader in Congress, Susan Davis, my dear colleague from San Diego.

Susan Davis began her career in public service in her beloved San Diego: First on the school board, then the Assembly; and now, the Armed Services Committee, Committee on Education and Labor of the House of Representatives.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a strong bipartisan “yes” for this bill honoring Susan Davis, and also for the Uyghur Policy Act.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a strong bipartisan “yes” for this bill honoring Susan Davis, and also for the Uyghur Policy Act.

Mr. Speaker, the Government of the People’s Republic of China to monitor the condition of the Uighur people; we stand with you; we send an unmissable message, and we are fighting for you.

We send a resounding message to the CCP’s oppression and genocide.

We send a powerful signal to the Uyghur people: America sees you; we stand with you; and we are fighting for you.

We send a powerful signal to the CCP: America sees you; we stand with you; and we are fighting for you.

We send a powerful signal to the Uyghur people: America sees you; we stand with you; and we are fighting for you.

We send a powerful signal to the CCP: America sees you; we stand with you; and we are fighting for you.
Ms. Susan Davis was born in Cambridge, Massachusetts, but spent most of her life in California. She graduated from the University of California, Berkeley and went on to receive a master's degree in social work from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

She became active in politics through the local branch of the League of Women Voters. In 1994, she was elected to the California State Assembly where she served the Committee on Consumer Protection, Government Efficiency, and Economic Development.

In 2000, Ms. Davis was elected as a Member of Congress, representing California’s 53rd District, a position she held for 20 years. During her career, she became a prominent member of the Armed Services and Education and Workforce Committees. Throughout her tenure, she authored several bills and amendments which were enacted into law.

After years of public service, Ms. Davis announced that she would not seek reelection in 2020.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to join me in honoring former Representative Davis and her accomplishments by naming a Post Office in San Diego, California, after her, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. FALLON. Mr. Speaker, I yield the balance of my time.

I am so grateful to have the support of all of my California colleagues and many more who served with Susan. This is the culmination of a community-led effort, powered by the people of Rolando and Council President Sean Elo-Rivera’s office.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Congresswoman Davis for all she has done for San Diego and all she continues to do. Her kindness, selflessness, leadership, and service continue to be an inspiration to all of us.

Mr. FALLON. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I have no further speakers, and I yield back the balance of my time.
suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8203.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. BIGGS. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand a record vote.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

MARTIN OLAV SABO POST OFFICE

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 8025) to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 100 South 1st Street in Minneapolis, Minnesota, as the “Martin Olav Sabo Post Office”. The Clerk read the title of the bill. The text of the bill is as follows: H.R. 8025

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. MARTIN OLAV SABO POST OFFICE.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The facility of the United States Postal Service located at 100 South 1st Street in Minneapolis, Minnesota, shall be known and designated as the “Martin Olav Sabo Post Office”.

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the facility referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the “Martin Olav Sabo Post Office”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) and the gentleman from Texas (Mr. FALLON) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from New York.

MRS. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous materials on this matter.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from New York?

There was no objection.

MRS. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 8025, to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 100 South 1st Street in Minneapolis, Minnesota, as the Martin Olav Sabo Post Office.

Mr. Martin Olav Sabo was born in Crosby, North Dakota, to Norwegian immigrant parents. In 1959, he received a bachelor’s degree from Augsburg College in Minneapolis and later pursued graduate studies at the University of Minnesota.

At the age of 22, Mr. Sabo was elected to the Minnesota House of Representatives where he later served as minority leader and was the first Democrat to serve as House Speaker from 1973 to 1978.

In November of 1978, he was elected to the House of Representatives and served for eight terms. During his tenure, he chaired the House Budget Committee where he guided the Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1993 through the House.

During the 109th Congress, he was a member of the House Appropriations Committee and served as the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Homeland Security.

After retiring from Congress, Mr. Sabo was the cochair of the national transportation policy project at the Bipartisan Policy Center. In 2016, at the age of 78, Mr. Sabo passed away.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to join me in honoring former Representative Sabo and his accomplishments by naming a post office in Minneapolis, Minnesota, after him, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. FALLON. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 8025 honors former Congressman Martin Olav Sabo, a longtime Representative from Minnesota. The Congressman served 28 years in the House of Representatives, eventually becoming chair of the House Budget Committee.

One of his proudest achievements was putting together a Federal budget and a deficit reduction package in 1993 which later would result in budget surpluses. Prior to his election to Congress in 1978, he served 18 years in the Minnesota State Legislature including serving as house minority leader and speaker.

He passed away, sadly, in 2016 at the age of 78. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Minnesota (Ms. OMAR), who is the distinguished vice chair of the House Foreign Affairs Committee Subcommittee on Africa, Global Health, Global Human Rights, and International Organizations.

Ms. OMAR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of my bill, H.R. 8025, which designates a U.S. Post Office facility in Minneapolis as the Martin Olav Sabo Post Office.

I am proud to have the opportunity to honor the late Representative Martin Olav Sabo, a man who dedicated his life to public service and represented my district, the Fifth District of Minnesota, for nearly three decades.

Representative Sabo graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1960 and served in the Minnesota House of Representatives from 1960 until 1978, the year he was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives from the great State of Minnesota and represented the people of the Fifth District.

Representative Sabo served 28 years in the House rising to chair of the House Budget Committee. He built a career standing up for low-income families and the middle class and invested in critical infrastructure and care for our veterans.

He also delivered millions of dollars in housing and transportation projects to our district, including the Hiawatha light rail line and the Minneapolis Veterans Medical Center.

After a long successful career, the Minneapolis Democrat announced his retirement in 2006 and was succeeded by my predecessor, Keith Ellison.

Sadly, Representative Sabo passed away in 2016 in his beloved home State after a lifetime of public service. I am honored to follow in the footsteps of Minnesotans like Martin Sabo who represented our State with honor and distinction.

This bill is supported by the whole Minnesota delegation and has bipartisan support, and I urge my colleagues to support it.

Mr. FALLON. Madam Speaker, I have no further speakers, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Madam Speaker, I have no further speakers. I urge passage of H.R. 8025, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mrs. LAWRENCE). The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 8025.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

BOB KRUEGER POST OFFICE

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 8203) to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 651 Business Interstate Highway 35 North Suite 420 in New Braunfels, Texas, as the “Bob Krueger Post Office”.

The Clerk read the title of the bill. The text of the bill is as follows: H.R. 8203

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. BOB KRUEGER POST OFFICE.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The facility of the United States Postal Service located at 651 Business Interstate Highway 35 North Suite 420 in New Braunfels, Texas, shall be known and designated as the “Bob Krueger Post Office”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY) and the gentleman from Texas (Mr. FALLON) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from New York.

MRS. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous materials on this matter.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from New York?

There was no objection.

MRS. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 8203, to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 651 Business Interstate Highway 35 North Suite 420 in New Braunfels, Texas, as the “Bob Krueger Post Office”.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on this matter.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the recognition of the gentlewoman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 8203 to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 651 Business Interstate Highway 35 North Suite 420 in New Braunfels, Texas, as the Bob Krueger Post. It has been a privilege to work with Mr. Krueger. He served as a Congressman from Texas for 12 years before retiring in 1999.

Mr. Robert Charles Krueger was born on September 19, 1935, in New Braunfels, Texas. He received a bachelor’s degree from Southern Methodist University in 1957, a master’s from Duke University in 1958, and a Ph.D. in English from the University of Oxford in 1964.

From 1975 to 1979, Mr. Krueger served two terms in the House of Representatives for the 21st Congressional District. Following his loss in a bid for the Senate, he served in President Jimmy Carter’s administration as Ambassador-at-Large and Coordinator for Mexican Affairs in the State Department.

In 1993, he was selected by Governor Ann Richards to fill Lloyd Bentsen’s vacated Senate seat. He served only 5 months after losing a special election to Senator Kay Bailey Hutchison.

Mr. Krueger was appointed by President Clinton to serve as Ambassador to Botswana, and after 2 years, he became Ambassador to Burundi, serving until 1999.

Madam Speaker, I encourage my colleagues to join me in honoring Mr. Krueger’s life of public service by naming a post office in New Braunfels, Texas, after him, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. FALLON. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I am opposed to this bill for procedural reasons. The House Oversight and Reform Committee’s agreed-upon procedures for considering postal naming bills clearly dictate several requirements for such measures to advance through the House. Among those is the requirement that postal naming bills be cosponsored by the entire State delegation before it will be considered in the Oversight Committee, and then they proceed to the floor.

There are very good reasons for these requirements. This is to ensure that the State’s collective representation agrees that such a local hero deserves this high honor and the attention of the full Congress.

Unfortunately, this bill is only cosponsored by 34 of the 36 Members of the Texas delegation, which means it is not ready for consideration here today. Furthermore, this bill has not even been marked up by the committee of jurisdiction in the House Oversight Committee, which means it is bypassing regular order to come straight to the House floor. This is a departure from past precedent and procedure.

Following regular order and past practice on these measures prevents wasting valuable time and resources here on the House floor. There are dozens of other bills that have earned the support of their entire State delegations and have also been unanimously approved by the House Oversight Committee. We should be spending the valuable time on this floor that we have remaining in this Congress considering bills that are higher in the queue, some of which were introduced in the first half of last year.

For these reasons, I cannot support H.R. 8203, which breaks with our agreed-upon process.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Madam Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. DOGGETT), the chairman of the House Ways and Means Subcommittee on Health.

Mr. DOGGETT. Madam Speaker, I rise to honor a true Texas statesman, Bob Krueger. Decades ago, Bob and I were fierce political adversaries, but since then we have joined on behalf of our State and our Nation in common cause. Now I join so many of his former colleagues and many Texans in recognizing his remarkable contributions.

He is a proud native of New Braunfels who remained his home in recent decades. He once served here in this House in a district that many parts of had more cattle than constituents that stretched from San Antonio to San Angelo and almost to El Paso.

After studying at Duke and Oxford, Bob served Duke as vice provost and dean before returning to Texas to win a rather improbable election and reelection as a Congressman. He was voted the most effective Member of his freshman class by colleagues here in the House.

He voted to prolong the life of the Voting Rights Act and extend its application to Texas, he supported the admission of women to the service academies, and supported an increase in the minimum wage, among other matters.

In those elections and a subsequent race for the U.S. Senate, he attracted talent like Land Commissioner Gary Mauro, media legend Roy Spence, and future Deputy Energy Secretary and Mayor of Houston, Bill White, among many others.

When the Senate race was unsuccessful, Bob was named by President Carter as Ambassador-at-Large and Coordinator for Mexican Affairs. In 1990, he won a statewide election to serve in the important position on the Texas Railroad Commission. A few years later, Governor Ann Richards appointed him to fill a Senate vacancy, and for a few months he was defeated by Kay Bailey Hutchison. Yet, Bob never let these setbacks get in the way of lifelong civic engagement and public service.

After Senator Hutchison’s victory, President Clinton appointed him as Ambassador to Burundi, which he described as the most fulfilling period of his life. There he met with Rwandan refugees fleeing massacres, which he documented, putting him at personal risk, as one of the first Western voices to report the genocide.

He discovered villages where children were massacred and livestock was left alive. Even after the front pages of two local newspapers there in Burundi were evacuated and then appointed as Ambassador to Botswana.

He cut a singular figure: a Shakespeare-quoting, former East Coast professor who connected with Texas ranchers, a busy public servant, who nonetheless valued a few days of daily meditation.

Throughout all his types of service, whether he was driving a pickup truck around West Texas or in an armored vehicle in Burundi, he always was driven by the same values, the same faith, and the same guiding light: his family.

His partner for almost four decades, Kathleen Tobin Krueger, meant the world to him, they traveled it together. Recently, she has been involved in continued work in advocating for their close friend and San Antonian, Paul Rusesabagina.

Paul, who inspired “Hotel Rwanda,” and who received the Presidential Medal of Freedom for his work in saving people in Rwanda, remains wrongly imprisoned in Rwanda today.

Bob’s wonderful daughter, Mariana, an accomplished photographer, who shares his love of Duke as both an undergrad and graduate of Duke, and now lives in Austin, continues his legacy.

His daughter, Sarah, a double Duke alumna, works as a senior reporter for WRAL in Durham, living there with her husband Will and their son Brookes.

His son, Christian, who worked here in the House recently as a legislative assistant for Congressman JOAQUIN CASTRO, lives in Texas with his wife Marion.

At the memorial service this spring after Bob passed away at 86 years of life well-lived, Ambassador Scott DeLisi, who worked with Bob in Botswana, said Krueger had “the most finely tuned moral compass of any man

Ron Wright Post Office Building

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Madam Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (S. 3825) to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 3903 Melear Drive in Arlington, Texas, as the “Ron Wright Post Office Building.”

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

SECTION 1. RON WRIGHT POST OFFICE BUILDING.

(a) DESIGNATION.—The facility of the United States Postal Service located at 3903 Melear Drive in Arlington, Texas, shall be known and designated as the “Ron Wright Post Office Building”.

(b) REFERENCES.—Any reference in a law, map, regulation, document, paper, or other record of the United States to the facility referred to in subsection (a) shall be deemed to be a reference to the “Ron Wright Post Office Building”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong support of S. 3825, which honors the late Congressman Ron Wright of Texas, a great American and a gentle soul. Many of us in the House of Representatives today served with Congressman Wright in the 116th and 117th Congresses.

A native Texan, Congressman Wright proudly represented Texas’ Sixth Congressional District, stretching from Arlington down past Mansfield toward Corsicana. He kept up rigorous work schedules in Congress, in his district, and was fondly received; while simultaneously serving in Congress, he was being treated for lung cancer.

Prior to his election to Congress he served North Texans as the Tarrant County Tax Collector, Chief of Staff for Congressman Joe Barton, and Mayor Pro-Tem of the city of Arlington, Texas.

He was reelected to Congress for a second term in November of 2020 but, sadly, died February 7, 2021, just 1 month into this new Congress.

Congressman Wright was a true public servant, a good friend, and a loyal American. I encourage my colleagues to support this bill.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Madam Speaker, I yield the balance of my time.

Ms. JOHNSON of Texas. Madam Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from New York.

General Leave

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Madam Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and to include extraneous material on this measure.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from New York?

There was no objection.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in support of S. 3825, a bill to designate the facility of the United States Postal Service located at 3903 Melear Drive in Arlington, Texas, as the Ron Wright Post Office Building.

Former Representative Ron Wright was born on April 8, 1953, in Jacksonville, Texas, and went on to attend the University of Texas at Arlington for 2 years, studying history, psychology, and political science.

From 2000 to 2006, he served on the Arlington City Council and as Mayor Pro-Tem of Arlington from 2004 to 2008. He then served as district director for Congressman Joe Barton for 9 years.

In 2018, Representative Wright ran for Texas’ Sixth Congressional District. During his tenure, he served on the House Committee on Foreign Affairs and the House Committee on Education and Labor.

I encourage my colleagues to join me in honoring the life and service of Representative Wright by naming a Post Office in Arlington, Texas, after him.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. FALLON. Madam Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Madam Speaker, I rise today in strong support of S. 3825, which honors the late Congressman Ron Wright of Texas, a great American and a gentle soul. Many of us in the House of Representatives today served with Congressman Wright in the 116th and 117th Congresses.

Prior to his election to Congress he served North Texans as the Tarrant County Tax Collector, Chief of Staff for Congressman Joe Barton, and Mayor Pro-Tem of the city of Arlington, Texas.

He was reelected to Congress for a second term in November of 2020 but, sadly, died February 7, 2021, just 1 month into this new Congress.

Congressman Wright was a true public servant, a good friend, and a loyal American. I encourage my colleagues to support this bill.

Madam Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mrs. CAROLYN B. MALONEY of New York. Madam Speaker, I urge passage of S. 3825, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JOHNSON of Texas. Madam Speaker, I rise in support of S. 3825, led by Senator CORNYN in the Senate, to name a Post Office in Arlington in honor of my dear friend, former Congressman Ron Wright, who was so sadly taken from us last year as he served his second term as a member of this body.

Congressman Wright had a passion for public service. He served as the District Director and Chief of Staff to another dear friend of mine, former Congressman Joe Barton, before stepping into the spotlight and utilizing the valuable experience he gained in local government to be the face of the federal government to hundreds of thousands of North Texans residing in Tarrant, Ellis, and Navarro Counties. He worked hard as a staffer and member to be a positive force and ensure bills passed in Congress that he believed would benefit the constituents of the Sixth Congressional district of Texas, regardless of politics or party affiliation.

Having a Post Office named after Congressman Wright in Arlington, where he’s spent so much of his life, from attending the University of Texas at Arlington to serving on the Arlington City Council, is a fitting way to honor the life and legacy of a public servant who has done so much for his community. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation so President Biden can sign this into law.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentlewoman from New York (Mrs. MALONEY) to name a Post Office in Arlington, where he’s spent so much of his life, from attending the University of Texas at Arlington to serving on the Arlington City Council, is a fitting way to honor the life and legacy of a public servant who has done so much for his community. I urge my colleagues to support this legislation so President Biden can sign this into law.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. passing of our colleague, Congressman A. Donald McEachin. Throughout his life of public service, Donald was a relentless champion for all Virginians, serving in the House of Delegates, the Senate of Virginia, and then in the House of Representatives. He was the son of an Army veteran and a public school teacher. Donald graduated from American University, earned his law degree from the University of Virginia, and received his Master of Divinity from the Virginia Union University. As many in this Chamber know, Donald was a thoughtful and principled legislator respected by Members on both sides of the aisle. He was also a trailblazing figure in Virginia politics. He was the first African-American nominee of a major party for Virginia Attorney General and only the third African American elected to Congress from the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Donald was resolute in pushing Virginia ahead in climate change. He recognized the climate crisis as a moral issue and was a champion for environmental justice, using his skills as a trial lawyer to fight to ensure that the voices of our most vulnerable communities were heard and heeded. We all seek to honor Donald’s life and legacy by working to build a future in which everyone has access to clean air, water, and soil.

Madam Speaker, this body has lost one of its most dedicated public servants and fierce advocates for justice and equality, and he will be deeply missed. I want to offer my deepest condolences to his wife, Colette, their three children, his beloved grandchildren, his friends, his staff, and the countless individuals positively impacted by his life of service.

Madam Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. Wittman).

Mr. WITTMAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague Mr. Scott for inviting and joining us in our condolences in the passing of Donald McEachin. I would like to thank our colleagues today for joining us in this remembrance.

Donald was indeed an incredible leader. He was a dedicated father, a dedicated husband, and he loved serving others. He truly was passionate about his job. He was passionate about the people of the Fourth District.

I got to know Donald actually from our youth. My wife and I were young, when we were in high school. We were in rival high schools in Richmond. I met him in passing there and got to serve with him in the Virginia General Assembly.

What an individual, a person of integrity, a person of passion, dedicated to the people that he served. He loved being a legislator. He loved solving problems for people. He loved interacting with people. He loved the whole idea of giving of himself and putting others first. That truly was what Donald was about. I know we all dealt with him through the years, and he was a person of the utmost integrity and the utmost passion. He really wanted to get things done. While there were political differences among the different members of our Virginia delegation, for Donald it was always about getting things done, and you could always depend that Donald would be working together and forth right with you. He was looking for solutions to problems. That is what legislation is about. Donald was indeed the quintessential public servant, the quintessential leader, an example for all of us in the Virginia delegation.

It is with a heavy heart today that we mourn his passing, but let’s all remember his legacy, his legacy of service, what he has done to uplift all of us, to make us all better as Members of this legislative body.

MOMENT OF SILENCE IN REMEMBRANCE OF THE LATE HONORABLE A. DONALD MCEACHIN

The SPEAKER. The Chair asks all of those present in the Chamber, as well as Members and staff throughout the Capitol, to please rise for a moment of silence in remembrance of the late Honorable A. Donald McEachin of Virginia.

JUSTICE AND MENTAL HEALTH COLLABORATION AUTHORIZATION ACT OF 2022

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. TRONE). OFFERED BY MR. DEFAZIO

The provisions that warranted a referral to the Committee on Transportation and Infrastructure in H.J. Res 100 do not contain any congressionally earmarked projects, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined in clause 9 of rule XXI.
The Senate met at 12 noon and was called to order by the President pro tempore (Mr. LEAHY).

PRAYER
The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.
O God, in whom is calmness, peace, and harmony, thank You for flourishing faith and growing love. Keep us from dissension and bring us to the unity of Your power.

Lord, give us the grace to stay on the road of virtuous and godly living. Bring us into an ever deeper understanding of Your will. Give our Senators Your peace and an awareness of Your abiding presence. May they exercise self-control and be faithful in everything they do.

Lord, empower them to cling tightly to their faith in You and to keep their consciences clear. We trust in You and know that You will lead us by Your truth.

