

EXTENSIONS OF REMARKS

INTRODUCTION OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA COURTS HOME RULE ACT

HON. ELEANOR HOLMES NORTON

OF THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Ms. NORTON. Mr. Speaker, today I introduce the District of Columbia Courts Home Rule Act. This bill would give the Council of the District of Columbia authority over the jurisdiction and organization of the local D.C. courts. The D.C. Home Rule Act (HRA) prohibits the Council from enacting any law with respect to title 11 of the D.C. Code, which relates to the jurisdiction and organization of the local D.C. courts.

More than 50 years after passage of the HRA and notwithstanding the importance of the local D.C. courts to D.C., the Council, which is the legislative body accountable to D.C. residents, is left on the sidelines while Congress, which could not care less about the local D.C. courts, remains the only legislative body that can amend title 11 of the D.C. Code.

Under the HRA, the Council has no authority to “enact any act, resolution, or rule with respect to any provision of title 11 of the District of Columbia Code (relating to organization and jurisdiction of the District of Columbia courts).” Title 11 of the D.C. Code primarily relates to the rules of criminal and civil procedure, court administration, the branches of the courts, jury service and admission to the bar.

D.C. has never had authority over its local courts, even when it was responsible for paying for them. Under the National Capital Revitalization and Self-Government Improvement Act of 1997, the federal government assumed from D.C. the costs for several state-level functions, including the courts. This bill would not change the federal government’s responsibility for funding the local D.C. courts or the authority of the President to nominate, and the Senate to confirm, local D.C. judges.

This bill is an important step to increase self-government for D.C. I urge my colleagues to support it.

HONORING PHIL AND TONI
SCULLY

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Phil and Toni Scully, leaders and public servants who have been named the 2025 Lake County Farm Bureau Lifetime Achievement Award Winners.

Phil was born and grew up in San Francisco, California while Toni grew up in Galt, California. Phil earned his Bachelor of Science degree in Agricultural Economics from UC

Davis. Toni also attended UC Davis, where the two met and later married while still students. Toni earned a Bachelor of Arts in English and Spanish, followed by a teaching credential. Their diverse academic backgrounds—Phil’s in agriculture and economics, Toni’s in language and education—proved to be a powerful combination, laying a strong foundation for the success of their family business: Scully Packing Company.

Phil and Toni’s commitment to our community is evident from their long history of advocating for agricultural policy. Toni has served as a powerful voice and bridge between Lake County agriculture and policymakers at every level. In 1996, while I was in the California State Senate, I had the honor to work with Toni to pass SB 1988, a bill that safeguarded the ability of Lake County teens to work during the pear harvest. In 2006, Toni partnered with U.S. Senator Dianne Feinstein to support and promote the Agricultural Jobs Bill, aimed at providing a more stable, legal workforce for American agriculture while safeguarding the rights and livelihoods of farmworkers. Meanwhile, Phil has been a true innovator in the pear industry. He has introduced River Pears to Lake County, extending the marketing season. Additionally, he pioneered the use of electronic sizers, plastic bins, and PLU stickers in California’s pear industry.

Toni and Phil stay busy around the district. Toni is a current member of the AgVenture Steering Committee, past President of California Women for Agriculture, a former member of the Executive Committee for the California Grape and Tree Fruit League and has been a member of the Lake County Farm Bureau Presidents’ Club for over 30 years. Toni was also the recipient of the 2014 Common Threads North Award. Phil is a former member of the California Tree Fruit Agreement, a former board member of the California Pear Advisory Board, and a former board member of the California Grape and Tree Fruit League.

Together, Phil and Toni have four children: Tom, Pat, Katie, and Andy. Today, Pat and Andy serve as co-owners of Scully Packing Company, continuing the family legacy. Katie is a food scientist and a floral farmer, and Tom is a flight instructor and pilot for United Airlines. Toni and Phil are proud grandparents to nine grandchildren and great-grandparents to two. This year, they celebrate 61 wonderful years of marriage—a testament to their enduring partnership in both life and business.

Mr. Speaker, we thank Phil and Toni Scully for their dedicated service to California’s 4th District. Therefore, it is fitting and proper that we honor them here today.

HONORING THE KRITZECK FAMILY

HON. TOM EMMER

OF MINNESOTA
IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Mr. EMMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the Kritzecks, a remarkable Minnesota family whose commitment to public safety spans five generations and more than 220 years of combined service in law enforcement. The Kritzeck family’s legacy of service spans five generations and includes time in Stearns, Wright, Hennepin, and Hubbard counties.

