Under Rules adopted by the House of Representatives for the 116th Congress, the Committee on Agriculture's (hereinafter also referred to as Committee) jurisdiction (See Rule X, clause 1 of the Rules of the House of Representatives) extended to—

- (8) Animal industry and diseases of animals.
- (9) Commodity exchanges.
- (10) Crop insurance and soil conservation.

- (19) Rural development.
- (20) Water conservation related to activities of the Department of Agriculture.

The revised edition of the Rules and Manual of the House of Representatives for the 116th Congress (House Document No. 114–192) provides the following concerning the Committee on Agriculture:¹

“This Committee was established in 1820 (IV, 4149). In 1880 the subject of forestry was added to its jurisdiction, and the Committee was conferred authority to receive estimates of and to report appropriations (IV, 4149). However, on July 1, 1920, authority to report appropriations for the U.S. Department of Agriculture was transferred to the Committee on Appropriations (VII, 1860).

The basic form of the present jurisdictional statement was made effective January 2, 1947, as a part of the Legislative Reorganization Act of 1946 (60 Stat. 812). Subparagraph (7) was altered by the 93d Congress, effective January 3, 1975, to include jurisdiction over agricultural commodities (including the Commodity Credit Corporation) while transferring jurisdiction over foreign distribution and nondomestic production of commodities to the Committee on International Relations (H. Res. 988, 93d Cong., Oct. 8, 1974, p. 34470). Nevertheless, the Committee has retained a limited jurisdiction over measures to release CCC stocks for such foreign distribution (Sept. 14, 1989, p. 20428). Previously unstated jurisdictions over commodities exchanges and rural development were codified effective January 3, 1975.

The 104th Congress consolidated the Committee's jurisdiction over inspection of livestock and meat products to include inspection of poultry, seafood, and seafood products, and added subparagraph (20) relating to water conservation (sec. 202(a), H. Res. 6, Jan. 4, 1995, p.464). Clerical and stylistic changes were effected when the House recodified its rules in the 106th Congress (H. Res. 5, Jan. 6, 1999, p. 47).

The Committee has had jurisdiction of bills for establishing and regulating the Department of Agriculture (IV, 4150), for inspection of livestock and meat products, regulation of animal industry, diseases of animals (IV, 4154; VII, 1862), adulteration of seeds, insect pests, protection of birds and animals in forest reserves (IV, 4157; VII, 1870), the improvement of the breed of horses, even with the cavalry service in view (IV, 4158; VII, 1865), and in addition to the Committee on Energy and Commerce, amending Horse Protection Act to prevent the shipping, transporting, moving, delivering, or receiving of horses to be slaughtered for human consumption (July 13, 2006, p. 14304).

The Committee, having charge of the general subject of forestry, has reported bills relating to timber, and forest reserves other than those created from the public domain (IV, 4160). The Committee on Natural Resources, and not this Committee, has jurisdiction over a bill to convey land that is part of a National Forest created from the public domain (March 23, 2004, p. 4926). It has also exercised jurisdiction of bills relating to agricultural colleges and experiment stations (IV, 4152), incorporation of agricultural societies (IV, 4159), and establishment of a highway commission (IV, 4153), to discourage fictitious and gambling transactions in farm products (IV, 4161; VII, 1861), to regulate the transportation, sale and handling of dogs and cats intended for use in research and the licensing of animal research facilities (July 29, 1965, p. 18691); and to designate an agricultural research center (May 14, 1995, p.11070). The Committee shares with the Committee on the Judiciary jurisdiction over a bill comprehensively amending the Immigration and Nationality Act and including food stamp eligibility requirements for aliens (Sept. 19, 1995, p. 25533).

The House referred the President's message dealing with the refinancing of farm-mortgage indebtedness to the Committee, thus conferring jurisdiction (April 4, 1933, p. 1209).

The Committee has jurisdiction over a bill relating solely to executive level position in the Department of Agriculture (Mar. 2, 1976, p. 4958) and has jurisdiction over bills to develop land and water conservation programs on private and non-Federal lands (June 7, 1976, p. 16768).”

