PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 118th CONGRESS, FIRST SESSION

Vol. 169

WASHINGTON, MONDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 2023

No. 187

House of Representatives

The House met at noon and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. COLLINS).

DESIGNATION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from the Speaker:

WASHINGTON, DC,
November 13, 2023.

I hereby appoint the Honorable MIKE COLLINS to act as Speaker pro tempore on this day.

MIKE JOHNSON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

MORNING-HOUR DEBATE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the order of the House of January 9, 2023, the Chair will now recognize Members from lists submitted by the majority and minority leaders for morning-hour debate.

The Chair will alternate recognition between the parties, with time equally allocated between the parties and each Member other than the majority and minority leaders and the minority whip limited to 5 minutes, but in no event shall debate continue beyond 1:50 p.m.

CHARTING NEW COURSE ON NATIONAL DEBT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. JOYCE) for 5 minutes.

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, today, our national debt stands at over $33 trillion, which is an increase of nearly $5 trillion since President Joe Biden took office.

By borrowing money from China to subsidize Green New Deal initiatives like windmills, solar panels, and electric vehicles, President Biden has failed to rein in spending and sent our national debt soaring to unprecedented levels.

As Congress looks to address next year's funding, it is clear that a change needs to be made and that cuts to government waste are needed in order to right the ship and restore sanity to our budget.

Right now, we are on an unsustainable trajectory that will put making interest payments on our debt the largest single line item in the Federal budget, surpassing Social Security, Medicare, and all other spending programs.

It is time to chart a new course and help return to fiscal solvency while supporting the priorities that matter the most, priorities like protecting seniors, funding our military, and securing our border.

Pennsylvania families and, in fact, all American families cannot afford President Biden's reckless spending, and I call on my colleagues to join me in working to pass a budget that is responsible and shows that Congress is working to be solid stewards of American taxpayer dollars.

RECOGNIZING NATIONAL LUNG CANCER AWARENESS MONTH

Mr. JOYCE of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, this November, as we recognize National Lung Cancer Awareness Month, Congress must look to find new and innovative solutions to treat this terrible disease. Each year, lung cancer takes the lives of over 127,000 Americans, more than any other type of cancer in America.

Unfortunately, at a time when we should be looking for new innovation, the Inflation Reduction Act, or IRA, has led to a slowdown in research and development of new drugs and therapies that could be critical to saving American lives.

New price controls, which were established by the IRA, create a system of disincentives for smaller, innovative drug manufacturers that are working to treat rare diseases, including cancer.

To address this issue, I have been joined by a bipartisan group of my colleagues to introduce the ORPHAN Cures Act. This legislation would amend the IRA to create a new exemption that would incentivize researchers to explore the development of new medications to treat rare diseases and cancers.

The clock is ticking, and now is the time for Congress to pass this bipartisan solution for our constituents and the patients who are currently battling cancer and other rare diseases.

VETERANS MEMORIAL PARK

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Iowa (Mrs. MILLER-MEEKS) for 5 minutes.

Mrs. MILLER-MEEKS. Mr. Speaker, last week, the city of Davenport gathered to celebrate the completion of phase 2 for the Veterans Memorial Park located at 315 South Marquette Street.

The new features include developments of the river outlook, the addition of an amphitheater, and a large mural created by Davenport West art teacher Dave Schaeffer. The new mural installation took the span of 2 years to create.

Our veterans and their families have given so much for our great Nation, and we must honor our commitment to those who have served and remember their sacrifices.

As a veteran, I thank our community volunteers who came together and dedicated time to create this project, which will impact future generations, in time for Veterans Day.

CONGRATULATING CAMRYN SATTLER

Mrs. MILLER-MEEKS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Camryn Sattler, a standout senior cross-country athlete from Clinton High School who demonstrated her exceptional talent and determination at the Class 4-A State meet on October 27.

Camryn not only set her high school's record earlier in the year, but she went on to smash her own personal best by almost 23 seconds.

I congratulate Camryn on her 13th place finish at State this year. I congratulate her younger sister, Carryn Sattler, for making her sophomore debut, finishing 65th.

Mr. Speaker, I wish them the best of luck in their future competitions and endeavors.

RECOGNIZING AMERICA RECYCLES DAY

Mrs. MILLER-MEEKS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize America Recycles Day. This year, America Recycles Day will be celebrated on Wednesday, November 15.

Recycling in rural America is no small feat. In many cases, recycling in rural communities can require driving long distances to reach facilities that can process recycled materials.

That is why I was proud to introduce the Recycling Infrastructure and Accessibility Act with Representative MIKIE SHERRILL. This legislation rethinks rural recycling programs, works with States and local governments to support partnerships to process recyclable materials, and creates good-paying jobs for our rural and underserved communities.

This year, on America Recycles Day, I urge my colleagues to expand access to recycling for all communities and support the Recycling Infrastructure and Accessibility Act.

HAWKEYE WOMEN'S WRESTLING OFF TO WONDERFUL START

Mrs. MILLER-MEEKS. Mr. Speaker, in 2021, the University of Iowa Athletics Department announced that it would become the first NCAA Division I, Power Five conference institution to offer women's wrestling as an intercollegiate program.

This year, on November 4, the women's wrestling team officially kicked off their inaugural season. The Hawkeyes dominated East Stroudsburg, winning 43-1. On Sunday, November 5, the Hawkeyes competed in the Princeton Open, bringing home six gold medals. Over the weekend, a crowd of 8,207 people showed up for the Hawkeye women's Carver-Hawkeye Arena debut for the Trailblazer Duals.

The Iowa women's wrestling team is off to a wonderful start.

The team is led by Head Coach Clarissa Chun, a two-time Olympian who took fifth at the 2008 Beijing Games before earning a bronze medal at the 2012 London Games.

With a roster comprised of 28 impressive women, the Hawkeyes are sure to continue this dominance throughout the remainder of their 13-match season. Go Hawks.

Mr. Speaker, let me also wish a happy belated birthday to my very good friend and former deputy chief of staff, Austin Harris.

Happy birthday to Austin.

ALEJANDRO NICHOLAS MAYORKAS IS FAILING AT HIS JOB

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentlewoman from Georgia (Ms. GREENE) for 5 minutes.

Ms. GREENE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, last Congress, and again on May 17, 2023, I introduced Articles of Impeachment against Secretary Alejandro Mayorkas.

We have been waiting for regular order for 6 months, and the committee of jurisdiction and Congress have failed to act. My Articles of Impeachment sit collecting dust with the others while Americans die every single day.

The American people support impeachment. Members of Congress support impeachment. Even our esteemed majority whip, TOM EMMER, has endorsed this impeachment resolution.

Secretary Alejandro Mayorkas has aided and abetted the complete invasion of our country by deliberately flooding our Nation with drugs, terrorists, and illegals from over 160 countries. How many more will he allow to invade our country?

Rather than adhering to an oath he took to defend and secure our country and uphold the Constitution, Alejandro Nicholas Mayorkas has engaged in a pattern of conduct that is incompatible with the laws of the United States. Since assuming office, he has allowed approximately 10 million illegal border crossers to invade our country, 1.8 million of whom are known got-aways and have evaded U.S. authorities.

Because of his open border policies, he has allowed more than 280 people on terrorist watch lists to be caught while attempting to cross the border between ports of entry, as well as approximately 73,000 special interest aliens, who are aliens from a nation that promotes terrorist activity, harbors terrorists, or poses a security threat to the United States.

These numbers do not even account for the approximately 1.8 million known got-aways who are roaming the interior of our country. How many of them are terrorists?

Just last fiscal year alone, the CBP arrested almost 18,000 individuals with criminal convictions and over 110 MS-13 gang members. How many of the 1.8 million got-aways are gang members?

Just last week, two constituents of mine were killed in a human smuggling pursuit caused by Secretary Mayorkas' open-border policies. Jose and Isabel Lerma's family will never get to see them again.

His policies allow for approximately 300 Americans to die every single day from fentanyl poisoning. How many more days will this continue?

His open border policies have allowed unaccompanied children to be exploited, and now, 85,000 of them are completely missing. Tens of thousands of illegal children have been forced into slave labor. Thousands of others are being recycled by predatory illegal border crossers, who use these children to become fake family units so they can receive expedited release into the interior of our country.

Secretary Mayorkas has violated the law by directing DHS to mass parole illegal aliens into the U.S. when Federal law specifically prohibits this, and he has been providing bus tickets, plane tickets, and hotel rooms at the expense of the American taxpayers for these illegal aliens.

He has violated the Secure Fence Act of 2006 by not maintaining operational control of the border as required by law. He has violated the Guarantee Clause as set forth in Article IV, Section 4 of the Constitution, which requires the Federal Government to protect States against invasion. The Guarantee Clause clearly dictates that the Federal Government has a constitutional duty and obligation to protect each of the States from invasion.

As Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security, he has violated his oath to uphold this constitutional duty by allowing the invasion of approximately 10 million illegal aliens across our borders. He has encouraged asylum fraud, abused the credible fear standard, and exercised mass catch and release policies.

Article II of the Constitution requires that the executive branch, which includes the Secretary of Homeland Security, ensures the laws passed by Congress and signed into law by the President are faithfully executed. Alejandro Nicholas Mayorkas, in his inability to enforce the law, has engaged in a pattern of conduct that is incompatible with his duties as a civil officer of the United States.

Alejandro Mayorkas thus warrants impeachment and trial, removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit under the United States.

While some of my colleagues have argued that we need to proceed through regular order to pursue impeachment proceedings, the committee of jurisdiction and Congress have failed to act on the overwhelming evidence to impeach Secretary Mayorkas.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support my legislation to impeach Secretary Alejandro Mayorkas. The American people are ready.

RECOGNIZING UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS LEGEND, COACH LANCE HARTER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. WOMACK) for 5 minutes.

Mr. WOMACK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize a legend in University of Arkansas athletics, Coach Lance Harter, the longtime coach of the Arkansas Razorback Women's Track and Cross Country program.

Coach Harter retired this past June after having won seven NCAA championships, including a trifecta in 2019 winning the NCAA indoor, outdoor, and cross-country titles.

Harter's program has been named the Program of the Year twice in 2022 and 2023 by the U.S. Track and Field and Cross Country Coaches Association.

His career numbers are staggering: Nine National Coach of the Year honors, 45 conference championships, 25 regional championships, 46 SEC Coach of the Year awards, 654 All-Americans, 472 of them first teamers, and 31 Academic All-Americans.

He has represented the United States five times on the international circuit, including the 1992 Summer Games in Barcelona. Team USA head coach in the 1999 World Athletics Outdoor Championships and coached the U.S. women at the 2003 World Athletics Cross-Country Championships in Brussels.

Coach Harter came to Arkansas in 1990 after a very successful 11 years at Division II Cal Poly San Luis Obispo. There he won a Division II record of 14 national championships—8 in cross-country and 6 in track and field. He was a Division II Coach of the Year 10 times.

Arkansas is legendary for its track and field programs. Lance Harter's name and reputation are the epitome of excellence, so much so that the University of Arkansas named the track at the Tyson Center in Fayetteville in his honor, with his signature near the finish line.

Mr. Speaker, it has been an honor for me personally to know Lance Harter. The legacy of this Hall of Fame coach will endure forever in the Razorback nation, and it is a high honor for me to recognize him for his contributions to the sport and to the young ladies he has mentored down through the years. I wish him and his wife, Kim, all the best as he settles into retirement after decades of remarkable accomplishment.

Go Hogs.

CONGRATULATIONS TO TANIGUCHI RUTH MAKIO ARCHITECTS ON THEIR 50TH ANNIVERSARY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Guam (Mr. MOYLAN) for 5 minutes.

Mr. MOYLAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Taniguchi Ruth Makio Architects, also known as TRMA, on their 50th anniversary of designing and building creativity on the island of Guam.

Established by Kinya Taniguchi in 1973, TRMA has a celebrated history of designing, planning, constructing, and managing hundreds of projects in Guam, the CNMI, and throughout Micronesia.

Through training, investment, and education, TRMA strides to always utilize the latest technology, planning and design code, and materials to bring Guam to the cutting edge of architectural innovation.

Today, TRMA has designed and managed a wide array of projects in the private and public sectors throughout the region. For the past 50 years, TRMA has never ceased to be a reliable and stable firm that is able to meet the needs of Guam.

Mr. Speaker, I congratulate, once again, Taniguchi Ruth Makio Architects on their 50th anniversary. With new opportunities on the horizon, I send them my prayers and wish them the best of luck for the next 50 years.

CONGRATULATIONS TO TAKECARE INSURANCE ON THEIR 50TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. MOYLAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate TakeCare Insurance on their 50th anniversary of providing the people of Guam and the Marianas with quality health insurance.

When TakeCare Insurance was first established, it was the largest in the Mariana Islands and introduced the region's first group practice, prepayment, and medical program as a staff-model health maintenance organization.

Since then, TakeCare has been a pillar in Guam's insurance and healthcare community and has built a reputation of providing quality insurance to our island.

Today, TakeCare covers more than 30,000 people in Guam, the CNMI, American Samoa, and Palau. They provide the people of Guam access to the largest health insurance network in Micronesia, and they only continue to grow.

Mr. Speaker, I congratulate, once again, TakeCare Insurance on their 50th anniversary. With new opportunities on the horizon, I send them my prayers and wish them the best of luck for the next 50 years.

HONORING A GREAT NEBRASKAN AND PATRIOT, JOHN "GENE" SLATTERY

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. SMITH) for 5 minutes.

Mr. SMITH of Nebraska. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a great Nebraskan and patriot, John "Gene" Slattery, affectionately known as "the boy who sold his shirt" because of his extraordinary efforts as a young boy to raise funds for North Platte, Nebraska's World War II Canteen.

Gene recently passed away at the age of 90. The North Platte Canteen was one of the largest volunteer efforts during the war, providing millions of American soldiers who passed through North Platte by rail with meals, baked goods, and other items.

Gene was the last surviving major figure of the beloved Canteen, but his work and legacy, and the work and legacy of the entire Canteen, won't ever be forgotten.

Upon learning of the Canteen as a 9-year-old, Gene began donating for auction anything he could find—toys, scrap metal, even the shirt off his back. By the end of the war, Gene had raised more than $2,000 for the Canteen. His contributions and fundraising gained national recognition and were noticed by President Franklin Roosevelt, who sent Gene a letter and a $5 donation.

Gene and the North Platte Canteen volunteers represent the very best of Nebraska and America. The Canteen volunteers and the great lengths to which they went to support our troops will always live on in our hearts.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12(a) of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess until 2 p.m. today.

Accordingly (at 12 o'clock and 22 minutes p.m.), the House stood in recess.

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker at 2 p.m.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, the Reverend Margaret Grun Kibben, offered the following prayer:

Holy God, may we seek You this day, that You would allow Yourself to be found. May we call upon You that You would hear our prayers.

All You ask of us is that we forsake our wicked ways, behavior that tears down, wounds, and causes pain intended to demean and dehumanize another. You require that we forsake our unrighteous thoughts, thinking that is not just contrary to Your will, but brazenly opposed to Your love for all creation.

Let us each return to You, setting aside both our shame and our pride, that You would have compassion on us. Let us come back into right relationship with You, where we will receive the abundance of Your pardon.

It is clear that Your thoughts are not our thoughts, Your ways are not our ways. For sure as the heavens are above this Earth, so are Your ways higher than our ways. Your thoughts exceed well beyond our own.

With humility, then, we offer ourselves, our thoughts, our ways, and our very beings to Your service this day.

In the magnificence of Your name we dare to pray.

Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House the approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1 of rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Texas (Mr. SELF) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. SELF led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. SELF) laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

OFFICE OF THE CLERK,
HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, November 9, 2023.

Hon. MIKE JOHNSON,
Speaker, House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: Pursuant to the permission granted in Clause 2(h) of Rule II of the Rules of the U.S. House of Representatives, the Clerk received the following message from the Secretary of the Senate on November 9, 2023, at 2:05 p.m.

That the Senate agreed to S.J. Res. 38.

That the Senate passed S. 41.

That the Senate passed S. 311.

That the Senate passed S. 670.

That the Senate passed S. 749.

With best wishes, I am,

Sincerely,

KEVIN F. MCCUMBER,
Acting Clerk.

COMMUNICATION FROM CHIEF OF STAFF, THE HONORABLE NANCY PELOSI, MEMBER OF CONGRESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore laid before the House the following communication from Daniel Bernal, Chief of Staff, the Honorable NANCY PELOSI, Member of Congress:

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, November 9, 2023.

Hon. MIKE JOHNSON,
Speaker, House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MISTER SPEAKER: This is to notify you formally, pursuant to Rule VIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, that I, Daniel Bernal, San Francisco Chief of Staff for the Honorable Nancy Pelosi, Speaker Emerita and U.S. Representative for the 11th Congressional District of California, have been served with a subpoena from the defendant to testify in United States of America v. DePape in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California.

After consultation with the Office of General Counsel, I have determined that compliance with the subpoena is consistent with the privileges and rights of the House to the extent it requires testimony about non-privileged information.

Sincerely,

DANIEL BERNAL.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12(a) of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Accordingly (at 2 o'clock and 4 minutes p.m.), the House stood in recess.

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. FULCHER) at 4 o'clock and 31 minutes p.m.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, the Chair will postpone further proceedings today on motions to suspend the rules on which a recorded vote or the yeas and nays are ordered.

The House will resume proceedings on postponed questions at a later time.

NO STOLEN TRADEMARKS HONORED IN AMERICA ACT OF 2023

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 1505) to modify the prohibition on recognition by United States courts of certain rights relating to certain marks, trade names, or commercial names, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 1505

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the "No Stolen Trademarks Honored in America Act of 2023".

SEC. 2. MODIFICATION OF PROHIBITION.

Section 211 of the Department of Commerce and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 1999 (as contained in section 101(b) of division A of Public Law 105-277; 112 Stat. 2681-88) is amended—

(1) in subsection (a)(2)—

(A) by inserting "or entity of the executive branch" after "U.S. court";

(B) by striking "by a designated national";

and

(C) by inserting before the period "that was used in connection with a business or assets that were confiscated unless the original owner of the mark, trade name, or commercial name, or the bonafide successor-in-interest has expressly consented";

(2) in subsection (b)—

(A) by inserting "or entity of the executive branch" after "U.S. court"; and

(B) by striking "by a designated national or its successor-in-interest";

(3) by redesignating subsection (d) as subsection (e);

(4) by inserting after subsection (c) the following:

"(d) Subsections (a)(2) and (b) of this section shall apply only if the person or entity asserting the rights knew or had reason to know at the time when the person or entity acquired the rights asserted that the mark, trade name, or commercial name was the same as or substantially similar to a mark, trade name, or commercial name that was used in connection with a business or assets that were confiscated."; and

(5) in subsection (e), as so redesignated, by striking "In this section:" and all that follows through "(2) The term" and inserting "In this section, the term".

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. ISSA) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and to insert extraneous material on H.R. 1505.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, it is hard for the American people to believe, but it is true that foreign actors—foreign countries—have, in fact, stolen trademarks, absconded with the actual factories and the ability to produce various items and then had the gall to, in fact, use American law to sell America products that they in reality had already stolen.

This is no more truer than in the case of the communist nation of Cuba.

Under Fidel Castro, Cuba took everything. They took Coca-Cola. They took every possible item they could take, and then they took trade names. In some cases, like Coca-Cola, Coke continued to be produced in the United States, so it had no rights.

In the case of Bacardi, Bacardi moved to Puerto Rico and began making it there and selling it in the United States. In the case of, for example, Havana Club, they found themselves without any factories, so they worked together with other producers to continue their brand. While their brand was, in fact, being produced in America, the Castro regime—and now the Cuban Government—continued to apply year after year until eventually, due to what we would consider to be a wrongful act by the United States Patent and Trademark Office, awarded this country, who had stolen and still to this day uses the factories and the lands belonging to the family that produced Havana Club, they continue to sell Havana Club.

Now, to make matters worse, we are only talking about the United States because most of the world, in fact, took that brand name and was able to sell it in other countries. So the family that owned worldwide rights lost all but the United States, and if not for this piece of legislation, they and others would lose even their right here.

I am delighted to join with my colleague, Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ of Florida, to introduce this bill. It has 17 cosponsors, and it passed through the Judiciary Committee on a bipartisan basis.

We all agree that the U.S. Government should not award those who steal and exploit trademarks or any other intellectual property from its legitimate owners to then benefit from U.S. law. Allowing Cuba to propagate its misappropriations would be and is currently a travesty.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bipartisan legislation, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 1505, the No Stolen Trademarks Honored in America Act.

H.R. 1505 would build on existing law to ensure that executive agencies do not recognize, enforce, or otherwise validate the assertion of trademark rights used in connection with a business whose assets were confiscated by the Cuban regime unless the original owner expressly consented to the transfer of that mark. It also makes technical amendments to ensure that we are in compliance with certain international obligations.

This legislation largely involves a long-running dispute over the rightful ownership of a specific trademark that has played out over the course of many decades. It is a tale with more twists and turns than a John Grisham novel.

This bill is really about a much larger principle—that we stand with the Cuban people whose property was seized by the Castro regime, and we will not give the protection and benefits of the U.S. trademark system to the holders of stolen property. Our trademark system must not be allowed to be a vehicle for the perpetrators of stolen property to profit from their theft.

I thank the gentleman from California (Mr. ISSA) and the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ) for bringing this legislation forward.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support it, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the distinguished gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ), the cosponsor of this legislation.

Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding and for his longstanding support of this important legislation that really reflects the values that we stand for here in the United States of America.

I particularly thank the gentleman from California (Mr. ISSA) for the back and forth—depending on who is in the majority in our Chamber in each successive Congress—as we sort of trade responsibility for who leads this bill.

