I. PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

It is the purpose of S. 525, the Caring for Children Act of 2005 to renew, improve, and strengthen the Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990 for the next 5 years. The Caring for Children Act of 2005 is designed to maintain State flexibility and improve access to high quality child care for low income working families.

II. BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

The current system of child care assistance, which is supported by Federal, State, and local funds, is largely a result of Federal legislative activity over the last 16 years. In 1988, the Family Support Act, which at the time represented groundbreaking legislation to reform the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program, for the first time provided a child care entitlement for families on welfare. Originated by the Senate Finance Committee, the Family Support Act created a child care entitlement for AFDC parents who were working, enrolled in job training, or enrolled in an educational program, and for parents needing transitional child care assistance for 12 months after leaving welfare (Transitional Child Care or TCC).

In 1990, two more child care programs were created: the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) program under the jurisdiction of the Senate Labor Committee (now renamed the Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions Committee), and the title IV–A At Risk Child Care program under the jurisdiction of the Senate Finance Committee. Both of these programs were designed to help low income working families, and CCDBG was designed to improve the quality of child care as well. Unlike the Family Support Act child care programs, these two new programs were block grants to the States (not individual entitlements) and were not designed to assist welfare families.

In 1996, the four Federal child care programs (the AFDC child care entitlement, the Transitional Child Care entitlement, the IV–A At Risk Child Care program and the Child Care and Development Block Grant) were consolidated under the Personal Responsibility and Work Opportunity Reconciliation Act (PRWORA). The Act eliminated the entitlement to child care assistance for parents receiving welfare and for those transitioning from welfare to work. The three Finance Committee programs were consolidated into one funding stream referred to as mandatory funding because the funding is specified in law and does not need to compete against other funding in the regular appropriations process. Funding for the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) remained under the jurisdiction of the Senate Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions (HELP) Committee and was retained as a discretionary program.

CHILD CARE FUNDING

Since funding for child care is made through a combination of discretionary and mandatory funding, the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) refers to the combined funding streams as the Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF). Since 1988, funding for child care has grown dramatically. Federal child care spending through the CCDF has increased by over 200 percent since 1996. However, in the absence of Temporary Assistance for Needy Families (TANF) reauthorization which has been extended 10 times over the last 4 years, funds for child care have not been increased since fiscal year 2002. Discretionary funding for CCDBG is $2.1 billion for fiscal year 2005. Mandatory funding is set at $2.7 billion, for a total of $4.8 billion in direct Federal spending for fiscal year 2005. HHS estimates that about 2.3 million children receive child care assistance today.

In addition to Federal dollars provided through mandatory and discretionary funding, States currently may transfer up to 30 percent of their TANF block grant to CCDBG. In fiscal year 2003, States transferred $1.9 billion to the block grant.

States also may spend additional TANF money directly on child care services outside of the CCDBG. In fiscal year 2003, States reported spending $1.7 billion of their TANF grants for child care directly within the TANF program. From 1996 through 2000 TANF direct expenditures for child care doubled. In fiscal year 2000 TANF direct child care funding was at an all time high of $2.2 billion. However, since 2001 spending has been stagnant at the $1.6 billion to $1.7 billion range.

Expenditure data show that in fiscal year 2003, States spent more than $9 billion in Federal and State money from the Child Care and Development Block Grant (this amount includes spending from the TANF transfers to the CCDBG). In addition, States spent over $2 billion on child care within the TANF system. Therefore, in total, over $11 billion was spent on child care through the CCDBG and TANF in fiscal year 2003 (of which $8.9 billion were Federal funds).

As a result of the CCDF, TANF, and Social Services Block Grant (SSBG) spending for child care services, 2.3 million children are estimated to have received child care assistance in fiscal year 2004.

States may use CCDBG, TANF and the SSBG Grants to directly support child care for low-income families. Other Federal programs also provide funds for early childhood development and targeted assistance for children. These include Head Start (funded at $6.8 billion in fiscal year 2005), the Child and Adult Care Food Program ($2.1 billion), the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) preschool and infant/toddler grants ($826 million), and, for after-school and weekend activities for school age children, the 21st Century Community Learning Centers ($991 million). In total, combined annual funding for child care, early education and targeted assistance programs is estimated by HHS to exceed $19 billion.

ASSISTANCE FOR LOW-INCOME WORKING FAMILIES

Between June 1996 and June 2004, the welfare caseload dropped by 2.3 million families. The majority of welfare leavers are now employed. The share of TANF families working or participating in work-related activities while receiving TANF was 626,000 in Fiscal Year 2003 (the most recent year for which data are available). Between 1996 and 2004, the number of working single mothers grew from 6.3 million to 7.3 million. And, according to Congressional Research Service, estimates based on analysis of U.S. Census data, the employment rate for single mothers was 63.5 percent in 1996, and has increased to 70 percent in 2004. Many of these parents need child care assistance to stay employed.

The committee believes that the challenge for Congress this year is to build on the 1996 welfare reform law—by putting even more Americans on the path to self-reliance. The increase in the number of women participating in the labor force, and the number of these women who are the sole or primary financial supporters of their children are the most important factors affecting the demand for child care.

Increasingly, the affect of child care on children also has become a significant public issue. Research in the field of child development demonstrates that low-income children can benefit from child care with an early childhood development focus. Therefore, the quality of child care available is important so that all young children are developmentally prepared to enter and succeed in school. The Caring for Children Act strengthens the Federal commitment to foster quality environments and early learning experiences for young children.

Concerns about the supply, quality and affordability of child care for many low-income families led to a national debate over the nature and extent of the Nation's child care problems and what, if any, Federal intervention would be appropriate. Federal lawmakers recognized the need to ensure that parents have an affordable choice and access to child care so that parents participate in the workforce.

III. LEGISLATIVE HISTORY AND COMMITTEE ACTION

On March 3, 2005, Senators Alexander, Dodd, Enzi, Kennedy, Hatch, and Roberts, introduced S. 525, the Caring for Children Act of 2005. On March 9, 2005, the committee met in Executive Session to consider the Caring for Children Act of 2005. Senator Enzi offered an amendment as a complete substitute and it was agreed to unanimously by all members present.

IV. EXPLANATION OF LEGISLATION AND COMMITTEE VIEWS

Title I—Child Care and Development Block Grant

OVERVIEW

The Caring for Children Act of 2005 reauthorizes the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) through 2010 at a level of $2.3 billion for fiscal year 2006, $2.5 billion for fiscal year 2007, $2.7 billion for fiscal year 2008, $2.9 billion for fiscal year 2009, and $3.1 billion for fiscal year 2010. The current 2005 appropriation is $2.1 billion.

