"(c) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

"(1) Disability is a natural part of the human experience and in no way diminishes the right of individuals to participate in or contribute to society. Improving educational results for children with disabilities is an essential element of our national policy of ensuring equality of opportunity, full participation, independent living, and economic self-sufficiency for individuals with disabilities.

"(2) Before the date of the enactment of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975 (Public Law 94–142), the special educational needs of millions of children with disabilities were not being fully met and there were many children with disabilities participating in regular school programs whose undiagnosed disabilities prevented them from having a successful educational experience.

"(3) Since the enactment and implementation of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975, this Act has been successful in ensuring children with disabilities and the families of such children access to a free appropriate public education and in improving educational results for children with disabilities.

“(4) Over 25 years of research and experience has demonstrated that the education of children with disabilities can be made more effective by—

“(A) having high expectations for such children and ensuring their access to the general education curriculum in the regular classroom to the maximum extent possible in order—

“(i) to meet developmental goals and, to the maximum extent possible, the challenging expectations that have been established for all children; and

“(ii) to be prepared to lead productive and independent adult lives, to the maximum extent possible;

“(B) strengthening the role and responsibility of parents and ensuring that families of such children have meaningful opportunities to participate in the education of their children at school and at home;

“(C) coordinating this Act with other local, State, and Federal school improvement efforts, including efforts under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, in order to ensure that children with disabilities benefit from such efforts and that special education can become a service for such children rather than a place where they are sent;

“(D) supporting high-quality, intensive professional development for personnel who work with children with disabilities;

“(E) providing incentives for scientifically based reading programs and prereferral intervention services to reduce the need to label children as disabled in order to address their learning needs;

“(F) focusing resources on teaching and learning while reducing paperwork and requirements that do not assist in improving educational results; and

“(G) supporting the development and use of technology, including assistive technology devices and services, to maximize accessibility for children with disabilities.

“(5) While States, local educational agencies, and educational service agencies are primarily responsible for providing an education for all children with disabilities, it is in the national interest that the Federal Government has a supporting role in assisting State and local efforts to educate children with disabilities in order to improve results for such children and to ensure equal protection of the law.

“(6) A more equitable allocation of resources is essential for the Federal Government to meet its responsibility to provide an equal educational opportunity for all individuals.

“(7)(A) The Federal Government must respond to the growing needs of an increasingly diverse society.

“(B) America’s ethnic profile is rapidly changing. In the year 2000, nearly one of every three persons in America was a member of a minority group or was limited English proficient.

“(C) Minority children comprise an increasing percentage of public school students.

“(D) With such changing demographics, recruitment efforts for special education personnel should focus on increasing the participation of minorities in the teaching profession in order to provide appropriate role models with sufficient knowledge to address the special education needs of these students.

“(8)(A) The limited English proficient population is the fastest growing in our Nation, and the growth is occurring in many parts of our Nation.

“(B) Studies have documented apparent discrepancies in the levels of referral and placement of limited English proficient children in special education.

“(C) This poses a special challenge for special education in the referral, assessment, and provision of services for our Nation’s students from non-English language backgrounds.

“(9)(A) Greater efforts are needed to prevent the intensification of problems connected with mislabeling and high dropout rates among minority children with disabilities.

“(B) More minority children continue to be served in special education than would be expected from the percentage of minority students in the general school population.

“(C) African American children are overidentified as having mental retardation and emotional disturbance at rates greater than their white counterparts.

“(D) In the 1998–99 school year, African American children represented just 14.8 percent of the population aged 6 through 21, but comprised 20.2 percent of all children with disabilities.

“(E) Studies have found that schools with predominantly Caucasian students and teachers have placed disproportionately high numbers of their minority students into special education.

“(10)(A) As the number of minority students in special education increases, the number of minority teachers and related services personnel produced in colleges and universities continues to decrease.

“(B) The opportunity for full participation by minority individuals, organizations, and historically black colleges and universities in awards for grants and contracts, boards of organizations receiving assistance under this Act, peer review panels, and training of professionals in the area of special education is essential to obtain greater success in the education of minority children with disabilities.

“(d) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this title are—

“(1)(A) to ensure that all children with disabilities have available to them a free appropriate public education that emphasizes special education and related services designed to meet their unique needs and prepare them for further education, employment, and independent living;

“(B) to ensure that the rights of children with disabilities and parents of such children are protected; and

“(C) to assist States, localities, educational service agencies, and Federal agencies to provide for the education of all children with disabilities;

“(2) to assist States in the implementation of a statewide, comprehensive, coordinated, multidisciplinary, interagency system of early intervention services for infants and toddlers with disabilities and their families;

“(3) to ensure that educators and parents have the necessary tools to improve educational results for children with disabilities by supporting system improvement activities; coordinated research and personnel preparation; coordinated technical assistance, dissemination, and support; and technology development and media services; and

“(4) to assess, and ensure the effectiveness of, efforts to educate children with disabilities.

“(2) SPECIAL RULE FOR USE OF FISCAL YEAR 1999 AMOUNT.—If a State does not make a free appropriate public education available to all children with disabilities aged 3 through 5 in the State in any fiscal year, the Secretary shall compute the State’s amount for fiscal year 1999, solely for the purpose of calculating the State’s allocation in the subsequent year under paragraph (3) or (4), by subtracting the amount allocated to the State for fiscal year 1999 on the basis of those children.

“(3) INCREASE IN FUNDS.—If the amount available for allocations to States under paragraph (1) is greater than the amount allocated to the States under this paragraph for the preceding fiscal year, those allocations shall be calculated as follows:

“(A)(i) Except as provided in subparagraph (B), the Secretary shall allocate—

“(I) to each State the amount it received for fiscal year 1999;

“(II) 85 percent of any remaining funds to States on the basis of their relative populations of children aged 3 through 21 who are of the same age as children with disabilities for whom the State ensures the availability of a free appropriate public education under this part; and

“(III) 15 percent of those remaining funds to States on the basis of their relative populations of children described in subclause (II) who are living in poverty.

“(ii) For the purpose of making grants under this paragraph, the Secretary shall use the most recent population data, including data on children living in poverty, that are available and satisfactory to the Secretary.

“(B) Notwithstanding subparagraph (A), allocations under this paragraph shall be subject to the following:

“(i) No State’s allocation shall be less than its allocation for the preceding fiscal year.

“(ii) No State’s allocation shall be less than the greatest of—

“(I) the sum of—

“(aa) the amount it received for fiscal year 1999; and

“(bb) one-third of one percent of the amount by which the amount appropriated under subsection (i) exceeds the amount appropriated under this section for fiscal year 1999;

“(II) the sum of—

“(bb) that amount multiplied by the percentage by which the increase in the funds appropriated from the preceding fiscal year exceeds 1.5 percent; or

“(III) the sum of—

“(aa) the amount it received for the preceding fiscal year; and

- “(bb) that amount multiplied by 90 percent of the percentage increase in the amount appropriated from the preceding fiscal year.
- “(iii) Notwithstanding clause (ii), no State’s allocation under this paragraph shall exceed the sum of—
- “(I) the amount it received for the preceding fiscal year; and
- “(II) that amount multiplied by the sum of 1.5 percent and the percentage increase in the amount appropriated.
- “(C) If the amount available for allocations under this paragraph is insufficient to pay those allocations in full, those allocations shall be ratably reduced, subject to subparagraph (B)(i).
- “(4) DECREASE IN FUNDS.—If the amount available for allocations to States under paragraph (1) is less than the amount allocated to the States under this section for the preceding fiscal year, those allocations shall be calculated as follows:
- “(A) If the amount available for allocations is greater than the amount allocated to the States for fiscal year 1999, each State shall be allocated the sum of—
- “(i) the amount it received for fiscal year 1999; and
- “(ii) an amount that bears the same relation to any remaining funds as the increase the State received for the preceding fiscal year over fiscal year 1999 bears to the total of all such increases for all States.
- “(B)(i) If the amount available for allocations is equal to or less than the amount allocated to the States for fiscal year 1999, each State shall be allocated the amount it received for fiscal year 1999.
- “(ii) If the amount available is insufficient to make the allocations described in clause (i), those allocations shall be ratably reduced.
- “(e) STATE-LEVEL ACTIVITIES.—
- “(1) IN GENERAL.—
- “(A) Each State may retain not more than the amount described in subparagraph (B) for administration and other State-level activities in accordance with paragraphs (2), (3), and (4).
- “(B) For each fiscal year, the Secretary shall determine and report to the State educational agency an amount that is 25 percent of the amount the State received under this section for fiscal year 1997, cumulatively adjusted by the Secretary for each succeeding fiscal year by the lesser of—
- “(i) the percentage increase, if any, from the preceding fiscal year in the State’s allocation under this section; or
- “(ii) the rate of inflation, as measured by the percentage increase, if any, from the preceding fiscal year in the Consumer Price Index For All Urban Consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor.
- “(C) A State may use funds it retains under subparagraph (A) without regard to—

- “(i) each State may use not more than 20 percent of the maximum amount it may retain under paragraph (1)(A) for any fiscal year or $500,000 (adjusted by the cumulative rate of inflation since fiscal year 1998, as measured by the percentage increase, if any, in the Consumer Price Index For All Urban Consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor), whichever is greater; and
- “(ii) each outlying area may use up to 5 percent of the amount it receives under this section for any fiscal year or $35,000 (adjusted by the cumulative rate of inflation since fiscal year 1998, as measured by the percentage increase, if any, in the Consumer Price Index For All Urban Consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor), whichever is greater.
- “(B) Funds described in subparagraph (A) may also be used for the administration of part C of this Act, if the State educational agency is the lead agency for the State under that part.

“(I) For subgrants to local educational agencies for the purposes described in paragraph (5)(A).

“(5)(A) SUBGRANTS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES FOR ACCOUNTABILITY.—In any fiscal year in which the percentage increase in the State’s allocation under this section exceeds the rate of inflation (as measured by the percentage increase, if any, from the preceding fiscal year in the Consumer Price Index For All Urban Consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor), each State shall reserve, from its allocation under this section, the amount described in subparagraph (B) to make subgrants to local educational agencies, unless that amount is less than $100,000, to provide technical assistance and direct services to local educational agencies identified as being in need of improvement under section 1116 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 on the basis, in whole or in part, of the assessment results of the disaggregated subgroup of students with disabilities, including providing professional development to special and regular education teachers, based on scientifically based research to improve educational instruction.

“(B) MAXIMUM SUBGRANT.—For each fiscal year, the amount referred to in subparagraph (A) is—

“(i) the maximum amount the State was allowed to retain under paragraph (1)(A) for the prior fiscal year, or for fiscal year 1998, 25 percent of the State’s allocation for fiscal year 1997 under this section; multiplied by

“(2) PROCEDURE FOR ALLOCATIONS TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCIES.—For each fiscal year for which funds are allocated to States under subsection (e), each State shall allocate funds under paragraph (1) as follows:

“(A) BASE PAYMENTS.—The State shall first award each agency described in paragraph (1) the amount that agency would have received under this section for fiscal year 1999, if the State had distributed 75 percent of its grant for that year under section 611(d), as then in effect.

“(B) ALLOCATION OF REMAINING FUNDS.—After making allocations under subparagraph (A), the State shall—

“(i) allocate 85 percent of any remaining funds to those agencies on the basis of the relative numbers of children enrolled in public and private elementary and secondary schools within the agency’s jurisdiction; and

“(ii) allocate 15 percent of those remaining funds to those agencies in accordance with their relative numbers of children living in poverty, as determined by the State educational agency.

“(3) REALLOCATION OF FUNDS.—If a State educational agency determines that a local educational agency is adequately providing a free appropriate public education to all children with disabilities residing in the area served by that agency with State and local funds, the State educational agency may reallocate any portion of the funds under this part that are not needed by that local agency to provide a free appropriate public education to other local educational agencies in the State that are not adequately providing special education and related services to all children with disabilities residing in the areas they serve.

“(g) DEFINITIONS.—For the purpose of this section—

“(1) the term ‘average per-pupil expenditure in public elementary and secondary schools in the United States’ means—

“(A) without regard to the source of funds—

“(i) the aggregate current expenditures, during the second fiscal year preceding the fiscal year for which the determination is made (or, if satisfactory data for that year are not available, during the most recent preceding fiscal year for which satisfactory data are available) of all local educational agencies in the 50 States and the District of Columbia); plus

The amount of such payments under subparagraph (B) for any fiscal year shall be equal to 20 percent of the amount allotted under subsection (c).

“(B) DISTRIBUTION OF FUNDS.—The Secretary of the Interior shall distribute the total amount of the payment under subparagraph (A) by allocating to each tribe or tribal organization an amount based on the number of children with disabilities ages 3 through 5 residing on reservations as reported annually, divided by the total of those children served by all tribes or tribal organizations.

These activities may be carried out directly or through contracts or cooperative agreements with the BIA, local educational agencies, and other public or private nonprofit organizations. Such plan shall provide for the coordination of services benefiting these children from whatever source, including tribes, the Indian Health Service, other BIA divisions, and other Federal agencies. In developing the plan, the Secretary of the Interior shall consult with all interested and involved parties. It shall be based on the needs of the children and the system best suited for meeting those needs, and may involve the establishment of cooperative agreements between the BIA, other Federal agencies, and other entities. The plan shall also be distributed upon request to States, State and local educational agencies, and other agencies providing services to infants, toddlers, and children with disabilities, to tribes, and to other interested parties.

“(5) ESTABLISHMENT OF ADVISORY BOARD.—To meet the requirements of section 612(a)(22), the Secretary of the Interior shall establish, under the BIA, an advisory board composed of individuals involved in or concerned with the education and provision of services to Indian infants, toddlers, children, and youth with disabilities, including Indians with disabilities, Indian parents or guardians of such children, teachers, service providers, State and local educational officials, representatives of tribes or tribal organizations, representatives from State Interagency Coordinating Councils under section 641 in States having reservations, and other members representing the various divisions and entities of the BIA. SEC. 202. STATE ELIGIBILITY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—(1) Section 612(a) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1412(a)) is amended in the matter preceding paragraph (1) by striking “demonstrates to the satisfaction of” and inserting “reasonably demonstrates to”.

(2) Paragraphs (1) through (11) of section 612(a) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1412(a)(1)–(11)) are amended to read as follows:

“(1) FREE APPROPRIATE PUBLIC EDUCATION.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A free appropriate public education is available to all children with disabilities residing in the State between the ages of 3 and 21, inclusive, including children with disabilities who have been suspended or expelled from school.

“(B) LIMITATION.—The obligation to make a free appropriate public education available to all children with disabilities does not apply with respect to children—

“(i) aged 3 through 5 and 18 through 21 in a State to the extent that its application to those children would be inconsistent with State law or practice, or the order of any court, respecting the provision of public education to children in those age ranges; and

“(ii) aged 18 through 21 to the extent that State law does not require that special education and related services under this part be provided to children with disabilities who, in the educational placement prior to their incarceration in an adult correctional facility—

“(I) were not actually identified as being a child with a disability under section 602(3) of this Act; or

“(II) did not have an individualized education program under this part.

“(2) FULL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY GOAL.—The State has established a goal of providing full educational opportunity to all children with disabilities and a detailed timetable for accomplishing that goal.

“(3) CHILD FIND.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—All children with disabilities residing in the State, including children with disabilities attending private schools, regardless of the severity of their disabilities, and who are in need of special education and related services, are identified, located, and evaluated and a practical method is developed and implemented to determine which children with disabilities are currently receiving needed special education and related services.

“(B) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this Act requires that children be classified by their disability so long as each child who has a disability listed in section 602 and who, by reason of that disability, needs special education and related services is regarded as a child with a disability under this part.

“(4) INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAM.—An individualized education program, or an individualized family service plan that meets the requirements of section 636(d), is developed, reviewed, and revised for each child with a disability in accordance with section 614(d).

“(5) LEAST RESTRICTIVE ENVIRONMENT.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—To the maximum extent appropriate, children with disabilities, including children in public or private institutions or other care facilities, are educated with children who are not disabled, and special classes, separate schooling, or other removal of children with disabilities from the regular educational environment occurs only when the nature or severity of the disability of a child is such that education in regular classes with the use of supplementary aids and services cannot be achieved satisfactorily.

“(B) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—If the State uses a funding mechanism by which the State distributes State funds on the basis of the type of setting in which a child is served, the funding mechanism does not result in placements that violate the requirements of subparagraph (A).

“(ii) ASSURANCE.—If the State does not have policies and procedures to ensure compliance with clause (i), the State shall provide the Secretary an assurance that it will revise the funding mechanism as soon as feasible to ensure that such mechanism does not result in such placements.

“(6) PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Children with disabilities and their parents are afforded the procedural safeguards required by section 615.

“(B) ADDITIONAL PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS.—Procedures to ensure that testing and evaluation materials and procedures utilized for the purposes of evaluation and placement of children with disabilities for services under this Act will be selected and administered so as not to be racially or culturally discriminatory. Such materials or procedures shall be provided and administered in the child’s native language or mode of communication, unless it clearly is not feasible to do so, and no single procedure shall be the sole criterion for determining an appropriate educational program for a child.

“(8) CONFIDENTIALITY.—Agencies in the State comply with section 617(d) (relating to the confidentiality of records and information).

“(9) TRANSITION FROM PART C TO PRESCHOOL PROGRAMS.—Children participating in early intervention programs assisted under part C, and who will participate in preschool programs assisted under this part, experience a smooth and effective transition to those preschool programs in a manner consistent with section 637(a)(8). By the third birthday of such a child, an individualized education program or, if consistent with section 636(d), an individualized family service plan, has been developed and is being implemented for the child. The local educational agency will participate in transition planning conferences arranged by the designated lead agency under section 637(a)(8).

“(A) CHILDREN ENROLLED IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY THEIR PARENTS.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—To the extent consistent with the number and location of children with disabilities in the State who are enrolled by their parents in private elementary and secondary schools in the area served by such agency, provision is made for the participation of those children in the program assisted or carried out under this part by providing for such children special education and related services in accordance with the following requirements, unless the Secretary has arranged for services to those children under subsection (f):

“(I) Amounts to be expended for the provision of those services (including direct services to parentally-placed children) by a local educational agency shall be equal to a proportionate amount of Federal funds made available under this part.

“(II) In calculating the proportionate share of Federal funds, the local educational agency, after timely and meaningful consultation with representatives of children with disabilities parentally-placed in private schools as described in clause (iii), shall conduct a thorough and complete child-find process to determine the number of parentally-placed children with disabilities attending private schools located in the district.

“(III) Such services may be provided to children with disabilities on the premises of private, including religious, schools, to the extent consistent with law.

“(IV) State and local funds may supplement and in no case shall supplant the proportionate amount of Federal funds required to be expended under this paragraph.

“(V) Each local educational agency maintains in its records and provides to the State educational agency the number of children evaluated under this paragraph, the number of children determined to be children with disabilities, and the number of children served under this subsection.

“(ii) CHILD-FIND REQUIREMENT.—

“(I) IN GENERAL.—The requirements of paragraph (3) of this subsection (relating to child find) shall apply with respect to children with disabilities in the State who are enrolled in private, including religious, elementary and secondary schools.

“(II) EQUITABLE PARTICIPATION.—The child-find process must be designed to ensure the equitable participation of parentally-placed private school children and an accurate count of such children.

“(III) ACTIVITIES.—In carrying out this clause, the local educational agency, or where applicable, the State educational agency, shall undertake activities similar to those activities undertaken for its public school children.

“(IV) COST.—The cost of carrying out this clause, including individual evaluations, may not be considered in determining whether a local education agency has met its obligations under clause (i).

“(V) COMPLETION PERIOD.—Such child-find process shall be completed in a time period comparable to that for other students attending public schools in the local educational agency.

“(iii) CONSULTATION.—To ensure timely and meaningful consultation, a local educational agency, or where appropriate, a state educational agency, shall consult with representatives of children with disabilities parentally-placed in private schools during the design and development of special education and related services for these children including—

“(I) the child-find process and how parentally-placed private school children suspected of having a disability can participate equitably, including how parents, teachers, and private school officials will be informed of the process;

“(II) the determination of the proportionate share of Federal funds available to serve parentally-placed private school children with disabilities under this paragraph, including the determination of how those funds were calculated;

“(III) the consultation process among the district, private school officials, and parents of parentally-placed private school children with disabilities including how such process will operate throughout the school year to ensure that parentally-placed children with disabilities identified through the child find process can meaningfully participate in special education and related services; and

“(IV) how, where, and by whom special education and related services will be provided for parentally-placed private school children, including a discussion of alternate service delivery mechanisms, how such services will be apportioned if funds are insufficient to serve all children, and how and when these decisions will be made.

“(iv) COMPLIANCE.—

“(I) IN GENERAL.—A private school official shall have the right to complain to the State educational agency that the local educational agency did not engage in consultation that was meaningful and timely, or did not give due consideration to the views of the private school official.

“(II) PROCEDURE.—If the private school official wishes to complain, the official shall provide the basis of the noncompliance with this section by the local educational agency to the State educational agency, and the local educational agency shall forward the appropriate documentation to the State educational agency. If the private school official is dissatisfied with the decision of the State educational agency, such official may complain to the Secretary by providing the basis of the noncompliance with this section by the local educational agency to the Secretary, and the State educational agency shall forward the appropriate documentation to the Secretary.

“(v) PROVISION OF SERVICES.—

“(I) DIRECTLY OR THROUGH CONTRACTS.—An agency may provide special education and related services directly or through contracts with public and private agencies, organizations, and institutions.

“(II) SECULAR, NEUTRAL, NONIDEOLOGICAL.—Special education and related services, including materials and equipment, shall be secular, neutral, and nonideological.

“(vi) PUBLIC CONTROL OF FUNDS.—

“(I) IN GENERAL.—The control of funds used to provide special education and related services under this section, and title to materials, equipment, and property purchased with those funds, shall be in a public agency for the uses and purposes provided in this Act, and a public agency shall administer the funds and property.

“(II) PROVISION OF SERVICES.—The provision of services under this Act shall be provided—

“(aa) by employees of a public agency; or

“(bb) through contract by the public agency with an individual, association, agency, organization, or other entity.

“(B) CHILDREN PLACED IN, OR REFERRED TO, PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY PUBLIC AGENCIES.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Children with disabilities in private schools and facilities are provided special education and related services, in accordance with an individualized education program, at no cost to their parents, if such children are placed in, or referred to, such schools or facilities by the State or appropriate local educational agency as the means of carrying out the requirements of this part or any other applicable law requiring the provision of special education and related services to all children with disabilities within such State.

“(ii) STANDARDS.—In all cases described in clause (i), the State educational agency shall determine whether such schools and facilities meet standards that apply to State and local educational agencies and that children so served have all the rights they would have if served by such agencies.

“(C) PAYMENT FOR EDUCATION OF CHILDREN ENROLLED IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS WITHOUT CONSENT OF OR REFERRAL BY THE PUBLIC AGENCY.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (A), this part does not require a local educational agency to pay for the cost of education, including special education and related services, of a child with a disability at a private school or facility if that agency made a free appropriate public education available to the child and the parents elected to place the child in such private school or facility.

“(ii) REIMBURSEMENT FOR PRIVATE SCHOOL PLACEMENT.—If the parents of a child with a disability, who previously received special education and related services under the authority of a public agency, enroll the child in a private elementary or secondary school without the consent of or referral by the public agency, a court or a hearing officer may require the agency to reimburse the parents for the cost of that enrollment if the court or hearing officer finds that the agency had not made a free appropriate public education available to the child in a timely manner prior to that enrollment.

“(iii) LIMITATION ON REIMBURSEMENT.—The cost of reimbursement described in clause (ii) may be reduced or denied—

“(I) if—

“(aa) at the most recent IEP meeting that the parents attended prior to removal of the child from the public school, the parents did not inform the IEP Team that they were rejecting the placement proposed by the public agency to provide a free appropriate public education to their child, including stating their concerns and their intent to enroll their child in a private school at public expense; or

“(bb) 10 business days (including any holidays that occur on a business day) prior to the removal of the child from the public school, the parents did not give written notice to the public agency of the information described in division (aa);

“(II) if, prior to the parents’ removal of the child from the public school, the public agency informed the parents, through the notice requirements described in section 615(b)(7), of its intent to evaluate the child (including a statement of the purpose of the evaluation that was appropriate and reasonable), but the parents did not make the child available for such evaluation; or

“(III) upon a judicial finding of unreasonableness with respect to actions taken by the parents.

“(iv) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding the notice requirement in clause (iii)(I), the cost of reimbursement—

“(I) shall not be reduced or denied for failure to provide such notice if—

“(aa) the school prevented the parent from providing such notice;

“(bb) the parents had not received notice, pursuant to section 615, of the notice requirement in clause (iii)(I); or

“(cc) compliance with clause (iii)(I) would likely result in physical harm to the child; and

“(II) may, in the discretion of a court or a hearing officer, not be reduced or denied for failure to provide such notice if—

“(aa) the parent is illiterate or cannot write in English; or

“(11) STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY RESPONSIBLE FOR GENERAL SUPERVISION.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The State educational agency is responsible for ensuring that—

“(i) the requirements of this part are met; and
“(ii) all educational programs for children with disabilities in the State, including all such programs administered by any other State or local agency—

“(I) are under the general supervision of individuals in the State who are responsible for educational programs for children with disabilities; and

“(II) meet the educational standards of the State educational agency.

“(B) LIMITATION.—Subparagraph (A) shall not limit the responsibility of agencies in the State other than the State educational agency to provide, or pay for some or all of the costs of, a free appropriate public education for any child with a disability in the State.

“(C) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding subparagraphs (A) and (B), the Governor (or another individual pursuant to State law), consistent with State law, may assign to any public agency in the State the responsibility of ensuring that the requirements of this part are met with respect to children with disabilities who are convicted as adults under State law and incarcerated in adult prisons.”.

(3) Paragraphs (13) through (22) of section 612(a) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1412(a)(13)–(22)) are amended to read as follows:

“(13) PROCEDURAL REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY ELIGIBILITY.—The State educational agency will not make a final determination that a local educational agency is not eligible for assistance under this part without first affording that agency reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing.

“(14) PERSONNEL STANDARDS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The State educational agency has established and maintains standards to ensure that personnel necessary to carry out this part are appropriately and adequately prepared and trained.

“(B) STANDARDS DESCRIBED.—Such standards shall—

“(i) ensure that special education teachers who teach in core academic subjects are highly qualified in those subjects;

“(ii) be consistent with any State-approved or State-recognized certification, licensing, registration, or other comparable requirements that apply to the professional discipline in which those personnel are providing special education or related services in order to ensure that such individuals are qualified to provide such services; and

“(iii) allow paraprofessionals and assistants who are appropriately trained and supervised, in accordance with State law, regulations, or written policy, in meeting the requirements of this part to be used to assist in the provision of special education and related services to children with disabilities under this part.

“(C) INNOVATIVE STRATEGIES FOR PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT.—The State educational agency encourages the development and use of research-based innovative strategies, such as strategies using technology, peer networks, and distance learning, to deliver intensive professional development programs for special and regular education teachers, administrators, principals, and related services personnel that—

“(i) improve educational results for students with disabilities; and “(ii) are both cost-effective and easily accessible.

“(15) PERFORMANCE GOALS AND INDICATORS.—The State—

“(i) promote the purposes of this Act, as stated in section 601(d);

“(ii) are the same as the State’s definition of adequate yearly progress, including the State’s objectives for progress by children with disabilities, under section 1111(b)(2)(C) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965;

“(iii) address dropout rates, as well as such other factors as the State may determine; and

“(iv) are consistent, to the extent appropriate, with any other goals and standards for children established by the State;

“(B) has established performance indicators the State will use to assess progress toward achieving those goals described in subparagraph (A), including measurable annual objectives for progress by children with disabili-

ities under section 1111(b)(2)(C) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965; and “(C) will annually report to the Secretary and the public on the progress of the State, and of children with disabilities in the State, toward meeting the goals established under subparagraph (A), which may include elements of the reports required under section 1111(h) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

“(16) PARTICIPATION IN ASSESSMENTS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—(i) All children with disabilities are included in all general State and district-wide assessment programs, including assessments described under title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, with appropriate accommodations, where necessary and as indicated in their respective individualized education programs.

“(ii) The State (or, in the case of a district-wide assessment, the local educational agency) has developed and implemented guidelines for the provision of accommodations described in clause (i).

“(iii) The State (or, in the case of a district-wide assessment the local educational agency)—

“(I) has developed and implemented guidelines for the participation of children with disabilities in alternate assessments for those children who cannot participate in regular assessments under clause (i); and “(II) conducts those alternate assessments.

“(B) REPORTS.—The State educational agency (or, in the case of a district-wide assessment, the local educational agency) makes available to the public, and reports to the public with the same frequency and in the same detail as it reports on the assessment of nondisabled children, the following:

“(i) The number of children with disabilities participating in regular assessments, and the number of those children who were provided accommodations in order to participate in those assessments.

“(ii) The number of children with disabilities participating in alternate assessments.

“(iii) The performance of children with disabilities on regular assessments and on alternate assessments (if the number of children with disabilities participating in those assessments is sufficient to yield statistically reliable information and reporting that information would not reveal personally identifiable information about an individual student), compared with the achievement of all children, including children with disabilities, on those assessments.

“(17) DISPUTE RESOLUTION.—The State has in effect systems of mediation and voluntary binding arbitration pursuant to section 615(e).

“(18) SUPPLEMENTATION OF STATE, LOCAL, AND OTHER FEDERAL FUNDS.—

“(A) EXPENDITURES.—Funds paid to a State under this part will be expended in accordance with all the provisions of this part.

“(B) PROHIBITION AGAINST COMMINGLING.—Funds paid to a State under this part will not be commingled with State funds.

“(C) PROHIBITION AGAINST SUPPLANTATION AND CONDITIONS FOR WAIVER BY SECRETARY.—Except as provided in section 613, funds paid to a State under this part will be used to supplement the level of Federal, State, and local funds (including funds that are not under the direct control of State or local educational agencies) expended for special education and related services provided to children with disabilities under this part and in no case to supplant such Federal, State, and local funds, except that, where the State provides clear and convincing evidence that all children with disabilities have available to them a free appropriate public education, the Secretary may waive, in whole or in part, the requirements of this subparagraph if the Secretary concurs with the evidence provided by the State.

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The State does not reduce the amount of State financial support for special education and related services for children with disabilities, or otherwise made available because of the excess costs of educating those children, below the amount of that support for the preceding fiscal year.

“(B) REDUCTION OF FUNDS FOR FAILURE TO MAINTAIN SUPPORT.—The Secretary shall reduce the allocation of funds under section 611 for any fiscal year following the fiscal year in which the State fails to comply with the requirement of subparagraph (A) by the same amount by which the State fails to meet the requirement.

“(C) WAIVERS FOR EXCEPTIONAL OR UNCONTROLLABLE CIRCUMSTANCES.—The Secretary may waive the requirement of subparagraph (A) for a State, for one fiscal year at a time, if the Secretary determines that—

“(i) granting a waiver would be equitable due to exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances such as a natural disaster or a precipitous and unforeseen decline in the financial resources of the State; or

“(ii) the State meets the standard in paragraph (18)(C) of this section for a waiver of the requirement to supplement, and not to supplant, funds received under this part.

“(D) SUBSEQUENT YEARS.—If, for any year, a State fails to meet the requirement of subparagraph (A), including any year for which the State is granted a waiver under subparagraph (C), the financial support required of the State in future years under subparagraph (A) shall be the amount that would have been required in the absence of that failure and not the reduced level of the State’s support.

“(20) PUBLIC PARTICIPATION.—Prior to the adoption of any policies and procedures needed to comply with this section (including any amendments to such policies and procedures), the State ensures that there are public hearings, adequate notice of the hearings, and an opportunity for comment available to the general public, including individuals with disabilities and parents of children with disabilities.

“(21) STATE ADVISORY PANEL.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The State has established and maintains an advisory panel for the purpose of providing policy guidance with respect to special education and related services for children with disabilities in the State.

“(B) MEMBERSHIP.—Such advisory panel shall consist of members appointed by the Governor, or any other official authorized under State law to make such appointments, that is representative of the State population and that is composed of individuals involved in, or concerned with, the education of children with disabilities, including—

“(ii) individuals with disabilities;

“(iii) teachers;

“(iv) representatives of institutions of higher education that prepare special education and related services personnel;

“(v) advise the State educational agency in developing and implementing policies relating to the coordination of services for children with disabilities.

“(22) SUSPENSION AND EXPULSION RATES.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The State educational agency examines data, including data disaggregated by race and ethnicity, to determine if significant discrepancies are occurring in the rate of long-term suspensions and expulsions of children with disabilities—

“(i) among local educational agencies in the State; or “(ii) compared to such rates for nondisabled children within such agencies.

“(B) REVIEW AND REVISION OF POLICIES.—If such discrepancies are occurring, the State educational agency reviews and, if appropriate, revises (or requires the affected State or local educational agency to revise) its policies, procedures, and practices relating to the development and implementation of IEPs, the use of positive behavioral interventions and supports, and procedural safeguards, to ensure that such policies, procedures, and practices comply with this Act.”

(4) Section 612(a) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1412(a)(13)–(22)) is amended by adding at the end the following:

“(23) INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The State adopts the national instructional materials accessibility standard for the purposes of providing instructional materials to blind persons or other persons with print disabilities in a timely manner after the publication of the standard by the Secretary in the Federal Register.

“(B) PURCHASE REQUIREMENT.—Not later than 2 years after the date of the enactment of the Improving Education Results for Children With Disabilities Act of 2003, the State educational agency, when purchasing instructional materials for use in public elementary and secondary schools within the State, requires the publisher of the instructional materials, as a part of any purchase agreement that is made, renewed, or revised, to prepare and supply electronic files containing the contents of the instructional materials using the national instructional materials accessibility standard.

“(C) DEFINITION.—For purposes of this paragraph, the term ‘instructional materials’ means printed textbooks and related core materials that are written and published primarily for use in elementary school and secondary school instruction and are required by a State educational agency or local educational agency for use by pupils in the classroom.

“(24) OVERIDENTIFICATION AND DISPROPORTIONALITY.—The State has in effect, consistent with the purposes of this Act and with section 618, policies and procedures designed to prevent the overidentification or disproportionate representation by race and ethnicity of children as children with disabilities, including the identification of children as children with disabilities in accordance with a particular impairment described in section 602(3).

“(25) PROHIBITION ON PSYCHOTROPIC MEDICATION.—The State educational agency develops and implements policies and procedures prohibiting school personnel from requiring a child to obtain a prescription for substances covered by section 202(c) of the Controlled Substances Act (21 U.S.C. 812(c)) as a condition of attending school or receiving services.”

(b) STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY AS PROVIDER OF FREE APPROPRIATE PUBLIC EDUCATION OR DIRECT SERVICES.—Section 612(b) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1412(b)) is amended to read as follows:

“(b) STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY AS PROVIDER OF FREE APPROPRIATE PUBLIC EDUCATION OR DIRECT SERVICES.—If the State educational agency provides free appropriate public education to children with disabilities, or provides direct services to such children, such agency—

“(1) shall comply with any additional requirements of section 613(a), as if such agency were a local educational agency; and

“(2) may use amounts that are otherwise available to such agency under this part to serve those children without regard to section 613(a)(2)(A)(i) (relating to excess costs).”

