PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

The purpose of H.R. 2203, the “Homeland Security Improvement Act” is to help alleviate the humanitarian crisis at the southern border by creating additional mechanisms to improve oversight, instituting new trainings, and putting an end to harmful U.S. Customs and Border Protection policies and practices which include family separation and metering.

Under the Act, an independent Commission is established by Congress to conduct a thorough investigation of the Trump Administration’s handling of migrant families and children, to include the conditions at Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) facilities. The Act also creates (1) an Ombudsman for Border and Immigration Related Concerns, who would be responsible for investigating and resolving complaints related to border security and immigration enforcement activities, and (2) a border community stakeholder advisory committee to provide recommendations to the Secretary with respect to border and immigration policies. This legislation further improves oversight by instituting several new public reporting requirements, including reports to Congress on ports of entry, migrant deaths in custody, use of force training, and CBP and ICE stops and searches. H.R. 2203 also improves transparency by prohibiting the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) from barring Members of Congress or their staff from entering facilities holding migrant detainees and taking photographs of the conditions of those facilities. It also requires the Department to develop a plan for requiring the use of body-worn cameras by Border Patrol Agents and ICE Officers.

The Act also mandates 20 weeks of training for new Border Patrol agents, CBP Officers, and ICE agents with 40 hours of training and continuing education annually thereafter that addresses community policing practices, use of force and de-escalation tactics, and the history and ethics of asylum law.

Critically, H.R. 2203 terminates facetious and harmful policies including the placing of physical restraints on pregnant and post-delivery women. It also bans the separation of children from their parents or legal guardian except under extremely limited circumstances. It also requires that the Homeland Security and Health and Human Services (HHS) Secretaries establish a tracking system interface so that any child who is separated under those limited circumstances will not be lost. Finally, the Act also puts an end to CBP's metering policy to regulate the flow of asylum seekers at ports of entry and limits detention in CBP facilities to 72 hours absent exigent circumstances.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

The nation currently faces a humanitarian crisis at its southern border. It is a crisis in which children and families have been subjected to inhumane conditions, asylum seekers have been denied access to our nation's legal ports of entry, and thousands of children have been separated from family members.

Recognizing that Americans need a full accounting for DHS' poor management of this humanitarian crisis, the Act creates an independent Commission, modeled after the National Commission on the Terrorist Attacks Upon the United States, to conduct a full investigation. Over the course of the last year, independent oversight bodies have called attention to the terrible conditions of confinement at CBP and ICE facilities. Most recently, the DHS Office of Inspector General (OIG) found that conditions at CBP facilities in the Rio Grande Valley were dangerously overcrowded, putting the health and safety of children, families and Border Patrol Agents at risk.¹ Additional reports have found appalling conditions at ICE detention facilities. They have found moldy food and walls, nooses hanging in holding cells, and several other conditions threatening the health and safety of migrant detainees.² A DHS OIG report also found that ICE's own inspection processes were not adequate to hold contractors accountable for failing to meet performance standards.³

While these reports have been informative, they only provide a snapshot in time of the conditions at a limited number of facilities and do not answer major questions about decision-making that caused children and families to be held by DHS in unsafe and poor conditions. An independent Commission will shine greater light on the conditions at these facilities and assist Congress in determining what further action to take. Additional reporting requirements will do the same. The creation of an independent ombudsman for border and immigration-related concerns, furthermore, will help hold CBP and ICE accountable in providing a new outlet for complaints, and input into border policymaking from a newly-created border community stakeholder advisory committee would help ensure that perspectives of border communities inform policy.

This Act seeks to put an end to several of the Department's most senseless and harmful policies to migrant families and children. First, it bars the practice of separating families except in limited circumstances and ensures that any separated families will remain linked in a newly-created tracked system. The Administration's Zero Tolerance family separation policy has caused lifelong harm to children. To date, according to the HHS OIG, the number of children separated from their families under that policy is still unknown and continues to grow (currently to more than 2,700).⁴ Even in just the three months following the end of Zero Tolerance, more than 100 additional children were separated from their parents.⁵ Both the Government Accountability Office (GAO) and the DHS OIG found that once those children were separated from their parents, the Department was woefully unprepared to track, link, and reunite those families.⁶ Accordingly, a policy that limits this practice is necessary.