We pray in Your powerful Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE
The President pro tempore led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME
The President pro tempore, under the previous order, the leadership time is reserved.

CONCLUSION OF MORNING BUSINESS
The President pro tempore. Morning business is closed.

LEGISLATIVE SESSION
RESPECT FOR MARRIAGE ACT—Resumed
The President pro tempore. Under the previous order, the Senate will resume consideration of H.R. 8404, which the clerk will report.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

A bill (H.R. 8404) to repeal the Defense of Marriage Act and ensure respect for State regulation of marriage, and for other purposes.

PENDING:
Schumer amendment No. 6487, in the nature of a substitute. (to amendment No. 6487), to add an effective date.
Schumer amendment No. 6488 (to amendment No. 6488), to add an effective date.

Mr. LUJAN. I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The President pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. LUJAN). Without objection, it is so ordered.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER
The majority leader is recognized.

H.R. 8404
Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, for millions and millions of Americans, today is a very good day, an important day, a day that has been a long time coming: We are voting to pass the Respect for Marriage Act. After many rounds of bipartisan talks, and after many doubts that we could ever reach this point, we are taking a momentous step forward for greater justice for LGBTQ Americans.

In September of 2020, I was in the middle of a family dinner when we received the news that Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg had passed away. I remember that awful feeling around the dinner table, and I distinctly remember the question my daughter and her wife asked: “Could our right to marry be undone?”

Millions of Americans in same-sex marriages go about their day with this terrible question lurking in the back of their minds. It is scary. It is a scary, but necessary, acknowledgement that, despite all the progress we have made, the constitutional right to same-sex marriage is not even a decade old and exists only by the virtue of a very narrow 5-to-4 Supreme Court decision.

And we all know the Court has changed since that decision. As we have already seen this year, that the Court has decided in the past can be easily taken away in the future.

Standing here today, with the passage of this legislation, it is impossible not to think of my family. Today, I am wearing the tie I wore at my daughter’s wedding, one of the happiest moments in my life. And I also cannot help but recall the harrowing conversation I had with her and her wife just over more than 2 years ago.

So today’s vote is deeply personal for many of us in this Chamber. It is personal for me, of course. It is personal... to many of my colleagues and their staff and their families. And while we still have a few more votes to take, today is certainly an occasion for joy and relief.

But as important as today is, let’s remember that the outcome was uncertain. Remember—remember—it was our original plan to act on the Respect for Marriage Act in September, shortly after the House voted to pass this bill over the summer with a surprising 47 Republicans voting for the bill. This bill was popular.

We knew it was the right thing to do, but what we did not know is whether or not we had enough support, 60 votes, to pass this bill through the Senate. Maybe the votes would materialize if we forced a vote on the floor, but that was highly unlikely. And for a great number of us, for so much of America, this bill was too important to risk failure.

So back in September, when I met with the leaders of this bill in my office—Senators SINEMA and BALDWIN and COLLINS and TILLIS and PORTMAN—they recommended I hold off on a vote because they believed they could secure enough support for this bill.

And if it was the right thing to do. Many on my side of the aisle felt: Put everyone on record right now. And sometimes, they say, that is the way to go. But at the end of the day, my No. 1 priority is always to get legislation passed through the Senate. So I made the decision to take the risk and to wait.

Today, we have vindication that the wait was well worth it. Pushing Respect for Marriage over the finish line required patience and persistence, and, today, it is paying off.

I want to thank the Senators who brought us this far—Senators SINEMA and BALDWIN, as well as COLLINS and TILLIS and PORTMAN—for their outstanding and relentless work. Their work has been magnificent, and I am so thankful they stayed the course even when success may have seemed elusive.

I also want to acknowledge my Republican colleagues who voted in favor of advancing this legislation. Because of our work together, the rights of tens of millions of Americans will be strengthened under Federal law. That is an accomplishment we should all be proud of.

And, of course, I want to thank all of the advocates, volunteers, and organizers not just for supporting this bill but for everything they have done over the years to make the United States a fairer, more accepting nation.

Mr. President, the world’s eyes are trained this week on the people of China who appear to be engaged in the largest and most widespread protests against the country’s repressive Communist Party government since 1989 and the events of Tiananmen Square.

While most of the rest of the world has learned how to adapt to the coronavirus pandemic and its effects, our adversaries keep on with living our lives, the people of China, where the whole crisis began, are still trapped in a “Groundhog Day” of permanent pandemic measures.

Chairman Xi’s so-called Zero COVID policy is managing to be both horrifically repressive and totally ineffective at the very same time—horribly repressive and totally ineffective at the very same time. They have had endless cycles of punishing lockdowns, repressive quarantines, and mass testing.

Reports and social media posts are flying around the country—like allegations that the government let people burn up in an apartment building fire rather than break quarantine and that a 4-month-old baby girl died because the COVID rules did not allow her to get proper medical treatment. Of course, sadly, none of this is new or an aberration. This is actually perfectly in line with the CCP’s long and brutal history.

As in the past, the CCP is failing its citizens and lying about it. When the rest of the world tunes in to World Cup matches, they see cheering crowds. But in China, the broadcasts censor the stands, the stands the Chinese Communist Party outmaneuver us militarily, that government let people burn up in an apartment building fire rather than break quarantine and that a 4-month-old baby girl died because the COVID rules did not allow her to get proper medical treatment. Of course, sadly, none of this is new or an aberration. This is actually perfectly in line with the CCP’s long and brutal history.

The people of China have put up with this dystopian state of affairs for nearly 3 years now, and now their patience has ended. Across China’s major cities, residents are taking to the streets and speaking out. Local, civil protests are not uncommon in China, but these protests appear to have a different character—more widespread, more bold and brave, more fed up.

Unsurprisingly, demonstrators have received harsh treatment from the authorities who reportedly have beaten protesters and detained a foreign journalist covering the events.

The state media keeps parroting propaganda, but video evidence of the protests and the heavyhanded response is getting through the CCP’s “Great Firewall.” Thus far, the people have not backed down.

Now, you hear some people suggesting that if a clumsy authoritarian nation is facing such troubles at home, it must pose less of an international threat than we thought. Ah, but this is precisely wrong. Vladimir Putin’s previous aggressions against Georgia and Ukraine, its operations in Chechnya and Syria, and now this latest brutal war show exactly how even clumsy and dysfunctional regimes can inflict a terrible toll on free nations and free peoples. Iran, North Korea, and Syria have known decades of the same thing. Of course, China isn’t declining; it is continuing to expand and modernize its military power. And Xi and
The United States needs a strong, well-equipped military capable of pre-deployment of their own capabilities. We need our private sector and our defense industrial base.

The importance of this deterrence goes beyond just Europe. China has spent decades investing in military technologies that increase threats to U.S. forces and our allies in the region. The CCP has steadily built up the very capabilities that we have already seen them do in Hong Kong and would need to seize Taiwan by force if it were to bullying and bloodshed doesn’t look like they thought it would.

attacker. He said he jumped into action because he “simply wanted to save the family [he] found” at Club Q.

And Richard Fierro, Richard Fierro, an Iraq and Afghanistan combat veteran, was watching a friend’s performance when his wife, daughter, and friends inside the club when the shooting started, and his protective instincts—Richard’s protective instincts from four combat deployments—kicked in. He said he went “into combat mode.”

No matter how many nights he spends with his friends and their family should have to go “into combat mode” in the United States of America. That is not the country that I grew up in.

It is our country today. It is the country that the pages in this institution are inheriting from us. My daughter’s generation and the children I used to work for in the Denver Public Schools, they bear a burden that I never bore growing up in the United States. They have grown up living with a reality that they could be shot in their classrooms or in their churches or in a grocery store or in a bar that is the one safe place in their community that they could go to.

In 2020—the pages that are here may not know this. In 2020, the leading cause of death for kids in America was guns—guns—not car accidents, not drugs, but guns.

In one study of 29 industrialized countries, the United States accounted for 95 percent of the deaths among children 4 years old and younger. That is almost 100 percent of the kids who are dying on planet Earth from gunfire who are 4 years old and younger. What a disgrace. What a disgrace.

We shouldn’t need to count on a stranger’s bravery when we go to a birthday party. We shouldn’t need to count on a stranger’s bravery when we go to the grocery store.

It was just last year when I spoke on this floor about the lives that were lost in Colorado at a King Soopers in Boulder, and it is with unimaginable pain that I am here once again on this floor with a list of names of people who have lost their lives senselessly.

Colorado is hurting. We are tired of this. For more than two decades, we have had to grieve over one incident after another.

So while we stand here on the verge of taking a historic step toward equality—of passing, I say, a step toward equality—we are reminded once again of just how much work is left to do to give our children the safe and accepting future that they deserve, that they want to have, that we are obligated to give them. We haven’t finished that work in the U.S. Senate.

Earlier this year, the Supreme Court stripped away the first fundamental right since Reconstruction by overturning a 50-year precedent in Roe v. Wade, and in that decision, the majority took a fundamental right of privacy and, with it, the right of every single American to marry whom they love.

It is a profound reminder—one again, a reminder—to everybody in this body and to the country, that our history has been from the very beginning a battle between the highest ideals that humans have ever written down on the page—the words in the Constitution that America stands on—the worst impulses in human history.

And when a Justice of the Supreme Court writes that if it wasn’t a freedom in 1868, it is not a freedom today, we are in that struggle today.

When a 22-year-old can walk into a club and kill 5 people and wound more than 20 people, we are in that struggle today.

The reason we are here today doing the important work that we are doing in the marriage act that we are passing today is that Americans understand that no good comes from hoarding freedoms and equality. They know that when we take the opposite view, we act against our best traditions, against our highest ideals, and we will never flourish if we choose to depend on a permanent underclass, deprived of some or all of the rights and freedoms others enjoy.

Free people do not remain free by denying freedom to others. Today, the Senate of the United States stands on the precipice of advancing freedom, of advancing equality, of moving us closer to our highest ideals.

But, tomorrow, we have more work to do to live up to the words of our Constitution and to realize the promise of equality for all of our citizens.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

Mr. LEE. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

AMENDMENT NO. 6482 TO AMENDMENT NO. 6487

Mr. LEE. Madam President, I call up my amendment No. 6482, and ask that it be reported by number.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report the amendment by number.

The senior assistant legislative clerk reads as follows:

The Senate from Utah [Mr. Lee], for himself and others, proposes an amendment numbered 6482 to amendment No. 6487.

The amendment (No. 6482) is as follows:

(Purpose: To improve the bill)

At the end, insert the following:

TITLE II—RELIGIOUS BELIEFS AND MORAL CONVICTIONS

SEC. 201. PROTECTION OF THE FREE EXERCISE OF RELIGIOUS BELIEFS AND MORAL CONVICTIONS

(a) In General.—Notwithstanding section 7 of title 1, United States Code, section 1738C of title 28, United States Code, or any other provision of law, the Federal Government shall not take any discriminatory action against a person, wholly or partially on the basis that such person speaks, or acts, in accordance with a sincerely held religious belief, or moral conviction, that marriage is or should be recognized as a union of—

(1) one man and one woman; or

(2) two individuals as recognized under Federal law.

(b) Discriminatory Action Defined.—As used in subsection (a), discriminatory action means any action taken by the Federal Government to—

(1) alter in any way the Federal tax treatment of, or cause any tax, penalty, or payment to be assessed against, or deny, delay, or revoke an exemption from taxation under section 501(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986 of, a person referred to in subsection (a);

(2) disallow a deduction for Federal tax purposes of any charitable contribution made to or by such person;

(3) withhold, reduce the amount or funding for, exclude, terminate, or otherwise make unavailable or deny, any Federal grant, contract, subgrant, cooperative agreement, guarantee, loan, scholarship, license, certification, accreditation, employment, or other similar position or status from or to such person;

(4) withhold, reduce, exclude, terminate, or otherwise make unavailable or deny, any entitlement or benefit under a Federal benefit program, including a admission to, or treatment in, or eligibility for a degree from an educational program, from or to such person;

(5) withhold, reduce, exclude, terminate, or otherwise make unavailable or deny, access or an entitlement to Federal property, facilities, educational institutions, speech fora (including traditional, limited, and non-public fora), or charitable fundraising campaigns from or to such person.

Amendment; License; Certification.—The Federal Government shall consider accredited, licensed, or certified for purposes of Federal law any person that would be accredited, licensed, or certified, respectively, for such purposes but for a determination against such person wholly or partially on the basis that the person speaks, or acts, in accordance with a sincerely held religious belief or moral conviction described in subsection (a).

SEC. 202. JUDICIAL RELIEF.

(a) Cause of Action.—A person may assert an action for declaratory or injunctive relief under this title as a claim or defense in a judicial or administrative proceeding and obtain compensatory damages, injunctive relief, declaratory relief, or any other appropriate relief against the Federal Government. Standing to assert a claim or defense under this section shall be governed by the general rules of standing under article III of the Constitution.

(b) Administrative Remedies Not Required.—Notwithstanding any other provision of law, an action may be commenced, and relief may be granted, in a district court of the United States without regard to whether the person commencing the action has sought or exhausted available administrative remedies.

(c) Attorney’s Fees.—Section 722(b) of the Revised Statutes (42 U.S.C. 1988(b)) is amended by inserting “Title II of the Respect for Marriage Act,” after “the Religious Land Use and Institutionalized Persons Act of 2000,” as a cause within.

(d) Authority of United States To Enforce This Title.—The Attorney General may bring an action for injunctive or declaratory relief against an independent establishment described in title 5, United States Code, or an officer or employee of that independent establishment, to enforce compliance with this title. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to deny, impair, or otherwise affect any right or authority of the Attorney General, the United States, a federal employee, or officer of the United States, acting under any law other than this subsection, to institute or intervene in any proceeding.

SEC. 201. CONSTRUCTION.

(a) No Preemption, Repeal, or Narrow Construction.—Nothing in this title shall be construed to preempt State law, or repeal Federal law, that is equally or more protective of free exercise of religious beliefs and moral convictions. Nothing in this title shall be construed to narrow the meaning or application of State or Federal law protecting free exercise of religious beliefs and moral convictions.

(b) No Prevention of Providing Benefits or Services.—Nothing in this title shall be construed to prevent the Federal Government from providing, either directly or through a person not seeking protection under this title, any benefit or service authorized under Federal law.

(c) No Affirmation or Endorsement of Views.—Nothing in this title shall be construed to affirm or otherwise endorse any person’s belief, speech, or action about marriage.

(d) Severability.—If any provision of this title or any application of such provision to any person or circumstance is held to be unconstitutional, the remainder of this title and the application of the provision to any other person or circumstance shall not be affected.

SEC. 204. DEFINITIONS.

In this title:

1. Federal Benefit Program.—The term “Federal benefit program” has the meaning given that term in section 552a of title 5, United States Code.

2. Federal Government.—The terms “Federal” and “Federal Government” relate to and include—

(A) any department, commission, board, or other agency of the Federal Government;

(B) any officer, employee, or agent of the Federal Government; and

(C) the District of Columbia and all Federal territories and possessions.

3. Person.—The term “person” means a person as defined in section 1 of title 1, United States Code, except that such term shall not include—

(A) publicly traded for-profit entities;

(B) Federal employees acting within the scope of their employment;

(C) Federal for-profit contractors acting within the scope of their contract; or

(D) hospitals, clinics, hospices, nursing homes, or other medical or residential custodial facilities with respect to visitation, recognition of a designated representative for health care decision-making, or refusal to provide medical treatment necessary to cure an illness or injury.

Mr. LEE. Madam President, today, as popular winds blow against the man and woman of faith, we should look to the Constitution and remember that “Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof . . .” We do a disservice to all Americans if we elevate the rights of one group at the expense of another.

On the one hand, there is no existing threat to same-sex marriage. It is and will remain constitutionally and nationwide regardless of the outcome of this legislation before us, the Respect for Marriage Act. On the other hand, we have current, real, sustained ongoing assaults on religious freedom.

How we proceed today will do nothing to the status quo of same-sex marriage in this country. It is legal and will remain legal regardless of the outcome of this legislation. It will, however, if enacted, have profound consequences for people of faith.

In the wake of the Dobbs decision, proponents of this legislation have conjured up series of hypothetical scenarios, resulting in an imagined threat to the ability of same-sex couples to marry and enjoy the privileges of marriage.

The rhetorical slippery slope goes something like this: First, they claim that some unknown, unnamed State is on the verge of passing an unknown, yet-to-be-proposed or imagined law prohibiting same-sex marriage. Next, they imagine that Federal district courts will uphold this hypothetical State law despite the crystal-clear direction within the Dobbs and Obergefell opinions from the Supreme Court.

Should that adventure of unlikely hypotheticals transpire, they envision a case making its way all the way up to the Supreme Court of the United States. All of this despite the lack of political will anywhere in the United States to prohibit same-sex marriage.

Should that happen, proponents of this bill contend that there is a nonzero chance that one Justice could decide to analyze the right to marry not through the prism of substantive due process but rather through the lens of the 14th Amendment’s privileges or immunities clause.

Proponents of the bill cite a single line within Justice Thomas’s concurring opinion and suggest that one Justice could effectively destroy legal recognition of same-sex marriage not just prospectively but undoing currently legal same-sex marriages.

Now, this is a complete fantasy. I am not aware of a single State in the United States threatening to pass any law infringing the ability of any same-sex couples to marry or enjoy privileges associated with marriage; nor am I aware of a single State threatening to invalidate, within their borders, marriages entered into in other States; nor is it at all clear that Justice Thomas himself was suggesting that Obergefell be overturned. What is really happening is that it be analyzed, like all substantive due process jurisprudence, to figure out whether there might be another provision of the Constitution under which it might be more appropriate.

They attribute to him statements he didn’t make. They are attributing to his analysis he didn’t even undertake in that one statement regarding the doctrine of stare decisis, and then they are attributing to States intentions they do not have and have not expressed.

My colleagues have yet to offer even a single example of a same-sex marriage threatened by any current or pending State legislation—not one, not a single one—and they intentionally misinterpret Justice Thomas’s concurring opinion in Dobbs and claim that the sky is falling. But it is just not happening.

On the one hand, we are aware of case after case where individuals, charities, small businesses, religious schools, and religious institutions are being hauled into courts to defend themselves for living out their faith. These people are not committing harm against their neighbors. No, they are not abusing peers for their personal choices either.

No, they are being hauled into courts across this country for serving the poor, the needy, and the refugee in compliance with their sincerely held religious beliefs. In Texas, the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops is currently being sued for operating in accordance with Catholic beliefs regarding marriage while providing foster homes for unaccompanied minor children.

Now, proponents of this bill claim that these charities will be free to continue to operate. However, in that case, the question is this: How can the Conference of Catholic Bishops receive Federal funding to help with its work, it might be operating under color of law. If accepting grants and licenses from the government makes you an agent under color of law, any of our religious charities and schools will be threatened by this legislation, which relies on that unambiguous, undefined phrase. Either the U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops can cease operating according to its religious tenets or abandon its God-given mission to care for the refugee.

In at least three other cases, religious childcare service agencies deemed to be acting under color of law and thus shut out of foster care and adoption. These religious ministries can either abandon and cease to act according to their convictions, their religious convictions about marriage, or they can abandon the orphan.

This Nation and our orphans rely on these charities. We cannot and must not force that decision on them. That isn’t who we are. From the very moment of our founding, we have been a nation that has welcomed people of all beliefs and of no belief at all.

In recent years, the Obama administration, through the U.S. Department of Education, compiled a so-called shame list outlining more than 200 faith-based colleges and universities seeking religious exemptions from Title IX. The guidance on transgender and sex discrimination. It is highly likely that these organizations could also risk losing their 501(c)(3) status.

Considering that we are in the process of hiring 67,000 new IRS agents within the Internal Revenue Service, it is not beyond the realm of possibility that some of these new IRS agents will be deployed specifically to review the tax-exempt status of some of these traditionally exempt religious schools. These colleges and universities can either cease operating according to their religious convictions or run the risk of losing their ability to provide quality education at reduced prices. We may well find that we will not be able to do both, and that would be a tragedy.

Dr. Andrew Fox created a chaplaincy program at the Austin Fire Department, where he served as the lead chaplain in that capacity for 8 years, earning the trust and respect of local firefighters. In a personal blog—nothing connected to his work, just a personal blog—Dr. Fox shared his religious views, his religious views specifically regarding marriage.

City officials demanded he recant his statements and apologize for the harm that his blog post allegedly caused. He explained that he intended only to foster discussion and not cause offense, and he apologized if anyone was offended. Clearly, there was enough for city officials who demanded total compliance with their preferred views on marriage, views that didn’t embrace his own religious beliefs. They forced Dr. Fox to hand in his uniform. He could keep his job or his beliefs but not both.