(c) EXCEPTION FOR PRIOR STATE PLANS.—Section 612(c) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1412(c)) is amended to read as follows:

“(c) EXCEPTION FOR PRIOR STATE PLANS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—If a State has on file with the Secretary policies and procedures that demonstrate that such State meets any requirement of subsection (a), including any policies and procedures filed under this part as in effect before the effective date of the Improving Education Results for Children With Disabilities Act of 2003, the Secretary shall consider such State to have met such requirement for purposes of receiving a grant under this part.

“(2) MODIFICATIONS MADE BY STATE.—Subject to paragraph (3), an application submitted by a State in accordance with this section shall remain in effect until the State submits to the Secretary such modifications as the State deems necessary. This section shall apply to a modification to an application to the same extent and in the same manner as this section applies to the original plan.

“(3) MODIFICATIONS REQUIRED BY THE SECRETARY.—If, after the effective date of the Improving Education Results for Children With Disabilities Act of 2003, the provisions of this Act are amended (or the regulations developed to carry out this Act are amended), or there is a new interpretation of this Act by a Federal court or a State's highest court, or there is an official finding of noncompliance with Federal law or regulations, the Secretary may require a State to modify its application only to the extent necessary to ensure the State's compliance with this part."

(d) APPROVAL BY THE SECRETARY.—Section 612(d) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1412(d)) is amended to read as follows:

"(d) APPROVAL BY THE SECRETARY.—

"(2) NOTICE AND HEARING.—The Secretary shall not make a final determination that a State is not eligible to receive a grant under this part until after providing the State—

"(A) with reasonable notice; and

"(B) with an opportunity for a hearing."

(e) ASSISTANCE UNDER OTHER FEDERAL PROGRAMS.—Section 612(e) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1412(e)) is amended to read as follows:

"(e) ASSISTANCE UNDER OTHER FEDERAL PROGRAMS.—Nothing in this title permits a State to reduce medical and other assistance available, or to alter eligibility, under titles V and XIX of the Social Security Act with respect to the provision of a free appropriate public education for children with disabilities in the State."

SEC. 203. LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY ELIGIBILITY.

Section 613 of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1413) is amended to read as follows:

"SEC. 613. LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY ELIGIBILITY.

"(a) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency is eligible for assistance under this part for a fiscal year if such agency reasonably demonstrates to the State educational agency that it meets each of the following conditions:

"(1) CONSISTENCY WITH STATE POLICIES.—The local educational agency, in providing for the education of children with disabilities within its jurisdiction, has in effect policies, procedures, and programs that are consistent with the State policies and procedures established under section 612.

"(2) USE OF AMOUNTS.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—Amounts provided to the local educational agency under this part shall be expended in accordance with the applicable provisions of this part and—

"(i) shall be used only to pay the excess costs of providing special education and related services to children with disabilities;

"(ii) shall be used to supplement State, local, and other Federal funds and not to supplant such funds; and

"(iii) shall not be used, except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C), to reduce the level of expenditures for the education of children with disabilities made by the local educational agency from local funds below the level of those expenditures for the preceding fiscal year.

"(B) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding the restriction in subparagraph (A)(iii), a local educational agency may reduce the level of expenditures where such reduction is attributable to—

"(i) the voluntary departure, by retirement or otherwise, or departure for just cause, of special education personnel;

"(ii) a decrease in the enrollment of children with disabilities;

"(iii) the termination of the obligation of the agency, consistent with this part, to provide a program of special education to a particular child with a disability that is an exceptionally costly program, as determined by the State educational agency, because the child—

"(I) has left the jurisdiction of the agency;

"(II) has reached the age at which the obligation of the agency to provide a free appropriate public education to the child has terminated; or

"(III) no longer needs such program of special education; or

"(iv) the termination of costly expenditures for long-term purchases, such as the acquisition of equipment or the construction of school facilities.

"(C) TREATMENT OF FEDERAL FUNDS IN CERTAIN FISCAL YEARS.—

"(i) Notwithstanding clauses (ii) and (iii) of subparagraph (A), for any fiscal year for which amounts appropriated to carry out section 611 exceeds $4,100,000,000, a local educational agency may treat as local funds, for the purpose of such clauses, up to 20 percent of the amount of funds it receives under this part that exceeds the amount it received under this part for the previous fiscal year.

“(ii) If a local educational agency chooses to use the authority under clause (i), then the agency shall use those local funds to provide additional funding for programs under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, including, but not limited to, programs that address student achievement, comprehensive school reform, literacy, teacher quality and professional development, school safety, before- and after-school learning opportunities.

“(iii) Notwithstanding clause (i), if a State educational agency determines that a local educational agency is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of subsection (a), the State educational agency shall prohibit the local educational agency from treating funds received under this part as local funds under clause (i) for that fiscal year, but only if it is authorized to do so by the State constitution or a State statute.

“(D) SCHOOLWIDE PROGRAMS UNDER TITLE I OF THE ESEA.—Notwithstanding subparagraph (A) or any other provision of this part, a local educational agency may use funds received under this part for any fiscal year to carry out a schoolwide program under section 1114 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, except that the amount so used in any such program shall not exceed—

“(i) the number of children with disabilities participating in the schoolwide program; multiplied by

“(ii)(I) the amount received by the local educational agency under this part for that fiscal year; divided by

“(II) the number of children with disabilities in the jurisdiction of that agency.

“(3) PERSONNEL DEVELOPMENT.—The local educational agency shall ensure that all personnel necessary to carry out this part are appropriately and adequately prepared, consistent with the requirements of section 612 of this Act and section 1119 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

“(4) PERMISSIVE USE OF FUNDS.—Notwithstanding paragraph (2)(A) or section 612(a)(18)(B) (relating to commingled funds), funds provided to the local educational agency under this part may be used for the following activities:

“(A) SERVICES AND AIDS THAT ALSO BENEFIT NONDISABLED CHILDREN.—For the costs of special education and related services and supplementary aids and services provided in a regular class or other education-related setting to a child with a disability in accordance with the individualized education program of the child, even if one or more nondisabled children benefit from such services.

“(B) PREREFERRAL SERVICES.—To develop and implement a system of comprehensive coordinated prereferral education support services in accordance with subsection (f).

“(C) HIGH COST EDUCATION AND RELATED SERVICES.—To establish and implement cost or risk sharing funds, consortia, or cooperatives for the agency itself, or for local educational agencies working in consortium of which the local educational agency is a part, to pay for high cost special education and related services.

“(D) CASE MANAGEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION.—To purchase appropriate technology for record keeping, data collection, and related case management activities of teachers and related services personnel who are providing services described in the individualized education program of children with disabilities necessary to the implementation of those case management activities.

“(E) SUPPLEMENTAL EDUCATIONAL SERVICES FOR CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES IN SCHOOLS DESIGNATED FOR IMPROVEMENT.—For the reasonable additional expenses (as determined by the local educational agency) of any necessary accommodations to allow children with disabilities who are being educated in a school identified for school improvement under section 1116(b) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 6316(b)) to be provided supplemental educational services under section 1116(e) of such Act on an equitable basis.

“(5) TREATMENT OF CHARTER SCHOOLS AND THEIR STUDENTS.—In carrying out this part with respect to charter schools that are public schools of the local educational agency, the local educational agency—

“(A) serves children with disabilities attending those schools in the same manner as it serves children with disabilities in its other schools, including providing supplemental and related services on site at the charter school

when the local educational agency has a policy or practice of providing those services on site to its other schools; and

“(B) provides funds under this part to those schools on the same basis as it provides those funds to its other public schools (including, at the option of such agency, proportional distribution based on relative enrollment of children with disabilities at such charter schools), and at the same time as such agency distributes other Federal funds to those schools, consistent with the State’s charter law.

“(6) PURCHASE OF INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS.—Not later than 2 years after the date of the enactment of the Improving Education Results for Children With Disabilities Act of 2003, the local educational agency, when purchasing instructional materials for use in public elementary and secondary schools within the local educational agency, requires the publisher of the instructional materials, as a part of any purchase agreement that is made, renewed, or revised, to prepare and supply electronic files containing the contents of the instructional materials using the national instructional materials accessibility standard described in section 612(a)(23).

“(7) INFORMATION FOR STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—The local educational agency shall provide the State educational agency with information necessary to enable the State educational agency to carry out its duties under this part, including, with respect to paragraphs (15) and (16) of section 612(a), information relating to the performance of children with disabilities participating in programs carried out under this part.

“(8) PUBLIC INFORMATION.—The local educational agency shall make available to parents of children with disabilities and to the general public all documents relating to the eligibility of such agency under this part.

“(9) RECORDS REGARDING MIGRATORY CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES.—The local educational agency shall cooperate in the Secretary’s efforts under section 1308 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 6398) to ensure the linkage of records pertaining to migratory children with a disability for the purpose of electronically exchanging, among the States, health and educational information regarding such children.

“(b) EXCEPTION FOR PRIOR LOCAL PLANS.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—If a local educational agency or State agency has on file with the State educational agency policies and procedures that demonstrate that such local educational agency, or such State agency, as the case may be, meets any requirement of subsection (a), including any policies and procedures filed under this part as in effect before the effective date of the Improving Education Results for Children With Disabilities Act of 2003, the State educational agency shall consider such local educational agency or State agency, as the case may be, to have met such requirement for purposes of receiving assistance under this part.

“(2) MODIFICATION MADE BY LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—Subject to paragraph (3), an application submitted by a local educational agency in accordance with this section shall remain in effect until it submits to the State educational agency such modifications as the local educational agency deems necessary.

“(3) MODIFICATIONS REQUIRED BY STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—If, after the date of the enactment of the Improving Education Results for Children With Disabilities Act of 2003, the provisions of this Act are amended (or the regulations developed to carry out this Act are amended), or there is a new interpretation of this Act by Federal or State courts, or there is an official finding of non-compliance with Federal or State law or regulations, the State educational agency may require a local educational agency to modify its application only to the extent necessary to ensure the local educational agency’s compliance with this part or State law.

“(c) NOTIFICATION OF LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY OR STATE AGENCY IN CASE OF INELIGIBILITY.—If the State educational agency determines that a local educational agency or State agency is not eligible under this section, the State educational agency shall notify the local educational agency or State agency, as the case may be, of that determination and shall provide such local educational agency or State agency with reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing.

“(d) LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY COMPLIANCE.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—If the State educational agency, after reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing, finds that a local educational agency or State agency that has been determined to be eligible under this section is failing to comply with any requirement described in subsection (a), the State educational agency shall reduce or shall not provide any further payments to the local educational agency or State agency until the State educational agency is satisfied that the local educational agency or State agency, as the case may be, is complying with that requirement.

“(2) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—Any State agency or local educational agency in receipt of a notice described in paragraph (1) shall, by means of public notice, take such measures as may be necessary to bring the pendency of an action pursuant to this subsection to the attention of the public within the jurisdiction of such agency.

“(3) CONSIDERATION.—In carrying out its responsibilities under paragraph (1), the State educational agency shall consider any decision made in a hearing held under section 615 that is adverse to the local educational agency or State agency involved in that decision.

“(1) JOINT ESTABLISHMENT.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency may require a local educational agency to establish its eligibility jointly with another local educational agency if the State educational agency determines that the local educational agency would be ineligible under this section because the local educational agency would not be able to establish and maintain programs of sufficient size and scope to effectively meet the needs of children with disabilities.

“(B) CHARTER SCHOOL EXCEPTION.—A State educational agency may not require a charter school that is a local educational agency to jointly establish its eligibility under subparagraph (A) unless it is explicitly permitted to do so under the State’s charter school statute.

“(2) AMOUNT OF PAYMENTS.—If a State educational agency requires the joint establishment of eligibility under paragraph (1), the total amount of funds made available to the affected local educational agencies shall be equal to the sum of the payments that each such local educational agency would have received under section 611(f) if such agencies were eligible for such payments.

“(3) REQUIREMENTS.—Local educational agencies that establish joint eligibility under this subsection shall—

“(A) adopt policies and procedures that are consistent with the State’s policies and procedures under section 612(a); and

“(4) REQUIREMENTS FOR EDUCATIONAL SERVICE AGENCIES.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—If an educational service agency is required by State law to carry out programs under this part, the joint responsibilities given to local educational agencies under this subsection shall—

“(i) not apply to the administration and disbursement of any payments received by that educational service agency; and

“(ii) be carried out only by that educational service agency.

“(B) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, an educational service agency shall provide for the education of children with disabilities in the least restrictive environment, as required by section 612(a)(5).

“(f) PREREFERRAL SERVICES.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency may use not more than 15 percent of the amount such agency receives under this part for any fiscal year, in combination with other amounts (which may include amounts other than education funds), to develop and implement comprehensive coordinated prereferral educational support services for students in kindergarten through grade 12 (with a particular emphasis on students in grades kindergarten through 3) who have not been identified as needing special education or related services but who need additional academic and behavioral support to succeed in a general education environment.

“(2) ACTIVITIES.—In implementing comprehensive coordinated prereferral educational services under this subsection, a local educational agency may carry out the following activities:

“(A) Professional development (which may be provided by entities other than local educational agencies) for teachers to enable them to deliver scientifically based academic and behavioral interventions, including scientifically based literacy instruction.

“(B) Providing educational evaluations, services, and supports, including scientifically based literacy instruction and speech therapy.

“(C) Providing behavioral evaluations and services and supports, including positive behavioral interventions and supports.

“(3) EXCLUSION.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to either limit or create a right to a free appropriate public education under this part.

“(4) REPORTING.—Each local educational agency that develops and maintains comprehensive coordinated prereferral educational support services under this subsection shall annually report to the State educational agency on—

- “(A) the number of students served under this subsection; and
- “(B) the number of students served under this subsection who subsequently receive special education and related services under this Act during the preceding 2-year period.

“(5) COORDINATION WITH THE ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION ACT OF 1965.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—Comprehensive coordinated prereferral educational support services provided under this subsection may be aligned with activities funded by, and carried out under, the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, such as the Reading First program under subpart 1 of part B of title I of such Act, the Early Reading First program under subpart 2 of part B of title I of such Act, reading and math supports under part A of title I of such Act, and behavior intervention supports, that improve results for children with disabilities.

“(B) MAINTENANCE OF EFFORT.—Funds used under this section shall be used to supplement, and not supplant, funds made available under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

“(g) DIRECT SERVICES BY THE STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—

“(1) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency shall use the payments that would otherwise have been available to a local educational agency or to a State agency to provide special education and related services directly to children with disabilities residing in the area served by that local agency, or for whom that State agency is responsible, if the State educational agency determines that the local education agency or State agency, as the case may be—

- “(A) has not provided the information needed to establish the eligibility of such agency under this section;
- “(B) is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of subsection (a);
- “(C) is unable or unwilling to be consolidated with one or more local educational agencies in order to establish and maintain such programs; or
- “(D) has one or more children with disabilities who can best be served by a regional or State program or service-delivery system designed to meet the needs of such children.

“(2) MANNER AND LOCATION OF EDUCATION AND SERVICES.—The State educational agency may provide special education and related services under paragraph (1) in such manner and at such locations (including regional or State centers) as the State agency considers appropriate. Such education and services shall be provided in accordance with this part.

“(h) STATE AGENCY ELIGIBILITY.—Any State agency that desires to receive a subgrant for any fiscal year under section 611(f) shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the State educational agency that—

- “(1) all children with disabilities who are participating in programs and projects funded under this part receive a free appropriate public education, and that those children and their parents are provided all the rights and procedural safeguards described in this part; and
- “(2) the agency meets such other conditions of this section as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

“(i) DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION.—The State may require that a local educational agency include in the records of a child with a disability a statement of any current or previous disciplinary action that has been taken against the child and transmit such statement to the same extent that such disciplinary information is included in, and transmitted with, the student records of nondisabled children. The statement may include a description of any behavior engaged in by the child that required disciplinary action, a description of the disciplinary action taken, and any other information that is relevant to the safety of the child and other individuals involved with the child. If the State adopts such a policy, and the child transfers from one school to another, the transmission of any of the child’s records must include both the child’s current individualized education program and any such statement of current or previous disciplinary action that has been taken against the child.”

SEC. 204. EVALUATIONS, ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATIONS, INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAMS, AND EDUCATIONAL PLACEMENTS.

Section 614 of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1414) is amended to read as follows:

“(1) INITIAL EVALUATIONS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency, other State agency, or local educational agency shall conduct a full and individual initial evaluation, in accordance with this paragraph and subsection (b), before the initial provision of special education and related services to a child with a disability under this part.

“(B) REQUEST FOR INITIAL EVALUATION.—Consistent with subparagraph (D), either a parent of a child, a State educational agency, other State agency as appropriate, or local educational agency may initiate a request for an initial evaluation to determine if the child is a child with a disability.

“(C) PROCEDURES.—Such initial evaluation shall consist of procedures—

“(i) to determine whether a child is a child with a disability (as defined in section 602(3)); and

“(ii) to determine the educational needs of such child.

“(D) PARENTAL CONSENT.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—

“(I) CONSENT FOR INITIAL EVALUATION.—The agency proposing to conduct an initial evaluation to determine if the child qualifies as a child with a disability as defined in section 602(3)(A) or 602(3)(B) shall obtain informed consent from the parent of such child before conducting the evaluation. Parental consent for evaluation shall not be construed as consent for placement for receipt of special education and related services.

“(II) CONSENT FOR SERVICES.—An agency that is responsible for making a free appropriate public education available to a child with a disability under this part shall seek to obtain informed consent from the parent of such child before providing special education and related services to the child.

“(ii) ABSENCE OF CONSENT.—

“(I) FOR INITIAL EVALUATION.—If the parent of such child does not provide consent for an initial evaluation under clause (i)(I), or the parent fails to respond to a request to provide the consent, the local educational agency may pursue the initial evaluation of the child through the procedures described in section 615, except to the extent inconsistent with State law relating to such parental consent.

“(II) FOR SERVICES.—If the parent of such child does not provide consent for services under clause (i)(II), or the parent fails to respond to a request to provide the consent, the local educational agency shall not provide special education and related services to the child through the procedures described in section 615.

“(III) EFFECT ON AGENCY OBLIGATIONS.—In any case for which there is an absence of consent for an initial evaluation under subclause (I), or for which there is an absence of consent for services under subclause (II)—

“(aa) the local educational agency shall not be required to convene an IEP meeting or develop an IEP under this section for the child; and

“(bb) the local educational agency shall not be considered to be in violation of any requirement under this part (including the requirement to make available a free appropriate public education to the child) with respect to the lack of an initial evaluation of the child, an IEP meeting with respect to the child, or the development of an IEP under this section for the child.

“(E) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—The screening of a student by a teacher or specialist to determine appropriate instructional strategies for curriculum implementation shall not be considered to be an evaluation for eligibility for special education and related services.

“(2) REEVALUATIONS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency shall ensure that a reevaluation of each child with a disability is conducted in accordance with subsections (b) and (c)—

“(i) if the local educational agency determines that the educational needs, including improved academic achievement, of the child warrant a reevaluation; or

- “(ii) if the child’s parent or teacher requests a reevaluation.
- “(B) LIMITATION.—A reevaluation conducted under subparagraph (A) shall occur—
- “(i) no more than once a year, unless the parent and the local educational agency agree otherwise; and
- “(ii) at least once every three years, unless the parent and the local educational agency agree that a reevaluation is unnecessary.
- “(b) EVALUATION PROCEDURES.—
- “(1) NOTICE.—The local educational agency shall provide notice to the parent of a child with a disability, in accordance with subsections (b)(3), (b)(4), and (c) of section 615, that describes any evaluation procedures such agency proposes to conduct.
- “(2) CONDUCT OF EVALUATION.—In conducting the evaluation, the local educational agency shall—
- “(A) use multiple up-to-date measures and assessments to gather relevant functional, developmental, and academic information, including information provided by the parent, to assist in determining—
- “(i) whether the child is a child with a disability; and
- “(ii) the content of the child’s individualized education program, including information related to enabling the child to be involved in and progress in the general education curriculum or, for preschool children, to participate in appropriate activities;
- “(B) not use any single measure or assessment as the sole criterion for determining whether a child is a child with a disability or determining an appropriate educational program for the child; and
- “(C) use technically sound instruments that may assess the relative contribution of cognitive and behavioral factors, in addition to physical or developmental factors.
- “(3) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS.—Each local educational agency shall ensure that—
- “(A) assessments and other evaluation measures used to assess a child under this section—
- “(i) are selected and administered so as not to be discriminatory on a racial or cultural basis;
- “(ii) are provided and administered, to the extent practicable, in the language and form most likely to yield accurate academic and developmental data;
- “(iii) are used for the purposes for which the assessments or measures are valid and reliable;
- “(iv) are administered by trained and knowledgeable personnel; and
- “(v) are administered in accordance with any instructions provided by the producer of such tests;
- “(B) the child is assessed in all areas of suspected disability; and
- “(C) assessment tools and strategies that provide relevant information that directly assists persons in determining the educational needs of the child are provided.
- “(4) DETERMINATION OF ELIGIBILITY AND EDUCATIONAL NEED.—Upon completion of the administration of assessments and other evaluation measures—
- “(A) the determination of whether the child is a child with a disability as defined in section 602(3) and the educational needs of the child shall be made by a team of qualified professionals and the parent of the child in accordance with paragraph (5); and
- “(B) a copy of the evaluation report and the documentation of determination of eligibility will be given to the parent.
- “(5) SPECIAL RULE FOR ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATION.—In making a determination of eligibility under paragraph (4)(A), a child shall not be determined to be a child with a disability if the determinant factor for such determination is—
- “(A) lack of scientifically based instruction practices and programs that contain the essential components of reading instruction (as that term is defined in section 1208(3) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965);
- “(B) lack of instruction in math; or
- “(C) limited English proficiency.
- “(6) SPECIFIC LEARNING DISABILITIES.—
- “(A) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding section 607 of this Act, when determining whether a child has a specific learning disability as defined under this Act, the local educational agency shall not be required to take into consideration whether the child has a severe discrepancy between achievement and intellectual ability in oral expression, listening comprehension, written expression, basic reading skill, reading comprehension, mathematical calculation, or mathematical reasoning.

“(B) ADDITIONAL AUTHORITY.—In determining whether a child has a specific learning disability, a local educational agency may use a process which determines if a child responds to scientific, research-based intervention.

“(c) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR EVALUATION AND REEVALUATIONS.—

“(1) REVIEW OF EXISTING EVALUATION DATA.—As part of an initial evaluation (if appropriate) and as part of any reevaluation under this section, the IEP Team described in subsection (d)(1)(B) and other qualified professionals, as appropriate, shall—

“(A) review existing evaluation data on the child, including evaluations and information provided by the parents of the child, current classroom-based local or State assessments, and classroom-based observations, and teacher and related services providers observations; and

“(B) on the basis of that review, and input from the child’s parents, identify what additional data, if any, are needed to determine—

“(i) whether the child is a child with a disability as defined in section 602(3), and the educational needs of the child, or, in case of a reevaluation of a child, whether the child continues to have such a disability and such educational needs;

“(ii) the present levels of academic achievement and related developmental needs of the child;

“(iii) whether the child needs special education and related services, or in the case of a reevaluation of a child, whether the child continues to need special education and related services; and

“(iv) whether any additions or modifications to the special education and related services are needed to enable the child to meet the measurable annual goals set out in the individualized education program of the child and to participate, as appropriate, in the general education curriculum.

“(2) SOURCE OF DATA.—The local educational agency shall administer such assessments and other evaluation measures as may be needed to produce the data identified by the IEP Team under paragraph (1)(B).

“(3) PARENTAL CONSENT.—Each local educational agency shall obtain informed parental consent, in accordance with subsection (a)(1)(D), prior to conducting any reevaluation of a child with a disability, except that such informed parental consent need not be obtained if the local educational agency can demonstrate that it had taken reasonable measures to obtain such consent and the child’s parent has failed to respond.

“(4) REQUIREMENTS IF ADDITIONAL DATA ARE NOT NEEDED.—If the IEP Team and other qualified professionals, as appropriate, determine that no additional data are needed to determine whether the child continues to be a child with a disability and to determine the child’s educational needs, the local educational agency—

“(A) shall notify the child’s parents of—

“(i) that determination and the reasons for it; and

“(ii) the right of such parents to request an assessment to determine whether the child continues to be a child with a disability and to determine the child’s educational needs; and

“(B) shall not be required to conduct such an assessment unless requested to by the child’s parents.

“(5) EVALUATIONS BEFORE CHANGE IN ELIGIBILITY.—A local educational agency shall evaluate a child with a disability in accordance with this section prior to graduation, and before determining that the child is no longer a child with a disability, only in instances where the IEP Team is not in agreement regarding the change in eligibility.

“(d) INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAMS.—

“(1) DEFINITIONS.—As used in this title:

“(A) INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAM.—

“(i) IN GENERAL.—The term ‘individualized education program’ or ‘IEP’ means a written statement for each child with a disability that is developed, reviewed, and revised in accordance with this section and that includes—

“(I) a statement of the child’s present levels of academic achievement, including—

“(aa) how the child’s disability affects the child’s involvement and progress in the general education curriculum;

“(bb) for preschool children, as appropriate, how the disability affects the child’s participation in appropriate activities; and

“(cc) until the beginning of the 2005–2006 school year, a description of benchmarks or short-term objectives, except in the case of children with disabilities who take alternate assessments aligned to alternate achievement standards, a description of benchmarks or short-term objectives shall continue to be included;

“(II) a statement of measurable annual goals designed to—

“(bb) how the child’s parents will be regularly informed (by such means as periodic report cards), at least as often as parents are informed of their nondisabled children’s progress, of the sufficiency of their child's progress toward the annual goals described in subclause (II).

“(ii) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this subparagraph shall be construed to require—

“(I) that additional information be included in a child's IEP beyond what is required in this subsection; and

“(II) the IEP Team to include information under one component of a child's IEP that is already contained under another component of such IEP.

“(B) INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAM TEAM.—The term ‘individualized education program team’ or ‘IEP Team’ means a group of individuals composed of—

“(i) the parents of a child with a disability;

“(ii) a regular education teacher of such child, but such teacher shall not be required to attend a meeting or part of a meeting of the IEP Team involving issues not related to the child's participation in the regular education environment, nor shall multiple regular education teachers, if the child has more than one regular education teacher, be required to attend a meeting, or part of a meeting, of the IEP team;

“(iii) at least 1 special education teacher, or where appropriate, at least 1 special education provider of such child;

“(v) an individual who can interpret the instructional implications of evaluation results, who may be a member of the team described in clauses (ii) through (vi);

“(vi) at the discretion of the parent or the agency, other individuals who have knowledge or special expertise regarding the child, including related services personnel as appropriate; and

“(vii) whenever appropriate, the child with a disability.

“(2) REQUIREMENT THAT PROGRAM BE IN EFFECT.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—At the beginning of each school year, each local educational agency, State educational agency, or other State agency, as the case may be, shall have in effect, for each child with a disability in its jurisdiction, an individualized education program, as defined in paragraph (1)(A).

“(B) PROGRAM FOR CHILD AGED 3 THROUGH 5.—In the case of a child with a disability aged 3 through 5 (or, at the discretion of the State educational agency, a 2 year-old child with a disability who will turn age 3 during the school year), the IEP Team shall consider the individualized family service plan that contains the material described in section 636, and that is developed in accordance with this section, and the individualized family service plan may serve as the IEP of the child if using that plan as the IEP is—

“(i) consistent with State policy; and

“(ii) agreed to by the agency and the child's parents.

“(3) DEVELOPMENT OF IEP.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—In developing each child's IEP, the IEP Team, subject to subparagraph (C), shall consider—

“(i) the results of the initial evaluation or most recent evaluation of the child;

“(ii) the academic and developmental needs of the child;

“(iii) the strengths of the child; and

“(B) CONSIDERATION OF SPECIAL FACTORS.—The IEP Team shall—

“(i) in the case of a child whose behavior impedes his or her learning or that of others, consider the use of positive behavioral interventions and supports, and other strategies, to address that behavior;

“(ii) in the case of a child with limited English proficiency, consider the language needs of the child as such needs relate to the child's IEP;

“(iii) in the case of a child who is blind or visually impaired, provide for instruction in Braille and the use of Braille unless the IEP Team determines, after an evaluation of the child's reading and writing skills, needs, and appropriate reading and writing media (including an evaluation of the child's future needs for instruction in Braille or the use of Braille), that instruction in Braille or the use of Braille is not appropriate for the child;

"(iv) consider the communication needs of the child, and in the case of a child who is deaf or hard of hearing, consider the child's language and communication needs, opportunities for direct communications with peers and professional personnel in the child's language and communication mode, academic level, and full range of needs, including opportunities for direct instruction in the child's language and communication mode; and

"(v) consider whether the child needs assistive technology devices and services.

"(C) REQUIREMENT WITH RESPECT TO REGULAR EDUCATION TEACHER.—The regular education teacher of the child, if a member of the IEP Team pursuant to paragraph (1)(B)(ii), shall, to the extent appropriate, participate in the development of the IEP of the child, including the determination of appropriate positive behavioral interventions and supports, and other strategies and the determination of supplementary aids and services, program modifications, and support for school personnel consistent with paragraph (1)(A)(i)(III).

"(D) IEP TEAM ATTENDANCE.—The parent of a child with a disability and the local educational agency may jointly excuse any member of the IEP Team from attending all or part of an IEP meeting if they agree that the member's attendance is not necessary. The IEP Team shall obtain the member's input prior to an IEP meeting from which the member is excused.

"(E) AGREEMENT ON MEETING.—In making changes to a child's IEP after the annual IEP meeting, the parent of a child with a disability and the local educational agency may agree not to reconvene the IEP team and instead develop a written document to amend or modify the child's current IEP.

"(F) CONSOLIDATION OF IEP TEAM MEETINGS.—To the extent possible, the local educational agency shall encourage the consolidation of IEP Team meetings for a child.

"(G) AMENDMENTS.—Changes to the IEP may be made either by the entire IEP Team or, as provided in subparagraph (E), by amending the IEP rather than by redrafting the entire IEP.

"(4) REVIEW AND REVISION OF IEP.—

"(A) IN GENERAL.—The local educational agency shall ensure that, subject to subparagraph (B), the IEP Team—

"(i) reviews the child's IEP periodically, but not less than annually, to determine whether the annual goals for the child are being achieved; and

"(ii) revises the IEP as appropriate to address—

"(I) any lack of expected progress toward the annual goals and in the general education curriculum, where appropriate;

"(II) the results of any reevaluation conducted under this section;

"(III) information about the child provided to, or by, the parents, as described in subsection (c)(1)(B);

"(IV) the child's anticipated needs; or

"(V) other matters.

"(B) REQUIREMENT WITH RESPECT TO REGULAR EDUCATION TEACHER.—The regular education teacher of the child, if a member of the IEP Team, shall, consistent with this section, participate in the review and revision of the IEP of the child.

"(5) MULTI-YEAR IEP.—

"(A) DEVELOPMENT.—The local educational agency may offer to the parent of a child with a disability the option of developing a comprehensive multi-year IEP, not to exceed 3 years, that is designed to cover the natural transition points for the child. With the consent of the parent, the IEP Team shall develop an IEP, as described in paragraphs (1) and (3), that is designed to serve the child for the appropriate multi-year period, which includes a statement of—

"(i) measurable goals pursuant to paragraph (1)(A)(i)(II), coinciding with natural transition points for the child, that will enable the child to be involved in and make progress in the general education curriculum and that will meet the child's other needs that result from the child's disability; and “(ii) measurable annual goals for determining progress toward meeting the goals described in clause (i).

“(B) REVIEW AND REVISION OF MULTI-YEAR IEP.—

“(i) REQUIREMENT.—The IEP Team shall conduct a review under paragraph (4) of the child’s multi-year IEP at each of the child’s natural transition points.

“(ii) STREAMLINED ANNUAL REVIEW PROCESS.—In years other than a child’s natural transition points, the local educational agency shall ensure that the IEP Team—

“(I) provides an annual review of the child’s IEP to determine the child’s current levels of progress and determine whether the annual goals for the child are being achieved; and

“(II) amends the IEP, as appropriate, to enable the child to continue to meet the measurable goals set out in the IEP.

“(iii) COMPREHENSIVE REVIEW PROCESS.—If the IEP Team determines, on the basis of the review under clause (i), that the child is not making sufficient progress toward the goals described in subparagraph (A), the local educational agency shall ensure that the IEP Team reviews the IEP under paragraph (4), within 30 calendar days.

“(iv) PARENTAL PREFERENCE.—At the request of the parent, the IEP Team shall conduct a review under paragraph (4) of the child’s multi-year IEP rather than a streamlined annual review under clause (ii).

“(C) DEFINITION.—As used in this paragraph, the term ‘natural transition points’ means those periods that are close in time to the transition of a child with a disability from preschool to elementary grades, from elementary grades to middle or junior high school grades, from middle or junior high school grades to high school grades, and from high school grades to post-secondary activities, but in no case longer than 3 years.

“(6) FAILURE TO MEET TRANSITION OBJECTIVES.—If a participating agency, other than the local educational agency, fails to provide the transition services described in the IEP in accordance with paragraph (1)(A)(i)(VII), the local educational agency shall reconvene the IEP Team to identify alternative strategies to meet the transition objectives for the child set out in that program.

“(7) CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES IN ADULT PRISONS.—

“(A) IN GENERAL.—The following requirements do not apply to children with disabilities who are convicted as adults under State law and incarcerated in adult prisons:

“(i) The requirements contained in section 612(a)(16) and paragraph (1)(A)(i)(V) of this subsection (relating to participation of children with disabilities in general assessments).

“(ii) The requirements of items (aa) and (bb) of paragraph (1)(A)(i)(VII) of this subsection (relating to transition planning and transition services), do not apply with respect to such children whose eligibility under this part will end, because of their age, before they will be released from prison.

“(B) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—If a child with a disability is convicted as an adult under State law and incarcerated in an adult prison, the child’s IEP Team may modify the child’s IEP or placement notwithstanding the requirements of sections 612(a)(5)(A) and 614(d)(1)(A) if the State has demonstrated a bona fide security or compelling penological interest that cannot otherwise be accommodated.

“(e) EDUCATIONAL PLACEMENTS.—Each local educational agency or State educational agency shall ensure that the parents of each child with a disability are members of any group that makes decisions on the educational placement of their child.

“(f) ALTERNATIVE MEANS OF MEETING PARTICIPATION.—When conducting IEP team meetings and placement meetings pursuant to this section and 615, the parent of a child with a disability and a local educational agency may agree to use alternative means of meeting participation, such as video conferences and conference calls.”.

TITLE IV—NATIONAL ACTIVITIES TO IMPROVE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES

SEC. 401. NATIONAL ACTIVITIES TO IMPROVE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES.

Part D of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (20 U.S.C. 1451 et seq.) is amended to read as follows:

“PART D—NATIONAL ACTIVITIES TO IMPROVE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES

“SEC. 651. FINDINGS.

