SEC. 2. FINDINGS AND PURPOSES.

(a) FINDINGS.—The Congress finds that—

(1) flooding has been shown to occur in all 50 States, the District of Columbia, and in all territories and possessions of the United States;

(2) the national flood insurance program (NFIP) is the only affordable and reliable source of insurance to protect against flood losses;

(3) the aggregate amount of the flood insurance claims resulting from Hurricane Katrina, Hurricane Rita, and other events has exceeded the aggregate amount of all claims previously paid in the history of the national flood insurance program, requiring a significant increase in the program’s borrowing authority;

(4) flood insurance policyholders have a legitimate expectation that they will receive fair and timely compensation for losses covered under their policies;

(5) substantial flooding has occurred, and will likely occur again, outside the areas designated by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) as high-risk flood hazard areas;

(6) properties located in low- to moderate-risk areas are eligible to purchase flood insurance policies with premiums as low as $112 a year;

(7) about 450,000 vacation homes, second homes, and commercial properties are subsidized and are not paying actuarially sound rates for flood insurance;

(8) phasing out subsidies currently extended to vacation homes, second homes, and commercial properties would result in estimated average annual savings to the taxpayers of the United States and the national flood insurance program of $335,000,000;

(9) the maximum coverage limits for flood insurance policies should be increased to reflect inflation and the increased cost of housing;

(10) significant reforms to the national flood insurance program required in the Bunning-Bereuter-Blumenauer Flood Insurance Reform Act of 2004 have yet to be implemented; and

(11) in addition to reforms required in the Bunning-Bereuter-Blumenauer Flood Insurance Reform Act of 2004, the national flood insurance program requires a modernized and updated administrative model to ensure that the program is solvent and the people of the United States have continued access to flood insurance.

(b) PURPOSES.—The purposes of this Act are—

(1) to protect the integrity of the national flood insurance program by fully funding existing legal obligations expected by existing policyholders who have paid policy premiums in return for flood insurance coverage and to pay debt service on funds borrowed by the NFIP;

(2) to increase incentives for homeowners and communities to participate in the national flood insurance program and to improve oversight to ensure better accountability of the NFIP and FEMA;

(3) to increase awareness of homeowners of flood risks and improve the quality of information regarding such risks provided to homeowners; and

(4) to provide for the national flood insurance program to make available optional multiperil insurance coverage against loss resulting from physical damage to or loss of real or personal property arising from any flood or windstorm.

SEC. 3. STUDY REGARDING STATUS OF PRE-FIRM PROPERTIES AND MANDATORY PURCHASE REQUIREMENT FOR NATURAL 100-YEAR FLOODPLAIN AND NON-FEDERALLY RELATED LOANS.

(a) IN GENERAL.—The Comptroller General shall conduct a study as follows:

(1) PRE-FIRM PROPERTIES.—The study shall determine the status of the national flood insurance program, as of the date of the enactment of this Act, with respect to the provision of flood insurance coverage for pre-FIRM properties (as such term is defined in section 578(b) of the National Flood Insurance Reform Act of 1994 (42 U.S.C. 4014 note)), which shall include determinations of—

(A) the number of pre-FIRM properties for which coverage is provided and the extent of such coverage;

(B) the cost of providing coverage for such pre-FIRM properties to the national flood insurance program;

(C) the anticipated rate at which such pre-FIRM properties will cease to be covered under the program; and

(D) the effects that implementation of the Bunning-Bereuter-Blumenauer Flood Insurance Reform Act of 2004 will have on the national flood insurance program generally and on coverage of pre-FIRM properties under the program.

(2) MANDATORY PURCHASE REQUIREMENT FOR NATURAL 100-YEAR FLOODPLAIN.—The study shall assess the impact, effectiveness, and feasibility of amending the provisions of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 regarding the properties that are subject to the mandatory flood insurance coverage purchase requirements under such Act to extend such requirements to properties located in any area that would be designated as an area having special flood hazards but for the existence of a structural flood protection system, and shall determine—

(A) the regulatory, financial and economic impacts of extending such mandatory purchase requirements on the costs of homeownership, the actuarial soundness of the national flood insurance program, the Federal Emergency Management Agency, local communities, insurance companies, and local land use;

(B) the effectiveness of extending such mandatory purchase requirements in protecting homeowners from financial loss and in protecting the financial soundness of the national flood insurance program; and

(C) any impact on lenders of complying with or enforcing such extended mandatory requirements.

(3) MANDATORY PURCHASE REQUIREMENT FOR NON-FEDERALLY RELATED LOANS.—The study shall assess the impact, effectiveness, and feasibility of, and basis under the Constitution of the United States for, amending the provisions of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 regarding the properties that are subject to the mandatory flood insurance coverage purchase requirements under such Act to extend such requirements to any property that is located in any area having special flood hazards and which secures the repayment of a loan that is not described in paragraph (1), (2), or (3) of section 102(b) of such Act, and shall determine how best to administer and enforce such a requirement, taking into consideration other insurance purchase requirements under Federal and State law.

(b) REPORT.—The Comptroller General shall submit a report to the Congress regarding the results and conclusions of the study under this subsection not later than the expiration of the 6-month period beginning on the date of the enactment of this Act.

SEC. 4. PHASE-IN OF ACTUARIAL RATES FOR NONRESIDENTIAL PROPERTIES AND NON-PRIMARY RESIDENCES.

PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 3121, the Flood Insurance Reform and Modernization Act of 2007, reauthorizes the National Flood Insurance Program (“NFIP”), provides for reforms to the NFIP, improves flood mapping, and expands the NFIP to provide for multiple peril coverage. The bill reauthorizes the NFIP for five years through 2013 (the current authorization for the NFIP expires September 30, 2008) and ensures its continued viability by encouraging broader participation, increasing financial accountability, eliminating unnecessary rate subsidies, and updating the flood insurance program to meet the needs of the 21st century.

In an effort to make the NFIP more actuarially sound, the bill phases out subsidized rates on commercial properties, vacation homes, and second homes built before 1974. Multifamily rental properties are excluded from the phase-out of the subsidy.