Second, H.R. 2203 prohibits CBP from continuing the practice of metering to regulate the flow of asylum seekers at ports of entry. Reports suggest that this practice puts children and families in danger by pushing asylum seekers, who would otherwise seek legal entry into the United States, to cross the border illegally in more remote locations.⁷ Those who wait in Juarez, Mexico, one of the most dangerous cities in the world, are often living on the streets, as shelters are full and are at risk of assault, theft, kidnapping, and rape.⁸ In recognition of the need for additional capacity at ports of entry with the termination of metering, the Act increases the number of CBP Officers by 600 over the prior year. Importantly, together with this staffing increase, the measure proportionally increases (by 30 positions) staffing within the Office of Professional Responsibility to effectively address any misconduct issues.

Third, as previously noted, CBP facilities at the border have become dangerously overcrowded. Codifying CBP's written policy of not holding migrants in short term detention for more than 72 hours absent exigent circumstances outside the Secretary's control is necessary to alleviate this safety hazard. To ensure appropriate care of children, families and other individuals in short-term custody, the Act directs DHS to enter into memoranda of agreement and contracts to procure the services of State-licensed, vetted, and qualified contractors with health care, public health, social work,

U.S. House of Representatives
H2-176 Ford House Office Building
Washington, DC 20515

Dear Mr. Chairman:

This is to advise you that the Committee on the Judiciary has now had an opportunity to review the provisions in H.R. 2203, the "Homeland Security Improvement Act" that fall within our Rule X jurisdiction. I appreciate your consulting with us on those provisions. The Judiciary Committee has no objection to your including them in the bill for consideration on the House floor, and to expedite that consideration is willing to waive sequential referral, with the understanding that we do not thereby waive any future jurisdictional claim over those provisions or their subject matters.

In the event a House-Senate conference on this or similar legislation is convened, the Judiciary Committee reserves the right to request an appropriate number of conferees to address any concerns with these or similar provisions that may arise in conference.

Please place this letter into the Congressional Record during consideration of the measure on the House floor. Thank you for the cooperative spirit in which you have worked regarding this matter and others between our committees.

Sincerely,

Jerrold Nadler

Dear Chairman Nadler:

Thank you for your letter regarding H.R. 2203, the "Homeland Security Improvement Act." The Committee on Homeland Security recognizes that the Committee on the Judiciary has a jurisdictional interest in H.R. 2203, and I appreciate your effort to allow this bill to be considered on the House floor.

I concur with you that forgoing action on the bill does not in any way prejudice the Committee on the Judiciary with respect to its jurisdictional prerogatives on this bill or similar legislation in the future, and I would support your effort to seek appointment of an appropriate number of conferees to any House - Senate conference involving this legislation.

I will include our letters on H.R. 2203 in the Congressional Record during floor consideration of this bill. I look forward to working with you on this legislation and other matters of great importance to this nation.

MINORITY VIEWS

The majority is rushing H.R. 2203 to the House floor at the urging of the Speaker. This partisan bill is riddled with absurd policy provisions that undermine border security, endanger the lives of children, malign law enforcement officers, and threaten the safety of our communities. Worst of all, the bill does nothing to address the root cause of the border crisis: our broken immigration system.

In an effort to quickly ram H.R. 2203 through the Committee, the majority violated rules which require Members be provided the legislation 48 hours in advance of its consideration. A new amendment in the nature of a substitute to H.R. 2203 was not provided to Members of the Committee until late in the afternoon on July 16th, just a few hours before the markup on the morning of July 17th. This new amendment heavily modified every substantive provision of the bill and added several new provisions. Ranking Member Rogers raised a point of order against the amendment's consideration and Chairman Thompson sustained that point of order. Chairman Thompson then invoked House rules to force consideration of the amendment.