“The Congress finds the following:

“(1) The Federal Government has an ongoing obligation to support activities that contribute to positive results for children with disabilities, enabling them to lead productive and independent adult lives.

“(2) Systemic change benefiting all students, including children with disabilities, requires the involvement of States, local educational agencies, parents, individuals with disabilities and their families, teachers and other service providers, and other interested individuals and organizations, to develop and implement comprehensive strategies that improve educational results for children with disabilities.

“(3) State educational agencies, in partnership with local educational agencies, parents of children with disabilities, and other individuals and organizations, are in the best position to improve education for children with disabilities and to address their special needs.

“(4) An effective educational system serving students with disabilities should—

“(A) maintain high academic standards and clear achievement goals for children, consistent with the standards and expectations for all students in the educational system, and provide for appropriate and effective strategies and methods to ensure that all children with disabilities have the opportunity to achieve those standards and goals;

“(B) clearly define, in objective, measurable terms, the school and post-school results that children with disabilities are expected to achieve; and

“(C) promote transition services, as described in section 602(31), and coordinate State and local education, social, health, mental health, and other services, to address the full range of student needs, particularly the needs of children with disabilities who need significant levels of support to participate and learn in school and the community.

“(5) The availability of an adequate number of qualified personnel is critical in order to serve effectively children with disabilities, fill leadership positions in administrative and direct-service capacities, provide teacher training, and conduct high-quality research to improve special education.

“(6) High-quality, comprehensive professional development programs are essential to ensure that the persons responsible for the education or transition of children with disabilities possess the skills and knowledge necessary to address the educational and related needs of those children.

“(7) Models of professional development should be scientifically based and reflect successful practices, including strategies for recruiting, preparing, and retaining personnel.

“(8) Continued support is essential for the development and maintenance of a coordinated and high-quality program of research to inform successful teaching practices and model curricula for educating children with disabilities.

“(9) A comprehensive research agenda should be established and pursued to promote the highest quality and rigor in research on special education and related services, and to address the full range of issues facing children with disabilities, parents of children with disabilities, school personnel, and others.

“(10) Technical assistance, support, and dissemination activities are necessary to ensure that parts B and C are fully implemented and achieve quality early intervention, educational, and transitional results for children with disabilities and their families.

“(11) Parents, teachers, administrators, and related services personnel need technical assistance and information in a timely, coordinated, and accessible manner in order to improve early intervention, educational, and transitional services and results at the State and local levels for children with disabilities and their families.

“(12) Parent training and information activities assist parents of a child with a disability in dealing with the multiple pressures of parenting such a child and are of particular importance in—

“(A) creating and preserving constructive relationships between parents of children with disabilities and schools by facilitating open communication between such parents and schools, encouraging dispute resolution at the earliest point in time possible, and discouraging the escalation of an adversarial process between such parents and schools;

“(B) ensuring the involvement of such parents in planning and decision-making with respect to early intervention, educational, and transitional services;

“(C) achieving high-quality early intervention, educational, and transitional results for children with disabilities;

“(D) providing such parents information on their rights, protections, and responsibilities under this Act to ensure improved early intervention, educational, and transitional results for children with disabilities;

“(E) assisting such parents in the development of skills to participate effectively in the education and development of their children and in the transitions described in section 602(31);

“(F) supporting the roles of such parents as participants within partnerships seeking to improve early intervention, educational, and transitional services and results for children with disabilities and their families; and

“(G) supporting those parents who may have limited access to services and supports due to economic, cultural, or linguistic barriers.

“(13) Support is needed to improve technological resources and integrate technology into the lives of children with disabilities, parents of children with disabilities, school personnel, and others through curricula, services, and assistive technologies.

Legislative action

On March 19, 2003, Michael N. Castle (R–DE), Chairman of the Subcommittee on Education Reform, and Chairman John Boehner (R–OH) introduced H.R. 1350, the Improving Education Results for Children with Disabilities Act, a bill to amend and reauthorize the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act of 1997. This legislation would improve special education programs in our nation’s schools.

On April 2, 2003, the Subcommittee on Education Reform considered H.R. 1350 in legislative session and reported it favorably, as amended, to the Committee on Education and the Workforce by voice vote. The Subcommittee accepted several amendments:

- The Subcommittee adopted, by voice vote, a substitute amendment offered by Mr. Castle (R–DE). The substitute restored benchmarks and short-term objectives for all children with disabilities until the 2005–2006 school year, which is when the report card requirements of No Child Left Behind must be implemented; restored current law formula calculations for the State-level activities, limiting the State-level funds to an amount based on the 1997 funding level, which averages between 8–11% for each State; requires States to use a portion of their funds for accountability grants to local educational agencies to provide services to districts identified as low performing under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act as a result of the disaggregated subgroup of students with disabilities; established indicators related to academic achievement, graduation, and dropout rates, and allows the Secretary to establish other indicators on which to judge the performance of States; and transferred the special education research functions to the Institute of Education Sciences.

- The Subcommittee adopted, by unanimous consent, a technical amendment offered by Mr. Osborne (R–NE).

- The Subcommittee adopted, by voice vote, an amendment offered by Mrs. Biggert (R–IL) regarding homeless children.

On April 9 and 10, 2003, the Committee on Education and the Workforce considered H.R. 1350 in legislative session and reported it favorably, as amended, to the House of Representatives by a vote of 29–19. The Committee considered 29 amendments and adopted the following 13 amendments:

- The Committee adopted, by voice vote, a substitute offered by Subcommittee Chairman Castle (R–DE). The substitute ensured that related services personnel are included in professional development activities to provide training for these individuals to ensure that their services are aligned with activities in the classroom; made several changes in Part D National Activities to ensure that the needs of minority students with disabilities are met; and improved upon the consultation between private schools and public schools for determining how to address the needs and coordinate services for children with disabilities placed in private schools by their parents.

SUMMARY

H.R. 1350, the Improving Education Results for Children with Disabilities Act of 2003, reauthorizes and amends the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA), which provides support and protections for children with disabilities to ensure that they have access to a free appropriate public education in the least restrictive environment. The legislation amends Part B—Assistance for Education of All Children with Disabilities, which supports programs for children aged 3 through 5 years old and children aged 6 through 21 years old. The Part B program is permanently authorized. The legislation amends and reauthorizes the Part C—Infants and Toddlers with Disabilities program that provides supports, services, and protections for children with disabilities aged birth through 2, and also amends and reauthorizes the Part D—National Activities to Improve Education of Children with Disabilities programs.

H.R. 1350 is centered around the following principles for reform:

- Increasing accountability and improving education results for students with disabilities. Currently, the Act places too much emphasis on compliance with complicated rules, and not enough emphasis on ensuring that academic results are being delivered for children with special needs. As a result of this misplaced emphasis, too many children in special education classes have been left behind academically. The No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB), signed into law by President Bush in January 2002, calls for federally funded schools to be held accountable to parents for improving results for all students, including students with disabilities, for the first time ever. Aligning the IDEA's accountability system with NCLB is essential to ensuring that children with disabilities have the chance to learn and succeed academically. H.R. 1350 ensures that States align their accountability systems for students with disabilities to the NCLB accountability system and requires each child's Individualized Education Plan (IEP) to specifically address that child's academic achievement. The bill also improves the focus of Part C Infants and Toddlers program to include the acquisition of pre-literacy skills to improve the school readiness of these children with disabilities.

H.R. 1350 makes significant changes to the U.S. Department of Education's (Department) activities on research of special education. The bill establishes a National Center for Special Education Research within the Institute of Education Sciences and authorizes the creation of a Commissioner for Special Education Research to oversee the Institute's research into special education and related services. The bill requires the Commissioner, with the advice of the Assistant Secretary for Special Education and Rehabilitative Services, to develop a research plan to support the activities of the Act and is designed to serve the long-term interests of the Act. The bill unifies all of the education research at the Department under one entity, the Institute for Education Sciences, that takes a broad view at the needs of education research, including special education research. This move will help ensure that the needs of children with disabilities are fully addressed not only within that arm of the Institute, but through all other research functions at the Institute. The Committee also intends this move to improve the overall quality and rigor of the special education research conducted by the Department, and to ensure that the needs of children with disabilities are included throughout other research programs conducted at the Institute.

- Reducing the paperwork burden. Special education teachers are leaving the profession out of frustration with the overwhelming and unnecessary paperwork burden, contributing to what is becoming a chronic shortage of quality teachers in special education. H.R. 1350 incorporates such changes as the multi-year IEP, the use of teleconferencing and video conferencing, and the development of model forms for the IEP and procedural safeguards notice. The bill also allows the Secretary to create a ten State pilot program that allows SEAs to reduce the IEP paperwork burden on teachers in order to increase instructional time and resources and improve results for students with disabilities. Recognizing that parents will receive report cards on their children under the No Child Left Behind Act, the duplicative use of benchmarks and short-term objectives is eliminated for most children with disabilities beginning in the 2005–2006 school year. However, these benchmarks or short-term objectives will be allowed to continue beyond that date for students taking alternate assessments aligned to alternate standards. Finally, the bill makes clear that nothing beyond what is clearly laid out in statute is required to be in an IEP.

- Improving early intervention strategies and reducing the over-identification or misidentification of nondisabled children, including minority youth. The overidentification of children as disabled and placing them in special education where they do not belong hinders the academic development of these students. Worse, the misidentification takes valuable resources away from students who truly are disabled. Experts agree that strengthening the quality of reading instruction programs across the nation will significantly strengthen special education and address this problem directly. This bill allows local educational agencies to use up to fifteen percent of their funds for prereferral services for students before they are identified as needing special education. States are also allowed to establish a definition for “developmental delay” for three to five year olds to simplify the provision of services and continue to assist these children to become ready to begin school.

A disproportionate number of minority students are wrongly placed in special education rather than being provided positive behavioral interventions and supports and intensive educational interventions. As Education Secretary Rod Paige has noted, studies show the proportion of minority students identified in some disability categories is dramatically greater than their share of the overall population. More specifically, African-American students are labeled as mentally retarded and emotionally disturbed far out of proportion to their share of the student population. For minority students, misclassification or inappropriate placement in special education programs can have significant adverse consequences, particularly when these students are being removed from regular education settings and denied access to the core curriculum. This bill requires local educational agencies with significant overidentification of minority students to operate pre-referral programs that work to reduce overidentification. It also eliminates the sole reliance on a “wait to fail” approach for identification of “specific learning disabilities” by allowing the use of other methods besides the outdated IQ-achievement discrepancy model. The bill encourages the greater use of programs that rely on positive behavioral interventions and supports.

- Encouraging innovative approaches to parental involvement and parental choice. Parents should be active participants in their child’s education experience. However, often under the current Act, parents of students with disabilities are not fully informed or are often given limited options of where or how their child can be educated. H.R. 1350 enables parents and local educational agencies to work together to make the IEP process work better to serve its intent—improving the education of the child with a disability. Specifically, this bill allows parents and the local educational agency to mutually agree to change the IEP without holding an IEP meeting and excuse the attendance of any IEP team member not needed at a specific meeting.

The bill continues to encourage parents to make the best educational choice for their child by requiring local educational agencies to support their charter schools by providing services on site and distributing funds to charter schools in an equitable manner. H.R. 1350 also allows school districts to use Part B funds to support supplemental educational services for students with disabilities in schools identified in need of improvement under NCLB. Finally, the bill reforms the parent training centers to focus on all children with disabilities and serve all parents of children with disabilities, especially low-income, minority, and limited English proficient parents.

- Supporting general education and special education teachers. A continuing shortage of special education teachers, coupled with a shortage of regular education teachers who are adequately trained to work with students with disabilities, hinders the educational achievement of students with disabilities under current law. Both current and prospective special education and general education teachers should have professional development to address the educational needs of students with disabilities. H.R. 1350 aligns the Act with requirements of NCLB for “highly qualified” teachers so that all students with disabilities are taught by a highly qualified teacher in core content areas.

The bill refocuses various areas of Part D to support general education and special education teachers, principals, and related services providers to better serve children with disabilities. First, the State Professional Development Grants (formerly State Improvement Grants) are concentrated on professional development for school personnel working with students with disabilities. Second the Personnel Preparation programs are streamlined and enhanced to encourage training of general education and education teachers, principals, and related services providers to work with students with disabilities. Finally, the National Activities technical assistance programs have a focus on providing assistance to teachers for their specific use in the classroom.

- Restoring trust and reducing litigation. Litigation under the Act has taken the less productive track of searching for technical violations of the Act by school districts rather than being used to protect the substantive rights of children with disabilities. This type of litigation breeds an attitude of distrust between the parents and the school personnel rather than working cooperatively to find the best education placement and services for the child. H.R. 1350 requires complaints that are filed to be clear and specific and establishes a statute of limitations of one year from the date of the violation. After a complaint is filed, a resolution session gives local educational agencies a 30-day opportunity to meet with the parents to address in detail any complaints before a due process hearing may occur, within the current 45-day timeline for hearings. Only issues that have already been raised at an IEP team meeting or the resolution session may be raised at a due process hearing. The bill encourages the use of mediation and voluntary binding arbitration to speed the resolution time so that children with disabilities obtain the needed services and education in a timely manner. The bill also provides a rational system of determining attorney fees by requiring the Governor to set the rate of attorney's fees that may be awarded for actions under this Act that arise in their State

- Ensuring school safety. Schools should be safe for all students and teachers. All students should be treated the same when it comes to discipline issues to ensure safety for all at the school. H.R. 1350 eliminates the dual discipline system while requiring that educational services continue for a child with a disability that violates the school code of conduct. If a violation results in a three-day punishment for a child without a disability, the child with a disability would receive the same punishment, while continuing to receive educational services. The change allows school personnel to place a child with a disability that violates the school code of conduct policy in an alternative setting for up to 45 school days, unless State law provides for a longer term. Where State law has longer consequences for specific incidents (typically incidents involving weapons, drugs, aggravated assault, or pulling a fire alarm), State law would be followed, except educational services would continue to be provided for children with disabilities.

- Reforming special education funding. The funding stream under the Act establishes a clear path to reach the 40 percent goal through the discretionary appropriations process.

COMMITTEE VIEWS

TITLE I—GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 101. Sections 601 through 603 of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act

Section 601. Short Title; table of contents; findings; purpose

Section 601 updates the table of contents to reflect changes made throughout the Act and updates and modifies the findings to reflect current data on the importance and continued need for special education and related services for the nation's children with disabilities. One of the purposes of the Act is updated to reflect the importance of holding high standards for children with disabilities. The purpose of special education and related services is to ensure that children with disabilities are able to focus on their strengths and interests to become integrated into the mainstream of American society. By modifying the purpose to reflect the importance of further education, the Committee intends to send the message that children with disabilities have a broad array of opportunities available to them when they complete their secondary education and that children with disabilities can continue on to post-secondary education or to competitive employment or independent living.

Section 602. Definitions

Section 602 of the Act retains all of the definitions from the current Act, and adds or expands on a few of those definitions. The bill amends the definition of a child with a disability ages three through nine to include any subset of that age range, including ages three through five. This change is not intended to change or alter the scope of services provided to children ages three through nine, but to clarify to States that they have the flexibility to have a definition of developmental delay for a child with a disability ages three through five. The intent of this new provision is to allow States to provide services to that limited population of children that are provided services under the Part C program under the category of developmental delay, but are occasionally denied services under the Part B Section 619 program if the State does not have a definition of developmental delay for that age range. A child at the age of three should not be denied services due to a transition problem between the two programs.

The bill adds a new definition of “highly qualified,” as it relates to teachers, to give that term the same meaning as it has in the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The Committee wants to make it clear that all teachers teaching in core academic subjects should be qualified to teach their students, especially students with disabilities. The Committee believes that the requirements outlined under the No Child Left Behind Act provide a solid foundation for all teachers to ensure that all students are taught by a qualified instructor.

The Committee wishes to clarify whether school nursing services are considered related services under the Act. School nursing services may be an appropriate related service for children with educationally-related medical needs. School nurses and school nursing services are utilized to help students with disabilities participate fully in schools. School nurses may be the primary caregivers in schools, providing the specialized health services many children with disabilities require to assure their inclusion, health and safety in school.

Section 606. Employment of Individuals with Disabilities.

Section 606 is amended to reflect the importance of providing positive role models to children with disabilities. The Committee encourages the Secretary of Education (Secretary), State Departments of Education, and local educational agencies to continue to make positive efforts to employ individuals with disabilities as teachers, related services personnel, early intervention providers, and school administrators.

Section 607. Requirements for Prescribing Regulations.

Section 607 is significantly revised to reflect the Committee’s intent to implement the enacted law in an efficient and effective manner. The changes provide States and local educational agencies with the secure knowledge that once the law and implementing regulations are finalized there will not be significant changes in the way the law is interpreted or implemented without the opportunity to react to such changes. The bill consolidates language on regulations that is spread throughout several sections of the current Act in order to have a clear, concise section on the Department’s authority to regulate under the Act.

The bill clearly expresses the intent of the Committee that the Secretary should only regulate where necessary and to ensure compliance with the Act. Further, the Secretary is prohibited from issuing regulations that violate or contradict the clear provisions of the Act. The Committee understands that the implementing regulations for the current Act have caused confusion where the Act is clear, and have made the implementation of the Act too complicated. The Committee encourages the Secretary to take a careful and deliberate approach to developing regulations, and to expedite the regulatory process as quickly as possible so that parents, teachers, school officials, and States can have a thorough and complete understanding of the law and regulations within one year of the date of enactment of the bill.

The Committee also feels that, while it is important to solicit public input on the implementing regulations, it is also equally important to keep the regulatory process from causing undue delay in finalizing regulations so that States and local educational agencies can begin to implement the reauthorized law in a timely manner. The bill requires the Secretary to allow public input for at least 60 days on any regulations issued under this Act. The Committee recognizes the significant public interest in this Act, and feels that this timeline is sufficient to allow individuals the opportunity to review and comment on any proposed regulations.

The bill makes several changes to the requirements regarding policy letters from the Secretary. The Committee feels that the Secretary should be particularly thoughtful in issuing policy letters. The bill maintains the requirement that policy letters be published in the Federal Register on a quarterly basis to ensure that there is adequate public information about any interpretations of policy the Department issues. H.R. 1350 requires the Secretary to subject policy letters that establish a rule of compliance to public comment requirements to ensure that there is adequate notice regarding the Department's interpretation of the Act. Additionally, the bill requires the Secretary to clearly state that any particular policy letter is written solely to the specific facts of that letter and should not be generally interpreted or applied to other situations or presentation of facts.

The Committee recognizes the need for the Secretary to issue correspondence under the Act for a variety of reasons; however, the Committee is concerned that previous policy letters have had the impact of being interpreted by States and local educational agencies to be binding upon them, even in unrelated situations or circumstances. The Secretary has the ability, through the regulatory process, to impose rules for complying with the Act, and should not attempt to use policy letters to subvert the rulemaking process. This section does not prohibit or prevent the Secretary from issuing standard letters of communication regarding specific language in the bill or implementing regulations, but requires the Secretary to carefully delineate responses that go beyond a mere recitation of law or regulation to offering a policy interpretation. Any letter issued after the date of enactment of the Improving Education Results for Children with Disabilities Act that purports to offer an interpretation of policy is subject to the new requirements of the bill.

Section 103. Section 608 of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act

Section 608 is a new section of the Act regarding the efforts of States to establish their own rules and regulatory systems to ensure compliance with the Act. The Committee feels that there is a tremendous amount of confusion about the level of requirements under the Act, and that it is often convenient to place responsibility for the burden of the requirements on the Act or regulations. While the Committee agrees that the Act and regulations should be clear and concise, it is also clear that State and local educational agencies have added to their own burdens by making additional requirements for compliance with individual State laws regarding the education of children with disabilities. The Committee is in no way attempting to reduce State input or State practice in this area, but intends to make clear what is a Federal obligation and what is a State or local educational agency requirement for compliance with the Act. States are encouraged to streamline their own rules, regulations, and policies relating to this Act to reduce unnecessary duplication or burdensome requirements that do not add value to the education of children with disabilities. States are also encouraged to maintain their focus on improving results for children with disabilities, rather than on process compliance, and to ensure that all State policies are designed to support the improved academic achievement of all students.

Section 104. GAO review; report

The Committee is very interested in reducing the paperwork burden on teachers, schools, local educational agencies, and States. To that end, the bill calls for an independent review of the paperwork requirements under the Act to determine which requirements are responsible for causing the burden. The bill calls on the Comptroller General to issue a comprehensive report regarding the paperwork requirements to enable Congress to determine what appropriate steps can be made to reduce that burden and enable teachers to spend more time in the classroom with children with disabilities.

Section 105. GAO review of certain State definitions and evaluation processes

To address the issue of over- and under-inclusion of students in special education, the bill requires the Comptroller General to study the disparity between the different interpretations of the subcategories of "child with a disability" in which there is the greatest variability between States in terms of which students are served by the Act. This study will look at the degree to which State interpretations take scientific advancements into account. This study will allow Congress to review these definitions and further increase uniformity of application across States thus ensuring that every child receive the education most appropriate for their particular needs.

Section 106. Additional GAO study and report

To maintain certification and currency in special education in many States, teachers are required to obtain professional development training at specified times. Special education personnel, however, find it difficult to commute to institutions of higher education for training, and this problem can be especially pronounced in rural school systems. Additionally, to better assist States in encouraging the development and use of distance learning and technology for special education personnel, it is critical to raise the awareness of what is currently available in the area of distance learning professional development. Thus, the bill calls for the Comptroller General study to research the existing and developing distance learning and technology programs offered to special education personnel. This knowledge will help better focus resources and time on developing programs where they are needed.

Section 107. GAO study on limited English proficient students

The bill requires the Comptroller General to study on how limited English proficient children are being served under this Act. This study should consider the process from assessment to identification to the development of the IEP and the delivery of services. The report should discuss any barriers that those children and their families face in accessing special education services at each point in the process, what States and local educational agencies are doing to reduce these barriers, and what additional resources are required to improve special education services for limited English proficient children. The report should focus particular attention on the involvement of bilingual professionals and experts in the field of bilingual education and teaching English as a second language in the identification assessment, IEP team meetings, parental involvement, and delivery of instructional and other services to limited English proficient children with disabilities. The report should report on educational results, including academic achievement in the core subject areas, English language acquisition, and graduation rates, for limited English proficient children with disabilities.

TITLE II—ASSISTANCE FOR EDUCATION OF ALL CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES

Section 611. Authorization; Allotment; Use of Funds; Authorization of Appropriations

Section 611 of the bill retains the existing formula that sends all funds above the fiscal year 1999 level through a funding formula to the States based 85 percent on the State's census data for children aged 3 through 21 (if the State provides FAPE to children of these ages), and 15 percent on the State's poverty rate for children aged three through twenty-one. Distribution of Part B funds within States will be on the same basis.

The bill continues to include State minimum and maximum thresholds within the formula to ensure that there is an equitable distribution of Federal resources through the formula. The Committee feels that these aspects of the formula have been proven to be an effective and efficient manner of distributing resources to the States.

In addition, the Committee seeks to clarify the treatment of the Freely Associated States (FAS)—the Republic of the Marshall Islands, the Federated States of Micronesia, and the Republic of Palau—for the purposes of receiving funds under this IDEA. The Committee wishes to make clear that the provisions of P.L. 106-504 govern the distribution of funds under IDEA to the FAS. Specifically, section 3 of P.L. 106-504 states that the FAS will remain eligible for any Federal programs, grant assistance, or services of the United States that they were eligible for October, 1, 1999. This period of eligibility is to continue through the negotiations on an extension of the Compact of Free Association and during the consideration by Congress of any such extension. The FAS were eligible to receive funds under IDEA on October 1, 1999. Therefore, the FAS remain eligible for funding under IDEA and the amendments made to IDEA by the Improving Educational Results for Children with Disabilities Act of 2003.

Formula cap

The Committee is concerned that there continues to be a problem with the overidentification of children, particularly minority children, as having disabilities. To that end, the Committee has restored a provision within the funding formula placing a limit on the number of students that can be identified for the purpose of generating funds under the Act. The provision places an absolute maximum that is designed, as the 40 percent level is reached, to prevent States and local educational agencies from overidentifying students in order to increase the level of funds distributed through the formula. In no way is this limitation intended to restrict the number of children that States can or should identify through appropriate and scientifically based evaluation methods. States can, and must, continue to conduct appropriate child find activities to ensure that all children with disabilities are identified and offered services under the Act.

The Committee does not believe that individual educators identify children in order to maximize the level of funds that flow to the school, district, or State. However, the financial incentive that some State funding mechanisms have put in place may unintentionally create an incentive to identify children as having a disability, or prevent educators or school systems from appropriately moving a child out of special education. The Committee encourages States to reexamine their funding mechanisms to ensure that these unintended incentives do not exist in their funding mechanisms, and encourages States to adopt placement neutral funding patterns that do not create the potential for abuse.

State-level activities

The bill continues the existing funding mechanism for retention of funds at the State level. States are allowed to set aside a portion of these funds for the effective administration of the Act. This amount is linked to the appropriated funding level of fiscal year 1997 and is increased at an annual rate to match the rate of inflation or the appropriation increase, whichever is lower. Due to the unprecedented increases that Congress has provided over the past several years, States have been able to reserve inflationary increases for their State level funds.

The Committee has been made increasingly aware of the need within States to address the problems districts face when a child with very expensive special needs is enrolled in the local educational agency. Local educational agencies are often overwhelmed by the costs associated with a child with expensive needs, but are committed to providing such children an appropriate education. The Committee recognizes and applauds the efforts of several States to address this problem and feels that the Act should provide assistance to those efforts and serve to encourage other States to take similar efforts.

To meet this need, the bill allows States to reserve a portion of their State level funds for establishing and implementing a variety of funding mechanisms, consistent with State law or practice, to provide assistance to local educational agencies to address the financial burden that a child with high cost needs presents to a local educational agency. The bill does not establish a set model or specific program that States must create. Instead the Committee feels it is best to rely on the creativity of the States to determine the best methods of meeting these needs.

Additionally, States are allowed to use their State level funds for other State activities to support local educational agency efforts to provide special education and related services to children with disabilities. The Committee feels that it is important to use these funds for the costs associated with general supervision, monitoring, and enforcement by States and local educational agencies. In addition, the Committee feels that these State level activities are important to help effectively implement the law, and encourages States to use these funds efficiently and creatively to maximize the impact of these funds.

The bill also retains the language that requires the States to distribute any funds reserved at the State level in excess of the increase larger than the rate of inflation directly to local educational agencies. However, the Committee has made a significant change to this provision by seeking to align the activities supported by this funding stream to activities undertaken through the No Child Left Behind Act. States will be required to use these funds to provide technical assistance and direct services to local educational agencies that have been identified as being in need of improvement due to the assessment results of students with disabilities. Local educational agencies will use these funds to provide services to schools, including professional development for special education and regular education teachers, to improve results for children with disabilities.

The Committee believes that these are important activities and are an essential component of the effort to improve academic achievement for children with disabilities. The No Child Left Behind Act, signed into law by President Bush in January 2002, calls for Federally funded schools to be held accountable to parents for improving results for all students, including students with disabilities, for the first time ever. Aligning the IDEA's accountability system with the No Child Left Behind Act is essential to ensuring that children with disabilities have the chance to learn and succeed academically. This activity will help that alignment and ensure that local educational agencies are focusing on improving results for children with disabilities.

Bureau of Indian Affairs schools

The Committee is also concerned about reports that funds have not been distributed in an effective and efficient manner to schools under the jurisdiction of the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA). The bill requires the Secretary of the Interior to take affirmative steps to ensure that the allotted funds are distributed quickly to the BIA schools in order to ensure that these schools have the resources they need to provide services to children with disabilities. Consistent with other reporting requirements, the bill requires that the Secretary of the Interior provide an annual report on the condition of special education and related services in BIA schools and has updated language in this section to that effect.

Funding

In 1975, when the Act was originally enacted, Congress established the goal of providing up to 40 percent of the national average per pupil expenditure to assist States and local educational agencies with the excess costs of educating students with disabilities. Historically, the appropriations for the Act have not come close to reaching the 40 percent level. In the years prior to 1995, funding for the Part B program reached roughly 7 percent of the average per pupil expenditure.

Funding for the Individuals with Disabilities Act (IDEA) has been increased by nearly 300 percent during the previous seven years of Republican leadership, with special education grants to states reaching nearly $9 billion in fiscal year 2003. This comes in stark contrast to special education funding during the previous seven years of Democrat control, during which special education grants to states increased by less than $1 billion overall. Under Republican control, Congress has shown unwavering support for the needs of children with disabilities by providing funding increases at an average yearly level of 18.6 percent—a rate of increase showing clear determination to ensure the federal share of special education costs reaches 40 percent.

In H.R. 1350, the Committee has established a clear and genuine pattern to reach the 40 percent goal within the next seven years. The Committee strongly supports the action taken in the FY 2004 Budget Resolution Conference Report which includes a $2.2 billion increase for FY 2004 over the previous year and a $2.5 billion increase for FY 2005 over the FY 2004 level. This is a clear commitment from this Committee to reach the 40 percent goal, and is the most realistic and straightforward approach that should be taken.

The bill also maintains the Act as a discretionary program. The Committee feels that making the Act a mandatory funding program would create great difficulty in making necessary changes to the program in future years to improve services for children with disabilities. Under mandatory programs, any changes must be scored to determine their financial impact. Any changes or improvements to the program in future years that cost money would require other offsets to be found to pay for any changes. In the long run, making the Act a mandatory funding program could prevent the Act from receiving substantial funding increases. In the late 1980s the Vocational Rehabilitation State Grant program was made mandatory through a required annual cost of living increase. Since then, the program receives only this cost of living increase. The Part B program of the Act is experiencing much more substantial funding increases as a discretionary program.

Section 202. State eligibility

Section 612. State Eligibility.

Section 612 establishes the conditions of State eligibility for Part B funds. Most provisions are retained from current law and new provisions have been added to improve services and compliance with the Act.

The Committee is concerned that the Department has over-emphasized compliance with process and relied on gathering paperwork in determining the eligibility of the States under the Act. While the Committee agrees that States should be able to demonstrate their intention and ability to comply with the provisions of the law, the Committee also recognizes that the Department has occasionally been overzealous in its oversight responsibility. Accordingly, the bill includes language modifying the standard of oversight to allow States to reasonably demonstrate to the Secretary that the State has in effect policies and procedures to ensure compliance with the Act. The Committee does not intend this to imply that the States do not need to implement effective policies or procedures under the Act or demonstrate the existence of effective policies and procedures. The change in language is not intended to provide a rationalization to States for failure to effectively implement the Act. Instead, the change is intended to ensure that the Secretary is focused on ensuring overall compliance with the Act and not forcing States to change individual words or phrases within their laws, policies, or regulations unless there is a clear contradiction of substantive portions of the Act. For example, this provision would allow States to include in its application cites to specific policies or procedures; however, it would no longer require State to send boxes upon boxes of copies of each policy or procedure for the Department to review.

Private school students

The bill makes a number of changes to clarify the responsibility of local educational agencies to children with disabilities who are placed by their parents in private schools. The Committee feels that these are important changes that will resolve a number of issues that have been the subject of an increasing amount of contention in the last few years. First, the bill clarifies that the proportional amount of money obliged to be used to provide special education and related services to children in the State with disabilities who have been placed by their parents in private schools must be used to provide some direct services. The Committee expects that the majority of the funds expended for this purpose will be for direct services, while the remainder may be used for indirect services such as professional development of private school teachers to work with children with disabilities and counseling to assist private school personnel in meeting the needs of the child with a disability. Further, the bill retains language in current law making it clear that the cost of evaluating these children under a State's child find process may not be considered in meeting the proportional obligation.

Second, the bill requires local educational agencies to document the number of these children served with the proportional funds. Such requirement ensures that these funds are serving their intended purpose. Third, the bill continues to point out that local educational agencies may provide the special education and related services funded under Part B on the premises of private, including religious, schools.

This provision, originally designed to implement the principle in the Supreme Court decision, Zobrest v. Catalina Foothills School District (holding that a sign interpreter for a deaf student at his parochial school paid with Part B funds was not a violation of the Establishment Clause of the First Amendment), remains in this bill. The Committee wishes to make clear that local educational agencies should provide direct services for parentally-placed private school students with disabilities (as for most students) on site at their school, unless there is a compelling rationale for such off-site services. Such intent indicates the preference that providing services on site at the private school is more appropriate for the student and less costly in terms of transportation and liability.

The bill addresses how child find should be conducted for parentally-placed private school children with disabilities. The bill requires that a State's child find process be designed to ensure the equitable participation of these children. Local educational agencies must undertake similar activities to identify these children as it does for its other public school children.

Finally, the bill spells out the required consultation process between the local educational agency and representatives of children with disabilities parentally-placed in private schools (including both parents and private school officials) to be used in designing and developing special education and related services for these children. The consultation must occur on the issues of the child find process, the determination of the proportional share, the continuous evaluation of children throughout the school year, and the provision of special education and related services. If private school officials believe the consultation process has not been followed, they have the right to appeal to the State Educational Agency, a process similar to appeal available to them under section 1120(b)(5) of Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. The bill further clarifies that the provision of special education and related services may be made by either the local educational agency or through contracts by the local educational agency with an individual, association, agency, organization or other entity, as long as the title to any materials, equipment or property remain with and all administered by the local educational agency.

Special education teachers

The bill makes several changes to sections 612(a)(14) and (15). The bill eliminates section 612(a)(14) that requires States to develop a comprehensive system of personnel development. The Committee is not convinced that the current requirement has proven to be of any added value to State efforts to secure an adequate supply of qualified personnel and has, instead, become a burdensome paperwork exercise. The bill also requires States to ensure that special education teachers that teach in a core academic subject are highly qualified in those subjects. This is one of the several important links that the Committee has made between this Act and the No Child Left Behind Act. Under the No Child Left Behind Act, Congress established rigorous criteria that all teachers, including special education teachers, must meet in order for the State to receive Federal funding. The Committee believes that this bill should reflect those important changes and ensure that all children, including children with disabilities, are taught by a highly qualified teacher.

The bill also eliminates language allowing local educational agencies to delay the hiring of adequately trained personnel for three years. The Committee takes this action for two reasons. First, by aligning with the No Child Left Behind Act, the Committee feels that there is adequate flexibility in the hiring and training of teachers. Second, as discussed below, by eliminating the requirement that related services personnel need to meet the highest certification in the State for the profession, the Committee feels that it is reasonable to expect States and local educational agencies to provide an adequate supply of highly qualified, well-trained individuals to provide related services.

To maintain certification and currency in special education in most States, teachers are required to obtain professional development training at specified times. Special education personnel, however, find it difficult to impossible to commute to institutions of higher education for training. This problem can be especially pronounced in rural school systems. The Committee is interested in encouraging States to develop and use distance-learning technology for professional development for special education personnel. Accordingly, the bill includes a requirement that States implement distance-learning opportunities for professional development programs to benefit special education teachers. Yet, the Committee also recognizes that this may take time and does not intend for the States to be penalized for not having such distance programs available immediately for all special education personnel.

