TO AMEND TITLE 5, UNITED STATES CODE, TO PREVENT FRAUD BY REPRESENTATIVE PAYEES

JULY 15, 2019.—Ordered to be printed

U.S. GOVERNMENT PUBLISHING OFFICE

WASHINGTON : 2019
I. PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

The purpose of S. 1430, the Representative Payee Fraud Prevention Act of 2019, is to protect recipients of Federal retiree benefits from unscrupulous caretakers who take the retiree's payments and use them not for the retiree's benefit, but for their own. S. 1430 closes a loophole that currently exists in statute whereby the embezzlement or conversion of Social Security and Veterans' benefits by representative payees is a Federal felony, but the same embezzlement or conversion of Federal retiree benefits is not. The Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, therefore, recommends that the bill be enacted into law.

Mr. JOHNSON, from the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, submitted the following REPORT

[To accompany S. 1430]

[Including cost estimate of the Congressional Budget Office]

The Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, to which was referred the bill (S. 1430) to amend title 5, United States Code, to prevent fraud by representative payees, having considered the same, reports favorably thereon with amendments and recommends that the bill, as amended, do pass.

I. PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

The purpose of S. 1430, the Representative Payee Fraud Prevention Act of 2019, is to protect recipients of Federal retiree benefits from unscrupulous caretakers who take the retiree's payments and use them not for the retiree's benefit, but for their own. S. 1430 closes a loophole that currently exists in statute whereby the embezzlement or conversion of Social Security and Veterans' benefits by representative payees is a Federal felony, but the same embezzzlement or conversion of benefits provided to Federal retirees through the Federal retirement system is not.\(^1\)

II. BACKGROUND AND THE NEED FOR LEGISLATION

In addition to other Federal benefits, Federal employees may be eligible for Federal retiree benefits processed through the Office of Personnel and Management (OPM): Federal Employees Retirement System (FERS) benefits,\(^2\) and Civil Service Retirement System (CSRS) benefits.\(^3\) Under Federal statute, individuals who are minors, mentally incompetent, or under some other qualifying legal disability can have their benefits paid on their behalf through a court-appointed or agency-approved representative.\(^4\) Such individuals authorized to receive the payments under these circumstances are frequently referred to as "representative payees."

The OPM Office of Inspector General (OIG) has reported to Congress an increase during recent years in the number of representative payees who take advantage of their position and use the money they receive for purposes other than to benefit the Federal retiree.\(^5\) The OPM OIG has further reported that OPM has an antiquated paper system for tracking representative payees.\(^6\)

From 2004 to 2005, Congress created penalties for anyone who takes funds from Social Security Disability Insurance Benefits,\(^7\) Social Security Supplemental Income,\(^8\) or Veterans' Benefits\(^9\) and fraudulently uses the funds for their own purposes, rather than on behalf of the intended recipient. These statutes criminalize such misuse of government benefits as a felony, punishable by a fine of up to $250,000, up to five years in prison, or both.\(^10\)

No similar penalty was created for those representatives who misuse or embezzle CSRS or FERS benefits distributed by OPM. The absence of Federal statutory authority often dissuades U.S. Attorneys from bringing to justice those appointed to take care of government retirees' benefits when they use these funds for any purpose other than for the benefit of the retiree that they represent.\(^11\)

In one example provided by the OPM OIG, Sakina Park represented that she was running a personal care facility out of her home in Philadelphia, housing at least seven people with mental health problems.\(^12\) However, Ms. Park did not have a license to do so.\(^13\) At least one of the individuals alleged to be under her care was an annuitant entitled to OPM benefits, but mentally incompetent and unable to accept Federal payments for herself.\textsuperscript{14} Ms. Park was listed as that individual’s representative payee, authorized to collect OPM benefits on the annuitant’s behalf.\textsuperscript{15} In 2009, investigators arrived with police at the home and removed the occupants.\textsuperscript{16} At that time, it was discovered that the annuitant was not present—Ms. Park stated that the retiree was “always running away” and investigators found she had been admitted to another facility after being found on a street unconscious.\textsuperscript{17} The OPM OIG determined that Ms. Park had received just under $8,000 from OPM on the annuitant’s behalf and did not use any of those funds to care for the annuitant.\textsuperscript{18}

The local district attorney prosecuted Ms. Park in 2013 because she also embezzled Social Security benefits from other individuals that were supposed to be in her care. Federal prosecutors may be reluctant to prosecute the misuse of OPM benefit payments alone because while such conduct may violate state embezzlement or conversion laws, it is not a specific Federal crime.\textsuperscript{19}

The Committee believes this lack of Federal penalty leaves some of its most vulnerable civil servants, including those who may be mentally incompetent, with less legal recourse when they are taken advantage of and their retirement funds are misused. This legislation criminalizes the misuse of CSRS and FERS funds in the same manner that already exists for Social Security and Veterans’ benefits. In addition to prosecuting those who abscond with benefits intended for government retirees, S. 1430 prevents those who have committed this crime before (whether for CSRS, FERS, Social Security, or Veterans’ benefits) from serving in the future as a representative payee.

III. LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

Senators James Lankford, Gary Peters, and Kyrsten Sinema introduced S. 1430 on May 13, 2019. The bill was referred to the Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs.

The Committee considered S. 1430 at a business meeting on May 15, 2019. The Committee ordered the bill reported favorably en bloc by voice vote as amended. Senators present for the vote on the bill were Senators Johnson, Paul, Lankford, Scott, Peters, Carper, Hassan, and Rosen. For the record only, Senators Portman, Romney, Hawley, and Sinema later asked to be recorded as a “yes” by unanimous consent.