In addition, I have also previously coled this legislation with our former colleague, Congresswoman Ileana Ros-Lehtinen, and Mr. DIAZ-BALART also joins us, as well. There is really broad bipartisan support for this bill, and I am so proud to lead this legislation on the Democratic side of the aisle.

This legislation would ensure that our government is never complicit in theft and expropriation ordered by autocracies.

By prohibiting U.S. recognition of illegally confiscated trademarks, this bill stands strongly against attempts by the Cuban regime to profit from hijacked intellectual property.

Representing a diaspora community as I do, I have heard countless constituents recount how their home countries stripped them of hard-earned wealth.

Many Cuban families had to start from scratch when they arrived. They had property and their businesses confiscated.

Our Nation has benefited immeasurably from their cultural contributions and entrepreneurial spirit.

We are not just a nation of immigrants. We are a nation of innovators. We should always reward creativity and punish piracy.

Our most fundamental responsibility is protecting Americans and those living in our country from being victimized by our adversaries.

Our failure to do so would only embolden global despots who seek to target their exiles.

I hope my colleagues join us in refusing to tolerate trademarks being held hostage, as this one is in particular, and the many others that are held hostage by the Cuban regime and other regimes, as well. I am hopeful that our friends on the other side of the Capitol, once we send this bill to them, will send it to the President of the United States for his signature.

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, this legislation makes a minor clarification to our trademark laws while serving notice to corrupt regimes across the world that America's intellectual property system must not be used to further their efforts to steal property from their own people.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, in closing, I will make it very clear, if this product's trademark becomes available to its rightful owners again, the well-known company Bacardi will, in fact, have this product on the shelves again. If it is not passed, Cuba will not be able to sell under this name. In fact, these products would be prohibited if they came from Cuba.

The only purpose of Cuba trying to take this was to deny Cuban Americans the ability to sell a product that they owned before it was taken from the country.

There was an injustice that occurred before many in this room were born. We can only cure that injustice now by, in fact, passing this legislation.

I join with the gentlewoman from Florida (Ms. WASSERMAN SCHULTZ) in urging all to vote for this bill as they have in this body, and then we will work on the people across the dome.

Mr. Speaker, I urge passage of this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. ISSA) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 1505, as amended.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill, as amended, was passed.

DEBBIE SMITH ACT OF 2023

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 1105) to amend the DNA Analysis Backlog Elimination Act of 2000 to reauthorize the Debbie Smith DNA Backlog Grant Program, and for other purposes, as amended.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 1105

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.

This Act may be cited as the “Debbie Smith Act of 2023”.

SEC. 2. REAUTHORIZATION.

Section 2(j) of the DNA Analysis Backlog Elimination Act of 2000 (34 U.S.C. 40701(j)) is amended by striking “fiscal years 2019 through 2024” and inserting “fiscal years 2024 through 2029”.

SEC. 3. AUDITS TO PROTECT INTEGRITY OF GRANT AWARDS.

Section 2(c)(4) of the DNA Analysis Backlog Elimination Act of 2000 (34 U.S.C. 40701(c)(4)) is amended by striking “2022” and inserting “2029”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from California (Mr. ISSA) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from California.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and to insert extraneous material on H.R. 1105.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentlewoman from Missouri (Mrs. WAGNER).

Mrs. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman ISSA for yielding. I thank the chairman of the full Committee on the Judiciary, JIM JORDAN, for his leadership and collaboration with my office in ushering this bill through the Judiciary Committee under thorough regular order.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of my bipartisan and bicameral bill, H.R. 1105, the Debbie Smith Act of 2023.

No woman should ever have to experience the trauma and the pain of a rape or sexual assault. Yet tragically, these crimes are far too common, and approximately one in four women will experience this horrific crime.

There must be accountability, Mr. Speaker.

That means identifying, apprehending, and prosecuting the attackers to the fullest extent of the law.

One of the most important methods of investigating these crimes is through DNA analysis. However, in 2019, the Government Accountability Office found that backlogged DNA analysis requests at State and local crime labs increased by 85 percent over the last decade, and the most recent data estimates that 200,000 sexual assault kits across the country remain untested.

This is absolutely unacceptable, Mr. Speaker.

My bill, H.R. 1105, addresses this issue directly. H.R. 1105 is a straight reauthorization of the Debbie Smith DNA Backlog Grant Program through fiscal year 2029.

This vital program provides support for law enforcement in all 50 States to help police improve their procedures for collecting DNA evidence from rape kits and crime scenes; support the proper and timely analysis of this evidence with a specific priority placed on rape and sexual assault kits; audit untested DNA evidence from sexual assault cases; and it enhances the capacity of State and local prosecutors to bring these cases to court.

This program has been incredibly effective since it was first established, Mr. Speaker. Funding from this program has directly resulted in nearly 1.8 million DNA cases analyzed and processed, including over 600,000 crime scenes and rape kits.

Because of these efforts, the Debbie Smith DNA Backlog Grant Program accounts for over half of all of the matches, or hits, in the Federal criminal DNA database. That is quite literally helping survivors reach the justice, the accountability, and the closure that they need.

Mr. Speaker, we must not let this program lapse at the end of this fiscal year.

I was proud to lead the previous iteration of this bill in 2019 with my dear friend Representative CAROLYN MALONEY. I am beyond thankful to the 85 bipartisan Members of Congress who have signed on in support of this legislation.

I also thank Majority Leader STEVE SCALISE and his team—you know who you are—for bringing this bill to the floor, Subcommittee Chairman ANDY BIGGS for his partnership in moving this bill through the proper legislative process, as well as Senators CORNYN, KLOBUCHAR, GRAHAM, and the Late Senator Dianne Feinstein for their leadership in the Senate.

Through our bicameral work, this bill has only gotten stronger. We have added an important provision to ensure that a portion of the funds from this program specifically are set aside for the auditing of untested rape kits. This will support law enforcement's efforts to fully account for the rape kits in their possession so that they can be more efficiently analyzed, processed, and used to put rapists behind bars.

I thank Senator RAND PAUL for this legislative contribution, and I look forward to seeing an overwhelming bipartisan show of support for this bill and this program on the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Mr. Speaker, I say to Debbie Smith: I have heard her calls to get this done, and I promise her this program will be reauthorized as soon as possible.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 1105, the Debbie Smith Act of 2023, would reauthorize landmark legislation first enacted 19 years ago, in 2004, which has been instrumental in addressing a backlog of untested rape kits sitting in evidence rooms and crime labs across the country. Nearly 20 years ago, when I helped lead efforts to help enact the original version of this legislation, I said: "It is imperative that we eliminate the shameful backlog of untested rape kits."

Despite our best efforts, the backlog still exists, and my thoughts remain the same. It is imperative that we eliminate the rape kit backlog; full stop.

For every rape kit that is yet to be tested, there is a victim of an unspeakable crime who has yet to see justice or find closure. In some cases, there is an individual languishing in prison who does not belong there. It is for these reasons that we must continue the crucial mission of this legislation and ensure justice for survivors and for the wrongfully convicted.

Over the past two decades, the Debbie Smith DNA Backlog Grant Program has been vital in supporting the processing and analysis of rape kits, DNA evidence collection and analysis, and victim resources. Millions of dollars have been allocated to increase the capacity of forensic laboratories in countless jurisdictions, provide DNA training and education to thousands of law enforcement personnel, and provide support services to a multitude of victims. As a result of this legislation, thousands of cases have been solved, and countless survivors have finally received the justice they so rightfully deserve.

While we laud the numerous achievements made possible by this legislation, ultimately, we know that funding is vital to the success of this grant program. That is why I offered an amendment to similar legislation during the 107th Congress that would increase the authorization of funds to address the backlog to $150 million.

Although the Debbie Smith program was authorized to provide up to $151 million in grant funds during the following Congress, the full amount has never been appropriated, and it appears that the amounts appropriated are decreasing each year.

Failure to fully fund this program limits the capacity to address the backlog, which often numbers in the thousands and has worsened largely due to the pandemic. If we really want to solve this problem, we will appropriate $151 million, the full amount of the authorization, in this year's budget. Delays in testing undermine public safety, allowing dangerous criminals to evade apprehension and potentially commit additional crimes. It is my hope that the appropriators will fully fund this critical program going forward.

Reauthorizing the Debbie Smith program makes our communities safer. By investing in DNA testing and forensic technology, this legislation ensures law enforcement agencies are empowered to identify perpetrators more efficiently and to link them to other unsolved cases. These identifications and connections not only bring closure to victims and their families, but they also prevent future crimes by removing serial offenders from our streets. Above all, reauthorizing the Debbie Smith program sends a clear message to survivors of sexual assault, domestic violence, and other crimes that we stand with them.

While Congress has recognized the urgency of addressing the backlog and disbursed millions of dollars in grant funds through the Debbie Smith program and other grant programs in response to this problem, we must be certain that these funds are put to good use. That is why H.R. 1105 would also reauthorize for 5 years the allocation of grants for State and local governments that receive funding under the Debbie Smith program to conduct an audit of sexual assault evidence that is in their possession and awaiting testing.

This particular provision promotes the collection of data to help us better understand the nature and extent of the backlog and why it persists, while providing grantees with the resources they need to perform the audit and comply with other conditions and requirements set forth in the statute without reducing the total funds available to carry out the primary purposes of the Debbie Smith program.

The Debbie Smith Act of 2023 is an important measure that ensures our continued support of State and local governments in reducing the nationwide backlog of untested rape kits, protecting victims, closing cases, preventing crime, exonerating the wrongfully accused and convicted, and holding perpetrators of crime accountable, while promoting the thoughtful allocation and use of Federal funds.

Again, I emphasize that this will not work as well as it should. We will not protect as many victims as we should; we will not exonerate as many wrongfully convicted people as we should if we don't fully fund the program and if we don't convince the appropriators to appropriate the $151 million authorized in this bill.

I thank Representative ANN WAGNER for introducing this legislation along with Representatives SHEILA JACKSON LEE, STEVE COHEN, WESLEY HUNT, and BEN CLINE. I encourage my colleagues to join me and a broad, bipartisan coalition of cosponsors in support of H.R. 1105.

Mr. Speaker, the Debbie Smith DNA Backlog Grant Program has proven to be a bipartisan beacon of hope, shining a light on justice sometimes long denied. This legislation would reauthorize this crucial program and other safeguards and emphasize our commitment not only to public safety but also to survivor support and crime prevention. I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to do the same.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. ISSA. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time for closing.

Mr. Speaker, much has been said, but I am going to close with just two important items. One is that there is no question at all but that this has been a good reauthorization because it calls for the accountability and the audit to find out why the backlog persists and to find ways to eliminate it. Second is its original purpose. Its original purpose, more than anything else, is very simple. There are hundreds of rapists out there, and they will continue to perpetrate their crimes until they are caught. This DNA evidence, in fact, takes rapists off the street that otherwise will be committing these crimes, violating other persons, until they are stopped. For that reason, we must reauthorize and appropriate for this legislation. It is critical that we take these evil people off the street. This is the way to do it.

Mr. Speaker, I urge support, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Ms. JACKSON LEE. Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of H.R. 1105, the "Debbie Smith Act of 2023," a bill that would reauthorize critical grant funding aimed at ending the rape kit backlog.

As the Ranking Member of the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Crime and Federal Government Surveillance, I am proud to be one of four original cosponsors of this bipartisan legislation, and I am proud to stand with Representative STEVE COHEN and Representative WESLEY HUNT.

And I am encouraged by the number of cosponsors—Republicans and Democrats—who have joined us, including Judiciary Ranking Member NADLER, Crime Subcommittee Chairman BIGGS, and many other members of the Judiciary Committee.

This bill was introduced by Representative ANN WAGNER, who I have worked with on many occasions to ensure that victims of crime receive justice. And this is one such measure.

H.R. 1105 reauthorizes legislation that provides resources to state and local law enforcement agencies and prosecutors to reduce the national backlog of DNA evidence, most notably, rape kits.

Although DNA evidence has proven critical to solving crimes and delivering justice, particularly in crimes of sexual violence, there are still challenges to holding offenders accountable using such evidence.

Law enforcement agencies and prosecutors increasingly collect and rely on DNA evidence, such as rape kits, to investigate and solve crimes.

But delays in processing rape kits and other DNA evidence can result in delays in apprehending or prosecuting violent or serial offenders. It can also result in the wrongfully convicted serving time in prison for crimes they did not commit.

For every rape kit or DNA sample that languishes on a shelf, untested, in a crime lab or police department somewhere in America, there is at least one victim—possibly living in fear and most certainly searching for an end to their nightmare.

That is why, as Ranking Member NADLER said, it is imperative that we end the rape kit backlog.

Since passage of the Debbie Smith Act in 2004, as the first piece of legislation aimed at ending the backlog of untested and unanalyzed DNA evidence—more than 860,000 DNA cases have been processed with over 376,000 DNA profiles uploaded to the Combined DNA Index System, commonly referred to as CODIS, and nearly 200,000 DNA samples have been matched.

Research has shown that testing backlogged kits can lead to CODIS hits as well as arrests and convictions.

One study of 491 untested kits in the possession of the Houston Police Department yielded 104 CODIS hits after testing, and 16 of those hits led to an arrest.

Debbie Smith grants have helped reduce the backlog in jurisdictions in every corner of the country.

For instance, the New York Times reported that my home state of Texas had a backlog of approximately 20,000 untested kits in 2013.

According to a report by the Dallas Morning News, that number was reduced to just over 6,000 by 2021.

Unfortunately, a measure of the progress made in reducing the national backlog was lost due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

However, recognizing the accomplishments made since the Debbie Smith Act first became law, I am confident that we will once again reduce the number of untested samples and rape kits and eventually end the backlog.

The Debbie Smith DNA Backlog Grant Program provides grants to state and local governments for nine major purposes that include (1) conducting analyses of DNA samples; (2) increasing the capacity of state and local laboratories to carry out DNA analyses; and (3) ensuring that the testing and analysis of DNA samples from crimes, including sexual assault and violent crime are carried out in a timely manner.

The program also provides funds to process offender DNA samples to ensure evidence from unsolved crimes can be matched to the databases of known offenders as in the case of the woman for which this bill was named.

The perpetrator who kidnapped and raped Debbie Smith was identified using a DNA sample collected from him while he was serving 161 years in prison for robbing and abducting two women.

The "hit" connecting this individual to her rape was not made until the DNA evidence was analyzed and uploaded to CODIS six and a half years later.

In an op-ed written in 2019, Mrs. Smith said, "For six and a half years, I lived in the fear that he would return or, even worse, that he would take out his revenge on my children or my husband. That fear held me so tightly that it choked out any joy of life."

Her fears and thoughts of suicide—simply to find peace—changed when the results of her rape kit analysis identified her rapist.

I am grateful that Mrs. Smith brought this issue to Congress and advocated for victims like herself.

It is now up to Congress to make certain that every victim and every survivor experiences the relief she felt knowing that her rapist could no longer do harm to her, her loved ones, or her community.

That is why I will do all that I can to ensure that every rape kit is tested, and every sample is analyzed so that no survivor's voice is silenced and no victim's cry for justice goes unanswered, and that no criminal goes free because of a failure to act.

That includes supporting this bill and encouraging my colleagues to do the same.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. Issa) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 1105, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mrs. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

MAKING TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS TO UPDATE STATUTORY REFERENCES TO CERTAIN PROVISIONS WHICH WERE FORMERLY CLASSIFIED TO CHAPTERS 14 AND 19 OF TITLE 25, UNITED STATES CODE, AND CORRECTING RELATED TECHNICAL ERRORS

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3496) to make technical amendments to update statutory references to certain provisions which were formerly classified to chapters 14 and 19 of title 25, United States Code, and to correct related technical errors.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CLINE) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Virginia.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and to insert extraneous material on H.R. 3496.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Virginia?

There was no objection.

Mr. CLINE MEMBER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, as was stated, this bill makes technical corrections to provisions of the code that contain statutory references to title 25 of the United States Code. Title 25 is where laws relating to Native Americans are classified.

This bill was submitted to the Judiciary Committee by the Office of Law Revision Counsel.

Mr. Speaker, I ask all Members to support the bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, one of the important responsibilities the House gives the Judiciary Committee is to oversee the revision and codification of the statutes of the United States. Keeping track of the new laws Congress passes every session is a formidable challenge, but it is an essential part of maintaining the rule of law in our country, and it is a role we take seriously on the Judiciary Committee. I thank the chairman of the committee for bringing legislation to the floor today, on a bipartisan basis, to further this important duty.

The body of Federal law is so large and complex at this point that it would be almost completely unmanageable without the United States Code. Currently consisting of 54 titles, the code compiles the general and permanent laws of the United States into coherent subject areas. This makes our Federal laws accessible both to the government officials who work to fairly administer them and to the private citizens who seek the benefits and relief the laws provide them.

The painstaking and vital work of maintaining and updating the code falls to the expert lawyers working under the supervision of the House in the Office of Law Revision Counsel. We owe a great debt to these attorneys who ably carry out their statutory mandate to develop and keep current an official and positive codification of the laws of the United States while maintaining strict impartiality as to legislative policy.

H.R. 3496 is the first of four editorial reclassification bills that we are taking up today that make conforming changes to statutes that have been impacted by the Office of Law Revision Counsel's reauthorization efforts while making no change to the meaning or effect of any existing laws.

This legislation will help ensure that the code is an authoritative, accurate, and accessible source of Federal law, and I urge all Members to support it.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentlewoman from Wyoming (Ms. HAGEMAN).

Ms. HAGEMAN. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 3496 makes technical amendments to update statutory references to certain provisions in title 25, U.S. Code, and corrects related technical errors.

According to the Office of the Law Revision Counsel, or OLRC for short, the purpose of editorial reclassification is "to reorganize areas of law that have outgrown their original boundaries, or to eliminate organizational units that are no longer efficient."

Without altering any statutory language, OLRC relocates and rearranges provisions to make the organization of titles more logical and accessible. As a result, statutory references in other titles of the code must also be updated.

In September of 2016, the OLRC moved provisions from chapter 14 in title 25 into four new chapters toward the end of title 25. The reauthorization was necessary because more than 900 sections had accumulated in this chapter over years of legislating. Another small number of provisions within chapter 14 were transferred to other locations within the code.

The text and some provisions in chapters 14 and 19 were omitted in order to bring the coverage of the code into line with current classification practices with respect to general and permanent laws.

This is a routine exercise as these bills were prepared by OLRC pursuant to its responsibility under section 285(b) of title 2, U.S.C., and under the Judiciary Committee's responsibility for laws pertaining to the codification and revisions of the U.S. Code.

No substantive statutory text was repealed or altered and this bill merely improves the organizational structure of the material in the U.S. Code.

In the 115th Congress, Representative ISSA sponsored a bill, which the Judiciary Committee ordered reported, making the necessary changes to cross-references in other titles of the Code affected by this editorial reclassification.

The Committee similarly favorably reported this bill during the 117th Congress. H.R. 3496 is an updated version of this legislation, which the Judiciary Committee passed this Congress by voice.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all my colleagues to support this legislation.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this important bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CLINE) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3496.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MAKING TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS TO UPDATE STATUTORY REFERENCES TO CERTAIN PROVISIONS CLASSIFIED TO TITLE 7, TITLE 20, AND TITLE 43, UNITED STATES CODE, AND CORRECTING RELATED TECHNICAL ERRORS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CLINE) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Virginia.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revisé and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 3506.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Virginia?

There was no objection.

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 3506 makes technical corrections to statutory references to title 7, title 20, and title 43 of the United States Code.

These titles are where laws relating to agriculture, education, and public lands are classified.

This bill was submitted to the Judiciary Committee by the Office of Law Revision Counsel.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, like the previous bill, H.R. 3506 makes a number of technical amendments to various provisions of the U.S. Code but makes no substantive changes.

Mr. Speaker, I support the bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. KILEY).

Mr. KILEY. Mr. Speaker, H.R. 3506 makes technical amendments to update statutory references to provisions in title 7, title 20, and title 43 of the United States Code. In the process of updating statutory references, there were some related technical errors found. The bill also makes amendments to correct those errors.

These changes come at the request of the Office of Law Revision Counsel, which is a nonpartisan office in the House of Representatives that prepares and publishes the U.S. Code and performs the very important role of keeping the code up-to-date.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CLINE) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3506.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CLINE) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Virginia.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 3578.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Virginia?

There was no objection.

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, this bill makes technical corrections to statutory references to title 34 of the United States Code.

The title contains law pertaining to crime control and law enforcement.

The bill was submitted to the Judiciary Committee by the nonpartisan Office of Law Revision Counsel. The OLRC is the office that helps the Committee with its responsibility to oversee and maintain the United States Code.

As laws passed by Congress are incorporated into the Code, statutory references may no longer be accurate. This bill does not substantively change any law in the books. It simply makes technical corrections to ensure that statutory references are kept up-to-date.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support the bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 3578, which makes a number of technical amendments to various provisions of the United States Code, while making no substantive changes.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. IVEY) for introducing the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CLINE) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3578.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

MAKING TECHNICAL AMENDMENTS TO UPDATE STATUTORY REFERENCES TO CERTAIN PROVISIONS CLASSIFIED TO TITLE 2, UNITED STATES CODE, TITLE 50, UNITED STATES CODE, AND TITLE 52, UNITED STATES CODE, AND CORRECTING RELATED TECHNICAL ERRORS

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 3571) to make technical amendments to update statutory references to certain provisions classified to title 2, United States Code, title 50, United States Code, and title 52, United States Code, and to correct related technical errors.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

(i) striking “provisions of section 321” and inserting “provisions of section 316”; and

(ii) striking “under section 321” and inserting “under section 316”.

(B) Subsection (c) is amended by striking “section 321(b)(1)” and inserting “section 316(b)(1)”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CLINE) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Virginia.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 3571.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Virginia?

There was no objection.

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, H.R. 3571 makes technical corrections to statutory references to title 2, title 50, and title 52 of the United States Code.