The family’s law enforcement service began nearly a century ago when Paul Kritzeck was elected sheriff of Wright County in November 1930. He was re-elected five times and served as sheriff for 22 years. His watch ended tragically in 1951 as he was killed while responding to a call when his patrol car was struck as he turned onto a county road. The collision pushed his vehicle into the path of an oncoming semi which struck his vehicle and resulted in his death.

Paul was not the only member of the Kritzeck family to serve in Wright County. His sons, Lawrence “Brownie” Kritzeck, and his brother, Willard Kritzeck, were Wright County deputy sheriffs while their father, Paul, served as sheriff. Willard ended up taking over as Wright County Sheriff following his father’s passing. He held the title for more than 12 years until he became the police chief for Winsted, Minnesota in 1963. Brownie also changed departments in 1963 after relocating to Stearns County, where he served as the deputy sheriff for several years.

Jack Kritzeck, part of the third generation of Kritzecks to work in law enforcement, was a captain in Stearns County from 1967 until he retired in 1999. Another family member, Steve Kritzeck, has worked as a law enforcement officer in Hennepin County, the Minnesota Bureau of Criminal Apprehension, and the Minnesota Department of Commerce Fraud Bureau.

Mark Kritzeck, a member of the fourth generation of Kritzecks to serve their community in law enforcement, is a patrol sergeant for the city of Eagan, Minnesota. Craig Kritzeck, another member of the family, started his career in law enforcement in 2002 and was hired as the Police Chief in Nevis, Minnesota in 2004. Later, Craig was hired by the Park Rapids Police Department, where he worked until his family moved to Cold Spring in 2010.

Craig now works for the Hubbard County Sheriff’s Office where he serves as a Deputy. Last month, Craig had the special privilege of swearing in the fifth generation of Kritzecks into law enforcement, when he deputized his son, Lucas, as a member of the Hubbard County Sheriff’s department. Inspired by his family’s legacy of service, Lucas recently completed his associate’s degree in applied science in peace officer training and education at Alexandria Technical and Community College. Following graduation, he passed the state law enforcement officers exam and will now complete a 14-week training program with the Hubbard County Sheriff’s Office.

The Kritzeck family’s story is one of resilience, sacrifice, and service. Their 220 years of combined law enforcement reflects not just their individual careers, but a family-wide call to protect and uplift our communities. On behalf of Minnesota’s entire 6th Congressional

HONORING THE THIRD ANNUAL

NORTH CAROLINA

HON. RICHARD HUDSON

OF NORTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Mr. HUDSON. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the 3rd annual Peach Week, taking place in my home county of Moore, North Carolina, this week. Peach week is a kickoff to summer fun but also shows the importance of peaches in our agriculture industry and as a staple of our state.

This year, Peach Week will run from July 18 to July 27, featuring a variety of events. Due to its popularity, Peach Week has garnered a record number of nearly 40 participating restaurants, specialty outlets, and food trucks taking part in the Peach Week promotions. Attendees will have the opportunity to try a variety of peach-themed dishes ranging from breakfast, appetizers, entrees, desserts, and both alcoholic and non-alcoholic beverages.

In addition to these promotions, ticketed and complementary events will be available, such as the Run Your Peach Off 5k, Putt n' Peach mini golf, and the Peachgrass festival at the Weymouth Center for the Arts and Humanities. To complement the activities, farmers markets from Southern Pines, Vass, and Carthage will also be offering peaches and peach products during the celebration.

Mr. Speaker, please join me in recognizing the 3rd annual Peach Week, in North Carolina's 9th District, as a fun and exciting week celebrating the peach, a major agricultural product of my home state of North Carolina and a symbol of summertime.

HONORING JEFF CRANE

HON. ROBERT J. WITTMAN

OF VIRGINIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Mr. WITTMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Jeff Crane on his upcoming retirement as President of the Congressional Sportsmen's Foundation (CSF). Mr. Crane will conclude his illustrious career after over forty years of public service.

Mr. Crane's dedication to improving our environment and providing opportunities to all outdoorsmen is constantly inspiring. He has served as President of the CSF since 2002, guiding the organization from a small group of only five staff members to become the Nation's preeminent sportsmen advocacy group. While at the helm of the CSF, Mr. Crane helped grow the Congressional Sportsmen's Caucus to the largest bipartisan caucus in Congress. He also aided in the creation of the National Assembly of Sportsmen's Caucuses (NASC), which has nearly 2,500 members across all 50 states, and the Governors Sportsmen's Caucus.