Additional optional policy coverage is added, allowing business owners to purchase business interruption coverage at actuarial rates to better prepare them to meet payroll and other obligations during the next big storm. Additionally, optional coverage at actuarial rates for basement improvements and replacement cost of contents is added. For the first time since 1994, the bill updates maximum insurance coverage limits for residential and nonresidential properties.

The bill requires FEMA to conduct a thorough review of the nation’s flood maps. The bill makes the updating and modernization of flood maps an ongoing process, and increases funding for mapping.

Provisions protecting policy holders include clarification of disclosures about flood insurance availability and plain language information on flood insurance policies. Landlords must notify tenants of contents coverage availability. Further, the bill makes flood insurance effective immediately upon purchase of a home.

To encourage participation in the NFIP, the bill provides for a new community outreach program, and provides for a study of how to increase participation by low-income families. In order to help ensure that those homeowners who should have flood insurance do have flood insurance, the bill increases the fines on lenders who do not enforce the mandatory flood insurance policy purchase requirement for those who live in a floodplain and hold a Federally-backed mortgage.

Additionally, the bill requires FEMA to report to Congress annually on the financial status of the NFIP, increases the amount FEMA can raise policy rates in any given year from 10 percent to 15 percent, and authorizes funding for additional staff at FEMA to carry out the requirements of this bill.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Congress created the NFIP in 1968, because flood insurance was generally not available to most homeowners through the private market. The NFIP is periodically reauthorized and was significantly revised in 1973, 1977, 1994, and 2004. The NFIP is administered through FEMA's Mitigation Directorate and is currently authorized through September 30, 2008.

The NFIP generates premium revenue of approximately $2.4 billion annually, which in an average flood event year covers all policy holder claims and operating expenses. The 2005 hurricane season resulted in significant claims, which premium income could not cover. To cover the claims, the NFIP borrowed from the U.S. Treasury. Before 2005 the NFIP's borrowing authority was limited by statute to $1.5 billion. Congress amended the statutory limitation three times since September 2005, increasing the NFIP's borrowing authority from $1.5 billion to its current limit of $20.775 billion.

The NFIP was designed to provide homeowners with affordable insurance protection against floods while alleviating taxpayers' responsibility for flood losses paid out in the form of post-disaster relief. The NFIP reduces future flood losses through: (i) flood hazard identification; (ii) floodplain management (i.e., land use controls and building requirements); and, (iii) insurance protection. The NFIP is estimated to reduce flood loss expenses to the Federal government by over $1 billion annually.

Ancillary to providing flood insurance under the NFIP, FEMA also: (i) identifies and maps flood prone areas eligible to participate in the program; and (ii) sets land use controls and building requirements that flood-prone communities are required to adopt and enforce in order to participate in the program and make flood insurance available to their residents.

FEMA issues Flood Insurance Rate Maps ("FIRMs") that delineate areas, called Special Flood Hazard Areas ("SFHAs"), determined to have a 1 percent chance of flooding in any given year (the "100-year floodplain"). Because FIRMs determine where and at what rate insurance under the program is available or required, outdated or inaccurate FIRMs result in flood prone properties either being left out of the SFHAs, incorrectly being included in the SFHAs, or being charged incorrect rates. According to a June 2007 report issued by the Congressional Budget Office (CBO), the actuarial soundness of the NFIP depends on the accuracy of the flood maps. FEMA is currently engaged in a multi-year flood map modernization program to update, revise, and digitize over 100,000 paper maps.

Under the NFIP, FEMA also sets land use controls and building requirements that communities located in SFHAs must adopt and enforce within SFHAs in order for property owners to be eligible for insurance under the program. Related to this land use control function, the NFIP includes a mitigation program through which grants are made to eligible entities to implement planning and projects that reduce future flood damage. Mitigation projects include such activities as purchasing flood-prone homes and returning the land to natural floodplain function, raising homes above the 100-year flood level, relocating homes out of SFHAs, demolishing and rebuilding compliant buildings, flood proofing nonresidential buildings and other activities that reduce flood damage.

Insurance under the NFIP was initially optional and available for all properties located in SFHAs. Homeowners, renters, and business owners in participating communities purchase coverage under the program either directly from the NFIP or, most often, from private insurers that participate in the Write Your Own (“WYO”) program. WYO insurers take responsibility for policy administration and claims processing, but assume no financial risk in settling claims.

In response to initially low participation in the NFIP, in 1973 Congress made the purchase of flood insurance mandatory for all properties located in SFHAs with mortgages issued or guaranteed by the federal government. By 1994, lax enforcement of the mandatory purchase requirements led Congress to require lenders to purchase coverage on behalf of and bill premiums to mortgagees who failed to purchase coverage on their own (called “forced placed insurance”). Since 1994, lenders who fail to enforce the mandatory purchase requirement are subject to civil penalties.

The NFIP has a two-tiered rate structure: (1) a subsidized pre-FIRM rate for structures built before the 1974 mandatory purchase requirement went into effect for all FIRM properties; and, (2) an “actuarial” rate for structures built or substantially improved after 1974. Pre-FIRM rates are determined through a federal rule-making process with criteria designed to encourage participation in the program and not, by definition, to generate premium income sufficient to pay anticipated claims on pre-FIRM properties.

Congress expected that, over time, the percentage of pre-FIRM structures would decline and that most or all of the structures insured under the program would be subject to “actuarial” rates. However, pre-FIRM structures continue to represent approximately 24 percent of structures insured under the NFIP. The NFIP uses its borrowing authority and its “actuarial” rate premiums to cover any shortfalls that result from the program’s two tier rate structure.

The program’s “actuarial” rates are also designed, in part, to encourage participation in the program. As a result, these “actuarial” rates do not follow traditional rate-making methods designed to generate premium income sufficient to pay reasonably anticipated claims. Instead, rates under the program are only designed to generate annual premium income equal to the average annual claims paid by under the program since 1978. In “bad” years, when actual annual claims exceed the program’s average annual claims, the NFIP has used its borrowing authority to make-up the shortfall. In “good” years, when average annual claims exceeded actual annual claims, the NFIP has either used surplus premiums to repay (with interest) funds borrowed in “bad” years or has saved surplus premiums to cover claims in future “bad” years.