We should not be surprised by the current state of affairs. After all, it was abundantly clear during the Obergefell oral argument before the Supreme Court this threat to religious nonprofits would be forthcoming. The precipent exchange between Justice Alito and then-Solicitor General Donald Verrilli forecasted the present hostility and the corresponding threats to religious organizations.

Justice Alito asked whether, should States be required to recognize same-sex marriages, religious universities could lose their tax-exempt status.

He responded, the response from Solicitor General Verrilli was chilling. He said:

'It’s certainly going to be an issue. I don’t deny that. I don’t deny that, Justice Alito. It is going to be an issue.'

It is an issue today, and under this legislation it will only get worse tomorrow unless we take affirmative steps to prevent that from happening. And we have the opportunity to do so here, and we shouldn’t miss it.

Unlike the hypothetical but entirely nonexistent marriages being threatened against, these religious nonprofits are currently, right now, in court fighting for their God-given and constitutionally protected rights to live and operate according to their beliefs and conscience. They are being targeted and harassed by those who would force them to abandon their convictions and embrace the convictions preferred by the government.

Sadly, the hostages at risk in this standoff may be widowed from the charitable work of these institutions: the poor, the hungry, the refugee, the student, and the orphan. Instead of resolving the concern posed by Justice Alito, this legislation will put the weighty thumb of government on the scale against religious organizations and individuals.

Now, they say: Don’t worry; you can still believe as you wish. But if, in living out your beliefs, you defend the views sanctioned by the government, you will suffer the consequences.

What do we get for this heavy sacrifice of religious freedom? Are we alleviating the suffering of same-sex families from government interference? No. As I have said, we haven’t heard of even one potential threat to same-sex marriage, not one. The only outcome we can expect from this legislation is for religious individuals, businesses, and institutions to spend more time and more money defending their God-given rights in court.

In our pluralistic society, we must be willing to compromise and adapt so that we might live peacefully, peacefully with one another. In that spirit of compromise, we are doing what it would protect the right to believe as we wish and live out those beliefs without government interference. I believe we can do both. In fact, I know we can do both.

Now, the Collins-Baldwin amendment takes a step in the right direction, and I am grateful for that. Rabbis, imams, and pastors should never be forced to perform a marriage contrary to their beliefs. But religious liberty is so much more than marriage. It entails so much more than what might go on within the four walls of a mosque, a synagogue, or a church. It certainly entails and must include the ability of people to practice their faith not only at church but at home and in the public square.

In the hope that we can come to a place where we respect each other, I have offered an amendment to this legislation. In this act, I wish to minimize the threats to these religious organizations and individuals. I am not simply prohibiting the Federal Government from discriminating against schools, businesses, and organizations based on their religious beliefs about same-sex marriage. That is all I wish to do. However, that it doesn’t do what my amendment does and therefore doesn’t do what many of its proponents are claiming.

Nowhere in that legislation is a statement prohibiting the Federal Government from taking adverse action against an individual or an entity based on a sincere religious belief about same-sex marriage, whether that religious belief is one that embraces or does not embrace same-sex marriage. It does not do that. It instead says that the Federal Government can do both. It can do both. It can do both. It can do both.

This is a legitimate concern—some may argue this is one more reason to support the Collins substitute amendment. The Collins substitute amendment contains protections that already accommodate this concern. The Collins substitute amendment does, in fact, contain some protections. I am grateful that those were included, and that is a meaningful step in the right direction. I must point out, however, that it doesn’t do what my amendment does and therefore doesn’t do what many of its proponents are claiming.

Nowhere in that legislation is a statement prohibiting the Federal Government from taking adverse action against an individual or an entity based on a sincere religious belief about same-sex marriage, whether that religious belief is one that embraces or does not embrace same-sex marriage. It does not do that. It instead says that the Federal Government can do both. It can do both. It can do both. It can do both.

That language does not what my amendment does. You see, the threat is not and never was based on what the act itself would do. The act doesn’t purport to itself deny or alter any status or benefit or right. So by taking that away, they are paying lip service to the need for my amendment, but they are not actually addressing it.

The threat has been as least since Obergefell itself was decided for the reasons that prompted Justice Alito to ask then-Solicitor General Verrilli a question about it and the same reasons that prompted Solicitor General Verrilli to acknowledge that it was going to be an issue. Those same reasons exist today. They don’t go away because of this legislation. If anything, they are enhanced. The risk is enhanced as a result of this legislation.

That is why this is the perfect opportunity, it is the right opportunity, it may very well be the only opportunity to make sure that, as we are undertaking a legislative effort to codify rights for one group of Americans, we don’t do so in a particularly un-American way; that is, enhance the rights of some at the expense of others. That is not how I think you can do things in this country. We can protect both of these interests at the same time, just as we can walk and chew gum.

So for those who would say the Lee amendment isn’t necessary because the Collins amendment already takes care of it, that is just not true. And even if it were true, why not accept the Lee amendment anyway? Which begs the question of why wouldn’t anyone want to deny the Federal Government the authority to retaliate against individuals, nonprofits, and other entities based on their sincerely held religious beliefs? Think about that for a minute. Why is it that people who believe that their view is the right way to view the world want to deny that very power from a government that may wield it in a way that is categorically abusive?

For my Republican friends who are sympathetic to the need for my amendment, I would ask that you support it. I would ask that you support the Lee amendment. I would ask that you support it because I believe that the Lee amendment is absolutely necessary. I believe that the Lee amendment is absolutely necessary in order to ensure that, as we are under a legislative effort to codify rights for one group of Americans, we don’t do so in a particularly un-American way; that is, enhance the rights of some at the expense of others.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To eliminate a private right of action by faith-based and religious organizations to enforce any employment or labor relations law).

Section 1738C of title 28, United States Code, as added by section 4, is amended by striking subsections (c) and (d) and inserting the following:

“(c) STATE DEFINED.—In this section, the term ‘State’ has the meaning given such term under section 7 of title 5.”

AMENDMENT NO. 6496

Mr. LANKFORD. I would like to also call up amendment No. 6496 and ask that it also be reported by number.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will report by number.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read as follows:

The Senate from Oklahoma [Mr. LANKFORD], for Mr. RUBIO, proposes an amendment numbered 6496 to Amendment No. 6487.

The amendment is as follows:

(Purpose: To improve the bill)

On page 3, beginning on line 3, strike “No person acting under color of State law” and insert “No State, territory or possession of the United States, or Indian Tribe”.

On page 3, strike line 22 and all that follows through page 6, line 3, and insert the following:

“(a) NO IMPACT ON BENEFITS, STATUS, OR RIGHTS.—Nothing in this Act, or any amendment made by this Act, shall be construed to deny or alter any benefit, status, or right (including tax-exempt status, tax treatment, educational funding, or a grant, contract, agreement, guarantee, loan, scholarship, license, certification, accreditation, claim, or defense) of any entity or person.

(1) if such benefit, status, or right does not arise from a marriage; or

(2) if such potential denial or alteration would be based in whole or in part on the belief, practice, or observance, of the entity or person about marriage.

On page 6, between lines 8 and 9, insert the following:

(c) NO IMPACT FROM PARTNERSHIPS.—For purposes of this Act, and any amendment made by this Act, no faith-based organization shall be construed under color of State law on the basis of any partnership the organization entered into with a government.

Mr. LANKFORD. Madam President, in 2015, after the Obergefell decision came down from the Supreme Court, putting same-sex marriage as the law of the land, President Obama made a statement to the country. He came and spoke to the country when there was a lot of heat and a lot of emotion going on around the country around that particular decision. He was supportive of the Obergefell decision, but he made this statement. At that time, President Obama said:

‘I know that Americans of goodwill continue to hold a range of views on this issue. Opposition in some cases has been based on sincere and deeply held [religious] beliefs. All of us who welcome today’s news, who support my amendment, hopefully, presume to respect the underlying bill, because if you support my amendment, hopefully, presumably, that means it is because you agree with something—that it does something necessary. It certainly doesn’t counteract, contradict, or undermind the stated purpose of this bill in any way. So if you believe that it is necessary and you are going to vote for it, if it fails, you should oppose passage of this bill unless or until the Lee amendment is adopted.

We could get this done. I understand that it is not going to happen as long as there are those who want to deny that willingness to join with every Democrat in order to support this legislation. But if even 3 of the 12 Republicans considering support for this legislation in the end—if even 3 of them supporting my amendment decide not to support the bill unless or until the Lee amendment is added, I am confident—indeed, I am certain—that it could and would ultimately be adopted.

As I said, we must be willing to compromise to protect the interests of all. I urge my colleagues to support my amendment, which would ensure that all Americans would have certain rights and that their religious beliefs and their moral convictions will be expressed by all Americans.

says any entity that is acting under the color of State law, and then it puts all the restrictions there on them. That is a broadening, actually, of what Obergefell actually did. This says any entity, actually, or individual who is acting under the color of State law. What does that mean? Most people don’t live in that legal kind of counsel. Well, this would be an entity that a State actually hires to fulfill something for them on behalf of the State.

Let me give you an example on this. A private prison may be one of those examples, but it could also be adoption agencies, foster care agencies. It could be an entity that actually does housing for immigrant and migrant families. It could be a homeless shelter that is contracted by the State to be able to provide services. It could be any number of entities. Many of these entities are actually done by religious organizations that the State actually contracts with them to be able to do those services. In this new statute, if this passes in 2 hours, there would be a new restriction on those religious entities that formally held contracts that then would very well be pushed out from providing those services.

Let me explain how our Nation functions under not just government operations but cooperation with families and with faith-based entities and nonprofit entities around the country. Our safety net, I talk about often—our first safety net is families, the second safety net is the families, the third safety net is government. Many governments partner with nonprofit— including faith-based—entities to be able to carry out social services. For those entities, they would now have a target on them because they are functioning under the color of State law, and they would have new restrictions. So their choice would be either not to provide those services or to abandon their faith.

Now, what are the challenges to them in particular in this? Well, the first challenge is that they would face litigation from the Attorney General’s Office. The second challenge would be they now face a new what is called a private right of action. That is what the second area my amendment specifically deals with. First, it corrects this looping into lots of new faith-based entities and saying: You are now a State actor; you are under new restrictions. The second one would be this private right of action.

The private right of action would now be—anyone who is functioning “under the color of State law” would now be a target from an individual who believes that they have been harmed by the entity. Now, it is not defined—what “harmed” means—in this new statute; it just says that if someone feels they have been harmed by it, they would now have the opportunity to be able to sue someone because of that.

It is not hard for me to be able to say something that is fairly obvious; that is, if Congress creates a new right to sue people, there will be a lot more lawsuits, and there will be new tests and evaluations on that. For anyone who believes that this new right to be able to sue people won’t be used and won’t be used quickly by lawyers and startups outside of the country, you are kidding yourself. What will happen in the days ahead, there will be—who knows?—countless numbers of lawsuits testing every new definition of what, under the color of State law, means harm and government might look like. Whether that is a vendor who is at an official State event or whether that is an entity that is providing something like a private prison or adoption services, they will all face lawsuits testing out the limits of this new law. We don’t know what those limits will be determined by the courts. We have no idea because it is not defined what it means when they have been harmed and what that definition might mean to different courts around the country. But we do know this is going to be a major issue.

My first question is, why is this even included in this bill at all? There is already a protection that the State has the opportunity to be able to make sure they are enforcing the law within their State. This new private right of action, though, goes above and beyond that and gives the opportunity for entrepreneurial lawyers to be able to practice their craft at the detriment of entities all over the country.

What it really does is it silences any individual who may disagree in the days ahead by entrepreneurial attorneys testing out the limits of this new law. We don’t know what those limits will be determined by the courts. We have no idea because it is not defined what it means when they have been harmed and what that definition might mean to different courts around the country. But we do know this is going to be a major issue.

The third big issue that we try to address is when we talk about the Supreme Court ruling on Obergefell today, it is not hard for me to be able to say from the text that we actually read from the text 7(a)—now, 7(a) actually says.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Ohio.

Mr. PORTMAN. Madam President, I come to the floor today in support of the Respect for Marriage Act. I want to summarize my remarks, though, and have unanimous consent that my full remarks be printed in today’s RECORD.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. PORTMAN. The Supreme Court declared same-sex marriage as a constitutional right way back in 2015, and the overwhelming majority of Americans support that group. According to Gallup, over 70 percent of Americans believe same-sex marriage should be recognized as valid under law, including a majority of Republicans.

Despite this strong support, the U.S. Code does not reflect that consensus in America. Current legislation allows States and the Federal Government to refuse to recognize valid same-sex marriages. While it is true the Supreme Court has held this law is not enforceable, it still represents Congress’s last word on the subject. The American people rightly expect their elected representatives to honor our laws in line with their beliefs. That is part of what this legislation does.

It is time for the Senate to settle the issue. The Respect for Marriage Act, which passed the House with overwhelming partisan support, including the 46 Republicans on the House side, simply allows interracial or same-sex couples who are validly married under the laws of one State to know that their marriage will be recognized by the Federal Government and other States if they move. This is all in accordance with well-established Supreme Court precedence.

Settling this issue is well within the constitutional authority of us here in Congress. After all, the full faith and credit clause is part of our Constitution.

Since the bipartisan passage of this bill by the House of Representatives earlier this year, in response to concerns over religious liberty, this already-narrow bill has been significantly amended in the Senate to include robust religious liberty protections. By working collaboratively on a bipartisan basis with religious liberty scholars; faith organizations; Senate colleagues; and some I see on the floor here today; and other stakeholders, we have developed a substitute amendment that contains important protections for people of faith. It has five key changes to the underlying bill.

Remember, this is a bill that already passed the House with 46 Republican supporters, but these are religious liberty provisions that we have added to it.

First, it has an express acknowledgment that decent and honorable people hold diverse views about the role of gender and marriage and that such people and their beliefs are due respect. This is an important statement that has implications that protect religious liberty.

Second, it explicitly protects all existing religious liberty and conscience protections under the First Amendment and Federal laws including the powerful protections provided by the Religious Freedom Restoration Act.

Third, it guarantees that this bill cannot be used to target or deny benefits, including tax-exempt status, grants, contracts, educational funding, licenses, accreditation, certification, and many others because a person or organization holds a traditional belief about marriage. This protects everything from the tax status of religious nonprofits to the accreditation of religious schools, to the contracts between faith-based adoption providers and the government from being attacked using this bill.

Fourth, it ensures that nonprofit religious organizations, including churches, mosques, synagogues, religious schools, and others cannot be required to provide facilities, goods, or services for marriage ceremonies or celebrations against their will.

Fifth, it has an explicit prohibition on the recognition of polygamous marriages.

These religious liberty provisions are significant and they are meaningful and they have earned the endorsement of important faith groups. In a joint letter, they state that: “We commend the Equal Liberty Alliance, a coalition of faith-based organizations, including the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, also known as the Mormon Church; the Seventh-Day Adventist Church; the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America; the Council for Christian Colleges & Universities; the Center for Public Justice; the AND Campaign; the Institutional Religious Freedom Alliance; and the 1st Amendment Partnership—all of them concluded that our religious liberty amendments comprehensively address core religious freedom concerns raised by the bill, including tax exempt status, educational funding, government grants and contracts, and eligibility for licenses, certification and accreditation. In short, if passed, it would continue to build on the congressional wisdom represented by the Religious Freedom Restoration Act of 1993.”

So that is what these religious groups—that is what they say about it. They help with the language.

A group of leading religious liberty scholars and advocates for religious liberty have analyzed the bill, and they have reached the same conclusion. These scholars include, by the way, Professor Doug Laycock, who argued on behalf of faith groups and won two foundational religious liberty cases before the U.S. Supreme Court. On balance, a group of these distinguished professors determined that this bill is an “advance for religious liberty” because, as they say, the “protections are important.”

Notwithstanding these important protections and the opinion of leading experts in the field, the critics of this bill continue to level accusations about what this bill does that are simply not accurate.

First, some critics claim this bill provides grounds for the IRS or other government bodies to revoke the tax-exempt status or other benefits from religious organizations that adhere to traditional views on marriage. This couldn’t be further from the truth. Section 7(a) of our amendment actually expressly forbids the outcome that these critics are warning of. It prohibits the use of the bill to target the tax-exempt status, certification, accreditation, grant, funding, loan, license, or any other nonmarital status, right, or benefit of religious organizations. To quote Professor Laycock’s analysis:

“Those who claim that the bill would be used as a ground for denying tax-exempt status to organizations adhering to male-female marriage, by analogy to Bob Jones, are disregarding the statutory text.

In addition to the statutory prohibition, this amendment contains a clear statement from Congress, again, that diverse beliefs about the role of gender and marriage, including the belief that marriage is between one man and one woman, come from decent and honorable premises and are due respect. This congressional statement distinguishes the belief that marriage should be between a man and a woman from the belief that interracial marriage is wrong. This distinction is important, and rather than portraying those who believe in traditional marriage as bigots, reflects a national policy that respects diverse views about the role of gender in marriage, while also protecting the rights of same-sex married couples, and that is the key.

Second, some critics argue that this bill will lead to more litigation between “institutions and individuals trying to live according to their sincerely held religious beliefs.” This is also false. The bill only governs the conduct of State actors and contains litigation tools that are provided against private religious entities acting in a private capacity, even the ones that receive the majority of their funding from the State. To quote, again, from Professor Laycock’s analysis, the Respect for Marriage Act provides our bipartisan substitute amendment “poses little or no new risk to religious liberty beyond those that already exist.”

Third, some critics continue to make this bewildering argument that this bill will lead to legalizing and recognizing polygamy. Again, this has no grounding in reality. No State allows bigamy or polygamy, and this bill does not change this. Moreover, our amendment explicitly says nothing in this Act, or any amendment made by this Act, shall be construed to require or authorize Federal recognition of marriages between more than 2 individuals.

Finally, some critics argue this bill is insufficient because it does not contain new enforceable rights for private businesses and other entities beyond the scope of this bill. This bill, as legal scholars and many faith groups agree, poses no new risks to religious organizations, while containing significant benefits and protections for people of faith.

Of course, this bill does not cover or address every lawsuit or dispute that might arise from religious interests, but it does address the disputes that could arise because of this bill.

In conclusion, I urge my colleagues to look carefully at the new religious liberty provisions we have provided in it. I hope you will be able to support the Respect for Marriage Act. The substitute amendment is a carefully negotiated, well-crafted piece of legislation that protects people of faith as well as those who marry same-sex married couples. A statement in a recent letter from the Council for Christian Colleges & Universities accurately states that our amendment...
The current legislation allows marriages of one man and one woman. In a national referendum, the American people have voted overwhelmingly in favor of this choice. This majority view has been acknowledged by Congress, the Administration, and the public. LGBTQ rights can co-exist with religious freedom protections, and the rights of both groups can be advanced in a way that is prudent and practical.

I think that is the major point here. They can coexist. That is what our legislation proves. That is why it deserves the support, in my view, of our colleagues.

So I urge them to join me in taking this path forward to pass this bill with the same overwhelming bipartisan support we saw in the House of Representatives. The American people want us to settle this issue. Millions of American couples who are married, including many in Ohio, are counting on us to recognize and protect their marriage and give them the peace of mind that they deserve.

I yield the floor.

Madam President, I come to the floor today in support of the Respect for Marriage Act. I hope the Senate will pass this important legislation today.

The Supreme Court declared that same-sex marriage is a constitutional right in 2015 and the overwhelming majority of Americans support this view. According to Gallup, over 70 percent of Americans believe that same-sex marriages should be recognized as valid by the law, including a majority of Republicans.

Despite this vast support, the U.S. Code does not reflect the American consensus. Current legislation allows States to refuse to recognize valid same-sex marriages. While it is true that the Supreme Court has held that this law is not enforceable, it still represents Congress’s last word on the subject. The American people rightly expect their elected representatives to bring our laws in line with their beliefs.

It is time for the Senate to settle the issue. The Respect for Marriage Act, which passed the House with overwhelming bipartisan support, simply allows interracial or same-sex couples who were validly married under the laws of one State, to know their marriage will be recognized by the Federal Government and by other States if they move in accordance with established Supreme Court precedent.

This short, narrow bill has two main effects, both of which are well within the constitutional authority of Congress.

First, it ensures that marriages legally performed in one State are recognized as valid in other States, regardless of sex or race. This is a straightforward application of the full faith and credit clause of the Constitution.

Under this clause, States are required to recognize things like court judgments and public records from other States. This bill will simply clarify that marriage is one of the things that must be recognized across State lines.

Second, this bill specifies that the Federal Government will recognize a marriage that is valid in the State where it was performed. This portion of the bill keeps the Federal Government out of the business of defining marriage and leaves that decision to the States, where it properly belongs.

As you can see, this bill is extremely narrow. It is constitutional, and it does not infringe on State sovereignty. This is a bill that simply ensures, as a matter of statutory law, that interracial and same-sex marriages that were legal in the State they were performed will be recognized if the couple moves to a different State.