While expanding the scope of the CSF, Mr. Crane tirelessly worked to pass countless bills to enhance opportunities for hunters and anglers. He vigorously fought for our environment, passing legislation to fund conservation efforts at the state and federal levels. Other advocacy organizations would often defer to Mr. Crane's vision and judgment on policy matters, a high compliment to his knowledge and ability.

Beyond the CSF, Mr. Crane served as the Chairman of the Hunting and Shooting Sports Conservation Council (HSSCC) and of American Wildlife Conservation Partners, along with many other leadership positions. Mr. Crane has been consistently recognized for his humility, grace, and team-oriented approach. His dedication and passion for our environment will continue to have an indelible impact on sportsmen everywhere and our majestic Nation.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in thanking Jeff Crane for his unyielding dedication to protecting and enjoying our Creator's greatest gift: our natural world. I wish him all the best in his well-earned retirement and pray for his continued health and happiness in whatever adventures come his way.

HONORING THE BOURNE FIRE DEPARTMENT

HON. WILLIAM R. KEATING

OF MASSACHUSETTS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Mr. KEATING. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in recognition of the Bourne Fire Department, as it celebrated its 100th anniversary on July 5, 2025.

While the Bourne Fire Department was officially established on July 5, 1925, the Town of Bourne has a long history of advancing public safety dating back to the 1890s, when the town appointed a fire and forest warden following several brush fires. In the event of a fire, the warden was able to recruit volunteers and pay them 50 cents an hour to assist in firefighting efforts.

The roots of the Bourne Fire Department can be traced back to 1904, when a group named the Buzzards Bay Progressive Society organized the first local bucket brigade in response to the growing threat of fires. At a time when each village was tasked with providing its own firefighting services, the Progressive Society took a leading role. Members purchased the first fire apparatus stored at Cohasset Hall on Main Street, which would later serve as the Bourne Fire Department's first station. Sadly, the original headquarters burned down in September 1931. While the department was fighting a fire 700 feet away at a barn behind the Buzzards Bay Hotel, a spark ignited the roof of Cohasset Hall. The Buzzards Bay Fire Station was rebuilt the following year on Main Street and served as the headquarters until 2017, when the department moved its headquarters to the Sagamore Fire Station.

Throughout the early 1900s, the need for a more formalized fire department became apparent, and the town began laying the necessary groundwork. It established a Board of Fire Engineers, with Ralph Johnson serving as the Chief Engineer. Johnson would go on to become the town's first Fire Chief.

In 1924, the Maxim Fire Truck Company conducted a study to determine fire safety needs across the Bourne villages. Using the findings of that survey, articles to establish the Bourne Fire Department were drafted and brought to the 1925 Annual Town Meeting, where residents voted in favor of the measure. Bourne residents recognized the benefit of a townwide fire department to improve property protection, expand the tax base, and lower insurance rates. With an initial budget of $3,800, the new fire department paid $1 for the first hour of service responding to a fire, followed by 50 cents for each additional hour.

Over the years, the Bourne Fire Department continued to expand and improve fire safety in the community, installing radios in 1938 to enhance communication and coordination during emergency responses and steadily increasing its personnel. Growing from a small professional fire department in 1925, the department now consists of nearly 40 full-time firefighters, several call personnel, and an inventory of 20 emergency response apparatus. With the Town of Bourne divided by the Cape Cod Canal, the fire department faces a unique challenge in ensuring the safety of residents and summertime visitors on both sides of the canal. This requires the department to have the capacity to respond to emergencies not only on land, but also on the water.

On July 12th, the Bourne Fire Department held a centennial celebration at Buzzards Bay Park to honor the brave men and women who have served the Bourne community throughout the years and recognize the fire department's legacy of service, bravery, and community engagement that has defined the department since its inception on July 5, 1925.

Mr. Speaker, I am proud to honor the Bourne Fire Department, and I ask that my colleagues join me in thanking the dedicated firefighters who have tirelessly protected the Bourne community over the last century.

He has also represented the Lake County Farm Bureau on the California Farm Bureau state board.

Robert's commitment to the Lake County Farm Bureau and our community is evident. As member of the Lake County Farm Bureau, he has been a visionary leader for the organization, inspiring membership growth that led to the Bureau being selected as a County of the Year Award recipient by the California Farm Bureau.