PROGRAM GOALS

The Caring for Children Act amends the existing goals to emphasize that the Block grant is intended to serve both low-income working families who receive cash assistance and those who do not. It continues to provide States maximum flexibility in developing child care programs and policies and promotes parental choice so that parents can select the type of child care and setting that they prefer.

The legislation creates three new goals: (1) To assist States in improving the quality of child care available to families; (2) to promote school preparedness by encouraging children, families and care-givers to engage in developmentally and age appropriate activities in child care settings that will improve children's social, emotional and behavioral skills and foster their early cognitive, pre-reading and language development and prenumeracy and mathematics skills; and (3) to promote parental and family involvement in the education of their young children in child care settings.

The new goals that have been added to encourage States to improve the quality of child care and to promote cognitive development and school readiness are consistent with the President's early childhood education initiative, Good Start, Grow Smart, designed to address the cognitive and other developmental needs of young children so that they are prepared to enter and succeed in school.

LEAD AGENCY

The committee bill amends the act to let States designate a collaborative agency or establish a joint interagency office to serve as the lead agency responsible for administering the program.

STATE PLAN REQUIREMENTS

The Caring for Children Act modifies the State plan in several ways. The legislation asks States to collect and disseminate information to both parents of eligible children and child care providers about: the quality and availability of child care services; resources to assist families in obtaining child care; research and best practices on children's development; and, other programs and services for which families may be eligible, including the food stamp, WIC, Medicaid and SCHIP programs.

This legislation requires States to describe partnerships between public and private entities that will increase the supply and quality of child care services, and coordination of child care services provided by this act with other child care and early childhood education programs, such as Head Start, Early Reading First, Even Start, Ready to Learn television, Part C and Part B 619 of IDEA and State-sponsored pre-kindergarten.

Beginning in 2006, State plans will contain the outline of the State's strategy to address the quality of child care available to children in that State. States will report on the use of quantifiable, objective measures for evaluating the quality of child care services and progress in improving child care quality.

Finally, States are asked to address factors that can make finding care difficult for some parents. States will report how the State is working to meet the child care needs of parents eligible for assistance who have children with special needs, work non-traditional hours, or require infant and toddler care. The intent of the language in this section is to ensure that State redetermination policies do not interfere with parents' ability to maintain employment while maintaining their eligibility for assistance. The committee encourages States to explore approaches to eligibility redetermination that support the work schedules of families receiving assistance, such as: the provision of extended office hours (including office hours before 8 a.m., after 6 p.m., or on the weekend); and the use of postal mail or electronic communications such as communications by telephone, fax, or electronic mail, and provision of a receipt providing confirmation that required documents have been submitted.

APPLICATION AND STATE PLAN REQUIREMENTS

Under current law, each State that applies for a Federal block grant is required to submit a State plan to the Secretary of HHS. The State plan is designed to ensure that States are complying with minimal Federal guidelines before receiving their grant. States are asked to certify that parents have unlimited access to their children while in care and the ability to choose their child's care provider and setting. States also must assure compliance with State licensing, health and safety requirements, address the child care needs of certain population groups, and substantiate that payment rates for child care services are sufficient to ensure equal access to services available to children not eligible for subsidized care.

The Caring for Children Act enhances the State plan in several ways to improve the quality of child care services provided to eligible families. This includes encouraging States to: (1) Collect and disseminate information to parents to assist them in making informed child care choices; (2) put in place procedures and policies to protect working parents such as providing assistance for eligible families for at least 6 months before re-determining eligibility; (3) coordinate this program with other Federal, State and local programs (including Head Start, Early Head Start, Early Reading First, Title I preschool program, Part 619 and Part C of IDEA, Ready to Learn television, State pre-kindergarten programs and other early childhood education programs); (4) describe any training requirements that are in effect that are designed to enable childcare providers to promote the social, emotional, physical, and cognitive development of children; (5) encourage partnerships with private and other public entities to leverage existing service delivery systems of early childhood and increase the supply and quality of childcare services; (6) address the child care needs of parents eligible for child care services who have children with special needs, work nontraditional hours, or require child care services for infants or toddlers; and (7) inform parents receiving assistance under a program funded under part A of Title IV of the Social Security Act (TANF) and low-income parents about eligibility for assistance under this subchapter.

Beginning in 2006, State plans will contain the outline of the State's strategy to address the quality of child care available to children in that State. States will report on the use of quantifiable, objective measures for evaluating the quality of child care services and its progress in improving child care quality. The committee does not intend or desire to create any Federal standards for quality of child care and intends for States to have complete discretion in fulfilling these provisions.

CHILD CARE RESOURCE AND REFERRAL SYSTEM

The Caring for Children Act allows States to use block grant funds to support child care resource and referral organizations. State and local child care resource and referral agencies (CCR&R) are often a community's vital link between parents and child care providers. Most States have in place a comprehensive child care resource and referral network that supports families in finding child care; compiles, analyzes, and shares information with parents, providers and communities on the supply, cost, and quality of child care and the availability of child care subsidies; and, supports individuals and programs providing care for children. Child care resource and referral organizations can be a cost-effective resource because of their ability to leverage public dollars with contributions from private sources.

PAYMENT RATES AND MARKET RATE SURVEYS

Under current law, States are required to set payment rates that are sufficient to ensure equal access for eligible children to comparable child care services in the State for children who are not eligible for assistance. Federal guidelines suggest payment rates set at or above the 75th percentile as a benchmark States should consider in providing equal access.

States use a variety of means to determine and establish reimbursement and payment rates for subsidized child care. According to the Government Accountability Office, most States report using the results of market rate surveys to help set these rates but also report considering other factors such as budgets, the age group of the child needing care, and the geographic location of the care. The committee recognizes and intends to maintain the flexibility that States currently have to design and implement payment and reimbursement rates in ways that reflect their particular circumstances consistent with equal access.

The Caring for Children Act requires the State to conduct a statistically valid survey of the market rates for child care services in the State within 2 years preceding the date of submission of the application (although the committee encourages States to conduct their survey as close as possible to the development of the State plan) and to describe how the State will set payment rates to reflect the results of the market rates survey without reducing the number of families served. However, this requirement is not intended to encourage a State to increase the number of families assisted before it increases payment rates. This requirement is not intended to preclude a State from raising payment rates if the State has previously found it necessary to reduce the number of families assisted for other programmatic or fiscal reasons.

