COMMITTEE STATEMENT AND VIEWS

PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

The Federal Register Modernization Act creates flexibility for the Office of the Federal Register (OFR) and the U.S. Government Printing Office (GPO) to adjust to new technologies by removing outdated statutory requirements. The Federal Register Act (FRA) was enacted in 1935, long before it was possible to archive records electronically on a large scale. The FRA was therefore written in the language of paper documents. Government operations are increasingly being conducted via electronic communication and storage, and the statute should be revised to accommodate non paper-based publication.

H.R. 4195 removes two outdated requirements: (1) the requirement to print the Federal Register; and (2) the requirement for agencies to submit multiple copies of documents to be published in the Federal Register. The bill replaces the requirement to print with the requirement to publish—which includes a requirement to circulate or distribute. Allowing the OFR and GPO to publish rather than print will preserve scarce resources or enable them to be redirected toward improving ease of use and breadth of dissemination via technology.

Under the FRA, submissions to the Federal Register require an original document and two copies. This requirement made sense when the OFR worked with paper documents. Today, however, federal agencies meet this requirement by submitting multiple electronic copies on a single disc or portable storage device, such as a thumb-drive. H.R. 4195 removes this unnecessary requirement, allowing federal agencies to submit a single electronic document.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

The Federal Register Act was enacted in 1935. The first issue was published on March 14, 1936; it had just 16 pages.¹ In 1972, the Federal Register moved from “hot metal” printing to electronic photo-composition technology. In the 1980s, the OFR received its first computer terminal, and by 1989 every staff member had a personal computer for work use. In 1992, OFR entered the internet age with an electronic bulletin board called “FRIEND” (Federal Register Electronic News Delivery System). Two years later, the Office of the Federal Register published the first electronic version of the Federal Register on June 8, 1994.

In the twenty years since the first electronic edition of the Federal Register, OFR and GPO have made significant technological advancements. FederalRegister.gov, jointly administered by OFR and GPO, was built with extensive navigation aids and links to related materials.² Public inspection of agency submissions, prior to official publication in the Federal Register, is now available online.³

The Archivist of the United States requested the Federal Register Modernization Act “to take advantage of modern technology to improve efficiency.”⁴ The bill will allow OFR to “increase interaction with the public and improve interoperability with other federal systems dealing with agency rulemaking.”⁵

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

The Federal Register Modernization Act was introduced by Chairman Darrell Issa on March 11, 2014. The bill was referred to the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform. H.R. 4195 was considered during a full Committee business meeting on March 12, 2014. The Committee by voice vote ordered the bill favorably reported to the House of Representatives.

SECTION-BY-SECTION

Section 1: Short title

Establishes the short title of the bill as the “Federal Register Modernization Act.”

Section 2: Federal Register modernization

Amends the Federal Register Act, Chapter 15 of title 44 of the United States Code by replacing all references to “print” with “publish” and defining publish to mean circulate or distribute. Eliminates the requirement that agencies provide multiple copies of documents submitted to the Federal Register.

EXPLANATION OF AMENDMENTS

H.R. 4195 passed without amendment.

COMMITTEE CONSIDERATION

On March 12, 2014, the Committee met in open session and ordered reported favorably the bill, H.R. 4195, by voice vote, a quorum being present.

APPLICATION OF LAW TO THE LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

Section 102(b)(3) of Public Law 104–1 requires a description of the application of this bill to the legislative branch where the bill relates to the terms and conditions of employment or access to public services and accommodations. This bill creates flexibility for the Office of the Federal Register and the U.S. Government Printing Office to adjust to new technologies by removing outdated statutory requirements. As such this bill does not relate to employment or access to public services and accommodations.

STATEMENT OF OVERSIGHT FINDINGS AND RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE COMMITTEE

In compliance with clause 3(c)(1) of rule XIII and clause (2)(b)(1) of rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee's oversight findings and recommendations are reflected in the descriptive portions of this report.

⁴ Letter from David S. Ferriero, Archivist, NARA, to John Boehner, Speaker, House of Representatives, (Nov. 12, 2013).

STATEMENT OF GENERAL PERFORMANCE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

In accordance with clause 3(c)(4) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee's performance goals and objectives are reflected in the descriptive portions of this report.

