BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

Women have served in every American conflict since the Revolutionary War; among them, Deborah Sampson and Margaret Corbin, who were the first American women known to have served in combat, earning pensions for their service during the Revolutionary War. There are over two million women veterans in the United States, and they are the fastest-growing demographic in both the military and veteran population.

Despite centuries of honorable service, the women who serve our country are still often treated as second class servicemembers and veterans. A visible minority in the military, women experience everyday indignities that make them feel like they do not belong. Even more, the VA system remains rife with barriers to care.

Despite representing a rapidly growing veteran population, women veterans' needs continue to be under-resourced by VA in a manner that does not meet the pace of growth in the population. This has led to many systematic deficiencies including longer wait times, staffing shortages, and facilities that fail to meet basic environment-of-care standards.

Women are far more likely to use community care than male veterans, largely to receive basic preventive services such as Pap smears and mammograms, as well as maternity care. While community care can provide a more geographically convenient alternative to driving a long distance to a VA facility, women veterans cite frustration with the lack of cultural competency and awareness at non-VA providers.

In general, women veterans who use VA are largely satisfied with their care. However, only 25% of women veterans use VA. The women veterans who do not, cite lack of awareness about eligibility and gender specific care, or perception that the environment will be hostile to women.

While the quality of health care for women veterans at VA is high, numerous barriers remain to accessing it. The greatest barrier of all is a culture that condones sexual harassment and assault, often by other veterans. A February 2019 VA study found that at least 1 in 4 women veterans experience sexual or gender-based harassment at VA facilities, primarily from other veterans. Currently, VA has no system-wide process to address mandatory training, including bystander intervention, clear reporting mechanisms, or means of holding perpetrators accountable.

In addition, many of the gaps in resources have not been properly identified by evidence-based research and reporting. This bill also requires routine reporting on several topics.

Women veterans are a visible minority while serving in the military but become invisible when they become veterans. This legislation will raise the profile of the fastest growing, most diverse subpopulation within the veteran community, and serve their needs.

TITLE I—VETERANS HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

Sec. 101. Office of Women's Health in the Department of Veterans Affairs

Women represent the fastest growing subpopulation of veterans in the nation, while the population of male veterans is growing smaller. While women veterans currently represent 10 percent of the veteran population and 8 percent of VA users, the Veterans Health Administration (VHA) budget for women's health is far less than ten percent of the overall budget. While there are numerous resources for women veterans within VHA, they are not fully aligned under a single office, without a direct line to the Undersecretary for Health (USH).

This section amends section 7306 of title 38, United States Code (USC) to establish the Office of Women’s Health reporting to the USH, to provide a central office for monitoring and encouraging the activities of the VHA with respect to the provision, evaluation, and improvement of women veterans’ health care services in the Department. This office will develop standards of care, identify deficiencies, and oversee distribution of resources and information related to women’s health, including research and education. This office will also, as part of the annual budgeting process, provide recommendations to the amount of funds for furnishing health care to women veterans, ensuring that these funds either reflect or exceed the proportion of women veterans enrolled at VA.

The Committee expects that this would ensure that VHA remains prepared to adequately serve a rapidly growing veteran population.

This section allows the USH to reorganize existing capabilities and consolidate them within one office that reports directly to the USH to avoid duplication of existing capabilities. When women veterans have access to high quality, gender specific care at VA, they choose and stay at VA. Therefore, this section ensures that at least one women’s health primary care provider is staffed at each VA medical facility. This may include either hiring new staff, or training existing staff to become women’s health primary care providers as all or part of their existing duties, as is deemed necessary based on the size of the women veteran population in a location.

This section also requires several annual reports, including reporting on the use of women veterans of health care from VA, on the models of health care facilities for women’s primary health care, and the staffing of women’s primary health care in VA medical facilities. These reports, which are deliverable to Congress, will ensure VA remains aware of changing requirements to best serve women veterans, and that Congress can resource these requirements accordingly. As women veterans are more likely to be referred to community care than male veterans, this section also requires the Secretary of Veterans Affairs (Secretary) to submit to Congress an annual report on access of women veterans to gender specific services under community care contracts.

This section also includes reporting on accessibility and treatment options for women veterans. This report will include an assessment of wheelchair accessibility of women’s health centers; an assessment of accessibility to radiology and mammography, including door sizes and hoists; options for women veterans to access mental health primary care providers; and options for clothing for women at medical centers. In addition to annual reports, the Secretary shall submit the initial required report within 180 days of enactment.

Sec. 102. Expansion of capabilities of women veterans call center to include text messaging

This section requires VA include text messaging capability at the Women Veterans Call Center.

