PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

The Transportation Security Administration (TSA) workforce is among the lowest paid in the Federal government and lacks basic workplace protections afforded to most other government workers. As a result, TSA struggles with low morale and high attrition. H.R. 1140, the “Rights for Transportation Security Officers Act of 2020,” seeks to provide TSA employees with the rights, protections, and benefits afforded to most other Federal workers in order to improve agency operations, workforce retention, and morale. The bill would require the Secretary of Homeland Security (DHS Secretary), within 180 days of enactment of this Act, to convert its workforce from its current personnel system to the personnel system under Title 5 of the United States Code. In carrying out the conversion to the Title 5 Federal pay scale, the DHS Secretary would be required to ensure that no employee receives a reduction in pay. Under H.R. 1140, the DHS Secretary would be required to consult with the labor organization that serves as the exclusive representative of TSA security screening personnel within 7 days of enactment of this Act on the formulation of plans to carry out the conversion.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

After the September 11, 2001 terrorist attacks, Congress established TSA with the mission of securing the Nation’s transportation systems against further attacks (See the Aviation and Transportation Security Act, Pub.L. 107–71). When creating this new agency, Congress granted TSA broad authority to create and manage its own personnel system separate from that of other executive branch agencies and the rest of the Department of Homeland Security.

Since 2001, TSA has used this authority to mostly benefit senior management, not the frontline workforce. Senior managers, for example, have been permitted to award each other with large bonuses that would be prohibited under the Title 5 personnel system. Meanwhile, TSA faces chronic, major challenges in training, hiring, and retaining frontline workers. Year after year, TSA ranks near the bottom in Federal employee morale surveys, especially regarding pay satisfaction. In March 2019, the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) Office of the Inspector General (OIG) published a report highlighting major problems TSA faces in recruiting, training, and retaining workers. The report found that, over a two-year span in Fiscal Years 2016 and 2017, approximately one in three Transportation Security Officers (TSOs) left the agency. In Fiscal Year 2017 alone, TSA spent approximately $16 million to hire and train nearly 2,000 TSOs who left within six months of being hired.

Several factors contribute to TSA’s morale and attrition problems. TSOs are among the lowest paid employees in the Federal government and receive minimal, infrequent pay increases. TSOs’ job responsibilities have grown increasingly demanding, requiring extensive training on advanced security technologies and long hours in crowded, stressful environments. In addition, TSA employees are not granted many of the basic workplace protections afforded most other Federal workers under the Title 5 personnel system. For example, TSA employees have limited options for filing workplace grievances and cannot appeal disciplinary actions to an outside third-party such as the Merit Systems Protection Board. Further, TSOs are limited in their ability to negotiate protections because it is not one of the limited issue areas for which TSA permits collective bargaining.

The “Rights for Transportation Security Officers Act of 2020” seeks to ensure that all TSA employees have access to the fair and transparent personnel system established under Title 5 of the U.S. Code. Under that Federal personnel system, TSOs and other employees would receive higher salaries as well as regular salary increases in future years. Employees would also receive access to MSPB processes and collective bargaining rights as are available to most other Federal workers.
HEARINGS

For the purposes of section 103(i) of H. Res 6. of the 116th Congress, the following hearings were used to develop H.R. 1140:

David P. Pekoske, Administrator, TSA, and Admiral Karl L. Schultz, Commandant, U.S. Coast Guard.

COMMITTEE OVERSIGHT FINDINGS

In compliance with clause 3(c)(1) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee advises that the findings and recommendations of the Committee, based on oversight activities under clause 2(b)(1) of rule X of the Rules of the House of Representatives, are incorporated in the descriptive portions of this report.

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE ESTIMATE, NEW BUDGET AUTHORITY, ENTITLEMENT AUTHORITY, AND TAX EXPENDITURES

With respect to the requirements of clause 3(c)(2) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 308(a) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 and with respect to requirements of clause (3)(c)(3) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives and section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, the Committee has requested but not received a cost estimate for this bill from the Director of the Congressional Budget Office.

FEDERAL MANDATES STATEMENT

An estimate of Federal mandates prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office pursuant to section 423 of the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act was not made available to the Committee in time for the filing of this report. The Chairman of the Committee shall cause such estimate to be printed in the Congressional Record upon its receipt by the Committee.

