THE AMENDMENT

The amendment is as follows:
Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

49–006
SECTION 1. SHORT TITLE.
This Act may be cited as the "Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act of 2006".

SEC. 2. PROHIBITION ON ACCEPTANCE OF ANY PAYMENT INSTRUMENT FOR UNLAWFUL INTERNET GAMBLING.
(a) IN GENERAL.—Chapter 53 of title 31, United States Code, is amended by adding at the end the following new subchapter:

"SUBCHAPTER IV—PROHIBITION ON FUNDING OF UNLAWFUL INTERNET GAMBLING"

§ 5361. Congressional findings and purpose
(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds the following:
(1) Internet gambling is primarily funded through personal use of payment system instruments, credit cards, and wire transfers.
(2) The National Gambling Impact Study Commission in 1999 recommended the passage of legislation to prohibit wire transfers to Internet gambling sites or the banks which represent such sites.
(3) Internet gambling is a growing cause of debt collection problems for insured depository institutions and the consumer credit industry.
(4) New mechanisms for enforcing gambling laws on the Internet are necessary because traditional law enforcement mechanisms are often inadequate for enforcing gambling prohibitions or regulations on the Internet, especially where such gambling crosses State or national borders.
(b) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—No provision of this subchapter shall be construed as altering, limiting, or extending any Federal or State law or Tribal-State compact prohibiting, permitting, or regulating gambling within the United States.

§ 5362. Definitions
For purposes of this subchapter, the following definitions shall apply:
(A) means the staking or risking by any person of something of value upon the outcome of a contest of others, a sporting event, or a game subject to chance, upon an agreement or understanding that the person or another person will receive something of value in the event of a certain outcome;
(B) includes the purchase of a chance or opportunity to win a lottery or other prize (which opportunity to win is predominantly subject to chance);
(C) includes any scheme of a type described in section 3702 of title 28;
(D) includes any instructions or information pertaining to the establishment or movement of funds by the bettor or customer in, to, or from an account with the business of betting or wagering; and

(ii) any transaction conducted on or subject to the rules of a registered entity or exempt board of trade under the Commodity Exchange Act;
(iii) any over-the-counter derivative instrument;
(iv) any other transaction that—
(I) is excluded or exempt from regulation under the Commodity Exchange Act; or
(II) is exempt from State gaming or bucket shop laws under section 12(e) of the Commodity Exchange Act or section 28(a) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934;
(v) any contract of indemnity or guarantee;
(vi) any contract for insurance;
(vii) any deposit or other transaction with an insured depository institution; or (viii) any participation in a fantasy or simulation sports game, an educational game, or a contest, that—
(I) is not dependent solely on the outcome of any single sporting event or nonparticipant’s singular individual performance in any single sporting event;
(II) has an outcome that reflects the relative knowledge of the participants, or their skill at physical reaction or physical manipulation (but not chance), and, in the case of a fantasy or simulation sports game, has an outcome that is determined predominantly by accumulated statistical results of sporting events, including any nonparticipant’s individual performances in such sporting events; and

PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 4411, the “Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act of 2006,” prohibits the acceptance of any bank instrument for unlawful Internet gambling. This legislation does not amend the Wire Act (Pub. L. No. 87–216). H.R. 4411 prohibits persons engaged in the business of betting or wagering from knowingly accepting credit, electronic fund transfers, checks, drafts, or similar instruments, or the proceeds of any other financial transaction in connection with unlawful Internet gambling.

H.R. 4411 does not prohibit any Internet gambling activity that complies with the Interstate Horseracing Act (Pub. L. No. 95–515). Nor does this legislation cover: (1) intrastate and intratribal transactions, provided that regulatory requirements are met and data security standards (e.g. age and location verification, within State or Indian lands); (2) fantasy sports; (3) financial transaction providers, interactive computer service or telecommunications service.

