Congressional Record

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 119th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Vol. 172 WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 2026 No. 106

House of Representatives

The House met at 10 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mrs. FISCHBACH).

DESIGNATION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

WASHINGTON DC,
June 24, 2026.

MIKE JOHNSON,

MORNING-HOUR DEBATE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to the order of the House of January 6, 2026, the Chair will now recognize Members from lists submitted by the majority and minority leaders for morning-hour debate.

The Chair will alternate recognition between the parties, with time equally allocated between the parties and each Member other than the majority and minority leaders and the minority whip limited to 5 minutes, but in no event shall debate continue beyond 11:50 a.m.

RECOGNIZING CHEYENNE PETERSON

(Mr. COMER of Kentucky was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mr. COMER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize an outstanding young Kentuckian from the First Congressional District, Cheyenne Peterson of Pembroke, an 11th grade student whose artwork was selected as a winner in the America 250 Student Art Contest.

Cheyenne's piece, titled 250 Years of Freedom, reflects a deep appreciation for our Nation's history and the blessings of liberty that generations of Americans have worked to preserve.

Through her talent and creativity, she has captured the spirit of patriotism and civic pride that defines the Commonwealth of Kentucky and communities across our Nation.

I am proud to represent Cheyenne and her family in Congress, and I am inspired by her commitment to honoring America's story through art.

Madam Speaker, I ask my colleagues to join me in congratulating Cheyenne Peterson on this remarkable achievement and wishing her continued success in all of her future endeavors.

IMPORTANCE OF VALID VOTER ID

Mr. COMER. Madam Speaker, I rise to implore our colleagues in the Senate to pass the SAVE Act.

We have passed this final bill here in the House several months ago, and it has been sitting in the Senate collecting dust. We in Congress have many ideological differences. The importance of a valid voter ID should not be one of those differences. After all, to enter the brand-new Obama Presidential Library, you are required to present a valid ID.

I am a Member of Congress, and, obviously, this is my workplace. Before I arrived yesterday, I had to show an ID at the TSA line at the Louisville airport, then show an ID to check in at a hotel, then show my ID to get through the barrier gate around the Capitol, and, finally, I had to show my ID to enter the Rayburn House Office Building.

Yet, there are Members of Congress who do not want to support a law to make it a requirement to show an ID to vote. Why?

I will tell you why I think it is. It is because they want to be able to cheat in elections. How? Perhaps by allowing people to vote who are not legal residents of the United States. That is a theory a lot of people have who support the SAVE Act.

Madam Speaker, that is wrong, and it is why many Americans have lost confidence in our electoral process.

My message to the U.S. Senate is to do their job and pass the SAVE Act.

HONORING THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF DALE ''FROG'' FORD

Mr. COMER. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the life and legacy of my friend, Sheriff Dale ''Frog'' Ford, a devoted public servant, respected law enforcement officer, and cherished member of the Monroe County community.

Sheriff Ford dedicated his life to serving and protecting the people of his hometown. For 48 years, he wore the badge with pride, integrity, and an unwavering sense of duty.

Over the course of his distinguished career, Sheriff Ford served the citizens of Tompkinsville as chief of police for 10 years and later as sheriff of Monroe County for 12 years. In every role he held, Sheriff Ford earned the trust and respect of those he served through his steady leadership, fairness, and deep commitment to the community.

I offer my sincerest condolences to his wife of 21 years, Ronda; his children, Kimberly, Chris, and Sean; his step-children, Shelby and Alex; and his eight grandchildren.

Sheriff Ford's service, courage, and leadership have set an example for future generations of law enforcement officers. With his passing, Monroe County lost a beloved and legendary figure who will never be forgotten.

HONORING THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF CHRISTINE ASHLEY DAVIS

(Mr. KENNEDY of New York was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mr. KENNEDY of New York. Madam Speaker, I rise today to honor the remarkable life and legacy of Mother Christine Ashley Davis, affectionately known as Granny, who passed away on April 18, 2026, at the age of 99.

Printed on recycled paper.

Born in Macon, Georgia, on September 4, 1926, to Adrian Ashley and Mamie Holliman, she built a life centered around compassion and service.

She brought those values to Buffalo in 1945, becoming a deeply respected leader in our community. Singing every Sunday in the choir at Calvary Baptist, dedicating herself to the missionary board at White Rock Baptist, and later becoming a beloved spiritual mother to multiple fellowships, she served God not only in word but in action.

Christine mentored generations of believers and brought that same devotion to her professional life, working for decades as a senior receptionist at several community centers across the region and also spending time with the Erie County Board of Elections.

Beyond her contributions to our great region, her greatest joy was her family. She and her late husband, Willie A. Davis, Sr., raised 12 wonderful children, laying the foundation for a remarkable family legacy that grew to include 38 grandchildren, 78 great-grandchildren, 12 great-great-grandchildren, and 2 great-great-great-grandchildren.

Her family and friends will forever remember her radiant smile and the genuineness of her spirit. She was a woman who loved to dance and spend time with her friends, particularly playing cards with her loved ones, a pastime she enjoyed while wearing a backward baseball cap.

Mother Christine Ashley Davis showed us all how to live with immense kindness and respect for others.

On behalf of a grateful community and nation, I ask my colleagues to join me in offering sincere condolences to her family as they reflect and celebrate on her extraordinary life.

May Granny, Mother Christine Ashley Davis, rest in peace.

CONGRATULATING DR. WILLIE UNDERWOOD III

Mr. KENNEDY of New York. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Dr. Willie Underwood III of Buffalo, New York, who was sworn in to serve as the 181st president of the American Medical Association on June 9, 2026.

A respected urological surgeon, public health expert, and advocate for equitable care, Dr. Underwood has spent over two decades serving patients in Buffalo and is the second urologist and third Black physician to serve as AMA president.

Dr. Underwood is a graduate of Morehouse College and earned his master's degrees from the State University of New York Upstate Medical University, and the University of Michigan School of Public Health.

Dr. Underwood completed medical training in general and urological surgery at The University of Connecticut Health Center and was one of the first five urologists to be admitted into the prestigious Robert Wood Johnson Foundation Clinical Scholars Program.

During his inaugural address as AMA president, Dr. Underwood reminded us that advocating for patients also means advocating for the physicians who care for them, ensuring they have the support, resources, and environment needed to meet the growing demands of this moment.

Dr. Underwood's leadership comes at a critical moment, as doctors and patients alike face rising costs, workforce shortages, and shrinking Federal support.

With Dr. Underwood at the helm, the AMA is in strong, steady hands, and I know that together we can build a healthcare system that works for both patients and providers.

Western New York is proud to call Dr. Willie Underwood III one of our own, and we are excited for the rest of the country to share in the benefits of his work.

On behalf of a grateful nation and community, I congratulate my good friend Dr. Willie Underwood.

CONGRATULATING AURORA GUZMAN

(Ms. DE LA CRUZ of Texas was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Ms. DE LA CRUZ. Madam Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Aurora Guzman from McAllen Memorial High School for being selected as a Texas Girls Coaches Association all-star player.

A brilliant athlete and student, Aurora is known for her captivating energy on the court. Behind her success are years of hard work, sacrifice, and unwavering commitment to her sport.

Aurora has shown true leadership, helping to elevate the Lady Mustang basketball team while earning recognition as a premier player in the region. She not only represents McAllen Memorial, but she also represents the entire Rio Grande Valley and every young athlete who dreams of playing on the big stage.

I thank Aurora for representing south Texas with pride. I congratulate her on this prestigious honor. We wish her the best of luck next month at the TGCA all-star game.

RECOGNIZING MCCREERY AVIATION

Ms. DE LA CRUZ. Madam Speaker, I rise today to recognize McCreery Aviation on 80 years of exceptional service in south Texas.

Founded in 1946 by J.F. ''Mac'' McCreery, the company began as a small flight school following World War II. What started as one aircraft has grown into a premier, full-service aviation provider at McAllen International Airport, serving aircraft owners and international travelers across the region.

Today, under the leadership of Mac's son, Bob McCreery, the company reflects the strength of the family-owned business built on hard work and commitment. Through high-quality maintenance, pilot training, and support for international trade, McCreery Aviation continues to play a vital role in our community.

Madam Speaker, I congratulate McCreery Aviation on eight decades of service. I wish them continued success for generations to come.

RECOGNIZING ALICE ISD

Ms. De La CRUZ. Madam Speaker, I rise today to celebrate Alice ISD, the recipient of the 2026 Small School District title at the H-E-B Excellence in Education Awards.

This milestone highlights the exceptional leadership, vision, and dedication shaping the future of the Alice community.

With this award comes $50,000 in grant money for student-centered upgrades across six campuses. These funds will bring new changes, from an outdoor science classroom and digital marquees to transforming the Schallert Elementary Library into a modern workspace.

None of this would be possible without the dedicated administrators, teachers, and support staff who lift their students up.

I congratulate the superintendent, Dr. Anysia Trevino, the Board of Trustees, and the entire Alice ISD community on this grand achievement.

MOMENT OF SILENCE HONORING LIFE OF JUNIPER BLESSING

(Ms. LEGER FERNANDEZ of New Mexico was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Ms. LEGER FERNANDEZ. Madam Speaker, New Mexico and Washington State rise today to honor the life of Juniper Blessing. Juniper was my constituent and attended the New Mexico School for the Arts High School.

There, Juniper's voice filled the air with hope, delight, passion, and, yes, sometimes angst. Madam Speaker, don't we all remember wondering who we are, wondering what our lives will look like beyond high school.

At that age, every joy shines brighter. Every fear cuts deeper. Every dream feels possible.

Juniper lived all of that and more. She was smart, funny, curious, energetic, and fiercely herself. She loved music, rainstorms, her dogs, her family, and the natural world.

She looked at the world with wonder and questions. She looked at Santa Fe's glorious thunder, lightning, and rainbows and said: I want to know more.

So she went to the University of Washington to study climate science and meteorology. She wanted to understand the mysteries of the atmosphere, the beauty and power of the world around us.

But for many, Juniper will always be remembered for her voice. She had the voice of an angel whose music filled classrooms, stages, and community gatherings. Her voice soared beyond the school walls and into the hearts of everyone who heard her.

I know that like so many parents, Craig and Monica Blessing sent Juniper off to college in Washington both proud and worried. They were proud because she was becoming exactly who she was meant to be, and they were worried because loving a child means carrying their hopes and dreams alongside your own.

Through it all, Juniper lived her life on her own terms with authenticity, courage, and joy. Her family describes her as pure love.

Friends remember reassuring hugs. They remember someone who noticed when others felt afraid, different, or alone. That kind of compassion leaves a mark that never disappears, and Juniper's voice will never be silent in our memories.

While we in Congress must address the senseless violence that took her from her grieving family and community, we must also honor the blessing that is Juniper. The tragedy of her death must not overshadow the beauty of her life.

We honor Juniper in the people's House so that her voice and her memory never fade.

I yield to the gentlewoman from Washington (Ms. JAYAPAL).

Ms. JAYAPAL. I thank the gentlewoman for those beautiful words and also for sharing this moment of celebration of Juniper Blessing and her life.

I am so proud that Juniper Blessing was a constituent of mine as well as a college student at the University of Washington in Seattle.

She was deeply loved and respected for who she was. At just 19 years old, she had already made her mark, and the tragedy of her murder leaves an incredible sense of pain in our community.

Here on the House floor, we send our thoughts, our prayers, and our commitment to her family, friends, and our entire community that we will continue to honor Juniper's incredible life, spirit, and light.

Juniper's friends have described her immense warmth, kindness, and commitment to justice. An incredibly talented woman, she shared her joy with our community through the arts and her singing voice. She said that her participation at the University of Washington's production of ''Considering Matthew Shepard,'' a musical response to the murder of a gay college student, was the most powerful thing she had ever been a part of.

She had a curiosity and love of planet and people that showed up in her choice of majors: atmospheric science specializing in meteorology and hurricane tracking with minors in both philosophy and music.

She was beloved on campus. Just a few weeks ago, the University of Washington community took part in an honor walk across campus carrying pieces of her memorial from Red Square to Mary Gates Hall where a new memorial will remain through September as a place for reflection and remembrance.

Let's honor Juniper's life and legacy to make this moment a rallying cry of love to all our transgender students at the University of Washington and across the country and a display of our strength and commitment that comes in times of tragedy to embrace even more tightly the right to freely and safely express who you are.

To the people at the University of Washington and my district and across the country, know that you are loved, and we will never stop fighting for the right for everyone to be who they are.

I now ask for a moment of silence to honor the incredible life of Juniper Blessing.

HONORING THE LIFE OF JOE WADE ELLIS

(Mr. MILLER of Ohio was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mr. MILLER of Ohio. Joe, if you are watching: I don't have my cell phone or keys in my pockets, but I rise today to honor the life of Joe Wade Ellis.

Born in Mississippi and raised in Alabama, Joe was a mentor, a friend, a patriot, and he was one hell of a man.

Joe recently passed away after an accident that occurred while supporting the United States delegation to the G7 meeting in France.

Joe, as I sit here in the office you helped me create, mold, and shape, I can only say how grateful I am to you.

When you and I first met, you were brought on to be my mentor in 2017 during the first Trump administration. My boss at the time wanted to let me go, probably not to anyone's surprise, but you saw something in me. You then told the White House how impressed you were with me, and then somehow I became the director of that office just 2 years later.

I have lost many people in my life but very few who cared about me the way that you did. You were my mentor and closest friend. You were with me through all the ups and downs. You were my rock like you were for so many others. You had a contagious personality. Everyone wanted to be around you, even if you may not have wanted to be around them, which could be often.

When I asked you to come out of retirement to be my chief of staff, I truly did not believe you would accept it, but when I won my race, you were there and simply responded: I am in. Let's talk tomorrow.

I knew you didn't want to take this job, but you did it for me. I knew that then, and I know it now. You said you would only stay for a year, but you stayed for the full term to make sure I won reelection, got reelected to steering, and got on Ways and Means.

That was because of you, Joe Ellis.

When my daughter was born, I had never seen you so excited for me to be a dad. You gave me invaluable advice that I will pass on to her as she grows older, and she will know where it came from.

I will miss our foreign trips together during the admin where you taught me everything I know about Advance. I will miss our time together as colleagues but even more as friends. It hurts when I call you and you are not on the other line.

You passed away doing what you loved. I know you are in a better place and that God has a plan for all of us. I just don't think you realized the impact you had on so many people during your time here on this Earth. That time was cut way too short, and I know you are watching and you are probably, you know, laughing a little bit as I am crying, but know how much I love you. Know the impact you had on me and other people, and I miss our time more than you can imagine.

RESTORE BACK BAY STUDY

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. GALLAGHER). The Chair recognizes the Member from Delaware (Representative MCBRIDE) for 5 minutes.

Ms. MCBRIDE. Mr. Speaker, I just want to start by thanking my colleagues who have spoken earlier in this speaking program for honoring individuals whose lives were cut tragically short, and I want to extend my condolences to all those who are mourning those who have been honored in this Chamber today.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to share my disappointment at the rejection of my amendment to the Energy and Water Appropriations bill.

My amendment supported the continuation of the Back Bay study, a congressionally authorized effort to help Delaware better address the vulnerabilities facing our coastal communities.

Delaware is the lowest-lying State in the Nation. In Sussex County, farmers, small businesses, and families are already dealing with the consequences of rising sea levels, coastal flooding, and increasingly severe weather.

The Back Bay study, which began in November of 2022, has been providing valuable research needed to strengthen infrastructure and plan for the future.

But earlier this year, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers terminated the study, citing an inability to ''develop a scope and budget that is compliant.''

In response, Senator COONS, Senator BLUNT ROCHESTER, and I called on the Army Corps to reinstate the study and provide a real explanation for walking away from this congressionally authorized effort.

Given their inaction, I filed my amendment. But the message from the majority party's leadership that has refused to even allow for a vote on my amendment is that research that supports the long-term safety of Delawareans in the face of rising sea levels is of no consequence to them.

I will keep working to restore the Back Bay study because Delawareans cannot afford for this study to simply be abandoned.

FAREWELL TO RETIRING LEGISLATORS

Ms. MCBRIDE. Mr. Speaker, this coming June 30, the Delaware's State legislature will convene for its final regular session day of the 153rd general assembly. With it, the State senate and statehouse will bid farewell to several retiring legislators, leaders with over a century in combined public service to our State of neighbors.

Representing constituencies across Delaware, spanning the partisan and ideological spectrum, I was proud to call these legislators colleagues during my 4 years in the general assembly. I had the chance to see their devotion to their constituents, and I will take a moment in this Chamber to celebrate their service.

In my old stomping grounds of the Delaware State Senate, my forever president pro-tempore, Senator David Sakola, is retiring after over 35 years in office. During that time, Dave has been a tireless champion of public education, environmental sustainability, and equality.

For the last 6 years as the President pro-tempore of the State senate, Dave led a caucus that raised the minimum wage, passed paid family and medical leave, advanced historic gun safety legislation, and protected vulnerable neighborhoods whose rights and freedoms have been anything but secure. I am proud to call Dave not only a former colleague but a friend and mentor.

Across the aisle, Senator Dave Lawson is retiring after 16 years representing western Kent County. A Vietnam veteran, retired Delaware State trooper, former volunteer with his local fire company, and a businessman, Dave has spent his life serving the Nation that he loves. He has paid it forward time and time again, fighting for those who put their lives on the line for all of us from veterans to first responders.

In the statehouse, my dear friend Deb Heffernan is retiring after 16 years representing the Sixth District. During her time in Dover, Deb has been an effective advocate for her neighbors delivering for teachers, families, caregivers, and people with disabilities. She has brought her expertise to defending our environment and investing in next-generation infrastructure in her district and across Delaware. During my time in the Delaware General Assembly, Deb and I teamed up often, including to lead the successful effort to pass paid family and medical leave statewide.

To my former colleagues who are also turning the page on this chapter of their service, Representatives Ron Gray, Rich Collins, Charles Postles, Jeff Hilovsky, and my friend Kevin Hensley, I thank each of them for their service on behalf of our neighbors across the First State.

From supporting small businesses to promoting financial literacy, protecting people with disabilities to fighting for farmers, they have worked across the political divide to champion causes on behalf of their constituents.

Mr. Speaker, in Delaware, public service is not defined by the title before your name nor the side of the aisle you sit on. It is defined by our capacity to deliver for our neighbors, working across difference to ensure government works for those it is meant to serve.

I thank my former colleagues and my friends in Leg Hall for their years of service to the greatest State in the history of the Union, and best wishes to a happy retirement.

HONORING BILL GRUMMONS

(Mr. BAUMGARTNER of Washington was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mr. BAUMGARTNER. Mr. Speaker, today, I rise to honor a dedicated member of the city of Spokane Fire Department, Mr. Bill Grummons.

Bill has been promoted to deputy chief of training and safety in the department. As deputy chief, Bill will oversee and support members of the department in their training to help them become better prepared for the challenges of the fire service.

Bill's collaborative leadership style and commitment to improvement within the department will benefit both personnel and the community greatly.

Bill joined the Spokane Fire Department in February 2012. During his career, he served as a firefighter at Station 4, lieutenant at Station 1, captain in staffing at Station 18, and battalion chief of the south battalion.

With the increased risk of wildfires in eastern Washington, it is a good reminder that it is brave and talented men and women, like Bill, that we need in charge.

With his years of experience and commitment to the department, I have no doubt he will do incredible things to strengthen the Spokane Fire Department and help take care of our wonderful community.

Please join me in congratulating Bill Grummons on this well-deserved promotion and wishing him nothing but continued success in his new role.

WHITWORTH UNIVERSITY LAUNCHING NURSING PROGRAM

Mr. BAUMGARTNER. Mr. Speaker, today, I rise to share the wonderful news that Whitworth University in Spokane, Washington, is launching a new bachelor of science in nursing program to strengthen care and address critical nursing shortages across the Northwest.

The school is set to launch in the fall of 2027. This 4-year BSN program reflects Whitworth's commitment to addressing the growing demand for highly trained nurses across the Pacific Northwest. This program is designed to expand access to high-quality nursing education while preparing graduates to serve in hospitals, clinics, and community health centers.

The BSN program will be housed in Hawthorne Hall, which is being transformed into a dedicated 22,500-square-foot nursing education facility. The space will feature state-of-the-art simulation and skill labs designed to prepare students for real-world healthcare environments.

I commend Whitworth University for launching its new nursing program, a significant step toward addressing the growing demand for healthcare professionals in the Northwest.

This investment will create new pathways for students, support our hospitals and clinics, and help ensure families across the region have access to high-quality care for years.

REMEMBERING FRANKIE DEWITT

Mr. BAUMGARTNER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the memory of a dear friend, a great patriot, and a wonderful citizen of eastern Washington, Mrs. Frankie DeWitt.

Frankie was an extraordinary woman whose kindness, strength, and unwavering commitment to others and to public service touched countless lives across our community.

Frankie was born in Oregon. With her father, a civil engineer, she traveled extensively throughout her childhood, living in Okinawa, Afghanistan, and Iran. It helped shape her lifelong approach to seeing people as they were and treating everyone with dignity and grace.

Frankie was a dedicated volunteer in the arts and at her church, and she spent 50 years involved in local conservative and Republican politics.

Frankie served as State committeewoman, GOP chair in Yakima, and northeast chair for the Washington Federation of Republican Women. She worked tirelessly to strengthen our party, support candidates, and encourage civic engagement across eastern Washington.

When I first ran for office in 2010 for the State senate, Frankie was a member of my campaign's brain trust. Her wise advice and sometimes critical guidance, always delivered with kindness, were essential to our success. I specifically remember Frankie telling me not to ride in cars in parades but to get out and shake hands with the public.

As I have continued my political career, Frankie's influence has remained with me. The values she lived by—service, compassion, and commitment to others—continue to serve as a reminder of why we do this work.

Frankie is now reunited with her beloved late husband, Tom. She leaves behind three wonderful children and seven granddaughters. Her memory remains a blessing, and her legacy lives on for the countless lives she touched.

As we celebrate these 250 years of our wonderful America, it reminds me that it is civically minded people like Frankie DeWitt who continue to keep this wonderful Republic.

RECOGNIZING CUPCAKE CUTIE BOUTIQUE

(Mr. LATIMER of New York was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mr. LATIMER. Mr. Speaker, today, I rise to celebrate the Cupcake Cutie Boutique, a Mount Vernon establishment built on family, faith, and Black excellence.

The founders are a mother-daughter duo who opened their small business over 10 years ago. The pair faced challenges familiar to many small business owners, including the pandemic, in which they never stopped serving the community.

We salute Montika Jones and her daughter, Miesha Stokely, the baker, for this wonderful business.

Due to the current administration's policies, small businesses everywhere are struggling amidst rising tariffs, energy costs, and economic fallout. As a member of the Small Business Committee, it is important to me that small businesses get the proper support and respect that they deserve.

We should support women-owned businesses and African-American-owned businesses. A mother-daughter team, like Cupcake Cutie Boutique, must continue to thrive alongside all the wonderful small businesses in our community. That is how we achieve economic growth for all.

MARKING ALZHEIMER'S AWARENESS MONTH

Mr. LATIMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today during Alzheimer's Awareness Month to call my colleagues to action in confronting this devastating disease.

I have met with representatives from the Alzheimer's Association to discuss their legislative priorities and how advocates can draw attention to this disease. In these meetings, we spoke about the importance of early detection and proper screenings.

The ASAP Act, bipartisan legislation, does just this by providing Medicare coverage for blood-based dementia screening tests.

Our need for action comes when the current Presidential administration denies basic science and proposes cuts to and constraints on key research institutions, such as the NIH.

One in nine Americans over the age of 65 are diagnosed with Alzheimer's. They deserve more. They cannot afford cuts to research that can lead to curing this horrible disease.

RISING COSTS OF FAMILY TRIPS

Mr. LATIMER. Mr. Speaker, it is that time of year when summer break starts and families across the country embark on family trips.

The rising costs of fuel, food, and basic necessities are making it difficult to take on any expenses beyond their basic needs. The average national gas prices remained at and above $4 since the start of the war with Iran. Families are already absorbing the rising costs of utility bills and increased healthcare premiums. Many families cannot handle an extra expense for a vacation.

Airlines are reducing their flight schedules; travel demand is decreasing; and international tourism into the United States is dropping rapidly.

Sadly, this administration demonstrates that it does not care about the cost of living when I hear President Trump say: ''I love the inflation.''

My hope is for my fellow Americans to have the opportunity to make new memories with their families without having to make concessions due to rising costs around every corner. This is a priority that we must address.

HONORING LOYD ARDREY

(Mr. NORMAN of South Carolina was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mr. NORMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Mr. Loyd Ardrey of South Carolina. Loyd was renowned throughout Rock Hill as a central part of the community and was deeply beloved by all those who encountered him.

Loyd grew up in Rock Hill and attended Winthrop Training School before graduating from Rock Hill High School. He attended Spartanburg Junior College and then served our great Nation in the United States National Guard.

After his time of service, Loyd returned home to work in the printing industry with his father at Record Printing. He was successful in the printing business, eventually opening his own company, Regal Graphics, where he worked for many years.

It was in 2003 that Loyd first established Ebenezer Grill. Under his leadership, The Grill, as it was known, quickly became a famous establishment in both Rock Hill and the entire State.

Loyd was known as the owner of the best hot dog and barbecue place in town, and The Grill became a household name. Under his direction, the restaurant attracted customers from all over with its incredible food, low prices, and welcoming atmosphere.

Loyd himself was the magic behind it all, welcoming anyone, with the utmost generosity and kindness. Whether it was young people, businesspeople, or construction workers, he was a true friend to all.

Loyd was also a quiet philanthropist. Ever humble, he quietly supported Dorothy Day Soup Kitchen, Haven Men's Shelter, and many other important causes throughout the community. He would annually host a hot dog-eating contest on the Fourth of July, where all the proceeds went to charity.

Loyd was a man of deep faith. He faithfully attended Westminster Presbyterian Church and was committed to the Sunday school community there.

Mr. Loyd Ardrey passed away on May 15 of this year at the age of 77. Since his passing, hundreds have spoken about the deep impact he made on their lives. His legacy is truly undeniable.

I am honored to recognize Mr. Loyd Ardrey for a life that was well lived.

CELEBRATING IMMIGRANT HERITAGE MONTH

(Ms. BARRAGÁN of California was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Ms. BARRAGÁN. Mr. Speaker, it is Immigrant Heritage Month. This month, we celebrate what millions of Americans have been cheering: The remarkable success of the United States men's national soccer team at the World Cup.

Across our country, families have gathered in living rooms and restaurants to watch Team USA compete on the world's biggest stage.

As our national team inspires our country, the Trump administration has chosen a different message. Just days ago, the Department of Homeland Security posted social media messages featuring members of Team USA alongside slogans such as ''Defend the Homeland'' and ''Built the Wall.''

Think about that irony. The administration pushed anti-immigrant messaging by using the very images of a team whose success shows the very value of immigration.

Many of the players on Team USA are immigrants or are children of immigrants. Several players were born outside the United States or hold dual citizenship. Their stories span continents, cultures, and generations.

This is not a weakness of America. That is America. One of our team's star scorers, Folarin Balogun, is a perfect example. He was born in Brooklyn while his Nigerian parents were temporarily living in New York. Under the Constitution of the United States, he became an American citizen at birth. Today, he wears our Nation's jersey. He scores goals for our country.

Yet, the same administration celebrating our players is trying to end birthright citizenship, the very principle that made Balogun an American in the first place.

Now, this issue extends far beyond soccer. The Trump administration has pursued policies that make it harder for people to come here legally, harder for families to reunite, harder for refugees to find safety, and harder for talented students and workers to build their futures in our country.

Across the country, communities continue to experience ruthless immigration enforcement actions that separate families, create fear, and leave children wondering whether a parent will come home at the end of the day.

We should ask ourselves simple questions: Who are we losing? Who never gets the chance?

Maybe it is the next star striker who would score the winning goal for Team USA.

Maybe it is the Nobel Prize-winning scientist who would discover a cure for a devastating disease, like Katalin Kariko, who immigrated from Hungary to the United States for a postdoctoral fellowship. Her research made the COVID–19 vaccine possible.

Maybe it is Omar Yaghi, an immigrant born to a Palestinian refugee family living in Jordan, who immigrated to the United States at 15. Professor Yaghi, of UC Berkeley, received a Nobel Prize in chemistry last year.

Maybe it is the entrepreneur who would launch the next great American company, like Sergey Brin, a Soviet Union refugee at age 6. Sergey went on to cofound Google.

History teaches us that immigrants have helped build every chapter of America's success. That has driven innovation in medicine, science, technology, and industry.

That is why Immigrant Heritage Month matters. It is a reminder that our diversity is not something to fear. It is one of our greatest competitive advantages. We should not be turning our backs on the very people who help make America more dynamic.

The lesson of Team USA is that America succeeds because, generation after generation, people from around the world have come here, contributed here, and become part of our national story.

That story is still being written.

During Immigrant Heritage Month, let us reject division, and let us embrace an immigration system worthy of the Nation we aspire to be, a nation wise enough to recognize that immigrants are not a threat to America's future. They are helping to build it.

RECOGNIZING NATIONAL BOYS & GIRLS CLUB WEEK

(Mr. YAKYM of Indiana was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mr. YAKYM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize National Boys & Girls Club Week and celebrate the incredible impact the Boys & Girls Clubs have on young people across our country.

Before coming to Congress, I had the privilege of serving as board chair of the Boys & Girls Clubs of Northern Indiana. Through that experience, I saw firsthand how these clubs do things like taking care of young people, how they change lives, how they create opportunities, and how they mentor our young people and the future generations.

When I came to Congress, I knew I wanted to continue to support their mission. That is why I was proud to introduce a bipartisan resolution last night honoring the National Boys & Girls Club Week with my friends, Representatives SCHOLTEN and FITZPATRICK.

Each year Boys & Girls Clubs serve more than 4 million young people nationwide, including over 180,000 Hoosiers. Through career readiness programs, these clubs help prepare the next generation for success in school, work, and life.

Mr. Speaker, I encourage all Americans to recognize the dedicated staff, volunteers, and supporters who work tirelessly to build great futures for millions of young people. I also urge my colleagues to join me in supporting this resolution and celebrating National Boys & Girls Club Week.

HONORING DEPUTY JON SAMUELSON OF LAPORTE COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT

Mr. YAKYM. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a hero from Indiana's Second Congressional District, Deputy Jon Samuelson of the LaPorte County Sheriff's Office.

On May 22, Deputy Samuelson did what good people do: He stopped to help a stranger stranded on the side of the road and drove him to the hospital. That act of decency nearly cost him his life, but before it did, he saved someone else's life.

What began as kindness quickly escalated into a violent confrontation. Before the suspect opened fire, Deputy Samuelson intervened. He deflected the weapon away from a nurse who was directly in the line of fire. That nurse told investigators that Jon saved his life.

That is the definition of sacrifice and service.

There is a thin blue line, and it is a dangerous line, that separates chaos from civilization. Most of us will never see that line. However, men and women like Deputy Samuelson stand on it every single day so the rest of us don't have to.

Jon comes from four generations of law enforcement in LaPorte County. He knew what the badge demanded, and he chose it anyway.

To his wife, Quinn: We stand with you as Jon recovers.

AFFORDABLE HOUSING LEGISLATION HELD HOSTAGE

(Ms. PETTERSEN of Colorado was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Ms. PETTERSEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate what the House and Senate were able to do with passing the 21st Century ROAD to Housing Act.

Across Colorado, families are being squeezed by the skyrocketing cost of housing. Whether it is in the suburbs or our rural communities, there are simply not enough homes.

In Colorado alone, we are short 100,000 units, and that is driving up costs for all of us. We know that owning a home is one of the most important pathways to economic opportunity, stability, and generational wealth. It has also been a cornerstone of the American Dream. Yet, it has never been further out of reach.

Housing affordability is the number one issue that I hear from constituents. It is their greatest pain point. Young families are losing hope that they will ever be able to buy their first home. Seniors looking to downsize have nowhere to go. Teachers, nurses, and firefighters are being pushed out of the communities they serve, and the people who have lived there their entire lives are being forced to move because they can no longer afford to live in the place where they grew up.

That is why addressing the housing crisis has been a top priority for me in Congress and why I am so proud that three of my bills have been included in this package.

Like all significant issues facing this country, this is going to take an all-hands-on-deck approach. This bill does not address all of the problems that we are facing, but I am so proud that we were able to come together to boost the housing supply, remove barriers to construction, and expand access to homes families can afford.

While this was supposed to have been a moment of bipartisanship and celebration, right before coming up here, I was notified that the President has canceled the bill signing. He is holding hostage the most important piece of legislation we have brought for housing in 30 years. He is holding it hostage until he forces through his voter suppression bill that would disenfranchise millions of Americans, especially women who have changed their name after being married.

I am truly appalled. I should expect really nothing from this President, but I am absolutely shocked by his actions. President Trump has said that nobody gives an f about housing, and he has reminded us, once again, that he absolutely does not. This is about consolidating power for President Trump. Everything that he does is about him and has nothing to do with you.

It is just absolutely shameful.

CONGRATULATING SCHIEFELBEIN FAMILY, MEEKER COUNTY'S 2026 FARM FAMILY OF THE YEAR

(Mrs. FISCHBACH of Minnesota was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mrs. FISCHBACH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate the Schiefelbein family on being the Meeker County 2026 Farm Family of the Year.

Big Frank and Frosty began this family legacy in 1955. I had the honor to know them both and call many, many members of this wonderful family friends. It is truly a family farm with so many members of the family actively working on the farm. The Schiefelbein farm sells about 500 head of cattle and calve about 1,000 registered Angus cows annually. They also operate a feeder calf operation where they feed over 30,000 calves across the U.S.

Their outstanding production of cattle and cows across the U.S. is no small feat. The Schiefelbein family's dedication to their farm shows just how Minnesotans are feeding America.

Once again, Mr. Speaker, I congratulate the Schiefelbein family.

CONGRATULATING DR. DARRELL CARTER OF GRANITE FALLS, MINNESOTA

Mrs. FISCHBACH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to congratulate Dr. Darrell Carter of Granite Falls, Minnesota, on receiving the National Rural Health Association's 2026 Outstanding Educator Award.

For over 50 years, Dr. Carter has served as a cornerstone of rural medicine in Avera Granite Falls Health Center, but his impact goes far beyond the local community. In 1993 he co-founded the Comprehensive Advanced Life Support Program. Today, nearly all of Minnesota's designated trauma hospitals rely on the CALS Program to train medical personnel for life-threatening emergencies.

Dr. Carter's decades of clinical excellence, innovation, and educational leadership have saved countless lives and transformed emergency care across rural America.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Dr. Carter for 54 years of dedicated service to his community.

CELEBRATING ENOCH HORTON, FINALIST FOR NASA'S HUNCH PROGRAM

Mrs. FISCHBACH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate Enoch Horton, a rising senior at Wadena-Deer Creek High School, who recently represented Minnesota on the national stage.

Enoch became his school's first finalist for the prestigious NASA HUNCH program. Out of thousands of students across 34 States, Enoch advanced to the final design reviews at the NASA Johnson Space Center in Houston, Texas.

Enoch designed and presented an AI-powered satellite project aimed at improving orbital sustainability and expanding access to space research.

Enoch's achievement is a testament to his hard work and ingenuity. He has proven that big ideas and groundbreaking innovation can come from any corner of our great Nation.

Congratulations to Enoch on a remarkable achievement.

CELEBRATING SOO HAK KWON'S HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION

(Mr. CISNEROS of California was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mr. CISNEROS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to celebrate and uplift a major milestone achieved by an outstanding member of California's 31st Congressional District.

Congratulations to Soo Hak Kwon for graduating high school at the young age of 91 years old. Soo was a Korean-American businessowner who immigrated to Los Angeles in 1972 and moved to La Puente with his family in 1980.

He always enjoyed learning but never had the time to start taking classes because he was busy raising his family and operating a local TV repair and wig shop.

That all changed when he enrolled at Bassett Adult School 5 years ago. Last week, he received his high school diploma in his cap and gown. His teachers say Soo has a kind, warm presence that makes other students feel welcome, and he lit up every classroom he walked into.

Soo is an inspiration to our community, and he should be so proud of himself. He has reminded us all that education truly is a lifelong process.

GLENDORA BASEBALL DIVISION III REGIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP.

Mr. CISNEROS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to commend the Glendora High School baseball team on pulling off an incredible comeback victory in the Division III regional championship.

Mr. Speaker, it takes grit, determination, and focus to pull off an upset win when the cards are stacked against you, and that is exactly what they demonstrated.

It is an incredible feat to win eight straight playoff games in a row. They accomplished that through teamwork and dedication to athletic excellence.

What a perfect way to cap off a great season. I congratulate them on winning a CIF championship.

Mr. Speaker, I hope they enjoy their win and know that our entire district is so proud of their accomplishment.

ALL CHILDREN DESERVE EDUCATION

Mr. CISNEROS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today with grave concern about disturbing actions taken by our country's leadership.

The Trump administration has announced plans to move the office of overseeing special education services out of the Department of Education.

With this development, the Department of Education has hollowed itself out by delegating the vast majority of its functions to other agencies.

The President is so determined to dismantle our education systems that he is willing to put millions of students at risk and completely abandon our children with disabilities.

As a proud champion for students with special needs, I am horrified that this decision will undermine accountability and disrupt communication for families and school officials who need help.

We should be investing in and expanding special needs programs across the country so that all children can get the support they need and the education they deserve.

Instead, this administration has made the cruel decision to shut our most vulnerable students out from the programs that they rely on. This is a reprehensible action from a corrupt administration. I will do everything in my power to oppose this shameful decision and protect our disabled students' rights.

ANNIVERSARY OF OBERGEFELL V. HODGES

Mr. CISNEROS. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to mark the anniversary of Obergefell v. Hodges this week, the landmark Supreme Court decision that affirmed marriage equality as law of the land over a decade ago.

We honor this anniversary every year during Pride Month by remembering the activists, couples, and lawmakers who had the courage to fight for their right to love whom they love in the face of hate, discrimination, and injustice. Their relentless advocacy and conviction paved the way for marriage equality.

I am so grateful to live in a world where every LGBTQ+ individual who calls California's 31st District their home has the right to marriage.

I will always fight to protect their right to equality and to live freely and happily as their most authentic self.

WISHING POLICE CHIEF ROBERT NOBLE OF YORKTOWN POLICE DEPARTMENT A HAPPY RETIREMENT

(Mr. LAWLER of New York was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mr. LAWLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to recognize and congratulate Yorktown Police Chief Robert Noble on his retirement after more than three decades of public service.

Chief Noble's career has been defined by commitment, sacrifice, and an unwavering sense of duty. For more than 30 years in law enforcement, including nearly a decade as chief, he led the Yorktown Police Department with professionalism and steady leadership.

For Chief Noble, policing was never simply a job, it was a vocation. He described the department as a second family and fostered a culture of trust, respect, and community engagement.

Throughout his tenure, he strengthened community policing initiatives, expanded school-based programs, and guided the department through the COVID–19 pandemic and other challenging moments, including the loss of an officer.

Beyond his accomplishments, Chief Noble will be remembered for his integrity, his leadership, and his dedication to keeping Yorktown safe.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Bobby, his family, and the entire Yorktown Police Department. I extend my deepest gratitude for his decades of service. May his retirement be filled with some well-earned rest and time with his loved ones.

REMEMBERING CARMINE CAPONIGRO

Mr. LAWLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the life of Carmine Caponigro, a distinguished oral surgeon, veteran, educator, and devoted family man who passed away earlier this month.

A native New Yorker, Carmine was born in Brooklyn and raised in the Bronx, where he embodied the American Dream. As the first in his family to attend college, he earned degrees from Fordham University and New York University College of Dentistry before proudly serving our Nation in the United States Army.

After his military service, he made Rockland County his home, where he built a respected oral surgery practice, served as chief of dental service at Good Samaritan Hospital, and helped educate future dental professionals. His commitment to excellence earned him the Sister Joseph Rita Good Samaritan Award for Medical Excellence.

Beyond his many professional accomplishments, Carmine will be remembered most for his kindness, humility, sharp intellect, and deep love for his family. He valued service, lifelong learning, and treating every person with dignity and respect.

His beloved wife of 72 years, Lydia, his children, and the entire Caponigro family are in our thoughts and prayers.

Mr. Speaker, may God bless Carmine's memory and may his legacy continue to inspire generations to come.

HONORING BILL RITTER

Mr. LAWLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor a great New Yorker, Bill Ritter, whose decades of work in broadcast journalism have earned him the respect and admiration of viewers across our region. As he and his family face his recent diagnosis of early-stage Alzheimer's disease, I join countless New Yorkers in offering my prayers, support, and deep gratitude for all he has given to our communities.

For decades, Bill has been a trusted presence in New York homes. As the longtime anchor of WABC's Eyewitness News, he built a career defined by integrity, thoughtful storytelling, and an unwavering commitment to keeping the public informed.

Throughout my time in Congress, I have had the opportunity to join Bill on his program where every conversation reflected his fairness, professionalism, and respect for others. Even as he steps away from the anchor desk, Bill continues to lead with courage and purpose by raising awareness about Alzheimer's disease and helping families facing the same journey.

Mr. Speaker, Bill; his wife, Kathleen; his children; and his entire family are in our thoughts and prayers. We are deeply grateful for Bill's decades of service, his friendship, and his voice in our public life.

Mr. Speaker, may God bless Bill and his family, and may He grant him strength, peace, and comfort in the days ahead as he sets out to battle Alzheimer's.

RECOGNIZING WATSON PADOVANI

Mr. LAWLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize a truly inspiring young New Yorker from Somers, 5-year-old Watson Padovani, who is showing all of us that you are never too young to make a difference in your community.

Earlier this June, Watson held his third annual lemonade stand outside of Bobo's Cafe in Somers, raising more than $2,000 for Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation, which supports children and families battling childhood cancer. What began as a simple act of kindness has now become a growing tradition of compassion and service.

The Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation was inspired by the legacy of young Alex Scott, who began raising money with a simple lemonade stand in her fight against childhood cancer.

Today, Watson is helping carry that mission forward, one that has raised millions for pediatric cancer research and brought hope to countless families across the country.

Mr. Speaker, to Watson and his family and the entire Somers community that came together to support this effort, I thank them for setting such a powerful example of kindness, generosity, and community spirit.

RECOGNIZING THE '76 HOUSE IN TAPPAN, NEW YORK

Mr. LAWLER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize one of the Hudson Valley's most historic landmarks, the '76 House in Tappan, New York.

Established in 1686 and expanded in 1755, it is widely known as America's oldest tavern. Mr. Speaker, '76 House stood at the center of a growing community.

On July 4, 1774, local leaders gathered to draft and sign the resolutions of Orangetown, one of the first declarations of independence in American history, helping to lay the foundation for the freedoms we celebrate today.

During the Revolutionary War, '76 House welcomed some of the most important figures in our Nation's founding, including George Washington, Alexander Hamilton, and the Marquis de Lafayette. It also played a role in a pivotal moment of the war, including the trial of Major John Andre, a turning point that reshaped the course of the Revolution.

Today, it remains a living piece of American history, offering a direct connection to the people and events that defined our independence and reflecting the enduring spirit of freedom in the Hudson Valley. As we celebrate America's 250th birthday, I am proud to recognize the Old '76 House's legacy and its role in preserving our Nation's story for generations to come.

HONORING MIKHAIL TORRANCE

(Mr. FIGURES of Alabama was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Mr. FIGURES. Mr. Speaker, today, I rise to pay honor and tribute to one of the best that my hometown has ever had to offer: Mikhail Torrance.

An incredible young man, who tragically and suddenly passed away last week at the age of just 37 years old. He was a young man whose passing has unleashed a tidal wave of shock and disbelief and raw grief and emotion back home.

I am from Mobile, Alabama. It is the same hometown as Mikhail. It is a place that has produced arguably the best historical collection of athletic talent of almost any city in this country. We have had a number one pick in an NBA draft, an NFL draft, dozens of professional ballplayers, dozens of NCAA champions, NBA, Super Bowl, World Series champions, and six pro sports Hall of Famers, and that number will grow. In fact, just last night, we further added to that legacy with the first round draft pick in the NBA of Labaron Philon, Jr.

Saying someone is among the best to come from my hometown in any sport is not something that can be said lightly at all, but it is something that can honestly be said about Mikhail.

I am a few years older than Mikhail, so I was already in college at the University of Alabama when he was coming up through Mary G. Montgomery High School, but I remember when I found out that the University of Florida was recruiting him. It really surprised me because I had not heard of him much before that point. This is at a time when Florida was in the midst of winning back-to-back national championships, and so I called his high school coach, John Davis, who happened to be one of my high school coaches at LeFlore, and I asked him was this kid really that good. Without hesitation, and with the grin that a coach has when he knows he has a workhorse on his team, he said: Yeah, he is. But he also said: But he is a really good kid.

Mikhail ended up coming out as a top recruit in the State of Alabama, ended up going to the University of Alabama where he did everything that was asked of him. He did it the right way. Every single year, he got better. He waited his turn, and by the time he came out, he was an all-conference player, excelled in the predraft process, and by all accounts was headed to the NBA.

But he had a heart condition that was discovered and it cost him his shot at playing in the league. Imagine that, being 21 years old and on the pathway to fulfilling a childhood dream and having done everything the right way. This kid didn't have so much as a rumor of a blemish on his character or his reputation, and then that dream was suddenly taken away because of a medical condition. It was tough for him, but he pivoted.

He was able to ultimately play proball overseas for a few years before returning home to Alabama to his wife, Jessica, and their two girls, Maci and McKenna, ages 11 and 7. He worked at the Army Corps of Engineers and in real estate, but he still stayed close to the game that he loved so much through coaching and training kids and hosting camps and refereeing local basketball games, even doing play-by-play announcing of televised college games and also doing motivational speaking, giving his testimony, sharing his pain, his struggle, his journey to inspire younger guys to continue to persevere and be better, even better than he was.

As we know, life isn't always fair, and horrible things happen. Now, we sit here in this seemingly unreal moment, and his wife and kids suddenly find themselves in a club that no one wants to be a part of. Unfortunately, I, too, am a member of that club. Coincidentally, just like his daughters, I was 11 when my father suddenly passed, and my younger brother was 7. Having been in those shoes, I can tell you that as much as it sucks being in that club, you ironically end up in another club that a lot of people actually aspire to be in, and that is the club of having a father or a husband whose life will be remembered and talked about for years to come because he lived with such a passion and dedication and was truly loved and respected by many, many people.

One day, as kids in that club do, his girls will research their dad. They will look him up. They will see the articles about his games and his stats and the clips of his highlights and read about his accomplishments. They will see the articles about his career being cut short. They will see the articles and the news stories covering his untimely death.

However, buried in that research, it is my hope that they will find mention of his name in the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, perhaps even see this speech, and know that their father lived a life that was worthy of tribute and honor on the House floor of the United States Capitol in the same room where Presidents speak, where heads of State speak, where we recently just hosted the King of England, because he deserved that.

To Mikhail's parents, you raised a hell of a young man. To Jessica and the girls, our hearts go out to you and know that thousands of people are here to support you all. To Mikhail, on behalf of a grateful city and from a fan, I thank him for the example that he set for the city of Mobile, for representing us well, and being amongst the best that Mobile has ever had to offer this world. You made us proud, boy. You really made us proud.

CONGRESSIONAL OVERSIGHT

(Ms. MEJIA of New Jersey was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Ms. MEJIA. Mr. Speaker, today, I rise with a complaint.

A few days ago, while my colleagues in the New Jersey delegation and I attempted to carry out our oversight responsibilities at Delaney Hall, we found ourselves blocked by ICE and its contractor, GEO Group.