In response to concerns over religious liberty, since the bipartisan passage by the House of Representatives earlier this year, this already narrow bill has been significantly amended in the Senate to include robust religious liberty protections. By working collaboratively on a bipartisan basis with religious liberty scholars, faith organizations, colleagues, and other stakeholders, we have a substantive amendment that contains important protections for people of faith. This amendment contains five key changes to the underlying bill.

First, it contains an express acknowledgement that decent and honorable people hold diverse views about the role of gender in marriage and that such people and their beliefs are due respect.

Second, it explicitly protects all existing religious liberty and conscience protections under the First Amendment and Federal laws, including the powerful protections provided by the Religious Freedom Restoration Act.

Third, it guarantees that this bill cannot be used to target or deny benefits—including tax-exempt status, grants, contracts, educational funding, licenses, accreditation, certification, and many others—because a person or organization holds a traditional belief about marriage. Every Church, synagogue, school, university, nonprofit, and government body that the Federal Government authorizes to act as a ‘public interest’ actor must be protected.

Fourth, it ensures that nonprofit religious organizations, including churches, mosques, synagogues, religious schools, and others cannot be required to provide facilities, goods, or services for marriage ceremonies or celebrations against their will.

Fifth, it contains an explicit prohibition on the recognition of polygamous marriages.

These religious liberty provisions are significant, they are meaningful, and they have earned the endorsement of important faith groups that hold to an understanding that marriage is between one man and one woman. In a joint letter to the Senate, eight of these critical organizations—including the Council of Conservative Christians, the Christian Legal Society, the Traditional Values Coalition, the Family Security Institute, and others—have endorsed the amendment.

In addition to this statutory prohibition, the amendment also contains a clear listing of religious exemptions. If enacted, this bill will provide adequate religious conscience protections for all faith groups and for the American people. It is a bill that respects the religious liberty of all Americans and advances the cause of religious liberty for all Americans.

This amendment is not an advance against religious liberty. It is an advance for religious liberty. It contains significant, robust religious conscience protections by working collaboratively on a bipartisan basis with religious liberty scholars. They have authored briefs and influential texts on religious liberty. On balance, these distinguished professors determined that this bill is an “advance for religious liberty.”

The amendment contains five key changes to the underlying bill. It is time for the Senate to pass this important legislation today.
statement from Congress that diverse beliefs about the role of gender in marriage—including the belief that marriage is between one man and one woman—come from decent and honorable premises and are due respect. This congame of American culture demonstrates the belief that marriage should be between a man and a woman from the belief that interracial marriage is wrong. This distinction is important, and rather than portraying those who believe in traditional marriage as bigots, reflects a national policy that recognizes diverse beliefs about the role of gender in marriage, while also protecting the rights of same-sex married couples.

Second, some critics argue that this bill will lead to more litigation against “institutions and individuals trying to live according to their sincerely held religious beliefs.” This is also false. This bill only governs the conduct of State actors and contains no new litigation tools that could be used against private entities acting in a private capacity, even ones receiving the majority of their funding from the State. To quote again from Professor Laycock’s analysis, the Respect for Marriage Act and our bipartisan substitute “poses little or no new risk to religious liberty beyond those that already exist.”

Third, some critics continue to make the bewildering argument that this bill could lead to legalized and recognized polygamy. This has no grounding in reality. No State allows bigamy or polygamy, and this bill does nothing to change this. Moreover, our amendment explicitly says that “Nothing in this Act, or any amendment made by this Act, shall be construed to require or authorize Federal recognition of marriages between more than 2 individuals.” No court would entertain the fanciful arguments suggested by critics that a man married to multiple women is somehow not engaged in polygamous marriage.

Finally, some critics argue that this bill is deficient because it does not contain new enforceable rights for private business or other entities that apply beyond the scope of this bill. This is not a fair criticism. This bill—as legal scholars and many faith groups agree—poses no new risks to religious organizations, while containing significant benefits and protections for people of faith. This bill does not remove or address every lawsuit or dispute that may arise between LGBT and religious interests, but it does address the disputes that could arise because of the bill.

Having addressed these erroneous arguments and criticisms, I also want to take a moment to address the three amendments that we will vote on today. None of the amendments that we are voting on solve perceived problems created by this bill. As I just described, this bill is narrow. It provides no new risks to religious organizations, and it contains important protections for people of faith.

Senator Lee’s amendment provides new affirmative rights that allow people to sue the government—including lawsuits for money damages—if the government discriminates against their beliefs about marriage in any number of ways. Now, because of the significant limitations and prohibitions that we have added, none of the discrimination contemplated by Senator Lee could occur because of the Respect for Marriage Act. In other words, this right is right this bill. The Lee amendment goes far beyond the scope of the bill before us and seeks to address harms and resolve disputes that are not created by the Respect for Marriage Act. Although I disagree with Senator Lee that his amendment solves any potential problem created by the Respect for Marriage Act, I support the overall goal of providing a defense to discrimination in other contexts. I, therefore, will vote in favor of this amendment.

Senators CRUZ and Senator RUBIO have proposed separate amendments, both which remove the private right of action from this bill. I do not support this change. It does not fix any alleged problem created by this bill or any way. A private right of action is a common way for Congress to allow Americans to enforce their statutory rights. It simply allows someone to go to court and to receive a judgment if they have been harmed. To illustrate, just how common the private right of action is a necessary enforcement mechanism for this bill and removing it could leave those who have their rights under this law violated without a remedy. In other words, it undermines the very purpose of this relief. I will vote for the Lee amendment and will support—also provide a cause of action.

There is no reason to strip the private right of action from this bill because it is extremely narrow and cannot be used against anyone acting in a private capacity. It also cannot be used to obtain money damages. This provision simply allows someone to get a court order requiring a State actor to recognize a marriage. Contrary to the claims of some critics, it absolutely does not allow lawsuits against private parties simply because they contract or receive funding from the government.

The right of action is a necessary enforcement mechanism for this bill and removing it could leave those who have their rights under this law violated without a remedy. In other words, it undermines the very purpose of this relief. I will vote for the Lee amendment for this reason.

In conclusion, I urge my colleagues to look carefully at the new religious liberty provisions and to support the Respect for Marriage Act. The substitute amendment is a carefully negotiated, well-crafted piece of legislation that protects people of faith as well as same-sex married couples. A statement in a recent letter from the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities captures my views precisely, and so I quote directly from it. This amendment “sends a strong bipartisan message to Congress, the Administration, and the public that LGBTQ rights can co-exist with religious freedom protections, and that the rights of both groups can be advanced in a way that is prudent and practical.”

I urge my colleagues to join me in taking this path forward and to pass this bill with the same overwhelming bipartisan support that we saw in the House of Representatives. The American people want us to settle this issue once and for all. Millions of American married couples, including many in Ohio, are counting on us to recognize and protect the rights they choose to give them the peace of mind they deserve. We shouldn’t let them down.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wyoming.

Ms. LUMMIS. My days since the first cloture vote on the Respect for Marriage Act, as amended, have involved a painful exercise in accepting admonishment and fairly brutal self-soul-searching—entirely avoidable, I might add, had I simply chosen to vote no.

The Bible teaches that marriage is between one man and one woman. I accept God’s Word, in God’s Word as to the definition of marriage. I support my church’s adherence to that Biblical pronouncement. I support Wyoming statute which codifies that definition. I find solace in people and organizations that share my beliefs.

I, and many like me, have been vilified and despised by some who disagree with our beliefs. They do not withhold bitter invective. They use their own hateful speech to make sure that I and others who believe as I do know that we are hated and despised by them. Americans on the other side of this issue can relate to ill treatment as well.

So why have I strayed with such anguish from a path that conforms to my beliefs, my instructions, my faith, to vote for the Respect for Marriage Act? The answer to that question lies in our history, in how we got here as a nation and as a people, and in where we are as a nation and as a people today.

In the 1600s, colonizers Roger Williams of Rhode Island and William Penn of Pennsylvania cited Scripture and the Protestant reformers to confer with God as the judge of conscience. Williams referred to religious liberty as “liberty of the soul.” The charter of the Colony of Rhode Island required religious toleration—“that all may . . . freely and fully have and enjoy his and their own judgments and consciences, in matters of religious concerns.”

George Whitefield’s groundbreaking message, without which these United States never would have come into being, emphasized an individual’s personal relationship with God, where previously the individual deferred to the church. These became foundational for our current American approach to the relationship between State and church.

In 2015, the U.S. Supreme Court, in its Obergefell decision, established a constitutional right to same-sex unions, using the term “marriage.”
Tens of thousands of same-sex American couples have married in reliance on that Supreme Court decision. The term “marriage” now has two meanings: the Biblical and the secular. The Respect for Marriage Act, by design, references neither definition. It uses the term “marriage” to mean the act recognizes that both definitions exist and codifies that a marriage legally entered in one State will be legally accepted by the others. Further, the act provides protection from persecution by a government authority toward a church and its organizations of religious instruction that adhere only to the Biblical definition.

These are turbulent times for our Nation. Americans address each other in more crude and cruel terms than ever in my lifetime. It is jarring and uncon- coming of us as human beings. It is highly intolerant, and, frequently, the most so when expressed by those who advocate for tolerance. Many of us ask ourselves: Our Nation is so divided. When will this end, and will it end?

Just as when our Nation was founded, when the New World tore itself from the old, people of diverse faiths, beliefs, and backgrounds had to come to terms with each other, had to tolerate the seemingly intolerable about each other’s views, and had to respect each other’s rights, even before the Constitution enumerated those rights. They had to tolerate each other in order to survive as a people, most certainly with divine guidance, they did.

For the sake of our Nation today and its survival, we do well by taking this step, not embracing or validating each other’s devoutly held views but by the simple act of tolerating them. And that explains my vote.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Maine.

Ms. COLLINS. Madam President, before I begin my remarks, let me commend the Senator from Wyoming for her very moving and perceptive comments. I was very glad to be here on the Senate floor to witness her speech, which I think imparts valuable lessons for all of us to follow.

I rise today in support of the Respect for Marriage Act, which would ensure that all married couples—including same-sex and interracial couples—are entitled to the rights and responsibilities of marriage, regardless of the State in which they live.

Let us remember that we are talking about our family members, our neighbors, our coworkers, our friends—people who have stood by us. I will not call them out by name, but I will continue to stand—with them in the efforts to secure their rights, while also steadfastly protecting and respecting religious liberty.

With regard to marriage equality, the Respect for Marriage Act accomplishes two primary goals. First, it would guarantee that a valid marriage between two individuals in one State is recognized by other States, regardless of the couple’s sex, race, ethnicity, or national origin.

Second, it would require the Federal Government to recognize valid marriages between two individuals. Our bill is worthy, however, for the way that it advances the cause of religious liberty. Indeed, the substitute amendment that Senator BALDWIN and I introduced with Senators PORTMAN, SINEMA, and TILLIS, unambiguously adds significant religious liberty and conscience protections to the legislation.

These protections were developed in consultation with and have been endorsed by a wide array of faith-based groups. These include the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, the Seventh-day Adventist Church, the National Association of Evangelicals, the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations, the Council for Christian Colleges and Universities, the AND Campaign, the Freedom Alliance, the Center for Public Justice, and the 1st Amendment Partnership.

Every single one of these entities believes that marriage is between a man and a woman and that marriage is a fundamental institution that lost its tax-exempt status on the basis of those views, and had to respect each other’s views, and had to respect each other’s rights, even before the Constitution enumerated those rights. They had to tolerate each other in order to survive as a people, most certainly with divine guidance, they did.

For the sake of our Nation today and its survival, we do well by taking this step, not embracing or validating each other’s devoutly held views but by the simple act of tolerating them. And that explains my vote.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Utah.

Mr. PORTMAN. Madam President, I am proud to have stood— and I will continue to stand—with them in the efforts to secure their rights, while also steadfastly protecting and respecting religious liberty.

As Professor Laycock and his colleagues explained, “explicit congressional affirmation that the traditional male-female definition of marriage is ‘reasonable’ and ‘honorable’ would counter the analogy to racism and weaken the grounds for relying on Bob Jones University v. United States’—to justify rejecting tradition- alist believers’ religious-freedom claims.”

Despite this strong policy statement, some have continued to argue that the Respect for Marriage Act, with the substitute amendment, could still somehow be used to deprive religious organ- izations of their tax-exempt status. We have heard that on the floor today. This is simply false.

To avoid any ambiguity, the amend- ment states in section 7(a) that this bill cannot be used to deny or alter such status, as well as the “tax treatment, educational funding, or a grant, contract, agreement, guarantee, loan, or any other benefit or assistance provided under any Federal program.”

As the 1st Amendment Partnership, an organization dedicated to protecting religious freedom for Americans of all faiths, wrote in its analysis, “if you can’t be sued now under Obergefell, then you still can’t be sued under the’ Respect for Marriage Act.”

Of course, providing a way to pursue rights in court when those rights are unlawfully denied is not unusual. In- deed, other amendments filed to this legislation contain private causes of action. The amendment offered by our colleague from Utah, Senator Lee, would empower individuals to bring lawsuits even on the basis of ‘threats and violations’.

Notably, not only would the amended Respect for Marriage Act not diminish or abrogate any religious liberty or conscience protection, it also would provide affirmative protections and litigation defenses for people and organizations of faith that do not exist under current law.

For instance, the amendment contains an affirmative protection that prohibits religious nonprofits from excluding people from their organizations—including churches, synagogues, temples, mosques, religious schools, and faith-based social agencies—from being forced to provide goods, services, or accommodations in conjunction with the solemnization or celebration of a marriage against their beliefs. Moreover, the legislation flatly prohibits any litigation for such a denial.

The leader of one religious group recently wrote that our legislation, as amended, ‘sends a strong bipartisan message to Congress, the administration, and the public that LGBTQ rights can co-exist with religious freedom protections, and that the rights of both groups can be advanced in a way that is prudent and practical.’

I agree, and that is what our bill does. It advances the rights of couples—same-sex and interracial couples—who are married to one another, and it advances religious liberty.

I ask my colleagues to join me in supporting this important and historic step forward for religious liberty and for ensuring the dignity and respect for all Americans.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority whip.

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent to speak for 5 minutes before the rollcall begins.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority whip.

Mr. DURBIN. Madam President, I am glad that I am on the floor today to hear the previous speakers. I think Senator COLLINS of Maine gave a thoughtful presentation about the substance of this bill and addressed many of the worries and criticisms that were raised on the floor earlier.

I think one thing stuck with me: If there is a protection under Obergefell, it is the same protection under this bill. It is not an expansion of rights.

But I also want to thank the Senator from Wyoming. That was an outstanding statement. It really was, and I join Senator COLLINS in commending her for saying it. I am sure her position reflects her appeal to us in this Chamber and to the Nation to really seize this opportunity for tolerance. If there was ever a time when we needed more of that in this Nation, I can’t imagine when it was. We need it now more than ever.

It wasn’t but just a few days ago that there was a mass shooting involving those who were at a gay nightclub, and in the wake of that, we needed more than ever; we need to stand up and say there needs to be tolerance in America, and her statement really touched my heart. I thank her so much for coming to the floor and delivering it.

I take a look at this and say many times I have been critical of Supreme Court Justices, particularly Supreme Court Justice Thomas. We disagree more than we agree. But I, in a way, put myself in his shoes; I need to bring this to us to this moment because it was his statement in the Hobbs decision about the possibility of raising questions on other Supreme Court decisions that led us to the introduction of this Respect for Marriage Act.

I thank the Senators who led in that effort. I want to make sure that the RECORD reflects Senator Baldwin, Senator COLLINS, Senator PORTMAN, who spoke on the floor earlier, and Senator SINEMA and Senator TILLIS, the original cosponsors—bipartisan cosponsors—of the Respect for Marriage Act.

What are we considering here is very fundamental. I went back to read Obergefell, and what Justice Kennedy wrote in that majority opinion was he acknowledged that there is a constitutional protection based on due process and equal protection under the laws for same-sex marriage—fundamental. He said we don’t have to wait on the legislature to spell this out; it already exists. And that, to me, says how powerful this issue is.

My wife and I are blessed to have so many friends who are in same-sex marriages and are wonderful people in so many respects. It has really opened our eyes to the reality of life for so many good Americans who simply want to have the opportunity under the law to marry the people they love.

The vast majority of Americans believe in that. I do, and I think what we are trying to do today is to protect that right as best we can. Maybe what we are doing is not as expansive as Obergefell, but it is a genuine good-faith effort.

Senator LEE, in his amendment, claims that it is necessary for his amendment to protect religious liberty. But he ignores the robust protections for religious liberty already in the Respect for Marriage Act.

The bipartisan substitute has been quoted over and over, and it bears repeating:

Nothing in this Act, or any amendment made by this Act, shall be construed to diminish or abrogate a religious liberty or conscience protection otherwise available to an individual or organization under the Constitution of the United States or Federal law.

Of course, the free exercise of religion must be protected. No one disputes what Senator LEE wants. Only the bipartisan substitute amendment makes clear that this bill does not override existing religious freedom protections.

I commend those religious organizations that have stepped forward, read this bill carefully, and supported it publicly. I am proud of the political spectrum and religious spectrum of America. I think they understand the lengths that we went—those of us who supported it, as well as those who wrote it—in putting in provisions to protect the free exercise of religion.

But we must remember that this critical First Amendment right is a shield, not a sword. It cannot and must not be wielded to discriminate against individuals solely based on whom they love. We have seen too many who have tried to turn this crusade the wrong way. I hope today’s vote on the U.S. Senate floor makes it clear that we are here to protect civil rights and not enable civil violations. We need to protect LGBTQ families and ensure that same-sex marriages are offered the same stability and dignity that all marriages are entitled to.

For these reasons, I oppose Senator LEE’s amendment and encourage my colleagues to do the same.

I yield the floor.
The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. Murphy). On this vote, the yeas are 48, the nays are 49. The 60-vote threshold having not been achieved, the amendment is not agreed to.

The amendment (No. 6482) was rejected.

AMENDMENT NO. 6496

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, there is now 2 minutes equally divided prior to a vote in relation to amendment No. 6496, offered by the Senator from Oklahoma, Mr. Lankford.

The Senator from Oklahoma.

Mr. LANKFORD. Mr. President, this amendment is very, very narrowly tailored. It is in response to the bill. I have talked to several of the bill’s sponsors, and they have told me their intent is to be able to protect religious liberty, which I appreciate. That is what this amendment is all about. I am not able to have a balanced perspective in this particular bill because people of good will on both sides have disagreements in this area.

The problem is, there are three certain areas of the text that do not actually meet that standard of being a balanced protection. So this amendment goes into those three areas and corrects the text to make sure it actually says it is going to protect religious liberty. It is three areas.

One is a very wide perspective of operating under the color of State law. That has a very broad net on it. We tried to be able to correct that one.

The second one deals with striking the private right of action on this, which will dramatically increase the number of lawsuits. I can assure you, if Congress passes a law that opens up a new lane for lawsuits, there will be lots of new lawsuits in that area.

The third area is in 7(a), where it talks about protecting all these rights if it does arise from a marriage, not from a belief in a marriage. So we are trying to correct that text to make sure it is not just the action of marriage but also the belief of marriage.

That is what this amendment does.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator’s time has expired.

The Senator from Wisconsin.

Ms. BALDWIN. Senator LANKFORD’s amendment would eliminate the only practical recourse for same-sex and interracial couples to protect their marriages under the Respect for Marriage Act. It would create an exemption far beyond current law for partnerships between government and faith-based organizations, the latter of which sometimes enjoy robust religious liberty and conscience protections that remain intact under the Respect for Marriage Act.

This amendment would upend a carefully negotiated, bipartisan compromise that protects the interests of religious organizations and individuals while affording the dignity of marriage recognition to same-sex and interracial couples. I urge my colleagues to vote no.

for Marriage Act. I am pleased to be a cosponsor of the Senate companion version of this measure, S. 4556, which has been introduced by Senator FEINSTEIN.

The House passed this legislation by a vote of 267 to 157 on November 18, 2022, and the Senate is now poised to pass this legislation with a strong bipartisan vote as well.

In 2010, Maryland began to recognize out-of-state same-sex marriages that were legally performed in other States. And in 2012, Governor Martin O’Malley signed a law guaranteeing Marylanders the freedom to marry regardless of their gender, which was later upheld and confirmed by the voters of Maryland in a statewide referendum.

In 2015, the Supreme Court held in the case of Obergefell v. Hodges that the Constitution protected the right of same-sex couples to marry and therefore granting this right nationwide. Let me be clear: in passing this historic decision, written by Justice Anthony Kennedy more than seven years ago: “Especially against a long history of disapproval of their relationships, this denial to same-sex couples of the right to marry works a grave injury to them.”

