Dear Chairman Enzi and Ranking Member Sanders:

Pursuant to section 301(d) of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974, it is my pleasure as the Chairman of the Committee on Veterans' Affairs (hereinafter, "Committee") to submit this letter to the Committee on the Budget on the fiscal year 2018 (hereinafter, "FY18") budget and the fiscal year 2019 (hereinafter, "FY19") advance appropriations budget request for Function 700 (Veterans' Benefits and Services) programs.

Because the Committee has not received the President's budget request, I am limited in the detail I can provide for the FY18 budget and FY19 advance appropriation budget request. I will limit my comments to general observations and highlight areas that I believe merit focus by the Committee on the Budget.

DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS Care in the Community Program

As I have stressed publicly, a top focus this Congress must be to make health care more accessible to veterans, including through the use of Department of Veterans Affairs (hereinafter, "VA") care and care in the community. In part, this will require continued focus on non-VA care in VA's budget, as well as legislative reforms of the array of care in the community programs. In that regard, while I am pleased to see the Veterans Health Administration (hereinafter, "VHA") embracing care in the community, we owe it to veterans to ensure that the decision to receive care in the community be at the veteran's choice. Unfortunately, where a veteran receives care is still largely VHA's choice.

Going forward, there should be no "litmus test" to be eligible for care in the community. Criteria for eligibility should be whether the veteran is enrolled in VHA for care, not whether an appointment within the VA cannot be provided within 30 days or the veteran lives more than 40 miles from a VA facility. Using 30 days and 40 miles as eligibility criteria in the Veterans

Access, Choice, and Accountability Act of 2014, was a temporary fix at a time of crisis to ensure veterans received care. Also, the community network VHA uses to provide that care should be set up through a national contract or contracts, in order to ensure a provider network is available across the country. A national contract or contracts would allow VHA to monitor and report on the type of care provided in the community. Individual contracts executed at the local VA medical center level should only be entered into if the services or care is not available through the national contract or contracts.

It is not my intent to privatize VHA but rather enable VHA to leverage all means available to treat veterans. Veterans should receive the care they have earned and deserve with a provider of their choosing. I am interested in empowering VHA by making health care more available to veterans through care in both the private sector and VA. I look forward to working with the Committee on the Budget and the Administration to ensure community care continues to be available to veterans.

VA Appeals Reform

To address the unacceptable delays that veterans and their families face during the disability claims appeal process, a number of proposals were put forward last Congress, including legislation to authorize a pilot program on fully-developed appeals and legislation to comprehensively overhaul the appeals system. Although Congress took initial steps to address the appeals backlog – such as emphasizing the use of video hearings by the Board of Veterans' Appeals -- VA's appeals process must continue to be an area of focus during the 115th Congress.

In determining the best path forward, it is important to consider that the comprehensive appeals reform proposal would apply to new appeals received after the reforms are in place and the 460,000 appeals now waiting to be resolved would be processed under the current structure. VA previously acknowledged that, if that reform proposal were to be adopted without a significant infusion of new resources, VA would expect to be administering a new appeals system side-by-side with the current appeals system for nearly three decades while VA completely works through the existing 460,000 appeals. As the veterans service organizations who co-author the Independent Budget have stressed, “[u]ntil these pending appeals are properly resolved, no new appeals structure or system can be expected to be successful.”

That is why we must ensure that VA has a robust plan for providing answers to those who are already waiting and for effectively implementing any legislative changes, along with thorough estimates of the resources that would be required to do both simultaneously. That, in turn, would allow Congress to ensure that any legislative reforms of the appeals system are coupled with an appropriate funding level. With that in mind, I look forward to working with the Committee on the Budget, all of our colleagues, VA, and stakeholders to ensure that the necessary pieces are in place to make reform efforts as effective as possible.
