Purpose and Summary

This legislation seeks to build on existing requirements for an updated strategy for the Department of Homeland Security’s (DHS) overseas footprint, while identifying barriers to information sharing and collaboration among DHS components and other partner entities on issues directly relating to the Department’s counterterror mission. The bill also grants accountability and transparency to how DHS trains, deploys, and utilizes personnel at overseas locations.

Background and Need for Legislation

The ability for DHS personnel to effectively collaborate, share information, and establish partnerships overseas plays a critical role in the Department’s overall ability to achieve its counterterror mission and protect the Homeland. However, challenges remain with ensuring that personnel deployment is risk-based and sufficiently collaborative with other Federal partners.