H.R. 4411 instructs the Treasury Secretary, in consultation with the Attorney General and Federal Reserve Board, to promulgate regulations directing banks and other members of the payment system to adopt policies and practices to identify and prevent restricted internet gambling transactions; and places enforcement of this section exclusively with the Federal Trade Commission, in a manner provided in section 5005(a) of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act.

The bill also creates a Federal cause of action for the benefit of Federal and State Attorneys General to prevent and restrain violations of the bill’s provisions, including injunctions and temporary restraining orders under rule 65 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. Furthermore, H.R. 4411 limits relief against an interactive computer service to removal of, or disabling access to, an online site violating the Act. H.R. 4411 sets a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment under title 18 of the U.S. Code, and a permanent injunction against activity related to betting or wagering for violations.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR THE LEGISLATION

Gambling on the Internet has increasingly become an extremely lucrative business. The explosive growth of this industry has been in both gambling websites and in industry revenues. Internet gambling is now estimated to be a $12 billion industry, with approximately $6 billion coming from bettors based in the United States. It has been reported that there are as many as 2,300 gambling sites.

The booming industry of offshore websites accepting bets and wagers from persons located in the United States raises a number of social and criminal concerns related to Internet gambling. The Internet’s ease of accessibility and anonymous nature: (1) make it difficult to prevent underage gambling; and (2) feed on the compulsive behavior of the millions of Americans suffering from gambling addiction. Worldwide Internet gambling sites offer organized crime groups another avenue to launder the proceeds of their criminal activity, and assist in the facilitation of crimes.

As a general rule, Congress has found that:

(1) the States should have the primary responsibility for determining what forms of gambling may legally take place within their borders; and

(2) the Federal government should prevent interference by one State with the gambling policies of another, and should act to protect identifiable national interests. (Title 15 U.S.C. 57, Sec. 3001.)

Although the separate States generally regulate gambling, the Federal government has in limited circumstances proscribed certain gambling activities.
In 1961, Congress enacted the “Interstate Wire Communications Act”, 18 U.S.C. §1084, (Pub. L. No. 87–216) which prohibits any person who is “engaged in the business of betting or wagering” from “knowingly using a wire communication facility for the transmission in interstate or foreign commerce of bets or wagers, or information assisting in the placing of bets or wagers on any sporting event or contest.” The Act also grants State and local law enforcement agencies the power to direct a communication service provider (“common carrier”) to disconnect any persons who are using communication facilities to transmit gambling information. Violations of this Act can result in imprisonment for not more than two years, a fine, or both.

Also in 1961, Congress passed the “Travel Act”, 18 U.S.C. §1952, (Pub. L. No. 87–228), which makes it illegal to “travel in interstate or foreign commerce or use the mail or any facility in interstate or foreign commerce, with intent to (1) distribute the proceeds of any unlawful activity; or (2) commit any crime of violence to further any unlawful activity; or (3) otherwise promote, manage, establish, carry on, or facilitate the promotion, management, establishment, or carrying on, of any unlawful activity.” An unlawful activity is defined as, among other things, any business involving gambling committed in violation of State or Federal laws.

In 1970, Congress enacted 18 U.S.C. §1955, the “Prohibition of Illegal Gambling Business Act.” This section provides for imprisonment of not more than five years for any person who “conducts, finances, manages, supervises, directs or owns all or part of an illegal gambling business.” An “illegal gambling business” is defined as a gambling business which is (1) in violation of State law; (2) involves five or more persons; and (3) has been or remains in substantially continuous operation for a period in excess of thirty days or has a gross revenue of $2,000 in any single day.

However, there are specific Federal laws which allow interstate gambling. For example, the “Interstate Horseracing Act” 15 U.S.C. §§3001–3007, (Pub. L. No. 95–515) was enacted in 1978, permitting interstate off-track wagers under certain specified conditions. In 1988, Congress enacted the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act, 25 U.S.C. §2701, (“IGRA”) (Pub. L. No. 100–497), allowing casinos to be built on Indian reservations.