While we can debate the abhorrent actions of this administration toward immigrants and Americans alike, what we should not debate is our right to carry out our duties on behalf of the American people.

The bottom line is, Members of this governing body have a duty to oversee all aspects of our government and its entities. We have a duty to ask hard questions and challenge injustice, even when it is carried out by our own government.

I have walked the halls of Delaney and Elizabeth Detention Centers. My account of medical abuse and neglect have been direct and truthful. Every American should be concerned about what Members of our delegation have relayed. They should be concerned of the persecution of one of our own Members, and they should demand that oversight continues.

Today, the rights at risk are those on the margins, but ultimately injustice can and will come for us all.

COMMITMENT TO PROTECT OUR FREEDOMS

Ms. MEJIA. Mr. Speaker, I rise in a moment in which our Nation both celebrates its first founding while simultaneously forces within it attack the essence of its second.

As we reflect on our Nation's 250th anniversary, I pause to recognize the democratic values hardwired into the 13th, 14th, and 15th Amendments, amendments that defined the American freedoms we fight to preserve and restore today.

Ratified on July 9, 1868, and debated in this very Chamber, the 14th Amendment is one of the most transformative amendments in American history. It fundamentally expanded who counts in American democracy and established the principle that everyone born in these United States belongs here and deserves equal protection under the law.

The word ''transformative,'' in fact, falls short. Because of the 14th Amendment, individuals who walked these hallowed Halls were able to fight for marriage equality, bodily autonomy, equal access to public education, public housing, the right to form a union, collectively bargain, and much, much more.

To put it simply, for more than 150 years, the 14th Amendment has undergirded much of what we fight to enact and strive to defend in this Hall.

Those protections have been under attack since their inception, but in recent years, these attacks have escalated, stripping some protections from the hands of our fellow Americans.

This is why I rise at this moment, to remind my colleagues and fellow Americans about what is truly at stake. Those privileged and blessed to represent our fellow Americans have a special charge in this moment. I take that charge seriously, with a commitment to protect our freedoms today and for those who will come after us, generations to come.

CHOOSING PEACE, HUMAN DIGNITY, AND CHILDREN OF THE WORLD

(Ms. STANSBURY of New Mexico was recognized to address the House for 5 minutes.)

Ms. STANSBURY. Mr. Speaker, as we sit here in the people's House, millions of children in the Middle East are living in fear, trauma, and danger. That fear has only intensified as the President has waged an illegal war in Iran, with hundreds of schoolchildren killed, thousands of civilians lost, and bombs still dropping in Lebanon as entire communities have been reduced to rubble.

The President is seemingly no closer to ending the war he unleashed and, instead, is obsessing about golden ballrooms, grand arches, and algae-infested pools while asking this body for an unprecedented $1.5 billion for more weapons and military spending to wage this war and a State Department and foreign affairs budget that continues devastating cuts to the lifesaving programs of USAID that have directly contributed to the loss of food, medicine, and critical lifesaving aid across the world, with completely preventable deaths for thousands of children.

This is a moral moment for America. Will we stand up and say stop this war and reinvest in our humanitarian missions? Will we speak up against injustice and suffering? Will we remain silent?

Last night, the Senate finally passed our War Powers Resolution to end the war in Iran, sending a clear message that it is time to end this illegal war.

Today, I stand here on the floor to offer amendments to the foreign affairs budget to restore funding for critical aid, food, and resources for the children of the Middle East, and particularly for Gaza. They have faced unimaginable suffering over the last several years.

Just yesterday, a U.N. commission reported on the deliberate targeting and killing of Palestinian children in Gaza and the West Bank as part of a deliberate strategy to destroy future Palestinian communities. We cannot turn a blind eye to these crimes.

We must stand up as the branch of government by the people and for the people. We must be a voice for right and wrong, a moral conscience for this country and for our people.

Back home, my constituents are calling my office daily to ask for an end to this conflict and the suffering, and to choose a different path for this country, a path that invests in our people in communities and the children of this planet; a path that ends the violence and the killing in the Middle East, Gaza, and the West Bank; and a path that ends the destruction of communities, schools, hospitals, roads, and water systems that have devastated millions.

Mr. Speaker, it has been catastrophic. Whether it is funding in this bill, another military spending bill from the White House, or the NDAA, Congress cannot remain silent. Congress cannot remain complicit. Congress cannot fund this violence, especially when the greatest burden has fallen on children.

Children have watched their parents, siblings, and classmates die and are waking up every day, wondering where their next meal will come from and whether they will survive the night. No child should inherit a future defined by violence and despair, and certainly not funded by the taxpayers of the American people.

If Americans are serious about building a safer and more stable world, we must invest in the people who have been impacted most by these conflicts abroad.

That is why I am offering these amendments to restore humanitarian aid to the children of Gaza, invest in schools and healthcare for moms and children, combat malnutrition, reunite families, and provide shelter for those who have lost their homes. Children should not pay the price for violence and a war they did not start.

I urge my colleagues today to stand up in this moral moment to support these amendments and reverse course as a nation; recognize that America's strength comes not from its military might but from our moral leadership; and vote for a future where children have the opportunity to learn, grow, and thrive.

Mr. Speaker, I can say that I have made my choice. I choose peace, human dignity, and the children of the world, and I hope my colleagues will join me.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12(a) of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess until noon today.

Accordingly (at 11 o'clock and 20 minutes a.m.), the House stood in recess.

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. BOST) at noon.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, the Reverend Margaret Grun Kibben, offered the following prayer:

Holy Lord, You have called us to You and chosen us as Your own. You have spoken to us through Your word and having heard Your voice, may we respond to You with our whole selves.

May every aspect of our being reflect a deep desire to live into the grace You have shown us, a grace that has led us to this place to serve this Nation at this time in its history.

May the work we do to govern and lead this country be established in Your divine guidance and sustained by our faith in You.

May even the little things that seem inconsequential and yet are essential to the success of our efforts be prompted by our love for You.

May our endurance through the monumental and the mundane be inspired and upheld by the hope that is found only in You.

God, the author, redeemer, and sustainer of our lives, we entrust the living of this day to Your keeping. In Your enduring name we pray.

Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House the approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1 of rule I, the Journal stands approved.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. WILSON) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will entertain up to 15 requests for 1-minute speeches on each side of the aisle.

REPUBLICANS EXPOSING FRAUD

(Mr. WILSON of South Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. WILSON of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, fraud diverts programs meant for families, seniors, children, veterans, and small businesses. It rewards criminals who know the government will often pay first and ask questions later.

House Republicans have passed legislation, including the Fraud Prevention Accountability Act, led by our Speaker MIKE JOHNSON to help agencies verify eligibility, share information, and stop suspicious payments before the money is distributed.

House Republicans are exposing fraud by investigating programs, recovering stolen dollars, and giving whistleblowers a voice.

In conclusion, God bless our troops as the global war on terrorism continues. Trump is reinstituting peace through strength, revealing war criminal Putin lies, insulting Trump and mocking Trump, intentionally murdering Ukrainian civilians while destroying churches.

Congratulations Attorney General Alan Wilson with a 69 percent Republican primary victory yesterday for Governor of South Carolina. I appreciate the endorsement of Donald Trump, NANCY MACE, and RALPH NORMAN.

I extend my sympathy on the passing of Commissioner Jo Anne Whitehead, the beloved wife of Chairman Lyman Whitehead of Irmo, South Carolina.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A message from the Senate by Mr. Ferrari, one of its clerks, announced that the Senate has agreed to without amendment a concurrent Resolution of the House of the following title:

H. Con. Res. 86. Concurrent Resolution directing the President, pursuant to section 5(c) of the War Powers Resolution, to remove United States Armed Forces from hostilities with Iran.

ANNIVERSARY OF OVERTURNING ROE V. WADE

(Mr. LATIMER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LATIMER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today, 4 years after the overturning of Roe v. Wade, to bring to light the devastating impact that the Supreme Court's Dobbs decision has had on our country.

Since Dobbs, government interference in what should be a decision between doctor and patient has led physicians to hesitate, delaying patients from receiving the care they require.

Centers that provide preventative and lifesaving reproductive services have been shuttered. In the wake of Dobbs, laws have caused women to experience unnecessary complications sometimes leading to their death.

I cannot fathom being forced to make a life-or-death decision because of what politicians and courts have decided rather than the advice of medical experts.

On this anniversary, I urge my colleagues to join me in demanding better for my constituents by acting to protect access to reproductive care.

Every moment we wait is a moment too long.

OMAHA MAN ARRESTED FOR UFC TERROR PLOT

(Mr. FLOOD asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FLOOD. Mr. Speaker, the arrest of a man in Omaha accused of leading the plot to attack the White House's UFC event this month is a stark reminder about the threats that face our Nation.

According to DHS, the suspect entered the U.S. illegally and allegedly sought to make the attack '' . . . as deadly as we can get.''

This case underscores the importance of securing our borders, enforcing our immigration laws, and remaining vigilant against those who seek political violence rather than political debate.

I am grateful to the Omaha FBI, working together with the Nebraska State Patrol, who arrested this alleged ringleader before lives were put at risk. Their professionalism and commitment to help keep our communities safe happens every day.

Regardless of ideology or political affiliation, political violence is never acceptable. We must reject extremism, promote civil discourse, and work together to lower the temperature of political rhetoric.

I thank our law enforcement officers once again for making this arrest.

LOVICK'S CAFE

(Mr. DAVIS of North Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DAVIS of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, some restaurants serve more than good meals. They serve wonderful memories and rich traditions.

For 85 years and three generations, the Lovick family has opened Lovick's Cafe and welcomed the greater Kinston community.

From their famous dough burgers and pancakes to conversations shared across the table, this hometown treasure represents the best of eastern North Carolina.

Small businesses like Lovick's Cafe are where friendships are built, stories are told, and communities come together.

I congratulate Steve, Christina, the Lovick family, and their hardworking staff. Their dedication, service, and hospitality remind us that the best places are the ones that make us feel right at home.

Here is to 85 years of great food, great people, and great memories.

HONORING LIFE AND LEGACY OF GORDON WOOD

(Mr. MAGAZINER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MAGAZINER. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the life and legacy of a renowned American historian and my former professor, Gordon Wood. Professor Gordon Wood was one of America's great historians. He was a longtime professor at Brown University whose scholarship reminded us why the American Revolution was truly a world-changing event.

Wood was the winner of the Pulitzer Prize for History, the Bancroft Prize, and the National Humanities Medal, among many other honors.

He also profoundly shaped my own life. When I was an undergraduate student, he inspired me to major in history and gave me an appreciation for the American story that I hold to this day.

His writing and lectures didn't just teach us the facts of the past, they revealed why they matter.

As we mark our Nation's 250th anniversary, Professor Wood's scholarship feels more important than ever. He reminded us that the American experiment is truly exceptional, that our Founders envisioned a Republic where power ultimately belongs to the people. While the Nation they created has always been messy and imperfect, they provided the world with a whole new way of thinking about the relationship between the people and their government, setting the stage for the expansion of democracy and human rights in America and across the world.

Mr. Speaker, I ask that we all take a moment to celebrate the life of Gordon Wood who has helped us understand better what it means to be an American.

PROGRESS NEEDED ON GUN VIOLENCE

(Ms. ELFRETH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. ELFRETH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to honor Gerald Fischman, Rob Hiaasen, John McNamara, Rebecca Smith, and Wendy Winters.

Eight years ago, on June 28, 2018, a gunman killed these five members of our hometown newspaper, the Capital Gazette. Eight years later, I rise to ask my colleagues a simple question: What progress have we made so that parents don't fear for their children's lives at school dropoff, so worshipers can pray without fear, and so journalists aren't killed on the job?

Congress has a responsibility to rise above thoughts and prayers. We can and we must bring action and solutions. We share a collective responsibility to ensure that not just Annapolis but every community is safe from the scourge of gun violence that has plagued our Nation for too long.

Eight years later, I urge us to return to that collective responsibility.

LOSING REPRODUCTIVE RIGHTS

(Ms. MCCLELLAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. MCCLELLAN. Mr. Speaker, I was 1 month old when the Supreme Court's decision in Roe v. Wade recognized the constitutional right to abortion. For most of my life, I had the peace of mind that the decision of when, whether, and how to become a parent would be mine.

I nearly died giving birth to my daughter 11 years ago, when my placenta ruptured 9 weeks before my due date. I was wheeled into the emergency room, and I had the peace of mind that my doctor could do what she felt in that moment was best, without fear of prosecution.

That changed 4 years ago today when the Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade and made me the first generation of my family to lose a constitutional right in my lifetime. Now, my daughter, with fewer rights than me, faces threats to her reproductive freedom.

Today, over one in three women of childbearing years lives in a State with abortion bans or extreme restrictions. At a time when the United States has the highest maternal mortality rate of any other industrialized nation, women are dying because they can't access the reproductive care they need when they need it, like Nevaeh Crain, who was denied care while suffering a miscarriage until she was septic and died.

As chair of the Abortion Access and Rights Task Force of the congressional Reproductive Freedom Caucus, I am fighting so that everyone has the reproductive freedom they deserve.

TRUMP CORRUPTION OUT OF CONTROL

(Mr. AMO asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. AMO. Mr. Speaker, Trump's corruption is out of control. Since taking office, he has increased his net worth by at least $4 billion, accepted a $400 million plane from a foreign country, routinely bought stock in companies doing business with the government, and wasted $14 million of taxpayer money ruining the Reflecting Pool.

He has tried to bully the IRS into a sweetheart deal that grants him tax immunity for life and, if he can get away with it, establishes a slush fund to pay off cop beaters.

His kids and cronies are also getting rich. Trump intervened to secure Donald Trump, Jr., a $620 million deal with the Pentagon for his startup. Multiple Cabinet members have conveniently sold stocks right before one of Trump's erratic tariff announcements. His clan has made $2.3 billion in crypto schemes. Trump's priority is to enrich himself and his acolytes.

My Republican colleagues need to stand up, do the right thing, and stop the grift, greed, and graft from further imperiling our democracy.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, the Chair will postpone further proceedings today on motions to suspend the rules on which a recorded vote or the yeas and nays are ordered, or votes objected to under clause 6 of rule XX.

The House will resume proceedings on postponed questions at a later time.

Direct Spending (Outlays)	*	*	*
Revenues	*	*	*
Increase or Decrease (-) in the Deficit	*	*	*
Spending Subject to Appropriation (Outlays)	*	*	not estimated

* = between −$500,000 and $500,000.

Increases net direct spending in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2037? No.

Increases on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2037? No.

Statutory pay-as-you-go procedures apply? Yes.

Mandate Effects:

Contains intergovernmental mandate? No.

Contains private-sector mandate? Yes, under threshold.

The bill would:

Allow certain investment companies and their agents to postpone payments for the redemption of securities for up to 15 business days when they suspect the request of such action is the result of the exploitation of one or more people age 65 or older or who have impairments that keep them from protecting their own interests.

Require the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) to report to the Congress within one year on regulatory and legislative policies that could mitigate the financial exploitation of such people.

Direct five federal agencies to consult with the SEC in preparing that report.

Impose mandates on financial institutions if federal financial regulators increase fees to implement the bill.

Estimated budgetary effects would mainly stem from:

Staffing costs for the SEC to study and report on policies that could mitigate financial exploitation of vulnerable adults.

Administrative costs for financial regulators to consult with the SEC.

BILL SUMMARY

H.R. 2478 would allow certain investment companies and their agents to postpone payments for the redemption of securities for up to 15 business days when they suspect the request of such action is the result of the exploitation of one or more people who are age 65 or older or who have impairments that keep them from protecting their own interests.

H.R. 2478 also would require the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) to report to the Congress within one year on regulatory and legislative policies that could mitigate the financial exploitation of such people. The bill would direct the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC), Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB), Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC), and Federal Reserve to consult with the SEC on the report.

ESTIMATED FEDERAL COST

The costs of the legislation fall within budget function 370 (commerce and housing credit).

BASIS OF ESTIMATE

CBO assumes that the bill will be enacted in fiscal year 2026. The costs for the federal agencies other than the SEC would be minimal. Using information from the agencies, CBO expects that each one would need less than one full-time-equivalent employee to assist the SEC with its report.

DIRECT SPENDING AND REVENUES

CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 2478 would decrease revenues and increase direct spending, on net, by less than $500,000 over the 2026–2036 period; the net effect on the deficit would be insignificant.

The operating costs for the FDIC and OCC are classified in the budget as direct spending. Because the OCC is authorized to collect fees from regulated institutions to cover administrative expenses, CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 2478 would increase net direct spending by an insignificant amount over the 2026–2036 period.

Under current law, the CFPB is permanently authorized to spend amounts transferred from the combined earnings of the Federal Reserve in an amount necessary to carry out its responsibilities, subject to a statutory cap that was most recently lowered by the 2025 reconciliation act. That spending is classified as direct spending in the budget. Because CBO expects that, under current law, the CFPB will spend all transferred funds up to its statutory cap in the years that the combined earnings of the Federal Reserve are sufficient to fund the CFPB, we do not attribute any increase in direct spending for the CFPB to this bill. Any spending by the CFPB to implement the bill would necessitate a decrease in spending for other activities of the agency.

Costs incurred by the Federal Reserve reduce remittances to the Treasury, which are recorded in the budget as revenues. CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 2478 would decrease revenues by an insignificant amount over the 2026–2036 period.

SPENDING SUBJECT TO APPROPRIATION

In June 2018, the SEC announced that it would not pursue enforcement actions against investment companies or their agents that delay the disbursement of redeemed securities based on the belief that the request was the result of the financial exploitation of a person who is age 65 or older or is an impaired adult.

On that basis and using information from the commission about the cost of similar reports, CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 2478 would cost the SEC $2 million over the 2026–2031 period. CBO expects that the SEC would need five employees, at an average cost of $340,000 per employee, for one year to complete the study and report to the Congress. Because the SEC is authorized to collect fees each year to offset its annual appropriation, CBO expects that the net effect on the commission's discretionary spending over the 2026–2031 period would be negligible, assuming appropriation actions consistent with that authority.

CBO estimates that implementing the bill would increase costs by an insignificant amount for the CFTC, whose administrative costs are subject to appropriation.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO CONSIDERATIONS

The Statutory Pay-As-You-Go Act of 2010 establishes budget-reporting and enforcement procedures for legislation affecting direct spending or revenues. CBO estimates that enacting the bill would increase direct spending and decrease revenues by less than $500,000 over the 2026–2036 period; the effect on the deficit would not be significant.

INCREASE IN LONG-TERM NET DIRECT SPENDING AND DEFICITS

CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 2478 would not increase net direct spending or on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10–year periods beginning in 2037.

MANDATES

If federal financial regulators increase fees to offset the costs associated with implementing the bill, H.R. 2478 would increase the cost of an existing mandate on private entities required to pay those assessments. CBO estimates that the incremental cost of the mandate would be small and would fall well below the annual threshold for private-sector mandates established in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) ($214 million in 2026, adjusted annually for inflation).

H.R. 2478 contains no intergovernmental mandates as defined in UMRA.

Mr. HILL of Arkansas. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in full support of our distinguished chair of our Subcommittee on Capital Markets, Mrs. WAGNER from Missouri, and her bill that she presents today, the Financial Exploitation Prevention Act of 2025.

Every day, bad actors use fraud, scams, and deception to target the most vulnerable in our society who may be less able to recognize or respond immediately and timely to some form of financial abuse.

Literally, over the last few years, I have been inundated every time I am in my district and community, like my hometown of Little Rock. I hear directly from citizens, the elderly, customers, bankers, small business owners, and all consumers who are grappling with check fraud, wire fraud, and increasingly sophisticated digital scams.

My own family has been victim of check fraud more than one time. I am grateful to the bank that helped identify that with their system.

Mr. Speaker, our financial institutions, our broker-dealers, and our investment companies are all saddled with being in the first line of defense against these schemes that are coming in every shape and form, electronically, by paper, and over the telephone, that are targeting the customers and clients of our financial services companies.

These banks, broker-dealers, and investment companies are uniquely positioned to identify suspicious transactions and unusual account activity. That is the whole mission. We have given those authorities, and they have invested billions in surveillance technology to try to do that.

When warning signs emerge, firms should have the ability to take reasonable steps to put their customers first and to protect those customers from potential harm.

Chair WAGNER's bill, H.R. 2478, which has strong bipartisan support and cosponsorship, strengthens those exact protections by providing financial institutions and other financial professionals and investment companies with the legal certainty needed to temporarily delay transactions when financial exploitation or abuse is suspected.

This legislation is part of the Financial Services Committee's broader effort to combat financial fraud and scams plaguing our citizens, our neighbors, particularly seniors, and other vulnerable Americans.

By creating a safe harbor for delaying suspicious transactions and reporting concerns to the appropriate authorities, this bill helps prevent devastating financial losses before they occur.

□ 1220

Protecting Americans from financial exploitation requires strong coordination among families, financial institutions, brokers, financial advisers, and, of course, law enforcement. This bill would help strengthen those partnerships and provide additional tools to safeguard the most vulnerable among us from an avalanche of fraud and abuse.

Importantly, too, this bill is tailored to address suspected exploitation while preserving the rights of customers and maintaining appropriate oversight.

No American should lose their hard-earned money because an investment firm or financial institution lacks the authority or certainty to intervene where there are clear signs of exploitation that were present.

H.R. 2478 is a commonsense, bipartisan measure that helps protect our most vulnerable citizens from the growing number of financial predators.

I thank Chair WAGNER and Mr. GOTTHEIMER of New Jersey for their leadership on this important issue. I urge all my colleagues to support this bill, and I reserve the balance of my time.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in support of H.R. 2478, the Financial Exploitation Prevention Act of 2025, sponsored by Representative WAGNER.

This bill will help protect vulnerable Americans by allowing for mutual fund companies to delay the redemption or sale of mutual funds when the company believes there is an attempt to defraud a senior or an adult who cannot protect themselves.

Financial fraud targeting older adults is a widespread and growing problem. Millions of seniors are victimized each year, and reported losses are just soaring. In 2025 alone, America's seniors lost nearly $8 billion to fraud, an 80 percent increase over the prior year.

Seniors are especially vulnerable to scams and financial abuse because they may not be familiar with the ever-increasing technological sophistication with which current scammers operate. Scammers exploit these factors through tactics like AI-powered deep fakes that emulate the voice of a grandchild pretending to be in a difficult or dangerous situation, romance schemes that prey on lonely seniors, tech support hoaxes, lottery scams, and other tricks. The introduction of artificial intelligence is making these scams all the more prevalent and harmful.

We should do all we can to stop these scammers and fraudsters. Unfortunately, that is not what Congress and the President are doing. The Trump administration, with Republican support in Congress, has been shrinking, and in some cases dismantling, the financial cops who detect fraud and hold bad actors accountable. Trump's administration has walked away from court cases where fraudsters had admitted to harming Americans and agreed to pay compensation. As a result, victims didn't receive compensation, but the criminals' pockets were lined.

While this bill could empower financial industry participants to help protect seniors when they suspect fraud, it is absurd that, at the same time, Republicans are cheering on Trump's attempts to shut down the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau and defang and defund the SEC. All the while, Trump's family reaps in millions, if not billions, of personal profits from their corrupt business dealings and private-sector shakedowns.

Some of these actions have a direct impact on Americans. The Trump meme coin scam, for example, has resulted in billions of dollars of losses for Americans. We cannot talk about fraud without acknowledging this massive elephant in the room.

The American people are asking for this House to hold the Trump administration and family accountable. Until then, we are left taking small steps, such as passing H.R. 2478.

Mr. HILL, the chairman of the committee and my friend, talked about this having bipartisan support. I don't know if bipartisan support means anything these days.

I am stunned that we worked hard for over 1 year on doing something substantive about housing. We had bicameral and bipartisan support and, all of a sudden, the President of the United States canceled the signing of the bipartisan bill today.

What is up? What is going on?

Does it mean anything that Republicans worked very hard?

Mr. HILL spent a lot of time on the bill, and I spent a lot of time on this bill. All of a sudden, the President says: Oh, I don't feel like signing it today. As a matter of fact, I want something else. I want the SAVE America Act that will undermine voting and strip those who have been protected by the Civil Rights Act and the Voting Rights Act from being able to vote in a way that our democracy demands and the Constitution protects.

I am very pleased that Mrs. WAGNER has this bill. I know she has worked on it. I certainly support it, but we need more.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. HILL of Arkansas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 5 minutes to the gentlewoman from Missouri (Mrs. WAGNER), who is the chair of the Capital Markets Subcommittee. She has worked on this and has been a leader in every way she can in the House to protect our friends and our neighbors from financial fraud.

Mrs. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman of the Financial Services Committee, my friend, Mr. HILL, for his tremendous support, his leadership, and for yielding his time.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of my bipartisan bill, H.R. 2478, the Financial Exploitation Prevention Act.

Far too often, back home in Missouri and across this Nation, our senior citizens are directly targeted for financial fraud. Like Chairman HILL, I, too, hear from scores and scores of constituents in my district who have fallen prey to these horrible, horrible scams and fraudsters.

The consequences of this crime extend to millions of Americans, with one out of every five senior investors falling victim to financial fraud and exploitation.

Sadly, the problem is only getting more severe.

According to the FTC, fraud perpetrated against those over the age of 60 increased by nearly 400 percent between 2020 and 2024, Mr. Speaker.

The total cost to American seniors reached almost $2.5 billion. Even worse, a significant portion of this increase is attributed to individual financial losses of over $100,000.

Think about that for a moment, Mr. Speaker. Seniors and retirees across our country work their entire lives to save for their future, and they depend on their savings to pay the bills, keep the lights on, and put food on the table. A loss of over $100,000 is absolutely devastating, and these financial crimes are being committed every single day.

We have the tools to fix this. There are gaps in Federal law that can be addressed to prevent this exploitation from occurring, and that is exactly what my bill does.

My bill, the Financial Exploitation Prevention Act, allows financial institutions, including investment companies like mutual funds, to temporarily delay a transaction if they have a reasonable belief that the transaction is the result of financial exploitation.

By allowing for this pause, the bill creates a crucial window of up to 15 days with the possibility of a 10-day extension that will provide the time necessary to investigate the situation and notify the appropriate authorities.

This gives potentially vulnerable investors, including our seniors, as well as those with certain disabilities, a crucial, extra layer of defense that will help preserve the hard-earned savings they have built over decades.

This bill would also establish a safe harbor for financial institutions that make a good-faith effort to prevent exploitation. By removing the fear of litigation, this change will empower the financial system to stop fraudsters in their tracks through timely and decisive action.

Finally, my bill requires the Securities and Exchange Commission to report to Congress on additional legislative solutions to further combat the financial exploitation of seniors and vulnerable adults.

This issue, fraud against our seniors, has gone on long enough, and we must take action.

Many of us have had the personal experience of caring for a parent or loved one as they grow older. They took care of us when we needed it most, and it is our responsibility, our duty, to return the favor.

This legislation, with strong bipartisan support, will create a new tool to protect parents, grandparents, and everyday American families across the United States.

I thank Congressman GOTTHEIMER for joining me in introducing this bill. By working together, we can ensure that not only government but also the American financial system is doing everything possible to protect against fraud and exploitation.

Mr. Speaker, I strongly urge support of this legislation.

Ms. WATERS. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, with the advent of new technologies like artificial intelligence, senior fraud is more prevalent today than it ever has been, and it is only going to get worse. We need to do everything in our power to make sure that seniors have the appropriate protections to comfortably enjoy retirement.

Chair WAGNER's H.R. 2478 is part of that effort, allowing mutual fund providers to delay redemptions of a senior's shares if they suspect they may be falling victim to a scam.

Mr. Speaker, we are in a terrible time in this country. We are in a terrible time because we have so many difficulties with the economy and the groceries are higher. Gasoline is out of control. The price is absolutely unusual and unnecessary, except the President of the United States said he doesn't care.

As a matter of fact, the President of the United States said he loves inflation, for example, and we know what his tariffs have done to our economy. Yet, he is in another country saying that he doesn't care about the financial situation that we are confronted with.

This is a good bill. This is a bill to try and protect our seniors. Our seniors need protection. Many of them are on fixed incomes. Many of them don't have a lot of money, and if they are ripped off, they may end up homeless and on the street. The President doesn't care about that. Yes, this is a bipartisan bill. Bipartisan, for those who are listening, means that both sides of the aisle, Democrats and Republicans, agree, but we don't know whether the President will agree. For all I know, he may veto the bill. We don't know what to expect from him.

We are in a terrible situation with the President of the United States of America. We know he canceled the bill's signing that is supported by both sides of the aisle, in both the House and the Senate, knowing that we have 800,000 people who are on the streets in this country every night and he is not willing to generously step up to the plate and say: I support a bill that is going to get housing built for the average family. We are going to support a bill to keep people off the street, homelessness. We are going to support a bill that ensures that people have an opportunity to pursue their talent and to do what they can to make their lives more comfortable.

If he can't support that and he is canceling it today, I don't know what we can expect about a good bill like this that is protecting seniors. I just ask all of the Members of the House of Representatives, vote ''aye'' on this bill. Vote ''aye'' on the bill.

Mr. Speaker, for those who have influence with the President of the United States, call him and tell him: Mr. President, don't veto this. Mr. President, come on back and sign this housing bill so we can deal with this housing crisis. Mr. President, get us out of this war in Iran. Mr. President, do something to deal with this economy where people are getting hurt and harmed every day.

Mr. Speaker, we could go on talking about it. It is embarrassing. The American people should not have to hear this kind of conversation, but those of us who were sent here by the people we represent have to speak truth to power. That is what we do when we come up with legislation with both sides of the aisle supporting it, in both the House and Senate supporting it. We have to get in the President's face and say: Sign these bills. He has to talk about these problems. He has to deal with this economy, and that is a bit of what we are doing today. I have added to it a little bit, but that is my responsibility.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. HILL of Arkansas. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, I thank the ranking member and Mr. GOTTHEIMER for working with the majority on this bill. I will add that this is a very complex subject across the board trying to protect our seniors and our consumers across the country, particularly in financial services.

I think this bill is a step in the right direction, but we have many other things that the committee has been working on on a bipartisan basis. The Postal Service, the Secret Service, the Federal communications oversight, Federal Trade Commission, all these Federal agencies have influence on whether we are going to beat the criminals at their game. As they get artificial intelligence and new technologies to try to get in the pocketbooks, in the investment statements, into the credit cards of American consumers and households, know that people like ANN WAGNER, JOSH GOTTHEIMER, MAXINE WATERS, and FRENCH HILL are saying no.

We want to give the tools to our financial institutions and enforcement to do something about it, but it also takes an education of our families. You can't turn your password over to people. You can't trust people when they call you on the phone and tell you to bring $5,000 down to the courthouse or put money in a bitcoin ATM. We also have that obligation every day on this House floor to educate our families to trust but verify when somebody approaches them about their very, very valuable financial information.

A Member of Congress from North Carolina called me and said: Is there any way you would be willing to talk to this lawyer, this family in North Carolina? Husband and wife retired, the spouse, the wife, said: I have been called. I need to send $250,000 for this investment opportunity. The husband said: I don't know that we should do that. She said: Well, I have done my homework. She called the bank, Mr. Speaker, and said: Would you wire $250,000 to this investment opportunity. And the banker said: Ms. Jones, I mean, are you sure? You have never done this before. You don't have that kind of money.

Mr. Speaker, I use that as a small example. It didn't turn out well, but it is about educating. Again, the work that Chairwoman WAGNER and Representative GOTTHEIMER are doing is what we need to be doing. We are going to continue to bring bills to this House floor that protect our households from the fraudsters that are now going parabolic in their talent to steal our money through artificial intelligence, cell phones, text messages, emails, romance schemes, whatever that is, but she pointed it out, and I am with her. We are going to do this together.

Mr. Speaker, I urge a ''yes'' vote on this bill. I thank the gentlewoman for bringing it to the floor today, and I yield back the balance of my time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Arkansas (Mr. HILL) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill, H.R. 2478, as amended.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. HILL of Arkansas. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, further proceedings on this question will be postponed.

The point of no quorum is considered withdrawn.

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 12(a) of rule I, the Chair declares the House in recess subject to the call of the Chair.

Accordingly (at 12 o'clock and 39 minutes p.m.), the House stood in recess.

AFTER RECESS

The recess having expired, the House was called to order by the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. MCDOWELL) at 4 o'clock and 31 minutes p.m.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Proceedings will resume on motions to suspend the rules previously postponed.

Votes will be taken in the following order:

H.R. 915.

The first electronic vote will be conducted as a 15-minute vote. Pursuant to clause 9 of rule XX, the remaining electronic vote will be conducted as a 5-minute vote.

SMALL BUSINESS LENDING FRAUD PREVENTION ACT

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 8 of rule XX, the unfinished business is the question on suspending the rules and passing the bill (H.R. 7401) to require employees of the Small Business Administration to certify that the employee does not have any prohibited conflicts of interest with respect to loans in which the employee is involved, and for other purposes.

The Clerk read the title of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on the motion offered by the gentleman from Texas (Mr. WILLIAMS) that the House suspend the rules and pass the bill.

The question was taken.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. In the opinion of the Chair, two-thirds being in the affirmative, the ayes have it.

Mr. WILLIAMS of Texas. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 415, nays 0, answered ''present'' 1, not voting 15, as follows:

HOUR OF MEETING ON TOMORROW

Mrs. BIGGS of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that when the House adjourns today, it adjourn to meet at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from South Carolina?

There was no objection.

REMOVAL OF NAME OF MEMBER AS COSPONSOR OF H.R. 9246

Ms. MEJIA. Mr. Speaker, I hereby remove my name as cosponsor of H.R. 9246.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentlewoman's request is granted.

RECOGNIZING DARRELL OWENS

(Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. THOMPSON of Pennsylvania. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize Mr. Darrell Owens, who will serve as U.S. representative to the Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe.

Ambassador Owens, a proud Erie, Pennsylvania, native, began working on Capitol Hill in the early 2000s and joined my office during my first term. As my military legislative assistant, Ambassador Owens put his head down and got to work on day one, advancing our legislative priorities and making sure that we met the needs of our constituents and servicemembers.

Ambassador Owens knows what servicemembers need because he stood with them. Along with his time in Washington, D.C., he served as a commissioned officer in the United States Army Reserve. He knows what it means to meet people right where they are.

Prior to his nomination, he served as a Senior Adviser in the Office of Congressional and Legislative Affairs at the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs. Ambassador Owens has remained grounded in his commitment to service and his love for country.

Mr. Speaker, Ambassador Owens is exactly the type of person we want representing the United States overseas. May God bless him, and I wish him the very best.

RECOGNIZING REY B. GONZALEZ

(Mr. GARCÍA of Illinois asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GARCÍA of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I rise to recognize Rey B. Gonzalez on his retirement after more than 30 years of service to the people of Chicago.

As president and CEO of El Valor, Mr. Gonzalez dedicated his life's work to increasing opportunities for children, families, seniors, and persons with disabilities.

Under Mr. Gonzalez's leadership, El Valor evolved into a nationally respected institution that has provided countless people with educational and employment opportunities within the community.

Throughout his career, Rey has always demonstrated compassion, dignity, and a true commitment to helping others succeed. His contributions will not only be remembered but also appreciated for many years to come in our city.

Mr. Speaker, I congratulate Mr. Rey Gonzalez on a distinguished career and thank him for all of his hard work and dedication to our communities. I wish him a happy retirement.

ENSURING FAIR ELECTIONS

(Mr. STUTZMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. STUTZMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of the SAVE America Act introduced by Representative ROY and Senator LEE.

In a few weeks, the United States will celebrate its 250th anniversary. One thing that has sustained American democracy since its founding is elections. Our Founders created a government by the people and for the people, and it is imperative that our elections continue to represent the views of American citizens only.

The SAVE America Act will do exactly that: ensure that our country's elections are decided only by American citizens and not foreign nationals.

Indiana first enacted voter ID laws in 2005, and it is time the rest of the country did the same. Over 80 percent of Americans support voter ID and showing proof of citizenship to vote.

Mr. Speaker, the Senate cannot keep stalling on this commonsense election reform. Senate colleagues must restore the talking filibuster and pass the SAVE America Act as soon as possible. Our country's future depends on it.

FIGHTING FOR EVERY WOMAN

(Ms. DEXTER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. DEXTER. Mr. Speaker, the decision to have a child is one of the most personal decisions a human can make.

As a physician, I have sat with patients during some of the hardest moments of their lives. I know these deeply personal medical decisions should be guided by science, evidence, and the trusted relationship between a physician and their patient, not by politicians or judges, and not by radical politicians and judges obsessed with policing women's bodies.

Since the Supreme Court overturned Roe, more than 20 States have banned or restricted access to abortion, leaving millions of women with no legal right to make decisions about their own bodies. That is a moral failure.

Abortion is not a privilege; it is essential healthcare. Every individual in this country should have bodily autonomy—no exceptions and no excuses.

In Oregon, the right to abortion is protected, and I won't stop fighting for every woman, every young girl, and every person in this country to have full control of their own body.

HONORING 150 YEARS OF BURDETT, KANSAS

(Mr. MANN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to recognize the community of Burdett, Kansas, as it celebrates its sesquicentennial.

Located in Pawnee County, Burdett is a central Kansas town with a proud history and strong sense of community. For 150 years, the people of Burdett have helped carry forward the values that help make Kansas such a special place: faith, family, hard work, personal responsibility, and caring for their neighbors.

Burdett also holds a unique place in American history as the birthplace of Clyde Tombaugh, one of the most significant scientific figures ever to come from our State. Born on a farm outside of Burdett in 1906, he was a self-taught astronomer who built telescopes using farm equipment and went on to discover Pluto on February 18, 1930.

That is an incredible legacy, and it is a point of great pride for Burdett, Pawnee County, and the entire State of Kansas.

Mr. Speaker, as Burdett celebrates 150 years, I congratulate the community on this milestone. I thank the anniversary committee for its work and join Kansans in honoring the town's history, people, and lasting contribution to American science.

FIND OUR FAMILIES

(Ms. TLAIB asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, under the Trump administration, families are searching desperately for their loved ones who have gone missing in ICE and Border Patrol custody.

Families don't know if they are safe or even if they are still in the country. Lawyers can't find their clients, and children can't find their parents.

This is by design. The administration is making it impossible to find our family members and robbing people of their right to due process, forcing them to lose contact with their loved ones and legal counsel.

I am going to fix that by introducing the Find Our Families Act, which requires the Department of Homeland Security to maintain an accurate and more detailed online detainee locator system for all individuals detained by ICE and Border Patrol. It requires families and lawyers to be notified when the individual is being transferred, including for urgent medical care. It creates penalties for facilities that do not comply.

Mr. Speaker, no one should vanish in government custody, and I urge my colleagues to support the Find Our Families Act today.

PROTECTING SANCTITY OF LIFE

(Mr. KENNEDY of Utah asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. KENNEDY of Utah. Mr. Speaker, 4 years ago this week, the Supreme Court ruled in Dobbs that the Constitution contains no right to an abortion.

The Court returned this question to the people and their elected representatives. That was the right decision.

I came to Congress after years as a physician. Firsthand, I have seen the heartbeat of an infant on an ultrasound. I have placed newborns in the arms of their mothers. Protecting life was my job, and I take that same duty with me onto this floor.

Because of the Dobbs decision, the States and all of us are made free to uphold our duty and protect the sanctity of life.

There are children in my home State of Utah and across this country, as well as my family, who are growing up today because of those who fought for them. They are the future of this country, and we are better for having them in it.

Mr. Speaker, we owe every mother and child a country that welcomes and continues to protect life.

HONORING LIVES LOST TO DENIALS OF ABORTION CARE

(Ms. PRESSLEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Ms. PRESSLEY. Mr. Chair, I rise with a heavy heart to remember the women who have died because they were denied essential abortion care after the devastating Dobbs decision unleashed abortion care bans across our country.

I rise today in remembrance of Amber Nicole Thurman, Candi Miller, Ciji Graham, Josseli Barnica, Yeni Alvarez-Estrada Glick, Nevaeh Crain, Tierra Walker, Taysha Wilkinson-Sobieski, Porsha Ngumezi, and Adriana Smith.

Devastatingly, I fear there are others, too, who have lost their lives, though we do not publicly know their names.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to observe a moment of silence for those who have died because they were denied essential abortion care.

CALIFORNIA BUDGET

(Mr. GALLAGHER asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. GALLAGHER. Mr. Speaker, California is doing it again. They just passed a budget which is raising taxes on healthcare plans and on business software. At a time when Californians and people throughout this Nation are struggling with the high cost of living, California is making it even harder.

I rise to condemn this action that is hurting everyday Californians. What a stark contrast to what we are doing here as House Republicans in Congress.

We are now coming up on the 1-year anniversary of cutting taxes for working people in this country. Now, people are getting the benefits of no tax on tips and no tax on overtime. The average refund is $3,600, vital money that is needed in this time.

That is the kind of leadership we need, not the kind of leadership that is being shown out of Gavin Newsom in California. We will continue that work here in the House. I am proud to be part of that work, and we have much more to do in the weeks to come.

RECOGNIZING DARRYN PETERSON

(Mrs. SYKES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. SYKES. Mr. Speaker, today, I rise to recognize Darryn Peterson as Ohio's 13th Congressional District's Champion of the Week.

This Tuesday, Darryn made his family and our entire district proud when he was selected by the Utah Jazz as the second overall pick in the NBA Draft. This is an extraordinary accomplishment that reflects years of discipline, dedication, and excellence on and off the court.

Born in Canton, Darryn began his high school career at the Cuyahoga Valley Christian Academy in Cuyahoga Falls. He eventually rose to become the number one ranked player in the entire country.

He went on to play at the University of Kansas where he averaged more than 20 points per game in his lone season.

As we know, Akron is the birthplace of champions because we have the distinction of being the birthplace of both Steph Curry and LeBron James, who was the first overall pick in the 2003 NBA Draft. Darryn has also helped make our district the birthplace of champions.

Darryn now begins his own journey at the highest level. While the path ahead is challenging, he carries the pride of our entire community. We are incredibly proud of Darryn, and we look forward to watching what he accomplishes in the NBA.

$1.8 BILLION SLUSH FUND

(Ms. KAPTUR asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. KAPTUR. Mr. Speaker, the billionaire bonanza bill that I didn't vote for has resulted in the slashing of health insurance for millions of our fellow citizens. Moreover, that bill gave huge new tax breaks to billionaires. Giant corporations are getting huge tax refunds sent out just now. Our middle class is being kneecapped by rising prices on everything. What is going on here?

I must ask President Trump why he unilaterally decided to give $1.8 billion in reparations to the bullies who attacked the Capitol on January 6. His party did nothing to stop him. I got caught up in that mess. That is a whole other story.

Meanwhile, his Iran war is costing us about a billion dollars a day. It was supposed to be for 4 days. We are now into day 117, and the flimsy Iran deal seems to have fallen apart. Who proposed $324 billion to Iran? Where are we supposed to get that money? From the American people's health insurance?

I think there is something really wrong here. Congress should end these giveaways to billionaires and give tax refunds to the hardworking people of our country.

To our colleagues across the aisle, come on, help us out a little bit. It would make a difference to the American people.

RECOGNIZING THE LIFE AND LEGACY OF MAYOR RICK STOPFER

(Mr. VEASEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. VEASEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor the distinguished service of my good friend, Rick Stopfer, whose more than three decades of dedication to the city of Irving has left a lasting and meaningful impact on the community he proudly serves.

He was elected to the city council in 1998. Rick has demonstrated a steady commitment to public service. He has held so many key leadership roles. In addition to mayor, he served as mayor pro tem for the council. He was reelected to his third term in May of 2023. He has really helped the city of Irving grow. Anyone who has been to the city and has seen Las Colinas and seen all the Fortune 1500 companies that have decided to make Irving their home over the last decade, it is absolutely amazing.

In addition to everything that he has done for Irving, he has also served on the Dallas Area Rapid Transit board and other regional bodies that reflect a broader vision for the entire Metroplex.

Rick is also a person who is deeply rooted in the Irving community. He is involved in so many different civic organizations, and he is just really a great guy. Alongside with his wife of more than 40 years, Melanie, he has really built an amazing legacy in the city of Irving.

Mr. Speaker, I congratulate Rick on everything he has done for the city.

BIPARTISAN HOUSING BILL

(Ms. MEJIA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Ms. MEJIA. Mr. Speaker, yesterday, lawmakers in this chamber came together to pass a bipartisan housing affordability bill aimed at helping American families struggling with rising rents, rising mortgages, and the cost of living.

In most cases, we would celebrate the bipartisanship, a rare event most Americans are desperate for—most Americans except President Donald Trump. Our President would much rather derail the opportunity to make housing more affordable in order to hold his own party hostage for his despotic political agenda.

This is not only unconscionable, but we have to resist. Families are worried about whether or not they can afford a home, and we are living with the highest rates of inflation this Nation has seen in years. Instead of focusing on making life more affordable, this President is choosing to gut voting rights for the American people again.

I see you, Mr. President, petulant and shortsighted, and, yet again, so do the American people.

FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF DOBBS DECISION

(Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 3, 2025, Mr. MOORE of Utah was recognized for 60 minutes as the designee of the majority leader.)

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the topic of this Special Order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Utah?

There was no objection.

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, today marks the fourth anniversary of the Dobbs decision, reaffirming that the U.S. Constitution does not grant the right to an abortion and rightfully returning the regulatory authority to State legislators.

I am excited to welcome my colleagues to speak on this topic with me. I understand some of my colleagues have commitments. I want to be respectful of the time, so I will have them start us off before I provide my own comments, of course.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. SMITH).

Mr. SMITH of New Jersey. Mr. Speaker, I thank my good friend and colleague for his distinguished leadership. He has been tenacious.

Mr. Speaker, we have people who will be speaking and some who couldn't be here who have never given up in trying to protect and preserve the lives of women and children from the violence of abortion.

Four years ago today, the Supreme Court's Dobbs v. Jackson decision, brilliantly authored by Justice Sam Alito, who is from my hometown of Hamilton in New Jersey, reversed the infamous holdings of Roe v. Wade and Planned Parenthood v. Casey. That decision stated the Constitution does not confer a right to abortion, and the authority to regulate abortion is returned to the people and their elected Representatives.

After a half century of death—and it continues, but, hopefully, it will be mitigated and maybe ended in time, but a half century of death, more than 65 million unborn children have been violently killed by either dismemberment, decapitation, or chemical poisoning of some kind through this terrible, terrible policy of abortion on demand.

Thankfully, as a response to this, many States—21 and counting—have responded by passing pro-life laws to protect unborn children and women from the violence of abortion. For example, Georgia, Iowa, Florida, and South Carolina passed laws to protect the unborn child when a heartbeat can be detected at about 6 weeks. Thirteen States, including Texas, protect the lives of unborn children throughout the entirety of pregnancy.

I remind my colleagues that the abortion President, Joe Biden, also acted after Dobbs was enacted. In response to the decision, his Food and Drug Administration allowed women to receive mifepristone, the baby poison, through the mail and without any in-person consultation with a healthcare provider.

This dangerous drug is used now to cause at least 6 out of 10 abortions in the United States. How does it operate? It starves the baby to death.

I work on global hunger issues and food insecurity all the time. I find it outrageous that there is a chemical administered that literally causes the baby to die from malnutrition. It also then expels the baby, and what results is a dead, badly dehydrated and, sadly, hurt, killed baby.

One recent study found that mifepristone is extremely dangerous to women, as well. One in 11 women—10.93 percent to be exact. It was the biggest study ever done on mifepristone—experienced a serious adverse event, sepsis, infection, and hemorrhaging within 45 days of taking the drug. The number of serious adverse events is at least 22 times higher than what the FDA has previously suggested, which was based on egregiously flawed data.

The FDA must now move quickly to investigate the impact of this baby poison not just on the baby but on the mother, as well.