DUPLICATIVE FEDERAL PROGRAMS

Pursuant to clause 3(c) of rule XIII, the Committee finds that H.R. 1140 does not contain any provision that establishes or reauthorizes a program known to be duplicative of another Federal program.

PERFORMANCE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

Pursuant to clause 3(c)(4) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the objective of H.R. 1140 is to rescind the authority granted to TSA to establish and maintain a personnel system specific to TSA and to transition all TSA employees to the personnel system established under Title 5 of the U.S. Code. Transitioning TSA personnel to Title 5 will ensure all employees have access to the same rights and protections as those afforded to most other Federal employees.
ADVISORY ON EARMARKS

In compliance with rule XXI of the Rules of the House of Representatives, this bill, as reported, contains no congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined in clause 9(d), 9(e), or 9(f) of the rule XXI.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE LEGISLATION

Section 1. Short title

This section provides that this Act may be cited as the “Rights for Transportation Security Officers Act of 2020.”

Sec. 2. Definitions

This section provides the definitions of “adjusted basic pay,” “Administrator,” “covered employee,” “covered position,” “conversion date,” “2019 Determination,” “employee,” “Secretary,” and “TSA personnel management system,” as used in the Act.

Sec. 3. Conversion of TSA personnel

This section states that, as of the date of enactment of this Act, TSA may not modify its current personnel management system or establish any new personnel management policy, letter, guideline, or directive. It specifies that any authority to establish or adjust a human resources management system under chapter 97 of Title 5, U.S. Code, terminates as of the date of enactment with respect to covered employees and covered positions.

This section also states that, at a date determined the DHS Secretary but no later than 180 days after enactment, section 111(d) of the Aviation and Transportation Security Act (49 U.S.C. 44935 note) and 49 U.S.C. 114(n) are repealed. Further, on such date, all TSA personnel management policies, letters, guidelines and directives and any human resources management system established or adjusted under chapter 97 of Title 5, U.S. Code, will cease to be effective and all covered employees and positions shall become subject to the provisions of Title 5 of the U.S. Code.

This section includes safeguards for the conversion period. Specifically, it states that the DHS Secretary shall take such actions as are necessary to provide an opportunity to each covered employee with a grievance or disciplinary action (including an adverse action) pending within TSA on the date of enactment or at any time during the conversion period to have such grievance removed to proceedings pursuant to Title 5, U.S. Code, or continued within TSA. The Committee intends that disciplinary actions covered by this section to include all adverse actions, whether conduct- or performance-based, as well as appeals to such actions.

Sec. 4. Transition rules

This section states that any covered employee that is converted from a TSA personnel management system to the provisions of Title 5 of the U.S. Code shall not be subject to any reduction in the rate of adjusted basic pay payable, or total compensation provided, to such covered employee.

Additionally, the DHS Secretary is required to take such actions necessary to ensure that any annual leave, sick leave, or other paid leave accrued, accumulated, or otherwise available to a covered employee immediately before the conversion date shall remain available to the employee until used, and that the government share of any premiums or other periodic charges under chapter 89 of Title 5, U.S. Code, governing group health insurance shall remain at least the same as was the case immediately before the conversion date.

Sec. 5. Consultation requirement

This section states that the labor organization certified by the Federal Labor Relations Authority in June 2011 or its successor shall be treated as the exclusive representative of full- and part-time non-supervisory TSA personnel carrying out screening functions under section 44901 of title 49, U.S. Code, and shall be the exclusive representative of such personnel under chapter 71 of Title 5, U.S. Code, with full rights under such chapter. It further states that any collective bargaining agreement covering such personnel on the date of enactment shall remain in effect.

The section also states that, within 7 days of enactment of the Act, the DHS Secretary shall consult with the exclusive labor representative on the formulation of plans and deadlines to carry out the conversion of covered employees and covered positions. Prior to the conversion date, the Secretary would be required to provide to such representative the plans for carrying out the conversion. The Secretary would also be required to consider the views or recommendations of the exclusive representative before taking final action on any matter with respect to which the views or recommendations are presented and provide the exclusive representative a written statement of the reasons for the final actions to be taken. The section states that the provisions of the section shall cease to be effective as of the conversion date.

