PURPOSE OF THE BILL

The purpose of H.R. 1487 is to direct the Secretary of the Interior to conduct a special resource study of portions of the Los Angeles coastal area in the State of California to evaluate alternatives for protecting the resources of the coastal area.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

The Santa Monica Mountains National Recreation Area (SMMNRA), located west of Los Angeles, California, was designated in November 1978 to preserve the area’s scenic, natural, and historic sites, and to provide recreational and scientific benefits to the region. Congress has passed multiple boundary adjustments since 1978. Today, the SMMNRA spans over 150,000 acres, encompassing 46 miles of rugged coastline, mountains from the Mojave Desert to the Channel Islands, and a unique Mediterranean-type ecosystem. Throughout history, the Santa Monica Mountains have also been home to the Chumash and Tongva people, Spanish colonists, rancheros, and homesteaders.

H.R. 1487 directs the Secretary of the Interior to conduct a special resource study of the Santa Monica Bay coastal area near Los Angeles to evaluate the national significance of the study area and to determine the suitability and feasibility of designating the study area as a unit of the National Park System.

H.R. 1487 would require the National Park Service (NPS) to conduct a special resource study of the Santa Monica Bay coastal area near Los Angeles, California. As part of that study, the NPS would evaluate alternative conservation approaches, including designating the coastal area as a unit of the National Park System. H.R. 1487 would require the NPS to report the study results, conclusions, and recommendations to the Congress.

Using information from the NPS on the cost of similar special resource studies, CBO estimates that completing the study over 5 years would cost $1 million. The NPS would use the expertise of 10 to 15 employees over different time periods to study the coastal area. Any spending would be subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is David Hughes. The estimate was reviewed by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.

2. General Performance Goals and Objectives. As required by clause 3(c)(4) of rule XIII, the general performance goals and objectives of this bill are to direct the Secretary of the Interior to conduct a special resource study of portions of the Los Angeles coastal area in the State of California to evaluate alternatives for protecting the resources of the coastal area.