He also continues to support many agriculture-based companies in the community as well as support community youth programs such as 4-H, FFA and youth sports programs.

Mr. Speaker, it is fitting and proper that we honor Robert Gayaldo for his service and dedication to California's 4th District.

APPRECIATING GLENN MCCALL

HON. JOE WILSON

OF SOUTH CAROLINA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, on July 11, America lost a Devoted Patriot with the death of National Committeeman Glenn McCall. A grateful review of his accomplishments is presented by Joseph Bustos in The State newspaper of Columbia, South Carolina.

"Glenn McCall, the South Carolina Republican Party's national committeeman, died Friday from complications from surgery, the state party said. McCall, who also was the Winthrop University Board chairman, was 71 years old.

He had been the state GOP's national committeeman since 2008, also chaired the RNC's budget committee, and served as co-chair of the 2020 Republican National Convention Committee.

S.C. GOP Chairman Drew McKissick said McCall will be sorely missed by the party. "Glenn was not only a wonderful human being, but he was a great leader and representative for South Carolina on the Republican National Committee," McKissick said. "Time and again he used his influence and relationships to help maintain the SCGOP's position as the First in the South presidential primary, and the resulting influence that gives Republicans all over our state."

Those in the Republican Party described McCall as a "kind and loyal friend." "Glenn was far more than a friend; he was a mentor, advisor and source of moral clarity," former SC GOP Chairman Matt Moore said. "He was never angry, boastful or self-interested, always steadfast in doing what was right."

McCall, of Rock Hill, was the state party's first Black national committeeman. "I loved Glenn McCall from the moment we met on (U.S. Rep.) Ralph Norman's '06 race. He was good and decent, a kind and gentle soul and he was faithful." South Carolina GOP operative Rob Godfrey posted on X. "I embraced every opportunity to work with him. I am thankful for our friendship, and I will miss Glenn deeply. Thank you, Linda, for sharing him."

McCall served in the U.S. Air Force for 24 years, according to a biography provided by the state party.

He was a retired senior vice president of Bank of America, and began serving on the Winthrop board in 2011, the according to the school.

"He was a man of immense faith and personal conviction, as evidenced by the life he lived every day," Winthrop President Edward Serna said in an email about McCall to the school. "Those who interacted with the board on a regular basis will recall how Glenn took the time to speak to everyone in whatever room he found himself."

He is a graduate of the University of Maryland, College Park, with a bachelor's degree in management information systems and a master's in business administration.

"We haven't always agreed on issues, but he has always represented with class and an open ear," state Rep. Brandon Guffey, R-York, posted on Facebook. "The last time I saw Glenn, was at the state party (reorganization). He came up to congratulate me on winning legislator of the year and thanked me for standing for truth as opposed to falling into the bumper sticker politics many have turned to."

DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2026

SPEECH OF

HON. BRYAN STEIL

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, July 16, 2025

Mr. STEIL. Mr. Chair, I rise today in support of my amendment to the Fiscal Year 2026 Defense Appropriations Act, which provides $10 million to the Army's Long Range Precision Fires Technology Program, or LRPFP, for testing and demonstration of advanced-caliber munitions.

The LRPFP program develops technologies to neutralize and suppress enemy forces with artillery and missile fire.

My amendment No. 272, included in Bipartisan En Bloc No. 2, will ensure the Army has additional funds to meet its LRPFP Modernization Priority. This enables the Army to continue working with private-sector partners to advance our artillery and missile technology and address current shortfalls of the LRPFP program.

Modernization of the LRPFP program will advance technologies, expand military capabilities, and help prevent munitions stockpile shortages.

I urge my colleagues to support this amendment.

HONORING BONNIE SEARS

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Bonnie Sears, an esteemed member of the Lake County agricultural community. Mrs. Sears' leadership and dedication to Lake County's wine grape industry exemplify why she has been named as a Friend of the Farm Bureau.

Mrs. Sears, office manager for Beckstoffer Vineyards, Red Hills, has worked for various agriculture-related businesses, including Snobs Lake Vineyard, where she was involved in multiple aspects of the winegrowing business. Previously she was employed by a fruit importer in Kelseyville.

Mrs. Sears and her family moved to Lake County in 1987. She served two years on the board of the Lake County Winery Association and was on the Wine Adventure committee for several years. She has also been involved with the Lake County Chapter of California Women for Agriculture. In 2010, she decided she wanted to know more about the business of growing grapes and began her pursuit of a certificate in viticulture with Vesta, an online viticulture program.