H.R. 4411 was introduced by Representative Leach on November 18, 2005. The bill has 35 cosponsors. The bill was referred to the Committee on Financial Services, and then to the Subcommittee on Financial Institutions and Consumer Credit. The Full Financial Services Committee held a markup on March 15, 2006. Mr. Leach offered an amendment in the nature of a substitute, which included both technical and substantive changes. The bill was reported favorably via voice vote. On April 6, 2006 the bill was referred sequentially, until May 26, 2006, to the Committee on the Judiciary.

HEARINGS

The Committee on the Judiciary held no hearings on H.R. 4411, the “Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act of 2006.”
COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION

On May 25, 2006, the Committee met in open session and ordered favorably reported the bill H.R. 4411, as amended, by voice vote, a quorum being present.

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

In compliance with clause 3(c)(3) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee sets forth, with respect to the bill H.R. 4411, the following estimate and comparison prepared by the Congressional Budget Office pursuant to section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

MAY 26, 2006.

Hon. F. JAMES SENSENBERN, Jr.,
Chairman, Committee on the Judiciary, House of Representatives,
Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for H.R. 4411, the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act of 2006.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Kathleen Gramp.

Sincerely,

DONALD B. MARRON,
Acting Director.

Enclosure.

H.R. 4411—Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act of 2006

Summary: H.R. 4411 would prohibit businesses from accepting credit cards, checks, or other bank instruments from gamblers who illegally bet over the Internet. It also would direct the Department of Treasury and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System (the Federal Reserve) to issue regulations outlining policies and procedures that could be used by financial institutions to identify and block gambling-related transactions that are transmitted through their payment systems. Compliance with those prohibitions and regulations would be enforced by various federal agencies as well as state governments, and violations would be subject to new civil remedies and criminal penalties. Finally, the bill would require the Secretary of the Treasury to report annually to the Congress on any international deliberations regarding Internet gambling.

Assuming appropriation of the necessary amounts, CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 4411 would cost about $2 million over the 2007–2011 period. Enacting the bill would affect direct spending and revenues, but CBO estimates that the net impact on direct spending and revenues would not be significant in any year.

H.R. 4411 contains intergovernmental mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

H.R. 4411 would impose mandates, as defined in UMRA, on financial institution and other financial transaction providers. Because the cost of the mandates would depend on regulations to be prescribed under the bill, CBO cannot determine whether the direct cost to comply with those mandates would exceed the annual threshold established by UMRA for private-sector mandates ($128 million in 2006, adjusted annually for inflation).

Estimated cost to the Federal Government. The estimated budgetary impact of H.R. 4411 is shown in the following table. The costs of this legislation fall within budget function 370 (commerce and housing credit).

Basis of estimate: For this estimate, CBO assumes that H.R. 4411 will be enacted near the end of fiscal year 2006 and that funds will be appropriated for the activities authorized by the bill.

Spending subject to appropriation

Based on information from the Department of the Treasury and other affected agencies, CBO estimates that implementing this bill would cost about $2 million over the 2007–2011 period, assuming appropriation of the necessary amounts. That estimate primarily reflects the cost of developing regulations to identify and block financial transactions related to illegal Internet gambling. The cost of preparing annual reports to the Congress on international deliberations on this issue would not be significant. Spending by the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission to enforce certain provisions in the bill would likely be negligible in any given year, CBO estimates.

Direct spending and revenues

Enacting H.R. 4411 would affect direct spending and revenues because of provisions affecting financial regulatory agencies and criminal penalties. CBO estimates that such effects would not be significant.

H.R. 4411 would direct financial regulatory agencies to enforce the regulations on illegal Internet gambling as they apply to financial institutions, including Office of the Comptroller of the Currency (OCC), Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC), the Federal Reserve, the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA), and the Office of Thrift Supervision (OTS). Any additional direct spending by NCUA, OCC, and OTS to implement the bill would have no net budgetary impact because those agencies charge annual fees to cover all of their administrative expenses. In contrast, the FDIC’s sources of income—primarily intragovernmental interest earnings and deposit insurance premiums—do not change in tandem within its annual expenditures; as a result, any added costs would increase direct spending unless and until the FDIC raised deposit insurance premiums to offset those expenses. Budgetary effects on the Federal Reserve are recorded as changes in revenues.