With its borrowing authority capped at $1.5 billion, the program had enough surplus premium income from “good” years to repay the Treasury within a reasonable period of time and avoiding significant interest expenses. The massive borrowing necessary to pay claims from the 2005 hurricane season upset the program’s balance leaving the program with a current debt of approximately $17.5 billion. The NFIP pays interest on the outstanding debt of between $600 million to $800 million annually.

Enclosure.

H.R. 3121—Flood Insurance Reform and Modernization Act of 2007

Summary: H.R. 3121 would authorize the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to enter into and renew flood insurance policies through 2013. Under current law, that authority would expire at the end of 2008. The legislation also would increase the amount that FEMA can borrow from the U.S. Treasury to cover expenses of the NFIP from $20.8 billion to $21.5 billion. As a result, CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 3121 would increase direct spending by $725 million in 2009.

By raising certain civil penalties on lending institutions, CBO estimates that the bill would increase revenues by $1 million per year. Finally, H.R. 3121 would authorize the appropriation of nearly $2.8 billion over the 2008–2012 period for mapping regions of the country at risk of flooding and for other activities. CBO estimates that implementing those provisions would increase discretionary spending by about $1.8 billion over the 2008–2012 period, assuming the appropriation of the specified amounts.

H.R. 3121 would require FEMA to phase in actuarially sound flood insurance premiums for owners of certain commercial properties and some residential properties that are not the owners' primary residences—if they do not currently pay actuarial rates for flood insurance. The legislation also would authorize FEMA to offer new types of insurance coverage (including multiperil insurance for floods and windstorms) as well as increase the maximum insurance coverage available for structures and their contents. Moreover, H.R. 3121 would raise the cap on the average annual premium increase allowed under current law from 10 percent to 15 percent. CBO estimates that enacting those provisions would have no significant net effect on direct spending over the 2008–2017 period. (The increases in premiums would yield an additional $3.1 billion in receipts over that period, but they would have to be spent to cover the NFIP's ongoing costs.)

H.R. 3121 contains no intergovernmental mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments. H.R. 3121 would impose a private-sector mandate, as defined in UMRA, on certain mortgage lenders. Based on information from FEMA and industry sources, CBO expects the direct costs to comply with the mandate would be small and fall below the annual threshold for private-sector mandates established in UMRA ($131 million in 2007, adjusted annually for inflation).

Estimated cost to the Federal Government: The estimated budgetary impact of H.R. 3121 is shown in the following table. The costs of this legislation fall within budget function 450 (community and regional development).

¹ CBO estimates that there would be no changes in direct spending after 2012 under H.R. 3121, and that revenue collections of $1 million a year would continue after 2012.

Basis of estimate: For this estimate, CBO assumes that H.R. 3121 will be enacted near the start of fiscal year 2008 and that amounts specified by the bill will be appropriated for each year. We estimate that enacting H.R. 3121 would increase direct spending by $725 million in 2009. In addition, CBO estimates that implementing the bill would increase discretionary spending by about $1.8 billion over the 2008–2012 period.

Direct spending and revenues

CBO estimates that the bill's increase in FEMA's borrowing authority would result in new direct spending. Other changes to the flood insurance program would affect operations of the program, but we estimate that those changes would not result in any significant net impact on direct spending over the next 10 years.

Increase in borrowing authority. Through the NFIP, FEMA offers flood insurance in communities that conform to the program's standards for flood plain management. Under current law, if premiums from policy sales and interest income are insufficient to cover the program's costs, FEMA can borrow up to $20.8 billion from the U.S. Treasury. As of August 2007, the NFIP had borrowed a total of $17.5 billion (the bulk of which has been used to settle claims related to Hurricanes Katrina and Rita). Based on information from FEMA about outstanding claims and continuing interest payments on its past borrowing, CBO expects that the agency will exhaust its remaining borrowing authority within the next few years. Section 12 would increase FEMA's borrowing authority for the flood insurance program by $725 million. CBO estimates that the agency would exercise this authority in 2009, resulting in an increase in direct spending of $725 million in that year, relative to current baseline projections.

Current law requires FEMA to repay any borrowed funds (with interest) as it collects premiums, provided that the program's other costs are fully covered. However, CBO expects that the agency would be unlikely to repay funds borrowed under H.R. 3121 within the next 10 years. Based on historical data, the agency is likely to face claims of between $1 billion and $2 billion per year for flooding events around the country (this does not include additional claims that would be filed if another catastrophic event were to occur). Based on the amount of current and projected borrowing by the flood insurance program, CBO estimates that FEMA also will be required to make annual debt-service payments to the Treasury of between $800 million and $900 million. CBO expects that the program will collect insufficient premiums to cover claims expenses and debt-service costs over the next 10 years. In other words, CBO expects that the NFIP will probably not have sufficient funds to make timely payments for all valid claims submitted to it. By increasing the program's borrowing authority, H.R. 3121 would provide resources—$725 million—to liquidate such claims that otherwise could not be promptly paid under current law.

Civil penalties. Section 6 would increase the civil penalty from $350 to $2,000 for lenders that do not enforce the purchase and notification requirements for certain mortgagors. Penalty collections are recorded in the budget as revenues. CBO estimates that the increased collections of civil penalties under this bill would total about $1 million a year. The amounts collected would be credited to the National Flood Mitigation Fund and could be spent, subject to future appropriation actions.

Rate increases for certain properties. Section 4 would direct FEMA to increase flood insurance premiums for certain policyholders who currently receive discounted or subsidized rates.

Under current law, some property owners are charged a premium that is less than the full actuarial cost of the insurance because they were built before the community's flood insurance rate map (FIRM) was completed (or before 1975, whichever is later). Those properties are collectively known as pre-FIRM properties. (Some post-FIRM policies also receive a discounted premium, but they are few in number relative to pre-FIRM properties.) FEMA estimates the average discount for pre-FIRM properties is about 60 percent.