These titles are where laws relating to Congress, war and national defense, and voting and elections are classified.

This bill was submitted to the Judiciary Committee by the Office of Law Revision Counsel.

These titles have been editorially reorganized to make them more clear and accessible.

When titles of the Code are reorganized, statutory references may no longer be accurate.

This bill does not substantively change any law on the books. It simply updates statutory references in the Code to ensure that they are correct.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support the bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 3571, which makes a number of technical amendments to various provisions of the U.S. Code, while making no substantive changes.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Ms. DEAN) for introducing the bill.

Mr. Speaker, I support this legislation, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support the bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CLINE) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 3571.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

ADDITIONAL PLACES FOR HOLDING COURT

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 786) to amend title 28, United States Code, to provide an additional place for holding court for the Pecos Division of the Western District of Texas, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 786

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. ADDITIONAL PLACES FOR HOLDING COURT.

(a) PECOS DIVISION OF THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS.—Section 124(d)(6) of title 28, United States Code, is amended, in the matter preceding paragraph (7), by inserting “and Alpine” after “Pecos”.

(b) WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON.—Section 128(b) of title 28, United States Code, is amended by inserting “Mount Vernon,” after “Tacoma,”.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Virginia (Mr. CLINE) and the gentleman from New York (Mr. NADLER) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Virginia.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on H.R. 786.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Virginia?

There was no objection.

Mr. CLINE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, our courts and judicial system are the envy of the world.

Americans rely on the Federal courts every day to protect their rights and obtain relief when those rights are violated.

They also are the means by which we adjudicate claims that someone has violated our criminal laws.

That is why improving and ensuring accessibility to the courts for our citizens is so important.

This important bill adds just four words to the United States Code to save thousands of Americans in Texas and Washington lengthy and burdensome trips just to reach the nearest Federal courthouse.

This bill authorizes the Federal courts in the Western District of Texas and the Western District of Washington to hold court in Alpine, Texas, and Mount Vernon, Washington, respectively.

Both locations already have existing facilities necessary to hold court, so the cost of this bill is minimal.

By authorizing these courts to utilize these locations, Congress will reduce administrative burdens on the court system and logistical burdens on those with business before these courts.

For example, the Judicial Conference of the United States has noted that Americans in the Western District of Texas must drive as far as 100 miles to reach the courthouse in Pecos, Texas.

The Judicial Conference has identified similar hardships for Americans in the Western District of Washington.

Mr. Speaker, I support this commonsense, bipartisan bill, and I urge my colleagues on both sides of the aisle to do the same.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. NADLER. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 786.

This legislation would amend title 28 of the United States Code to provide an additional place for holding court in the Western District of Texas and in the Western District of Washington. These additional courthouses are needed to better serve the 12.2 million people who call these two districts home.

Both of these districts are comprised of wide areas of land. The Western District of Washington takes up half of Washington State. The Western District of Texas covers the western 68 counties of the State. Citizens of these two districts often need to travel for hours to access the courthouse doors.

On paper, our basic rights do not change depending on where we live. In practice, that is exactly what is happening. It makes no sense that just because someone lives in a more rural, broader district, they should incur dramatically increased travel time and administrative costs to seek justice. Adding courthouses is a small step in the right direction toward making the courthouse doors accessible to all Americans no matter where they live.

The Judicial Conference has recommended the addition of these two courthouses, a recommendation that grew even more urgent after the Western District of Washington's Bellingham facility had part of its roof collapse.

This country cannot have a flourishing justice system when its buildings are falling apart, its staff are underpaid, and there is a perpetual shortage of judges to fairly administer the laws.

This bill will not fix all of these problems, but it will take a small step to help millions of Americans gain equal access to justice. I think it is a step worth taking.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Representatives TONY GONZALES, RICK LARSEN, and SUZAN DELBENE in the House, and Senators CORNYN, MURRAY, CRUZ, and CANTWELL in the Senate for working on a bipartisan basis to introduce this legislation to improve the lives of the residents of Texas and Washington.

Mr. Speaker, I urge my colleagues to support this bill.

Mr. Speaker, this legislation makes a modest but important change to help improve access to justice for millions of Americans. I thank the sponsors, and I yield back the balance of my time.

ENCOURAGING THE CONNECTING OF MEMBERS OF THE ARMED FORCES IN THE UNITED STATES TO SUPPORT STRUCTURES NECESSARY TO TRANSITION FROM THE BATTLEFIELD

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and agree to the resolution (H. Res. 848) encouraging the connecting of members of the Armed Forces in the United States to support structures necessary to transition from the battlefield.

The Clerk read the title of the resolution.

The text of the resolution is as follows:

H. RES. 848

Whereas the number of suicides of members of the Armed Forces serving on active duty increased to 377 in 2020, an increase from 348 in 2019;

Whereas the suicide rate for veterans has steadily increased since 2006, with 6,261 veterans taking their own lives in 2019;

Whereas, after adjusting for sex and age, the rate of veteran suicide in 2018 was 27.5 per 100,000 individuals, higher than the rate among all United States adults, which was 18.3 per 100,000 individuals;

Whereas more veterans have died by suicide in the last 10 years than members of the Armed Forces who died from combat in Vietnam;

Whereas many of the veterans who take their own lives have had no contact with the Department of Veterans Affairs;

Whereas the Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19) pandemic can lead to increased isolation and disconnection, further exacerbating mental and physical ailments such as post-traumatic stress disorder and traumatic brain injury;

Whereas the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention note that law enforcement officers and firefighters are more likely to die by suicide than in the line of duty, and emergency medical services providers are 1.39 times more likely to die by suicide than members of the general public;

Whereas invisible wounds linked to an underlying and undiagnosed traumatic brain injury can mirror many mental health conditions, a problem that can be addressed through appropriate medical treatment; and

Whereas additional research is needed to highlight the connection between traumatic brain injury as a root cause of invisible wounds and suicide by members of the Armed Forces and veterans: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives—

(1) encourages all individuals in the United States, especially members of the Armed Forces serving on active duty and veterans, to call a warrior, have an honest conversation, and connect them with support, understanding that making a warrior call could save a life; and

(2) implores all individuals in the United States to commit themselves to engaging with members of the Armed Forces and veterans to promote solutions and treatment for the invisible scars that members of the Armed Forces carry.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Illinois.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H. Res. 848.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H. Res. 848, and I thank my fellow veteran, Representative VAN ORDEN, for his leadership on this resolution.

As the chairman of the Committee on Veterans' Affairs, I believe that we should celebrate the service of our veterans every day, not just like we did this weekend for Veterans Day. Every day, I am grateful to our veterans for their service to our country.

That is why this resolution is so important. Too many of our veterans are suffering in silence. Too many of our veterans are struggling to find their way. We owe it to them to do our part and reach out to let them know they are not alone.

This resolution encourages all Americans to connect with the persons in their lives who have served and offer a listening ear. Representative VAN ORDEN's resolution implores all Americans to help servicemembers and veterans find solutions and treatment for the wounds of battle that may not be visible. This resolution also highlights the importance of taking care of our brothers and sisters in arms before, during, and after their service.

Mr. Speaker, I am grateful to my colleague for introducing it, and I urge all Members to support it.

To any veteran who may be watching, please reach out to talk. Hope and help are available by dialing 988 and pressing 1. We need you, and we want to help you.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to express my support for H. Res. 848, encouraging the connecting of members of the Armed Forces in the United States to support structures necessary to transition from the battlefield.

While I support this resolution and urge my colleagues to vote in support of it, I must register my disappointment that this is one of only two veteran- or servicemember-related measures that House leadership has chosen to work on this week, the week following Veterans Day.

The resolution asks members of the public to join Congress in thanking and supporting servicemembers in their transition out of the military into civilian life. That is worthwhile, but it does not come with any concrete action.

Our committee has favorably reported several bills to help our most vulnerable veterans. Those bills are waiting for action and have been for months now. If we really wanted to honor servicemembers and veterans, we would be voting on those bills this week.

Mr. Speaker, we know that homeless veterans are eight times more likely to die by suicide, so we urgently need to get homeless veterans housed before the coldest and cruelest months of the year come upon us. Every day we fail to act, more disabled and elderly veterans are forced into the care of nursing homes and other institutional long-term care settings, even though they would prefer to be taken care of at home surrounded by their loved ones.

Let me also point out that while I find it telling that while jurisdiction over this resolution about servicemember transition lies primarily with the House Armed Services Committee, the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs is here managing floor time. I am glad for this because our committee has been pushing to take primary oversight responsibility for the administration of the TAP program for years.

We hear from countless veterans that the administration of TAP by DOD falls flat. DOD is focused on readiness and making sure that servicemembers are focused on their mission of protecting our country, as they should be. Nevertheless, the bookend to that mission is helping servicemembers find success as civilians.

Because DOD has not focused on that transition, too many servicemembers separate from the military without a full picture of the earned benefits available to them as veterans, and it leaves them more vulnerable at an already stressful time.

I believe that it would make more sense for us to have primary jurisdiction over the TAP program to make sure the transition from the military to civilian life is as smooth as possible. We work with VA on healthcare and benefits delivery every single day, and we are better positioned than the Armed Services Committee to ensure veterans understand what life will look like out of the military.

Mr. Speaker, I am glad to see House leadership acknowledging our leadership role in the transition of servicemembers. I will continue to advocate that TAP be included as primarily within the Veterans' Affairs Committee's jurisdiction in the future.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Representative VAN ORDEN for introducing this resolution, and I hope we can continue working together on continued improvements to the TAP program.

I urge this House to bring up additional veterans bills. We should not only thank veterans and servicemembers for their service. We should be backing up those thank-yous with action.

As we face yet another threat of a shutdown, I hope this Congress can stop operating from the brink and begin to do the work that is demanded of us. It is what we owe to veterans, and we should not abide by reneging on our promises.

Mr. Speaker, I support H. Res. 848, but let's act on more than the words of a resolution. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, while I understand the concerns of the minority, I would remind the minority that both sides of the aisle on this committee are committed to this legislation. The Colmery Act and reducing veteran homelessness is a priority for us, and now that the House is back in business, I hope to see it on the floor very soon.

Mr. Speaker, if 208 Democrats had put their country first and not voted for the chaos of the 3 weeks of being without a Speaker, then maybe they have a complaint. Nonetheless, now, because of that chaos, maybe we would have already had these things picked up. I disagreed.

I look forward to working with both leadership and the minority to pass it out of the House with bipartisan support.

Mr. Speaker, I also respectfully remind the ranking member that Speaker MCCARTHY's proposal to increase the grant per diem rate during the COVID pandemic would have helped address this problem. However, Democrats, who were in the majority at the time, made us reduce the rate and put veterans homelessness providers in the situation we are in today with GPD. Rates are not in line with rising inflation.

We have been very successful in making smart investments in the VA program in recent years to reduce veteran homelessness. I agree with the minority that now is not the time to take our foot off the gas. I will agree with them on that.

Important legislation, such as Representative CHAVEZ-DEREMER's bill, is one of the best ways to build our success and get veterans housed, which is why we are not going to stop improving these programs now.

Mr. Speaker, at this time, I will get back to the resolution we have in front of us.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. VAN ORDEN), who is the sponsor of this resolution.

Mr. VAN ORDEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of my resolution, H. Res. 848, urging all Americans, especially those who have worn the uniform, to reach out and connect with a fellow warrior.

In my 26 years of service, 22 of which I spent as a Navy SEAL, I have forged unbreakable bonds that only those who have served truly understand. These bonds are not predicated on politics. They are based solely on service over self. I don't ever recall asking a fellow servicemember what party they were affiliated with, only if they could perform the duties that were expected of them by their fellow Americans.

During my service, I bore witness to the greatest virtues that can be attributed to the human condition. I have also witnessed the profound sense of sorrow when we lost one of our own.

Among those whom we lost is my friend and former teammate, Navy SEAL Ryan Larkin, who tragically took his own life on April 23, 2017. Ryan's story speaks to the silent battles faced by many servicemembers and our veterans.

However, out of that darkness that is Ryan's loss, the Warrior Call resolution was born. It was inspired by Ryan's father, Frank Larkin, a former Navy SEAL and the 40th Sergeant At Arms of the United States Senate. His sincere wish is that no parent, spouse, friend, or teammate should ever again have to experience the loss of a loved one due to suicide. This resolution reflects the ongoing need to support those who grapple with isolation and mental health challenges.

Every year, our Nation sets aside a day for the men and women who gave their lives for freedom, and that is Memorial Day. For those who previously defended our freedoms, that is Veterans Day. For those who are currently defending our freedoms, that is Armed Forces Day.

This resolution serves a different purpose. It pays tribute to those we have lost by trying to prevent those who have come through the crucible of service from taking their own lives.

Every day, over 20 veterans commit suicide. We have lost more veterans to suicide in the last 10 years than we have in the cumulative total of all combat losses during the Vietnam war. We are doing something wrong, and it is time for a change.

Preventing veteran suicide is my number one legislative priority in terms of the Economic Opportunity Subcommittee on the Veterans' Affairs Committee being led by Chairman BOST. I am thankful to my fellow Members from both sides of the aisle and Ranking Member LEVIN for showing such commitment to this noble cause.

We know that one of the first outward signs of suicidal ideation is self-isolation, and that is why it is so critical that our veterans get involved in veterans service organizations and the VA itself. Nevertheless, not all Americans have access to VSOs or the VA, and this resolution empowers them to help end the scourge that is veteran suicide by simply picking up the phone and checking in with a warrior they have in their life, whether it is a brother, sister, friend, or neighbor, and have an honest conversation with them.

They will let them know that they are important to them and that they truly do value the veteran's sacrifice. It puts meaning behind the oft-spoken phrase: "Thank you for your service."

I acknowledge that there is a lot more work to be done with the VA, with the Transition Assistance Program, and in how medical and mental health services are provided. We are working on those every day. They take time, but we can do this now.

If we can put aside our differences and understand that by passing this resolution we could save even a single veteran's life, then all the time we spend here arguing with each other just might be worth it.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all Members to support my resolution to recognize the selfless gift these individuals have given us.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. What I would like to do on the floor today is not more bickering and arguing. It is a plea. It is a plea to the Speaker and the leadership of this House to bring the home act to the floor. It is a Republican bill. It is a bipartisan bill. We can do more than this resolution. With all due credit to my colleague from Wisconsin for this resolution, we can do more than words on a resolution. We can take action.

We can help veterans who are going to be forced out of aging at home and into a nursing home. We can help those veterans stay in their homes with the legislation offered by my colleague from California, JULIA BROWNLEY, the Elizabeth Dole act.

Mr. Speaker, let me respond to my colleague, the chairman. I did not bring up the issue of the lost time with a Speakerless House. I would reject the suggestion that the 21 days we lost of floor time was because Democrats voted to do what they would normally do, which is they vote for their own nominee for Speaker.

I am not even arguing about lost time. I am arguing that we do have time that could be better used.

Instead of endless 2-minute votes on amendments that both sides have voted against stacked on top of each other, we could have used that time to bring the HOME Act to the floor. We could have used that time to bring the Elizabeth Dole Home Care Act to the floor.

Both bills are bipartisan. Both bills have wide support by the veterans service organization community. I just say to the chairman—and I know the chairman himself has urged the Speaker to do this—my question is, even with all of these useless votes on amendments, we had time this week. We had enough time to bring those bills to the floor. Let's bring them to the floor immediately. We need to get veterans housed before the winter sets in.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to vote in favor of the resolution, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I ask all my colleagues to join me in supporting the resolution, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, the ranking member knows that H.R. 542, the Elizabeth Dole Home Care Act of 2023 has my full support, but in spite of the incredible efforts to get a realistic CBO score, the bill still comes with a cost and the cost is one that we need to resolve, along with the Toxic Exposure Fund, or the TEF issue.

We are working closely with our Senate counterparts to get this bill and several other high-priority pieces of legislation through both Chambers by the end of the year, and you know that I support them.

Mr. Speaker, let me talk about the resolution that is in front of us. I do know and understand that this is an excellent bill, and I encourage all Members to support this resolution.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) that the House suspend the rules and agree to the resolution, H. Res. 848.

The question was taken; and (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the resolution was agreed to.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

JOHN GIBSON, DAN JAMES, WILLIAM SAPP, AND FRANKIE SMILEY VA CLINIC

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I move to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 593) to rename the Department of Veterans Affairs community-based outpatient clinic in Hinesville, Georgia, as the "John Gibson, Dan James, William Sapp, and Frankie Smiley VA Clinic."

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The text of the bill is as follows:

H.R. 593

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

SECTION 1. NAME OF DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS COMMUNITY-BASED OUTPATIENT CLINIC, HINESVILLE, GEORGIA.

The Department of Veterans Affairs community-based outpatient clinic in Hinesville, Georgia, shall after the date of the enactment of this Act be known and designated as the "John Gibson, Dan James, William Sapp, and Frankie Smiley VA Clinic". Any reference to such clinic in any law, regulation, map, document, record, or other paper of the United States shall be considered to be a reference to the John Gibson, Dan James, William Sapp, and Frankie Smiley VA Clinic.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the rule, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) and the gentleman from California (Mr. TAKANO) each will control 20 minutes.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Illinois.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of H.R. 593, a bill to rename the Department of Veterans Affairs outpatient clinic in Hinesville, Georgia, as the John Gibson, Dan James, William Sapp, Frankie Smiley VA Clinic.

I would take a moment to tell each of these Americans' stories of service.

John Gibson was born in Riceboro, Georgia, and later joined the Marine Corps where he rose to the rank of private first class. He deployed to Vietnam in 1967, served 100 days in-country, 65 of which were in combat. He was killed by small arms fire on February 7, 1968, in Quang Nam, South Vietnam, during the Tet Offensive at just 21 years old.

Dan Ninkey James was also a native of Riceboro, Georgia, and deployed to Vietnam in 1968. He was an SP4 in the Army's 25th Infantry Division. While in Vietnam, out of a total of 100 days in theater, he also saw 65 days of combat. Dan James was killed in action by small arms fire on December 29, 1968, in Hua Nghia, South Vietnam. He was recently married and was just 20 years old.

Their fellow Georgian, William Edward Sapp, was born on March 12, 1943. He joined the Army's 4th Infantry Division during the war, reaching the rank of SP4. While deployed in Vietnam, he served 114 days in combat out of a total of 175 days in theater. William Sapp was killed in action on June 7, 1968, in Kon Tum, South Vietnam, at the age of 25.

Last, but certainly not least, Frankie Lee Smiley was born in Miami, Florida. He joined the Marine Corps and rose to the rank of lance corporal in the 1st Marine Division.

He deployed to Vietnam in 1968. He served 205 days in theater, with 133 days of combat. Lance Corporal Smiley was killed by small arms fire on August 25, 1968, in Quang Nam, South Vietnam, at the age of 24. He is buried in Cay Cemetery in Dorchester, Georgia.

All of these men rose to the call of the Nation and made the ultimate sacrifice. All of these men were 25 years old or less. To give your life for your country at the dawn of your life is an incredible sacrifice and one we can't forget. By naming the clinic after these men, they will continue to be remembered and honored in the place they called home.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Representative BUDDY CARTER for introducing this bill and his work in making this happen.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all my colleagues to support H.R. 593, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to express my support for H.R. 593, a bill to rename the outpatient clinic of the Department of Veterans Affairs in Hinesville, Georgia, as the John Gibson, Dan James, William Sapp, and Frankie Smiley VA Clinic.

I thank Representative CARTER for introducing it and the Georgia delegation for its support.

These individuals, all hailing from Liberty County, Georgia, were killed in action during the Vietnam war. Four young men who made the ultimate sacrifice for their country.

Private First Class John Gibson, a marine, was killed by small arms fire in the Tet Offensive on February 7, 1968. He was 21 years old.

Specialist Dan James served in the Army's 25th Infantry Division and was killed on December 29, 1968. He was 20 years old.

Specialist William Sapp served in the Army's 4th Infantry Division. He was killed on June 7, 1968. He was 25 years old.

Marine Lance Corporal Frankie Smiley served in the 1st Marine Division. He was killed on August 25, 1968. He was 24 years old.

These are four names out of the 58,000 who died in the Vietnam war that we honor for their service and sacrifice. These four names will continue to be honored at the VA clinic in Liberty County as it carries on its mission to serve veterans.

The sacrifices of those who served in Vietnam and in other wars and conflicts is particularly salient as we just commemorated Veterans Day, and as we had the opportunity to reflect on the sacred obligation we owe to veterans.

Mr. Speaker, I support this legislation, and I urge my colleagues to do the same. I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as he may consume to the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. CARTER), a very close friend.

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of my bill, H.R. 593, which will rename the Department of Veterans Affairs, as you have heard, the community-based outpatient clinic in Hinesville as the John Gibson, Dan James, William Sapp, and Frankie Smiley VA Clinic.

Mr. Speaker, I have the honor and privilege of representing the First Congressional District of Georgia. We have much to be proud of in the First Congressional District of Georgia. We have a strong military presence in our district. We are home to Hunter Army Airfield, to Kings Bay Naval Base, and to Fort Stewart.

Fort Stewart is located in Hinesville, Georgia, in Liberty County. Whenever I travel to Fort Stewart, whenever I travel to Liberty County, I know that they know what they are talking about when they talk about military affairs.

I submit to you that the community of Hinesville, Georgia, supports their military as much if not more than any community in America.

However, I have to be quite honest with you. Last fall, I was called to a meeting with them and with some community leaders in Liberty County and they told me they wanted to name a VA clinic in Hinesville after four veterans who gave the ultimate sacrifice during the Vietnam war.

When I went into that meeting, I was skeptical. We can't do this. We can't rename a VA clinic anyway, much less after four individuals. I have to tell you when I left that meeting, not only was I convinced, but I was committed to making this happen.