According to financial regulatory agency officials, enacting H.R. 4411 would not have a significant effect on their workload or budgets. For this estimate, CBO assumes that the FDIC would not assess additional premiums to cover the small costs associated with implementing this bill. Thus, CBO estimates that enacting this bill would increase direct spending and offsetting receipts of the NCUA, OCC, OTS, and FDIC by less than $500,000 a year. Based on information from the Federal Reserve, CBO estimates that the rulemaking and enforcement activities required by H.R. 4411 would reduce revenues by less than $500,000 a year.

Because those prosecuted and convicted under the bill could be subject to criminal penalties, the federal government might collect additional fines if the bill is enacted. Collections of such fines are recorded in the budget as revenues, which are deposited in the Crime Victims Fund and spent in subsequent years. Any additional collections are likely to be negligible because of the small number of cases involved. Because any increase in direct spending would equal the amount of fines collected (with a lag of one year or more), the additional direct spending also would be significant.

Estimated impact on state, local, and tribal governments: Although H.R. 4411 would prohibit gambling businesses from accepting credit card payments and other bank instruments from gamblers who bet illegally over the Internet, the bill would not create a new intergovernmental mandate as defined in UMRA. Under current federal and state law, gambling businesses are generally prohibited from accepting bet or wagers over the Internet. Thus, H.R. 4411 does not contain a new mandate relative to current law and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

Estimated impact on the private sector: H.R. 4411 would impose mandates, as defined in UMRA, on financial institutions and other financial transaction providers. Because the cost of the mandates would depend on regulations to be prescribed under the bill, CBO cannot determine whether the direct cost to comply with those mandates would exceed the annual threshold established by UMRA for private-sector mandates ($128 million in 2006, adjusted annually for inflation).
The bill would require the Secretary of Treasury and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, in consultation with the Attorney General, to prescribe regulations that would require financial transaction providers to identify and block restricted transactions in connection with unlawful Internet gambling through the establishment of reasonable policies and procedures. Such requirements would impose private-sector mandates on certain financial entities. Under the bill, the term “financial transaction providers” means creditors, credit card issuers, financial institutions, or other payment networks that utilize a designated payment system. Such systems would be determined by regulation.

The cost for financial transaction providers to comply with those mandates would depend on the regulations to be prescribed. Information from representatives of the financial services industry indicates that certain electronic transactions can currently be identified and blocked through the use of a coding system. If the regulations apply only to those transactions, based on information from industry and government sources, CBO expects that the cost of the mandates would fall below UMRA’s annual threshold. However, if the regulations also include the requirement for banks to identify and block checks or other bank instruments used in a restricted transaction, the direct cost to comply with the mandates could increase significantly and CBO has no basis to estimate whether those costs would be above or below the annual threshold.

Although section 2 would prohibit gambling businesses from accepting credit card payments and other bank instruments from gamblers who bet illegally over the Internet, those provisions would not create a new private-sector mandate, as defined in UMRA. Under current federal and state law, gambling businesses are generally prohibited from accepting bets or wagers over the Internet. Thus, those provisions do not contain a new mandate relative to current law.

Previous estimates: On March 30, 2006, CBO transmitted a cost estimate for H.R. 4411, the Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act of 2006, as ordered reported by the House Committee on Financial Services on March 15, 2006. The two bills are virtually identical and the estimated costs are the same.

Estimate approved by: Peter H. Fontaine, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

PERFORMANCE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

The Committee states that pursuant to clause 3(c)(4) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, H.R. 4411 is to prevent the use of certain payment instruments, credit cards, and fund transfers for unlawful Internet gambling, and for other purposes.
CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY STATEMENT

Pursuant to clause 3(d)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee finds the authority for this legislation in art. I, § 8 of the Constitution.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS AND DISCUSSION

The following discussion describes the bill as reported by the Committee on the Judiciary.