The Committee is committed to reducing all barriers to accessing information related to benefits and healthcare, and that includes expanding methods of communication. Therefore, this provision codifies into law a capability that was introduced in mid-2019.

Sec. 103. Requirement for Department of Veterans Affairs internet website to provide information on services available to women veterans

While VA already has several websites with information regarding women veterans, including ongoing research, initiatives from the Center for Women Veterans, VA Advisory Committee on Women Veterans, and facility-specific information, this information is not in a centralized location, and is not always kept up to date.

This section requires the Secretary to survey all websites of the Department and publish a centralized website where women veterans can access the various information, pages, and resources throughout VA's online presence. This webpage must include all the locations of each VA Medical Center (VAMC) and Community-Based Outpatient Clinic (CBOC), as well as the name and contact information of each women's health coordinator, as well as contact information for staff from the Veterans Benefits Administration (VBA) and National Cemetery Administration (NCA). This section also requires VA to update the webpage at least every 90 days.

Sec. 104. Report on Women Veterans Retrofit Initiative

Two shortfalls routinely identified regarding provision of health care to women veterans are staff shortages and a lack of space to accommodate growth in the women veterans population. In addition, when VAs expand their capacity to support the women veterans population, more women choose VA for their healthcare. The Committee intends for VHA to comprehensively identify opportunities to retrofit existing facilities. This section requires reporting on retrofitting facilities to address women veterans' healthcare, including how the Secretary prioritizes existing medical facilities to support provision of care to women veterans in comparison to other requirements, and a five-year plan for retrofitting medical facilities. This section will identify all existing needs across the Department to upgrade existing facilities in order to best allocate resources to meet those demands.

Sec. 105. Establishment of environment of care standards and inspections at Department of Veterans Affairs medical centers

Too often, VA facilities fail to meet their own established environment of care standards to ensure adequate patient safety and privacy. The Committee expects VA to both adhere to these standards and hold facility directors accountable for meeting these standards. These standards include existence of privacy curtains, placement of examination tables, and locking doors. There is minimal accountability for facility directors who do not prioritize meeting these standards. This section requires adherence to environment of care standards and accountability and transparency for adherence to those standards.

Sec. 106. Additional funding for primary care and emergency care clinicians in Women Veterans Health Care Mini-Residency Program

The Committee recognizes that one of the most efficient means of expanding gender-specific primary care for women veterans is to train existing staff in women's primary care. In order to address staffing shortfalls in women's primary care, VHA created the Women Veterans Health Care Mini-Residency Program in order to train existing VA women's providers in women's health. Since 2010, VA's Women Veterans Health Care Mini Residency Program has trained over 6,000 clinicians. In 2016, VA held the first mental-health focused Women's Health Mini-Residency, and in 2018, partnered with the Department of Defense (DoD) for the first time. The Women's Health Mini Residency Program reinforces the expertise of VA's primary care teams and women's health providers to address the full range of women veterans' medical needs. Specifically, the program gives VA's women's health providers experience in conducting breast and pelvic exams with the help of trained Gynecological Teaching Associates. This section ensures additional funding for primary care and emergency care clinicians in the Women Veterans' Health Care Mini-Residency Program.

Sec. 107. Establishment of women veteran training module for non-Department of Veterans Affairs health care providers

Women veterans are more likely to be referred to community care than male veterans because of a lack of gender-specific services such as pre- and post-natal care, gynecology and mammography. Women veterans who have used both VA and non-VA care express a lack of cultural competency in community providers, including a lack of trauma-informed care. The Committee expects that community care providers who serve women veterans should have a basic competency in serving women veterans, and should receive the same training that VA providers receive regarding this population. This section establishes a women veteran training module for non-VA health care providers providing health care to veterans under laws administered by the Secretary. This training module will provide a mechanism for continuing medical education to community providers in order to have an understanding of the experience, healthcare needs, and cultural competencies required to best serve women veterans.

TITLE II—MEDICAL CARE

Sec. 201. Improved access to Department of Veterans Affairs medical care for women veterans

At many facilities, a part-time women's health provider is only available for several hours during a certain day of the week. This creates a barrier to care for women veterans, who are more likely than male veterans to have multiple outside commitments, including a combination of work, school, and childcare. It also means that the actual wait times for an appointment experienced by women veterans may be longer than reported by VA as their outside obligations make it challenging to find a convenient appointment time. These barriers result in delayed care or avoiding care altogether.