DUPLICATION OF FEDERAL PROGRAMS

No provision of H.R. 4195 establishes or reauthorizes a program of the Federal Government known to be duplicative of another Federal program, a program that was included in any report from the Government Accountability Office to Congress pursuant to section 21 of Public Law 111-139, or a program related to a program identified in the most recent Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance.

DISCLOSURE OF DIRECTED RULE MAKINGS

Section 2 amends 44 U.S.C. §1506, an existing directed rule-making requiring the Administrative Committee of the Federal Register to issue regulations related to the promulgation of the federal register. H.R. 4195 amends this section to update some of the specific matters to be addressed by the Committee, in accordance with the purposes of this bill.

FEDERAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ACT

The Committee finds that the legislation does not establish or authorize the establishment of an advisory committee within the definition of 5 U.S.C. App., Section 5(b).

UNFUNDED MANDATE STATEMENT

Section 423 of the Congressional Budget and Impoundment Control Act (as amended by Section 101(a)(2) of the Unfunded Mandate Reform Act, P.L. 104-4) requires a statement as to whether the provisions of the reported include unfunded mandates. In compliance with this requirement the Committee has received a letter from the Congressional Budget Office included herein.

EARMARK IDENTIFICATION

H.R. 4195 does not include any congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined in clause 9 of rule XXI.

COMMITTEE ESTIMATE

Clause 3(d)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives requires an estimate and a comparison by the Committee of the costs that would be incurred in carrying out H.R. 4195. However, clause 3(d)(3)(B) of that rule provides that this requirement does not apply when the Committee has included in its report a timely submitted cost estimate of the bill prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office under section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act.

BUDGET AUTHORITY AND CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

With respect to the requirements of clause 3(c)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 308(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 and with respect to requirements of clause (3)(c)(3) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the Committee has received the following cost estimate for H.R. 4195 from the Director of Congressional Budget Office:

APRIL 1, 2014.

Hon. DARRELL ISSA,
Chairman, Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, House of Representatives, Washington, DC.

DEAR MR. CHAIRMAN: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for H.R. 4195, the Federal Register Modernization Act.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Matthew Pickford.

Sincerely,

DOUGLAS W. ELMENDORF.

Enclosure.

H.R. 4195—Federal Register Modernization Act

CBO estimates that enacting H.R. 4195 would have no significant effect on the federal budget. The legislation would amend federal laws regarding the Federal Register and the Code of Federal Regulations (CFR), which provide comprehensive information about actions of the United States Government. The legislation would end requirements to print the Federal Register or the CFR and for agencies to provide multiple copies of their submissions to the Federal Register. The bill would change references from printing those publications to publishing them, and publishing could include making those publications available online.

Under the Federal Register Act, the Office of the Federal Register (OFR) within the National Archives and Records Administration (NARA) produces the Federal Register. That publication compiles and organizes thousands of rules, regulations, executive orders, presidential documents, and notices generated by federal departments and agencies. Currently, the Federal Register is updated daily and is printed and published Monday through Friday, except federal holidays. The OFR, working with the Government Printing Office (GPO), has made the Federal Register available online since 1994. In addition, the OFR produces the CFR, which contains all agency rules that first appeared in the Federal Register.

Under the legislation, OFR would no longer be required to print the Federal Register or CFR, but would still have to make it available online. Based on information from NARA and GPO, CBO expects that copies of the Federal Register and CFR would continue to be produced following enactment of H.R. 4195 to meet the demand for printed documents. We expect agencies' administrative costs would be reduced because fewer copies of printed material would be submitted to the Federal Register, but we estimate that any such savings over the next five years would be small because most of the costs associated with the submission of those documents involves their preparation, not their duplication.

H.R. 4195 contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Matthew Pickford. The estimate was approved by Theresa Gullo, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

CHANGES IN EXISTING LAW MADE BY THE BILL, AS REPORTED

【(b) A codification published under subsection (a) of this section shall be printed and bound in permanent form and shall be designated as the “Code of Federal Regulations.” The Administrative Committee shall regulate the binding of the printed codifications into separate books with a view to practical usefulness and economical manufacture. Each book shall contain an explanation of its coverage and other aids to users that the Administrative Committee may require. A general index to the entire Code of Federal Regulations shall be separately printed and bound.