As it relates to related services personnel, the bill removes language from current law that forces States to ensure that these personnel meet the highest requirement in the State applicable to a specific profession. While the Committee is interested in securing a high quality workforce to provide services to children with disabilities under the Act, the Committee does not feel it is advantageous to require States to meet an unreasonably high threshold, which has the effect of making the provision of these services increasingly scarce and more expensive. Therefore the Committee eliminated this requirement while still allowing States to establish their own measures of high quality related services personnel.

Academic achievement of children with disabilities

The bill makes a series of significant modifications to reflect the important changes to accountability that were enacted under the No Child Left Behind Act. The No Child Left Behind Act established a rigorous accountability system for States and local educational agencies to ensure that all children, including children with disabilities, are held to high academic achievement standards and that States and local educational agencies are held accountable for the adequate yearly progress of all students. Most importantly, the No Child Left Behind Act requires schools and local educational agencies to disaggregate their data to examine the results of children with disabilities and ensure that such subgroup is making adequate yearly progress towards reaching proficiency. The bill carefully aligns the IDEA with the accountability system established under the No Child Left Behind Act to ensure that there is one unified system of accountability for States, local educational agencies, and schools.

Assessments

Section 612(a)(16) makes clear that the requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act regarding participation of children with disabilities in State and district-wide assessment systems applies under the Act. The bill requires States to ensure that all children with disabilities participate in the general State and district-wide assessment programs, with appropriate accommodations, as necessary. The bill also encourages States to develop and implement appropriate and rigorous alternate assessments aligned to State standards for students that cannot participate in the regular assessment. The Committee recognizes that this is not a new requirement and that States are currently under the obligation to have in place alternate assessments for their students. However, since many States have failed to implement this existing provision, the Committee encourages the Secretary to take this failure into consideration for compliance purposes. While the Committee is encouraged at actions taken by the Secretary in the most recent fiscal year, the Committee reminds the States and the Secretary that this requirement is one of the many conditions that must be met in order to be eligible to receive funds under Part B of the Act and that failure to meet this condition may place a State's eligibility in jeopardy.

The bill also makes clear that States have an affirmative obligation to determine what types of accommodations can be made to assessments while maintaining their reliability and validity. The bill requires States to develop and implement guidelines on appropriate accommodations. The Committee intends that this provision will serve as a valuable tool for the IEP Team as they determine which assessments a child with a disability should take, and which accommodations are appropriate. The Committee is intent on ensuring that each child with a disability receives appropriate accommodations, but is equally intent that these accommodations not invalidate the particular assessment. In developing the guidance on accommodations, the Committee encourages States to work with test publishers, assessment experts, special education teachers, and other experts to maximize the opportunities for children with disabilities to participate in regular assessments. The Committee also requires the IEP Team to thoroughly review and consider which accommodations are appropriate for the individual child to ensure that the assessment is meaningful and valid for the child.

Instructional materials for blind and print-disabled students

The Committee is concerned the many blind or print-disabled students are regularly denied timely access to instructional materials. Currently, these instructional materials, in specialized formats such as Braille, synthesized speech, and digital text, often do not get to the students who need them in a timely manner, which should be the same time fellow students without print disabilities are receiving their copies of the materials. Diverse file format requirements among the States and, sometimes, even within States, make it difficult for educational agencies to obtain required textbooks from publishers in the form of electronic files suitable for use in reproducing the material in a specialized format for accessibility. The most frequently required file formats (e.g., ASCII) are ill-suited for the needs of those who actually use the publisher-provided files (pursuant to a special exemption in the Federal Copyright Act) to reproduce and distribute copies of the required instructional materials in the needed specialized formats.

The bill adds a new provision to section 612 of the Act regarding instructional materials for blind and print disabled students. The provision is intended to provide students who are blind or have other print disabilities (as defined under current law) with more timely access to instructional materials used in elementary and secondary schools. The bill requires States to adopt the national instructional materials accessibility standard in its arrangements for getting such materials reproduced in specialized formats that are accessible to blind and print-disabled students.

The Committee recognizes the important work that the Department has already started in this area. This new provision in the bill requires States to adopt that standard in a timely manner after it is published by the Secretary in the Federal Register. Not later than two years after the date of enactment any purchase agreement for instructional materials (as defined in the bill) all State contracts with textbook publishers must include that standard. The bill provides a two-year transition period for applying the standard to meet the adaptation needs of the publishers who must provide the files, the needs of the authorized entities who actually use the files to convert the printed instructional materials into specialized formats, and the needs of States to modify and update their contracts with publishers.

Overidentification

The Committee has heard from numerous experts through testimony and other opportunities regarding the overidentification of minority students. Secretary of Education Roderick Paige testified to the Education and Workforce Committee that:

For minority students, misclassification or inappropriate placement in special education programs can have significant adverse consequences, particularly when these students are being removed from regular education settings and denied access to the core curriculum. Of particular concern is that, often, the more separate a program is from the general education setting, the more limited the curriculum and the greater the consequences to the student, particularly in terms of access to postsecondary education and employment opportunities. The stigma of being misclassified as mentally retarded or seriously emotionally disturbed, or as having a behavioral disorder, may also have serious consequences in terms of the student's self-perception and the perception of others, including family, peers, teachers, and future employers.

The Honorable Chaka Fattah, Member of Congress (D-PA), stated in his testimony to the Education and Workforce Committee that "the misplacement of students in special education stigmatizes and denies students the opportunity of a high quality education."

Research shows that African Americans are nearly three times as likely to be identified as mentally retarded as their peers and nearly twice as likely to be labeled emotionally disturbed. Several high quality studies and scientific analyses have demonstrated that there is no correlation between race and disability. The Committee is very concerned about the problem of overidentification and disproportionate representation of minority children in special education, and has adopted several strategies throughout the bill to address these issues. The bill requires States to have policies and procedures in place to prevent the overidentification or disproportionate representation of children as having disabilities. The Committee recognizes that the identification process requires individualized decisions that are appropriate for the individual child that may, when aggregated together, indicate a potential overidentification problem. The Committee does not intend to penalize local educational agencies for making appropriate decisions for each individual child. The Committee encourages States to develop positive and proactive methods of dealing with this problem.

Appropriate procedures include the use of rigorous methods of evaluation and classification of disability to ensure that the evaluation procedures provide consistent results rather than subjective decisions, the provision of high quality professional development to ensure that teachers and evaluators understand the identification process, and the implementation of high quality, scientifically based instruction for all children. States should not establish blanket policies that do not take into consideration the needs of the individual children within the district, but should vigorously examine any district that the State suspects has an overidentification or disproportionality problem to ensure that children are not being inappropriately identified as being disabled. The Committee further encourages local educational agencies to make effective and appropriate use of the prereferral services option discussed below to help address this problem.

Psychotropic medication

The Committee has been made aware of incidents where local educational agency officials have required parents to place children on psychotropic medication in order to attend school or receive services. The Committee feels that school officials should not presume to know what medication a child needs, or if the child even needs medication. Only medical doctors have the ability to determine if a prescription for a psychotropic drug is appropriate for a child. However, the Committee wants to stress the importance of open and effective communication between the parent and school officials (including teachers) regarding the needs of the child as a whole.

Accordingly the bill requires States, as a condition of receiving funds under the Act, to establish policies and procedures prohibiting school personnel from requiring a parent to obtain a prescription for their child for drugs listed under the Controlled Substances Act in order to attend school or receive services. The Controlled Substances Act regulates the manufacture and distribution of narcotics, stimulants, depressants, hallucinogens, anabolic steroids, and chemicals used in the illicit production of controlled substances. The Controlled Substances Act places all regulated substances into one of five schedules. This placement is based upon a substance's medicinal value, harmfulness, and potential for abuse or addiction.

*Section 203. Local educational agency eligibilitySection 613. Local Educational Agency Eligibility.

The Committee is concerned that the Department has over-emphasized compliance with process and focused on a reliance on gathering paperwork—a practice that States have copied when determining the eligibility of local educational agencies. The Committee agrees that local educational agencies should be able to demonstrate their intent and ability to comply with the provisions of the Act. Accordingly the bill includes language allowing local educational agencies to reasonably demonstrate to the State that they have in effect policies and procedures to ensure compliance with the Act. The Committee does not intend this to imply that the local educational agencies do not need to implement effective policies or procedures under the Act, nor is the language intended to provide a rationalization to local educational agencies for failure to effectively implement the Act. Instead, the change is intended to ensure that the State is focused on ensuring overall compliance with the Act.

Local use of funds

Within Section 613, the bill retains the authority of the local educational agency to treat as local funds the increase from one year to the next, when amounts appropriated under section 611 exceed $4.1 billion. The bill does add this provision to require the local educational agency to use those funds to provide additional funding for programs supported under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. The Committee feels that Congress appropriated these funds to be used for educational activities and that these funds should continue to be used for educational purposes.

The bill also changes the standard that allows the State to prevent the local educational agency from exercising the authority to treat Federal funds as local funds. The Committee feels that the State should meet an exceptionally high standard to prevent local educational agencies from exercising local control over these funds. The bill requires the State to determine that the local educational agency is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education in order for the State to prevent the local educational agency from exercising this authority. The Committee reminds States that if such a determination is made, then the State has an affirmative obligation under other sections of the Act to take control of the local educational agency's special education program.

New provisions in section 613 give local educational agencies greater flexibility in the use of part B funds to meet the needs of prereferral services, high cost special education services, case management and administration, supplemental educational services for children with disabilities, and providing services to charter schools.

High cost special education and related services

The Committee has been made increasingly aware of the needs of local educational agencies to provide services to children with very expensive special needs. Local educational agencies are often overwhelmed by the costs associated with a child with expensive needs, but are committed to providing such children an appropriate education. The Committee recognizes and applauds the efforts of several States to address this problem and has provided flexibility to States to address this issue with State funds elsewhere in the Act.

However, as another tool to help meet this need, the bill includes as an allowable use of local educational agency funds the ability of local educational agencies on their own or working in consortium with other local educational agencies to reserve funds to establish and implement any of a variety of funding mechanisms, consistent with State law, to provide services to a child with high cost needs. The bill does not establish a set model or specific program that local educational agencies must create or implement. Instead the Committee feels it is best to rely on the creativity of the States and local educational agencies to determine the best methods of meeting these needs.

Technology in the IEP

The Committee has heard from hundreds of teachers, principals, and parents who have concerns that local educational agencies do not have the ability to use modern technology for record keeping, data collection, and developing IEPs. Mr. Gregory J. Lock, principal of Oak View Elementary School in Fairfax, Virginia, testified to the Subcommittee on Education Reform that the Act should “provide for the use of technology to automate the written components of the IEP process in order to reduce the time spent on the preparation of the IEP.”

The Committee has even heard from teachers who have been required to hand write all of their IEPs, and rewrite IEPs from the beginning whenever any changes are made to the IEP. The Act does not contain any such requirements or prohibit the appropriate use of technology. The Committee encourages local educational agencies to use technology appropriately in implementing this Act. To further this goal, the bill allows local educational agencies to use funds under the Act to purchase appropriate technology to improve the administration of the Act and to reduce the paperwork burden on teachers.

Supplemental educational services

The bill also allows local educational agencies to use their Part B funds to support supplemental educational services for children with disabilities in Title I schools in need of improvement. The bill supports access for children with disabilities to supplemental educational services and their parent’s ability to pick the best provider. All children in schools which fail to make adequate yearly progress under the Elementary and Secondary Education act for three consecutive years, especially children with disabilities, should be given an opportunity for supplemental educational services. Expanding access to more eligible supplemental educational services providers will help improve results for their children with disabilities.

Currently under the No Child Left Behind Act, local educational agencies are limited in the amount of funds that can follow a child to his or her chosen supplemental educational services provider. However, the Committee is aware that there may be extra costs associated with providing necessary accommodations to serve children with disabilities. This provision allows local educational agencies to decide whether to use funds under this Act to meet those extra costs and ensure that these children have access to the same supplemental educational services providers as other children in the school. This change is a logical extension of the No Child Left Behind Act to ensure that children with disabilities have access to the full measure of options for supplemental educational services.

It should be made absolutely clear that this provision only allows local educational agencies to supplement the current level of funding available to these children under the No Child Left Behind Act with funds under this Act, and in no way is intended to allow the supplantation of the required funding under the No Child Left Behind Act. Allowing local educational agencies to choose to use these funds to supplement its other efforts ensures that students with disabilities in schools in need of improvement are not limited to only the district or State provider of supplemental educational services.

Charter schools

The bill also amends two provisions concerning how charter schools that serve children with disabilities are treated when they are part of local educational agency. The current Act includes provisions to ensure that charter schools are treated equitably both in the distribution of funds and the provision of services. In situations where charter schools are within a local educational agency, the bill modifies current law because it has been interpreted by the Department as preventing a local educational agency from providing funds to charter schools on a proportional basis unless the local educational agency provided funds directly to its other schools. Such a determination fails to account for the fundamental difference in a school that operates independently and adheres to a charter or performance contract. The Committee intends that charter schools be able to provide services to children with disabilities under the Act. To remedy this problem, the bill continues to require local educational agencies to serve children with disabilities in its charter schools in the same manner it serves its other public school students. It further clarifies that this requirement includes providing supplemental and related services on site at the charter school where the local educational agency has a policy or practice of providing these services on site at its other public schools.

The bill also modifies the requirement for how local educational agencies provide funds to its charter schools. This provision clarifies that the local education agency must provide funds for charter schools serving children with disabilities on the same basis and at the same time as it serves children with disabilities in its other schools. The bill directs local educational agencies to provide charter schools with funds under section 611 determined by their direct proportional distribution based on relative enrollment and at the same time that it provides other Federal funds. The Committee intends that local educational agencies should not withhold services or funds from charter schools as such actions serve only to deprive children with disabilities of their right to a free appropriate education and only further polarize the charter school and the local educational agency from working together.

Prereferral services

The Committee heard from numerous individuals who have called for providing assistance to students on the verge of being identified in need of special education services. Dianne Talarico, Superintendent of the Canton City School District in Canton, Ohio, testified to the Subcommittee on Education Reform that:

Too often students are referred to special education because they are not succeeding in the general education setting and they need extra support or intensified instruction. While they do not need special education, they are referred there anyway. Frankly, too many general educators are not skilled in meeting a diverse range of student learning needs, so they are eager to “dump” students out of their classes and off of their rosters so they are not responsible for them.

The bill includes a significant new provision regarding support for prereferral services to benefit children before they are referred to special education. The bill allows local educational agencies to use up to fifteen percent of their allocation under section 611 to develop and implement comprehensive coordinated prereferral educational support services for students not yet identified as having a disability. These funds should be used in coordination with other education funds and programs to provide high quality, intensive services to students that need additional academic and behavioral support in a general education environment.

The Committee understands that this is an important new concept to the Act that will have a beneficial impact on the lives of children. The Committee’s intent with this new provision is to provide flexibility to local educational agencies to establish a comprehensive coordinated system of services to children that may be on the verge of manifesting a disability or are at risk of being inappropriately identified as having a disability.

The Committee has heard testimony and received a significant level of requests from teachers and school district officials for the ability to provide intensive services to students that might otherwise be referred to special education, even if the student does not have an identifiable disability. The Committee feels that a substantial number of children, particularly minority children, are being inappropriately referred to special education primarily because of reading difficulties or behavior problems. While such a referral may provide an immediate or short-term solution to the problem, such actions are not in the long-term interest of the child and are antithetical to the intent and purpose of the Act.

The Committee encourages local educational agencies to use this flexibility to provide regular education and special education teachers high quality professional development programs to ensure that all teachers are able to use scientifically based academic instruction methods, particularly methods in literacy and reading instruction. The Committee feels that providing such high quality professional development will benefit the children served under this section as well as all other children served under the Act by improving the skills of teachers.

The Committee encourages local educational agencies to provide direct services, especially scientifically based literacy instruction, and speech therapy services where appropriate, to students served under this section to remedy any reading deficiencies that the students may have and to adequately assess and evaluate the skills of these students. The Committee believes that the provision of these services and the use of the variety of evaluation and assessment methods that accompany the provision of scientifically based literacy instruction will help differentiate between students who have different learning styles and students that have disabilities, especially learning disabilities. The Committee has heard experts discuss the difference between a reading difficulty and a reading-based learning disability, and encourages local educational agencies to take careful steps to make these determinations with their students. The Committee reminds local educational agencies that a child with a reading difficulty cannot be identified as a child with a disability if the determinant factor is their reading difficulty. However, children with reading-based learning disabilities can, and should, be appropriately identified as disabled.

The Committee also encourages local educational agencies to provide positive behavior interventions and supports to children that have demonstrated behavior problems within school. The Committee understands that a significant number of students, particularly African American males, are inappropriately referred to special education and identified as having an emotional disturbance. The Committee has heard testimony from experts regarding the appropriate use of positive behavior interventions and supports, and encourages local educational agencies to implement these constructive strategies to reduce the level of inappropriate behavior by individuals and to improve the overall educational environment within the school building.

In creating the opportunity for local educational agencies to develop and implement these prereferral services, the Committee is also aware of the potential for confusion regarding the appropriate use of these services. The Committee does not intend for these services to be operated in settings that create the potential for a separate system for the students served under this section. While it may be appropriate to provide some intensive services in a separate setting, the substantial majority of these services should be provided in the regular education setting to students with their disabled and non-disabled peers.

The bill is also explicitly clear that children served under this section do not have the same rights and protections as students that are identified as eligible for services under the Act in sections 614 and 615. Children served under this section do not have a right to a free appropriate public education in the least restrictive environment, and being served under this section does not trigger the local educational agency's responsibility to have known the child had a disability under section 615(j). However, the Committee does not intend for the provision of these services to delay or deny, in any way, the appropriate referral and evaluation of a child to determine whether the child has a disability. Local educational agencies are not authorized to delay the implementation of a requested evaluation by providing services under this section. The Committee also reminds local educational agencies that other obligations exist regarding parental consent for the provision of educational services.

The Committee is also very interested in rigorous data collection efforts under this section to ensure that the services provided under this section are effectively implemented. The Committee encourages States and the Department to establish a vigorous reporting system for local educational agencies that decide to use this flexibility in order to evaluate the effectiveness of this program and to determine the breadth and depth of the impact of these services.

Section 204. Evaluations, eligibility determinations, individualized education programs, and educational placements

Section 614. Evaluations, Eligibility Determinations, Individualized Education Programs, and Educational Placements.

Empowering parents to be more involved in the decisions about the education of their child is the focus of many changes in section 614. The Committee feels that parents should be integral partners in the development of their child's IEP and has made several changes to the development process of the IEP to empower parents to establish effective working relationships with their child's school to develop effective IEPs. The Committee also had the goal of reducing the paperwork burden that is often associated with the IEP. The bill will help reduce the paperwork burden on teachers so that they are able to spend more time working with students. The excessive amount of paperwork currently inherent in the process overwhelms and burdens teachers, robbing them of time to educate their students. It also makes it more difficult for school districts to retain and recruit highly qualified special education teachers. Teachers must have the ability to spend more time with their students in the classroom, rather than spending endless hours filling out forms that do not lead to a better education for students.

Parental consent

The bill clarifies the rights of parents with regard to initial evaluation and services for their child. Parents have the right to refuse both the initial evaluation of their child as well as the provision of services to their child under the Act. However because of the obligation to conduct child find, the law permits, but does not require, the local educational agency to override parental consent for the limited purpose of the initial evaluation. Next, the bill strengthens parental consent provisions to ensure that parental consent is required, and cannot be overridden, when it comes to the provision of services. This provision clarifies the distinction between the initial evaluation and the provision of services. This bill further clarifies that local educational agencies are not required to draft an IEP for a child if the parent has refused their consent for services. The Committee does not expect local educational agencies, as part of the required child find process, to feel compelled to override the refusal of a parent to consent to an evaluation if the parent has clearly indicated their refusal to consent to an initial evaluation and their intention to refuse the offer of special education and related services for their child.

Evaluations

The bill clarifies that diagnostic testing and screening by teachers to determine the appropriate curricular placement and interventions is not to be considered an evaluation for the purposes of determining eligibility for services under the Act.

Reevaluations

The bill makes changes to the reevaluation process to enable the local educational agency to reevaluate the child if his or her educational needs, including improved academic achievement, make such a reevaluation necessary. The bill maintains the ability of the parent or the teacher to request a reevaluation and retains the requirement that reevaluations occur at least once every three years. The bill makes one important change to the triennial evaluation by allowing the parent and the local educational agency to agree that it is not necessary to reevaluate the child. Many parents and school district officials have suggested to the Committee that it is not necessary to reevaluate every child, and this change allows the parent to make that determination. The bill also makes clear that local educational agencies are only required to provide one reevaluation a year, unless the local educational agency chooses to conduct an additional reevaluation if the child's educational needs suggest to the local educational agency that such a reevaluation is necessary.

The Committee is concerned that the evaluation procedures, assessments, and diagnostic tools have become moribund and resistant to change as better evaluation procedures have become available. The Committee strongly believes that local educational agencies should use the most up-to-date measures, assessments, and evaluation practices that have been independently verified to be valid and reliable for the purpose that the measures are designed to evaluate. To that end, the bill updates the description and the requirements regarding the measures used for evaluations and encourages the Department to work with the States and local educational agencies to determine which measures are most appropriate for evaluating whether a child has a disability.

Overidentification of students

The Committee is discouraged by the practice of overidentifying children as having disabilities, especially minority students, largely because the children do not have appropriate reading skills. Special education is not intended to serve as an alternative place to serve children if the local educational agency has failed to teach these children how to read. The bill updates language within the Act to contain a specific requirement that a child cannot be determined to be a child with a disability solely because the child did not receive scientifically based instruction in reading. With the combination of programs authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, particularly Reading First and Early Reading First, and the prereferral services concept under section 613, the Committee hopes that local educational agencies will improve their reading and literacy instruction to enable all children to read at grade level by the third grade. The Committee believes that these changes will help reduce the number of children being inappropriately referred to, and identified under, special education and should encourage schools to improve their programs on these subjects in early grades.

Specific learning disabilities

Dr. Robert Pasternack, Assistant Secretary for Special Education and Rehabilitative Services at the U.S. Department of Education, testified before the Subcommittee on Education Reform regarding specific learning disabilities and appropriate methods of identification of that disability. He testified that:

The convergence of scientific research about LD ["Learning Disabled"], especially reading difficulties associated with LD, has placed us on the edge of new knowledge that we did not have even a few short years ago. We now know, for example, that the way we have traditionally looked at assessment of learning disabilities needs to be re-thought based on recent research in the use and role of IQ tests in assessments for eligibility. We know that using IQ discrepancy between the test and performance is not always an indicator of a learning disability. Indeed, some research indicates that if a child who reads slowly has IQ scores that are above average, that child might receive services under the IDEA based on the discrepancy between the IQ scores and the reading ability. On the other hand, another child who also reads slowly but has IQ scores that are average may not receive any services because of the lack of a significant discrepancy. Such approaches to assessment may clearly result in some children who need services not getting them while others who do not need them will receive them.

The bill includes very clear language regarding the determination of eligibility for students as having a specific learning disability. The Committee is discouraged by the widespread reliance on the IQ-achievement discrepancy model that serves as the determining factor of whether a child has a specific learning disability. The Committee does not disregard the research base that supports the appropriate use of IQ tests, but the Committee acknowledges the widespread misuse of those measures. The bill specifically allows local educational agencies to continue to use the discrepancy model. However, the Committee hopes that local educational agencies that continue to use the discrepancy model will take great efforts to ensure that the application of the discrepancy model falls within the appropriate guidelines of the IQ assessment, and that evaluators do not rely solely on a simple test score, but place that result within the larger context of the child's individual abilities.

The Committee is greatly encouraged by the growing use of alternative measures that are being used in place of the IQ-achievement discrepancy model. Dr. Douglas Carnine, director of the National Center to Improve the Tools of Educators at the University of Oregon, testified to the Subcommittee on Education Reform that:

Given the converging evidence and agreement in the field that we must do something better for our children, the following model is recommended as the basis to improve how we provide early intervention and identification: Response to Intervention Model (RTI). A RTI model would be designed to ensure that children who are indicating a likelihood of failing in the early grades receive scientifically based instruction as soon as possible.

The eligibility for special education services would focus on the children who, even with these services, are not able to be successful. The focus of RTI is on responding to the instructional challenges caused by the disability, not on giving tests to document the failure of the student.

The Committee encourages local educational agencies to take advantage of the prereferral services in section 613 to provide early intervention services to students and accompany those services with rigorous evaluation methods and curriculum-based assessments to measure the progress of the child. Through the application of high quality instruction, delivered by well-trained individuals, local educational agencies will be able to differentiate between children that have different learning styles and children that have disabilities. The experience of some local educational agencies and States that have adopted other methods, such as “Neverstreaming” or “response-to-intervention” have demonstrated that scientifically based, rigorous assessment methods exist and should serve as models for other local educational agencies and States to follow.

David W. Gordon, Superintendent of the Elk Grove Unified School District in Elk Grove, California testified to the Subcommittee on Education Reform that:

Neverstreaming changes the paradigm from failing first to preventing failure in the first place. By changing that paradigm through constant vigilance, we actually promote prevention over reactive models. Prevention means that you prevent the child from backsliding educationally to the point where support is only available through separate program models that require long-term remediation with very little chance of catching up to the grade level group.

The Committee encourages the Department to establish effective technical assistance, training, model development, dissemination centers, and professional development activities to support these alternative models. The Department should also conduct high quality research to evaluate the effectiveness of these models, and provide more information regarding these alternatives.

Exit evaluation

The bill revises the commonly-termed “exit evaluation” to allow the IEP Team to determine that a child may leave special education and return to the regular education program or graduate from high school without a costly and unnecessary evaluation. However, if the IEP Team is not in agreement on this change in eligibility status, a full exit evaluation is still required.

Accountability

Within section 614(d) the bill makes several important changes to improve the focus of the IEP on the educational program and the academic achievement of children with disabilities. The Committee recognizes the importance of assessing progress for all children, particularly children with disabilities, and increases the focus of the IEP in measuring the academic achievement of children with disabilities. The Committee believes that the reporting requirements included in the No Child Left Behind Act are a very important development in measuring progress for all children, particularly children with disabilities, and is placing significant new accountability requirements on schools, local educational agencies, and States.

Harriet P. Brown, Director of ESE Policy and Procedures in the Orlando School District in Orlando, Florida, testified to the Subcommittee on Education Reform that the Act should not include short-term objectives due to the requirements of the No Child Left Behind Act.

With the new mandates of the No Child Left Behind Act, there is a heightened awareness of standards for all students. Coupling that with the IDEA's existing mandate for participation in the general curriculum for students with disabilities, annual goals based on the state's standards for achievement will offer a clear correlation for instruction and transition beyond the school years. The current requirement for short-term objectives dictates the length of the IEP. Parents appear more comfortable with short-term objectives because they are easy to understand. Annual goals can serve the same purpose and provide more flexibility for learning.

The Committee agrees with this sentiment and as the reporting requirements from the No Child Left Behind Act come in to effect, the Committee feels that other reporting requirements should be replaced. The bill eliminates the requirements for benchmarks or short-term objectives for most students with disabilities after the 2005–2006 school year, which is when the full breadth of requirements under the No Child Left Behind Act are implemented.

However, the Committee is aware that these reporting requirements may not be entirely sufficient for a small group of children with disabilities, those with significant cognitive disabilities that will be unable to effectively participate in regular assessments with appropriate accommodations or even alternative assessments aligned to grade level standards. For a small proportion of the population of children with disabilities, some children will take alternate assessments aligned to alternate standards. For these children, the Committee feels that benchmarks or short-term objectives may still be appropriate, and the bill requires these elements to be included in IEPs for these children even after the 2005–2006 school year.

Related services

The Committee is very concerned about the appropriateness of some of the activities that local educational agencies have been required to provide through the provision of related services. The Committee reminds local educational agencies that related services are required to assist a child with a disability to benefit from special education. Related services face the same requirements as do special educational services and local educational agencies are reminded that there is not a requirement to provide every possible related service, but they must provide those services that are appropriate. Local educational agencies are able to use their discretion to determine whether a requested service will actually enable the child to benefit from special education. To help local educational agencies determine what related services are appropriate to be provided at public expense, the bill encourages the IEP Team to include related services that have been peer-reviewed, to the extent practicable, to determine whether the service is beneficial and related to the special education services. The Committee also encourages the Department to focus its research efforts to help expand the level of research on related services to ensure that all appropriate related services have a solid foundation of research and peer-review.

Required elements of the IEP

The bill also establishes a rule of construction stating that nothing beyond what is explicitly included in section 614 is required in a child's IEP. This provision is intended to indicate to States and local educational agencies that these requirements are all that is required for an IEP to comply with this Act. While States and local educational agencies may add their own additional requirements, such requirements should be identified as State- or locally-mandated.

Transition from Part C to section 619

The Committee is concerned about the transition of some children from the Part C program for infants and toddlers with disabilities to the section 619 program for children aged three through five. The Part C program requires that an Individualized Family Service Program (IFSP) be developed to lay out the plan of services and supports for the child and their family under that program. When a child turns three years old, he or she is eligible to be served under the Part B, section 619 preschool program and the local educational agency is required to develop an IEP for the child. The bill encourages the local educational agency to consider the elements of the IFSP that continue to be relevant for the child, and are appropriate to be included in the IEP for the child. This change is not intended to obligate local educational agencies to provide services that are not required under Part B of the Act, but it does encourage the local educational agency to continue relevant services in a manner that will help ease the transition for the child from one program to another.

Flexibility for parents in the IEP

One of the top goals for the Committee is to reduce the unnecessary complications and processes involved in the IEP in order to give parents greater control over the IEP and to make the process more efficient and more effective for children, their parents, and teachers. A key change in the bill is to allow parents, along with the local educational agency, to excuse the attendance of any IEP Team member. Allowing the parent and the local educational agency to determine which members of the IEP Team are needed for any given IEP Team meeting empowers parents to make important decisions about their child's education, and allows local educational agencies to better utilize their personnel who are not needed for a particular meeting. If the parent and the local educational agency agree to this action, then the individual that has been excused is required to submit their comments prior to the IEP Team meeting in order for their input to be considered during that meeting.

Another significant change in the bill is to give greater flexibility to parents to allow the parent and the local educational agency to make changes or amendments to an IEP without reconvening the entire IEP Team. The IEP is a management tool for the parent to ensure that the child is receiving needed special education and related services. If the parent and the local educational agency mutually agree to amend the IEP without reconvening the entire IEP Team, they should be allowed to do so. The Committee understands that it is often difficult to convene the entire IEP Team, and that in some circumstances the IEP may need a simple change to benefit the child. Currently local educational agencies feel constrained from making these simple changes because they are concerned that if they do not follow the clear process for amending the IEP, including reconvening the IEP Team, then some parents could later complain that the rights of their child had been violated. The bill gives this flexibility to parents to request amendments to the IEP and the authority to the local educational agency to accept amendments without fear of future litigation. However, if the parent and the local educational agency choose to reconvene the entire team they continue to have the right to do so.

In addition, the Committee believes the IEP Team should consider including a bilingual or English as a second language teacher in IEP Team meetings as appropriate, based on the individual child's needs to address the special language development needs of a limited English proficient child with disabilities.

Multi-year IEP

Many parents, teachers, and school district officials have asked for greater flexibility in dealing with the paperwork associated with the Act. Mr. Gregory J. Lock, principal of the Oak View Elementary School in Fairfax, VA, testified to the Subcommittee on Education Reform that the Act should lengthen "the timeframe of the IEP from the current requirement for an annual formal rewrite. The formal process would be retained for a child's major transition points, but the new approach would allow for a more collaborative process for ongoing review of the student's progress."

The Committee is very interested in reducing the paperwork burden on parents and teachers. While the Committee strongly supports the annual IEP and remains committed to the fact that all children have the right to an annual IEP, the Committee has heard from parents and teachers that would like to have the opportunity to voluntarily choose to develop a multi-year IEP for their child (to a maximum of 3 years). The Committee notes that all of the requirements for the development of the annual IEP apply to the multi-year IEP. The multi-year IEP will continue to have an annual review process, where the entire IEP Team sits down to discuss the IEP and the child's progress. The parent can drop out of the multi-year IEP at any time and return to an annual IEP.

The multi-year IEP is an entirely voluntary program. The local educational agency has the option to offer the multi-year IEP to a parent. The parent then has the option to choose to develop a multi-year IEP for the child. It is clearly the intent of the Committee that the parent must voluntarily choose to enter into a multi-year IEP. The Committee has heard from many parents who would like to have this ability to engage the school district in long term planning for their child. The multi-year IEP allows parents to look ahead, to make sure that the proper foundation is being laid for their child's education, instead of focusing on where their child will be at the end of just one year. This option serves as a mechanism to shift the focus from the short-term process to the long-term achievement of the child with a disability.

Use of technology

The bill also makes clear that parents and school districts may use modern technology such as computer programs, teleconferencing, and video conferencing when creating an IEP. Often parents or other IEP Team members cannot attend in person the entire IEP Team meeting. This option will allow all members to participate in the meeting in a way that is constructive. The Committee also hopes that this will enable greater participation of other agencies that have a role in the development of the IEP, particularly agencies involved in transition planning for children about to graduate or age out of the school system. The Committee recognizes the significance of a good transition plan for children, and hopes that this change will allow agencies to work effectively together to maximize their participation in the development of the IEP.

Children with degenerative diseases

The Committee has heard from many parents and teachers regarding the special situations of children with a medical condition that is degenerative (i.e., a disease that results in negative progression and cannot be corrected or fully stabilized). For these children, services under the IEP can be provided to help maintain the child's present level of functioning for as long as possible in order for the child to fully benefit from special education services. In developing an IEP for these children, the IEP Team may consider recommendations from professional consultants familiar with the child and the medical condition in the development of the IEP. The IEP Team can include related services designed to provide therapeutic services prior to loss of original abilities to extend current skills and throughout the child's enrollment in school. These services may include occupational and physical therapy, self-help, mobility and communication, as appropriate.

Section 205. Procedural safeguards

Section 615. Procedural Safeguards.

The procedural safeguards in the Act have historically provided the foundation for ensuring access to a free appropriate public education for children with disabilities. The Committee has added clarifications to the procedural safeguard provisions to facilitate conflict resolution, describe how schools may discipline children with disabilities, and ensure that due process is useful for all parents and schools. The reauthorization will allow for more productive and less hostile relations between parents and schools to ensure that the focus of the Act remains on educating children with disabilities.

The bill retains the provisions concerning the opportunity to use, and the administrative procedures associated with, an impartial due process hearing. The bill simplifies the process of delivering, and the content of, notices to parents about their child's rights. The Committee hopes that these provisions will provide parents more user-friendly information that they can understand without burdening them or the local educational agency with repetitive and unnecessary distribution of these notices.

Homeless children with disabilities

The bill clarifies that when a complaint requires the address of the residence of the child, in the case of a homeless child or youth, the complaint may list available contact information of the child. This change is intended to ensure that homeless children are not disenfranchised from the due process proceedings.

