

Administration of Joseph R. Biden, Jr., 2023

Remarks to Reporters on the Release From Captivity in Gaza, Palestinian Territories, of United States Citizen Liat Beinon Atzili in Pueblo, Colorado
November 29, 2023

The President. I've got some very good news to report: Liat Beinon is safe in Egypt. She's crossed the border.

I talked with her mother and father, and they're very appreciative. And things are moving well. She'll soon be home with her three children.

That's all I have to say for right now.

Q. Can you give us a sense of other Americans who might be leaving soon, Mr. President?

White House Press Secretary Karine Jean-Pierre. Thanks, everybody. Thanks, everyone.

NOTE: The President spoke at 3:13 p.m. on the tarmac at the Pueblo Memorial Airport prior to boarding Air Force One en route to Washington, DC. In his remarks, he referred to Yehuda Beinon, father, and Ofri, Neta, and Aya Atzili, children, of Ms. Atzili, who was kidnapped by Hamas militants during the October 7 attack on Israel.