Mr. Speaker, you heard the bios that Chairman BOST just read of these young men all in their 20s, all of them with their life ahead of them, all of them gave the ultimate sacrifice. Let's think of what they could have experienced in their life—children, graduations, family memories, but they gave their lives, all four of them gave their lives, so that we can enjoy the freedoms that we enjoy in this country.

I sat through that meeting that day and I listened to the families. I listened to their friends tell the stories of their loved ones. I was convinced this needs to happen. Each of them made an incredible sacrifice on behalf of their country and on behalf of their community. They serve as righteous examples of patriotism and selflessness that are deserving of being memorialized permanently by naming the Hinesville clinic after them.

This effort is supported by the families and by the community, and we believe that all four deserve to be memorialized for their extraordinary sacrifice and their valor.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the community members in Liberty County, in Hinesville, the local elected officials who brought this idea to our attention.

Secondly, I thank the Disabled American Veterans Southeast Georgia chapter, The American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and the Georgia State Department of Veterans Affairs for their support as well.

Last, but not least, I thank the entire Georgia delegation, Republican and Democrat, the House Veterans' Affairs Committee, and all the staff involved for their diligent work in getting this bill to the floor.

I urge my colleagues to support this bill, and I look forward to working with my friends in the Senate to bring this piece of legislation to passage and signed into law.

Mr. Speaker, last weekend we celebrated Veterans Day. These four weren't with us to celebrate Veterans Day, but what they did gave us the opportunity to celebrate Veterans Day. Let's at least do this for the family and for the memory of these four heroes who gave the ultimate sacrifice.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume. I do believe it is important to remember the service and sacrifice of servicemembers and veterans because we must keep close to mind our duty to repay that service and uphold the promises we have made to those who swore an oath to our country to protect and defend it. However, I fear that we have fallen short this year. While I do urge support for this naming bill, I am extremely disappointed that during National Veterans and Military Families Month and Warrior Care Month, and 2 days after Veterans Day, that this is the only veterans legislation the Republican majority has brought to the floor for us to consider.

These young men who lost their lives in the Vietnam war sacrificed everything they had for our country. If we really wanted to honor them and the millions of Americans who have risked their life and limb in service, we should be doing even more.

In this Congress so far, our committee has only originated three bills that have been signed into law. By comparison, in the last two Congresses, under Democratic leadership, we passed more than 70 bills to expand access to care and benefits that are now law. This inaction is unconscionable when there is such an acute need for assistance among veterans and survivors.

It is not for a lack of good ideas. There are several worthwhile bills that are ready to be voted on right now, bills that would change and improve the lives of veterans and their families across the country.

For example, H.R. 3848, the bipartisan Housing Our Military Veterans Effectively, or HOME, Act of 2023, sponsored by Republican Representative CHAVEZ-DEREMER, would restore authorities that were essential to ensuring America's most vulnerable veterans found or stayed in housing during the pandemic.

For the period of the public health emergency, the Department of Veterans Affairs was able to provide food, clothing, bedding, hygiene items, shelter, transportation services, and communication devices to veterans experiencing homelessness. VA also had temporary authority to increase reimbursements to grant and per diem providers which ensured veterans in transitional housing received the care and services they needed. Unfortunately, these authorities and funding expired with the end of the COVID-19 public health emergency declaration in May 2023, and there has been since no congressional action to restore them.

To aid in this effort, Representative NIKEMA WILLIAMS introduced H.R. 491, the Return Home to Housing Act, and Representative SHEILA CHERFILUS-McCORMICK introduced H.R. 645, the Healthy Foundations for Homeless Veterans Act. These bills are both included in the HOME Act, which was reported out of our committee by voice vote on July 26, 2023. That is right, a bill with strong unanimous support has been languishing for months for no clear reason.

Earlier this year, Chairman BOST and I were standing in these exact spots, and he made a promise to me that we would pass this legislation. I understand from staff conversations that Chairman BOST has been imploring the Speaker to schedule that bill for a vote. I, too, sent a letter to the newly elected Speaker imploring him to bring this bill to the floor.

In the book of Matthew 25:35 it says: "For I was hungry and you gave me something to eat, I was thirsty and you gave me something to drink, I was a stranger and you invited me in, I needed clothes and you clothed me, I was sick and you looked after me . . . Then the righteous will answer him, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you something to drink? When did we see you a stranger and invite you in, or needing clothes and clothe you? When did we see you sick or in prison and go visit you?'"

Do we not take these words as a call to action? There are homeless veterans suffering as we speak. It is our responsibility to take care of the most vulnerable veterans. Every night a veteran spends on the street is a night this Congress could have acted to shelter them. You can feel the cold setting in here in Washington, D.C.

The HOME act would fill the basic needs of veterans experiencing homelessness to help get them on a path to stable housing. Whether it be emergency shelter to escape the cold, a warm meal, or clothes to wear and a ride to a job interview, this bill allows VA to help homeless veterans in the most fundamental ways.

Veterans service organizations and advocates have called on Congress to pass legislation to continue the flexible funding and authorities for critical VA homelessness programs. These authorities resulted in a reduction in veteran homelessness by over 11 percent over the last 2 years during the pandemic. This was an amazing feat during one of the most difficult times in our recent history, and yet this House has not seen fit to bring this bill to the floor.

If the House fails to act or continues to delay action, I fear that veteran homelessness will undoubtedly increase and critical gains made during the pandemic will be lost. We are about to enter the winter months. Will this Congress allow veterans to remain on the streets or lacking access to basic necessities?

The other bill I have urged the Speaker to bring to the floor is H.R. 542, the Elizabeth Dole Home Care Act. This bill, introduced by Representatives BROWNLEY and BERGMAN, was also reported out of committee with unanimous support in July. It would require VA to provide access to all home and community-based services, such as home health aides, home-based primary care, and respite care to all veterans and caregivers who need them. Currently, elderly and disabled veterans only have access if their VA medical centers have chosen to offer these services.

This legislation will enable veterans to remain at home, safely age in place, and avoid or delay admission to nursing homes and other costly institutional settings of care. It will also help connect veterans' caregivers to respite care and other supportive services that help them care for veterans at home and improve VA's coordination with other Federal long-term care programs that promote aging at home.

Finally, the Elizabeth Dole Home Care Act will require VA to create a website where veterans and their families can more easily obtain information about VA's home- and community-based services programs and assess whether any of these programs may be right for them.

Nearly every veteran will, at some point, face the need for additional care at home or, if they can't get it, spend their last years in a nursing home setting. This legislation is an investment in care for millions of veterans and current servicemembers who need this help now or may in the future. We can afford to do this. We must do this.

Senator Elizabeth Dole, alongside all other major veterans service organizations, has spoken to several committee members and its chairman about the urgency of passing this bill this year. The health and well-being of thousands of veterans depends on it. I have heard that certain Republican Members object to the Dole act. I would ask those Members with concerns to speak to me or the bill's sponsors so that we can try to address those concerns. That would be the fair and honest thing to do, so that we can tell the advocates for this bill what the actual holdup is.

The Elizabeth Dole Home Care Act has the support of every major veterans service organization, including Disabled American Veterans, Paralyzed Veterans of America, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Wounded Warrior Project, and the Military Officers Association of America. It is also supported by AARP, the National Association of Counties, the National PACE Association, and the Elizabeth Dole Foundation.

Democrats on the committee remain ready to help pass both of these bills and many others that have passed out of the committee with broad bipartisan support.

Weeks were spent waiting for the Republican Conference to select a new Speaker, and significant time has been wasted on partisan appropriations bills that have no chance of being signed by the President. We are here using precious floor time on poison pill amendments at worst or symbolic gestures at best, but none of these things will actually help veterans get the care and benefits they deserve.

Last year, we came together to pass the largest expansion of veterans benefits in a generation, my Honoring our PACT Act, but we cannot and should not stop there.

Every bill brought to the House floor represents a choice and makes a statement about priorities. From my experience, whenever I had a veterans bill that was ready or timely, Speaker Emerita PELOSI made way for it because for her veterans issues are sacred. They are not fodder for negotiation or collateral. I hope our current Speaker comes to that same understanding. There is always time for veterans legislation.

We ask servicemembers to leave their families to protect our country, and we have a responsibility to honor our pact with them, that we will take care of them when they come home. That includes our most vulnerable veterans, such as homeless, elderly, and disabled veterans.

We must get these bills passed and honor our commitment to veterans. Mr. Speaker, I support H.R. 593. I ask my colleagues to do the same, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I yield such time as she may consume to the gentlewoman from California (Ms. BROWNLEY), my friend, and the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Health.

Ms. BROWNLEY. Mr. Speaker, I, too, support the renaming of the VA outpatient clinic in Hinesville, Georgia, after the four servicemembers who made the ultimate sacrifice for our country in Vietnam. Like a majority of my colleagues on both sides of the aisle, I will support this bill because it is the right thing to do.

This weekend, so many of us returned to our districts to honor the men and women who have served our Nation in uniform in theaters and eras from World War II to our veterans who served multiple deployments in Iraq and Afghanistan. We recognized every man and woman who has answered the call to duty because it is the right thing to do.

However, it is incumbent upon all of us in this Chamber to do more and to do better. Our words ring hollow if we don't do our part to fulfill our Nation's solemn promise to serve our veterans and their families as well as they have served our country. These words cannot only be spoken, but we must act upon them, live upon them.

While I believe it is important that we recognize John Gibson, Dan James, William Sapp, and Frankie Smiley, I ask myself how do we best serve the next generation of our Nation's veterans? How do we show them the respect that they have shown us? How do we let them age with as much dignity as they deserve and as much as possible?

Long-term care is one of the biggest challenges facing our aging population and their families. That is why I am calling on Speaker JOHNSON to bring before the House my bill, H.R. 542, the Elizabeth Dole Home Care Act, for a vote. This bill, which has overwhelming bipartisan, bicameral support and passed out of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee unanimously almost 4 months ago, would be a fitting honor for the service and sacrifice of the Vietnam veterans advocating for this bill.

It would be the single largest expansion of long-term care services at VA in decades. It would impact nearly every veteran living with catastrophic disabilities or living with the effects of aging.

Currently, every veteran enrolled in VA has the right to nursing home care if clinically eligible, but it is important to note that nursing homes are not where veterans want to live their golden years. They want to be home. They want to be with their families. They want to be in their communities and with their communities. I doubt there is a person here today who has not grappled with how best to care for an aging or disabled loved one. Every veteran should have the right to dignity in their later years.

VA home- and community-based services enable veterans to do just that. However, these services are not available at all VA medical centers, and my bill changes that.

In addition to listening to what veterans want, home- and community-based services are also a far less expensive option for taxpayers and an investment in the elder care infrastructure this country so desperately needs. Even more important is, the health outcomes of those who are cared for at home are far, far better than the outcomes of those who receive care in an institution.

The chairman spoke about the Elizabeth Dole bill and said that CBO has scored it in a way that has caused him to have to revisit the bill. I don't know what he means because we got a CBO score. We had one CBO score that was astronomical. Then, finally, we won with CBO, and CBO went back and looked at the bill again and said, oh, no, it is just a very minimal cost. The beauty of this bill is the health outcomes of veterans are much better, it is less expensive than institutionalized care, and we can use that money to invest in other programs for our veterans.

As you all know too well, our healthcare system is facing a silver tsunami as the largest generation, baby boomers, enter their later years. VA is not exempt from this tsunami, and preparation is critical.

Almost half of VA's patient population is over 65. Without an aggressive expansion of home care, in the next 15 years, VA will have doubled its spending on institutional, long-term care services, nearing $15 billion, to meet these needs.

Without the option of receiving care at home, veterans will have to languish on wait lists or move to facilities far away from their families.

All this aside, the Elizabeth Dole act is the right thing to do right now. As both Chairman BOST and Ranking Member TAKANO have stated, this is the right time. The Elizabeth Dole act is the right bill for this Congress to pass and move forward.

It is too late for this bill to go to the President's desk before Veterans Day, as I had hoped, but we cannot delay any further. Our veterans, their caregivers, and their families cannot wait any longer. To further delay this bill is really absolutely cruel.

Let us work together. Let's work with Senator Elizabeth Dole to fulfill our promise to America's veterans. Let us act, and let us act now, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TAKANO. Mr. Speaker, I ask all of my colleagues to join me in supporting this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, let me say that, as the chairman of the Committee on Veterans' Affairs, along with working with the leadership, several times during this time here since January, certain things have been said: One, that we were going to cut funding for veterans back whenever the caps were increased, and that proved out that we did not do that.

I have told the ranking member and the Democrats who work with the committee that these two bills are vitally important, but we must be wise. We must move forward, and we must make sure they get across the threshold.

Now, also know this: On Elizabeth Dole, I want the bill. As my colleague from the other side of the aisle made a statement, she loved working with Elizabeth Dole. Well, I am going to tell you, I have been working with Elizabeth Dole for about 30 years on most things that she brought up back when she was a Senator, back when her husband was running for President.

We are going to be working to try to figure it out. It was said from the other side of the aisle that the CBO score came back, but there is still a cost. That cost has to be calculated.

I explained, when we passed the PACT Act, that there was a problem, not that we weren't going to provide exactly everything that the PACT Act said, but the TIF had some language problems that actually double-counted some of the things we are providing for our veterans already.

Now, if someone will work with me, let's get this working with this side of the aisle and across the rotunda to try to figure this out so that we can make sure we can provide all of these other things that we want to provide.

As far as the fact of how fast we brought them forward, let me say this: Whether you want to admit it or not, when the other side of the aisle joined with the eight to remove the Speaker of this House and then caused the chaos that occurred for 3 weeks, that is 3 weeks we have lost and can't get back. We are going to work very hard to try to get it back, and we are going to try to pass everything that they have talked about.

The ranking member quoted some Scripture, so let me quote some, and then I am going to shift to something else. Proverbs 29:11 said: A fool gives full vent to his feelings, but a wise man holds them back.

At this time, I am going to hold those feelings back about the things that were said. Let me say that what we are really talking about here is the naming of a CBOC for four amazing people who made a sacrifice.

For those of us with more gray hair who have seen the nightly news when we sat around the dinner tables back in the time when these valiant soldiers and marines fell, we remember what it was like to see Walter Cronkite come on and give a list of where the battles had been and a list of how many people were dead, how many were wounded, where the next battle was looking like it was going to come up.

Later on, right after you followed up with your local news, there was a list of young servicemembers who wouldn't be coming home, at the local level.

Good heavens, with that war for the first 13 years of my life, I thought you were born, raised, got out of high school, and then went to Vietnam. If you survived Vietnam, you could actually go home and live a real life. These guys didn't get the chance to do that.

Mr. CARTER has worked very hard on making sure that we are going to name this in tribute to them, as we should.

I will still continue to have the other debates and discussions. I am sorry we had to do that now, that we had to at the sacrifice of what we were debating here, that all of this floor time couldn't have been given to those four heroes.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage all of my colleagues to support the gentleman's resolution and this bill, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 593.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. BOST. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this motion will be postponed.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12(a) of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess until approximately 6:30 p.m. today.

Accordingly (at 6 o'clock and 7 minutes p.m.), the House stood in recess.

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. ELLZEY) at 6 o'clock and 30 minutes p.m.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Proceedings will resume on questions previously postponed. Votes will be taken in the following order:

Motions to suspend the rules and pass:

H.R. 593.

The first electronic vote will be conducted as a 15-minute vote. Pursuant to clause 9 of rule XX, remaining electronic votes will be conducted as 5-minute votes.

DEBBIE SMITH ACT OF 2023

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, the unfinished business is the vote on the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 1105) to amend the DNA Analysis Backlog Elimination Act of 2000 to reauthorize the Debbie Smith DNA Backlog Grant Program, and for other purposes, as amended, on which the yeas and nays were ordered.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from California (Mr. ISSA) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 405, nays 0, not voting 27, as follows:

COMMUNICATION FROM THE CLERK OF THE HOUSE

The SPEAKER laid before the House the following communication from the Clerk of the House of Representatives:

OFFICE OF THE CLERK,

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
Washington, DC, November 8, 2023.

Hon. MIKE JOHNSON,

Speaker, House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. SPEAKER: I have the honor to transmit herewith a copy of a letter received from Mr. Gregg M. Amore, Secretary of State, State of Rhode Island, indicating that, according to the unofficial results for the Special Election held on November 7, 2023, the Honorable Gabriel Amo was elected for Representative to Congress for the First Congressional District of Rhode Island.

With best wishes, I am,

Sincerely,

KEVIN F. MCCUMBER,
Acting Clerk.

STATE OF RHODE ISLAND, DEPARTMENT OF STATE, OFFICE OF THE
SECRETARY OF STATE,
November 8, 2023.

Hon. KEVIN F. MCCUMBER,

Acting Clerk,
House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. MCCUMBER: Per your request, this communication is to advise you of the unofficial results of the Special Election held on Tuesday, November 7, 2023 for Representative in Congress from the First Congressional district of Rhode Island. The unofficial results as of 3 p.m. on November 8, 2023 show that Gabriel Amo received 42,852 votes, 64.62% of the total number of votes cast for that office.

It would appear from these unofficial results that Gabriel Amo was elected as Representative in Congress from the First Congressional District of Rhode Island.

To the best of our knowledge and belief at this time, there is no contest to this election.

As soon as the official results are certified to this office by the State Board of Elections, an official Certificate of Election will be prepared for transmittal as required by law.

Sincerely,

GREGG M. AMORE,
Secretary of State.

AMO, be permitted to take the oath of office today.

His certificate of election has not arrived, but there is no contest and no question has been raised with regard to his election.

The SPEAKER. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Rhode Island?

There was no objection.

The SPEAKER. Will Representative-elect Amo and the members of the Rhode Island delegation present themselves in the well.

All Members will rise and the Representative-elect will please raise his right hand.

Mr. AMO appeared at the bar of the House and took the oath of office, as follows:

Do you solemnly swear or affirm that you will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that you will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that you take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that you will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which you are about to enter, so help you God.

The SPEAKER. Congratulations, you are now a Member of the 118th Congress.

WELCOMING THE HONORABLE GABE AMO TO THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the gentleman from Rhode Island (Mr. MAGAZINER) is recognized for 1 minute.

There was no objection.

Mr. MAGAZINER. Mr. Speaker, the people of Rhode Island's First Congressional District have elected a Representative with the character, the credentials, and the commitment to be an effective Member of this body from day one.

As one of the original 13 States, Rhode Island has been electing Representatives to the House since 1790. In those 233 years, Rhode Island has never sent an African American or any person of color to Congress until today, but GABE AMO will be the first to tell you, Mr. Speaker, that he did not come here to make history. He came here to make a difference.

He came to make a difference for working people like his parents, who immigrated to the United States from Ghana and Liberia. GABE's mother, Weady, is a nurse. His father, Gabriel, runs the family's liquor store. They came to America because they believe in the promise of this country.

They settled in Pawtucket, Rhode Island, a diverse, blue-collar city of brick mills and triple-decker houses where people value a hard day's work. This is where GABE AMO comes from.

He has chosen to devote his career to public service, working in the Rhode Island State House for then-Governor Gina Raimondo and in the White House for President Obama and President Biden.

SWEARING IN OF THE HONORABLE GABE AMO, OF RHODE ISLAND, AS A MEMBER OF THE HOUSE

Mr. MAGAZINER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the gentleman from Rhode Island, the Honorable GABE

By the way, a shout-out to the staffers who do not get enough credit in this town.

Mr. Speaker, can we have a round of applause for them, please.

Now in Congress, GABE is ready to fight for the America that inspired his parents all those years ago, an America where workers can get fair pay and benefits and the right to join a union like his mother did; an America where immigrants like GABE'S parents are welcomed to this country with kindness and not with cruelty; an America that stands with democracies and not dictators; an America where freedom means freedom for everybody, including women to make their own healthcare decisions and LGBTQ Americans to marry the person they love; and an America where we have the God-given right to choose our own leaders and not have the results challenged and denied by the losing side.

I have known GABE AMO since we were both teenagers, and I can tell you, Mr. Speaker, he has the values, the commitment to America, and a love for service that runs deep.

He is the right person to serve in this House at this moment, and it gives me great pleasure to introduce, for the first time as our colleague, the gentleman from Rhode Island, GABE AMO.

Mr. AMO. Mr. Speaker, I thank Representative MAGAZINER for the warm introduction. I thank Senators JACK REED and SHELDON WHITEHOUSE, who, alongside Representative MAGAZINER and I, make up our small but very mighty Rhode Island congressional delegation.

Of course, I am grateful for my predecessor, former Representative David Cicilline. I am grateful for his service to Rhode Island, and I look forward to our work together in both of our new roles.

To my family, friends, community leaders, and all those who have supported me along the way, I thank them. Of course, I thank the people of the First Congressional District and those across Rhode Island for giving me the opportunity to serve in the people's House.

Mr. Speaker, I want to tell you a story about Rhode Island. Reverend Mahlon Van Horne was elected to the Rhode Island General Assembly in 1885, making him the first Black person elected to serve in the State legislature. Just think, Mr. Speaker, Reverend Van Horne was elected as a Black man nearly two decades after the end of the Civil War.

In an 1887 sermon, the Reverend said: "I believe the day is coming, is not far off, when in the commonwealth of Rhode Island, the stomping ground of soul liberty will become the home of the free and the land of the truly brave—the home of the free, where fair play in all the walks of life will be accorded."

Those words are at top of mind for me today.

Reverend Van Horne's dream and the dreams of those who have called Rhode Island home across generations allow me to stand before you today, Mr. Speaker.

While we have not arrived at our final destination in this project of our democracy, I am optimistic. As a Rhode Islander, it is easy for me. After all, our State motto is "Hope." It is hope that led my parents to come from West Africa, my dad from Ghana and my mom from Liberia, to pursue opportunity in the greatest country in the world.