Mediation and voluntary binding arbitration

In the 1997 reauthorization of this Act, the Congress added the opportunity for parents and local educational agencies to mediate their disagreements. The opportunity for mediation was intended to encourage early resolution of problems whenever possible. However, the bill required that a State's mediation system not be used to delay or deny a parent's right to due process. At that time, States that offered mediation reduced litigation and parents and schools resolved their differences amicably, making decisions with the child's best interest in mind. Since 1997, mediation under the Act has resulted in a significant reduction in litigation and helped in restoring the trust between parents and school personnel. Although hearing requests increased from about 9,200 in 1997 to over 11,000 in 2000, the number of requests actually going to hearings fell from about 3,400 in 1997 to just over 3,000 in 2000.

This bill builds upon the 1997 improvements by requiring States to establish and maintain a voluntary binding arbitration system. First, H.R. 1350 encourages the use of mediation as early as possible. Current law only allows the mediation of disputes once a formal complaint has been filed. This bill allows parents and local educational agencies to choose to mediate disputes at any time. For example, if the parent and the local educational agency are having difficulty in agreeing on the number of hours of physical therapy or the least restrictive placement for the child, they could agree to mediate their differences. Such a choice to mediate does not foreclose any procedural avenues; however it does speed the process to a resolution so that the child will be provided the appropriate services in the most timely manner.

Given the interest in resolving disputes through non-litigation means, it is expected that this will also assist in reducing the litigation burden and continue to restore the focus on educating children with disabilities. The willingness of parents to enter the mediation system indicates that some parents are hungry for ways to resolve disputes so that their child gets the necessary services in a more timely manner than can be achieved through traditional litigation. Therefore, the second change is the addition of voluntary binding arbitration that allows those parents, along with the local educational agency, to come to a final resolution without a due process hearing.

A voluntary binding arbitration system already operates in most States for numerous other claims ranging from personal disputes to business disputes to class action litigation. These systems allow the expeditious and final resolution of claims in many areas and should be allowed to include claims under the IDEA. With such an available option, local educational agencies and parents can mutually agree to avoid the lengthy and expensive litigation inherent to the Act. This alternative dispute resolution option can serve to restore the trust between the school personnel and the parent, allowing them to work cooperatively to find the best education placement and services for the child.

Importantly, this system is truly voluntary for both the parent and the local educational agency to choose. If both parties do not choose voluntary binding arbitration, then the complaint goes through the regular due process procedure. Finally, all arbitrations must be conducted by qualified and impartial arbitrators, ensuring that all parties have a fair and unbiased consideration of each situation. It is the Committee's strong preference that the resolution session, mediation and voluntary binding arbitration become the typical methods for resolving disputes under the Act.

Resolution session

The Committee is clearly concerned about the level of communication that occurs between a parent and the local educational agency when there is a dispute about the services the child is receiving. The Committee feels that parents and local educational agency officials, in most cases, should be able to easily resolve issues when they are brought to the attention of appropriate individuals within the school system. The bill creates a new concept of the resolution session that is intended to improve the communication between parents and school officials, and to help foster greater efforts to resolve disputes in a timely manner so that the child's interests are best served.

Once a parent has filed a clear and specific complaint, the school district has 15 days from the receipt of such complaint to convene a meeting with the parent. At that meeting the parent and the school officials should work together to determine the nature of the complaint and to work collaboratively to attempt to resolve the complaint. The local educational agency then has up until the 30th day from the receipt of the complaint to address the parent's complaint. If the local educational agency has not resolved the complaint, then the due process hearing can occur.

The Committee feels that it is important to clarify that the resolution session procedure does not, in any way, infringe on other timelines regarding the due process hearing and that those timelines would run concurrently with the timeline outlined for the resolution session. The resolution session is not intended to delay the ability of a parent to access a due process hearing.

The bill is also clear that if the parent and the local educational agency mutually agree that the meeting does not need to occur, the resolution session meeting does not need to take place. However, unless such an agreement is reached, the failure of the party bringing the complaint to participate in the meeting will delay the timeline for convening a due process hearing until the meeting is held.

Clear and specific notice of complaint

In 1997, the reauthorization included changes designed to ensure that parents accurately notified the local educational agency of the issues they were raising in their complaint. Unfortunately, regulations issued in 1999 by the Department directly contradicted this requirement by stating that failure to comply with the notice requirement under this Act could not delay or deny the parent the right to a due process hearing. The language requiring a parent to provide a clear and specific complaint to the local educational agency is essential to making the complaint process work in a fair and equitable manner. Local educational agency officials need to know, with clarity and specificity, what the problem is that concerns the parent so they can try to remedy the problem.

Often, local educational agency officials may be unaware that there is a problem until a parent has filed a complaint. Currently, a complaint may be vague and unclear. If the local educational agency officials do not know specifically what the issue is, they cannot remedy the problem. If the local educational agency receives a clear and specific complaint, school personnel with decision-making ability may be able to remedy the problem with greater speed than school level officials. This may also reduce some of the unnecessary litigation, since a parent will have to actually identify a clear and specific problem before they can file a complaint. If a parent cannot identify a specific problem, then the parent should ask to reconvene the IEP Team and discuss what their concerns are rather than filing a complaint to see if a hearing officer can determine the problem.

Through this bill, the Committee reiterates in clear terms that a due process hearing cannot occur until the parent has disclosed all of the issues that are the basis of their complaint with specificity. Further, this bill requires the hearing officer to bar the introduction of new issues by a parent that have not been disclosed to the local educational agency in the complaint or at the meeting during the resolution session. If a parent has new issues they need to disclose past the current five-day time limit prior to a hearing, the parent must amend the complaint, get the consent of the local educational agency to introduce new issues without prior notice, or seek a continuance of the hearing until such time as all issues have been disclosed.

Statute of limitations

The Act currently has no statute of limitations and leaves local educational agencies open to litigation for the entire length of time a child is in school, whether or not the child has been identified as a child with a disability. Local educational agencies are often surprised by claims from parents involving issues that occurred in an elementary school program when the child may currently be a high school student. Such an unreasonably long threat of litigation hanging over a local educational agency forces them to document every step they take with every child, even if the parents agree with the action, because they could later change their mind and sue. The fear of far-removed litigation raises the tension level between the school and the parent. Prolonged litigation breeds an attitude of distrust between the parents and school personnel and has the effect of requiring school personnel to document conversations, rather than working cooperatively to find the best education placement and services for the child.

The bill includes a statute of limitations of one year from the date of the violation. This change will align the Act with other Federal statutes that have explicit statutes of limitations (e.g., civil rights claims, Federal tort claims, Social Security) and allow for timely resolution of issues. Parents, or their advocates, often wait to bring actions until many years after discovering a concern. The child's education is usually jeopardized by this strategy. A statute of limitations alleviates unnecessary claims for compensatory education and allows local educational agencies to limit unnecessary paperwork designed to protect them from protracted, long-term litigation.

Attorney's fees

The Committee remains concerned about excessive litigation under the Act and the burden that local educational agencies face in paying fees to attorneys. The bill includes language that requires each Governor (or their designee) to set the rate of attorney's fees that may be awarded for actions under this Act that arise in their State. The fees set by a Governor may take into account the geographic differences of a state, such as rural versus urban areas, and may be a range of fees that take those geographic differences into account. The determined rates must be made available to the public each year. The Committee encourages the States to make the established rates public prior to the beginning of the school year. The Committee believes that the addition of this provision will help restore balance to the proceedings under this Act and continue to provide early opportunities for schools and parents to foster more cooperative partnerships and resolve problems.

Discipline

The Committee notes that there is a heightened awareness for the need to ensure that all students are safe when they are at school. In the bill, the discipline provisions are modified to ensure that every student can learn in a safe school that supports an appropriate educational environment. These changes give school personnel the necessary authority to protect the safety and well-being of all students in the school. These improved student discipline provisions clarify what is expected of all students, including children with disabilities, and the consequences of not meeting those expectations.

Over the past few years, the Committee has attempted several times to improve upon the Act's discipline system. In the 106th Congress, the Committee passed amendments to the Act's discipline provisions in H.R. 4141, the Education OPTIONS Act, and the House passed amendments to the Act's discipline provisions in H.R. 1501, the juvenile justice reauthorization bill. More recently, in H.R. 1 of the 107th Congress, the No Child Left Behind Act, the House passed discipline reforms similar to those of the 106th Congress.

The bill continues this strong commitment to reforming the discipline provisions of the Act. The bill includes very worthwhile and positive improvements. The reform of the duplicative discipline system under the Act provides for a uniform and fair way of disciplining children with disabilities in line with discipline procedures for children without disabilities. It also ensures that children with disabilities continue to receive educational services if they are disciplined beyond the 10 days allowed under current law.

The Committee has heard from teachers and school administrators that the dual discipline system of current law results in an inability to discipline students appropriately given the child's misbehavior. Members also hear that current law ties the hands of school personnel in responding quickly and effectively to very serious student behavior problems.

Dr. Sally Arthur, Director of Educational Support Services in the Humble Independent School District in Humble, Texas, testified to the Subcommittee on Education Reform that:

IDEA 1997 and the resulting federal regulations created a logistical problem in relation to school discipline. The current regulations diminish the capacity to follow the principles of PBIS [positive behavior interventions and supports] by establishing variable rather than clear guidelines of behavioral expectations to students and parents. Loopholes are available and students can learn to misbehave from the lack of consistency. Further, the possibility of human error is monumental, reducing the ability of campus administrators to ensure compliance to the regulations. Campus administrators are expected to follow a maze of regulations and make decisions in relation to their ability to consequent a student's inappropriate behaviors. This maze of regulations has numerous decision points, all potential vehicles for litigation. This inequitable system creates opportunities for exploitation of the system. Further, it assumes that all individuals are capable of understanding and applying these legal complexities. After five years of studying it, I am not certain I could make the correct decision with limited time to reflect.

An examination of current law illustrates these problems. The dual system created by current law becomes apparent when the behavior of a child with a disability would result in an extended punishment or when the current ten-day flexibility has been exhausted. While a serious fighting incident could result in a suspension beyond ten days for a non-disabled child, the child with a disability does not face the same consequences. Under current law, school personnel have discretion to remove a child with a disability from the child's current placement to an interim alternative placement only for situations involving weapons and drugs. School personnel must undertake the confusing manifestation determination process in order to attempt to apply the same consequences for misbehavior as would be applied to a non-disabled child in discipline situations beyond weapons and drugs. Educators consistently comment that the manifestation determination typically results in a finding that the behavior is somehow remotely related to the child's disability, which is not surprising considering the statute is written to presume that the behavior is related to the disability. The reality has become an inherently subjective process that is purposefully used to avoid discipline for a child with a disability.

The discipline improvements in the bill provide for a uniform school discipline code and substantially reduce the confusion and complexity of the current system. Specifically, the bill maintains the current law provision allowing school personnel to suspend a child with a disability for up to 10 days with no educational services provided; maintains the current law requirement that when a child is disciplined beyond the above 10 days, schools are required to provide educational services to students with disabilities; provides for a uniform system of discipline in schools by allowing school personnel discretion over all behaviors (not limited to weapons and drugs as in current law), while allowing school personnel to make case-by-case disciplinary decisions; and allows school personnel to place a child with a disability that violates the school code of conduct policy in an alternative educational setting for up to 45 school days, unless State law provides for a longer term.

Under the bill, where State law has longer consequences (i.e., longer than 45 days) for specific incidents (typically incidents involving weapons, drugs, aggravated assault, or pulling a fire alarm), State law would be followed, though for children with disabilities educational services would continue.

Most importantly, the bill requires school personnel to treat all children in the same manner. If a violation results in a 3 day punishment for a child without a disability, the school could discipline the child with a disability for up to 3 days, while continuing to provide educational services. The alternate setting does not have to be outside the school setting—in-school suspensions are common for non-disabled children. Additionally, school personnel may consider the circumstances of the situation when making discipline decisions.

The bill also removes the cumbersome manifestation determination provisions since local educational agencies are required to continue to provide educational services to enable the child to continue to make progress toward the goals in the IEP. However, the bill also retains the right of parents to appeal discipline related decisions, through the IEP Team as well as through due process provisions.

These improvements are geared toward finding a balance among several competing goals. This balance recognizes the need of all students in the school to receive a quality education in a safe environment. It allows educators to maintain an environment in the classroom that supports all students' ability to learn.

Secondly, it balances the need to set clear expectations of students, while allowing for consideration of individual circumstances and for the continuation of educational services. It provides for a uniform and fair way of disciplining children with disabilities in line with discipline expectations for children without disabilities. The language states that school personnel may order a change in placement for a child with a disability who violates the student code of conduct policy to the same extent as would be applied to children without disabilities. The Committee feels that it is important to clarify that the bill does not require or allow an automatic 45-day suspension for any infraction. It provides that if the school policy on fighting in the school hallway results in a 5-day in-school suspension, then this 5-day suspension would be applied equally to a child with a disability.

The provision allowing a change of placement ordered by school personnel for not more than 10 days continues as current law. However, the bill ensures that children with disabilities continue to receive educational services to continue to make progress towards the goals set out in the child's IEP if they are disciplined beyond the 10 days allowed under current law.

Finally, the bill balances the need to ensure that parents have the ability to appeal both placement and punishment decisions. The parent may appeal under the discipline provisions or may appeal under the general due process provisions. The parent can always request an IEP Team meeting to revise the child's IEP and educational placement under that IEP. If a parent believes the child with a disability should not have been punished in the first place, the parent continues to have remedies under the law to address the situation.

One of the explicit goals of the discipline improvements within the bill is to ensure classroom safety. The Committee often hears from classroom teachers and school principals that Federal law ties their hands in responding quickly and effectively to very serious student behavior problems and effective management of their classrooms. By allowing school personnel to respond to all situations in a classroom, school personnel have the complete ability to look out for the safety of all students. The discipline provisions in the bill gives school personnel the ability to create safe classrooms.

Most importantly, the bill's discipline provision will result in an improved education for children with disabilities. By removing the Federal micromanagement of schools, the bill allows teachers to create an environment that focuses on student academic achievement. The discipline provision creates a uniform standard for student behavior and sets clear expectations of students. These improvements return the focus of teachers and students to the learning that is happening in the classroom, which will improve academic achievement.

Additionally, the bill encourages schools to take advantage of alternative education programs for children with disabilities. Many school systems have programs set up to meet student behavior management needs, and the Committee encourages school personnel to let students with disabilities who have discipline problems take advantage of these programs. However, the bill does not mandate the creation of an alternative education program. It simply requires local educational agencies to continue to provide educational services as required under current law.

These improvements are widely supported in the education community. The American Federation of Teachers commented that the bill "makes important changes to provisions outlining how students with disabilities may be disciplined. The AFT supports the additional flexibility provided by these changes to assist schools in maintaining a safe and orderly environment." The National Association of Elementary School Principals wrote that the "elimination of the dual discipline system is another goal of NAESP members, according to our survey, and we have read with interest the language in H.R. 1350 that addresses this issue. We appreciate the language regarding violation of a code of student conduct policy and the elimination of the requirement for manifestation hearing and believe this will help to simplify the process that school officials undergo to create and maintain safe learning environments for all students.”

Lawrence C. Gloeckler, Deputy Commissioner of Vocational and Educational Services for Individuals with Disabilities at the New York State Education Department, testified before the Subcommittee on Education Reform that monitoring of the Act “must be allowed to focus on the mechanisms for improving outcomes for students, rather than devoting such extensive time and resources to the less significant but numerous process requirements.”

The bill would add a new section 616(a) through (d) establishing a monitoring and enforcement section under the Act. The Committee is very concerned about the effectiveness of monitoring and enforcement under the Act. The President’s Commission on Excellence in Special Education reported that the Department has often focused its monitoring efforts too much on process compliance and has paid little to no attention to monitoring for results. The Committee is encouraged by the Department’s recent efforts in improving the monitoring of the Act, but recognizes that more progress needs to be made.

Required monitoring elements

The bill includes changes that would, for the first time, incorporate into the Act the important role of the Department in monitoring implementation of the Act, particularly with respect to improving academic achievement results for children with disabilities who are served under Parts B and C of the Act. Section 616(b) requires the Secretary to look at academic achievement results of children with disabilities on regular and alternate assessments, as well as graduation and dropout rates for children with disabilities. The Committee has identified these items as required indicators as they are crucial for evaluating the success of these programs.

Permissive monitoring elements

The Secretary may add other indicators, including those priorities identified as permissive indicators, as other data on improving results for children with disabilities become available, data quality improves, and the Secretary is confident that data can be used in a way that does not create unintended negative consequences for children with disabilities. For example, as appropriate measures of provision of appropriate educational services in the least restrictive environment that are sensitive to whether children with disabilities are receiving appropriate services in their various environments become available, the Secretary may add an indicator relative to that issue. As appropriate measures of program success for the Part C program are developed and data collected, the Secretary may add indicators specific to that program. The Committee expects that the Secretary will focus monitoring efforts on those areas identified in the lists of indicators and priorities identified in 616(b) and such other priorities as the Secretary may establish under 616(c).

Other monitoring efforts

The Committee recognizes that certain elements are critical to the sound functioning of the Act. These elements include placing children with disabilities in the least restrictive environment, an effective child find system, and effective State monitoring of the Act. However, the Committee is concerned that it is difficult to quantify results for these important elements without losing sight of the importance to make appropriate decisions for individual children. The Committee does not want the monitoring system established in the bill to penalize appropriate decisions made for the individual child that, when aggregated up to the local or State level appear to be inappropriate. However, the Committee expects that the Department will continue to monitor in these areas, and take appropriate enforcement actions under existing authorities to ensure that States comply with requirements regarding these important elements of the Act.

Compliance measures

The new section 616(d) would provide for compliance activities focused on progress in improving educational results for children with disabilities, and substantial compliance with the requirements of the Act. If the Secretary determines that a State is not making satisfactory progress in improving educational results for children with disabilities, the Secretary is required to take one or more of the specific actions listed in subsection (d)(2), which can include withholding between 20 and 50 percent of the total amount that the State can retain under 611(e). In addition, if the Secretary determines that a State is not in substantial compliance with any provision of the Act, the Secretary is required to take one or more of the specific actions listed in subsection (d)(3). In addition to enforcement actions available under current law, the list in subsection (d)(3) adds two new tools—the ability to suspend payments and to suspend a recipient’s authority to obligate funds if the recipient is subject to a withholding action, comparable to authority available to the Secretary under other education funding programs in section 455(d) of the General Education Provisions Act; and new authority providing that if the Secretary has imposed special conditions on a recipient for three consecutive years and at the end of the third year the State has not demonstrated to the satisfaction of the Secretary that the violation has been corrected, the Secretary is required to take additional enforcement actions, choosing among a compliance agreement, a recovery of funds action or a withholding action.

Section 207. AdministrationSection 617. Administration.

Section 617 includes new language designed to ensure that decisions made regarding curriculum, instructional content, or programs of instruction are made at the local level. Decisions made regarding school curricula have been and continue to be local decisions. The Federal government must take care not to override State and local decisions or use its influence to direct or control decisions best made at the local level. Specifically, nothing in this Act may be construed to authorize an officer or employee of the Federal Government to mandate, direct, or control a State, local educational agency, or school's specific instructional content, curriculum, or program of instruction.

Paperwork reduction pilot

Reducing the paperwork burden of the Act is one of the Committee's top priorities for the reauthorization of the Act. Studies from the Department show that the Nation is facing a significant shortage of special education teachers, and many special educators leaving the field cite the burden of unnecessary paperwork as one of the primary reasons for their departure. The bill includes a pilot program to allow States to demonstrate innovative and creative measures to reduce the paperwork burden. This program is not meant to decrease any of the rights children have under the Act, but is intended to allow those States who choose to participate to think creatively and innovatively about how to best meet the demands of the Act while reducing the paperwork burden so school personnel can focus on educating children with disabilities. The bill also includes a rigorous reporting requirement to ensure that the Secretary reports to Congress about the success of this program in reducing unnecessary paperwork while preserving the rights of children served under the Act.

Model paperwork forms

The Committee understands that the paperwork forms associated with the Act are greatly varied from State to State and district to district. A standard IEP in one State could be seven pages while in a neighboring State that same child's IEP would be eighteen pages. While some of this variance is related to State or local policy, most of the differences relate to confusion regarding what the Act requires. The bill requires the Secretary to develop model forms for the IEP, prior written notice, and procedural safeguards notice. Each of these model forms will help inform local educational agency efforts as they develop their own forms and will result in decreased paperwork burdens while still ensuring that all of the requirements of the Act are met.

Section 208. Program information

Section 618. Program Information.

The bill retains the important data collection requirements under section 618, and adds new requirements relating to discipline actions within States to better inform Congress about the actions taken by States regarding disciplining children with disabilities.

Overidentification

Due to the Committee's desire to see the problems of overidentification of minority children strongly addressed, the bill maintains current requirements to collect data to determine if significant disproportionality based on race is occurring. If a State does make such a determination, the State is required to direct the local educational agency to use its authority under section 613 to implement a system of comprehensive coordinated prereferral services to serve children in the district, particularly children in those groups that are overidentified, to remedy the problem.

The Committee feels very strongly about the importance of this new provision and encourages States to take the necessary steps to work with local educational agencies to remedy these problems. The referral and identification processes under this Act should be clear, consistent, and not subject to abuse. Children, particularly minority children, should not be referred, or determined to be eligible for special education, due to their race. The Committee is very concerned about data showing that African Americans are nearly three times as likely to be identified as mentally retarded as their peers and nearly twice as likely to be labeled emotionally disturbed. There is no scientific data or studies available to support these rates of identification, and this data clearly demonstrates that a problem exists. This provision, and other provisions throughout the bill, is clearly aimed at addressing the problem.

Section 209. Preschool grants.

Section 619. Preschool Grants

The bill makes minor technical and conforming changes to the section 619 Preschool Grants program.

TITLE III—INFANTS AND TODDLERS WITH DISABILITIES

Section 302. Sections 641 through 645 of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act

In order for children to succeed in school, they need supportive environments that enhance social and cognitive development before they enter kindergarten. The goal of Part C is to provide children with disabilities with a solid foundation that will prepare them for success in the public school system and later in life. There are myriad challenges in meeting the needs of young children and their families, and the challenges are often more abundant and complex for children who have been diagnosed with a disability. For all children, the development of pre-literacy, numeracy and language skills is critical. The bill addresses the importance of ensuring school readiness by requiring that a child's Individualized Family Service Plan include goals for the development of pre-literacy and language skills and a plan for the appropriate transition of services for the child's entrance into school.

Expanded Part C option

The bill amends Part C to allow States to expand the options available to parents of the youngest children with disabilities. States will now be allowed to create a program where parents of children aging into the preschool program (which serves three through five year olds) can choose to remain in the Part C program with their current providers (including private providers). Each State would have to choose to make such a change and choose to continue serving this age range under the Part C program. This change will lessen transition problems for these young children who have been forced to move from a family-focused program to a school-based program at age three. In choosing this option, States must notify parents about the differences between programs operated under Part C and Part B and ensure that the rights and responsibilities under Part C still apply. Recognizing the need for an educational environment for three through five year olds, this bill adds an educational component that promotes school readiness and incorporates scientifically based pre-literacy, language, and numeracy skills for those three through five year olds that continue under Part C. Offering States this option will allow parents to determine when their child is ready to transition to the Part B preschool program, rather than having that determination made for them by the Act.

Identification processes

The early years of a child's development lay the groundwork for future years and are critical years for children with disabilities and their families. Research shows that early identification and intervention can have a significant positive impact on children with disabilities and, in many cases, may help prevent the need for more costly services once a child reaches school age. Children with diagnosed disabilities who receive early support are more likely to attain greater levels of development.

The number of infants and toddlers receiving services has increased dramatically in recent years. This increase is largely a result of additional attention given to early identification and intervention services provided to children who are disabled or developmentally delayed.

The bill makes modest, yet important modifications to Part C. Provisions in the bill will help to ensure a more seamless transition of services from birth through school age, to enhance the coordination of services provided to young children with disabilities, and to ensure the availability of a comprehensive network of highly trained personnel to meet the needs of children with disabilities and their families.

Research on early childhood development demonstrates that infants and toddlers who have been abused or neglected are at increased risk of significant delays in language, cognition, and behavior. In fact, these children have rates of developmental delay approximately four to five times that found among children in the general population. One study found that more than half of over 200 children in foster care under the age of 31 months had language delays. Infants and toddlers who have been maltreated may also have significantly elevated proportions of insecure attachments, elevated rates of aggression, difficulty in forming close relationships and managing emotions, heightened anxiety, irritability, excessive crying, and sleep disruption.

Too many infants and toddlers who have been abused or neglected are falling through the cracks and are not receiving the early intervention services for which they may be eligible. Since studies show that over half of the children in foster care exhibit developmental delay when screened, there is a strong need for improving collaboration between the child welfare and Part C systems in order to provide early intervention services to those children.

To address this need, the bill requires States to develop policies to require referrals of all children under age 3 in a substantiated case of abuse or neglect to the Part C system for screening, and if appropriate, early intervention services. The bill also requires States to require referrals for all children who are born and identified with fetal alcohol effects, fetal alcohol syndrome, neonatal intoxication, or neonatal physical or neurological harm resulting from prenatal drug exposure. These changes provide an important enhancement of the State child find system and will help States identify infants and toddler who are in need of Part C services.

State interagency coordination

Many agencies and programs are involved in the delivery of Part C services, and the service system will function best and serve children better with strong linkages and collaboration between agencies and programs. The bill improves the ability of States to strengthen their collaborative efforts. The bill adds representatives from the State child welfare agency and the mental health agency to the State Interagency Coordinating Council. The current service system fails to address significant unmet mental health needs in young children because it lacks strong linkages with other systems where children at high risk for developmental delays are found, but where there is limited professional expertise on the mental health needs of infants and toddlers. It is the Committee's intent that inclusion of representatives from the child welfare and mental health agencies will help address this need.

In addition, the Committee believes improved coordination is one step toward improved service delivery of Part C services for children. Therefore, the bill requires States to provide a description of their efforts to promote collaboration between Early Head Start programs and child-care services under Part C of this Act.

Federal interagency coordinating committee

The bill removes the requirement that the Department establish a Federal Interagency Coordinating Committee. This entity has not provided the benefit that Congress intended when the entity was created, and has been an impediment to developing effective policy coordination at the Federal level.

TITLE IV—NATIONAL ACTIVITIES TO IMPROVE EDUCATION OF CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES

The discretionary programs under the Act support professional development, personnel preparation, research, technical assistance, model demonstration, dissemination of information, parent training and information centers, and media and technology services designed to benefit children with disabilities. Although the Department has supported many good projects under this section, the Committee is concerned that there has not been an effective overall plan to ensure that the programs and projects supported under Part D are designed to provide the maximum benefit across the nation. The bill restructures and reorganizes the activities conducted under Part D to improve the coordination of these activities and ensures that the impact of these activities is broadly disseminated to have a wide-reaching and positive impact on States, local educational agencies, teachers, parents, and children with disabilities.

Subpart 1—State professional development grants

The Honorable William Goodling, former Chairman of the Education and Workforce Committee, testified to the Education and Workforce Committee that "Teaching children with disabilities can be both the most rewarding and the most arduous job in teaching. We need professionals who not only have the commitment, but the skills in the classroom and with parents, to help students succeed."

The bill makes significant changes to Subpart 1 to refocus the discretionary State grants to professional development activities to ensure that regular education teachers, special education teachers, principals, school administrators, and related services providers receive high quality professional development to better serve children with disabilities.

The bill requires the State educational agency to partner with local educational agencies and at least one institution of higher education in the State. The State may also choose to include other entities or organizations in its partnership agreement. The Committee encourages States to develop agreements with organizations that can help improve the delivery of professional development.

Under the current program, the application process is complex, cumbersome, and inconsistent with developing a clear program. The requirements have not helped States develop a comprehensive professional development program and have been treated by the States as a paperwork exercise. The bill significantly simplifies the application requirements and requires the States to submit an application that contains a clear and concise plan on the efforts that the State will take to improve professional development programs within the State. The changes also ensure that the professional development programs the State implements under this program will deliver high quality services. States must undertake all of the activities listed in their application, thus eliminating the need to write over-arching applications with numerous activities that the State has no intention of implementing, but are deemed necessary for the application process.

The bill requires the State to use at least 90 percent of the funds under this program to provide direct programs of professional development to ensure that the personnel receiving the professional development will improve the delivery of instruction and other services to students in the classroom. The bill allows a State to use up to 10 percent of its funds under this program to conduct activities at the State level to improve professional development and to improve services for school personnel. The allowable activities authorized under this program are closely aligned with allowable activities under Title II of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, and the Committee encourages States to coordinate activities to improve services under both programs.

Subpart 2—Scientifically based research; technical assistance; model demonstration projects; dissemination of information; and personnel preparation programs

The bill makes significant changes to Subpart 2 to refocus the programs that support research, technical assistance, model demonstration projects, dissemination of information, and personnel preparation programs. The Committee's goal is to improve the coordination, development, and delivery of information to enhance the ability of States, local educational agencies, teachers, and parents to provide services to children with disabilities.

Comprehensive plan

The bill modifies the requirement for the Department to develop a comprehensive plan. The Committee feels that the requirements under the current law regarding public consultation have been misinterpreted and the Department has been too focused on the planning process and not focused enough on actually developing a plan. The bill requires the Secretary to seek public input, but requires the Secretary to actually develop a comprehensive plan within one year of the date of enactment of the Act to ensure that there is a comprehensive agenda that examines and guides the entire system of services supported under this part of the Act. The Committee recognizes the importance of the planning process, but also encourages the Secretary to develop and implement a final plan.

Special education research

Terry Branstad, Chairman of the President's Commission on Excellence in Special Education, and former Governor of Iowa, testified to the Education and Workforce Committee about the Commission's report. In Chairman Branstad's remarks, he testified that "Research on special education needs enhanced rigor and the long-term coordination necessary to support the needs of children, educators and parents."

The bill makes significant changes to the Department's activities on research of special education. The bill establishes a National Center for Special Education Research within the Institute of Education Sciences and authorizes the creation of a Commissioner for Special Education Research to oversee the Institute's research into special education and related services. The bill requires the Commissioner, with the advice of the Assistant Secretary for Special Education and Rehabilitative Services, to develop a research plan to support the activities of the Act and serve the long-term interests of the Act.

The Committee feels that the Department should have one unified research arm that takes a broad view of the needs of education research, including special education research. This move will help ensure that the needs of children with disabilities are fully addressed not only within that arm of the Institute, but also through all other research functions at the Institute. The Committee also intends this move to improve the overall quality and rigor of the special education research conducted by the Department by holding it to the same standards as all other research, and to ensure that the needs of children with disabilities are inculcated throughout other research programs conducted at the Institute.

Technical assistance, demonstration, dissemination, and implementation of research

The Committee is very concerned about the effectiveness and quality of the Department's efforts to provide technical assistance to States, local educational agencies, school officials, teachers, and parents. The President's Commission on Excellence in Special Education reported that:

Bridging the gap between research and practice will be a continuing challenge. Practices must continue to improve so children, their parents and their teachers have access to effective practices and instructional methods. A disturbing finding by this Commission is that we do not yet know the best methods of research dissemination. We have no research to show which methods prove more effective in reaching consumers.

The Committee shares these concerns and encourages the Department to significantly transform its practices to ensure that the Department effectively disseminates research based practices to benefit children with disabilities, their parents, teachers and schools. The bill continues to recognize the importance of technical assistance, demonstration projects, dissemination of information, and the implementation of scientifically based research. The bill requires the Department to support projects that address positive behavior supports; assessments and alternate assessments for children with disabilities; transitional activities to improve results for children with disabilities; and activities designed to improve services for children with disabilities. The bill also authorizes the Department to support other activities designed to improve services for children with disabilities.

Personnel preparation

The bill streamlines personnel preparation programs to focus on three activities (1) personnel preparation activities for regular and special education teachers, related services providers, and early intervention services, (2) personnel preparation activities for teachers of children with low-incidence disabilities, and (3) personnel preparation activities for leadership preparation.

The Committee feels that the Department should place a high priority on personnel preparation programs that are aligned with high standards and the production of personnel that meet rigorous State standards. The Committee also encourages the Department to support programs designed to improve the integration of related services in the special education and regular education environment. Assuring that States address related services personnel training needs will promote both the use of appropriate practices and more effective collaboration among special education personnel. The Committee also feels that effective and rigorous programs designed to provide high quality leadership personnel (i.e., principals and school administrators) is an important function of this part of the Act, and encourages the Department to ensure that these programs are of high quality.

Assessment of activities under the IDEA

The bill directs the Secretary to undertake an assessment of the activities carried out under the IDEA to determine the effectiveness of the Act in achieving its purposes to provide timely information on how to implement the Act more effectively. The Committee notes that since the last reauthorization, the Department has not finalized any elements of the assessment, including the required final report that was due prior to this reauthorization. The Committee encourages the Department to carefully review its plan to conduct an assessment and to take note of the reauthorization cycle to ensure that useful information is presented to Congress before the next reauthorization takes place to determine the effectiveness of the changes to the Act contained in this bill.

Parent training and information centers

The bill retains the authority for the Parent Training and Information Centers, but modifies their activities to focus on the priority of the Act, improved educational results for children with disabilities. The Committee is concerned that these centers do not have sufficient data to demonstrate their effectiveness, and encourages the Department to develop rigorous accountability measures to determine the effectiveness of individual centers and the program as a whole. The Committee strongly supports the Parent Training and Information Centers, but wants to ensure that they are providing high quality services to all parents. The bill requires the centers to explain in the application how they will serve all parents, particularly parents of minority, low-income, and limited English proficient students. The bill also retains the authority for the Community Parent and Resource Centers and encourages these centers to collaborate with Parent Training and Information Centers to ensure that there is a comprehensive system of centers to provide services to all parents.

Media and technology services

The bill retains the authority for the Secretary to fund projects related to the development, demonstration, and use of technology. The bill continues to support video description and captioning services of programs but changes the language to require a focus on education-based content to be used in the classroom. The Committee is encouraged by recent efforts at the Department to focus this education program on providing educationally relevant material as captioned under this program. However, the Committee wishes to ensure that there is an adequate supply of accessible materials for use in the classroom, and the change in the bill will help address this problem.

The Committee also recognizes the mandate by the Telecommunications Act of 1996 requiring that 95 percent of all television programs be captioned by January 1, 2006. The use of very small businesses to provide video description and captioning services is encouraged in order to develop additional captioning resources to meet the increased captioning requirements mandated by the Federal Communications Commission.

It is the Committee's intent that an eligible entity receiving funds under section 674(c)(4), (with respect to the provision of free educational materials in accessible media for visually impaired and print-disabled students), shall not charge students or their families a membership fee or charge them fees for education materials at any educational level that are produced with funds received under this section. However, it is the Committee's intent that the Secretary maintain current policy with respect to the ability for such eligible entity to continue to charge schools, States, local educational agencies and other educational entities participating in the programs at any educational level, a membership fee or charge them fees for educational materials that are produced with Federal funds, as a means to help offset the cost of producing and distributing these materials. The Committee further clarifies that institutions that are charged membership fees or other fees may not pass on these fees or other costs related to obtaining educational materials to the aforementioned students or their families.