Meanwhile, pro-life lawmakers, including those of us who are pro-life in this Chamber, will continue to write, advocate for, and pass laws to nurture and protect human life.

I suggest to my colleagues that the injustice of abortion violence need not be forever.

Mr. MOORE of Utah. I thank the gentleman from New Jersey for his comments.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Alabama (Mr. ADERHOLT).

Mr. ADERHOLT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, it is great to be here to rise for this occasion, to recognize the fourth anniversary of Dobbs v. Jackson, where the Supreme Court returned the power to protect the unborn to elected officials and not to an appointed court. The Court's decision to overturn Roe v. Wade was a landmark moment in the effort to protect the most vulnerable and to give those babies the guarantee of right to life and liberty.

Today is really a day of celebration, but this is also a day of remembrance of the countless lives that we also, on the other hand, have to remember. While we celebrate on one hand, we also commemorate all of the lives that were lost during that flawed decision back in 1974 and all those who still need our protection even today.

I am deeply proud of my home State of Alabama. Our policies there are pro-life, but in many States, the lives of the unborn remain vulnerable. As the chairman of the House Values Action Team, I remain committed to fighting and advocating in Congress to expand our efforts and ensure a safe future for our Nation's children, born and unborn.

I have said this before and I will continue to say that I am pro-life, I am pro-family, and I am pro-child.

Since the Dobbs decision in 2022, I have introduced the Protect Funding for Women's Healthcare Act to continue standing for life by ensuring that Federal tax dollars are not used to fund organizations such as Planned Parenthood.

I will continue to work with my colleagues to defend the sanctity of life, to protect the unborn, and ensure a safer future for our Nation's children. Let me be clear. Our work is not finished, and this week's recognition for the Dobbs anniversary is a good time to reaffirm our unyielding commitment to standing up for the importance of every single human life.

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Alabama for his comments, he is a leader on this issue and always a good voice.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Kansas (Mr. MANN).

Mr. MANN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the distinguished gentleman from Utah for hosting this Special Order hour. I thank him for his leadership as the vice chair of our Conference. This is important.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the fourth anniversary of the Dobbs Supreme Court decision. Dobbs was a historic and long-overdue victory for life. It corrected the great mistake of Roe v. Wade and returned the question of abortion policy to the American people and their elected representatives. For nearly 50 years, Roe distorted our Constitution and denied States the ability to enact laws that reflect the will of the people and protect the most vulnerable among us.

Thankfully, Dobbs restored that authority. In the years since, legislators across the country have acted to defend unborn children, support mothers, and affirm the dignity of human life.

Now, 4 years later, the work is far from finished. Far too many unborn children are still lost to abortion each year, and dangerous abortion drugs are being pushed across State lines, often without a doctor's visit, undermining the laws of pro-life States and putting women and unborn children at risk.

America was founded on the self-evident truth that every person is created equal and endowed by our creator with inherent dignity and the right to life. That right is the foundation of every other right that we enjoy. If we fail to protect life at its earliest and most vulnerable stage, we weaken the very principles that this great Nation was built upon.

As a father and person of faith, I believe that every child is fearfully and wonderfully made by God, every life has value, every child has purpose, and no child is a mistake.

Congress must continue advancing life-affirming policies, supporting mothers and families, defending long-standing protections like the Hyde amendment, strengthening adoption and foster care, and standing with the pregnancy centers and community organizations that serve women in need every day.

Dobbs was the new beginning in our pro-life movement. We must continue working, praying, and building a culture where every life is welcomed, valued, and protected.

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Kansas for his comments.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Illinois (Mrs. MILLER).

Mrs. MILLER of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I thank Vice Chair MOORE for hosting this important Special Order commemorating one of the greatest triumphs in our pursuit to protect the lives of the unborn.

June 24, 2022, will forever be one of the greatest days in American history. After 50 years of peacefully praying outside clinics and marching in Washington, Roe v. Wade is no more. While the Dobbs decision was a monumental victory, the fight for life has only just begun.

Many States have stepped up to the plate, with over half of them enacting laws protecting the unborn. However, blue States have doubled down on the murderous assault of the unborn.

Sadly, my home State of Illinois, is one of those States and has become the destination State of the Midwest for abortions. In 2023 we recorded the most abortions ever in our State's history, and Illinois' Governor proudly signed legislation allowing abortions through 9 months of pregnancy.

Since the Biden administration rescinded safety regulations for chemical abortions, women are being harmed, and our water supply is being severely contaminated.

Democrats oppose safety regulations. They oppose information on the development of the baby. They are not prochoice. They are pro-abortion. They don't want the mother to know that there are two humans involved, different blood types, different sex, different heart rates, and ultimately, within months, two distinct human beings.

Republicans are the party of life, and we must protect both mom and baby. That is why I have introduced legislation like H.R. 796, the Second Chance for Moms Act, which would require the FDA to place a warning label on chemical abortion drugs so that women can reverse the chemical abortion before it is too late.

I have also introduced H.R. 797, the Ultrasounds Save Lives Act, which would mandate an ultrasound be performed before an abortion can take place. The ultrasound is a window to the womb. Up to 80 percent of women who get an ultrasound before attempting an abortion change their minds and choose life.

The Dobbs decision ended the greatest human rights violation of our time, but the work has just begun.

Republicans stand ready to support women facing crisis pregnancies, not just with words but with actions.

I again thank Vice Chair MOORE for commemorating this important anniversary.

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from Illinois. I appreciate her message of women and babies and the support that she has put forth in actual legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Tennessee (Mrs. HARSHBARGER).

Mrs. HARSHBARGER. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from Utah for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today to mark the fourth anniversary of one of the most consequential decisions in the history of our Supreme Court, and that is Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization.

Mr. Speaker, 4 years ago, the Supreme Court corrected a 50-year wrong and returned the question of life back to where it has always belonged, and that is to the American people and to their elected representatives. This was a historic victory for life and the rule of law.

But today is not just a day to celebrate a court decision. It is a day to recommit ourselves to the work that remains, and there is still a lot of work to do.

As a mother, a grandmother, and a lifelong advocate for life, I have always believed that the pro-life movement is fundamentally a movement of deep affection and love: love for mothers facing impossible choices, love for families navigating the unexpected, and love for the most vulnerable among us—the unborn, who have no voice.

That love is showing up in communities across the country. In 2024 alone, pregnancy centers provided over 1 million women with services valued at more than $452 million. That is free ultrasounds, free natal care, diapers, car seats, and so much more. And for every Planned Parenthood, there are 15 pregnancy resource centers ready to serve women with real support and real choices.

That is the true face of the pro-life movement.

Here in Congress we have continued to act. Earlier this year, the House passed the Supporting Pregnancy and Parenting Women and Families Act and Pregnant Students' Rights Act because we know that protecting life means supporting mothers before, during, and after pregnancy.

President Trump's HHS stood up for moms.gov, and that was inspired by my Pregnancy.Gov Act to connect expecting mothers with the resources they truly need.

These are the kinds of life-affirming policies we should be building on.

But I want to be direct about where we still fall short. Since Dobbs, abortions in this country have actually increased by nearly 400,000 a year.

Why is that?

It is because the Biden-Harris administration spent 4 years dismantling every commonsense safeguard around chemical abortion drugs. They allowed mifepristone to be ordered online, shipped through the mail, and dispensed without a doctor ever seeing the patient.

As a pharmacist for almost 40 years, that is not patient care. That is recklessness.

Democrats have made their agenda very clear. Nearly every House Democrat has signed on to legislation that would impose abortion on demand until birth wiping out every pro-life protection at the State and Federal level, and we cannot let that stand.

Dobbs gave us the tools. Now it is our job to use them. I will not stop fighting for life in every form at every stage.

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman from Tennessee for her voice on this.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Minnesota (Mrs. FISCHBACH), my good friend.

Mrs. FISCHBACH. Mr. Speaker, I thank the vice chair for putting together this important Special Order to commemorate the historic Dobbs v. Jackson decision.

I also thank the other Members, the pro-life Members who took the time tonight to come here and talk about this incredibly critical issue of making sure that we are taking care of mothers and children.

On June 24, 2022, the Supreme Court ruled: ''The Constitution does not confer a right to abortion. Roe and Casey are overruled; and the authority to regulate abortion is returned to the people and their elected representatives.''

That decision was a tremendous step to protect the valuable right to life. It overturned the unconstitutional Roe v. Wade, which created a false right to abortion for almost 50 years.

This decision was a victory for the unborn, a victory for families, and a victory for our entire Nation. Most importantly, Dobbs has been a victory for life itself.

In the 4 years since that landmark day, countless children are alive today who might not otherwise be. Families have been made whole, and the beating hearts of ultrasounds are now running, laughing, and bringing joy to households across America.

For me, the pro-life movement is personal. As a mother and a grandmother, I have been blessed to see the miracles of life at every stage. Those personal milestones drive my work in the pro-life movement because I believe every woman in this country should be allowed to experience those same miracles with confidence and support.

To be truly pro-life means so much more than just being opposed to abortion. It means being prowoman and profamily. When a woman faces an unexpected pregnancy, our response as a community must be to surround her with hope. We must be able to look at every mother and say: You are not alone.

We continue to build on this culture of life through meaningful action. Months ago, this House took a step forward by passing the Supporting Pregnant and Parenting Women and Families Act to protect the pregnancy resource centers that serve on the front lines.

I have also reintroduced the MOMS Act to provide comprehensive critical support to new mothers during and after pregnancy, ensuring that they have medical, financial, and the emotional tools to raise happy, healthy babies.

As we reflect on the momentous Dobbs decision, I hope that we can take inspiration from the dedication of the pro-life community and support mothers with love, hope, and the right to choose life.

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, I thank my good friend from Minnesota for her remarks.

I yield to the gentlewoman from South Carolina (Mrs. BIGGS), one of our couple of remaining speakers, who I like to refer to these two new awesome Members as ''the dynamic duo'' from North and South Carolina.

Mrs. BIGGS of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague for leading on this important topic. As a child of God, as a mother, and as a healthcare provider, this topic is very personal to me.

Mr. Speaker, 4 years ago, the Supreme Court made the right decision in Dobbs and returned the issue of abortion to the American people and their elected representatives.

For nearly 50 years, Roe v. Wade prevented States from protecting unborn children and advancing policies that reflected the values of their citizens.

Dobbs changed that.

Since then, millions of Americans have had a voice in this debate once again, and countless lives have been protected.

But our work is not finished.

Today, abortion pills account for the majority of abortions in America, and women are increasingly being prescribed these drugs without an in-person medical examination and with little accountability.

That is why I am introducing legislation to strengthen safeguards surrounding the dispensing of abortion drugs and to ensure that women receive the care and protections they deserve.

As we mark this anniversary, I remain committed to defending the unborn, to supporting mothers, and building a culture that values every human life.

□ 1800

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, I yield to Mr. HARRIS from North Carolina, the second half of the dynamic duo from the Carolinas.

Mr. HARRIS of North Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I thank Vice Chairman MOORE so much for being willing to host this very Special Order.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today on this very special anniversary, the fourth anniversary of the Supreme Court's decision in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization.

As has already been stated, 4 years ago, the Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade and returned the issue of abortion to the American people and their elected representatives. For nearly 50 years, Roe kept States and citizens from fully using their laws to protect unborn children.

Today, we celebrate Dobbs as a victory for the God-given right to life and for the pro-life laws that have protected hundreds of thousands of unborn children since that decision.

Next week, our Nation will celebrate 250 years since the signing of the Declaration of Independence. At our very founding, America declared that every person is endowed by our creator with a right to life. That right belongs to the unborn as surely as it belongs to any one of us.

Every child, born and unborn, is made in the image of God. That gives every child a dignity that no court can create, and no government can deny. Long before a child is seen by the world, that child is seen and known by God and is worthy of protection.

As a father of 3 and a grandfather of 11, I have seen the blessings of children being brought into this world. Through my own family, I know they are among the greatest gifts the Lord gives. Each one deserves the opportunity to be born.

The work of protecting life is far from over, especially as chemical abortion by mail continues to expand across this country. Today, women can order chemical abortion drugs online and receive them at home without ever seeing a doctor in person.

Under the Biden administration, the FDA recklessly removed the in-person dispensing requirement for mifepristone, opening the door for abortion drugs to be sent by mail without direct medical oversight.

These drugs end the life of an unborn child. When they are distributed this way, mothers can be left to face the risks alone. Without an in-person visit, a woman may not receive proper screening for complications. No woman should be sent abortion drugs through the mail and left to face the pain and the aftermath by herself.

My bill that I have introduced, the Teleabortion Prevention Act of 2025, would make it a Federal offense for doctors to send chemical abortion drugs through the mail without providing in-person care before, during, and after the abortion.

As we continue toward the day when every unborn child is protected in law, this bill is a necessary step. It puts essential safeguards back in place and holds providers accountable.

Mr. Speaker, 4 years after Dobbs, the fight for life is not finished. Congress must continue to defend the sanctity of every human life.

On this anniversary, we remember the children who were never given the chance to live; we fight for the children still at risk; and we stand with the mothers who deserve to know that life is still possible.

Again, I thank Vice Chairman MOORE for leading this Special Order.

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, that was a great message from the gentleman from North Carolina, and I appreciate his voice on this matter.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. JOHNSON), the current Speaker of the House, who is taking time out of his very busy schedule to share some remarks on this most important topic and anniversary of the Dobbs decision.

Mr. JOHNSON of Louisiana. Mr. Speaker, I thank Congressman BLAKE MOORE, a great champion and great vice chairman of the House Republican Conference, for yielding. I am so delighted with what he has done with the office. I thank him for hosting this Special Order hour. It is very appropriate and a historic moment that we are in.

Mr. Speaker, I rise this evening to join all of my colleagues in celebrating the fourth anniversary of the lifesaving Dobbs decision.

As we know, and I know it has been discussed tonight, that decision reversed five decades of inhuman social engineering, the murder of tens of millions of unborn children. Ultimately, it returned the question of regulating abortion to the people's elected representatives, where it should have remained the whole time.

I was born 1 year before Roe v. Wade, almost exactly to the day. I was born in January 1972. Roe was decided in January 1973, as we know. In my 54 years of life, I will say the Dobbs decision represents the most consequential and lifesaving decision of my lifetime.

I used to go into the courts, for almost 20 years, as a constitutional law litigator to defend the sanctity of human life, but Dobbs was the big one.

Mr. Speaker, think about how many innocent, unborn children have been lost to the hands of Big Abortion. Estimates suggest it is somewhere above 65 million lives. I have always believed that is a low estimate because we know many States do not accurately report abortion numbers. It is probably much higher than that. That is just the number since Roe was decided in 1973.

It is just an unconscionable thing. It is an unspeakable evil. Thankfully, by the grace of God, the Supreme Court finally righted that egregious wrong.

The conditions that led to that decision did not materialize overnight. It took a long, long time. From the moment Roe was decided in 1973, pro-life advocates went to work to pray, organize, build faithful and effective coalitions, and educate the public on the scourge of abortion. They did not do that with hate. They were motivated by love. That is what this has always been about.

We know that mere words of support are not enough. As advocates for life, we must continue to advocate for and support the heroic mission of things like the pregnancy resource centers around the country. They do vital work that is so important. Those centers don't just provide lifesaving and practical care. They empower women to choose life.

We know the statistics. When a woman sees her unborn child on an ultrasound, she has about an 86-percent chance of going through with the pregnancy, to understand that is a child there. No matter how small, it is a person.

Of course, this anniversary and this year are particularly important. Next Friday, we celebrate the signing of the Declaration of Independence, our 250th anniversary as a nation.

The Declaration is our Nation's birth certificate. That is how we describe it all the time, because it is. In that certificate, we boldly proclaim the self-evident truths that all people are created equally by God, and all people are endowed by Him, God, our creator, with their inalienable rights. Of course, that begins, as articulated in the Declaration, with the right to life, logically.

We still have work to do to continue building a culture of life. We still have work to ensure that we are living up to the ideals espoused in the Declaration. Tonight, we should let these anniversaries serve as calls to action, to continue building a culture of life and to advance policies that protect the sanctity and the dignity of every human life.

I again thank my good friend, a great champion for the rights of the unborn, Vice Chairman BLAKE MOORE, for organizing this Special Order.

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman from Louisiana, the Speaker, more aptly known by the more prominent title of former vice chair.

Mr. Speaker, I appreciate his voice. It is such an important, unique voice, from a law background to legislative on this very important topic.

I am very much looking forward to hearing from our last speaker this evening, the gentlewoman from Florida, who has a very unique experience, being able to talk about this, having just had a child herself. I couldn't think of a better way to end.

I thank all of my colleagues for being willing to come down and carve out extra time from our busy schedules to come talk about this very important issue. I am looking forward to hearing her remarks.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Florida (Mrs. CAMMACK).

Mrs. CAMMACK. Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleague from the great State of Utah, the very esteemed and important vice chair, the most important title for hosting this Special Order, marking an incredible and important anniversary.

Mr. Speaker, 4 years ago, the Supreme Court's decision in Dobbs returned one of the most important questions in our society to the American people and their elected representatives.

Since then, there has been a lot of rhetoric, a lot of fear, and a lot of misinformation. In fact, we have heard some of it tonight.

I know this all too well because I have lived it personally. See, 2 years after Dobbs, I experienced one of the most dangerous pregnancy complications a woman can face, an ectopic pregnancy. My baby had no heartbeat. Without treatment, I could have lost my life.

Doctors warned that if the pregnancy ruptured, the window to save me could be measured in minutes—not hours, not days, minutes.

I was accused of a number of things, things like special treatment and calling in favors. The truth is, it is a lie. I had no special treatment. There were no favors to call in.

Instead, I fought and advocated. I sat in the ER and read the doctors the law right from my phone. They had hesitated due to confusion.

What shocked me most was the confusion surrounding my care. It was not because Florida's law had been presented a particular way. It expressly protected women like me. It expressly said in statute that ectopic pregnancies are medical emergencies. The confusion, in fact, came from misinformation from pro-abortion activists who had geofenced hospitals with digital ads convincing healthcare providers that they would face consequences for providing lifesaving care and convincing them that treating miscarriages and ectopics is an abortion.

It is not. It never has been, not in Florida, not in any State, not by the medical establishment, and, heck, not even by Planned Parenthood. Planned Parenthood has even stated this.

This is an uncomfortable fact that the pro-abortion lobby is fighting like hell to change.

While my husband and I were going through this hell, I kept asking: What happens to the woman who doesn't know the law? What happens to her if she is scared, alone, or too sick to fight for herself?

What if she doesn't have a doctor? What if she doesn't have a car to get to help?

Four years after Dobbs, it is clear that we need a whole heck of a lot less political theater and a whole heck of a lot more honest conversations. We need to support women who face miscarriages, stillbirths, and ectopic pregnancies, and we dang sure need better maternal healthcare.

We need facts instead of fear. The pro-abortion lobby would love for Americans to believe that a ''wanted pregnancy'' is a precious baby worthy of protection and love while simultaneously labeling an ''unwanted pregnancy'' merely a clump of cells that does not deserve love or protection.

Both cannot be true at the same time. That is not a political opinion. That is the most basic principle in all of human reasoning. Aristotle called this the principle of noncontradiction. A thing cannot both be and not be the same thing simultaneously.

It is the pro-abortion lobby's position that they are hoping Americans abandon logic in order to accept a narrative that is false.

Calling it out is the least that we can do. Pushing back and having this national conversation about how we protect women is long overdue, and we need to remember that behind every statistic is a family, a baby who was loved, and a mother whose life matters.

Recently, I introduced the Bereaved Parents Rights Act. This bill would allow the parents to collect their children's remains so they can properly grieve their lost children. We must remember that these are children. They are worthy of life, protection, and love, and we must fight for them every single day along with their parents. That is the work that is ahead of us. It is a conversation that is not just worth having, it is an issue worth fighting for.

Mr. Speaker, today we celebrate 4 years of saving lives and many more to come.

Mr. MOORE of Utah. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentlewoman and my colleague from Florida. I appreciate her words.

I wanted to just end with a few remarks myself, Mr. Speaker, as we wrap up this evening's Special Order on this very important topic.

Today is an opportunity to reflect on how far we have come to protect the right to life and supporting children, women, and families.

Today marks the fourth anniversary of the Dobbs decision reaffirming that the U.S. Constitution does not grant the right to an abortion and rightfully returns regulatory authority to State legislators. It is very plain, and it is very simple. That is what took place 4 years ago.

This decision provided the ability for more comprehensive care, representation, and opportunity for life, and it ensured that States like Utah can make decisions that align with our pro-life and pro-family values.

As a husband and father of four young boys, this is personal. Children are our future, and we must work harder to ensure every child and their mothers have the opportunity and resources to thrive and succeed.

At the end of my first year in office, my youngest son, Franklin, was born. Frankie had an H-type fistula that conjoined his trachea and his esophagus. It is a very rare disease, and he is fortunate to have amazing healthcare. Utah's Primary Children's Hospital is one of the foremost advanced places that actually does this surgery quite a bit.

I will never forget that holding him in the hospital just reminded me of our responsibility in Congress to value and protect the miracle of life and come alongside women who are also in difficult circumstances.

Since then, I have worked hard to pass pro-family legislation making life for working parents easier so no one has to choose between keeping their child and maintaining a livelihood.

I championed legislation to increase and make permanent the child tax credit, to make adoption much more affordable, and to create investment accounts for children providing them a financial launchpad to ease the burden of tuition, internship housing, transportation, and so much more.

By means of investment accounts for kids, they are going to start saving for their retirement at the age of zero as opposed to typically at the age of 30 when we finally get around to doing that.

No one has given credit to our bill last year that literally established investment accounts for children, for babies, for babies born in the next 4 years to get a seeded $1,000 to start an investment account to give them opportunities to help them along the path of life.

Of course, people aren't drawing that correlation. They are not making that connection. We are not hearing from my colleagues on the left that we are doing things that are actually pro-family and actually pro-life. This particular issue just becomes a very toxic and horrible debate back and forth. However, when we actually look at what we have done, we are trying to focus on that next generation.

Sincerely, giving investment accounts to children, Trump accounts, starting them off on the path towards accruing something that they would have otherwise maybe never even invested in, they are going to start that when they are zero. All they have to do is sign up for it.

We are focused on life, and we are focused on improving families. There is no question about it. Our policies are directly related towards it.

As a member of both the House Values Action Team and Congressional Pro-Life Caucus, I have stood up to attempts to increase access to abortion, advocated for language restricting Federal funding for abortion, and signed legal briefs opposing mail-order abortion pills and requirements for employers to give time off for abortions.

Our focus in Congress should be focused on ensuring that every child has opportunities, no matter the circumstances of their conception or birth, and that pregnant women and mothers have the resources they need to be supported throughout pregnancy and postpartum.

I am proud of the progress we have made since that decision 4 years ago. We have passed legislation to support critical, comprehensive services for women in need, make it easier for working-class families to earn money and raise children, and support the rights and dignity of our most vulnerable.

Yes, we have much more work to do. The right to life is paramount, and I am eager to continue our work on this issue.

Mr. Speaker, I thank my colleagues who have all shared messages tonight, and I yield back the balance of my time.

THE UNITED STATES REPRESENTS HOPEFUL NEW BEGINNINGS

GENERAL LEAVE

Mrs. RAMIREZ. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks and include extraneous material on the subject of my Special Order.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

Mrs. RAMIREZ. Mr. Speaker, I am proudly on this House floor going to talk about what brings me to this place.

Yes, I am the Congresswoman of Illinois' Third Congressional District. I am also the proud daughter of Guatemalan immigrants. I am a citizen by birthright. I am the wife of an incredible man who until recently was a DACA recipient, a Dreamer, and Congresista from a welcoming city, State, and district.

We know the story of our Nation wouldn't be complete without the joy, without the sweat, and without the struggles and resilience of those who, whether a couple of generations ago or 1 year ago, came to this country in search of safety, security, and opportunity.

Whether arriving through the southern border like my mother did 43 years ago or welcomed by the Mother of Exiles, the Statue of Liberty, like the ancestors of so many Members of Congress that I serve with, including the man in the Oval Office, our country has represented hopeful new beginnings for so many. Yet, too many have forgotten these histories.

As this country approaches the 250th anniversary of its founding, I rise during Immigrant Heritage Month asking us to reflect on this country's history, on this country's story, our progress and our failures, and our enduring but not yet fulfilled commitment to the principles of liberty and justice for all.

When a government fails to secure these rights and liberties for all people, regardless of legal status, origin, nationality, religion, or economic condition, it is, in fact, the responsibility of Members of Congress to challenge and transform systems that deny our communities dignity and justice.

I am clear that we have not yet fully realized our country's founding ideals.

The policies passed by this body and the powers seized by Trump's administration have created barriers and hardships for asylum seekers, for refugees, and all immigrant communities, including conditions that undermine internationally recognized human rights and constitutional protections.

When the administration is unwilling to uphold our commitments to human rights and obligations under the Constitution, Members of Congress in this body must act. We must meet the moment, and we must legislate. Because we know that immigrant communities make significant social, cultural, economic, and civic contributions to our country, strengthening and enriching our collective future.

The 250th anniversary of America serves not only as a commemoration but also as a choice point. We can choose to honor the contributions of immigrants by bringing 11 million people out of the shadows. We can choose to recognize our shared commitment to never again turn our backs on those seeking refuge and safety. We can choose to create pathways to citizenship for DACA recipients, who have been in this country since the age of 2 who know no other country other than this one as their own, and those that are TPS holders and in mixed-status families.

We can choose to renew our commitment to building a more inclusive, equitable, and united future for all who call the United States home, or we can allow Trump and this administration to continue terrorizing our communities, denying relief, violating protections, and certainly separating the families that my colleague just a moment ago bragged about being the party of families.

Here is the thing: I know where I stand, and I know where Trump, Noem, and now Markwayne, Homan, Miller, and Republicans in Congress stand. Trump and his cronies want to define who gets to be American and who is not American enough for them. He wants to define who is worthy of stability, of safety, of security, of opportunity, and who gets to be included in our Nation's founding ideals.

I, on this House floor, reject his white supremacist, xenophobic, bigoted agenda. It is important for us as Members of Congress to continue to fight for the opportunity that this Nation represents for so many of us like the opportunity to buy the first pair of shoes for your children, the opportunity to receive an education, to get a family-sustaining job, to establish a small business, and, for me, to become the very first Latina in the entire Midwest to serve in Congress.

I am the daughter of Maria Elvira Ramirez Guerra, a ''powerful''; ''poderosa'' woman ''that fought for me''; ''que lucho por mi,'' and carried that legacy that I get to carry now every single day in these Halls of Congress.

For us on Immigrant Heritage Month and in this Special Order hour, it is important as Members of Congress, those of us who are unapologetically children of immigrants, to remind everyone that our experiences, that the experience of refugees, that the experience of immigrants are also part of this Nation.

We belong, and we will not let anyone tell us that we are not the inheritors of the promise of America, just like so many of my colleagues' ancestors were for them.

Today, I say no bans, no walls, no raids, no kidnappings, no masked agents terrorizing our communities, no military attacking our neighbors, and no authoritarians in the Oval Office. ''Period''; ''Punto.''

Mr. Speaker, I will yield to some of my colleagues who will recognize and uplift the stories of the immigrant communities they represent and hold President Trump and Republicans accountable for the continued attacks on our immigrant communities.

Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Hawaii (Ms. TOKUDA).

Ms. TOKUDA. Mr. Speaker, earlier this month, I stood on a farm in Haleiwa for the blessing of the Pacific Gateway Center's new land. I looked out at the fields and at the farmers and families gathered there ready to work, grow food, and to build something of their own. It was immigrants focused on strengthening their community, our economy, and creating a better life for their children.

As I stood there, I could not stop thinking: This is it. This is America. This is what a true celebration of 250 years of America looks like. It is a more honest portrait of our country than any gilded ballroom or caged fight on the White House lawn could ever offer: hands in the soil, families laying down roots, people arriving with hope, working hard, and building a life for their children and their grandchildren.

That is my family's story, too. I am a Yonsei, a fourth-generation of Okinawan descent. Like so many other Japanese, Filipino, Chinese families in Hawaii, agriculture and the plantations were the gateway that allowed us to come, to work, to lay down our roots, and to build a real future for our children.

I would not be standing here today as a Member of Congress if my family had not been given that chance, had that pathway not existed for so many immigrants like us.

For so many, somewhere in our family's story, someone got here. Someone arrived with the same hope, the same courage, and the same belief that tomorrow could be a better day than today, that their children could go further than they did, that this country could be a place where hard work, sacrifice, and community still meant something.

That is where this administration has twisted the story. They want us to believe immigrants are the enemy, but when you attack immigrant children and women and workers and families, you are attacking the very people who helped create our American identity.

When you detain families, separate children, strip people of their rights, and tell whole communities they do not belong, you are not protecting America. You are betraying her promise. They can try to paint over the truth. They can try to dress it up, cover the cracks with gold, or write immigrants out of the story, but the truth is carved into America's foundation: America's heritage is, in fact, immigration.

It is arrival. It is hard work. It is sacrifice. It is the belief that tomorrow can be better than today. That is what America first should mean, not pitting immigrant against nonimmigrant.

By the way, unless you are indigenous to this land, you are, in fact, an immigrant. Not turning families into targets, but creating opportunities and pathways for the people who came here, laid down their roots, helped build this country, and still carry it forward every single day. That is what gives me hope.

Because there are still people in this country who have not lost sight of that dream. I saw them in Haleiwa. I saw people and families choosing work, choosing community, choosing to build, and choosing courage. I saw people making sure that pathway is still there for the next family, the next generation, and the next person looking for a chance.

That is the America I believe in. An America where immigrant families are not treated as threats, but recognized as part of who we are. An America that understands the American Dream has never been about where you came from. It is about what you are willing to build when you get here.

As we celebrate National Immigrant Heritage Month and prepare to mark 250 years of this country, let us tell the truth: Immigrants are not outside America's story. They are the story. They are not a threat to America's heritage. They are America's heritage.

If we are serious about honoring 250 years of America, then we have a responsibility to fight for the people still reaching for that same promise—to lay down roots, to build a better life, to raise a family in safety and dignity, and to contribute, and with hope to belong to this country.

Mr. Speaker, I saw hope that day in Haleiwa. I saw the American Dream. That is what I am holding on to.

It is up to each and every one of us to carry on the dream of our forefathers. As long as there are people who carry that dream forward, and as long as we have the courage to protect it, that dream will continue.

Mrs. RAMIREZ. Mr. Speaker, I want to echo something that Ms. TOKUDA said that I often remind my colleagues at Homeland Security as they continue to vilify immigrants: Unless you are indigenous, or you were forced to come here, you, too, are an immigrant. Whether your family came in the 1800s or the early 1900s, we must not forget that this country is built by immigrants. Yet, so many people have such a short memory of history.

Immigrants are, in fact, the story of this country. To talk a little bit more about that, Mr. Speaker, I yield to the gentlewoman from Washington State (Ms. JAYAPAL).

Ms. JAYAPAL. Mr. Speaker, I thank Congresswoman RAMIREZ for her leadership and for consistently fighting for immigrants across this country.

Today, as we recognize Immigrant Heritage Month, immigrants and people of all statuses face horrific, unprecedented attacks from the Trump administration. Even as this administration does everything possible to attack immigrants and those who stand with them, what we see is incredible strength, resilience, organizing, and leadership.

What is the message of all of that? The message is that immigration and immigrants have and always will make us better as a country.

I am very proud to be the first Indian American—in fact, the first South Asian-American woman elected to the House and one of just two dozen naturalized citizens to serve in Congress.

I came to this country alone when I was 16 years old. My parents had very meager savings, but they used all of it to send me to this country because they believed so much that this was the place that I would have the best education and the most opportunities.

Well, it took me 17 years to get my citizenship. I was on an alphabet soup of visas for that time. Now, I am so proud to be the first naturalized citizen to serve as the ranking member of the Immigration Integrity, Security, and Enforcement Subcommittee.

In that role, I have held accountability hearings and roundtables here in Washington, D.C., and across the country to hear people's stories and to shine a light on how the administration is harming our communities and how we can fight back.

What I have heard overwhelmingly, no matter where I am, is people from all walks of life saying no to these anti-immigrant actions from this administration. People are determined to ensure that our country remains a welcoming place for people around the globe.

We see neighbors organizing food delivery and carpools for families who are afraid to leave their homes. We see gatherings at schools for dropoff and pickup to keep kids safe. We see organizing in communities to be prepared to document ICE and CBP abuses and hold this administration accountable.

I have heard from a young man who is Active-Duty military serving his country despite this country deporting his father, and a young woman trying to juggle pursuing her education while caring for her young sibling after ICE detained her mother.

I know organizational leaders across the country who are citizens and should have nothing to fear but have been forced to move their families into safe houses. They are determined to continue demanding justice nevertheless. I was moved to hear from one person in the Twin Cities that they need to have their neighbors' backs because their communities are not whole without them.

These sentiments, again, reflect the love and generosity of the American people and their understanding that immigrants are vital to all of our communities.

In my hometown of Seattle, immigrants contribute to every sector of our economy, just like they do across the country. Seattle is a hub of creation, developing and advancing cutting-edge technology and research. Nearly 160,000 immigrants in Seattle work in STEM. Over 40 percent of people in Seattle with STEM degrees are immigrants.

Immigrants also make tremendous contributions in construction and housing. We are an agricultural State, and we have immigrants working across our farms everywhere—and in manufacturing and business.

As Republicans raise costs and destroy our safety net, it is immigrants who are keeping Social Security afloat. A report from the Social Security trustees shows that immigration improves the Social Security trust fund's solvency, specifically showing that when immigration increases, the trust fund's deficit decreases.

Just looking at 2022, undocumented immigrants paid $25.7 billion in Social Security taxes that take care of our seniors who are receiving Social Security today. They contribute even as they have no expectation of ever benefiting.

Donald Trump and Stephen Miller always claimed that they were going after the worst of the worst. That is clearly not what has happened. Rather, they have been about ending all immigration to this country of any kind.

Since Trump came into office, 400,000 people have been detained across the interior of our country. That includes parents of U.S. citizen children, which has harmed over 11,000 kids.

USCIS data shows sharp declines in approvals for all kinds of immigration benefits, including work visas and family reunification. In 2025, overall approvals dropped 27 percent. We don't have full data on student visas yet, but what we do have shows a 31-percent decrease.

Mr. Speaker, this is all inflicting lasting harm on our economy and our country. Immigrants are an essential part of our history, our present, and our future. I will never stop fighting for a comprehensive, humane immigration system that recognizes the tremendous contributions, the values, and the threads that immigrants weave throughout this country to make us as a country whole.

This has never just been about immigration. It is about who we are as a country and what we are willing to stand up for.

Mrs. RAMIREZ. Mr. Speaker, who are we as a nation? I thank Congresswoman JAYAPAL for powerfully reminding us that we cannot talk about having ideals and being a country that stands up for children and opportunity, and continue to dismiss those who contribute every single day in making that reality.

To continue this conversation around the contributions and the impact that immigrants make every single day in this Nation, I yield to the gentlewoman from Arizona (Mrs. GRIJALVA).

Mrs. GRIJALVA. Mr. Speaker, I thank the Congressional Progressive Caucus vice chair, Congresswoman RAMIREZ, for hosting this Special Order hour.

I rise today during Immigrant Heritage Month to honor our hardworking immigrant communities and call out the cruel and dangerous actions of the Trump administration.

While communities across America are honoring generations of immigrants who built our Nation, Trump and his administration are choosing fear, cruelty, and division.

This administration is carrying out a mass deportation agenda that is tearing through our communities, our barrios, and our families to target people who have lived in this country for decades, who own businesses, and who are students, leaders, teachers, and nurses in our community.

This administration wants to erase the contributions of immigrants while benefiting from their hard work, innovation, and sacrifices.

Let me remind them: Immigrants are not outsiders. They are the reason America looks the way it does.

I want to highlight Karla Toledo. She was brought to this country at 1 year old. She was violently pulled from her home and put in detention, inhumanely detained for 4 days. She was released on the lowest bond possible, and her charges were dropped.

□ 1840

The day before yesterday, ICE and DHS embarrassed by the spotlight and the black eye, are bringing new charges against her for deportation. We are sick as a community of being scapegoated. We are sick as a people of being scapegoated.

I am the granddaughter of a bracero, a guest worker, a hardworking Mexican immigrant who came to this country seeking opportunity.

I am the daughter of a Member of Congress, who spent his life fighting for immigrants and working families.

The Trump administration can attack immigrants, but they cannot erase their stories. They cannot erase our stories. They cannot erase our contributions, and they cannot erase the truth. Immigrants built this country.

(English translation of the statement made in Spanish is as follows:)

''Immigrants are part of our history, past, present, and future.''

''Los inmigrantes son parte de nuestra historia, nuestro presente y nuestro futuro.''

No amount of fear or cruelty will change that.

Mrs. RAMIREZ. Mr. Speaker, I now yield to the gentlewoman from Michigan (Ms. TLAIB), one of my colleagues who has been at the forefront, really pushing back on all the terror that we are seeing around the country, whether it is in detention, whether it is in the abductions that are happening on the ground, or if it is at check-ins and making sure that people feel safe to go to court.

Ms. TLAIB. Mr. Speaker, I thank my good colleague from Chicago, Congresswoman RAMIREZ, for her incredible advocacy and her sharing and vulnerability in expressing her lived experience or sharing her lived experience in this Chamber.

I am proud to be the daughter of Palestinian immigrants. My father came to this country at 19 years old. He was the guy in the 1970s that would pull up his arms and say: Which watch do you want? He never felt any kind of human dignity ever in his life until he joined the Ford Motor Company and became a member of the United Auto Workers.

My mother, who was 3 months pregnant with me on the airplane here to the United States from Palestine, came here with an eighth grade education.

Both of them could have never imagined in their lifetime that their eldest daughter would be the first in the family to graduate from high school, as well as achieve a college degree, and then later become one of the first Muslim women elected to the United States Congress.

These are the stories that I wish people would share more about our immigrant neighbors. I want to uplift those stories—the resilience, the contributions of so many of our immigrant neighbors across our country, especially in my district.

I grew up in southwest Detroit where there are 20 different ethnic groups. It taught me diversity. It made me a better person to be able to be around that type of strength, all of the different stories that were so similar to my parents' stories.

What I also love about my current 12th Congressional District is you can go in a community, and it is a huge, beautiful African diaspora, a Caribbean community, an Arab community. All throughout my district, there is so much love, and so many of our communities with immigrants are centered on family.

However, this Immigrant Heritage Month carries a heavier weight as this administration continues to target our immigrant neighbors day after day.

It has been incredibly painful, not just for myself and immigrants in our country, but for the American people, to watch our immigrant neighbors being abducted by masked DHS agents, our children being torn from their parents and some even zip-tied, and our disabled seniors being left to languish in detention camps. The images have been horrifying.

I wish to highlight one story of Maykol Duarte. He was from southwest Detroit. He was in high school. He was a high school student with only a few credits away from graduation. He was racially profiled by local police and handed over to ICE. He was on his way to a field trip, Mr. Speaker, with his friends, and now he was torn away from his loving community and deported to Colombia.

These are real-life stories, heartbreaking consequences of policies of this administration centered on cruelty.

We must acknowledge and recognize that not all immigrant communities, though, are impacted equally. I wish to take time to express my deepest fear that we are looking away from the impact on Black immigrants, which is the fastest growing immigrant group in the United States. Today, more than one in five Black Americans are immigrants or children of immigrants. Many of them face a huge impact or harm within our immigration system. They are more likely to be detained, more likely to be deported, and more likely to be denied asylum and relief.

These figures are not accidental. They are systemic and stem from a racist administration that continues to target African and Caribbean communities with no end in sight. This administration continues to separate our families and strip protections from those who need it most.

I ask my colleagues to not accept this broken, inhumane immigration system that treats people differently based on their race and on their origin. We must fight for fairness, dignity, and justice for all.

This Immigrant Heritage Month and every month, we all must stand with our immigrant neighbors and share the stories. I know Congresswoman RAMIREZ shared her story, and I shared my story.

This is the American Dream. There is no such thing as the Canadian dream, the German dream. There is only the American Dream, and all of us need to remember that we are a nation of immigrants.

Mrs. RAMIREZ. We are a nation of immigrants, and, unfortunately, many of our colleagues have forgotten that.

I do wonder if their grandparents when they came to this country, whether they were 5, whether they were 12, whether they were 17, if they were alive today, what would they say about their grandchildren that forgot the struggle and the challenges and what they needed when their grandparents came to this country.

I wish to take a moment to honor people who exemplify the power of immigrant heritage as so many of my colleagues have done today in our Special Order hour, because I know that we have a President who has done everything in his power to vilify the immigrant community, to call them criminals, to call them all sorts of other names, to negate their humanity, and forget about the names, the faces of women, of children, of hardworking people that, in fact, contribute to this community, to this country every single day.

HONORING DR. GLADYS FATIMA MARQUEZ

Mrs. RAMIREZ. Today, I rise to honor Dr. Gladys Fatima Marquez. Gladys is a high school bilingual English language learners teacher with over 20 years of classroom experience. She is also on the National Education Association's executive committee. She is a member and a past chair of the NEA Hispanic Caucus.

Gladys is the proud granddaughter of an immigrant from Zacatecas, Mexico. Her grandfather was a railroad worker on the Rock Island for 10 years before he was able to bring his family from Zacatecas in the 1960s.

Gladys' mother came here at the age of 13 and struggled to feel as though she belonged, especially at school. She, like thousands of other immigrant students, left school to join the workforce, taking a minimum wage factory job.

Her mother's experience inflamed her life's passion. Gladys worked to ensure every student believes in themselves, in their heritage, in who they are, and that they know that they can, in fact, achieve their dreams.

In addition to changing the world one child at a time, Gladys is a fierce advocate and defender of our immigrant neighbors. She has organized teach-ins at immigration detention centers, humanitarian missions to shelters at the border, and she has helped organize massive marches in protest of the national policy leading to separation of immigrant families and the incarceration of immigrant children. She lobbied and led efforts to support DACA recipients, and she has helped facilitate countless know-your-rights clinics.

On behalf of Illinois' Third Congressional District, I commend Dr. Gladys Fatima Marquez for her commitment to ensure that every member of our community, from our students and our immigrant neighbors, know that they belong.

Mr. Speaker, I thank Gladys.

HONORING SHAISKA MALCA

Mrs. RAMIREZ. Mr. Speaker, I also rise to honor Shaiska Malca, a constituent of the Illinois Third Congressional District and an educator, children's book author, and entrepreneur.

Shaiska is a proud Panamanian immigrant and vice president of the DuPage Hispanic Alliance.

Inspired by her own multicultural family and her mother, who had her own impressive career in education, Shaiska founded Pura Vida Talk to nurture bilingualism in our communities.

Pura Vida Talk empowers children to embrace multiculturalism and build bridges across our communities.

Her work to share her culture and language encourages children across Illinois' Third Congressional District and beyond to become global citizens who appreciate and celebrate diversity; all while they are being equipped with the invaluable skill of bilingualism, a skill that I think is a superpower and more people should seek.

□ 1850

On behalf of Illinois' Third Congressional District, I commend Shaiska Malca for reminding us of the strength we can find in connecting to our roots, our language, and our heritage.

I thank and congratulate Shaiska for her work.

PROTECTING ALL CHILDREN

Mrs. RAMIREZ. Mr. Speaker, as we get closer to the end of the Special Order hour, I want to go back to the children because in the previous Special Order hour, my colleagues to the right talked a lot about children. They talked about protecting children, protecting humanity, protecting family, and protecting the fiber of what it is to be an American.

While I sigh because I sense the hypocrisy that came from that Special Order hour, I do know that growing up, I, in fact, was taught that we take care of the children and families in our community not just by words but through action. I learned that we must honor our shared humanity to ensure that children and families, in fact, get to thrive.

But right now, we are living in times where too many children and families are living the indignity and the trauma of inhumane processing centers, inhumane detention facilities, and family separation.

Mr. Speaker, since the start of the Trump administration, at least 50 people have died in ICE detention. More than 6,200 children—children—have been arrested by ICE at traffic stops, home raids, routine check-in appointments, bus stops, hospitals, and airports. More than 100,000 children, including U.S. citizens, have been separated from their families through the Trump administration.

Mr. Speaker, these aren't just numbers. Every one of them is a beloved child that is being denied the ability to live a fulfilling life, a life where they get to really imagine who they can be.

I saw this terror and trauma firsthand when I visited Steven, my 14-year-old constituent with autism, and his father, Victor, who spent more than 60 days in Dilley's processing facility after being taken at an immigration check-in.

I saw it as he hugged me and he begged me to tell him that ICE would not detain him again and threaten him that he would never see his mother again as they did in that detention facility.

Mr. Speaker, I know the pain that families separated by a cruel, inhumane immigration system endure. Do you know why? It is because I watched as so many people around the world watched Kevin, my 18-year-old U.S. citizen constituent with stage IV terminal colon cancer cry, ''Mama, Mama,'' as he was finally reunited with his mother and father. His parents had been detained for 1 whole month in Arizona at a detention facility after they had asked for a humanitarian visa to come see their child one last time. You see, Kevin, after we finally were able to get his parents released, died hours after finally seeing his parents for one last time.

I think of Ofelia, my 15-year-old constituent, whose life was cut short by a rare and aggressive form of cancer, but she continued to fight one more battle. She fought to have her father's order of deportation canceled, ensuring he would no longer live in fear. You see, she testified in court for her father, but less than 3 days later, Ofelia lost her battle to cancer.

Mr. Speaker, I get emotional because there is a hypocritical party who talks about children and families and standing up for them, but for some reason, Ofelia, Kevin, and Steven are not the kind of children they are willing to stand up for. They are United States citizen children, by the way.

Because I refuse to accept that we must endure these atrocities, we must reject the cruelty that is robbing our children and families of their future. Instead, we should be doing everything we can to ensure that children like Ofelia, like Steven, and like Kevin have everything they need to thrive.

Instead, we have children, until their dying moment, fighting for the livelihood of their parents. It is why I have said in the Committee on Homeland Security—and I am going to say it on this House floor—that we must abolish ICE. We must end immigrant detention, and we have to dismantle the Department of Homeland Security that under the premise of protecting us from domestic terrorism has abused our civil rights every single day and has killed U.S. citizens and more than 50 people this past year.

It is why I encourage my colleagues to join me as a cosponsor of H.R. 7190, the Melt ICE Act, as a meaningful step forward. The reality is that I can't have colleagues here saying that all people are created equal, but somehow immigrants don't fit that definition.

I cannot stand here and hear a party talk about being pro-family but deny the livelihood for so many families.

Mr. Speaker, we have been talking about this fourth anniversary of the Dobbs decision, but I want to talk to you about what is happening to pregnant women in detention right now. For the party that says that they want to protect unborn life at all costs, why is it that immigrant women in detention don't fit that definition?

We must confront a painful but necessary truth: DHS' violence and immigration enforcement have denied immigrants the right to personhood. Immigration detention denies people access to reproductive healthcare and represents forms of government control over immigrant bodies.

Do you know how I know this? I know this because of a report that at least a dozen pregnant girls, some who are as young as 13 years of age, and at least half of whom got pregnant because they were raped, are being held right now in a facility in San Benito, Texas, funded by American taxpayer dollars; and a report that at least 400 pregnant women were deported between January 2025 and February 2026.

It is critical that we acknowledge that immigrant and reproductive justice is interconnected. Both immigrant and reproductive justice is rooted in a shared struggle against the structural systems of racism, xenophobia, sexism, homophobia, trans phobia, and economic oppression that police bodies and restrict bodily autonomy.

We must affirm the dignity and humanity of all people, including our immigrant neighbors, and condemn any policies that treat people as unworthy or inadequate of healthcare and fundamental rights or bodily autonomy.