Section 1. Short title
This section would provide that this legislation may be cited as the “Unlawful Internet Gambling Enforcement Act of 2006.”

Section 2. Prohibition on acceptance of any payment instrument for unlawful Internet gambling Subsection (a) adds a new “Subchapter IV—Prohibition on Funding of Unlawful Internet Gambling” to Chapter 53 of Title 31 (Monetary Transactions). The new subchapter will come immediately after subchapter III, covering money laundering and related financial crimes.

SECTION 5361. CONGRESSIONAL FINDINGS AND PURPOSE

(a) Findings. The Congressional findings note that: (1) Internet gambling is primarily funded through the personal use of payment system instruments, credit cards, and wire transfers; (2) the National Gambling Impact Study Commission in 1999 recommended the passage of legislation to prohibit wire transfers to Internet gambling sites or the banks which represent such sites; (3) Internet gambling is a growing cause of debt collection problems for insured depository institutions and the consumer credit industry; and (4) new mechanisms for enforcing gambling laws on the Internet are necessary because traditional law enforcement mechanisms are often inadequate for enforcing gambling prohibitions on the Internet, especially where such gambling crosses State or national borders.

(b) Rule of Construction. No provision is to be construed as altering, limiting, or extending any Federal or State law or Tribal-State compact prohibiting, permitting or regulating gambling within the United States.

SECTION 5362. DEFINITIONS

This defines the term “bet or wager” as the staking or risking by any person of something of value upon the outcome of a contest of others, a sporting event, or a game subject to chance with the agreement that the winner will receive something of value in the event of a certain outcome. This subsection clarifies that ‘bet or wager’ does not include bona fide business transactions such as securities trading or buying or selling insurance contracts, or participation in a simulation sports game or educational game.

Defines the term “unlawful Internet gambling” as placing, receiving, or transmitting a bet or wager by any means which involves the use of the Internet, where such bet or wager is unlawful under any applicable Federal or State law in the State or Tribal lands in which the bet or wager is initiated, received, or otherwise made.
Clarifies that purely intrastate transactions conducted in accordance with State laws with appropriate security controls will not be considered unlawful internet gambling. Likewise, transactions solely within Tribal lands complying with similar security requirements and the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act will not be considered unlawful. Section 5362(10)(D) addresses transactions complying with Interstate Horseracing Act (Pub. L. No. 95–515) (IHA) which will not be considered unlawful, because the IHA only regulates legal transactions that are lawful in each of the states involved. This section also clarifies that intermediate routing of data packets does not determine the location in which bets or wagers are made.

Section 5362 also defines the terms “business of betting or wagering,” “designated payment system,” “Internet,” and “restricted transaction.” Several additional terms are defined by reference to other sections of the U.S. Code.

SECTION 5363. PROHIBITION ON ACCEPTANCE OF ANY FINANCIAL INSTRUMENT FOR UNLAWFUL INTERNET GAMBLING

Prohibits persons engaged in the business of betting or wagering from knowingly accepting credit, funds, bank instruments, or proceeds of any other form of financial transaction in connection with the participation of another person in unlawful Internet gambling. This is called a “restricted transaction” according to the definitions section.

SECTION 5364. POLICIES AND PROCEDURES TO IDENTIFY AND PREVENT RESTRICTED TRANSACTIONS

(a) Regulations and (b) Requirements for Policies and procedures. Requires the Secretary of the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board, in conjunction with the United States Attorney General, to prescribe regulations within nine months requiring any payment system to establish policies and procedures reasonably designed to identify and block restricted transactions, or otherwise prevent restricted transactions from entering its system, including transactions that are in violation of the Wire Act.