H.R. 3121 would increase premiums for nonresidential pre-FIRM properties and pre-FIRM properties that are not the primary residence of either the owner or a tenant (for example, vacation homes) to actuarial levels by 2011. The bill would direct the NFIP to assess an additional 15 percent on top of routine annual rate increases for those properties until the actuarial rate is achieved (or until 2011, when such policies would be charged an actuarial rate). Based on information from FEMA, CBO estimates that approximately 375,000 properties would be subject to such rate increases under the bill. CBO expects that owners of some of those properties would either drop flood insurance or reduce their level of coverage in response to an increase in premium charges. However, we expect that any decrease in premium income resulting from a reduction in coverage would be more than offset by increased collections from properties that remain in the program. Additionally, by reducing the number of pre-FIRM properties in the program, the NFIP would save the cost of paying claims on those subsidized policies in the future.

CBO estimates that implementing this provision would increase receipts from flood insurance premiums by about $900 million over the 2008–2012 period and by about $3.1 billion over the next 10 years. Subsidized policyholders that drop flood insurance coverage in response to the rate increases would reduce program costs by an average of $45 million a year over the next 10 years, CBO estimates.

CBO anticipates that any additional receipts generated by increasing premiums on those properties would be spent on future flood insurance claims that the program would otherwise not have the resources to pay—resulting in no significant net budgetary impact. That is, the program changes required under section 4 would improve the long-term actuarial position of the NFIP; but the program's large debt and the requirement to pay interest costs on that debt means that savings from the reduction in subsidized policies would have to be used to cover ongoing costs of the NFIP and would not lead to net budgetary savings over the 2008–2017 period.

Multiperil insurance. Section 7 would authorize FEMA to offer insurance coverage for flood and wind damage to property owners in communities that conform to the program's standards for wind damage and flood plain management. (Additional standards related to windstorms would be established under the bill based on studies undertaken by FEMA.) Under H.R. 3121, FEMA would be authorized to insure damages attributable to floods or windstorms up to a maximum of $650,000 per residence for structure, contents, and additional living expenses and a total of $1,750,000 for structure, contents, and business interruption losses for commercial properties.

H.R. 3121 would direct FEMA to offer such multiperil coverage at actuarial (i.e., unsubsidized) rates. Because of the uncertain nature of actuarial pricing, FEMA might collect more receipts than necessary to pay future claims (resulting in a net reduction in direct spending). It is also possible that FEMA might collect less premium income than would be necessary to cover future liabilities from multiperil policies, which would likely result in the need for additional borrowing authority from the Treasury. In the latter case, the legislation would prohibit FEMA from entering into or renewing any multiperil policy until such borrowing is repaid. CBO expects that the new coverage offered under H.R. 3121 would increase premium receipts and additional claims payments by about the same amount—resulting in no significant net budgetary impact.

Increased coverage limits and new lines of coverage. Sections 8 and 9 would increase the total amount of flood insurance coverage available to a residential customer from $350,000 to $470,000, and to a commercial business from $1.0 million to $1.3 million. The legislation would direct FEMA to include coverage of up to $1,000 for living expenses in all future policies. Additional optional coverage also would be available for living expenses, repairs to residential basements and crawl spaces, business interruption, and the full replacement of contents.

As of June 2007, the NFIP had approximately 5.5 million policies in force, with a total exposure of over $1 trillion. Those policyholders pay about $2.7 billion in premiums to the federal government annually. Under the bill, the increased coverage limits and new lines of insurance would be offered to policyholders when they initiate or renew their policies and that coverage would be offered at actuarial rates. Thus, CBO expects that any additional insurance coverage obtained under this provision would increase premium receipts to the federal government, which would—on average—be roughly offset by additional claims payments.

Increase in annual limit on rate increases. Section 11 would authorize the NFIP to increase rates on policies within a specified risk category by an average of up to 15 percent per year. Under current law, the limit is 10 percent. CBO estimates that raising this limit would have no significant impact on the federal budget because to date FEMA has not been constrained in its rate-setting process by the current cap on premiums for actuarially priced policies. (Rate increases for subsidized policies would be affected by other provisions of the bill.)

Spending subject to appropriation

Implementing H.R. 3121 would increase discretionary spending by $1.8 billion over the 2008–2012 period, assuming appropriation of the authorized amounts.

Flood Mapping Program. Section 22 would authorize the appropriation of $400 million per year over the 2008–2013 period for updating flood maps to include the 500-year flood plain, as well as areas that would be flooded if a dam or levee failed. In addition, the bill would reestablish a 14-member Technical Mapping Advisory Council to assist with managing flood mapping activities. Based on historical spending patterns for this program, CBO estimates that implementing this section would cost $1.5 billion over the 2008–2012 period and an additional $900 million after 2012.

Grants for outreach to property owners and renters. Section 15 would authorize the appropriation of $250 million over the 2008–2012 period for grants to communities participating in the NFIP to conduct educational and outreach activities to encourage the purchase of flood insurance and raise the awareness of flood risk and measures that can be taken to mitigate flood damages. Based on the historical spending patterns of similar programs, CBO estimates that implementing this provision would cost $218 million over the 2008–2012 period, assuming appropriation of the specified amounts.

Mitigation of severe repetitive loss properties. Section 17 would extend for three years the authorization of appropriations for the mitigation pilot program that funds preventive measures for certain properties that have been frequently flooded (known as severe repetitive loss properties). Severe repetitive loss properties are those that have sustained four or more losses totaling more than $20,000, or two or more losses that cumulatively exceed the value of the property. Under current law, up to $40 million a year from the National Flood Insurance Fund can be used for this program through 2009. Based on historical spending rates for mitigation projects, CBO estimates that implementing this section would cost $88 million over the 2008–2012 period.