Mr. Speaker, as I think about where we are in this precise moment, I want to invite my colleagues to remember what we said are the founding ideals of this country, because we cannot talk about standing up for injustice and continue to fund the injustice we are seeing around the country when it comes to our immigrant communities.

It is why I thank my colleagues who joined today's Special Order honoring Immigrant Heritage Month, and I want to close with this message: The question isn't whether change is possible. It is whether we have the courage to demand it. I cannot understand how some people here can think it is acceptable to terrorize children and then say that they are the ones fighting for children in the same sentence.

Shame on every person in this country who wants to lock up children in cages, who wants to lock up children and separate them from their loved ones and their communities. Shame on those who are willing to deny children air, sun, play, laughter, joy, and every single thing a little one needs to be able to thrive.

Mr. Speaker, President Mandela said: ''There can be no keener revelation of a society's soul than the way in which it treats its children.''

This House has to reckon with the reality that when it comes to immigrant children, you should be ashamed of yourself in the way that you are operating. Incarcerating children is an evil, morally bankrupt practice that calls into question any commitment our Nation claims to have about their preciousness.

We must unleash our collective outrage. We must demand that no other children experience what Steven, what Liam, and the more than 3,800 children detained by ICE have endured.

So let's demand an end to mandatory detention, to private detention facilities that are profiting off of the pain of our children, to family detention, to warehouse detention, and to the profiting off our pain by corporate billionaires and campaign donors to the President.

And may we remember that every child is our child, and a fight for affordable housing, universal healthcare, climate resilience, humane immigration reform, thriving wages, labor rights is our fight, as well.

I reject a world where, during Immigrant Heritage Month, Palestinians in need of medical care cannot get visas to access care in the United States; where children grieve detained fathers on Father's Day; where deported sons are tortured in prisons in El Salvador; where children are held in U.S. for-profit detention centers; or where a mother in Durango, Mexico, cries in the lap of her dying 18-year-old son after being separated by a cruel and inhumane immigration system.

I refuse to accept that we must endure these atrocities. The suffering is too great. The pain is too great to bear.

So instead, Mr. Speaker, let us move forward with a loving wisdom that we are, in fact, precious and beloved; that we are bound together; that we belong to one another; and that every single child, regardless of legal status, is our child.

And may we honor our history by recognizing the human rights and constitutional protections afforded to all in this Nation and all those who seek refuge and protection.

I am ready to build that world together today, and to do so let's melt ICE, let's dismantle DHS because, frankly, Mr. Speaker, anything less is unacceptable.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

REPUBLICAN UPDATE

(Under the Speaker's announced policy of January 3, 2025, Mr. ROY of Texas was recognized for 30 minutes.)

Mr. ROY. Mr. Speaker, I appreciate the time here on the House floor. As always, I wish it was a little more filled with my colleagues involved in robust debate on the issues of our day and the issues that present our work here in the House to solve problems for the American people.

I want to say something quick that I think is really important as we are having a lot of debates this week, and a lot of people are raising questions about bills that we are bringing up and what we are moving and what we are not moving, the President making a decision today. I want to address where we are as a country because I think it is really important for us to establish what we have accomplished under this President over the last 18 months and under the leadership of this House and this Senate.

I am going to get into some disagreements in a minute, and I am going to get into some things that I think we ought to do. But let's be very clear about the State of this country and how much we have improved the State of our Nation over the last 18 months.

Mr. Speaker, 18 months ago, our borders were wide open. Eighteen months ago, the people of Texas that I represent were in danger. Eighteen months ago, we had criminals pouring into our communities in Texas and fentanyl pouring in and destroying homes and families.

The President came in and didn't need changes to the law to do the work of actually securing the border and did so. He did so with the great men and women of ICE and Border Patrol and the leadership of Tom Homan, the now two Secretaries of Homeland Security, and other patriots who were working to secure the border, and they brought it to a complete standstill.

That is one thing, one thing that had a measurable impact on the people that I represent, the communities that I represent, and on this entire Nation. We are no longer living in fear that more criminals are coming across so that the Jocelyn Nungarays of the world get murdered and taken from us as did Laken Riley in my friend's home State of Georgia.

That is something we should celebrate and recognize and talk about and remind the American people that you can't take it for granted. You can't take good, strong leadership for granted. You can't take the fact that we now have enlistments and people that are looking to join the United States military at all-time highs. You are seeing people who want to be a part of the military because the President has removed the absurdity of the woke agenda and the DEI and all this stuff, taking their eyes off the ball of becoming the best fighting force in the world. Now people, young men and women, want to join the military again.

I know. I know my colleagues know because they talk to the men and women who want to go to the academies. They are proud to be in the United States military again. That is this President. That is this leadership. That is this Congress that is delivering that.

It is this President that took on the cartels and declared them as the terrorist organizations that they are. It is this President that took on Maduro and went after the change that needed to occur in Venezuela so we no longer had that pressure point that was facilitating our enemies in China and in Russia, that was reestablishing our footprint in the Western Hemisphere and making clear that this is an American hemisphere.

This President did that.

This President is reestablishing the faith in a government that believes in making their Capital City safe and secure again, pretty again—things you can be proud of as we celebrate our Nation's 250th birthday.

We are reestablishing our position around the globe, making clear that America is going to have a position. We are not going to engage in endless wars, but we are, in fact, going to make sure that our enemies know who we are, what we are doing, and that they are going to listen and that they are going to come to the table.

These are all things that require actual leadership.

This country is immeasurably better because of the last 18 months of this President, this Republican Congress, the Republican Senate, despite some of our disagreements. Yes, we have the sausage getting made where we have disagreements like we saw today. I am going to highlight a few of those things and talk about some directions that I think we ought to go.

But I want to be very clear. It is the Republicans in this body, in particular, and the Senate that had to end-run Democrats who did not want to fund ICE and Border Patrol. They preferred for political purposes to endanger the people of the country. They refused to appropriate money for the law enforcement agencies tasked with ensuring our country is secure and required us to use the reconciliation process to backdoor funding to ensure that ICE and Border Patrol would get funded.

That is what we are having to do. That is what leadership looks like.

It is not the best way to do it. We should have just appropriated it in January or February, but our Democrat colleagues refused to do it, preferring instead to endanger the American people.

Republicans stopped that. Republicans united to stop that. Republicans in both Chambers united to stop that, and I am proud of that. And I am proud of the things that I talked about and our position in the world and the secure border and the strong military. I am proud that our economy is moving in the right direction and getting stronger every day after the doldrums of the previous administration. These are all things that we should be proud of and why this election season is going to be so important.

This raises certain questions about what we do in our remaining 5 or 6 months before this election and the remaining 6 or 7 months in this Congress.

Today, the President was supposed to come up here and have a bill signing ceremony back here in the old House Chamber, and ultimately he chose not to come. The President's rationale was that he believed that rather than coming here and signing a housing bill that he wanted to make sure that this body, the House, and the Senate knows that he expects us to pass the SAVE America Act in order to secure our Nation's elections.

You cannot have a Republic that the people believe in if they don't believe in and trust their elections. That is what this is about. I don't know whether we will get it across the finish line by the end of this Congress or not. I was proud to author the bill 2 years ago here in the House, my friend MIKE LEE in the Senate. I am proud that we have now passed it three times out of the House, and I am proud that we are continuing to have this conversation because we need to have the conversation. We need to have the fight. We need to have the discussion. The Senate needs to be forced to debate it.

Democrats who refuse to pass it need to make clear to the American people who is look blocking it, and it is not Republicans. It is not Republicans. It is Democrats who refuse roundly in both Chambers to say that very simply put, only American citizens should vote in American elections.

That is the truth.

Now, look, I voted against the housing bill yesterday, and I am going to explain why. I don't think we should be in the business of expanding government programs.

I don't think we should be in the business of expanding Section 8 housing. I don't think we should be in the business of telling local governments what they must do. I don't think we should celebrate the streamlining of permits, which are mostly on government-owned properties and so forth.

There were things in the bill that I do think moved things in a positive direction. I am glad that my good friend, FRENCH HILL, worked hard to try to do that in this difficult body.

I think the Senate made the bill worse. I couldn't vote for it. I couldn't support it. I have said why. I have a duty to my constituents to explain why. I was one of 32 Republicans who voted against it.

I don't think the bill was good enough. I don't think it should have included $200 million for an affordable housing pilot program from Congresswoman TLAIB. I don't think it should have included some of the grant programs, the PRICE program, the community enhancement for HUD, which I think goes through NGOs, which I don't trust won't be layered in fraud. That is not what I think this body should do in a limited government.

Today, we were supposed to bring up another bill under a rule, along with two appropriations bills, a veterans bill. I served on the Veterans' Affairs Committee for two terms before I joined the Rules Committee. I am proud to support and work to defend veterans.

We have gotten in the habit here of passing bills to say we did something. I think this is another one of those. It is all well intended.

I have groups of veterans coming to me that are for it and against it. They don't like the way some of the pay-fors impact them, some of the fees, some of the things that get transferred from one veteran to another. This is going to have a significant amount of spending. That is on top of the PACT Act, which we passed a few years ago.

I bring all that up simply to say that we have a habit here, when it gets into election season, of just moving bills because you want to check a box. I don't think we should do that. I don't think we should be doing that for housing. I don't think we should be doing that for veterans.

I think what has made this Congress successful is sticking to our job of fiscal responsibility. Holding our spending in check, stop increasing the debt, stop increasing the deficits, helping get interest rates down by driving down the deficits as a percentage of our gross domestic product, while the President drives up the economy, strengthening our military, strengthening our borders, doing the core constitutional functions of our Republic, that is what our job is.

My colleagues on this side of the aisle sometimes get frustrated. You cannot dare criticize because, somehow, you are undermining the party during election season.

I have been very clear that there is no comparison here between a party that wants to side with the woke agenda that is destroying our country, that wants open borders, that doesn't want to stand with our military, and that wants to undermine our President at every turn. There is no comparison of what this President and what this Republican Party have been doing for the people of this country.

We need to do better. We need to finish strong over the next 6 months of this Congress. Here are a couple of things that I think we need to do.

Number one, this Congress needs to pass codification of the President's successful border security provisions. We did so in the previous Congress, under H.R. 2. It would solve the problem of the abuses of parole, the abuses of asylum, and the catch and release policies that were abused under Biden. We can pass that in this House. We can send it to the Senate.

Yes, the Senate may sit on it, like they are doing with the SAVE Act. That is up to the Senate. I don't like this phrase: It is not a legislative exercise or a law-making exercise.

Yes, it is. We are supposed to do our job in the House. We should send over the codification of what the President is doing, to address what I saw today, a bunch of immigrants and migrants in Mexico who are saying to the camera: We are going to wait till Trump is gone, and then we are coming.

That is going to happen. If there is a Democrat in the White House and if there is a weak Secretary of Homeland Security, like there was under Mayorkas, then they will let people come into our country, and then more Americans will die. There will be more Laken Rileys and more Jocelyn Nungarays.

Number one, let's fix that. Let's codify border security. Let's call the question. Let's have the vote. Let's do it here. Let's send it to the Senate.

Let's end the magnets. Let's codify the end of free healthcare and education under Plyler v. Doe and other taxpayer-subsidized public benefits for illegal aliens.

Let's defund the sanctuary jurisdictions.

Let's hike remittance fees. We added 1 percent remittance fees on illegal aliens last year, in the big, beautiful bill. Let's increase it to 5 percent, 10 percent, 20 percent. Why should people who come here, who are here illegally, not be paying a remittance fee, at least for the time, while we are not getting them out of our country? Let's make revenue on the fact that they are earning dollars here and not when they are sending them overseas or sending them home. Let's collect that for our purposes, because we have to spend a lot of money on this. Let's increase those remittance fees.

Let's act as a body to end automatic birthright citizenship, even as we are looking at what the Court does. The Court isn't the only one to make these decisions. We can. There should not be birthright citizenship for just being born on our dirt. There should be birthright citizenship for being born to an American citizen, mother or father. It is the right way to do things.

Let's reduce and reform legal immigration. Let's pass the PAUSE Act. We have 53 million foreign-born people in the United States. That is 16 percent of the population. That is the highest percentage we have ever had. We need to pause. We need to take a breather. We need to remove certain people from this country, as the administration is doing. We need to continue to do that.

We need to press pause on the legal immigration still bringing people into our country until we have established who we are as a country and have ensured we have the sovereignty and the cultural solidification of who we are as a nation.

Let's halt the Islamic invasion. Let's pass legislation to ensure that people who are coming here are vetted for their adherence to sharia law, which is deeply contradictory to the 14th Amendment of the Constitution and the rule of law here in the United States.

Let's pause H–1Bs. Let's review, reform, maybe even repeal H–1Bs, and overhaul the entire system. They have been abused. They have been fraudulent, certainly in Texas—I am sure also in Atlanta and other places around the country. Let's formally end diversity visas and chain migration.

What is all this to the average person? I am just telling you that these are the things that are causing us to have imported 5 million people from majority Muslim countries since 9/11. That does not sound like the thing a country should do that wants to preserve and protect itself after it was attacked, in the middle of what is now a multi-decades-long war, cold and hot, of the Islamists against the West.

The imams and the Muslim Brotherhood will publicly state that they are waging jihad against the West. America is the prize, and Texas is the prize in America.

Let's do something about it. This body can do something about it. Stop hiding behind the First Amendment. Stop hiding behind the touchy-feely cultural stuff that we talk about in our schools, saying, oh, that sounds hateful.

It is not hateful to say that we ought to preserve and protect this country, and we should not allow people who are coming here to undermine the rule of law, undermine the Constitution, and try to Islamify a Judeo-Christian nation into something that it is not.

Let's do those things. Let's fight the rise of sharia law. Let's pass legislation that clearly bans it. Let's ban the entry of and remove foreign nationals who adhere to sharia law and undermine the rights of women. That is occurring right here in this Nation, even as we speak.

Let's codify the elimination of foreign aid and expose the NGO funding, which is typically hostile to our interests. We are not doing enough of that. The administration is doing a great job. We have done some of it here. We need to go further.

Let's exit and reform NATO. Let's exit and reform the United Nations. Let's codify our exit from the World Health Organization that the President unilaterally executed from the executive.

Let's end funding for the National Endowment for Democracy, which is often abused against us and our allies. Let's stop foreign aid for recalcitrant countries that refuse to take back illegal aliens.

These are all things we should be doing as the people's House. There can be some debates and nuances about different pieces of these things. I am not saying every one of these is something that you just decree from on high. We are a republican form of government, of representatives.

Let's have the debate. Let's do it. Let's talk about it because this country did, in fact, pause immigration in the mid-20th century, and it was good for our Nation for a bit. It was good for us to take stock. It was good for us to ensure that we have people assimilating and becoming a part of our country rather than trying to break down our country.

We must dismantle and destroy the Marxist and Islamic organizations and networks undermining our safety and the rule of law, codify that antifa is a domestic terrorist organization, codify that the Southern Poverty Law Center is a domestic terrorist organization, and investigate and cut off the funding that George Soros is putting forward, often, we believe, illegally, an extension of DAs that are putting criminals on our streets.

Why are we allowing this to occur?

It is insane.

Let's fight for energy freedom. Let's kill the remainder of the subsidies that are destroying our grid and undermining actual energy freedom. Let's kill corporate cronyism, the grift and the regulations. Let's end the renewable fuel standard crippling American refinery production, but let's go ahead and allow year-round E15. I am good with that, E20, E25, I don't care. Let the market figure it out, but get rid of the renewable fuel standard.

Don't come in here and beg for an E15 year-round mandate because you want to have a bailout for farmers, and then don't tell me: Texan, you might want to have the refining capacity that we need.

Don't tell me that we shouldn't end the renewable fuel standard. Let's work together and do that. I am happy to. I want our farmers in Iowa, Minnesota, and places that want to have E15, E20, whatever, year-round. Great. Let's get rid of that regulation, but let's get rid of this other regulation too, Mr. Speaker.

Let's rapidly develop nuclear power.

Let's pass strong permitting reform.

As we sit here now 2 weeks in the supposed darkness on the FISA 702 expiration, number one: I would like to take a bet from anybody about whether they think our government is still conducting warrantless surveillance even though FISA has expired. I assure you they are, Mr. Speaker.

Number two: Shouldn't we continue to do something about it?

Let's protect Americans from warrantless surveillance in their country and government and the corporate use of technology to target and spy on Americans. Let's ensure warrant protections when we are talking about FISA.

Ban government control of American citizen spending by banning any central bank digital currency. If you don't know what that is, Mr. Speaker, if you don't know what a CBDC, a central bank digital currency, is, it is the government being able to monitor and control your currency, your spending, and your dollars electronically and being able to say: Oh, no, you can't buy that gas now. Oh, no, wait, we don't like guns. No bullets, you can't buy bullets.

China does it all the time, and you don't think we are 5 seconds from it happening right here in the United States of America, Mr. Speaker?

Of course, we are.

Let's ban government and corporate surveillance in our cars by killing the kill switch where we have mandated technology going into cars making them more expensive so they can monitor you and monitor your face while you are driving, Mr. Speaker.

In what kind of world in America do we have surveillance in our automobiles mandated by the government?

Ban the funding of block cameras and other government surveillance. Let's stop it.

Mr. Speaker, I am a security, law and order guy. I was in the United States Attorneys Office.

Do you know what makes my job easier as a prosecutor?

It is having all the information in the world and all the surveillance data in the world to know exactly what everybody is doing and be able to go put them in jail.

Nevertheless, Mr. Speaker, do you know what I like?

It is freedom. I don't want the government monitoring everything we are doing.

Let's not forget why we are sitting at $40 trillion in debt to reduce deficits and debt. We did a great thing in the big, beautiful bill by enforcing reforms to Medicaid and making sure that illegal aliens couldn't get welfare benefits in Medicaid. We had significant reductions in waste, fraud, and abuse. We did some good work, and we held discretionary spending flat for 3 years.

I didn't mention that earlier as one of our great accomplishments. Under this President and under this Congress, for 3 years we held discretionary spending flat. I don't know when we have ever done that. That is an extraordinary piece of work that we have done, but we are not denting the debt yet. We are not denting the interest that is piling up around the ears of our kids and our grandkids.

Let's continue to reduce or hold discretionary spending flat. Let's eliminate programs plagued by fraud and let's have reforms to eliminate fraud. Let's ensure any reconciliation package is actually deficit reducing.

I sat in meetings today in the Speaker's Office talking about reconciliation. My perspective is dollar for dollar, year for year, spending pay-fors match the spending—no gimmicks, no games, no 10-year out-year savings for up-year 1-year spending. That is not hard. It is just something we ought to do.

Let's further reform welfare mandatory spending benefits. Let's pass a balanced budget amendment. Let's do the work we need to do to get spending down and keep it going in the right direction.

However, don't send up to me, White House, a supplemental spending bill because of Iran for $87 billion with an E15 mandate in it. I am not going to vote for that.

Are we going to pay for it?

How are we going to pay for it?

We used to pay for our wars. Yes, we racked up debt after World War II, but we also did a lot of war bonds, we did a lot of rationing, and we had a lot of tax increases to deal with the war. I am not for tax increases.

What I am saying is: Let's work through what we need to do to pay for $87 billion.

By the way, that doesn't even begin to do what we need to do to modernize our defense and replenish our stockpiles. We should do all of that, but we should pay for it. Guns and butter is a novel concept. We have been doing a good job. Let's not break from it. Once we start breaking from it, it gets real easy. We should hold the line.

Let's ban congressional stock trading. Oh, my gosh, oh, the wailing and the gnashing of teeth.

Mr. Speaker, there are only 435 of us. If you don't like it, then leave. I am going to be leaving at the end of the year after four terms. I think this is supposed to be a body where you come up, you serve, and you go home. I am not, by the way, trying to diminish anybody who has been here for five, for six, or for eight terms. I support term limits, but whatever.

My view is, though: Why are you here day trading and engaging in the active trading of stocks when you are voting on the very thing you are supposed to be doing for the American people and not yourself?

I am open to ideas on how. I am not open to it being an option. A majority of this body wants to do it. We just haven't done it. It is overwhelmingly popular with the American people, and I think it would give great confidence that we are in this for the right reasons.

Let's make America healthy again. Let's provide real American healthcare freedom. Employer-provided health subsidies should go to health savings accounts. They shouldn't have to go to Aetna or shouldn't have to go to Blue Cross. Let those employer-provided funds go directly to you, Mr. Speaker, and allow you to go use those for direct primary care or to health sharing ministries. Let's shake the system up.

Let's break the back of the insurance companies and the great big hospitals that are running this town. Seven times more is spent on healthcare lobbying in this town than on defense. It is by far the biggest industry in this town.

Mr. Speaker, do you want to know why we can't solve healthcare?

That is why. It is the money.

Let's stop subsidizing sugar drinks. We had a vote on this over here, and we couldn't pass it.

Mr. Speaker, how can you not pass something saying: Stop subsidizing sugar drinks?

I don't even know what the argument is against it. Drink water. It was good enough for a millennia for human beings.

Why are we using taxpayer dollars to say you should drink a Coke?

Protect Americans from poison in our food, air and in the water. Let's protect children. Let's defund abortion and Planned Parenthood like we did in the big, beautiful bill and transgender surgeries.

Let's stop mifepristone and the pill that is going around killing literally hundreds of thousands of unborn babies. Let's defund and limit that mifepristone.

Let's then protect children from online abuses in AI, but let's do it the right way.

Let's not empower government to police speech.

Let's not allow the Federal Government to set massive standards preempting States. Let's ensure we protect our rights while we protect our children. We have done it for every other scourge on our kids. Let's do it on this disaster that is technology in the pockets of our children. We can do that. It is not partisan. Let's just do it.

Let's protect American land and housing from foreign ownership, and let's pass a constitutional amendment for term limits. If we can't pass a constitutional amendment for term limits, then why don't we just say we are not going to provide pay for Members after a certain period of time?

Or why don't we limit people from leadership positions or committee chairmanships after a certain period of time?

We don't need to amend the Constitution to do that. I introduced a bill to do that.

I am not saying these are all 100 percent the right thing to do. I am not saying my bill on banning congressional stock trading is the only way or the right way. What I am saying is: Let's do it.

We sit around a lot, and we talk about these things. That is the nature of a legislative body, but we have been talking about some of these things for way too long.

We have been talking about passing a balanced budget amendment for a long time. Let's do it.

We have talked about term limits for a long time. Let's do it by means of an amendment or by statute.

We have talked about reducing spending. We are starting to do it a little, but we haven't touched mandatory spending.

We have talked about what we need to do to secure our country and secure our border. Let's codify it. Let's do it. Let's not just depend on the President so that we are in this yo-yo every 4 years or every 8 years.

Let's make sure we have got abundant energy for the American people. Let's not pick winners and losers. Let's stop subsidizing X over Y.

Let's have clean nuclear, and let's have clean natural gas.

Let's have a strong military that has the tools that it needs. I am 100 percent on board for that, but you have to pay for it. Stop pretending that you don't have to pay for things. Stop running around, as Republicans, saying: Supply side, supply side, can't touch taxes, but, man, I can sure spend a lot.

Great. I am for supply side and I want to cut taxes, but stop spending.

You can't have your cake and eat it, too. We, Republicans, can lead this country. We can inspire them to show up and support us to guarantee we have the strongest Congress, alongside this President, to defend this country and to ensure that we carry forward in the right way, but we have to do it.

I don't care if it is one or two or five or ten of those things, but can we do any of those things?

Can we start with something like codifying border security? Can we ban congressional stock trading? Can we tackle the issue of healthcare and a Reconciliation 3.0 product? Can we fund defense, but pay for it?

These are all basic things the American people expect us to do. Let's do it, and then let's carry forward this country for our kids and grandkids.

Mr. Speaker, I don't know if I will get a chance to get back down on the House floor next week before we celebrate our 250th birthday, but that brings up two things for me to recount in my last 2 minutes.

One is to the great people of Kerrville, Texas, and to the Hill Country that suffered under the devastating floods last year. You have been an example to all.

Yes, there have been questions about what happened and looking at what could be done differently and so forth, but the amount of money that was raised under private dollars—almost $150 million—record numbers that were given out and then distributed in a sober and appropriate way, a community that rallied around their faith, stood up and defended—they didn't come here.

I didn't have constituents coming here, begging: CHIP, come introduce a bill. We have got to have some big Federal Government bill to save our bacon.

We did what we thought was right. FEMA was there. They helped, and then we tried to do it the right way. I am so proud of that community. I am praying for them. I am praying for those who lost their lives and their families as they hit this 1-year mark. I ask the rest of this Nation and the rest of my colleagues to do the same.

Finally, I remind us as we are celebrating the 250th birthday of this country and all the sacrifice of all of our forefathers who bled, died, and fought for it that we have an obligation to do the same for our kids and grandkids, or we will lose it. That is the one thing that our Founding Fathers understood better than anybody.

I remind people that we are not just celebrating our 250th birthday, but we are celebrating the 200th anniversary of the death of both Thomas Jefferson and John Adams on that July 4, 1826, when Adams died saying Jefferson lives not knowing that Jefferson had passed away just a few hours before.

If you don't believe in the divine intervention in this country's founding, then think about that, that those two men died 50 years to the day from July 4, 1776.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 119th CONGRESS, SECOND SESSION

Vol. 172 WASHINGTON, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 24, 2026 No. 106

Senate

The Senate met at 10 a.m., and was called to order by the President pro tempore (Mr. GRASSLEY).

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Dr. Barry C. Black, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Eternal God, the center of our joy, You are our strength. Thank You for Your guidance and protection. Lord, be a stronghold for our lawmakers, providing them with strength for today and hope for tomorrow. May they cast their cares on You, knowing that no one is more concerned about the things that strengthen their peace. Show Yourself to the faithful, rewarding integrity with Your bountiful blessings. Lord, arm our Senators with courage for life's battles, keeping them humble, obedient, and faithful in their work. Help us all to live in day-tight compartments doing the best we can each day and leaving the results to You.

We pray in Your precious Name. Amen.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The President pro tempore led the Pledge of Allegiance, as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

RESERVATION OF LEADER TIME

CONCLUSION OF MORNING BUSINESS

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Morning business is closed.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

EXECUTIVE CALENDAR

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Under the previous order, the Senate will proceed to executive session to resume consideration of the following nomination, which the clerk will report.

The senior assistant legislative clerk read the nomination of John George Edward Marck, of Texas, to be United States District Judge for the Southern District of Texas.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Iowa.

E15

Mr. GRASSLEY. Mr. President, I am here once again like I have done at least once a week every week since the House passed year-round E15. I do it to communicate the importance of the Senate passing year-round E15.

I have talked about the importance of year-round E15 to agriculture in my previous speeches. I have also spoke about how E15 will lower gas prices in previous remarks.

I will repeat again—and I have made it clear—that E15 is not a mandate as opponents charge because E15 gives consumers a choice at the gasoline pump. And I have shown how E15 supports America's rural economy.

I would like to highlight today another reason why we need to pass year-round E15, and it is because of our national security. This was recently a point of discussion when Agriculture Secretary Rollins was before the Agriculture, Nutrition, and Forestry Committee and she said this at a hearing in response to my question about year-round E15.

She said:

There is no national security without farm security.

I agree with the Secretary.

E15 protects national security by supporting American farmers and expanding homegrown fuels. When the Congress established the Renewable Fuel Standard, it was intended in part to diversify our Nation's renewable fuels to ensure that we didn't rely on imported oil.

Expanding access to clean, American-grown fuel reduces our reliance on international sources of energy. Passing E15 is common sense for our pocketbooks, for our environment, and for our national security. I will continue to communicate with my colleagues about why E15 is good, good, good.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

RECOGNITION OF THE MAJORITY LEADER

The majority leader is recognized.

WAIVING QUORUM CALL

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to waive the mandatory quorum calls with respect to the Marck, Hendershot, and Jones nominations.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

DOBBS V. JACKSON WOMEN'S HEALTH ORGANIZATION

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, today, we mark 4 years since the Supreme Court's Dobbs decision, the landmark Supreme Court decision overturning Roe v. Wade and returning the question of abortion to the people and their elected representatives.

Roe was, quite simply, terrible constitutional law—a fact that has been acknowledged by legal scholars across the political spectrum—and the Dobbs decision reversed this decades-old error and made it clear that Roe's supposed constitutional right to an abortion simply didn't exist.

I am proud to have fought, along with my Republican colleagues, to put

● This "bullet" symbol identifies statements or insertions which are not spoken by a Member of the Senate on the floor.

Printed on recycled paper.

Justices on the Supreme Court who focus on interpreting the law and the Constitution, instead of creating new constitutional law out of thin air, as the Justices did in Roe.

It is fitting that the Dobbs decision occurs close to our Nation's birthday, July 4, the anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence. As we prepare to celebrate the 250th birthday of the declaration—the 250th birthday of our country—the proximity of these two anniversaries has been on my mind.

The declaration lays out the fundamental principles underlying our system of government, and no lines are more important than these:

We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

''That among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness.''

''Unalienable rights''—rights given by God, rights that come before government and that government is required to protect.

''All Men are created equal . . . [and] endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights.''

As our country knows, to its sorrow, we haven't always lived up to the principles of the declaration, and the sad truth is that, when it comes to unborn Americans, we are failing to live up to those principles today because, in State after State around this country, it is legal to kill unborn human beings—unborn Americans—in some cases, up until the point of birth—up until the point of birth.

These babies—these human beings—will never have a chance to enjoy the rest of their unalienable rights because they are denied their most fundamental right while they are still in their infancy.

This is not, of course, something you will hear from my Democrat colleagues when they attempt to defend abortion. You won't hear about the baby whose rights are at stake.

In fact, my Democrat colleagues do everything they can to obscure the baby in this debate. They mention women and ''healthcare'' and ''reproductive freedom,'' as if killing an innocent person could ever, ever be something we are free to do.

And they never mention the other person in question, which is the unborn human being who was sacrificed in every abortion—probably because they know, at some level, that supporting the killing of an innocent human being is indefensible and completely incompatible with our Nation's creed.

And let's be very clear here. When we talk about abortion, we are talking about the killing of a human being. Everyone knows this. Even my Democratic colleagues know this, although they might like to gloss over the fact.

You don't even need to have seen a baby kicking her feet and sucking her thumb on an ultrasound to know that she is human because human moms and human dads have other human beings. That is Biology 101.

No, the question isn't whether the unborn baby is a human being. The question is whether we value that human being, whether we really believe our American creed.

We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all [—all—] Men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life. . . .

Do we really believe that, or do we believe that it is OK to say that some human beings are more important than others, that some human beings can be sacrificed for others?

I would hope history has taught us it is a very dangerous thing to say that some groups of human beings are not worthy of protection.

I am proud to be from a State that has extended the full protection of the law to unborn human beings, that has recognized that unborn Americans are also created equal and endowed by their Creator with unalienable rights.

I am proud to have supported, sponsored, and cosponsored pro-life legislation here in Congress.

The overturning of Roe has opened the door to substantive pro-life legislation, and Republicans in Congress are going to keep up the fight for real protections for unborn Americans.

I am very proud that with the Working Families Tax Cut, Congress enacted the first pro-life law in decades. Thanks to Republicans' landmark legislation this year, some of the Nation's largest abortion providers, including Planned Parenthood, were prohibited from receiving Federal Medicaid funding.

Organizations that have turned the killing of babies into a business were cut off from this source of taxpayer dollars.

The Dobbs decision was a landmark decision because it opened the door for full protection of the unalienable rights of unborn Americans, but there is a lot more work to be done.

The Democrat Party fights tooth and nail to ensure that even the most commonsense measures—like measures to protect babies who survive abortions or to ensure that pregnant college students are aware that they have alternatives to abortion—do not make it through Congress.

And, currently, mail-order abortion drugs are flooding into States in defiance of the law—thanks to the Biden administration's decision to loosen restrictions on these drugs—despite the fact that they pose a danger to women, as well as obviously to the babies.

So as I said, the fight to protect the right to life for all Americans continues, and I and my Republican colleagues will continue to do everything we can here in Congress to support moms and to protect babies.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all—[all]—men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness.

May the day soon come when we fully live up to that creed.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

RECOGNITION OF THE MINORITY LEADER

The Democratic leader is recognized.

DOBBS V. JACKSON WOMEN'S HEALTH ORGANIZATION

Mr. SCHUMER. Mr. President, with their dreadful, horrific Dobbs decision 4 years ago today, six far-right wing MAGA Justices broke nearly 50 years of precedent to rip the right to choose away from millions—millions—of American women.

You can sum up both the dreadful Dobbs decision and the whole far-right philosophy the same way: less freedom in your life; more government interference in your personal decisions. That is the MAGA way.

Dobbs will go down as one of the most damaging, legally dubious, and deeply out-of-touch Supreme Court decisions in American history. It is a disgrace that the Supreme Court did it. It is a disgrace on the Supreme Court itself.

Trump may not like talking about his crusade against women's reproductive rights, but he cannot hide from the pain he has inflicted on women across America. Mr. President, 20 States—20—have enacted total or near-total abortion bans, which means that nearly 40 percent of women of reproductive age live in a State with an abortion ban.

The human cost of the Republican assault on women's reproductive freedom is sickening. I have heard so many women share their stories of the horrors they have experienced in Trump's post-Roe America.

Republicans are letting women die by restricting necessary care. Some women have to travel hundreds of miles—even thousands—to get the treatment they need and deserve and are entitled to. Parents, patients, and doctors have been punished like violent criminals for lifesaving procedures that were legal just a few years ago and had been for decades before that.

The GOP is treating mifepristone like it is poison and Planned Parenthood like it is an enemy of the State. It is despicable.

Even before the Justices behind Dobbs were confirmed, anyone could see they wanted to overturn Roe. Every Republican Senator, who voted to confirm these radical Justices who stripped away these fundamental rights to choose that women have had for so long, will have to answer to the American people.

We will not—we Democrats—will not let Republicans brush their radical efforts to ban abortion under the rug. The American people know it, and we are going to keep showing the difference between the two parties on this issue when the American people are strongly on our side.

TRUMP ADMINISTRATION

Mr. President, now Trump's visit to the Capitol. Seeing Trump come to the Capitol today to meet Senate Republicans is like watching the clown car pull up to the circus, made even more so by Trump's canceling of the bill signing, which I will talk more about in a minute.

When Trump comes to the Hill today, he will find the MAGA Senate majority in meltdown. They are one big, hot mess—that is what the Republican Senate is right now. Republicans are wringing each other's necks. They can't govern their own conference of 53 people, let alone a country of hundreds of millions.

After being doublecrossed, blindsided, and embarrassed by Trump, Senate Republicans can either keep bending the knee to the President or start demanding answers on behalf of the American people.

The reason that Republicans are such a hot mess is obvious. Trump's views are totally out of touch with the American people's views, and Republicans are afraid to tell him he is wrong.

Speak up. Stand up to Trump. Tell him what you think, Republicans. That might do your party some good. It might even do Trump some good if he would ever listen.

Americans want to know what Republicans are doing to bring down costs. Americans want to know how Trump plans to end his disastrous war with Iran. Americans want to know whether the GOP will continue going along with Trump's all-out assault on voting rights with legislation like the SAVE Act.

If my colleagues across the aisle have any sense at all, they ought to grill Trump on affordability, on his failed war with Iran, on his effort to hold American national security hostage, and all his other policies that are hurting the American people.

When they emerge from their meeting, will Republicans have told Trump the truth? Will they speak truth to power? Will they do their job? Or will they just bend in obedience to him and get more frustrated, more angry, and more ineffective than they have ever been?

WAR POWERS RESOLUTION

Mr. President, on the Iran War Powers Resolution, the successful passage of our War Powers Resolution yesterday reasserts what the American people have been saying for months: Trump's reckless war with Iran must end.

For the first time, this resolution has passed both Chambers of Congress and does not require the President's signature. The message from the only branch of government with the power to declare war, the Congress, could not be more clear: The Trump administration must withdraw United States forces from hostilities in Iran. Both Houses have now spoken and said just that. Every day that Trump refuses to get our troops out of harm's way, the pressure mounts on him and the Senate Republicans who continue to go along with this failed war.

Trump said our War Powers Resolution to end his war is ''meaningless.'' Trump thinks Americans' frustrations with his historic blunder are meaningless too. Trump complained that our resolution ''just made my job more difficult.''

Donald Trump, our job is not to make your job less difficult. Our job is to make the American people's lives less difficult, especially after all you have done to make them more difficult.

We don't care about making Trump's life easier. We care about making Americans' lives easier by ending this disastrous, costly war. Trump still has no idea of how much more difficult this war has made life for the American people with 13 lost servicemembers and hundreds getting hurt. Everyone is paying hundreds of dollars more for extra gasoline. Everyone is enduring increasing inflation and costs going up. And now, he is asking the American people to foot the $100 billion bill for his war? Americans don't even know if they will get anything in return because Trump refuses to reveal his deal with Iran.

What we do know is that Iran took Trump to the cleaners. Everything is worse off: gas prices, the deficit, America's prestige in the world. Iran gets hundreds of billions of dollars for reconstruction, they get sanctions relief, they get tighter control over the Strait of Hormuz and much more. The Congress and the American people have spoken after yesterday. Trump needs to end this disaster of a war immediately.

21ST CENTURY ROAD TO HOUSING ACT

Now, Mr. President, on the housing bill, Trump's clown car gets more and more laughable and ridiculous. Here is what he just did: He canceled his bill signing on the housing bill. It is utterly amazing. Trump is running away from one of the very few accomplishments that could actually help the American people. Any time there is an opportunity for Trump to help the American people, he runs the other way. He comes up with some idiot thing in his head that this may hurt this one or help this one in his pettiness with his enemies, and he throws up roadblocks.

The bipartisan housing bill is an accomplishment that the American people want, are proud of, and need. Trump runs away from it. He is not going to sign it. He is petulant, he is angry, and he looks ridiculous in canceling it just 2 hours before he is supposed to sign it, saying we should do the SAVE Act instead.

How does the SAVE Act lower Americans' housing costs? It doesn't. How does the SAVE Act do anything good? It doesn't. It is a vicious, nasty piece of material, and probably, in Trump's ridiculous mind, he thinks: Oh, I don't want to sign the housing bill because it might detract from the SAVE Act.

The SAVE Act, not the SAVE bill—the SAVE Act will not pass, Donald Trump. Get on board with this housing bill. Don't veto it, because it is so important to the American people. The passage of our bipartisan housing bill—it was bipartisan—ought to remind the Nation how government can deliver when we put aside the partisan chaos we see coming out of the White House every day.

Listen to me, Trump. Sign this thing. Get something good done for the American people for once. The American people are counting on us to make life more affordable, and lowering housing costs is absolutely essential to that effort.

The ROAD to Housing puts our country on the right track towards fixing the housing shortage that drives up costs for the American people. Our bill streamlines local zoning and permitting. It provides new flexible funding to expand supply. It supports manufactured and modular housing. It helps convert old office buildings into new housing, and it stops institutional investors from crowding Americans out of the housing market.

Our legislation is going to help build more, faster, better, cheaper housing and build everywhere so we can get more homes on the market.

What is wrong with that, Donald Trump? Why do you run away from signing it when it will be so beneficial to the American people? Trump, the housing crisis in America is too severe to let partisanship get in the way of commonsense solutions.

The ROAD to Housing is an important step toward ending the affordability crisis, and it must not be the last. We will keep at it, particularly if we regain the majority. But now, for once, Trump should sign it and stop running away from it and stop making such a fool of himself.

I thank Senator WARREN for her leadership on this bill, as well as all of the members of the Banking Committee and everyone else who helped to make the ROAD to Housing a success. It looks like, even if Trump were to try to veto it, there will be probably enough votes in both Houses to override that veto.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The majority whip.

RURAL HEALTHCARE

Mr. BARRASSO. Mr. President, as a physician, I want Americans to get the care they need from doctors they choose at prices they can afford. That is what I thought in my entire time of practicing medicine in Wyoming and now as a U.S. Senator; and where a person lives should not determine whether they have access to high-quality medical care.

So I practiced medicine in Wyoming for 24 years. At the Wyoming Medical Center, I was the chief of staff of the hospital and was president of the State medical society, and taking care of patients continues to guide my work here in the U.S. Senate.

Wyoming is a rural State, as is the Presiding Officer's. Rural Americans deserve access to local care that is affordable, reliable, and high quality. For years, the options for people in many small communities have been shrinking. Why is that? Because of the passage of the Obama healthcare law. ObamaCare accelerated the rural healthcare crisis with there being hospitals closing all across the country. Since ObamaCare became law 15 years ago, over 100 rural hospitals across our Nation have closed. It is yet another broken promise from the failure of the Obama healthcare law, known as ObamaCare.

Rural America deserves a better approach. That is why, 1 year ago, Republicans passed a $50 billion Rural Health Transformation Fund. The Rural Health Transformation Fund is a crucial piece of the Working Families Tax Cut law. It was designed to overcome the failed, one-size-fits-all Washington approach to healthcare. It partners with communities to invest in the services that they need. The Rural Health Transformation Fund is the largest Federal investment in rural healthcare in our Nation's history. Every State in America is now receiving the first round of funding under this new program.

The true power of this investment goes beyond the historic size and scope. Fundamentally, it is about delivering care to people where and when they need it the most. The Federal Government is too large to know the unique needs of every community. Rural solutions come from the States, they come from the local communities, they come from the local healthcare providers, not from Washington, DC. The Rural Health Transformation Fund is built on this simple idea. It gives States the resources and the flexibility they need to invest in the services that the communities need and that will work for them.

In Wyoming, we have received over $200 million this year from the Rural Health Transformation Fund, and more funding will follow over the next 5 years. We are using it to strengthen and expand access to care in every corner of our State. We are supporting rural hospitals and clinics. We are embracing new technologies. We are bringing quality care closer to home.

At the same time, we are investing in our healthcare workforce. High-quality care starts with highly trained doctors, nurses, and other healthcare professionals. Wyoming has a long and successful track record of investing in our healthcare professionals. The Rural Health Transformation Fund allows us to build on that success.

We also know that the best treatment is often prevention. Preventive medicine can lead to healthier lives, it helps to lower costs, it teaches healthy habits from a young age. That is why Wyoming is investing in prevention. We are making sure the Food Stamp Program focuses on healthy nutrition. We are bringing back Presidential fitness tests in schools across the State. This helps children grow up healthier and reduces the long-term burden of chronic diseases.

These are practical and commonsense steps, and they have a clear goal. That goal is to help Wyoming families live healthier lives and to make healthcare more affordable.

I want to thank Dr. Oz and Gov. Mark Gordon. You know, Dr. Oz leads the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services. He and his team have worked closely with Gov. Mark Gordon of Wyoming and his team. Together, they have developed an innovative plan that is tailored to Wyoming's unique needs.

Every single Democrat in Congress—every single one of them—voted against the Rural Health Transformation Fund, and that is not bad enough. One thing that was bad is they voted against it, and then they came to the floor and later voted to eliminate it—to eliminate it—to strangle the money that is going out to these communities all across the country. They said: No, we don't want it to go out.

Why? Why did they vote to cut $50 billion from rural healthcare hospitals?

It is because they wanted to pay for healthcare for illegal immigrants. That is their mindset. Look at what happened in New York yesterday with the primary elections: open borders, eliminate ICE, focus on giving services to illegal immigrants—people who are in the country illegally.

How do they want to pay for all this?

The Democrats in the Senate say: Well, let's eliminate the rural healthcare plan.

That is the approach of every Democrat in the Senate and, apparently, of a lot of the Democrats, if not all, who are running to serve in this body.

Democrats voted to weaken healthcare for law-abiding American citizens in order to expand healthcare for illegal immigrants. That is a fundamental difference in a mentality and in an approach—and is a concern for American citizens. So just remember that when Democrats come and talk about healthcare. It is not necessarily healthcare for you or your family; it is healthcare for illegal immigrants.

Republicans are reversing the damage done by ObamaCare which, to repeat, forced the closure of over 100 small community hospitals around the country. Republicans are putting rural communities first, and we are going to continue to do that.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Nebraska.

WORKING FAMILIES TAX CUTS ACT

Mr. RICKETTS. Mr. President, our country was founded on the belief that all Americans have the right to pursue life, liberty, and happiness. It is fundamental to who we are as Americans, and these are the building blocks of the American dream. We live in a nation of opportunity. We live in a nation that enables kids to have it better than their parents. We live in a nation that believes that hard work leads to success. For over 250 years, people from all backgrounds have been able to work hard and achieve the American dream.

Here, in the U.S. Senate, I am fighting to renew the American dream.

One of the ways that we have done that with my Senate Republican colleagues is in the Working Families Tax Cut that we passed last year. The Working Families Tax Cut invests in American families and in American children. It invests in the next generation. With my Senate colleagues on the Republican side, we are building a path for another 250 years of opportunity for this great Nation and for the children and families of this great Nation.

The Working Families Tax Cut was great for families. One of the ways that it was great for families and for Nebraskans in my State is with the Trump Accounts that were part of that overall package. These are investment accounts that will kick-start the American dream for kids all across this Nation. You can download the app right now.

Starting on July 4, Nebraskans and all Americans will be able to start opening up these accounts. All American kids under the age of 18 will be eligible to have one of these accounts. And those born between January 1, 2025, and December 31, 2028, will also be able to enroll and automatically have $1,000 put into their account, courtesy of the U.S. Treasury, to be able to help kick-start that American dream.

Parents and guardians will be the custodians of these accounts, but the children will own them. And when those kids turn 18, they will be able to take possession of those Trump Accounts.

These accounts work like traditional retirement accounts. Up to $5,000 a year can be put into these accounts—these Trump Accounts—and it can come from your parents, your grandparents. It can come from communities, come from churches, come from governments, come from nonprofits. Employers can contribute and help build that foundation for those young people to be able to achieve the American dream.

Many have already committed to contributing to Trump Accounts. For example, Michael and Susan Dell have donated $6.25 billion to the first 25 million American kids who sign up for these accounts who also reside in ZIP Codes with median incomes below $150,000. That means that each one of those kids will get about $250 on top of the thousand dollars that the Treasury is putting in.

Charles Schwab has said he will match the government's $1,000 with another $1,000 for all the people who work at his company.

These are just a couple of examples of how philanthropists are working together with the U.S. Government to be able to kick-start young people's American dreams through these Trump Accounts.

In my home State of Nebraska, our State government is going to open accounts for all the foster kids in Nebraska. These Fostering the Future Accounts will work just the same, making sure that young Nebraskans in foster care have a little extra financial help. This money is so that these young Nebraskans can put it toward college, buying their first home, or starting a business.

For children whose accounts start with $1,000, additional contributions will not be required. The accounts will still grow, and these accounts will help launch those kids into their future.

Another way we are investing in our children and families is with the expansion of the child tax credits. In the Working Families Tax Cut, we increased that child tax credit to $2,200 and made it permanent. It was set to fall to $1,000, but Senate Republicans made it permanent and took it up.

The child tax credit will benefit over 239,000 Nebraska families. Increasing the child tax credit allows these families to have more money in their pockets, and we want to encourage Americans to work hard and support their families. This is what keeps the American dream alive.

The Working Families Tax Cut also provides an increase in the child and dependent tax credit. We increased the maximum credit from 25 percent up to 50 percent, and we took the increased tax deduction up from $5,000 to $7,500.

We made the first ever permanent paid family medical leave credit, based on legislation from Senator DEB FISCHER. This will encourage our businesses to offer that benefit to families all across the Nation.

We expanded the tax credits for employee-provided childcare and created new credits for small businesses to be able to create childcare at work.

We also extended the ABLE accounts, which otherwise would have expired in 2025. These accounts help individuals with disabilities to save and invest through tax-free savings, without losing eligibility for Federal programs like Medicaid and Supplemental Security Income.

These are real investments in American families and the next generation.

