PURPOSE AND SUMMARY

H.R. 4646 reauthorizes and modifies the rural emergency medical services (EMS) training and equipment assistance program through 2029.

BACKGROUND AND NEED FOR LEGISLATION

H.R. 4646 reauthorizes the SIREN program, which supports and improves emergency medical services (EMS) in rural areas. Eligible applicants are rural local, tribal, and non-profit EMS agencies. Rural EMS and fire agencies experience unique challenges while serving patients—they are often the only health care provider in certain areas and may face difficulty in recruiting and retaining workers. The Rural Emergency Medical Services Training program was originally authorized through the Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018 and provides support to recruit and train EMS personnel in rural areas with a focus on addressing substance use disorders (SUD) and co-occurring disorders.^{1,2} H.R. 4646 grants provide direct assistance to EMS programs to purchase the personal protective equipment (PPE) needed to protect EMS practitioners and firefighters as well as medical supplies. The program also supports volunteer recruitment, retention, and training efforts. In fiscal year 2023, the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services
