Purpose and Summary

H.R. 3942, the “Preventing Online Sales of E-Cigarettes to Children Act” would amend current law to tackle problems that have arisen from the online sale of e-cigarettes. Specifically, the bill would amend the Jenkins Act to extend the statute that regulates the “delivery sale” of cigarettes to minors to cover e-cigarettes, broadly defined.¹

Background and Need for the Legislation

Excise taxes are imposed on the sale of tobacco products at the federal, state, and local levels.² The Jenkins Act regulates sales of tobacco products via interstate shipment. Congress passed the Act in 1949 in part to reduce state tax losses resulting from tax arbitrage through mail order interstate cigarette sales.³ The Act requires an interstate cigarette retailer to register with states in which it advertises or sells cigarettes and to file a report with the state tax administrator providing the quantity of cigarettes sold to a customer, as well as the customer’s name and address.⁴ Violation of the Act is a federal felony punishable by up to three years in prison.⁵

Starting in the mid-1990s, the Internet became a popular shopping destination for cigarette buyers because of the ability to evade regulation. A 1997 survey identified 13 online cigarette vendors.⁶ A decade later, that number had multiplied to over 700.⁷ To address issues pertaining to internet sales of cigarettes, Congress enacted the PACT Act.

The PACT Act became law in 2010 with broad bipartisan support. It passed the Senate by unanimous consent⁸ and then the House by a vote of 387 to 25.⁹ The PACT Act was enacted to help deal with problems stemming from the internet sales of cigarettes. There were two principal problems with these sales—deficiencies in verifying the age of purchasers to prevent underage sales and evasion of state and local taxes on the sales. The PACT Act addressed each of these problems. It required internet sellers of cigarettes to ensure that delivery agents checked identification in person on the delivery of the product.¹⁰ It also required internet sellers to collect and remit state and local taxes on their sales of cigarettes.¹¹ In addition, the PACT Act increased the penalty for violation of the Jenkins Act from a misdemeanor with a statutory maximum of six months to a felony punishable by up to three years in prison.¹² The PACT Act also added civil penalties.¹³ The PACT Act also made it

In the case of a delivery seller, civil penalties are the greater of $5,000 (for a first violation) or $10,000 (for subsequent violations), or 2% of the gross sales of cigarettes or smokeless tobacco of the delivery seller during the 1-year period ending on the date of the violation. 15 U.S.C. § 377(b)(1)(A). In the case of possible to levy criminal fines under title 18,¹⁴ in addition to any civil penalties.¹⁵

The market for tobacco products has changed since enactment of the PACT Act in 2010 and there are particular concerns about the growing use of e-cigarettes among young people. According to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), e-cigarettes have been the most commonly used tobacco product among youth since 2014.¹⁶ The Surgeon General has concluded that e-cigarette use among youth and young adults is a public health concern; exposure to nicotine during adolescence can cause addiction and can harm the developing adolescent brain.¹⁷ The 2018 National Youth Tobacco Survey (NYTS)¹⁸ found an alarming surge in the use of e-cigarettes by youth in just one year: between 2017 and 2018, there was a 78% increase in e-cigarette use among high school students and a 48% increase among middle school students.¹⁹ This increase is likely a result of the recent popularity of e-cigarettes shaped like a USB flash drive; these products can be used discreetly, have a high nicotine content, and come in flavors that appeal to young people.²⁰ Of the 5 million youth who used any tobacco product in 2018, over 3.6 million youth used e-cigarettes in 2018.²¹

Alarming, in the summer of 2019, doctors began to see hundreds of cases where patients—often previously healthy young adults—showed up in emergency rooms, suddenly stricken with dangerous respiratory damage. As of October 1, 2019, 1,080 lung injury cases associated with using e-cigarette or vaping products had been reported to the CDC from 48 states and one U.S. territory.²² Eighteen deaths have been confirmed in 15 states.²³

Data from the CDC, as well as the Food and Drug Administration and the National Institutes of Health, suggest that an overwhelming majority of young people who use e-cigarettes do not get them from brick and mortar retail establishments.²⁴ Given the evidence that internet e-cigarette vendors do not reliably screen underage purchasers, this data suggests that many young people purchase these products online. Curbing internet sales is, therefore, one way for Congress to address the prevalent use of e-cigarettes by young people. Because the Jenkins Act regulates the delivery sale of cigarettes to minors—and the PACT Act extended the Jenkins Act to cover Internet sales—the amendments proposed by H.R. 3942 are an appropriate and effective vehicle to extend coverage of the Jenkins Act to regulating the delivery sale of e-cigarettes.

Hearings

The Committee held no hearings on H.R. 3942.

Committee Consideration

On Tuesday, October 16, 2019, the Committee met in open session and ordered H.R. 3942 favorably reported by a voice vote, a quorum being present.

Government Accountability Office to Congress pursuant to section 21 of Public Law 111–139, or a program related to a program identified in the most recent Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance.