In order to reduce these barriers, this section ensures that women's health primary care is available during regular business hours; requires a study by the Secretary on the use of extended hours as a means of reducing care barriers, and the need for extended hours, and requires this study be reported to Congress. Under existing law, there is no mandate for women's health primary care to be available at every medical facility of the Department, whereas primary care is available for men at every facility.

This section addresses that inequity to ensure that women's health primary care is available at the 10% of facilities that do not have that capability and serves the 24% of women veterans who use VA and do not have an assigned women's health primary care provider. In addition, the intent behind this section is that those services be available during all regular business hours. In order to meet this requirement VA may hire new full- or part-time providers or train existing providers through the Women Veterans Health Care Mini-Residency Program.

This section also requires that the Secretary conduct a study to assess extended hours as a means of reducing barriers to care such as increasing appointment availability before or after working hours or on weekends.

Sec. 202. Counseling and treatment for sexual trauma

Under interpretation of current law, members of the National Guard and Reserve are being turned away from Vet Centers for counseling for Military Sexual Trauma (MST) on the grounds that they have not met a minimum amount of time on Title 10 orders. Many of these members are then asked to produce a Line of Duty determination, which in addition to being a lengthy process, eliminates their right to file a Restricted Report. This section recognizes that Reservists and members of the National Guard who experience MST are among some of the most vulnerable servicemembers due to their lack of eligibility for other resources that their active duty counterparts have access to. This section ensures that those current and former members of the Reserve and National Guard have access to the most critical of mental health services, regardless of their time in service or where they served. Recognizing that many former members of the armed forces who experienced MST may not otherwise meet the definition of veteran as defined of section 101 (2) in Title 38, this section also expands MST counseling at Vet Centers to all former members of the armed forces, regardless of discharge status, so long as they did not receive a Dishonorable Discharge or a discharge by court-martial.

Sec. 203. Counseling in retreat settings for women veterans and other individuals

This section makes permanent a successful pilot program to provide readjustment counseling to women veterans, and expands it to other populations. Nationwide, the Committee has heard from women veterans that having women-only programming has been a significant protective factor for mental health. These programs reduce isolation and invisibility, two factors that are most detrimental to mental health to women veterans.

During the last 7 years, Readjustment Counseling Service (RCS) has provided 15 retreats to approximately 400 recently returning women veterans. Pre-retreat assessments and post-retreat evaluations have shown significant decrease in posttraumatic stress symptomology, and excerpts from feedback forms illustrate the positive experiences of participants. This section not only makes the program permanent, but authorizes VA to expand counseling in retreat settings to other veterans, former members of the armed forces, and their families, including survivors, dependents, spouses, and partners. In order to maintain the integrity of the original program, this section also requires that women-only cohorts continue in order to maintain this impactful resource for women veterans. The Committee intends for VA to identify a broad range of recreational therapy activities to best serve these populations.

Sec. 204. Improvement of health care services provided to newborn children by the Department of Veterans Affairs

Women veterans often experience complicated pregnancies and births, and therefore this section ensures that they will be covered should an emergency arise. This section both doubles the amount of time of coverage for all newborn children born to women veterans covered by VA. In addition, it closes a loophole that was impeding coverage for medically necessary emergency transportation for veterans and their newborns. Many women veterans are experiencing indebtedness due to hospital bills arising from these emergency situations, and this section also provides retroactive reimbursement for this circumstance dating back to May 5, 2010.

TITLE III—REPORTS AND OTHER MATTERS

Subtitle A—Reports

Sec. 301. Assessment of effects of intimate partner violence on women veterans by Advisory Committee on Women Veterans

The VA Advisory Committee on Women Veterans assesses and advises the Secretary on the needs of women veterans, with respect to VA programs such as compensation, rehabilitation, outreach, and health care. Data shows that women veterans are more likely to experience intimate partner violence (IPV) than women who did not serve in the military. This section adds IPV to one of the topics surveyed by the Advisory Committee on Women Veterans.

Sec. 302. Study on staffing of Women Veteran Program Manager program at medical centers of the Department of Veterans Affairs and training of staff

The Women Veteran Program Manager (WVPM) is a largely successful program in VHA, however the Committee has learned that there are numerous opportunities to improve this program to ensure the program has the appropriate impact at each location. Each VAMC nationwide is required to employ a WVPM to assist women veterans in identifying and coordinating the services available to them. This measure requires VA to assess the staffing needs of Women Veterans Program Managers at each VAMC. The Committee expects VA to identify if the WVPM has sufficient access to the Medical Director, whether the position is being used as a career milestone for clinical staff, rather than the intended purpose of serving women veterans, whether the position has or needs a budget, and identifying whether the position is at the appropriate seniority to be able to meaningfully advocate for women veterans. Additionally, the Secretary is to assess the feasibility of providing each VAMC with a Women Veterans Program Ombudsman to act as a single point for advocating on behalf of women veterans regarding patient experience.

