PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 1813 amends the Torture Victims Relief Act (TVRA) of 1998 to authorize appropriations for domestic and foreign centers for the treatment of victims of torture, and to the United Nations Voluntary Fund for Victims of Torture for fiscal years 2004, 2005 and 2006. This bill includes three substantive provisions. The first provision (Sec. 2) authorizes appropriations for domestic treatment centers for torture victims. The second provision (Sec. 3) authorizes appropriations for foreign treatment centers and programs for victims of torture. This provision (Sec. 3) is the primary provision addressed at the July 23, 2003 mark-up by the Committee on International Relations. The final provision (Sec. 4), authorizes appropriations for the U.S contribution to the United Nations Voluntary Fund for Victims of Torture. This final provision (Sec. 4) was included in the Foreign Relations Authorization Act, Fiscal Years 2004 and 2005 (H.R. 1950).

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR THE LEGISLATION

The authorization of appropriations for domestic treatment centers for victims of torture (Sec. 2) was included in the original act. There has been no increase in funding levels since FY 2001. In spite of this, the number of survivors seeking treatment at U.S. centers funded through the TVRA has significantly increased. The client base at just 14 such centers increased from 935 in 1999 to 1550 in 2000 and to 2579 in 2001. A subsequent survey showed that, during 2002, 23 TVRA-funded centers treated 3664 clients. With the additional funding, it is estimated U.S. centers would have the capacity and ability to serve an additional 2,800 survivors per year. Moreover, there are cities (e.g., Miami, New Orleans, Houston, Dallas, Atlanta, Cleveland, St. Louis, Kansas City, Salt Lake City and Seattle) that have sizable refugee and immigrant communities but no torture treatment service providers. The current level of funding for domestic treatment centers is $10 million; the reauthorization calls for an increase to $20 million in FY 2004, $25 million in FY 2005, and $30 million in FY 2006.

The authorization of appropriations for foreign treatment centers for victims of torture (Sec. 3) was included in the original act. Since the adoption of the TVRA the USAID program has expanded to 45 treatment programs in 26 countries, in Latin America, the Caribbean, Africa, Asia, the Near East, Europe and Eurasia. Non-governmental organizations that receive this AID funding (1) provide direct services to survivors, their families, and communities; (2) strengthen the capacity of country-based institutions in their delivery of services to survivors; and (3) increase the level of knowledge and understanding about the needs of torture victims. The current level of funding is $10 million; the reauthorization calls for a $1 million increase for each fiscal year through FY 2006.

The authorization of appropriations for the United Nations Voluntary Fund for the Victims of Torture (Sec. 4) was included in the original act. In 2002, the Fund provided 169 grants to torture treatment centers in 60 different countries. The Fund assists approximately 80,000 torture victims a year. As the number of treatment centers has grown, the Fund has had to increase the number of grants. The current level of funding is $5 million. Because of the increasing number of programs that deserve assistance, the reauthorization calls for $6 million for FY 2004, $7 million for FY 2005, and $8 million for FY 2006.

H.R. 1813—Torture Victims Relief Reauthorization Act of 2003

SUMMARY

H.R. 1813 would authorize the appropriation of $37 million in 2004, $44 million in 2005, and $51 million in 2006 for programs to provide assistance for the treatment of victims of torture. The bill would authorize funding for the Department of Health and Human Services and the U.S. Agency for International Development for domestic and international centers and programs for the treatment of victims of torture. The bill would also authorize a contribution to the United Nations Voluntary Fund for Victims of Torture. CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 1813 would cost $117 million over the 2004–2008 period, assuming the appropriation of the authorized amounts. The bill would not affect direct spending or receipts.

H.R. 1813 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) and would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

ESTIMATED COST TO THE FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

The estimated budgetary impact of H.R. 1813 is shown in the following table. The estimate assumes the bill will be enacted late in fiscal year 2003; that the amounts authorized for 2004, 2005, and 2006 will be appropriated near the start of each fiscal year; and that spending will follow historical patterns. The costs of this legislation fall within budget functions 150 (international affairs) and 600 (income security).

BASIS OF ESTIMATE

Section 2 would authorize appropriations of $20 million in 2004, $25 million in 2005, and $30 million in 2006 for the Department of Health and Human Services to assist in the rehabilitation of victims of torture. These funds would support a variety of assistance programs for torture victims, including physical and psychological rehabilitation services and legal aid.

Section 3 would authorize appropriations of $11 million in 2004, $12 million in 2005, and $13 million in 2006 for international programs for assistance for the rehabilitation of individual victims of torture and for professionals and organizations that provide treatment services to victims of torture, their families, and their communities.

INTERGOVERNMENTAL AND PRIVATE–SECTOR IMPACT

H.R. 1813 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in UMRA and would not affect the budgets of state, local, or tribal governments.

PERFORMANCE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

The funding objectives of H.R. 1813 (Sec. 2) are (1) to ensure the availability of treatment programs for torture survivors in the United States and contribute to their rehabilitation so that they may become productive members of our communities; (2) enable specialized treatment centers to train mainstream organizations and personnel in the specialized needs of torture victims (a multiplier effect); and (3) foster the expansion of treatment centers in the United States to areas where there are significant refugee and immigrant communities but currently no service providers.

The funding objective H.R. 1813 (Sec. 3) is to facilitate crucial financial and technical support for the foreign treatment centers and programs to ensure their continuing operations and survival. U.S. Government support also gives the centers necessary political leverage when functioning in an unfriendly or indifferent environment. The legislation provides for support for foreign treatment centers, consistent with the United States’ goal of promoting democracy and human rights. Foreign treatment centers (1) influence and train local health care systems so that they become increasingly capable of providing services needed by torture victims; and (2) gather forensic evidence that can be used to improve the capabilities of the legal system to prove when and how torture has been used and to prosecute the perpetrators.

The funding objective of H.R. 1813 (Sec. 4) is to facilitate crucial financial and technical support for foreign treatment centers and programs to ensure their continuing operations and survival. For some centers, receipt of funds directly from the United States would not be politically or otherwise feasible; funds allocated through the United Nations may ensure the existence of centers operating in such precarious circumstances. In addition, the allocation of some U.S. funds through the United Nations encourages others countries to make similar contributions to torture treatment centers.