As a longtime member of the Lake County Winegrape Commission board, Mrs. Sears has been instrumental in advocating for growers, advancing sustainable practices, and fostering collaboration across the region's vineyards. Her professional expertise and passion for viticulture have helped elevate Lake County's reputation as a premier wine grape growing region, benefiting farmers and businesses alike. Beyond her industry contributions, Mrs. Sears' commitment to community service and partnership with the Farm Bureau exemplify the spirit of cooperation that drives Lake County agriculture forward.

Mr. Speaker, it is fitting and proper that we honor Bonnie Sears for her service, leadership, and dedication to California's 4th District.

COMMEMORATING CASTRO VALLEY PRIDE

HON. ERIC SWALWELL

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Mr. SWALWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to recognize Castro Valley Pride on the occasion of their 50th annual Pride Festival for their commitment to creating an inclusive community that celebrates each person for exactly who they are.

Castro Valley Pride is a LGBTQ+ Pride organization that has been a beacon of advocacy and resilience since its founding in 2010. It is the only Pride group focused on advocacy within the unincorporated areas of my district and the longest continuously running Pride organization in Alameda County.

Over the past 15 years, Castro Valley Pride has been a driving force for equity in public education. It has led the distribution of over 5,500 Pride flags for classrooms and homes across the region, fostering solidarity in the community.

Working alongside activists from across Alameda and Contra Costa Counties, Castro Valley Pride helped develop a regional network of allies to oppose hate and discrimination and foster understanding and inclusion.

This organization has held a series of community events, including porch decorating contests during the COVID-19 pandemic, a Project Eden/Lambda Youth Pride Prom, and Fremont and San Leandro's first LGBTQ+ Pride events. At this year's first Pride Festival, over a dozen welcoming faith groups will be featured to support the inclusion of LGBTQ+ individuals.

I am proud to represent a district demonstrating such leadership and served by an inclusive organization advocating for progress and change. I commend Castro Valley Pride for their extraordinary service and look forward to all they will continue to accomplish.

CELEBRATING ARTURO VARGAS
ON 30 YEARS OF SERVICE

HON. SYLVIA R. GARCIA

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Ms. GARCIA of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate my longtime friend, Arturo Vargas, as he marks 30 years of extraordinary leadership with the National Association of Latino Elected and Appointed Officials (NALEO) and the NALEO Educational Fund.

As a former President of NALEO, I know the kind of dedication it takes to build lasting impact. And for three decades, Arturo has done just that. He has helped shape the civic landscape for Latinos in this country—not by chasing headlines, but by doing the work. The hard, necessary, behind-the-scenes work of building power, lifting up leaders, and making sure our voices are counted.

Under Arturo's leadership, NALEO has become a powerhouse for civic engagement training elected officials, defending voting rights, championing fair representation, and connecting communities to the ballot box. He's helped demystify the process of government and made sure it actually works for the people.

Arturo knew that in order to elect Latino leaders, he had to become an expert in the systems built against them. He went to Stanford, mastered the ins and outs of redistricting and demographics, and became one of the foremost experts on Latino civic participation. That expertise has helped guide countless policymakers, including many of us in this chamber. If you're a Latino in government, odds are Arturo Vargas has touched your journey.

Even before NALEO, Arturo was doing the work at the Mexican America Legal Defense and Educational Fund (MALDEF), at the National Council of La Raza, and everywhere justice and opportunity were on the line. Arturo's legacy isn't written in stone—it's ongoing, growing, and living in the generations of leaders he's helped raise. He's not done yet, and thank goodness for that.

Mr. Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in recognizing Arturo Vargas for his years of service, his deep commitment to our democracy, and his unwavering belief in what's possible when every voice is heard and every opportunity is seen.

After more than 11 years of service in this role, and a career spanning four decades, Dean Dillard leaves behind a legacy of excellence in education, research, and public service.

A native of San Francisco, Dean Dillard earned her Bachelor of Science in Biology of Natural Resources from UC Berkeley in 1977, followed by a Master's in Soil Science in 1979 and a Ph.D. in Plant Pathology from UC Davis in 1984. She went on to spend three decades at Cornell University, where she served in several leadership roles, including Chair of the Department of Plant Pathology, Director of Cornell Cooperative Extension, and Associate Dean in both the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences and the College of Human Ecology.