Additional studies. H.R. 3121 would authorize the Government Accountability Office to conduct studies of pre-FIRM properties, the feasibility of expanding the requirement to purchase flood insurance, and potential methods for increasing the participation of low-income families in the NFIP. The bill also would direct FEMA to conduct studies on the impact of using nationally recognized building codes as a part of flood-plain management and the economic effects of eliminating the discounted premiums paid by owners of certain pre-FIRM properties. CBO estimates that preparing those studies would cost $1 million in fiscal year 2008.

Staff increases. Section 25 would authorize FEMA to hire additional staff to implement the provisions of this bill. The amount of increased administrative costs that would result from the bill is uncertain because FEMA does not yet know how it would implement various provisions. Subject to appropriation of administrative expenses, FEMA is authorized to set an administrative cost recovery fee on flood insurance policies to offset spending on salaries and expenses. Thus, CBO expects additional administrative costs under the bill would not have a significant net cost.

Estimated impact on state, local, and tribal governments: H.R. 3121 contains no intergovernmental mandates as defined in UMRA. Assuming appropriation of authorized amounts, CBO estimates state, local, and tribal governments would receive up to $300 million over the 2008–2012 period for outreach and flood mitigation activities. Any costs to those governments would be incurred voluntarily as a condition of receiving federal assistance.

Estimated impact on the private sector: H.R. 3121 would impose a private-sector mandate, as defined in UMRA, on certain mortgage lenders. Based on information from FEMA and industry sources, CBO expects that the direct costs to comply with the mandate would be small and fall below the annual threshold for private-sector mandates established in UMRA ($131 million in 2007, adjusted annually for inflation).

Under current law, mortgage lenders who make federally related mortgages, as defined in title 12 U.S.C. 2602, are required to provide a good-faith estimate of the amount or range of charges the borrower is likely to incur for specific settlement services. The bill would require such mortgage lenders to include in each good-faith estimate a conspicuous statement that flood insurance coverage for residential real estate is generally available under the National Flood Insurance Program whether or not the real estate is located in an area having special flood hazards and that to obtain such coverage, a home owner or purchaser should contact the NFIP. The good-faith estimate also would be required to contain a telephone number and Web site address by which a home owner or purchaser can contact the NFIP. Finally, the estimate would be required to contain the statement that the escrowing of flood insurance premiums is required for many loans under section 102(d) of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, and may be a convenient and available option with respect to other loans. According to industry representatives, the cost for mortgage lenders to include the required additional statements in such an estimate would be minimal.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE LEGISLATION

Section 1—Short title and table of contents

This Act may be cited as the “Flood Insurance Reform and Modernization Act of 2007.”

Section 2—Findings and Purposes

This section sets forth findings regarding the need for reform of the NFIP and establishes the purposes of the Act.

Section 3—Study regarding status of pre-FIRM properties and mandatory purchase requirement for natural 100-year floodplain and non-federally related loans

This section requires the Government Accountability Office (“GAO”) to conduct a study on the effects of extending the mandatory flood insurance purchase requirement to all properties located in a flood hazard area, whether or not the mortgage on the property is federally-backed. This section also requires the GAO to study coverage for pre-FIRM properties, as well as the effects of extending the mandatory purchase requirement to properties protected by dams and levees. This report is to be submitted to the Congress no later than 6 months from enactment.

Section 4—Phase-in of actuarial rates for non-residential properties and non-primary residences

This section requires the phase-in of actuarial rates (or the phase-out of subsidized rates), for pre-FIRM nonresidential properties and non-primary residences beginning on January 1, 2011. The phase-in does not apply to multifamily rental properties or rentals that are the primary residence of a tenant.

Section 5—Exception to waiting period for effective date of policies

This section makes flood insurance coverage effective immediately when a policy is purchased within 30 days of purchase or transfer of the property.

Section 6—Enforcement (increasing penalties for lender non-compliance)

This section increases to $2,000 the fine levied against federally-regulated lending institutions for each failure to enforce mandatory flood insurance purchase requirements and increases the annual cap on fines for institutions to $1 million. This cap will not apply to institutions that were assessed a penalty of $1 million in any three of the last five years. This section also contains a “safe harbor” provision for lending institutions that make a good faith effort to comply with mandatory flood insurance purchase requirements, or if such a violation is not material in nature.

Section 7—Multiperil coverage for flood and windstorm

This section expands the NFIP to make optional wind coverage available to NFIP participants. This section requires premiums for the new, optional coverage to be charged at actuarial rates and be based on risk, so that the program would be required to collect enough premiums to pay reasonably anticipated claims.

Under this section, optional wind coverage would be available where local governments agree to adopt land use and control measures designed to minimize wind damage, in addition to the existing flood program requirements for flood plain management. The multiple peril residential policy limits are $500,000 for the structures and $150,000 for contents and loss of use. Limits for nonresidential properties are up to $1,000,000 for structure and $750,000 for contents and business interruption.

The NFIP may not offer new multiple-peril policies or renew existing multiple-peril policies during any time the NFIP borrows money to pay multiple-peril policy claims.

The effective date for coverage under this section is June 30, 2008.

Section 8—Maximum coverage limits

This section increases the maximum coverage limits for flood insurance policies. New coverage limits are $335,000 for residences; $135,000 for residential contents; and $670,000 for nonresidential properties.

Section 9—Coverage for additional living expenses, basement improvements, business interruption, and replacement cost of contents

This section requires FEMA to include in each renewal or new contract for flood insurance at least $1,000 for living expenses following a flood event. This section also requires FEMA to provide actuarially-priced, optional residential basement coverage for flood losses. Optional, actuarially-priced business interruption coverage for flood losses is also to be provided by FEMA for commercial properties (including multifamily rental properties). This section also requires FEMA to provide optional, full replacement cost contents coverage for both residential and commercial properties.

Section 10—Notification to tenants of availability of contents coverage

This section requires FEMA to provide copies of the notice document to insured landlords, in order to strongly encourage landlords to provide tenants with this notice, so that tenants may be informed about the property's location in a flood zone, the availability of flood insurance coverage, and how to purchase the coverage. This provision does not include penalties in the event that FEMA does not comply with this section or a landlord fails to distribute the notice.