Sec. 6. No right to strike

This section states that nothing in the Act shall be considered to repeal or otherwise affect section 1918 of Title 18, U.S. Code (relating to disloyalty and asserting the right to strike against the Government), or section 7311 of Title 5, U.S. Code (relating to loyalty and striking), or to otherwise authorize any activity which is not permitted under either such provision of law.
Dear Mr. Chairman:

I am writing to you concerning H.R. 1140, the “Rights for Transportation Security Officers Act of 2019.” There are certain provisions in the legislation which fall within the Committee on Oversight and Reform’s jurisdiction.

MINORITY VIEWS

When Congress created the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) with enactment of the Aviation and Transportation Security Act (ATSA, Pub. L. 107–71), it recognized the criticality of providing unique authorities to ensure the agency can carry out its national security mission. These authorities provide TSA vital flexibility in the management of its personnel system so it can respond to evolving threats and best protect the traveling public.

H.R. 1140 would repeal the vital workforce flexibilities enacted under ATSA and move TSA’s personnel system under title 5, United States Code. Title 5 strictly governs the pay, benefits, and collective bargaining rights of most civilian federal employees. It fails to provide agencies with the necessary flexibility to position their workforce to meet evolving threats.

Committee Republicans are concerned that moving TSA employees under title 5 would undermine the agency’s ability to perform its national security mission. According to information obtained from TSA, H.R. 1140 would hinder TSA’s ability to address serious instances of misconduct among the workforce. Under current law, the agency may exercise one-step removal for serious offenses such as intentional security breaches, theft, failure of drug and alcohol tests while on duty, or arrests for certain criminal offenses. Under H.R. 1140, an employee who knowingly allows guns or explosives through a security checkpoint would no longer be immediately fired.

H.R. 1140 would expand collective bargaining rights for TSA employees. As a result, security policies needed to protect the traveling public would be negotiable topics in union bargaining. Under current law, TSA can impose new security requirements, such as enhanced passenger screening when intelligence indicates credible threats. Under this bill, how those new security requirements are implemented could be subject to negotiation with the union.

In addition to the damaging impact H.R. 1140 could have on aviation security, Committee Republicans are concerned with how it proposes to transition the TSA to a fully unionized workforce. The bill sets the exclusive bargaining agent for the screeners and requires the TSA to immediately negotiate with them. The bill does not provide for an intervening union election. The screener workforce never gets a chance to exercise their Constitutional right to choose their representation.

Committee Republicans are also concerned that H.R. 1140 will do little if anything to improve screener pay or morale. In fact, TSA screeners would lose benefits under this bill. If H.R. 1140 becomes law, screeners will lose the ability to trade shifts with one another or donate certain accrued leave to their fellow workers. Certain overtime pay would be prohibited and career milestone bonuses could no longer be offered.
H.R. 1140 would also make hiring veterans much harder. Under current law, veterans only have to demonstrate prior service to receive a hiring preference by the TSA. Under this bill, veterans would have to meet much stricter title 5 requirements to be eligible for a hiring preference.

In 2019, TSA received a report from the bipartisan Blue Ribbon Panel on Human Capital Service Delivery. The Panel, comprised of former officials from both Republican and Democrat administrations—including the Chief Human Capital Officer for the Department of Homeland security under President Barack Obama—strongly recommended against moving TSA personnel under title 5. The Panel pointed out that under ATSA, the TSA can pay its employees more than they can make under title 5.

Finally, Committee Republicans are very concerned with the significant cost to taxpayers should this legislation be enacted. The Majority has repeatedly cited years-old cost data that is hundreds of millions of dollars less than TSA's current cost estimate. TSA's cost estimate of $1.17 billion over five years was transmitted to the Committee prior to markup of H.R. 1140, but the Majority has continued to erroneously cite lower sums. Committee Republicans further object to filing a bill report for H.R. 1140 before receiving a score from the Congressional Budget Office, which will provide needed insight into how significantly this legislation would cost the American taxpayer.

Committee Republicans acknowledge the dedication of the TSA workforce and the reality that they are chronically among the lowest paid federal employees. However, moving the agency under title 5 will create more problems than it solves. Committee Republicans believe that Congress should appropriate funding for the Administrator's career progression initiative which boosts screener salaries and career advancement awards.