Sec. 303. Report on availability of prosthetic items for women veterans from the Department of Veterans Affairs

Nationwide, women veterans express frustration with the lack of availability of suitable prosthetic items to specifically meet their needs. Some women in the amputee care program have expressed frustration that prostheses cannot fit women's shoes (such as high heels). There are a wide range of prosthetics provided by VA in addition to artificial limbs. This section requires that VA report on the availability of prosthetic items for women veterans. This includes the availability of preferred prosthetic items, for example, if women veterans who require cranial medical units (or wigs) have the ability to use their preferred vendor for wigs made from human hair. This section also mandates VA report on efforts on research, development, and employment of 3D printing to provide prosthetic items for women veterans, and survey 50,000 veterans in the amputee care program, with an oversampling of women.

Sec. 304. Study of barriers for women veterans to health care from the Department of Veterans Affairs

In order to identify the future needs of women veterans, it is necessary to periodically conduct independent assessments of this population. This section mandates that VA build upon past studies by using an outside entity to conduct a survey on a statistically significant number of women veterans that both utilize and decline to utilize VA's health care services, which have been conducted with a periodicity of every 5–7 years. This survey includes questions from past surveys, and builds upon the survey to reflect changes in existing law, such as expansion of community care under the MISSION Act, and a question regarding the perception of the motto of VA.

Sec. 305. Report regarding veterans who receive benefits under laws administered by the Secretary of Veterans Affairs

This section requires the Secretary to publish a report regarding veterans who are currently receiving benefits, including the Transition Assistance Program (TAP). This report will include data regarding veterans and their sex, minority group member status, and by both categories, excluding personally identifiable information. The report will identify any disparities in the use of benefits, analysis of the cause of those disparities, and proposed recommendations to address those disparities so that VA can best tailor outreach efforts to reach veterans who are underutilizing benefits.

Sec. 306. Study on Women Veteran Coordinator program

Women Veterans Coordinators (WVCs) at VBA are currently an unfunded position, diminishing the impact of the role. Their purpose is to serve as the primary point of contact for women veterans and conduct outreach in their communities to connect women veterans with their benefits. This section will help understand shortfalls in order to adequately resource this position. Unlike a number of roles in VHA, such as the WVPM or the MST Coordinator, WVCs are neither a full-time nor part-time position as a share (i.e. 0.25) of a full-time position. As a result, reports from the field reflect that WVCs execute their outreach duties on nights and weekends unpaid, or do not perform any specific duties at all.

Subtitle B—Other MattersSec. 321. Anti-harassment and anti-sexual assault policy of the Department of Veterans Affairs

Harassment and sexual assault have no place in VA, yet for too long these behaviors have been tolerated. Women, minorities, Native veterans, and lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender veterans in particular, experience especially high rates of harassment at VA, often by other veterans. In February 2019, VA released an empirical study that found that at least one in four women veterans experienced sexual or gender-based harassment at VA facilities. The Committee sent two letters to the Secretary addressing the issue of harassment, and the issue was raised frequently with the Committee.

At the Subcommittee on Health oversight hearing on May 2, 2019, women veterans shared their perspective on the issue:

Ms. Lindsay Church, Navy Veteran, Executive Director of Minority Veterans of America:

“Similar to our male counterparts, we as women veterans are immensely proud of our service and what we have done, the service and support we have offered to our nation; however, many of us experienced instances of harassment, degradation, and discrimination based on our gender identities and/or sexual orientations. We withstood and persevered those experiences, and we did so honorably.”

Ms. BriGette McCoy, Army Veteran, President, Women Veterans Social Justice Network:

“It is never clear what the outcome will be for women who reports harassment, or for the patient or employee that harasses. My personal experiences of being harassed within the VA and the discussions with other women about the need to change their appearance, come at certain times of day, switch to other hospitals, or stop going to the VA at all is another area of discussion.”

Through oversight and fact-finding, the Committee learned that not only was harassment prevalent in VA, but existing bystander intervention training was not mandatory for all employees. This meant that frontline employees such as information desk staff or custodial employees who were most likely to witness harassment in waiting areas or hallways were the least likely to receive training on how to address the issue. Furthermore, accountability measures for perpetrators were unclear. In the course of a two-week period in September 2019, three incidents made it clear that legislative action that was already in process needed to be accelerated and strengthened. First, it came to light that multiple veterans had been sexually assaulted by an employee at a VA facility in West Virginia. Second, a contract physician in San Diego pled guilty to sexually assaulting five women veterans. Finally, a committee staffer who is a veteran reported being sexually assaulted by a fellow veteran at the Washington, D.C. VA Medical Center.