(c) Compliance and (d) Liability. Provides persons operating financial systems with immunity from civil liability for blocking transactions that they reasonably believe are restricted transactions, or in reliance on the regulations promulgated by the Treasury Department and Federal Reserve. Though a financial institution may block additional transactions based on reasonable belief, it has no duty to do so, and may rely solely on the regulations to fully discharge its obligations.

(e) Enforcement. The Federal functional regulators and the Federal Trade Commission are given the exclusive authority to enforce this section.

SECTION 5365. CIVIL REMEDIES

Authorizes the United States Attorney General and State Attorneys General to pursue civil remedies, including a preliminary injunction or injunction against any person to prevent or restrain a violation of this legislation. It clarifies that the bill does not alter, supersede or otherwise affect the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act; generally limits responsibility of an interactive computer service to the removal or disabling of access to an online site violating this section, upon proper notice; restricts the ability to bring injunctive cases against financial transaction provider activities.

SECTION 5366. CRIMINAL PENALTIES

Authorizes criminal penalties, under title 18 of the U.S. Code, for violating section 5363, including fines or imprisonment for not more than five years or both. Also authorizes permanently enjoining a person convicted under this section from engaging in gambling activities.

SECTION 5367. CIRCUMVENTIONS PROHIBITED

Provides that, notwithstanding the safe harbor provided in section 5362(2), a financial intermediary or interactive computer service or telecommunications service that has actual knowledge and control of bets and wagers, and operates or is controlled by an entity that operates, an unlawful Internet gambling site can be held criminally liable under this subchapter.

Section 4. Internet gambling in or through foreign jurisdictions

Section 4(a) provides that, in deliberations between the United States government and any other country on money laundering, corruption, and crime issues, the United States government should encourage cooperation by foreign governments in identifying whether Internet gambling operations are being used for money laundering, corruption, or other crimes, advance policies that promote the cooperation by foreign governments in the enforcement of this Act, and encourage the Financial Action Task Force on Money Laundering to study the extent to which Internet gambling operations are being used for money laundering. It also requires the Secretary of the Treasury to submit an annual report to Congress on the deliberations between the United States and other countries on issues relating to Internet gambling.

Subsection (b) requires the Secretary of the Treasury to submit an annual report to Congress on any deliberations between the United States and other countries on issues relating to Internet Gambling.

§ 5361. Congressional findings and purpose

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds the following:

(1) Internet gambling is primarily funded through personal use of payment system instruments, credit cards, and wire transfers.

(2) The National Gambling Impact Study Commission in 1999 recommended the passage of legislation to prohibit wire transfers to Internet gambling sites or the banks which represent such sites.

(3) Internet gambling is a growing cause of debt collection problems for insured depository institutions and the consumer credit industry.

(4) New mechanisms for enforcing gambling laws on the Internet are necessary because traditional law enforcement mechanisms are often inadequate for enforcing gambling prohibitions or regulations on the Internet, especially where such gambling crosses State or national borders.

(b) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—No provision of this subchapter shall be construed as altering, limiting, or extending any Federal or State law or Tribal-State compact prohibiting, permitting, or regulating gambling within the United States.

§ 5362. Definitions

For purposes of this subchapter, the following definitions shall apply:

(1) BET OR WAGER.—The term “bet or wager”—

   (vi) any contract for insurance;
   (vii) any deposit or other transaction with an insured depository institution; or

      (I) is not dependent solely on the outcome of any single sporting event or nonparticipant’s singular individual performance in any single sporting event;
      (II) has an outcome that reflects the relative knowledge of the participants, or their skill at physical reaction or physical manipulation (but not chance), and, in the case of a fantasy or simulation sports game, has an outcome that is determined predominantly by accumulated statistical results of sporting events, including any nonparticipant’s individual performances in such sporting events; and

No person engaged in the business of betting or wagering may knowingly accept, in connection with the participation of another person in unlawful Internet gambling—
(1) credit, or the proceeds of credit, extended to or on behalf of such other person (including credit extended through the use of a credit card);
(2) an electronic fund transfer, or funds transmitted by or through a money transmitting business, or the proceeds of an electronic fund transfer or money transmitting service, from or on behalf of such other person;
(3) any check, draft, or similar instrument which is drawn by or on behalf of such other person and is drawn on or payable at or through any financial institution; or
(4) the proceeds of any other form of financial transaction, as the Secretary and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System may jointly prescribe by regulation, which involves a financial institution as a payor or financial intermediary on behalf of or for the benefit of such other person.