Justice Kennedy concluded in part that: “No union is more profound than marriage, for it embodies the highest ideals of love, fidelity, devotion, sacrifice, and family. In forming a marital union, two people become something greater than once they were. As some of the petitioners in these cases demonstrate, marriage embodies a love that may endure even past death. It would misunderstand these men and women to say they disrespect the idea of marriage. Their plea is that they do respect it, respect it so deeply that they seek to find its fulfillment for themselves. Their hope is not to be condemned to live in loneliness, excluded from one of civilization’s oldest institutions. They ask for equal dignity in the eyes of the law. The Constitution grants them that right.”

So why are we here today, if Obergefell is still the law of the land? We are here because the Supreme Court of the United States decided to strip away a woman’s fundamental reproductive rights this summer. The Court overturned its Roe v. Wade decision—and a half century of associated precedents—in its radical Dobbs v. Jackson Women’s Health Organization decision from June 24, 2022, and confirmed that same-sex and interracial couples have no right to marry. The majority responds: “The majority does today is that the right to elect an abortion is not ‘deeply rooted in history’: Not until Roe, the majority argues, did people think abortion fell within the Constitution’s guarantee of liberty. The same could be said, though, of most of the rights the majority claims it is not tampering with.”

The dissent continued: “The majority could write just as long an opinion showing, for example, that until the mid-20th century, ‘there was no support in American law for a constitutional right to obtain [contraceptives].’ So one of two things must be true. Either the majority does not really believe in its own reasoning. Or if it does, all rights that have no history stretching back the mid-19th century are insecure. Either the mass of the majority’s opinion is hypocrisy, or additional constitutional rights are under threat.

It is one or the other.”

I am therefore pleased that the Senate took a step forward in its best traditions to form a bipartisan working group led by Senators BALKDON and COLLINS—to codify the right to be married regardless of your gender and to rescind Federal laws to the contrary that are still on the books. I thank LEADER SCHUMER for giving this working group additional time after the mid-term elections to reach compromise language that enjoys broad bipartisan support in the Senate, which can overcome a filibuster.

According to the Human Rights Campaign and a recent Gallup poll, 71 percent of Americans now support marriage equality, compared to only about 27 percent in 1996, when President CLINTON signed the Defense of Marriage Act—DOMA.

As Senators BALDWIN and COLLINS recently wrote in a compelling op-ed: “Individuals in same-sex and interracial marriages need, and should have, the confidence that their marriages are legal. These loving couples should be guaranteed the same rights and freedoms of every other marriage... This legislation has earned bipartisan support in Congress because it grants same-sex and interracial couples the certainty that they will continue to enjoy the same equal treatment under federal law as all other married couples. . . . [W]e should be able to agree that same-sex and interracial couples, regardless of where they live, both need and deserve the assurance that their marriage will be recognized by the federal government and that they will continue to enjoy freedoms, rights and responsibilities that come with all other marriages.”

This legislation has three major components. First, this legislation would formally repeal the Defense of Marriage Act—DOMA—of 1996. Section 2 of DOMA prohibited this unjustified infringement of the right to marry works a grave injury to gays and lesbians, who are still in the years ago: “Especially against a long history of disapproval of their relationships, this denial to same-sex couples of the right to marry works a grave injury to them.”

The dissent continued: “The majority does today is that the right to elect an abortion is not ‘deeply rooted in history’: Not until Roe, the majority argues, did people think abortion fell within the Constitution’s guarantee of liberty. The same could be said, though, of most of the rights the majority claims it is not tampering with.”

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Maine.

Ms. COLLINS. Mr. President, shortly, we will have the opportunity to make history by passing important legislation that will advance two goals: one, the goal of marriage equality for same-sex and interracial couples, and second, the goal of strengthening religious liberty and conscience protections.

I want to thank my colleagues on both sides of the aisle who have worked so hard on this legislation, and I also want to thank the broad array of faith-based groups who worked with us on the religious liberty provisions of our bill.

I want to thank Senator BALDWIN, who has been the lead on this bill; Senator SINEMA, who has worked so hard; Senator PORTMAN, who has poured his heart and soul into it; and Senator TILLIS in particular. But I also want to thank all of the Republicans who have supported this. I know that it has not been easy, but they have done the right thing.

I urge a vote in favor of the bill.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wisconsin.

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the debate be extended an additional minute so that I might recognize the leader after my remarks.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. President, I want to express, as did my colleague Senator COLLINS, that there are many things to go around. I thank the leader. I want to thank the original bill sponsors in the House and Senate—Congressman NADLER and Senator FEINSTEIN—and the team of Senators BALDWIN and SINEMA and COLLINS, TILLIS, and PORTMAN. To all of you, I say: Bravo, a job well done. And to all who make the choice to support this bill, thank you. None of this was inevitable.

At the urging of my colleagues, we took the calculated risk of holding off on a vote back in September because they believed, with more time, we could build enough bipartisan support to push this bill over the finish line. Today, we have vindication that the wait was well worth it. I thank my colleagues for their work.

Above all, I want to thank the American people, the vast majority of whom understand deep in their hearts that the inexorable march toward equality is what America is all about.

I yield the floor.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, and now, moving forward, as we always try to do in the Senate, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to executive session and resume consideration of Calendar No. 1133; and that the cloture motions on motions to invoke cloture on Executive Calendar Nos. 1133 and 1147; that if cloture is invoked on Executive Calendar Nos. 1133; and that the cloture motions and resume consideration of Calendar No. 1133; and that the cloture motions on motions to invoke cloture on Executive Calendar Nos. 1133 and 1147; that if cloture is invoked on the nomination, all postcloture time be considered expired at 2:15 on Wednesday, November 30; further, that the Senate proceed to executive session and move our country forward.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. SCHUMER). The majority leader.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, what a great day, What a great day.

Mr. President, and now, moving forward, as we always try to do in the Senate, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to executive session and resume consideration of Calendar No. 1133; and that the cloture motions with respect to Calendar Nos. 1133, 1147, 1148, and 1126 ripen at 11:30 a.m. on Wednesday, November 30; further, that at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow, the Senate vote on motions to invoke cloture on Executive Calendar Nos. 1133 and 1147; that if cloture is invoked on the nomination, all postcloture time be considered expired at 2:15 on Wednesday. The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. SCHUMER. I yield the floor.

RESPECT FOR MARRIAGE ACT

Ms. LUMMIS. Mr. President, I rise today to underscore the crucial importance of the religious liberty provisions in the Respect for Marriage Act, which was just passed by the Senate, and to ensure the legislative intent behind these provisions is crystal clear.

As you know, the U.S. Supreme Court’s decision in Obergefell v. Hodges from 2015 established a constitutional right to same-sex marriage. When Obergefell was argued, then-Solicitor General Verrilli was asked whether recognizing a constitutional right to same-sex marriage would lead to churches, religious organizations, and state and local governments having their tax-exempt status reconsidered in light of the Supreme Court’s decision in Bob Jones University v. United States. Solicitor General Verrilli responded that “it’s certainly going to be an issue.”

In recognizing a constitutional right to same-sex marriage in 2015, the U.S. Supreme Court did not reconsider the Bob Jones University precedent, leaving this issue unresolved.

The Respect for Marriage Act, with the substitute amendment that I co-sponsored with Senators SINEMA, COLINS, BALDWIN, PORTMAN, and TILLIS, answers this question and a number of others by providing strong protections for religious liberty, especially when combined with the Religious Freedom Restoration Act.

I want to thank my friend, the Senator from Arizona, for her hard work on this bill and her willingness to address key questions around religious liberty in a thoughtful and bipartisan way.

It is my understanding that section 2 of the Respect for Marriage Act, in light of the Supreme Court’s Bob Jones v. United States decision in 1983, would prevent the Internal Revenue Service from successfully arguing that the United States now has a “national policy” favoring same-sex marriage and is a statement of policy respecting diverse views on the role of gender in marriage.

I would like to discuss another provision which is central to this bill: section 4, which grants “full faith and credit” under article IV, section 1 of the U.S. Constitution to marriages performed in each of our States, strengthening federalism and making our constitutional structure work.

Section 4 of the bill states that no person “acting under color of State law” may deny full faith and credit to any “public act, record, or judicial proceeding of a State pertaining to a marriage between two individuals, on the basis of sex, race, ethnicity, or national origin of those individuals.” The phrase “acting under the color of State law” is also used in our civil rights statutes to refer to the actions of State and local government officers and employees with respect to rights guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution and Federal law.

Senator, is it your understanding that this phrase is intended to incorporate the U.S. Supreme Court’s interpretation of the meaning of “acting under color of State law”? Ms. LUMMIS. Yes, it is my understanding that use of this phrase in section 4 of this bill is intended to incorporate the U.S. Supreme Court’s interpretation of this term, including, but not limited to, the case Rendell-Baker v. Kohn and NCAA v. Tarkanian cases.

I would like to now turn to section 6 of the bill, which provides that no church or religious nonprofit will be forced to solemnize or conduct a marriage ceremony under this bill.

Is it your understanding that section 6(b) bars “any civil claim or cause of action, without exception, relating to a church or religious organization’s refusal to solemnize or celebrate a marriage under this section, and the text does not state that it can be overruled by a court in finding a ‘compelling governmental interest’”? Ms. SINEMA. Yes, it is my understanding that section 6(b) bars any civil claim or cause of action relating to a nonprofit religious organization’s refusal under that section to solemnize or celebrate a marriage and that such a refusal creates a civil claim or cause of action.

The text of section 7 also makes no reference to “compelling governmental interests.” Section 7 provides nothing in this bill should be construed to deny or alter the benefit, status, or right of an otherwise eligible individual or legal entity in relation to tax-exempt status, tax treatment, contracts, loans, scholarships, licenses, and other agreements arising from a marriage.

In conjunction with section 2 of this bill, which eliminates a successful analogy to the Bob Jones case, is it your understanding, Senator, that section 7 would prevent the Internal Revenue Service from using the Respect for Marriage Act to alter or remove the tax-exempt status of an entity for expressing beliefs in opposition or support of same-sex marriage?

Ms. LUMMIS. Yes, that is my understanding, as well, regarding the scope of section 7.

This bill is intended to enshrine a national policy of respect for all views surrounding marriage and to enact some of the strongest religious liberty protections since the Religious Freedom Restoration Act in 1993. This legislation also ensures that religious liberty will have more of a central role in future debates in our courts and in the Halls of Congress.

I would like to thank my friend from Arizona for her tireless work on these issues and her willingness to work together, as always.

SAFEGUARD TRIBAL OBJECTS OF PATRIMONY ACT OF 2021

Mr. HEINRICH. Mr. President, I rise today to ask the Senate to send H.R. 2930, the Safeguard Tribal Objects of Patrimony Act, to the President’s desk for his signature.

In 2016, the Governor of the Pueblo of Acoma learned that a sacred ceremonial shield was about to be sold to the highest bidder in Paris. When Governor Riley informed me about this robbery of the Pueblo’s cultural patrimony, I called on the State Department to take all possible action to halt the auction. Thankfully, intense public outcry and diplomatic pressure were enough to halt the illegal sale of a Tribe’s cultural patrimony.

Finally, in November 2019, more than 3 years after the shield was formed me about this robbery of the Pueblo’s cultural patrimony, I called on the State Department to take all possible action to halt the auction. Thankfully, intense public outcry and diplomatic pressure were enough to halt the illegal sale of a Tribe’s cultural patrimony.

In many cases, Tribes in New Mexico and across our Nation have been forced to effectively pay a ransom to recover their sacred items or had to stand by and watch the sale of their priceless religious and cultural items in international auction houses.

The lack of an explicit ban on trafficking these items to foreign countries was actually cited by the French Government when they initially declined to stop the auction of the Acoma shard.

Grave robbing is illegal in every single State in the United States, and yet we allow Tribal religious objects, many of which were stolen literally from grave sites, to be exported and sold in foreign auction houses. We cannot let this loophole that allows foreign trade in Native religious heritage to go on for even one more day, and I would urge my colleagues to pass this bill today and end this awful practice.

Mr. President, as if in legislative session, I urge my colleagues to pass this bill today and end this awful practice. As we seek to protect objects of patrimony, whether in New Mexico or in other States of the United States, and yet grave sites, to be exported and sold in foreign markets.

Mr. President, grave robbing is illegal in every single State in the United States, and yet we have seen such practices continue. We have committed to the principle that all legal rights and responsibilities as a result of marriage between two individuals, regardless of gender or race.

Mr. SCHATZ. Madam President, on behalf of Vermonters, today I was proud to vote for the final passage of the Respect for Marriage Act. Today, we became a slightly more perfect union by recognizing the sanctity of marriage between two individuals, regardless of gender or race.

In August of this year, Marcelle and I celebrated our 60th wedding anniversary. Marrying each other was the most important decision of our lives—not a decision taken lightly, but a deeply personal commitment. A decision such as who to spend your life with should not be determined by a State, local, or Federal government. It is regrettable that throughout our history, too many Americans have been denied the right to marry who they love based on their gender or race.

In 2012, I was proud to co-sponsor an earlier version of the Respect for Marriage Act to codify the right for all Americans to marry who they love. As chairman of the Judiciary Committee, I also convened the first ever hearing to examine the harmful consequences the Defense of Marriage Act had, and still has, on American families.

I am a proud co-sponsor of this version of the Respect for Marriage Act. This bill—as most bills are—is far from perfect, but is a product of a bipartisan compromise. I want to acknowledge my friend from Wisconsin, Senator BALDWIN, whose steadfast resolve is the reason why this bill passed the Senate today. In the face of Supreme Court Justices determined to turn back the clock on basic rights, a group of bipartisan Senators remained committed to the principle that all legally valid marriages between two people who love and care for each other deserve equal treatment under the law everywhere in our country.

My home State of Vermont is no stranger to making history. Vermont has been a pioneer in the movement for LGBTQ rights. In 2000, Vermont became the first State to introduce civil unions and the first to offer a civil union status encompassing the same legal rights and responsibilities as marriage. The Vermont Legislature made history in 2009 when it was the first State to allow same-sex marriage without being required to do so through a court decision. Just last year, I was so proud when former Vermont Supreme Court Justice Beth Robinson became the first openly gay woman to ascend to our Federal circuit courts, on the Second Circuit.

Over the years, I have heard from Vermonters, colleagues, my staff, friends, and family on this issue. They have told me what I already know from my marriage to Marcelle. The right to marry—the right to love someone and build a life with them—should be equally available to all Americans.

As I have said before, when common ground is fertile, we must plant the seeds of progress. And I believe that the Senate did that today by passing the Respect for Marriage Act.

NOTICE OF A TIE VOTE UNDER S. RES. 27

Mrs. MURRAY. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent to print the following letter in the RECORD:

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

U.S. Senate, Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions.

Washington, DC, November 29, 2022.

To the Secretary of the Senate:

PN2274, the nomination of Moshe Z. Marvit, of Pennsylvania, to be a Member of the Federal Mine Safety and Health Review Commission, having been referred to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions, the Committee, with a quorum present, has voted on the nomination as follows:

On the question of reporting the nomination without recommendation, 11 ayes to 11 noes.

In accordance with section 3, paragraph (1)(A) of S. Res. 27 of the 117th Congress, I hereby give notice that the Committee on Environment and Public Works has not reported the nomination because of a tie vote, and ask that this notice be printed in the Record pursuant to the resolution.

Thomas R. CARPER, Chair.

I want to thank Jasmine for the dedication she has shown while working for me and my staff. It is a pleasure to have her as part of our team. I know she will have continued success with all of her future endeavors. I wish her all my best on her journey.

TRIBUTE TO AMY GRANT

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam President, on behalf of myself and Mr. HAGERTY, I ask unanimous consent that the following remarks be printed in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD to honor our fellow Tennessean, Amy Grant.

Each year, the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts selects a handful of cultural luminaries to receive the Kennedy Center Honors for their lifetime artistic achievements. On behalf of the entire Tennessee congressional delegation and all Tennesseans, we want to congratulate contemporary Christian and pop singer-
TRIBUTE TO BRENDA LEE

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam President, every year, Music City luminaries gather to celebrate entertainers and other giants in the arts with the Cecil Scaife Visionary Award. While statuettes do have their charms, this award highlights true champions of creativity whose life and work have made it possible for future generations to realize careers in the music industry. This year, I have the privilege of congratulating the oft imitated, never duplicated, positively incomparable Brenda Lee as she accepts this special honor.

Even in today’s strange world of social media sensations and cross-discipline collaborations, success in the entertainment industry is hard to come by. And if mainstream popularity is a pipe dream, it is safe to consider crossover success on a global scale almost impossible to achieve.

Still, for many of Nashville’s rising stars, this pinnacle of artistic achievement is the only measure of professional success worth striving for. But who is to mentor these dreamers? Who sets the standard? If you ask them, they will surely point to Brenda Lee.

Brenda Lee’s stunning vocal talent put her on stage at 6, in the studio at 12, and on the international tour circuit by her early teens. Her third single climbed both the pop and country charts, and over the next 20 years, she achieved pop stardom, pop-to-country crossover success, and international fame. This is an achievement remarkable; but how she did it is what makes Brenda Lee a phenomenon. Her career was not the product of clever gimmicks, but the manifestation of her own personal tastes, desires, and instincts in song. In a world of mimics, Brenda Lee dismissed convention and created something new.

I have always believed that there is no secret sauce that separates the successful from the legendary, but if there is, its main ingredient is surely the spark of captivating individualism that Brenda embraced over the course of her more than 60 years in the spotlight. And while young artists could never hope to duplicate her legacy, I serve as a reminder that, yes, you can conquer this industry, if only you have the courage to do it on your own terms.

TRIBUTE TO RAY STEVENS

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Madam President, today I rise to honor a true Music City legend. For more than 50 years, Ray Stevens has delighted audiences with his talents as a comedian, an actor, a musician, and a songwriter. His unique vision for the future of entertainment allowed him to blaze trails no other artists would dare tread alone.

As a fellow Tennessean, and one of Ray’s biggest fans, you can believe me when I say that you have never seen anything like Ray Stevens. It would have been easy for him to justify resting on his laurels while Music City grew around him, but if you know Ray, you know that was never a possibility. Although he achieved fame for his work in the creative arts, he is best known for leading with laughter, kindness, and an unfailing desire to encourage fellow artists.

In 1971, Ray and a group of fellow Music Row luminaries led by Cecil Scaife came together to create a music business program at Belmont University, where aspiring entertainers could pursue their dreams and their business acumen. This tremendous effort changed the industry for the better and set an example for the city’s rising stars. Today, the Cecil Scaife Visionary Award is given annually to those whose life and work have made it possible for future generations to realize careers in the music industry, and I could not have been happier when I learned that Ray is one of this year’s recipients.

Ray, on behalf of all Tennesseans, I thank you for your devotion to the arts, your zest for life, and for going above and beyond on behalf all who hope to walk in your footsteps.

TRIBUTE TO LAUREN CAULFIELD AND RONDA CRYSTAL

Ms. HASSAN. Madam President, I am honored to recognize Lauren Caulfield and Ronda Chrysal of Brookline as November’s Granite Staters of the Month. The pair founded Pink Revolution Breast Cancer Alliance of NH to support patients with all types of cancer.

All cancer patients find support when they strike at the very center of what makes the human heart ache, whether it be for a love found, a life lost, or the infinite potential of what could be. These emotions are humanity’s great equalizers. But for gospel artist-songwriters, faith, and not emotion, is the touchstone. For these brave and gifted individuals, assurance comes not from an endless cycle of love, hurt, and healing, but from a far more enduring source with chemo care packages and other gifts.

We could not be more pleased to see the Kennedy Center recognize the importance of Amy’s work in helping new generations embrace that hope, and we join the artistic community in thanking her for sharing her gifts with the world.

TRIBUTE TO OSVALDO DE LA PEDRAJA

Mr. RUBIO. Madam President, I recognize Dr. Osvaldo De La Pedraja on his more than 60-year career in the medical field and for celebrating his 92nd birthday on November 19, 2022. Osvaldo graduated as a doctor of medicine from the Medical School of the University of Havana, Cuba in 1960. Three years later, he was expelled from... the Hospital Clínico Quirúrgico Commandante Fajardo due to his opposition to Castro’s communist regime.

In 1968, Osvaldo arrived in the United States with his family. Committed to helping those in need of medical assistance in his new country, Osvaldo completed an internship at Mount Sinai Hospital in Miami Beach, FL, and completed his specialty in radiology at Jackson Memorial Hospital. In 1972, Osvaldo opened his own private practice specializing in diagnostic radiology in Coral Gables, FL. For more than 50 years, it has remained in the same location and has helped countless Floridians in need of consulting doctors and seeking medical treatment.