The committee bill further requires States to publish the results of the survey within 30 days. Additionally, if in a fiscal year a State receives funds in an amount that exceeds the funds it received in fiscal year 2005 to carry out the CCDBG, the State is encouraged to consider using a portion of the excess to increase payment rates, support the establishment of tiered payment rates or to support payment rate increases for child care for children in communities served by elementary and secondary schools in need of improvement. In addition, the committee encourages States to examine the usual and customary practices with regard to payment for child absentee days.

The committee bill preserves the equal access standard that State payment rates be sufficient to provide children receiving CCDBG funded assistance equal access to comparable child care services available to families which are not financially eligible to receive subsidy assistance. The committee reminds States that a key factor of equal access is determined by the degree to which low income families have access to care that is of comparable quality to other families.

The provision on payment rates differentiation clarifies that nothing in the CCDBG statute is intended to prohibit States from having differentiated payment rates using such factors as geographic location of child care providers, age or particular needs of children (such as children with special needs and children served by child protective services), and care provided during weekends and other nontraditional hours. This provision is not intended to prevent States from developing and implementing differential rates for other appropriate reasons, such as a tiered rate structure which permits higher payments for care with specific quality standards.

The committee intends to maintain flexibility in the ways in which the State gathers information used to inform the process as they set payment and reimbursement rates. The committee recognizes that there are multiple ways States actually survey the child care market. Some do telephone or mailed surveys to a sample of providers, others rely on the data collected by resource and referral agencies in the course of maintaining an accurate data base. Research indicates that both of these approaches can be statistically valid. Additionally, child care markets vary across States based on population demographics and density, culture, licensing and subsidy policies, provider practices and parent preferences, to name a few. A market rate survey that works in New York may not in a rural State such as Wyoming or Utah. Similarly, in a rural State, there may be little variation in the cost of care across geographic areas and types of care, while in other States child care center care may cost twice as much in metropolitan as rural areas. In one case, the cost of a more complex survey may be justified, in another case not. Because of these variances, the committee has asked the Secretary to provide technical assistance to States on the design and implementation of statistically valid market rate surveys.

CHILD CARE QUALITY

The Caring for Children Act of 2005 increases from 4 to 6 percent the amount of the total block grant that a State must spend on activities to improve the quality of child care provided to eligible families in that State, and establishes permissible uses for those funds. The quality set-aside may be used to support: programs that provide training, education, and other professional development activities to enhance the skills of the child care workforce, including informal caregivers; activities to enhance early learning and foster school readiness; initiatives to increase the retention and compensation of child care providers; and, other activities deemed by the States to improve the quality of child care services (for children up to age 13) provided in the State.

In recognition of the importance of the quality of child care on all aspects of child development, including cognitive development, the bill seeks to emphasize the importance of early childhood development and encourages States to improve the quality of child care.

Knowledge about children's learning has expanded greatly during the past 2 decades. Research in the neurobiological and behavioral sciences related to young children suggests the importance of the first years of life for healthy brain development. From birth through age 5, children rapidly develop the capabilities on which subsequent development builds. In addition to linguistic and cognitive gains, children exhibit dramatic progress in their emotional and social capacities. According to child development expert Dr. T. Berry Brazelton:

A child's experiences in the first months and years of life determine whether he or she will enter school eager to learn or not. By school age, family and caregivers have already prepared the child for success or failure. The community has already helped or hindered the family's capacity to nurture the child's development.

High quality child care involves much more than the essential ingredients of love, nurture, and care. The committee included school preparedness activities as a permissible use to encourage States to invest in initiatives that will help foster children's social and cognitive skills, including literacy, numeracy, and language and mathematics skills. These skills provide the foundation for school readiness and are easily attainable when young children are exposed to language-rich environments with caregivers who engage them in interactive activities, promote curiosity and challenge children to develop self-confidence and problem-solving skills.

While many of a State's school preparedness activities are likely to be directed at preschool children, such activities also concern younger or older children. A State's responsibilities under CCDBG include providing child care services for children up to age 13 (or, at State option, 19 when the child is physically or mentally incapable of caring for himself or herself or under court supervision). School preparedness is a continuing process and does not stop simply because a child has entered school.

There is also general agreement among experts that the ways that parents, families and other caregivers relate and respond to a young child directly affect cognitive development. Research suggests that the quality of child care and early education is ultimately dependent on the quality of the relationship between the caregiver and child. Studies indicate that children are more advanced in all realms of development when their parents, teachers or caregivers provide regular verbal and cognitive stimulation, are sensitive and responsive, and give generous amounts of attention and support in safe and healthy environments.

Based on this research, the Caring for Children Act stipulates permissible uses for the quality set-aside to help ensure that States spend their quality allocation on activities that have been proven to improve the quality of child care. Beginning in 2006, States are asked to report how these funds are used.

The committee notes the importance of States evaluating and assessing child care programs in order to ensure their continued high quality and identify and correct weaknesses and has authorized such evaluations and assessments as allowable uses. However, nothing in this section should be construed to require formal testing of pre-school age children.

The committee has allowed States to exercise broad discretion in additional quality activities (such as enforcing compliance with State licensing requirements and State and local health and safety standards) so long as those activities can be directly linked to improving child safety, child health, child-well being, or school preparedness and are capable of being measured for outcomes. This requirement is intended to ensure that States consider the connection between a proposed activity and desired outcome goals, but it is not intended to require States to establish, track, or determine child outcomes in order for a particular activity to be allowable; it is sufficient that the State has determined that measurement of outcomes is possible in relation to child safety, child well-being, or school preparedness. The committee does not require States to actually measure or produce such outcomes in order to support its discretionary quality activities.

DATA COLLECTION AND REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Under current law, lead State agencies are required to collect and submit data regarding the children, families, and child care providers participating in the program on both a quarterly and annual basis. The quarterly report collects disaggregate data for each family receiving child care assistance, and the annual report collects aggregate numbers over the course of a fiscal year.

The committee bill streamlines data requirements so that lead agencies are only required to submit quarterly reports. The fourth quarterly report each year would preserve some of the data elements formerly required in the annual report. For any new requirements, States would need to begin submitting data 2 years from the date of enactment of the Act. The bill provides the Secretary with the authority to grant waivers from the 2 year requirement if a State can show that it has plans to procure a data system.

The bill deletes reporting elements that have proven to be unnecessary: receipt of housing assistance, receipt of food stamps; receipt of “other” assistance programs; and length of subsidy receipt. The bill requires a single data element regarding whether a family receives assistance under TANF or separate maintenance of effort State programs, and clarifies that the cost of child care data element should require both a statement about the amount of the State’s subsidy payment and a separate statement of the amount of the family’s co-payment. The bill clarifies that data on the type of care provided to a family should include all those types listed in the subchapter’s definition of eligible child care provider.