§ 5364. Policies and procedures to identify and prevent restricted transactions

(a) REGULATIONS.—Before the end of the 270-day period beginning on the date of the enactment of this subchapter, the Secretary and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System, in consultation with the Attorney General, shall prescribe regulations
(which the Secretary and the Board jointly determine to be appropriate) requiring each designated payment system, and all participants therein, to identify and block or otherwise prevent or prohibit restricted transactions through the establishment of policies and procedures reasonably designed to identify and block or otherwise prevent or prohibit the acceptance of restricted transactions in any of the following ways:

1. The establishment of policies and procedures that—
   (A) allow the payment system and any person involved in the payment system to identify restricted transactions by means of codes in authorization messages or by other means;
   (B) block restricted transactions identified as a result of the policies and procedures developed pursuant to subparagraph (A); and
   (C) block transactions that are in violation of section 1084 of title 18.

2. The establishment of policies and procedures that prevent or prohibit the acceptance of the products or services of the payment system in connection with a restricted transaction.

(b) REQUIREMENTS FOR POLICIES AND PROCEDURES.—In prescribing regulations under subsection (a), the Secretary and the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System shall—

1. identify types of policies and procedures, including non-exclusive examples, which would be deemed, as applicable, to be reasonably designed to identify and block or otherwise prevent or prohibit the acceptance of the products or services with respect to each type of restricted transaction;

2. to the extent practical, permit any participant in a payment system to choose among alternative means of identifying and blocking, or otherwise preventing or prohibiting the acceptance of the products or services of the payment system or participant in connection with, restricted transactions; and

3. consider exempting certain restricted transactions or designated payment systems from any requirement imposed under such regulations, if the Secretary and the Board jointly find that it is not reasonably practical to identify and block, or otherwise prevent or prohibit the acceptance of, such transactions.

(c) COMPLIANCE WITH PAYMENT SYSTEM POLICIES AND PROCEDURES.—A financial transaction provider shall be considered to be in compliance with the regulations prescribed under subsection (a), if—

1. such person relies on and complies with the policies and procedures of a designated payment system of which it is a member or participant to—
   (A) identify and block restricted transactions; or
   (B) otherwise prevent or prohibit the acceptance of the products or services of the payment system, member, or participant in connection with restricted transactions; and

2. such policies and procedures of the designated payment system comply with the requirements of regulations prescribed under subsection (a).

(d) NO LIABILITY FOR BLOCKING OR REFUSING TO HONOR RESTRICTED TRANSACTIONS.—A person that identifies and blocks a transaction, prevents or prohibits the acceptance of its products or services in connection with a transaction, or otherwise refuses to honor a transaction—

(2) that such person reasonably believes to be a restricted transaction; or

(3) as a designated payment system or a member of a designated payment system in reliance on the policies and procedures of the payment system, in an effort to comply with regulations prescribed under subsection (a), shall not be liable to any party for such action.

(e) REGULATORY ENFORCEMENT.—The requirements of this section shall be enforced exclusively by—

(1) the Federal functional regulators, with respect to the designated payment systems and financial transaction providers subject to the respective jurisdiction of such regulators under section 505(a) of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act and section 5g of the Commodities Exchange Act; and

(2) the Federal Trade Commission, with respect to designated payment systems and financial transaction providers not otherwise subject to the jurisdiction of any Federal functional regulators (including the Commission) as described in paragraph (1).

§ 5365. Civil remedies

(a) JURISDICTION.—The district courts of the United States shall have original and exclusive jurisdiction to prevent and restrain restricted transactions by issuing appropriate orders in accordance with this section, regardless of whether a prosecution has been initiated under this subchapter.