And similar to my colleague from Wyoming who pointed this out, every single Democrat—every single one—voted against these provisions that would help young Americans be able to achieve the American dream. Every single Democrat voted against it.

Senate Republicans, by contrast, are fighting in the U.S. Senate to renew opportunity for our kids' futures and supporting families in our country. We are encouraging and supporting the American dream, and we are making it possible for the good life to be more attainable for all Nebraskans.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. SHEEHY). The Senator from Delaware.

AMERICA250

Mr. COONS. Mr. President, 50 years ago this Saturday, our Nation celebrated its bicentennial—its 200th anniversary of that day on the 4th of July, in 1776, when a group of Delegates from around the then-Thirteen Colonies gathered to declare their independence from Great Britain.

This coming Saturday, July 4, 2026, I will once again be gathering with a whole group of friends and family in the small town of Hockessin, DE, where I celebrated our bicentennial.

In 1976, we had what some might think of as a sad small gathering that celebrated the Fourth of July. It wasn't huge. It didn't have tens of thousands of people. It didn't have great fireworks. But it was the heart of the town I grew up in.

We had a parade. We had firetrucks. My Boy Scout troop marched. I played the bugle as a group from a local church raised a flag at the new Swift Memorial Park in downtown Hockessin, a small rural farming town of then about 1,500 people.

And this coming Saturday, I will conclude the Fourth of July by, once again, marching in the annual parade, where we will have firetrucks from our volunteer fire company, children from different Scouting groups, different church youth groups, different things like the 4–H and the Grange, and thousands of people, gathering with family, on either side of Old Wilmington Pike to view the parade go by.

I love the tradition of the Fourth of July parade in my hometown of Hockessin, and I wanted to just take a moment and reflect because, as I have talked to my team here in Washington and at home in Delaware, some of them see so much division in our country that they aren't excited about our semiquincentennial, our 250th. Some of them are distracted, as in some ways I think many in America are, by fighting, squabbling between our President and our Congress, between different political parties. And it is too easy to be distracted.

I will remind you that, 50 years ago, on our bicentennial, our country was also in a period of division and political controversy, that we had just come out of the end of the Vietnam war and Watergate, that there had been protests and disagreement, that there were different rights being asserted and tumult in our politics.

My recollection, as a child, was that that day, that period of the bicentennial, was actually a moment for the American people to stop and reflect and think about what brings us together. And so today, I will briefly reflect on what I think we ought to be stopping and reflecting on as we celebrate our 250th.

Mr. President, 250 years ago, where we are right now was part of Great Britain, was part of the English Empire. In looking back, it might seem inevitable, but at that time, it was uncertain which way we would go. Ultimately, we chose liberty, we chose independence, and we had to fight for it in what became a long and brutal, internally divisive conflict.

Ultimately, the American story is not simply one story. We are a nation founded not on one ethnicity or one language, one religion or one history, but on an idea—an idea embodied in the second sentence of the declaration:

> We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all Men are created equal, [and] . . . endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness.

Just a few days ago, I had the chance, over at the Library of Congress, along with a bunch of my colleagues, to see the original text of the Declaration of Independence and the changes made by different Framers.

Our story is stronger when we tell it in its entirety—the good and bad, the challenging chapters, the rough places, the foundational sins, the wrongs and the arc—the arc—toward ''a more perfect Union.''

My State has long played a central role in some of these fights over the abolition of slavery, over racial segregation, over protecting our environment, over the right of women to vote, over full inclusion. And over 250 years, what I think defines us is that yearning for freedom, that yearning for the opportunity to pursue life, liberty, and happiness, as we understand it and define it.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, at the end of the Second World War—after the paroxysm of a global catastrophe of violence—talked about four freedoms, recognizing and celebrating those foundational First Amendment freedoms: freedom of speech, freedom to worship, but also freedom from want and freedom from fear.

And so I think we need to recognize, at this July 4, that we have a challenge, an opportunity, and an obligation.

In the middle of the Civil War, President Lincoln and his Senate insisted on building an expanded Capitol, at the exact moment our Nation was tearing itself apart. President Lincoln said:

> If people see the Capitol going on, it is a sign we intend the Union shall go on.

I have traveled around the world and heard from people all over that they look to this Nation as a beacon of freedom. And every time I recite the Pledge of Allegiance, I remind myself that, at its end, we pledge ourselves to be a nation committed to liberty and justice for all.

In the months ahead, I look forward to giving many more speeches about what I see as the core defining values of our Nation going forward.

But as you celebrate the Fourth of July, I hope you will take a moment. Think back about your childhood experiences that helped you understand what it means to be an American and that helped you confront the challenges and the opportunities we have ahead of us.

For me, living overseas and seeing our country from the perspectives of others was that great chance. And I think, for all of us, in recent days, seeing people from all over the world come to America during the World Cup and experience our Nation, our hospitality, and our values has been a refreshing reminder that, even in these divided and difficult times, we can continue to inspire and challenge ourselves and the world.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Virginia.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—S. 4876

Mr. WARNER. Mr. President, first of all, I want to thank my friend from Delaware. I am going to take that admonition, as we approach the Fourth of July, and reflect back on, obviously, what makes this country great.

Mr. President, I rise today to ask for unanimous consent on my bill to reassert congressional will when it comes to the Office of the Director of National Intelligence.

My bill, the Do Not Interfere in Our Intelligence Act of 2026, or the DNII Act of 2026, would strengthen the existing line of succession if the position of the Director of National Intelligence is vacant and ensure that the leadership of the intelligence community remains in the hands of experienced Senate-confirmed national security officials.

As my colleagues have heard me say repeatedly, the President's appointment of Bill Pulte to be the Acting DNI is dangerous. It is dangerous for the rule of law. It is dangerous for our national security.

The ODNI was created in the aftermath of the tragic terrorist attacks of 9/11. Its purpose was to make sure that the now-18 intelligence Agencies actually coordinated with each other, so we didn't have the kind of intelligence missteps that led to the most devastating terrorist attack on our country in the history. And, thus far, thank God, we have not had another 9/11.

And because of its important mission, when Congress created the ODNI, an effort championed by my good friend SUSAN COLLINS, it codified into law—we didn't leave any ambiguity—it codified into law that the Director of National Intelligence must have extensive national security experience. It doesn't matter whether that comes from military service, being an intelligence officer, being a Member of Congress on a national security committee, or heading an Agency that deals with national security. You just have to have the experience and the judgment to lead 18 intelligence Agencies and understand their mission.

Unfortunately, Trump's choice Bill Pulte has literately no national security experience. In fact, it seems like the only experience he has—and the only reason President Trump installed him as the DNI—is leaking and weaponizing sensitive information for political purposes. He is and currently remains the head of our mortgage regulatory Agencies. So that kind of person can absolutely not have access to all our Nation's most sensitive secrets.

If you think we were, like, just making it up, look at the pressure points so far. The guy has gone in for a few days. There are reports of firings. I don't even know how he knows who the people who are being fired or reassigned are.

We have heard, as well, that he wants to take home the Presidential daily brief. Anybody—the most junior aide in national security—knows you don't take classified information to your private residence. But in a very kind of way that reflects some of the folks around the President, the one thing he was most interested in: When is he going to get a government plane, paid for by taxpayer dollars, so he can zip between DC and his house in Chicago and his place near President Trump in Florida? Remember, those are your taxpayer dollars at work.

And on these concerns about Mr. Pulte, don't take my word for it. So many Republican colleagues of mine have also publicly expressed their concerns, many of them explicitly expressing surprise at his nomination and calling him unqualified.

But that is not the only place where President Trump has decided to ignore Congress and the law creating the Director of National Intelligence. The law also explicitly states that, in the event there is an absence of a Senate-confirmed Director, ''the Principal Deputy Director of National Intelligence''—that is the No. 2—''shall act for, and exercise the powers of, the Director of National Intelligence''—not ''may'' or ''if the President wants.'' The word is ''shall.''

And the interesting thing is, there is currently a Senate-confirmed Principal Deputy whom President Trump himself nominated. This gentleman, Mr. Lukas—I may not agree with all the things that Mr. Lukas has suggested, but there is no question, given his decades of patriotic service as a national intelligence officer and on President Trump's own National Security Council staff, that he has the experience and qualifications to serve as the Acting DNI.

So then, once again, I must ask: Why, when there is a qualified individual—one President Trump himself nominated—would President Trump ignore the law and install Bill Pulte?

The only answer is the one that President Trump has actually admitted to. He said the quiet part out loud, which is that he trusts Bill Pulte to recklessly divulge America's secrets—even if it harms our national security—all in the service of the Big Lie and his obsession that he can't get over the fact that he lost the election in 2020.

So my bill is quite simple. So I ask unanimous consent—let's make it explicitly clear that, if the Office of the Director of National Intelligence becomes vacant, you put in place the Principal Deputy or someone else who has got intelligence experience that has been confirmed by the Senate.

We have to do this before Mr. Pulte irreversibly harms our national security.

Mr. President, now, as if in legislative session, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. 4876, introduced yesterday; that the bill be considered read a third time and passed; and that the motion to reconsider be made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Arkansas.

Mr. COTTON. Mr. President, the Office of the Director of National Intelligence was formed after the 9/11 attacks, understandably, to try to address some of the failures that led to those attacks. Unfortunately, I think we can now assess, a couple of decades on, that it is something of a failed experiment itself.

I remember my first days on the Intelligence Committee, when I sat far down the dais from the distinguished vice chairman, and an ODNI aide came in to brief us about a new fusion cell they had created to fight against the Islamic State. And one of our senior members, Dan Coats, who later himself became the DNI, observed that he was concerned that, with the growing bureaucracy at the ODNI, pretty soon they would need a fusion cell for their fusion cells.

Now, the vice chairman and I largely agree that the ODNI needs to be downsized and streamlined, that it does perform some important functions. We may not agree on every single particular. I think many of those functions could be performed elsewhere.

But I have had an opportunity to speak, in the last few days, with Acting Director Pulte. He agrees in those general terms with us that we need to return the ODNI to its original size, scope, and mission by spinning off some of these functional centers and sending intelligence officers who have been detailed there back to their home Agencies so they can do actual intelligence work. And if he continues the work that the vice chairman and I have begun through the annual Intelligence Authorization Act and that Director Gabbard started to carry out, I think that is a win for our national security.

The vice chairman cited various media reports about Director Pulte. I can't comment on all of them. It won't shock anyone to know that I don't take CNN or the Washington Post as ironclad as the Lord's Scripture. But there is one media report that I will comment on, since I discussed it with Director Pulte: the claim that mass firings had begun. That is not accurate. He informed me that, yes, a small handful of front-office personnel are leaving Federal employment, which is not at all uncommon when a senior leader leaves an Agency or one comes into an Agency. But a small handful—maybe counted on one hand, maybe two hands. He also said that a few dozen—around 45 or 50—career officers are, in fact, returning to their home Agencies. I think that is a step in the right direction. It is less than 5 percent of the DNI's personnel. I might put a zero after that 5. I might put a 7 in front of that 5 in terms of how many personnel need to go back to their home Agencies.

A second point, if Director Pulte can, in fact, take these steps in the right direction, I think that can benefit Jay Clayton, once he is confirmed. Mr. Clayton will be able to inherit an organization that has already been downsized, and he can hit the ground running on day one to continue that work and to ensure that the DNI is promoting our intelligence community's important work, not hindering it.

A third point, as President Trump has said, Jay Clayton is a patriot, and he will make a great DNI once confirmed. I intend to hold a hearing for Mr. Clayton in the weeks ahead. As the vice chairman knows, it is not just our committee that moved at a very rapid pace to confirm Mr. Clayton to this new post. I want to thank President Trump and the Trump administration for moving at lightning speed as well. The FBI finished its background check in record time. The intelligence community and the Department of Justice helped Mr. Clayton through hundreds of advanced policy questions in record time. Even the President's own White House Counsel's Office completed Mr. Clayton's work in record time.

Of course, the backdrop here is the lapse in authorization for section 702 of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act. The vice chairman and I have worked well together to craft a bill that can get 60 votes in the Senate, 218 or more votes in the House. I wish we could simply pass that bill. I think it is regrettable that Minority Leader SCHUMER and Minority Leader JEFFRIES have linked together reauthorization of section 702 with the confirmation of an official to a position that really has very little to do with section 702 or, for that matter, with operational activities of the intelligence community at large.

So with those observations, I do, in fact, object.

The Senator from Virginia.

Mr. WARNER. Mr. President, just a few closing comments.

The chairman and I are working very well together. I know he has probably taken some heat, so I don't want to say too many good things about him on the floor for working so well together.

I would simply point out the part he left out about Mr. Clayton, when we were trying to move fast and the White House was moving fast and everything—all the paperwork—was done. We had a scheduled hearing for Mr. Clayton. I was even getting some of our most ferocious opponents to 702 to probably waive some of their objections.

And at the last minute, with no notice to our committee or even to Mr. Clayton, the President pulled his nomination. I have never heard of a President complaining about moving too quickly on one of his nominees.

On the size of the DNI, the chairman and I, we are working together. I even am open to the notion that the office could be obliterated or removed or potentially repurposed somewhere else. Again, that makes sense. But it ought to be done in an orderly fashion. It ought to be done by somebody with national security experience. It ought to be done not in a way where he comes in on the first day—how did he even know whom to fire?

So, again, we will agree to disagree on that, but—boy oh boy—let's do it the right way.

And, again, I do hope—I look forward to asking Mr. Clayton questions. But I know him, and I think he is—I know he respects the Constitution, which is my first question to anybody. And I would point out—and I am absolutely in favor of renewing 702 quickly—the good news, though, is that the communication providers are still working with us; we have not gone dark.

But I agree with the chairman that we need to move as quickly as possible. But everybody has been pretty clear on this: We have to get a real DNI in that office before we get that reauthorization.

With that, I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Delaware.

Mr. COONS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that I be allowed to speak for 1 minute on the upcoming vote.

NOMINATION OF JOHN GEORGE EDWARD MARCK

Mr. COONS. Mr. President, I serve on the Senate Judiciary Committee. I am a proud member of the Delaware bar. I clerked for a Federal court. And in a recent confirmation hearing, I asked four different nominees to serve as Federal district court judges a simple question: What does the 22nd Amendment to the U.S. Constitution provide?

None of them could answer, so I helped them. In summary, it says you can't serve three terms as President. Once elected twice, you may not serve a third term—adopted after Franklin Delano Roosevelt served four terms. Its text and intent are simple and clear.

I questioned all four: Can you tell me whether President Trump can serve a third term, given the language of the 22nd Amendment?

All four refused. They could not find the courage to say: Yes, as a simple matter of fact and constitutional law, on the plain text, President Trump is in his second term; he cannot serve a third.

Why? Why would anyone fail to answer this simple question? I believe it is because they were terrified, if they did, President Trump would pull their nomination.

No one should be confirmed—no one should be confirmed—to a lifetime judicial appointment who cannot summon the most simple courage to apply the text of the Constitution.

I will vote against all the nominees before us today because of their failure to answer simple textual questions about the meaning and purpose of our Constitution. If you are too afraid of the President to answer whether the 22nd Amendment, by its plain text, means he can't run and win a third time, how will you be an independent judge, and how could you possibly deserve a lifetime appointment?

I urge my colleagues to stand up to this and to insist on an independent Federal judiciary.

With that, I yield the floor.

AMERICA250

Mr. BANKS. Mr. President, next week, the country will be celebrating an incredible milestone, the 250th birthday of the United States of America, which is the greatest country founded in the history of the world.

I just wanted to come to the floor today, before we leave for a 2-week recess over the holiday, to talk about what I love most about America.

Two hundred fifty years ago, a group of brave men and women risked life and limb in pursuit of the American experiment, and 13 small Colonies of farmers, merchants, tradesmen, and families of different religions and classes declared what was then a radical idea, that ''all men are created equal, endowed by their Creator, with certain unalienable Rights.''

Together, this small group of people took on a mighty empire, and they won. In doing so, they changed the course of history.

I have always related to that idea of the American founding on a personal level. I grew up among farmers and tradesmen and factory workers. My dad was a union factory worker, and my mom was a nursing home cook. I came from a working-class family and grew up in a working-class town—a small town—in Northeast Indiana called Columbia City. It was a town that had about 5,000 people when I was born. It is around 10,000 people today. I am still proud to live in Columbia City and to call it my home—this small town, my home today. Even though Columbia City is a humble town, I love it intensely. I have so many great memories from my childhood in Columbia City, and I feel great pride in my hometown, but Columbia City's humble nature didn't stop people from doing great things.

Columbia City shaped Thomas Riley Marshall, who became the Vice President of the United States of America in 1913. It shaped me, too, into who I am today—in my serving here, with the Presiding Officer, as a U.S. Senator. That is the beauty of smalltown America. Small towns like my hometown are where the American dream is realized, and it was in the Thirteen Colonies 250 years ago that the dream of America came to life.

That is why, on this July 4, I will be celebrating Independence Day back in my hometown with my family. Growing up, I remember spending every Fourth of July in Columbia City, watching the community's celebration and the fireworks in the evening. That is exactly what I will be doing with my kids and my parents and my family this year as well.

I know that there will be a lot of incredible festivities happening right here in Washington, DC, and I am all for that. President Trump says it is going to be the biggest and best fireworks display in American history. I have no doubt that he is right about that, but I think it is also important for people to spend time celebrating with the local communities that shaped them. I encourage everyone here and those listening today, if you can, the America 250 celebrations happening in your hometowns are going to be great, and I hope you will be a part of them.

My upbringing instilled within me a profound love for this country. Sadly, not enough people share that same love today. Three years ago, the Wall Street Journal had a poll that showed that only 38 percent of Americans believed that patriotism was important to them, and that was down from 70 percent in 1998. For the last 3 years, I have wondered about and wanted an update on that poll—what does that look like today?—because it has really bothered me ever since I read that story in the Wall Street Journal a few years ago.

Last year, Gallup released new data about American pride and patriotism. Unfortunately, the numbers have hardly changed. Only about 41 percent of American adults said they were extremely proud to be American. Among America's young people, that picture was particularly damning. Only 41 percent of Gen Z said that they were extremely or very proud to be an American. These are record low numbers, but this is what happens when too many people, especially young people, feel detached from our Nation's story.

But here is the thing: As we celebrate America on this historic and monumental occasion, this decline is not irreversible. We can absolutely fix this trend. One way that we can fix this trend is to make our Nation beautiful again and do everything we can to make our Nation beautiful.

A few months ago, I came to the Senate floor to talk about one of my bills that is very important to me, the Beautifying Federal Civic Architecture Act. I spoke about how important it is to have and build beautiful buildings that reflect the beauty of this great country. We owe it to ourselves and to our children to build beautiful buildings that reflect who we really are as a nation.

And that is why I fully support and applaud President Trump and his efforts to make the Federal buildings and communities all across America even more beautiful than what they were before. When a nation sees beautiful and great buildings, it sees beauty and greatness in the nation.

And there is another way that we can reverse the downward trend of American patriotism as well, and that is by returning to our roots in our small communities. Our small communities are what made this country great and are what continue to make America great.

The original Thirteen Colonies succeeded in founding the Nation because ordinary people in ordinary places believed in something that was much bigger than themselves.

We can make America beautiful again, inside and out, by rediscovering the power of those small places and the ordinary Americans who call them home.

When we strengthen our communities, teach our full and honest history with pride, and recommit to the founding principles that turned 13 fragile Colonies into a global beacon of liberty and freedom, we will see national pride rise once again.

Let me end by saying this: Mighty empires that once ruled the world have vanished to the dustbin of history, but America, this great country, still stands, and she stands taller and mightier than the rest.

So as we gear up for the 250th birthday of this great country, let us recommit ourselves to the incredible American story that is still unfolding right before our eyes. And let us never forget that, from small and humble beginnings, rose the greatest country on Earth, the United States of America.

Happy America 250.

DOBBS V. JACKSON WOMEN'S HEALTH ORGANIZATION

Mr. CRUZ. Mr. President, I rise today to address one of the most consequential decisions the Supreme Court of the United States has ever made.

Four years ago, on this day, our country waited with bated breath—from the streets of Washington, DC, to homes all across America—waiting to hear news from the Supreme Court on a case that sought to determine the value of human life.

At approximately 10:10 that morning, on June 24, 2022, the Supreme Court announced that, for the first time since 1973, abortion was no longer mandated by Federal law across the Nation.

Overturning Roe v. Wade was an incredible milestone. It reversed precedent set by judges whose interpretations were rooted in judicial activism.

And in Dobbs v. Jackson, the Court made clear that the issue of abortion—an issue on which people of good faith can disagree—would be returned to the people and their elected representatives.

While today and every day we celebrate this milestone, it is important to remember that the fight for life did not end 4 years ago. It continues today and will continue to be a fight for many years to come.

Abortion remains legal in many States across the country, and, as a result, thousands upon thousands of unborn children are lost to abortion every year. Unfortunately, in some areas, the numbers are rising.

There are serious challenges we face in this fight. The expansion of mail-order abortion pills, individuals traveling across State lines for abortions, and significant funding—taxpayer funding—for organizations like Planned Parenthood are among the most significant issues. It is evident that this battle is far from over.

While we should celebrate the victories that we have achieved, we must also continue to seek new avenues and new opportunities to ensure that every life is protected. One of the most important ways we can do this is by reaffirming the inherent value of life.

Life is not an accident or a coincidence. It is a gift from God and a blessing, and it is the very greatest gift we can share. Life is the foundation of every other right we hold dear. Without life, there can be no liberty, no prosperity, no pursuit of happiness.

Protecting life means more than just defending the unborn. It also means supporting mothers. It means uplifting pregnancy resource centers and ensuring that when mothers welcome children into the world, they have the support that they need.

I am reminded of how important this fight is every January, when thousands gather in Washington, DC, for the March for Life. People from all across the Nation come together and walk miles and miles, marching for the unborn and the protection of human life.

They remind us that this is a moment and a movement of conviction, of compassion, and of courage.

The decision 4 years ago today was the result of millions of Americans working, standing, speaking, marching, organizing, and praying. That is why, a year ago, I introduced a resolution to designate June as ''Life Month,'' so that each year we can recommit to celebrating and defending the preciousness of life.

Today, I call upon my colleagues in the Senate to help pass this resolution so that we can be reminded every June of the importance of the fight for life, that we can recommit to the American ideal that every single life has dignity, and that we can stand together as a nation that chooses life.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Connecticut.

BIPARTISAN SAFER COMMUNITIES ACT

Mr. MURPHY. Mr. President, I come to the floor with good news. It is really important news, but it is news that not a lot of people in this country know about. We are experiencing, over the last 3 years, a dramatic decline in the number of people who are killed by guns. Gun violence rates in this country are plummeting, and they have been plummeting since 2002.

Let me just give you a couple of numbers. From 2023 to 2024—the last year that we have full numbers for—we saw urban gun homicides drop by 16.7 percent. That is extraordinary. And, in general, urban homicides have been dropping by double-digit percentages over the last 3 years.

Mass shootings are way down. That might actually make sense to you because, while we still hear about these awful mass shootings on the news, we have a sense that they are not appearing on our television screens with the rapidity and frequency they were a few years ago.

Now, in 2025, there were 400 mass shootings in America. That is unacceptable. There are still more mass shootings than days in the year, but that is a 41-percent decline from 2021.

Similarly, school shootings have declined over the last 2 years.

This is all good news. There are more people alive today because something is changing in America. And while it is still unacceptable that we are averaging a mass shooting every day in this country, the numbers are unquestionably heading in the right direction.

Now, there are a set of complicated factors to explain why that is happening, but it is not coincidental to the passage in 2022 of the most significant piece of anti-gun violence legislation in 30 years. And that is why I am on the floor today, because tomorrow will mark 4 years since this Senate passed and got signed into law the Bipartisan Safer Communities Act, a bipartisan piece of legislation that strengthened the gun laws of this country while respecting the constitutional right of law-abiding citizens to be able to purchase and own weapons.

Let me just remind you of what that bill did, because it is important to remember that we can come together.

There were, I think, 15 Republican Senators that supported this legislation. It received Republican votes in the House of Representatives as well.

This legislation said: Listen, we have got to be a little bit more careful before we sell an assault weapon to a 19-year-old or a 20-year-old—because we had seen, over and over again, that it tended to be, unfortunately, young men under the age of 21 who were carrying out these mass murders.

And so while legislation didn't take away the ability of someone under 21 to buy a weapon—because this is what we needed in order to get bipartisan consensus—we did put enhanced background checks for those individuals—just an extra check, most significantly, with the local police department to see if this was somebody that the police knew as being troubled. Well, since passage of the bill, 800 firearms purchases have been prevented solely because of these enhanced checks.

These were mainly purchasers that were prohibited from buying a weapon, but until you called the local police department, you didn't find out that they were actually prohibited. But sometimes it was that this was an individual that was in crisis. The local police department knew it, and the enhanced check caught them.

The second thing the bill did was just make firearms trafficking a Federal crime. It was crazy that it hadn't been. It made trafficking and straw purchasing a Federal crime. And since that bill went into effect, there have been 280 cases with 525 defendants who have been brought under Federal charges for gun trafficking. That is a big part of why there is so much urban gun homicide—because there is a pipeline of illegal guns that goes into places like Hartford, CT; New Haven, CT; or Chicago, IL. Now we have interrupted that pipeline of illegal guns.

What is something else that that bill did? It said that if you have a history of domestic violence, you can't buy a weapon, regardless of whether that violence is against your wife or your girlfriend. There used to be something called the boyfriend loophole. If you had committed domestic violence against your girlfriend, you could still purchase and have weapons. Well, we closed that loophole on a bipartisan basis. And since that law passed, there have been 10,000 firearms purchases that have been denied because the individual had a history of domestic violence.

Now, the way that we got that bill passed, with Republican votes, was to give the ability of that individual to reapply for the ability to buy firearms. We didn't take that right away permanently. Some of us might have wanted that prohibition to be permanent after you have a domestic violence conviction on your record, but that is how we got the bill passed—an example of how we can find common ground.

And then the last thing I want to mention is that the bill put about $1.4 billion into funding existing and new community anti-gun violence measures—and this is maybe the secret sauce. This is maybe the biggest explanation as to why numbers are going down.

What we find in community after community that is plagued with high rates of gun violence is that it is normally a very small group of people—again, largely young men—that are committing these acts of violence and that if you engage in targeted interventions aimed at these small groups of young men, you can very quickly get gun violence rates down, and it doesn't cost hundreds of millions of dollars, especially in a small community like Hartford.

Hartford has a number of really impactful but small organizations that do this community anti-gun violence work. We gave them a small amount of money from this legislation, and they have made a big, big difference in Hartford. These are groups like Hartford Communities That Care, Compass.

Hartford had 37 murders in 2022, the year that we passed this bill. In 2025, Hartford had 10 murders. That is an extraordinary decline, 37 to 10.

In 2020, there were 223 shootings, a reminder most people don't die in shootings. They get badly wounded. Their lives are altered by the shooting even though they don't die.

Mr. President, 223 shootings in Hartford in 2020—89 last year. That is a 25-year low. And all the laws we passed made a difference in Connecticut, but Connecticut already had pretty strict gun laws so a lot of the stuff we passed didn't have a big impact on Connecticut, but the community anti-gun violence money did because those groups are now well-funded.

Again, these aren't groups with $10 million-a-year budgets. These are often very small organizations that have four or five people on staff. For instance, one of the things that these groups often do is when there is a shooting, they rush to the emergency room because there are often cycles of retributive violence that play out: Somebody gets shot. Their group of friends congregate at the emergency room. They make a plan to engage in retributive violence. Well, these community workers can often get to the emergency room and interrupt that cycle of violence, and they have been enormously successful.

Now, there are threats to the progress we have made. I don't want to make this a speech about President Trump, but it is just true that he has stopped funding the programs that support community anti-gun violence initiatives.

There are also billions of dollars in that bill that we passed for school-based mental health, and he has also suspended many of those accounts. That is bad news.

He has also issued new regulations that undermine other parts of the bill, but there is nothing President Trump can do to stop the enhanced background checks or the ability of prosecutors to go after gun traffickers or the denial of weapons purchases to individuals convicted of domestic violence.

And so I don't want you to hear me say that the President is unwinding all of our progress. He is unwinding some of our progress—our bipartisan progress—but much of the statute can't be unwound.

And so I just want to give us a little pat on the back because 4 years ago, after the awful shooting in Uvalde, four Senators got together—supported by another bigger ring of bipartisan Senators—and we were able to come up with a bill that was not perfect, was not everything that I wanted or that many other Democratic Senators wanted, but it was progress.

And we have seen the impact of that bill: literally extraordinary declines in mass shootings and homicides, all happening, not coincidentally, as soon as we passed that bill.

The gun lobby has a habit of arguing that the only way to stop a bad guy with a gun is a good guy with a gun. The gun lobby says the answer to gun violence is more guns. Well, we proved that if you pass legislation that just makes it a little bit harder for the wrong people to get their hands on weapons—people who have serious criminal convictions, people who are mentally ill—you make it a little bit easier for prosecutors to go after the gun traffickers, you give a little bit more resources to the people who do anti-gun violence work in our communities, that you can make a big difference.

I live in one of these traditionally high-gun-violence-rate neighborhoods. I live just south of downtown in Hartford, and my home is on the route to the primary critical care hospital in the south end of Hartford—Hartford Hospital. And I will just say: There are far fewer ambulances passing my house with victims of gunshot wounds. In fact, it is an extraordinary reduction.

In 2020, I think the year that I bought that house, there were 223 shootings—223 gun violence victims being rushed to Hartford Hospital or Saint Francis Hospital. In 2025, there were 89. So I know we are often consumed with the bad news here, but that is really good news. That is really good news. And it is evidence of the fact that this place is not fundamentally broken. There are these moments when Republicans and Democrats can come together and pass laws that save lives—4 years since the passage and signature of the Bipartisan Safer Communities Act, something that this Senate should be proud of.

I yield the floor.

IRAN

Mr. MERKLEY. Mr. President, Donald Trump's Operation Epic Fury has become ''Operation Epic Failure.'' He started a war of choice. It turned out, Iran had a lot more leverage than he ever anticipated.

The President thought that superior weapons, a huge number of bombs would give, well, the opportunity for America to conduct a war in which Iran would unconditionally surrender. The President expected that in short order.

But not all unfolds accordingly because Iran had an ace up its sleeve: It had the ability to stop traffic on the Strait of Hormuz. And if the President had listened to any expert, they would have said: You are totally underestimating the leverage and power Iran has over the world economy.

But he didn't listen. So like a dog that got skunked, he has slunk away humiliated—''Operation Trump Humiliation''—and the American people and the world are paying the price.

I am relieved that the bombs have stopped falling, but Trump's disastrous deal has left everyone so much worse off.

The American military: a huge number of munitions expended, 13 servicemembers killed, hundreds wounded.

The U.S. Treasury: depleted by some $50 billion to $80 billion.

American families are paying a much higher price for gas and now facing year-over-year inflation of 4.2 percent because of Trump's war.

American farmers are paying so much more for fertilizer, paying so much more for diesel; bad for the farmers for sure, but that is going to mean higher grocery costs for the American family.

And in international affairs, Russia has been enriched, the Iranian hard-liners have been strengthened; the reformers in Iran have been undermined; our alliances have been deeply, carelessly damaged. Now, of course, Iranian civilians have paid the price with thousands dead and far more injured.

And Iran's highly enriched uranium? Still in exactly the same place it was before his war started.

Now, Trump has signed a 14-point framework, and it has some troubling elements. Donald Trump calls himself ''Dealmaker-in-Chief,'' so let's look at the deal that he has struck.

What does Iran get? Access to $24 billion in unfrozen funds, waivers that allow Iran to sell its oil at the world price, a commitment by the United States to organize a $300 billion plan like a Marshall Plan to rebuild Iran, and a stipulation that after 60 days, Iran can work with Oman and work out fees for vessels traveling through the Strait of Hormuz.

Let's compare that to the JCPOA that President Obama negotiated. And for more than a decade, I have listened to colleagues across the aisle say President Obama did a side deal that returned $500 million to Iran in frozen funds and interest on that $500 million; that we had had it so long, it had stacked up to $700 million.

All right. We are talking about less than $2 billion. Here is Trump: $24 billion in unfrozen funds, $300 billion in redevelopment, waivers for your oil, and the ability to charge fees in the Strait of Hormuz—not even vaguely comparable.

And those elements, those are not an exchange for a final nuclear deal. They are an advance of one, undermining America's leverage to get a nuclear deal done. And Trump calls himself a dealmaker, giving away all the leverage up front.

And what else does Iran get? No restrictions on cruise missiles or drones; no restrictions on ballistic missiles; no restrictions on funding proxy groups like Hezbollah in Lebanon, militias in Iraq, the Houthis in Yemen. Wow. Those are all important elements.

But the deal does deliver two things: America lifts its blockade of the Iranian ports, and Iran lifts its blockade of the Strait of Hormuz. But those were the conditions before the war started. So the one positive thing it delivers was already in place before there was a war. So no improvement because of the war.

President Trump has recklessly squandered American lives and treasure. He has recklessly weakened America's standing in the world. He has recklessly raised costs for American families here at home.

This is absolutely the embodiment of why the Founders gave the question of war, not to the President, but to Congress. It is why we have to stand up for the constitutional vision that we swore an oath to when we became U.S. Senators.

Is there any Senator here who didn't swear that oath to the Constitution? Is there any Senator here who hasn't read the Constitution and read that the question of war was assigned to Congress, not the President?

Here is how Madison described it. He said: The Constitution supposes, what the history of all governments demonstrates, that it is the Executive most interested and most prone to war. The Constitution has accordingly, with studied care, vested the question of war in the legislative branch.

Does anyone need a clearer explanation than that, under our Constitution, a President cannot take us to war and that there was very careful reasoning that went into making that decision: because Executives are too prone to go to war, and no one person should be able to put the lives and treasure of America at risk.

That isn't to say Congress always gets it right. This Chamber and the House Chamber, they had a debate over the authorization to go to war in Afghanistan. These two Chambers, they had a debate over going to war in Iraq. I believe they got it wrong on both occasions. But there was an opportunity to seek information, to compare ideas, to wrestle with the prospect—an appropriate debate on such a monumental question.

Now, this Chamber and the House Chamber have started to exercise their responsibility to the Constitution. Because if we turn the clock back, in the wake of Vietnam, when there was no authorization, Congress passed the War Powers Act, and the War Powers Act attempted to create a framework so that we would know how to exercise the debate for the question of war. And it said the President—unless our interests are attacked—cannot go to war unless there is authorization from both Chambers. Pretty clear. It also said the President, if we were attacked, could go to war for no more than 60 days without getting authorization from this Chamber.

Now, in this case, America had not been threatened in the fashion envisioned in the War Powers Act, but the President went to war anyway. So in that case we shouldn't have been under the 60 days. But many of my colleagues in the majority thought that applied, and so we voted time and time and time again. And time and time again my colleagues failed to honor the Constitution and say to the President: Stop and get an authorization because that is what the Constitution says.

But then the House held a vote, and the House voted to actually pass a War Powers Resolution. And it automatically came over here, and it automatically came up on the floor. And we passed it this week 50 to 48. We adopted it. And that concurrent resolution—this one right here—this says: Mr. President, stop military hostilities unless you get authorization from Congress.

Here is the exact wording:

Congress directs the President to remove United States Armed Forces from hostilities against the Islamic Republic of Iran.

And at the close of it, it notes that action can only occur if it is ''explicitly authorized by a declaration of war or a specific congressional authorization for use of military force against Iran.''

So, Mr. President—and I am speaking Mr. President of the United States of America—Congress has spoken, exercising its power under the Constitution. You cannot restart hostilities against Iran unless you get an authorization.

You know, in 2015, many mocked the JCPOA. They said war is the only way to stop Iran from developing a nuclear bomb. But now here we are at this moment, and it turns out that we had the war and that diplomacy is the only way to actually stop Iran from getting a nuclear bomb.

And that JCPOA, it restricted Iran's nuclear stockpile to 300 kilograms—that is 300 kilograms of uranium—and prohibited uranium enrichment above 3.67 percent. That is a very low level, way lower than bomb level. It shipped their more highly enriched uranium out of Iran to be under the care and supervision of another country. It dismantled and removed the bulk of their centrifuges. It created vigorous—vigorous—verification by international inspectors.

There were a lot of details that were worked out to ensure that there was no path to a nuclear bomb. And, in fact, it required them to dismantle their plutonium reactor in Iran called the Arak reactor. It took 2 years to negotiate.

And our Republican colleagues cheered when Donald Trump tore up that extensive, detailed agreement blocking the path to a nuclear weapon. They cheered when President Trump tore it up.

Well, I don't hear any cheering now, when it turns out this war of choice has hurt everyone, in every possible way. More than 100 days of war, and Iran still has their enriched uranium. And because Donald Trump tore up the JCPOA, they now have 1,000 pounds of more highly enriched uranium, enriched to 60 percent, enough for 10 nuclear weapons, because Donald Trump tore up the agreement that blocked that from happening.

In return for ending the war, Iran has agreed to just 60 days of negotiating in which they will talk about maybe returning to some of the framework of the JCPOA. Pretty humiliating for Donald Trump.

But humiliation is not the question. I hope the President and his team will be successful in the negotiation to restore the many elements that blocked the path to a nuclear weapon. That is in the interest of all of us. I have little hope, however, that they will reach that agreement in 2 months, in 60 days.

So here is my crystal ball, JEFF's crystal ball: No detailed agreement on Iran nuclear material will be signed by mid-August when the 60 days expire. I hope I am wrong.

It is also the case that we have a law that says any nuclear deal must be submitted to Congress. So let's make sure that law is followed.

We have seen the costs in blood and treasure when a President goes it alone. We have been reminded of the wisdom of our Founders, who said the President is not allowed, constitutionally, to go it alone. We can't afford to have that happen again. And yesterday, finally, Congress passed a bill—a resolution to rein in Trump's war. Do you know that that is the first time that we have actually done that since the 1973 War Powers Act was signed—the first time that both Chambers approved a concurrent resolution directing the President to end a military conflict? It is a powerful condemnation of President Trump's war of choice.

I will tell you, I am concerned not just about how the negotiations will go, because I know how complicated they will be from how complicated they were when President Obama undertook those negotiations. Again, I hope they are successful, but I will tell you, I am worried that they won't be. And I am worried that an angry and a humiliated Donald Trump, who has slunk away from the war like a stuck dog, is going to try to distract from all of this—distract by trying to rig the November election.

In fact, today, he was here to talk to Senators of his party about how to rig the November election, that he wants his SAVE Act passed that stops American citizens from voting that he doesn't want to vote. He doesn't want college students to vote. He doesn't want Tribal members to vote. He doesn't want women to vote. He doesn't want people living in cities to vote. And he has crafted a bill to make it very hard for those people to vote because he wants to rig the election.

And I am also worried that he will create another international incident, perhaps with an attack or further action regarding Cuba, because when Trump makes one mess, he starts a new mess in order to distract from the previous mess.

Donald Trump's Operation Epic Fury has become ''Operation Epic Failure,'' devastating for the United States of America, and all Americans should be furious at this abuse of the Constitution and all the harm that has come from it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Hawaii.

Mr. SCHATZ. Mr. President, for every American who is wondering what on Earth the war in Iran over the past 3½ months was for, the answer is relatively simple: next to nothing.

Thirteen American servicemembers are dead. Thousands of Iranians have been killed. We spent tens of billions of dollars in taxpayer money. Gas shot up to $5.70 in Hawaii. Grocery bills and energy bills spiked everywhere. We depleted our stockpiles of critical weapons systems. We alienated even our closest allies, who understandably wanted nothing to do with this regime-change war of choice.

And what was it all for? What did we get out of it?

Well, if you take one look at the memorandum of understanding that Donald Trump signed last week, what is plainly obvious is that not only was this war reckless and illegal and unnecessary, but it also didn't get us anything. It has made a lot of things worse.

We don't have a nuclear agreement yet, only a framework to try to reach something close to the original Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action.

So to be clear, pre-Trump, we had a Joint Comprehensive Plan of Action. We had the ability for the IAEA to go into Iran and do intrusive inspections. We had the plan to dispose of the fissile material in a third-party country and to be able to verify it.

And now, what we have is an MOU to negotiate. And if we are very fortunate, if things break absolutely in every correct direction, we will get back to where we were 12 years ago.

The same regime is still in place, but now it is younger and more radical, and they have demonstrated that they have substantial leverage in the Strait of Hormuz. The opposition in Iran is weaker.

One of the hopes of this regime-change war was that they were going to see the destruction coming from the American and Israeli military, and it would rally the opposition, and the Ayatollahs would collapse and give up, and there would be a regime change and a new era in Iran.

It has gotten worse. They are younger and more radical, and they have more leverage.

Now, I want to be really clear here. The mistake is not ending the war; it was starting it in the first place. Every day this war went on only compounded that catastrophe, and so we ought to be relieved that it may be over and that diplomacy is being given another chance, because it is the only viable path forward.

But none of that obviates the fact that we are suing for peace because it is the least bad option; that a diplomatic solution was within reach all along, before a single bomb was dropped; that after several months of a deadly and costly war, things are worse, not better.

On February 27, the day before the war started, the Strait of Hormuz was open. Oil and other commodities like fertilizers flowed freely to all of the places around the world. Now, under the MOU, the strait is open again but only for 60 days, after which Iran is reserving the right to charge a fee for ships to pass.

Do you understand how unprecedented it is in terms of international law, in terms of international commerce, in terms of the way this planet works with the freedom of navigation, that one belligerent country now gets to charge a fee if you want to move something through international waters?

That is not a ''w.'' That is not good for this country or regional stability.

Under the original Iran agreement that President Obama signed and Trump later ripped up, Iran promised not to develop a nuclear weapon. It was right there on the first page of the JCPOA. And what it meant was that Iran would not produce the kind of highly enriched uranium that could be used in a nuclear weapon.

They have renewed that commitment in the MOU, except for a much higher price this time.

Under the JCPOA—and I remember. I was on the floor. I was a baby Senator here, and my colleagues on the other side of the aisle said: Oh, my God, you are unfreezing Iranian-sanctioned money, assets to the tune of many billions of dollars.

Can you believe how much money we are giving to Iran in exchange for this pause in the development of their nuclear program? Can you believe that you are giving money to Iran? Look at how belligerent they are in the region.

That was the argument. OK, I thought it was worth it because it was basically buying us 15 years of them not being capable to develop a nuclear weapon.

But under this—and, by the way, not in exchange for a nuclear agreement, in exchange for reopening the Strait of Hormuz for 60 days.

So I want you to understand, what they are getting is enormous, but it is also not even for a nuclear agreement. It is for an agreement to stop choking the global economy, not only where their assets will be unfrozen, but they will be able to sell their oil freely on the open market for the first time in 30 years.

That is not some $1.7 billion concession. That is not some $10 billion concession. That changes generations of bipartisan policy against the Iranian regime.

One of the reasons that they were not even more belligerent, even more powerful was that we were heavily sanctioning their oil. And we are lifting it in exchange for not a nuclear agreement but just for them to take their boot off the necks of the global economy.

And so, I reiterate this point: Keep two thoughts in your head. First of all, the main error was in starting this stupid regime-change war in the first place, and that you don't have to be some member of the Foreign Relations Committee or some fancy foreign policy expert or some professor at some school that studies the Middle East to say: Hey, you know what, these same dudes keep asking for a new regime-change war in the Middle East about every decade. They usually get it, and it always fails. And they did it again, and it failed again.

And that is a different thing from me demanding that they continue this idiocy. I am not demanding that they continue this idiocy. I am glad that they are finally folding.

But make no mistake. They are folding, and they are folding because they played a terrible hand, as terribly as you could possibly play it.

And so, all I am asking—if you are an Iran hawk, if you are a dove, if you are anywhere in between—is let's have a logical foreign policy. Let's understand that Iran is a belligerent country—they are not our allies—and that almost every single time—not every time, but almost every single time—kinetic engagement without any kind of strategy doesn't work. It always backfires.

And, by the way, that is, generally speaking, true. It is, extraordinarily, predictably true in the Middle East.

And I want to make one final point: It is the same people every time. It is the same foreign policy think tanks. It is the same people in the media. It is the same nonprofits. It is the same Members of Congress.

They just look around the planet for a place to remake with force. And there may be a couple of examples in human history where you can remake a place with force, but usually it backfires spectacularly.

And it did here again.

I yield the floor.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. HICKENLOOPER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Without objection, it is so ordered.

The Senator from Colorado.

TRUMP ADMINISTRATION

Mr. HICKENLOOPER. Mr. President, as a former English major, one of the great tales in Greek mythology was the legend of King Midas.

As the story goes, Midas was granted a wish. He wished that everything he touched would turn to gold.

At first, it seemed like a blessing. Twigs became gold. Stones became gold.

Midas thought he had found true wealth. But he soon realized it wasn't much of a blessing. It was more of a curse.

Midas' food turned to gold. His water turned to gold. And, eventually, even his daughter turned to gold.

The lesson is simple: A man who mistakes gold for greatness will end up with neither.

President Trump never learned that lesson, and he corrupts pretty much whatever he touches.

Take his gold-plated ballroom. The President promised it wouldn't cost taxpayers a nickel, but those promises turned out to be fool's gold.

The cost has skyrocketed and President Trump now wants to spend $300 million of your taxpayer money to pay for it. He is not building affordable housing in Denver, Durango; he is building a ballroom for himself and his rich friends to enjoy.

President Trump promised to drain the swamp; instead he has turned the Reflecting Pool into an algae-infested bird killer. The administration awarded a no-bid contract for this project to President Trump's neighbor, one of his donors. The renovation was supposed to cost $1.5 million. It is now estimated at $16 million, and the job still isn't done.

President Trump isn't working to extend the Affordable Care Act subsidies or reverse the Medicaid cuts that will kick 240,000 Coloradans off of their healthcare. His Reflecting Pool got a makeover while our insurance pool was gutted.

Now President Trump wants to build an enormous arch near Arlington Cemetery. While planning this project, he unilaterally, on his own volition, went to war with Iran, promising immediate victory, total and complete.

What he has delivered is one of the great failures in our Nation's history. He made America less safe and less secure.

He made America's economy weaker, and 14 American servicemembers lost their lives. When asked about the tragic casualties, President Trump said:

> [T]here will likely be more before it ends. That's the way it is.
> That's the way it is.

Our heroes deserve a Commander in Chief who looks out for them, not a monument looking down on them. This administration seems to believe the key to making America great again is more bouillon and more branding, like King Midas. They don't seem to understand where true wealth comes from.

America's prosperity isn't measured in monuments; it is defined by dreams, dreams that are only made possible here in this country. Those dreams are what brought me to Colorado as a geologist 20 years ago—or I should take that back—45 years ago, and they are what inspired me to enter public service, so one day my sons and your daughters will inherit a country where everyone has an equal shot at life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

But right now the American dream is slipping out of reach because the deck is stacked against working people. Whether your biggest worry is fuel or fertilizer or gas or groceries, whether you live in a mountain community or an inner city, whether you are surrounded by cows or concrete, this administration's misplaced priorities are making life harder for you. And I don't think it has to be this way.

First, we have got to stop the bleeding from this administration. We have got to end the illegal war, end the disastrous tariffs. We must curb ICE's lawlessness and repair our social safety net, reversing the administration's cuts to healthcare, to SNAP, to student aid. But then we have got to get back to making your life better once again.

We need to lower the cost of living. We need to create more and better jobs and protect our public lands. This work is not going to be easy as we mark America's 250th anniversary—our 250th anniversary. Many are questioning whether we are still capable of meeting the magnitude of this moment, a moment where a technological revolution promises unbelievable innovation at unprecedented speed like a runaway train.