Some of the specific areas in which the Committee on Agriculture exercises its jurisdiction or that have been created for the Committee by historical reference include:

D. OVERSIGHT

The Committee on Agriculture and its Subcommittees were active in their oversight functions, holding a number of oversight hearings and activities during the 116th Congress. The 116th Congress saw numerous Member-level hosted meetings, round tables and conference calls. These calls were conducted with senior Administration Officials including the Secretary of Agriculture and the United States Trade Representative, as well as both public and private stakeholders across the country. These meetings supplemented the Committee's oversight work by providing Members the opportunity to engage with these leaders and stakeholders on issues within the Committee's jurisdiction. The hearings related to the application, administration, and effectiveness of laws that lie within the Committee's jurisdiction as well as the organization and operation of the Department of Agriculture and other Federal agencies having responsibility for the administration of such laws. The oversight hearings conducted during the 116th Congress included specific oversight of the implementation of the Agricultural Act of 2018. The hearings often result in recommendations for improvements in the administration of the laws, regulations and policies in effect in the Executive Branch as they relate to the Committee’s jurisdiction. Information gathered at these hearings was useful in preparing legislation for consideration in the House of Representatives.

As part of its hearings, the Committee and its Subcommittees reviewed the way the particular Federal agency or department (usually the Department of Agriculture) administered existing laws related to the subject matter of the legislation before, or to be considered by, the Committee. In most cases, legislation favorably reported to the House carries a termination date (a “sunset”) to ensure that in the future Congress will again review the effectiveness and the methods with which the Executive Branch of Government has carried out the letter and the spirit of that statute.

In keeping with the objective of the Oversight Plan, as submitted to the Committee on Oversight and Government Reform and House Administration, and Rule XI, clause 2 of the House of Representatives, the Committee and its Subcommittees conducted the following chronological oversight hearings during the 116th Congress (Note: To see a copy of the Oversight Plan as submitted, see “I. Summary of Organization, Jurisdiction, and Oversight Plan of the Committee on Agriculture.”):

1. Oversight Hearings

February 27, 2019: The State of the Rural Economy. Full Committee. Serial No. 116–1.

This hearing focused on the current state of the rural economy. This was the third time Secretary Perdue testified before the Committee to offer his assessment of USDA programs and the rural economy. Since his 2018 testimony, the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018 (2018 Farm Bill) was enacted, retaliatory tariffs were levied against several agricultural commodities, forecasts for net farm income continued to drop, USDA had mixed reactions to their efforts to internally reorganize and relocate agencies, a controversial proposed rule for SNAP received comments, and natural disasters challenged all areas of the country. All these issues, along with programmatic topics, were areas for questioning.

April 3, 2019: Examining the Proposed ABAWD Rule and its Impact on Hunger and Hardship. Subcommittee on Nutrition, Oversight, and Department Operations. Serial No. 116–2.

On February 1, 2019, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) issued a proposed rule, “Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program: Requirements for Able-Bodied Adults without Dependents (84 FR 980).” The purpose of this hearing was to examine the impact of that proposed rulemaking on the able-bodied adults without dependents (ABAWDs) population.

April 30, 2019: Reviewing the State of the Dairy Economy. Subcommittee on Livestock and Foreign Agriculture. Serial No. 116–3.

The US dairy industry had faced a multi-year period of low margins and challenging market conditions. These challenges were compounded by trade disputes and on-going labor challenges. This hearing provided Members of the Subcommittee with an opportunity to hear about these and other issues directly from dairy farmers from different regions and different production models as well as cooperative and academic experts.

May 1, 2019: The State of the CFTC. Subcommittee on Commodity Exchanges, Energy, and Credit. Serial No. 116–4.

The purpose of this hearing was for Members to receive testimony regarding the state of affairs at the Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC). Topics of discussion at this hearing included the nomination of Chairman Nominee Heath Tarbert, reforming the Dodd-Frank Act Swap Execution Facility (SEF) rules, the Keep It Simple Stupid (KISS) project, improving CFTC’s data quality, an expansion of the Office of the Chief Economist, updates to market intelligence, cross border issues and Brexit, position limits, the de minimis threshold, and cybersecurity.