Conclusion

H.R. 1350, the Improving Education Results for Children with Disabilities Act of 2003, enhances the IDEA by improving education results for children with disabilities. The bill is centered around the Committee's principles for reform: increasing accountability and improving education results for students with disabilities; reducing the paperwork burden; improving early intervention strategies; reducing the overidentification or misidentification of nondisabled children, including minority youth; encouraging innovative approaches to parental involvement and parental choice; supporting general education and special education teachers; restoring trust and reducing litigation; ensuring school safety; and reforming special education funding. Importantly, the bill clarifies the funding stream under the Act by establishing a clear path to the 40 percent goal through the discretionary appropriations process.

This bill refocuses the Act on its original intent—the education of children with disabilities. By aligning the Act's accountability system with the No Child Left Behind Act, the Act ensures that children with disabilities have the chance to learn and succeed academically. The bill also emphasizes early intervention as a means to reduce the overidentification and misidentification of children as disabled and placing them in special education where they do not belong hinders the academic development of these students. In an effort to stem the tide of special education teachers leaving the profession out of frustration with the overwhelming paperwork burden, the bill makes significant changes to reduce that burden while supporting both general and special education teachers who work with children with disabilities through personnel preparation and professional development. In making these changes, the Committee seeks to restore trust between schools and parents by encouraging the use of mediation and voluntary binding arbitration to speed the resolution time and setting a statute of limitations for when complaints must be filed. The bill modifies the discipline provisions to ensure that every student can learn in a safe school that supports an appropriate educational environment.

The Committee believes that H.R. 1350 makes important changes to the IDEA that will have the overall impact of improving the delivery of special education and related services to children with disabilities throughout the Nation, reduce overidentification of some students as having disabilities, improve the communication between parents and teachers, and reduce the complexity and litigiousness of the IDEA. H.R. 1350 will bring positive change to special education programs throughout the country and further the effort to ensure that no child is left behind.

STATEMENT OF OVERSIGHT FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COMMITTEE

In compliance with clause 3(c)(1) of rule XIII and clause (2)(b)(1) of rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee's oversight findings and recommendations are reflected in the body of this report.

NEW BUDGET AUTHORITY AND CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE
COST ESTIMATE

With respect to the requirements of clause 3(c)(2) of rule XIII of the House of Representatives and section 308(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 and with respect to requirements of 3(c)(3) of rule XIII of the House of Representatives and section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the Committee has received the following cost estimate for H.R. 1350 from the Director of the Congressional Budget Office:

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,
Washington, DC, April 28, 2003.

Hon. JOHN A. BOEHNER,
Chairman, Committee on Education and the Workforce, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for H.R. 1350, the Improving Education Results for Children with Disabilities Act of 2003.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Donna Wong.

Sincerely,

BARRY B. ANDERSON
(For Douglas Holtz-Eakin, Director).

Enclosure.

H.R. 1350—Improving Education Results for Children with Disabilities Act of 2003

Summary: H.R. 1350 would reauthorize various programs under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) that were authorized through 2002. These programs were authorized in 2003 by the General Education Provisions Act (GEPA) and the Consolidated Appropriations Resolution, 2003 (Public Law 108–7). H.R. 1350 would reauthorize these programs through 2009. The bill also would amend two programs that are permanently authorized by IDEA.

The bill would authorize additional appropriations of $3.1 billion in 2004. CBO estimates that the new authorizations under H.R. 1350 would total about $50 billion over the 2004–2009 period, assuming that annual levels are adjusted to keep pace with inflation when specific annual authorizations are not provided. CBO estimates that appropriations of those authorized levels would result in additional outlays of $32 billion over the 2004–2009 period. Enacting H.R. 1350 would not affect direct spending or receipts.

H.R. 1350 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA). Any requirements on states or educational institutions would be conditions for receiving federal grants; the bill would authorize the appropriation of about $49 billion over the 2004–2009 period for such grants.

Estimated cost to the Federal Government: The estimated budgetary impact of H.R. 1350 is shown in Table 1. The costs of this legislation fall within budget function 500 (education, training, employment, and social services).

¹ The 2003 level is the amount appropriated for that year for all programs. The 2004 through 2009 levels are the baseline amounts for the Grants to States and the Preschool state grants programs, which are permanently authorized under IDEA. The 2004 level includes an advance appropriation of $5.7 billion in the Grants to States programs.

Note.—Components may not sum to totals because of rounding.

Basis of estimate: H.R. 1350 would reauthorize funding through 2009 for various programs created under IDEA. The bill also would amend funding authorizations for two programs that are permanently authorized by IDEA.

Most programs authorized under IDEA would be reauthorized at specific levels for 2004 and for such sums as may be necessary for 2005 through 2009. Funding for the Grants to States program, which is permanently authorized at such sums as necessary, would be authorized at specific levels for 2004 through 2010 and at such sums as may be necessary for subsequent years. Funding for the Preschool state grants program, which is also permanently authorized, would be authorized at a specific level in 2004 and such sums as may be necessary in subsequent years.

Table 2 presents CBO’s estimates with inflation adjustments for the various components of each title under H.R. 1350. The estimated outlays reflect historical rates of spending for the affected programs.

The current-law levels for 2003 shown in tables 1 and 2 are the amounts appropriated that year for all IDEA programs. Amounts authorized under current law for years 2004 through 2009 are CBO’s baseline projections for the two programs that are permanently authorized and include an advance appropriation of $5.7 billion in 2004 for the Grants to States program.

H.R. 1350 would authorize additional appropriations of $3.1 billion in 2004. CBO estimates that this bill would authorize total additional funding of $50 billion over the 2004–2009 period assuming that “such sums” amounts provided after 2004 are adjusted for inflation. If the authorized amounts are appropriated, outlays would increase by $61 million in the first year and by $32 billion over the six-year period.

Title I of the bill would provide general provisions and definitions for IDEA. Titles II through IV would authorize funding for IDEA programs, and the estimated costs for implementing each of those three titles are described below.

Title II: Assistance for Education of All Children With Disabilities

Title II would amend the Grants to States program and the Pre-school state grants program. Funding for both programs is permanently authorized by IDEA at such sums as may be necessary, which CBO estimates as the baseline level using the 2003 appropriations as the starting point. The baseline level in 2004 for the two programs is a total of $9.3 billion (including the advance appropriation of $5.7 billion for the Grants to States program).

H.r. 1350 would authorize an additional $2.3 billion above the current-law baseline (for a total of $11.6 billion) for 2004 for programs under title II. CBO estimates that total additional funding for title II for the 2004–2009 period would be $44.7 billion (for a total of $103.6 billion) with resulting additional outlays of about $28.4 billion ($78 billion total) over those six years.

Grants to States. H.R. 1350 would authorize total amounts of about $11.1 billion in 2004 and gradually raise that to about $25.2 billion in 2010, and such sums as may be necessary for 2011 and each subsequent fiscal year for the Grants to States programs. These authorizations would be $2.1 billion above baseline levels in 2004 and about $15.1 billion higher by 2010.

¹The 2003 level is the amount appropriated for that year for all programs. The 2004 through 2009 levels are the baseline amounts for the Grants to States and the Preschool state grants programs which are permanently authorized under IDEA. The 2004 level includes an advance appropriation of $5.7 billion for the Grants to States program.

²Authorization was intended to authorize appropriations for Technology Development, and Demonstration, and Media Services.

Note.—Components may not sum to totals because of rounding.

The state grant program provides formula grants to states to assist them in covering the excess costs of providing special education services to children with disabilities. Funding for this program currently is provided on an academic year basis through appropriations in two separate fiscal years: a forward-funded appropriation which is available July 1 of the current fiscal year, and an advance appropriation available October 1 of the next fiscal year. Although the program has been funded by two separate appropriations since 2001, funding does not need to be authorized separately because all of the funds for an academic year could be provided in one appropriation. The program is funded at just under $8.9 billion in academic year 2003–2004.

Preschool State Grants. H.R. 1350 would authorize $500 million in 2004, and such sums as may be necessary for each subsequent fiscal year for the Preschool grants program. The Preschool program provides additional grants to states for providing special education services to children ages three through five. The program is funded at $387 million in 2003.

Title III: Infants and Toddlers with Disabilities

Title III would reauthorize the infants and toddlers state grant program. CBO estimates that total funding for title III for the 2004–2009 period would be $2.8 billion, assuming adjustments for inflation, with resulting outlays of about $2.1 billion over those six years.

The bill would authorize $447 million in 2004 and such sums as may be necessary over the 2005–2009 period for the program. The infants and toddlers program provides funds to states for early intervention and identification activities. The program is funded at $434 million in 2003.

Title IV: National Activities to Improve Education of Children with Disabilities

Title IV would reauthorize and revise several national activities including state professional development grants, scientifically based research, and parent and community training and information centers. Title IV would authorize $365 million in 2004 and $2.3 billion over the 2004–2009 period for these programs. CBO estimates that the resulting outlays would be about $7 million in 2004 and $1.8 billion over the 2004–2009 period.

State Professional Development Grants. The bill would authorize $44 million in 2004 and such sums as may be necessary for the next five years for state profession development grants. The state professional development grant program would provide competitive grants to states to improve their systems for professional development in early intervention, educational and transitional services for children with disabilities. The current state improvement program is funded at $51 million in 2003.

Scientifically Based Research; Technical Assistance; Demonstration Projects; Dissemination of Information; Studies and Evaluations. The bill would authorize $172 million in 2004 and such sums as may be necessary for the next five years for the National Center for Special Education Research, regional research centers, demonstration and outreach projects, and assessment activities. Comparable activities are funded at $130 million in 2003.

Personnel Preparation Programs. The bill would authorize $90 million in 2004 and such sums as may be necessary for the next five years for competitive awards to states or other organizations to fund programs that address personnel needs. Comparable activities are funded at $92 million in 2003.

Technical Assistance for Parent Training and Information Centers. The bill would authorize about $33 million in 2004 and such sums as may be necessary for the next five years for technical assistance for parent training and information centers; but it appears that the bill incorrectly refers to the wrong section of IDEA. The authorization was intended to authorize appropriations for technology development, demonstration and utilization, and media services—programs that provide funds for activities that increase access to the classroom for children with disabilities. These programs focus on services for individuals who are deaf or blind such as video and closed captioned television. Comparable activities are funded at $38 million in 2003.

Parent Training and Information Centers. The bill would authorize $26 million in 2004 and such sums as may be necessary for the next five years for parent training and information centers. The regional centers provide information, training, and referral services to parents of children with disabilities. Comparable activities are funded at $26 million in 2003.

Intergovernmental and private-sector impact: The provisions of IDEA apply to states and educational institutions as recipients of federal grants. Consequently, any requirements that would be created or extended by H.R. 1350 would be conditions of federal aid and not intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in UMRA. Under current law, states received about $8.9 billion under IDEA's basic state grant program in academic year 2003, which CBO estimates equals about 18 percent of the average per pupil expenditure for all children. Other grants to states totaled about $1 billion in 2003. H.R. 1350 would authorize an additional appropriation of about $49 billion over the 2004–2009 period for all IDEA grants to states.

Estimate prepared by: Federal Costs: Donna Wong; Impact on State, Local, and Tribal Governments: Theresa Gullo and Leo Lex; and Impact on the Private Sector: Nabeel Alsalam.

Estimate approved by: Peter H. Fontaine, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

STATEMENT OF GENERAL PERFORMANCE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

In accordance with Clause (3)(c) of House rule XIII, the goal of H.R. 1350, “Improving Education Results for Children with Disabilities Act of 2003,” is to enhance the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act by improving education results for children with disabilities, reducing paperwork to allow teachers to focus on spending more time with their students, reducing unnecessary litigation by improving communication between parents and schools, improving early intervention strategies, reducing over-identification/misidentification of non-disabled children (particularly minority youth), encouraging innovative approaches to parental involvement and parental choice, supporting general education and special education teachers, and ensuring school safety. The bill also restructures the national activities and discretionary programs under the Act on research, professional development, personnel preparation, technical assistance, dissemination of information, parent training and information centers, and community parent resource centers to improve services under the Act. The Committee expects the Department of Education to comply with H.R. 1350 and implement the changes to the law in accordance with the changes.

CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY STATEMENT

Under clause 3(d)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee must include a statement citing the specific powers granted to Congress in the Constitution to enact the law proposed by H.R. 1350. The Committee believes that the amendments made by this bill, which authorize appropriations for education assistance, are within Congress’ authority under Article I, section 8, clause 1 of the Constitution.

COMMITTEE ESTIMATE

Clauses 3(d)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives requires an estimate and a comparison by the Committee of the costs that would be incurred in carrying out H.R. 1350. However, clause 3(d)(3)(B) of that rule provides that this requirement does not apply when the Committee has included in its report a timely submitted cost estimate of the bill prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office under section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act.

CHANGES IN EXISTING LAW MADE BY THE BILL, AS REPORTED

In compliance with clause 3(e) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, changes in existing law made by the bill, as reported, are shown as follows (existing law proposed to be omitted is enclosed in black brackets, new matter is printed in italics, existing law in which no change is proposed is shown in roman):

[(c) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds the following:

[(1) Disability is a natural part of the human experience and in no way diminishes the right of individuals to participate in or contribute to society. Improving educational results for children with disabilities is an essential element of our national policy of ensuring equality of opportunity, full participation, independent living, and economic self-sufficiency for individuals with disabilities.

[(2) Before the date of the enactment of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975 (Public Law 94–142)—

[(A) the special educational needs of children with disabilities were not being fully met;

[(B) more than one-half of the children with disabilities in the United States did not receive appropriate educational services that would enable such children to have full equality of opportunity;

[(C) 1,000,000 of the children with disabilities in the United States were excluded entirely from the public school system and did not go through the educational process with their peers;

[(D) there were many children with disabilities throughout the United States participating in regular school programs whose disabilities prevented such children from having a successful educational experience because their disabilities were undetected; and

[(E) because of the lack of adequate services within the public school system, families were often forced to find services outside the public school system, often at great distance from their residence and at their own expense.

[(3) Since the enactment and implementation of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975, this Act has been successful in ensuring children with disabilities and the families of such children access to a free appropriate public education and in improving educational results for children with disabilities.

[(4) However, the implementation of this Act has been impeded by low expectations, and an insufficient focus on applying replicable research on proven methods of teaching and learning for children with disabilities.

[(5) Over 20 years of research and experience has demonstrated that the education of children with disabilities can be made more effective by—

[(A) having high expectations for such children and ensuring their access in the general curriculum to the maximum extent possible;

[(B) strengthening the role of parents and ensuring that families of such children have meaningful opportunities to participate in the education of their children at school and at home;

[(C) coordinating this Act with other local, educational service agency, State, and Federal school improvement efforts in order to ensure that such children benefit from such efforts and that special education can become a service for such children rather than a place where they are sent;

[(D) providing appropriate special education and related services and aids and supports in the regular classroom to such children, whenever appropriate;

[(E) supporting high-quality, intensive professional development for all personnel who work with such children in order to ensure that they have the skills and knowledge necessary to enable them—

[(i) to meet developmental goals and, to the maximum extent possible, those challenging expectations that have been established for all children; and

[(ii) to be prepared to lead productive, independent, adult lives, to the maximum extent possible;

[(F) providing incentives for whole-school approaches and pre-referral intervention to reduce the need to label children as disabled in order to address their learning needs; and

[(G) focusing resources on teaching and learning while reducing paperwork and requirements that do not assist in improving educational results.

[(6) While States, local educational agencies, and educational service agencies are responsible for providing an education for all children with disabilities, it is in the national interest that the Federal Government have a role in assisting State and local efforts to educate children with disabilities in order to improve results for such children and to ensure equal protection of the law.

[(7)(A) The Federal Government must be responsive to the growing needs of an increasingly more diverse society. A more equitable allocation of resources is essential for the Federal Government to meet its responsibility to provide an equal educational opportunity for all individuals.

[(B) America's racial profile is rapidly changing. Between 1980 and 1990, the rate of increase in the population for white Americans was 6 percent, while the rate of increase for racial and ethnic minorities was much higher: 53 percent for Hispanics, 13.2 percent for African-Americans, and 107.8 percent for Asians.

【(C) By the year 2000, this Nation will have 275,000,000 people, nearly one of every three of whom will be either African-American, Hispanic, Asian-American, or American Indian.

【(D) Taken together as a group, minority children are comprising an ever larger percentage of public school students. Large-city school populations are overwhelmingly minority, for example: for fall 1993, the figure for Miami was 84 percent; Chicago, 89 percent; Philadelphia, 78 percent; Baltimore, 84 percent; Houston, 88 percent; and Los Angeles, 88 percent.

【(E) Recruitment efforts within special education must focus on bringing larger numbers of minorities into the profession in order to provide appropriate practitioner knowledge, role models, and sufficient manpower to address the clearly changing demography of special education.

【(F) The limited English proficient population is the fastest growing in our Nation, and the growth is occurring in many parts of our Nation. In the Nation's 2 largest school districts, limited English proficient students make up almost half of all students initially entering school at the kindergarten level. Studies have documented apparent discrepancies in the levels of referral and placement of limited English proficient children in special education. The Department of Education has found that services provided to limited English proficient students often do not respond primarily to the pupil's academic needs. These trends pose special challenges for special education in the referral, assessment, and services for our Nation's students from non-English language backgrounds.

【(C) Poor African-American children are 2.3 times more likely to be identified by their teacher as having mental retardation than their white counterpart.

【(D) Although African-Americans represent 16 percent of elementary and secondary enrollments, they constitute 21 percent of total enrollments in special education.

【(E) The drop-out rate is 68 percent higher for minorities than for whites.

【(F) More than 50 percent of minority students in large cities drop out of school.

【(9)(A) The opportunity for full participation in awards for grants and contracts; boards of organizations receiving funds under this Act; and peer review panels; and training of professionals in the area of special education by minority individuals, organizations, and historically black colleges and universities is essential if we are to obtain greater success in the education of minority children with disabilities.

[(B) In 1993, of the 915,000 college and university professors, 4.9 percent were African-American and 2.4 percent were Hispanic. Of the 2,940,000 teachers, prekindergarten through high school, 6.8 percent were African-American and 4.1 percent were Hispanic.

[(C) Students from minority groups comprise more than 50 percent of K–12 public school enrollment in seven States yet minority enrollment in teacher training programs is less than 15 percent in all but six States.

[(D) As the number of African-American and Hispanic students in special education increases, the number of minority teachers and related service personnel produced in our colleges and universities continues to decrease.

[(E) Ten years ago, 12 percent of the United States teaching force in public elementary and secondary schools were members of a minority group. Minorities comprised 21 percent of the national population at that time and were clearly under-represented then among employed teachers. Today, the elementary and secondary teaching force is 13 percent minority, while one-third of the students in public schools are minority children.

[(F) As recently as 1991, historically black colleges and universities enrolled 44 percent of the African-American teacher trainees in the Nation. However, in 1993, historically black colleges and universities received only 4 percent of the discretionary funds for special education and related services personnel training under this Act.

[(G) While African-American students constitute 28 percent of total enrollment in special education, only 11.2 percent of individuals enrolled in preservice training programs for special education are African-American.

[(H) In 1986–87, of the degrees conferred in education at the B.A., M.A., and Ph.D. levels, only 6, 8, and 8 percent, respectively, were awarded to African-American or Hispanic students.

[(10) Minorities and underserved persons are socially disadvantaged because of the lack of opportunities in training and educational programs, undergirded by the practices in the private sector that impede their full participation in the mainstream of society.

[(1)(A) to ensure that all children with disabilities have available to them a free appropriate public education that emphasizes special education and related services designed to meet their unique needs and prepare them for employment and independent living;

(c) FINDINGS.—Congress finds the following:

(1) Disability is a natural part of the human experience and in no way diminishes the right of individuals to participate in or contribute to society. Improving educational results for children with disabilities is an essential element of our national policy of ensuring equality of opportunity, full participation, independent living, and economic self-sufficiency for individuals with disabilities.

(2) Before the date of the enactment of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975 (Public Law 94-142), the special educational needs of millions of children with disabilities were not being fully met and there were many children with disabilities participating in regular school programs whose undiagnosed disabilities prevented them from having a successful educational experience.

(3) Since the enactment and implementation of the Education for All Handicapped Children Act of 1975, this Act has been successful in ensuring children with disabilities and the families of such children access to a free appropriate public education and in improving educational results for children with disabilities.

(4) Over 25 years of research and experience has demonstrated that the education of children with disabilities can be made more effective by—

(A) having high expectations for such children and ensuring their access to the general education curriculum in the regular classroom to the maximum extent possible in order—

(i) to meet developmental goals and, to the maximum extent possible, the challenging expectations that have been established for all children; and

(ii) to be prepared to lead productive and independent adult lives, to the maximum extent possible;

(B) strengthening the role and responsibility of parents and ensuring that families of such children have meaningful opportunities to participate in the education of their children at school and at home;

(C) coordinating this Act with other local, State, and Federal school improvement efforts, including efforts under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, in order to ensure that children with disabilities benefit from such efforts and that special education can become a service for such children rather than a place where they are sent;

(D) supporting high-quality, intensive professional development for personnel who work with children with disabilities;

(E) providing incentives for scientifically based reading programs and prereferral intervention services to reduce the need to label children as disabled in order to address their learning needs;

(F) focusing resources on teaching and learning while reducing paperwork and requirements that do not assist in improving educational results; and

(G) supporting the development and use of technology, including assistive technology devices and services, to maximize accessibility for children with disabilities.

(5) While States, local educational agencies, and educational service agencies are primarily responsible for providing an education for all children with disabilities, it is in the national interest that the Federal Government has a supporting role in assisting State and local efforts to educate children with disabilities in order to improve results for such children and to ensure equal protection of the law.

(6) A more equitable allocation of resources is essential for the Federal Government to meet its responsibility to provide an equal educational opportunity for all individuals.

(7)(A) The Federal Government must respond to the growing needs of an increasingly diverse society.

(B) America's ethnic profile is rapidly changing. In the year 2000, nearly one of every three persons in America was a member of a minority group or was limited English proficient.

(C) Minority children comprise an increasing percentage of public school students.

(D) With such changing demographics, recruitment efforts for special education personnel should focus on increasing the participation of minorities in the teaching profession in order to provide appropriate role models with sufficient knowledge to address the special education needs of these students.

(8)(A) The limited English proficient population is the fastest growing in our Nation, and the growth is occurring in many parts of our Nation.

(B) Studies have documented apparent discrepancies in the levels of referral and placement of limited English proficient children in special education.

(C) This poses a special challenge for special education in the referral, assessment, and provision of services for our Nation's students from non-English language backgrounds.

(9)(A) Greater efforts are needed to prevent the intensification of problems connected with mislabeling and high dropout rates among minority children with disabilities.

(B) More minority children continue to be served in special education than would be expected from the percentage of minority students in the general school population.

(C) African American children are overidentified as having mental retardation and emotional disturbance at rates greater than their white counterparts.

(D) In the 1998-99 school year, African American children represented just 14.8 percent of the population aged 6 through 21, but comprised 20.2 percent of all children with disabilities.

(E) Studies have found that schools with predominantly Caucasian students and teachers have placed disproportionately high numbers of their minority students into special education.

(10)(A) As the number of minority students in special education increases, the number of minority teachers and related services personnel produced in colleges and universities continues to decrease.

(B) The opportunity for full participation by minority individuals, organizations, and historically black colleges and universities in awards for grants and contracts, boards of organizations receiving assistance under this Act, peer review panels, and training of professionals in the area of special education is essential to obtain greater success in the education of minority children with disabilities.

(d) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this title are—

(1)(A) to ensure that all children with disabilities have available to them a free appropriate public education that emphasizes special education and related services designed to meet their unique needs and prepare them for further education, employment, and independent living;

(B) to ensure that the rights of children with disabilities and parents of such children are protected; and

(C) to assist States, localities, educational service agencies, and Federal agencies to provide for the education of all children with disabilities;

(2) to assist States in the implementation of a statewide, comprehensive, coordinated, multidisciplinary, interagency system of early intervention services for infants and toddlers with disabilities and their families;

(3) to ensure that educators and parents have the necessary tools to improve educational results for children with disabilities by supporting system improvement activities; coordinated research and personnel preparation; coordinated technical assistance, dissemination, and support; and technology development and media services; and

(4) to assess, and ensure the effectiveness of, efforts to educate children with disabilities.

SEC. 612. STATE ELIGIBILITY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—A State is eligible for assistance under this part for a fiscal year if the State [demonstrates to the satisfaction of] reasonably demonstrates to the Secretary that the State has in effect policies and procedures to ensure that it meets each of the following conditions:

[(1) FREE APPROPRIATE PUBLIC EDUCATION.—

[(A) IN GENERAL.—A free appropriate public education is available to all children with disabilities residing in the State between the ages of 3 and 21, inclusive, including children with disabilities who have been suspended or expelled from school.

[(B) LIMITATION.—The obligation to make a free appropriate public education available to all children with disabilities does not apply with respect to children:

[(i) aged 3 through 5 and 18 through 21 in a State to the extent that its application to those children would be inconsistent with State law or practice, or the order of any court, respecting the provision of public education to children in those age ranges; and

[(ii) aged 18 through 21 to the extent that State law does not require that special education and related services under this part be provided to children with disabilities who, in the educational placement prior to their incarceration in an adult correctional facility:

[(I) were not actually identified as being a child with a disability under section 602(3) of this Act; or

[(II) did not have an individualized education program under this part.

[(2) FULL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY GOAL.—The State has established a goal of providing full educational opportunity to all children with disabilities and a detailed timetable for accomplishing that goal.

[(3) CHILD FIND.—

[(A) IN GENERAL.—All children with disabilities residing in the State, including children with disabilities attending private schools, regardless of the severity of their disabilities, and who are in need of special education and related services, are identified, located, and evaluated and a practical method is developed and implemented to determine which children with disabilities are currently receiving needed special education and related services.

[(B) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this Act requires that children be classified by their disability so long as each child who has a disability listed in section 602 and who, by reason of that disability, needs special education and related services is regarded as a child with a disability under this part.

[(4) INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAM.—An individualized education program, or an individualized family service plan that meets the requirements of section 636(d), is developed, reviewed, and revised for each child with a disability in accordance with section 614(d).

[(5) LEAST RESTRICTIVE ENVIRONMENT.—

[(A) IN GENERAL.—To the maximum extent appropriate, children with disabilities, including children in public or private institutions or other care facilities, are educated with children who are not disabled, and special classes, separate schooling, or other removal of children with disabilities from the regular educational environment occurs only when the nature or severity of the disability of a child is such that education in regular classes with the use of supplementary aids and services cannot be achieved satisfactorily.

[(B) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—

[(i) IN GENERAL.—If the State uses a funding mechanism by which the State distributes State funds on the basis of the type of setting in which a child is served, the funding mechanism does not result in placements that violate the requirements of subparagraph (A).

[(ii) ASSURANCE.—If the State does not have policies and procedures to ensure compliance with clause (i), the State shall provide the Secretary an assurance that it will revise the funding mechanism as soon as feasible to ensure that such mechanism does not result in such placements.

[(B) ADDITIONAL PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS.—Procedures to ensure that testing and evaluation materials and procedures utilized for the purposes of evaluation and placement of children with disabilities will be selected and administered so as not to be racially or culturally discriminatory. Such materials or procedures shall be provided and administered in the child's native language or mode of communication, unless it clearly is not feasible to do so, and no single procedure shall be the sole criterion for determining an appropriate educational program for a child.

[(8) CONFIDENTIALITY.—Agencies in the State comply with section 617(c) (relating to the confidentiality of records and information).

[(9) TRANSITION FROM PART C TO PRESCHOOL PROGRAMS.—Children participating in early intervention programs assisted under part C, and who will participate in preschool programs assisted under this part, experience a smooth and effective transition to those preschool programs in a manner consistent with section 637(a)(8). By the third birthday of such a child, an individualized education program or, if consistent with sections 614(d)(2)(B) and 636(d), an individualized family service plan, has been developed and is being implemented for the child. The local educational agency will participate in transition planning conferences arranged by the designated lead agency under section 637(a)(8).

[(A) CHILDREN ENROLLED IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY THEIR PARENTS.—

[(i) IN GENERAL.—To the extent consistent with the number and location of children with disabilities in the State who are enrolled by their parents in private elementary and secondary schools, provision is made for the participation of those children in the program assisted or carried out under this part by providing for such children special education and related services in accordance with the following requirements, unless the Secretary has arranged for services to those children under subsection (f):

[(I) Amounts expended for the provision of those services by a local educational agency shall be equal to a proportionate amount of Federal funds made available under this part.

[(II) Such services may be provided to children with disabilities on the premises of private, including parochial, schools, to the extent consistent with law.

[(ii) CHILD-FIND REQUIREMENT.—The requirements of paragraph (3) of this subsection (relating to child find) shall apply with respect to children with disabilities in the State who are enrolled in private, including parochial, elementary and secondary schools.

[(B) CHILDREN PLACED IN, OR REFERRED TO, PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY PUBLIC AGENCIES.—

[(i) IN GENERAL.—Children with disabilities in private schools and facilities are provided special education and related services, in accordance with an individualized education program, at no cost to their parents, if such children are placed in, or referred to, such schools or facilities by the State or appropriate local educational agency as the means of carrying out the requirements of this part or any other applicable law requiring the provision of special education and related services to all children with disabilities within such State.

[(ii) STANDARDS.—In all cases described in clause (i), the State educational agency shall determine whether such schools and facilities meet standards that apply to State and local educational agencies and that children so served have all the rights they would have if served by such agencies.

[(C) PAYMENT FOR EDUCATION OF CHILDREN ENROLLED IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS WITHOUT CONSENT OF OR REFERRAL BY THE PUBLIC AGENCY.—

[(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (A), this part does not require a local educational agency to pay for the cost of education, including special education and related services, of a child with a disability at a private school or facility if that agency made a free appropriate public education available to the child and the parents elected to place the child in such private school or facility.

[(ii) REIMBURSEMENT FOR PRIVATE SCHOOL PLACEMENT.—If the parents of a child with a disability, who previously received special education and related services under the authority of a public agency, enroll the child in a private elementary or secondary school without the consent of or referral by the public agency, a court or a hearing officer may require the agency to reimburse the parents for the cost of that enrollment if the court or hearing officer finds that the agency had not made a free appropriate public education available to the child in a timely manner prior to that enrollment.

[(iii) LIMITATION ON REIMBURSEMENT.—The cost of reimbursement described in clause (ii) may be reduced or denied—

[(I) if—

[(aa) at the most recent IEP meeting that the parents attended prior to removal of the child from the public school, the parents did not inform the IEP Team that they were rejecting the placement proposed by the public agency to provide a free appropriate public education to their child, including stating their concerns and their intent to enroll their child in a private school at public expense; or

[(bb) 10 business days (including any holidays that occur on a business day) prior to the removal of the child from the public school, the parents did not give written notice to the public agency of the information described in division (aa);

[(II) if, prior to the parents' removal of the child from the public school, the public agency informed the parents, through the notice requirements described in section 615(b)(7), of its intent to evaluate the child (including a statement of the purpose of the evaluation that was appropriate and reasonable), but the parents did not make the child available for such evaluation; or

[(III) upon a judicial finding of unreasonableness with respect to actions taken by the parents.

[(iv) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding the notice requirement in clause (iii)(I), the cost of reimbursement may not be reduced or denied for failure to provide such notice if—

【(I) the parent is illiterate and cannot write in English;

【(II) compliance with clause (iii)(I) would likely result in physical or serious emotional harm to the child;

【(III) the school prevented the parent from providing such notice; or 【(IV) the parents had not received notice, pursuant to section 615, of the notice requirement in clause (iii)(I).

【(11) STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY RESPONSIBLE FOR GENERAL SUPERVISION.—

【(A) IN GENERAL.—The State educational agency is responsible for ensuring that—

【(i) the requirements of this part are met; and

【(ii) all educational programs for children with disabilities in the State, including all such programs administered by any other State or local agency—

【(I) are under the general supervision of individuals in the State who are responsible for educational programs for children with disabilities; and

【(II) meet the educational standards of the State educational agency.

【(B) LIMITATION.—Subparagraph (A) shall not limit the responsibility of agencies in the State other than the State educational agency to provide, or pay for some or all of the costs of, a free appropriate public education for any child with a disability in the State.

【(C) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding subparagraphs (A) and (B), the Governor (or another individual pursuant to State law), consistent with State law, may assign to any public agency in the State the responsibility of ensuring that the requirements of this part are met with respect to children with disabilities who are convicted as adults under State law and incarcerated in adult prisons.】

(i) aged 3 through 5 and 18 through 21 in a State to the extent that its application to those children would be inconsistent with State law or practice, or the order of any court, respecting the provision of public education to children in those age ranges; and

(ii) aged 18 through 21 to the extent that State law does not require that special education and related services under this part be provided to children with disabilities who, in the educational placement prior to their incarceration in an adult correctional facility—

(I) were not actually identified as being a child with a disability under section 602(3) of this Act; or

(II) did not have an individualized education program under this part.

(2) FULL EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY GOAL.—The State has established a goal of providing full educational opportunity to all children with disabilities and a detailed timetable for accomplishing that goal.

(3) CHILD FIND.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—All children with disabilities residing in the State, including children with disabilities attending private schools, regardless of the severity of their disabilities, and who are in need of special education and related services, are identified, located, and evaluated and a practical method is developed and implemented to determine which children with disabilities are currently receiving needed special education and related services.

(B) CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this Act requires that children be classified by their disability so long as each child who has a disability listed in section 602 and who, by reason of that disability, needs special education and related services is regarded as a child with a disability under this part.

(4) INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAM.—An individualized education program, or an individualized family service plan that meets the requirements of section 636(d), is developed, reviewed, and revised for each child with a disability in accordance with section 614(d).

(5) LEAST RESTRICTIVE ENVIRONMENT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—To the maximum extent appropriate, children with disabilities, including children in public or private institutions or other care facilities, are educated with children who are not disabled, and special classes, separate schooling, or other removal of children with disabilities from the regular educational environment occurs only when the nature or severity of the disability of a child is such that education in regular classes with the use of supplementary aids and services cannot be achieved satisfactorily.

(B) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—If the State uses a funding mechanism by which the State distributes State funds on the basis of the type of setting in which a child is served, the funding mechanism does not result in placements that violate the requirements of subparagraph (A).

(ii) ASSURANCE.—If the State does not have policies and procedures to ensure compliance with clause (i), the State shall provide the Secretary an assurance that it will revise the funding mechanism as soon as feasible to ensure that such mechanism does not result in such placements.

(6) PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Children with disabilities and their parents are afforded the procedural safeguards required by section 615.

(B) ADDITIONAL PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS.—Procedures to ensure that testing and evaluation materials and procedures utilized for the purposes of evaluation and placement of children with disabilities for services under this Act will be selected and administered so as not to be racially or culturally discriminatory. The local educational agency will participate in transition planning conferences arranged by the designated lead agency under section 637(a)(8).