Nevertheless, this is not just my story. It is a Rhode Island story, and it is an American story. That shared story is why today I am proud to be the Representative from Rhode Island's First Congressional District.

Mr. Speaker, what is beautiful about hope is that it cares not about your race, your religion, your gender, or where your ancestors came from. This belief has inspired people who arrived in Rhode Island from Italy, Ireland, Portugal, France, the Dominican Republic, Haiti, Colombia, Armenia, and, yes, countries in West Africa, and so many places in between.

I, of course, must acknowledge those whose family branches extend from the Native Tribes of our shores to the settlers who came for religious freedom to those who did not choose their journey because they were enslaved people but whose hope persisted nonetheless.

Together, and why I am here, is that we ensure our great hope for the future is met with profound action: action to protect and strengthen retirement security, support our seniors, create economic opportunity and good-paying jobs, secure reproductive freedom and keep politics out of the doctor's office, ensure the livability of our planet for our children and their grandchildren, ban assault weapons and end gun violence, and stand up to the threats facing our democracy.

So this hallowed space, this House floor, is where we have always had to work vigorously toward the promise of our Nation's highest ideals and aspirations, and I cannot wait to work on behalf of the people of the First Congressional District, everyone from Woonsocket to Newport, East Providence to Cumberland, Providence to Bristol, and, of course, the great city of Pawtucket.

I thank Rhode Island for putting its trust in me to bring our values of hard work, grit, determination, and resilience in the face of adversity all the way from the Ocean State to the Halls of the United States Congress. I will work hard for those people in Rhode Island and those people across this country every single day. I am grateful for this privilege.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. Under clause 5(d) of rule XX, the Chair announces to the House that, in light of the administration of the oath to the gentleman from Rhode Island, the whole number of the House is 434.

JOHN GIBSON, DAN JAMES, WILLIAM SAPP, AND FRANKIE SMILEY VA CLINIC

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, the unfinished business is the vote on the motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill (H.R. 593) to rename the Department of Veterans Affairs community-based outpatient clinic in Hinesville, Georgia, as the "John Gibson, Dan James, William Sapp, and Frankie Smiley VA Clinic" on which the yeas and nays were ordered.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. BOST) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill.

This is a 5-minute vote.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 409, nays 0, answered "present" 1, not voting 23, as follows:

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER pro tempore (during the vote). There are 2 minutes remaining.

□ 1918

So (two-thirds being in the affirmative) the rules were suspended and the bill was passed.

The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

RAISING A QUESTION OF THE PRIVILEGES OF THE HOUSE

Ms. GREENE of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of the privileges of the House and offer the resolution previously noticed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Clerk will report the resolution.

The Clerk read as follows:

H. RES. 863

Resolved, That Alejandro Nicholas Mayorkas, Secretary of Homeland Security, is impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors, and that the following articles of impeachment be exhibited to the United States Senate:

Articles of impeachment exhibited by the House of Representatives of the United States of America in the name of itself and of the people of the United States of America, against Alejandro Nicholas Mayorkas, Secretary of Homeland Security, in maintenance and support of its impeachment against him for high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE I

Rather than adhering to an oath he took to defend and secure our country and uphold the Constitution when he was sworn in as Secretary of Homeland Security, Alejandro Nicholas Mayorkas has engaged in a pattern of conduct that is incompatible with the laws of the United States, as follows:

Article II of the Constitution requires that the Executive branch, which today includes the Secretary of Homeland Security, ensure the laws passed by Congress and signed into law by the President are faithfully executed.

The Secure Fence Act of 2006 (Public Law 109-367) requires that the Secretary of Homeland Security "maintain operational control over the entire international land and maritime borders of the United States".

In his willful admittance of border crossers, terrorists, human traffickers, drugs, and other contraband, Alejandro Nicholas Mayorkas has failed to maintain operational control of the border, thereby violating the Secure Fence Act of 2006.

The Guarantee Clause set forth in article IV, section 4 of the Constitution dictates, "The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion; and on Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence".

The Guarantee Clause clearly dictates that the Federal Government has a constitutional duty and obligation to protect each of the States from invasion. As Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security, Alejandro Mayorkas, has violated his oath to uphold this constitutional duty by allowing the invasion of approximately 10,000,000 illegals across our borders. The ongoing invasion at our southern border is a direct national security threat against the States and against the citizens therein. Secretary Mayorkas has willfully abandoned his duty to secure the border and protect States against invasion, thereby violating article IV, section 4 of the Constitution.

To wit, since Mayorkas has headed the Department of Homeland Security, there have been—

(1) approximately 10,000,000 illegal border crosser who have invaded our country at our border, this is broken down between 8,000,000 encounters and approximately 1,800,000 known "gotaways" who have evaded United States authorities and are roaming the interior of the United States;

(2) at least 280 people on terrorist watchlists caught while attempting to cross the border between ports of entry;

(3) approximately 400,000 unaccompanied illegal children encountered at the southern border, with at least 85,000 of these children having gone missing;

(4) at least 1,424 deaths of illegals at the southern border;

(5) approximately 73,000 "special interest aliens" arrested at our border, which are aliens from a nation that promotes terrorist activity, harbors terrorists, or poses a security threat to the United States, this is the number arrested at the border, not counting however many of the 1,800,000 known "gotaways" are special interest aliens;

(6) approximately 659 special interest aliens from Iran;

(7) approximately 6,386 special interest aliens from Afghanistan;

(8) approximately 538 special interest aliens from Syria;

(9) approximately 3,153 special interest aliens from Egypt;

(10) approximately 12,624 special interest aliens from Uzbekistan;

(11) approximately 30,830 special interest aliens from Turkey;

(12) approximately 1,613 special interest aliens from Pakistan;

(13) approximately 164 special interest aliens from Lebanon;

(14) approximately 185 special interest aliens from Jordan;

(15) approximately 123 special interest aliens from Iraq; and

(16) approximately 15,594 special interest aliens from Mauritania.

In fiscal year 2021, Customs and Border Patrol (CBP) seized approximately 11,200 pounds of fentanyl. In fiscal year 2022, CBP seized approximately 14,700 pounds of fentanyl. In fiscal year 2023, CBP has seized a record of approximately 27,000 pounds of fentanyl. Over 70,000 Americans died from fentanyl in fiscal year 2022. Fentanyl is now the number one killer of Americans between the ages of 18 and 45. Fentanyl kills approximately 300 Americans a day. This is the amount of fentanyl that has been seized at the border, yet 300 Americans are still being killed by fentanyl poisoning every day. The amount of unseized fentanyl has not even been taken into account.

The Constitution also requires the Secretary of Homeland Security to observe the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1101 et seq.). This law requires Homeland Security to detain inadmissible aliens arriving in the United States or illegal aliens presently in the United States. Instead, the Department of Homeland Security, under Secretary Mayorkas, has practiced catch and release policies, whereby illegals are detained, but then released, without any mechanism to ensure they show up to court for processing.

By terminating contracts for border wall construction, ending the Migrant Protection Protocols (Remain in Mexico), unlawfully granting categorical parole, and being complicit in ending title 42, Mayorkas has made it easier for illegal people and drugs to enter the United States, endangering American citizens, and has made it harder for CBP to expel such threats.

Alejandro Nicholas Mayorkas, in his inability to enforce the law, has engaged in a pattern of conduct that is incompatible with his duties as a civil officer of the United States.

Alejandro Nicholas Mayorkas, in his failure to uphold the oath he took, has, by his actions, lost the trust of citizens of the United States to faithfully execute the laws of the United States.

Wherefore, Alejandro Nicholas Mayorkas, thus warrants impeachment and trial, removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust, or profit under the United States.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. ELLZEY). The resolution qualifies.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore (during the vote). There are 2 minutes remaining.

□ 1936

So the motion to refer was agreed to. The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

A motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

PERSONAL EXPLANATION

Mr. TORRES of New York. Mr. Speaker, I was not present in the House Chamber today. Had I been present, I would have voted "yea" on rollcall No. 643, "yea" on rollcall No. 644, and "yea" on rollcall No. 645.

HOOR OF MEETING ON TOMORROW

Mr. POSEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Florida?

There was no objection.

HAMAS MUST BE DEFEATED

(Mr. LAWLER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAWLER. Mr. Speaker, as a point of personal privilege, I would like to recognize my grandparents, John and Eileen Lawler, who are here with us tonight.

Mr. Speaker, I just returned from a bipartisan delegation trip to Israel, where we met with Prime Minister Netanyahu, Defense Minister Gallant, and U.S. Ambassador Jack Lew. We also met with the family members of some of the 240 hostages currently being held by Hamas and viewed raw footage of the barbaric terrorist attack of October 7.

Mr. Speaker, let's be clear: Hamas is a terrorist organization that not only wants to wipe Israel off the face of the Earth, they want to eliminate the Jewish people. They must not only be defeated, they must be destroyed.

I support Israel's right to defend itself and denounce the ludicrous calls for a cease-fire. No one in this room would have called for a cease-fire after September 11, and no one should hold Israel to a standard we would not hold ourselves.

The United States must stand resolute in our support for Israel. This is a battle of good versus evil.

As Edmund Burke said: The only thing necessary for the triumph of evil is for good men to do nothing. Let us not be Neville Chamberlains; let us be

Winston Churchills: "Victory at all costs . . . for without victory, there is no survival."

NATIONAL DIABETES AWARENESS MONTH

(Mr. PAYNE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to discuss the dangers of diabetes for Black Americans.

November is National Diabetes Awareness Month. Today, more than 37 million Americans suffer from diabetes, and that number includes almost 5 million Black Americans. Right now, one of every five Black Americans over 20 years of age has diagnosed or undiagnosed diabetes. Black Americans are far more likely to develop diabetes than White Americans.

Diabetes is the most expensive chronic health condition in our country. The $35 cap on insulin for Medicare beneficiaries in the Inflation Reduction Act helps our seniors afford this lifesaving medication. However, we need to pass the bill to make the $35 cap on insulin available to all Americans. If we can cap insulin payments, we can help millions of Black Americans afford this critical medication. No diabetic in this country should have to choose between food or insulin every month.

PRAISING SENATOR TIM SCOTT

(Mr. WILSON of South Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Last night, on "Sunday Night in America with Trey Gowdy" on FOX News, Senator TIM SCOTT suspended his Republican Presidential campaign.

In his decision, the Senator said, "I love America more today than I did on May 22. . . . I am suspending my campaign. I think the voters, who are the most remarkable people on the planet, have been really clear that they are telling me: Not now, Tim."

He has served since 2011 as a Congressman and then followed as a Senator since 2013. Growing up in North Charleston with his inspiring mother, Frances, TIM SCOTT has two brothers: Ben, an Army Command sergeant major, and Earl, an Air Force colonel.

On Friday, to celebrate Diwali, I met with Consul General Ramesh Babu of India, where I recognized the three countries most attacked by terrorists are India, America, and Israel, with Israel tomorrow being appreciated with AIPAC a part of the rally fighting dictators, as is Ukraine fighting war criminal Putin.

In conclusion, God bless our troops, who successfully protected America for 20 years as the global war on terrorism continues moving from Afghanistan's safe haven to America with Biden's open borders.

STOP ENDLESS CYCLE OF CENSURES AND IMPEACHMENTS

(Mr. THANEDAR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THANEDAR. Mr. Speaker, in Congress, our mission is clear: to serve the people. However, a pattern has emerged that is troubling.

We are seeing an endless cycle of censure resolutions and impeachment measures from some factions within the Republican Party.

This isn't just about disagreement. It is about distraction.

These actions are eating up valuable time and resources, resources that should be spent on solving real issues facing our constituents.

I call on my colleagues across the aisle: Let's rethink this path. Our duty to govern, to really serve our people, must come before personal promotion or political posturing. We are here to work for the well-being of our Nation and its citizens.

I urge my friends on the other side to put an end to this relentless brinkmanship. It is not about backing down. It is about stepping up to our responsibilities.

RECOGNIZING MCKEAN COUNTY 4-H CLUB

(Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize members of the McKean County 4-H Club who participated and excelled at the Pennsylvania 4-H State Horse Show in Harrisburg, from October 26 to 29.

Congratulations to Reese Kinney for winning grand champion in pole bending ponies and also finishing third place in cutback ponies in the 14- to 18-year-old age group.

Congratulations to Adrianna Keesler and Jesse Gould, who collected reserve champion trophies.

Congratulations to Charlie Aiello, who finished 10th in western horsemanship, and Claire Storer, who finished ninth in western grooming and showmanship and eighth in beginner western pleasure for the 12- to 14-year-old age group.

Congratulations to Georgia Barth, who finished sixth in low equitation over fences, and Madelyn McKean, who finished seventh in cutback horses and ninth in barrel horses for the 8- to 13-year-old age group.

Congratulations to Melissa Burton, who finished eighth in hunt seat equitation for the 15- to 18-year-old age group and eighth in the breed type hunter under saddle for the 14- to 18-year-old age group.

Congratulations to Addyson Storts, who finished third in the EWD independent WT showmanship, fourth in EWD minimum assistance equitation, and seventh in EWD minimum assistance obstacle trail.

Also representing McKean County at the event were Mason Reed, Sarah Long, and Braelyn Taylor.

I am so proud of all their hard work.

CONSIDERING THE PROPOSED MENTHOL BAN

(Mr. DAVIS of North Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DAVIS of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I rise to address a significant issue that would affect the hard-working families and farmers of North Carolina—the FDA's proposed rule to ban menthol cigarettes and flavored cigars.

Having grown up cropping tobacco to help my family make ends meet, I know firsthand how this industry impacts eastern North Carolina, rural America, and beyond.

Mr. Speaker, we must be mindful that this well-intended ban could have an unintended consequence. It might increase the availability of illegal tobacco products and, more concerning, jeopardize the livelihoods of families and farmers by eliminating at least 6,000 menthol cigarette industry jobs in North Carolina. We must always protect our communities and their well-being.

To be clear, we need jobs. That is why I sent a bipartisan letter to the President with my North Carolina colleague, Representative DAVID ROUZER, and asked this administration to thoroughly consider the economic implications of this proposed ban before taking decisive action.

SAVANNAH, GEORGIA, IS BEST PLACE TO RETIRE

(Mr. CARTER of Georgia asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. CARTER of Georgia. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate the beloved city of Savannah, which has been recognized as one of the best places to retire in the United States by HGTV.

Since I have been a resident of Georgia's First District my whole life, I know that it is the best place to live and retire, but it is nice to see Savannah receiving the national recognition it deserves.

Affordability plays a pivotal role in the city earning this distinction, with the cost of living notably below the national average, as well as the absence of estate taxes.

Other key factors that contributed to the city's rankings include its delightful weather, tax-friendly area, and convenient and accessible transportation.

Our historic city squares, riverfront dining, musical and artistic amenities, and southern charm make it the perfect place to live and retire.

I have done that all my life and intend to retire there, as well.

DEFENSE FUNDING DELAYS

(Ms. KAPTUR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to encourage the big middle of this House to come together to support immediate passage of fiscal year 2024 funding for U.S. Government operations, including the interests of national security.

Without fiscal year 2014 funding in place, which should have begun on October 1 of this year, our military faces uncertainty in its funding and resource allocation.

Funding delays waste time, leading to impaired military operations, decreased training, delayed procurement, and reduced vehicle maintenance, yielding lower readiness. These unnecessary delays undermine our military's ability to respond to threats effectively at home and abroad.

I hope the American people are noticing which extremist Members of this House are responsible for this long-delayed funding compromise. Vladimir Putin is applauding them.

They, and we, take an oath to defend America against all enemies, foreign and domestic. Let's do it.

UNFREEZING IRANIAN ASSETS

(Mr. LAMALFA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, I guess we need to remind the Biden administration that there is a gigantic problem in the Middle East, most of it caused by Iran, the major sponsor of terror in the world, in Yemen, threatening our Saudi friends and, of course, all around Israel.

What is the remedy? A few weeks ago, it was to unfreeze $6 billion worth of Iranian assets in order to help them fund whatever activity, which is probably going to be terror.

What is the Biden administration considering now? Another $10 billion in unfrozen assets to allow them to continue this battle. You have to ask the question: Whose side are they on?

It makes absolutely no sense to give them more materiel, more assets, more ability for them to make war against our ally at a time when we are contemplating sending significant resources, as we should, to our ally, Israel. Yet, we can't get out of our tracks around here enough to do so.

Mr. Speaker, they need to think much harder about what they do with Iran and allowing them to be a sponsor of terror.

CELEBRATING TRANSGENDER AWARENESS WEEK

(Mr. TONKO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. TONKO. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to mark Transgender Awareness Week. This is an important time to celebrate, honor, and uplift trans people—their history, their stories, and their culture.

It is also a time to stand up against ongoing hate and discrimination. Extremist politicians around our country and in this Chamber continue to work to strip away the rights and liberties of the trans community.

In ongoing appropriations debates, House Republicans have brought forward unserious proposals with riders targeting and demonizing the trans and broader LGBTQ+ communities. These riders include limiting access to essential and safe gender-affirming healthcare; bans on art forms, including drag; and allowing broad licenses to discriminate.

The trans community deserves so much better. They deserve the ability, like all of us, to live fully and authentically without facing violence, discrimination, or harassment.

Mr. Speaker, I urge all of my colleagues to support the trans community and oppose these cruel and relentless attacks. As a member of the Congressional Equality Caucus, I vow to continue to fight for the cause.

CONGRATULATING JIM DEROSE

(Mr. LAHOOD asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAHOOD. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor and congratulate Jim DeRose on his retirement as Bradley University's men's soccer coach after 28 successful seasons.

Beginning his career in 1996 at the age of 28, and as the youngest coach in NCAA Division 1 men's soccer, Jim quickly emerged as a dominant figure in college soccer.

Under Jim's leadership, Bradley's soccer program reached new heights and resulted in a 2007 run to the NCAA Elite Eight, where Jim was chosen as the National Coach of the Year.

During his tenure as head coach, Jim held the record of 267 wins, 227 losses, and 66 ties, with seven NCAA tournament appearances, the highest of any coach in Bradley University athletics history.

In addition to his accomplishments on the pitch, the success of his players in the classroom and postgraduation are a testament to his ability to grow his players into successful young men.

Jim has been an integral part of the growing game of soccer throughout central Illinois and in college soccer, and his legacy will last for years to come.

It is my privilege to congratulate Coach Jim DeRose on his retirement after 28 years with Bradley University. We wish him, his wife, Robin, and his two children, Raleigh and J.R., all the best.

RECOGNIZING NATIONAL DIABETES MONTH

(Ms. KELLY of Illinois asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. KELLY of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to acknowledge National Diabetes Month.

As chair of the CBC Health Braintrust, I have long been focused on how diabetes disproportionately affects Black Americans.

From lack of investment to a racist healthcare culture, Black Americans face significant obstacles to treating and preventing diabetes.

Black Americans undeniably face unique and significant stressors because of racial discrimination. Research shows a clear link between social stress and health outcomes, emphasizing we must not only address the physical aspects of diabetes but also its underlying social determinants.

We can address risk factors from diabetes from the earliest moments. Exposures before birth, such as undernutrition, maternal stress, and maternal obesity, can substantially increase the risk of developing type 2 diabetes in adulthood.

Our efforts can continue outside of the traditional medical system by increasing access to healthy food, reducing food insecurity, and expanding opportunities for nutrition therapy and counseling. We can reduce the risk of diabetes without first turning to more costly and time-consuming treatments.

Let me give a special shout-out to SHONTEL BROWN for bringing CBC members together to highlight this issue.

THE MATH

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. GUEST). Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 9, 2023, the gentleman from Arizona (Mr. SCHWEIKERT) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. Mr. Speaker, it feels like it has been a while since we had these. I think it has been 6 weeks since I have been behind this microphone, 6 weeks since we basically shot ourselves in the temple and all the other craziness that went on.

The amazing thing is in those 6 weeks, you would be stunned how much the numbers, the debt numbers, have moved against us. This is just a fascinating time.

Think of this: within a month or so, we have actually been having to recalculate our projections of debt deficits and what was going on. If that doesn't give you a sense of this thing called interest rate fragility, basically meaning as interest rates go up it is consuming more and more and more of the available resources that you could have either put into your communities or maybe into military or other things.

I am going to show you a couple charts in a moment. Interest, the Office of Management and Budget, Treasury just a couple hours ago did an update that shows that gross interest this fiscal year will not be the fourth biggest expense, it will be the second biggest expense. Social Security, interest, Medicare, defense.

Now, that is a gross number, but we are going to talk about what gross and net means in the U.S. Government interest rate world.

Let's actually walk through some of the parameters here. Once again, our basic rule is if you don't like math and don't want to deal with reality, please stop watching.

This is our update from 2023. Mr. Speaker, 73 percent of the spending Members of Congress functionally have no voice on—we don't vote on it—that is mandatory, it is Social Security; it is Medicare; certain veterans' benefits; certain Tribal benefits, those things that are a formula, we call mandatory. They are mostly earned benefits. Some are benefits you get because you fell below a certain income, but they are a formula.

You see this green and this blue. The blue is defense. The green, 15 percent, that is all other—let's call it non-defense discretionary. The blue obviously is all of defense. That is 13 percent. All of this colored area right here, the green and the blue, is on borrowed money. Every dime Members of Congress vote on is on borrowed money.

Then last year, about $400 billion of this red was on borrowed money.

So as we kick each other's heads in here, which a lot of it is well worth doing, fighting for a little here, a little there, we are borrowing about $6.5 billion a day—I think on the average of about $77,000 or $78,000 a second.

One of the reasons I come back to this is being home this weekend and having some conversations with people—these are smart people. I represent one of the best educated districts in America. You have these conversations, and people say, DAVID, if it just weren't for waste and fraud; DAVID, if it weren't for foreign aid. For my friends on the left, I am going to show a bunch of slides here because I need to nail this down. They say, if we just would tax rich people more, we would be fine.

