Strike all after the enacting clause and insert the following:

SECTION 1. PROHIBITING VOTING BY NONCITIZENS IN DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA ELECTIONS.

An individual who is not a citizen of the United States may not vote in an election for public office in the District of Columbia or in any ballot initiative or referendum in the District of Columbia.

SEC. 2. REPEAL OF LOCAL RESIDENT VOTING RIGHTS AMENDMENT ACT OF 2022.

The Local Resident Voting Rights Amendment Act of 2022 (D.C. Law 24–242) is repealed, and any provision of law amended or repealed by such Act shall be restored or revived as if such Act had not been enacted into law.

Amend the title so as to read:

A bill to prohibit individuals who are not citizens of the United States from voting in elections in the District of Columbia and to repeal the Local Resident Voting Rights Amendment Act of 2022.

SUMMARY AND PURPOSE OF LEGISLATION

H.R. 192 prohibits noncitizens from voting in D.C. local elections and repeals the Local Resident Voting Rights Amendment Act (D.C. Law 24–0242).

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

On November 21, 2022, the District government enacted the Local Resident Voting Rights Amendment Act (D.C. Law 24–0242), which allows noncitizens, including illegal immigrants, to vote in D.C. local elections. The Act makes no exception for foreign diplomats or agents voting in the District. These individuals often have interests separate from, or opposed to, the interests of Americans. This D.C. Act dilutes the votes of American citizens and could have a ripple effect across other large U.S. cities.

Backlash to the D.C. Act was swift, including among Democratic policymakers. Mayor Bowser expressed opposition by withholding her signature on the Act—something she has done only a handful of times over the course of her tenure. Even The Washington Post editorial board opposed the bill, writing that “voting is a foundational right of citizenship.”¹ On February 9, 2023, 260 Members in the House voted in favor of Chairman James Comer’s resolution of disapproval (H.J. Res. 24) to block enactment of the D.C. Act. The resolution received bipartisan support, with 42 Democratic Members voting with Republicans. However, this bipartisan resolution has not been voted on in the Senate, and D.C.’s noncitizen voting law has gone into effect.

The House Committee on Oversight and Accountability has a constitutional duty to oversee the District of Columbia and has held three full Committee hearings so far this year where the D.C. Mayor, City Council members, and law enforcement officials have testified on behalf of their policies. On June 7th, the Committee held a joint hearing with the Committee on House Administration entitled “American Confidence in Elections: The Path to Election Integrity in the District of Columbia” where members heard from the Executive Director of the D.C. Board of Elections. Three witnesses—Mr. Weiser, Mr. Spies, and Mr. Cuccinelli—echoed Congressional Republicans’ concerns that foreign actors may attempt to meddle in local elections under the newly enacted D.C. law.

H.R. 192 represents the exact role Congress should take in regard to matters of the District’s governance. Under the U.S. Constitution Congress is granted “exclusive Legislation in all Cases whatsoever” over the District and, under the Home Rule Act, Congress maintains a critical role to scrutinize and approve of District legislation.² Free and fair elections are a prerequisite for a healthy republic, and the American people deserve confidence in the safety and security of their election system.

SECTION-BY-SECTION ANALYSIS

Section 1. Prohibiting voting by noncitizens in District of Columbia elections

Prohibits noncitizens from voting in D.C. local elections for public office, including any ballot initiative or D.C. referendum.

Sec. 2. Prohibition on Federal employee censorship

Repeals the Local Resident Voting Rights Amendment Act (D.C. Law 24–0242).

LEGISLATIVE HISTORY

FEDERAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE ACT STATEMENT

COMMITTEE COST ESTIMATE

Pursuant to clause 3(d) of rule XIII of the Rules of the House of Representatives, the Committee includes below a cost estimate of the bill prepared by the Director of the Congressional Budget Office under section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974.

NEW BUDGET AUTHORITY AND CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE COST ESTIMATE

Pursuant to clause 3(c)(3) of rule XIII of the House of Representatives, the cost estimate prepared by the Congressional Budget Office and submitted pursuant to section 402 of the Congressional Budget Act of 1974 is as follows:

H.R. 192, a bill to prohibit individuals who are not citizens of the United States from voting in elections in the District of Columbia and to repeal the Local Voting Rights Amendment Act of 2022
As ordered reported by the House Committee on Oversight and Accountability on July 12, 2023

Increases on-budget deficits in any of the four consecutive 10-year periods beginning in 2034?	No	Mandate Effects Contains intergovernmental mandate? Contains private-sector mandate?	Yes, Under Threshold Yes, Under Threshold

H.R. 192 would disapprove the District of Columbia Council's enactment of the Local Resident Voting Rights Amendment Act of 2022 (D.C. Law 24–242), which allows noncitizen residents the right to vote in local, but not federal, elections. Because enacting the bill would not affect the federal budget, CBO estimates that implementing H.R. 192 would have no cost to the federal government.

H.R. 192 would impose an intergovernmental mandate as defined in the Unfunded Mandates Reform Act (UMRA) by disapproving D.C. Law 24–242. The bill also would impose a private-sector mandate by prohibiting noncitizen permanent residents from voting in D.C. elections and ballot initiatives. CBO estimates that the cost of the mandates would not exceed the intergovernmental or private-sector threshold established in UMRA ($99 million and $198 million, respectively, adjusted annually for inflation).