New data elements are added: household size, whether the parent reports that the child has an Individualized Education Plan or an Individualized Family Services Plan under IDEA, and case closure codes for each family that no longer receives child care assistance under the subchapter.

States will no longer have to report an annualized unduplicated count of the number of children and families served. A requirement to submit data on the manner and number of parents receiving consumer education information is moved to the biennial State plan. In the fourth quarterly report of the year, lead agencies will be required to submit some annual information formerly required in the annual report: the annual number and type of child care providers receiving payments under the subchapter, and the annual number of those payments made by type of child care provider through vouchers, under contracts, or by payment to parent.

The bill would also require States to collect monthly data on the number of children and families that receive child care assistance, submit this information in their quarterly reports, and to post this information on their websites.

REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Current law requires the Secretary of HHS to file biennial reports to Congress summarizing and analyzing the disaggregate and aggregate data reports that States submit, as well as other relevant information.

The committee bill updates the current requirements for the Secretary to summarize and analyze State collected data on children and families, requiring that starting in April 2006, and then on an annual basis, the Secretary submit reports summarizing and analyzing State data provided on children and families, with regard to activities to improve the quality of child care, and in State plans. The language adds a requirement that the Secretary include information on the supply, demand, and quality of child care, early education, and non-school-hour programs, and a progress report that describes State progress in meeting the new data requirements, plans for technical assistance to help States meet these requirements, and the explanation of any barriers States are facing in meeting the timeline for reporting on these new requirements. The Secretary must post these reports on the HHS website no later than 30 days after submitting them to the relevant Congressional committees.

NATIONAL ACTIVITIES: INFANTS AND TODDLERS

Many States are experiencing problems with access to quality, affordable infant and toddler care. This, combined with the increase in the number of mothers with babies and toddlers in the workforce, makes the need for quality child care even more critical. Approximately 60 percent of mothers with children under age 3 are in the workforce, at least on a part-time basis.

The committee has included an authorization for a $100 million set-aside, subject to the availability of appropriates for this purpose. With this authorization, the committee intends that States maintain the flexibility that they now have to coordinate activities to enhance infant and toddler child care. States are encouraged to continue to support activities under the set aside that are designed to protect the health and well-being of infants and toddlers; offer specialized training for such providers that emphasizes the unique developmental needs of infants and toddlers; create statewide networks of specialists on infants and toddlers, to provide training and consultations for such providers who are center-based child care providers, group home child care providers, or relatives of the infants and toddlers; and establish local networks of support for family child care home providers and other activities to improve the quality and availability of infant care.

Research indicates that the strongest effects of quality child care are found with at-risk children—children from families with the fewest resources and under the greatest stress. Yet, at-risk babies and toddlers receive some of the poorest quality care that exists in communities across the United States resulting in poorer cognitive, social, and emotional developmental outcomes. Research confirms that most child care centers do not meet infants and toddlers needs for health, safety, nurturing relationships, and learning. A child's first 3 years are a critical time for child development. Numerous studies show that high quality care improves school readiness and prevents crime in the long-term. It is especially critical that access to high quality infant and toddler care be expanded to allow more parents who must work to leave their children in a safe and nurturing environment while they work.

The committee recognizes the need for a toll-free hotline that is assisting families nationwide in accessing local information on child care options and providing consumer education and has authorized $1 million, subject to the availability of appropriations for such purposes.

FEDERAL ELIGIBILITY GUIDELINES AND DIRECT SERVICES

The Caring for Children Act eliminates the Federal income limit for eligibility, previously set at 85 percent of the State median income, which included families at both the lowest and more moderate income levels. Across all States 85 percent of SMI for a family of three ranged from $53,940 a year in Connecticut to $30,156 in Mississippi for a family of the same size. The committee recognizes that there is wide variation in cost of living and in the expense of child care between and within States. In some areas, child care costs can potentially limit low-income families from absorbing the costs of child care relative to the costs of living and working in a particular State.

Many potentially eligible children may not receive subsidies due to limited resources. "According to the Government Accountability Office, since January 2001, two-thirds of the States have made key changes that affect the availability of child care assistance (some expanding access to child care subsidies and some limiting access to child care subsidies). Of the 49 States that responded to GAO's survey, 48 States responded that TANF families, transitioning families, and low income working families are eligible for assistance. However, States often give TANF and transitioning families a higher priority when program resources are limited. In over half the States, not all eligible families who apply for assistance receive it." By eliminating the Federal maximum income threshold, the committee does not intend for States to restrict access to child care assistance to only welfare recipients.

However, the demand for child care services and the number of eligible families in need of subsidies may be overestimated because potentially not all low-income parents need subsidized child care. In fact, not all parents who receive welfare or are transitioning off welfare are working, and many parents make in-home or other informal care arrangements with friends or relatives instead of applying for child care assistance through the block grant.

Estimates of subsidies needed by children through CCDBG and TANF might be reduced further by taking into account the availability of other programs and funding sources serving children, including State-funded pre-kindergarten programs and Head Start. However, the part-time nature of these programs, on average 3 hours per day, presents very real challenges to working parents who need care for more than 3 hours a day, particularly parents on welfare who are required to work 20–30 hours per week. Therefore, the committee encourages States and local governments to help child care providers coordinate with Head Start and State preschool programs to ensure that children receive continuity of care and education while their parents work. A well integrated system of child care and education will help to ensure available resources provide child care services to more families.

The committee received comments that States might interpret the elimination of a Federal eligibility limit as a suggestion that assistance provided through the block grant should be targeted to TANF families only. This is not the intent of the committee. The legislation amends the CCDBG goals to clarify the congressional intent to provide assistance to low-income working families, not exclusively those on or transitioning off TANF. States and territories must spend 70 percent of their mandatory child care money to subsidize child care for TANF families, families transitioning off TANF, and families at risk of becoming dependent on public assistance.

The Caring for Children Act has included a new requirement that States also must ensure that 70 percent of the State grant is used to provide direct services to low-income working families. Though these services will be defined by the States, the committee intends at a minimum, to include services that are designed to assist families with the purchase of child care from an eligible child care provider such as vouchers for families and contracts and grants with child care providers in the definition of direct services.