None of that is true.

You take the math and take every Democrat proposal starting with this one and do tax maximization on those over 400,000. On estate tax, income tax, capital gains tax, you do the tax maximization, and then do the economic model, and you get about 1.5 percent of GDP. Last year we borrowed 8.4 percent of GDP.

It turns out 1.5 is a hell of a lot less than 8.4. This being a math-free zone, I thought we might do this several times to see if some of it sinks in.

Once again, 73 percent of our spending is on autopilot. If we don't really move defense, all we are fighting over right now is within this green wedge—15 percent of our spending.

That is what is going on.

Let's actually talk through what is happening around us. If I had come to this floor a year or two ago and said gross interest in the 2024 fiscal year was going to cross over a trillion dollars, you would have laughed your hearts out.

Guess what? OMB, a couple hours ago, confirmed gross interest is going to be over $1 trillion this year, making it the second-biggest expense of this government.

Does anyone understand, a couple years ago, 3 or 4 years ago, we were looking at numbers of 300, $400 billion? We have more than doubled it. Does anyone care? Is it just one of those, you know, we can just continue to ignore it?

A couple months ago, I came here and showed some charts that in this fiscal year we are going to bring 9.6—that was our best model—$9.6 trillion to market. About $2 trillion we estimated to be virgin, new, issuance. That is from the borrowing from this year. The rest is what we call refinancing. It is the short bonds, even some longer bonds. Many of these bonds were really low, I mean, just slightly above zero, and they are coming back for refinancing.

All of a sudden you have how many trillions and trillions of dollars that are down here with almost no interest expense to this government to our taxpayers, and now they are coming in, and we are starting to see mean interest moving over 3 percent, and it keeps going up.

This should be what we talk about on the floor. If this continues, it consumes everything in its path.

Is interest Republican or Democrat? It is just something we have to pay, but trust me, we will find a way to turn it partisan.

This is one of the punch lines I need us to try to get our heads around. We are modeling for the 2024 year. So the fiscal year we are in now, we just finished our first month of it, Social Security we expect to come in about $1.45 trillion.

Gross interest. As of a couple hours ago we adjusted it. Actually, our model was a billion dollars over this, but CBO came in and said gross interest is now over a trillion dollars.

Now, if you want to do net—and now might be the time to explain the difference. What is the difference between net interest and gross interest?

When Treasury reaches over to the Social Security trust fund—which is also gone in about 8 or 9 years—reaches over and grabs that money and spends it, we put special T-bills, Treasury bills over there, but we have to pay them interest, and we pay them interest twice a year.

It is still an expense. It is still money that got paid for the rent of this money, and you take all the trust funds, and that is the difference between whether we are going to pay as the Treasury is coming back and saying 839—I need to disclose, my model, our joint economic model is closer to 879, and we have been more accurate the last 2 years than Treasury has, but gross interest, money we will spend on interest as this government is now over a trillion dollars.

Our third biggest spend now is Medicare. Medicare moved up 12.3 percent last year. For its scale, interest moved up 38 percent. Medicare moved up over 12 percent. Those are the primary growers in borrowing and spending.

Then number four, the fourth biggest expense now is defense. You run into someone at the grocery store back home and ask them—particularly if they lean on the left side, and they almost immediately viscerally go straight to defense. How many of them will believe defense is now the fourth biggest expenditure? It is no longer the first. It is not the second. It is not the third. It is the fourth.

Interest now has become the second.

If I had held up this chart a year ago, you would have stared at me like I was out of my mind. It has happened. It has happened. We have talked about how this was coming, and in some ways it saddens me that the prediction has come true.

You have got to understand when you start seeing these—and we did it in chart fashion to try to make it more visual. Here is Social Security. Here is interest. Here is Medicare. Here is defense now. Healthcare costs and interest. Your government is an insurance company with an Army, and the interest payments just keep coming.

We actually believe this number is wrong, we think it is out of date, but the point of this chart is to show you what interest fragility is doing to us.

In 2022, we spent $475 billion in interest. In 2023 we spent 659, and we thought that was outrageous. Our number is actually 880 for primary interest, not gross. Even if we use the most conservative number we have been given, and this number is already now a month or so out of date, you are looking at another 30 percent growth in just that spending line. That is not counting for the interest we pay ourselves from the borrowing when we borrow out of the trust funds.

Look, I know this didn't move the markets, and it won't move the markets until we start to have a really stressed bond auction, but you already know that two of the biggest credit rating agencies have done an actual downgrade. Moody's last Friday basically put us on downgrade watch. They still let us have our AAA, but they said we believe the bias is now negative.

You do realize there are five, six countries now out there that have better credit ratings than the United States. Good job, guys. We should all be very, very proud of ourselves.

Not that anyone here pays attention to the bond market, but why I keep coming back to the bond market is because we are incapable of doing our job here telling the truth about the math. Remember, 100 percent of the borrowing from today through the next 30 years is demographics. It takes away some of the political fun out of it, doesn't it, when you can't sort of say, well, it is this or that.

We got old. Take a look at the baseline data. It is healthcare costs, it is interest, it is Medicare, it is Social Security, and it is in, functionally, 9 years when that trust fund is gone.

This is a chart of what happened, I think it was Thursday or Friday, we had a 30-year bond auction. Did anyone pay attention to the fact that it was substantially what they call undersubscribed?

It wasn't a disaster, but there were definitely signs of stress. It shot up. That is what this line is here. They had to spike up the interest rates on those 30-year bonds to get the buyers, get them sold, and I believe—and I may have my number wrong—I believe the primary dealers, this is actually a special deal they have with Treasury, the primary dealers had to take down, had to buy almost a quarter of these bonds. In past years it would have only been around 12 percent. That is a big deal. The fact of the matter is you had to turn the switch, and the dealers had to take down the bonds because there weren't enough buyers.

Does anyone in this body pay attention to the fact that if we are borrowing $6.5 billion a day and then we are about to refinance several trillion dollars this year, how much of this we have to bring to market every couple weeks? If this had gotten a little bit worse, this would have been the headlines over the weekend.

Let's actually start to walk through, once again, our realities. The reason I am walking through this chart is I am going to spend some time on where the spending is. I am going to spend some time on where the tax receipts are and who pays them. We are going to spend some time on some of the proposals out there to show how hollow they are, because I am so tired of having conversations with people who I know are smart and they are so wrapped in folklore about the U.S. debt and deficits.

Even in this body, we will knife each other. Trust me, I have been involved in those knife fights. I have offered some of the most brutal amendments on this floor for cutting spending. We will go to war with each other, and the debate time on the floor, if we are borrowing $77,000 a second, there was more borrowing during the time of the debate than the amendment would have saved.

Social Security is about 21 percent of our spend. Now, you always need to think of Social Security as unique. It functionally has its own tax line, FICA taxes. Why do we keep coming back and paying attention to it? This is one of the brutal dishonesties I get, particularly from our brothers and sisters on the left.

I actually watched one Democrat Member over here—I think she is running for Senate in California—on one of the leftwing cable television shows holding a little white board going: You see, it adds nothing to the deficit. She is absolutely right. Social Security adds nothing to the deficit.

In 9 years, we double senior poverty, because in 9 years there is a 25 percent cut to Social Security. I am going to walk through some of those slides to understand the scale.

That is one of the reasons, if you have someone talking about debt and deficits and they are talking about the future, if they are not talking about how to save Social Security, they are completely dishonest, they are absolutely hollow, and they are immoral.

I am going to show also the proposals being given to us by the left on what we can tax only gets you about 20 percent. I am going to show the charts that say just get rid of the cap, tax everyone the 12.4 percent, and you only cover about 20 percent of the shortfall. We have no concept of the scale. Remember, the shortfall is functionally three-quarters of what we spend on defense. There is this lack of understanding of how brutal the math is.

No, you can't actually tax your way out of this, and, no, my brothers and sisters, we can't actually cut our way out of this, because the growth is actually because we got old. We made promises, and we haven't figured out how to finance them. It is a moral imperative that this group gets off its heinies and starts putting some batteries in their calculators and starts understanding the scale of what we are talking about.

Social Security is 21 percent. Medicare is 13. National defense is 13. Interest is 10. That was last year. That interest now is closer to 13, 14, 15 percent of our total budget. Just in that 1 year, now that we are starting to refinance our bonds and the trillions we are having to sell that are new borrowing at those new interest rates, this whole hierarchy is changing. We get what for paying the interest?

Now, if you are one of the people that goes: Well, we are paying China. China only owns, we think, maybe $800 billion, $900 billion of our bonds. Still a lot of money, and, yes, they may hold certain of our bonds offshore. Our best guesstimate is Japan owns more and is our number one that we are indebted to, but that is only like a $1 trillion or $1.4 trillion. Most of the rest is actually what we finance ourselves. We owe our own pension systems, like your retirement. If you have a 401(k), you will find out that part of this U.S. sovereign debt is in it.

This is important to understand when we start talking about the growth of our obligations. This year, 12,000 of our brothers and sisters turn 65 per day. Sixty-five years ago, this was one of the peak years of the baby boom. We get 12,000 baby boomers turn 65 per day right now.

Our estimate is Social Security this year will pop up to $1.450 trillion. That is about 7.9 percent growth, even though the COLA is only a fraction of that. Last year the COLA was 8.3, and the spending went up 11.1. How did it do that? Because of the increase in population. A decade ago, 1 out of 8 Americans was 65. Two years ago, 1 out of 6 was 65. It is demographics.

How often do we ever talk about the reality of our demographics? How many of you saw the article from the Census Bureau that was put out a couple days ago? Did you see what is happening on our fertility rates? Looks like in 15, 18 years, this country has more deaths than births. We have about 40, maybe 50 years, and actually then we roll over, and the United States actually might start to have a declining population. It is demographics. That is part of our job here, but it would require math.

Let's actually walk through something that just frustrates me so much, because I believe it is moral to fix it and immoral to avoid the conversation. The fact I talk about saving Social Security, I get attack ads back home; because he talked about it; let's attack him.

It is not 2034. It is 2033. We have a mistake on our boards. I apologize for that. We estimate in functionally 9 budget years, the very first year the trust fund is gone, the shortfall is $616 billion. First year, the trust fund is gone.

Let's go to the solutions we get from our left. Let's just tax everyone over $400,000. We are going to tax them the 12.4 percent tax, unlimited income, and they get no benefit for it. All right. Except the problem is, the best math says that gets you about $86 billion. Remember, $616 billion is the shortfall. I did this on a single year to make it more understandable. $616 billion is our shortfall in 2033. Taxing everyone over $400,000 the 12.4 percent tax and giving them no benefit only produces about $86 billion.

Let's get rid of that. No cap at all. You get your benefits up to—what is it? Next year I think it is $168,000. We are going to tax everyone above that the 12.4 percent, but you get no benefits. How much of that first year's shortfall would it cover? Remember, the shortfall is $616 billion. You cover $164 billion of it. Twenty percent? This is the solution we are being given.

Does anyone understand the scale and the fact that to recapitalize something that is burning through in a few years, that is three-quarters of a trillion dollars a year shortfall.

What does it take to recapitalize parts of that Social Security trust fund or to actually have enough taxes? I am going to show you a slide in a little while where you can go to a 20 percent

VAT tax in the United States, with all of other taxes, and you still can't get close to covering the Social Security shortfall.

Why isn't this place terrified about this? Because it is such a great political issue to attack people who try to save it.

Is it moral, the fact that in 9 years, you double senior poverty in America? That is what is being laid upon us.

You see these parasite groups that fill up our email boxes: You can't talk about that. Just tax rich people more.

I am going to keep showing you, it doesn't get you anywhere near what is required. We are going to have to do really difficult but really complex—complex problems all have simple solutions that are absolutely wrong. It turns out complex problems require complex solutions, and in this case, they require a hell of a lot of math.

The reason for this chart, all the big trust funds are gone over the next 8.5 to 9 years. Transportation is gone. Medicare part A is gone. The big behemoth, the Social Security trust fund, is gone.

I am glad we are spending lots of time working on the fact of how we are going to not dramatically increase senior poverty in this country, how we are not about to do what is necessary to protect our brothers and sisters, what is necessary to grow the economy.

I have a 16-month-old son. I have an 8-year-old daughter. No making fun about being an old dad. My wife is exactly my age. Do they have the right to live as well as we did?

If you look at the math, the basic math from CBO says something like in 20 years, every single U.S. tax needs to double just to maintain baseline services. Does anyone here actually care? Is it too hard? Is this too difficult? I thought this is what we were here for, to basically have common prosperity. Instead, we lie, or we lie through avoidance.

Even with 100 percent tax rates on small businesses, upper-income families, when we did the math, we are heading toward times—remember, we borrowed 8.4 percent of the GDP, so this slide is already out of date. You do a 100 percent tax—which obviously anyone with the most basic elementary school economics class, when you take everything, no one works at all. If you take every dime of upper-income families and small businesses, you might cover 5 percent of GDP. Think about that. If we borrowed 8.4 percent of GDP last year, during a time when we are being told how wonderful Bidenomics was, how wonderful the economy was, does anyone see something is horribly wrong around us?

Then you start walking through the actual pay-fors. The reason this slide is really important, this is just Social Security and Medicare. The shortfall is about 5.5 percent of the economy. We are using 2040 as the base year. If you have 5.5 percent, that is the amount of the economy that is short and you start walking through. One of the reasons I grabbed this board is if you impose a 20 percent VAT tax, a national sales tax, it doesn't even come close to covering half of the Social Security shortfall. That is a 20 percent VAT tax. Understand, VAT taxes basically crush the middle class.

We have this fight around here about the middle class, the working poor. These numbers are terrifying, but we will do everything we can to avoid telling the truth.

In just 20 months, President Biden added $4.8 trillion to the 10-year deficits. To all the people who spend their time attacking the 2017 tax reform—that did an amazing job of closing income inequality, then this little pandemic thing hit—when it was first scored, might be $1.7 trillion, then add some interest on it, but it turns out it had dramatic impact on growing tax receipts. In 20 months, our brothers and sisters on the left basically laid in $4.8 trillion, like 2.5 times more than the tax reform. Are they willing to be intellectually honest and say maybe they are a little duplicitous in their language?

These things start getting geeky. One of the problems is, when you start dealing in very large numbers on U.S. budget issues and at a time of inflation, the most rational way to do it is you do it by percentages of GDP, except no one knows what that means. It is actually the proper way to do your comparisons because it basically normalizes what would be your inflationary growth.

This is important to understand where the tax receipts come from. The top 20 percent have an effective tax rate of about 15 percent of their income. The second quartile, the next 20 percent down, have 5.7 percent of their income.

The bottom 40 percent of the income earners in America actually get money from the government. They don't pay taxes. They get money on income taxes. The working middle class, if you are in that third quartile of 20 percent, you are in that 40 to 60 percent, you are paying 2.2 percent of your income.

Do you understand after the December 2017 tax reform that in the United States our income tax actually got more progressive. More progressive, not less progressive. The working poor and the working middle class, before tax reform, actually paid a higher percentage of their income to taxes than they do today.

How many times have you ever heard that?

We have real trouble telling the truth about math around here when it doesn't actually fit one person's campaign ad. The facts are the facts.

This is a new chart for us. I am trying to figure out how you figure out where the tax receipts come from. Let's have a little fun.

If you are part of that top 20 percent—and understand the top 20 percent it turns out is a lot lower than $400,000, depending on parts of the country. The top $400,000 and up, you are in the top 5 percent of the income earners. Understand what we are grabbing here.

They actually would pay about 209 days of the Federal budget. The next group pays 44 days. The next group pays 19 days. The bottom 40 percent pays 5 days. If you go from people that are very, very poor up to the 40 percent of the population, they pay for 5 days of the Federal budget, and then 88 days is borrowed.

Basically you see that 25 to 30 percent of what we spend is borrowed. This is the math. Our brothers and sisters on the left believe we are going to finance the rest of the government from this population up here. I am going to show you the slide saying, okay, maximize their tax rates. Maximize them up and down, everything, and then normalize it for the economic effects. You get about 1.5 or 1.6. It just doesn't get you there.

Mr. Speaker, may I ask how much time I have remaining.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has 28 minutes remaining.

Mr. SCHWEIKERT. The reason I am doing this again is that I have just grown exhausted trying to work with some of my brothers and sisters on the Democrat side who I have walked through the math with, and say, here are some ideas and things we can do. They say, no, people just want us to tax rich people more. Okay. Fine. Maybe do it. The next day, can we go back to talk about the problem because you didn't fix anything?

Taxing the rich could raise, at most, 1 to 2 percent of the GDP by maxing out all the different tax rates and then adjusting for the economic losses.

Let's say you get the full 2 percent. We borrowed 8.4 percent of GDP last year. I know I have come back and done this again, but is anyone paying attention?

Let's walk through this in a little more detail. I will do this quickly. Maximizing sustainable revenues from taxing the rich. Let's actually maximize income taxes. Raise the top two income tax brackets by another 10 percent. There is a whole model out there—I need to explain this for someone who doesn't live in this economic world.

There is this concept that you can raise taxes to a point where you maximize receipts—technically, the government doesn't have revenues, they get receipts—but the next incremental tax hike rolls over and you start to get fewer receipts.

Capital gains is actually in many ways the most sensitive to this. There is sort of this maximizing rate—and we actually have very, very good models on this now. If you took every single tax and did the maximizing of the rates, and that is what we have actually seen here, from removing itemized deductions to paring back retirement income abuses, and all the other things, everything you can do, you can go up and down the list, and you start to see the calculations.

The Manhattan Institute and Brian Riedl, about 2 months ago, has a fairly detailed paper. It is all referenced. It is not only referenced from the Tax Foundation, joint tax, CBO, but even some progressive groups are in the footnotes on how this math works.

This is if you maximized every single tax. Why this gets important—why don't I just skip to the punch line. It looks like when you do the economic adjustment you get 1.1 to 2 percent of GDP by taxing the rich. Okay. Maybe we should do that. Maybe it will make us feel better because God knows we now make our public policy here by our feelings.

The point I keep coming back to is we borrowed 8.4 percent of GDP last year. If you actually do the blend, you get about 1.5 points. That is how childish the discussion is here. You asked for real math and real policy decisions.

We, on the right, are going to battle each other and try to cut parts of non-defense discretionary. Okay. There is a bunch of that I would love to get rid of. It is a really interesting ethical question. Is it ethical for us to borrow money and give it to entities around the country that have their own taxing authority?

That is going to be politically really unpopular. It is sort of absurd that we do that. About 40 percent of nondefense discretionary is actually transferred to these entities that have their own taxing authority.

If you are functionally borrowing $80 billion, $90 billion a month, we just covered 3½ months' worth of borrowing by wiping out most of the discretionary budget, and then the next year it gets worse, the next year it gets worse, the next year it gets worse.

Remember, 100 percent of the future borrowing is driven by Medicare, and then in 9 years the Social Security trust fund is gone. I showed you the scale for that.

Mr. Speaker, I have come behind this microphone for years now and walked actually through some really interesting things we can do. We saw during the 1-minutes some of our brothers and sisters came up and talked about this being National Diabetes Awareness Month.

Diabetes is the single biggest cost of healthcare. Actually, it is the single biggest cost to this government. It is 33 percent of healthcare and 31 percent of Medicare. I have come up here repeatedly and talked about what we can do in the farm bill, the new blood glucose monitors, the discussion of some of the GLP-1s and the effect they are having on obesity and diabetes.

There is a path, and it turns out the Joint Economic Committee, about 4 months ago, the Republican side—we actually went where we are not supposed to go, but it was real math. We talked about our brothers' and sisters' longevity. The fact is that in the last 4 years the life expectancy in the United States has fallen.

If you actually look at the math, what is the number one reason?

It wasn't drugs. Drugs was up there. It was obesity. Let's actually have an honest conversation because it also turns out it is not only a moral battle to save our brothers and sisters from dying young, it also is the most powerful thing you can do to start to stabilize U.S. debt is helping Americans be healthier.

Isn't that something neat?

Is that Republican or Democrat?

It is neither. It is just the right thing to do.

We were coming up with a few trillion dollars over 10 years by taking out obesity. Because of diabetes there is heart disease, kidney failures, and all these other things.

I am just trying to do two things here: First, I am trying to get to an understanding of how brutally ugly the actual debt and deficit math is, and that the solutions being provided to it are just fantasyland, ridiculous, childish, and asinine.

The second thing I am trying to do when I come behind the mike, there are things we can do to have a revolution and stabilize this debt, and none of them are going to be easy.

In the complexity is the morality. We could work with people to be healthier. We could bring technology to make life easier, to provide more access, particularly to healthcare, and you would disrupt the cost.

The hardest part for us as electeds, you have to deal with those armies of lobbyists marching up and down your hallways. You have to look them in the eye, and say, in many ways the morality, the cure, is in the disruption of doing the right and moral thing. I just don't know if this body has the intellectual prowess to deal with that.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

NATIONAL DIABETES MONTH

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 9, 2023, the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. JACKSON) is recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the minority leader.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous materials on the subject of this Special Order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, it is with great honor that I rise today to coanchor this CBC Special Order hour. I thank my distinguished colleague, Congresswoman SHEILA CHERFILUS-McCORMICK of Florida.

For the next 60 minutes we have a chance to speak directly to the American people on issues of great importance to the Congressional Black Caucus, Congress, the constituents we represent, and all Americans.

Our Special Order hour today will focus on a very urgent and pressing issue for our community, and that is the recognition of November as National Diabetes Month.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Ohio (Ms. BROWN), my colleague from the city of Cleveland.

Ms. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I thank Congressman JACKSON and Congresswoman CHERFILUS-McCORMICK. I thank our CBC colleagues for speaking tonight on this important topic and for the incredible work they do on so many issues impacting our communities.