Performance Goals and Objectives

The Committee states that pursuant to clause 3(c)(4) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, H.R. 3942 would amend the statute that regulates the “delivery sale” of cigarettes to minors to cover e-cigarettes, thereby protecting the health and safety of minors.

Advisory on Earmarks

In accordance with clause 9 of rule XXI of the Rules of the House of Representatives, H.R. 3942 does not contain any congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined in clause 9(d), 9(e), or 9(f) of rule XXI.

Section-by-Section Analysis

The following discussion describes the bill as reported by the Committee.

Sec. 1. Short title. Section 1 sets forth the short title of the bill as the “Preventing Online Sales of E-Cigarettes to Children Act.”

Sec. 2. Amendments to the Jenkins Act. Section 2 would amend the Jenkins Act by redefining the term “cigarette” to include “an electronic nicotine delivery system.” Section 2 would further define “electronic nicotine delivery system” as a “any electronic device that, through an aerosolized solution, delivers nicotine, flavor, or any other substance to the user inhaling the device and includes e-cigarettes, e-hookahs, e-cigars, vape pens, advanced refillable personal vaporizers, electronic pipes,” and any component thereof. Section 2 includes exceptions for products approved by the FDA for sale as tobacco cessation products or for other therapeutic purposes, and marketed and sold solely for such purposes. Section 2 would also mandate that any seller shipping a package containing cigarettes or smokeless tobacco include on any bill of lading and on the outside of the shipping package a label stating that the contents may include nicotine. Section 2 would take effect 90 days after the date of enactment of the bill.

Sec. 3. Nonmailability of Electronic Nicotine Delivery Systems. Section 3 would direct the U.S. Postal Service to promulgate regulations to clarify the applicability of the prohibition on mailing cigarettes under 18 U.S.C. § 1716E to electronic nicotine delivery systems. Section 3 would make 18 U.S.C. § 1716E applicable to electronic nicotine delivery systems on and after the date the U.S. Postal Service promulgates these regulations.

(B) LIST CONTENTS.—To the extent known, the Attorney General of the United States shall include, for each delivery seller on the list described in subparagraph (A)—

(ii) all addresses from which the delivery seller does or has done business, or ships or has shipped cigarettes or smokeless tobacco;

(iii) the website addresses, primary e-mail address, and phone number of the delivery seller; and

(iv) any other information that the Attorney General of the United States determines would facilitate compliance with this subsection by recipients of the list.

(C) UPDATING.—The Attorney General of the United States shall update and distribute the list described in subparagraph (A) at least once every 4 months, and may distribute the list and any updates by regular mail, electronic mail, or any other reasonable means, or by providing recipients with access to the list through a non-public website that the Attorney General of the United States regularly updates.

(D) STATE, LOCAL, OR TRIBAL ADDITIONS.—The Attorney General of the United States shall include in the list described in subparagraph (A) any noncomplying delivery sellers identified by any State, local, or tribal government under paragraph (6), and shall distribute the list to the attorney general or chief law enforcement official and the tax administrator of any government submitting any such information, and to any common carriers or other persons who deliver small packages to consumers identified by any government pursuant to paragraph (6).

(E) ACCURACY AND COMPLETENESS OF LIST OF NONCOMPLYING DELIVERY SELLERS.—In preparing and revising the list described in subparagraph (A), the Attorney General of the United States shall—

(i) use reasonable procedures to ensure maximum possible accuracy and completeness of the records and information relied on for the purpose of determining that a delivery seller is not in compliance with this Act;

mail, or other means that the delivery seller is being placed on the list, which shall cite the relevant provisions of this Act and the specific reasons for which the delivery seller is being placed on the list;

(iii) provide an opportunity to the delivery seller to challenge placement on the list;

(iv) investigate each challenge described in clause (iii) by contacting the relevant Federal, State, tribal, and local law enforcement officials, and provide the specific findings and results of the investigation to the delivery seller not later than 30 days after the date on which the challenge is made; and

(v) if the Attorney General of the United States determines that the basis for including a delivery seller on the list is inaccurate, based on incomplete information, or cannot be verified, promptly remove the delivery seller from the list as appropriate and notify each appropriate Federal, State, tribal, and local authority of the determination.

(F) CONFIDENTIALITY.—The list described in subparagraph (A) shall be confidential, and any person receiving the list shall maintain the confidentiality of the list and may deliver the list, for enforcement purposes, to any government official or to any common carrier or other person that delivers tobacco products or small packages to consumers. Nothing in this section shall prohibit a common carrier, the United States Postal Service, or any other person receiving the list from discussing with a listed delivery seller the inclusion of the delivery seller on the list and the resulting effects on any services requested by the listed delivery seller.

(2) PROHIBITION ON DELIVERY.—

(A) IN GENERAL.—Commencing on the date that is 60 days after the date of the initial distribution or availability of the list described in paragraph (1)(A), no person who receives the list under paragraph (1), and no person who delivers cigarettes or smokeless tobacco to consumers, shall knowingly complete, cause to be completed, or complete its portion of a delivery of any package for any person whose name and address are on the list, unless—