(10) CHILDREN IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS.—

(A) CHILDREN ENROLLED IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY THEIR PARENTS.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—To the extent consistent with the number and location of children with disabilities in the State who are enrolled by their parents in private elementary and secondary schools in the area served by such agency, provision is made for the participation of those children in the program assisted or carried out under this part by providing for such children special education and related services in accordance with the following requirements, unless the Secretary has arranged for services to those children under subsection (f):

(I) Amounts to be expended for the provision of those services (including direct services to parentally-placed children) by a local educational agency shall be equal to a proportionate amount of Federal funds made available under this part.

(II) In calculating the proportionate share of Federal funds, the local educational agency, after timely and meaningful consultation with representatives of children with disabilities parentally-placed in private schools as described in clause (iii), shall conduct a thorough and complete child-find process to determine the number of parentally-placed children with disabilities attending private schools located in the district.

(III) Such services may be provided to children with disabilities on the premises of private, including religious, schools, to the extent consistent with law.

(IV) State and local funds may supplement and in no case shall supplant the proportionate amount of Federal funds required to be expended under this paragraph.

(III) ACTIVITIES.—In carrying out this clause, the local educational agency, or where applicable, the State educational agency, shall undertake activities similar to those activities undertaken for its public school children.

(IV) COST.—The cost of carrying out this clause, including individual evaluations, may not be considered in determining whether a local education agency has met its obligations under clause (i).

(V) COMPLETION PERIOD.—Such child-find process shall be completed in a time period comparable to that for other students attending public schools in the local educational agency.

(iii) CONSULTATION.—To ensure timely and meaningful consultation, a local educational agency, or where appropriate, a state educational agency, shall consult with representatives of children with disabilities parentally placed in private schools during the design and development of special education and related services for these children including—

(I) the child-find process and how parentally placed private school children suspected of having a disability can participate equitably, including how parents, teachers, and private school officials will be informed of the process;

(II) the determination of the proportionate share of Federal funds available to serve parentally placed private school children with disabilities under this paragraph, including the determination of how those funds were calculated;

(III) the consultation process among the district, private school officials, and parents of parentally placed private school children with disabilities including how such process will operate throughout the school year to ensure that parentally placed children with disabilities identified through the child find process can meaningfully participate in special education and related services; and

(IV) how, where, and by whom special education and related services will be provided for parentally placed private school children, including a discussion of alternate service delivery mechanisms, how such services will be apportioned if funds are insufficient to serve all children, and how and when these decisions will be made.

(iv) COMPLIANCE.—

(I) IN GENERAL.—A private school official shall have the right to complain to the State educational agency that the local educational agency did not engage in consultation that was meaningful and timely, or did not give due consideration to the views of the private school official.

(II) PROCEDURE.—If the private school official wishes to complain, the official shall provide the basis of the noncompliance with this section by the local educational agency to the State educational agency, and the local educational agency shall forward the appropriate documentation to the State educational agency. If the private school official is dissatisfied with the decision of the State educational agency, such official may complain to the Secretary by providing the basis of the noncompliance with this section by the local educational agency to the Secretary, and the State educational agency shall forward the appropriate documentation to the Secretary.

(v) PROVISION OF SERVICES.—

(I) DIRECTLY OR THROUGH CONTRACTS.—An agency may provide special education and related services directly or through contracts with public and private agencies, organizations, and institutions.

(B) CHILDREN PLACED IN, OR REFERRED TO, PRIVATE SCHOOLS BY PUBLIC AGENCIES.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—Children with disabilities in private schools and facilities are provided special education and related services, in accordance with an individualized education program, at no cost to their parents, if such children are placed in, or referred to, such schools or facilities by the State or appropriate local educational agency as the means of carrying out the requirements of this part or any other applicable law requiring the provision of special education and related services to all children with disabilities within such State.

(ii) STANDARDS.—In all cases described in clause (i), the State educational agency shall determine whether such schools and facilities meet standards that apply to State and local educational agencies and that children so served have all the rights they would have if served by such agencies.

(C) PAYMENT FOR EDUCATION OF CHILDREN ENROLLED IN PRIVATE SCHOOLS WITHOUT CONSENT OF OR REFERRAL BY THE PUBLIC AGENCY.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—Subject to subparagraph (A), this part does not require a local educational agency to pay for the cost of education, including special education and related services, of a child with a disability at a private school or facility if that agency made a free appropriate public education available to the child and the parents elected to place the child in such private school or facility.

(ii) REIMBURSEMENT FOR PRIVATE SCHOOL PLACEMENT.—If the parents of a child with a disability, who previously received special education and related services under the authority of a public agency, enroll the child in a private elementary or secondary school without the consent of or referral by the public agency, a court or a hearing officer may require the agency to reimburse the parents for the cost of that enrollment if the court or hearing officer finds that the agency had not made a free appropriate public education available to the child in a timely manner prior to that enrollment.

(iii) LIMITATION ON REIMBURSEMENT.—The cost of reimbursement described in clause (ii) may be reduced or denied—

(I) if—

(aa) at the most recent IEP meeting that the parents attended prior to removal of the child from the public school, the parents did not inform the IEP Team that they were rejecting the placement proposed by the public agency to provide a free appropriate public education to their child, including stating their concerns and their intent to enroll their child in a private school at public expense; or

(bb) 10 business days (including any holidays that occur on a business day) prior to the removal of the child from the public school, the parents did not give written notice to the public agency of the information described in division (aa);

(II) if, prior to the parents' removal of the child from the public school, the public agency informed the parents, through the notice requirements described in section 615(b)(7), of its intent to evaluate the child (including a statement of the purpose of the evaluation that was appropriate and reasonable), but the parents did not make the child available for such evaluation; or

(III) upon a judicial finding of unreasonableness with respect to actions taken by the parents.

(iv) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding the notice requirement in clause (iii)(I), the cost of reimbursement—

(I) shall not be reduced or denied for failure to provide such notice if—

(aa) the school prevented the parent from providing such notice;

(bb) the parents had not received notice, pursuant to section 615, of the notice requirement in clause (iii)(I); or

(cc) compliance with clause (iii)(I) would likely result in physical harm to the child; and

(II) may, in the discretion of a court or a hearing officer, not be reduced or denied for failure to provide such notice if—

(aa) the parent is illiterate or cannot write in English; or

(bb) compliance with clause (iii)(I) would likely result in serious emotional harm to the child.

(11) STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY RESPONSIBLE FOR GENERAL SUPERVISION.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The State educational agency is responsible for ensuring that—

(i) the requirements of this part are met; and

(ii) all educational programs for children with disabilities in the State, including all such programs administered by any other State or local agency—

(II) meet the educational standards of the State educational agency.

(B) LIMITATION.—Subparagraph (A) shall not limit the responsibility of agencies in the State other than the State educational agency to provide, or pay for some or all of the costs of, a free appropriate public education for any child with a disability in the State.

(C) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding subparagraphs (A) and (B), the Governor (or another individual pursuant to State law), consistent with State law, may assign to any public agency in the State the responsibility of ensuring that the requirements of this part are met with respect to children with disabilities who are convicted as adults under State law and incarcerated in adult prisons.

[(13) PROCEDURAL REQUIREMENTS RELATING TO LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY ELIGIBILITY.—The State educational agency will not make a final determination that a local educational agency is not eligible for assistance under this part without first affording that agency reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing.

[(14) COMPREHENSIVE SYSTEM OF PERSONNEL DEVELOPMENT.—The State has in effect, consistent with the purposes of this Act and with section 635(a)(8), a comprehensive system of personnel development that is designed to ensure an adequate supply of qualified special education, regular education, and related services personnel that meets the requirements for a State improvement plan relating to personnel development in subsections (b)(2)(B) and (c)(3)(D) of section 653.

[(A) IN GENERAL.—The State educational agency has established and maintains standards to ensure that personnel necessary to carry out this part are appropriately and adequately prepared and trained.

[(B) STANDARDS DESCRIBED.—Such standards shall—

[(i) be consistent with any State-approved or State-recognized certification, licensing, registration, or other comparable requirements that apply to the professional discipline in which those personnel are providing special education or related services;

[(ii) to the extent the standards described in subparagraph (A) are not based on the highest requirements in the State applicable to a specific profession or discipline, the State is taking steps to require retraining or hiring of personnel that meet appropriate professional requirements in the State; and

[(iii) allow paraprofessionals and assistants who are appropriately trained and supervised, in accordance with State law, regulations, or written policy, in meeting the requirements of this part to be used to assist in the provision of special education and related services to children with disabilities under this part.

[(C) POLICY.—In implementing this paragraph, a State may adopt a policy that includes a requirement that local educational agencies in the State make an ongoing good-faith effort to recruit and hire appropriately and adequately trained personnel to provide special education and related services to children with disabilities, including, in a geographic area of the State where there is a shortage of such personnel, the most qualified individuals available who are making satisfactory progress toward completing applicable course work necessary to meet the standards described in subparagraph (B)(i), consistent with State law, and the steps described in subparagraph (B)(ii) within three years.

[(i) will promote the purposes of this Act, as stated in section 601(d); and

[(ii) are consistent, to the maximum extent appropriate, with other goals and standards for children established by the State;

[(B) has established performance indicators the State will use to assess progress toward achieving those goals that, at a minimum, address the performance of children with disabilities on assessments, drop-out rates, and graduation rates;

[(C) will, every two years, report to the Secretary and the public on the progress of the State, and of children with disabilities in the State, toward meeting the goals established under subparagraph (A); and

[(D) based on its assessment of that progress, will revise its State improvement plan under subpart 1 of part D as may be needed to improve its performance, if the State receives assistance under that subpart.

[(17) PARTICIPATION IN ASSESSMENTS.—

[(A) IN GENERAL.—Children with disabilities are included in general State and district-wide assessment programs, with appropriate accommodations, where necessary. As appropriate, the State or local educational agency—

[(i) develops guidelines for the participation of children with disabilities in alternate assessments for those children who cannot participate in State and district-wide assessment programs; and

[(ii) develops and, beginning not later than July 1, 2000, conducts those alternate assessments.

[(B) REPORTS.—The State educational agency makes available to the public, and reports to the public with the same frequency and in the same detail as it reports on the assessment of nondisabled children, the following:

[(iii)(I) The performance of those children on regular assessments (beginning not later than July 1, 1998) and on alternate assessments (not later than July 1, 2000), if doing so would be statistically sound and would not result in the disclosure of performance results identifiable to individual children.

[(II) Data relating to the performance of children described under subclause (I) shall be disaggregated—

[(18) SUPPLEMENTATION OF STATE, LOCAL, AND OTHER FEDERAL FUNDS.—

[(A) EXPENDITURES.—Funds paid to a State under this part will be expended in accordance with all the provisions of this part.

[(C) PROHIBITION AGAINST SUPPLANTATION AND CONDITIONS FOR WAIVER BY SECRETARY.—Except as provided in section 613, funds paid to a State under this part will be used to supplement the level of Federal, State, and local funds (including funds that are not under the direct control of State or local educational agencies) expended for special education and related services provided to children with disabilities under this part and in no case to supplant such Federal, State, and local funds, except that, where the State provides clear and convincing evidence that all children with disabilities have available to them a free appropriate public education, the Secretary may waive, in whole or in part, the requirements of this subparagraph if the Secretary concurs with the evidence provided by the State.

[(A) IN GENERAL.—The State does not reduce the amount of State financial support for special education and related services for children with disabilities, or otherwise made available because of the excess costs of educating those children, below the amount of that support for the preceding fiscal year.

[(B) REDUCTION OF FUNDS FOR FAILURE TO MAINTAIN SUPPORT.—The Secretary shall reduce the allocation of funds under section 611 for any fiscal year following the fiscal year in which the State fails to comply with the requirement of subparagraph (A) by the same amount by which the State fails to meet the requirement.

[(C) WAIVERS FOR EXCEPTIONAL OR UNCONTROLLABLE CIRCUMSTANCES.—The Secretary may waive the requirement of subparagraph (A) for a State, for one fiscal year at a time, if the Secretary determines that—

[(i) granting a waiver would be equitable due to exceptional or uncontrollable circumstances such as a natural disaster or a precipitous and unforeseen decline in the financial resources of the State; or

[(ii) the State meets the standard in paragraph (18)(C) of this section for a waiver of the requirement to supplement, and not to supplant, funds received under this part.

[(ii) a decrease in the enrollment of children with disabilities;

[(iii) the termination of the obligation of the agency, consistent with this part, to provide a program of special education to a particular child with a disability that is an exceptionally costly program, as determined by the State educational agency, because the child—

[(h) DIRECT SERVICES BY THE STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—

[(1) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency shall use the payments that would otherwise have been available to a local educational agency or to a State agency to provide special education and related services directly to children with disabilities residing in the area served by that local agency, or for whom that State agency is responsible, if the State educational agency determines that the local education agency or State agency, as the case may be—

[(A) has not provided the information needed to establish the eligibility of such agency under this section;

[(B) is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of subsection (a);

[(j) DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION.—The State may require that a local educational agency include in the records of a child with a disability a statement of any current or previous disciplinary action that has been taken against the child and transmit such statement to the same extent that such disciplinary information is included in, and transmitted with, the student records of nondisabled children. The statement may include a description of any behavior engaged in by the child that required disciplinary action, a description of the disciplinary action taken, and any other information that is relevant to the safety of the child and other individuals involved with the child. If the State adopts such a policy, and the child transfers from one school to another, the transmission of any of the child's records must include both the child's current individualized education program and any such statement of current or previous disciplinary action that has been taken against the child.

Parental consent for evaluation shall not be construed as consent for placement for receipt of special education and related services.

[(ii) REFUSAL.—If the parents of such child refuse consent for the evaluation, the agency may continue to pursue an evaluation by utilizing the mediation and due process procedures under section 615, except to the extent inconsistent with State law relating to parental consent.

[(B) in accordance with subsections (b) and (c).

[(b) EVALUATION PROCEDURES.—

[(A) use a variety of assessment tools and strategies to gather relevant functional and developmental information, including information provided by the parent, that may assist in determining whether the child is a child with a disability and the content of the child's individualized education program, including information related to enabling the child to be involved in and progress in the general curriculum or, for preschool children, to participate in appropriate activities;

[(B) not use any single procedure as the sole criterion for determining whether a child is a child with a disability or determining an appropriate educational program for the child; and

[(3) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS.—Each local educational agency shall ensure that—

[(A) the determination of whether the child is a child with a disability as defined in section 602(3) shall be made by a team of qualified professionals and the parent of the child in accordance with paragraph (5); and

[(B) a copy of the evaluation report and the documentation of determination of eligibility will be given to the parent.

[(5) SPECIAL RULE FOR ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATION.—In making a determination of eligibility under paragraph (4)(A), a child shall not be determined to be a child with a disability if the determinant factor for such determination is lack of instruction in reading or math or limited English proficiency.

[(c) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR EVALUATION AND REEVALUATIONS.—

[(1) REVIEW OF EXISTING EVALUATION DATA.—As part of an initial evaluation (if appropriate) and as part of any reevaluation under this section, the IEP Team described in subsection (d)(1)(B) and other qualified professionals, as appropriate, shall—

[(A) review existing evaluation data on the child, including evaluations and information provided by the parents of the child, current classroom-based assessments and observations, and teacher and related services providers observation; and

[(B) on the basis of that review, and input from the child's parents, identify what additional data, if any, are needed to determine—

[(ii) the present levels of performance and educational needs of the child;

[(iii) whether the child needs special education and related services, or in the case of a reevaluation of a child, whether the child continues to need special education and related services; and

[(2) SOURCE OF DATA.—The local educational agency shall administer such tests and other evaluation materials as may be needed to produce the data identified by the IEP Team under paragraph (1)(B).

[(3) PARENTAL CONSENT.—Each local educational agency shall obtain informed parental consent, in accordance with subsection (a)(1)(C), prior to conducting any reevaluation of a child with a disability, except that such informed parent consent need not be obtained if the local educational agency can demonstrate that it had taken reasonable measures to obtain such consent and the child's parent has failed to respond.

[(4) REQUIREMENTS IF ADDITIONAL DATA ARE NOT NEEDED.—If the IEP Team and other qualified professionals, as appropriate, determine that no additional data are needed to determine whether the child continues to be a child with a disability, the local educational agency—

[(i) that determination and the reasons for it; and

[(ii) the right of such parents to request an assessment to determine whether the child continues to be a child with a disability; and

[(B) shall not be required to conduct such an assessment unless requested to by the child's parents.

SEC. 613. LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY ELIGIBILITY.

(a) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency is eligible for assistance under this part for a fiscal year if such agency reasonably demonstrates to the State educational agency that it meets each of the following conditions:

(1) CONSISTENCY WITH STATE POLICIES.—The local educational agency, in providing for the education of children with disabilities within its jurisdiction, has in effect policies, procedures, and programs that are consistent with the State policies and procedures established under section 612.

(2) USE OF AMOUNTS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Amounts provided to the local educational agency under this part shall be expended in accordance with the applicable provisions of this part and—

(i) shall be used only to pay the excess costs of providing special education and related services to children with disabilities;

(ii) shall be used to supplement State, local, and other Federal funds and not to supplant such funds; and

(iii) shall not be used, except as provided in subparagraphs (B) and (C), to reduce the level of expenditures for the education of children with disabilities made by the local educational agency from local funds below the level of those expenditures for the preceding fiscal year.

(B) EXCEPTION.—Notwithstanding the restriction in subparagraph (A)(iii), a local educational agency may reduce the level of expenditures where such reduction is attributable to—

(i) the voluntary departure, by retirement or otherwise, or departure for just cause, of special education personnel;

(ii) a decrease in the enrollment of children with disabilities;

(iii) the termination of the obligation of the agency, consistent with this part, to provide a program of special education to a particular child with a disability that is an exceptionally costly program, as determined by the State educational agency, because the child—

(I) has left the jurisdiction of the agency;

(II) has reached the age at which the obligation of the agency to provide a free appropriate public education to the child has terminated; or

(III) no longer needs such program of special education; or

(iv) the termination of costly expenditures for long-term purchases, such as the acquisition of equipment or the construction of school facilities.

(C) TREATMENT OF FEDERAL FUNDS IN CERTAIN FISCAL YEARS.—

(i) Notwithstanding clauses (ii) and (iii) of subparagraph (A), for any fiscal year for which amounts appropriated to carry out section 611 exceeds $4,100,000,000, a local educational agency may treat as local funds, for the purpose of such clauses, up to 20 percent of the amount of funds it receives under this part that exceeds the amount it received under this part for the previous fiscal year.

(ii) If a local educational agency chooses to use the authority under clause (i), then the agency shall use those local funds to provide additional funding for programs under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, including, but not limited to, programs that address student achievement, comprehensive school reform, literacy, teacher quality and professional development, school safety, before- and after- school learning opportunities.

(iii) Notwithstanding clause (i), if a State educational agency determines that a local educational agency is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of subsection (a), the State educational agency shall prohibit the local educational agency from treating funds received under this part as local funds under clause (i) for that fiscal year, but only if it is authorized to do so by the State constitution or a State statute.

(D) SCHOOLWIDE PROGRAMS UNDER TITLE I OF THE ESEA.—Notwithstanding subparagraph (A) or any other provision of this part, a local educational agency may use funds received under this part for any fiscal year to carry out a schoolwide program under section 1114 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, except that the amount so used in any such program shall not exceed—

(i) the number of children with disabilities participating in the schoolwide program; multiplied by

(ii)(I) the amount received by the local educational agency under this part for that fiscal year; divided by

(II) the number of children with disabilities in the jurisdiction of that agency.

(3) PERSONNEL DEVELOPMENT.—The local educational agency shall ensure that all personnel necessary to carry out this part are appropriately and adequately prepared, consistent with the requirements of section 612 of this Act and section 1119 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

(4) PERMISSIVE USE OF FUNDS.—Notwithstanding paragraph (2)(A) or section 612(a)(18)(B) (relating to commingled funds), funds provided to the local educational agency under this part may be used for the following activities:

(A) SERVICES AND AIDS THAT ALSO BENEFIT NONDISABLED CHILDREN.—For the costs of special education and related services and supplementary aids and services provided in a regular class or other education-related setting to a child with a disability in accordance with the individualized

(C) HIGH COST EDUCATION AND RELATED SERVICES.—To establish and implement cost or risk sharing funds, consortia, or cooperatives for the agency itself, or for local educational agencies working in consortium of which the local educational agency is a part, to pay for high cost special education and related services.

(D) CASE MANAGEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION.—To purchase appropriate technology for record keeping, data collection, and related case management activities of teachers and related services personnel who are providing services described in the individualized education program of children with disabilities necessary to the implementation of those case management activities.

(E) SUPPLEMENTAL EDUCATIONAL SERVICES FOR CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES IN SCHOOLS DESIGNATED FOR IMPROVEMENT.—For the reasonable additional expenses (as determined by the local educational agency) of any necessary accommodations to allow children with disabilities who are being educated in a school identified for school improvement under section 1116(b) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 6316(b)) to be provided supplemental educational services under section 1116(e) of such Act on an equitable basis.

(5) TREATMENT OF CHARTER SCHOOLS AND THEIR STUDENTS.—In carrying out this part with respect to charter schools that are public schools of the local educational agency, the local educational agency—

(A) serves children with disabilities attending those schools in the same manner as it serves children with disabilities in its other schools, including providing supplemental and related services on site at the charter school when the local educational agency has a policy or practice of providing those services on site to its other schools; and

(B) provides funds under this part to those schools on the same basis as it provides those funds to its other public schools (including, at the option of such agency, proportional distribution based on relative enrollment of children with disabilities at such charter schools), and at the same time as such agency distributes other Federal funds to those schools, consistent with the State's charter law.

(6) PURCHASE OF INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS.—Not later than 2 years after the date of the enactment of the Improving Education Results for Children With Disabilities Act of 2003, the local educational agency, when purchasing instructional materials for use in public elementary and secondary schools within the local educational agency, requires the publisher of the instructional materials, as a part of any purchase agreement that is made, renewed, or revised, to prepare and supply electronic files containing the contents of the instructional materials using the national instructional materials accessibility standard described in section 612(a)(23).

(7) INFORMATION FOR STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—The local educational agency shall provide the State educational agency with information necessary to enable the State educational agency to carry out its duties under this part, including, with respect to paragraphs (15) and (16) of section 612(a), information relating to the performance of children with disabilities participating in programs carried out under this part.

(8) PUBLIC INFORMATION.—The local educational agency shall make available to parents of children with disabilities and to the general public all documents relating to the eligibility of such agency under this part.

(9) RECORDS REGARDING MIGRATORY CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES.—The local educational agency shall cooperate in the Secretary's efforts under section 1308 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 6398) to ensure the linkage of records pertaining to migratory children with a disability for the purpose of electronically exchanging, among the States, health and educational information regarding such children.

(b) EXCEPTION FOR PRIOR LOCAL PLANS.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—If a local educational agency or State agency has on file with the State educational agency policies and procedures that demonstrate that such local educational agency, or such State agency, as the case may be, meets any requirement of subsection (a), including any policies and procedures filed under this part as in effect before the effective date of the Improving Education Results for Children With Disabilities Act of 2003, the State educational agency shall consider such local educational agency or State agency, as the case may be, to have met such requirement for purposes of receiving assistance under this part.

(2) MODIFICATION MADE BY LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—Subject to paragraph (3), an application submitted by a local educational agency in accordance with this section shall remain in effect until it submits to the State educational agency such modifications as the local educational agency deems necessary.

(3) MODIFICATIONS REQUIRED BY STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—If, after the date of the enactment of the Improving Education Results for Children With Disabilities Act of 2003, the provisions of this Act are amended (or the regulations developed to carry out this Act are amended), or there is a new interpretation of this Act by Federal or State courts, or there is an official finding of noncompliance with Federal or State law or regulations, the State educational agency may require a local educational agency to modify its application only to the extent necessary to ensure the local educational agency's compliance with this part or State law.

(c) NOTIFICATION OF LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY OR STATE AGENCY IN CASE OF INELIGIBILITY.—If the State educational agency determines that a local educational agency or State agency is not eligible under this section, the State educational agency shall notify the local educational agency or State agency, as the case may be, of that determination and shall provide such local educational agency or State agency with reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing.

(d) LOCAL EDUCATIONAL AGENCY COMPLIANCE.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—If the State educational agency, after reasonable notice and an opportunity for a hearing, finds that a local educational agency or State agency that has been determined to be eligible under this section is failing to comply with any requirement described in subsection (a), the State educational agency shall reduce or shall not provide any further payments to the local educational agency or State agency until the State educational agency is satisfied that the local educational agency or State agency, as the case may be, is complying with that requirement.

(2) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—Any State agency or local educational agency in receipt of a notice described in paragraph (1) shall, by means of public notice, take such measures as may be necessary to bring the pendency of an action pursuant to this subsection to the attention of the public within the jurisdiction of such agency.

(3) CONSIDERATION.—In carrying out its responsibilities under paragraph (1), the State educational agency shall consider any decision made in a hearing held under section 615 that is adverse to the local educational agency or State agency involved in that decision.

(e) JOINT ESTABLISHMENT OF ELIGIBILITY.—

(1) JOINT ESTABLISHMENT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency may require a local educational agency to establish its eligibility jointly with another local educational agency if the State educational agency determines that the local educational agency would be ineligible under this section because the local educational agency would not be able to establish and maintain programs of sufficient size and scope to effectively meet the needs of children with disabilities.

(B) CHARTER SCHOOL EXCEPTION.—A State educational agency may not require a charter school that is a local educational agency to jointly establish its eligibility under subparagraph (A) unless it is explicitly permitted to do so under the State's charter school statute.

(2) AMOUNT OF PAYMENTS.—If a State educational agency requires the joint establishment of eligibility under paragraph (1), the total amount of funds made available to the affected local educational agencies shall be equal to the sum of the payments that each such local educational agency would have received under section 611(f) if such agencies were eligible for such payments.

(3) REQUIREMENTS.—Local educational agencies that establish joint eligibility under this subsection shall—

(A) adopt policies and procedures that are consistent with the State's policies and procedures under section 612(a); and

(B) be jointly responsible for implementing programs that receive assistance under this part.

(4) REQUIREMENTS FOR EDUCATIONAL SERVICE AGENCIES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—If an educational service agency is required by State law to carry out programs under this part, the joint responsibilities given to local educational agencies under this subsection shall—

(i) not apply to the administration and disbursement of any payments received by that educational service agency; and

(ii) be carried out only by that educational service agency.

(B) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, an educational service agency shall provide for the education of children with disabilities in the least restrictive environment, as required by section 612(a)(5).

(f) PREREFERRAL SERVICES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency may use not more than 15 percent of the amount such agency receives under this part for any fiscal year, in combination with other amounts (which may include amounts other than education funds), to develop and implement comprehensive coordinated prereferral educational support services for students in kindergarten through grade 12 (with a particular emphasis on students in grades kindergarten through 3) who have not been identified as needing special education or related services but who need additional academic and behavioral support to succeed in a general education environment.

(2) ACTIVITIES.—In implementing comprehensive coordinated prereferral educational services under this subsection, a local educational agency may carry out the following activities:

(A) Professional development (which may be provided by entities other than local educational agencies) for teachers to enable them to deliver scientifically based academic and behavioral interventions, including scientifically based literacy instruction and speech therapy.

(B) Providing educational evaluations, services, and supports, including scientifically based literacy instruction.

(C) Providing behavioral evaluations and services and supports, including positive behavioral interventions and supports.

(3) EXCLUSION.—Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to either limit or create a right to a free appropriate public education under this part.

(4) REPORTING.—Each local educational agency that develops and maintains comprehensive coordinated prereferral educational support services under this subsection shall annually report to the State educational agency on—

(A) the number of students served under this subsection; and

(B) the number of students served under this subsection who subsequently receive special education and related services under this Act during the preceding 2-year period.

(5) COORDINATION WITH THE ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION ACT OF 1965.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Comprehensive coordinated prereferral educational support services provided under this subsection may be aligned with activities funded by, and carried out under, the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, such as the Reading First program under subpart 1 of part B of title I of such Act, the Early Reading First program under subpart 2 of part B of title I of such Act, reading and math supports under part A of title I of such Act, and behavior intervention supports, that improve results for children with disabilities.

(B) MAINTENANCE OF EFFORT.—Funds used under this section shall be used to supplement, and not supplant, funds made available under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965.

(g) DIRECT SERVICES BY THE STATE EDUCATIONAL AGENCY.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency shall use the payments that would otherwise have been available to a local educational agency or to a State agency to provide special education and related services directly to children with disabilities residing in the area served by that local agency, or for whom that State agency is responsible, if the State educational agency determines that the local education agency or State agency, as the case may be—

(A) has not provided the information needed to establish the eligibility of such agency under this section;

(B) is unable to establish and maintain programs of free appropriate public education that meet the requirements of subsection (a);

(C) is unable or unwilling to be consolidated with one or more local educational agencies in order to establish and maintain such programs; or

(D) has one or more children with disabilities who can best be served by a regional or State program or service-delivery system designed to meet the needs of such children.

(2) MANNER AND LOCATION OF EDUCATION AND SERVICES.—The State educational agency may provide special education and related services under paragraph (1) in such manner and at such locations (including regional or State centers) as the State agency considers appropriate. Such education and services shall be provided in accordance with this part.

(h) STATE AGENCY ELIGIBILITY.—Any State agency that desires to receive a subgrant for any fiscal year under section 611(f) shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the State educational agency that—

(1) all children with disabilities who are participating in programs and projects funded under this part receive a free appropriate public education, and that those children and their parents are provided all the rights and procedural safeguards described in this part; and

(2) the agency meets such other conditions of this section as the Secretary determines to be appropriate.

(i) DISCIPLINARY INFORMATION.—The State may require that a local educational agency include in the records of a child with a disability a statement of any current or previous disciplinary action that has been taken against the child and transmit such statement to the same extent that such disciplinary information is included in, and transmitted with, the student records of nondisabled children.

The statement may include a description of any behavior engaged in by the child that required disciplinary action, a description of the disciplinary action taken, and any other information that is relevant to the safety of the child and other individuals involved with the child. If the State adopts such a policy, and the child transfers from one school to another, the transmission of any of the child's records must include both the child's current individualized education program and any such statement of current or previous disciplinary action that has been taken against the child.

SEC. 614. EVALUATIONS, ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATIONS, INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAMS, AND EDUCATIONAL PLACEMENTS.

(1) INITIAL EVALUATIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—A State educational agency, other State agency, or local educational agency shall conduct a full and individual initial evaluation, in accordance with this paragraph and subsection (b), before the initial provision of special education and related services to a child with a disability under this part.

(B) REQUEST FOR INITIAL EVALUATION.—Consistent with subparagraph (D), either a parent of a child, a State educational agency, other State agency as appropriate, or local educational agency may initiate a request for an initial evaluation to determine if the child is a child with a disability.

(C) PROCEDURES.—Such initial evaluation shall consist of procedures—

(i) to determine whether a child is a child with a disability (as defined in section 602(3)); and

(ii) to determine the educational needs of such child.

(D) PARENTAL CONSENT.—

(i) IN GENERAL.—

(I) CONSENT FOR INITIAL EVALUATION.—The agency proposing to conduct an initial evaluation to determine if the child qualifies as a child with a disability as defined in section 602(3)(A) or 602(3)(B) shall obtain informed consent from the parent of such child before conducting the evaluation. Parental consent for evaluation shall not be construed as consent for placement for receipt of special education and related services.

(II) CONSENT FOR SERVICES.—An agency that is responsible for making a free appropriate public education available to a child with a disability under this part shall seek to obtain informed consent from the parent of such child before providing special education and related services to the child.

(ii) ABSENCE OF CONSENT.—

(I) FOR INITIAL EVALUATION.—If the parent of such child does not provide consent for an initial evaluation under clause (i)(I), or the parent fails to respond to a request to provide the consent, the local educational agency may pursue the initial evaluation of the child through the procedures de- scribed in section 615, except to the extent inconsistent with State law relating to such parental consent.

(II) FOR SERVICES.—If the parent of such child does not provide consent for services under clause (i)(II), or the parent fails to respond to a request to provide the consent, the local educational agency shall not provide special education and related services to the child through the procedures described in section 615.

(III) EFFECT ON AGENCY OBLIGATIONS.—In any case for which there is an absence of consent for an initial evaluation under subclause (I), or for which there is an absence of consent for services under subclause (II)—

(aa) the local educational agency shall not be required to convene an IEP meeting or develop an IEP under this section for the child; and

(bb) the local educational agency shall not be considered to be in violation of any requirement under this part (including the requirement to make available a free appropriate public education to the child) with respect to the lack of an initial evaluation of the child, an IEP meeting with respect to the child, or the development of an IEP under this section for the child.

(E) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—The screening of a student by a teacher or specialist to determine appropriate instructional strategies for curriculum implementation shall not be considered to be an evaluation for eligibility for special education and related services.

(2) REEVALUATIONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—A local educational agency shall ensure that a reevaluation of each child with a disability is conducted in accordance with subsections (b) and (c)—

(i) if the local educational agency determines that the educational needs, including improved academic achievement, of the child warrant a reevaluation; or

(ii) if the child's parent or teacher requests a reevaluation.

(B) LIMITATION.—A reevaluation conducted under subparagraph (A) shall occur—

(i) no more than once a year, unless the parent and the local educational agency agree otherwise; and

(ii) at least once every three years, unless the parent and the local educational agency agree that a reevaluation is unnecessary.

(b) EVALUATION PROCEDURES.—

(1) NOTICE.—The local educational agency shall provide notice to the parent of a child with a disability, in accordance with subsections (b)(3), (b)(4), and (c) of section 615, that describes any evaluation procedures such agency proposes to conduct.

(2) CONDUCT OF EVALUATION.—In conducting the evaluation, the local educational agency shall—

(A) use multiple up-to-date measures and assessments to gather relevant functional, developmental, and academic information, including information provided by the parent, to assist in determining—

- (i) whether the child is a child with a disability; and
- (ii) the content of the child's individualized education program, including information related to enabling the child to be involved in and progress in the general education curriculum or, for preschool children, to participate in appropriate activities;

(B) not use any single measure or assessment as the sole criterion for determining whether a child is a child with a disability or determining an appropriate educational program for the child; and

(C) use technically sound instruments that may assess the relative contribution of cognitive and behavioral factors, in addition to physical or developmental factors.

(3) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS.—Each local educational agency shall ensure that—

(A) assessments and other evaluation measures used to assess a child under this section—

- (i) are selected and administered so as not to be discriminatory on a racial or cultural basis;
- (ii) are provided and administered, to the extent practicable, in the language and form most likely to yield accurate academic and developmental data;
- (iii) are used for the purposes for which the assessments or measures are valid and reliable;
- (iv) are administered by trained and knowledgeable personnel; and
- (v) are administered in accordance with any instructions provided by the producer of such tests;

(B) the child is assessed in all areas of suspected disability; and

(C) assessment tools and strategies that provide relevant information that directly assists persons in determining the educational needs of the child are provided.

(4) DETERMINATION OF ELIGIBILITY AND EDUCATIONAL NEED.—Upon completion of the administration of assessments and other evaluation measures—

(A) the determination of whether the child is a child with a disability as defined in section 602(3) and the educational needs of the child shall be made by a team of qualified professionals and the parent of the child in accordance with paragraph (5); and

(B) a copy of the evaluation report and the documentation of determination of eligibility will be given to the parent.