It also leaves us more isolated and struggling to discern fact from fiction. A moment when the consequences of climate change are increasingly impossible to ignore with unprecedented wildfires, drought, destruction; a moment when wealth is flowing to the wealthiest Americans at an unprecedented rate. I am not immune to skepticism, frustration, despair, but a better and a brighter future requires that we work harder and harder and harder. It requires us to giddyap.

Progress is possible because we have seen it, we have done it. This week Congress passed the biggest housing reform bill in decades.

We worked with Senator WARREN to diminish Wall Street from buying single-family homes and to limit their influence in disturbing the housing markets. This matters to every Coloradan because home ownership is one of the single best paths to economic stability and upward mobility.

It is a reminder that our government works best when it works for working people. When it does, good policy reflects our highest values; and the values that made this country have always been about opportunities for all, not wealth at all costs.

Earlier this morning right as the bill was about to be signed, President Trump decided to hold the legislation hostage. Instead of passing this commonsense bill, he wants to peddle a voter suppression bill that has literally nothing to do with housing.

This is a clear choice before us. Speaker JOHNSON and Senator GRASSLEY and Senator THUNE should sign this housing bill and send it to the White House, or they should not adjourn Congress for the July 4th recess; it is as simple as that.

This saga is exactly why so many Americans have lost so much faith in our President. He has had every opportunity to lower costs, but he chooses not to. The Coloradans I meet on the Front Range or the West Slope aren't looking for more attacks on mail-in voting; they aren't looking for more ballrooms, bombs, and billionaires. They are looking for help, all the while looking out and helping each other.

I see it across Colorado, people showing up for their neighbors, families sharing what they can: Meals, clothing, rides to school. America's wealth has never been found in monuments, reflecting pools, or arches. It is found in our families. It is found in our communities. It is found in you. Our charge has always been to help each other and to keep the American dream alive for the next generation. That is what it has always meant to be a Coloradan. That is what it has meant to be an American. And that is worth more than gold.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Michigan.

DOBBS V. JACKSON WOMEN'S HEALTH ORGANIZATION

Ms. SLOTKIN. Mr. President, I rise today to address the events that took place exactly 4 years ago today when the Supreme Court ruled on Dobbs v. Jackson, overturning Roe v. Wade, stripping away reproductive rights for women that we have relied upon for generations.

That decision sent shock waves through the country. Something that many of us, women of my age, relied upon for our entire lives were certainly and suddenly not available to our kids and our grandkids. And as States like Michigan were looking into the reality of a full abortion ban, we had to get to work.

In Michigan, we had a 1931 abortion ban which banned abortions even in the cases of rape and incest. It criminalized nurses and doctors who provided such care, and it was slated to become law again in the wake of the Dobbs decision.

In the face of that, Michiganders went to work; that is what we do. We rally together. We got over 700,000 signatures in the better part of 10 weeks. We organized getting on to our ballot a vote on reproductive freedom including abortion care for our State; and we did this so that women and girls that come after us were in control of their reproductive lives, not politicians and certainly not anyone in this body.

Now, the examples of who this affected are legion, but let me just focus on one woman Sarah from Byron Center, MI. Sarah had already had four miscarriages but was filled with so much hope for her fifth pregnancy. Unfortunately, after 19 weeks she received a devastating call from her doctor that she had a baby dying inside of her. Thankfully, Sarah was able to get the abortion care she needed from her doctor so she wouldn't be exposed to life-threatening bacteria and infections which could have killed her.

Right now in States across the country when other women face this same reality, they are told to wait. They are told to hope they don't get an infection, and they hope they are not left to die.

Even worse, mothers are dying of preventable deaths, leaving their children without a parent, all because of politics and reversing Roe v. Wade 4 years ago today. Now just because the story is 4 years old doesn't mean it is over. Women continue to face a two-front war to get access to abortion care, even in a State like Michigan. Access to care and the cost of care is still inhibiting who has access to reproductive care.

More than a dozen States across the country have a total ban on abortion, and the people in this Chamber and around this town continue to chip away at women's access everywhere they turn. Women are struggling to get access to healthcare via telehealth. Families are struggling to access contraception and plan for their futures. Doctors are being criminalized for doing their jobs. Cuts to healthcare, cuts to Planned Parenthood have forced organizations to shut their doors, and politicians who can't outlaw abortion nationwide are trying to outlaw abortion medication, which is how a full half of women get their abortions.

All of this comes with a cost, expensive bills, traveling long distances, and adds risk to people's health. The Dobbs decision was a cautionary tale. Even though the Supreme Court allowed abortion over 50 years ago, this body decided not to act. We never legislated a woman's right to choose.

Our grandparents should have taken action on this issue, and we would have reproductive freedom now across the country if we had done so. I think it is an important tale for what this body can and cannot do, what it should and should not do.

It certainly has incredible consequences. So I just wanted to recognize on the 4-year anniversary of the reversal of Roe v. Wade where we are and that the fight continues.

RECOGNIZING SHENANDOAH COUNTRY CLUB AND THE CHALDEAN COMMUNITY

Mr. President, I want to turn to one of my favorite things, honoring people back home in the State of Michigan. Michiganders deliver and show up for each other. We grow food for our families. We make the cars that power and drive America. We create products that brighten people's days. We achieve milestones that inspire our youngest minds. And when we see a problem or a neighbor in need, we step in to help.

So I want to focus today on a couple of stories from the State of Michigan that recognize the important contribution of some of our organizations and some of our companies.

Here on the Senate floor it is my honor to enter into the record these stories into the people's history of the United States. Today is officially our first ''Michigan History Makers'' in a series honoring Michiganders' contributions to our Nation. And by entering their names into the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, their stories will be memorialized for good so that their great-grandchildren's great-grandchildren can see the contribution these organizations have made.

Today, I want to pay a tribute to Shenandoah Country Club. This is a country club owned and operated by the Chaldean community or Iraqi Christian community of Michigan. On March 12, it was a sunny, late winter day in Michigan at Temple Israel, a synagogue in West Bloomfield, MI. Young children were playing together and learning in a classroom painted orange and blue. A teacher had just placed babies as young as 15 months down for a nap and suddenly a gunman rammed his car through the temple.

His goal was to do massive harm on one of the largest synagogues in the country to target the youngest, most vulnerable of the Jewish community, innocent children. There were gunshots, crying babies, teachers running with children in their arms, and people fleeing for their lives.

The people of Temple Israel felt like they had nowhere to turn, but the Shenandoah Country Club is directly across the street, and that is where they went.

The staff and leadership at the country club did not hesitate to step up as a safe haven and open their doors as refuge for over 100 children and other Jewish community members.

It immediately became the reunification site where worried parents could hug their children again, and it became a place where everyone could sigh a breath of relief that no children or teachers were harmed.

The club provided shelter, blankets, and food for the families and then the next day transformed their ballroom to host a Shabbat gathering of over 1,000 Jewish worshippers, which I participated in.

What struck me most was the positivity in what was otherwise a very dark moment. The Chaldean community didn't ask whether the families arriving at their doors looked like them, prayed like them, or came from the same background; they saw their neighbors in need, and they answered the call. Their kindness and hospitality were the silver lining in an otherwise terrible attack.

With profound gratitude for their extraordinary contributions to the people of Michigan, it is my honor to recognize the Shenandoah Country Club and the Chaldean community here in the Senate of the United States.

TRIBUTE TO NATIONAL CHERRY FESTIVAL VOLUNTEERS

Mr. President, today, I pay tribute to the National Cherry Festival volunteers. Michigan is proud to be the ''Cherry Capital of the World,'' and Traverse City is home to most of our cherry industry.

Every year, the city puts on the National Cherry Festival, which attracts visitors from across the country and celebrates Michigan's cherry growers, processors, and retailers.

This year, the National Cherry Festival celebrates 100 years, and I want to recognize the more than 2,800 volunteers who bring that festival to life.

Early next month, more than half a million people are going to descend on Traverse City for the festival. They will sing along with concerts. They will watch the ''Cherries Got Talent'' competition, where performers show off their talents. They will watch Michiganders race one another in creatively decorated beds on wheels. There will be a dog-jumping competition. They will watch teams launch handcrafted boats—built entirely from recycled milk cartons—into West Grand Traverse Bay. And they will, of course, have a parade and name their National Cherry Queen. And that is not the end of it.

All of this is possible because of the hard-working, committed volunteers that put this thing on. Because of their service, Northern Michigan's economy will be boosted by more than $40 million—money in the pockets of hard-working families. Hundreds of thousands of dollars will go to local charities that are working to build a better community for their neighbors.

With profound gratitude for the volunteers' extraordinary contributions to the people of Michigan, it is my honor to recognize their hard work here in the Senate of the United States.

RECOGNIZING VERNORS

Mr. President, I want to pay tribute to Vernors ginger ale. In other States, you may know Coke or Pepsi, but in Michigan, we know the answer is only a Vernors when we want to celebrate.

Vernors is an iconic ginger ale that Michiganders have enjoyed for generations. Created by pharmacist James Vernor in the 1860s, it is the oldest ginger ale brand in the United States. It is a proud Michigan original that was produced for more than 100 years in the city of Detroit.

Every Michigan family has a Vernors story. Some remember drinking it on a hot summer afternoon. Others—myself included—remember being handed a glass of Vernors when they had a stomachache or were home sick from school. My dad actually, in his one break from working in the meat industry, worked for Vernors and traveled every day down from Holly, MI, to downtown Detroit. We were so proud that he worked for such an important Michigan brand.

To me and to all Michigan families, Vernors is a reminder of the generations of Michiganders who put in the work and built the brands that keep our State on the map. And this year, Vernors celebrated 160 years as a Michigan staple. Here is to 160 more.

With profound gratitude for its contributions to the people of Michigan, it is my honor to recognize Vernors in the Senate of the United States.

NOMINATION OF MICHAEL J. HENDERSHOT

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, today, the Senate will vote to confirm Michael Hendershot to the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of Ohio.

Mr. Hendershot's record reflects his partisanship. In the Ohio Attorney General's Office, he defended the State's laws restricting abortion access. He continued to defend the State even after Ohio voters enshrined reproductive rights in the Ohio Constitution in 2023.

He also represented Ohio officials against challenges to the State's gerrymandered State legislative and congressional maps as they were struck down five times by the Ohio Supreme Court for violating the Ohio Constitution.

Finally, Mr. Hendershot is yet another Trump judicial nominee who is an election denier. In November 2020, he joined an amicus brief to the U.S. Supreme Court asking the Court to grant cert and reverse the underlying decision of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court that allowed for the counting of absentee ballots received after election day.

I oppose Mr. Hendershot's nomination and ask my colleagues to join me.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUESTS

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. President, as if in legislative session and notwithstanding rule XXII, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions be discharged and the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. 4329. Further, I ask unanimous consent that the bill be considered read a third time and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Wisconsin.

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, 4 years ago today, women in America lost the right to control their own bodies when an activist Supreme Court overturned Roe v. Wade. For 18 months, women in Wisconsin were forced to live under a law passed in 1849 and widely viewed as a criminal abortion ban.

Overturning Roe was just the beginning of the Republicans' war on women's reproductive rights. This bill is yet another example of their agenda to make it harder for women to access care by stripping away funding for family planning clinics.

Title X clinics serve millions of Americans and offer cancer screenings, birth control, and wellness exams. Republicans have already tried to rip this healthcare away. Their ''Big Ugly Bill'' last year defunded Planned Parenthood, leading to the closure of 60 clinics so far. And we expect that as a result of the ''Big Ugly Bill,'' in total, over 200 clinics will ultimately close. That is 200 fewer places that women can get essential healthcare, exacerbating an already dire healthcare crisis that families are facing.

This administration has also withheld funding from title X clinics for months, threatening access to care for more than 800,000 people. They then delayed funding for the program again, causing even more confusion.

The administration's goals are clear: They want to sow chaos and end access to reproductive health care. There is no reason that we, the people's branch, should be adding to that and further making life harder for the people we work for. We should be focused on expanding access to healthcare and lowering the cost of it, not closing more clinics, jacking up costs, and eroding women's rights even further.

I will not stop fighting until every woman in this country has the freedom to make her own choices about her own body.

Therefore, I object.

The Senator from Tennessee.

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. President, you know, it is always so interesting to hear the objections of my colleagues when it comes to something that is considered a pro-life measure. And pushing this bill forward and listening to my colleague—it just shows me that once again, they are not standing with that right to life.

We are celebrating 250 years of our great Nation. What do we have? That right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Today marks 4 years since the Supreme Court corrected a blatant act of judicial activism that legitimized the killing of more than 63 million unborn children.

My colleagues across the aisle like to say: Oh, but abortion is compassionate.

Think about the 63 million unborn babies—63 million.

So, yes, 4 years ago, the Supreme Court corrected this act of judicial activism. With the Court's Dobbs decision, the authority finally returned to the States and ''we the people,'' where it belongs.

This marked a watershed moment in the fight for life, but there is still so much more work to do to make certain that right is recognized, that right to life—the right to life, to liberty, to the pursuit of happiness.

We know that one thing that needs to be done is ending all Federal funding of abortion services. That is important. This isn't about closing clinics; this is about making certain that taxpayer money does not go to fund those services.

For decades, Federal law has prohibited the use of Federal funds for abortions, but big abortion providers like Planned Parenthood exploit every loophole possible to get around this restriction. It is a long list. They are addicted to your money to provide abortion services.

One of those loopholes is the title X Family Planning Program. This program is intended to assist low-income women with family planning services. Section 1008 of the Public Health Service Act explicitly states that title X funds ''shall not be used in programs where abortion is a method of family planning.'' That is the law.

This isn't about restricting healthcare; it is about—we need to support life, and we need to abide by the law.

Yet, under the law, title X clinics are allowed to refer patients for abortions and share facilities with abortion providers. As a result, Planned Parenthood clinics that receive Federal family planning funds can share the same facility, staff, and waiting room as an abortion clinic. There is no division there. They are sharing that space. They are sharing staff. They are sharing the waiting room. You go in the same door, and they are thereby using taxpayer dollars.

Now, taxpayers, including millions across the country who hold deeply held beliefs opposing abortion, should not have to spend a penny in supporting abortion providers. This is their hard-earned money. We have a law. The law should be abided by. That is why I am asking that we move forward with this bill. We have heard my colleague's objection. I disagree with her. We should abide by the rule of law, and we should support the right to life. I think everyone should stand up and close this loophole once and for all.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Wisconsin.

Ms. BALDWIN. Mr. President, today is the fourth anniversary of the Dobbs decision overturning Roe v. Wade.

I just shared some reflections about what happened in my home State of Wisconsin when we reverted to a law that was passed in 1849—1 year after Wisconsin's statehood—that was widely viewed as a criminal abortion ban. No abortion care was provided within my State until a court ultimately ruled many months later that that 1849 statute did not apply, but in the meantime, I heard stories from Wisconsin women whose lives were upended by the Dobbs ruling.

When I think about one of the first stories I heard in those first months after the Dobbs decision came down, I remember a woman sharing with me that she was pregnant, expecting—was delighted about that—when her water broke at 17 weeks. She went to her doctor at the hospital where she was planning to deliver her baby, and they said: Your baby has no chance of survival, and we can't do anything to assist you in this moment because Roe v. Wade has been overturned.

The doctors consulted lawyers. We had lawyers actually practicing medicine, if you will, in the State of Wisconsin at that time, and she was sent home. They said to let nature take its course. Well, in her case, that meant facing sepsis and a fever that got worse and worse and worse.

How close do you have to be to death before you can get the healthcare that you need when Roe v. Wade is no longer the law of the land?

What it drove people in Wisconsin to have to do is consider getting care out of State.

So, today, I rise in support of the women across this country who just want to be able to control their own bodies. Right now, 27 million women are living under abortion bans since the overturning of Roe v. Wade, and it is no secret that my Republican colleagues want to see a national abortion ban enacted piece by piece. Because of these bans, women are literally bleeding out in parking lots outside of clinics and hospitals. Women are developing life-threatening infections like the one I just described from my constituent in Wisconsin.

Women are being told that they have pregnancies that are not viable but that they have no option for healthcare. Women are being denied the care that they need even in States like Wisconsin where, because of our courts striking down the 1849 statute that was in existence when the Dobbs decision came out, abortion is now legal, though many restrictions remain on the books.

Women face access issues. They face barriers to accessing the healthcare they need. In Wisconsin, abortion services are only available in 3 out of our 72 counties. That leaves 69 counties without care, meaning the people who live there must travel for the care they need. They have to arrange childcare and take time off work and sometimes drive for hours. They have to face unnecessary barriers just to get the healthcare that they need.

That is why I introduced the Reproductive Health Travel Fund Act. This legislation would help ease the financial burdens that too many women face when they are trying to access safe and legal reproductive healthcare, oftentimes far away from their homes and their support systems. This bill would get women the practical support they need to access care, including support for travel, childcare, lodging, meals, and more.

I won't stop fighting until a woman's right to choose is fully restored. In the meantime, the least we can do is help women access the care they need that the Supreme Court and some of my Republican colleagues continue to put further out of reach for women. I urge my colleagues to address the healthcare crisis we are facing in this country by reducing the barriers that women face to get the healthcare they need.

Therefore, as if in legislative session, I ask unanimous consent that the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. 4922, introduced earlier today; further, that the bill be considered read three times and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there an objection?

The Senator from Tennessee.

Mrs. BLACKBURN. Mr. President, I object.

We just talked about the Title X Abortion Provider Prohibition Act, which would ensure that taxpayer funds aren't used or flow—these family planning funds—to abortion providers.

What Senator BALDWIN has talked about in this bill is the Reproductive Health Travel Fund Act, and what it would do is make obtaining abortions easier. It would make it easier because it would allow them to be paid for by tax dollars. Let's let this sink in for a minute. This bill would authorize hundreds of millions of taxpayer dollars to fund, as my colleague said, the travel, the lodging, the meals, the childcare, and all of the other expenses that are associated with obtaining an abortion. Four years after Dobbs rightfully returned this issue to the American people and their elected representatives, this very legislation would undermine that decision by using Federal dollars to facilitate and fund abortions across State lines.

Now, we all want healthy moms and healthy babies—that is a goal that everyone shares—but instead of supporting pregnant women by making grants available to pregnancy resource centers, our colleagues across the aisle would rather spend that $350 million in taxpayer funding each year to eliminate what makes obtaining an abortion inconvenient. That is absolutely atrocious. Democrats claim to be the party of choice, but bankrolling the entire abortion process only increases the pressure on women to choose abortion by making it the more financially feasible option. There is no choice in that. A 2004 study found 64 percent of women felt pressured by others to have an abortion.

If Congress truly wants to respect the conscience rights of millions of Americans and actually protect women, children, and families, it should reject this legislation and pass the Title X Abortion Provider Protection Act.

For all of these reasons, I object.

The Senator from Mississippi.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUESTS

Mrs. HYDE-SMITH. Mr. President, 4 years ago today, our Nation took the historic step when the U.S. Supreme Court's Dobbs decision overturned the so-called right to end a baby's life in America and returned the authority to regulate abortion to the people. Since then, the abortion industry has intensified its efforts to convince women that pregnancy is inherently dangerous and harmful to their health. While pregnancy can involve complications, those cases are the exception; they are not the rule. Yet these exceptions are often used to justify abortion at every stage of a pregnancy, including a growing number of at-home abortions, using mail-ordered mifepristone, without having direct physician oversight.

Here is the truth about chemical abortion: First of all, this regimen is not safer than Tylenol. A woman can experience anywhere from a month to 6 weeks of bleeding after taking the abortion pill regimen—horrendous bleeding that is significantly heavier than usual. It is especially dangerous for women who are already anemic with low blood counts. Nearly one in nine women who take these drugs will suffer a serious adverse event, such as sepsis, hemorrhaging, infection, or emergency surgery, within 45 days of ingesting the pill.

Chemical abortion can also pose a serious threat to women's future fertility or even their lives when they are not screened through an in-person doctor visit for conditions like an ectopic pregnancy, and a woman who has a chemical abortion has a 300-percent increase in having a preterm birth in future pregnancies—a 300-percent increase.

The SAVE Moms and Babies Act puts commonsense safety protections back into place by at least requiring an in-person doctor visit before being prescribed mifepristone, which is designed to abort a baby. This drug should never be administered through the mail, where abusers and traffickers can hide behind a computer anonymously.

While I cannot stress enough the importance of correcting misinformation about abortion drugs and reinstating the safety protections that the Biden administration recklessly removed, we also need to flip the abortion industry's entire script by highlighting something too often overlooked: the extraordinary benefits of pregnancy for women.

Pregnancy is nothing short of remarkable when you consider everything that must fall into place perfectly to conceive, sustain, and deliver a healthy child. While the process can feel overwhelming, women's bodies are uniquely equipped for this lifegiving role. The resilience and strength demonstrated through pregnancy and childbirth are incredible and empowering.

For example, pregnancy is often described as a marathon—and for good reason: A woman's cardiovascular strength expands when her pregnancy is carried to full term, and her risk of cardiovascular disease and stroke are significantly reduced later in life. From the long-term well-being that motherhood can inspire with a commitment to healthier habits to the protected effects of breastfeeding associated with the reduced risk of breast cancer, these changes offer life-sustaining gifts.

In fact, research suggests that women who have children later in life often experience greater longevity. Women's bodies were seemingly designed to break the limits and then keep going.

As we continue to build a life-affirming society in this Dobbs era, our ongoing challenge is to continue championing the physical, mental, and emotional benefits of pregnancy and of motherhood.

Mr. President, as if in legislative session, and notwithstanding rule XXII, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions be discharged and the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. 3697; further, I ask unanimous consent that the bill be considered read a third time and passed, and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there an objection?

The Senator from Maryland.

Ms. ALSOBROOKS. Mr. President, reserving the right to object.

Let's be clear. This bill would roll back the clock by 25 years. It limits access to a safe and effective medication that has been approved by the FDA since 2000. Hundreds of robust clinical trials have demonstrated mifepristone's safety. That is not political; that is science.

This bill would impose new requirements on prescribing healthcare providers, and it would restrict drug dispensing to in-person administration, specifically targeting women living in rural areas and women without access to a primary care doctor or OB/GYN.

For the past year, we have all watched as Secretary Kennedy and this administration have peddled conspiracy theories and junk science to dismantle public health structures in this country.

Just like with the pediatric vaccine schedule, changing the rules on FDA-approved drugs without specific scientific input, legitimate evidence on safety risk, or transparency will cause unnecessary fear for patients.

This bill undermines the critical role of the FDA in ensuring the safety and efficacy of medical products through a gold standard review and approval process. It overrides the FDA's oversight authority by prematurely banning approval to medications, even if they are safe and effective.

That is not gold standard science; it is an effort to control women's bodies and their healthcare decisions.

On the very anniversary of the Dobbs ruling, Senate Republicans are looking to continue to restrict access to care.

I want to remind my colleagues that mothers living in States with abortion bans are nearly twice as likely to die during pregnancy or childbirth compared to those in States that allow women to access reproductive care. These tragedies happen when there are delays in miscarriage and emergencies because reproductive medicine is criminalized.

I object to this legislation.

The Senator from Maryland.

Ms. ALSOBROOKS. As I just said, on the very anniversary of the Dobbs ruling, Senate Republicans are looking to continue to restrict access to care.

In stark contrast, Senate Democrats are working to expand access to healthcare for women. We are working to better support new and expecting mothers and babies. I introduced the Healthy MOM Act to do just that.

Uninsured pregnant women are more likely to miss critical prenatal care. These gaps in care lead to a 31 percent higher likelihood of adverse hospital and delivery outcomes. My bill would ensure that all women eligible for coverage through Affordable Care Act marketplaces and private insurance can access affordable health coverage throughout their pregnancies by establishing a special enrollment period for expectant mothers.

Right now, marriage, divorce, changing jobs, or having a baby are considered qualifying life events that trigger a special enrollment period, but becoming pregnant is not considered a qualifying life event. That is unless you live in a State like Maryland, which allows women to enroll in or change their health insurance plan outside of the standard open enrollment period after they learn they are pregnant.

If you want to protect moms and babies, you need to make sure that they have health insurance and access to the care they need. I ask unanimous consent to pass this commonsense legislation to close a senseless loophole and keep expecting mothers across the country healthy.

Mr. President, as if in legislative session, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions be discharged from further consideration of S. 3274 and the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration; further, that the bill be considered read a third time and passed, and the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Mississippi.

Mrs. HYDE-SMITH. Mr. President, reserving the right to object. Mr. President, I object.

While my colleague's bill seemingly aims to assist expecting mothers with the burdensome cost of pregnancy and childbirth, I would like to point out that this legislative effort is not designed for success, and it has zero bipartisan support.

However, bipartisan support in this arena is possible, and I am so grateful to my colleagues on both sides of the aisle who have worked with me on the Supporting Healthy Moms and Babies Act. I introduced this effort last year with Senators KAINE, GILLIBRAND, and HAWLEY to insulate expecting parents from the high cost of pregnancy and childbirth by eliminating cost-sharing requirements for prenatal, childbirth, neonatal, perinatal, or post-partum healthcare. Bringing a child into the world is costly enough without piling on cost-share fees that saddle many mothers and families with debt. The bill would take away some of the burden for childbearing generations.

My hope is that if we can relieve the financial stresses associated with pregnancy and childbirth, more families will be encouraged to embrace the beautiful gift and the responsibility that comes with parenthood.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The objection is heard.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oklahoma.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—S. 1756

Mr. LANKFORD. Mr. President, it is toward the end of June, and 250 years ago today Thomas Jefferson was in the third floor of a rented space in Philadelphia, literally by himself, working at a desk that he had built himself writing a declaration—250 years ago literally today he was by himself writing away on that.

Within about 4 days from now 250 years ago, the Committee of Five—the four others that worked with him—all determined: No, this is the document that we are going to present to the Continental Congress. It is kind of remarkable to be able to think about that kind of history.

They determined that they were going to end that simple statement at the introduction to say:

> We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, [that] they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness.

It was a much-debated statement, and they made several different changes to it, but that same statement 250 years later still rings true as a core value of who we are as Americans.

Today I rise to be able to mark the fourth anniversary, though, of the Dobbs decision—a decision that overturned Roe v. Wade and returned the issue of abortion and when life begins and who we are going to be as a people on this issue of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness back to the elected representatives from the States and to the people.

Today we are remembering 60 million children who died under the 49-year time period under Roe v. Wade and the conversation that is still happening all over the country. We the people are still having a dialog about the value of every human person and whether life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness still applies to everyone. Does it apply to only people that are a certain height, a certain weight, a certain age? Or does it apply to every single person?

I am one of those crazy people that actually believe that children are valuable—all of them. And I know it is much maligned in our culture currently, and it is very vogue to be able to say some children are valuable and some children are disposable and those children that are disposable, we shouldn't even discuss. But, honestly, I think we should continue the conversation, the dialogue that has been going on for 250 years, to determine: Does life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness apply to all of us? Are all people created equal, or are some people more equal than others?

Just because a child cannot defend themselves, just because a child doesn't weigh very much yet doesn't mean it is not a child.

Science would say that life begins at conception when the cell division happens. Every single cell in the woman's body has the exact same DNA except when she is pregnant—then there are certain cells in the womb that have different DNA. Do you know why? Because it is a different person.

And there is cell division happening in the woman's body because she is alive, and there is cell division happening in that child's body because so are they, and they are a uniquely different God-created person. They are not inconvenient. They are a child. And we are still having this conversation as a country to try to determine what are we going to do about that.

So me and my colleagues have come to the floor today on the fourth anniversary of the Dobbs decision and said: Let's keep the dialogue going. Let's keep talking about this issue of when a child is a child. Do they have to be a certain weight? Do they have to be a certain age? Do they have to be a certain height? Or is it when basic science would say that child is a child?

What is interesting about this is I am not even bringing a bill tonight to be able to deal with the issue of abortion of a child. I am actually bringing a bill tonight to be able to talk about conscience of individual healthcare providers.

You see, most doctors and healthcare professionals share a common science-based belief that a child in the womb is just like the children they care for outside the womb. The only difference is time.

A child at conception and a child outside the womb are no different. It is just 40 weeks older. That is it. I am 40 weeks older than I was 40 weeks ago. That child is 40 weeks older from conception to birth, but it is still the same child.

The millions of Americans who believe this same truth, we have conscience protection laws on the books, and we have had them on the books for a long time. In fact, there are 25 Federal conscience protection laws right now that are already the law of the United States. Many of these have just flatout not been controversial. Let me give you a couple of them.

The Church amendments. These laws protect the conscience rights of individuals and entities that object to performing or assisting in the performance of an abortion or a sterilization against their religious or moral convictions. When that passed Congress—right after Roe v. Wade—when that passed Congress, it passed 92 to 1. It was not controversial.

In 2004, when Congress created the Weldon amendment—which is in all of our annual appropriations bills still. The Weldon amendment bars the Federal Government and State and local government recipients of Federal funds from discriminating against healthcare entities that refuse to provide, pay for, provide coverage, or refer for abortions. It wasn't controversial. It passed overwhelmingly. It still continues.

The conscience protection bill that I bring tonight is also very straightforward. It is already in Federal law that individuals have the right of conscience. The challenge is, those individuals only are protected in the right of conscience if the Federal Government actually goes and prosecutes individuals that violate their conscience. So if the executive branch chooses not to enforce the law—they just ignore it, though it is federally against the law but no one prosecutes—then nothing happens and that individual has rights that are actually not protected by their own government.

This conscience protection bill is very simple. It says if their rights of conscience have been violated, according to Federal law, that individual has a private right of action to bring their own suit. If the Federal Government won't defend their rights under Federal law, they have the ability to be able to bring it on their own.

This is a very simple, straightforward bill. It doesn't change anything about abortions. We will have the exact same number of abortions the next day after this passes that we did today—exactly the same. But what it does is it says to a person that literally it violates their own conscience to be mandated to perform an abortion but yet their company that they work for is forcing them to be able to carry this out against their own conscience—this allows them to be able to object and to be able to say: Someone else here needs to perform this; I should not be required, for the fear of my own employment, to be able to take care of living, healthy people or hurting people that I am also being required to take the life of a child at the same time when that violates my conscience.

So this is a straightforward bill that, again, won't limit abortion at all but will protect the rights of individuals to have their own rights of conscience.

So, Mr. President, as if in legislative session, notwithstanding rule XXII, tonight I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions be discharged and the Senate proceed to the immediate consideration of S. 1756; further, I ask unanimous consent that the bill be considered read a third time and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Oregon.

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, I rise to object to this bill, which would restrict access to vital healthcare coverage and make healthcare more expensive for many Americans.

Thirteen States, including my home State of Oregon, have passed laws that require insurance companies to cover reproductive care, including abortion services. If this became law, this proposal would override those State laws. It would let insurance providers deny women coverage for care they need.

Women should make their own healthcare decisions, not politicians, not State governments, and certainly—certainly—not insurance companies.

For all of these reasons, I object.

UNANIMOUS CONSENT REQUEST—S. 2524

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, I rise now to offer my legislation with Senators TINA SMITH and PATTY MURRAY to restore funding for Planned Parenthood.

That funding was gutted under the Republicans' budget bill passed nearly a year ago. In that time, 23 Planned Parenthood clinics have closed, and 75 percent of those were in rural or underserved areas. Breast cancer exams fell by 25 percent.

Planned Parenthood, unfortunately, has become a scapegoat for many Republicans. In reality, these clinics provide lifesaving primary care. They provide cancer screenings, annual exams, and testing. The majority of these clinics serve areas where there is already a shortage of providers. The fact is that they are a lifeline for rural Americans.

As our country faces a nationwide healthcare provider shortage, this body should be doing everything in its power to expand access to care and bring down costs. Instead, many Republicans remain laser-focused on forcing their agenda on the American people—an agenda that results in closed clinic doors, fewer providers, and higher costs.

The legislation that I now offer, this evening, would restore funding for Planned Parenthood clinics. It would restore lifesaving healthcare for millions of women, especially those living in rural areas and healthcare deserts.

Mr. President, therefore, as if in legislative session, I ask unanimous consent that the Committee on Finance be discharged from further consideration of S. 2524 and the Senate proceed to its immediate consideration; further, that the bill be considered read a third time and passed and that the motion to reconsider be considered made and laid upon the table.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

The Senator from Oklahoma.

Mr. LANKFORD. Mr. President, reserving the right to object, I actually brought a bill tonight to be able to protect the conscience rights of individual healthcare workers. It doesn't change the number of abortions in America. It doesn't raise insurance costs. It doesn't do anything else.

It just says to a nurse that doesn't want to perform abortions that her hospital can't compel her to be able to perform abortions. That seems like a pretty reasonable bill. Obviously, my colleague disagrees on that. But he wants to instead bring a bill that dramatically could increase the number of abortions in America.

There used to be a time where we used to talk about abortion being safe, legal, and rare. That doesn't even seem to be in the conversation anymore, and it is just how do we get more.

Planned Parenthood did almost half a million abortions alone. And I know there is a lot of conversation saying they do health screenings and such. They are most known for doing abortions—about a half a million of them. Planned Parenthood does two abortions a minute across the United States—a minute.

The problem is, this Planned Parenthood entity that has $2 billion in income and nearly $2.5 billion in assets is also one that has faced very serious allegations. One of the most recent serious allegations came from the ''far-right'' newspaper the New York Times.

The New York Times, which is not exactly known for being a right-leaning periodical, did an extensive article outlining the problems with Planned Parenthood all across the country. Let me just read to this body part of what the New York Times printed about Planned Parenthood.

They talked about the botched abortions that they have done in New York and the scores of allegations that the New York Times reviewed and the times that they said that Planned Parenthood gave ''poor care.''

Here is another quote from them:

> In a case settled in California last year, a woman accused the organization of improperly implanting a birth control device in her arm and causing nerve damage.
> A Nebraska clinician in 2022 did not realize that a woman was four months pregnant when she inserted an IUD. Several hours later, the patient was rushed to an emergency room and gave birth to a stillborn fetus.
> For months last year at the North Central States affiliate, which oversees the Nebraska clinic, an understaffed nursing department did not upload sexually transmitted infection test results into charts, and patients wrongly believed that their results were negative when they did not hear back.

Not only is Planned Parenthood doing a half a million abortions, but even according to the New York Times, the testing that they are doing and the other work that they are doing, they are botching.

This is how they listed the Omaha Planned Parenthood clinic:

> [S]ewage from a backed-up toilet seeped into the abortion recovery room for two days, according to interviews with staff members and photographs and text messages shared with The Times. Employees shoved exam table pads under the bathroom door to block the leak. Patients vomited from the stench.
> Sewage seeped under the door at a Planned Parenthood facility in Omaha last year.
> [C]linic workers complained that they were learning from inexperienced peers. More than a dozen said they did not receive adequate training for patient intake, blood draws and other tasks.

They go on and on and on. It is a very long article that the New York Times laid in there and talked about how that wealthy donors have stepped in to be able to help fill the gaps but that Planned Parenthood is not using that actually for healthcare; Planned Parenthood is using the money donated to them for their political operation—not patient care.

So when my colleague says that Republicans don't want to provide funding to Planned Parenthood, it is true because of not only their medical records and for what is happening all around the country in these locations, but this has become a political operation more than a healthcare operation.

We have a lot of great—I mean great—federally qualified health centers all around the country that are doing a terrific job taking care of families and women in many places, but they are not specializing in abortion. Planned Parenthood is focused on abortion. And even according to the New York Times, they are not even doing a good job at that.

So, yes, I do oppose this, and I do object to providing more money for an entity that is not taking care of even what it is already doing and is focused on taking the life of children, not protecting the lives of families.

I object.

RELIGIOUS FREEDOMS

Mr. CURTIS. Mr. President, almost 250 years ago, 56 delegates to the Second Continental Congress affixed their signature to the most influential document in the history of human rights: the American Declaration of Independence.

Over succeeding generations, more than 100 other nations would model their own declaration of independence with statements that followed the American pattern of 1776. It proclaimed liberty as an unalienable right in what Walter Isaacson has called ''the greatest sentence ever written.''

Among our unalienable rights, the document declared, are ''Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.'' Defining liberty and giving definition, substance, and legal guarantees of that right has been one of America's greatest ongoing commitments to the betterment of humanity. And at the forefront of that pantheon of liberties the Declaration affirms has been the right to believe and practice religion according to the dictates of our own conscience.

Four decades ago, 160 of 170 international constitutions were modeled, in whole or in part, on the American model. Freedom of religion is guaranteed in principle, if not in fact, in 97 percent of those constitutions.

When the first colonists arrived in the New World, religious freedom existed in theory, like that of John Locke, but not in political practice. Roger Williams founded Rhode Island on the principle of sole conscience in 1636, and 150 years later, in 1786, Thomas Jefferson authored the pioneering Virginia Statute for Religious Freedom:

> Almighty God hath created the mind free and manifested his Supreme will that free it shall remain.

The State legislation he proposed therefore decreed that no person shall ''suffer, on account of his religious opinions or belief; but that all [persons] shall be free to profess . . . their opinions in matters of religion.''

It was a long journey from Jamestown to Plymouth Rock, to that Virginia statute, the U.S. Constitution, and the Bill of Rights.

America has made great progress, but the road has been, at times, harrowing for those people at the margins of our mainstream.

Quakers were hanged in Massachusetts in 1659. Baptists were imprisoned in Virginia in the 1770s. Catholic convents and schools were burned in 1834. My own people, the Latter Day Saints, were mobbed and murdered in Missouri and Illinois in the decade to follow. And Jewish people have been the victims of discrimination and violence from the founding to the present.

One of the lessons to be learned from this history is that you can legislate religious protections but you cannot legislate respect or compassion or bonds of charity. Yet religious freedom hinges on these virtues.

Our public discourse, however, has never tipped so precariously into what Arthur Brooks has called a ''culture of contempt.'' If you think you sense something alarming in the air, the statistics say you are right. A March 2026 Pew survey reveals the distressing fact that Americans view their fellow Americans with more hostility and suspicion than is the case in any democracy surveyed.

The United States is the only place surveyed where more adults describe the morality and ethics of others living in the country as bad, 53 percent, than as good, 47 percent. We can do better. We have to do better.

Yes, as members of this national community, we have the right to espouse our values—religious, moral, or political—without hindrance or constraint. That also means we must accord to others the right to espouse their values without hindrance or constraint.

Religious freedom is distinctly intertwined with pluralism because the free exercise of religion presupposes a mosaic of differing values and other life orientations.

The words ''kindness,'' ''civility,'' and ''charity'' nowhere appear in our Constitution or our Declaration of Independence, whose anniversary we will commemorate next week. That is because those values were presupposed by the Founders.

This grand experiment in democracy required for its organization and requires for its continuation a willingness to build bridges of understanding, as well as defend principles to which we are committed.

Dr. Matthew Holland has written of how civic charity is deeply embedded in our thoughts; John Winthrop, leader of the Massachusetts Bay Colony, of Thomas Jefferson, America's apostle of religious liberty, and of Abraham Lincoln, who so powerfully invoked the better angels of our nature at a time of national crisis.

We will never achieve consensus on the particulars of our religious commitments or our lack of religious commitments, nor should we. Our pluralism is a source of our strength and should be a source of pride.

However, we can honor our founding principles by returning to the particular kind of faith they did have in common: faith in the essential goodness of each other and one another.

The psychologist Jamil Zaki has written: Cynicism is a lack of faith in people. Skepticism is a lack of faith in our assumptions. Charity is the only way whereby we flourish in our differences, even as we work together for a more perfect Union.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Virginia.

WAR POWERS RESOLUTION

Mr. KAINE. Mr. President, in a few minutes, we will move into a series of votes, and one of the votes is a motion to proceed to a resolution that I filed a number of weeks back, an Iran War Powers Resolution.

The current status of that resolution is that, about a month ago, we successfully discharged it from the Committee, and so it is now able to be called up on a motion to proceed.

I want to just inform all of my colleagues that, while I am always going to vote for a motion to proceed to my resolution, the resolution is completely superfluous. It is completely superfluous because both Houses of Congress have now taken the historic step of voting for the first time, under the history of the War Powers Resolution, that the President of the United States cannot restart a war legally unless he asks Congress for permission. That has left the station.

Both Houses—Republican majority—have said it will be illegal for Donald Trump to start back the war against Iran without a vote of Congress.

And so any action on the motion to proceed to my resolution is superfluous because that vote is done, Congress has spoken, and the will of both Houses is now clear.

So I will vote to proceed to my motion, but no one else should feel any stress about this one. Congress has clearly spoken and rebuked the President for starting an illegal war, and said he can't restart it without us.

I yield the floor.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Vermont.

S.J. RES. 196

Mr. SANDERS. Mr. President, in the United States today, 42 million Americans are drowning in $1.7 trillion in student debt—42 million Americans, $1.7 trillion in student debt. Further, a recordbreaking 9 million Americans are now in default on their student loans.

Instead of providing financial relief to these Americans, the Trump administration is about to make a bad situation even worse.

As we all know, President Trump's so-called Big Beautiful Bill—to my mind the worst piece of legislation passed in modern history—made the largest cut to education in the history of the United States in order to pay for the largest tax breaks for billionaires in American history. Not only did we throw 15 million people off the healthcare they had; we devastated Federal funding for education.

If Congress allows these education cuts to take effect, beginning on July 1, just 6 days from now, 7 million Americans will be thrown off of their low-cost student loan repayment plan, known as the SAVE plan and into a much more expensive plan.

What does that mean in real terms? It means that the average college graduate will be forced to pay $4,000 more each year on their student loan payments, about $244 a month.

At a time when tens of millions of Americans—working-class Americans—are struggling to pay for the outrageous cost of housing, groceries, prescription drugs, healthcare, and other basic necessities, the last thing in the world we should be doing is driving up the cost of student loans by $4,000 for the average student loan borrower in America.

It has been estimated that if these cuts go into effect, one out of every four student loan borrowers will be in default by the end of this summer.

So what does it mean to be in default? It means that workers could have their wages garnished to pay back their student loans. They can't pay their student loans because they are not earning enough money, and then they get their wages garnished and it will be an even worse situation.

It means that seniors who took out student loans for themselves—and I know many people don't appreciate it. They are thinking about student loans, and they are thinking about young people. Well, guess what. There are grandparents who are still paying off their student loans. And it means that these people or their family members could have their Social Security checks garnished.

Imagine going to college, paying off a student debt for 30 or 40 years, and you can't continue to do it; and they are going to take your Social Security payment. In my view, that is unconscionable. We cannot allow that to happen.

And that is why I am very proud to cosponsor S.J. Res. 196, which we will be voting on this evening. And I want to thank Senator MERKLEY for his outstanding work on this issue. This resolution would ensure that millions of Americans are not forced to pay thousands of dollars more each year on their student loans.

Two weeks ago, I held a roundtable with four student loan borrowers from across the country who shared their stories about the struggles they are having with their student loan debt.

I spoke with a gentleman named Jordan, from my own State of Vermont, who is a veteran and a father of two young boys. He was told that his student loan payment will increase to $1,300 per month after July 1. And other Members who talked with me had very similar stories.

Geraldine, who is 71 years of age, has student loan debt from when she went to college in the 1980s, and decades later, she is still struggling with student loan debt. Geraldine is retired and on a fixed income, and she was told her payments will be over $500 a month after July 1.

And on and on it goes.

If Congress does not pass this resolution today, working-class people all across this country will be priced out of necessary graduate training in programs like nursing, medicine, dentistry, and social work because of new restrictive arbitrary loan limits. What this means is that working-class students will either be unable to get the education they need or they will be forced to take out loans from predatory lenders that charge interest rates as high as 26 percent.

Now, at a time when we desperately need nurses and other healthcare professionals, how insane is it to force students to pay interest rates as high as 26 percent in order to do the important work we desperately need?

At a time when we have a shortage of nurses, doctors, and dentists in this country, it has been estimated that 21 percent of nursing students, more than half of medical students, and three-quarters of dental students will be priced out of a degree altogether.

In my own State of Vermont, 40 percent of students pursuing graduate education will exceed the new loan limits and will be forced to resort to private loans to make up the difference. In the richest country in the history of the world, no one should be saddled with a lifetime of debt for the crime of getting an education.

No American should enter retirement with the burden of student loan debt or be pushed into default because they can't afford their payments.

So let us prevent student loan payments from going up by an average of $4,000 for 7 million Americans. Let us prevent working-class students from being priced out of pursuing degrees in nursing, medicine, and dentistry.

I urge my colleagues to vote yes on this resolution.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Oregon.

Mr. MERKLEY. Mr. President, I want to make a few remarks now about the Congressional Review Act vote we will be taking later tonight.

And here is the thing. This is so straightforward, in terms of, here in the United States of America, pursuit of an education to serve the people of this country should never be a privilege reserved only for the wealthiest Americans.

Indeed, don't we want every child to have the opportunity to thrive, to get a graduate degree, to get a professional degree, to be able to serve in the many capacities where we are desperately short of individuals? Of course we do.

And this is something very near and dear to my heart because I am a blue-collar kid, and my father said, when I was in grade school: Go to the doors of the schoolhouse. You go through those doors, and you study hard, and you can do just about anything in America, because we are so fortunate to live in America.

That is a beautiful idea—that every child has the opportunity to pursue their dreams, and if that requires a college education, to be able to pay for a college education without a millstone of debt around their neck or just the actual impossibilities of having access to enough funds to pay tuition.

So I pursued that vision. And my interest did take me to college. And I did borrow money, and I did get scholarship, and I did wash dishes, year after year, in order to help get through.

But that journey is becoming so much harder now, when college is so much more expensive. When I got out of high school, if you worked a minimum-wage job, the summer of 1974, at $3 an hour, you could save enough money, living at home, to pay the tuition for a public university in my home State of Oregon.

Or you might still have to work in order to, well, have a room to live in and have food to eat. But you could pay the tuition.

And now it is completely out of sync. You cannot save enough on minimum wage, which is still only, you know, in many States, only $7.50, or half that if you have a job that has tips, in many States. There is no way you can pay your tuition.

And so shouldn't we all be working to make it easier for children to actually get the expertise that we need in our services, in our economy? But, indeed, we are going in the other direction.

I have often spoken about how I feel the Big Beautiful Bill, as Trump called it, hurt Americans along the way, kicking millions of Americans off of health insurance and gutting nutrition and slashing funding for higher education. Why?

But now we have something else, which is a rule from the Trump administration that will make it very hard for ordinary children coming from modest means—families of modest means or very restricted income—to be able to go on to college and to go to graduate school.

In fact, that bill—that Big Beautiful Bill, as Trump called it—eliminated the Grad PLUS loans, which allowed students to borrow the full amount of their program, and replaced those loans with two categories. A graduate degree student is limited to borrowing $20,500 a year and up to $100,000 in total.

So that restriction—a graduate degree student—whom does that apply to? Well, it applies to nurses, to social workers, to physician associates, to teachers, to engineers, to physical therapists, and to many other categories.

And so those professions are told: You can only borrow $20,500 a year.

So what does that mean? It means that since tuition is often much higher than $20,500—and then throw in the dormitory and throw in the food—well, you are talking $40,000 a year.

There is a survey from the American Association of Colleges of Nursing, which reports the average cost of a nursing program is $38,500 a year—the average cost—so often over $40,000.

So what is the effect of putting this limit of $20,500? Well, this is a gift to the predatory lenders. Now, one friend of my son's, well, she had 6 percent loans that were the government loans, and then she had to get private loans. What was the interest rate on that? It was 11 percent.

We are basically saying: Hey, if you are wealthy and your parents can pay your tuition and your dormitory and your food, hey, you are golden. The avenue of opportunity is for you.

But if you are from a family that doesn't have the ability to pay that cash and you have to borrow, we are going to force you to borrow loans that are 9, 10, 11, 12 percent because we don't want that avenue of opportunity for you. We only want it for the rich kids.

This is a rule for rich America, and this is a penalty against normal people. That is wrong. I thought this democracy was supposed to be of, by, and for the people, not special, gold-plated avenues for the kids of the richest families.