National Diabetes Month is a call to action. It is a call to action to invest in our people, invest in our neighborhoods, and invest in public health and medical research. It is a call to take the simple and direct actions that are often right in front of us.

Just a few weeks ago, President Biden declared November to be National Diabetes Month.

While diabetes is truly a widespread problem, it is also a disease that shows some of the deeper sickness of America's history. Roughly one in eight Black Americans has diabetes, and nearly 40 percent of the population that doesn't have diabetes is already prediabetic. It is not just an older person's disease.

□ 2045

In the last two decades, the prevalence of diabetes among people under 20 who are Black and Hispanic Americans has increased by 95 percent.

Mr. Speaker, when you add it all up, Black Americans are 60 percent more likely than White Americans to have diabetes.

In Cuyahoga County, which I represent, the Black diabetes rate is 25 percent. For Whites, it is 7 percent. When the CDC released the Census tract data, it showed there were neighborhoods in Cleveland where the diabetes rate was nearly 40 percent.

We aren't just more likely to have this disease; it is also hitting Black people much harder. Nationwide, we are two-and-one-half times more likely to be hospitalized by diabetes than White Americans, and we are twice as likely to die from diabetes.

There is a lot that is broken here, and it doesn't have to be this way. Three years ago, as a member of the Cuyahoga County Council, I helped lead the effort to pass a resolution declaring racism as a public health crisis, and diabetes is one of the indicators we pointed to. It has so many systemic and structural factors: the legacies of Jim Crow and slavery, poverty and a lack of opportunity, denied access to healthcare, and a lack of doctors and nurses from our community who can hear us and listen to us. There are so many different factors all coming together to produce a disparate impact.

In so many ways, this is the same story we see repeated with Black maternal health and other racial health disparities.

Unfortunately, with diabetes rates this high, it is having a cascade effect on our overall well-being because diabetes is expensive, chronic, and potentially deadly.

We just saw this with the pandemic. Four in 10 adults who died from COVID-19 also had diabetes.

Nonetheless, step one is identifying the problem, and that is why we are here this evening. Step two is action. We have real progress to celebrate thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, which established a $35 per month cap on insulin costs for those on Medicare. In response to the IRA, Eli Lilly and other pharmaceutical companies also announced price caps and price reductions for people with non-Medicare insurance.

Not a single Republican in either Chamber voted for the Inflation Reduction Act. Nevertheless, Democrats in Congress and the Biden-Harris administration stepped forward to deliver anyway.

Just about every week, there is another effort by House Republicans to repeal some part of it, but the IRA is here to stay. Black Americans are benefiting from this law. The IRA is lowering healthcare costs for seniors across the country and saving many of our constituents hundreds of dollars a year.

While the data around diabetes is alarming, the Inflation Reduction Act shows that we don't have to accept the unacceptable. We have a lot more work to do to address diabetes and public health disparities more broadly. The stark disparities with diabetes were centuries in the making. We can't change that past, but we can build a better future.

We need to make healthcare more affordable, from drugs and treatment to coverage. We also need to ensure that healthcare providers look like America and look like the communities they serve. We need to help train the next generation of Black medical professionals. We need to invest in SNAP and WIC so people can afford healthy food. We need to invest in and fully fund NIH and CDC efforts to study diabetes and treat diabetes so we can improve care.

The budget fight we have been fighting for the past 6 months shows where each party is aligned and whose side they are on. If we cut funding for SNAP, push more people off Medicaid, continue to cut investments in public health, and forbid every Federal agency from even using the words "equity, diversity, and inclusion," then we know exactly what will happen and who will suffer.

The stakes are clear, and my CBC colleagues and I are going to keep fighting for our constituents.

Mr. Speaker, let's fight diabetes and help every American live a healthy life.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank our distinguished colleague, Congresswoman SHONTEL BROWN from Ohio's 11th Congressional District, for her leadership within the Congressional Black Caucus and for highlighting and focusing our attention and, indeed, the Nation's attention on this critical issue of diabetes.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PAYNE).

Mr. PAYNE. Mr. Speaker, let me thank the gentleman from Illinois and the gentlewoman from Florida for the opportunity to speak. I absolutely thank my colleague from the great State of Ohio for bringing this issue to the forefront and having a press conference this afternoon to discuss this dreaded disease.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to address the problem of diabetes in Black communities nationwide. It is an honor to do it during National Diabetes Awareness Month.

As a diabetic, daily life is a constant challenge. I will have to get up at 4 clock tomorrow morning to go to dialysis, a treatment that I need three times a week to survive. That means I risk exposure to the coronavirus or any other ailment when I receive treatments in rooms full of other patients. It is a problem that many of America's 37 million diabetics face every day, and that figure includes 5 million Black Americans with diabetes.

In addition, almost 80 million Americans could develop diabetes due to poor diet and health or family history of diabetes. That is one reason that diabetes is the most expensive chronic health condition in our Nation.

These health issues are even worse for Black Americans. We are 60 percent more likely to develop diabetes than our White counterparts, and we are twice as likely to die from it than our White counterparts.

Right now, one in every five Black Americans over the age of 20 has diagnosed or undiagnosed diabetes, and the prevalence of type 2 diabetes for Black and Hispanic youth has doubled since 2001.

The risks are so high that Black Americans are less likely to donate a kidney because they fear future health issues. That is why Black Americans are twice as likely to receive a kidney transplant from a deceased donor than a live one. This can lead to health issues that do not happen to patients who receive a kidney from a living donor.

The more prominent issue is the price of insulin in America. The monthly average cost of insulin is almost $650 per month. That is 10 times higher than the price in other countries. Nevertheless, there is hope. There is a $35 cap on insulin in the Inflation Reduction Act for Medicare beneficiaries. It helps our seniors save money on this lifesaving medication, and they do not have to make the choice between food or insulin every month.

Nonetheless, we need to do more. We need to pass bills like the Affordable Insulin Now Act. This bill would cap out-of-pocket costs for insulin to the same $35 for all Americans.

President Biden is working to make that $35 insulin price cap permanent for all Americans in other legislation, as well. If we can cap insulin payments, then we can help millions of Black Americans afford this critical medication.

That is why this Special Order hour is so important. It brings awareness to the fact that minorities are more likely to face diabetes and other kidney-related issues.

In addition, public talks like today's event remind people that diabetes is still a serious medical issue. When we increase awareness, we increase funding for new treatments and cures. Eventually, we will find the new treatments that will make it safer for diabetics.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot wait for those new treatments to happen. That will be the day when I can walk out of the dialysis treatment clinic for the last time.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank the honorable Congressman PAYNE from the great State of New Jersey for his remarks.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Nevada (Mr. HORSFORD), who is the honorable chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus.

Mr. HORSFORD. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I thank both Congressman JACKSON and Congresswoman CHERFILUS-McCORMICK for their leadership and for co-chairing and co-anchoring tonight's Special Order hour for the Congressional Black Caucus.

To the previous speaker and my classmate, Representative DONALD PAYNE, I am grateful for his tremendous leadership and personal lived experience on this very important topic.

I am grateful for so many of the other members of the CBC who have spoken on the importance of recognizing November as National Diabetes Awareness Month and have highlighted the disparate impact that diabetes has on the Black community.

According to the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Black Americans are 60 percent more likely than White Americans to be diagnosed with diabetes by a physician. Additionally, the health outcomes of Black Americans diagnosed with diabetes are worse than the outcomes experienced by White Americans. Black Americans are 2.5 times more likely to be hospitalized from long-term complications, 3.2 times more likely to be diagnosed with end-stage renal disease, and twice as likely to die from this disease.

We know that the rate of diagnoses among Black Americans is on the rise. Over the past two decades, the prevalence of type 2 diabetes for Black and Hispanic youth has increased by 95 percent.

At the start of the 117th Congress, the Biden-Harris administration and Democrats in the majority of the House and Senate made it our priority to lower everyday costs for the American people and to improve the affordability of lifesaving prescription drugs like insulin. We delivered on that promise.

With unanimous support from the Congressional Black Caucus and House and Senate Democrats, President Biden signed into law the Inflation Reduction Act, which capped the cost of insulin at $35 per month under Medicare prescription drug coverage, traditional Medicare, and Medicare Advantage. Because of this action, some private companies have extended that reduced cost to others, including children.

The IRA has significantly improved the affordability and accessibility of lifesaving insulin for the 1 in 10 Americans with diabetes, including millions of seniors who in some cases were paying as much as $400 for a month's supply of insulin.

After the insulin cap for seniors went into effect, the top three insulin manufacturers reduced their prices for all Americans, as I indicated. This is what we can do when the government works for the people. This is what the Democratic Party does when we are in the majority. We put people over politics, and we will continue to do that on behalf of the American people, who deserve nothing less.

Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleagues of the Congressional Black Caucus, including Congresswoman SHONTEL BROWN, who led the CBC in a press conference today by marking National Diabetes Month, as well as all of our members for their work in uplifting the stories of their constituents who are living with diabetes and who have benefited from the insulin cap under the Inflation Reduction Act.

□ 2100

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank our chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus, Chairman STEVEN HORSFORD, for those powerful words. Again, I thank our esteemed colleague, Congresswoman SHONTEL BROWN of Ohio, for having led this effort.

Mr. Speaker, I now yield to my colleague from the great State of Louisiana, the distinguished Congressman, Mr. TROY CARTER.

Mr. CARTER of Louisiana. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend very much for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague, Ms. SHONTEL BROWN, for leading this effort. I also thank my dear friends and colleagues, Representative SHEILA CHERFILUS-McCORMICK and Representative JONATHAN JACKSON for leading this Special Order hour on such an important and timely issue, one that impacts our community more than almost any other health matter.

Today, we are here to talk about a pressing matter, one that requires our collective efforts—National Diabetes Month.

Diabetes, an epidemic gripping the United States, resonates with me personally. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, over 34 million Americans face the consequences of diabetes, and Louisiana is not exempt from the staggering reality.

In Louisiana alone, approximately 500,000 residents have been diagnosed with diabetes. Shockingly, an additional 113,000 individuals are unaware of their condition, heightening their high risks. Moreover, a significant portion of Louisiana's adult population grapples with prediabetes, teetering on the edge of a diagnosis that could alter their lives forever.

The burden of diabetes is not just physical, but also economic. Each year, an estimated 30,000 Louisianians receive a diabetes diagnosis resulting in a financial toll of $5.7 billion for my State. These costs encompass not only medical expenses, but also additional complications that can arise, including heart disease, stroke, amputation, end-stage kidney disease, blindness, and, tragically, death.

The impact of diabetes disproportionately affects communities of color. Black Americans are 60 percent more likely than White Americans to be diagnosed with diabetes and are twice as likely to die from this dreaded disease. It is abundantly clear that the systemic racism is intensifying this crisis in the United States. We must ensure that all Americans have access to quality, affordable healthcare.

In the face of this dire situation, there is hope. Last Congress, House Democrats passed the Inflation Reduction Act, which caps monthly insulin costs at $35 for 54,000 Louisianians covered under Medicare. I was proud to vote for and in support of this life-changing measure that is cutting costs for the people. This is a crucial step toward improving lives, preventing diabetes, and ultimately finding a cure.

However, our responsibility does not end here. As a Member of Congress, it is our duty to raise awareness, support prevention efforts, and stand united against this threat. Let's use this National Diabetes Month as a rallying point to spread awareness and make a meaningful impact on the lives of those affected by diabetes around our country, not just for Democrats, not for Republicans, but for people, for humans, for people that breathe the air that we breathe, and for people that live in the communities that we live.

This is, indeed, a bipartisan issue, one that does not see color, race, or any other distinction other than a community that desperately needs our leadership to live, to survive, and to thrive.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished gentleman from the great State of Louisiana, Congressman TROY CARTER, for his participation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to my colleague, the Honorable SHEILA CHERFILUS-McCORMICK from the great State of Florida.

Mrs. CHERFILUS-McCORMICK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of National Diabetes Month. This month is important for all of us in the United States. More than 37 million Americans have diabetes and we need to double down on our efforts to find a cure for this disease.

During this month, we cannot lose sight of the stark disparities when it comes to diabetes in the Black community. Black adults in the U.S. are 60 percent more likely than White adults to be diagnosed with this debilitating disease.

This is a national health crisis that deserves our immediate attention. Black Americans with diabetes are 2.5 times more likely to be hospitalized and are twice as likely to die from this disease.

As a healthcare executive, I saw this disparity firsthand and the impact it had on the communities that I serve in Congress.

A study conducted at Emory University confirmed what many of us have long known to be true.

Structural racism and geographic inequalities are exacerbating diabetic health disparities. Estimates indicate that rates of diabetes are 1.5 times higher among people of color, including Black Americans, American Indians, Alaska Natives, Hispanics and Asians.

Statistics emphasize just how serious this epidemic is in my home State. According to the Florida Diabetes Alliance, an estimated 579,000 Floridians have diabetes but don't know it, greatly increasing their health risk and dying.

Yet despite inequalities, African Americans are 19 percent less likely to access newer diabetes treatment. That means that they are 19 percent less likely to access medication which could mean a healthier and longer life.

Every American, no matter the color of their skin or their ZIP Code should be able to receive the best treatment options available with no questions asked.

This month, let us recommit and address the social determinants of healthcare and recognize the impact they have in driving diabetes disparities. This encompasses everything from accessing green space and how long it takes to get to the grocery store. It comes down to whether patients live near a healthcare facility where they can speak to a provider and receive leading-edge diabetes care. It is a matter of whether our kids are eating nutritious lunches in the cafeteria.

If we want to get serious about tackling the disproportionate rates of diabetes among Black Americans, this is where we need to start.

By focusing on the social determinants of healthcare, we would lay the groundwork for a better and healthier future.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank Mrs. CHERFILUS-McCORMICK for her statement.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to bring vaunted and valuable attention to one of the greatest health challenges plaguing the American people and to declare that this body needs to do more to alleviate the pain.

The month of November has been designated as being National Diabetes Month and the goal of this designation is to highlight the disproportionate impact diabetes continues to have on the communities I represent.

Never before has one chronic disease so diabolically focused its fury on Black and Brown people, which, of course, begs the question as to whether or not the proliferation of this silent killer is connected to the quality of food and economic choices of those very same communities.

The physiology of Black and Brown people is not in any way predisposed to be more vulnerable to this disease than any other group of people, and yet diabetes continues to destroy Black and Brown lives at a rate that is more than disproportional but diabolic as well.

Since 2001, the proliferation of Type 2 diabetes among Black and Brown youth has increased at a rate of 95 percent, Mr. Speaker.

According to the National Health Institute, young people between the ages of 10 and 19 years of age have seen instances of Type 2 diabetes double among them. Two out of every 100 Black and indigenous American youth now suffer from this disease, and it is accelerating at an alarming pace.

As I stand before you here, I shudder to think about the implications associated with the level of increase, what that will mean for the quality of life of families of young people currently sinking into this chronic abyss.

Whether we are willing to acknowledge it or not, the way we currently treat, talk about, and address this disease will leave this country vulnerable to a medical tsunami the likes of which no one on this planet has ever seen.

We cannot be silent about this because if we do nothing, African Americans are twice as likely as any other group to die from this disease.

If we do nothing, African-American adults are twice as likely to be hospitalized because of diabetes and suffer long-term complications more than any other group.

If we do nothing, Black people in this country are three times more likely to be diagnosed with renal disease which, of course, is a portal that leads to a whole host of other debilitating morbidities.

If we just sit around and dither, Black people will be 60 percent more likely to be diagnosed with a disease that has the power to kill them. Let us not forget that African Americans currently make up 13 percent of the American population. When 95 percent of the young people that make up 13 percent of your entire population are currently slipping down the slippery slope of diabetes, someone has to sound the alarm.

This is why every American should be glad that President Biden has declared November to be National Diabetes Month, and all of us should be glad because this is a conversation we need to have. The time for us to act as if this is not a national emergency is over.

Diabetes in the American population has crossed the Rubicon. We are well beyond the point of no return, and if we do not decide that the health and healthcare of every American, particularly African Americans, is a priority equal in its importance to national security, then we will rue the day we buried our heads in the sand and preoccupied ourselves with the seasonal foolishness of partisan politics.

This is not a red State or blue State issue. The American people are dying. The American people are suffering. The American people are looking to the government they elected to do something in its power to help, help them fight and ward off the devastating effects of this debilitating disease.

Last year, millions of Americans reported hoarding insulin because of shortages. The overwhelming need is manifesting itself nationwide. Who would have thought that people who live in the world's greatest country in the history of the world would have to hoard medication? Could any of us have ever imagined that the need for insulin would be so expansive that hoarding the medication would be a necessity or even an option, but this is where we find ourselves. This is the reality millions of Americans have to live with every day.

This is the minute-to-minute struggle for countless American families trying not to lose hope amid a sea of chronic and cataclysmic medical consequences. To those of you, I say hold on and don't give up. If we are determined to do something about it here in this Congress, we can say that elections have consequences because, indeed, they do.

One of the positive outcomes of the last Presidential election is the fact that President Joseph R. Biden, Jr., is the duly elected President of the United States, and he helped pass the Inflation Reduction Act to help us deal with the runaway cost of insulin. Now insulin is $35 a month. That is very much a welcome relief in my neighborhood.

As an American, not only as a Democrat, I am glad that we have someone in the Oval Office who cares about what this disease is doing to our country. It says a lot about the character and integrity of the President that he would go out of his way to address this issue when so many other problems have been vying for his attention over the last 3 years.

However, I also say to you, we can do more. We simply cannot avoid the connection between the systemic inequities of America and the incredible racial disparities by which diabetes continues to proliferate in the Black community.

In fact, in a recent study conducted at Emory University, it was suggested, if not directly implied, that structural racism is accelerating the diabetes crisis in the United States of America. Therefore, potentially what we have here is not just a medical crisis, what we have happening in America is also a social and a cultural crisis.

When it comes to diabetes and the Black community, it would appear that our current crisis is the result of a strange confluence of issues. Nutritional opportunities, access to fruit and vegetables, and the inability to afford healthy nutritional options have all come together to make an already terrible situation worse.

More and more researchers are discovering that the race, geography, and economy of a community can be an overwhelming determining factor for understanding the impact of this debilitating and chronic disease. This is why I have been a major proponent of the Gus Schumacher Nutrition Incentive Program, the GusNIP. I am a major supporter of this program because it allows the Secretary of Agriculture to provide funding opportunities to conduct and evaluate projects providing incentives to increase the purchase of fruits and vegetables for low-income consumers.

For many years, the other party has wanted us to believe that government is the problem, but what they forget to tell you is that sometimes national problems require national solutions; and there is a role, indeed, for government.

In this program, it is critical for us to also understand that we cannot retreat on SNAP. There are too many Americans who need the supplemental nutritional assistance. Let us be clear, the same way we incentivize big corporations and wealthy individuals with tax breaks, we should have the moral courage to incentivize healthy choices for low-income Americans.

What is good for the goose is also good for the gander. If incentives work for rich people, then let them also work to save the lives of working-class and low-income Americans.

As I stand here tonight, I am actively working to see this program is fully funded this year. This is something we must do. We owe it to the American people to do everything we can to help them save lives.

Let me simply say that it is about time we start incentivizing things that keep people alive and not just behaviors that make people more money. It is my great hope and expectation that the expansion of GusNIP will allow the program to run more efficiently and increase cooperation between recipients and the Federal Government.

I also believe that a greater emphasis needs to be placed on the Healthy Food

Financing Initiative, created back in the Obama administration to provide grants and technical assistance to empower families to have access to fresh, healthy, and affordable foods in rural and urban communities that are underserved.

Most people fail to realize that the overwhelming instances of hunger in America are not happening in American cities. It is, rather, taking place in rural communities. This is why I am pleased that the Department of Agriculture partnered with the Reinvestment Fund to invest $22.6 million to improve access to healthy foods in underserved communities.

We have an obligation to do all that we can do to empower ordinary, everyday American citizens to make choices that will sustain their lives. As a government, we cannot make the choice for them, but we can create a better set of options for them to make lifesaving decisions for themselves.

What good is balancing the budget if the American people are sick and dying from chronic disease?

What good is having a strong military or defense if the American people are withering away from diabetes and other morbidities that slowly eat away the health of the Nation?

A coherent and stringent immigration policy will mean absolutely nothing if the people who are already citizens of this country are dying from diseases that we can avoid.

Everything that America is and everything we hope it to be depends on the health and safety of our citizens. In the absence of being healthy, there is no American Dream.

I say to my colleagues, let us do everything that we can to empower people to have greater health, longer life, and what every American deserves; namely, three meals a day for their bodies, education and culture for their minds, and, yes, freedom and dignity for their souls.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the Honorable SHEILA CHERFILUS-McCORMICK.

□ 2120

Mrs. CHERFILUS-McCORMICK. Mr. Speaker, I thank Mr. JACKSON of Illinois for co-anchoring, and I give a very special thank-you to our CBC chair, Representative HORSFORD, for his work, and also to Congresswoman SHONTEL BROWN for hosting a press conference we held earlier.

Mr. Speaker, in recognition of National Diabetes Month, I rise today to commend the Biden-Harris administration for their work to deliver lower insulin costs for the American people.

Because of the administration's transformative Inflation Reduction Act, nearly 4 million seniors on Medicare with diabetes are seeing their insulin costs capped at $35. Because of this, pharmaceutical companies like Eli Lilly and Novo Nordisk have followed suit and also capped their insulin prices at $35 a month.

This is a massive win for our seniors nationwide, including those in Florida's 20th Congressional District. The life-changing cap that has helped over 29,000 of my constituents pay $440 less each year in insulin is worth it. These savings are making a tremendous difference when it comes to health outcomes.

Medication is not something that those living with diabetes can go without. Over 80 percent of adults with diabetes depend on medication to manage their conditions.