CHILDREN WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

Families with children with disabilities often have difficulty finding high quality child care for their children. This problem is compounded for many low-income families. Early intervention services for pre-school age children can help identify, address, and sometimes prevent cognitive, physical and emotional disabilities at a young age. Unfortunately, many child care professionals have no experience with disabled children making accessing quality child care for children with special needs a challenge for many families. Fortunately, in addition to CCDBG there are several Federal programs that have been designed specifically to respond to the needs of children with special needs.

First, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) prevents discrimination against children with disabilities by child care providers and requires providers to make reasonable accommodations to ensure their participation.

IDEA has two main service programs for young children with disabilities (Part C Early Intervention Program for Infants and Toddlers with Disabilities and section 619 Pre-School Program). IDEA's Part C supports developmental services for infants and toddlers, up to age 3, and their families. More than 270,000 children participated in Part C in 2004. Most of the children who received Part C supports in 2001 were served in their homes or in a child care setting.

IDEA's Section 619 pre-school program provides special education and related services to preschool-aged children with disabilities. More than 679,000 children participated in the IDEA Section 619 preschool program in 2004, receiving services in public schools, child care, Head Start, or other settings. A child between the ages of 3 and 5 is eligible for section 619 services if he or she has a disability and needs special education and related services.

To further respond to the child care needs of families with children who have special needs, the committee has included language requiring States to demonstrate how they are addressing the child care needs of parents who have children who have special needs. Additionally, the committee has authorized States to use funds under the quality set-aside to offer training professional development, and educational opportunities for child care providers, and specifically providers who care for children with special needs. The committee recognizes the need of providers to be equipped to offer quality child care services to children with special needs, and believes additional opportunities for specialized training will assist in this effort.

TRIBAL CHILD CARE ISSUES

Under current law, the Secretary determines child care licensing requirements for child care services in areas served by tribes or organizations, but only in consultation with Indian tribes or tribal organizations. The committee bill makes significant improvements with respect to tribal sovereignty and self-determination. The bill treats tribes like States by requiring tribes to verify that they have child care licensing requirements in effect, to provide descriptions of these requirements, and to detail how the requirements are effectively enforced. Additionally, the bill provides that health and safety requirements applicable to child care providers in areas served by Indian tribes or tribal organizations are established according to tribal law. Further, to assist Indian tribes and tribal organizations provide quality child care to Indian children, the committee bill increases the amount of funds reserved for Indian tribes from 1 to 2 percent to 2 percent. Recognizing the importance of increasing child care capacity, the committee bill encourages small businesses to establish and operate child care programs, and provides grants to States, as well as Indian tribes and tribal organizations, to help establish these programs.

GRANTS TO SMALL BUSINESSES FOR CHILD CARE

The committee recognizes that small businesses play a critical role in providing child care options to millions of working parents. Unfortunately, small businesses generally do not have the resources required to start up and support a child care center. The committee bill includes a short-term, flexible grant program to encourage small businesses to work together or with other local agencies to provide child care services for employees. This grant program takes the necessary steps to ensuring small businesses and other local organizations, especially in our rural areas, are able to work together and find innovative approaches to provide child care for employees.

Small businesses will be eligible for grants for start-up costs, training, scholarships, or other related activities. Priority will be given to small businesses who work with other small businesses, large businesses, local child care organizations, or other appropriate entities. Grantees will be eligible for grants up to $500,000, but they are required to match Federal funds to encourage self-sustaining facilities well into the future. Business must continue to meet State quality and health standards.

 U.S. Senate, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for S. 525, the Caring for Children Act of 2005.

 (For Douglas Holtz-Eakin, Director).

Enclosure.

S. 525—Caring for Children Act of 2005

Summary: S. 525, the Caring for Children Act of 2005, would amend and reauthorize the Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990. The Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) program was authorized through 2002 by that act and has been authorized in appropriation acts since then; it is currently authorized through 2005 by the Consolidated Appropriation Act, 2005 (Public Law 108-447). The bill also would create a new demonstration grant program and increase set-asides for quality improvements and other activities.

If enacted, the bill would authorize appropriations totaling $2.35 billion in 2006 and increasing amounts in subsequent years. Authorizations would total $13.55 billion over the 2006–2010 period. CBO estimates that appropriations of these amounts would result in additional outlays of $12.5 billion over the 2006–2010 period. Enacting the bill would not affect direct spending or receipts.

The bill contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA). Any costs resulting from additional requirements of the bill would be incurred by states voluntarily as conditions or receiving the grant.

Estimated cost to the Federal Government: The estimated budgetary impact for S. 525 is shown in the following table. The costs of this legislation fall within budget function 600 (income security).

¹The 2005 level is the amount appropriated for that year.

Basis of estimate: CBO assumes that S. 525 will be enacted during the current fiscal year, and that the authorized amounts will be appropriated for each fiscal year. The estimated outlays reflect historical rates of spending for the affected programs or similar programs.

Title I—Child Care and Development Block Grant Act of 1990

Title I of the bill would amend and reauthorize the CCDBG program. The bill would authorize appropriations of $2.3 billion in 2006, $2.5 billion in 2007, $2.7 billion in 2008, $2.9 billion in 2009, and $3.1 billion in 2010. Funding in 2005 was $2.083 billion.

The CCDBG program provides funding to states for child-care subsidies to low-income families, quality improvement, and other activities. It is one of the two federal funding programs for child-care subsidies within a program grouping often referred to as the Child Care and Development Fund. The other program is the Child Care Entitlement to States, a mandatory program that would not be affected by the bill.

Title II—Enhancing Security at Child Care Centers in Federal Facilities

Title II would direct certain federal officials to develop regulations for enhancing the security of and fostering effective disaster plans in child-care facilities operated by the federal government. CBO expects that the regulations would not have any significant effects on federal costs. Many of these facilities already have security procedures in place, while others are anticipated to implement such measures in the future even without the enactment of further legislation.

Title III—Removal of Barriers to Increasing the Supply of Quality Child Care

Title III would authorize appropriations totaling $50 million over the 2006–2010 period to create a new program to award grants to states. The program would encourage small businesses to establish and operate child-care programs by providing grants to cover part of the costs of the programs. CBO estimates that outlays would be around $3 million in 2006 and $50 million over the 2006–2010 period. The bill specifies that the program would be terminated September 30, 2010.

Intergovernmental and private-sector impact: The bill contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in UMRA. It would increase the authorization of funds for the Child Care and Development Block Grant and increase some of the requirements for using those funds. The bill also would establish a new grant program for states to provide assistance to small business consortiums and other entities to increase the availability of child care. The requirements associated with these programs would be conditions of assistance resulting from the states' voluntary participation in the program and thus not intergovernmental mandates as defined by UMRA.