And I know that this Chamber is full of multimillionaires—maybe a few billionaires—who don't know the darnedest thing about how families struggle across this Nation and how much they want their kids to have opportunity too.

So this is very simple. Let's reject this rule that puts up a huge barrier for the children of families of modest means and medium incomes or low incomes. Let's knock down that barrier. Let's not force them into predatory lending.

Now, there are some who say: But wait. We think that the schools will lower their tuition as a result of us making loans unavailable.

That is a false premise. Never worked anywhere because the schools have to pay the professors. They have to pay for the infrastructure. They have to pay interest on the buildings they have already built. And so they have to charge accordingly.

When we saw before—and we have been down this road—when there was a limit on public loans and people had to go to private loans—like the friend of my son—you end up with those 10, 11, 12 percent interest loans. They are predatory against our children of the next generation.

So who here wants to speak up for the rich to be the only ones with opportunity in this country? Let's strike down this rule and say to the President's team: When this bill was passed, no one in this Chamber meant to say that opportunity is only for the wealthy kids.

This is our opportunity. It is a Congressional Review Act. It means we can say no to a rule that puts up a hurdle to ordinary children.

So it isn't as if everything is rosy for the children of the next generation—hey, housing prices, up through the roof. Home ownership median age has risen from 33 to age 40 over just a 5-year period because the next generation can't afford to buy a home. Rents are pressing people against the wall. Tariffs have added so much cost to the families.

Why are we going to pile this predatory loan program on top of everything else? It is absolutely wrong. So let's just join together and say: Let's put this rule in the rubbish bin. Let's put it through the shredder because it only hurts the next generation that we should be striving to help thrive.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senator from Louisiana.

Mr. CASSIDY. Mr. President, it is really kind of interesting. A couple of years ago, we were talking about student loan debt. Colleges were saddling students with student loan debt, forcing them to live in their parents' basement because they couldn't pay back those loans.

If you look to the people taking these loans, they may not have completed their degree, or the degree they got paid them less in a year than the annual tuition they were forced to pay. And, of course, that tuition—paid for by borrowed Federal money—compounded interest, leaving them mired in debt.

It is a false compassion to say that every person should be able to borrow as much as they want from the Federal Government, to go to the school, whatever the school charges. That is a false compassion.

Republicans are not about false compassion. We are about allowing Americans to live the American dream, but that is not by saddling them with debt like a weight around their neck, pulling them into a pool of debt from which their whole life is affected.

It is pretty clear. The cost of higher education is out of control. And that is, in part, because of Federal lending programs that will allow students to borrow whatever they wanted to—almost. And so universities raise their tuition to maximize income, not to maximize value, but to maximize income.

By the way, a 2023 National Bureau of Economic Research study found that uncapped Federal borrowing for graduate programs did not increase access or degree attainment.

Think about this: Oh, we can give much, much, much more money, but the NBER found that giving as much money as they wanted did not increase access and did not increase degree attainment.

You know what it did increase? Student loan debt. That is what it increased because the universities making profit off of that really, ultimately, were not left holding the bag. It was the student and the U.S. taxpayer who were left holding the bag.

Colleges could increase their prices—the higher the cost, the bigger the loan. The kid drops out. He doesn't graduate. He can't pay back the loan. The taxpayer picks it up. The person is saddled with debt, but the college has the money.

Now, by the way, putting Americans more and more in debt, while colleges raise tuition, only makes the affordability crisis worse.

In August, Republicans put an end to this nonsense, and we passed the Working Families Tax Cut bill. We addressed the root cause of rising costs. We put limits on Federal loans for professional degrees.

As a result, there are universities already lowering their costs. Last fall, Santa Clara University cut law school tuition by $16,000, citing loan limits the Senate Republicans enacted as a catalyst. Think about that: Law schools are 3 years. Mr. President, 3 times 16, we got $48,000 less in borrowing in a response to the legislation that we passed.

UC Irvine recently announced cutting tuition for their MBA program by 38 percent for the upcoming fall semester.

Now, unfortunately, the resolution offered by my friend from Oregon undermines this success. And the claim is that this merely corrects a rule put forward by the Trump administration that limits access to taxpayer-funded loans for certain professions.

That is not true. This resolution would nullify the Department of Education's regulation for implementing all student loan reforms enacted in the reconciliation as part of the Working Families Tax Cut bill. Every part of it is going to be nullified.

A vote for this CRA undermines the $284 billion in savings for the U.S. taxpayer. A vote for this CRA is a vote to undermine changes that are already reducing the cost of higher education.

A vote for this is a vote to allow the student to borrow as much as she wants to in response to a tuition skyrocketing and to land her into a hell of student loan debt that she can never escape.

A vote for this is to go back to the Biden approach to student loans, rather than the historic reforms passed by congressional Republicans and signed into law by President Trump.

Now, by the way, there is a nuance here. If you are thinking about voting for this resolution because you have concerns about how professional degrees have been defined in the rule, we should talk. I am happy to have that because, frankly, I have some concerns about that. And so let's see if we can actually address that in an appropriate way, not in a blunt axe way.

That debate is a separate, targeted conversation, not fit for an overly broad CRA. For example, let's address the criticism that nurses and social workers are excluded from professional degrees.

Now, I am going to be clear. I am a doc. I worked with nurses. They are professionals. They are right up there with me because I have been—at 3 in the morning—taking care of sick patients vomiting blood. I know the professionalism that nurses bring to their care—similarly for social workers. So no one doubts that they are professionals. No one doubts that they are essential to the health system.

But this debate is a debate about certain degrees that are required for entrance into the profession and require longer lengths of study than graduate-level programs. And based on those factors, should you be able to borrow up to $200,000 in taxpayer-backed Federal loan programs to pay for a degree?

More importantly, do you have a realistic ability to pay back that loan? If someone does not have a realistic ability to pay back the loan, then the university should not be charging that much.

By the way, most nursing students—95 percent of them—borrow less than $100,000 to complete their degree. That is below the borrowing limit Congress established in the Working Families Tax Cut.

The 5 percent of nursing students borrowing more than $100,000 choose to take on that debt. They choose a more expensive option. Clearly, since 95 percent don't need to borrow that much, there are other options, and not all nurses need federally backed loans up to $200,000 in order to get their degree.

So, is my colleague suggesting that taxpayers subsidize the 5 percent of nursing students, regardless of their ability to pay back the loan? I don't think that is fair to them.

If there are limited number—and this is important—if there is a limited number of targeted subspecialties in professions—I think of a CRNA—that are inadvertently and inappropriately excluded by this rule, let's have a conversation. Let's measure their ability to pay back such a large loan and if that loan and the degree it pays for is necessary for their professional subspecialty. And, importantly, can they pay it back?

CRNAs do well. I personally think we should have a higher loan limit for them—that is one example—because they are going to do well financially. And to the point, it could be more expensive for them to have their training.

That is, if you will, a nuanced approach, looking at a group of people for which we know the facts. But that is not what this CRA does. It guts all reforms and sends us back to the Biden administration student loan disaster.

There are bipartisan efforts on my committee to make college more affordable for students, families, and taxpayers. I am leading the College Transparency Act, the CTA, which allows students to compare the differences between a college that they go to, and the major within that college, to see the value of the degree relative to the price of admission.

I ask my Democratic colleagues to work with us to advance these bipartisan solutions, not to push partisan resolutions that raise the cost of college and bury students with debt.

I urge my colleagues to oppose this effort.

The PRESIDING OFFICER (Mr. RICKETTS). The Senator from Oregon.

Mr. MERKLEY. Will my colleague yield to a question?

Mr. CASSIDY. Yes, sir.

Mr. MERKLEY. I believe I understood you to say that you are citing a university that has lowered its tuition.

Did I understand that correctly?

Mr. CASSIDY. Correct.

Mr. MERKLEY. Which university was that?

Mr. CASSIDY. I think it was Santa Clara. I have to go back to my notes. I think it was Santa Clara.

Mr. MERKLEY. Is that a private or public school?

Mr. CASSIDY. I don't know if the University of Santa Clara is private or public.

Mr. MERKLEY. So here is the thing. There are 4,000 universities in the country. Do you have any idea how many have followed that example and lowered their tuition?

Mr. CASSIDY. I don't know how many have, but the bill has just passed. And I do know that market reforms permeate society.

And as a student realizes, I can go to the community college down the street and get a nursing degree and pay for it entirely with a small amount of money, or I can go someplace far more expensive and have to borrow $100,000—in the case of the previous law, $200,000—that market forces—and, particularly, if we put in the College Transparency Act—will have that individual go to one where they get the better value for their education. That, I am positive of.

Mr. MERKLEY. My colleague has got it completely wrong. There are less expensive ways to get a nursing degree. Indeed, my wife is a nurse, and she got her 2-year nursing degree at a community college. We were very, very fortunate to get even some scholarships to help her do that at a time when our income was extremely little.

But here is the thing: There aren't very many slots like that. With the 4-year programs that are throughout Oregon at private universities, you can't come close to paying your annual expenses at $20,500. We need a lot more nursing slots because there are a lot of folks who are coming out of high school with straight A's. They can do the statistics, and they can do all the prerequisites, but there just aren't enough slots. So we are wrestling with the fact that we are importing a lot of nurses from overseas rather than providing opportunities for our kids.

What this means is, yes, you are right. There are some ways to get a nursing degree—a 2-year degree in particular—that are less, but most folks have to do another 2 years because now hospitals won't take a 2-year nurse. They often have to go to a private program, and those programs average $38,500 a year.

The math is simple. For the families like the family I come from, wherein you have to borrow, borrowing at 6 percent is a hell of a lot better than borrowing at 11 percent. With the rich, their families have home equity loans. If they are going to borrow, they borrow at 6. So we are saying: Here is this big obstacle for ordinary people who don't have parents who are affluent.

It is just the math.

The idea that all of those programs are going to be able to lower their $38,500, on average—many are much more—to $20,500 is just false. There may be one or two universities that have lowered it, and by the way, they did it in anticipation—and maybe for different reasons—because this hasn't gone into effect yet. It is going into effect a few days from now. That is why we are talking about this now. It is going to affect folks who are going to school next year. So this is very disturbing to me that we are creating this obstacle for families who need help.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The clerk will call the roll.

The senior assistant legislative clerk proceeded to call the roll.

Mr. THUNE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the order for the quorum call be rescinded.

IRAN

Mr. DURBIN. Mr. President, I want to take a moment to reflect on the costs of war. The heaviest burden is always paid by those who serve. In the President's war of choice against Iran, 13 American servicemembers have lost their lives, their families forever affected.

The damage to the global economy and the American economy also has been staggering. Energy prices and commodity prices worldwide have skyrocketed, worsening global poverty and food insecurity rates. At home, gas prices rose to an average of $4.56 a gallon, the highest we have seen in 4 years. Mortgage rates jumped, and operating expenses surged for American farmers.

Moody's Analytics put the total U.S. cost at $132 billion when factoring in military spending, rising prices, and interest rates. Every dollar spent on war is 1 less dollar to improve healthcare or repair our roads.

Here is another cost associated with the Iran war: $29 billion. That is the estimate that Pentagon officials shared during a Senate Appropriations Defense Subcommittee hearing last month. That figure includes only short-term operational expenses and the costs associated with replenishing some munitions. However, it does not include the heavy cost required to repair or rebuild U.S. military bases and facilities in the Middle East that sustained damage from Iranian retaliatory strikes. And every service Secretary has come to Congress to tell us they are running out of money and will need to delay critical training for troops, defer maintenance on military bases, and pause duty station changes.

Yet, while Pentagon officials testified before Congress that the war apparently only cost $29 billion, they were reportedly putting together a supplemental request for upwards of $80 billion. That is on top of the $1.5 trillion that the President has requested for the national defense budget for fiscal year 2027, at least $350 billion of which the President hopes will come from yet another partisan reconciliation bill.

Can you imagine? $1.5 trillion, with a t, for the national defense budget—a 50-percent increase over current funding levels. Has the Pentagon provided Congress with a detailed accounting of its expenses and needs associated with the cost of the Iran war? No. Do we know what will be in the Pentagon's supplemental request? No. Do we know when we will see a supplemental request? No. Will a reconciliation bill include strict financial guardrails for the Department of Defense? If it is anything like the $150 billion that DOD received from the majority last year, probably not. I, for one, am not interested in giving the President a blank check, especially when he threatens further strikes against Iran one day, then touts a supposed peace deal the next.

Here is one more dollar figure I would like to point out: $300 billion. That is the figure tied to a reconstruction fund that President Trump has apparently promised to Iran under the terms of the preliminary agreement he signed last week. This funding is apparently what is needed to help Iran rebuild its economy after the war—but the details are murky.

Who will provide this funding? Will it be the American taxpayers left holding the bag after the President's failed war? Unclear.

Will there be any constraints on how Iran can use this funding? Can they use it to reconstitute their military? Unclear.

What mechanism will there be for oversight of the fund? Also unclear.

Can you imagine the howls of outrage if President Obama, while negotiating the JCPOA, promised Iran $300 billion in reconstruction funds? Under the JCPOA, economic relief for Iran was provided through certain sanctions waivers and access to its own previously frozen foreign assets. President Obama faced significant scrutiny from my colleagues on the other side of the aisle on the release of those Iranian funds.

I recall many distortions about a $1.7 billion payment at the time, including bogus claims that the United States was paying out for prisoner releases when, in reality, we were clearing up a decades-old legal settlement that had nothing to do with the JCPOA. Less than $2 billion seems like pennies relative to the $300 billion promise made by President Trump to the Iranians today.

Already this week, the Trump administration issued sweeping oil sanctions waivers, unlocking billions in new revenue for Tehran. And apparently, the U.S. is working with Qatar to free up billions of dollars in frozen assets available for Iran. These financial incentives for an adversary before we have compliance are remarkable.

Ultimately, I hope my colleagues reassert Congress' constitutional responsibilities when it comes to the war against Iran.

I am glad that the Senate adopted a resolution instructing the President to end the war yesterday, and I hope when it comes to the national budget or any supplemental request, we will uphold our power of the purse.

I also look forward to reviewing any final nuclear agreement with Iran as required under the Iran Nuclear Agreement Review Act.

Anything less is an abdication of our duties as Members of Congress.

ARMS SALES NOTIFICATION

Mr. RISCH. Mr. President, section 36(b) of the Arms Export Control Act requires that Congress receive prior notification of certain proposed arms sales as defined by that statute. Upon such notification, the Congress has 30 calendar days during which the sale may be reviewed. The provision stipulates that, in the Senate, the notification of proposed sales shall be sent to the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

In keeping with the committee's intention to see that relevant information is still available to the full Senate, I ask unanimous consent to have printed in the RECORD the notifications that have been received. If the cover letter references a classified annex, then such an annex is available to all Senators in the office of the Foreign Relations Committee, room SD–423.

There being no objection, the material was ordered to be printed in the RECORD, as follows:

REMEMBERING GORDON S. WOOD

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I rise today to pay tribute to Dr. Gordon S. Wood, esteemed scholar and historian whose notable works examined and guided our understanding of the ideals that birthed and gave rise to the early American Republic.

Born in 1933 in Concord, MA, site of the earliest skirmishes of the American Revolution, Gordon Wood's interest in early American history seems almost inevitable. Dr. Wood attended Tufts University; after earning his degree, he served in the U.S. Air Force in Japan. He earned his master of arts and Ph.D. in history at Harvard University. In 1969, the same year he began his illustrious career at Brown University in Providence, RI, he published his seminal work, ''The Creation of the American Republic, 1776–1787,'' which received the prestigious Bancroft Prize.

Throughout his career, Dr. Wood authored 10 books, including ''The Radicalism of the American Revolution,'' which was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for History. It was this achievement that, perhaps, most forcefully launched him from the realm of academia into the world of public humanities. Dr. Wood's work analyzed how the Colonists' rejection of British monarchy radically shaped not only self-governance, but also the ways in which their nascent ideas of liberty and equality wove themselves into every facet of American society, politics, and culture.

In their brazen embrace of such radical notions, the Colonists transformed from King's subjects to citizens of a modern, democratic republic.

For 40 years at Brown University, Gordon Wood was a devoted teacher and humanist, a brilliant lecturer, and a mentor who engaged generations of students and critical thinkers. He supported new perspectives and historical analysis, welcomed discussion and debate. In recognition of his vigorous scholarship and vast contributions to the humanistic disciplines, President Obama presented Dr. Wood with the 2010 National Humanities Medal.

After retiring in 2008, he continued to research, write, and lecture widely. He held the prestigious title of Alva O. Way University Professor and Professor of History Emeritus at Brown University. Dr. Wood remained steadfast about the centrality of these revolutionary beliefs: liberty and equality, born out of the Enlightenment, boldly propelled early Americans to democratic republicanism and independence.

Today, these beliefs still sit at the very core of this great experiment in democracy.

Sadly, Dr. Wood passed away on June 7 at the age of 92. He was but weeks away from receiving a very special accolade on behalf of Brown University's semiquincentennial initiative—Brown 2026—for ''his unparalleled contributions to history and to education.'' Indeed, Dr. Wood's scholarship has added tremendous depth to our understanding of the ideas behind the founding of our Nation, which we will be celebrating with great fanfare in a few short days.

I want to join the Brown University community and a long list of colleagues, former students, and friends in extending my condolences to Dr. Wood's wife Louise, his children, and grandchildren. His kindness, humility, intellect, wisdom, and generous mentorship influenced countless people, and his legacy will live on to enrich and remind us of the hopeful potential that was and is America.

Gordon Wood will be rightfully remembered as one of the great scholars of American history. Today, I also ask that you remember him as a great American.

REMEMBERING JOHN J.H. SCHWARZ, M.D.

Mr. PETERS. Mr. President, I rise today to pay special tribute to former Congressman John Joseph Henry ''Joe'' Schwarz, M.D., my friend, veteran, physician, and dedicated public servant, who passed away on May 27, 2026.

Born and raised in Battle Creek, MI, Congressman Schwarz's journey was defined early on by excellence in leadership, athletics, and service. At Battle Creek Central High School, he was elected as the class of 1955 president and earned varsity letters in football, baseball, and swimming. He went on to attend the University of Michigan, where he earned a degree in history in 1959. While at U of M, he participated in football, men's glee club, and was a lifelong member of the Theta Theta Chapter of the Sigma Chi Fraternity. He earned his medical degree in 1964 from Wayne State University.

Before being elected to public office, Congressman Schwarz served in the U.S. Navy, where he was the battalion surgeon for the 2nd Battalion, 1st Marine Regiment in Vietnam and Southeast Asia and later as assistant naval attaché to Indonesia. He also worked with the Central Intelligence Agency to help locate prisoners of war. In 1974, he returned home to Battle Creek with his wife Anne and daughter Brennan and entered private medical practice.

His commitment to public service began as a city commissioner and later mayor of Battle Creek, before being elected to serve 16 years in the Michigan Senate. Congressman Schwarz faithfully served the people of Michigan's former 7th Congressional District from 2005 to 2007. During his term in the House of Representatives, he earned a reputation as a principled decision maker, a tireless advocate for his constituents, and a respected colleague on both sides of the aisle.

Even after leaving Congress, Joe remained deeply engaged in public life and his counsel was sought by leaders across the State of Michigan. He served as a trustee of the University of Olivet, a member of the university bank board and the Kellogg Community College Foundation Board, and on the Michigan Legislative Retirement Board, the Purple Rose Theatre Company Board, and the Brass Band of Battle Creek Board. He was a past president of the Calhoun County Medical Society and on the board of the Michigan State Medical Society.

My thoughts and prayers are with his family and all who mourn his loss. While we grieve his passing, we also celebrate a life well lived and a legacy of service that will endure for generations.

I ask the Senate to join me in honoring the life of former Congressman John J.H. ''Joe'' Schwarz, M.D. for his decades of service to the Battle Creek community, the State of Michigan, and our Nation.

ADDITIONAL STATEMENTS

TRIBUTE TO COMMANDER JOHN ''JACK'' HOLLAND, USN (RET.)

● Mr. BUDD. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize a patriot and veteran, retired U.S. Navy Commander John ''Jack'' Holland.

Mr. Holland's passion for flying came from joining the naval aviation program following his last semester of college. He received his Navy wings a year and a half later and began an illustrious career as a pilot at Naval Air Station Miramar just outside of San Diego. His first orders were to join an attack squadron flying a Douglas AD Skyraider.

Over the next 23 years, Mr. Holland transitioned to jets and completed eight aircraft carrier deployments to the Western Pacific, including five deployments to Vietnam. A notable position of honor was serving as the Navy Seventh Fleet Liaison Officer with the U.S. Air Force at Tan Son Nhut Air Base in Saigon. Mr. Holland last served as the commanding officer of a Navy Fighter Aggressor Squadron at Naval Air Station Oceana in Virginia Beach.

After retirement from the U.S. Navy in 1978, Mr. Holland's contributions and passion for flying continued with his service as an engineering consultant for a Navy contractor at the Naval Weapons Center in China Lake, CA. During his service, he was responsible for developing the software management plan for the Navy's F/A–18 Hornet aircraft and other strategic missile programs.

On July 8, 2026, at 91, Mr. Holland is returning to First Flight Airport and the Wright Brothers National Memorial to commemorate his years of service as a Navy pilot. He will arrive as a passenger, scale Big Kill Devil Hill, walk to the First Flight Boulder, and recall the views from the aircraft that flew over the same ground revered by this great Nation. Join me in saluting Mr. Holland, not only for his faithful service to this country, but for his return visit to First Flight.●

TRIBUTE TO COLONEL WILLIAM BRYAN ANNIE

● Mr. JUSTICE. Mr. President, I rise to acknowledge Col. William Bryan Annie, who is retiring on July 1, 2026, after more than 30 years of military service to our country and the great State of West Virginia.

Colonel Annie grew up in Kanawha County, and in October 1995, he put on a uniform for the first time, joining the 130th Security Forces Squadron of the West Virginia Air National Guard. While serving, he pursued his education, earning a bachelor of science in 1999 and completing airman's leadership school. At that time, he had risen to the rank of staff sergeant, and in 2000, he attended the Academy of Military Science where he then commissioned as a second lieutenant. Colonel Annie wore the bars and then the oak leaves and eventually the eagle of a full colonel—pinned on June 3, 2020—a promotion that capped an arc of relentless growth and deep responsibility.

Colonel Annie's career in uniform transcended national borders and demanded mastery of nearly every facet of Air Force support operations. He completed several overseas missions, including to South Korea for Operation Team Spirit and Operation Foal Eagle. In immediate response to the attacks on September 11, 2001, Colonel Annie mobilized for Operation Noble Eagle. In 2009, he deployed to Baghdad as a Coalition Joint Plans Officer with Multi-National Force Iraq, serving in support of Operation Iraqi Freedom. Throughout his career, he served as a Transportation Officer, Logistics Readiness Officer, and as a Plans Officer. No matter the time, the place, or the task, Colonel Annie dedicated his life to our great Nation.

After returning from Iraq, Colonel Annie took on installation and security responsibilities at the State headquarters level, then moved into command. As the Force Support Squadron commander of the 167th Airlift Wing in Martinsburg, a strategic airlift unit flying the C–17A Globemaster III, he was responsible for the morale, welfare, and readiness of hundreds of airmen and their families. He then commanded the 167th Mission Support Group, overseeing the broad infrastructure of the wing before being selected as deputy wing commander, where he helped guide more than 1,100 military members in training and worldwide missions. His command career was defined by steadiness, accountability, and genuine care for the people under his charge.

Colonel Annie received extensive decorations for his service: a Defense Meritorious Service Medal, a Meritorious Service Medal with five oakleaf clusters, Air Force and Army Commendation Medals, a Combat Action Medal, the Armed Forces Service Medal with six service stars, the NATO Medal with a service star. He also received State awards from West Virginia to fill an additional column, including the Distinguished Unit Awards, Emergency Service Ribbons, and Commendation Medals. Taken together, they are not merely a collection of ribbons, but a map of a life lived wherever the mission required, doing whatever the mission demanded.

Colonel Annie is a West Virginian in the deepest sense—rooted in his community, committed to its people, and unwilling to mistake rank or recognition for purpose. He was a soldier-scholar, a commander-servant, and by every measure, the kind of officer the institution of the West Virginia National Guard was built to produce. His leadership in the military organization will be felt for many years to come, as well as his positive impact on the many, many lives he changed for the better. I express my sincerest gratitude for Colonel Annie's service and patriotism, and I send my best wishes for his health and happiness in retirement.●

RECOGNIZING THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE NATIONAL CHERRY FESTIVAL IN TRAVERSE CITY, MICHIGAN

● Mr. PETERS. Mr. President, I rise today to recognize the 100th anniversary of the National Cherry Festival in Traverse City, MI.

Traverse City is known as the Cherry Capital of the World for good reason. More than 70 percent of the Nation's tart cherries are grown in the Grand Traverse region, and for a century, this remarkable harvest has been celebrated through a festival that honors both the quality of the crop and the hard-working people who produce it.

The inaugural Cherry Festival was held in 1926, though celebrations of the cherry harvest date back even earlier. In the 1910s, local growers gathered for an informal event known as the Blessing of the Blossoms, laying the foundation for what would become one of Michigan's most beloved traditions. Over the past century, the festival has grown from a modest 3-day event into an 8-day celebration of the dedication, resilience, and community spirit that define the Grand Traverse region.

The National Cherry Festival is no small spectacle. Each year, hundreds of thousands of visitors travel to Traverse City to take part in cherished traditions, from the crowning of the Cherry Queen to the breathtaking performances of the Blue Angels over Grand Traverse Bay. The festival has also welcomed notable guests throughout its history, including three Presidents. In 1925, a giant cherry pie was presented to President Calvin Coolidge; in 1929, President Herbert Hoover attended the opening-day ceremony; and in 1975, President Gerald Ford proudly served as grand marshal of the Cherry Royale Parade.

Yet the National Cherry Festival is about far more than celebrating a bountiful harvest. It is a tribute to the growers, families, businesses, and volunteers whose efforts sustain both the festival and the broader community. Thousands of volunteer hours are dedicated each year to preserving its traditions and creating memorable experiences for residents and visitors alike. Their commitment has helped make the festival a lasting symbol of civic pride and community engagement.

For generations, the National Cherry Festival has created cherished summer memories for families from Michigan and across the Nation. Today, it remains as important to the Grand Traverse region as it was at its founding a century ago. As the festival celebrates this historic milestone, I congratulate its organizers, volunteers, growers, and supporters for carrying forward a tradition that showcases the very best of Michigan.

I ask the Senate to join me in celebrating the National Cherry Festival as it marks its 100th anniversary. For a century, this iconic Michigan tradition has honored the growers and communities whose dedication has made the Grand Traverse region a leader in cherry production and a source of pride for our State. May the festival continue to strengthen community ties, celebrate Michigan's agricultural heritage, and bring joy to future generations for another hundred years.●

''(B) DEADLINE FOR REVIEW.—A court shall issue a final decision on an appeal filed under subparagraph (A)—

''(i) as expeditiously as practicable; and

''(ii) not later than the date that is 180 days after the date on which the appeal is filed.

''(e) NO EFFECT ON REVIEW OF COMPLIANCE WITH OTHER DEADLINES.—Nothing in this section affects the right to obtain review under section 107(g)(6).''.

SUBMITTED RESOLUTIONS

SENATE RESOLUTION 787—CELEBRATING THE HISTORIC ANNIVERSARY OF THE JUNE 24, 2022, DECISION OF THE SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES IN DOBBS V. JACKSON WOMEN'S HEALTH ORGANIZATION

Mr. DAINES (for himself, Mr. LANKFORD, Mr. MARSHALL, Mr. TUBERVILLE, Mr. BUDD, Mr. RICKETTS, Mr. HAWLEY, Mrs. HYDE-SMITH, Mr. RISCH, Mrs. BRITT, Mr. CORNYN, Mrs. FISCHER, Mr. GRAHAM, Mr. ROUNDS, Mr. SCOTT of Florida, and Mr. BANKS) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

S. RES. 787

Whereas the Declaration of Independence announces the self-evident truth that ''all men are created equal'' and ''are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights'';

Whereas the first of those unalienable rights is the right to life;

Whereas modern science has illuminated our understanding of the humanity of unborn life;

Whereas the Supreme Court of the United States committed a grave injustice in Roe v. Wade, 410 U.S. 113 (1973) (referred to in this preamble as ''Roe''), by inventing a constitutional right to abortion, thereby denying a class of innocent people their right to life;

Whereas more than 63,000,000 unborn lives were lost to abortion under Roe;

Whereas, on June 24, 2022, the Supreme Court of the United States, in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization, 597 U.S. 215 (2022) (referred to in this preamble as ''Dobbs''), corrected the grave injustice committed in Roe, by holding that ''the Constitution does not confer a right to abortion'' and that ''Roe and Casey must be overruled, and the authority to regulate abortion must be returned to the people and their elected representatives'';

Whereas many States have taken historic steps to protect unborn life since the ruling of the Supreme Court of the United States in Dobbs;

Whereas the Supreme Court of the United States in Dobbs reaffirmed that authority to regulate abortion belongs to the people and their elected representatives, yet the dangerous mail-order abortion drug policy advanced by the Biden Administration undermined and continues to undermine the ability of States to enforce laws enacted to protect unborn life;

Whereas, after the Dobbs decision, more than 2,700 pregnancy centers across the United States have continued to help meet the physical, psychological, emotional, and spiritual needs of millions of women and families navigating pregnancy and to offer life-affirming alternatives to abortion; and

Whereas many millions of people in the United States continue to press to protect unborn life and strengthen support for families charged with protecting that life: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) commemorates 4 years since the ruling of the Supreme Court of the United States in Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization, 597 U.S. 215 (2022) (referred to in this resolution as ''Dobbs'');

(2) celebrates the millions of lives that will be saved as a result of the ruling in Dobbs;

(3) commits to protecting the unalienable right to life and guarding unborn lives against lethal violence;

(4) commits to supporting families, including new and expectant mothers and their children;

(5) recognizes that the promise of Dobbs requires respect for the authority of the people and their elected representatives to enact and enforce laws protecting unborn life; and

(6) commits to proclaiming the humanity of the unborn, consistent with the findings of modern science and the unswerving demands of justice.

SENATE RESOLUTION 788—COMMEMORATING THE PASSAGE OF 5 YEARS SINCE THE TRAGIC BUILDING COLLAPSE IN SURFSIDE, FLORIDA, ON JUNE 24, 2021

Mr. SCOTT of Florida (for himself and Mrs. MOODY) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

S. RES. 788

Whereas June 24, 2026, marks 5 years since portions of the Champlain Towers South condominium building in Surfside, Florida, catastrophically collapsed; and

Whereas, in the aftermath of the devastating collapse—

(1) one of the largest rescue and recovery operations in the history of the United States commenced to locate scores of residents who were unaccounted for and believed to be in the collapsed building;

(2) first responders from across Florida immediately answered the call of duty, including firefighters, uniformed police officers, rescue and recovery crews, emergency medical technicians, physicians, nurses, and others rushing to save the lives of individuals trapped in the building;

(3) international rescue crews and emergency support organizations from Israel and Mexico responded to the site to aid in the search and recovery efforts;

(4) National Urban Search and Rescue Response System task forces from Florida, Virginia, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey, and emergency specialists from California, deployed to Surfside, Florida, to provide critical support;

(5) teams worked tirelessly around the clock to rescue survivors and recover the remains of individuals killed in the tragic collapse; and

(6) on June 30, 2021, the National Institute of Standards and Technology announced it would launch a formal investigation into the cause of the collapse: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) commemorates the passage of 5 years since the tragic building collapse in Surfside, Florida, on June 24, 2021;

(2) honors the survivors and the 98 lives lost in the collapse of the Champlain Towers South condominium building and offers heartfelt condolences to the families, loved ones, and friends of the victims;

(3) commends the bravery and selfless service demonstrated by the local, State, national, and international teams of first responders deployed in the aftermath of the collapse; and

(4) expresses support for the survivors and community of Surfside, Florida.

SENATE RESOLUTION 789—RECOGNIZING JUNE 2026, AS ''LGBTQ PRIDE MONTH''

Ms. SMITH (for herself, Ms. ALSOBROOKS, Ms. BALDWIN, Mr. BENNET, Mr. BLUMENTHAL, Ms. BLUNT ROCHESTER, Mr. BOOKER, Ms. CANTWELL, Mr. COONS, Ms. CORTEZ MASTO, Ms. DUCKWORTH, Mr. DURBIN, Mr. FETTERMAN, Mrs. GILLIBRAND, Ms. HASSAN, Mr. HEINRICH, Mr. HICKENLOOPER, Ms. HIRONO, Mr. KAINE, Mr. KELLY, Mr. KIM, Mr. KING, Ms. KLOBUCHAR, Mr. LUJÁN, Mr. MARKEY, Mr. MERKLEY, Mr. MURPHY, Mrs. MURRAY, Mr. OSSOFF, Mr. PADILLA, Mr. PETERS, Mr. REED, Ms. ROSEN, Mr. SANDERS, Mr. SCHATZ, Mr. SCHIFF, Mrs. SHAHEEN, Ms. SLOTKIN, Mr. VAN HOLLEN, Mr. WARNER, Mr. WARNOCK, Ms. WARREN, Mr. WELCH, Mr. WHITEHOUSE, and Mr. WYDEN) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas the story of the lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer (referred to in this preamble as ''LGBTQ'') community in the United States is one of courage rising from marginalization, of joy forged in the crucible of injustice, and of progress built by generations who refused to be silent, invisible, or erased;

Whereas LGBTQ individuals live and thrive in every corner of the United States—from Alabama to Alaska, from barrios to boardrooms—bringing with them a diversity of race, religion, ability, origin, political belief, and lived experience that enriches the soul of the United States;

Whereas LGBTQ individuals have made indelible contributions to the ongoing struggle for civil rights and across every sector of society, including education, science, law, public service, the arts, technology, business, helping to shape a more equitable and vibrant United States;

Whereas the persistent failure of Federal and State officials to collect full and accurate data on sexual orientation and gender identity causes tremendous harm to LGBTQ individuals in the United States, who remain largely invisible to the government entities entrusted with ensuring their health, safety, and well-being;

Whereas LGBTQ individuals in the United States serve, and have served, in the United States Army, Coast Guard, Navy, Air Force, Marines, and Space Force honorably and with distinction and bravery;

Whereas a decades-long Federal policy, known as the ''Lavender Scare'', that was rooted in the allegation that LGBTQ individuals posed a threat to national security, prevented LGBTQ individuals from entering public service and resulted in the dismissal and intimidation of Federal public servants, including Foreign Service members;

Whereas an estimated number of more than 100,000 brave members of the Armed Forces were discharged from service between the beginning of World War II and 2011 because of their sexual orientation, including the discharge of more than 13,000 members under the ''Don't Ask, Don't Tell'' policy that was in place between 1994 and 2011;

Whereas transgender people had been able to serve openly in the military since 2016, but were arbitrarily banned from service in 2025;

Whereas LGBTQ individuals in the United States serve, and have served, in positions in the Federal Government and State and local governments, including as members of Congress, Cabinet Secretaries, Governors, mayors, and city council members;

Whereas the demonstrators who protested on June 28, 1969, following a law enforcement raid of the Stonewall Inn, an LGBTQ club in New York City, are pioneers of the LGBTQ movement for equality;

Whereas, throughout much of the history of the United States, same-sex relationships were criminalized in many States, and many LGBTQ individuals in the United States were forced to hide their LGBTQ identities while living in secrecy and fear;

Whereas, on June 26, 2015, the Supreme Court of the United States ruled in Obergefell v. Hodges, 576 U.S. 644 (2015), that same-sex couples have a constitutional right to marry and acknowledged that ''[n]o union is more profound than marriage, for it embodies the highest ideals of love, fidelity, devotion, sacrifice, and family'';

Whereas the HIV epidemic, worsened by government inaction and social stigma, decimated LGBTQ communities—especially among Black and Brown gay men and transgender women—and yet, the community responded not with despair but with determination, launching a global movement for health justice;

Whereas people living with HIV continue to face discrimination in the United States and, in certain States, may be subject to greater criminal punishment than individuals without HIV;

Whereas the LGBTQ community maintains its unwavering commitment to ending the HIV and AIDS epidemic;

Whereas LGBTQ individuals in the United States face disparities in employment, healthcare, education, housing, and many other areas central to the pursuit of happiness in the United States;

Whereas 17 States have no explicit ban on discrimination based on sexual orientation and gender identity in the workplace;

Whereas 19 States have no explicit ban on discrimination based on sexual orientation or gender identity in housing;

Whereas 22 States have no explicit ban on discrimination based on sexual orientation or gender identity in public accommodations;

Whereas 30 States have no explicit ban on discrimination against LGBTQ individuals in credit and lending services;

Whereas, as a result of discrimination, LGBTQ youth are at increased risk of—

(1) suicidality;

(2) homelessness;

(3) becoming victims of bullying, violence, or human trafficking; and

(4) developing mental health conditions, including anxiety and depression;

Whereas LGBTQ youth of color are overrepresented in child welfare and juvenile justice systems;

Whereas the LGBTQ community has faced discrimination, inequality, and violence throughout the history of the United States;

Whereas, at both the State and Federal levels, the LGBTQ community, particularly the transgender community, has been repeatedly targeted by politically motivated legislation and executive actions aimed at restricting their rights, limiting access to essential services, and erasing the visibility and recognition of LGBTQ individuals;

Whereas LGBTQ individuals in the United States, in particular transgender individuals, face a disproportionately high risk of becoming victims of violent hate crimes;

Whereas members of the LGBTQ community have been targeted in acts of mass violence, including—

(1) the Club Q nightclub shooting in Colorado Springs, Colorado, on November 19, 2022, where 5 people were killed and 25 people were wounded;

(2) the Pulse nightclub shooting in Orlando, Florida, on June 12, 2016, where 49 people were killed and 53 people were wounded; and

(3) the arson attack at the UpStairs Lounge in New Orleans, Louisiana, on June 24, 1973, where 32 people died;

Whereas LGBTQ individuals face persecution, violence, and death in many parts of the world due to their real or perceived sexual orientation or gender identity;

Whereas, despite recent wins to strike down longstanding criminalization statutes, more than 60 countries criminalize consensual same-sex conduct and more than 10 jurisdictions authorize the use of the death penalty as punishment for this conduct;

Whereas many other countries criminalize gender identity using so-called ''cross-dressing,'' ''impersonation,'' ''disguise,'' or other vague ''public morality'' laws;

Whereas, in recent years, several countries have passed legislation or instituted policies that increase criminal penalties or impose other restrictions on the human rights and fundamental freedoms of LGBTQ persons, including in Burkina Faso, Iraq, Kazakhstan, Niger, Russia, Senegal, and Uganda;

Whereas hundreds of individuals around the world are arrested and, in some cases, tortured or even executed because of their actual or perceived sexual orientation or gender identity in countries and territories such as Cameroon, Chechnya, Egypt, Indonesia, Iran, Malaysia, Tanzania, Tunisia, and Uzbekistan;

Whereas the global movement for marriage equality continues to gain momentum, with same-sex couples being provided the freedom to marry in thirty-nine countries around the globe, most recently in Thailand, Liechtenstein, and Greece;

Whereas, since June 2019, Ecuador, Costa Rica, Northern Ireland, Switzerland, Chile, Slovenia, Andorra, Cuba, Greece, and Estonia have extended marriage rights to same-sex couples;

Whereas the LGBTQ community holds Pride festivals and marches in some of the most dangerous places in the world, despite threats of violence and arrest;

Whereas, in 2009, President Barack Obama signed the Matthew Shepard and James Byrd, Jr. Hate Crimes Prevention Act (division E of Public Law 111–84; 123 Stat. 2835) into law to protect all individuals in the United States from crimes motivated by their actual or perceived sexual orientation or gender identity;

Whereas LGBTQ individuals in the United States have fought for equal treatment, dignity, and respect;

Whereas LGBTQ individuals in the United States have achieved significant milestones, ensuring that future generations of LGBTQ individuals in the United States will enjoy a more equal and just society;

Whereas, despite being marginalized throughout the history of the United States, LGBTQ individuals in the United States continue to celebrate their identities, love, and contributions to the United States in various expressions of Pride;

Whereas, in June 2020, in Bostock v. Clayton County, 140 S. Ct. 1731 (2020), the Supreme Court of the United States affirmed that existing civil rights laws prohibit employment discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation and gender identity, a landmark victory for the LGBTQ community;

Whereas, in December 2022, Congress enacted the Respect for Marriage Act (Public Law 117–228; 136 Stat. 2305), which repealed the discriminatory legal definition of marriage as limited to a relationship between a man and a woman, and the discriminatory definition of a spouse as a person of the opposite sex; and

Whereas LGBTQ individuals in the United States remain determined to pursue full equality, respect, and inclusion for all individuals regardless of sexual orientation or gender identity: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) supports the rights, freedoms, and equal treatment of lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and queer (referred to in this resolution as ''LGBTQ'') individuals in the United States and around the world;

(2) acknowledges that LGBTQ rights are human rights that are to be protected by the laws of the United States and numerous international treaties and conventions;

(3) supports efforts to ensure the equal treatment of all individuals in the United States, regardless of sexual orientation and gender identity;

(4) supports efforts to ensure that the United States remains a beacon of hope for the equal treatment of individuals around the world, including LGBTQ individuals; and

(5) encourages the celebration of June as ''LGBTQ Pride Month'' to provide a lasting opportunity for all individuals in the United States—

(A) to learn about the discrimination and inequality that the LGBTQ community endured and continues to endure; and

(B) to celebrate the contributions of the LGBTQ community throughout the history of the United States.

SENATE RESOLUTION 790—RECOGNIZING AND HONORING THE 27TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE SUPREME COURT DECISION IN OLMSTEAD V L.C.

Ms. DUCKWORTH (for herself, Mr. SCHUMER, Mr. DURBIN, Mr. SANDERS, Mr. WYDEN, Mrs. GILLIBRAND, Mrs. MURRAY, Mr. BLUMENTHAL, Mr. VAN HOLLEN, Mr. MARKEY, Mr. BENNET, Mr. LUJÁN, Mr. KIM, Ms. HASSAN, and Ms. BLUNT ROCHESTER) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas there are over 70,000,000 adults with disabilities living in the United States;

Whereas section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 (29 U.S.C. 794) (referred to in this resolution as ''section 504'') prohibits discrimination on the basis of disability in all federally assisted programs or activities and laid the foundation for the passage of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (42 U.S.C. 12101 et seq.) (referred to in this resolution as ''the ADA)'';

Whereas, in 1977, the former Department of Health, Education, and Welfare issued implementing regulations for section 504 requiring recipients of Federal funds to provide services and programs in a manner that affords people with disabilities an ''equal opportunity to obtain the same results, to gain the same benefit, or to reach the same achievement, in the most integrated setting appropriate to the person's'' needs (sections 84.4(b)(1)(iii) and 84.4(b)(2) of title 45, Code of Federal Regulations, as in effect on the date of issuance);

Whereas, in 1978, the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare issued a similar rule requiring recipients of funds from the Department to ''administer programs and activities in the most integrated setting appropriate to the needs of qualified'' persons with disabilities (43 Fed. Reg. 2132);

Whereas, in 1978, Congress amended section 504 to strengthen and clarify its nondiscrimination requirements, thereby ratifying the 1977 and 1978 regulations and incorporating the regulations into the Rehabilitation Act of 1973;

Whereas, in the ADA, Congress found that the isolation and segregation of individuals with disabilities is a serious and pervasive form of discrimination;

Whereas, through passage of the ADA, Congress intended that forms of discrimination prohibited under section 504 and its implementing regulations, including unnecessary segregation, be prohibited under the ADA as well;

Whereas, on June 22, 1999, the Supreme Court in Olmstead v. L.C., 527 U.S. 581 (1999) (referred to in this resolution as ''the Olmstead decision''), held that under the ADA, States must offer qualified individuals with disabilities the choice to receive their long-term services and support in a community-based setting;

Whereas the Supreme Court recognized in the Olmstead decision that ''institutional placement of persons who can handle and benefit from community settings perpetuates unwarranted assumptions that persons so isolated are incapable or unworthy of participating in community life'';

Whereas the Supreme Court further recognized that ''confinement in an institution severely diminishes the everyday life activities of individuals, including activities involving family relations and social contacts, work options, economic independence, educational advancement, and cultural enrichment.'';

Whereas the Olmstead decision and the integration mandate of the ADA and section 504 have repeatedly been affirmed by courts across the United States, by Congress, and in Federal regulations and guidance, prohibiting States from forcing people with disabilities into segregated settings, such as psychiatric hospitals, nursing homes, segregated schools, and sheltered workshops, when those people could be served in their homes and communities;

Whereas, as a result of the integration mandate, many individuals with disabilities have been able to live in their own homes and community-based settings, rather than institutional settings, and to become productive members of the community, particularly through access to home- and community-based services through the Medicaid program under title XIX of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396 et seq.) (referred to in this resolution as ''the Medicaid program'');

Whereas, despite 5 decades of legal requirements, many individuals with disabilities continue to live in segregated institutional settings, where they face abuse and neglect and limitations on their individual freedoms, including solitary confinement;

Whereas, on June 18, 2026, 4 days before the 27th anniversary of the Olmstead decision, the Department of Justice issued a deeply flawed opinion that rejects the integration mandate and threatens the hard-won progress towards full integration of individuals with disabilities into society in the United States;

Whereas, the Department of Justice's opinion does not overrule decades-old integration and nondiscrimination requirements under section 504, the ADA, or the Olmstead decision; and

Whereas the Department of Justice admits in its own opinion that its interpretation of the Olmstead decision is ''out of step with common understanding of that decision within Federal courts'': Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) recognizes and honors the 27th anniversary of the Supreme Court decision in Olmstead v. L.C., 527 U.S. 581 (1999);

(2) salutes all people whose efforts have contributed to the expansion of home- and community-based long-term services and supports for individuals with disabilities;

(3) affirms the Olmstead decision's vital importance to ending the unjustified institutionalization and segregation of individuals with disabilities;

(4) condemns—

(A) the Department of Justice's incorrect and arbitrary interpretation of the Olmstead decision and its misperceptions about what Congress intended; and

(B) the recent cuts, and any future cuts, to the Medicaid program, including the establishment of burdensome work-reporting requirements and other barriers, which puts the health of individuals with disabilities at risk and hinders the progress made since the enactment of section 504 and the ADA; and

(5) calls on—

(A) the Department of Justice to immediately rescind its opinion that was issued on June 18, 2026, concerning the integration mandate of title II of the ADA and section 504; and

(B) Congress to work in a bipartisan manner to reverse the biggest cut to Medicaid in history and increase funding for home- and community-based services.