Section 11—Increase in annual limitation on premium increases

This section increases the annual limitation on premium increases from 10 percent to 15 percent.

Section 12—Increase in borrowing authority

This section increases the NFIP's borrowing authority to $21.5 billion from the current $20.775 billion. This section also requires that FEMA submit a report to Congress, not later than 6 months after enactment of this legislation, on how it intends to repay, within 10 years, all funds borrowed, including amounts previously borrowed but not repaid.

Section 13—FEMA participation in State disaster claims mediation programs

This section requires FEMA, upon request of a state insurance commissioner, to participate in a state disaster claims mediation program for the non-binding mediation of flood insurance claims. However, this section stipulates that participation in the mediation program will not affect contract or tort liability, or the exclusive jurisdiction of the Federal courts to hear disputes involving the NFIP. Further, this section does not require the NFIP to pay additional mediation fees upon participation.

Section 14—FEMA annual report on insurance program

This section requires FEMA to report annually to Congress on the financial status of the NFIP.

Section 15—Flood insurance outreach

This section creates a competitive grant program for communities that encourage homeowners to purchase flood insurance, where those homeowners are not legally required to do so, and in general, educate all residents about the benefits of flood insurance. This section also requires FEMA to report to Congress within 60 days of enactment a description of its marketing and outreach efforts to educate consumers on the benefits of obtaining flood insurance.

Section 16—Grants for direct funding of mitigation activities for individual repetitive claims properties

This section provides a technical fix from 2004 flood insurance legislation to clarify that the FEMA Director may work directly with property owners to make mitigation grants for certain repetitive loss properties where States or communities are either unable or unwilling to address repetitive loss issues with a property owner.

Section 17—Extension of pilot program for mitigation of severe repetitive loss properties

This section extends the pilot program, which was created in the 2004 flood insurance legislation, through September 30, 2012.

Section 18—Flood Mitigation Assistance Program

This section provides for technical fixes to the 2004 flood insurance legislation by: (1) adding demolition and rebuilding as an allowable mitigation activity under the Flood Mitigation Assistance (“FMA”) program (in some cases, demolition and rebuilding is a more feasible and cost effective mitigation option); (2) removing the per state and per community caps on FMA to allow FEMA to better use FMA funds where needed; and (3) prevents FEMA from increasing policy premiums to cover FMA.

Section 19—GAO study of methods to increase flood insurance program participation by low-income families

This section requires the GAO to study and report on methods to increase participation of low-income families in the flood insurance program. This report is to be submitted to Congress no later than 12 months from enactment.

Section 20—Notice of availability of flood insurance and escrow in RESPA Good Faith Estimate

This section requires disclosure in the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act Good Faith Estimate about the availability of flood insurance and clarifies that the disclosure state that flood insurance is available whether or not a property is in a flood zone.

Section 21—Reiteration of FEMA responsibilities under 2004 reform act

This section requires FEMA, within 90 days of enactment, to establish an appeals process for claims. FEMA must continue to work with state regulators and the industry to implement minimum agent training requirements. FEMA must report to Congress after six months on the status of implementing all 2004 reforms.

Section 22—Ongoing modernization of flood maps and elevation standards

This section makes the map modernization program ongoing; requires the mapping of the 500-year floodplain (but such 500-year mapping may not delay the mapping of a community’s 100-year floodplain map); gives priority in updating maps to areas affected by hurricanes Katrina and Rita; creates a responsibility for FEMA to educate communities about map updates; and establishes the trigger for pre-FIRM subsidy phase out of second and vacation homes as of January 1, 2011. This provision also authorizes appropriations for mapping of $400 million annually, an increase from the current appropriated level of $200 million. This section also makes the Technical Mapping Advisory Council ongoing (and adds a real estate professional to the Council). The section also provides that if a map must be updated to reflect changes to protective structures under the jurisdiction of the Federal Government, the cost of such update will not be at the expense of the community.

Also, this section provides that FEMA may issue interim flood elevations after a flood-related disaster.

Section 23—Notification and appeal of map changes; notification of establishment of flood elevations

This section requires FEMA to provide map change information to affected communities, and requires a notice in local newspapers of map changes, a description of the appeals process, and contact information for an appeal.

Section 24—Clarification of replacement cost provisions, forms, and policy language

This section requires FEMA, within 3 months of enactment, to issue regulations and revise materials to provide a plain language clarification of replacement cost coverage; revise flood insurance policies to be consistent with language in homeowners policies; and require the use of plain language forms developed pursuant to the Bunning-Bereuter-Blumenauer Flood Insurance Reform Act of 2004.

Section 25—Authorization of additional FEMA staff

This section authorizes necessary funds be appropriated for the Director of FEMA to employ additional staff necessary to carry out all of the responsibilities required by this bill.

Section 26—Extension of deadline for filing proof of loss

This section extends the deadline for filing the proof of loss associated with a flood insurance claim from 60 days to 180 days.

Section 27—5-year extension of program

This section reauthorizes the NFIP for five years through 2013. The current authorization of the NFIP expires in 2008.

Section 28—Report on inclusion of building codes in floodplain management criteria

This section requires FEMA to conduct a study and report to Congress not later than six months after enactment regarding the use of nationally recognized building codes as part of floodplain management.

Section 29—Study of economic effects of charging actuarially-based premium rates for pre-FIRM structures

This section requires FEMA to conduct a study and report to Congress within 12 months of enactment regarding the economic effects of removing the subsidy for pre-FIRM properties.