Consistent with Committee rules, the Committee reports the bill with a technical amendment by mutual agreement of the Chairman and Ranking Member.

IV. SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS OF THE BILL, AS REPORTED

Section 1. Short title

This section provides the bill’s short title, the “Representative Payee Fraud Prevention Act of 2019.”

Section 2. Representative payee fraud

Paragraphs (a)(1) and (a)(2) of this section amend Title 5, chapter 83, subchapter III of the United States Code to include the definition of a “representative payee” as an individual appointed under section 8345(e)(1) and 8466(c)(1) to receive payments on behalf of a minor or an individual mentally incompetent or under other legal disability.

Paragraphs (b)(1) and (b)(2) of this section amend Title 5, chapter 83, subchapter III of the United States Code to add a new section 8345a following section 8345, and Title 5, chapter 84, subchapter VI of the United States Code to add a new section 8466a following section 8466, respectively.

New section 8345a makes it unlawful for any person authorized by OPM to receive CSRS payments on behalf of a minor or other qualifying individual (a representative payee) to embezzle or in any manner convert any portion of the amount received from such payments to a use other than for the use and benefit of such individual. If it is determined that a representative payee has embezzled or converted such payments, OPM is required to revoke the payments promptly and certify payment to another representative payee, or to the individual should it serve their best interest. Such conduct is punishable by a fine under Title 18 of the United States Code or imprisonment for not more than 5 years, or both.

New section 8466a makes it unlawful for any person authorized by OPM to receive FERS payments on behalf of a minor or other qualifying individual (a representative payee) to embezzle or in any manner convert any portion of the amount received from such payments to a use other than for the use and benefit of such individual. If it is determined that a representative payee has embezzled or converted such payments, OPM is required to revoke the payments promptly and certify payment to another representative payee, or to the individual should it serve their best interest. Such conduct is punishable by a fine under Title 18 of the United States Code or imprisonment for not more than 5 years, or both.

Paragraph (b)(3) makes technical and conforming amendments to the table of sections of chapters 83 and 84 of Title 5, United States Code, to reflect the new sections added in paragraphs (b)(1) and (b)(2).

Subsection (c) clarifies that in the case that OPM suspends payment to a mentally incompetent or legally disabled individual until a representative payee is appointed, payments should resume as soon as practicable and include all amounts due.

Subsection (d) prohibits an individual from being appointed as a representative payee to receive CSRS or FERS payments on behalf of a minor or individual with a legal disability if he or she has been convicted of violating the new sections 8345a or 8466a created by this bill, 42 U.S.C. 408 or 1383a (similar prohibitions on embezzlement of Social Security benefits), or 38 U.S.C. 6101 (similar prohibitions on embezzlement of Veterans’ benefits).
Section 3. Implementation

Paragraph (a) amends section 8348(a)(1)(B) of Title 5 (Civil Service Retirement and Disability Fund) to include administering fraud prevention under sections 8345, 8345a, 8466, 8466a as an eligible use of the funds.

Paragraph (b) requires OPM to issue regulations necessary to carry out the changes in law made by this bill within one year of the date of enactment. This subsection also authorizes OPM to issue additional regulations related to the administration of the representative payee program.

Section 4. Effective date

This section requires the legislation to take effect on the date of enactment and to apply on the effective date of the regulations promulgated under section 3(b)(1) of the bill.

V. Evaluation of Regulatory Impact

Pursuant to the requirements of paragraph 11(b) of rule XXVI of the Standing Rules of the Senate, the Committee has considered the regulatory impact of this bill and determined that the bill will have no regulatory impact within the meaning of the rules. The Committee agrees with the Congressional Budget Office’s statement that the bill contains no intergovernmental or private-sector mandates as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) and would impose no costs on state, local, or tribal governments.

VI. Congressional Budget Office Cost Estimate

U.S. CONGRESS,
CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE,

Hon. Ron Johnson,
Chairman, Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs, United States Senate, Washington, DC.

Dear Mr. Chairman: The Congressional Budget Office has prepared the enclosed cost estimate for S. 1430, the Representative Payee Fraud Prevention Act of 2019.

If you wish further details on this estimate, we will be pleased to provide them. The CBO staff contact is Amber Marcellino.

Sincerely,

Phillip L. Swagel,
Director.

Enclosure.
S. 1430 would establish new federal crimes related to representative payees who misuse payments received from the Federal Employees Retirement System and the Civil Service Retirement System. (A representative payee is a person or an organization that manages federal retirement benefits for recipients who are unable to do so themselves.) Enacting S. 1430 would enable the government to pursue cases that it otherwise would not be able to prosecute. CBO expects that only a relatively small number of offenders would be affected, however, so any increase in costs for law enforcement, court proceedings, or prison operations would not be significant. Any such costs would be subject to the availability of appropriated funds.

Because those prosecuted and convicted under S. 1430 could be subject to civil and criminal fines, the federal government might collect additional amounts. Civil fines are recorded in the budget as revenues. Criminal fines also are recorded as revenues, deposited in the Crime Victims Fund, and later spent without future appropriation action. CBO estimates that the revenues and spending associated with those penalties would not be significant in any year because of the relatively small number of cases likely to be affected.

The CBO staff contact for this estimate is Amber Marcellino. The estimate was reviewed by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Assistant Director for Budget Analysis.