In all three cases, VA employees did not immediately act upon receiving a report of a crime, and it was in part because these employees had neither received adequate training in how to respond, nor was there comprehensive policy to address these issues.

The Committee expects that VA will use all available resources to address this critical issue. As this is as much an issue of cultural transformation as it is of strengthening policy, the Committee encourages VA to include veteran service organizations, community-based organizations, and individual advocates at every step of the process of reforming VA to eliminate harassment and assault at VA.

This section builds on P.L. 112–154, section 106, which required VA to develop a policy regarding reporting on sexual assault. This requires the Secretary to establish a comprehensive policy to end harassment and sexual assault, including gender-based harassment, at any facility of the Department, including those of VA Central Office (VACO), VBA, VHA, and NCA. The intent is that the Secretary develop a standardized process, policy, and toolkit that creates system-wide standards, while also allowing local leaders to tailor as appropriate, necessary, or desired. This section also creates accountability measures for employees and contractors who fail to report, and for VA leadership who have multiple incidents in their facilities. The policy will include a process for mandatory reporting by all VA employees and contractors, mandatory training for all VA employees and contractors, including bystander intervention training, and clear reporting procedures for any non-Department individual, including a confidential reporting option, and clear reporting procedures for employees and contractors to report any witnessed incidents of harassment or assault, regardless of whether the individual affected by such harassment or sexual assault wished to report. The intent is to establish clear reporting guidelines in order to best collect data on and respond to incidents of harassment and sexual assault. In order to capture this data at multiple points, this section also mandates that VA include questions about safety at other points where satisfaction information is already collected. Recognizing that certain behaviors require cultural transformation, this section also mandates a working group that incorporates the feedback of community organizations, with the intent of ending harassment and sexual assault at VA being a whole-of-community effort that requires the active participation of veterans and other non-Department individuals.

Sec. 322. Support for organizations that have a focus on providing assistance to women veterans and their families

Women veterans comprise the fastest growing homeless population in the United States and often do not get counted as homeless because they are more likely to be sheltered with friends or family. Women veterans are also more likely to have dependent children than male veterans and be single parents. This section mandates that $20,000,000 be authorized for support for organizations that have a focus on providing assistance to women veterans and their families. The intent is to ensure VA should—to all practical extent—give preference to organizations specifically serving women in order to ensure that their needs are met, but if not available, provide the funds to organizations that address homeless women and the families as well as men.

Sec. 323. Gap analysis of Department of Veterans Affairs programs that provide assistance to women veterans who are homeless

Women veterans represent the fastest growing population of homeless individuals in the United States, yet the actual number of women veterans facing homelessness and unstable housing is unknown because women veterans are rarely included in point-in-time counts. To add to this challenge, women veterans are an invisible homeless population because they are more likely to be sheltered and living with friends or relatives. Women veterans are not able to use all homelessness programs because they often have dependent children, children of different ages and genders (male children over age 12 are often not permitted in women's shelters), because they are not comfortable using a coed facility, or because they do not yet meet the definition of homelessness, especially if they are cohabitating with a violent intimate partner. This section instructs the Secretary to complete a gap analysis of VA programs that aid women veterans who are homeless and report it to Congress. This analysis will identify areas in which these programs are successful or where they fail to meet the needs of homeless women veterans.

Sec. 324. Department of Veterans Affairs public-private partnership on legal services for women veterans

The intent is to ensure that public-private partnerships of legal services for all veterans include specific attention to the needs of women veterans. While women veterans face many similar issues in the legal system as male veterans, they are more likely to have a bad paper discharge for issues related to MST, experience intimate partner violence, and face concerns over retaining custody of their children. Many women veterans are unaware of their legal rights and therefore may avoid or delay care or support for housing instability for fear of losing custody of their children. This section establishes a partnership between the Secretary and at least one nongovernmental organization to provide legal services to women veterans, with a focus on meeting the ten highest unmet needs of women veterans in the most recently completed Community Homelessness Assessment, Local Education and Networking Groups for Veterans Survey. This establishes a partnership program that did not previously exist at all for veterans but does not intend to create a resource that is not available for all veterans.