(b) PROCEEDINGS.—

(1) INSTITUTION BY FEDERAL GOVERNMENT.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The United States, acting through the Attorney General, may institute proceedings under this section to prevent or restrain a restricted transaction.

(B) RELIEF.—Upon application of the United States under this paragraph, the district court may enter a temporary restraining order, a preliminary injunction, or an injunction against any person to prevent or restrain a restricted transaction, in accordance with rule 65 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

(2) INSTITUTION BY STATE ATTORNEY GENERAL.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—The attorney general (or other appropriate State official) of a State in which a restricted transaction allegedly has been or will be initiated, received, or otherwise made may institute proceedings under this section to prevent or restrain the violation or threatened violation.

(B) RELIEF.—Upon application of the attorney general (or other appropriate State official) of an affected State under this paragraph, the district court may enter a temporary restraining order, a preliminary injunction, or an injunction against any person to prevent or restrain a restricted transaction, in accordance with rule 65 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

(3) INDIAN LANDS.—
(A) IN GENERAL.—Notwithstanding paragraphs (1) and (2), for a restricted transaction that allegedly has been or will be initiated, received, or otherwise made on Indian lands (as that term is defined in section 4 of the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act)—

(i) the United States shall have the enforcement authority provided under paragraph (1); and

(ii) the enforcement authorities specified in an applicable Tribal-State compact negotiated under section 11 of the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act (25 U.S.C. 2710) shall be carried out in accordance with that compact.

(B) RULE OF CONSTRUCTION.—No provision of this section shall be construed as altering, superseding, or otherwise affecting the application of the Indian Gaming Regulatory Act.

(c) LIMITATION RELATING TO INTERACTIVE COMPUTER SERVICES.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Relief granted under this section against an interactive computer service shall—

(A) be limited to the removal of, or disabling of access to, an online site violating section 5363, or a hypertext link to an online site violating such section, that resides on a computer server that such service controls or operates, except that the limitation in this subparagraph shall not apply if the service is subject to liability under this section under section 5367;

(B) be available only after notice to the interactive computer service and an opportunity for the service to appear are provided;

(C) not impose any obligation on an interactive computer service to monitor its service or to affirmatively seek facts indicating activity violating this subchapter;

(D) specify the interactive computer service to which it applies; and

(E) specifically identify the location of the online site or hypertext link to be removed or access to which is to be disabled.

(2) COORDINATION WITH OTHER LAW.—An interactive computer service that does not violate this subchapter shall not be liable under section 1084(d) of title 18, except that the limitation in this paragraph shall not apply if an interactive computer service has actual knowledge and control of bets and wagers and—

(A) operates, manages, supervises, or directs an Internet website at which unlawful bets or wagers may be placed, received, or otherwise made or at which unlawful bets or wagers are offered to be placed, received, or otherwise made; or

(B) owns or controls, or is owned or controlled by, any person who operates, manages, supervises, or directs an Internet website at which unlawful bets or wagers may be placed, received, or otherwise made, or at which unlawful bets or wagers are offered to be placed, received, or otherwise made.

(d) LIMITATION ON INJUNCTIONS AGAINST REGULATED PERSONS.—Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, and subject to section 5367, no provision of this subchapter shall be construed as authorizing the Attorney General of the United States, or the attorney general (or other appropriate State official) of any State to institute proceedings to prevent or restrain a restricted transaction against any financial transaction provider, to the extent that the person is acting as a financial transaction provider.

§ 5366. Criminal penalties

(a) IN GENERAL.—Whoever violates section 5363 shall be fined under title 18, or imprisoned for not more than 5 years, or both.

(b) PERMANENT INJUNCTION.—Upon conviction of a person under this section, the court may enter a permanent injunction enjoining such person from placing, receiving, or otherwise making bets or wagers or sending, receiving, or inviting information assisting in the placing of bets or wagers.