Estimate prepared by: Federal costs: Sheila Dacey; impact on state, local, and tribal governments: Leo Lex; impact on the private sector: Molly Dahl.

Estimate approved by: Robert A. Sunshine, Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

VI. APPLICATION OF LAW TO THE LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

This bill does not amend any act that applies to the legislative branch.

VII. REGULATORY IMPACT STATEMENT

Pursuant to the requirements of paragraph 11(b) of Rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, the committee has determined that the bill will not have a significant regulatory impact.

VIII. SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS

Sec. 1. Short title

This Act may be cited as the Caring for Children Act of 2005.

Sec. 2. Table of contents

Sec. 101. Short title and goals

This section modifies the goals of the Child Care and Development Block Grant (CCDBG) in Section 658A(b) to add three new goals: (1) to assist States in improving the quality of child care available to families; (2) to promote school preparedness by encouraging children, families, and caregivers to engage in developmentally appropriate and age-appropriate activities in child care settings that will (A) improve the children's social, emotional, and behavioral skills; (B) foster their early cognitive, pre-reading, and language development; and (3) to promote parental and family involvement in the education of young children in child care settings.

Sec. 102. Authorization of appropriations

This section amends section 658B to authorize $2.3 billion for fiscal year 2006, $2.5 billion for fiscal year 2007, $2.7 billion for fiscal year 2008, $2.9 billion for fiscal year 2009, and $3.1 billion for fiscal year 2010.

Sec. 103. Lead agency

This section amends Section 658D of CCDBG by allowing a State receiving funds under this act to designate an agency (which may be an appropriate collaborative agency), or establish a joint inter-agency office to serve as the lead agency for the State under this act.

Sec. 104. State plan

Section 658E of CCDBG is amended to require a State receiving funds under this act to collect and disseminate, through resource and referral services and other means, to parents of eligible children, child care providers, and the general public, information regarding (I) the promotion of informed child care choices, including information about the quality and availability of services; (II) research and best practices concerning children's development, including early cognitive development; (III) the availability of assistance to obtain child care services; and (IV) other programs for which families may be eligible, including the food stamp program, the special supplemental nutrition program for women, infants, and children, the child and adult care food program, and the Medicaid and State children's health insurance programs. The State must also report to the Secretary the manner in which the consumer education information described was provided to parents and the number of parents to whom such consumer education information was provided. This section also requires the State to inform parents receiving assistance under TANF and low-income parents about eligibility for child care assistance.

This section requires that a State has procedures and policies in place to ensure that working parents are not required to unduly disrupt their employment in order to comply with the State's requirements for eligibility redetermination, and requires that each child that receives assistance will receive such assistance for not less than 6 months before redetermination. This section also gives States the option to not terminate child care assistance based on a parent's loss of work or cessation of attendance at a job training or educational program without continuing the assistance for not less than 1 month.

This section requires the State to describe how it will coordinate early child education activities assisted under this act with programs such as Head Start, Early Head Start, Early Reading First, Even Start, title I preschool, Section 619 and part C of IDEA, and other early childhood education programs. A State must also describe any training requirements in effect designed to enable providers under this act to promote the social, emotional, physical, and cognitive development of children. A State must describe how it is encouraging partnerships between State and other public agencies, and private entities, to leverage existing service delivery systems and to increase the supply and quality of services for children ages 0-13. A State must describe how it is addressing the child care needs of eligible parents, who have children with special needs, work nontraditional hours, or require child care services for infants and toddlers.

This section allows the State to use funds to establish or support a system of local child care resource and referral organizations coordinated by a statewide private, nonprofit, community-based lead child care resource and referral organization to provide parents with information, and consumer education concerning the full range of child care options (including care provided during non-traditional hours and through emergency child care centers). This network may also collect and analyze data on the supply of and demand for child care in political subdivisions within the State; submit reports to the State containing the data and analysis; and work to establish partnerships with public agencies and private entities to increase the supply and quality of child care services.

From amounts provided to a State for a fiscal year, the State shall reserve the minimum amount required for the quality set aside, administration, and other set asides, and from the remainder, use not less than 70 percent to fund direct services (as defined by the State).

This section requires the State to develop and conduct a statistically valid and reliable survey of the market rates for child care services in the State (reflecting variations in the cost of child care services by geographic area, type of provider, and age of child) within the 2 years preceding the date of the submission of the application containing the State plan. The State should also detail the results of the market rates survey; describe how the State will provide for timely payment for child care services, and set payment rates for child care services in accordance with the results of the market rates survey without reducing the number of families in the State receiving assistance (as of the date of introduction of the Caring for Children Act of 2005). The State shall make the results of the survey available to the public no later than 30 days after the completion of the survey. The State plan shall include a certification that the payment rates are sufficient to ensure equal access for eligible children to child care services comparable to child care services in the State or sub-state area.

This section includes a rule of construction stating that nothing shall prevent a State from differentiating the payment rates to providers on the basis of geographic location, the age or particular needs of children, and whether the providers provide child care during weekend and other nontraditional hours.

Sec. 105. Activities to improve the quality of child care

Section 658G of CCDBG is amended to require each State receiving funds under this act to reserve not less than 6 percent of the funds provided directly, or through grants or contracts with resource and referral organizations or other appropriate entities that are designed to improve the quality of child care services. This section requires that funds be used only:

(A) to develop and implement voluntary guidelines on pre-reading and language skills, prenumeracy and mathematics skills, and activities that are aligned with State standards for kindergarten through grade 12 or the State's general goals for school preparedness;

(B) support activities and provide technical assistance in Federal, State, and local child care settings to enhance early learning for young children, to promote literacy, and to foster school preparedness;

(C) offer training, professional development, and educational opportunities for child care providers that relate to the use of developmentally appropriate and age-appropriate curricula, and early childhood teaching strategies, that are scientifically based and aligned with the social, emotional, physical, and cognitive development of children, including: (i) developing and operating distance learning child care training infrastructures; (ii) developing model technology-based training courses; (iii) offering training for caregivers in informal child care settings; and (iv) offering training for child care providers who care for infants and toddlers and children with special needs;

(D) engage in programs designed to increase the retention and improve the competencies of child care providers, including wage incentive programs and initiatives that establish tiered payment rates for providers that meet or exceed child care services guidelines, as defined by the State;

(E) evaluate and assess the quality and effectiveness of child care programs and services offered in the State to young children on improving overall school preparedness; and

(F) carry out other activities determined by the State to improve the quality of child care services for which measurement of outcomes relating to improved child safety, child well-being, or school preparedness is possible.