Sec. 325. Program to assist veterans who experience intimate partner violence or sexual assault

The experience of intimate partner violence and sexual assault is especially high among those who have served in the military, and therefore additional support is required for this population. In many cases, these individuals use local non-VA resources before they learn that they are eligible for some VA benefits or health care. The Committee learned through oversight visits to VA facilities and community organizations in Anchorage, AK, Chicago, IL, Boston, MA, Wappingers Falls, NY, and Philadelphia, PA that strong partnerships between VA and community organizations are one of the most effective ways of serving survivors of intimate partner violence and sexual assault who have served in the military. These organizations connect these survivors with VBA and VHA for housing programs, disability benefits, and healthcare, but also provide community support that VA may not be able to provide. This section builds on the existing Intimate Partner Violence Coordinator program authorized by Title 38 United States Code (U.S.C.) 7301(b). This program shall assist former members of the armed forces who have experienced or are experiencing intimate partner violence or sexual assault in accessing benefits from VA. In addition to veterans as defined in section 101 (2) in Title 38, this program is intended to serve former members of the armed forces who may not otherwise meet this definition, such as members of the Reserves or National Guard who have not completed sufficient time on active duty. In addition, former members of the armed forces refers to individuals whose eligibility criterion for other veterans' benefits has not yet been determined. This program will be in collaboration with intimate violence shelters or programs, state coalitions, and other health or service providers who may be the first responders to former members of the armed forces who experience IPV.

Sec. 326. Study and task force on veterans experiencing intimate partner violence or sexual assault

In order to comprehensively address intimate partner violence and sexual assault experienced by former members of the armed forces, it's necessary to understand the scope of the issue. This section establishes a national baseline study and responsive task force. The Committee expects that the national baseline study shall comprehensively addresses all the nuances of intimate partner violence and sexual assault in this population, and build on existing research and programs that address both the experience and perpetration of intimate partner violence. The Secretary shall conduct a national baseline study of the scope of the problem of sexual assault and intimate partner violence among veterans, their spouses, or their intimate partners. Subsequently, The Secretary—in consultation with the Attorney General and Secretary of Health and Human Services—shall establish a national task force to develop comprehensive national programs that include integrating facilities, services, and benefits of the VA. The intent is for the national baseline study to establish a road map with recommendations for follow on actions for the task force.

Bill summary: H.R. 3224 would expand the medical care provided by the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) to female veterans and newborn children. The bill also would require VA to operate a counseling program in retreat settings and establish a policy to address sexual harassment and sexual assault at department facilities. In total, implementing the bill would cost $322 million over the 2020–2024 period, CBO estimates. Such spending would be subject to the appropriation of the estimated amounts.

Estimated Federal cost: The estimated budgetary effects of H.R. 3224 are shown in Table 1. The costs of the legislation fall within budget function 700 (veterans benefits and services).

Basis of estimate: For this estimate, CBO assumes the legislation will be enacted at the beginning of 2020 and that the estimated amounts will be appropriated each year. Estimated outlays are based on historical spending patterns for the affected programs.

Primary Care for Female Veterans

Section 201 would require VA to provide primary care services to female veterans at each of the department's medical centers and outpatient clinics. According to VA, the department lacks primary care physicians who specialize in health care for female veterans at 96 of its outpatient clinics. CBO expects that in 2020 VA would hire 110 additional physicians on a full-time basis to provide primary care services to female veterans. At an average compensation of $360,000, CBO estimates that employing those additional physicians would cost $144 million over the 2020–2024 period.

In addition, section 201 would require VA to study the benefits of extending the hours during which it provides health care at VA facilities and to report the results of that study to the Congress. Based on similar studies, CBO estimates that satisfying that requirement would cost $1 million over the 2020–2024 period.

In total, CBO estimates that implementing section 201 would cost $145 million over the 2020–2024 period.

Care for Newborns

Under current law, VA may pay for health care for up to seven days after birth for newborn children of female veterans who receive maternity care from the department. Section 204 would authorize VA to provide more than seven days of health care to those children. It also would allow VA to reimburse those veterans for the cost of emergency transportation of those newborn children by ambulance or airlift to receive neonatal care.

Based on data from VA, CBO estimates that 15 percent (or 580) of the 3,820 births covered by VA each year are complicated births (for example, premature delivery, low birth weight, and fetal-growth retardation) that require neonatal care for more than seven days. According to the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality, complicated births require inpatient neonatal care for an average of 18 days. Using information from VA, CBO estimates that the average daily cost for complicated births is about $3,700. After adjusting for anticipated inflation, CBO estimates that removing the seven-day limit on payments for neonatal care would cost $113 million over the 2020–2024 period.