Osvaldo is also a member of the Latin American Society of Radiology, is the president of the Physicians’ Assistant Hospital and Annexes Association, and has been a volunteer doctor of La Liga Contra El Cancer for 35 years. Previously, he served as president of the Cuban Revolutionary Forum.

Osvaldo’s medical work over the years has undoubtedly saved countless lives in Florida. I am grateful for his decades of service to the people of Florida and his fight against communism in Cuba. I extend my best wishes on his 92nd birthday.

TRIBUTE TO GREG GERRITT

Mr. WHITEHOUSE. Madam President, I rise today to honor an important advocate for environmental preservation and addressing climate change. Greg Gerritt, Mr. Gerritt has worked for the past 20 years for the Environmental Council of Rhode Island, retiring in January of this year. He served as the coordinator for the Compost Initiative, which earned a 2012 EPA Region 1 Merit Award, and founded the Rhode Island Compost Conference last year, the Environmental Protection Agency awarded him an Environmental Merit for Lifetime Achievement.

Mr. Gerritt grew up in New York City before earning a bachelor’s degree in anthropology from University of Rhode Island, before earning a bachelor’s degree in environmental anthropology from University of Rhode Island, before earning a bachelor’s degree in environmental anthropology from University of Rhode Island. He founded and served on the board of the Environmental Justice League of Rhode Island, began the Buy Nothing Day Winter Coat Exchange, which has occurred on the day after Thanksgiving for over 20 years, and ran for mayor of Providence as a Green Party candidate. Mr. Gerritt also founded and is the watershed steward for Friends of the Moshassuck, an organization dedicated to preservation, restoration, and revitalization of the Moshassuck River. He created a wetland habitat by restoring a small storm drain in the North Burial Ground in Providence and, for over a decade, has produced about 1,500 videos documenting wildlife in this urban landscape and at locations around the Seekonk River.

I am pleased to recognize Mr. Gerritt’s accomplishments in environmental advocacy, justice, and preservation of natural resources and extend my appreciation for his work for our State and environment.

MESSAGES FROM THE PRESIDENT

Messages from the President of the United States were communicated to the Senate by Ms. Roberts, one of his secretaries.

EXECUTIVE MESSAGES REFERRED

As in executive session the Presiding Officer laid before the Senate messages from the President of the United States submitting sundry nominations which were referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The messages received today are printed at the end of the Senate proceedings.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE HONORABLE JAMES M. INHOPE

Mr. SCHTATZ. Madam President, I understand the Chair has an announcement.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair lays before the Senate a communication regarding the resignation of Senator INHOPE.

Without objection, the letters will be printed in the RECORD and spread upon the Journal, as follows:

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

U.S. SENATE,
Washington, DC, November 29, 2022.
Hon. Kamala D. Harris, President of the U.S. Senate,
Washington, DC.

Dear Vice President Harris: Please find the attached document dated February 28, 2022, certifying Oklahoma Secretary of State Brian Bingman of my intent to resign my Senate seat on January 3, 2023. I further note that my resignation will be effective at 1:58 A.M. on that date.

Sincerely,

James M. Inhofe
U.S. Senator.

U.S. SENATE,
Secretary of State Brian Bingman,
Oklahoma City, OK.

Dear Secretary Bingman: It has been the greatest honor to serve the people of Oklahoma since I first entered public service in 1967, but an opportunity to consider retirement and find a new challenge and a fresh perspective for Kay and I. I feel the time has come to stand aside and support the next generation of Oklahoma leaders.

Accordingly, pursuant to 26 O.S. §12-119, I am writing to inform you of my intention to retire from the United States Senate on January 3, 2023. Under state law 26 O.S. §12-101, this constitutes my irrevocable pledge to retire at the end of the 117th Congress, which allows the special election to be held concurrently with the existing election schedule.

I am excited to announce that I am endorsing Bartlesville-native and fellow Tulsan, Luke Holland in the special election to replace me, because Luke is a fierce conservative and the best person to continue my legacy of a strong national defense and investment in local infrastructure.

May God bless the great state of Oklahoma and the United States of America.

Sincerely,

James M. Inhofe
U.S. Senator.

DISCHARGE AND REFERRAL—S. 5068

Mr. SCHATZ. Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that S. 5068 be discharged from the Committee on Energy and Natural Resources and referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Madam President, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to executive session to receive confirmation of the Velez-Rive nomination; further, if any nominations are confirmed during Wednesday’s session, the motions to reconside be considered made and laid upon the table and the President be immediately notified of the Senate’s actions.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

Mr. SCHATZ. Madam President, for the information of the Senate, there will be two rollcall votes beginning at 11:30 a.m. and two rollcall votes at 2:15 p.m.

ORDER FOR RECESS

Mr. SCHATZ. Madam President, if there is no further business to come before the Senate, I ask unanimous consent that it stand in recess under the previous order, following the remarks of Senator PORTMAN.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

UKRAINE

Mr. PORTMAN. Madam President, I come to the floor today for the 26th consecutive week that the Senate has been in session to highlight the very latest from Russia’s illegal, unprovoked, and deadly assault on Ukraine. This continues to be a critical time for Ukraine and Ukraine’s freedom fighters, and it is a classic fight for freedom. At this critical juncture, as the winter months approach, Russia’s morale is flagging and Ukrainians are making steady gains on the battlefield. It is absolutely clear that the United States and our allies continue to stand by the people of Ukraine. We can’t pull back now.

Ukraine, as you know, is a democracy. They are a great ally of ours. They just want to live in peace with their neighbors, including Russia.

Over the objections of 140 countries in the United Nations, Russia launched a brutal invasion of Ukraine on February 24. That was 9 months ago, and they haven’t let up. While we celebrated Thanksgiving holiday this past week here in America, Ukrainians endured a deadly week of Russian attacks and bombarding on civilian population centers far, far from the frontlines. They didn’t get a Thanksgiving break from the war.

Russia’s military is actually continuing to bomb inside of Ukraine even today, civilian targets. What is important is that, at this time, Ukraine is winning on the battlefield. Over half of Ukraine’s Russian-occupied territory has now been liberated. Remember, at one point, Ukraine included the occupied territory up here near Kyiv, the capital, and all this area. Most of that area has now been liberated, and these are the areas where the Russians continue to occupy: Crimea, which they took back in 2014, parts of the Donetsk, and these additional areas. Even today, Ukrainians are making progress there.

So on the battlefield, the Ukrainians, with our help and help of 50 countries around the world, are making progress. Yet, Russia continues to launch these missiles into Ukraine. Even in a place like Bakhmut, one place where the Russians were making some progress using mercenary forces—the Wagner Group, it is called—the monthlong assault by these Russian soldiers was reduced into a grinding battle of attrition, and Russia has made little to no gains. So in the Bakhmut region, which is right here, even there, where the Wagner Group is fighting, they are not making significant progress.

By the way, back in April 2018, I visited Bakhmut. I was able to go there as part of a congressional fact-finding trip, and the Ukrainian military allowed me to see the line of contact—actually go to that border area—the line of contact being between the occupied part in 2014 and the rest of Ukraine.

That is where I learned that the Ukrainians were going to fight, by the way, because I talked to a lot of the soldiers about what was going on, and when there was discussion several years later about whether Ukrainians would fight if the Russians invaded, as it appeared clear they were going to do, I had no doubt that the Ukrainians were going to fight because I met these soldiers and talked to them, and they were hardened, and they knew what Russia had done to them and their families and their country and their freedom. And they have fought.

Here is a photograph of Bakhmut today, to show you the difference. Back when I was there, there was sniper activity. You could hear some artillery being fired off in the distance, but today, months and months of Russia’s brutal assault has led to Bakhmut looking like this.

Here is the Ukrainian soldier today. It is a helicopter straight from the Western front of World War I, isn’t it? Relentless artillery bombardments have forced soldiers into these trenches, just like they dug in France during World War I and World War II. This is the condition that Ukrainian soldiers are fighting in to defend their families, their freedom, and their country, and they are doing it as the temperature is falling and winter approaches. But they are undeterred, and they continue to fight.

The response to Ukraine making progress on the battlefield by Russia is to launch these missiles into the interior. I really think it is out of frustration. It is a cowardly approach. They can’t win on the battlefield, so instead they are sitting back in Russia and bombing these civilian targets.

Here is one you can see. It is an energy grid in Ukraine. This is in western Ukraine. And it is just relentless bombing. So people when they do this, the way they are not just taking out energy infrastructure; they are killing civilians, including energy workers. Again, it is a cowardly approach. They are killing civilians and noncombatants, needlessly slaughtering men, women, and children. They are attacking residential areas, and they have been all along—apartment buildings, hospitals, community buildings, infrastructure—all being hit. They are doing this as the temperature is going to go dark as they go into winter, dark and cold.

When we were in Ukraine just a few weeks ago—Senator Coons and myself—Senator Coons and I went to get more information on what was left in Ukraine, and we got to see this firsthand. This is in Kyiv, the capital of Ukraine. This is where the control center was for this energy utility, and this had happened just a few days before we got there. So the Russians are targeting very specifically energy to knock out electricity, knock out heating, knock out water.

That night, by the way, we had dinner with Ukrainian Parliamentarians. It was a dinner meeting to talk about what we could do as Congress and they can do as Parliamentarians to help the Ukrainians right now. We had to have the meal by flashlight and candles because there was no light in Kyiv. The systemic bombing of civilian infrastructure, throwing these Ukrainian cities in the dark and in the cold, without running water, has been met by heroic repair by Ukrainians. I imagine this is also true at the border, the Russians keep bombing. They need our help to be able to help prepare and provide more equipment as this equipment is being destroyed by the Russians.

Today, I was pleased to see that Secretary of State Antony Blinken announced an additional $3 billion from the United States to support efforts to rebuild this Ukrainian energy grid that keeps getting destroyed by the Russians. This package will include distribution circuit breakers, surge arresters, disconnectors, vehicles, and other key equipment. It brings U.S. support for Ukraine’s energy infrastructure since February up to about $145 million.

But again, it is not just us, and it shouldn’t just be us. Our allies need to step forward to help Ukraine in this difficult moment as well, and they are. Finland, as an example I just saw, will send energy equipment to Ukraine this week. The European Energy Agency will provide 40 transformers and other key equipment. It brings U.S. support for Ukraine’s energy infrastructure since February up to about $145 million.

The Ukrainians are just constantly attacking Kherson. This area—at least it is called—that provincial area, 10 people have recently been killed and 54 injured. The Russians shelled this provincial area 49 times on Thanksgiving day, 49 missiles and bombs on Thanksgiving day, hitting residential buildings, a shipyard, the school grounds, gas pipelines, everything.

The Ukrainian shelling hit a school that was being used as a distribution point for humanitarian aid in the Zaporizhzhia area, up here. So in Zaporizhzhia, they had a school that was handing out humanitarian assistance, and it was attacked by a Russian missile. It killed a social worker and injured two others. I have heard that this is already repaired. But again, the Ukrainians are having now, after having lived through the occupation, to try to live through this bombing.

I saw the Deputy Prime Minister of Ukraine recently urge civilians to leave Kherson and go to other parts of Ukraine this winter due to these Russian attacks. That is what has to be done. The soldiers will stay and they will fight, but the Russians are just constantly attacking Kherson.

This city of Kherson in Ukraine was the first provincial and only provincial capital the Russians occupied and the first major city that they took. The Ukrainian military carefully and over time orchestrated a great victory there, and about 3 weeks ago, the Russians occupied only that part of the buildings. They have told these soldiers and others, including the investigators from the International Criminal Court, of the war crimes, the unthinkable war crimes that were committed by the Russian occupiers while they were there.

So the Russians were forced out of Kherson because of very effective work by the Ukrainians, using the weapons that we have provided them, including longer range missiles, taking out their supplies, taking out their ability to resupply themselves.

So what has happened now is that since Russia, once they had left Kherson, has now started their bombing campaign, just nonstop bombing in the very city they occupied only a few weeks ago. So they are saying: If we can’t have it, we are just going to bomb it into oblivion. Ukrainians are having now, after having lived through the occupation, to try to live through this bombing.

You probably saw that also in eastern Ukraine recently, the Russians attacked a maternity hospital, and again they killed innocent civilians. They actually killed a newborn baby, a baby 2 days old. You probably saw that. The over 60 killed was only 2 days old—2 days old—but he had a name, Serhiy, and his death will not be forgotten in Ukraine.

The Ukrainian military, again, has been making progress. They have had a huge success here in Kherson. This city of Kherson in Ukraine was the first provincial and only provincial capital the Russians occupied and the first major city that they took. The Ukrainian military carefully and over time orchestrated a great victory there, and about 3 weeks ago, the Russians occupied only that part of the buildings.

As this photo shows, Ukrainians citizens have welcomed these soldiers as heroes. You have probably seen some of this on TV news. They have just embraced these soldiers, and they put the Ukrainian flag on the buildings. They have told these soldiers and others, including the investigators from the International Criminal Court, of the war crimes, the unthinkable war crimes that were committed by the Russian occupiers while they were there.

So the Russians were forced out of Kherson because of very effective work by the Ukrainians, using the weapons that we have provided them, including longer range missiles, taking out their supplies, taking out their ability to resupply themselves.

So what has happened now is that since Russia, once they had left Kherson, has now started their bombing campaign, just nonstop bombing in the very city they occupied only a few weeks ago. So they are saying: If we can’t have it, we are just going to bomb it into oblivion. Ukrainians are having now, after having lived through the occupation, to try to live through this bombing.

I saw the Deputy Prime Minister of Ukraine recently urge civilians to leave Kherson and go to other parts of Ukraine this winter due to these Russian attacks. That is what has to be done. The soldiers will stay and they will fight, but the Russians are just constantly attacking Kherson.

This city of Kherson in Ukraine was the first provincial and only provincial capital the Russians occupied and the first major city that they took. The Ukrainian military carefully and over time orchestrated a great victory there, and about 3 weeks ago, the Russians occupied only that part of the buildings.
These are flagrant human rights abuses and war crimes. As a Zelenskyy Presidential adviser said, "There is no military logic [here]: they just want to take revenge on the locals. This is a huge war crime.

I agree, Mr. Putin is trying to bring Ukraine to its knees, but do you know what it is doing? It is only strengthening their resolve, the amazing resolve of the Ukrainian people. Russia is beginning to feel the negative consequences of this war more and more. The sanctions are beginning to bite more, and we should strengthen them even more, in my view. But it is having an impact. The Russian banking sector has been hit by this. The Russian central bank reported that a record $147 billion in hard currency was withdrawn from the Russian banking system last month, in October.

People are taking their money and running. This was during the 300,000 troop mobilization of mostly untrained recruits.

A November report by the central bank warned that Russia’s GDP would face a sharper contraction of 7.1 percent in the fourth quarter of this year, after falling 4.1 percent and 4 percent compared with last year in the previous two quarters.

So the economy is going the wrong way in Russia. Last week, the economy officially entered into a recession. So this war is having an impact on Russia, finally.

The central bank chairwoman told the Russian lawmakers that next year the situation will get darker still. She said:

“We really need to look at the situation very soberly and with our eyes open. Things may get worse, we understand that.

I have hope so. I have hope so—that countries around the world see what is happening here and tighten these sanctions.

For many Russian companies, the reality of war sank in with the latest desolate mobilization. This is according to the German Institute for International and Security Affairs. I think that is true.

While there are a lot of Russians who still believe the propaganda and the disinformation from the Kremlin about Ukraine and, therefore, continue to fight innocent Ukrainians—their neighbors—other Russians now understand that this battle is not against an enemy; this battle is a failed ploy by Vladimir Putin to achieve his misguided ambitions to recreate the Russian Empire, the Russian Federation. That is what it is about. It is not about Ukraine.

I want to take a moment to talk about the aid package that is being developed right now here on the floor to send to Ukraine to continue our help at this crucial moment and to make an important point, which is that oversight on our assistance to Ukraine is very important. It is important to me. It is important to my colleagues. It is important to my constituents. We need to be sure there are significant accountability measures in place. We have got to know where the aid is going. We need to know exactly where it is going and who is using it and how.

No one is advocating that we give Ukraine funds and, by the way, they have not gotten a blank check. There are spending safeguards in place already. President Zelenskyy agrees with that. He wants those kind of checks in the system because he knows that is critical to the continued aid—not just from us but from the 50 other countries around the world that are providing assistance or more.

There is an accounting firm from the United States involved that follows all the aid to the government, as an example. Also, the World Bank sends a report about all the aid that goes to—the state aid, the government aid part, and the state aid monitoring is something they do. So there are mechanisms in place already. Could they be strengthened? Probably so.

With regard to military equipment, we have put in place unprecedented policies to have what is called end-use monitoring of the military weapons that are going to Ukraine. I visited with the 101st Airborne in Poland a few weeks ago and talked a lot about how that end-use monitoring has been so critical.

I have been here for the last 10 stages. This is a common stage in many of the military attache in country and some people who can help follow where these various weapons are going. And, honestly, so far, so good.

I have talked to you. I am surprised by this, but there has been absolutely no documented instance yet of diversion of U.S.-supplied weapons—to Russia, to Belarus, to third parties. Now, that may happen in the future, but this end-use monitoring is certainly a check and a report on that. So there are mechanisms in place already. Could they be strengthened? Probably so.

The Ukrainian Government has been transparent in terms of the funding because it is in their interest. It is in all of our interest. They hear questions about oversight coming from Members of Congress, and they understand the need to provide the accountability. So we need to continue the assistance at this crucial time, as we have said tonight, but we need to be sure it continues to be accountable.

You know, Vladimir Putin, when he decided to initiate this invasion, which the Wall Street Journal reports was a ploy, he thought he would never do because it made no sense; there was no logic behind it. But when he did this, he thought it would be a walk in the park. He thought the Russian Army would roll in and the Ukrainians would roll over.

It turned out to be a walk through Hell for his army and his government.

Why? Because the Ukrainian people showed grit and determination and the military fought more effectively than anybody expected. It is because Ukraine’s morale and leadership has not faltered, even against overwhelming odds, a much larger military, and many more missiles. They have not faltered.

I have seen this mindset in Ukraine on my visits there. I think I have been there 8 or 10 times since 2014. It goes from President Zelenskyy all the way down to the soldiers we saw in the trenches, to the civilians who are doing their part.

The Wall Street Journal recently reported that during the Russian occupation of Kherson, the area we talked about earlier, the 68-year-old head doctor at the hospital there in Kherson refused to bow down to the Russian invaders, setting a tone for citywide resistance. He told the invaders: “You can shoot me if you want,” but I am not going to do what you want. I have a responsibility to this hospital, and I am going to carry it out for the citizens of Kherson.

Other Ukrainian workers at the hospital were just as heroic and clever.

The Journal reports that their resistance lasted 8 months. They faked a COVID outbreak to keep Russians from stealing their equipment, coming into the hospital and taking equipment. They spied for Ukrainian forces.

The fighting spirit of the Ukrainians should come as no surprise. They are a proud, patriotic, and tough people. For perhaps one of the best illustrations of this courage, I am reminded of the grandmother who gave sunflower seeds to invading Russian soldiers way back in February when they first started coming in. She gave them the sunflowers and said: Give these to somebody to plant at your burial place because you are going to die for invading country and you might want to have something beautiful being grown at your gravesite.

That was a brave Ukrainian grandmother. I remember the photograph of a woman about 5 feet tall telling this to a Russian soldier a foot or so taller.

And who can blame the patriotic defiance that they have shown. Today, half of Ukraine’s energy infrastructure is gone. Kyiv is operating on scheduled blackouts that last 4 hours. This is the capital. Civilians are being killed every day. Ukraine’s electricity is at risk of suffering catastrophic consequences. War crimes continue to be revealed day after day.

The actions by the Kremlin to knowingly destroy and attack civilian areas and innocent Ukrainians, of course, are meant to dampen Ukrainians’ resolve, but, instead, these actions encourage fortitude among the ranks of Ukraine’s freedom fighters against the barbaric enemy that has invaded their homeland. That is how they feel.

When I have come down to the floor each week to discuss the status of this war on Ukraine's land. I have pointed out that this is where the battle is occurring for freedom over tyranny, of democracy over authoritarianism. This is where it is being waged here, in our generation, now. This is why we need to stand up and be counted.

If we don't join allies throughout the world in condemning it and helping Ukraine defend itself, what happens? Well, the world becomes a much more dangerous and volatile place. Trust me, people are watching—our enemies and our adversaries. Iran is watching. China is watching. Others are watching.

This is not the time for the United States and the allies around the world—more than 50 of them who have provided military assistance—to pull back. At a meeting in Romania today, the NATO Secretary General reaffirmed that NATO's door to membership remains open to Ukraine. It has been open since 2008.