Dean Dillard returned to UC Davis in 2014 to lead the College of Agricultural and Environmental Sciences, widely recognized as the top-ranked agricultural school in the Nation and second in the world. As dean, she served as the college's chief academic and administrative officer, overseeing 14 departments, 29 centers and institutes, and a community of more than 7,600 students, 320 faculty, and 585 staff.

Under her leadership, the college advanced major research and infrastructure initiatives. These included six new greenhouses, among them a 14,400-square-foot facility designed to protect critical grapevine collections, upgrades to the Center for Aquatic Biology and Aquaculture, improvements in water and irrigation systems, and the development of a new indoor vertical farm and goat dairy. During the COVID-19 pandemic, Dean Dillard guided the college through budget reductions and campus closures, overseeing the transition to online learning and the implementation of safety measures across research and teaching spaces.

Beyond her administrative leadership, Dean Dillard has also led efforts to make education more inclusive and accessible. She has been a strong advocate for experiential learning, supporting opportunities that take students beyond the classroom and into the field. Her commitment to diversity, equity, and inclusion has included co-leading the college DEI committee, piloting faculty diversity statement requirements, and supporting the launch of Aggie Jumpstart, a program serving first-generation and underserved students.

Dean Dillard's contributions have been widely recognized by her peers and beyond. Over the past decade, she has helped secure more than $442 million in philanthropic support for the college, including 50 million for the Lynda and Stewart Resnick Center for Agricultural Innovation, the largest individual gift in UC Davis history.

Dean Dillard is known throughout the campus community not only for her leadership but also for her open-door approach, mentorship, and deep commitment to students, faculty, and staff. Dean Dillard is a proud Aggie, a supporter of women's basketball, and enjoys pickleball, fishing, and world travel. She and her husband, Victor, have been married for 44 years and are the proud parents of Jamar Dillard.

Mr. Speaker, Dean Helene Dillard has had a distinguished career in education, research, and public service. DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE
APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2026

SPEECH OF

OF WISCONSIN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Wednesday, July 16, 2025

Mr. STEIL. Mr. Chair, I rise today in support of my amendment to the Fiscal Year 2026 Defense Appropriations Act, which provides $1 million to complete the Navy Sea Systems Command's final review of centrifuge purifiers for surface combatant vessels.

Centrifuge purifiers are machines that separate liquids into their component parts and are critical to the proper functioning of our naval ships.

The Navy currently relies on a single, non-U.S.-based manufacturer for these centrifuge purifiers, which creates supply chain vulnerabilities and stifles domestic innovation.

My amendment No. 273, included in Bipartisan En Bloc No. 2, gives the Navy the resources it needs to finish a review process it began several years ago. Completing its review will help future delays and ensure the Navy has access to the most advanced and reliable technology available.

I urge my colleagues to support this amendment.

In 2014, LCBHS created the La Voz De la Esperanza community center, appointing Mr. Ontiveros as the center's supervisor. The La Voz, or the Latino Wellness Center, located in Clearlake, works to connect the Latino Community to culturally relevant service and ensure that Spanish speakers are equipped with tools to navigate health and wellness services. With volunteer translators and various educational opportunities, they help to break the language barrier that often prevents people from seeking help and offer referrals for mental health services when requested.

Mr. Ontiveros' leadership and work as the supervisor of La Voz integral in ensuring countless community members have access to mental health support, help to navigate the health care system, and a sense of community and support. As a Certified Medi-Cal Peer Support Specialist, he works to assess critical needs of Latino community members regarding mental health services and support clients, both individual and family.

Tethered drone testing could lead to further innovation and advance the Army's mission capabilities.

I urge my colleagues to support this amendment.

HONORING WORLD WAR II HERO
BUD LOMELLHON. CHRISTOPHER H. SMITH

OF NEW JERSEY

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize and honor one of the bravest and most highly decorated combat soldiers of World War II—Leonard G. "Bud" Lomell—by naming the new Veterans outpatient clinic in Toms River, New Jersey in his honor.

While Bud Lomell passed away in 2011, at age 91, his dear wife Charlotte is turning 104 in September; she and her family deeply loved Bud and continue to deeply cherish his memory. I spoke to Bud's youngest daughter Renee on the phone this morning and they are very pleased that Congress is poised to honor him.

I also want to extend special thanks to former Toms River Mayor and retired Admiral Mo Hill for originally coming up with this idea to name the clinic for Bud Lomell, as well as, his incredible advocacy on behalf of Bud and his family.