In addition, based on data from the National Institute of Health on the frequency of neonatal transport, CBO estimates that VA would pay for about 300 new emergency transportations each year at an average cost of $1,500 per trip. As a result, CBO estimates that travel for neonatal care would cost $2 million over the 2020–2024 period.

In total, CBO estimates that implementing section 204 would cost $115 million over the 2020–2024 period.

Intimate Partner Violence and Sexual Assault

Section 325 would require VA to provide assistance to former members of the Armed Forces who have experienced intimate partner violence or sexual assault. Intimate partner violence is a type of domestic abuse that can include physical violence, sexual assaults, stalking, or psychological aggression. Since 2014, VA has operated the Intimate Partner Violence Assistance Program (IPVAP), which coordinates access to benefits such as medical treatment, counseling, and housing assistance for veterans who are victims of intimate partner violence. In 2018, VA spent $20 million for IPVAP and employed 143 coordinators at most medical centers to manage the program, train staff, and conduct outreach.

Currently, IPVAP does not serve veterans who are victims of sexual assault by someone who is not an intimate partner. The bill would require VA to expand the program to do so. Based on information from VA and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, CBO expects that VA would increase staffing by 25 percent, hiring an additional 35 personnel. At an average compensation of $152,000, CBO estimates that employing those additional coordinators would cost $25 million over the 2020–2024 period.

Counseling in Retreat Settings

Section 203 would require VA to establish a permanent program, beginning in 2021, to provide counseling in group retreat settings to veterans enrolled in the VA health care system and to eligible survivors and dependents of veterans. Participants in the program would receive services such as financial, occupational, and mental health counseling. The bill also would require VA to report to the Congress biennially on the outcomes of the program.

VA will complete the final year of a pilot program that provides similar services to female veterans at the end of 2020. According to VA, each year roughly 70 women participated in the program at three retreat settings, at an average cost of $3,500 per participant.

On the basis of information from VA, CBO expects that the department would establish the permanent program to serve about 700 veterans and dependents annually who are enrolled in the VA health care system. As a result, CBO estimates that implementing this program would cost $11 million over the 2021–2024 period, after accounting for anticipated inflation.

Sexual Harassment and Assault

Section 321 would require VA to address sexual assaults and sexual harassment that occur at department facilities. It would require VA to appoint an employee at each facility to monitor reports of sexual assault and harassment and to collect data from those reports. Under current law, VA is required to provide training to its employees on reporting sexual assault. Section 321 would require VA to also train employees on the need to report incidents of sexual harassment and on methods for intervening when they witness sexual harassment. In addition, VA would be required to report annually to the Congress on incidents of sexual assault and harassment that occur at VA facilities.

Using information from VA and studies regarding the prevalence of sexual assault and harassment in the workplace, CBO estimates that VA would need to hire the equivalent of 10 full-time staff at an average compensation of $175,000 to monitor incidents at department facilities. CBO estimates that updating the training curriculum and preparing the required reports would not significantly increase costs. In total, implementing section 321 would cost $9 million over the 2020–2024 period, CBO estimates.

Medical Residency Program

Section 106 would authorize appropriations of $1 million each year for a residency program focused on providing health care to female veterans at VA facilities. CBO estimates that implementing this section would cost $5 million over the 2020–2024 period.

Reports, Studies, and Other Administrative Requirements

The bill would require VA to conduct more than a dozen one-time and reoccurring reports and studies, and to fulfill administrative duties regarding the health care and services provided to female veterans at the department. Based on the costs of similar activities, CBO estimates that meeting those requirements would cost a total of $12 million over the 2020–2024 period.

Pay-As-You-Go considerations: None.

Increase in long-term deficits: None.

Mandates: None.

Estimate prepared by: Federal Costs: Ann E. Futrell; Mandates: Brandon Lever.

FEDERAL MANDATES STATEMENT

The Committee adopts as its own the estimate of Federal mandates regarding H.R. 3224, as amended, prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office pursuant to section 423 of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE STATEMENT

No advisory committees within the meaning of section 5(b) of the Federal Advisory Committee Act would be created by H.R. 3224, as amended.

STATEMENT OF CONSTITUTIONAL AUTHORITY

Pursuant to Article I, section 8 of the United States Constitution, H.R. 3224, as amended, is authorized by Congress' power to "provide for the common Defense and general Welfare of the United States."

APPLICABILITY TO LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

The Committee finds that H.R. 3224, as amended, does not relate to the terms and conditions of employment or access to public services or accommodations within the meaning of section 102(b)(3) of the Congressional Accountability Act.