(5) SPECIAL RULE FOR ELIGIBILITY DETERMINATION.—In making a determination of eligibility under paragraph (4)(A), a child shall not be determined to be a child with a disability if the determinant factor for such determination is—

(A) lack of scientifically based instruction practices and programs that contain the essential components of reading instruction (as that term is defined in section 1208(3) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965);

(B) lack of instruction in math; or

(C) limited English proficiency.

(6) SPECIFIC LEARNING DISABILITIES.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding section 607 of this Act, when determining whether a child has a specific learning disability as defined under this Act, the local educational agency shall not be required to take into consideration whether the child has a severe discrepancy between achievement and intellectual ability in oral expression, listening comprehension, written expression, basic reading skill, reading comprehension, mathematical calculation, or mathematical reasoning.

(B) ADDITIONAL AUTHORITY.—In determining whether a child has a specific learning disability, a local educational agency may use a process which determines if a child responds to scientific, research-based intervention.

(c) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENTS FOR EVALUATION AND REEVALUATIONS.—

(1) REVIEW OF EXISTING EVALUATION DATA.—As part of an initial evaluation (if appropriate) and as part of any reevaluation under this section, the IEP Team described in subsection (d)(1)(B) and other qualified professionals, as appropriate, shall—

(A) review existing evaluation data on the child, including evaluations and information provided by the parents of the child, current classroom-based local or State assessments, and classroom-based observations, and teacher and related services providers observations; and

(B) on the basis of that review, and input from the child's parents, identify what additional data, if any, are needed to determine—

(i) whether the child is a child with a disability as defined in section 602(3), and the educational needs of the child, or, in case of a reevaluation of a child, whether the child continues to have such a disability and such educational needs;

(ii) the present levels of academic achievement and related developmental needs of the child;

(iii) whether the child needs special education and related services, or in the case of a reevaluation of a child, whether the child continues to need special education and related services; and

(iv) whether any additions or modifications to the special education and related services are needed to enable the child to meet the measurable annual goals set out in the individualized education program of the child and to participate, as appropriate, in the general education curriculum.

(2) SOURCE OF DATA.—The local educational agency shall administer such assessments and other evaluation measures as may be needed to produce the data identified by the IEP Team under paragraph (1)(B).

(3) PARENTAL CONSENT.—Each local educational agency shall obtain informed parental consent, in accordance with subsection (a)(1)(D), prior to conducting any reevaluation of a child with a disability, except that such informed parental consent need not be obtained if the local educational agency can demonstrate that it had taken reasonable measures to obtain such consent and the child’s parent has failed to respond.

(4) REQUIREMENTS IF ADDITIONAL DATA ARE NOT NEEDED.—If the IEP Team and other qualified professionals, as appropriate, determine that no additional data are needed to determine whether the child continues to be a child with a disability and to determine the child’s educational needs, the local educational agency—

(A) shall notify the child’s parents of—

- (i) that determination and the reasons for it; and
- (ii) the right of such parents to request an assessment to determine whether the child continues to be a child with a disability and to determine the child’s educational needs; and

(B) shall not be required to conduct such an assessment unless requested to by the child’s parents.

(5) EVALUATIONS BEFORE CHANGE IN ELIGIBILITY.—A local educational agency shall evaluate a child with a disability in accordance with this section prior to graduation, and before determining that the child is no longer a child with a disability, only in instances where the IEP Team is not in agreement regarding the change in eligibility.

(ii) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—Nothing in this subparagraph shall be construed to require—

(I) that additional information be included in a child's IEP beyond what is required in this subsection; and

(II) the IEP Team to include information under one component of a child's IEP that is already contained under another component of such IEP.

(B) INDIVIDUALIZED EDUCATION PROGRAM TEAM.—The term “individualized education program team” or “IEP Team” means a group of individuals composed of—

(i) the parents of a child with a disability;

(ii) a regular education teacher of such child, but such teacher shall not be required to attend a meeting or part of a meeting of the IEP Team involving issues not related to the child's participation in the regular education environment, nor shall multiple regular education teachers, if the child has more than one regular education teacher, be required to attend a meeting, or part of a meeting, of the IEP team;

(vii) whenever appropriate, the child with a disability.

(2) REQUIREMENT THAT PROGRAM BE IN EFFECT.—

(A) *IN GENERAL.—*At the beginning of each school year, each local educational agency, State educational agency, or other State agency, as the case may be, shall have in effect, for each child with a disability in its jurisdiction, an individualized education program, as defined in paragraph (1)(A).

(B) *PROGRAM FOR CHILD AGED 3 THROUGH 5.—*In the case of a child with a disability aged 3 through 5 (or, at the discretion of the State educational agency, a 2 year-old child with a disability who will turn age 3 during the school year), the IEP Team shall consider the individualized family service plan that contains the material described in section 636, and that is developed in accordance with this section, and the individualized family service plan may serve as the IEP of the child if using that plan as the IEP is—

(i) consistent with State policy; and

(ii) agreed to by the agency and the child's parents.

(3) DEVELOPMENT OF IEP.—

(A) *IN GENERAL.—*In developing each child's IEP, the IEP Team, subject to subparagraph (C), shall consider—

(i) the results of the initial evaluation or most recent evaluation of the child;

(ii) the academic and developmental needs of the child;

(iii) the strengths of the child; and

(iv) the concerns of the parents for enhancing the education of their child.

(B) *CONSIDERATION OF SPECIAL FACTORS.—*The IEP Team shall—

(i) in the case of a child whose behavior impedes his or her learning or that of others, consider the use of positive behavioral interventions and supports, and other strategies, to address that behavior;

(ii) in the case of a child with limited English proficiency, consider the language needs of the child as such needs relate to the child's IEP;

(iii) in the case of a child who is blind or visually impaired, provide for instruction in Braille and the use of Braille unless the IEP Team determines, after an evaluation of the child's reading and writing skills, needs, and appropriate reading and writing media (including an evaluation of the child's future needs for instruction in Braille or the use of Braille), that instruction in Braille or the use of Braille is not appropriate for the child;

(iv) consider the communication needs of the child, and in the case of a child who is deaf or hard of hearing, consider the child's language and communication needs, opportunities for direct communications with peers and professional personnel in the child's language and communication mode, academic level, and full range of needs, including opportunities for direct instruction in the child's language and communication mode; and

(v) consider whether the child needs assistive technology devices and services.

(C) REQUIREMENT WITH RESPECT TO REGULAR EDUCATION TEACHER.—The regular education teacher of the child, if a member of the IEP Team pursuant to paragraph (1)(B)(ii), shall, to the extent appropriate, participate in the development of the IEP of the child, including the determination of appropriate positive behavioral interventions and supports, and other strategies and the determination of supplementary aids and services, program modifications, and support for school personnel consistent with paragraph (1)(A)(i)(III).

(D) IEP TEAM ATTENDANCE.—The parent of a child with a disability and the local educational agency may jointly excuse any member of the IEP Team from attending all or part of an IEP meeting if they agree that the member's attendance is not necessary. The IEP Team shall obtain the member's input prior to an IEP meeting from which the member is excused.

(E) AGREEMENT ON MEETING.—In making changes to a child's IEP after the annual IEP meeting, the parent of a child with a disability and the local educational agency may agree not to reconvene the IEP team and instead develop a written document to amend or modify the child's current IEP.

(F) CONSOLIDATION OF IEP TEAM MEETINGS.—To the extent possible, the local educational agency shall encourage the consolidation of IEP Team meetings for a child.

(G) AMENDMENTS.—Changes to the IEP may be made either by the entire IEP Team or, as provided in subparagraph (E), by amending the IEP rather than by redrafting the entire IEP.

(4) REVIEW AND REVISION OF IEP.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The local educational agency shall ensure that, subject to subparagraph (B), the IEP Team—

(i) reviews the child's IEP periodically, but not less than annually, to determine whether the annual goals for the child are being achieved; and

(ii) revises the IEP as appropriate to address—

(I) any lack of expected progress toward the annual goals and in the general education curriculum, where appropriate;

(II) the results of any reevaluation conducted under this section;

(5) MULTI-YEAR IEP.—

(A) DEVELOPMENT.—The local educational agency may offer to the parent of a child with a disability the option of developing a comprehensive multi-year IEP, not to exceed 3 years, that is designed to cover the natural transition points for the child. With the consent of the parent, the IEP Team shall develop an IEP, as described in paragraphs (1) and (3), that is designed to serve the child for the appropriate multi-year period, which includes a statement of—

(i) measurable goals pursuant to paragraph (1)(A)(i)(II), coinciding with natural transition points for the child, that will enable the child to be involved in and make progress in the general education curriculum and that will meet the child's other needs that result from the child's disability; and

(ii) measurable annual goals for determining progress toward meeting the goals described in clause (i).

(B) REVIEW AND REVISION OF MULTI-YEAR IEP.—

(i) REQUIREMENT.—The IEP Team shall conduct a review under paragraph (4) of the child's multi-year IEP at each of the child's natural transition points.

(ii) STREAMLINED ANNUAL REVIEW PROCESS.—In years other than a child's natural transition points, the local educational agency shall ensure that the IEP Team—

(I) provides an annual review of the child's IEP to determine the child's current levels of progress and determine whether the annual goals for the child are being achieved; and

(II) amends the IEP, as appropriate, to enable the child to continue to meet the measurable goals set out in the IEP.

(iii) COMPREHENSIVE REVIEW PROCESS.—If the IEP Team determines, on the basis of the review under clause (i), that the child is not making sufficient progress toward the goals described in subparagraph (A), the local educational agency shall ensure that the IEP Team reviews the IEP under paragraph (4), within 30 calendar days.

(iv) PARENTAL PREFERENCE.—At the request of the parent, the IEP Team shall conduct a review under paragraph (4) of the child's multi-year IEP rather than a streamlined annual review under clause (ii).

(C) DEFINITION.—As used in this paragraph, the term "natural transition points" means those periods that are close in time to the transition of a child with a disability from preschool to elementary grades, from elementary grades to middle or junior high school grades, from middle or junior high school grades to high school grades, and from high school grades to post-secondary activities, but in no case longer than 3 years.

(6) FAILURE TO MEET TRANSITION OBJECTIVES.—If a participating agency, other than the local educational agency, fails to provide the transition services described in the IEP in accordance with paragraph (1)(A)(i)(VII), the local educational agency shall reconvene the IEP Team to identify alternative strategies to meet the transition objectives for the child set out in that program.

(7) CHILDREN WITH DISABILITIES IN ADULT PRISONS.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The following requirements do not apply to children with disabilities who are convicted as adults under State law and incarcerated in adult prisons:

(i) The requirements contained in section 612(a)(16) and paragraph (1)(A)(i)(V) of this subsection (relating to participation of children with disabilities in general assessments).

(ii) The requirements of items (aa) and (bb) of paragraph (1)(A)(i)(VII) of this subsection (relating to transition planning and transition services), do not apply with respect to such children whose eligibility under this part will end, because of their age, before they will be released from prison.

(B) ADDITIONAL REQUIREMENT.—If a child with a disability is convicted as an adult under State law and incarcerated in an adult prison, the child's IEP Team may modify the child's IEP or placement notwithstanding the requirements of sections 612(a)(5)(A) and 614(d)(1)(A) if the State has demonstrated a bona fide security or compelling penological interest that cannot otherwise be accommodated.

(e) EDUCATIONAL PLACEMENTS.—Each local educational agency or State educational agency shall ensure that the parents of each child with a disability are members of any group that makes decisions on the educational placement of their child.

(f) ALTERNATIVE MEANS OF MEETING PARTICIPATION.—When conducting IEP team meetings and placement meetings pursuant to this section and 615, the parent of a child with a disability and a local educational agency may agree to use alternative means of meeting participation, such as video conferences and conference calls.

SEC. 615. PROCEDURAL SAFEGUARDS.

[(a) ESTABLISHMENT OF PROCEDURES.—Any State educational agency, State agency, or local educational agency that receives assistance under this part shall establish and maintain procedures in accordance with this section to ensure that children with disabilities and their parents are guaranteed procedural safeguards with respect to the provision of free appropriate public education by such agencies.

[(b) TYPES OF PROCEDURES.—The procedures required by this section shall include—

[(1) an opportunity for the parents of a child with a disability to examine all records relating to such child and to participate in meetings with respect to the identification, evaluation, and educational placement of the child, and the provision of a free appropriate public education to such child, and to obtain an independent educational evaluation of the child;

[(2) procedures to protect the rights of the child whenever the parents of the child are not known, the agency cannot, after reasonable efforts, locate the parents, or the child is a ward of the State, including the assignment of an individual (who shall not be an employee of the State educational agency, the local educational agency, or any other agency that is involved in the education or care of the child) to act as a surrogate for the parents;

[(3) written prior notice to the parents of the child whenever such agency—

[(A) proposes to initiate or change; or

[(B) refuses to initiate or change;

the identification, evaluation, or educational placement of the child, in accordance with subsection (c), or the provision of a free appropriate public education to the child;

[(4) procedures designed to ensure that the notice required by paragraph (3) is in the native language of the parents, unless it clearly is not feasible to do so;

[(5) an opportunity for mediation in accordance with subsection (e);

[(6) an opportunity to present complaints with respect to any matter relating to the identification, evaluation, or educational placement of the child, or the provision of a free appropriate public education to such child;

[(7) procedures that require the parent of a child with a disability, or the attorney representing the child, to provide notice (which shall remain confidential)—

[(A) to the State educational agency or local educational agency, as the case may be, in the complaint filed under paragraph (6); and

[(ii) LIMITATIONS.—If a request is made for an evaluation of a child during the time period in which the child is subjected to disciplinary measures under paragraph (1) or (2), the evaluation shall be conducted in an expedited manner. [(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds the following:

【(1) States are responding with some success to multiple pressures to improve educational and transitional services and results for children with disabilities in response to growing demands imposed by ever-changing factors, such as demographics, social policies, and labor and economic markets.

【(2) In order for States to address such demands and to facilitate lasting systemic change that is of benefit to all students, including children with disabilities, States must involve local educational agencies, parents, individuals with disabilities and their families, teachers and other service providers, and other interested individuals and organizations in carrying out comprehensive strategies to improve educational results for children with disabilities.

【(3) Targeted Federal financial resources are needed to assist States, working in partnership with others, to identify and make needed changes to address the needs of children with disabilities into the next century.

【(4) State educational agencies, in partnership with local educational agencies and other individuals and organizations, are in the best position to identify and design ways to meet emerging and expanding demands to improve education for children with disabilities and to address their special needs.

【(5) Research, demonstration, and practice over the past 20 years in special education and related disciplines have built a foundation of knowledge on which State and local systemic-change activities can now be based.

【(6) Such research, demonstration, and practice in special education and related disciplines have demonstrated that an effective educational system now and in the future must—

【(A) maintain high academic standards and clear performance goals for children with disabilities, consistent with the standards and expectations for all students in the educational system, and provide for appropriate and effective strategies and methods to ensure that students who are children with disabilities have maximum opportunities to achieve those standards and goals;

【(B) create a system that fully addresses the needs of all students, including children with disabilities, by addressing the needs of children with disabilities in carrying out educational reform activities;

【(C) clearly define, in measurable terms, the school and post-school results that children with disabilities are expected to achieve;

【(D) promote service integration, and the coordination of State and local education, social, health, mental health, and other services, in addressing the full range of student needs, particularly the needs of children with disabilities who require significant levels of support to maximize their participation and learning in school and the community;

【(E) ensure that children with disabilities are provided assistance and support in making transitions as described in section 674(b)(3)(C);

【(F) promote comprehensive programs of professional development to ensure that the persons responsible for the education or a transition of children with disabilities possess the skills and knowledge necessary to address the educational and related needs of those children;

[(G) disseminate to teachers and other personnel serving children with disabilities research-based knowledge about successful teaching practices and models and provide technical assistance to local educational agencies and schools on how to improve results for children with disabilities;

[(H) create school-based disciplinary strategies that will be used to reduce or eliminate the need to use suspension and expulsion as disciplinary options for children with disabilities;

[(J) involve individuals with disabilities and parents of children with disabilities in planning, implementing, and evaluating systemic-change activities and educational reforms.

[Chapter 1—Improving Early Intervention, Educational, and Transitional Services and Results for Children with Disabilities through Coordinated Research and Personnel Preparation

[SEC. 671. FINDINGS AND PURPOSE.

[(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds the following:

[(1) The Federal Government has an ongoing obligation to support programs, projects, and activities that contribute to positive results for children with disabilities, enabling them—

educational standards that have been established for all children; and

[(B) to acquire the skills that will empower them to lead productive and independent adult lives.

[(2)(A) As a result of more than 20 years of Federal support for research, demonstration projects, and personnel preparation, there is an important knowledge base for improving results for children with disabilities.

[(B) Such knowledge should be used by States and local educational agencies to design and implement state-of-the-art educational systems that consider the needs of, and include, children with disabilities, especially in environments in which they can learn along with their peers and achieve results measured by the same standards as the results of their peers.

[(3)(A) Continued Federal support is essential for the development and maintenance of a coordinated and high-quality program of research, demonstration projects, dissemination of information, and personnel preparation.

[(B) Such support—

SEC. 651. FINDINGS.

The Congress finds the following:

(1) The Federal Government has an ongoing obligation to support activities that contribute to positive results for children with disabilities, enabling them to lead productive and independent adult lives.

(2) Systemic change benefiting all students, including children with disabilities, requires the involvement of States, local educational agencies, parents, individuals with disabilities and their families, teachers and other service providers, and other interested individuals and organizations, to develop and implement comprehensive strategies that improve educational results for children with disabilities.

(3) State educational agencies, in partnership with local educational agencies, parents of children with disabilities, and other individuals and organizations, are in the best position to improve education for children with disabilities and to address their special needs.

(4) An effective educational system serving students with disabilities should—

(A) maintain high academic standards and clear achievement goals for children, consistent with the standards and expectations for all students in the educational system, and provide for appropriate and effective strategies and methods to ensure that all children with disabilities have the opportunity to achieve those standards and goals;

(B) clearly define, in objective, measurable terms, the school and post-school results that children with disabilities are expected to achieve; and

(C) promote transition services, as described in section 602(31), and coordinate State and local education, social, health, mental health, and other services, to address the full range of student needs, particularly the needs of children with disabilities who need significant levels of support to participate and learn in school and the community.

(5) The availability of an adequate number of qualified personnel is critical in order to serve effectively children with disabilities, fill leadership positions in administrative and direct-service capacities, provide teacher training, and conduct high-quality research to improve special education.

(6) High-quality, comprehensive professional development programs are essential to ensure that the persons responsible for the education or transition of children with disabilities possess the skills and knowledge necessary to address the educational and related needs of those children.

(7) Models of professional development should be scientifically based and reflect successful practices, including strategies for recruiting, preparing, and retaining personnel.

(8) Continued support is essential for the development and maintenance of a coordinated and high-quality program of research to inform successful teaching practices and model curricula for educating children with disabilities.

(9) A comprehensive research agenda should be established and pursued to promote the highest quality and rigor in research on special education and related services, and to address the full range of issues facing children with disabilities, parents of children with disabilities, school personnel, and others.

(10) Technical assistance, support, and dissemination activities are necessary to ensure that parts B and C are fully implemented and achieve quality early intervention, educational, and transitional results for children with disabilities and their families.

(11) Parents, teachers, administrators, and related services personnel need technical assistance and information in a timely, coordinated, and accessible manner in order to improve early intervention, educational, and transitional services and results at the State and local levels for children with disabilities and their families.

(12) Parent training and information activities assist parents of a child with a disability in dealing with the multiple pressures of parenting such a child and are of particular importance in—

(A) creating and preserving constructive relationships between parents of children with disabilities and schools by facilitating open communication between such parents and schools, encouraging dispute resolution at the earliest point in time possible, and discouraging the escalation of an adversarial process between such parents and schools;

(B) ensuring the involvement of such parents in planning and decision-making with respect to early intervention, educational, and transitional services;

(C) achieving high-quality early intervention, educational, and transitional results for children with disabilities;

(D) providing such parents information on their rights, protections, and responsibilities under this Act to ensure improved early intervention, educational, and transitional results for children with disabilities;

(E) assisting such parents in the development of skills to participate effectively in the education and development of their children and in the transitions described in section 602(31);

(F) supporting the roles of such parents as participants within partnerships seeking to improve early intervention, educational, and transitional services and results for children with disabilities and their families; and

(G) supporting those parents who may have limited access to services and supports due to economic, cultural, or linguistic barriers.

(13) Support is needed to improve technological resources and integrate technology into the lives of children with disabilities, parents of children with disabilities, school personnel, and others through curricula, services, and assistive technologies.

MINORITY VIEWS

INTRODUCTION

The Committee reported a bill reauthorizing the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) that takes a giant step backward for children with disabilities and the schools that serve them. The bill does this by reneging on Congress' 28-year commitment to fully fund special education; eviscerating due process and discipline protections for children with disabilities, including restrictions on the ability of parents to seek legal representation when a violation of IDEA has occurred; failing to improve monitoring, enforcement, and implementation; and reducing protections for children with disabilities in the name of paperwork reduction.

Prior to the passage of the Education of all Handicapped Children Act (IDEA's predecessor) in 1975, many children with disabilities did not receive access to an education, and worse were denied any educational services at all. As a result of court decisions and Congressional action, schools were required to offer children with disabilities a free appropriate public education (FAPE). The provision of FAPE requires school districts to provide educational and related services necessary for children with disabilities to benefit from an education. The statutory requirement for FAPE was coupled with due process rights for parents of children with disabilities.

FAPE and due process rights have served as the foundation of IDEA. Unfortunately, H.R. 1350 has never been the subject of a hearing and has had very little public debate and input. Rather than rush this bill through the legislative process, we should be carefully considering the impact of proposed changes on the education of children with disabilities.

Full Funding of Special Education

The Committee reported bill actually reneges on Congress' commitment to fully fund special education.¹ Congress has promised this to school districts for 28 years. Congress has passed 22 bills and resolutions calling for full funding, many of these in the last seven years, but has never provided the required 40 percent. In addition, President Bush has requested a $1 billion increase for the last 2 budget cycles for the IDEA State grant program. At this rate of increase, Congress will never reach full funding—topping out at 34 percent of excess cost.

Rather than provide guaranteed resources through mandatory spending, as favored by Democratic Members, this bill caps the amount of funding that can be provided in any given year. The Committee reported bill would set annual caps on the amount that can be provided through discretionary appropriations. Under this construct, the Appropriations Committee would be constrained in reaching full funding.

Although we were very pleased that the Committee vote to increase the authorization for the Part B Grants to States program by $4.7 billion over two years, we are disappointed that the Woolsey-Van Hollen-McCollum amendment to make IDEA funding mandatory was defeated by the Committee on a party line vote. Unless funding is mandatory, authorization levels have little impact. Discretionary funding leaves IDEA competing for money with many other well deserving discretionary programs. In light of the failure of the Bush Administration and the Congressional Republican Leadership to fully fund the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB), we should ensure that IDEA funding is mandatory.

It was even more difficult to understand why several members on the Majority side did not support mandatory funding for IDEA. Six current Members on the Republican side of the Committee were co-sponsors of mandatory full funding IDEA bills in the 107th Congress. In fact, the text of H.R. 737 from the 107th Congress, a bill introduced by Representative Bass (R-NH), was also offered as an amendment to H.R. 1350 in order to give Republican Members the opportunity to vote on the exact bill they had cosponsored. Unfortunately, again, it was defeated on a party line vote.

Discipline

Of paramount importance among the protections in current law for children with disabilities, are those governing the discipline of children with disabilities. H.R. 1350 completely eviscerates those provisions and brings us back to the time when children with disabilities could be removed from the classroom or worse, refused a public education simply because they had disabilities.

Current law allows a school to suspend or expel a student with disabilities if he or she brings a weapon or drugs to school, or is found by a hearing officer to be likely to injure themselves or others. Education services must be provided for up to 45 days in an alternative setting. In addition, current law requires schools to determine if the infraction which caused the student to be suspended or expelled was a manifestation of his or her disability.

Even with these protections in current law, students with disabilities remain over-represented among students who are expelled from school. In addition, and possibly most troubling, children with disabilities who are minorities are significantly more likely to be suspended or expelled from school, than their majority peers. Despite these issues, H.R. 1350 eliminates almost all of the discipline protections in current law.

H.R. 1350 allows a school to suspend or expel a student with disabilities for any violation of a code of student conduct. A review of the codes of student conduct in schools across the country reveals them to be very sweeping. Depending on the school district, students can violate a code of student conduct for reasons such as coming to class late, loitering in the hall or on school property, or by not being neat and clean in person and attire. One code of student conduct requires students to keep the floor areas near his or her desk and locker free from litter.

This means that a student with Tourette's Syndrome who shouts out in class could be suspended or expelled. A student who lacks motor control and spills food or drink on himself could be suspended or expelled. Wearing shorts instead of long pants or not keeping the floor clean could also be reasons to remove a child with disabilities from school.

While the majority of schools would not dismiss a student for minor infractions of the code of conduct, IDEA was written for the very purpose of protecting students with disabilities. If every school eagerly embraced the education of students with disabilities, there would be no need for court cases, no need for IDEA. Unfortunately, that is not the case.

Once a student with disabilities is suspended or dismissed, H.R. 1350 makes it possible for the student to remain out of school for an indefinite period of time, depending on State law or regulation regarding the student's misconduct. A student could miss an entire semester, something from which it is difficult for any student to recover.

H.R. 1350 also eliminates the requirement that schools determine if the student's misconduct was a manifestation of his or her disability. Removing manifestation determinations and the requirements in current law regarding functional behavior assessments and behavioral intervention plans denies students with disabilities access to the most appropriate educational services and puts them at significantly greater risk for dropping out of school. Since the link between school dropouts and juvenile delinquency has been well proven, it is foolhardy to promote a federal policy that will lead to increases in juvenile delinquency.

Procedural Safeguards

H.R. 1350 makes significant changes to the due process rights that parents have in current law. Children with disabilities each have individual needs in order to take full advantage of educational opportunities. The due process procedures in IDEA are the only recourse parents have if they believe a school is not providing the services and support their child needs in order to learn.

H.R. 1350 gives parents only one year to exercise their due process rights after a violation under IDEA had occurred. Current law has no time limitation. Although we understand the need that schools have for some type of closure regarding their possible liability, one year is much too short. It is not unusual for parents to take a full year to realize the nature of their child's disability and to come to a full understanding of that child's needs. Parents should have at least three years in which to begin the complaint process if they do not think their child is being properly served under IDEA.

Once the due process procedure is under way, H.R. 1350 again imposes unreasonable limitations on the rights of parents. It prohibits parents from raising any issues at the due process hearing that were not raised in their original complaint, or brought up prior to the hearing. There are many reasons why parents might obtain new information just prior to the due process hearing which would have great bearing on their child's educational success. Certainly a hearing officer should be able to hear any issues the parents feel are pertinent to their child's ability to benefit from his or her educational setting and services, and make the decision as to whether or not an issue should be considered at the hearing.

In addition, H.R. 1350 imposes a new restriction on the freedom of hearing officers to make their own decisions. Under H.R. 1350, hearing officers are required to make their determination based only on whether or not a child has received a free and appropriate public education (FAPE). Although FAPE is certainly the key measure of a child's rights under IDEA, it is not the only measure. There may be other issues, including procedural issues, which affect children with disabilities and the hearing officer should be free to base his or her decision on whatever is relevant to the issues raised at the due process hearing.

During the full Committee mark-up, a provision was added to H.R. 1350 which would give Governors the authority to determine the reimbursement rates for attorneys who represent parents at IDEA due process proceedings. There is no question that this will limit access to knowledgeable and experienced legal representation by the people who need it the most—low income, inexperienced parents seeking to obtain the best education for their children with disabilities. This language should be removed from H.R. 1350.

Failure To Improve Monitoring, Enforcement, and Implementation

As with any law that is protecting the rights of a vulnerable population, IDEA needs strong monitoring and enforcement to be effective. Yet H.R. 1350 fails in this regard. Rather than statutorily authorize a monitoring and enforcement system that would ensure compliance with key provisions of the Act—child find, least restrictive environment, etc.—the Act duplicates the accountability system under the No Child Left Behind Act. In addition, the bill only provides for an accountability focus at the State level, failing to ensure that monitoring and enforcement takes place at the school district level.

One improvement that we are looking for as we review IDEA are ways to reduce litigation. Strong monitoring and enforcement provisions are key to keeping states and school districts out of court. We know that few, if any, states and school districts deliberately flout IDEA. Unfortunately, often the only way a school district's lack of compliance is discovered is when a parent pursues litigation. Strong monitoring and enforcement by the federal government and States provides for an opportunity to correct problems before families have to bring suit to get the services they are entitled to under law.

Reducing Protections for Children With Disabilities Through Paperwork Reduction

H.R. 1350 includes a pilot program that would allow ten states to submit plans to the Secretary of Education to reduce IDEA paperwork. We certainly agree that reduced paperwork is necessary. Teachers and support personnel should be able to focus their time and energies on actually working with children with disabilities. However, some paperwork is crucial to ensure IDEA's requirements are met.

The paperwork reduction pilot program in H.R. 1350 has absolutely no restrictions on what paperwork could be waived. Under this program as it is currently written, a state could propose to waive IEPs or due process notices as a way of reducing paperwork. Such broad discretion will only harm efforts to improve services for children with disabilities.

Amendments

Due to the overwhelming number of problems with this legislation, Democratic Members offered a series of amendments. Below is a description of these amendments and how the Committee acted upon them.

Ms. Woolsey, Mr. Van Hollen and Ms. McCollum offered an amendment to fully fund IDEA over a six year period by providing yearly mandatory spending increases of an additional $2.5 billion above the current level of discretionary funding. This amendment was defeated on a party line vote.

Ms. Woolsey, Mr. Van Hollen and Ms. McCollum offered another mandatory full funding amendment. This amendment included the exact text of a bipartisan mandatory full funding bill from the 107th Congress—H.R. 737, introduced by Representative Bass. Despite the fact that this legislation had 76 bipartisan cosponsors, including 6 Republican Members of this Committee, the amendment was defeated on a party line vote.

Mr. Tierney offered an amendment to restore the requirement for school districts to conduct a manifestation determination when a disciplinary action against a child with a disability is taken, including suspension or expulsion. As described above, this amendment, while not solving all problems with the discipline changes sought by H.R. 1350, is a critical component of the discipline protections for children with disabilities. Without a manifestation review, school districts will not be able to determine whether a child's actions are a result of his or her disability. This translates into punishing disabled children for behavior that is a result of their disability. Despite the fairness of the Tierney amendment, it was defeated on a party line vote.

Mr. Owens offered an amend to restore the Community Parent Resource Center program. This program, which was eliminated by the base bill, provides technical assistance and resources to parents of children with disabilities who are minorities. Long a forgotten population, children with disabilities who are minorities often face steeper challenges in securing appropriate services under IDEA. Fortunately, this amendment was adopted by voice vote, marking one of the few successes in this markup for Democratic Members.

Mr. Griljalva offered two amendments that would have strengthened data collection and services for children with disabilities who are limited English proficient. Mr. Griljalva's first amendment would have required the data collected by States under IDEA to include information on limited English proficient children. In addition, this amendment would have expanded the scope of the Secretary's ability to assess the education and transitional services offered to children with disabilities who are limited English proficient. This amendment was withdrawn with a commitment by the

Mr. Griljalva's second amendment would have ensured that the cultural and linguistic needs of children with disabilities who are limited English proficient were also addressed. This included a focus on ensuring that evaluation procedures and assessments and professional development opportunities are linguistically and culturally appropriate. This amendment was also withdrawn with a commitment by the Majority to work on addressing these priorities prior to floor action on the bill.

Mr. Wu offered an amendment to establish a new professional development program to ensure that professional development activities provide training in appropriate and early interventions to ensure identification of children with disabilities. This amendment was withdrawn with a commitment by the Majority to work on addressing these priorities prior to floor action on the bill.

Mr. Hinojosa offered several amendments to improve services for children with disabilities who are limited English proficient. The first amendment required the General Accounting Office to study how limited English proficient children are being served under IDEA. The second amendment expanded the areas of research under IDEA to include the special needs of limited English proficient students. The third amendment required school districts to cooperate with the migrant records transfer system established under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act. These amendments were accepted by voice vote.

Mr. Van Hollen offered an amendment to fully fund the No Child Left Behind Act (NCLB). With full funding of NCLB, schools would have significantly increased IDEA funds to help children with disabilities obtain their education. That amendment was also defeated on a party line vote.

Mr. Tierney and Mr. McCarthy offered an amendment to add "school nursing services" to the definition of "related services" under IDEA. This amendment was withdrawn with a commitment by the Majority to work on addressing these priorities prior to floor action on the bill.

Ms. Majette offered an amendment to require GAO to study the variation of State definitions and evaluation processes for the categories of "specific learning disability," "emotional disturbance," and "other health impairment." This amendment was accepted by voice vote.

Mr. Ryan offered an amendment to add the following services to the lists of services covered by the term "related services"; interpretation services, captioning services, CART services, and auditory-verbal therapy services. This amendment was withdrawn with a commitment by the Majority to work on addressing these priorities prior to floor action on the bill.

Ms. Susan Davis offered several amendments designed to address various issues in the bill. Two of these amendments were accepted. The amendments that were accepted would (1) remove the requirement for the IEP team to do a reevaluation upon graduation unless the IEP team was in disagreement; and (2) ensure that simply screening a child who has not yet been identified for services by a teacher or specialist doesn't constitute an evaluation under the Act.

Ms. Susan Davis also offered several other amendments that were withdrawn. The first amendment that would have required a State agency to reimburse a local educational agency that pays for services that otherwise would have paid for by another public agency in the State. This amendment was withdrawn when the Chairman, commenting that there was ongoing discussion about how best to seek reimbursement from other agencies, offered to work with her before the bill went to the floor. The second amendment would have mandated that parents go through mediation prior to receiving a due process hearing. The third amendment would have redefined the term "free appropriate public education" (FAPE). In redefining the term, the amendment would require special education and related services to be calculated to enable a child to access the general curriculum.

CONCLUSION

The vast majority of schools welcome children with disabilities as an integral part of their student body and work with parents, teachers, medical practitioners and support service personnel to provide these students with an appropriate education. Unfortunately, there continue to be children with disabilities who are denied the education they need, the education they deserve and are entitled to by law.

If H.R. 1350 becomes law, children with disabilities will be left far behind. H.R. 1350 does nothing to guarantee that the federal government will keep its commitment to fund forty percent of the Part B Grants to States. It does not address the shortage of qualified special education teachers in any meaningful way. Unqualified or under-qualified special education teachers are currently teaching more than 600,000 children with disabilities. And, by dramatically weakening both the discipline protections and due process rights in current law, H.R. 1350 makes it more likely that students with disabilities will be turned away from their neighborhood schools and segregated in alternative education settings that will lead them to drop out of school.

Students with disabilities make valuable contributions to their schools. Every student, both those with disabilities and those without, benefit when students with disabilities are educated alongside their peers. H.R. 1350 undermines the civil rights of students with disabilities and should not become law.