On June 6, 1944, D-Day, First Sergeant Bud Lomell of D Company, 2nd Ranger Infantry Battalion, and his Army Rangers were tasked with the nearly impossible mission of scaling the 100-foot cliffs at Pointe du Hoc and to destroy the Germans' 155-millimeter artillery guns with a range of 10 to 15 miles that threatened the entire allied invasion, which they believed were positioned at the top of the cliffs.

Bud Lomell and his Rangers, upon successfully climbing the cliffs despite heavy casualties—Bud was actually wounded leaving the landing craft but tenaciously continued and said in one interview, "I lost half my guys"—were dismayed to find at the top of the cliffs, that Allied military intelligence was misled by decoys, and that the entire invasion was now at risk.

After forming patrols to search for the guns, First Sergeant Lomell and another Ranger, Sergeant Jack Kuhn, found the five guns camouflaged in a nearby orchard. He discovered they were all aimed at Utah Beach, but could reach Normandy as well. With Kuhn providing cover, Bud Lomell used thermite grenades to singlehandedly destroy three of the Nazi big artillery guns, got more thermite grenades and went back and destroyed the other two, five massive artillery guns destroyed, ultimately helping to ensure the success of the Allied invasion and saving countless lives.

Historian Stephen Ambrose has described Bud Lomell as the single individual, besides Allied Supreme Commander Dwight Eisenhower, who was most responsible for the success of the D-Day invasion.

In his book, The Greatest Generation, Tom Brokaw devoted an entire chapter to Bud Lomell, who he first met forty years after the invasion at D-Day. He noted that during their interview, even after several decades, he "could almost see the tough, young First Sergeant Lomell directing his men as they landed under the withering fire of the German forces.”

For his amazing leadership and extraordinarily brave acts, Bud Lomell received the Distinguished Service Cross—the second highest military decoration. The citation said in part: “First Sergeant Lomell led a patrol of men through the heaviest kind of automatic weapons fire to destroy an enemy machine gun nest. Later on, the same day, while leading another patrol, he penetrated through the enemy lines to the rear and discovered five enemy 155-mm. guns . . . he gallantly led his patrol against the enemy and successfully destroyed the guns . . . First Sergeant Lomell’s bold and outstanding leadership in the face of superior numbers is in keeping with the highest traditions of the military forces of the United States and reflect great credit upon himself and the United States Army.”

Lomell also received a rare battlefield promotion to Second Lieutenant, and it was said that “there was not a man who did not feel proud to serve under him.”

Six months later, Bud Lomell served in the Battle of Hurtgen Forest, where he and D Company helped capture and defend the Notorious Hill 400, which had claimed thousands of his fellow servicemen’s lives. He was subsequently awarded the Silver Star for his valor in combat. His Silver Star citation states: “Conspicuously leading from the front, Lomell directed the successful defense of the hilltop in the face of a nearly overwhelming German counterattack midday . . . Refusing shelter and, at risk of life with blood oozing from his ears, nose, and mouth, firing his machine gun cradled in his bandaged left arm with his right hand, he continued to lead his men against another ruthless German assault throughout the entire afternoon.”

Bud was wounded at Hurtgen and again weeks later in the Battle of the Bulge.

In addition to the Distinguished Service Cross and Silver Star, Bud Lomell received other awards including the Bronze Star, Purple Heart with two Oak Leaf Clusters and France’s highest medal—the Legion of Honor.

A little further background: born in Brooklyn in 1920, Bud Lomell was adopted by Scandinavian immigrants and raised in Point Pleasant, New Jersey, along with his four siblings. His parents instilled in him a strong work ethic and he often worked odd jobs to help support his family during the Great Depression, which included delivering mail, caddying at Manasquan River Golf Club, and selling his father’s paintings to guests at local hotels. This relentless drive also followed him in sports, where he became a stellar boxer and played football and baseball. He earned a partial football scholarship at Tennessee Wesleyan University, where he worked part time to support his aging parents.

Bud Lomell married Charlotte Ewart, a public health nurse in Long Branch. They settled in Toms River, where they raised three daughters, Georgine, Pauline, and Renee. They also took in Elizabeth “Buffy” and Jay Bergson, the children of Charlotte’s sister who passed unexpectedly, and raised them as their own. Lomell’s daughter Renee describes her beloved dad as a caring and devoted father who loved and valued their mother and taught them to, as he would say, “work hard, be respectful, and do the right thing.”