STATEMENT ON DUPLICATION OF FEDERAL PROGRAMS

Pursuant to clause 3(c)(5) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee finds that no provision of H.R. 3224, as amended, establishes or reauthorizes a program of the Federal Government known to be duplicative of another Federal program, a program that was included in any report from the Government Accountability Office to Congress pursuant to section 21 of Public Law 111-139, or a program related to a program identified in the most recent Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance.

DISCLOSURE OF DIRECTED RULEMAKING

Pursuant to clause 3(c)(5) of rule XIII, the Committee estimates that H.R. 3224 contains no directed rule making that would require the Secretary to prescribe regulations.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE LEGISLATION

TITLE I—VETERANS HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

Sec. 101. Office of Women's Health in the Department of Veterans Affairs

Section 101 establishes the Office of Women's Health reporting to the USH, to identify and address need and deficiencies in care, and adequately allocate resources VHA. This section allows the USH to reorganize existing capabilities and consolidate them within one office that reports directly to the USH, and ensures that at least one women's health primary care provider is staffed at each VA medical facility. The reports section of this section requires reporting on women veterans' use of health care from VA, on the use of various models for providing primary to women veterans, and the staffing of women's primary health care in VA medical facilities. This section also requires the Secretary to submit to Congress an annual report on access of women veterans to gender specific services under community care contracts. This section also includes reporting on accessibility and treatment options for women veterans. This report will include an assessment of wheelchair accessibility of women's health centers; an assessment of accessibility to radiology and mammography, including door sizes and hoists; options for women veterans to access mental health primary care providers; and options for clothing for women at medical centers.

Sec. 102. Expansion of capabilities of women veterans call center to include text messaging

This statutorily requires that the Department of Veterans Affairs include text messaging capability at the Women Veterans Call Center.

Sec. 103. Requirement for Department of Veterans Affairs internet website to provide information on services available to women veterans

This section requires expansion and continuous update of VA websites to provide services available to women veterans.

Sec. 104. Report on Women Veterans Retrofit Initiative

This section requires reporting on retrofitting facilities to address women veterans' health care, and deficiencies in environments of care for women veterans in VA medical facilities.

Sec. 105. Establishment of environment of care standards and inspections at Department of Veterans Affairs medical centers

This section requires adherence to environment of care standards and accountability and transparency for adherence to those standards.

Sec. 106. Additional funding for primary care and emergency care clinicians in Women Veterans Health Care Mini-Residency Program

This section ensures additional funding for primary care and emergency care clinicians in women veterans' health care mini-residency programs.

Sec. 107. Establishment of women veteran training module for non-Department of Veterans Affairs health care providers

This section establishes a women veteran training module for non-VA health care providers.

Sec. 201. Improved access to Department of Veterans Affairs medical care for women veterans

This section ensures that women's health primary care is available during regular business hours, requires a study by the Secretary on the use of extended hours as a means of reducing care barriers, and the need for extended hours, and report this study to Congress

Sec. 202. Counseling and treatment for sexual trauma

This section expands MST counseling to members of the Reserve and National Guard.

Sec. 203. Counseling in retreat settings for women veterans and other individuals

This section expands and makes permanent the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) pilot program on counseling in retreat settings for women veterans coping with post-traumatic stress disorder and other wounds of war. In addition, this would also expand and make permanent counseling in retreat settings for all veterans and their families, while ensuring that there remain cohorts for only women veterans.

Sec. 204. Improvement of health care services provided to newborn children by the Department of Veterans Affairs

Section 204 extends coverage of newborn health care for children of veterans. Currently, veterans are only eligible to receive seven days of newborn care, after which they must find and sign up for health insurance for their newborn. This bill would double that available time to 14 days of care, providing additional time for veterans to find the best health coverage, especially during a high-stress period. Additionally, this bill requires VA to submit an annual report on the number of newborn children that have received such services. This section also ensures that qualified newborns get access to VA covered medical care including in emergency situations or when the newborn is delivered at a non-VA facility. This measure expands the fourteen days of VA provided newborn medical care (through a waiver process) for a medically necessary extension; allows VA to cover the transportation of both newborn and parents between medical facilities; streamlines billing process to remove unnecessary burdens on veterans; and authorizes the Secretary to waive any outstanding debts associated with medically-necessary emergency transportation services for a newborn incurred by the veterans.

The report will identify any disparities in the use of benefits, analysis of the cause of those disparities, and proposed recommendations to address those disparities.

mote areas, including Native Americans, reviewing availability of counseling services, and annual reporting gathered information.