CHANGES IN EXISTING LAW MADE BY THE BILL, AS REPORTED

In compliance with clause 3(e) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, changes in existing law made by the bill, as reported, are shown as follows (existing law proposed to be omitted is enclosed in black brackets, new matter is printed in italic, existing law in which no change is proposed is shown in roman):

NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE ACT OF 1968

* * * * *

TITLE XIII—NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE

* * * * *

CHAPTER I—THE NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM

BASIC AUTHORITY

SEC. 1304. (a) * * *

* * * * *

(c) MULTIPERIL COVERAGE FOR DAMAGE FROM FLOOD OR WINDSTORM.—

(1) IN GENERAL.—Subject to paragraph (8), the national flood insurance program established pursuant to subsection (a) shall enable the purchase of optional insurance against loss resulting from physical damage to or loss of real property or personal property related thereto located in the United States arising from any flood or windstorm, subject to the limitations in this subsection and section 1306(b).

(2) COMMUNITY PARTICIPATION REQUIREMENT.—Multiperil coverage pursuant to this subsection may not be provided in any area (or subdivision thereof) unless an appropriate public body shall have adopted adequate land use and control measures (with effective enforcement provisions) which the Director finds are consistent with the comprehensive criteria for land management and use relating to windstorms establish pursuant to section 1361(d)(2).

(3) PROHIBITION AGAINST DUPLICATIVE COVERAGE.—Multiperil coverage pursuant to this subsection may not be provided with respect to any structure (or the personal property related thereto) for any period during which such structure is covered, at any time, by flood insurance coverage made available under this title.

(4) NATURE OF COVERAGE.—Multiperil coverage pursuant to this subsection shall—

(A) cover losses only from physical damage resulting from flooding or windstorm; and

(B) provide for approval and payment of claims under such coverage upon proof that such loss must have resulted from either windstorm or flooding, but shall not require for approval and payment of a claim that the specific cause of the loss, whether windstorm or flooding, be distinguished or identified.

(5) ACTUARIAL RATES.—Multiperil coverage pursuant to this subsection shall be made available for purchase for a property only at chargeable risk premium rates that, based on consideration of the risks involved and accepted actuarial principles, and including operating costs and allowance and administrative expenses, are required in order to make such coverage available on an actuarial basis for the type and class of properties covered.

(6) TERMS OF COVERAGE.—The Director shall, after consultation with persons and entities referred to in section 1306(a), provide by regulation for the general terms and conditions of insurability which shall be applicable to properties eligible for multiperil coverage under this subsection, subject to the provisions of this subsection, including—

(A) the types, classes, and locations of any such properties which shall be eligible for such coverage, which shall include residential and nonresidential properties;

(B) subject to paragraph (7), the nature and limits of loss or damage in any areas (or subdivisions thereof) which may be covered by such coverage;

(C) the classification, limitation, and rejection of any risks which may be advisable;

(D) appropriate minimum premiums;

(E) appropriate loss deductibles; and

(F) any other terms and conditions relating to insurance coverage or exclusion that may be necessary to carry out this subsection.

(7) LIMITATIONS ON AMOUNT OF COVERAGE.—The regulations issued pursuant to paragraph (6) shall provide that the aggregate liability under multiperil coverage made available under this subsection shall not exceed the lesser of the replacement cost for covered losses or the following amounts, as applicable:

(A) RESIDENTIAL STRUCTURES.—In the case of residential properties—

(i) for any single-family dwelling, $500,000; and

(ii) for any structure containing more than one dwelling unit, $500,000 for each separate dwelling unit in the structure; and

(iii) $150,000 per dwelling unit for—

(I) any contents related to such unit; and

(II) any necessary increases in living expenses incurred by the insured when losses from flooding or windstorm make the residence unfit to live in.

(B) NONRESIDENTIAL PROPERTIES.—In the case of nonresidential properties (including church properties)—

(i) $1,000,000 for any single structure; and

(ii) $750,000 for—

(I) any contents related to such structure;

(II) in the case of any nonresidential property that is a business property, any losses resulting from any partial or total interruption of the insured's business caused by damage to, or loss of, such property from flooding or windstorm, except that for purposes of such coverage, losses shall be determined based on the profits the covered business would have earned, based on previous financial records, had the flood or windstorm not occurred.

(8) REQUIREMENT TO CEASE OFFERING COVERAGE IF BORROWING TO PAY CLAIMS.—If at any time the Director utilizes the borrowing authority under section 1309(a) for the purpose of obtaining amounts to pay claims under multiperil coverage made available under this subsection, the Director may not, during the period beginning upon the initial such use of such borrowing authority and ending upon repayment to the Secretary of the Treasury of the full amount of all outstanding notes and obligations issued by the Director for such purpose, together with all interest owed on such notes and obligations, enter into any new policy, or renew any existing policy, for coverage made available under this subsection.

(9) EFFECTIVE DATE.—This subsection shall take effect on, and shall apply beginning on, June 30, 2008.

[(c)] (d) In carrying out the flood insurance program the Director shall, to the maximum extent practicable, encourage and arrange for—

NATURE AND LIMITATION OF INSURANCE COVERAGE

SEC. 1306. (a) * * *

(b) In addition to any other terms and conditions under subsection (a), such regulations shall provide that—

ADDITIONAL VIEWS OF REPRESENTATIVE BARNEY FRANK

As noted earlier in this report, this bill does not contain any congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined in House rules. However, there are many other items that this bill does not contain as well. I am submitting a partial list for the edification of my colleagues:

This bill does not ratify any treaties.

This bill does not confirm any Supreme Court justices.

This bill does not amend the Constitution.

BARNEY FRANK.

ADDITIONAL REPUBLICAN VIEWS

It is the view of the Republican Minority that the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP) should be reformed and be made more actuarially sound before embarking on a massive expansion into the wind insurance business. While H.R. 3121, the “Flood Insurance Reform and Modernization Act of 2007” calls for several crucial reforms-including a phase-in of actuarially determined rates for some subsidized property owners-it also requires the NFIP to make wind coverage available to anyone purchasing flood insurance from the Federal government, in the form of a “multiple-peril” policy. The NFIP currently owes the Department of the Treasury around $18 billion, an amount it was forced to borrow to pay claims from the 2005 hurricane season. By its own account, it will likely never be able to repay this sum. The Minority believes that although Congress should continue to examine ways to encourage better access to homeowners’ wind insurance, it would be ill-advised to force the NFIP to take on this new risk, as it could expose taxpayers to further loss and could unnecessarily interfere with the functioning of the private wind insurance market.