While this cap is putting money back into our seniors' pockets, we still have more work to do. As President Biden has made clear, affordable insulin should be accessible to all Americans, not just Medicare beneficiaries.

It is devastating that nearly a fifth of insulin users have to ration their insulin use. In a country like ours, how can this be the case?

Stark healthcare disparities also underscore the need for us to do more and to act. Diabetes rates are skyrocketing within communities of color. Since 2001, the prevalence of type 2 diabetes for Black and Hispanic children has increased by a staggering 95 percent. Let me repeat that one more time: increased by 95 percent for our Black and Hispanic children.

Nobody should be forced to choose between paying their rent and buying insulin. No one should die because they had to ration their insulin. No one should go blind or lose limbs because they could not afford medication. Your life shouldn't be put on hold because you were diagnosed with diabetes.

As Americans, we can and must do better. Last Congress, I was proud to vote for the Affordable Insulin Now Act to clamp down on runaway insulin prices threatening Floridians' health and financial security. We need to get this bill across the finish line and make diabetes treatment more affordable.

Americans all over, no matter their political affiliations, stand to benefit from low insulin costs. Every American, no matter the color of their skin or their ZIP Code, deserves a healthy and fulfilling life and a dignified existence. Every American deserves to grow old with dignity.

Diabetes is both preventable and manageable. Let's act now. Those living with diabetes cannot wait.

Mr. JACKSON of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, these are the issues of the Congressional Black Caucus.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

MAKING THE CASE FOR CONTINUED FINANCIAL SUPPORT OF UKRAINE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 9, 2023, the Chair recognizes the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. HILL) for 30 minutes.

Mr. HILL. Mr. Speaker, I thank my friend from Illinois (Mr. JACKSON) for his compelling presentation with his colleagues on an issue of extreme importance to our whole society, and that is combating the chronic challenge that so many of our families face from diabetes. I thank my friend for his leadership here on the House floor.

Mr. Speaker, I rise tonight to address an important topic also confronting this Congress and our American citizens, and that is the continued U.S. financial support for the free country of Ukraine.

I say "financial support" because U.S. citizens overwhelmingly oppose Putin and his illegal, murderous invasion of his sovereign neighbor. Also overwhelmingly, Americans believe that our continued support of Ukraine is imperative to stop Russian aggression. Further, Americans believe that Putin poses a threat to our own interests and that withdrawing our support would be a sign of weakness to our allies.

With that said, and large Federal deficits and over $33 trillion in debt, along with pressing needs here at home, some Americans question continued financial support. Specifically, what is the strategy tied to our economic support?

I will outline why it is in America's interest to support Ukraine in its powerful, committed fight to eject Putin from its unprovoked, illegal invasion of their sovereign nation. I will also work to clear up misconceptions or even myths about our current and past level of support for military security assistance, humanitarian aid, and direct financial support to the Government of Ukraine.

Mr. Speaker, it is longstanding U.S. policy as a founding member of NATO and the indispensable partner in the transatlantic military, diplomatic, and economic alliance to support a peaceful Europe safe from external threats from invasion or nuclear attack. Formally, since World War II, we have performed this multipronged mission against the Soviet Union, against non-state and state sponsors of terrorism, during the collapse of Yugoslavia in the 1990s, and even more recently with Putin's previous illegal incursion into the country of Georgia.

In 1985, some 40 years ago, President Reagan addressed the U.N. General Assembly and asked the rhetorical question: What kind of people will we be 40 years from now?

His hopeful answer: Free people whose governments rest upon the consent of the governed who do not wage war on their neighbors.

Sadly, Reagan's hopeful prediction remains untrue four decades later and, frankly, just as in 1985, still at the hands of the Russian leader.

For me, President Kennedy's inaugural charge perhaps said it best: "Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to ensure the survival and the success of liberty. This much we pledge—and more."

Under President Obama, despite promises made by the United States to Ukraine in the 1990s, America failed to live up to President Kennedy's pledge. Instead, President Obama pursued appeasement of Russia in Syria and Ukraine, fully tempting the megalomaniac Vladimir Putin.

This wrongheaded approach was partially reversed by President Trump, but the damage, Mr. Speaker, was done. Putin took President Biden's catastrophic decision to precipitously pull out of Afghanistan as the final failure of American policy resolve.

Mr. Speaker, this matters because, aside from past obligations or the moral case, U.S. workers, U.S. farmers, and U.S. consumers are better off when Europe is prosperous and free. There are more choices on our shelves at better prices, more jobs producing goods and exporting them, more jobs from billions of dollars of European investment here at home in the United States.

Every day I hear that Europe is not paying their fair share to boot out Putin. They are not paying their fair share on military equipment, supplies, humanitarian aid, the monthly budget in Ukraine. Mr. Speaker, this is a false assertion.

Let's look at the facts. Since February 2022, the European Union and the countries of Europe have contributed $32 billion in security assistance.

The United States, as the world's largest military superpower with the largest industrial base and the largest military inventories, has contributed $44 billion in security assistance. Additionally, we have increased defense production here at home, spending close to $20 billion on new inventories of supplies that we need and improvements in our industrial base.

With the opening of new facilities and second and third shifts, granting new career opportunities from Vermont to Arkansas to Arizona, American workers are manufacturing ammunition, Javelins, Stingers, Patriots, and HIMARS.

On the nonsecurity aid side of humanitarian and economic support, Europe's contributions dwarf those of the United States. Europe has contributed $42 billion for humanitarian and economic support versus $26 billion from the United States. The European Union has provided $18 billion in support for Ukrainian refugees in addition to taking care of those 4 million people from Ukraine registered as refugees and living outside their country in Europe.

Each month it costs over $7 billion per month to man the Ukrainian Government—civil and military. So far, American taxpayers have contributed $22 billion in that direct budget support. Europeans have contributed $26.5 billion and have approved by legislation $54 billion more covering 2024 to 2027.

The World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, the IMF, are in full support, and like America they, too, have been generous, with several countries using these institutions to guarantee billions of dollars in loans to Ukraine.

In addition to the United States and those countries in Europe, others are helping on their own. Canada, pledged $4.8 billion in assistance. Japan pledged $5.5 billion in assistance. We need more global leaders like Japan and Canada.

The United States is doing what we do best, using our military industrial base—the best military in the world—to provide more security and more training assistance to Ukraine than our allies. That is true when you take in all the contributions to this critical cause: security, humanitarian, and direct economic support.

It is clear, Mr. Speaker, that the U.S. is not alone in this effort and is surpassed by financial commitments from the countries of Europe, as it should be. The numbers speak for themselves.

Mr. Speaker, 2 weeks ago I traveled to Poland to meet with U.S. commanders overseeing the training of Ukrainians and coordinating critical military supplies. I followed up by traveling to Kyiv and met with President Zelenskyy and his foreign minister, his finance minister, and his defense minister.

Contrary to the myths I read in the U.S. press, the United States and our allies are not delivering pallets of cash or giving crypto to Ukrainian oligarchs. All the U.S. assistance is monitored and audited. The World Bank and the Deloitte CPA firm flyspeck every transfer to the Ukrainian budget or humanitarian causes, and the Department of Defense does that precisely the same for security assistance.

U.S. budget support is done on a reimbursable basis, meaning that the funds are only distributed to Ukraine following the World Bank's verification the money was spent on an approved activity.

The U.S. Government also has the Ukraine Oversight Working Group, which consists of more than 20 agencies led by the inspectors general from DOD, State, and USAID.

Now, there are some in America that spread conspiracy theories about this brutal war or even pedal Russian propaganda. Others are simply pacifists or isolationists. Mr. Speaker, I fully respect my fellow citizens and their differing views from my own, but, my friends, the past Obama appeasement or current isolationism does not make America safer or richer.

Failing to see Putin's megalomania stopped in Ukraine weakens our long-term economic prospects just like appeasing the Germans did in the 1930s. It increases the chance that our young men and women will have to respond to conflict on a battlefield. For if Russian wins, Moldova is next, the rest of Georgia, the Baltic states, and heaven forbid, Mr. Speaker, if the Chinese dictator Xi views our vacillation as his Afghanistan moment and attacks Taiwan, we will enter a global war and an economic depression.

For literally less than what America spends in 1 week, we can witness the unity and security of Europe and the weakening of the Russian threat to its neighbors and deter Xi in his South China Sea provocations.

Missing in all this is a lack of leadership from President Biden. He has slow rolled badly needed equipment to the Ukrainians, and I do not yet see a strong U.S. leadership ensuring that Ukraine has a realistic, strategic plan to defeat Putin and do so promptly and effectively. I do not see full U.S. leadership sufficient to the task of choking off the Russian economy. It is down, but it is not out. While our allies in NATO and the EU increase their defense spending and have rapidly diversified their sources of energy, we cannot let up and delay. We need to broaden and tighten sanctions, and we need to wake up.

House Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman MICHAEL MCCAUL and I collaborated last week on his REPO for Ukrainians Act, which was marked up and passed out of the Foreign Affairs Committee.

This legislation included key provisions from my Ukraine reconstruction legislation, which carefully takes title to all Russian sovereign assets in other countries, collectively pools these funds for filling the budget gap, and helping in the reconstruction of Ukraine.

Importantly, this bill uses Russian funds, not American taxpayer resources, to aid Ukraine. It is critical that this legislation comes to the House floor and becomes one step closer to becoming law. Failure here, Mr. Speaker, means a more costly and horrific future.

Let's heed President Kennedy's pledge of nearly six decades ago by word and by deed, with time and treasure: Let every nation know that America and her global allies will bear any burden, meet any hardship, oppose any foe.

We must support our friend Ukraine in their support of liberty.

Mr. Speaker, last week in the House Foreign Affairs Committee we marked up Chairman MICHAEL MCCAUL's bill Rebuilding Economic Prosperity and Opportunity (REPO) for Ukrainians Act. At its core, the REPO Act utilizes Russian sovereign assets to pay for the Ukrainian current financing gap or its long-term reconstruction—or both.

It seems brutally obvious to everyone that Russia should be responsible for the cost of the damages stemming from its illegal invasion of Ukraine, not American taxpayers.

It is particularly offensive to the global community that a permanent member of the United Nations Security Council would blatantly and viciously destroy all aspects of global order, invade a sovereign neighbor unprovoked, repeatedly commit war crimes, and violate too many international treaties to be named here.

The REPO for Ukrainians Act would give the President authority to seize, transfer, or vest Russian sovereign assets within U.S. jurisdiction into an international fund for the sole purpose of Ukraine's eventual reconstruction.

Considering most Russian sovereign assets are located outside the United States, it is important for our partners and allies around the world to introduce and pass companion legislation. Here, the United States may not act effectively unilaterally.

Recently, I met with Europe's rapporteur, Lulzim Basha. He fully understands the urgency of global action and action to be taken in Europe.

There is bipartisan recognition here in the Congress that the United States must be a global leader on this topic and through coordination with the G7 and our allies.

This bill is consistent with well-established international precedent where the United States worked with international partners to establish a fund like we saw with Afghanistan in 2022 or the Iran-United States Claims Tribunal in 1981 or the U.N. Compensation Fund for Kuwait in 1991 following the invasion of Iraq.

According to legal experts like Professor Laurence Tribe, Russian objections based on claims of sovereign immunity are baseless, as using Russian assets to rebuild Ukraine helps restore the principles of national sovereignty.

Russia cannot violate Ukraine's sovereignty while invoking its own as a shield.

Concerns that seizing Russian assets will undermine the U.S. dollar are also unsubstantiated. By working with our European colleagues, we will show that the seizure of assets is not a risk to doing business in dollars, but rather, is an international condemnation for unprovoked aggression by Russia.

□ 2140

In my view, the REPO Act, as marked up in committee, still has some room for improvement, such as clarifying that Russia's illegal war first began in February 2014 after its initial invasion of Crimea.

With that said, I thank Chairman McCAUL and acknowledge several points from my text, the Ukraine Reconstruction Act, that were included in the chairman's revised REPO bill.

First, we made sure to hold Belarus accountable for its direct role in supporting Russia's illegal war in Ukraine. Next, we added controls to ensure good governance and standards around the international Ukraine Compensation Fund. Its mechanism includes audits by independent auditors and the Government Accountability Office.

Chairman McCAUL also accepted that the bill should clarify important concepts, like judicial review and the definition of "seizure" to mean the confiscation of all rights, title, and interest in the sovereign asset.

Now, let me turn to some examples of how this legislation would work in conjunction with our allies and partners around the world.

First and foremost, it is generally accepted that the Russian central bank assets held outside of Russia are the first order of business. Public estimates of this funding are approximately $200 billion, mostly held in Europe, principally in Brussels.

Europeans have considered the use of interest on these assets as an immediate way to gain benefit for funding of Ukraine's war effort or covering a portion of their monthly budget. Thus, there are both short-term and long-term potential uses for the corpus of $200 billion in central bank assets held abroad or using the earnings on that total amount.

Additionally, I argue that state-owned enterprise assets outside the Russian Federation should also be considered as Russian sovereign assets, as well.

Mr. Speaker, nearly 40 percent of the Russian Federation's economy is owned by state-controlled companies. Russian public companies that are wholly owned by the Russian sovereign state, like being over 51 percent of their public shares, should be considered fair game for building assets necessary to rebuild Ukraine.

For example, Gazprom, the largest oil and gas enterprise in Russia, is majority owned by the Russian Federation. It has lots of operations outside Russia. Likewise, one of Russia's most prominent commercial banks is controlled with 51 percent of shares by the Russian Federation. That is Sberbank.

By including state-owned enterprise assets, this increases the leverage and negotiating authority of pressing Russia for change, to bring this war to an end, and utilize these assets for funding reconstruction.

I look forward to consideration of the REPO for Ukrainians Act by the House soon. I thank Mr. McCAUL for working with me on making this a stronger bill. I hope that the Senator RISCH and Whitehouse legislation can also be considered in the Senate.

IRAN IS A PARTNER IN TERROR

Mr. HILL. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to address the continued and growing threat of Iran to the region and the world.

This administration is committed to giving carrots to the world's number one state sponsor of terrorism and getting nothing in return. This goes beyond the $6 billion hostage payment or the release of $10 billion of Iranian oil purchased by Iraq.

Sanctions relief and appeasement under both the Biden and Obama administrations have resulted in sharp economic growth for the mullahs.

According to the World Bank, under President Trump and his maximum pressure campaign, Iran's GDP was about $333 billion per year, down from $550 billion under President Obama, a substantial drop.

Now, under President Biden, Iran's economy was back up to $359 billion in 2021. It was almost $390 billion last year and is growing.

We have let Iran back into the global economy when our sanctions were effective, and we should not be shocked that they are now involved in nearly every conflict around the world.

In Ukraine, Iran sells drones and arms to Russia.

In Israel, Iran is the primary financier of its terror proxy, Hamas.

In Syria, Iran is the principal financier of Hamas, and the Iranian Revolutionary Guard units fight alongside Russia to prop up Assad's murderous regime.

Iran-backed militias in Iraq also claimed responsibility for recent drone attacks against U.S. forces in northeastern Syria and our base on the Jordanian border.

In Yemen, Iran is the primary financier of the Houthis, who have shown the capability to fire long-range missiles at Israel over the Saudi Arabian airspace and shoot down U.S. surveillance flights in the region.

Iran is directly involved in all these conflicts. As a partner with Russia and China, Iran is the linchpin in what the American Enterprise Institute calls the "coalition against democracy." They are the world's number one state sponsor of terror and have been for decades.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, to cap it off, 91 percent of all Iran's oil exports go to China. Ninety-one percent of all Iranian oil produced goes to China.

Iran, along with Xi in China and Putin in Russia, have formed this new coalition that seeks to overthrow America's presence in the world, our values of democracy, rule of law, and freedom.

Mr. Speaker, may I inquire as to how much time I have remaining?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Arkansas has 7 minutes, 15 seconds remaining.

RECORD INFLATION

Mr. HILL. Mr. Speaker, with Thanksgiving around the corner, central Arkansians and Americans are headed to the grocery stores, excited to shop for another holiday and to gather around the table with loved ones.

Unfortunately, they are still wincing at the price of turkey, stuffing, and the sides 3 years later, thanks to the persistent inflation due to President Biden and his failed economic policies.

In 2019, the average price of a turkey was 89 cents a pound. Last year's "Turkey Day" was up to $1.55 per pound. This is just another example of the negative effect President Biden's incompetent Bidenomics has had on the wallets of our working families and the detrimental effect it has had on our economy and our fiscal outlook.

Interest rates are at a 23-year high, and Arkansas families are spending an average of $8,400 more per year on the same things that they buy every year for their families. Mr. Speaker, that is $700 more per month on just basic things, like back to school, Thanksgiving, Christmas presents, essentials, car payments, mortgage payments.

This administration, along with Democrats in Congress, have led on failed policies that have created a destructive domino effect on our entire economy, from driving 40-year highs in inflation to out-of-control government spending.

The Federal Reserve kept interest rates too low for too long and are now left playing catch-up in the hopes of beating inflation in the short run without causing too much damage to long-run economic growth.

To combat this, I recently reintroduced the Price Stability Act with my friend and colleague Congressman BYRON DONALDS. This legislation would ensure that the central bank focuses exclusively on its principal mandate of price stability, which is exactly what the Fed should be doing now more than ever, instead of focusing on various policy fads.

Over this past weekend, the United States rating agency Moody's downgraded the United States' credit rating from stable to negative, citing higher interest rates and another pending government shutdown.

This is another alarm bell that Democrats and the Biden administration should not ignore. We must get our fiscal house in order. This is another critical element in combating rampant inflation and helping the American people who have been suffering under these failed economic policies for far too long.

Reining in the outrageous spending we have witnessed over the past 3 years in Washington will help stop putting the burden of our record-high debt on our children and grandchildren and contributing to inflation.

President Biden needs to wake up to the alarm bells that continue to signal how his spending, industrial policy mandates, and the regulatory burdens are crushing ordinary families as we approach this Thanksgiving.

President Biden needs to work with Republicans in the House and Senate to get our long-term economy back on track. Let's work for American families, not against them.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. HILL. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House do now adjourn.

The motion was agreed to; accordingly (at 9 o'clock and 50 minutes p.m.), under its previous order, the House adjourned until tomorrow, Tuesday, November 14, 2023, at 9 a.m.

OATH OF OFFICE MEMBERS, RESIDENT COMMISSIONER, AND DELEGATES

The oath of office required by the sixth article of the Constitution of the United States, and as provided by section 2 of the act of May 13, 1884 (23 Stat. 22), to be administered to Members, Resident Commissioner, and Delegates of the House of Representatives, the text of which is carried in 5 U.S.C. 3331:

"I, AB, do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic; that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take this obligation freely, without any mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office on which I am about to enter. So help me God."

has been subscribed to in person and filed in duplicate with the Clerk of the House of Representatives by the following Member of the 118th Congress, pursuant to the provisions of 2 U.S.C. 25:

GABE AMO,
First District of Rhode Island.

EXECUTIVE COMMUNICATIONS, ETC.

Under clause 2 of rule XIV,

EC-2364. A letter from the President, transmitting a letter informing congress of action taken consistent with the War Powers Resolution, Public Law 93-148, pursuant to 50 U.S.C. 1543(c); Public Law 93-148, Sec. 4(c); (87 Stat. 555) (H. Doc. No. 118-80), was taken from the Speaker's table, referred to the Committee on Foreign Affairs and ordered to be printed.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES ON PUBLIC BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Under clause 2 of rule XIII, reports of committees were delivered to the Clerk for printing and reference to the proper calendar, as follows:

Mr. JORDAN: Committee on the Judiciary. H.R. 786. A bill to amend title 28, United States Code, to provide an additional place for holding court for the Pecos Division of the Western District of Texas, and for other purposes (Rept. 118-271). Referred to the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union.

Mr. BURGESS: Committee on Rules. House Resolution 864. A resolution providing for consideration of the bill (H.R. 5894) making appropriations for the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, and Education, and related agencies for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2024, and for other purposes (Rept. 118-272). Referred to the House Calendar.

PUBLIC BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS

Under clause 2 of rule XII, public bills and resolutions of the following titles were introduced and severally referred, as follows:

By Ms. GRANGER:

H.R. 6363. A bill making further continuing appropriations for fiscal year 2024, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Appropriations, and in addition to the Committee on the Budget, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. BALDERSON (for himself, Mr. DUNN of Florida, Mr. SCHWEIKERT, Mr. JOHNSON of Ohio, and Mr. CAREY): H.R. 6364. A bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act to maintain certain telehealth flexibilities relating to provider privacy under the Medicare program; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and in addition to the Committee on Ways and Means, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Ms. WATERS:

H.R. 6365. A bill to protect against illicit oil shipments, and for other purposes; to the Committee on Financial Services.

By Mr. HUDSON:

H.R. 6366. A bill to amend title XVIII of the Social Security Act with respect to the work geographic index for physician payments under the Medicare program, and to revise the phase-in of clinical laboratory test payment changes under such program; to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, and in addition to the Committee on Ways and Means, for a period to be subsequently determined by the Speaker, in each case for consideration of such provisions as fall within the jurisdiction of the committee concerned.

By Mr. CLEAVER:

H.R. 6367. A bill to direct the Secretary of the Treasury to instruct the United States Executive Director at each international financial institution to use the voice, vote, and influence of the United States to provide financial assistance to countries that receive an influx of civilian, non-combatant displaced persons stemming from the armed conflict that has resulted from Hamas's October 2023 terrorism in Israel, to be used for humanitarian aid for the displaced persons; to the Committee on Financial Services.

By Mr. LAMALFA (for himself, Mrs. PELTOLA, Mr. TORRES of New York, Mr. COLE, and Mr. OBERNOLTE):

H.R. 6368. A bill to assist Tribal governments in the management of buffalo and buffalo habitat and the reestablishment of buffalo on Indian land; to the Committee on Natural Resources.