The CBO staff contacts for this estimate are Matthew Pickford (for federal costs) and Andrew Laughlin (for mandates). The estimate was reviewed by H. Samuel Papenfuss, Deputy Director of Budget Analysis.

PHILLIP L. SWAGEL,
Director, Congressional Budget Office.

MINORITY VIEWS

Committee Democrats strongly oppose H.R. 192, which would repeal the District of Columbia's Local Resident Voting Rights Amendment Act of 2022 and prohibit individuals who are not citizens of the United States from voting in local D.C. elections. This legislation undermines home rule for D.C. and the basic American principle of political self-determination, which we cannot condone.

DEMOCRACY AND D.C. AUTONOMY

The Merriam-Webster dictionary defines democracy as “government by the people” and “a government in which the supreme power is vested in the people and exercised by them directly or indirectly through a system of representation usually involving periodically held free elections.”¹ By definition, the United States is a democracy, but its capital is not.

The principles of no taxation without representation and consent of the governed helped launch the American Revolution and are enshrined in the Declaration of Independence. Yet, D.C. residents, who pay federal taxes, have no voting representation in Congress, and Congress has plenary authority over D.C.²

Committee Republicans claim Congress has a constitutional duty to legislate on local D.C. matters. That is false. Republicans choose to legislate on local D.C. matters only when they think it can score political points.

Despite giving Congress plenary authority over D.C., the Framers expected Congress to establish a local government for D.C.³ Indeed, Congress has established various forms of local government for D.C. since 1802.⁴ The U.S. Supreme Court has held that “there is no constitutional barrier to the delegation by Congress to the District of Columbia of full legislative power.”⁵

In 1973, Congress passed the D.C. Home Rule Act, which established an elected chief executive (the D.C. Mayor) and an elected legislature (the D.C. Council) for D.C.⁶ The intent of the D.C. Home Rule Act is to, among other things, “grant to the inhabitants of the District of Columbia powers of local self-government” and “relieve Congress of the burden of legislating upon essentially local District matters.”⁷ H.R. 192 contravenes the intent of the D.C. Home Rule Act.

The D.C. Council passed the Local Resident Voting Rights Amendment Act of 2022 twice, as required by the D.C. Home Rule Act, by votes of 12 to 1 and 12 to 0.⁸

The D.C. Council has 13 members, who are elected by, and accountable to, D.C. residents. Congress has 535 voting members, none of whom are elected by, or accountable to, D.C. residents. Congress should not act as a super-legislature for D.C.

Instead of undemocratically interfering in local D.C. matters, Congress should pass the D.C. statehood bill, H.R. 51, the Washington, D.C. Admission Act. The bill would admit the State of Washington, Douglass Commonwealth into the Union and reduce the size of D.C., or the federal district.⁹

The Admissions Clause of the Constitution gives Congress the authority to admit new states.¹⁰ Congress has admitted all 37 new states by simple legislation.¹¹ The District Clause of the Constitution gives Congress plenary authority over the federal district and establishes a maximum size of the federal district (100 square miles).¹² Congress has the authority to reduce the size of the federal district, as it has previously done.¹³

The Constitution does not establish any prerequisites for new states, but Congress has generally considered three criteria in evaluating new states: (1) commitment to democracy; (2) support for statehood; and (3) sufficient population and resources.¹⁴ D.C. meets all three criteria.

D.C. residents have been petitioning for voting representation in Congress and local self-government for more than 200 years.¹⁵ On November 8, 2016, D.C. residents approved a referendum advising the D.C. Council to petition Congress for statehood by a vote of 244,134 to 40,779.¹⁶

D.C. has a larger population than two states.¹⁷ D.C. pays more federal taxes than 19 states and pays more per capita federal taxes than any state.¹⁸ D.C. has a higher per capita personal income than any state.¹⁹ D.C. has a larger gross domestic product than 16 states and a higher per capita gross domestic product than any state.²⁰ D.C.'s general obligation bonds have the highest rating (Aaa) from Moody's Investors Service.²¹ Federal funds are a smaller percentage of D.C.'s revenue than federal funds are of total state revenue.²²

There can be no question that D.C. meets the historical qualifications for statehood. Congress should honor the will of D.C. residents and admit D.C. as the 51st state in the Union.

HISTORY OF PERMITTING NONCITIZENS TO VOTE IN THE UNITED STATES

The United States has a long history of permitting noncitizens to vote in local, state, territorial, and federal elections, dating back to at least 1704, prior to the country's founding.²³ Congress did not prohibit noncitizens from voting in federal elections until 1996.²⁴ At various points, Congress and 40 states have permitted noncitizens to vote, including every state represented by the Majority, except for one.²⁵ Today, more than a dozen municipalities permit noncitizens to vote in local elections.²⁶

CONCLUSION

We strongly oppose H.R. 192 and any other effort to undermine the will of D.C. residents and their locally elected representatives. D.C. residents want statehood for D.C., and Congress should heed their calls instead of violating the basic American principle of political self-determination.