H.R. 3121 and other catastrophe insurance proposals before the Committee seek to address, through Federal participation, a phenomenon of rising insurance costs in coastal areas at high risk of suffering hurricanes and other storms. Higher insurance prices can often be traced to a few causes, including increased risk (based on more frequent hurricanes, higher home values, and increased construction in coastal areas), hostile regulatory and legal climates, and temporary rate spikes following major catastrophes, when insurers remodel risk, rebuild surplus, and diversify exposure. H.R. 3121 would likely not address any of these factors, and while it may provide slightly more availability in the short-term, it could ultimately displace the private market in some regions, leading to fewer choices for consumers. Although it is questionable whether FEMA would be able to carry out this mandate, the NFIP multiple-peril product would be offered at “actuarial” rates, placing the coverage out of reach for the very constituents this bill is designed to help.

At the July 17, 2007 legislative hearing on H.R. 3121, flood management groups, industry experts, the NAIC, environmental organizations, Treasury, and FEMA expressed concern over expanding the NFIP to include wind risks. These witnesses raised several questions about how the multiple-peril program would be implemented and administered, including how the new NFIP multiple-peril coverage would be priced, and how the NFIP would maintain actuarial soundness. The panel also expressed concern over the possibility that this bill could displace the private market, which generally offers wind coverage in most homeowners’ insurance policies. Instead, the panel called for a comprehensive study addressing several issues, including determining what effects this massive expansion could have on the current program, how it would impact the availability and affordability of wind insurance, and how the NFIP would implement this mandate.

In a June 2007 report, the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) reported that 47 percent of subsidized non-primary coastal homes and 37 percent of subsidized primary residences are worth at least $500,000. Further, close to 90 percent of the NFIP's Severe Repetitive Loss Properties (SRLPs) currently enjoy subsidized rates. The Republican Minority believes that the chief objective of the Committee and the Congress should be reform of the existing NFIP, including the removal of subsidies over time to improve the long-term solvency of the program. In contrast, H.R. 3121 would dramatically increase the scope of the NFIP, at a time when the Government Accountability Office (GAO) includes the program on its "High Risk" Series list, recommending increased oversight by Congress. While the Minority supports the vast majority of the provisions in H.R. 3121—which are similar to the bipartisan flood insurance reform bill introduced earlier this year (H.R. 1682), and the bipartisan bill that overwhelmingly passed the House last Congress (H.R. 4973)—the inclusion of wind coverage would likely exacerbate the NFIP's administrative problems.

At the Committee's markup of H.R. 3121 Rep. Ginny Brown-Waite (FL), along with Reps. Adam Putnam (FL) and Tom Feeney (FL), offered an amendment that would strike the mandate in H.R. 3121 requiring the NFIP to offer wind insurance and would replace it with a comprehensive GAO study. Unfortunately, the Majority rejected this common-sense amendment, which would require the GAO to examine a number of factors relating to the multiple-peril program proposed in H.R. 3121, including, among other things:

- The ability of the NFIP to timely implement an actuarially-sound wind insurance program;
- The effects the expansion into wind insurance could have on flood insurance reform, including map modernization, and the phase-in of actuarial rates;
- Whether an expansion of the NFIP to include wind coverage could affect the availability and affordability of such coverage, influence the private-sector development of multiple-peril products, or result in adverse selection;
- Any potential taxpayer exposure the new program could pose, similar to the deficit resulting from the 2005 hurricane season;
- Available alternative methods that could offer policyholders more options for wind coverage; and
- Coverage gaps that would remain under most homeowners policies.

Although this amendment was not accepted, a bipartisan study request letter has been transmitted to the GAO, requiring it to conduct a study on the issues outlined above. The Minority strongly urges the Committee to closely examine any GAO findings and recommendations resulting from this study and to seriously consider implementing them.

Several other Republican amendments were adopted at Committee markup. Rep. Randy Neugebauer (TX) offered an amendment to require FEMA to study and report on the impact, effectiveness, and feasibility of including widely used building codes as part of the NFIP's floodplain management criteria. The Committee also accepted an amendment by Rep. Richard Baker (LA) that would delay the implementation of Section 7, which creates the NFIP multiple-peril product, until June 30, 2008, so that the GAO can study the impact of this provision, in accordance with the bipartisan request. An amendment by Rep. Jeb Hensarling (TX) was approved that would require FEMA to report to Congress regarding how it plans to repay, within 10 years, its debt to Treasury. Rep. Tom Price (GA) offered an amendment to eliminate the requirement that an additional, one-page description of the NFIP coverage be distributed to policyholders, instead requiring the more comprehensive supplemental forms already mandated by the Bunning-Bereuter Blumenauer Flood Insurance Reform Act of 2004. Finally, Rep. Patrick McHenry (NC) offered an amendment that would suspend FEMA's ability to offer new multiple-peril policies if the NFIP is forced to borrow from the Treasury to pay multiple-peril claims.

Despite these improvements and the continuing need for flood insurance reform, nearly all Committee Republicans were unable to support this legislation, because of the significant new taxpayer liabilities it creates. The Eastern Seaboard and Gulf Coast contain more than $19 trillion of insured value. Shifting even a portion of this risk to the troubled NFIP could expose taxpayers to massive losses. H.R. 3121 could also result in significant adverse selection for the multiple-peril program. Because wind is a standard component of homeowners insurance, the risk from a government-backed wind product would likely be concentrated in regions where wind coverage is the most difficult to obtain in the private market. Another large hurricane or storm in the Gulf region that causes both flood and wind losses could bankrupt the NFIP by several times its current insolvency. The Minority believes that, at the very least, this proposal, as well as others, should be thoroughly studied before being authorized by Congress. In addition to a GAO study, Committee Republicans support efforts by the Senate Banking Committee to create an independent natural catastrophe insurance commission to study and report on legislative and regulatory changes to improve the availability and competitiveness of disaster insurance.