SENATE RESOLUTION 791—CONDEMNING THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA'S ETHNIC UNITY AND PROGRESS LAW, CONCERNED WITH ITS IMPLICATIONS ON THE RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS, AS WELL AS SURVIVAL OF THE IDENTITY, OF TIBETANS, UYGHURS, MONGOLIANS, AND OTHER AFFECTED COMMUNITIES, AND CALLING ON THE GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC OF CHINA TO END ITS ABUSES AND CAMPAIGNS OF TRANSNATIONAL REPRESSION THAT UNDERMINE UNITED STATES SOVEREIGNTY AND THREATEN THE SAFETY AND FREEDOMS OF PEOPLE IN THE UNITED STATES

Ms. ROSEN (for herself, Mr. CURTIS, Mr. MERKLEY, and Mr. BANKS) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

Whereas the Constitution of the People's Republic of China guarantees specified rights, including freedom of religious belief and the right of people regarded as minorities to use their own spoken and written languages and preserve their cultural traditions;

Whereas the People's Republic of China is a State Party to the Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC) and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR) and is a signatory to the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights;

Whereas Chinese authorities have systematically imposed policies that displace ethnic and religious minority communities, separate Tibetan and Uyghur children from their families through state-run boarding schools, limit the use of minority languages, curtail religious practice through intrusive state controls, and compel conformity with ideology mandated by the Chinese Communist Party;

Whereas the policies of the People's Republic of China have threatened the rights and freedoms of a broad range of communities, including Tibetans, Uyghurs, Mongolians, Christians, and other ethnic and religious groups across China, as well as the people of Hong Kong whose civil liberties and autonomy have been systematically eroded in recent years;

Whereas, on January 19, 2021, the United States Department of State determined that the Government of the People's Republic of China is committing genocide and crimes against humanity against Uyghurs and other predominantly Muslim Turkic peoples in Xinjiang, where the Chinese Communist Party is engaging in forced sterilization, forced labor, arbitrary detention, and restriction of religious practice;

Whereas Chinese Communist Party member Chen Quanguo first experimented with systematic surveillance, intimidation, detention, and draconian controls on expressions of religious and cultural identity in Tibet before expanding and accelerating those repressive techniques in Xinjiang;

Whereas the July 1, 2026, entry into force of the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law of the People's Republic of China institutionalizes and expands coercive assimilation and cultural erasure policies directed toward Tibetans, Uyghurs, Mongolians, Christians, and other groups;

Whereas the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law codifies the Chinese Communist Party's campaign of ''Sinicization,'' requiring schools, religious institutions, families, media, and cultural organizations to align their activities with Party-mandated ideology;

Whereas the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law criminalizes expression deemed to ''undermine ethnic unity'' or ''create ethnic division'';

Whereas the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law contains extraterritorial provisions authorizing Chinese authorities to pursue ''legal responsibility'' for individuals and organizations outside China, which includes United States citizens who ''undermine ethnic unity'' or challenge the Chinese Communist Party's official historical narratives;

Whereas officials in Taiwan have warned the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law could be used by the Government of the People's Republic of China to assert extraterritorial jurisdiction over Taiwanese individuals by characterizing expressions of Taiwanese identity, history, or self-governance as violations of the law;

Whereas the United States has charged multiple individuals acting on behalf of the People's Republic of China with operating illegal overseas police stations, conducting transnational repression, harassing dissidents, and attempting to limit freedom of expression and other human rights of individuals outside of China;

Whereas, on March 16, 2026, United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights Volker Türk warned the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law risks entrenching assimilationist policies, restricting education in languages other than Mandarin, and limiting the free practice of religion and culture;

Whereas, on April 30, 2026, the European Parliament adopted a resolution condemning China's new ''ethnic unity and progress'' law and warning that it poses grave risks to the rights and cultural preservation of Tibetans, Uyghurs, Mongolians, and others;

Whereas the United States has long affirmed its commitment to defending religious freedom and the rights of ethnic minorities through bipartisan measures such as the International Religious Freedom Act of 1998 (22 U.S.C. 6401 et seq.), the Tibetan Policy and Support Act of 2020 (subtitle E of title III of division FF of Public Law 116–260), and the Uyghur Human Rights Policy Act of 2020 (Public Law 116–145);

Whereas the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law expands state authority over religious institutions in ways that threaten the ability of Tibetan Buddhist leaders to determine matters of religious tradition, including the succession of the Dalai Lama; and

Whereas the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law represents a grave escalation in the campaign of the People's Republic of China to suppress ethnic, religious, cultural, and linguistic diversity and, when combined with the Chinese Government's expanding campaigns of transnational repression, illegal overseas police operations, and extraterritorial claims of authority, poses a growing threat to the United States and its allies: Now, therefore, be it

(1) condemns the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law for institutionalizing coercive assimilation, cultural erasure, and ideological control over ethnic and religious minorities in the People's Republic of China;

(2) reaffirms support for the fundamental rights and freedoms of Tibetans, Uyghurs, Mongolians, Hui Muslims, Christians, and other ethnic and religious communities in the People's Republic of China;

(3) reaffirms the 2021 determination of the United States Department of State that the Government of the People's Republic of China is committing genocide and crimes against humanity against Uyghurs and other predominantly Muslim Turkic peoples;

(4) calls on the Government of the People's Republic of China to repeal the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law;

(5) urges the United States Department of State to work with allies and partners, including the European Union, Canada, Japan, Australia, and the United Kingdom, to monitor and report on the impacts of the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law and ongoing transnational repression carried out by the People's Republic of China;

(6) calls on the President to evaluate and consider targeted sanctions under the Global Magnitsky Human Rights Accountability Act (22 U.S.C. 10101 et seq.) against individuals and entities responsible for, complicit in, or directly benefiting from gross human rights violations that result from implementing the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law and related laws and policies;

(7) recognizes the Dalai Lama and the Central Tibetan Administration for their longstanding commitment to nonviolence and dialogue and reaffirms that, in light of the Ethnic Unity and Progress Law's expansion of state authority over religious institutions, decisions regarding the reincarnation or succession of the Dalai Lama are solely the prerogative of Tibetan Buddhist leaders and the Tibetan people, free from interference by the Government of the People's Republic of China, as outlined in the Tibetan Policy and Support Act of 2020; and

(8) calls on the Government of the People's Republic of China to resume dialogue with the Dalai Lama or his representatives in order to hold substantive discussions aimed at resolution of the Sino-Tibetan disputes at an early date, without preconditions.

SENATE RESOLUTION 792—DESIGNATING JUNE 30, 2026, AS ''ASTEROID DAY''

Mr. KELLY (for himself, Mr. CORNYN, and Mr. MORAN) submitted the following resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

S. RES. 792

Whereas asteroids and other near-Earth objects could strike Earth causing damage, injury, and loss of life;

Whereas asteroids are also a valuable resource for scientific exploration, offering insights into the origins of our solar system;

Whereas Asteroid Day, observed annually on June 30, raises public awareness about asteroids, their potential impact, and the importance of planetary defense;

Whereas June 30 commemorates the 1908 Tunguska event in Siberia, the largest recorded asteroid impact in modern history, which flattened more than 2,000 square kilometers of forest;

Whereas, on February 15, 2013, the Chelyabinsk asteroid entered Earth's atmosphere undetected and exploded in a meteor air burst over central Russia, releasing as much energy as 30 atomic bombs, and injuring more than 1,500 people;

Whereas Asteroid Day was established following the Chelyabinsk incident and recognized by the United Nations General Assembly in 2016, underscoring the global significance of risks near-Earth asteroids can pose;

Whereas the Association of Space Explorers, an international organization of astronauts and cosmonauts, has raised global awareness of asteroid impact hazards through initiatives such as the International Asteroid Warning Network and the Space Missions Planning Advisory Group;

Whereas the Vera C. Rubin Observatory, funded by the National Science Foundation and the Department of Energy, is conducting the Legacy Survey of Space and Time and is expected to discover millions of unknown asteroids and solar system objects, expanding humanity's catalog of near-Earth objects and planetary defense;

Whereas the emerging field of asteroid resource utilization may inspire interest in science, technology, engineering, and mathematics;

Whereas asteroid detection, deflection, and exploration provide real-world educational opportunities, connecting scientific principles to the challenge of protecting Earth;

Whereas citizen science programs, amateur astronomy communities, and informal science education initiatives have meaningfully contributed to asteroid discovery and monitoring, demonstrating the value of public participation in planetary defense;

Whereas public polling has found that roughly 6 in 10 Americans consider monitoring potentially hazardous asteroids to be among the highest priorities of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (referred to in this preamble as ''NASA''), reflecting broad and durable public support for planetary defense investment;

Whereas the United States plays a leading role in global efforts to detect, track, and mitigate near-Earth object threats;

Whereas NASA's Planetary Defense Coordination Office leads the United States Government's efforts to detect, track, and coordinate domestic and international responses to potentially hazardous near-Earth objects;

Whereas NASA's Double Asteroid Redirection Test mission demonstrated for the first time that kinetic impact can alter the trajectory of an asteroid, representing a milestone in planetary defense;

Whereas NASA's Near-Earth Object Surveyor mission, a space-based infrared telescope currently in development, is designed to accelerate the detection and characterization of potentially hazardous asteroids and comets that come within 30,000,000 miles of Earth;

Whereas the United Nations has designated 2029 the International Year of Asteroid Awareness and Planetary Defense, timed to coincide with the close approach of asteroid Apophis;

Whereas, in April 2029, asteroid Apophis will pass within approximately 20,000 miles of Earth, closer than many operational satellites, offering a rare opportunity to study an asteroid at close range through NASA's OSIRIS-APEX mission;

Whereas the United States, through the Asteroids 2029 U.S. Node, coordinated by the Johns Hopkins Applied Physics Laboratory, is playing a leading role in the International Year of Asteroid Awareness and Planetary Defense by bringing together educators, scientists, and communities across disciplines and nations to advance the shared goal of protecting Earth from asteroid impact risks;

Whereas asteroid 2024 YR4, discovered in late 2024, posed one of the highest recorded probabilities of Earth impact of any known object, prompting coordinated monitoring that ruled out any threat to Earth in early 2026, demonstrating the importance of early detection and international coordination;

Whereas continued investment in asteroid detection, planetary defense research, and public awareness remains essential to protecting life on Earth; and

Whereas the timely, accurate, and secure sharing of asteroid detection data with governments and foreign partners is essential to emergency preparedness, scientific coordination, and global stability, including the ability to identify a near-Earth object event as non-hostile and distinguish it from other potential threats: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) designates June 30, 2026 as ''Asteroid Day'';

(2) encourages increased public awareness about the risks posed by near-Earth objects and the importance of asteroid research, detection, tracking, and planetary defense; and

(3) supports continued efforts to improve capabilities to identify and respond to such threats.

Ms. CORTEZ MASTO (for herself, Mr. CRAMER, Mr. ARMSTRONG, Ms. BLUNT ROCHESTER, Mr. BLUMENTHAL, Mr. CRAPO, Mr. HEINRICH, Mr. HICKENLOOPER, Ms. HIRONO, Mr. HOEVEN, Mrs. MOODY, Mr. MORAN, Mr. SCOTT of Florida, Mr. PADILLA, Mr. SCHIFF, Ms. ROSEN, Ms. SLOTKIN, Mr. VAN HOLLEN, Mr. SULLIVAN, Mr. RISCH, Ms. DUCKWORTH, and Mr. WICKER) submitted the following resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

S. RES. 794

Whereas the United States relies on safe, reliable, affordable, and clean electricity to power its economy, as well as homes, small businesses, industries and manufacturers, colleges and universities, schools, hospitals, cities, and communities, and so much more;

Whereas journeyman lineworkers play a critical role in keeping the United States energy grid running 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, 365 days a year;

Whereas journeyman lineworkers perform heroic services during national and regional disasters, including hurricanes, wildfires, tornadoes, and ice storms, and also work in tough terrain, extreme heat, and cold areas of the country;

Whereas journeyman lineworkers consistently work long hours often under dangerous conditions to restore power;

Whereas journeyman lineworkers put their lives on the line every day to ensure the delivery of safe and reliable power to the United States, and its territories;

Whereas July 10, 2026, marks the 130th anniversary of the death of Henry Miller, the first president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who was killed in the line of duty while trying to restore electricity during an outage in Washington, D.C.; and

Whereas there should be a day to honor the hundreds of thousands of men and women who have also put their lives on the line over the past 130 years to provide skillful service in times of local or national crisis: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) supports the designation of July 10, 2026, as Journeyman Lineworkers Recognition Day;

(2) honors and recognizes the contributions and sacrifices of countless journeyman lineworkers who often place themselves in harm's way to serve their customers and their communities; and

(3) encourages the people of the United States to observe Journeyman Lineworkers Recognition Day with appropriate reflection.

SENATE RESOLUTION 795—COMMEMORATING THE 150TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF THE LITTLE BIGHORN

Mr. DAINES (for himself and Mr. SHEEHY) submitted the following resolution; which was considered and agreed to:

S. RES. 795

Whereas June 25, 2026, marks the 150th anniversary of the Battle of the Little Bighorn;

Whereas the Battle of the Little Bighorn marked a pivotal moment in the Great Sioux War and the American Indian Wars;

Whereas the battle is known as the Battle of Greasy Grass by many tribes;

Whereas the Great Sioux War was the culmination of rising tensions between the United States Government, Tribal Nations, including the Lakota Sioux, the Northern Cheyenne, and the Arapaho, and settlers seeking gold in the Black Hills;

Whereas, in 1868, the United States Government and many leaders of the Lakota Sioux and Northern Cheyenne signed the Treaty of Fort Laramie, which established the Great Sioux Reservation in South Dakota and recognized additional hunting territories;

Whereas, following the discovery of gold in the Black Hills, increasing numbers of miners and settlers entered lands protected under the Treaty of Fort Laramie, contributing to growing conflict in the region;

Whereas the Lakota Sioux and Northern Cheyenne who opposed the Fort Laramie Treaty began moving west into unceded territory and the territory of other Tribal Nations;

Whereas the Commissioner of Indian Affairs declared as hostile all Lakota Sioux who had left the reservation and required the Armed Forces, including Lieutenant Colonel George Armstrong Custer and his cavalry, to contain the Lakota Sioux and Northern Cheyenne;

Whereas the Battle of the Rosebud preceded the events at the Little Bighorn, preventing General George Crook and his troops from advancing;

Whereas, after the Battle of the Rosebud, General Crook and his troops withdrew from the area, leaving them unable to assist the United States Army's 7th Cavalry, but avoided greater losses due to the battlefield heroics of his Apsaalooke and Shoshone warriors;

Whereas the 7th Cavalry was commanded by Lieutenant Colonel George Armstrong Custer, previously a Brevet Major General in the Union Army during the Civil War;

Whereas Lieutenant Colonel Custer, with Major Marcus Reno and Captain Frederick Benteen, assembled the 7th Cavalry, which included their battalions and Apsaalooke and Arikara warriors, who were employed as scouts for the United States Army;

Whereas Lieutenant Colonel Custer sent Indian warriors ahead to survey the Little Bighorn Valley and report back information about a large village of Sioux and Cheyenne;

Whereas Lieutenant Colonel Custer and the 12 companies of the 7th Cavalry created a plan to attack the village based on the information provided by the warriors;

Whereas the Indian forces were led by Tribal leaders Sitting Bull (Hunkpapa Lakota) and Crazy Horse (Oglala Sioux), as well as Chief Gall (Hunkpapa) and Two Moons (Northern Cheyenne), among many other prominent warriors;

Whereas the battle took place along the Little Bighorn River in southeastern Montana on June 25 and 26, 1876;

Whereas Major Reno's battalion was overwhelmed by the Indian forces and forced to retreat, while Lieutenant Colonel Custer and his 5 companies continued north to situate themselves along Calhoun Hill and Last Stand Hill;

Whereas roughly 40 troopers were left on Last Stand Hill under the command of Lieutenant Colonel Custer when they were overwhelmed by the Indian forces, leaving no survivors;

Whereas approximately 268 soldiers, warrior scouts, and civilians and an estimated 60 to 100 Sioux and Cheyenne warriors died;

Whereas, in 1881, a memorial was placed by the Department of War and was transferred to the National Park Service in 1940;

Whereas the memorial was officially designated the ''Custer Battlefield Monument'' in 1946;

Whereas, on December 10, 1991, Public Law 102–201 (16 U.S.C. 431 note) was enacted into law, renaming the monument the ''Little Bighorn Battlefield National Monument'';

Whereas more than 200,000 visitors from across the United States and around the world visit the monument each year to learn about the battle and its legacy;

Whereas the Battle of the Little Bighorn remains significant to the Tribal Nations whose ancestors fought and died during the battle and the Great Sioux War; and

Whereas the monument is home to the Custer National Cemetery, where approximately 5,000 members of the Armed Forces, veterans, and their families, including those that died during the battle, are buried: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) recognizes the 150th anniversary and the historical significance of the Battle of the Little Bighorn to the shared history of all participants;

(2) honors all the soldiers, scouts, civilians, and warriors who died at the battle; and

(3) encourages the people of the United States to visit the Little Bighorn Battlefield National Monument to commemorate and honor the 150th anniversary of the Battle of the Little Bighorn.

SENATE RESOLUTION 796—RECOGNIZING THE UPCOMING 250TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA AND REAFFIRMING THE COMMITMENT OF THE SENATE TO THE NATION'S FOUNDING IDEALS OF LIBERTY, EQUALITY, AND OPPORTUNITY FOR ALL IMMIGRANT COMMUNITIES IN THE UNITED STATES

Mr. MARKEY (for himself, Ms. ALSOBROOKS, Mr. BENNET, Ms. HIRONO, Mr. SCHIFF, Mr. VAN HOLLEN, Ms. WARREN, Mr. WYDEN, Mr. PADILLA, and Mr. BOOKER) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

Whereas, as the United States approaches the 250th anniversary of its founding, the people of the United States reflect on the Nation's history, progress, and enduring commitment to the principles of liberty and justice;

Whereas, despite attacks from the current Administration, the Senate reaffirms that all people are created equal in dignity and worth and are entitled to unalienable rights, including life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;

Whereas, when the Federal Government fails to secure these ideals, it is the responsibility of Members of Congress to challenge and transform systems that deny dignity and justice;

Whereas these founding ideals have not always been fully realized and each generation bears responsibility for advancing these ideals more fully in law, policy, and practice;

Whereas, in recognition of the barriers and hardships faced by asylum seekers, refugees, and all immigrant communities, including conditions that undermine internationally recognized human rights and constitutional protections, the Senate must continue to advance systemic change;

Whereas, in the absence of consistent Federal leadership in upholding the Nation's commitments and obligations to asylum seekers, refugees, and immigrant communities, the Senate plays a critical role in advancing inclusion, equity, and opportunity for all residents regardless of immigration status;

Whereas barriers such as limited English proficiency, employment obstacles, and restricted access to essential services prevent many immigrants from fully engaging in the social, economic, and civic life of their communities;

Whereas existing pathways to the United States, including pathways to citizenship, face increasing restrictions and adverse policy shifts, creating obstacles that undermine stability, opportunity, and full participation in communities represented by Members of the Senate;

Whereas ensuring access to health care, legal services, social services, housing, food security, education, and safe and humane migration pathways are essential components of an equitable and inclusive United States, promoting the health, safety, and well-being of communities across the United States;

Whereas immigrant communities in the United States make significant social, cultural, economic, and civic contributions to the United States, strengthening the United States and enriching its shared future, and reflecting the enduring promise of the founding ideals of the United States; and

Whereas the 250th anniversary of the founding of the United States of America serves not only as a celebration, but as a moment for reflection, civic participation, and renewed commitment to building a more inclusive, equitable, and united future for all who call the United States home: Now, therefore, be it

(1) supports efforts, consistent with this commitment, to expand and strengthen programs that assist individuals in overcoming common barriers to full participation in the social, economic, and civic life of the United States, including language access programs, workforce and employment assistance, legal support, and naturalization services;

(2) encourages collaboration with local community-based organizations, nonprofit organizations serving immigrants and refugees, faith institutions, educational institutions, advocacy groups, and labor and business partners to provide critical services and ensure that integration programs are culturally responsive, accessible, and effective;

(3) urges Federal, State, and local governments to increase investments in initiatives that advance opportunity, strengthen communities, and uphold the Nation's commitments to equity and inclusion;

(4) calls for a commitment to building a more inclusive, equitable, and united future for all who call the United States home;

(5) celebrates the contributions of immigrant communities in the United States to the Nation's social, cultural, and economic life; and

(6) recognizes the significance of global solidarity in upholding the principles of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and in advancing dignity, justice, and freedom for all people confronting systemic oppression across borders and continents.

SENATE RESOLUTION 797—REQUESTING INFORMATION ON ISRAEL'S HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES PURSUANT TO SECTION 502B(C) OF THE FOREIGN ASSISTANCE ACT OF 1961

Mr. WELCH submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations:

Whereas Israeli military operations in Lebanon during the 2026 war have been characterized by the destruction of thousands of civilian homes, residential buildings, and religious sites, and by mass evacuation orders resulting in the displacement of more than 1,000,000 people;

Whereas, according to Lebanon's National Council for Scientific Research, since February 28, 2026, Israeli operations across Lebanon have destroyed or damaged more than 60,000 housing units;

Whereas press reports indicate that Israel Defense Forces have used bulldozers and controlled demolitions to destroy dozens of centuries-old villages, mosques, and churches across southern Lebanon, with the New York Times reporting the controlled destruction of ''at least two dozen towns and villages near the border, with damage to government offices as well as civilian infrastructure, including schools, hospitals and mosques'';

Whereas the destruction of civilian homes in Lebanon has been enabled by the imposition of unilaterally declared ''evacuation zones,'' which have displaced more than 1,000,000 people, including 700,000 who were forcibly displaced from a single Beirut neighborhood;

Whereas Israeli officials have spoken of occupying a ''security zone'' and indefinitely occupying Lebanon to the Litani River;

Whereas Article 53 of the Fourth Geneva Convention prohibits the destruction of property by occupying powers ''except where such destruction is rendered absolutely necessary by military operations'';

Whereas the ''extensive destruction and appropriation of property, not justified by military necessity and carried out unlawfully and wantonly'' is a breach of the Fourth Geneva Convention and a war crime under section 2441 of title 18, United States Code; and

Whereas intentionally directing attacks against civilian objects is a war crime: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved,

SECTION 1. REQUEST FOR INFORMATION ON ISRAEL'S HUMAN RIGHTS PRACTICES.

(a) STATEMENT REQUESTED.—The Senate requests that the Secretary of State, not later than 30 days after the date of the adoption of this resolution, submit to the Committee on Foreign Relations of the Senate and the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives, pursuant to section 502B(c) of the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2304(c)), a statement regarding Israel's human rights practices that has been prepared in collaboration with the Assistant Secretary of State for Democracy, Human Rights, and Labor and the Office of the Legal Adviser.

(b) ELEMENTS.—The statement submitted under subsection (a) should include—

(1) all available credible information concerning alleged violations of internationally recognized human rights by the Government of Israel since February 28, 2026, including—

(A) the full scale and scope of the Israeli government's destruction of homes and civilian infrastructure in Lebanon since February 28, 2026, including the destruction of religious, educational, and medical facilities, and the razing of objects indispensable to the survival of the civilian population, including farmland and orchards; and

(B) an assessment of civilian casualties in unilaterally imposed ''evacuation zones'' and the denial of the right to life in the context of the armed conflict in Lebanon caused by indiscriminate or disproportionate operations in such zones, including the use of so-called ''double tap'' strikes on civilians; and

(2) other information with regard to operations by the Israeli armed forces in Lebanon since February 28, 2026, including—

(A) an assessment of whether United States-provided bulldozers, munitions, and defense articles or services have been used in mass destruction or demolition operations, or civilian harm incidents in Lebanon;

(B) a description of any actions taken by the Secretary of State to solicit a determination from the Office of the Legal Adviser of whether actions by the Government of Israel in Lebanon present risks of violating international humanitarian law or of constituting war crimes or gross violations of human rights for purposes of compliance with the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961 (22 U.S.C. 2151 et seq.); and

(C) a description of any actions taken by the Secretary of State to seek information and a determination on whether Israel's operations in Lebanon violate Israel's assurances to the United States Government that United States-provided defense articles and services would be used in accordance with international humanitarian law and for ''legitimate self-defense''.

SENATE RESOLUTION 798—DESIGNATING JUNE 2026 AS ''GREAT OUTDOORS MONTH''

Mr. DAINES (for himself and Mr. PETERS) submitted the following resolution; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary:

S. RES. 798

Whereas hundreds of millions of individuals in the United States participate in outdoor recreation annually;

Whereas Congress enacted the Outdoor Recreation Jobs and Economic Impact Act of 2016 (Public Law 114–249; 130 Stat. 999) to assess and analyze the outdoor recreation economy of the United States and the effects attributable to the outdoor recreation economy on the overall economy of the United States;

Whereas the Outdoor Recreation Satellite Account, updated in March 2026 by the Bureau of Economic Analysis of the Department of Commerce, shows that outdoor recreation generated $696,700,000,000 in economic output in 2024, comprising approximately 2.4 percent of the current-dollar gross domestic product of the United States;

Whereas the Outdoor Recreation Satellite Account shows that, in 2024, real gross output for the outdoor recreation economy increased 2.0 percent, outdoor recreation compensation increased 5.2 percent, and employment increased 1.1 percent;

Whereas the Great American Outdoors Act (Public Law 116–152; 134 Stat. 682) provides billions of dollars to help eliminate the maintenance backlog on public lands and waters and fully funds the Land and Water Conservation Fund;

Whereas regular outdoor recreation is associated with economic growth, positive health outcomes, and better quality of life;

Whereas outdoor recreation activities at the Federal, State, and local levels have seen a recent surge in participation;

Whereas many outdoor recreation businesses are small businesses that are cornerstones of rural communities, and outdoor recreation is part of the national heritage of the United States;

Whereas it is imperative that the United States ensures that access to outdoor recreation is available to all its people for generations to come; and

Whereas June 2026 is an appropriate month to designate as ''Great Outdoors Month'' to provide an opportunity to celebrate the importance of the great outdoors: Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Senate—

(1) designates June 2026 as ''Great Outdoors Month''; and

(2) encourages all individuals in the United States to responsibly participate in recreation activities in the great outdoors during June 2026 and year round.

SEC. ____. SENSE OF THE SENATE REGARDING FISCAL YEAR 2027 FUNDING DISPARITIES AND DOMESTIC NEEDS.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Senate finds the following:

(1) The National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2027 reported by the Committee on Armed Services of the Senate authorizes an unprecedented $1,150,000,000,000 for national defense programs, reinforcing a continuous and disproportionate escalation in military spending.

(2) The United States is currently facing a severe affordability crisis, with millions of people in the United States and working families struggling with the skyrocketing costs of basic necessities, including food, housing, and healthcare.

(3) On July 4, 2025, the enactment of the Act entitled ''An Act to provide for reconciliation pursuant to title II of H. Con. Res. 14'', approved July 4, 2025 (Public Law 119–21; 139 Stat. 72) (commonly known as, and in this section referred to as, the ''One Big Beautiful Bill Act''), mandated deep and devastating structural cuts to essential non-defense safety net programs.

(4) The cuts and administrative hurdles mandated by the One Big Beautiful Bill Act are projected to slash over $1,000,000,000,000 in funding for the Medicaid program under title XIX of the Social Security Act (42 U.S.C. 1396 et seq.) (in this section referred to as ''Medicaid'') and the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Public Law 111–148; 124 Stat. 119) over the next decade, ripping health care coverage away from 15,000,000 people in the United States, and putting over 750 hospitals, nursing homes, and clinics at risk of closure.

(5) Concurrently, sweeping rollbacks and funding restrictions have severely impacted access to the supplemental nutrition assistance program established under the Food and Nutrition Act of 2008 (7 U.S.C. 2011 et seq.) (in this section referred to as ''SNAP''), a vital lifeline that millions of women and children depend on to prevent food insecurity and hunger.

(6) National security depends not only on military readiness, but also on the economic well-being, health, and stability of the people of the United States.

(b) SENSE OF THE SENATE.—It is the sense of the Senate that—

(1) the massive funding disparity between defense expenditures and domestic non-defense investments for fiscal year 2027 is unacceptable;

(2) it is unconscionable to authorize over $1,100,000,000,000 in defense spending while at the same time forcing deep cuts to programs like SNAP and Medicaid that millions of people in the United States rely on to survive;

(3) this spending gap will only grow with the proposed plans for an additional $350,000,000,000 of defense spending through budget reconciliation and upwards of $80,000,000,000 or more in supplemental defense spending requested to cover operational shortfalls due to the unauthorized war with Iran; and

(4) Congress must reject this imbalanced approach to Federal spending and commit to a budget strategy that balances national security obligations with the urgent, fundamental human needs of everyday people in the United States.

SA 6025. Mr. CRAPO (for himself and Mrs. SHAHEEN) submitted an amendment intended to be proposed by him to the bill S. 4784, to authorize appropriations for fiscal year 2027 for military activities of the Department of Defense, for military construction, and for defense activities of the Department of Energy, to prescribe military personnel strengths for such fiscal year, and for other purposes; which was ordered to lie on the table; as follows:

At the appropriate place in subtitle G of title X, insert the following:

(A) The number of veterans who received a covered medication under the pilot program, disaggregated by those enrolled in the system of annual patient enrollment of the Department of Veterans Affairs under section 1705(a) of title 38, United States Code, and those not enrolled in such system.

(B) An assessment of the feasibility of expanding the pilot program to provide covered medications to immediate family members of veterans.

''SEC. 201A. PROJECT PLANNING IN SUPPORT OF INNOVATIVE VOLUNTARY WATER SHARING AGREEMENTS AND VOLUNTARY USE OF WATER-THRIFTY CROPS TO PREPARE FOR AND RESPOND TO DROUGHT.

''(a) IN GENERAL.—The Secretary, in order to prepare for and respond to drought conditions, may, using funds made available to carry out this title and under subsection (g), provide to qualified applicants technical and financial assistance to provide planning support for the implementation of voluntary projects incorporating innovative approaches that—

''(B) support income and employment levels in rural communities;

''(2) provide affordable water supplies, redundant water supplies, shared storage, or other benefits; and

''(3) rely over the long term on sources other than Federal funding for implementation.

''(1) shall—

''(A) be new; or

''(B) lack a well-established track record in the applicable area;

''(2) shall include an approach that—

''(A) insulates agricultural water users from the risk of crop failures or water shortages through voluntary financial, water storage, or water sharing agreements between at least 1 party described in subsection (c)(1)(A)(i) and 1 party described in subsection (c)(1)(A)(ii);

''(B) brings water-saving commodities or practices into production; or

''(C) involves voluntary methods for reducing agricultural consumptive water use, including—

''(i) hydroponics;

''(ii) agrovoltaics;

''(iii) agroforestry;

''(iv) innovative irrigation technologies, including gravity-powered drip irrigation and automated high-efficiency surface irrigation;

''(v) root-zone-based irrigation management systems;

''(vi) implementation of regenerative agricultural practices that decrease net water consumption; or

''(vii) concentration of crop production on a reduced irrigated acreage that results in an equal or greater financial return; and

''(3) shall not include an approach that—

''(A) fallows agricultural land for—

''(i) the majority of the growing season in the applicable area; or

''(ii) in the case of a drought-year agreement, is reasonably anticipated to result in fallowing for the majority of years under the drought-year agreement; or

''(B) involves crops in the applicable area (other than crops using an approach described in paragraph (2)) that are—

''(i) widely used or planted; or

''(ii) well understood in terms of yield, cost, and other key production factors.

''(c) QUALIFIED APPLICANTS.—

''(1) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in paragraph (3), to qualify for financial or technical assistance under this section, an applicant shall—

''(3) PROJECTS WITHOUT VOLUNTARY PARTNERSHIPS.—

''(A) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding paragraph (1), the Secretary may award, with the authorization of the water right holder, contractor, or permittee, if required under subsection (d)(2), to a State, State agency, or subdivision of a State, Indian Tribe, or agricultural entity that is not in a voluntary partnership with other entities described in paragraph (1)(A) a portion of the financial assistance authorized under this section for the planning or conduct of a voluntary project that—

''(i) uses an innovative approach described in paragraphs (1) and (2) of subsection (b); or

''(ii) with respect to a voluntary project conducted by a State, State agency, or Indian Tribe, would advance other long-term efforts to reverse declining—

''(I) groundwater supplies; or

''(II) freshwater inflows to inland lakes.

''(B) PRIORITY CONSIDERATION.—The Secretary shall give priority consideration to an application for financial assistance under this paragraph for which the following thresholds have been met or are projected to be met:

''(e) PRIORITY.—The Secretary shall prioritize applications for financial or technical assistance under this section based on—

''(1) for projects involving a voluntary partnership under subsection (c)(1), whether the proposed project would dedicate a portion of the water saved in the project area to increase water supplies for—

''(A) other members of the water district within which the project is located; or

''(B) in the case of a project not within a water district, other members of the municipality, Indian Tribe, acequia, or other community unit within which the project is located;

''(2) the extent to which the proposed approach is innovative in terms of—

''(B) the financial or other aspects of the voluntary partnership among the agricultural entities and municipal or industrial entities or nonprofit conservation organizations; or

''(C) a combination of the factors described in subparagraphs (A) and (B);

''(3) the extent to which the proposed approach is preliminarily estimated to reduce consumptive agricultural water use compared to existing practices while keeping agricultural land in production;

''(4) the extent to which the proposed approach is preliminarily estimated to support income and employment levels in the relevant agricultural community compared to existing practices (whether due to increased yields, lower input costs, or other factors);

''(5) the assessment of the Secretary of the likelihood that the proposed approach is likely to be successfully implemented as proposed;

''(6) whether the voluntary water sharing agreements among the agricultural entities and municipal or industrial entities or nonprofit conservation organizations are proposed for a period of not less than 5 years;

''(7) the likelihood of the project to sustain the project long-term without the need for additional Federal funding after the project demonstration phase; and

''(8) such other factors as the Secretary determines to be appropriate, consistent with subsection (c)(3).

TITLE XVII—BLOCKING LARGE-SCALE ADVERSARIAL DISTILLATION EFFORTS ACT OF 2026

SEC. 1701. SHORT TITLE.

This title may be cited as ''Blocking Large-scale Adversarial Distillation Efforts Act of 2026'' or ''BLADE Act''.

SEC. 1702. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) artificial intelligence models owned by United States private sector entities are essential for advancing economic and national security interests of the United States;

(2) many of the most advanced artificial intelligence models owned by United States entities are ''closed-source models'' whose unique technical characteristics are not openly shared or published;

(3) the unauthorized acquisition of model capabilities, such as model weights, model architectures, and other technical characteristics of closed-source artificial intelligence models, by persons of concern through model extraction attacks represents a threat to the national security and foreign policy interests of the United States, as well as the intellectual property rights and economic competitiveness of United States entities;

(4) the United States Government, in cooperation with private owners of closed-source artificial intelligence models, should take steps to identify, punish, and deter model extraction attacks on the protected capabilities of closed-source artificial intelligence models by persons of concern;

(5) model extraction attacks against United States closed-source artificial intelligence models allow foreign adversaries a short cut to acquiring advanced artificial intelligence capabilities; and

(6) authorized model training practices that adhere to the terms of service or are otherwise consistent with contractual terms set by the owners of closed-source artificial intelligence models are a legitimate research method that play an important role in artificial intelligence research and are fundamentally distinct from model extraction attacks addressed by this title.

SEC. 1703. DEFINITIONS.

In this title:

(1) APPROPRIATE CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES.—The term ''appropriate congressional committees'' means—

(A) the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House of Representatives; and

(B) the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs of the Senate.

(2) CLOSED-SOURCE ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE MODEL.—The term ''closed-source artificial intelligence model'' means any artificial intelligence model with the following characteristics:

(A) Proprietary key technical information, such as underlying model weights, that are necessary to reproduce and independently recreate the model and that are not willingly shared with third parties or otherwise made publicly available by the owner of the model.

(B) Access and use governed by terms of service or contractual agreements that are established by the owner of the model.

(C) Access that is provided via an application program interface or another consumer-facing, owner-controlled interface without enabling third parties to obtain, modify, or host the closed-source artificial intelligence model on their own data servers or other technology unless specifically authorized by the owner of the model.

(3) COUNTRY OF CONCERN.—The term ''country of concern'' means—

(A) the People's Republic of China, including the Hong Kong and Macau Special Administrative Regions;

(B) the Russian Federation; and

(C) any other foreign country—

(i) listed in Country Group D:5 in Supplement No. 1 to part 740 of title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, as published on January 1, 2026, that is designated by the Secretary of Commerce as a country of concern for purposes of this section and for which notice of such designation has been published in the Federal Register; and

(ii) identified by the Secretary of Commerce pursuant to an assessment required by subsection (a) or (e) of section 1704.

(4) PERSON OF CONCERN.—The term ''person of concern'' means any foreign person that—

(A) is located or headquartered in, or the ultimate parent company of which is headquartered in, a country of concern;

(B) is operating under the direction or control of any entity located or headquartered in, or the ultimate parent company of which is headquartered in, a country of concern; or

(C) is conducting or attempting to conduct a model extraction attack against closed-source artificial intelligence models owned by United States persons and outside of authorized model training practices.

(5) FOREIGN PERSON.—The term ''foreign person'' means a person that is not a United States person.

(6) FRAUDULENT ACCOUNT NETWORK PROVIDER.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ''fraudulent account network provider'' means any foreign person that knowingly and intentionally creates, obtains, maintains, sells, brokers, or otherwise provides access to an account that allows a person of concern to access a closed-source artificial intelligence model that the entity would otherwise be prohibited from accessing as a result of location restrictions in the terms of service or a contractual agreement created by the owner of the model.

(B) EXCEPTION.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), an entity that creates or transmits location information to enable persons within countries of concern to access the internet for purposes of freedom of expression is not, on the basis of that activity alone, a fraudulent account network provider.

(7) MODEL EXTRACTION ATTACK.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The term ''model extraction attack'' means the unauthorized extracting of the capabilities of a closed-source artificial intelligence model to replicate, develop, train, or improve another artificial intelligence model, if such extraction—

(i) circumvents technical, contractual, or other access controls, identity verification requirements, or geographic access restrictions implemented by the owner of the model;

(ii) is conducted through fraudulent, misrepresented, or unauthorized credentials; or

(iii) violates the terms, conditions, or restrictions governing access to or use of the model, as established by the owner, that specifically prohibit the use of model outputs or interactions to replicate, develop, train, or improve another artificial intelligence model.

(B) INFERENCE OF PURPOSE.—For purposes of subparagraph (A), the purpose of extraction may be inferred from the totality of circumstances, including—

(i) the volume, structure, pattern, coordination, or timing of the extraction activity;

(ii) the concentration of extractions on specific model capabilities;

SEC. 1___. KEWEENAW BAY INDIAN COMMUNITY LAND CLAIM SETTLEMENT.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—

(1) the Keweenaw Bay Indian Community is a federally recognized Indian Tribe residing on the L'Anse Indian Reservation in Baraga County in the Upper Peninsula of the State of Michigan;

(2) the Community is a successor in interest to the Treaty with the Chippewa Indians of the Mississippi and Lake Superior, made and concluded at La Pointe of Lake Superior October 4, 1842 (7 Stat. 591) (referred to in this subsection as the ''1842 Treaty''), which, among other things, guaranteed the usufructuary rights of the Community over a large area of land that was ceded to the United States, until such time that those usufructuary rights were properly and legally extinguished;

(3) the Community is also a successor in interest to the Treaty with the Chippewa Indians of Lake Superior and the Mississippi, made and concluded at La Pointe September 30, 1854 (10 Stat. 1109) (referred to in this subsection as the ''1854 Treaty'');

(4) article 2, paragraph 1 of the 1854 Treaty created the L'Anse Indian Reservation as a permanent reservation;

(5) pursuant to article 13 of the 1854 Treaty, the 1854 Treaty became ''obligatory on the contracting parties'' when ratified by the President and the Senate on January 10, 1855;

(6) in 1850, Congress enacted the Act of September 28, 1850 (sections 2479 through 2481 of the Revised Statutes (43 U.S.C. 982 through 984)) (commonly known and referred to in this subsection as the ''Swamp Land Act''), which authorized the State of Arkansas and other States, including the State of Michigan, to ''construct the necessary levees and drains to reclaim'' certain unsold ''swamp and overflowed lands, made unfit thereby for cultivation'' and stating that those lands ''shall remain unsold at the passage of this act'';

(7) following enactment of the Swamp Land Act, the State claimed thousands of acres of swamp land in the State pursuant to that Act;

(8) between 1893 and 1937, the General Land Office patented 2,743 acres of land to the State that were located within the exterior boundaries of the Reservation;

(9) the right of the Community to use and occupy the unsold land within the Reservation had not been extinguished when the United States patented the Reservation Swamp Lands to the State;

(10) in 1852, Congress enacted the Act of August 26, 1852 (10 Stat. 35, chapter 92) (referred to in this subsection as the ''Canal Land Act''), to facilitate the building of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal at the Falls of the St. Mary's River, to connect Lake Superior to Lake Huron;

(11) pursuant to the Canal Land Act, the United States granted the State the right to select 750,000 acres of unsold public land within the State to defray the cost of construction of the Sault Ste. Marie Canal;

(12) the State identified and selected, among other land, a minimum of 1,333.25 and up to 2,720 acres within the exterior boundaries of the Reservation;

(13) the Department of the Interior approved the land selections of the State, including the Reservation Canal Lands, after ratification of the 1854 Treaty;

(14) the Secretary noted that the approval described in paragraph (13) was ''subject to any valid interfering rights'';

(15) the 1854 Treaty set apart from the public domain all unsold land within the Reservation to the Community as of September 30, 1854, which preceded the date on which the State established legally effective title to the Reservation Canal Lands;

(16) the Community made claims to the Department of the Interior with respect to the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands, providing legal analysis and ethnohistorical support for those claims;

(17) in December 2021, the Department of the Interior stated that ''We have carefully reviewed pertinent documents, including the Tribe's expert reports, and have determined that the Tribe's claims to the Swamp Lands and Canal Lands have merit'';

(18) the United States, through the actions of the General Land Office, deprived the Community of the exclusive use and occupancy of the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands within the Reservation, without just compensation as required under the Takings Clause of the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States;

(19) the loss of the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands without just compensation has—

(A) impacted the exercise by the Community of cultural, religious, and subsistence rights on the land;

(B) caused a harmful disconnect between the Community and its land;

(C) impacted the ability of the Community to fully exercise its economy within the Reservation; and

(D) had a negative economic impact on the development of the economy of the Community;

(20) certain non-Indian individuals, entities, and local governments occupy land within the boundaries of the Reservation—

(A) acquired ownership interests in the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands in good faith; and

(B) have an interest in possessing clear title to that land;

(21) this section allows the United States—

(A) to secure a fair and equitable settlement of past inequities suffered by the Community as a result of the actions of the United States that caused the taking of the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands without just compensation; and

(B) to ensure protection of the ownership of the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands by non-Indian occupants of the Reservation, through the settlement of the claims of the Community to that land, and through that action, the relief of any clouds on title;

(22) a settlement will allow the Community to receive just compensation and the local landowners to obtain clear title to land, without long and protracted litigation that would be both costly and detrimental to all involved; and

(23) this section achieves both justice for the Community and security for current landowners through a restorative and nonconfrontational process.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this section are—

(1) to acknowledge the uncompensated taking by the Federal Government of the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands;

(2) to provide compensation to the Community for the uncompensated taking of the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands by the Federal Government;

(3) to extinguish all claims by the Community to the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands and to confirm the ownership by the current landowners of the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands, who obtained that land in good faith;

(4) to extinguish all potential claims by the Community against the United States, the State, and current landowners concerning title to, use of, or occupancy of the Reservation Swamp Lands and the Reservation Canal Lands; and

Subtitle H—Chip Security Act

SEC. 1094. SHORT TITLE.

This subtitle may be cited as the ''Chip Security Act''.

SEC. 1095. SENSE OF CONGRESS.

It is the sense of Congress that—

(1) technology developed in the United States should serve as the foundation for the global ecosystem of artificial intelligence to advance the foreign policy and national security objectives of the United States and allies and partners of the United States;

(2) the United States can foster goodwill, strengthen relationships, and support innovative research around the world by providing allies and partners of the United States with advanced computing capabilities;

(3) advanced integrated circuits and computing hardware that is exported from the United States must be protected from diversion, theft, and other unauthorized use or exploitation in order to bolster the competitiveness of the United States and protect the national security of the United States;

(4) illegal diversion of advanced integrated circuits and computing hardware, particularly illegal diversion to the People's Republic of China and the Russian Federation, is a significant and growing issue that undermines the United States' export controls and threatens the United States' national security;

(5) implementing chip security mechanisms will improve enforcement of export control laws of the United States, assist allies and partners with guarding computing hardware, and enhance protections from bad actors looking to access, divert, or tamper with advanced integrated circuits and computing hardware; and

(6) implementing chip security mechanisms may help with the detection of smuggling or exploitation of advanced integrated circuits and computing hardware, thereby allowing for increased flexibility in export controls and opening the door for more international partners to receive streamlined and larger shipments of advanced computing hardware.

At the end of subtitle G of title X, add the following:

SEC. ___. SENATOR PAUL SIMON STUDY ABROAD PROGRAM.

(a) FINDINGS.—Congress makes the following findings:

(1) To prepare students for success in the modern global economy, opportunities for study abroad should be included as part of a well-rounded education.

(2) Study abroad programs provide students with unparalleled access to international knowledge, an unmatched opportunity to learn world languages, and a unique environment for developing a better understanding of other societies, all of which are knowledge and skills needed in today's global economy.

(3) Only 10 percent of United States college students study abroad before they graduate, leaving 90 percent of graduates entering the workforce without the international skills, knowledge, and experiences afforded by study abroad programs that will position them for success in careers that advance United States interests abroad.

(4) According to Open Doors 2025, published by the Institute of International Education in partnership with the Department of State, of the nearly 300,000 United States college students who studied abroad for credit during the 2023–2024 academic year, 34 percent were men, 11 percent had a disability, and fewer than 2 percent attended a community college in the United States.

(5) Congress authorized the establishment of the Commission on the Abraham Lincoln Study Abroad Fellowship Program (referred to in this section as the ''Lincoln Commission'') under section 104 of the Miscellaneous Appropriations and Offsets Act, 2004 (division H of Public Law 108–199). Pursuant to its mandate, the Lincoln Commission submitted a report to Congress and to the President containing its recommendations for greatly expanding the opportunity for students at institutions of higher education in the United States to study abroad, with special emphasis on studying in developing nations.

(6) According to the Lincoln Commission, ''[e]xperience shows that leadership from administrators and faculty will drive the number of study abroad participants higher and improve the quality of programs. Such leadership is the only way that study abroad will become an integral part of the undergraduate experience.'' A competitive grant program is necessary to encourage and support such leadership.

(7) Student health, safety, and security while studying abroad is, and must continue to be, a priority for institutions of higher education and study abroad programs.

(8) According to Open Doors, study abroad participation at colleges and universities in the United States plummeted by 91 percent during the 2020–2021 academic year due to the COVID–19 pandemic. While study abroad numbers have rebounded, according to the latest Open Doors data, participation remains 14 percent below pre-pandemic levels.

(9) In today's global society, increasing access to study abroad for students at institutions of higher education across the United States is critical to ensuring that those students gain the skills, knowledge, and experiences necessary to maintain the leadership and security of the United States in tackling international challenges that affect the American people.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this section are—

(1) to ensure that significantly more students have access to quality study abroad opportunities, especially among students receiving Federal financial aid;

(2) to ensure that study abroad participation reflects all types of students and institutions of higher education in the United States;

(3) to expand study abroad opportunities to more destinations, as recommended by the Lincoln Commission; and

(4) DACA RECIPIENTS.—The Secretary shall cancel the removal of, and adjust to the status of an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence on a conditional basis, an alien who was granted DACA unless the alien has engaged in conduct since the alien was granted DACA that would make the alien ineligible for DACA.

(2) TREATMENT OF CERTAIN BREAKS IN PRESENCE.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C), an alien shall be considered to have failed to maintain continuous physical presence in the United States under subsection (b)(1)(A) if the alien has departed from the United States for any period exceeding 90 days or for any periods, in the aggregate, exceeding 180 days.

(B) EXTENSIONS FOR EXTENUATING CIRCUMSTANCES.—The Secretary may extend the time periods described in subparagraph (A) for an alien who demonstrates that the failure to timely return to the United States was due to extenuating circumstances beyond the alien's control, including the serious illness of the alien, or death or serious illness of a parent, grandparent, sibling, or child of the alien.