This section also requires that beginning with fiscal year 2006, the State shall submit an annual certification to the Secretary that the State was in compliance with the quality activities described above and describes how the State used quality during that preceding fiscal year. Beginning with fiscal year 2006, the State is required to submit an annual report to the Secretary that outlines the strategy the State will use to address the quality of child care in the State, including a description of quantifiable, objective measures that the State will use to evaluate the State's progress in improving the quality of the child care services and a list of State-developed child care services quality targets quantified for such measures. This section requires that beginning with fiscal year 2007, the State shall submit a report on its progress in achieving targets for the preceding fiscal year. A State failing to make progress in quality improvements shall submit an improvement plan to the Secretary, and that State shall comply with the improvement plan within 1 year.

Nothing in this act shall be construed to require that the State apply measures for evaluating quality of child care services to specific types of child care providers.

Sec. 106. Optional priority use of additional funds

This section amends Section 658G of CCDBG to require a State receiving funds under this act to consider using a portion of any funds exceeding the amount of funds the State received to carry out this act for fiscal year 2005 to support payment rate increases; to support the establishment of tiered payment rates for providers; and to support payment rate increases for care for children in communities served by local educational agencies that have been identified for improvement under Section 1116(c)(3) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 6316(c)(3)).

This section also states that nothing in section 106 shall be construed to require a State to take an action that the State determines would result in a reduction of child care services to families of eligible children.

This section also defines "payment rate" to mean the rate of State payment or reimbursement to providers for subsidized child care.

Sec. 107. Reporting requirements

This section amends section 658K to require a State receiving funds under this act to collect, with respect to a family unit receiving assistance under this act, information concerning family income; county of residence; the gender, race, and age of children receiving such assistance; whether the head of the family unit is a single parent; the sources of family income (including employment, including self-employment and assistance under a State program funded under part A of Title IV of the Social Security Act and a State program for which States' spending is counted toward the maintenance of effort requirement under Section 409 (a)(7) of the Social Security Act); the type, amount and cost of child care; household size; whether the parent involved reports that the child has an individualized education plan under IDEA and the reason for any termination of benefits under this act (including the child's age exceeding the allowable limit; the family income exceeding the State eligibility limit; the State recertification or administrative requirements not being met; parent work, training, or education status no longer meeting State requirements; a non income related change in status).

A State shall, on a quarterly basis, submit to the Secretary the information required to be collected and the number of children and families receiving assistance. Information on the number of families receiving the assistance shall also be posted on the website of the State. In the fourth quarterly report of each year, a State shall also submit to the Secretary information on the annual number and type of child care providers that received funding under this act and the annual number of payments made by the State through vouchers, under contracts, or by payment to parents reported by type of child care provider.

A State may comply with the requirement to collect the information through the use of disaggregated case record information on a sample of families selected through the use of scientifically acceptable sampling methods approved by the Secretary. The Secretary shall provide the States with such case sampling plans and data collection procedures as the Secretary determines necessary to produce statistically valid samples of the information. The Secretary may develop and implement procedures for verifying the quality of data submitted by the States.

This section requires States to comply with the changes in data collection and reporting requirement within 2 years from the date of enactment of this Act. The Secretary of HHS may grant a waiver to States with plans to procure data systems.

Sec. 108. National activities

This section amends section 658L to require the Secretary to no later than April 30, 2006, and annually thereafter, prepare and submit to the Committee on Education and the Workforce of the House of Representatives and the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions of the Senate, and, not later than 30 days after the date of such submission, post on the HHS website, a report containing a summary and analysis of the data and information provided to the Secretary in the State reports submitted under sections 658E, 658G(c), and 658K; aggregated statistics on and an analysis of the supply of, demand for, and quality of child care, early education, and non-school hour programs; an assessment and, where appropriate, recommendations for Congress concerning efforts that should be undertaken to improve the access of the public to quality and affordable child care in the United States; and a progress report describing the progress of the States in streamlining data reporting, the Secretary's plans and activities to provide technical assistance to States, and an explanation of any barriers to getting data in an accurate and timely manner.

This section also allows the Secretary to make arrangements with resource and referral organizations, to utilize the child care data system of the resource and referral organizations at the national, State, and local levels, to collect the information required by paragraph (1)(B).

This section also directs the Secretary to provide technical assistance to States on developing and conducting the State market rates survey.

Under this section, the Secretary is instructed to award grants to States, to improve the quality of and access to child care for infants and toddlers, subject to the availability of appropriations for this purpose. The Secretary shall also award a grant or contract, or enter into a cooperative agreement for the operation of a national toll-free hotline to assist families in accessing local information on child care options and providing consumer education materials, subject to the availability of appropriations for this purpose.

Sec. 109. Grants and hotline

This section amends Section 658O(a) of CCDBG to require the Secretary to reserve an amount not to exceed $100 million for each fiscal year to carry out activities designed to improve the quality of and access to child care for infants and toddlers. The section also requires the Secretary to reserve an amount not to exceed $1 million to carry out operation of a national toll-free hotline to assist families in accessing local information on child care options and providing consumer education materials.

Sec. 110. Definitions

This section amends Section 658P of CCDBG by allowing States to set the income eligibility level for families, with priority given by need as defined by the State. The term "child with special needs" was defined in Section 602 of IDEA (20 U.S.C. 1401); and a child who is eligible for early intervention services under part C of IDEA (20 U.S.C. 1431 et seq). Section 658P is also amended by redefining "Native Hawaiian organization" as it is defined in Section 7207 of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (20 U.S.C. 7517).

Sec. 111. Rules of construction

Section 658P is amended to include a rule of construction stating that nothing in this act shall be construed to require a State to impose State child care licensing requirements on any type of early childhood provider, including any such provider who is exempt from State child care licensing requirements on the date of enactment of the Caring for Children Act of 2005.

Sec. 201. Definitions

This section defines the term “Administrator” as the Administrator of General Services. The term “corresponding child care facility”, used with respect to the Chief Administrative Officer of the U.S. House of Representatives, the Librarian of Congress, or the head of a designated entity in the Senate, means a child care facility operated by, or under a contract or licensing agreement with, an office of the U.S. House of Representatives, the Library of Congress, or an office of the Senate, respectively. The term “entity sponsoring,” used with respect to a child care facility, means a Federal agency that operates, or an entity that enters into a contract or licensing agreement with a Federal agency to operate, a child care facility primarily for the use of Federal employees.