U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP) and U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) have repeatedly informed the Committee and the public that criminals are telling migrants in Central America to use children as "visas" because an accompanying child will help expedite the migrant's release into the interior of the United States. This propaganda encourages smuggling and trafficking of migrant children. Rather than providing law enforcement the tools to end the scourge of child smuggling, H.R. 2203 appallingly exacerbates the problem. The bill appears to undermine the ability of trained federal law enforcement officers to remove minors from suspected human traffickers, smugglers, and other harmful criminals. Under section 205 of the bill, only state courts or welfare agencies are authorized to remove a child parent or family member (defined in the bill to include cousins). The bill does not contemplate that the parent or family member may be fraudulently posing as a parent or legal guardian of the minor when in fact they are a smuggler. In May 2019, DHS federal law enforcement officers caught a Honduran man trying to enter the country with an unrelated 6 month-old infant. Had this bill then been law, that 6 month-old infant may have remained in the hands of a smuggler and in immediate danger until a state court could rule on the matter.

H.R. 2203 doubles down on catch and release policies that undermine the safety of our communities. The bill expressly authorizes CBP the option to release migrants in their custody after 72 hours regardless of whether they've been screened to determine criminal history. Mass releases created by this provision could overwhelm border communities and fully degrade DHS' ability to maintain order along the southwest border. It will also empower smuggler propaganda and fuel more waves of migrants to attempt dangerous border crossings.

Compounding the problem, H.R. 2203 terminates the Migrant Protection Protocol (MPP) with Mexico. This important program launched by DHS in December 2018, has helped alleviate dangerous overcrowding at our ports of entry and provided migrants with a fair and orderly process to request asylum. The bill goes even further by forcing CBP to grant entry to every single migrant that presents at U.S. ports of entry regardless of facility capacity.

H.R. 2203 deliberately slows DHS border security and enforcement operations on and near the border by requiring federal, state, and local law enforcement officers to comply with a dozen new administrative requirements for routine traffic stops or encounters. Officers conduct hundreds of these encounters on a daily basis across the United States. This provision appears designed to shut down border and immigration enforcement operations by drowning law enforcement in paperwork. Law enforcement operations are further hindered by the bill's duplicative training mandates on ICE and CBP officers that would take them off the line of duty for several days when the agencies are already experiencing staffing shortages.

H.R. 2203 assumes the worst about the men and women of Customs and Border Protection. Its array of new mandates are designed to second-guess officers and insert open-border activists into the law enforcement process. Most notably, the bill creates an extra-judicial and unconstitutional Office of the Ombudsman. The office is designed to investigate complaints made by migrants against officers and unilaterally provide whatever remedies the office deems appropriate. The office's complaint process includes no privacy or due process protections for DHS personnel wrongly or frivolously accused of wrongdoing. The office's nebulously drafted "redress" authority could include adjustment of immigration status or monetary damages outside of those contemplated by the Constitution or federal law.

H.R. 2203 creates a partisan investigative commission that undermines Congress' Article I responsibility to oversee the executive. The commission is stacked with Democrat-picked commissioners empowered to "investigate" President Trump's handling of the border crisis. 6 of 10 members would be Democrats, with the Chairman appointed by the Speaker. Commissioners are not required to have the any border security or law enforcement experience. The commission's scope and mission presuppose answers to complex questions and ignore the impact of our broken immigration system on migrant flows. The entire title represents an abdication of the Homeland Security Committee's responsibility for oversight of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS).

Finally, H.R. 2203 contains a number of prejudiced reporting requirements, among them a lopsided report on migrant deaths that ignores the role that smugglers, long journeys, and rugged terrain can play in a migrant's health when they arrive at our border. These biased reporting requirements ignore the fundamental factor driving the current humanitarian and national security crisis on our border: broken immigration laws.

Each provision in H.R. 2203 is designed to restrict DHS' from conducting its critical border security mission. Rather than alleviating the crisis by reforming our broken immigration system and providing law enforcement new authorities and resources to secure our border, the bill exacerbates the crises by enabling the transnational criminal organizations, smugglers, and traffickers that endanger the safety and security of migrants and American citizens.

MIKE ROGERS.