I found this to be very welcome news, something I have called for, for years. I don’t think Russia would be in Ukraine if it had happened.

Ukraine is making gains on the battlefield, as I said. Russian forces and equipment are being destroyed and depleted. Russian war crimes continue to be committed as they punish Ukrainian civilians, and the Russian people are beginning to feel the negative effects of this failed war.

I think, frankly, that Vladimir Putin believes his supply of missiles will outlast the patience of the free world. I think that is what he believes. That is why he continues this senseless war. I think he believes he will continue to be able to have enough missiles to outlast the patience of the Western World, of us, the freedom-loving people.

I don’t think that is accurate, but we need to prove him wrong. We need to keep the pressure up to end with a resolution to this senseless, brutal war. I believe, with the help of the United States and our allies, democracy can and will prevail over tyranny and authoritarianism. And that, of course, would send the right message echoed across the world, a message that tyranny and authoritarianism must not triumph.

I yield the floor.

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

TRIBUTE TO ALEXANDER MAZAK
HON. JEFFERSON VAN DREW
OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, last month I had the pleasure of attending Alexander Mazak’s Eagle Scout Court of Honor. Alex started his scouting career 10 years ago as a Tiger Cub Scout and worked his way all the way up to the rank of Eagle Scout. For his Eagle Scout project, which he named the “Re- membrance Tree Project,” he planted 40 trees at Reed’s Organic Farm and Animal Rescue in Egg Harbor Township, South Jersey. Alex also built benches for the farm. In his free time, Alex plays the violin, has a black belt in karate, participates in CrossFit, and is working towards getting Scuba Diving certified. Alex should be proud of his many achievements, and it was my pleasure to attend his Eagle Scout ceremony. God Bless Alex, and God Bless our America.

RECOGNIZING AMERICAN LEGION POST 79 ON ITS 100 YEAR ANNIVERSARY
HON. BRIAN K. FITZPATRICK
OF PENNSYLVANIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. FITZPATRICK. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize an incredible Veterans Service Organization within my district on the centennial of its founding. The New Hope, Pennsylvania American Legion Post 79 will celebrate 100 years of service in 2023. The post is named after Private 2nd Class Edgar Denson who served in the 79th Infantry Division in the Great War. Private Denson was killed in the Meuse Argonne Offensive of 1918 and American Legion Post 79 has continued to honor his sacrifice and service through the years.

Since its founding in 1923, Post 79 has been a pillar in the community. Its members have served in every major United States conflict as well as taking part in numerous humanitarian and peace operations. Post 79 supports our community’s Veterans through a myriad of programs and efforts. These include support for Wounded Warrior events, broadcasting an announcement with Paul Harvey, interviewing Steve Wynn and James Kalstrom, meeting Rush Limbaugh, being inducted into the New Jersey Broadcasters Hall of Fame, becoming a member of the Marine Corps Law Enforcement Foundation, and interviewing several Medal of Honor recipients.

Mr. BU...
Lieutenant Commander Cassels received a naval commission from the U.S. Naval Academy, where she graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree in English. She later earned a Master of Business Administration degree from the Naval Postgraduate School. Lieutenant Commander Cassels’ operational assignments have included service aboard the USS Laboon (DDG 58), USS Mustin (DDG 89), and USS Lake Erie (CG 70). During her service, she has completed a Sixth Fleet deployment, a Seventh Fleet patrol, and a shipyard overhaul and modernization. She also served as the flag aide to the Commander of Navy Recruiting Command.

Her extensive expertise, work ethic, and problem-solving skills were critical to my work ensuring that our military is ready when needed. While Lieutenant Commander Cassels will be missed by Team Garamendi, the U.S. Navy is lucky to have her in its ranks and we are excited for all her future successes.

Madam Speaker, on behalf of the people of California’s Third Congressional District and a grateful country, I wish her fair winds and following seas and extend our deepest appreciation for her dedicated service.

RECOGNIZING THE MOTOR MACHINIST MATE 1ST CLASS (RETIRED) RICHARD EVERETT MARTIN UPON HIS 100TH BIRTHDAY

HON. SCOTT PERRY OF PENNSYLVANIA IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. PERRY. Madam Speaker, I am honored to recognize Retired Motor Machinists Mate 1st Class (MM) Richard Everett Martin on this most auspicious occasion of his 100th birthday.

Growing up in the York Area, MM Martin attended William Penn High School, where he took a machinery and cabinet making course, while holding a job at Weaver Piano company. He split his months during his final high school year, between the factory and school, developing his love of machinery and honest labor. After high school, MM Martin felt a call to serve and use his newfound passion, enlisting in the Navy Reserve in 1942 at the age of 19. Studying at the University of Missouri, as well as traveling to Norfolk and New York City, he completed his training and education to become a Motor Machinist’s mate 1st class. He was assigned to the USS LST-325, a landing ship for amphibious assaults.

MM Martin was deployed to North Africa, where he would spend one (1) year training along the coast, before taking part in the invasion of Sicily. After a successful landing, during which MM Martin would receive The Purple Heart, the USS LST-325 was deployed to Great Britain to take part in D-Day, where MM Martin, along with thousands of Allied Soldiers, bravely served.

MM Martin is the last surviving member of the original crew of the USS LST-325. His story stands as a testimony to true courage, bravery, and service. His service to our Nation reflects great credit not just upon himself, but also upon the Navy Reserve, as well as all those who served in World War II. As he continues to stand as an icon of selflessness, I wish him many more years of happiness and health.

TRIBUTE TO CHUCK MILLER

HON. JEFFERSON VAN DREW OF NEW JERSEY IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, I would like to honor the achievements of Sheriff Charles Miller. Sheriff Miller began his career in law enforcement as a patrolman for the Salem City Police Department in 1979. Then, in 1984, he was hired as an Investigator in the Salem County Prosecutor’s Office. Sheriff Miller worked through the ranks at the Salem County Prosecutor’s Office to become the Chief of County Detectives. After this, he retired from the Prosecutor’s Office and accepted a position as a Security Domestic Planner with the Salem County Department of Homeland Security. Chuck stayed in this role until he was elected to be the sheriff of Salem County in 2006. He is currently serving his fourth term as Sheriff. During his tenure, Sheriff Miller has broadened leadership roles and developed new initiatives at the Salem County Police Department. Additionally, he has been an advocate for protecting the quality of life for seniors in Salem County, South Jersey. Sheriff Miller should be proud of his contributions to the South Jersey community, and it is my honor to have the opportunity to acknowledge his success. God bless Sheriff Miller, and God bless our United States of America.

TRIBUTE TO MAJOR MAYA TROUPE, UNITED STATES ARMY

HON. MARCY KAPTUR OF OHIO IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Ms. KAPTUR. Madam Speaker, I rise to pay tribute to Major Maya Troupe for her exemplary dedication to duty, as an Army Congressional Fellow for my office from 1 January through 31 December 2020.

Major Troupe distinguished herself by serving in a broad range of assignments during her Army career. In her assignment as the Defense Fellow in my office, Major Troupe served as the lead on the defense portfolio and assisted with MILCON/VA and Foreign Operations. She provided insight on national security and Veterans Affairs priorities impacting over 50,000 military and veteran-related constituents and the defense industry in Northern Ohio.

Major Troupe transitioned to the Congressional Budget Liaison (BUL) for the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Financial Management as an Army budget liaison. In this role, she served as BUL Forward Liaison as the Army’s direct budget lead for communicating strategic initiatives and requirements with House Appropriations Committee Members of Congress and professional staff, ensuring seamless synchronization of efforts. She served in this position from 1 January 2021 to 1 December 2021.

In her previous assignment, Major Troupe served as the Executive Officer to the Office of the Chief (OCAR), Army Reserve, G–1. Following her XO position, Major Troupe did a short assignment in the OCAR Legislative Affairs Division, managing the personnel portfolio in preparation for the Chief of Army Reserve’s Posture hearing. MAJ Troupe’s previous positions include Deputy, G–1 for the 335th Signal Command (Provisional). In this capacity, she oversaw personnel management and accountability for the command’s Active and Reserve personnel throughout Southwest Asia. As a Reserve Officer, MAJ Troupe served as a Department of Defense civilian employee and the 92nd Chemical Battalion Detachment Commander under the 335th Signal Command. She created the 335th Signal Command’s Yellow Ribbon Program in her civilian capacity. The program prepared soldiers and families for deployment and ensured smooth transition and reintegration upon the soldier’s return. As detachment commander, MAJ Troupe provided training and personnel readiness for the Battalion to support their Homeland Defense Mission.

MAJ Troupe hails from the Midwest, a St. Louis, MO native. She received her commission from the Georgia Institute of Technology as an Adjutant General officer after completing a bachelor’s degree in psychology from Georgia State University. She also earned a master’s degree in legislative affairs from the George Washington University and a master of science in management in healthcare administration from Troy University.

MAJ Troupe contributes her motivation and dedication to the honorable sacrifice exemplified by her father, Calvin Walter Troupe Sr., who served in Vietnam, and her mother, Rochelle Louise Ballinger. The latter provides unwavering support to her career. She aspires to set the same example for her children, Kyle John Krueger and Kaleigh Jane Krueger.

MAJ Troupe has positively impacted servicemembers, veterans, families, and leaders throughout her career. Our country has benefited tremendously from her extraordinary leadership, innovative ideas, and commitment to service. I join my colleagues today in honoring her dedication to our Nation and invaluable service to the United States Congress as an Army Congressional Liaison.

Madam Speaker, it has been a genuine pleasure to work with MAJ Maya Troupe over this past year, especially during one of the most memorable years our Congress has faced. On behalf of a grateful nation, this body recognizes and commends Maya for her steadfast service to our country. We wish her the best as she continues serving in the United States Army.

TRIBUTE TO KYLE MAINS

HON. JEFFERSON VAN DREW
OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, this month, I had the pleasure of attending Kyle Mains’ Eagle Scout Court of Honor. Kyle started his scouting career at 8 years old as a Cub Scout. Then, at 11 years old, he became a Boy Scout until he achieved the rank of Eagle Scout this year. During his time as a scout, Kyle attended weekly meetings and participated in many of the scout’s monthly camping trips. He truly demonstrates the scouting ideals of “trustworthy, loyal, helpful, and friendly.” Currently, Kyle attends Rowan University where he studies computer science. Kyle should be proud of his scouting accomplishments, and it was my honor to attend his Eagle Scout award ceremony. God Bless Kyle, and God Bless our America.

RECOGNIZING CASEY LEE AND HER SERVICE TO THE HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE

HON. JERROLD NADLER
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. NADLER. Madam Speaker, I rise to thank Casey Lee for her service to the Committee on the Judiciary.

Casey came to the Committee after first working on AAIP civil rights and housing issues for Congressman Ted Lieu through a fellowship with APAICS. Casey received her B.A. from the University of California, Los Angeles (UCLA).

Casey joined the Committee in 2022 as a Staff Assistant for the Full Committee. As Staff Assistant, Casey supported the full committee’s senior staff and me directly. A core part of my administrative team, Casey acted as assistant clerk during hearings and markups and oversaw the committee’s internship program. When other full committee administrative staff and subcommittee legislative aides/assistant clerks left their positions, Casey seamlessly assumed their duties in addition to her own and worked diligently to support the Staff Director, two Deputy Staff Directors, and multiple subcommittee counselors for all their research and administrative needs. This included helping compile the Antitrust, Commercial, and Administrative Law subcommittee activity report for the 117th Congress and helping manage cosponsorship requests for immigration legislation.

Casey worked with our Member Services, Communications, and Digital Directors to highlight congressional activity, helping compile the Antitrust, Commercial, and Administrative Law subcommittee activity report for the 117th Congress and draft social media posts. She also created graphics and videos for the Respect for Marriage Act, the Assault Weapons Ban Act, and more.

Casey was also a founding member of the committee’s first diversity, equity, and inclusion working group to facilitate trainings, plan initiatives, enhance our recruitment, and be a resource to other staff on diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Throughout all her work, Casey brought her tireless work ethic and commitment to excellence. Our Committee, Congress, and the American people greatly benefited from her service.

While we are sad to see Casey go and she will certainly be missed, we are happy that she will continue to serve the public interest as a policy advisor for the Congressional Asian Pacific American Caucus.

We thank Casey for her service to the Committee and wish her the best of luck with this new chapter.

CELEBRATING SHERIFF GREG AHERN

HON. ERIC SWALWELL
OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. SWALWELL. Madam Speaker, I rise to recognize Alameda County Sheriff Greg Ahern after 33 years of service to Alameda County. Greg graduated from Saint Mary’s College with a degree in Economics and Business Administration and from the National Academy at the Federal Bureau of Investigations.

Greg joined the Alameda County Sheriffs Department in 1980 and was promoted to sergeant at the age of 28. He has served as Sheriff since 2007, where his leadership led to the implementation of many new programs that serve the community.

Greg developed an Urban Shield tactical training exercise, which was the first of its kind in the nation, and was replicated by other cities throughout the nation. After the Boston Marathon bombing, Boston Police credited Greg’s urban shield exercise with bringing the bombers to Justice.

In addition, as Sheriff, Greg supported the Alameda County Deputy Sheriffs Activities League (DSAL)’s staff in their creation and expansion of athletic programming for youth, re- entry internships, and work to address food equity in Alameda County. The DSAL boxing and soccer leagues are known county-wide, and Dig Deep Farms, founded in 2010 under Greg’s leadership, is not only providing intern- ship opportunities to increase job training opportunities for the recently incarcerated, but also makes deliveries of fresh produce for patients of public health clinics in need of healthy food.

He also organized and implemented a Tri- Valley Substation for additional patrol and community policing coverage for the rural eastern part of Alameda County and increased staffing, participation and grant funding for the Narcotics Task Force, interoperable communications, training, and DNA cold case investigations. Furthermore, during the COVID–19 pandemic, Greg managed various departments as the Director of Emergency Services for Alameda County, overseeing housing, testing, vaccination, hospitalizations, supplies and providing emergency workers.

Under Greg’s leadership, the Alameda County Sheriffs Office is better equipped, has become more technologically advanced, and is better prepared to manage large-scale emergencies.

Greg helped create a professional culture with well-trained staff that treats the community with dignity and respect. I thank Greg for his career of serving and protecting Alameda County, in addition to his wife, Kathleen, who supported him throughout his service. I wish him and his family the best in his retirement.

TRIBUTE TO GWYN M. PARRIS-ATWELL

HON. JEFFERSON VAN DREW
OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, last month, I had the pleasure of attending the
Mr. GUEST. Madam Speaker, it is my privilege to recognize the life of former Mississippi Transportation Commissioner, Dick Hall. Commissioner Hall committed his life to the service of his fellow man through a long and distinguished career, and I rise today to recognize him as a dedicated leader whose example will continue to inspire many who wish to make the world around them a better place for their neighbors, friends, and family.

As a transportation commissioner for the State of Mississippi for over 20 years, Commissioner Hall was an outspoken advocate for providing additional revenue to improve Mississippi’s infrastructure system. Before being elected to this post, Commissioner Hall served for three terms in the Mississippi Senate and three terms in the Mississippi House of Representatives, representing my home county of Rankin in the State Legislature throughout a noteworthy career. Commissioner Hall also served our country as a Lieutenant in the United States Army.

Commissioner Hall was fond of saying, “We’re not just building a transportation system. We’re building an economy.” which was a quip that was born out in the many projects he spearheaded. He oversaw the opening of a quip that was born out in the many projects he spearheaded. He oversaw the opening of the Nissan Parkway; and countless rehabilitation projects throughout Mississippi’s Central District. Commissioner Hall’s tireless effort was vital in creating a modern infrastructure system and a strong Mississippi economy that has created better lives for those who call our state home.

For his numerous accomplishments and innumerable spirit, Commissioner Hall received many accolades and awards, including the Hugh L. White Free Enterprise Award, the Friend of Education Award, Conservation Leg-islato of the Year, and Alumnus of the Year by the Mid-Mississippi Chapter of the Mississippi State University Alumni Association.

Commissioner Hall was an extraordinary person who will be remembered by those who had the pleasure of meeting him or working alongside him. His legacy of a deep respect and dedication to our state will endure.

It is my honor to recognize the life of Commissioner Dick Hall for the many contributions he made to our state and our Nation, and I ask my colleagues in the House to join me in recognizing his service and commitment to Mississippi and to the United States of America.

RECOGNIZING MRS. KELLY SANTORO

HON. DAVID G. VALADAO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VALADAO. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Warden Kelly Santoro for her 30 years of service to the Central Valley community and congratulate her on her well-earned retirement.

Just like many in her family before her, Mrs. Santoro knew she wanted to be a law enforcement officer at an early age. She became a deputy sheriff in the State of California. She began her career in the Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation in 1993 as a correctional officer at Centinela State Prison. Throughout her decorated career, she held crucial positions in the California Prison system ranging from Correctional Counselor to Associate Warden.

In 2012, Mrs. Santoro was named the Chief Deputy Warden of the Wasco State Prison Reception Center. In this role, she displayed incredible professionalism and competence as she oversaw over 5,000 inmates and nearly 1,500 members of staff. Her work in running the day-to-day in this role impressed her colleagues and would lead her to be named the Acting Warden of the North Kern State Prison in 2015. In August of 2016, she would officially be named Warden of North Kern State Prison—a role she held until her retirement this year.

Not only has Mrs. Santoro served her community through the State’s Correctional Department, but she has also been a leader in the Central Valley through her philanthropic work. She and the North Kern State Prison raised hundreds of thousands of dollars for charities such as the Ronald McDonald House, the Make-A-Wish Foundation, the Women’s Shelter, and many others. For 30 years, Mrs. Santoro has been an incredible example of the dedication, professionalism, and selflessness that encompass the values of the Central Valley community.

I ask all of my colleagues in the House of Representatives to join me in honoring Mrs. Kelly Marie Santoro for her 30 years of service to our community and congratulate her on a well-earned retirement.
our Arab allies, the United Arab Emirates, Bahrain, Morocco, and Sudan. Unlike the Palestinian leadership, I am encouraged to see these Arab nations suspend their continued rejection of Israel and work to integrate it into the region.

We must continue to see the UN’s deplorable efforts to isolate, condemn and excessively attack Israel. I celebrate one of the few positive things it has done in the Middle East—the historic 75th anniversary of the UN Partition Plan vote, guided by strong U.S. leadership.

May the U.S.-Israel relationship continue to flourish for the next 75 years and beyond, and may we continue to promote our shared interests supporting democracy, peace, and cooperation throughout the region.

TRIBUTE TO FRANK P. HOFACKER
HON. JEFFERSON VAN DREW
OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, last month, I had the pleasure of attending the Salem Community College Foundation Veterans Dinner. At the event, Frank Hofacker was honored for his service to our nation in the United States Army from 1966 to 1969. He was ranked as a sergeant and received many awards and decorations for his exemplary service. Frank earned the National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Good Conduct Medal, and Vietnam Campaign Medal. He also was honored with the Bronze Star Medal, which is a decoration for heroic achievement and heroic service, as well as meritorious achievement and service in a combat zone. I want to personally thank Frank for his brave service to our great nation and it was truly an honor to attend the Veterans Dinner honoring him. God Bless Frank, and God Bless our United States of America.

RECOGNIZING THE VSC LUNAR ALLIANCE AND FOUNDER DAVID H. VAN DE VELDE
HON. DANIEL WEBSTER OF FLORIDA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. WEBSTER of Florida. Madam Speaker, it is my privilege to recognize VSC Lunar Alliance and Founder David H. van de Velde of The Villages, Florida, along with the Leesburg Noon Rotary Club for their Pledge Not to Bully Movement.

The Pledge Against Bullying Program was established in 2018 with the Interact Club at Leesburg High School with Principal Michael Randolph and has influenced numerous teenagers to make the Pledge. The VSC Lunar Alliance has drawn interest to the Pledge Against Bullying Program by allowing the participants to be a part of an exciting night program.

Moon Mission No. 1 is the first space rocket mission of VSC Lunar Alliance in a series of three missions. VSC Lunar Alliance has arranged to have a micro-SD card placed in a capsule aboard a space rocket ship at Space Port America in New Mexico. Students have their pledges, pictures, and essays on the micro-SD card along with memorabilia from the Leesburg Rotary Club and community organization. Moon Mission No. 1 is a test flight scheduled to launch November 30th and will go into space and return to the Earth.

Moon Mission No. 2 and Moon Mission No. 3 are scheduled for 2023. Moon Mission No. 2 will launch from the Kennedy Space Centre at Cape Canaveral in Florida. Moon Mission No. 2 will also carry the capsule with the micro-SD card and this time will remain on the moon. VSC Lunar Alliance and the Leesburg Noon Rotary Club will be the first to place the Leesburg High School students and participants of the Pledge Against Bullying Program on the moon along with the Leesburg Noon Rotary Club.