This section defines the term “Executive agency” as defined in Section 105 of title 5, United States Code, except that the term—(A) does not include the Department of Defense and the Coast Guard; and (B) includes the General Services Administration, with respect to the administration of a facility described in paragraph (5)(B). The term “executive facility”—(A) means a facility that is owned or leased by an Executive agency; and (B) includes a facility that is owned or leased by the General Services Administration on behalf of a judicial office. The term “Federal agency” means an Executive agency, a legislative office, or a judicial office.

This section also defines the term “judicial facility” means a facility that is owned or leased by a judicial office (other than a facility that is also a facility described in paragraph (5)(B)). The term “judicial office” means an entity of the judicial branch of the Federal Government.

Lastly, this section defines the term “legislative facility” to mean a facility that is owned or leased by a legislative office. The term “legislative office” means an entity of the legislative branch of the Federal Government.

Sec. 202. Enhancing Security

This section (1) directs the Administrator of General Services to issue regulations for child care facilities, and entities sponsoring child care facilities, in executive facilities; (2) directs the Chief Administrative Officer of the U.S. House of Representatives, the Librarian of Congress, and the head of a designated entity in the U.S. Senate to issue the regulations for corresponding child care facilities, and entities sponsoring the corresponding child care facilities, in legislative facilities; and (3) the Director of the Administrative Office of the U.S. Courts to issue the regulations described in subsection for child care facilities, and entities sponsoring child care facilities, in judicial facilities.

This section directs the officers described above to issue regulations that concern matters relating to an occupant emergency plan and evacuations, such as providing for building security committee membership for each director of a child care facility; establishing a separate section in an occupant emergency plan for a facility; promoting familiarity with procedures and evacuation routes for different types of emergencies; strengthening onsite relationships between security personnel and the personnel of such a facility; providing specific, clear, and concise evacuation instructions for a facility; providing for good evacuation equipment, especially cribs; and promoting the ability to evacuate without outside assistance; and

This section also directs the above officers to issue regulations that concern matters relating to relocation sites, such as promoting an informed parent body that is knowledgeable about evacuation procedures and relocation sites; providing regularly updated parent contact information (regarding matters such as names, locations, electronic mail addresses, and cell phone and other telephone numbers); establishing remote telephone contact for parents, to and from areas that are not less than 10 miles from such a facility; and providing for an alternate site (in addition to regular sites) in the event of a catastrophe, which site may include (i) a site that would be an unreasonable distance from the facility under normal circumstances; and (ii) a facility with 24-hour operations, such as a hotel or law school library.

Title III—Removal of Barriers to Increasing the Supply of Quality Child Care

Sec. 301. Small Business Child Care Grant Program

This section requires the Secretary of HHS to establish a program to award grants to States, on a competitive basis, to assist States in providing funds to encourage the establishment and operation of employer-operated child care programs. The Secretary shall determine the amount of a grant to a State under this section based on the population of the State as compared to the population of all States receiving grants under this section.

This section allows a State to use awarded funds to provide assistance to a small business located in the State to enable the small businesses to establish and operate child care programs. Such assistance may include technical assistance in the establishment of a child care program; assistance for the startup costs related to a child care program; assistance for the training of child care providers; scholarships for low-income wage earners; the provision of services to care for sick children or to provide care to school-aged children; the entering into of contracts with local resource and referral or local health departments; assistance for care for children with disabilities; or assistance for any other activity determined appropriate by the State.

A small business is required by this section to apply to the State for grants. A State is required to give priority to an applicant that desires to form a consortium to provide child care in a geographic area within the State where such care is not generally available or accessible. A consortium shall be made up of two or more entities that shall include small businesses and that may include large businesses, nonprofit agencies or organizations, local governments, or other appropriate entities. A State may not provide in excess of $500,000 in assistance from such funds to any single applicant.

To be eligible to receive a grant under this section, a State shall provide assurances to the Secretary that, with respect to the costs to be incurred by an entity receiving assistance from the State to carry out activities under this section the entity will make available non-Federal contributions to such costs in an amount equal to:

(A) for the first fiscal year in which the entity receives such assistance, not less than 50 percent of such costs; (B) for the second fiscal year in which the entity receives such assistance, not less than 66.3 percent of such costs; and (C) for the third fiscal year in which the entity receives such assistance, not less than 75 percent of such costs.

To be eligible to receive assistance under a grant awarded under this section, a child care provider shall comply with all applicable State and local licensing and regulatory requirements and all applicable health and safety standards in effect in the State.

A State may not retain more than three percent of awarded funds for State administration and other State-level activities. The Secretary requires that the State has responsibility for administering the awarded grant under this section and for monitoring entities that receive assistance under such grant. Each State shall require each entity receiving assistance under the grant awarded to conduct an annual audit with respect to the activities of the entity. Such audits shall be submitted to the State. If the State determines, through an audit or otherwise, that an entity has misused the assistance, the State shall notify the Secretary of the misuse. The Secretary, upon such a notification, may seek from such an entity the repayment of an amount equal to the amount of any such misused assistance plus interest.

This section requires the Secretary to by regulation provide for an appeals process with respect to repayments under this paragraph.

This section requires the Secretary to conduct a study not later than 2 years after the date on which the Secretary first awards grants under this section to determine the capacity of the grantees to meet the child care needs of communities within States; the kinds of consortia that are being formed with respect to child care at the local level to carry out programs funded under this section; and who is using the programs funded under this section and the income levels of such individuals.

This section requires the Secretary to prepare and submit to the appropriate committees of Congress not later than 28 months after the date on which the Secretary first awards grants under this section, a report on the results of the study conducted in accordance with subparagraph (A).

This section requires that not later than 4 years after the date on which the Secretary first awards grants under this section, the Secretary shall conduct a study to determine the number of child care facilities that are funded through covered entities that received assistance through a grant awarded under this section and that remain in operation, and the extent to which such facilities are meeting the child care needs of the individuals served by such facilities.

This section requires that not later than 52 months after the date on which the Secretary first awards grants under this section, the Secretary shall prepare and submit to the appropriate committees of Congress a report on the results of the study conducted in accordance with subparagraph (A).

As defined by this section, the term "covered entity" means a small business or a consortium formed in accordance with subsection (d)(3). The term "small business" as defined by this section is an employer who employed an average of at least 2 but not more than 50 employees on business days during the preceding calendar year.

This section authorizes $50 million for the period of fiscal years 2006 through 2010 to carry out the grant program. With respect to the total amount appropriated for such period in accordance with this subsection, not more than $2.5 million of that amount may be used for expenditures related to conducting evaluations required under, and the administration of, this section. The grant program established by this section shall terminate on September 30, 2010.
