I. PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 728, the “Title VIII Nursing Workforce Reauthorization Act of 2019”, was introduced on January 23, 2019, by Reps. David Joyce (R–OH), Doris Matsui (D–CA), Rodney Davis (R–IL), Kathy Castor (D–FL), David McKinley (R–WV), Tulsi Gabbard (D–HI), Suzanne Bonamici (D–OR), and Lauren Underwood (D–IL) and referred to the Committee on Energy and Commerce. H.R. 728 would reauthorize funding at the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) for nursing workforce, education, and training programs. The five-year reauthorization includes annual authorizations of: $77,585,000 for advanced education nursing grants; $18,037,000 for nursing workforce diversity programs; $43,590,000 for nurse education, practice, and quality grants; $90,620,000 for Nurse Corps loan repayment and scholarship programs; and $29,640,000 for the nurse faculty loan repayment program. The bill also recognizes the role of clinical nurse specialist programs and makes technical changes to existing nurse workforce programs to recognize diversity in the nursing profession and nurses practicing in a variety of settings.

II. BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Nurses provide frontline care in a variety of settings and often work to supervise and coordinate care for patients. The Bureau of Labor Statistics projects that an additional 203,700 nurses will be needed every year to meet demand, filling newly created positions, and replacing retiring nurses.¹ While there is a growth in enrollment at nursing schools, enrollment is not growing fast enough to meet the projected demand for nurses.² Title VIII of the Public Health Service Act (PHSA) includes programs administered by HRSA to support and educate nursing students and professionals through targeted grant programs.

H.R. 728 reauthorizes and updates Title VIII programs that will help to bolster the recruitment, training, and support for nursing students and professionals. In addition, H.R. 728 includes provisions that recognize clinical nurse specialist programs and the need for diversity in the nursing profession, and improved access to nurses in rural and underserved areas.

Advanced Nursing Education Programs include Advanced Nursing Workforce Education (ANEW) grants, the Advanced Nursing Education Nurse Practitioner Residency (ANE–NPR) program, the Advanced Nursing Education for Sexual Assault Nurse Examiners (ANE–SANE) program, and the Nurse Anesthetist Traineeships (NAT) Program. ANEW grants prepare primary care advanced practice registered nursing (APRN) students to practice in rural and underserved settings through academic and clinical training.³ The ANE–NPR program funds 12-month nurse practitioner (NP) residency programs to help primary care NPs transition to community-based settings.⁴ The ANE–SANE program funds grants to support partnerships that will recruit, train, and retain nurses to conduct sexual assault forensic examinations.⁵ Nurse Anesthetist Traineeships provide clinical training in medically underserved communities and/or primary care settings during the academic year.⁶

The nursing profession is predominantly white and female.⁷ To help alleviate health disparities, observers have long promoted increasing the diversity of the nursing workforce.⁸ In addition to reducing disparities, researchers have noted that achieving greater diversity among health care workforce will produce a more culturally competent workforce, improve access to high-quality care for the medically underserved, increase the breadth and depth of the U.S. health research agenda, and expand the pool of medically trained executives and policymakers ready to serve in leadership positions in the healthcare system.⁹ Despite the benefits of a more diverse workforce, health professional schools including nursing schools, have struggled to diversify the pool of health professional students and the future healthcare workforce.¹⁰ The Nursing Workforce Diversity Program supports the goal of diversifying the nursing student pool by providing stipends, scholarships, and a variety of pre-entry preparation, advanced education preparation, and re-

tion activities for individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds, including racial and ethnic minorities who are underrepresented among registered nurses (RNs).¹¹

Nurse Education, Practice, Quality, and Retention programs aim to increase the number of Bachelor of Science in Nursing students who receive clinical experience and training in medically underserved and rural communities, with the goal of increasing the number of students who choose to work in those settings upon graduation.¹² These programs include the Behavioral Health Integration Program, the Registered Nurses in Primary Care Training Program, and the Veteran Registered Nurses in Primary Care Training Program.

The Nurse Corps aims to support nurses and nursing students working in communities with inadequate access to care and limited access to behavioral health services by funding scholarships or educational loan repayment.¹³ In exchange for a scholarship or loan repayment, Nurse Corps members serve in Critical Shortage Facilities in health professional shortage areas and medically underserved communities.¹⁴

To promote continued growth of nursing workforce, the Nurse Faculty Loan Program awards funds to nursing schools that provide student loans to graduate-level nursing students who are interested in serving as faculty. After graduating, loan recipients are eligible to have up to 85 percent of loan principal and interest canceled in exchange for serving as full-time faculty at an accredited school of nursing.¹⁵

XV. SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE LEGISLATION

Section 1. Short title

Section 1 designates that the short title may be cited as the “Title VIII Nursing Workforce Reauthorization Act of 2019” and lists a table of contents.

Section 2. General provisions

Section 2 states general provisions. These include an amendment to general application language which would require that all applications submitted for grants under Title VIII programs “shall address relevant national nursing needs that the project will address and how the project aligns with . . . national nursing service goals.” Additionally, there is a requirement that funds awarded for grants under Title VIII should only be used to supplement, not supplant non-Federal funds otherwise available for projects. Furthermore, this section requires the Secretary to annually evaluate programs and projects operated by grantees and would require an annual report on nursing workforce programs.

Section 3. Nurse practitioners, nurse midwives, nurse anesthetists, and other advanced education nurses

Section 3 makes technical changes to Advance Nursing Education Programs and includes authorized clinical nurse specialist programs as an eligible program for support. Section 3 provides an annual authorization of $77,585,000 for Advanced Nursing Education Programs each fiscal year 2020 through 2024.

Section 4. Increasing nursing workforce diversity