Founder David H. van de Velde has personally monetarily invested in support of this program to join in the three space rocket ship launches. David H. van de Velde has a vast knowledge and experience in space technology. As part owner of Quality Materials Inspection, he is an expert in Qualification Materials Inspection in Southern California from 1988 to 1990, Mr. van de Velde began his interest in space technology.

I am honored to recognize Mr. van de Velde for his passion for space science and his love for children and their success. It is commendable that through Mr. van de Velde’s vision and the Leesburg Noon Rotary Club students can choose not to bully through the participation and education of science space technology.

TRIBUTE TO REVEREND FRANK E. WILLIAMS, JR.
HON. JAMES E. CLYBURN
OF SOUTH CAROLINA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. CLYBRUN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a devoted preacher, trusted funeral director, and beloved community leader, Reverend Frank E. Williams, Jr. Affectionately known as Frank, Jr., Rev. Williams transitioned on October 12, 2022, in his hometown of Sumter, South Carolina. His lifelong commitment to his community was deeply felt and will be sorely missed.

Reverend Frank E. Williams, Jr. was born on October 8, 1952, in Sumter, South Carolina, to the late Reverend Frank E. Williams, Sr. and Magnolia Robinson Williams. He attended public schools in Sumter County before pursuing a bachelor’s degree in Sociology at Benedict College in Columbia, South Carolina. He later attended the Gupton-Jones College of Funeral Service in Atlanta, Georgia, where he was a member of the National Morticians Fraternity, Pi Sigma Eta. He graduated in 1976 with a diploma in Funeral Service Sciences.

In 1978, Frank, Jr. returned to Sumter to begin work at his family’s funeral home. He became the youngest funeral director and embalmer in Sumter, South Carolina. Throughout the next 46 years, he would touch the lives of hundreds of families in this role as he guided them through some of their most difficult times.

Rev. Williams, a Godfearing man, recognized his calling to preach the gospel during his membership at Rafting Creek Missionary Baptist Church. He received his license to preach on June 8, 2003, and was ordained on May 30, 2004. Shortly thereafter, he founded Faith Missionary Baptist Church, which he faithfully pastored until his health declined.

I knew Frank, Jr. well through his civic endeavors throughout the Sumter community, the state of South Carolina, and beyond. At one time he was the youngest person to serve on the Sumter County Council representing District 5, a position which he held honorably for 12 years. He spearheaded the effort to erect a statue in honor of Dr. Luns C. Richard-son of Morris College, who became the longest-serving college President in South Carolina.

Frank, Jr. is survived by his wife of 40 years, Mrs. Thoma Lewis Williams and 4 children, Marcus Evans, M. Brooke Williams, Frank E. Williams, III, and Thomas Wesley Williams, and 2 grandchildren, Nova Imani Williams, and Malik Rivers.

Madam Speaker, I ask that you and our colleagues join me in honoring the remarkable life led by Reverend Frank E. Williams, Jr. His work as a minister, funeral director and county council member cemented him in the bedrock of his community. He has left an indelible mark on those around him and was an inspiration to us all.

HONORING WARREN C. DOCKUM
HON. LAUREN BOEBERT
OF COLORADO
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, last month, I had the pleasure of attending the Salem Community College Foundation Veterans Dinner. At the event, Cordell Carr was honored. Cordell served in the United States Marine Corps from September of 1967 to September of 1969. During his service, he earned the rank of Corporal within the Marine Corps. Cordell also was awarded numerous medals and badges in honor of his heroic service. These awards include the National Defense Service Medal, the Rifle Expert Badge, the Vietnam Service Medal, and the Good Conduct Medal. Cordell should be proud of his military achievements and brave service to our nation, and I want to sincerely thank him for all he has done to keep our country safe. God Bless Cordell, and God Bless America. veterans from Pueblo, Colorado for their act of service restoring the grave of a Civil War Medal of Honor recipient, Warren C. Dockum. Dockum is the “Home of Heroes,” and it is only proper that it should honor Warren C. Dockum, the only known Medal of Honor recipient buried in this great American city.

Warren C. Dockum earned the Medal of Honor during the Civil War at the Battle of Sayler’s Creek where he showed exemplary bravery in service of the Union. After two other soldiers were killed, Dockum charged forward and captured a key position. Dockum was recognized for his heroism and received the Medal of Honor from President Andrew Johnson who assumed office after the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

The Medal of Honor is the United States’ highest award for military valor in action. While over 150 years have passed since the Medal of Honor’s inception, the meaning behind the Medal has never been tarnished or diminished. A distinguished award presented only to the most deserving, the Medal of Honor tells a story of its own. Etched into the history of the Medal of Honor are the values that each recipient has displayed: bravery, courage, sacrifice, integrity, a deep love of country, and a desire to always do what is right.

The Medal of Honor reminds us that freedom isn’t free. It’s bought by patriots who pay the ultimate price. It reminds us to love our country and to remember that united we stand but divided we fall.

After the Civil War, Dockum eventually moved to Colorado and lived near Pueblo for the rest of his life. To honor this American hero’s place of resting in Pueblo, local veterans volunteered to restore his grave. I thank the veterans in Pueblo for their magnificent work honoring Warren C. Dockum and highlighting yet another hometown hero who is associated with Pueblo’s long and storied history of patriotism.

HONORING DR. CHARLES E. ANDERSON, SR. AS A DISTINGUISHED LEADER IN CENTRAL FLORIDA

HON. DARREN SOTO OF FLORIDA IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. SOTO. Madam Speaker, Dr. Charles E. Anderson, Sr. is the Senior Pastor and Founder of Trinity Church—one church in several locations. Dr. Anderson has served over 25 years in pastoral ministry and has had the opportunity to serve in various capacities in the International, National, State, and Local arenas. He is the President of Unity in the Community in Haines City, Florida, which is a group of local pastors, local businesses, and community leaders who work together to promote unity in the Haines City community and other surrounding areas throughout Polk County. UIC promotes and develops economic empowerment for businesses and fosters positive relationships between city government, law enforcement, and citizens.

Through Dr. Anderson’s leadership, UIC and Trinity Church have championed several annual community projects and programs such as hosting a testing site for COVID–19 vaccines, a community feeding program, constructing affordable housing in the East Polk area, a work readiness program that educates youth and prepares them for success, a back-to-school bash which continues to serve more than 2,000 families with backpacks and school supplies, and a Miracle Christmas serving over 250 families with bicycles, toys, and gift cards.

Dr. Anderson serves on the Central Florida Health Care Board of Directors where he provides guidance for policies and strategic development. He also serves on the Advent Health Diversity, Equality, and Inclusion Council. Dr. Anderson has also worked with the State Attorney’s office of the 10th Judicial Circuit to host several expungement seminars to allow citizens with criminal records to be sealed or expunged and live more productive lives.

Dr. Anderson received his Bachelor of Arts in Biblical Studies, a Master of Theological Studies, and a Doctor of Divinity from Logos University Christian College in Jacksonville. He also received a second Master of Ministry from Warner University in Lake Wales. Dr. Anderson has been married to Judith F. Anderson for the past 42 years. He has two sons, Charles II (Shaelis) and Javier (Chassidee), nine grandchildren, and two great-grandkids.

HONORING JOE MOTTLOW

HON. TOM EMMER OF MINNESOTA IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. EMMER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to share the story of a fellow Minnesotan, Joe Mottlow.

On Wednesday June 14, 2017, Joe, (aka, JoeJoe Tough as he’s become known since his battle began), was admitted to the hospital with an enlarged spleen. Within the next few days Joe, a previously healthy 35-year-old, learned he had a type of leukemia called ALL (b-cell) GHL which carried with it a measly 15 percent two-year survival rate for adults.

While he and his mom sat stunned after the doctor left the room, Joe said, “great news about Mark and Natalie!” That morning his cousin and wife announced they were pregnant with their first child. Joe’s mom began to cry and Joe just consoled her saying, “let’s just have fun with this.” That’s Joe. Always thinking about those he loves.

This was the beginning of a 5½ year rolling journey that has included a bone marrow transplant, another CAR-T trial right in our own backyard at the University of MN. Joe was the only 21st person in the world to attempt this cure. This one worked for over a year, but this summer Joe learned the beast was back and his time was short.

Joe's smile and inspiration have not gone unnoticed. Joe’s doctors let the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society know about this amazing guy their patients kept talking about. How this guy just started talking to them while they sat in the clinic, full of anxiety and sadness, and the next thing they knew they are laughing, talking the uncomfortable conversations of their cancer journey, and finding camaraderie.

Joe has started group outings and text chains bringing cancer warriors together to support and love one another. These groups brought diverse unlikely people together and have made all their lives richer for having cancer and learning to dig deep to find friendship and grace in the process.

Acolaudes have come Joe’s way. The Leukemia/Lymphoma Society nominated Joe for “Man of the Year” 2020, and recently honored him with their prized “Lifetime Achievement” award. One of Joe’s clinic buddies wanted to thank the U of M for saving his life, but real-ized science was only part of his success. This buddy felt JoeJoe Tough gave him the right and positivity that pushed him over the finish line and is now working with the U to develop a virtual work–life program that will soon be available to patients. When completed, it will be named in Joe’s honor.

Acolaudes are wonderful, but it’s the love and support Joe has received from his army of JoeJoe Toughens that has humbled and inspired him. Who has over 2000 friends? Friends, not donors, wanting something from you—but ride or die type friends? Joe does. Why? Because he is “that” friend we all want and is so hard to find. Joe listens and hears others, and that is what makes Joe an unaverage average Joe.

TRIBUTE TO WAYNE T. CARTER

HON. JEFFERSON VAN DREW OF NEW JERSEY IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, last month—I had the pleasure of attending the Salem Community College Foundation Veterans Dinner. At the event, Wayne T. Carter was honored for his 21 years of service in the United States Army, where he earned the rank to curing many others. Joe has endured a grueling chemo regiment, two different newer immunotherapy treatments, an experimental CAR-T trial that brought him out to Seattle, another bone marrow transplant and yet another CAR-T trial right in our own backyard at the University of MN. Joe was the only 21st person to attempt this cure. This one worked for over a year, but this summer Joe learned the beast was back and his time was short. He was told that modern medicine could only hope to promise him three to six months. Joe’s bucket list is now the prior-ites filled with closures.

Early on in this journey, his Aunt Allison took Joe to the clinic and observed that cancer does not discriminate. Looking around the waiting room there were rich and poor, young and old. If it wants you, it gets you. She also watched Joe connecting with those in the waiting room. So many stories have been told about Joe helping other patients get through their cancer nightmares. Get up. Get dressed. Smile. Live.

Joe’s smile and inspiration have not gone unnoticed. Joe’s doctors let the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society know about this amazing guy their patients kept talking about. How this guy just started talking to them while they sat in the clinic, full of anxiety and sadness, and the next thing they knew they are laughing, talking the uncomfortable conversations of their cancer journey, and finding camaraderie.

Joe has started group outings and text chains bringing cancer warriors together to support and love one another. These groups brought diverse unlikely people together and have made all their lives richer for having cancer and learning to dig deep to find friendship and grace in the process.

HON. JEFFERSON VAN DREW

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, last month—I had the pleasure of attending the Salem Community College Foundation Veterans Dinner. At the event, Wayne T. Carter was honored for his 21 years of service in the United States Army, where he earned the rank of Sergeant First Class. He earned six impressive decorations during his 21 years of military service. Wayne earned the Good Conduct Medal, National Defense Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, Bronze Star Medal, Republic Vietnam Medal, and Meritorious Unit Citation. He performed outstanding service in wartime operations and should serve as a role model to many young men and women in South Jersey who hope to serve our country in the Army. I want to sincerely thank Wayne for his exemplary service to our nation, and it was my pleasure to attend the Veterans Day dinner honoring him. God Bless Wayne, and God Bless our United States of America.

RECOGNIZING GERMAIN HARNDEn’S REMARKABLE CAREER

HON. BRIAN HIGGINS
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. HIGGINS of New York. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor Germain Hamden and her remarkable 42-year career.

Germain has dedicated her career to safety, health training, education, and advocacy for workers. For the last decade, she has served as the executive director of WNYCOSH. Before beginning her career at WNYCOSH, Germain studied at the University of Buffalo. She worked as an editor of the Humanist Magazine at the Center of Inquiry, and she would go onto enroll in the Cornell Cooperative Extension Labor Studies program, where she took several courses on collective bargaining, labor history, and mediation. Germain worked as a certified mediator and volunteered in numerous community mediation cases.

In 1978 and 1979, Germain participated with Cornell Extension staff and other labor activists in the formation of what would become the WNY Council on Occupational Safety & Health. She helped organize the first kick-off event of WNYCOSH at a winter safety and health conference, which drew over 300 labor union participants. Germain took an official staff position at WNYCOSH in 1979 and was instrumental in creating safety and health training under OSHA’s New Direction grant program.

In 1980, she also worked on advocating for the Right-to-Know legislation, which would become the nation’s first law in the country to require employers to provide workers with information on the chemicals they were working with and protective measures to reduce or eliminate hazardous exposures. Throughout the 1980s, Germain organized safety workshops and seminars.

Germain served as WNYCOSH Program Director from 1986 until 2012. Germain wrote all WNYCOSH grants, including the annual contributions, and organized worker training which regularly draws 6,000 participants each year. Her work as Executive Director allowed WNYCOSH to continue its significant presence in the Buffalo area.

Germain’s career was focused on bettering the lives of workers in our community, and I will always be grateful to her for those efforts. On behalf of countless workers, I sincerely thank Germain Hamden for being a dedicated community leader, advocate, and vital player in Western New York for over four decades.

RECOGNIZING THE LIFE OF MR. ASA HARDISON

HON. MICHAEL GUEST OF MISSISSIPPI
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. GUEST. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize the life of Mr. Asa Hardison. Mr. Hardison served his community, state, and Nation and set an example for those who work to make the world around them a better place.

Mr. Hardison served the United States of America in the 101st Airborne Division during the Vietnam War. Following his service, he returned to the United States of America where he and his wife, Ruth Hardison, raised two daughters. As a civilian, Mr. Hardison served as Senior Vice President for Georgia Pacific and, in his free time, could often be found playing golf or tennis. Later in life, he enjoyed spending time with his grandchildren.

It is my honor to recognize the life of Mr. Asa Hardison for his service to our Nation.

TRIBUTE TO PAUL E. HOPKINS, JR.

HON. JEFFERSON VAN DREW
OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, last month, I had the pleasure of attending the Salem Community College Foundation Veterans Dinner. At the event, Paul E. Hopkins, Jr. was honored for his service to our country in the United States Navy from May of 1969 to January of 1971. He earned the rank of Quarter Master 3rd class during his time in the Navy. Paul was decorated with three noteworthy medals including the National Defense Service Medal, Vietnam Service Medal, and Vietnam Campaign Medal. He should be very proud of his selfless devotion to the United States Navy.

I want to thank Dr. Bowden for his contributions to the Lake Champlain basin and congratulate him on his retirement. I wish him well in this next chapter of his life.

HONORING WILLIAM BRECKENRIDGE “BRECK” BOWDEN FOR HIS LONGTIME SERVICE TO THE NORTH COUNTRY COMMUNITY

HON. ELISE M. STEFANIK
OF NEW YORK
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Ms. STEFANIK. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor William Breckenridge Bowden, the Director of the Lake Champlain Sea Grant Institute, for his years of service to protecting our lakes and native aquatic life.

Since 2012, Dr. Bowden has served as the Director of the Lake Champlain Sea Grant Institute. Under his leadership, the Lake Champlain Sea Grant has grown and was even awarded institute status in 2018. This redesignation came with a 150 percent increase in its base budget in federal support for research, outreach, and education to improve the environment and economy in the Lake Champlain Basin. Thanks to Dr. Bowden’s leadership, the Lake Champlain Sea Grant earned the institute designation for demonstrating excellence in research, education, and public service dedicated to environmental responsibility and outreach. Dr. Bowden was instrumental in getting the program to the level necessary to receive this prestigious designation, which has allowed the Institute to expand its educational outreach program to New York State schools and has increased support for combatting invasive species.

Founded in 1999, the Lake Champlain Sea Grant Institute aims to raise awareness to benefit the environmental health of Lake Champlain, Lake George, and their respective watersheds, and encourage sustainable economic development. Dr. Bowden has led the Institute in building resilient communities and economies in the Lake Champlain basin, improving environmental literacy, and promoting healthy coastal ecosystems.

Dr. Bowden has combined his life to educating the next generation on environmental sustainability and is currently a professor in Watershed Science and Planning in the Rubenstein School of Environment and Natural Resources at the University of Vermont.

Mr. Hardison served as WNYCOSH Program Director from 1986 until 2012. Germain wrote all WNYCOSH grants, including the annual contributions, and organized worker training which regularly draws 6,000 participants each year. Her work as Executive Director allowed WNYCOSH to continue its significant presence in the Buffalo area.

Germain’s career was focused on bettering the lives of workers in our community, and I will always be grateful to her for those efforts. On behalf of countless workers, I sincerely thank Germain Hamden for being a dedicated community leader, advocate, and vital player in Western New York for over four decades.

 Mr. CLYBURN. Madam Speaker, I rise today to pay tribute to a brilliant student and gifted athlete. Lavel Norman Davis, Jr., affectionately known as Tyler, was too soon to his heavenly home on November 13, 2022, in Charlottesville, Virginia. Although he is no longer with us, memory of his unbreakable spirit will remain a beacon for all who knew him.

Tyler Davis was born on January 7, 2002, in Ridgeville, South Carolina to Thaddeus Lavel
Davis and Fallom Simone Davis. Tyler attended Harleyville-Ridgeville Elementary, Clay Hill Elementary, Harleyville-Ridgeville Middle School and Woodland High School in Dorchester, South Carolina. Throughout his primary education, Tyler established his excellence both on and off the field. He maintained a 3.577 GPA, A-B Honor Roll status, and concurrently earned certification as a Nursing Assistant through the Dorchester County Career School. Tyler was also a dedicated multi-sport athlete, playing football, soccer, basketball, and running track. Tyler graduated from Woodland in June of 2020.

After receiving several football scholarship offers, Tyler selected the University of Virginia in Charlottesville in order to benefit from both their rigorous academic and athletic programs. He immediately rose to the occasion and would finish his freshman season ranked second in the nation and first in the ACC for wide receivers. Even after suffering a knee injury that sidelined him for his sophomore season, he remained a force of inspiration and motivation to his teammates. He was anticipated to graduate in December of 2023 with a bachelor's degree in African American Studies, after which he aspired to play football professionally and give back to the community by opening a local Boys and Girls Club.

Tyler was an active member of several social organizations. In high school, he was a proud member of the National Technical Honor Society and the Athletics Leading in Literacy (ALL) Program. He used his Nursing Assistant certification to volunteer with the elderly in his community. In college, Tyler was a participant of the UVA Football Thursday’s Heroes Program, which supports local residents who are facing medical challenges. He was also an exemplary member of the "Groundskeepers," a group of fellow UVA football players who advocate for racial and social justice. Despite his busy social, academic, and athletic life in Charlottesville, Tyler never forgot his roots in South Carolina and returned regularly to Woodland High School to mentor and motivate students to pursue their dreams.

Tyler was a devout Christian, and his love of God was fostered at Bethel AME Church. The principles of his faith guided him throughout his life and shaped his resilient character. He is lovingly remembered by his parents, Thaddeus and Fallom, his two younger siblings, Taniya Skylar and Teigan Jeremiah Hollins Davis, his grandparents, Monroe and Cynthia Lampkin, Thaddeus (Deloris) Davis and Linda Vamer, and his great grandfather, Herman Davis.

Madam Speaker, I ask that you and our colleagues join me in honoring the life of Lavel "Tyler" Norman Davis, Jr. Despite his youth, he touched the lives of many and will be sorely missed. As we remember him and mourn his loss, may we draw strength from the very resilience and kindheartedness that led Tyler to live such an impactful life.

TRIBUTE TO LESTER R. SUTTON

HON. JEFFERSON VAN DREW
OF NEW JERSEY
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
Tuesday, November 29, 2022

Mr. VAN DREW. Madam Speaker, last month, I had the pleasure of attending the Salem Community College Foundation Veteran's Dinner. At the event, Lester R. Sutton was honored. Lester served our nation in the United States Coast Guard and held the rank of Storekeeper Third Class. He was awarded with the National Defense Service Medal, First Coast Guard Good Conduct Award, Vietnam Service Medal, and Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal during his time serving in the Coast Guard. Lester retired from the Coast Guard in 1973 after 8 years of exemplary service. I am so proud of Lester for his time in the United States Coast Guard, and I want to thank him for his dedication to our great nation. God Bless Lester, and God Bless our America.