May 9, 2019: Reviewing the State of the Farm Economy. Subcommittee on General Farm Commodities and Risk Management. Serial No. 116–5.

Conditions in the farm economy have worsened in recent years and this hearing examined the financial situation for farmers around the country. Low commodity prices, rising input costs, and mounting pressure for those in production agriculture have all contributed to a stressful farm economy. Despite the enactment of the 2018 Farm Bill, many farmers continued to face financial stress. Witnesses reported on the state of the farm economy from their vantage point as farmers and agriculturists and their insights informed future policy decisions by the Subcommittee.

May 15, 2019: Hearing To Review USDA Farm Bill Conservation Programs. Subcommittee on Conservation and Forestry. Serial No. 116–6.

During this hearing, the Subcommittee addressed USDA farm bill conservation programs under the respective authorities of the Natural Resources Conservation Service and the Farm Service Agency, as well as the changes that the 2018 Farm Bill made to various conservation programs. The Committee heard from two government witnesses: The Honorable Matthew Lohr, Chief for the Natural Resources Conservation Service and The Honorable Richard Fordyce, Administrator for the Farm Service Agency.

May 21, 2019: Hearing To Review Animal Pest and Disease Prevention and Response Capabilities. Subcommittee on Livestock and Foreign Agriculture. Serial No. 116–7.

This hearing allowed Subcommittee Members to oversee the USDA’s operation of animal pest and disease prevention and control efforts. Livestock and poultry producers around the country and the world faced threats and challenges posed by pests and diseases—endemic, foreign, and invasive. A major outbreak of virulent Newcastle Disease (vND) was impacting poultry in the Western U.S., while an outbreak of African Swine Fever (ASF) was expanding in Asia, drastically impacting pork markets and causing the entire world to take precautions. These outbreaks were just two of several others of potential concern. The impacts of disease outbreaks can also move beyond farms as shortages of products due to outbreaks can raise consumer food costs, communities grapple with animal carcass disposal, and reduction in livestock populations reduce the need for animal feed ingredients including corn and soybeans. The 2018 Farm Bill provided new authorities and investments to combat these issues.

June 5, 2019: Examining the Impacts of Relocating USDA Research Agencies on Agricultural Research. Subcommittee on Biotechnology and Horticulture. Serial No. 116–8.

In this Subcommittee hearing, Members discussed the U.S. Department of Agriculture’s (USDA) efforts to relocate the Economic Research Service (ERS) and National Institute of Food and Agriculture (NIFA) outside the National Capital Region and to internally realign ERS. The Subcommittee heard from a variety of agricultural professors and farm operators.

June 11, 2019: The State of U.S. Agricultural Products in International Markets. Subcommittee on Livestock and Foreign Agriculture. Serial No. 116–9.

At this hearing, witnesses discussed pending agreements, current negotiations, and Administration-level discussions regarding agricultural trade including those with Mexico and Canada (USMCA); Japan; China; the EU; Brazil; and other countries and markets. The hearing also provided an opportunity to discuss administrative actions including Section 232 and Section 301 tariffs and associated retaliatory actions as well as USDA’s response to retaliation.

June 12, 2019: Increasing Resiliency, Mitigating Risk: Examining the Research and Extension Needs of Producers. Subcommittee on Biotechnology, Horticulture, and Research. Serial No. 116–10

Through this hearing, Members heard directly from the stakeholder community on the research and extension needs of producers related to strengthening resiliency and improving risk mitigation given changes in local weather conditions and broader climatic patterns.

June 20, 2019: How Farm Policy Helps Farmers in Adverse Conditions. Subcommittee on General Farm Commodities and Risk Management. Serial No. 116–11

This Subcommittee hearing focused on how Federal farm policy programs assist farmers when they are most in need. Members of the Subcommittee heard from an array of witnesses who discussed how to best address adverse conditions.