Bud Lomell was appointed to serve as the first director of the newly organized Ocean

County Veterans Service Bureau to assist veterans with their transition to civilian life. He later graduated from Rutgers Law School and opened one of Ocean County’s largest and most successful law firms. Initially a member of the prestigious Ocean County Lawyers’ Club, he resigned in protest when the club would not admit a Jewish lawyer whom he had recommended. “I’m not going to tolerate any anti-Semitism,” he said at the time. “I didn’t fight Nazis in Europe to come home and find anti-Semitism in my backyard.”

He was an active participant in civil life, serving as president of the Ocean County Bar Association, a director of the First National Bank of Toms River, a member of the Dover Township Board of Education, and a co-founder of the Garden State Philharmonic.

The 68,000-square-foot state-of-the-art facility, which we hope will soon bear his name, provides both primary care as well as specialty care, including dental care, women’s health care, mental health counseling, physical therapy, and laboratory services. It is only fitting that a clinic that has already done so much for our community be named after a true war hero who dedicated his life to the service of his country and its veterans.

As President Reagan famously put it in his speech at Pointe du Hoc, the men who invaded Normandy, including and most especially Bud Lomell, “had faith that what they were doing was right, faith that they fought for all humanity, faith that a just God would grant them mercy on this beachhead or on the next.” They were “the men who took the cliffs.” They were “the champions who helped free a continent.” They were “the heroes who helped end a war.” In enduring gratitude to them, Mr. Speaker, I ask that my colleagues join me in bestowing this posthumous honor on Second Lieutenant Bud Lomell.

HONORING RIITTA DEANDA

HON. MIKE THOMPSON

OF CALIFORNIA

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Monday, July 21, 2025

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Riitta DeAnda, a leader and public servant who has been named California’s 4th Congressional District 2025 American Dream Award Recipient for Solano County. This award recognizes the achievements of immigrants in our district who have made remarkable contributions to our communities in the areas of Arts and Culture, Professional Achievement, Entrepreneurship and Innovation, or Community Service.

Mrs. DeAnda was born in Turku, Finland, and immigrated with her parents to Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario, where they became Canadian citizens. Eight years later, they moved to Richmond, California, fulfilling her father’s longstanding goal of settling in the United States. Mrs. DeAnda became a U.S. citizen at age 22.

Mrs. DeAnda worked for a large commercial insurance company in San Francisco for many years, after which she founded an insurance agency in Vallejo and later moved its office location to American Canyon. She became involved in the communities where her office was located by joining the local Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. DeAnda feels it is important to make a difference in the communities in which you work and live. In 2018, she sold the insurance agency but has not slowed down.

Around the district, Mrs. DeAnda is known for her enthusiasm and dedication to various organizations, many of which she has been involved with for years. Currently, Mrs. DeAnda serves as the Chair of the Napa-Solano Area Council on Aging, the Treasurer of Sierra Club Solano, and the Secretary of the Northern Solano Democratic Club. Additionally, she was a Board Member of Travis Unified School District and served as its President from 2020–2021. Mrs. DeAnda actively engages with our community as she serves as a Committee Member of Walk to End Alzheimer’s Solano, leadership of Solano Together, and a Board Member of the Finnish American Home Association (FAHA). She is involved in organizations that reflect her personal experiences and values, allowing her to advocate for causes that resonate with her identity and represent the needs and perspectives of her community.

Mrs. DeAnda also aids our district by helping community members. Licensed by the IRS, Mrs. DeAnda has been able to help our community members prepare their tax return documents. Additionally, Mrs. DeAnda has helped produce a monthly newsletter for Councilmember Jeannette Wylie, has become a Health Insurance Counseling and Advocacy counselor, and has helped distribute quilts to those in need through Lutheran World Relief. Her dedication to philanthropy and helping others is admirable and has a positive impact on our community.

Mrs. DeAnda is a powerful embodiment of civic engagement, where she has exercised her rights and voted in every election since she became a citizen. It is a right she is proud to have and even spurred her to join the Northern Solano Democratic Club, later becoming the organization’s Secretary, and has phone-banked during numerous election cycles, motivating others to become civically involved.

Mrs. DeAnda earned her master’s degree from San Francisco State University. She was married to the late James DeAnda and is the proud mother of their daughter, Kristina, who resides in Denver, Colorado, and their son, James, who lives in Vacaville with his wife and their five children.

Mr. Speaker, it is fitting and proper that we honor Riitta DeAnda for her service, leadership, and dedication to California’s 4th District.
